Rent Controls Are Fading Out; Nylons, Radios Promised Soon

Setup On Credit May Be Modified, Plant Expansions Turned Loose And Meat Points To Be Cut Next Month

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21—The government unwrapped a big bundle of news for American homes and business today.

1. Your rent ceilings—if you live in certain places—may come off very soon. They'll go where wartime swollen populations dwindle. Not elsewhere for months.

2. OPA indicated meat points would be reduced, beginning next month. Agriculture Secretary Anderson already had said meat rationing would end soon.

3. Nylon stockings will be back by Thanksgiving, or at the latest by Christmas. So says WPB. It revoked the order controlling production of nylon and rayon.

Radios By Christmas

4. Three and a half million radios by Christmas—maybe. WPB says the only limiting factor in making radios from now on will be the supply of parts.

5. The government is considering modifying credit controls, but not wiping them out. This would make credit buying easier, but not as easy as it was.

6. Businessmen were told to build all the new factories, plants and additions they could. The government killed controls on the act of building but kept controls on some materials, like lumber.

Wage Hikes Demanded

7. In Detroit 280,000 CIO Auto Workers were demanding a 30 per cent wage increase, without waiting for industry to get fully converted to peacetime.

8. Secretary of State Byrnes threw his weight behind the "full employment" bill, which President Truman wants passed.

9. Lend-lease, the 40 billion dollar transfusion of supplies to our Allies, was officially declared dead. This shoved foreign trade closer to a peacetime basis.

10. The salary stabilization unit —which controlled white collar workers' pay—faced early death. This was good news for white collar workers because it meant the raise limit was practically off for them.

Solon Flays Aides

11. Congress got a rap from one of its own members—Rep. Sabath (D-Ill)—for talk that it might not meet until mid-September instead of Sept. 5, as planned.

Sabath says it should return on the 5th to consider a dozen measures which need quick attention. They include a bill aimed at "full employment," the same kind of bill Secretary Byrnes endorsed in "principle" before a Senate committee.

He says the other measures include: Tax reduction, higher unemployment pay for war workers and veterans, and some reconversion steps.

School Bonds Given Overwhelming Favor

Voters overwhelmingly approved a $1,500,000 bond issue for the expansion of Lubbock school facilities in a special election held Tuesday, 517 voting for the issue and only 12 against.

The bonds, interest rate of which is not to exceed two and one-half per cent, will be used to enlarge the school system. Among contemplated improvements will be:

1. Construction of a new 12-room ward school in the rapidly growing area lying southeast of the city on property lying approximately one-half mile south and one-half mile east of the Slaton-Tahoka "Y" on south Ave. H. This project has already been approved by the War Production Board.

Two Junior High Buildings

2. Construction of two modern Junior High school buildings. One is to be located in the extreme southwestern part of the city, on property lying between Thirtieth and Thirty-second streets, and between Monroe and Jefferson avenues. The other will be in south-central Lubbock on a site bounded by Avenues P and Q, and Twenty-ninth and Thirty-second streets.

3. Completion of Senior High school, including a combination cafeteria-bandroom and 12 classrooms.

4. Addition to Dunbar negro school on a combination cafeteria-gymnasium and study hall.

5. Addition of a combination shoproom and cafeteria at the Mexican school.

6. Addition of four classrooms (making 12 in all) at McWhorter ward school.

Remodel Junior High

7. Remodeling of the present Junior High school so the north wing can be used for an elementary school after the new Junior High buildings are completed.

8. Institution of modern, sanitary cafeteria facilities in all schools in the system.

J. L. Murfee was election judge. He was assisted by P. C. McCoy and R. Bush Smith.

PAW Calls For Cutback On Oil

By WILLIAM E. KEYS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Aug. 21—Texas' first postwar cutback in crude oil production will be made in September.

The Petroleum Administration for War today notified Railroad Commission Chairman Olin Culberson it had revised downward its certification for September crude production in Texas from 2,200,000 barrels daily to 1,978,000 barrels. August production averages about 2,195,000 barrels daily.

The original PAW certification was made before Japan capitulated. Culberson was advised of the revised certification by telephone. He said PAW did not immediately advise what reduction would be made in production of distillates and condensates.

217,000 Barrels Less

Based on the revised certification crude output next month will be about 217,000 barrels daily less than this month.

Culberson said the first slice in production would come from fields now producing 54,585 barrels daily in excess of maximum efficient rates, a condition resulting from soaring war demands for oil.

The remainder of the cut will be applied on a statewide basis, resulting probably in 23 or 24 general producing days this month.

Culberson foresaw a continuation of 25 producing days in the big East Texas field for September since it seemed likely that PAW will not want immediately to reduce the flow of oil to the war emergency pipeline.

Hearing Set August 30

With the postwar picture clarified somewhat by PAW's revised certification Texas operators will discuss the situation at a recessed statewide proration hearing in Austin on Aug. 30. The hearing, called last week, was recessed by the commission to permit PAW to revise its certification.

The revision prompted from Culberson an assertion that full control of the industry should now be relinquished by PAW in favor of the states. The war's end, the availability of steel and other factors dictate this action, he declared.

Culberson declared further that PAW should immediately rescind an order (PAO 11) requiring 40-acre spacing of wells because the order "has worked with peculiar emphasis against the little fellow."

Wants Order Rescinded

"The commission has urged that this order be rescinded immediately and I hope that it will be," he said.

Culberson continued:

"The challenge is now for the

Crozier Named To State Board

AUSTIN, Aug. 21. (AP)—Harry B. Crozier, of Austin, becomes chairman-director of the Texas Unemployment Compensation commission Sept. 30, succeeding Claude A. Williams whose resignation, effective the same date, was today accepted by Gov. Coke R. Stevenson.

Crozier is now a member of the commission and the vacancy caused by his promotion will be filled by Maj. Jack F. Reed of Austin, formerly of Galveston, the governor announced.

Williams, appointed by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, has served since Nov. 21, 1940. Crozier originally was appointed by Stevenson.

Must Be Confirmed

The third member of the commission is Robert M. McKinley of Austin, a Stevenson appointee. The chairman-director receives $7,500 annually, and other commissioners $6,000. Crozier's new appointment and the appointment of Reed are subject to Senate confirmation at the next session of the legislature, special or general.

Reed is expected to be discharged from the Army in the near future. He has had three years service in the Pacific. He once served on the Texas Relief commission.

Williams announced that after Oct. 1 he will engage in law practice in Austin and will represent trade associations in social security matters.

Opposes Subsidies

He leaves for Washington Sunday to appear before the House Ways and Means committee against House resolution 3736 and before the Senate Finance committee against Senate bill 1274 which Williams said propose subsidizing state unemployment compensation commissions by making federal funds available for increasing benefits to eligible jobless benefit claimants, extending coverage to all workers, paying compensation to federal workers, paying benefits to maritime workers and paying transportation costs to workers in congested areas who accept employment in other areas.

In Washington he also will assist in working out plans for the return of the employment services to the states, he said.

Wreck Of Passenger Trains Injures 20

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 21. (AP)—More than 20 persons were injured this afternoon as the third section of the Santa Fe's Grand Canyon Limited plowed into the Limited's second section at Franconia, Ariz., 24 miles east of Needles. Both trains were westbound from Chicago.

Santa Fe officials said no one had been killed, but that seven were known to be seriously hurt and two in critical condition.

The injured were being taken to a hospital in Needles. A call was issued for additional doctors and nurses.

Four cars of the second section were derailed, as were the locomotive and baggage car of the third section. Among the injured were the fireman of the third section and a Pullman conductor and a porter of the second section.

Col. McCarthy Named Assistant To Byrnes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP) — Col. Frank McCarthy of Richmond, Va., today was appointed an assistant secretary of state.

He will succeed Julius C. Holmes, who recently resigned as assistant secretary in charge of administrative affairs.

Col. McCarthy, whose nomination by President Truman will be sent to the Senate when it reconvenes, is a reserve officer and has served as secretary of the Army General staff since Jan. 15, 1944.

Pale Quisling Stammers No On Betrayal

By NED NORDNESS
Associated Press Staff Writer

OSLO, Norway, Aug. 21 — Vidkun Quisling, stuttering and nervous, whispered a hoarse "no" today to a question from Presiding Judge Erik Solem whether German Admiral Erich Raeder had asked him to "betray your country."

At first the pale defendant, on trial for his life on charges of treason, muttered "I cannot remember."

The judge reprimanded him sharply, then demanded: "Answer yes or no."

Loses Composure

Quisling finally dragged out his negative reply, but he never again regained the composure he had exhibited earlier in the day.

Both the judge and prosecutor Annaeus Schjodt flayed him mercilessly about his alleged relations with German officials before the invasion of Norway.

The prosecutor presented new documents he said were taken from German archives, and which he asserted proved that Quisling had participated in planning the Nazi invasion of Norway. One document showed that Quisling gave specific military information about Oslo fjord fortifications and warned against Norway's torpedo batteries, the prosecutor added.

Asked by the judge about his relations with Raeder, Quisling replied "I did not know him well."

Judge Is Caustic

Caustically the judge inquired, "Then could Raeder misunderstand you to such an extent as to count on your cooperation when Norway was to be attacked?"

Quisling did not answer.

Questioned about the financial support his party received from Germany early in 1940, Quisling declared "I never heard about it."

"Perhaps the Germans got you mixed up with someone else," the judge commented.

Schjoedt asserted that a letter found in Quisling's home written to Hitler expressed regret that "blood was spilled during the invasion of Norway. I would rather have seen a realization of my plan for action in Oslo."

Called a Peace Action

Then the prosecutor asked Quisling, "What plan "

"That was a peace action arranging a peaceful settlement between Norway and Germany," said Quisling. "This was destroyed by Norwegian resistance."

Quisling admitted sending a telegram to Hitler during the exciting days of April, 1940.

"Hitler was enraged by Norwegian opposition and I hoped to soothe him," said Quisling.

"Do you think the German rage was justified or called for?" the judge asked.

"Well, yes," Quisling answered, "I thought the attitude of Norwegians was wrong and dangerous."

Enters With Swing

Quisling came into the court room this morning with a determined swing and busied himself with his papers. He conferred often with his defense attorney and listened intently to the judge and prosecutor.

Schjoedt spoke of document after document found in German archives by American troops which he asserted offered proof of Quisling's guilt.

"Every one of them is proof that Quisling asked for and received German help—political and economic—several months before the German attack on Norway," the prosecutor declared.

Death was due to drowning, Justice of the Peace W. L. Sterrett said after a coroner's inquest.

Great Power Display To Back Up Landings

UNCLE SAM HAD PLENTY IN RESERVE — The atom bomb, which proved so effective against the Japs, was far from being the only new weapon Uncle Sam had up his sleeve at war's end, according to Gen H. H. Arnold, U. S. Air forces chief, who has revealed a new super-dooper bomber whose range makes B-29s seem like only for local whistle-stops. With range two and a half to three times that of the B-29 shown in picto-map above, it could fly from Hawaii to the China coast, complete a bombing mission and return to its base. As shown at right, the super-super could circle the earth at the equator—24,902 miles— in three hops.

Britain Rebuffs Bulgar Regime

Britain said she did not believe that the elections in the Soviet-occupied country would be free under present electoral law and conditions, and cited reports of the intimidation of voters.

The British note was handed the Bulgarian prime minister during the day by the British political representative in Sofia. It was made public by the foreign office tonight.

Welcome Free Elections

The note said Britain "would welcome elections which gave full and free opportunity for the expression of the opinions of the Bulgarians."

The British government considers "that the form of this law is designed to operate to the advantage of the government now in power and to the disadvantage of its opponents.

"They have also received reports which they consider reliable that persistent efforts have been made to intimidate supporters of the opposition.

Moscow dispatches said the Supreme Soviet had released Georgi Dimitrov, former secretary of the Communist International, from Soviet citizenship and his duties as a deputy to the Supreme Soviet so that he could campaign for a seat in the Bulgarian parliament as a candidate of the patriotic front party.

Dimitrov, a native of Bulgaria, took Russian citizenship after his arrest and trial on charges by the Nazis that he took part in the Berlin Reichstag fire in 1933.

Prisoners Freed, But Lt. Hite Unreported

(By The Associated Press)

The eight fliers taken prisoners by the Japanese after the first bombing raid on Japan's home islands April 18, 1942, included 1st Lt. Robert L. Hite of Earth, Texas ,and 1st Lt. Dean E. Hallmark of Dallas.

Fronm Chungking, China, Tuesday the Office of Strategic Services announced that four members of General Doolittle's first mission over Tokyo had been released from a prison camp at Peiping, but that their names would not be disclosed until relatives were notified.

Born At Vernon

Hite was born at Vernon, Tex. He went to high school at Spring Lake, near Earth, Lamb county, was graduated from West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon, and in Sept., 1940, enlisted in the Arm Air forces.

His mother, Mrs. Lena Hite of Earth, said Tuesday she had had no word from him since April, 1943, when she received an unconfirmed report that her son's voice had been heard on a short wave broadcast from Tokyo six months before.

Hallmark's Record

Hallmark attended Paris Junior college, Alabama Polytechnic institute, and the University of Texas. He entered the air forces in November, 1940, after spending two years in South America with an oil company. On his behalf his mother, Mrs. O. D. Hallmark of Dallas, received the Distinguished Service Cross in ceremonies held at Love field in Dallas.

