County Banks Join Cotton Aid Movement

LOANS TO BE MADE ONLY IF ACREAGE CUT

Pledges Exacted That 25 Percent Reduction Will Come Next Year

The banks of Wichita county went on record at a meeting held last night as favoring immediate financing of the cotton crop of the county to the extent of $50 per bale, thereby enabling farmers to hold their cotton for a better price and relieve congested conditions of the market. A banquet was given at the Wichita club in which every bank in Wichita Falls and all banks of other towns in the county, with the exception of Iowa Park, were represented.

This action is in co-operation with a statewide movement being inaugurated by the bankers of Texas for the purpose of holding off at least a million bales of cotton from the present market, thereby relieving the general price condition of the community.

W. M. McGregor, president of the First National bank of Wichita Falls, presided at the meeting and explained the purpose designed. He outlined the movement and called attention to the fact that Texas bankers were ro-operating in sending Clarence Ousley to different cotton sections to agitate the movement.

$50 Per Bale at 6 Per Cent.

Briefly the plan is outlined to provide plenty of money to loan on all cotton which farmers want to hold at a rate of interest not to exceed 6 per cent, and a maximum of $50 per bale allowed on average picked cotton. This amount does not apply to snapped cotton or bolly cotton. The loans would be made to extend not longer than 10 months, and it was suggested that the banks work out a schedule whereby a farmer may have some of his loans come due at 60 days, others at 90 days and still others at six and 10 months, thereby making the cotton come gradually on the market instead of in a flood after a ten month period. No limit was placed as to the number of bales a farmer might hold under this loan plan, and all will be encouraged to hold as much as they possibly can.

The bankers unanimously adopted the foregoing plan and it was decided that a committee would be appointed by the chair to formulate definite plans for the financing of the crop. One banker from each town in the county will be

Historic Landmark Goes Up in Smoke At Burkburnett

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Sept. 28.—A historic landmark which, in the lurid days of the boom was the center of a seething maelstrom of frontier life, went up in smoke here early Tuesday night when fire gutted the Bell rooming house.

The structure, aslarge, rambling frame building at Main street and Avenue B, was the heart of things when Burkburnett was overrun in 1918 and 1919. At that time fights and brawls were the rule rather than the exception; at least two adventurers are known to have come to a violent and untimely end within its walls, and there were probably others.

Of later years, however, it has had a more prosaic existence as a domino parlor and paint shop. The fire, it is believed, started in the shop, although the origin is unknown.

The interior of the building was completely burned away, although firemen, aided by a driving rain, saved the walls.

The building is now owned by W. W. Linville of Wichita Falls.

TEAPOT DOME LEASE 'FRAUD'

U. S. Appelate Court So Rules in Reversing Okeh Of Deal

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 28.(AP)—The United States circuit court of appeals today reversed and remanded the decision of the district court at Cheyenne, Wyo., upholding the Teapot Dome oil lease obtained by Harry F. Sinclair and associates from the government while Albert B. Fall was secretary of the interior.

The appellate court's decision is sweeping in effect and instructs the lower court immediately to cancel the Mammoth Oil company's lease and to enjoin it from further trespassing on government lands. The opinion was received here from William S. Kenyon, of Fort Dodge, Ia., presiding judge of the appellate court.

The decision declares the Sinclair lease to have been fraudulent. The lower court is instructed to ask the Mammoth Oil company for an accounting for all oil and petroleum products taken from the government's naval oil reserve during its tenure.

The appellate court in its decision—a 65-page document—reverses Judge T. Blake Kennedy who held in district court at Cheyenne in June, 1925, that the government's allegation of fraud had not been proved. He rejected the government's annulment suit and left the Mammoth Oil company in possession of Teapot Dome.

The opinion was concurred in by District Judge Arba S. VanValkenburg of Kansas City and District Judge W. A. Kent of Duluth, who sat with Judge Kenyon in hearing the appeal at St. Paul last May.

CHILDRESS, Sept. 28.—Finding that its jay-walking ordinance would not be enforced in the courts the city council recently repealed the law, except for the street intersections. Anyone may cross the street anywhere in the block now but they must not cut across diagonally at the intersections.

CHILDRESS, Sept. 28.—Natural gas is now being used in Childress, several of the stores handling gas ranges, have been conducting cooking schools which have been well attended by the women. The gas fitters are being swamped with work getting gas pipes connected.

GOV. FERGUSON PUTS ONE OVER IN BOOK BILL

She Lays Predicate To Hold Special Session For Road Probe

S. R. BROOKS
Staff Correspondent of The Record News.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 28.—Governor Ferguson's new move of putting the whole text book law before the legislature was admitted to be disconcerting to her opposition in the house and senate, and will snarl the text book investigation with the conflicting opinions of members as to merits of the free-book laws, according to comment which followed her message.

