Some additional praise for Snyder High School's state championship one-act play finally has caught up with Director Jerry Worsham, who has been out of town most of the summer.

A letter from Christopher Sergel, President of The Dramatic Publishing Co., one of the largest and most respected firms of its kind, offered some new accolades.

"My wife and I had the good fortune to see your splendid production of the Giraudoux play (Ondine) at the play contest in Austin," Sergel wrote Worsham. "It was an extraordinary work and we were utterly thrilled by it.

"In my view, your cutting was exactly right, I love the way you used your materials (such as the sundial) and in many ways, I preferred your production to the one years ago with Hepburn and Ferrar.

"I had been told to expect something special from your production, but still I was unprepared for such outstanding work."

Sergel noted that he planned to be in Austin again next spring to see the University Interscholastic League plays and that he is looking forward to seeing another directed by Worsham and that he is anxious to meet the SHS drama director.

A lot of people around here have felt for some time that the plays being staged at Snyder High School were unusually fine performances. However, experts in this field are few and far between in these wide open spaces and it is heartening to have local assessments confirmed by people of stature from back East, where they are supposed to know more about such things than we do.

Registered voters in Snyder are likely to get their money's worth from their voter registrations this year. We've already had city and school elections, party primaries and a liquor election. Still ahead is the general election in November, plus these potentials: A vote on a proposal to establish a board of county development, a possible proposal for a city sales tax and a bond issue for public school improvements. Some of these potential votes could well be as important to the community as any ever held here.

Those who took the lead in circulating petitions proposing the board of county development were greatly encouraged by the response. It should rank high on the priority list because it could affect more people either directly or indirectly than most issues.—WACIL McNAIR.

SALES TAX VOTE DUE SEPT. 28

City Budget Is Approved

The Snyder City Council last night approved on second and final reading a $1,204,600 budget for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, set the tax rate at $1.85 cents per $100 valuation and then agreed to call an election for Sept. 28 on a city sales tax proposal.

The budget for the coming year already had been stripped of several major items totalling some $131,000 and city officials said it likely would be the last budget that could be supported by a tax rate of only $1.85. The city council then agreed to let city voters decide whether they would prefer to provide additional funds next year via a one-cent sales tax, or a hike in the ad valorem tax rate. The $1.85 rate has been in effect here several years.

The council will take final action on the sales tax election proposal at its September meeting, which will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 5, since the first Monday of the month is Labor Day.

In other business last night, the council agreed to purchase a compaction body for a garbage truck from Pak-Mor Manufacturing Co. of San Antonio and a truck chassis for that equipment from Wilson Motors of Snyder. Each submitted the lowest of three bids, Pak-Mor bidding $9,098.10 for the compaction body and Wilson Motors bidding $11,296.42 for the truck chassis.

The council passed on first reading a new rate schedule for Lone Star Gas Co., which had been agreed upon at the July meeting. The new rate schedule will provide Lone Star an increase of 1.7 per cent in revenue here, the council was advised during the negotiations.

Three zoning changes were approved on second and final reading, while a fourth was tabled for further study. Finally appproved were Ordinance No. 430, as requested by Eula P. Rosson, Ordinance No. 431 as requested by A.A. Price, and Ordinance No. 433 as requested by Vada Burleson. Ordinance No. 432, a zone change requested by Jack Dupree, was tabled for further study.

The council later discussed mobile home zoning problems and ultimately set Aug. 21 as the date for a special meeting to consider a proposal to make mobile homes lawful in all present R-2 (two-family residence) and R-3 (mulit-family residence) zones. A public hearing on this proposal will be held at the Aug. 21 session.

A street light was approved on Coleman Street, between Eighteenth and Twentieth. It had been requested by L.R. Peveler, Sis Jones and Pearl Johnston Allen. Also approved was the installation of four-way stop signs at the intersection of Fortieth Street and Houston Avenue. No action was taken on a proposal to install four-way stop signs at Thirtieth and Avenue E although it was recommended that special surveillance be maintained there and that another report on traffic there be made at a later date.

Buster Anderson, CPA, was re-appointed to prepare the annual audit of city accounts for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30.

An ordinance authorizing the city manager and city attorney to settle claims against the city not exceeding $1,000 was delayed, pending a change in wording.

The council voted to request that the Texas Highway Dept. handle permits for signs on highway systems inside the city limits. The THD has such responsibility on highways outside cities under terms of the Highway Beautification Act.

The council authorized an offer of $2,155.82 for an automobile owned by Billy J. Sullenger, which was virtually demolished in a collision with a city-owned vehicle on july 12.

Red-Led Forces Hit Near Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — Communist-led forces slashed into South Vietnamese militiamen 17 miles east of Saigon today near a highway leading to the resort town of Vung Tau.

Reports reaching Saigon at dusk said 30-40 South Vietnamese troops were killed and an equal number wounded.

There was no count on enemy losses.

By nightfall, the fighting had tapered off to sporadic contact, field reports said.

WTC English Dept. Has New Member

Jesse C. Long has been added to the faculty of Western Texas College as associate professor of English, according to an announcement by Dr. Robert L. Clinton, president of the college. Dr. Clinton said, "Long brings to the English department an outstanding academic background and a wealth of experience, as he has lived, studied, and taught in England for the past seven years."

Long, born and raised in Philadelphia, Pa. is a 1955 graduate of St. Joseph's College in Philadelphia, where he received a B.S. degree, with a major in business administration and accounting and a minor in philosophy. He graduated with honors from The University of Leeds, Yorkshire, England, in 1968, with a B.A. degree, having majored in English Literature and minored in philosophy. In 1969, he was awarded the M.A. degree with distinction from the same university, with a major in English Literature and a minor in a philosophical background to American and English Literature. Work has been completed on a Ph.D. degree at The University of Kent in Kent, England. His doctoral dissertation on English Literature is based on a philosophical approach (linguistic analysis) and the eighteenth-century background to Laurence Sterne's writing.

For seven years prior to moving to England, Long was vice president; secretary of the board and managing director of The Long Publishing Company in Philadelphia. He served in the U.S. Army from 1956-58 and was stationed in Heidelberg, Germany, as a communications specialist-cryptographer.

Several special schools have been attended: Communications Signal School, Fort Gordon, Augusta, Ga.; The Bread Loaf Writers' Conference, Middlebury, Vt. where he studied creative writing; and British Council Special Course, Oxford, England, where he studied Modern English Literature.

Professional associations include membership in The English-Speaking Union of the Commonwealth and St. Joseph's College Alumni Accounting Association.

