

Q. What is the possibility of Colorado City and Mitchell County getting the 911 emergency dialing number?

A. Jim Compton of West Central Texas Council of Governments told Mitchell County Commissioners Court recently, that the State Legislature has made provisions for "911" service to be made available to all rural areas of the state. Plans for installation of the services are due to be presented by September, 1989. Three choices are to be available: (1) basic which reaches a central dispatcher for all emergency, fire and police calls; (2) standard, which displays the calling number before the dispatcher on a CRT; and (3) special, which would display pertinent information about residents and employees at the address of the calling number on the CRT. Basic cost of the service would be 50 cents a month to telephone customers.

County, School finalize budgets, rates

County budgets $3,012,924; protest to .3907 tax rate

After some small last-minute changes, the Mitchell County Commissioners Court approved the 1989 budget and tax rate over only one objection.

Prior to approval of the budget, Commissioner Paul Hunter pointed out a couple of additions that needed to be made. After the County agreed to join the Economic Development District, an annual fee of from $66 to $240, depending on whether or not local cities participated, would have to be paid next October, and should be placed in the budget.

Also District Judge Weldon Kirk had requested that he and all the local employees of the 32nd District be given the five percent salary increase, given to county employees. The Court pointed out that the 5 percent increase has been applied to the judicial employees, as well as the part-time or hourly employees of the County, except for the District Judge. The Court approved the increase, which amounted to $270, 5% of his $5,400 annual salary from Mitchell County, and the $240 for the economic development district, for a total of $510 added to the budget.

Thus, the final budgeted amount approved for the County for 1989 amounts to $3,012,924.05, which was formally approved.

TAX RATE

Next, the Court proposed that the 1988-89 tax rate be set at 39.07 cents per $100 valuation, the same as last year.

Ken York, a property representative for Chevron Oil Company, requested that the tax rate be set at the effective tax rate of 36.74 cents, rather than being increased to 39.07 cents.

York complimented the Court on the many hours spent developing the budget and for being as frugal as possible with the taxpayer dollars. "But with Mitchell County being in a very unique flush cash flow situation with over $5.5 million in reserve, and the with over $200,000 in new taxes coming on line," he felt that the County should not have to increase over the 36.74 cent effective rate which would have brought in the same amount of taxes as this year.

The Commissioners strongly defended the county's position, pointing out that the reserve has

School budget $6,199,678 Tax rate .99

After making adjustments for a lower tax rate, the Board of Trustees of Colorado Independent School District approved a $6,119,678.76 budget and kept the same tax rate of 99 cents per $100 value at the public hearing held Thursday night.

The Board had arrived at a $6,127,517 budget, based on the designated effective tax rate of $1.035, which would have brought in the same amount of tax dollars as last year. But with a 25% increase in property values and increased funds from the State, the Board proposed to keep the same 99-cent tax rate last year.

After reworking the budget to reflect the reduced tax rate, the final budget adopted was $6,119,678. The new budget is about 11% higher than last year's budget of $5,519,495. The new budget included a $400 per teacher increase in salaries, plus a major expenditure for asbestos removal in the buildings.

The school will receive $2,597,466 from the state, $357,331 from federal funds and $222,355 from debt service.

The Board unanimously approved the resolution setting the tax rate at 99 cents per $100 value, which is broken down to 90.5 cents for local maintenance; and 8.5 cents for bonded indebtedness and interest and sinking fund. All taxes are due and payable by January 31, 1989.

Supt. Jim Ramsey said the Board has been working on the budget since June, and had come up with a good comfortable budget to work with. The budget reflects a total overall cost of $3,948.90 per student for the year.

The Superintendent pointed out that there were 200 employees in Colorado ISD. This includes 117.5 professional, and 82.5 non-professional.

Kathy Bassham was the only member of the Board absent for the hearing. The only visitors on hand were Debbie and Bill Denson.

Pork vote underway

Pork producers in Mitchell County will have an opportunity to vote in a special referendum September 7-8 as authorized by the Pork Promotion, Research and Consumer Information Act of 1985.