Mrs. Ferguson submitted for legislative consideration the "adding to, changing or eliminating" from the free text book law. She did not submit for confirmation members of the book board, but placed before the legislature a new fight on what has been one of the hardest-fought legislative enactments of the state.

Long Session Seen.

"It means we will be held a full 30 days, and it looks like another 30-day session immediately afterward," was the comment of one senator when the message was read.

A strategic move of high importance was admitted when the old book fight was revived by the message, for with the legislators themselves widely differing and sharply contending for and against the merit of certain practices, of long or short contracts, of supplemental text-lists, of selecting books not to be furnished free—it was obvious that the same members could hardly pass detached judgment on the merits of actions of a board under those provisions.

Probe Is Bogged.

The text book investigation is just about bogged down before it starts, some of the members think.

Anti-Ferguson members in both houses believe the Fergusons want to keep the legislature in session until after the highway investigation is started, adjournment of the present 30-day term, and they were quick to see what appears to be a predicate for another 30 days of session in the book message.

MORE ROAD IN CLAY CO. OPEN

12 Miles Now Available For Use between Henrietta and Wichita Falls

Approximately 12 miles of paved highway is now open between Wichita Falls and Henrietta as a result of uncovering an additional stretch of the new pavement Tuesday. Concrete may be used without interruption from this city to a point about six miles from the Clay county seat.

Contractors on the job shoveled off the dirt of a long stretch Tuesday when rains made detours practically impassable and motorists who braved the rigors of the road found, instead of miles of sticky gumbo through which they had to plough, a smooth ribbon of concrete which laughed at the rain and mud.

The road may now be used to a point about half way between Jolly and Henrietta, where the six mile detour begins. Work is being pushed on the remaining gap between the end of the new paving and Henrietta, but the inclement weather of the past few days is delaying this appreciably.

Childress Public Schools Have Big Registration.

CHILDRESS, Sept. 28.—Over 1,400 pupils have been enrolled in the Childress city schools and 360 of them are in the high school, housed in the new high school building which is a wonderful building.

Circus Coming Despite Rain and Mud With 2 Performances Today

One hundred special length railway cars were rolling through a driving rain toward Wichita Falls Tuesday night, presumably with the aim of unloading their monster tents, gaudy wagons, roaring wild animals and funny clowns in time for the first of two scheduled performances here Wednesday. Whether they are able to exhibit or not depends on what flight of fancy the weather man takes.

Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey's combined shows is not an institution to be thwarted by a little mud and water. However, circuses, like other things, can be and have been rained out.

However—

Barring a fresh flood, the big top will go up on schedule time today at Tenth street and Linwood. Elephants make handy material with which to drag or dig a heavy wagon out of the mire, so the circus managers are not worrying about this; and once up, their huge spreads of canvas are just as dry inside as most any building.

Performances are scheduled to begin at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and at 8 o'clock at night. The menagerie will be opened an hour prior to both showings. Seating accommodations for 15,000 persons are provided in the main tent, which will offer five rings, eight stages, acres of aerial apparatus, 800 men and women arenic stars, 350 trained horses, five herds of performing elephants, 1,000 rare wild animals and countless other features.

No street parade will be given.

CHILDRESS, Sept. 28.—Cotton ginned in Childress county up to Monday noon amounted to 2,751 bales, this being the product of 13 gins and including the towns of Childress, Loco, Carey, Tell and Kirkland. The ginning is about over for the week though. The heavy week-end rain of 3.76 inches has caused all cotton picking to stop for at least a week and roads are so bad that no cotton can be brought in to the different gins.

Ray Mackey Tells Realtors How To Interest Public

Newspaper Advertising And Other Aides Outlined By Speaker

"Advertising in every phase is as essential to business as milk and bread is to the growing child," Ray Mackey of San Antonio, one of the principal speakers at the afternoon session of the Texas Association of Real Estate boards, told the assembly Tuesday in his address on "Classified Advertising which Counts." He stressed the necessity of being honest in advertising and spoke of the influence truthful advertising had on the business of the realtors.

"Motives of advertising are much the same and respond to the same appeal, and the best way to solve the mystery of getting response to advertisements is to study what would appeal to you, if you were reading the ad," he said.

Discusses Advertising.

"Advertising of this kind falls into three groups, direct by mail, signs, bill boards and window advertising, and newspapers," Mr. Mackey told the realtors, and he gave a comprehensive discussion of each group.