For the past three years, Long has taught literature and philosophy as a correspondence tutor and course tutor at The Open University, London Region, England. He is also a qualified newspaper and magazine journalist, as well as an experienced baseball and basketball coach.

Married, with two children, Long and his family will move to Snyder in the near future. His wife, who is British, is a qualified occupational therapist (para-medical discipline) in both Britain and the United States. She taught for several years at the University of Pennsylvania.

Rep. Calhoun Out Of Race

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Rep. Frank Calhoun of Abilene officially withdrew today from the race for speaker of the Texas House of Representatives.

He said that, after giving considerable thought, he felt he did not have a good chance of winning and, rather than hold his supporters, would withdraw.

"At the time of my late entry into the race for speaker of the House, after my opponent had been campaigning for the position more than a year, I said I would make a comprehensive check of the membership of the House and, if I felt I did not have a good chance, would withdraw," Calhoun said.

"I made that check. I have found that, while I might have a chance after the general election, so many of the old and new members had committed themselves to my opponent before I got into the race that my continuance in the campaign would have placed a burden on my supporters that I do not feel justified in causing."

Asked if his withdrawal made Rep. Price Daniel of Liberty a shoo-in, Calhoun said he did not believe anyone else would get into the race at this time.

"I will, however, be a member of the next House," Calhoun said, "and I will carry into it as an independent legislator committed to no one the same aims and convictions on which I have based my race for speaker."

Panel Okays Bill Limiting Bus Orders

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Education and Labor Committee today approved a bill that would sharply limit the power of the courts to order busing in school desegregation cases.

The bill, which would provide legislative standards to guide the courts in desegregation cases, is a modification of one proposed by President Nixon.

Before approving the bill by a 21-16 vote, the committee made two major changes. It added a provision designed to upgrade inner-city schools as an alternative to desegregating them, and it removed a provision that would have permitted the reopening of desegregation orders already in effect.

Nixon had asked for authority to concentrate funds im predominantly black inner-city schools but did not request specific funds to carry out the proposal. The committee authorized $500 million a year for the purpose, with the money coming out of $1 billion a year authorized in a recentpy passed bill designed to help schools desegregate.

The final vote came after two weeks of delaying tactics by opponents and with many amendments still to be considered. A time limit was set for the vote that prevented taking up the amendments.

The desegregation standards proposed in the bill would require the courts to try all other methods of achieving desegregation before turning to busing. Even then, busing could not go beyond the next closest school to an elementary school pupil's home and could go beyond that at higher grades only under strict limitations.

The bill's proponents hope to get it to the House floor next week.

Shriver's Okay Mere Formality

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats are expected to nominate Sargent Shriver as their new vice-presidential candidate tonight, amid growing predictions that he can help unify the party for the uphill struggle against President Nixon.

Democratic National Committee members spoke warmly of Shriver, chosen by presidential candidate George McGovern as his new running-mate, as they prepared to make the selection official during a 7:30 p.m. meeting.

But before taking up its main business, the DNC this afternoon must settle credentials challenges to members from five states. The DNC's Credentials Committee ruled on four of the challenges Monday and will hear a challenge to the New York delegation this morning.

The New York challenge, however, did not materialize after two persons who said they would make the challenge failed to appear.

TENEMENT FIRE VICTIM — A Boston firefighter carries a badly burned child from a blazing tenement building in Boston's Roxbury section early Monday that claimed the lives of three women and five children. The child, apparently overcome by her injuries, was revived by mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and is listed in serious condition at a Boston hospital along with her sister. (AP Wirephoto)

No-Fault Measure Near Crucial Test

By JOHN LENGEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fate of a bill to implement no-fault auto insurance nationwide hangs on a vote scheduled in the Senate by tonight.

Agreement was reached Monday to vote by 8 p.m. on a motion by Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., to send the Commerce Committee bill to the Judiciary Committee, which would kill the chance of final action during this congressional session.

Sen. Marlow Cook, R-Ky., said he would vote for recommital because "there are wild questions" about the constitutionality of several provisions which should be studied by the Judiciary Committee.

Opening the debate for supporters, Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., said the bill corrects a situation "where the people who suffer most are paid the least."

The present $28-billion auto insurance industry covering nearly 100 million drivers, Hart said, is "topsy turvy."

Few if any senators publicly oppose the no-fault concept, but there are differences on the degree it may be applied. The administration favors no-fault, but prefers state rather than federal action.

But only two states have adopted no-fault laws approaching the proposed federal standards and the process has been extremely slow. Many state legislative committees are dominated by lawyers who would lose much of their court business under most forms of the no-fault concept.

Under today's liability system, a car accident victim can be certain of payment only if he is not at fault, and the other driver is negligent and also has insurance or assets to pay a claim. Even then, the case may be settled only after a long and costly court suit.

No-fault does away with establishing blame. The bill would require a company automatically to pay claims of its policyholders within limits: up to $25,000 each for medical and rehabilitation expenses, and $75,000 for lost wages.

Supporters say the bill, by relieving insurance companies of court costs, would reduce the cost of bodily-injury insurance premiums by two to five per cent. Opponents say it would cost up to 18 per cent more to guarantee payment to all victims; blameless or not.

Big Project Set At Fink

FINK, Tex. (AP) — Mayor Patricia Albright has plans for beautifying downtown Fink. She has purchased part of it, along with her husband Willard, and intends developing it so "visitors to Fink will have something really to see."

She said an architect would start immediately preparing plans for "Finkworld," which is likely to be a mall-type group of buildings, perhaps under one roof.

"We plan to have a general store, city hall, doctor's office, motel, cave, souvenir store and a service station," said Mrs. Albright.

The land was purchased from Mrs. Nannie S. McClain, and elderly southern California woman who was a former resident of Fink. She and her husband had purchased the land in 1919 "with an eye even then to developing it." She told Mrs. Albright that she had refused many times to sell the property "and you are the only person I would sell to."

Competition For Service Academics

WASHINGTON, D.C.— Congressman Omar Burleson reminds young men who are interested in competing for nominations to the service academies, for the class entering July 1973, he uses a competitive method of selection so that all young men who meet the necessary requirements may be considered.

The service academies are the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland; the Military Academy at West Point, New York; the Air Force Academy near Colorado Springs, Colorado; and the Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, New York. These institutions offer a fine education and a great opportunity for service to their country by young men who wish to follow a military career.

In order for Congressman Burleson to consider applicants, a candidate must meet these requirements: (1) He must be a U.S. citizen; (2) He must be over 17 and a legal resident of the17th Congressional District; (3) He must be under 22 years of age on July 2, 1973; (4) He must never have been married; (5) He must be physically fit, including excellent eyesight; (6) He must have a good high school record.