Hallmark was born at Bronte, Tex., and reared in Greenville, where he played on the football team.

CHUNGKING, Aug. 21.—Four of the lost airmen who bombed Tokyo in the historic raid led by Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle in April, 1942, have been rescued by a daring American team which dropped from the skies on Japanese-occupied Peiping, it was announced today.

Even as the news of their rescue was radioed to Chungking, it appeared that arrival here of another American soldier-hero, Lt. Gen. Jonthan M. Wainwright, was being delayed by Japanese in the Mukden area who were possibly fearful of doing anything that might get them into difficulties with the Russians.

Parachute Team

A parachute team sent by the Office of Strategic Services liberated the four fliers, who had been charged by the Japanese with murder. Their names were withheld pending notification of their next of kin.

The message radioed here said the fliers now were in the Grand Hotel De Peking, and were receiving the best care possible. One is in such serious condition from beri beri that he will be unable to travel by air.

It was possible that the four were the sole survivors of eight Tokyo raiders whose capture was disclosed by the War department more than a year after the raid.

Eight Captured Men

The raid, led by Lt. Gen. (then Lt. Col.) James H. Doolittle, was staged on April 18, 1942. The eight men captured were: Lt. George Barr, Madison, Wis.; Lt. William Glover Farrow, Washington, D. C.; Lt. Robert L. Hite ,Earth, Tex.; Lt. Robert J. Meder, Lakewood, Ohio; Lt. Chase J. Nielson, Hyrum, Utah; Lt. Dean E. Hallmark, Dallas, Tex.; Cpl. Jacob B. DeShazer, Madras, Ore.; Sgt. Harold A. # Air Force Officers Discharge Started

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21 (AP) —The Fourth Air force disclosed today it has received orders to begin discharge of officers with points ranging from 36 to 70.

The system frees personnel having no critical skills, or those who have asked to be released and who have the necessary points.

Flight officers, except for radar operators and unusual specialties, are not considered in the critical class, a Fourth Air force spokesman said.

He said the points necessary for discharge are: 70 for captains and above; 58 for first lieutenants; 42 for second lieutenants; 36 for flight officers and 65 for warrant officers.

Enlisted personnel still must have 85 points for discharge.

Jap Troops In Burma Blow Themselves Up

RANGOON, Burma, Aug. 21 (AP) —Suicidal Japanese troops in Burma were reported today to be blowing themselves up with hand grenades as Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten awaited a reply to his directive ordering Japanese surrender envoys to appear in Rangoon by Thursday.

Eight Japanese soldiers at Penwegon, 110 miles northeast of Rangoon on the road to Mandalay, came down from the hills and tried to cross the road in view of British imperial troops, who held their fire.

When the enemy soldiers discovered they had been seen they pulled the pins on their grenades in unison. Only one survived and he lost a leg.

Japs To Sign On Warship

By RUSSELL BRINES
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Wednesday, Aug. 22— Allied airborne troops will start the occupation of Japan Sunday, the Nipponese government announced yesterday, and American sources said the Japanese would see the greatest display of military power ever assembled off a foreign country.

The Japanese imperial headquarters and imperial government in a joint communique said the airborne troops would land at Atsugi airfield 20 miles southwest of Toyko, with further landings Tuesday from warships and transports in the Yokosuka area at the mouth of Tokyo bay.

Tokyo Broadcast

(A Tokyo broadcast report that General MacArthur will land on Atsugi Aug. 28 and the formal signing of a "truce agreement" be held Aug. 31 in Tokyo bay aboard a U. S. warship was recorded today by the British Broadcasting company. The report was attributed to the Tokyo newspaper Omiui Hochi by Domei in the broadcast.

(Omiui Hochi said the first group of occupation forces will begin landing Aug. 31 at Kanoya airfield in Kagoshima prefecture and will comprise slightly more than 20,000 ground troops.)

Domei, the Japanese agency, broadcast the communique within 24 hours after Emperor Hirohito's surrender envoys returned to Tokyo from their conference at General MacArthur's headquarters at Manila. MacArthur remained silent on occupation plans.

Start Operations Saturday

The communique said that air operations would be started over Japan Saturday, with the airborne landings Sunday and the entry early Monday of "two Allied fleets" on Sagami bay, Omiui Tokyo bay, with "one unit entering Tokyo bay if conditions are favorable."

Under the time differential between Japan and the United States, airborne landings on Nippon undertaken during hours up to noon Sunday, Tokyo time, would be within the hours preceding 10 p. m. Saturday, U. S. central war time.

MacArthur already has announced that the formal signing of surrender terms will take place in the Tokyo area by Aug. 30.

Japs Get Truth And Warnings

(By The Associated Press)

Japanese down to the little man in the street learned the cold facts of surrender Tuesday, were warned against wishful thinking and given the sugar-coated pill that Allied terms may be "somewhat lenient."

An imperial announcement, broadcast by Tokyo, told the people for the first time that their emperor had sent surrender envoys to Manila to learn the conditions of capitulation.

The announcement was terse, without details, but the Tokyo press printed considerable about what has transpired within the empire's most historic fortnight.

Must Face Cold Facts

"Be prepared to face cold facts" was the stark heading of an article in the newspaper Mainichi which bluntly said the empire would have to accept a "conqueror's terms."

That Allied surrender terms will be "somewhat lenient" was the conclusion reached by the semi-official Domei news agency in its analysis of the Potsdam declaration, basis for Japan's surrender.

"The fact that they (the Allies) will regard Japan as a defeated nation and will punish her harshly and severely is quite evident . . . therefore, there is not an iota of doubt that the acceptance of the declaration is an acceptance of

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP) — Gals, you can buy nylon stockings by Thanksgiving, or anyway, by Christmas, the War Production board indicated today.

WPB has revoked order M-356 which controlled production and distribution of nylon and rayon.

This leaves the maufacturers of nylon hose blocked only by an order which prohibits the use of nylon in making women's hosiery.

But WPB said it has started action to amend the conservation order.

WPB also revoked seven other limitation orders affecting softwood, plywood, box veneer, fiber shipping containers, paperboard and the distribution of imported watches.

Sparked By Giant Downtown Parade This Afternoon . . .

Boys' Club Rodeo Opens Tonight

HEADED by the famed Will Rogers Range Riders of Amarillo in colorful cowboy attire, a parade of approximately 300 horsemen will wend its way through downtown Lubbock this afternoon at 2 o'clock to herald opening of the annual Boys' club benefit rodeo sponsored by the American Business club.

Grand entry for the opening performance of the rodeo is scheduled for 8:15 o'clock tonight in front of the grandstand at the Panhandle - South Plains Fair grounds.

Anyone With A Horse

The parade, in which approximately 100 participants in the rodeo in addition to anyone else who has a horse in this area, will leave from in front of City hall promptly at 2 o'clock.

The parade will leave the City Hall and move up Texas Avenue to Main where it will turn left down to Ave. G, and then back over to Broadway. Riders will move out Broadway to Ave. N, back over to Main and down to Texas avenue and back to the starting point.

Ribble, Harrist To Lead

Mayor O. W. Ribble and Sheriff Grady Harrist will lead the long line of riders and participants as flag bearers. They will be followed by prominent business men.

A truck carrying members of any civic club who do not have horses, the Will Rogers Range Riders, and the Beutler brother's performers all will be in the procession.

The Range Riders are headed by Deibert Dalby, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Dalby of Lubbock. The riders all have beautiful horses, approximately the same size and nearly all of them Polominos and the riders have become noted for their colorful performances at various rodeo and old timer events throughout the Panhandle. Expenses of the organization are being paid by the Amarillo chamber of commerce.

S. E. Arnold, owner of a local riding acadamy, will furnish about 30 horses. Twenty-five of these will be ridden by Indians who are to appear in the rodeo events.

Trucks For Children

Trucks will be furnished for children from city parks. It has been requested by officials that no bicycles appear in the parade because of the danger to riders, both of horses and bicycles.

Trucks will pick up park children at Pioneer at 12:30, Wagner

Chinese Stampede Continues As Factions 'Grab' At Territory

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press Staff Writer

Despite a Japanese protest that Chinese forces of the central government at Chungking and those of the rival Communist faction are "rushing unwarrantedly and without discipline into Chinese territory held by the Japanese, the stampede is likely to continue.

Mao Tse-Tung, leader of the Chinese Communists, has shown no hint that he will accept Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's second appeal to go to Chungking for a conference.

Both Start Grabbing

Both apparently are grabbing everything within reach to establish the best possible bargaining position if negotiations ever begin between the two factions. Chiang's repetition of his invitation clearly is a consequence of Allied pressure upon him to settle China's turbulent domestic situation.

Chungking forces also are preparing to move hastily into Formosa and the Pescadore islands, which Japan surrendered under the Potsdam formula, at the same time they rush substantial forces into Nanking, Shanghai and Peiping.

This speedy ocupation is made necessary by the threat of Communist Field Commander General Chu Teh to send his guerrilla forces to occupy Nanking and the other cities given up by the Japanese.

May Neutralize Demand

Chiang's new invitation ot Mao Tse-Tung is expected to neutralize the Communists' demand that they share in any surrender negotiations with the enemy. Chiang has arranged for the formal surrender of the Japanese to take place this week at Chihkiang, in western Hunan province.

General Yasuji Okamura was sending his peace emissaries by plane today to Chihkiang, where they will receive Chiang's terms through his regional field commander, General Ho Ying-Chin. There are no indications that Chiang intends to heed the Communists' demands that they be present at the surrender. There are no sizeable Communist forces within 1,000 miles of Chihkiang.

In speeding up protective occupation of the key cities, Chiang is using the "underground" forces who waged relentless warfare against the Japanese during eight years of the Sino-Japanese war. Those underground forces have already established a Kuomintang headquarters in Peiping.

But with transport facilities shattered and with Communist obstruction certain to increase, it may take several months for Chiang to complete his elementary operational movements.

Hong Kong Impasse

Meanwhile, the diplomatic impasse surrounding Hong Kong is of considerable importance. Chungking insists that Hong Kong must return to Chinese sovereignty just as all other concessions granted by China when she was helpless to refuse. London is adamant that Hong Kong is a crown colony and that, having been acquired more than a century ago, in 1841, is an integral part of the British empire and not like the international concessions of Shanghai or the treaty ports.

Right now Shanghai is destined to became China's main port for world trade. The Chinese government definitely is moving, very soon, its capital from Chungking to Nanking, near Shanghai. Nanking, Shanghai and Hangchow will form the crucial triangle of future China, where authority, finance, industry and shipping control will be centralized.

Former Tech Geology Students Back In U. S.

Dr. Leroy T. Patton has been informed of the activities of three former students of the geology department at Texas Tech college, of which he is head. All have been serving with the armed forces.

Lewis B. Kellett, formerly a lieutenant in the Pacific theater of operations, has been discharged on the point system and placed in the Air Corps reserve. He has been employed by an oil company at Midland, placed on leave, and will return to school in September to complete the one semester of work he needs to obtain his degree. His home is at Jayton.

Lt. Robert Skinner, combat engineer from Perryton, has just returned from Europe and is spending a furlough with his parents. He wears four battle stars, the Purple Heart, Bronz Star and Presidential citation. He was wounded on August 18 of last year and captured March 31 of this year by the Germans. After just three days as a prisoner of war he was liberated by American forces on April 3. He graduated from the department in 1943.

Lt. John L. Pike, 1941 graduate from San Angelo, was through Lubbock recently en route to his home with his wife. He has been with the Atlantic fleet and is due for reassignment soon. He was commissioned in the Navy in 1941, enlisting shortly after graduation.

British Give Japs Surrender Orders

LONDON, Aug. 21. (AP) — Allied surrender instructions to Field Marshal Count Juichi Terauchi, commander of the Japanese southern army, were broadcast today by the New Delhi radio on orders of Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten, Allied commander in chief of Southeast Asia.

The broadcast, heard in London, directed Terauchi to "send a representative with plenipotentiary powers" to meet Mountbatten's chief of staff at Rangoon on Aug. 23, "to arrange the orderly surrender of all Japanese sea, air, land and auxiliary forces under your command."

Red Cross Work To Be Continued Here

W. C. O'Mara, chairman of the Lubbock chapter of the American Red Cross, said Tuesday that the end of the war does not mean the end of the Red Cross activities and called up volunteers to continue their work.

"While the nature of some of our activities may change, there will continue to be important work to do," O'Mara predicted.

At the same time, National Red Cross Chairman Basil O'Connor issued a statement from Washington, pointing out that the Red Cross would, have to continue serving the United States armed forces overseas as long as the need exists, and that Red Cross services to hospitalized servicemen and veterans must be stepped up to keep pace with demands.

"Our chapters must be prepared for all emergencies, such as disaster, and must build up and strengthen their peacetime programs," O'Connor said in his message to the Lubbock chapter.

"In the years which lie ahead," O'Mara explained, "veterans' claims upon the government will increase. The Red Cross is one of the several agencies authorized by the government to handle such claims for hospitalization, pensions and other legal benefits. Assistance to families of Veterans, as well as those of men in service, will also claim a large share of the Red Cross effort.