Purpose of the referendum is to determine the continuance of the 100 percent checkoff program which provides funds for pork research and promotion to enhance the pork industry, said Mike Mauldin county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The checkoff is at the rate 25 cents per $100 on all hogs and pigs as well as on all imported hogs and pork products.

Referendum voting will be conducted in the county Extension office during normal business hours September 7-8.

Producers and importers unable to vote in person may request an absentee ballot from Dr. Bill Thomas, Extension Swine Specialist, Kleberg Center - Room 212, Texas A&M University, College Station, Tex. 77843. Absentee ballots will be available from August 1 until close of business on August 26. Absentee ballot return envelopes, containing the ballot and registration-

Murder charge heard by local grand jury

A murder charge against Terry Edward Flowers, 25, was presented to the Mitchell County Grand Jury for 32nd District Court Friday, but it was not revealed if it was one of five sealed indictments handed down. However, Assistant District Glenn Harrison, said the case was heard by the grand jury.

Flowers is accused in the shooting death of Allan J. Hall, 45, an Arkansas truckdriver, whose bullet-riddled body was found in western part of Mitchell County on July 18. Authorities have been unsure where the case will be processed, since it is believed that Hall was shot and killed in Nolan County, just east of Sweetwater, then the victim's body dumped in Mitchell County.

Flowers was arrested in New Mexico soon after the incident. After extradition proceedings by Nolan County authorities, Flowers was returned to Sweetwater where he is being held in jail.

After Friday's session of the grand jury, only two of seven indictments were released.

Delia Diaz, was indicted on a charge of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon, a third degree felony. She is accused of reckless driving on August 3, that resulted in bodily injury of young local girl who was hit by Diaz' automobile.

Also John Steven Renfro was indicted on a charge of possession of controlled substance, methamphetamine, a 2nd degree felony. He is accused of having the illegal drug in his possession on April 29.

Turnrow meeting Wednesday

Local farmers are invited to attend a special Turnrow Meeting, this Wednesday, Aug. 24, County Agent Mike Mauldin has announced.

The meeting will be conducted by Dr. Tom Fucha, and will begin at 10 a.m. at Western Trading Post, On I-20 between Colorado City and Loraine.

In reporting on the local cotton crop condition, Mauldin said there is need of rain and favorable conditions have developed for bollworms and boll weevils.

Some scattered showers have dotted the area but not enough to brunt the very hot, dry conditions. This has provided favorable conditions for the rapid development of the worms and weevils.

"Every week, some fields are in trouble," Mauldin said, "the heavy egglay about two weeks ago resulted in another round of treatments in several areas. I have noticed that during the very hot weather, we had had the past several days, bollworm moths have been laying more eggs on the undersides of top leaves, so close inspections should be made."

Mauldin added that boll weevil populations have soared since the

FI generation began to emerge about July 27. "Populations are probably the heaviest since 1976."

"In order to properly time boll weevil treatments, we need to use all of the information we have available," Mauldin said, "and the turnrow meeting Wednesday will be of help to the local farmers contend with the current problems."

FROM THE SCRIPTURES—"For I have given you an example that you should do as I have done to you." John 13:15

Kids often have a lot of wisdom, too. A 10-year-old was asked: "What's wrong with grown-ups?"

To which he replied: "Grown-ups make promises and forget them, or say it was not really a promise, just that 'we'll see.'"

Grown-ups always tell me not to interrupt people, but grown-ups interrupt children all the time.

Grown-ups do not do the things they always tell us kids to do—like picking their things up or speaking correctly or always telling the truth.

Grown-ups tell me to say "excuse me" when I burp, but when they do it they think it's funny and laugh.

Grown-ups tell us not to talk about each other, but when grown-ups are together they talk about each other all the time.

Grown-ups tell us to eat our broccoli and cauliflower and drink our milk, but I never see grown-ups eating the stuff.

Thursday, Aug. 25 about 11:30 a.m. firemen were called to about 2 miles north on Highway 208 where a truck's tires had caught on fire.

Daily living demands daily learning.

Faults are thick where love is thin.

Other members present were Juanita Coker, Thelma Matlock, Margaret Oyler, Addie Smith, Eldon Smith, Pearl Wood, Fannie Cooper, Velma Mosley, Dona Reed, Addie Richardson, Allie Hammons, Loretta Owens, Elizabeth, Elliott, Ruby Cawthron, Ruth Holman and Billie Martin.