Burleson stresses that political influence is not a factor in his nomination to the Academies. The important thing is not who you know but what you are.

Interested young men who meet the above requirements should write Congressman Omar Burleson, House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515, no later than August,30. Examinations will then be scheduled as a rating device to set up slates for nomination. The competition is keen but Congressman Burleson wants to assure that all young men who are interested in a military career may have an opportunity to compete for nomination.

Refrigerated air conditioning, evaporative coolers and fans help make life more pleasant under the Texas sun. Refrigerators and freezers work harder in summer. Your other electric appliances stay on the job, too.

Increased use of electricity in the summer –mainly for air conditioning– means higher electric service bills.

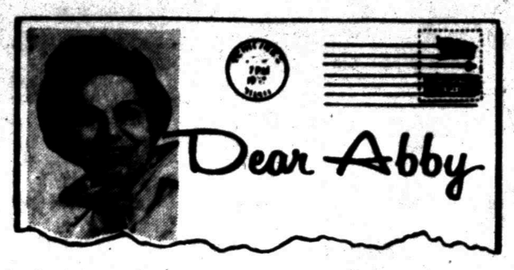

But considering how much it does for you, electric service is a big value.

Particularly in summer, when it's doing the most for you.

A dear old man becomes dirty old man

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am a 40-year-old married woman and have been told that I am reasonably attractive. I've always been able to handle men who have come on too strong, but now I am stumped!

Would you believe that an 85-year-old man has been bugging me? He is well respected in this community, and always greets the women at church with a hug and kiss. I thought nothing of it as he seemed to love people so much.

One day he telephoned me and asked me to come by his house to get some fresh vegetables from his garden. [He lives alone.] I went there, was given the vegetables, then he embraced me and tried to kiss me! I had to struggle hard to get away from him. He's surprisingly strong for his age. I left as tactfully and quickly as I could, but that really shook me up. I almost told him off, then I considered that a man of 85 might not be as mentally responsible as a younger man, and I didn't want to hurt his feelings.

He keeps calling me to come back for more vegetables, and I am running out of excuses. He calls so often I hate to answer the phone.

Should I keep making up excuses for not going back? Or should I tell him the truth and ask him not to call me anymore? I don't know how to get out of this situation. Everyone thinks he is such a dear old man, but to me, he's just a dirty old man.

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: He could be a "sick" old man. Don't be cruel, but do put an end to his calling by telling him firmly, but tactfully that you have decided not to return to his home without your husband. He'll get the idea.

DEAR ABBY: This man [I will call him Mr. Jones] runs a cement contracting business out of his home.

I have telephoned him at least a half dozen times trying to give him some business, but each time I call, a child answers the phone, says, "Daddy isn't home," and hangs up.

I have no telephone in my home so I must make these calls at a pay station which costs me a dime every time I call. Do you think a man should allow his business phone to be answered by a child who can't take a message? And have you any suggestions for how to reach Mr. Jones?

FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: You could write him a letter. But unless you have a concrete reason for wanting to give Mr. Jones your business, why don't you try someone else?

DEAR ABBY: I have worked in the same office for 18 years and there are many fine people here, but here is the problem:

Whenever somebody dies, gets married, has a baby or retires, I am the one who has the "privilege" of collecting for the flowers or gift from the office gang.

Believe me, it's a pain in the neck. I have sometimes waited until the last minute, hoping somebody else would head up the collection, but nobody does.

I have six children, and plenty of places for my money, but this collecting job has cost me a lot over the years. People say, "I'm a little short right now, but if you put in for me now I'll pay you next payday." I put in for them, and that's the end of it. A dollar here, a dollar there. Maybe they intend to pay me back, but most of them forget.

Abby, please put this letter in your column. Everybody here reads it. It might wake up a few who still owe me. No name, please. Just sign me . . .

THE COLLECTOR

DEAR COLLECTOR: Here's your letter, and I hope it pays off.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CONSERVATIVE": A woman in Cincinnati put it this way: "We teach communism without advocating it. We teach revolution without advocating it. Why not teach birth control without advocating it?"

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Hudson River School Is Carefully Studied

THE HUDSON RIVER AND ITS PAINTERS. By John K Howat. Preface by James Biddle. Foreword by Carl Carmer. Viking Press. 207 Pages. $25.

The Hudson River School of Painting was the first real school of American landscape art to deserve the name. Its members succeeded in a difficult synthesis—combining the dramatics of the Hudson itself and its palisadses, the Catskill Mountains, spreading west to Niagara, and some of its members going even farther into the real West. There were predecessors and, more important, some descendants of stature; for instance, George Inness and Winslow Homer.

The school started spontaneously about the beginning of the second quarter of the 19th century and had spent itself largely as a more—or less—organized movement in less than 50 years. Among those generally identified with it were such names not too familiar today even to museum devotees, as Thomas Cole, Asher Brown Durand, John Casilear, John Frederick Kensett, Jasper Francis Cropsey and Albert Bierstadt. Earlier there had been John Vanderlyn.

It is good to have a real study of this group, together with well-chosen representative reproductions of their work. The principal author of the current work, John K. Howat, is curator of American paintings and sculpture at the Metropolitan Museum. James Biddle, president of the National Trust for Historic Preservation, contributes a shrewd preface in which he says the school was composed of "pantheists who thought nature was shaped only by God." And Carl Carmer, New York State native, poet and loving chronicler of the river and upstate color back to colonial times, has written a foreword with knowledge and affection.

Something should be said about the reproductions which, while admirably chosen, show the unevenness besetting many of the full-color copies attempted in this country. When the tones of the original are subdued, as in Cropsey's "Hudson River Near Hastings" or Robert Havell Jr.'s "West Point from Fort Putman," the prints are admirable and faithful. But when the artists themselves use a rather heavy palette approaching the raw colors, the reds are too red, the blues too blue, the greens too bright.

The usual explanation is that labor costs in America do not permit at reasonable costs the patient working out of these defects. That would seem to be another challenge to American technologists, as in other fields, to develop more sophisticated means for increased "productivity" even in the arts.

Young People Play Music For Pleasure

By AP Newsfeatures

Myths and misconceptions about music lessons are depriving millions of young people of the chance to "enjoy" playing a musical instrument, according to an innovative music educator.

"People—especially parents of young children—seem to hang on stubbornly to outdated notions about music," said Dr. Robert Pace of Teacher's College, Columbia University.

For instance, many parents think a child needs "a certain amount of musical talent" to play an instrument.