"At present the Red Cross is calling for 3,000 medical, social and hospital recreation workers to carry on its program among the wounded and hospitalized. And until our boys are brought home from aboard, the American Red Cross will be active in many foreign lands."

Twenty-Five Sent For Induction This Week

USS Washington Back Home With One Of War's Remarkable Records

PUGET SOUND NAVY YARD, Wash., Aug. 21 (U.P.)—The first American dreadnaught to sink a Japanese battleship came home today.

The battleship is the USS Washington, holder of one of the most remarkable records of the war. It never was damaged and no crewmen ever was injured by enemy action. Yet it participated in 25 operations and covered almost 300,000 miles after being commissioned May 15, 1941.

The Washington is a veteran of service on the Murmansk run with the British home fleet early in the war. Later the Philadephia-built battleship was ordered into the South Pacific. She came home for overhauling.

Third Battle of Savo

During the third battle of Savo island on the night of Nov. 15, 1942, a Japanese surface force of between 20 and 27 ships moved in to protect their shore installations at Guadalcanal. The Washington, accompanied by the South Dakota and four destroyers, beat them off in a flaming night action. After seven salvoes from the Washington's heavy guns, one of the enemy battleships, of the Kongo class, exploded and sank.

The powerful Washington then roared into action on the road back from Pearl Harbor, in the southern Solomons, the Gilbert islands, the Bismarck archipelago, the Marshall islands, the Marianas, Peleliu, Anguar, the Philippine islands, the preliminary strikes against the Ryukus, sweeps through the South China sea, the first strikes against Tokyo by carriers, and in the final crushing blows against Iwo Jima and Okinawa.

Comes Through Unmarked

Somehow despite almost continual action the Washington's charmed existence held, and the battleship's log records the firing of 374,231 rounds of ammunition since her commissioning. Of this total the battleship's guns belched more than 3,000 of her heaviest shells into Jap defenses at Iwo Jima, and about the same number on targets on Okinawa. During the furious aerial action in the latter campaign, the Washington expended more than 18,000 rounds of anti-aircraft shells during Japanese kamakaze onslaughts.

So efficient were her defences, that she came through unmarked by enemy fire.

NURSES TO RETURN

HONOLULU, Aug. 21. (AP)—Readjustment of plans to permit 340 veteran Army nurses of the mid-Pacific command to return to the continental U. S. without awaiting replacements was announced today.

Levelland Sailor Spent 27 Straight Months Aboard LCT In Pacific

IN THE PHILIPPINES—Thomas D. Short, coxswain, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Short, Levelland, Tex., spent 27 consecutive months at sea aboard a rugged little LCT (landing craft, tank), manning a 20-mm. gun during battle against Jap planes and in invasions at New Guinea and New Britain.

Short saw action in the landings on Woodland Island, Kiriwina Island and Lae, and took part in the initial landing at Cape Gloucester in New Britain. He made a re-supply run on D-Day-plus-three during the Arawe invasion, remaining at his battle station uncounted hours to help fight off wave after wave of Jap planes.

Assigned to the staff of LCT Group, 79, Flotilla 27, in January, he now stands signal and radio watches exclusively.

He attended Levelland High school and entered the Navy in April, 1942, receiving his recruit training at Great Lakes, Ill. Before going to sea he spent eight months with the seamen guard in Cleveland, Ohio.

A brother, First Sgt. John O. Short, was wounded in Germany while serving with the Infantry, Ninth Army. He is now in the hospital at Fort Dix.

City's Censor Board Softens Film View

MEMPHIS, Aug. 21. (AP)—The Memphis censor board reversed itself today with the announcement it will permit screening of "The Southerner," although it reiterated its opinion that the motion picture is "an infamous misrepresentation of the average southern white family."

The board said its reversal was made because it would be unfair to ban the picture here while it could be screened at one theater just outside the city and another across the river in Arkansas.

The picture is based on the book "Hold Autumn in Your Hand" by George Sessions Perry, Texas novelist.

The Gallup Poll: Age Groups Split Over Changes In Sailor Uniforms

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J. — While a popular tune acclaims "Bell-bottom trousers," there seems to be a wide difference of opinion on the merits of the U. S. Navy enlisted man's uniform.

It is in fact a question which the Navy itself is pondering and on which it is even now questioning a cross-section of its enlisted men.

GALLUP

Meanwhile, the Institute has just completed questioning of civilian men and women from coast to coast on the same issue in order to get their reaction to the Navy uniform.

And comments range from the one extreme—"Very good . . . Neat . . . Attractive,"—to the highly unflattering other extreme—"Lousy! . . . Terrible . . . Too Tight in the wrong places . . . 'Way behind the Army."

Generally speaking, the way people feel about the need for a change in the uniform of the Navy enlisted man depends upon how old they happen to be.

Split Is Discovered

The predominant group among people 30 years of age or over don't think the uniform should be changed, while people 21 through 29 (both male and female) are more inclined than not to have the uniform changed.

Throughout the nation as a whole — taking the answers of everyone combined — more civilians think the uniforms should remain unchanged than think they should be changed.

This information comes as a result of questioning by field reporters for the Institute in all parts of the United States on the question:

"It has been suggested that the uniforms of sailors in the Navy be changed. Do you think they should be changed?"

| | Yes | No | No Opin. |
|---|---|---|---|
| National | 34% | 45% | 21% |
| Ages: | | | |
| 21-29 | | 40 | 16 |
| 21-39 | 44 | 40 | 16 |
| 50 and over | 31 | 45 | 24 |

The enlisted man's uniform is said to have been originally designed by the British (although you could probably get in an argument about it). The wide trousers (today no longer bell-bottomed like the British Tar's) were originally designed so that the trousers could be rolled up easily when it came time to scrub deck. The wide collar was supposed to protect the jack from grease from the pig-tails worn by sailors in early days. The scarf was a sweat band, etc.

Vacationists Swarm Western Playgrounds

(By The Associated Press)

Driving everything from well-preserved jallopies to gleaming limousines, motorists swarmed through the mountain and lake regions of western American yesterday for vacations long denied them by war.

From resort areas and traffic control authorities came uniform reports: Heavy traffic, well-filled lodges and hotels. Accommodations booked well in advance, lots of flat tires.

The U. S. customs service at Hidalgo-Reynosa, near McAllen, Texas, estimated a 200 per cent increase in Mexico-bound travelers since the government opened the gasoline faucets.

Visitors to Carlsbad Caverns in southern New Mexico increased from 1,580 on Sunday, Aug. 12, to 2,500 last Sunday.

Wandering Queenie Back With Circus

ALBUQUERQUE, Aug. 21. (U.P.)—Queenie — a 7,000-pound elephant of a circus performing east of here—was back in the ring today after enjoying a brief span of freedom.

The mammoth animal left the circus grounds and started toward downtown Albuquerque yesterday, but was safely moored down on the circus grounds again three hours later by harassed attendants.

Effort To Increase Newspaper Supply Is Undertaken By Group

NEW YORK, Aug. 22. (AP)—A determined effort to increase the low supply of newsprint through direct dealings between newspaper publishers and experts and the producers themselves was opened today at a two-day session.

A seven-man "task force" representing the newspaper industry advisory committee sat down at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel with representatives of four big paper companies in a continuing meeting. The declaired aim was to find ways and means of bringing newsprint prôduction back to its 1941 level as quickly as possible.

Robert Choate, publisher of the Boston Herald and Traveler and chairman of the task group, asserted the paper supply situation remained "serious." Too many publishers, he said, failed to to realize that the war's end did not solve a continuing problem.

The consultations with producers here were held privately and Choate said the first report of his group must be made to the newspaper industry advisory committee, which will meet on the same problem with War Production officials in Washington on September 11 and 12.

COAST GUARD PROMOTIONS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. (AP)—The Coast Guard announced today it would place a number of reserve officers in regular status because it expects its peacetime strength to be greater than it was before the war.

Ever See Your Car BOTTOM-SIDE-UP?

Chances are, you haven't seen your car from this revealing position since the last time your modest Aunt Nellie lifted her skirts above her knees!

Phillips 66

Brother, if you want to know the shocking facts of car-life, just sneak a look at your bus from underneath-up! And don't let a shiny hood fool you. It's what you usually can't see that can hurt you!

For instance, take that spring shackle, crummy and crusted with the mud and grime of miles of dusty roads . . . or that dry, rusty spring . . . or that tattered muffler, just hanging on by a thread . . . or that worn, bone-dry tie-rod.

There's plenty more you could see—plenty your Phillips 66 Service Station Man sees all the time. That's because it's part of his job to look underneath as well as over your car . . . to check and lubricate all those important mechanical parts that are so often out of mind because they're out of sight.

And he knows, probably better than anyone, just how important over-all, underneath lubrication is today! He knows that a loose nut, a broken pin or shackle, can often mean the loss of your car—and it may mean the loss of your life!

An awful lot of cars are going to wind up on the junk heap in the next few months. Don't let yours be one of them! Care for your car for your country! Wherever you see the Orange and Black Phillips 66 sign—drive in and let an expert take that added ounce of precaution which can mean so much to you.

V-J IN PHILIPPINES

THE occasion of the Japanese surrender that was celebrated in much the same manner over the United States, in city or hamlet, inspired big doings in the Philippines, too, according to Lt. Lucille Hvass, an Army nurse, stationed there.

"You can't imagine how really wild everybody went," she wrote to her mother, Mrs. Florence Hvass, 2502 Twenty-second. "The navy in the bay turned all the red and green lights on the ships and the search lights played across the sky. After being used to seeing a blacked-out harbor, it was the most beautiful sight that I've ever seen. The whole place was ablaze. Everybody inside was just screaming and crying and I've never kissed so many people in my life.

"When the band struck up 'The Star Spangled Banner' everybody came to attention and cold chills ran up and down our backs. It was just one of those things you can't believe.

"Then the gates went down and everybody proceeded to enjoy themselves. People who had always been stiff and formal let their hair down and became regular. A lot of people took off their rank, called everybody else Mister. One of the Red Cross girls said she was a civilian now and put on her formal. I was jealous.

"The band played continuously. Dance tunes, only nobody did much dancing. Then they started in on all the state songs, and college songs. And a gang gathered around the bandstand and sang.

"The first thing everybody wants to know is when we will be going home. However at a headquarters, we realize that it will take a while to send so many home. But it's a relief to know that we WILL be going."

But not everyone in these United States joined in the hurrahs that night of the Japanese surrender. William McMillan, seaman 2/c, said yesterday that he had galley duty and had washed and dried 5,000 knives, forks and spoons three times that day and when he got through that night he went up stairs and laid down. He admitted things were a bit rugged at the San Diego Naval training camp, however.

HAPPY DAYS

THE feeling of good will that seems bubbling all around us is remindful of that short time in the year that means so much to so many—the Christmas season. One war wife who works down here said she had the "silly giggles" when she realizes that her husband is no longer in danger of suicide planes or bombings or bullets.

Of course the surrender started this happiness but realization that the assembly lines will begin to turn off items for civilians helps to promote it. Postwar dreams now are of cars that seems just around the corner, or radios, stoves and oh precious thought, of nylons!

The Woman's Angle isn't planning to join the first line that queues for nylon hose because we don't want to take part in any historic or hysterical scrambles, such as that promises. But when that one is over, the smoke has cleared and the bodies have been removed, we'll be interested.

We've stood the withering and scornful glances of certain male beings (whose name we might mention but won't) at either baggy rayons or tanned legs for so many months, now that a few more months won't make any difference.

VOLUNTEERS AID

MANY wives of service men would like to visit their husbands at their stations in the United States but hesitate to take their children on the long train or bus journey.

Mrs. Lucille Bessent telephoned us about that Tuesday morning and said she had decided to open a small nursery and keep little ones for a week or two or less, how much time the visit consumes. She said she can furnish references and a health certificate; that she likes children and thinks it might be doing a service that would be welcomed by young Lubbock mothers. Her address is 2403 Seventh.

Miss Amelia Hargis Is Recent Bride

Friends here have received word of the marriage of Miss Amelia Hargis, daughter of Mrs. Edgar Thomas Wisner of Little Rock, Ark., and the late Dr. Henry Price Hargis, to Royce Oliver Griffin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Calvin Griffin of Little Rock, which took place Aug. 16 at the First Methodist church in Little Rock.

Rev. E. Clifton Ruis performed a double ring ceremony before an altar of palms and white gladioli interspersed with lighted cathedral tapers in branched candelabra.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Henry Price Hargis of El Dorado. She wore a white taffeta wedding gown, designed with a net yoke and her illusion veil fell from a tiara of orange blossoms. She carried white orchids and tuberoses.

Mrs. Constance Adam, Miss Lelia Mae Griffin and Mrs. Henry Price Hargis were feminine attendants. Briton M. Ramoly was best man and ushers were Pfc. Gerald Keith Patton and Clifford W. Waters.

The couple has gone to Los Angeles for a wedding trip.

Mrs. Hargis is a graduate of Texas Technological college and a former teacher in the Lubbock Public schools.