Tell them you remember, tell them you remember, tell them you remember, when...

It's a nice little tune those Republicans have come up with for the stretch run to the White House.

Not only do you get good music, you get pictures of unemployment lines, suggestions of runaway inflation, and anything that might possibly have gone wrong when the Democrats were in power back in the late seventies.

If this year's presidential campaign was a division baseball race, it'd be labeled a bloody brawl. The Democrats, fueled by leadoff hitter Ann Richards of Texas, undoubtedly fired the first volley of shots, but if the early Republican ads are indicative of things to come, we should be able to avoid a cease fire right up until the election.

Ann's voice, dripping with sarcasm, defended Republican George Bush, saying he couldn't help himself. He was born with a silver foot in his mouth. You've heard all about the gender gap and what George is supposed to have referred to as the woman thing.

No sooner had the echos of Ted Kennedy leading cheers in Atlanta to the chant of "Where Was George?" died out than Reagan was calling Democratic nominee Michael Dukakis an invalid.

I wouldn't be surprised now to see the Democrats steal the Republicans' theme song. Their version might go something like this:

Yes, yes, tell them you remember, tell them you remember... And while the Democrats are singing the Republicans' theme song, you could be seeing pictures of the Marine barracks in Beirut...

Yes, yes, tell them you remember... Then maybe you'll see a picture of a tall sheriff ripping a Wanted poster off the wall in a post office. A closer inspection of that poster would have to reveal familiar faces like Meece, Deaver, North, Nofziger, Burford, Poindexter, Watt, and so on and so on...

Yes, yes, tell them you remember... The Democrats will want to follow up those pictures with some hostage shots of their own... You know, pictures of Terry Waite, Terry Anderson, Joseph Cicippio, Lt. Col. William Higgins, Robert Polhill, Frank Reed, Alann Steen, Thomas Sutherland, Edward Tracy, Jesse Turner? All taken since the Republicans took over vowing to make the foreigners show us more respect.

Yes, yes, tell them you remember... And, of course, you'll need some pictures of clandestine meetings showing Reagan administration officials selling weapons to the Iranians. In fact, you'd want to put this on split-screen, next to a picture of the president telling the nation we will never bargain with terrorists.

Yes, yes, tell them you remember... One good mud ball deserves another, of course, so this should lead the Republicans to show pictures of a Jimmy Carter look-alike reading a Playboy and sipping on a Billy beer while fishing in a row boat. Just your typical Democrat. This, of course, should be followed by a picture of the man in the boat being viciously attacked by a charging rabbit.

Tell them you remember, tell them you remember... This will force the Democrats to bring out the audio of Mr. Reagan threatening to bomb the Russians. Or maybe they'll show the president explaining why its evil to pay taxes, and good to charge up a trillion dollar tab in seven or eight years for the kiddos to pay off.

Yes, yes, tell them you remember... At this point, we should get a picture of Mr. Carter cheering on the Sandinistas, or forcing the Russians to buy their wheat from other countries, instead of forking over the rubles to American farmers who are now watching their John Deere combines being auctioned off. By then, you should see the Democrats bringing out a series of clips showing Reagan spokesmen clarifying their leader's miss-statements. Bad as all of this may be for deciding on a future president, you've got to admit, it beats Tyson-Spinks by a landslide.

Conservation Reserve Program Signup
We are well into the seventh CRP signup which began July 18, 1988 and was extended to August 31, 1988. You have plenty of time to sign-up, but PLEASE do not wait until the last minute to request your eligibility.

Emergency Haying and Grazing
You were previously notified that you could hay and graze ACR and CU, BUT the latest policy change concerning haying and grazing of ACR and CU acreages permits you to sell the hay to any one at any price. You still must come to the office, make a request and sign the register.