"This is a gigantic falsehood," said Pace. "Any child who wants to play an instrument for his own enjoyment can—regardless of any so-called 'talent.' Now, we're not talking about virtuoso performers. We are talking about youngsters who want to enjoy music and play for their own pleasure."

Dr. Herman H. Slayman, University of Illinois professor and member of the American Music Conference's Educational Advisory Council, exposes another myth: the youngster has to start with the piano.

"There's no doubt that the piano is an excellent instrument for the beginner," says Slayman. "But it is not the only instrument.

"A youngster should play the instrument that he wants to play and that might be the guitar, clarinet, drums or double bass."

Both Pace and Slayman agree youngsters don't necessarily need a weekly private lesson.

"There are many advantages to group lessons. The kids are with their peers—learning with them and from them. They progress faster and grasp things better. Moreover, group lessons are less costly for parents."

Serving a crowd? Crush 2½ quarts of fresh strawberries and sweeten with 1 cup sugar. Use the berries as a topping for a gallon of vanilla ice cream. Makes about 25 portions.

Add a few drops of ammonia to the water when washing a greasy roasting pan. If ammonia is not on hand, use washing soda.

Close-grained woods such as maple and birch make serviceable kitchen cutting and chopping boards.

WOMEN

Women Invade Another Field

MESA, Ariz. (ap) — Test driving is one of the latest fields to be invaded by women.

Sherry Cromwell and Jeanett Jenkins are driving station wagons 300 miles a day at the General Motors Desert Proving Ground in a test of tires.

Once that is completed, they will be assigned to another test because they like the work and General Motors likes its first two female test drivers.

Miss Cromwell thinks it's logical for her to do the testing because with so many women driving cars, "they aren't safe for anybody if they aren't safe for us."

She's the daughter of a truck driver and applied specifically for the job.

The receptionist job Miss Jenkins applied for had been filled, but GM suggested the test job when it learned she changed the oil and spark plugs in her own car.

Robert Stewart, personnel administrator, says the reaction from the 60 male drivers has been favorable. Miss Cromwell says she thinks some of them are a little more careful of their dress with girls around.

With time out for lunch and rest stops, the women put their cars through the paces of any normal driver, going over city streets, freeways and country roads. They have been doing it since January.

Both women have formed some definite opinions about drivers and driving.

"I hate tailgaters," says Miss Cromwell. "People should use their side mirrors. They are too lazy to turn around and look before they change lanes.

"Drivers should use turn signals. They don't watch what others are doing. Driving tests have got to be stronger. Some people just can't drive."

"Driving consists of looking out for yourself and everyone else too," says Miss Jenkins.

Americans Now Feel Future More Secure

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Based on renewed buying activity, the growth of credit and a drop in the savings rate, Americans are somewhat more certain of the future than they were a year ago.

One of the factors involved in their outlook is the progress being made in arresting inflation. It is now down to about 3.5 per cent on an annual basis. It had been close to 6 per cent in 1970.

Three and one-half per cent is considered a "moderate" rate these days, but only because of the "galloping" inflation—5 per cent or more—that went before. It could be misleading.

Just a decade ago the nation settled on one to two per cent as an "acceptable" rate. It was called "creeping" inflation, and it was tolerated only because nobody could figure out how to get it lower.

The current inflation rate, however, is nearly double that, and prompts Martin Gainsburgh, former chief economist of The Conference Board, to remind consumers that even at a 3 per cent rate, inflation halves the dollar's value in 24 years.

He reminds those who "save in contractual form, e.g., insurance, mutual savings, savings and loan," that they are liable to find their dollars worth only half as much when they withdraw them in their declining years.

The erosion formula is easy enough for anyone to work out. To determine the number of years required to cut purchasing power in half you divide the inflation rate into 72. The answer is disconcerting—but valuable.

It appears that the conservative financial practices of millions of Americans—the safe way, as they describe it—could be extremely wasteful, costly and disillusioning.

An insurance policy, the premiums for which are paid in current dollars, pays off in current dollars too. But premium payments are made in today's money while face valu e is returned in tomorrow's cheaper money.

Savings accounts that pay 5 per cent a year are actually earning only 1.5 per cent—less after taxes—at the present inflation rate. And U.S. Savings Bonds, which pay 5.5, in reality yield only 2 per cent.

Curiously, when inflation accelerated, the rate of savings rose also. Savings Bonds experienced a reversal of fortune: they had been paying out more than they sold but, with the help of a rate raise, this was changed.

Sales of life insurance policies also continued to grow, although it is significant that the greater growth was not in sales of indiviudual but in group policies, which usually are the least expensive policies available.

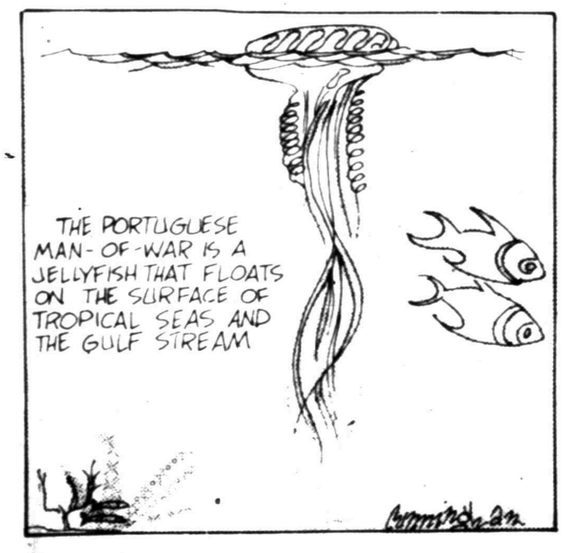

One conclusion that may be tentatively drawn from this behavior is that some consumers today are still unaware of the erosive power of inflation.

But one indication that people are more aware than may be apparent of about how to deal with inflation is their growing interest in equities—in share ownership and in real estate.

There are now more than 30 million shareholders in American companies, about six times the number of 20 years ago. And the percentage of families that own rather than rent has risen steadily since the Great Depression.

In more ways than he probably realizes, a man's home is his castle.

Junior Editors' Quiz on JELLYFISH

QUESTION: What is a Portuguese Man-of-War?

ANSWER: Portuguese Man-of-War is a popular name for a member of the jellyfish family. It is usually found in tropical seas and the Gulf Stream. It is a pretty sight as it floats along the water with its iridescent bladder from 4 to 6 inches long with many long string-like filaments or tentacles. The bladder is filled with a gas which enables it to float on the water. The tentacles, sometimes 50 feet in length, hang down into the water and are used to grasp food. The tentacles are dangerous to fish and man since they contain a powerful poison, with a paralyzing effect on contact. Fish or other marine life are killed by these tentacles and are absorbed as food. Humans receive a painful sting from the tentacles.