Service Men Home On Leave Take Social Spotlight In Lubbock Comings And Goings

Furloughs and leaves still hold the spotlight in the comings and goings in Lubbock. Here are a few service men who are home from foreign service, honorably discharged or home after completing specialized training:

Capt. Hugh Anderson, back from 31 months in the Pacific where he was with the Judge Advocate section of Eighth Army headquarters, is spending several days in Lubbock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Leslie, 1627 Sixth. Capt. Anderson practiced law in Lubbock for ten years before going into the Army. Following his visit here he will go to Haskell to visit his father, Date Anderson.

Herbert Leaverton, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Leaverton, 1812 Thirteenth, has returned to civilian life after serving in the Army Air forces as a sergeant in the Eighth Air force, based in England. He arrived late Sunday night from San Antonio where he reported to Fort Sam Houston.

William McMillan, Is Here

William McMillan, seaman 2/c is spending a five day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. McMillan on the Levelland highway. He will return to San Diego where he has just completed training at the U. S. Naval training center.

Billy Harless, seaman 2/c, also is spending a brief leave here before reporting back to San Diego.

T/3 William J. (Chuck) Roberts, who is just home after spending 29 months in the South Pacific, is spending a furlough in Lubbock and will report to Fort Sam Houston. He is son of Mrs. Myrtle Mays of 1710 Main.

Capt. and Mrs. Vernon Turner are leaving Saturday for Miami, Fla., where Capt. Turner, a pilot in the Army Air forces, is to rereport for reassignment. He has been home on 60-day leave, after having served in the European Theater of Operation.

2nd Lt. Robert H. Meiser is spending ten day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Meiser, 2308 Sixteenth, en route to Camp Fannin, near Tyler, where he is to report. He has just been commissioned an officer in the infantry at OCS, Fort Benning, Ga.

New Hebrides Movies Are Shown Hub Cines

John Lott and Dr. B. E. Young of Post showed movies taken by Eddie Warren, editor of the Post Dispatch in the New Hebrides islands during the two years he was stationed there with the armed forces to Hub Cine club members and guests at their meeting Monday night.

Other guests were Paul McWhorter and M. I. Hall of Lubbock and the following members: Tom Clark, Melvin Copp, M. F. Peters, Earl Hunt, Dr. M. M. Ewing, E. C. Pool, Dr. W. A. Pettey and R. E. Hamilton.

More than one-half of the cities of Poland are on the banks of the Vistula river.

Personals

C. M. Graham and young son, Gordon, have returned to Bryan after a visit with his sister, Mrs. W. G. McMillan, and family on the Levelland road.

Tom Jopes of Wilcox, Ariz., is visiting his sisters, Mesdames J. L. Graves and Winnie Seymour.

Mrs. Nell Hamby of Stockton, Calif., is visiting her foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Graves, and her daughter, Mrs. Yvonne Stokes and Misses Yvette and Wanda Lee Lynch.

Miss Virginia Younger of 1513 Eighteenth returned this week from Oklahoma City where she spent a month visiting relatives and friends.

Mrs. Will C. Barnett, 912 Ave. K, has been called to Seymour on account of the serious illness of her niece, Mrs. Jake Baker.

Mrs. Mattie L. Counts of 1118 Fifth and Miss Winnie Altman of 301 College have gone to Ruidoso, N. M., for a vacation trip.

Jap Occupation Poses History's Most Delicate Military Operation

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21 — The occupation of Japan promises to be one of the most delicate military operations in history.

From the air and the sea alien troops will descend upon a land which is of many minds as to how badly it has been beaten. Its Navy is gone, its air forces crippled, but its army still is intact.

WHITE

The Japanese government is trying to cram into a few days the job of quelling the passions it has spent years arousing and maintaining.

Belatedly, it has turned the propaganda machine loose to tell the people that defeat is complete—no longer impossibe, but complete.

It is taking pains to reassure them that the occupying American forces will behave in a civilized manner, that they will not take directly from the people their food and supplies.

Tokyo Fears Hot Heads

The military pose the biggest problem which the government must overcome if the occupation is to be bloodless. Tokyo papers talk frankly of the danger of military hotheads giving way to their emotions and creating incidents.

In the past, it generally has been true that the farther away from Tokyo a military commander was situated, the less attention he paid to Tokyo's wishes.

Late today the Japanese on Luzon were still resisting, and in Malaya the supreme Japanese commander, General Count Hisaichi Terauchi, was taking his time about replying to Lord Louis Mountbatten regarding surrender.

In Burma, British troops were pouring millions of leaflets on Japanese hiding in the jungle. But there was no reply.

In Canton, China, a Japanese general refused to let an American medical team give relief to prisoners of war.

Their Prestige Menaced

One reason, quite apart from pride, may be behind this stubborn refusal of the military to knuckle under. Army personnel enjoys a very favored position in Japan and naturally doesn't want to give it up.

It also may sense that the Japanese people may be tired of living exclusively for the benefit of a military machine, and many fear that anger may grow and multiply out of the years of exploitation.

But the people as well as the military are giving the government concern. They are warned repeatedly against listening to rumors and told again and again to obey orders. The government knows they are hungry, and that it is going to have to monopolize temporarily the damaged railway network—which might be distributing food—in order to pull troops out of the areas where the Americans are coming in.

Legislative Acts To Become Laws

AUSTIN Aug 22. (U.P.)—Seventy-eight acts of the last legislature, ranging from local game laws to appropriations of more than $54,000,000 become effective within the next 10 days.

The appropriations, carried in eight major bills, will be available Sept. 1 to pay bulk of operating expense for state agencies for another year. State comptroller's statisticians today estimated the general revenue fund, which a year ago had a more than $3,000,000 deficit, would show a balance of about $13,500,000 on Sept. 1, beginning of a new fiscal year.

Three Election Laws Included

Three election laws are included in the 70 acts which become effective Sept. 4.

One requires that Presidential election ballots carry names of the candidates instead of names of electors. Another, for benefit of Republicans, allow parties casting not more than 200,000 votes in the preceding general election to nominate by convention. The number was raised from 100,000. The other law requires persons over 60 to obtain poll tax exemption certificates each year, instead of having a blanket exemption after reaching 60.

Other New Laws

Other new laws provide:

Creation of a three-member state aeronautics commission, with membership yet to be named by the governor.

Reduction of gross premium taxes paid by out-of-state insurance companies.

Licensing of convalescent homes for aged persons.

Exemption from the state chain store tax of companies whose income all is from ice sales.

Tax Remissions Included

Tax remissions for Freeport, Port Arthur, the counties of Jackson, Fayette and Colorado and part of Dallas for flood control purposes.

Increasing the gross load limit of motor trucks from 38,000 to 48,000 pounds.

Legal recognition of the Good Neighbor commission which has been operating as an executive commission. The act increases its membership from six to nine.

Stricter Butane Regulation

More strict regulation by the State Railroad commission of butane and other liquefied petroleum gas sales and transportation.

State inspection of meat offered for public consumption. It places inspection duties in the state health department. Another act broadens santitation authority of the health department in public places.

Erection of two new state office buildings or purchase of an office building in Austin.

State acceptance and operation of a tuberculosis hospital at Laredo.

Motor boats operating within one-half mile of a residence to have muffler.

Hitler No Honest Vegetarian And Liked To Nibble On Liver, His Private Cook Reveals

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press Staff Writer

BERCHTESGADEN, Aug. 21.—Adolf Hitler ate his vegetables every day, like a little man, but he liked to nibble on liver too if he thought no one was watching.

Blond, buxom Margarete Roelofs, who was one of several cooks in Hitler's eyrie on Kehlstein mountain, told me about it today while she busily prepared a dish of "spaetzles" for American G.I.s.

No Honest Vegetarian

Margarete must really think that Hitler is dead otherwise she wouldn't go around saying things like that, proving that the fuehrer was no honest vegetarian.

It began when I slipped into a chair in Margarete's kitchen and she caught my hungry eye.

"Ah, and do you like spaetzles?" she asked.

I said I might be crazy about spaetzles, if she would just give me a hint of what they were.

"Oh, you Americans call them kanoodles," she said.

Then she paused with the steaming dish and signed: "Always about this time, the fuehrer and Fraulein Eva Braun had a few sweet dishes—the fuehrer loved desserts."

I asked what else Hitler had liked in the way of food and Margarete shook her head sadly.

"There wasn't much he could eat on account of his stomach," she said.

Spaetzles His Favorite

"We always had a medical dietician in the kitchen. He liked potato dishes and all kinds of soups. Spaetzles were one of his special favorites."

She said Hitler used to drink milk, cocoa, or sometimes herb tea. He didn't drink coffee and he did not smoke.

After the bomb plot there were always conferences during the day and the fuehrer developed an arm tremor that became worse when he was excited.

At night the British planes wouldn't let him sleep.

"He was almost on a liquid diet at the finish," she said.

I remarked to a G. I. in the kitchen that people who win wars always seemed to be meat eaters.

The cook, who knows only a few words of English, beamed. "Meat? Oh, the fuehrer loved liver!"

I almost fell off my chair. "Do you mean that Hitler wasn't really the vegetarian that he claimed to be?"

"That's right," she said. "He liked liver. I know because with my own hands I served it."

Widow Opposes Pyle Memorial

ALBUQUERQUE, Aug. 21. (AP)—Mrs. Ernie Pyle, widow of the famed war correspondent, asked today that promotion of a multi-million dollar park and cemetery memorial at Dana and Terre-Haute, Ind., be abandoned, and asserted she would never consent to having Pyle's body removed from Ie Shima.

It was proposed that the war correspondent, killed on Ie Shima, be buried in the memorial cemetery.

"Ernie is lying where he would wish to lie, with the men he loved," Mrs. Pyle said. "I will never consent to having his body removed."

Still Lives In Cottage

Mrs. Pyle, who still lives in the little white cottage to which Ernie so often referred in his stories, said she thought the small library proposed by his friends and neighbors at Dana was useful, and that she approved the journalism scholarship offered by Indiana university.

But she said in a statement that an expensive memorial "violates everything that Ernie was" and "the feeling that existed between Ernie and the people who loved him."

CAMPAIGN TO OPEN DESPITE OPPOSITION

DANA, Ind., Aug. 21. (U.P.) — Backers of a proposed memorial for Ernie Pyle said today their fund raising campaign would open tomorrow as scheduled.

John Bussing, Dana lumberman and chairman of the memorial organization, said he was surprised at the request of Pyle's widow that the plan be dropped.

"That's a bombshell," he said. "We had Mrs. Pyle's consent to start the campaign."

Bussing said he believed Mrs. Pyle had an erroneous idea about the program.

Emerson Brewer, representative of the public relations firm directing the fund-raising campaign, said the idea for the memorial was not for a big park. He said the program was to build a library and a "little landscaped area" to serve a trading area of 9,000 people.

The bulk of the money raised, he said, would be used to establish a chair of government, probably at the University of Indiana.

In 1881 a traveler coming down the Missouri river reported that his boat was tied up three days while thousands of buffalo crossed the river.

The Bell System is the largest source of Radar for our fighting forces

This is not surprising for Radar development and production stem from the same roots that produced and continue to nourish this country's telephone system.

Radar, the instrument which enables our land, sea and air forces to spot enemy targets through darkness, smoke or fog, is one of the outstanding new fighting instruments of this war.

Two years before Pearl Harbor the Government asked Bell Telephone Laboratories to put its wide experience and knowledge of electronics to work to help perfect Radar as a military instrument. Since then the Laboratories has co-operated closely in the Radar program with the National Defense Research Committee, with Army and Navy specialists and with scientists of Great Britain.

The Western Electric Company, manufacturing branch of the Bell System, became the Nation's largest supplier of Radar systems. One type it makes is universally used by B-29's in the Pacific for navigation, target location and high altitude bombing. Another plays an important part in aiming the guns on our warships.

If you're waiting for a home telephone, it helps a little to know that Radar is one of the reasons. Our telephone manufacturing plants have been devoted to these war needs.

Citizens Dreaming Of New Home Without Priorities Must Wait

Lubbock citizens, who have been dreaming of building a new home without having to obtain any priorities, will have to wait a while longer.

This was indicated yesterday when local lumber dealers, contractors, and building tradesmen, who have been petitioning Washington to lift restrictions on building materials ever since Japan's surrender, received a temporary set-back.

Forrest Sends Telegram

S. L. Forrest of the Forrest Lumber Co., one of the active leaders in the move to get the building industry removed from hampering, wartime controls, was notified that only materials intended for industrial and factory buildings were being released from federal restrictions.

He had wired Reconversion Director John W. Snyder at Washington, asking that the controls be eliminated immediately to "give free industry a chance," and had pointed out that only governmental restrictions were holding up Lubbock's home building program. The building industry, he declared, would provide many local jobs and aid in the critical reconversion period as the nation swings from war-time to peace-time production.

Many Have to Wait

As things now stand, plants given government triple-A priorities, will continue to have first call on building materials, and home building for many persons will have to wait, local builders explained. Some were incined to blame officials in charge of the housing program for wanting to keep the nation's building under their control.

Despite the set-back received yesterday, when word was received that home buildings without priorities would have to wait, one ray of hope came from a message received by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce from the regional representative of the National Housing agency at Dallas.

Expecting Information

Replying to the Chamber's recent application for a H-2 housing program, the regional official wrote:

"Now that V-J Day has arrived, we are anticipating extensive changes in the method of establishing housing quotas and are expecting information in the next few days from the War Production board on modification and possibly relaxation of building material restrictions."