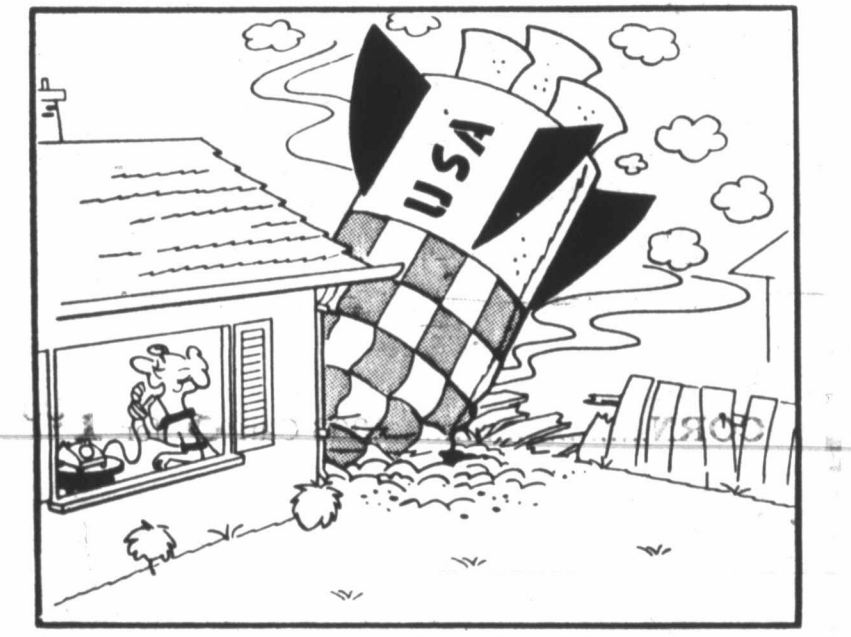

Failed Acres
Before you destroy any crop acreage needed for payment or history you must come to the office and file a 574. Failure to do this could cost your payment and history credit. Failed acres must be due to a natural disaster, not unworkmanlike manner or grass and weeds.

ACR and Paid CU Requirement
ACR and paid CU must be maintained through December 31, 1988. If you plan on planting small grain you may prepare the land now. You are required to control erosion and weeds in addition to maintaining an adequate cover crop throughout the calendar year.

Haying CRP Acreage
County approved for emergency haying and grazing of ACR and CU are also approved for haying CRP acreage through August 31, 1988. There shall be only one 25 percent annual rental payment reduction, regardless of the number of cuttings obtained, unless the hay is donated through an approved third party, in which case, the annual payment is not reduced. There are a number of provisions that must be followed before haying CRP. If you feel you want to pursue this option come by the office and get complete details before starting.

Eligibility to participate in all programs administered by ASCS is established by law without regard to race, creed, color, sex, handicap or national origin.

Again, we would like to express to you, our producers, our thanks and appreciation for the courteous manner in making your 1988 crop certifications.

Dress codes outlined for CISD campuses

Students who will be attending the Colorado Independent School District, should be aware of the dress codes that are in force at the various campuses. The dress code at Colorado High School, as formulated by the CHS Student Council, is as follows:

Boys may wear hair to the bottom of the collar, the bottom of the ear and combed out of the eyes. These restrictions will be determined by the principal. A well-groomed mustache will be acceptable. However, beards and/or goatees are unbecoming at Colorado High School and are not acceptable. Sudden, unbecoming crazes in hair-do, beards, shave heads, pony tails on boys or anything designed to attract undue attention to the individual or activities are not acceptable.

Boys will dress neatly with shirts buttoned and tucked into trousers. Sport shirts that are cut straight around the bottom and designed to be worn outside may be worn outside, provided they are worn neatly, and not more than five inches below the belt. Sleeveless shirts, factory made and not including tank tops, are acceptable provided they cover the seam of the shoulder. Questionable slogans on T-shirts will not be tolerated.

Sundresses must have wide straps and cannot be low cut. Spaghetti straps may be worn only if a jacket is worn with it the whole time. Now low cut skirts (front or back) will be considered acceptable. Knickers, couleottes, walking shorts, and mini-skirts no more than four inches above the knee are acceptable.

Boys may also wear the walking shorts or "jams" no more than four inches above the knees. Suspenders are to be worn over the shoulders.