The Portuguese Man-of-War is not really a single animal, but a floating colony. Each animal in the colony performs a different task. Some take care of reproduction, others find food, while some other individuals of the colony protect it from any enemies. The structure of each individual in the colony determines the work it performs.

Making Life Worth Living

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things that make life worth living:

The mild elation that comes from making the last payment on an instalment plan—so you're free to go into more debt buying something else.

Finding in the back of a closet a comfortable pair of old shoes you thought your wife had thrown away.

Being thanked by an elderly baby-sitter for walking her home.

The joyous sounds of carols sung outside your house on Christmas Eve by a band of roving singers while snowflakes are feathering down.

Hearing the Irish voice of tenor John McCormack rise sweet and clear as a convent bell on a summer evening from a scratchy old recording of "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling."

Sitting on a park bench at 17 on a starlit night with the first really serious date of your life and wondering just what would be the right move to make next—if any.

Getting a job as counterman in the neighborhood drugstore at 16 and learnedly advising all the creaking old people who came in just what would be the best patent medicine to cure their rheumatism.

Finding at 12 your muscles were so good you could let younger kids hit you in your taut stomach with all their might and it didn't hurt. Well, not too much anyway, after you got your breath back.

Warming your frozen fingers and thawing your nose with other ice skaters around a fire at the edge of a farm pond. Did that pretty girl in the red stocking cap push next to you by accident, or is that where she chose to be?

Reading a poem by Emily Dickinson for the first time, and having the half-dazed feeling that lightning had struck you and the whole world was on fire with a new illumination.

The nostalgia of meeting 50 years later the little red-haired girl you loved and lost in kindergarten. How could time be so unfair to loveliness? On the other hand there, but for the grace of God, was the woman you might have married.

Sitting alone on a log in a sun-flecked wilderness on a camping trip, and suddenly feeling you were in a cathedral and that you should kneel, because all human life is one vast prayer.

Big Melons Are Common At Hope

By BRAD BAILEY
Of The Texarkana Gazette

HOPE, Ark. (AP) — There are three men in Dilley, Tex., who are not too happy with a watermelon they bought, even though the melon delights the taste buds.

The three men are unhappy because they paid $1,550 for the 103-pound melon, smallest in the patch of Lester Kent of Hope.

Recently the trio—Lane Moffeth, Joe Trevino and Bill Leston—told the National Watermelon Growers Association that it was impossible to grow a melon weighing more than 100 pounds.

Apparently, the men never heard of Hope. If they had, they might have been aware that a world record 195-pound watermelon once was harvested at Hope.

At any rate, the men backed their statement with cash and wound up paying the association. Kent, who is accustomed to raising melons in the 180-pound bracket, had no difficulty in topping the 100-pound mark aside from loading the melon on the bus.

"Don't send us that melon," Moffett told Kent over the telephone. "We won't know what to do with it."

Kent replied, "You paid for it, and you're gonna get it."

Kent-raised watermelons make television appearances with celebrities, are devoured by celebrities and always draw a crowd. Bob Hope once auction a Kent melon for $8,000 to aid victims of Hurricane Camille in 1969.

Publicity is the name of the game for residents of Hope. Some of them make up jokes about the size of Hope melons.

A Brief sample:

"The vines grow so fast our melons are often dragged to death."

U.S. Amateur Begins Aug.30

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — All but seven of the 150 players who will compete in the 72nd annual U.S. Amateur Golf tournament Aug. 30-Sept. 2 at Charlotte must qualify in sectional rounds next week.

The U.S. Golf Association said Monday that a record field of 2,363 players has entered the preliminaries. Last year, 2,327 golfers competed.

Qualifying play will take place Aug. 14 and 15 at 43 locations across the country.

A new champion is assured since Gary Cowan of Canada, winner of last year's event has not entered.

But the British amateur champion, Trevor Homer, is in the field and is one of the players exempt from qualifying.

ALL TOURNEY—Jean Ann Payne, left, and Kathy Weber, right, were selected to the All Tournament team in the Miss Softball America state meet this past weekend. Jean Ann holds the trophy she received as the Most Valuable Player for the Snyder team, and Kathy displays the team trophy awarded to the Snyder stars for being the most sportsmanlike team in the state tournament.

SPORTS

A Tearful Berra Thanks Baseball

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Yogi Berra batted leadoff and made a hit. He was followed in the lineup by a host of superstars.

The Hall of Fame induction ceremonies was baseball drama at its best.

The tearfully sincere Berra and humbly grateful Sandy Koufax were among eight great names out of baseball's past inducted Monday into the Hall amid Cooperstown's pastoral setting.

"My only regret is that my father and mother weren't here to see this moment," Berra said of his late parents while he cried openly. "But I want to thank baseball for what it's given me ... I only hope that I can put something back."

The former New York Yankee catching great was the first speaker on the rostrum, bulging with famous names from the sport's past and present.

While thousands of fans, along with friends and family of the new inductees, crowded in front of the Hall of Fame library, Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn introduced the newest of the immortalized:

Berra, Josh Gibson, Lefty Gomez, William Harridge, Koufax, Buck Leonard, Early Wynn and Ross Youngs. Gibson, Harridge and Youngs were honored posthumously.

Koufax, the fabulous Los Angeles left-hander, recalled his early "inglorious" years when the Dodgers were in Brooklyn.

"I thought after my first six years in baseball that it was going to be: Go out and look for another job," said Koufax. "But then I had some help."

Joe Becker, the Dodger pitching coach, and catchers Roy Campanella and John Roseboro eventually provided the assistance that made Koufax the outstanding pitcher in the game for five years before an early retirement in 1966.

Each of the speakers talked succinctly and sincerely. Lusty applause greeted each as he was announced. Movie cameras went into action and flashbulbs popped as photographs zeroed in on each new Hall of Famer, standing with his plaque next to Kuhn.

Their speeches were of one tone—gratitude.

With the ending of the historic day's ceremonies, more than 9,000 fans attended the annual Hall of Fame game at nearby Doubleday Field. The New York Yankees defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 8-3, but the game was an anticlimax to the ceremonies. The induction was really the only game in town.

Davis Cup Enters Challenge Round

By MIGUEL FERNADEZ

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — The United States Davis Cup tennis team turned its attention toward Romania today and the Challenge Round for the Cup, expecting a tough series from both the Romanian players and the Bucharest crowd.