Even if restrictions are removed and home builders are permitted to buy all of the lumber they need, residential prices in Lubbock are expected to remain high, since both labor and material costs are higher than they have been in times past. Home prices in Lubbock will not decline noticeably, if the controls are lifted and building gets under way on a large scale.

Nearly all of the 30 or more bonded contractors operating in this area are reported to be busy, although building permits have shown a slight drop in recent weeks.

Rationing Of Farm Tires Discontinued

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. (AP)—Rationing of tires for farm implements and industrial uses will end at midnight, the Office of Price administration announced today.

Rationing of truck and passenger tires will continue.

OPA Chief Chester Bowles said that ample supplies of all sizes and types of farm implement tires, including tractor tires, are now available to meet requirements. "So we are removing them from rationing," he said.

LAND IS LEASED

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—President Alvin A. Voit of the Mengel company of Louisville, Ky., announced last night that the approximate 8,000 acres of the company's Richland parish, La., holdings had been leased to the American Liberty Oil company of Dallas.

Stockmen Oppose Subsidies On Beef

DENVER, Aug. 21. (AP)—Government subsidies on beef were opposed, 83 to 7, in an American National Livestock association executive committee poll, F. E. Mollin of Denver, executive secretary, said today.

"The result of the poll affirms the stand ranchers have taken on subsidies from their beginning in 1943," Molin declared, adding:

"Cattlemen early predicted that subsidies would interfere with production and lead to increasing black market operations. They consistently favored removal of subsidies with concurrent adjustments in meat ceilings to cover increased costs of production.

Mollin said the poll does not indicate association approval of continued price controls or other wartime restrictions.

"It is the hope of the industry," he asserted, "that the price control act will expire June 30, 1946, and that the subsidy removal program then can be accomplished under a free price economy."

Air pressure in tires of cars that consistently carry more than a full-passenger load should be increased to take care of the additional weight.

Winners of the various contests will receive show and swimming passes.

Truman Will Address Meeting Of Veterans

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. (AP)—President Truman will address the opening session of the national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Chicago on Oct. 2, unless unforeseen conditions prevent it, National VFW Commander Jack Brunner said today.

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, veterans' administrator, has also agreed to attend the convention and give an address, Brunner told a press conference after conferring with Mr. Truman and Bradley.

Getting A Job "Greatest Concern" Of Returning Veteran --- Bradley

By ANN HICKS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21—Gen. Omar N. Bradley, new veterans administrator, told Senators considering a "jobs for all" bill today that getting a job is "the greatest concern" of the returning veteran.

He refused, however, to commit himself as to whether passing the full-employment bill is the way to make sure veterans will find work.

Don't Want Old Jobs

Bradley said a lot of soldiers coming back are not going to be satisfied with the jobs they left when they went to war.

"They are going to want to apply what they have learned in the service," he said.

The four-star general made it clear he did not want his testimony to be taken as indicating either "approval or disapproval" of the bill under consideration.

Lead-Off Witness

"Even if it were appropriate to do so, I do not feel qualified to state whether the bill would accomplish the purpose for which it is intended or whether, from the political or economical aspect, it would be desirable," he said.

Bradey was lead-off witness in Senate banking committee hearings on the measure. Chairman Robert F. Wagner, D., N. Y., told reporters the bill is on a "must" list of legislation Persident Truman will send Congress the day it returns to work.

Wagner predicted that the bill would be passed this fall and go into effect as of Jan. 1.

Unemployment Enemy No. 1

"Our enemy No. 1," Wagner said, "is unemployment. We're going to beat enemy No. 1."

Bradley said he was sure the Senators would realize he is "rather new" in his job. But he said that if there is full employment, that is "more or less continuous work opportunities" for everyone who wants a job, it would mean:

1. Less unemployment compensation would be paid veterans in the form of readjustment allowances.

2. Fewer veterans would go to school under the GI bill.

Would Decrease Compensation

3. The government's position as a loan-guarantor would be sounder.

4. Many veterans with partial disability would not claim compensation as long as they were gainfully employed.

5. The number of veterans in "domiciliary care" facilities and, to a lesser degree, hospitals, would decrease.

Omar B. Ketchum, national legislative representative of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, also told the Senators that jobs are "uppermost in the minds" of servicemen and women.

Need Reasonable Set of Rules

But Ketchum added that he was not authorized to "endorse the principle that among constitutional rights shall be the guarantee of a gainful, suitable job for every American, even if the government has to provide it."

Ketchum said he believed the American system of free enterprise could provide sufficient opportunity "if permitted to operate under a fair and reasonable set of rules."

Congress, however, should pass legislation granting every veteran "statutory" job seniority equivalent to his length of service, Ketchum said.

Seniority is Problem

Ketchum said the expansion of organized labor has raised a "wall of contract and seniority protection around millions of jobs." And unless there is full employment, veterans without reemployment rights "will be on the bottom of all employment lists where seniority governs," he added.

The VFW does not advocate "superseniority" for service personnel, Ketchum said. It seeks "an even-steven break for the veterans with the war worker."

The bill introduced with bi-partisan support, would make it a national policy that every person willing to work has a right to a job.

Would Fill in "Job Gap"

The President would be required to submit a "national production and employment budget" to Congress at the beginning of each regular session to estimate the number of workers and jobs available. Congress would fill in with public works any "job gap" left over after private industry had employed everyone it could.

The bill is sponsored by eight Senators—Democrats Wagner, Elbert Thomas of Utah, Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming and James E. Murray of Montana, and Republicans Wayne Morse of Oregon, Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire, George D. Aiken of Vermont and William Langer of North Dakota.

Murray said adoption of the measure would "end the danger" of recurring depressions and unemployment.

Restrictions On Gas And Equipment Lifted

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. (AP)—All war-time restrictions on the use of natural gas and gas-burning equipment were removed today by the War Production board.

The agency's office of war utilities revoked order U-7. For three years this order had prohibited new uses of gas by natural gas companies except as specifically authized. It also provided for the integration of natural gas operation and curtailment of consumption during emergency shortage period.

At the same time, gas companies were told that it is all right once more for them to conduct promotional sales campaign to add new space heating and industrial consumption.

El Paso Soldier Makes Trip To California On Scooter; Cost Is $3.64

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Travel difficulties and shortage of gasoline didn't keep T/Sgt. Frederick Miller of El Paso from taking a nice long trip to California and back.

He made the trip on a motor scooter, said the entire round trip cost him only $3.64 in gasoline.

Miller, who walked in the "March of Death" on Bataan, says he thinks he has set a new record in scooter travel. He left El Paso on a Saturday, spent the next night in Arizona and the following night he was in San Diego, Calif.

The only drawback to scooter travel, he says, is the sun. It gets pretty hot.

But another service man wasn't as ingenious.

A member of the Merchant Marine, he had missed his tanker in San Francisco. He had been to Australia, had celebrated his return to the States a little too long.

The skipper left word at the dock for the sailor to get back on the ship in New York, and ordered him to hitchhike if necessary. It was necessary.

The boy got as far as Tyler, Texas, but finally his resourcefulness was exhausted.

"Sir, what do I do now?" he asked Chief Recruiting Specialist Percy Andrews. He was broke, hungry, tired and dirty. The Salvation Army helped him along.

Restrictions Lifted On War Housing Units

DALLAS, Aug. 21. (AP)—Occupancy restrictions on all private new and converted war housing units built with benefit of priorities in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas and Louisiana are being removed, but sales and rental ceilings are retained, Joseph P. Tufts, regional representative of the National Housing agency in Dallas, announced today.

It is no longer necessary for a prospective tenant to obtain certification of eligibility or to occupy a dwelling 60 days prior to puurchase of such housing, Tufts said, however, rental tenants may not be evicted to give possession to a new purchaser.

Sales and rental ceilings on priority constructed war housing will remain in effect.

New York Giants Shave Cub Lead, Nose Out 4-3 Victory

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP) — The veteran Claude Passeau, who has beaten every club in the National League except the Giants, met a tartar again today when the New Yorkers struck from behind to defeat the league leading Chicago Cubs 4 to 3.

With the Cubs leading 2 to 0, the Giants pushed across a pair of runs in the seventh to knot the count only to have the Cubs go to the front again in the next frame when Peanuts Lowrey and Heinz Becker hit consecutive singles and were aided by one of Manager Mel Ott's rare errors.

A triple by Rookie Mike Schemer, his fourth straight safe blow, opened the Giants' half of the ninth. Singles by Buddy Kerr, Billy Jurges and George Hausmann, the latter two bunts, produced the two runs needed to win the game.

The defeat, coupled with the St. Louis Cards' win over Boston, cut the Cubs' lead to 5½ games.

Longhorns May Lose Returning Grid Star

AUSTIN, Aug. 21 (AP)—Dana X. Bible, University of Texas, football coach, learned today that letterman Jimmy Canady probably would not be able to play on this season's Longhorn grid squad due to a back injury.

Bible said Canady will be given a thorough examination and the physician's recommendation will be followed.

The 1944 star at Arkansas A. and M. was discharged from the Navy recently because of the injury.

HOUSTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—Paul Altman, 154, Houston, is new Texas middleweight champion. Altman punched a close 10-round decision over Wild Bill McDowell, 157, here last night. The middleweight title was vacated when Fritzie Zivic retired recently.

Junior All-Star Nine Is Picked

Managers of American league junior baseball teams chose 18 outstanding players from five league teams to compose an All-Star team at a meeting at the Recreation department Tuesday morning.

V. T. McMullin of the Optimists, Stoney Wall of the Rotary, Jack Thomas of the JCC, and Tom Ingram of the Lions were the managers making the selection. Kiwanis Manager Dell Morgan was absent. John Wilson, manager of the championship American Business club team, and H. J. McCabe were also present at the meeting.

Starters Are Named

Nine boys were selected to begin the contest Friday afternoon, and then an additional catcher, two relief pitchers, and six utility players were added to the roster.

Billy Travis, Optimist ace moundsman, and Charles Galey, Kiwanis catcher, were named as the starting battery. Buddy Weber (Kiwanis), and Jack McCabe (Rotary), were selected as relief pitchers, while Jack Keeling (JCC), got the nod as second catcher.

Johnny Tatum (Optimists), Jimmy Wells (Rotary), Harmon Green (JCC), Morris Turner (JCC), Jackie Martyn (Lions), and James Burgess, (Lions), were added to the roster as utility men.

Wall, McMullin Managers

C. I. "Stoney" Wall, manager of the Rotary team, was chosen as manager of the All-Star team, with V. T. McMullin named as assistant manager.

All members of the team will report to the Boy's club diamond at 6 p. m. Wednesday afternoon, Manager Stoney Wall announced.

The All-Star game, to be a seven-inning affair, was scheduled by McCabe for the Boy's club diamond at 6 p. m. Friday. Dick Trego, well-known local umpire, will be behind the bat, while Jay Kerr will decide the bases. Wall and Wilson matched at the meeting Tuesday morning, with the ABC winning home team rights.

The contest Friday night will be the next to final event in the junior baseball season this year. The picnic Tuesday night will complete the season.

Seats for approximately 200 people have been erected at the Boy's club to handle fans at Friday's game. Ample parking space is available down left and right field lines. It is hoped that fans will turn out in numbers and support the boys in a project of which Lubbock can be justly proud, H. J. McCabe, director, said.

Favorites Stay In Race In Golf Meet

LAKE FOREST, Ill., Aug. 21 (AP)—Defending Champion Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia and Medalist Louise Suggs of Atlanta, Ga., paced their respective brackets to first-round triumphs in the 45th Women's Western Amateur golf meet over rain-deluged Knollwood club course today.

Sporadic downpours which soaked 32 hardy lassies throughout the day failed to wash out any favorites, although Mrs. Babe Didrikson Zaharas of Los Angeles had a narrow squeak.

Babe, who appears headed for a semi-final showdown with Miss Germain in the lower bracket, had to erase a one-hole deficit at the turn to nip stubborn Jean Hutto of Kansas City, 2 and 1.

Miss Germain closed strong to eliminate Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex., 5 and 3.

TRUMAN GETS PASS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP) — Taking a tip from baseball, professional football tomorrow will present President Truman a season's pass to National Professional League games.

Local Sports Events Bow Before Weather

Old Man Weather took a toll of Lubbock sports events Tuesday afternoon and night, calling a halt to activity scheduled in the city in three major sports events.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce South Plains invitation softball tournament has three games scheduled for Hubber park last night postponed because of wet grounds. Weather permitting, games between Economy Mills and Seagraves, Cummings Food market and Blue Bonnet laundry, and South Plains Army Air field and Ray's Grocery will be played Wednesday night.

The scheduled American League junior baseball game between the American Business club, champions of the league, and the Rotary club was postponed because of weather. The game will not be played off.

Lt. Ed Reade and Houston Boyd were scheduled to meet in the finals of the men's singles in the city wide tennis tournament Tuesday afternoon at Dupre courts. This match was postponed until today, because of weather conditions. Boyd reached the finals by default from Lt. Ben Cowling.