"When direct by mail advertising is used, the realtor should be careful in the list to whom he sends letters. Correct names and initials should be used. When wrong initials are used, the name confused, or the wrong address given, the psychological effect on the one who receives the advertisement is such that he believes the concern is backward or slow, and he loses confidence in it."

Mr. Mackey expressed a firm belief in the use of signs and billboards in the houses that are for sale or for rent. He told how his company used paraffined paste board signs placed between the window and the screen, and are a constant reminder to the public of the name and business of the company. The use of billboards is of value of the advertising firm and for subdivisions.

Newspaper Advertising.

"Newspaper advertising may be divided into sections, the display which is to reach the man not definitely decided that he wants to buy, and to create a market, as well as to satisfy the demand after it is created, and classified advertising which does not create a market but is to satisfy an existing market.

"In the last year in the United States $1,5000,000,000 was spent in the all kinds of advertising, and of that amount, nearly half was done

Roberts, special government counsel. The contracts and leases have been held void by the federal courts in California.

GINNINGS FOR 1926 TO DATE BEAT '25 LIST

697 Bales Ginned Up to Sept. 16, This Year; 336 Last Year

Ginnings in Wichita county out of the 1926 cotton crop prior to September 16 amounted to 697 bales, according to a report received Tuesday from the census bureau of the U. S. department of commerce, Washington, D. C., by J. C. Thilo, Wichita Falls, county representative for the bureau.

Ginnings for the 1926 period up to September 16 exceeded by 336 bales the total for the same period in 1925 when only 361 bales of the current year's crop had been ginned prior to the same date, according to figures announced by Thilo.

Hundreds of bales of cotton are now open in Wichita fields, according to a survey of conditions in the county and adjacent sections are similarly affected. Pronounced shortage of labor for picking continues to confront the farmers of the Wichita section.

Rains Do Damage.

Rains of the last two days have done some damage to the cotton which is already open while lack of sunshine has delayed the opening of late boils, visitors to the farm sections report.

It is estimated that several hundred additional pickers are needed in Wichita county to handle the crop already open for harvest although several groups of farmers have succeeded in bringing squads of pickers into the county. Prices being paid the pickers range from $1 to $1.25 per hundred, according to advices from farmers. Because of the declining prices paid for spot cotton on the markets the $1 a hundred price for pickers is pretty generally adhered to, farmers say.

After adjourning court, Judge Mack, United States Attorney Buckner, William Reed, counsel for Miller and Max D. Steuer, counsel for Daugherty, retired to the judge's chambers to discuss motions for a dismissal of the case.

Senate Fight To Cut Tax One Cent Certain

Measure Passes House By Vote of 102 to 15 and Now Goes to Upper Chamber Where Strong Opposition Appears to be Forming.

AUSTIN, Sept. 28. (AP)—The house of the 39th legislature here in special session Tuesday finally passed the bill increasing the gasoline gallonage tax from one to three cents.

Final action was taken after a parliamentary mix-up, revolving about whether enough votes had been obtained to suspend the constitutional rule. The speaker first ruled not enough votes had been obtained, but later sustained a motion to reconsider the whole matter, which resulted in the bill's passage.

One-Fourth To Schools.

The bill offered by Dale of Fannin and others, alloting one-fourth of the revenue of such a tax to the public schools and three-fourths to the highway department was passed, 102 to 15. The bill will go to the senate where a determined fight will be made to reduce the proposed tax to two cents.

A five-year extension of all elementary school text book contracts in force October 1, 1926, would be ordered by a bill offered by Representative Hall of Harris. The extension would apply from the contracts expiration.

Representative Hall told the Associated Press that adoption of his bill would save the state at least $1,000,000 a year for five years, by discouraging changes during that period. The bill was the first to follow Governor Miriam A. Ferguson's announcement of Monday that the text book law was open to revision.

Schools Need Aid.

A bill by Young, Hall of Harris, Irwin, McFarlane and King would appropriate $2,000,000 from the general revenue fund to increase the per capita scholastic apportionment. The bill, which was referred to the appropriations committee, recited any relief the 40th legislature might give in this direction would come too late for the 1926-27 school session.

$15,000,000 Income.

Representative Dale stated that during the last fiscal year the one-cent gasoline tax brought in $5,320,820, and that based on this figure the three-cent tax would bring in annually $15,962,460, of which $3,990,650 would go to the schools and $11,971,845 to the highways. He pointed out the highway department would receive only about a million dollars less than it did last year, when it received $10,368,415 from license fees and three-fourths of the one-cent gasoline tax revenue, because there would be added to the $11,971,845 about $400,000 from transfers and other motor fees.