The Americans defeated Spain 3-2 Monday in an emotion-packed series in Barcelona, where they said the noisy crowd was a problem and hurt their play.

U.S. team captain Dennis Ralston declined to predict how the Americans would fare against the Romanians and Wimbledon finalist Ilie Nastase, but he said he expected trouble from the crowd.

"In Romania, the crowd is going to be like this (Barcelona) and the linesmen will be difficult as well," Ralston said after the 1972 Wimbledon champion, Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., clinched the best of five series by outlasting Spain's Juan Gisbert 11-9, 10-8, 6-4.

The No. 1 U.S. player beat the stubborn Gisbert despite trouble with his service and a series of errors.

But his victory after Spain had evened the series 2-2 on Andres Gimeno's 6-3, 6-1, 2-6, 6-2 triumph over Harold Solomon of Silver Spring, Md., moved the U.S. into the finals against Romania, 4-1 winners over Australia at Bucharest.

Ralston said the U.S. team would not play the Challenge Round until late October because of other commitments. The Americans leave for the U.S. today.

AABC Tourney Enters Finals

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — Galveston and El Paso advanced Monday to Tuesday's finals of the regional Mickey Mantle American Amateur Baseball Congress tournament here.

San Diego Is Conquistadors

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The new American Basketball Association franchise here will be called the San Diego Conquistadors and will wear the colors red, white and gold.

Leonard Bloom, owner of the team, said Monday the name was selected because it reflects San Diego's Spanish heritage. The National League baseball team here is the Padres.

Bloom's announcement to the San Diego Sportswriters-Sportscasters Association was greeted with groans and laughter. The groans came primarily from editors wondering how they are going to fit the name into headlines.

Bloom said he would announce today who his general manager and coach will be.

The team's emblem will be a profile drawing of the Portugese explorer Cabrillo.

Between 1916 and 1923, Henry Ford joined Thomas Edison and Harvey Firestone in a well-publicized series of camping trips.

Colts Still Contenders For Third Super Bowl

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts have a new owner and general manager, but not much has changed on the playing field. They're still contenders.

"We have a good team ... with a damned good defense," says Coach Don McCafferty, the low-key head coach who doesn't waste words. "We're championship contenders."

The Colts, whose 131-54-5 record since 1958 is the best in the National Football League, have depth with a fine blend of experience and youth. A third Super Bowl appearance in five years is not impossible.

The entire season for the Colts may be riding on a single position, now that they've made their long-awaited move at quarterback.

John Unitas, 39, and starting his 17th season, is still No. 1. But with veteran Earl Morrall traded, Unitas is backed by little-used Marty Domres, acquired from the San Diego Chargers; and untested Karl Douglas.

Unitas, who can still pick apart defenses but doesn't throw as well as in his prime, outlasted Colts' owner Carroll Rosenbloom.

After 19 years in Baltimore, Rosenbloom wound up with the Los Angeles franchise when Robert Irsay bought the Rams and traded them for the Colts.

Joe Thomas, Baltimore's new general manager, moved quickly after the swap was completed just prior to the opening of training camp. He signed nine players in one day, held firm against the contract renegotiation plans of All-Pro defensive end Bubba Smith, and traded guard John Williams who had played out his option.

Smith anchors one of the NFL's best defensive units which includes just two players over 30, tackle Fred Miller and safety Jerry Logan.

The starting linebacking unit, with "Mad Dog" Mike Curtis flanked by Ray May and Ted Hendricks, may be the best in pro ball.

Rookies Jack Mildren and Bruce Laird back Logan and Rick Volk at safety, while second-year man Leonard Dunlap is pushing Rex Kern for a cornerback spot. Charlie Stukes, who signed after playing out his option, is at the other corner.

Joining Smith and Miller in a likely five-man rotating defensive line are Roy Hilton, Billy Newsome and Jim Bailey.

Last season, when the Colts posted a 10-4 record and advanced to the American Conference title game before losing to Miami, they ran the ball more than ever under Unitas.

This year, veterans Tom Matte, Norm Bulaich, Don Nottingham, Don McCauley, Charlie Pittman and Tom Nowatzke, have been joined by rookies Lydell Mitchell, Penn State's All-American, and John Sykes, who broke Leroy Kelly's records at Morgan State.

The biggest need for improvement is in pass catching.

John Mackey and Tom Mitchell continue their battle for the tight end spot, while wide receiver Eddie Hinton and Ray Perkins are being pushed by Jim O'Brien-who until now has concentrated mainly on place-kicking.

Other receivers include Sam Havrilak, Cotton Speyrer and Rookie Glenn Doughty, who had not signed when the pre-season games began.

The interior line includes four players with eight years or more of experience: center Bill Curry, guards Glenn Ressler and Dan Sullivan, and tackle Bob Vogel.

Sullivan has been moved back to guard, replacing Williams, while Dennis Nelson and rookie Tom Drougas, Baltimore's No. 1 draft pick, contest for Sullivan's old tackle position.

David Lee, one of the best punters in the NFL, is back, and rookie Boris Shlapak, a soccer-style kicker, could handle conversions and field goals should O'Brien make it as a wide receiver.

The Colts haven't had a losing season since 1966, and that string should't be endangered.

UN Secretary Poised To Make Trip To Red China

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — In the steps of Marco Polo and Richard Nixon, the secretary-general of the United Nations will set out Wednesday for China, his way smoothed by concession after concession to Peking's hard line on Taiwan.

The announcement of his journey, bare to the point of near nudity, surrounded it with the kind of mystery that has always given rise to so much curiosity about that immense land, at once the most populous and among the least accessible of countries.

What is known is that the government of the People's Republic of China has invited Kurt Waldheim for an official visit; that he and his wife with four members of his secretariat will spend five days in the country.

What is not known is which of China's 800 million people he will meet; whether he will get face-to-face exposure to the famous thoughts of Chairman Mao Tse-tung, the usually invisible head of the Chinese Communist party; and whether, like President Nixon, he will wind up endorsing the Five Principles of Peaceful Coexistence.

On Peking's firmest principle, that there is no "one China, one Taiwan" but only one China with Taiwan included, Waldheim's position is already well established.

It is, quite simply, Peking's position.

Waldheim established it soon after he became secretary-general at the beginning of this year. He confirmed the decision of his predecessor, U Thant, to deny U.N. press credentials to two correspondents of the Chinese Nationalist government's Central News Agency.

In fact, in disaccrediting the correspondents and ordering them out of the building in the hurried closing days of his 10 years as secretary-general, Thant had given in to growing pressure from the new Peking delegation. In following Thant's lead Waldheim was fending off similar pressure.