Byrnes Endorses Principles Of Full Employment Senate Measure

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP) — Legislation through which the government would seek to guarantee jobs for all was endorsed in principle today by Secretary of State Byrnes but General Omar Bradley, the new veterans administrator, declined to commit himself.

"While I have not had the time carefully to study the detailed provisions of the bill, I am in heartly accord with its general principles," Byrnes declared in a statement read for him by Dr. Willard C. Thorp to a Senate Banking subcommittee.

Fight Unemployment

"It would provide mechanism through which the nation's plans for the maintenance of employment would be developed. Its enactment would demonstrate to the other nations of the world, in a dramatic way, that this country is determined to prevent depression and to eliminate mass unemployment."

Earlier, General Bradley, still wearing his four star uniform, had declined to express either approval or disapproval of the bill, designated as "the full employment act of 1945."

"Even if it were appropriate to do so, I do not feel qualified to state whether the bill would accomplish the purpose for which it is intended or whether, from the political and economic aspect, it would be desirable," he told a Senate Banking subcommittee.

"Nor am I advised as to whether it accords with the financial program of the President."

On Truman's "Must List"

President Truman himself has endorsed the principle of the bill and has put the subject on the White House "must list" for action after Congress reconvenes in the fall.

Setting a quick pace at the start of hearings slated to continue through August 31, the committee heard three other witnesses before lunch — Omar Ketchum, legislative representative of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; Millard W. Rice, national service director of the Disabled American Veterans, and Charles G. Bolte, chairman of the American veterans committee which is made up of men who served in World war 2.

All of them, of course, were in favor of jobs for everybody who wants to work, but only Bolte gave an unqualified endorsement of the measure at hand.

Annual Job Budget

It proposes that each year the President shall make out what amounts to a national job budget, estimating the amount of money that will be spent by private business and government in the ensuing year, the number of jobs that spending would provide, and any deficit of employment in prospect. If the figures indicated there would not be enough work for everybody who wanted it, the government would step in with various aids, including a program of useful public works.

All such spending would be subject to congressional appropriations.

Boys' Club Rodeo

at 12:45, Carlisle at 1 p. m., Burns, at 1:15 and the Wading Pool at 1:30. The latter group will meet at the gate to Mackenzie State park. Booker T. Washington park children will ride in the parade in a separate truck. All children will be returned to their respective parks immediately following the parade.

Colorful Ceremony Planned

The Indians in the procession will be in full regalia and immediately following the grand entry tonight will stage a colorful ceremony, including a snake dance with live snakes.

No band was available for the parade today but the local state guard unit is furnishing a portable record player, upon which march records will be played.

ABC officials have asked that every person who has a horse appear in the parade.

Members of the Lubbock Lions club will have charge of concessions at the rodeo and Lions will 'hawk' cold drinks, hot dogs, candy and other refreshments in the stands during the four-night show.

Last year the Lions raised $1,000 to add to rodeo receipts for the Boys' club fund in this manner.

Rites To Be At Loop For Mrs. Lumpkin

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Lumpkin, 61, who died Monday night at her home near Loop in Gaines county, will probably be held this afternoon at Loop, Rix Funeral home of Lubbock reported.

Complete arrangements had not been made, however, pending arrival of a son from California.

Survivors are six sons, Floyd of Aspermont, Hubert, Leroy and Howard of Loop, Jesse of Lubbock, Awbrey, stationed in California; one daughter, Mrs. Eugene Clark of Big Spring; 14 grandchildren; two brothers, Thomas Rutherford of Mexia, Oddie Rutherford of Powell; three sisters, Mrs Faine Hasch of Athens, Mrs. Ella Davidson of Clovis, N. M., Mrs. Oledia Jackson of Stamford.

COMPANY DESTROYED

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 21. (AP)—The fourth major fire here within eight days destroyed the Texas Waste Salvage co last night. Loss was estimated at $40,000. Total loss from the four fires estimated at $443,000.

Congratulations To:

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jarrott of 1605 Twenty-second on birth of a son weighing 9 pounds, 9 ounces at 12:08 p. m. Tuesday at West Texas hospital. The father is office manager for the Borden company.

Sgt. and Mrs. Charles Biggs of 1612 Fifteenth on birth of a son weighing 7 pounds 5 ounces at 7:50 o'clock Tuesday night at Lubbock General hospital.

Ensign and Mrs. A. Noel Johnson, jr., of Abernathy on birth of a son weighing 8 pounds 2 ounces at 9:57 o'clock Tuesday night at Lubbock General hospital. The father is stationed at Pearl Harbor, T. H.

Juvenile Suspects In Slaying Held

AUSTIN, Aug. 21 (AP)—Two teen-age boys who officers said were sought in connection with the slaying of McGraw E. Streckenfinger near Kiowa, Okla., were arrested today at Round Rock, 19 miles north of Austin.

Ranger Capt. Fred Olsen said no charges had been filed against the two youths, 14 and 15 respectively. They are being held, he said, pending information from Oklahoma officers concerning a boy and a girl held at Kiowa.

Olsen said the two boys had hitch-hiked to McAlister, Okla., caught a bus to Dallas and then hitch-hiked a ride that brought them to Round Rock and waiting officers.

Officers here said the four youths began their activities in Austin last week by breaking into a house and stealing a pistol, liquor, jewelry and other articles.

Crude Oil Cutback

oil industry to cooperate with the railroad commission in working into postwar adjustment. We look for that cooperation from the industry."

Fields listed by the commission as producing in excess of maximum efficient rates for war purposes include East Texas with average production of 384,610 barrels daily on Aug. 11 compared with a maximum efficient rate of 375,000 barrels, and the Tom O'Connor field in Refugio county with allowable of 63,297 barrels and a M.E.R. of 50,000 barrels.

Other excessive production, by districts, is in the following fields:

1—Hillbig; 2—Gretam Greta dsep, Heyser, Jay Welder, La Rosa; 3—Anahuac, Caplen, Cleveland, Fishers Reef, Hastings, Harden, Humble Light, League City, Lochridge, Markham, (North Cornelius sand), North Withers, Old Ocean, Oyster Bayou, Pickett Ridge, Rowan, Stowell, Tomball, Webster, Willow Slough; 4—Boyle, Cedar Hill, Flour Bliff, Richard King, East White Point; 5—Van; 6—New Hope; B—McElroy and Ownby; 9—KMA.

Over 35,000 Jobs Available In Texas

AUSTIN, Aug. 21. (AP)—More than 35,000 job openings are available for Texas workers who have been dropped by war industries and an average of more than 1,000 are taking new work daily, based on reports from 11 war industry cities to the state war manpower office.

Job openings totalled 35,210 as of last night. Against this were the 27,530 workers released as a result of completion of 27 cutbacks in war industries. Cutbacks yet to be completed will increase the total to 50,664 released workers.

The big job at the moment is to match required skills with available skills for placement of more workers, WMC officials said. Through yesterday 3,855 discharged workers had found new jobs and only 1,829 had announced intention of filing claims for unemployment compensation, based on a report of the Texas Unemployment Compensation commission to WMC.

Increase In College Enrollment Predicted

FORT WORTH, Aug. 21. (AP)—C. M. Rogers, of Amarillo, president of the Texas State Teachers' association said this afternoon that he anticipates the return of high school boys and girls to classes now that war plants are closing down and mature men and women are available for positions which will be open.

Rogers, here for the association's meeting at Hotel Texas, added:

"I do not expect the boys who went out of high school a year, or two, or three ago to go into the armed forces to return to high school. They will either go to junior college, or to college, when they return, if they go back to school at all. They are older now, have had maturing experiences and will not want to go back."

RAILS LEAD RECOVERY

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP)—Rails today led the stock market on a selective recovery push in which motors, aircrafts, steels and assorted industrials participated.

While declines were plentiful at the close, plus marks of fractions to two or more points were in the majority. Transfers totaled 1,160,000 shares compared with 1,320,000 the day before.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .2 of a point at 63.4.

In front were Santa Fe, General Motors, Chrysler, Studebaker, Graham-Paige, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Glenn Martin, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, U. S. Rubber, Radio Corp., Montgomery Ward and General Electric.

On the offside were American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, Standard Oil (NJ), Texas Co., Johns-Manville, International Harvester, and Allied Chemical.

Individuals bonds enjoyed substantial improvement.

Cotton..

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP) — Aggressive mill buying along with short covering and replacement commission house demand rallied the cotton futures more than $1 a bale today. The recovery was partly attributed to technical reasons following the sharp sell-off Monday.

Prices closed around the best levels of the day as mill buying and outside demand encountered only scale-up offerings.

Futures closed 18 cents to $1.30 a bale higher.

Jap Troops Withdraw

The Japanese communique said that "in order to avoid any strife arising from this landing" Nipponees armed troops would be withdrawn "as promtly as possible" from the landing area to the south of Tokyo.

Limits of the area for withdrawal of the Japanese troops were described as follows:

"Within a line linking the east bank of the Kamo-Gawa river, Chiba City, the estuary of the Tamagawa river, Fuchu, Hachioji, Otsuki, and the southern end of Izu peninsula."

However, regular police in that territory will be reinforced by the Japanese gendarmerie and two divisions of Navy police, ,the communique said.

First areas to be occupied were listed in the communique as "a portion of the mainland around metropolitan Tokyo, Chiba, Kanawawa, Yamanshi and Shizuoka prefectures.'

Manchuria Quiet

Meanwhile, fighting in Manchuria has virtually ended, with Russian forces in possession of nearly all cities and strategic points. Nipponese troops were surrendering to Soviet units in Karafuto, southern half of Sakhalin island of Hokkaido.

But the Nipponese continued sporadic operations along the 300-mile southeastern Burma front, and in one instance British planes were forced to break up a Nipponese force which had surrounded guerrilla units.

The fact that Tokyo jumped to the microphone with the occupation announcement was plain evidence that Lt. Gen. Takashiro Kawabe, leader of the Nipponese emissaries to Manila, reported MacArthur's plans and demands to top-ranking officials within a few hours after his return to Japan.

Report Not Confirmed

There was no official confirmation here of the Japanese announcement of the occupation schedule, but the Nipponese emissaries were given the precise landing dates before they left Manila.

Authoritive sources here said the full power of American fleets would flank Japan when MacArthur enters Nippon to become the Allied commander in chief of occupation forces.

Sources here said it would be the first time the full combat force of the war-engulfed American Navy would be together for a single operation.

Virtually all of the hundreds of transport planes throughout the Pacific will be utilized for transporting the first landing groups.

The exact units and landing plans for the ground forces will not be announced until after the occupation, but it is known that every branch of America's armed might will be represented.

POLIO ON INCREASE

HOUSTON, Aug. 21. (AP)—Polio incidence spurted today when the city health department recorded seven new cases for a total of 215 for the year, far in excess of the epidemic year of 1943 when only 98 victims were carded for a similar period.

surrender conditions," Domei said.

The newspaper Asahi drew a similar conclusion—that the United States will treat Japan with "understanding"—from the conduct of the surrender meetings and the arrangements for landing occupation forces.

In its Wednesday editions, as quoted by the Tokyo radio and recorded in New York last night by the Associated Press, Asahi told its readers:

"1. U. S. military authorities during the conferences at Manila did not purposely humiliate the Japanese envoys but treated them with fairness and consideration.

"2. With regard to arrangements for landing occupation forces the U. S. military authorities allowed the Japanese emissaries to explain in detail actual conditions in Japan and dictated reasonable methods.

Treat With Emperor

"3. In enforcing the terms of the Potsdam declaration it seems to be the policy of the United States to recognize the authority of the Japanese government and imperial headquarters and to carry out the terms of the declaration through the intermedairy of these institutions.

"4. Peace and order in the areas to be evacuated by Japanese forces will be maintained by Japanese police and gendarmerie."

Asahi called attention especially to what it said was the fact that the Allies "are using prudence not to provoke the Japanese people by derogation of the prestige of the emperor in the eyes of the Japanese nation."

The Nippon Times and the Tokyo Mainichi analysed Japan's political course, indicating a revival of political activity following last Saturday's decision of the country's wartime totalitarian party, the Political Association of Great Japan, to dissolve.

New Political System

The Times said a new political system must be established, "springing from the real life of the Japanese people." This new government, it added, will differ "in superficial details" from the democratic governments of the western powers "but it can command the respect and win the appreciative understanding of the rest of the world."

The Mainichi admitted the failure to "build up a Japan based on sheer might" and said the new Japan will be "built on justice and peace."

There was no revival of Tokyo radio reports, which ran rampant Monday, on the possibility of a homefront upheaval, or on possible trouble from military firebrands when Allied occupation forces arrived.

New Ford Due From Dallas Plant Soon

DALLAS, Aug. 21 (AP)—The first postwar Ford to leave the assembly line in Texas is scheduled to roll here this week.

Employment at the Dallas plant is expected to jump from the present 750 to about 2,000 when production is in full swing, according to H. A. Mack, new southwestern regional manager for the Ford Motor company who arrived here yesterday.

It is estimated that the production of chemicals in Canada has expanded three-fold since the beginning of the war.

airmen, dropped in Mukden where Wainwright was held prisoner, on Aug. 16. The Russians announced capture of Mukden yesterday.

It was planned originally to send a plane into the Mukden area for Wainwright. Yesterday the Japanese sent word that until permission was received from the Russians for Americans to land in that area, any who do so would be interned.