Bandanas may be worn to school, but not around the head, legs, or arms, jerseys allowed only if there are T-shirts under them. No thongs. No hats of any description will be worn by students inside the school. Boys must wear socks.

MIDDLE SCHOOL

The dress code at Colorado Middle School are much the same as in high school. "Jams" may be worn by boys and girls that are no more than 4 inches above the knee. No tank tops, sleeveless shirts or shirts of any kind with beer, tobacco or other suggestive type lettering or design. Shirts must be in good taste. Shirts designed for inside the trousers, must be tucked in. There will be no see-through or low-cut shirts or blouses and no thongs for boys or girls.

NOTES

Mid-season Lawn Card

By Mike Mauldin, CEA-AG

We are well into August, one of our hottest months, and as homeowners and lawn managers, we should take steps to get the most out of our watering and mowing. Extremely hot, dry days and very warm nights combined with low humidity and a persistent wind, create a lot of stress on lawns and ornamentals. This calls for a change of strategy in maintaining healthy yards. Watering and mowing are the keys to managing drought stress.

Proper watering is critical in August and September. Many people water their yards every three or four days, but only put on 1/4 to 1/2 inch of water at a time. This shallow watering promotes shallow roots, a condition that leads to drought stress. A more sensible plan is to put on at least 1 1/2 inches of water at a time. Rewater when the grass begins to wilt at noon, again with 1 1/2 inches of water. Check your progress by placing several pans under the sprinkler, and see how long it takes to catch 1 1/2 inches of water. Use a sprinkler that puts out a good volume of water in a short period of time, with a large droplet size, low to the ground. This deep watering will wet most soils to a depth of 12 inches, and will drive the roots deeper into the soil as they reach for moisture. The result will be a healthy lawn that is more drought tolerant. The trees and ornamentals will also benefit from this program.

Now lets look at mowing properly. Early in the year, the mower should be set as low as it can go. As the summer progresses, we should raise the cutting height so that by August we are cutting bermudagrass at a height of 1 1/2 inches; St. Augustine should be cut to 2-3 inches high. This will help shade the ground and decrease evaporation of water from the soil. Mow often enough that you only cut off 1/2 of the grass and leave 2/3 of the total grass height.

So, for good control and drought stress, water properly and mow properly.

Volunteers needed at Wallace

THE MYTH OF TEXAS

Traveling with area church youth to the forested, wilderness climes of Colorado, we passed a road sign at the state border that proclaimed Texas as "The Friendly State." Several of the kids remarked they never knew we were "The Friendly State", and were even unaware "Tejas" meant "friendly" in its Caddo Indian language. And then recently I returned from a wedding of some Aggie friends who lamented that on their last journey to A&M campus, that all too few students were exchanging the traditional greeting "Howdy!" to fellow Aggies. It caused me to wonder about myself, since I have always been a Texan and am an Aggie by benefit of receiving my bachelor degree from Texas A&M. I am proud of my heritage, but had I allowed it to become a pride that diminished my Christian concern and acceptance of others? Did those folks in Colorado see us Texans as being a friendly, caring lot or did they see Texans who were obnoxious, boastful and haughty. What kind of people do visitors to our state think we Texans are? Our friendliness is a good gauge of our love for others.

The amount of Christian love within our hearts is reflected by the way we treat others. Every individual, regardless of their homeland, skin color, or political persuasion, is loved by God, not just Texans. "Not that we first loved God, but that He loved us first and sent His Son to be the sacrifice for our sins. Beloved, if God loved us, we also ought to love one another." (1 John 4:10,11) God loves all mankind and He saved us, not on the basis of our deeds, but according to His mercy. (Titus 3:4,5)

Last Wednesday night at our Bible Study, we were studying about Paul's evangelistic efforts in Athens. (Acts 17) His message of redemption and love fell on deaf and insensitive ears. Paul was less successful in Athens than anywhere else, because Athens was in a state of decline and was living on faded glories of its past reputation. Are we in Colorado City and throughout Texas living on faded glories and past reputations? Is it a myth that Texas is the Friendly State? Have we shrunk to a state that loves only the lovable we already know? Christ said, "For if you love those who love you, what reward have you? Do not even the tax gatherers do the same? And if you greet your brothers only, what do you do more than others? Do not even the Gentiles do the same?" (Matthew 6:46,47)

How do we treat people who aren't exactly like us, that may never come to a saving knowledge of Jesus Christ because we hold back on our friendliness, care and love?