Disagreements with the Soviet Union over matters of less moment to that government — Korea in one case and the Congo in the other — forced Trygve Lie out of the secretary-generalship in 1953 and clouded Dag Hammarskjold's last year in the job, down to the day he crashed and died in the African bush on a diplomatic mission in 1960.

Waldheim bears ultimate responsibility for all the steps that have been taken to disengage the United Nations from Taiwan because he is the chief administrative officer of the U.N. secretariat.

In the United Nations, generally, the Chinese have not turned out to be the bogeymen that they were painted in years gone by by their then worst enemies, the Americans.

In the old days, from afar, they issued demands that the United Nations be reformed from top to bottom and that the General Assembly's 1951 resolution declaring China an aggressor in Korea be rescinded.

Now that they are here, they do not mention those things. They take strong positions, then compromise.

In the Security Council, faced with a popular resolution that they object to, they usually do not obstruct it. They vote for it while recording reservations, they abstain from voting, or they resort to the even more aloof stance of not participating in the vote.

Alone among the five permanent members of the council, they have never yet used the veto — though they once threatened to.

The Chinese, informants said, turned against it when they found out that Nationalist China had signed the treaty in Washington. They feared that adoption of the resolution would involve the council in recognition of Nationalist China as a state, because its signature could be held to make it a potential "state party" to the treaty.

With Waldheim's visit to Peking, he will have been to the capitals of all five permanent members of the Security Council. He was in Washington in January, Paris and London in April and Moscow in July.

Economic Stabilization Questions and Answers

Internal Revenue Service

This column of questions and answers on the President's Economic Stabilization Program is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service. The column answers questions most frequently asked about wages and prices.

Q. Are finance charges exempt from price controls?

A. Yes. Finance charges are exempt from price controls. Included under exempt charges are the following: 1. interest, time price differential, and any amount payable under a point, discount, or other system of additional charges; 2. service or carrying charges; 3. loan fees, finder's fees, or similar charges; and 4. fees for an investigation or credit report. Charges for insurance, including credit life insurance, are not exempt.

Q. If I complain to the IRS about a rent increase, may my landlord evict me in retaliation?

A. No. Economic Stabilization rules forbid any retaliatory action by a landlord against a tenant who exercises his rights under the regulations. In addition, a landlord, in his rent increase notice, must tell you it is illegal for him to take retaliatory action and that he will not do so.

Q. Can my landlord increase my rent because the city made a special assessment upon him for the installation of sidewalks in my development?

A. Yes. Special assessments, such as those for the installation of sidewalks, sewer lines and water lines, are now considered allowable cost items under the rent regulations. This means that landlords can pass on to tenants increased assessments, just as they can pass on increased state and local realestate taxes and state and local fees, levies and charges for all municipal services, except for gas and electricity.

Q. Is a reduction of an employee's workweek without a proportionate decrease in pay considered a pay increase subject to controls?

A. Yes. Such a benefit must be taken into account in determining the premissible annual aggregate increase for an appropriate employee unit.

Q. How are prices controlled on the manufacture of leather goods?

A. On or after June 25, 1972, a nanufacturer who sells a product for which the cost of leather constitutes more than 10 percent of the total allowable costs may not charge more for that product (1) than he could have had the cost of leather not increased since Jan. 1, 1971 or (2) since the last price increase on the product before Nov. 13, 1971, whichever is later. To this the manufacturer may add the dollar amount of the cost increase of the product at tributable to leather since that last price increase.

If the cost of the product which is attributable to leather decreases at any time after June 15, 1972, the manufacturer must reduce the price of the product accordingly.

Q. Will a retailer's base price list tell you if the firm's price increases are legal?

A. No. But the base price list will tell you whether or not a price has gone up since the freeze. If it has, the base price will tell you how much. If you come across an unusually large price increase, ask the store manager for an explanation. If his answer doesn't convince you that the increase is legitimate, call the Internal Revenue Service for information concerning the procedure to be followed in filing a complaint.

For more information, write your IRS district office and ask for a free copy of Publication S-3021, "Retail Price Controls."

Free Time Is Denied GOP

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS and NBC have turned down a Republican request for free television and radio time to reply to Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern's speech announcing that Sargent Shriver was his choice for a running-mate.

Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., the GOP national chairman, asked for equal time to rebut what he said was a "campaign speech" by McGovern after the announcement Saturday night.

The networks said Monday in telegrams to Dole that they considered Saturday's broadcast was on-the-spot coverage of a bona fide news event and as such was exempt from the equal time provisions of the Federal Communications Act.

ABC said it had Dole's request under consideration.

Fund Started For Fireman

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A memorial fund has been started for Capt. James Buford, a veteran fireman who answered more than 1,000 alarms and died on the last one.

His last call was a drowning in an Austin creek.

He tied a rope around his waist and moved across a bridge where witnesses said they saw a boy on a motorcycle swept away. He slipped and was dragged by the current into a concrete pipe, and the rope snapped and he was carried down the creek.

Buford was pulled from the water but died the next day.

A native of Uvalde, Buford moved to Austin in 1940 when he was 12. He joined the fire department in 1952 and was promoted to captain in 1962.

Buford spent a lot of his time repairing old firefighting equipment and machinery, and some of the money from the memorial fund will be used to buy new equipment—to be dedicated in his honor. The rest will be placed in a trust for his three children.

All Members of the Legislature, including the Lieutenant Governor and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, shall receive from the Public Treasury a per diem of not exceeding Twelve Dollars ($12) per day for the first one hundred and twenty (120) days only of each Regular Session and for thirty (30) days of each Special Session of the Legislature. No Regular Session shall be of longer duration than one hundred and forty (140) days. This amendment shall be self-enacting and appropriations heretofore made in the general appropriations bill for the biennium ending August 31, 1973, for the salaries of the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives shall not be invalid because of the anticipatory nature of the legislation.

"In addition to the per diem the Members of each House shall be entitled to mileage in going to and returning from the seat of government, which mileage shall not exceed Two Dollars and Fifty Cents ($2.50) for every twenty-five (25) miles, the distance to be computed by the nearest and most direct route of travel, from a table of distances prepared by the Comptroller to each county seat now or hereafter to be established; no Member to be entitled to mileage for any extra Session that may be called within one (1) day after the adjournment of the Regular or Called Session."

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1972, at which election the ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment to provide annual salaries of $8,400 for members of the Senate and House of Representatives."

Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
NUMBER 14 ON THE BALLOT (HJR 57)
General Election November 7, 1972

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS

Section 1. That Article VII, Constitution of the State of Texas, be amended by adding a Section 6b, to read as follows:

"Section 6b. Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 6, Article VII, Constitution of the State of Texas, any county, acting through the commissioners court, may reduce the county permanent school fund of that county and may distribute the amount of the reduction to the independent and common school districts of the county on a per scholastic basis to be used solely for the purpose of reducing bonded indebtedness of those districts or for making permanent improvements. The commissioners court shall, however, retain a sufficient amount of the corpus of the county permanent school fund to pay ad valorem taxes on school lands or royalty interests owned at the time of the distribution. Nothing in this Section affects financial aid to any school district by the state."

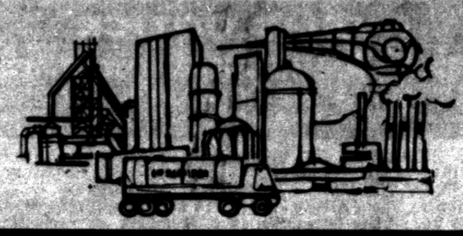

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1972, at which election the ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment to allow a county to reduce its county permanent school fund and distribute the money to independent and common school districts on a per scholastic basis."

HANDY SERVICE — Howard Lee, manager of the Handy Hut, 4213 College Ave., stands at the entrance of his new business and invites everyone to stop in for all of their grocery or house hold needs.

Not only is the Handy Hut quick and handy, it offers you the best service possible and a wide selection of items.

Handy Hut Also Means Quick, Efficient Service

The Handy Hut, 4213 College Avenue, is as the name implies, handy and readily available for all of your grocery and household needs, but what isn't revealed in the name is the service that you can get at the Handy Hut. Howard Lee, manager of the new business, doesn't want the Handy Hut to be just another stop-and-go, quick service food store. He also wants to provide his customers with the best service in the business.

The Handy Hut is a member of a chain of similar stores located throughout the southwestern region, particularly the plains country of Texas, and is owned by Furr's Foods. The Snyder store had its grand opening June 10, almost two months ago. Handy Hut is open to serve you from 7:00 a.m. to 11:00 p.m. seven days a week.

What can you find at the Handy Hut? Almost everything. It's really a combination of several stores, grocery, pharmacy, household and hardware. In the grocery department you can find frozen foods, dairy products, lunch meats, canned goods, vegetables, spices, and anything else you need for your snack or feast.

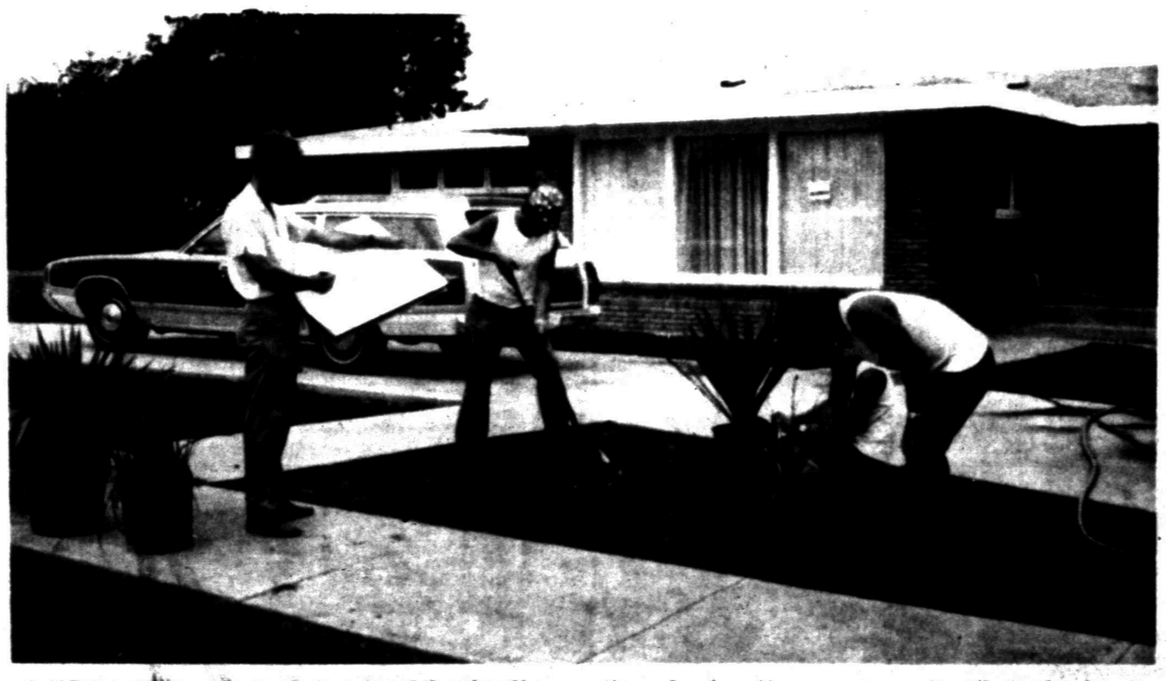

If you like the great outdoors and need picnic supplies, the Handy Hut has everything but the ants. Ice is always available and ice chests are sold so that you'll have something to put the ice in, keep your drinks cold and your food fresh. Charcoal and charcoal lighter, napkins, paper plates and cups, and of course — food and drinks, are all at the Handy Hut. You can even get ready-made sandwiches to go, and for the highlight of your outing, try a nice cold and refreshing watermelon.

Handy Hut carries a full line of toiletries and grooming items for everyone in the house. For the infant there are special formulas, baby foods, powders, Pampers and all the special things that are always needed right when you don't have them. For the older members of the family whose needs are more sophisticated than Pampers, the Handy Hut has beauty supplies, grooming accessories and counter drugs.

Laundry supplies, household goods, mops, brooms, sewing supplies, books, magazines, film and camera supplies, are all part of the hundreds of items at the Handy Hut. The list could go on and on and could include such novelty items as small toys, cigarette lighters, tobacco, sunglasses, binoculars and playing cards.

In addition to all of these items the Handy Hut offers you self-service gasoline, regular and premium grades a low prices. Money orders are also sold as another service. What else? Well, some people come to the Handy Hut just because they have a nickel and think that the hut has "the best nickel-dip ice cream cones in town."

So when you think of the Handy Hut, don't just think of it as a quick stop grocery, think of top service, newness and cleanliness, and all the many, many items that are available to you. If you find it hard to remember the seemingly infinite number of items, then perhaps a better procedure to follow is to first think of whatever it is you need and then simply remember that Handy Hut will have it. One stop at 4213 College Ave. will take care of everything.