Safety Believed Assured

Officials here believed arrival of the Russians assured final safety of Allied prisoners, and that word from Generalissimo Stalin would eliminate any great delay in bringing out Wainwright and other prisoners from Manchuria.

Word was received also that seven American prisoners of war who were held in prison at Peiping on a charge of attempted escape were transferred to the Wagons Lits hotel, along with another American prisoner from Tsinan in Shantung province. An additional four American prisoners were found at Fengtai, near Peiping.

Headquarters of Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer said 317 civilian internees were located in Peiping, and that all were comfortably quartered and "except for minor inconveniences, are in good condition."

Work Ballup Offers Reconversion Plan

DALLAS, Aug. 21 (AP)—Labor union charges that a war plant shutdown was a lockout preceded the War Labor board here with what M. O. Graff, disputes director, called the "first red-hot reconversion problem."

Textile Inc., Dallas, wartime makers of wing and tail sections for the Consolidated B-32, gave workers a two-day holiday when surrender was announced. During the holiday the company received notice of final termination of its war contract.

Employes were notified not to return to work the following day. Personnel was reduced from about 400 to 46, W. H. Lindsey, personnel director, announced.

Sam Beers, sub-district director of the United Steelworkers of America, CIO, said the action was a lockout.

"The company has a stack of post-war orders a mile high which would enable resumption of work in 24 hours," he said. "The company is giving the union a squeeze play in order to force acceptance of lowered wages."

According to the union, the company says a renewal of a wartime contract is not binding in peacetime and asks new wage contracts.

Let Japan Understand

People Must Know True Story

WHILE hard-headed Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu is now supposed to have told the Japanese people that they are a beaten people and must face the facts, there still remains the question:

Do the Japs actually realize that they are defeated?

The emperor timidly side-stepped the embarrassment of giving his people a true statement of affairs, and glossed over the situation with characteristic Oriental double-talk until it almost sounded as though Japan had achieved some kind of a victory.

From the Toyko radio also came the revelation that the defeat was considered to be "only temporary" and that Japan was unrepentant. As the radio blandly explained it, Japan was forced to surrender because of a lack of scientific knowledge and materials—two deficiencies which would be remedied later.

Through the smoke screen of Tokyo talk, the facts shone forth that Japan hopes to try again—and win. There is in this condition a strange parallel to the condition that existed in Germany after the Allied victory in 1918. At that time, Germany was occupied by American, French and British troops, but her people were never forced to a clear realization that Germany had been defeated militarily. Hitler later used this point of German ignorance to an advantage, when he argued that Germany had never been defeated by Allied military might. He blamed the defeat on failure of home-front morale.

There are indications that the Japanese people may follow the pattern laid out by Hitler and his party chiefs. This is why the occupation of Japan by Gen. Douglas MacArthur and his forces poses such a difficult problem for the future peace of the world.

It is encouraging to note that President Truman has taken cognizance of Japan's boasts of revenge since her surrender. Pointing out that it is only natural for any defeated nation to talk of revenge, President Truman has reassured the people of the United States that Japan will never again have a chance for vengeance. He added significantly that there are still three plants in the United States making atomic bombs.

Let us hope that it will never again be necessary to use atomic bombs even to kill Japanese. To make sure, however, Allied occupation of Japan must be carried out with an iron hand. Japan must be made to realize that she is decisively defeated.

What To Do About China?

WELCOME as was Russia's entrance into the war against Japan, the Soviet's participation already has brought numerous complications—particularly in China.

While T. V. Soong, president of the Executive Yuan of the National Government of China, has described the treaty of friendship and alliance signed with the Soviet government on Aug. 14 as "the cornerstone of a durable peace in the Far East," the world does not yet know the price that China eventually have to pay for Russian assistance.

The text of this Sino-Russian treaty and the agreements that accompany it will not be made public until ratification has been completed at Moscow and Chungking.

It is evident, however, that one of the things that National Government of China gets out of the treaty is a guarantee that no support will be given by Moscow to the Communists who challenge the Chinese government's authority in the north.

Yet the threat of civil war between the Nationalists and Communists has not been removed, for the Communists are making desperate efforts to take for their own use the arms and equipment of surrendering Japanese forces.

Meanwhile the forces of Chiang Kai-Shek are making an equally desperate effort to obtain the guns and other munitions of the Japs. This makes a difficult problem, one that may threaten the peace of China for years to come, and it places the United States in a difficult role. An ally of Russia and therefore friendly to the Communistic Chinese forces, we are also a strong supporter of Chiang Kai-Shek.

A "War Of Inventions"

FOUR great "secret" inventions will be credited with playing decisive roles in World War II, when the history of this colossal struggle, is written.

There are: (1) The atomic bomb, which jarred Japan into a realization that further struggle was hopeless; (2) Radar, which saved England during the "Battle of Britain"; (3) The Nazi buzz bomb, which failed to demolish London and shatter Allied preparations for invasion, because it came a trifle too late; (4) The rocket bomb, which was first used by the Germans but later used by the United States to stop the Nazi tanks. Also extensively used in aerial warfare, it threatens to be one of the most devastating weapons of the future, if war is not outlawed from the Earth.

While the Germans boasted frequently of the great "secret weapons" they had in store for the world, it remained for the United States, with the aid of British scientists, to develop the truly historic weapon—the bomb to end bombs.

Within eight days after American airmen had dropped the first of the two atomic bombs on Japan, that nation, which also boasted futilely of secret weapons, had surrendered.

Hearts Bleed Longest

By Doris Hume

I

Brock was coming home; the plane got in at 3. Thayer was dressed and ready, nothing to do now but wait. At lunch Brock's mother had said, "You aren't eating, Thayer," and as they left the table, "Why don't you rest a little before it is time to go?"

"Rest!" The word was shocked from Thayer.

Mrs. Kittridge pursued her soft mouth a little. "I have waited a long time for my boy to come back to me. I have learned patience, Thayer."

Thayer thought of that now as she stood by the bedroom window looking out. Rest! If only she could have kept on working today, right up to the hour, the minute.

"You aren't going to the plant this morning?" her mother-in-law had asked at breakfast.

"Why, I intended to," Thayer said innocently.

"Really, Mr. Tipton should realize . . ." Mrs. Kittridge began stiffly.

"I'm sure he does," Thayer answered gently, "and I know I can get away in plenty of time."

Realize! Realization was headlined in the Daverton Sentinel she had bought on the way to work.

DAVERTON'S HERO FLYER COMES HOME TODAY

"Thayer, how can you work?" Ruth Jory from Mr. Tipton's department had demanded in the dressing room. Thayer caught Ruth's mirrored glance, in it that which she had seen in other eyes that morning—a guarded questioning. Ruth looked away quickly and Thayer pretended it hadn't happened, but her own face wore a tense strained look.

I'm just plain scared, Thayer thought. I won't be—but I am.

She deepened her lipstick, brushed back her red-brown hair into the soft swirl that most enhanced her slender face and lifted her chin in an unconscious gesture grown habitual these past months. There! she thought, but the beautiful, deeply-set dark eyes remained shadowed.

Hardly was her desk cleared for work when Mr. Tipton hurried in, his brow creased in its neat furrow, his hands filled with papers. "What are you doing here, young lady?"

"We're so behind, Mr. Tipton. Anyhow, I'd rather work. I guess—I guess I've got the jitters."

His near-sighted blue eyes were uneasy but his words were insistent. "Nonsense, it's just excitement. You go along home now."

"But I . . ." Thayer stopped, rose slowly, stood facing him, her dark grave glance direct. "Mrs. Kittridge 'phoned you, Mr. Tipton."

He flushed, then put a hand on her arm placatingly. "After all, it's her only boy, Thayer. It was pretty hard on her having him go so soon after losing his father. And now . . ." His fingers tightened persuasively. "Let her have things her way today."

Thayer felt a sort of coldness settle over her as she closed her desk. No use saying more. Mr. Tipton might be her boss. But the Kittridges owned the plant.

Now in this lovely room she had never shared with Brock she waited.

Brock's father had died 18 months ago; Thayer had never known him. Brock's uncle, Judson Kittridge, acting head of the Daverton Sweeper Company, had gone north yesterday to come down on the plane with Brock. His wife, Hildreth, had telephoned earlier that she would meet them at the airport. Thayer had wanted to say, "Please go with us." Since Brock's mother made going alone impossible Thayer would have welcomed Hildreth's crisp presence as a third.

The hands on the bedside table clock showed 2:15. Thayer moved about the room restlessly. On the desk was a large photograph of Brock, one of a group made for his mother. It showed a gay handsome face, dark gray eyes, straight brows, an arrogant cut to the nostrils, a mouth laughing to reveal strong even teeth. Hiding with that laughter the sensitiveness betrayed in repose.

"Oh, Brock . . ." Thayer said, but the eyes of the picture looked past her. She turned away.

She had treasured a snapshot taken that brief week of their marriage. In it Brock's eyes never left hers. She had worn it with much handling. Then it had disappeared. Mrs. Kittridge said regretfully, "It must have fallen on the floor and been swept up. Wouldn't you like this one of Brock, Thayer?" But Thayer felt no closeness to this picture; the other had held the warm sweetness of the boy with whom she had fallen in love and whom she had married after 10 days of courtship.

The clock said 2:20.

"When I want something bad enough I always get it," Brock told her at their second meeting.

Last April—just a year ago — Amy Lane had written her:

I've a grand job down here and there's an opening in Personnel made just for you. Remember that Daverton Sweeper we had at the apartment? They make 'em here—only now it's bomb sight parts. I board with a swell little old maid; you could share my room. Do come, Thayer. Seem to be a few likely lads about. Oh yes, and—to look at only! —Brock Kittridge, the big boss' nephew. A gal's dream wearing silver wings. But a willowy blonde named Moya with dibs on him. Just the same I like it here. Come see for yourself. Love,

AMY.

Three days after her arrival Brock had come into Thayer's office. She had raised her head to find him standing there, looking at her. He said, never shifting his gaze, "Hey, Tippie, stop slave-driving and introduce me," and when Mr. Tipton somewhat startled had acquiesced, he said, "Why didn't you let me know you were here?"

A little annoyed she had countered coolly, "Surely you looked on the Bulletin Board."

He grinned and his lips moved but whatveer he said was lost in the shriek of the noon whistle.

Thayer said, "I beg your pardon?"

"It didn't matter. Where do we have lunch?"

He should have been warned by her eyes. She rose, got her hat without haste, looked at him directly, fully. "I'm not familiar with your habits," she remarked levelly. "Me, I go to Miss Deeper's."

He stood his ground. "Chicken salad on Tuesdays. Good! Let's be on our way."

"You weren't asked."

He smiled again. "I'm always asked. Miss Mary and I—we're like that. I'll prove it." He lifted the telephone, spun the dial. "Hello, Miss Mary? It's Brock. Yeah, honest. Did I hear you say come to lunch? I did? Miss Mary, you're wonderful. Put on another plate and make eight extra biscuits." He cradled the instrument. "See?" he said.

As Thayer went past him and out of the door he turned and swung into step beside her. "Hi!" Brock said to everyone they met. "Hi! How are you?" Thayer was aware of glances following them.

"Well," she said when they reached the street. "I hope you think this is very funny."

He stopped then, looked down at her, shook his head. "I muffed it pretty badly, but I didn't want any of them to see how completely you'd turned me down. A guy's likely to get a little wacky when he's on leave. Mark it down to that, will you? And I'm sorry."

"Oh—it's all right."

He said gravely, "Thanks for that. Give Miss Mary my best, will you?"

"But—the biscuits . . ."

"Gosh, the biscuits. I told her eight, didn't I?"

They stood, their eyes searching each other's, a twinkle beginning at the very core of his. Thayer could feel the corners of her mouth twitch. Suddenly they were laughing, looking into each other's eyes—and laughing.

She felt the strong pressure of his fingers at her elbow, heard his voice, deep, assured. "Eight biscuits—and time's awastin'."

Ten days later she married him.

BLACK markets! Black markets! Black markets!

You can't read your paper these days without reading something about the black market plague.

The OPA is trying to exterminate them—but it doesn't know how.

BRANDEIS

The FBI is going to go after them.

Police departments will arrest the black marketeers and so on.

You'd imagine that it is impossible to kill the market epidemic.

And yet, in my opinion it is as simple as ABC.

Black markets couldn't exisit unless there were enough merchandise available to make the business profitable.

I know at least a dozen black markets in my immediate neighborhood. But the OPA isn't able to find them.

* * *

My wife and I eat stews and substitutes and, if we are lucky, a few frankfurters.

But only yesterday I looked into an icebox and saw a luscious roast beef, a display of tender lamb chops, a fifteen-pound ham, and a side of bacon—all in the house of a family of two.

"My gosh," I said, "where did you get all the points necessary for this are exhibit?"

"Points?" smiled my hostess as if she had never heard the word. "We didn't need points for the stuff. The Soandso black market has all the meat you want—of course it costs you plenty."

And then she told me that this particular black market even puts the stuff into black bags—a great joke, the proprietor thinks.

We were going to can a lot of cherries this summer—five trees chock full of them. But we couldn't get the sugar. So the cherries went to waste.