Telephones installed for needy households

More than 5,100 new telephone subscribers have been added to the Southwestern Bell Telephone network in Texas through Link Up America, a national assistance program designed to help low-income households with initial telephone installation costs.

Texas was one of four pilot states selected by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) to participate in a six-month Link Up America trial conducted between November 1987 and April 1988. Results of the trial were announced June 6.

Other states participating in the nationwide pilot program included Arkansas (also served by Southwestern Bell Telephone), and West Virginia, plus the District of Columbia. The pilot programs tracked statistical data concerning Link Up America efforts.

Link Up America pays up to 50 percent of the connection cost (up to a maximum $30) to establish telephone service. The outreach program also provides interest-free deferred payment schedules for the remaining half of the connection fee, and reductions and waivers of deposits.

In Texas through April, Southwestern Bell received a total of 13,506 inquiries about Link Up America. Of that number, 5,153 applications were approved; 1,180 applications were pending as of the end of the trial reporting period. About 7,200 applications did not meet the eligibility criteria.

Qualifications for Link Up America assistance is based on income level and eligibility for other state and federal social assistance programs. In general, an applicant qualifies if income is below the federal poverty level, there is no current debt for telephone service, with Southwestern Bell Telephone and there has been no telephone service at the applicant's residence within the last three months. An estimated 230,000 low-income households in Texas do not have a telephone. Of those households, 77 percent (or approximately 180,000 Texans) are served by Southwestern Bell Telephone.

As the primary provider of local exchange service in Texas, Southwestern Bell Telephone was the first Texas telephone company to participate in the program, and the only company involved in the statistical reporting. However, General Telephone of the Southwest and United Telephone are also offering Link Up America assistance programs in their Texas service territories.

During the trial, Southwestern Bell Telephone and the Texas Public Utility Commission established statewide coalitions of more than 100 organizations to promote and distribute Link Up America among low-income households.

As part of this effort, the Texas Department of Human Services (TDHS) included Link Up America information in a mailing to 145,000 Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) recipients. TDHA also plans to send information to the remaining 400,000 AFDC recipients in the state.

TDHA also sent a Link Up America mailing to 35,000 Home Energy Assistance Program recipients in Texas, which resulted in Southwestern Bell Telephone receiving an average of 250 Link Up America inquiries per day -- approximately 55 percent of the total inquiries received in Texas during the six-month reporting period.

Southwestern Bell Telephone will continue offering Link Up America assistance in Texas and will continue to track statistical information about the program for the FCC and USA.

Computer training for farm/ranch

Although financial planning has always been an important tool for farmers and ranchers, as conditions in agriculture have declined, financial planning has become increasingly emphasized by lenders, said Dr. Jackie G. Smith, agricultural economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in Lubbock.

The Extension Service has developed the TAMWFARM (Texas A&M Whole Farm Analysis and Record Management) spreadsheet program which makes it possible for individuals to financially plan for their farm or ranch operation.

On August 23-25, the Extension Service will hold a short course for producers, training them to do whole farm/ranch planning and financial management using the computer.

The course will begin at 1 p.m. August 23 and end at 3 p.m. August 25. It will be taught by Extension economists and be held on the Texas State Technical Institute campus west of Sweetwater.

There will be a $125 charge for each participant. This will cover four meals, refreshments and educational materials. In order to insure hands-on computer use and a high staff/participant ratio, there is a limit on the number of participants.

Financial statements which can be used in annual production planning, loan applications and other management decisions can be compiled for a farm or ranch using systems such as TAMWFARM. "The spreadsheet makes it possible to run several different plans for comparison," said Smith.

TAMWFARM calculates cash flow, net worth, income statements and financial ratio analysis on a 12-month projected basis. The projected financial plan is constructed from crop and livestock budgets which can be changed to reflect each farm's situation.

More information can be obtained by contacting your county Extension agent, or from Smith at the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center at Lubbock, telephone (806) 746-6101.