Yet, I know where I can get all the sugar I want—without a ration point, but at twenty cents a pound.

* * *

THE owner of a nearby market wouldn't do any blackmarketing. So what happens?

His shelves are loaded with butter but he can't sell it because the housewives hereabouts haven't enough points to buy it.

Complicated? Rot!

Let the OPA give us enough points to buy our food at reasonable prices and in legitimate places and there wouldn't be another black market in existence within four weeks.

But to figure that out would require the brains of a seven-year-old school kid.

Maybe that's why we have black markets.

Bomb To Affect Navy

New Weapon To Change All Plans

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE ARRIVAL of the atomic bomb struck the braided gentlemen of the American Navy in the solar plexus, for it may mean the eventual abolition of such craft as battleships, cruisers and destroyers. For that reason they hope that the United States, which has exclusive knowledge and resources for manufacture, will keep control of this new and destructive capsule of solar energy.

The fleet of the future may consist mainly of submarines and aircraft carriers which will bear out a prediction of the late "Billie" Mitchell during his courtmartial in 1926.

TUCKER

The U-boats, if submerged deep enough, can escape the effects of the bomb. The carriers can carry their own protection against the approach of a plane armed with "Uranium 235."

Naval experts admit that dropping an atomic bomb in the midst of a surface fleet would have one of two effects: It would cause such a tidal wave that even a 45-000-ton warship would capsize. Should it explode in the air by a time arrangement, it would either vaporize the surface vessels or strip them of their fighting equipment to such an extent that they would be mere hulks.

Incidentally, the U. S. Navy emerged from the German and Japanese conflicts with 23 battleships and 70 cruisers. (The total for the cruiser class was 71 until the Indianapolis was sunk in the closing minutes of the Pacific struggle.)

Those ships cost approximately five billion dollars, and their operation plus personnel charges run to fancy figures. It took only two billion for all the experimental, mining, manufacturing and manpower expenditures involved in the development of a tiny bomb that could sink the treasure vessels in a single second.

By trimming down naval appropriations, the cosmic weapon may mean a great saving in taxes for every Tom, Dick, and Harriet in the land.

URANIUM: John L. Lewis may file suit against the government for about $50,000 in back wages for the Colorado miners who excavated the ore which went into the making of the atomic bomb. It seems that the production of the weapon has its amusing as well as its tragic sidelights.

District 50 members work for two Colorado vanadium companies on a piece-lease basis. They are paid so much a ton for the vanadium which they send above ground. In their contract there was, of course, no mention of their digging uranium, a by-product of the metal. But when they were paid off on Saturday nights for their extraction of the minor mineral, their production of the pay-off ore— uranium — was deducted from their envelopes. For their really important work, as they learned when the bomb news broke, they got nothing, and are they hollering!

A former liquor salesman, who was atomized into a cosmic expert by the War Production board, visited the plant to discuss this question with a miner's representative a few weeks before the lethal bomb was dropped over Hiroshima. Lewis's spokesman apparently was aware of the search for uranium and discussed it in detail with WPB's agent. The latter almost fainted.

"How do you know about the possible value of uranium?" he whispered.

The miner led him to the shack office where blueprints of operations plastered the wall. The charts noted the various kinds of ore which were being dug at this particular mine and, at the bottom of the list, in big letters, there was the key word: Uranium!

By Albert Leman

SOME people are falling for the alibi held out by Hirohito that the atomic bomb won the war. Military experts recognize the important part which the new cosmic weapon played in the long struggle and will play in the future but they insist that in all truth it was the coup de grace not the decisive factor.

They point out that Tokyo first tried peace feelers through Moscow after our victory in Okinawa—long before the secret terror was unleased. The Japs knew then that nothing could stop our invasion. The experts say that it is unfair to all who worked and fought that they should be deprived of the deserved credit for the wonderful success.

LEMAN

Japan already was hanging on the ropes. Our progress in the jungle and in the confined volcanic islands at first was slow but it gained momentum every hour.

Had our great armies been able to maneuver in wide spaces as they did in Europe they would have swept everything before them, as the seasoned Russian veterans from the Berlin area did in Manchuria.

Suzuki's war lords were aware of what was in store for them and used the atomic bomb as an excuse for crawling out.

They knew, too, that in addition to the kind of damage already listed the bomb would have started a tidal wave had it been dropped in their harbors and, in the mountains, an avalanche that would have completely stopped all transportation. The cosmic weapon was recognized by them — and the world — as the epitome of our might — past, present and future.

POWER: We Americans are so close to events that we fail to fully appreciate our unprecedented power.

Lt. Gen. R. L. Bullard, Pershing's great field commander in the last war, touched upon this point the other day in conversing with friends in New York. Someone had remarked that Russia had done more to defeat Germany than had the United States.

"Fighting a recently victorious German army, led by the most able Nazi general," declared the famous warrior," we and the British drove the Germans out of North Africa, through Sicily, through Italy, 2,000 miles. Then we drove them 600 miles across France, the Siegfried Line, the Rhine — the strongest defenses the world has ever known. And to reach the enemy we had to sail across the Atlantic and Mediterranean.

"The Russians fought long, hard, gloriously, hesitating before no sacrifice needed to win. But they had Allied aid — especially American — in all their means except men. They drove the Nazis out of Russia and back through Germany's least defensible territory, a distance at its greatest of from seven to eight hundred miles."

The logistic comparison of our task against the Japanese Empire, stretching 5,000 miles from the Aleutians to New Guinea, is fresh in everyone's mind.

COLOSSUS: After the Soviet legions had crashed through Poland and our troops were temporarily held up by the West Wall, the leaders of some of the liberated nations — France, Belgium, Italy, Greece and others — began to play up to the Kremlin.

They assumed that we should be enmeshed for one to two years in the Orient even if we finally beat Germany and that we would emerge in a weakened condition. Those were the days when near-sighted statesmen were talking about Russia being the new colossus.

But General de Gaulle's visit to Washington and other signs from European capitals are evidence that the world now recognizes our unchallenged leadership.

COURAGE: Yet with that record there are some timid souls among us as we face the problems of reconversion.

It has been the writer's job for the past several years to interview our national leaders, from the White House to Wall Street and elsewhere — statesmen, generals, admirals, scientists, war production managers, labor chiefs, business executives. Their views have been set forth in this column.

Laying aside partisanship, competition and class strife for the moment, a true report is that the great majority of them are men of both vision and courage. These qualities won the war; they can win the peace. They are present in millions of their countrymen.

Stokes Plumps For Adoption Of Reforms

Ghost Of New Deal Walks Again

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — Congressional committees have been called back to begin drafting measures to cushion the transition from war to peace and to provide a basic employment program on the "jobs for everybody able and willing to work" commitment of the Truman administration.

Congress, itself, will return after Labor Day.

It faces a big job that is truly a challange.

STOKES

What is really happening is that the administration and Congress are taking up where the New Deal left off. For most of the measures contemplated bear the New Deal stamp, or spring from the New Deal philosophy of change to meet changing conditions. This goes for temporary as well as more permanent proposals.

For example, the pending bill to provide a maximum unemployment benefit up to $25 a week for 26 weeks for those temporarily out of work through reconversion, by advances to states which have lower rates and a shorter period of payments, was a New Deal project which Congress turned down a year ago. President Truman has asked for it.

Other Plans Pending

Embodying a New Deal idea, too, is the so-called "Full Employment bill" for an annual check on the employment situation so that measures may be taken regularly to keep it stable. This would be done by encouragement, first, to private enterprise, and, if that does not meet the problem, by federal measures. This is, though, merely an expansion of a proposal back in the Hoover administration sponsored by former Conservative Republican senators.

Social Security recently celebrated its Tenth anniversary. That was an outstanding New Deal accomplishment. Many still do not enjoy its benefits. Bills for its expansion to cover many groups not now covered, numbering millions of persons, have been pending for a long time, backed by the late President Roosevelt and also by President Truman.

THE proposed Missouri Valley Authority, MVA, is but a duplicate for the Missouri river watershed of TVA for the Tennessee Valley. It would open further opportunity, as did TVA, for development of a great region which, among other things, will provide jobs.

Opportunities for jobs, too, like in utilization of surplus war plants. Congress is asked to review the existing set-up for disposing of the vast war surplus, which has not operated adequately, for possible changes so that it can meet the tremendous task imposed upon it.

Long pending have been measures for federal aid in health and hospitalization. They were New Deal proposals. They would seem almost routine now in view of the revelation that our Government has spent two billion dollars for the atomic bomb.

End Of "Coasting" Seen

The administration and Congress face problems even more complex in some respects than those faced by the Roosevelt administration when it went into office in the midst of depression in 1933. The question asked here now is whether the same boldness and originality of thinking and planning, the same courage to go forward, will be applied to them.

The times certainly demand it.

In the last several weeks before the close of the war there had been a noticeable tendency here to let down, to coast along on domestic problems, particularly in Congress, which was signified by that body voting itself a two-month vacation.

It would be assumed that the end of the war would change all that.

DURING the war all attempts in Congress to continue domestic reforms were blocked by a coalition of Republicans and Southern Conservative Democrats. They had control of Congress on domestic issues.

It will be interesting to watch whether the end of the war has changed that. Primaries for the congressional elections next November will begin in a few months. The people, particularly labor, which has such a stake now in postwar policy, will begin to think about the elections. Labor is organized now for political action.

Perhaps all this will be reflected in Congress when it sits down again to consider postwar problems.

HEALTH CENTER PLANNED

FORT WORTH, Aug. 21. (U.P.)—Fort Worth Architect A. B. Withers today had presented his drawing of the new health center to be erected in Breckenridge for Dr. W. B. Guinn.

The center will consist of a clinic and hospital, of rambling residential design, and will be built on a block of ground just off the business district. The most modern hospital equipment will be installed.

Construction was expected to begin this fall.

TO HONOR EISENHOWER

LONDON, Aug. 21. (U.P.)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander of American forces in Europe, will visit Belfast on Friday where he will receive an honorary doctor of laws degree from Queens university.

The "MONICA DOLLS" from Hollywood

THE "MONICA DOLLS" . . . 15 Sisters . . . and all different! These are dolls that every little girl will love to include in her family . . . every big girl will love to have in her collection.

Craftsmanship and artistic ingenuity combined have created a doll so life-like, so beautiful, so different, that no black and white picture can reflect its colorful perfection.

This wonder doll has real human hair planted on her head by a unique process, giving everlasting satisfaction . . . no glued-on-wig! Her hair can be combed, curled, finger waved, dressed anew in ANY STYLE, and FASHION.

The "MONICA DOLL" can always be kept in fresh and clean dresses because her clothes zip and snap on and off so easily that even the youngest child can handle them without difficulty . . . Unbreakable! Beautifully gowned, more life-like, 17 and 20 inches tall. . . . . 16.95 to 24.95

Service Discharges Placed On Record In County Clerk's Office

Today's crop of young men and women are not practicing the lackadaisical attitude of their fathers upon discharge from the armed services.

They are placing on record their discharge from service.

One thousand ninety of them have filed such instruments for recording in the office of Louie F. Moore, county clerk, since Pearl Harbor, a Tuesday check showed.

The procedure stems from suggestion, first of all, from draft boards, which want a photostatic copy of the discharge after the clerk's stamp has been placed on it, and partly because of the later need of the discharged person of being able to show evidence of discharge in seeking employment and in participating in benefits already planned and in some that might come later as an unforeseen windfall.

No charge is made by the clerk for recording the discharges. A photostatic copy may be obtained for a nominal charge. Numerous persons, immediately after their discharge, take the discharge instrument to the clerk, have stamped on it evidence that the instrument has been filed for record; take it to a photostatic place and have three copies made, then return it to the clerk for recording. The clerk, after recording the instrument, places another stamp upon the original discharge, showing that the instrument has been recorded and showing the volume and page number in the records where it may be found. The clerk then mails the original discharge to its owner.

The two extra photostatic copies are usually ordered so that the former serviceman or woman may keep a copy on his person and have another "extra" at home, in case he loses the other. If the original discharge is lost, a certified copy may be obtained from the clerk.

Information Is Sought On C. M. Williams

Local chapter of the American Red Cross is seeking the whereabouts of C. M. Williams, listed as next-of-kin to Pvt. William Bowman, a prisoner of war of the Japanese. Information about Williams is to be turned immediately to the local chapter.

This was the appeal made today by Mrs. Marguerite Stiles, secretary of the local chapter. Her office, she explained, had not been able to find any local relatives of Bowman, who is listed on National Red Cross records as a former resident of this locality.

"We have wired Washington, D. C. for a new address for Bowman's kin, and are continuing our efforts to locate his relatives so that we can get a letter in the mail to him," Mrs. Stiles said. "With this one exception, the local chapter has made a 100 per cent score in contacting relatives of the prisoners."

Letters to 49 prisoners from this area have been sent by airmail to San Francisco where they will be taken on fast planes to the Philippines.

MOTHER TO GRADUATE

FORT WORTH, Aug. 21. (AP)—Mrs. T. J. Hyde, who after rearing five children went back to school at Texas Wesleyan college, will receive her B. A. degree in education there Aug. 24.

One of her sons, Roy, an AAF cadet at Monroe, La., obtained leave and will be present for her graduation.