The house Monday passed a bill placing practically all motor registration fees in the county treasury, the bill being a companion to the gasoline tax bill.

"Under the new plan the highway department would receive all the funds it can judiciously spend," Dale declared. "Passage of the bill will mean much to the boys and girls of Texas, as it will make possible longer term schools."

Purl For 2 Cents.

Representative George Purl of Dallas fought to decrease the proposed tax to two cents. He charged the measure was backed by the Fergusons. "I'm opposed to turning any more money over to the highway commission until there is a change in the personnel of the commission. For all we know some of this money may be used for purchasing text books," he said. "The proponents of this bill have shown no good reason why a three-cent tax should be imposed."

Representative Hall of Harris acked Purl if he did not know that text books could be purchased only

Elevator Collapses And Operator May Die.

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 28.(AP)—One man barely escaped death and another was probably fatally injured when a concrete elevator crashed Tuesday.

Shaw was inspecting the cable on the elevator used in raising concrete to the top of the building.

The steel cable slipped loose from its fastenings, and Shaw crashed in the elevator. A laborer who had been directly underneath it, narrowly escaped injury.

EL PASO, Sept. 28. The years go by, and Merry finds herself slipping into an "understanding" with GEORGE LEET, who cannot marry until his invalid mother dies. One spring, during the housecleaning, Merry finds Tony's lost love letter and Cassie confesses that she hid it long ago, because she wanted Merry to marry Bill Erskine and his money.

Tony Gaines breaks into print all over the country when he is engaged by "Mrs. Ruck," who has been charged with the murder of her husband. The Ruck murder case becomes famous, and Tony becomes famous along with it.

Merry decides she cannot marry George Leet after all, and tells him so. George asks her who has come between them. Merry says that no one has. But she knows it is a newspaper picture of Tony Gaines that made her realize she doesn't love George enough to marry him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

CHAPTER LX

The murder trial of Mrs. Ruck kept the whole country on tiptoe through June and July of 926.

But for Merry Locke the trial was interesting only because of one person in it—young Tony Gaines, the lawyer for the accused woman.

Merry kept every newspaper clipping that mentioned his name. She kept them as carefully as the proud wife of a prominent man might hoard newspaper clippings that mentioned his name.

She put them away in an extravagant handkerchief box with pink roses painted all across its satin top. A box that had been a gift from Bill Erskine, long ago, in the days when he showered presents upon her.

"What on earth are you saving all those clippings for?" Lillie Dale asked her one morning when she came into Merry's room to borrow a clean handkerchief.

Lillie never had enough clean things. She would forget to send her clothes to the laundry until a sudden lack of fresh linen reminded her of them.

She stood now, in a crumpled blue lawn dress, peering into the mass of paper that was in the box where she had expected to find Merry's handkerchiefs.

Then she swung around from the dresser and faced the girl.

"You're not crazy about that fellow, still, are you?" she said, her little bright eyes wide with wonder. "Not after all these years?"

Merry looked back at her cold and steadily. "There are plenty of clean handkerchiefs in my top drawer, Lillie," she answered and Lillie took one and went without another word.

Merry went on dressing. It did not take her as long as it had, once upon a time. For she no longer wore the thick mask of make-up that Lillie had taught her to wear.

She had found out that it was bad for her skin, and now she used the tiniest bit of rouge and powder. Curiously enough, it was baby-powder that came in a white tin box.

Merry loved the sweet, clean smell of it on her skin, although Lillie told her a dozen times a day, at least that her nose was shiny.

She told her so that morning at breakfast.

"I don't care," Merry said, looking at her from over her coffee cup. "I'd rather have a shiny nose than all pasty with powder. I'm so sick of looking at made-up women that a shiny nose looks positively beautiful to me—I'm getting to the place where I wish I never had to step inside of that beauty shop of ours again as long as I lived."

Lillie laid down her knife and fork with a clatter.

"That's quite an idea, Merry," she answered. "I've been thinking for a long time that I don't need you there. Almost anybody could do the work you do. I could hire a girl for five hours a day for very little money."

At first this was a blow to Merry. But after two or three days she made up her mind to leave the shop.

"You can give me back the $1,000 I put into the shop, Lil," she told Lillie Dale, "and I'll take a business course, I think."

After all the beauty shop was a blind alley. It led nowhere.

"And if I'm going to be an old maid all my life, I may as well have a career," Merry said to herself.

She was ashamed, when she thought how Tony Gaines had forged ahead to fame and success, while she had sat lazily and comfortably in the shoppy little shop.

"I'll use the thousand dollars for my business course," she thought it all out, "and then when I'm earning a salary, I can save up another thousand and return it to Bill Erskine."

She told Lillie what she intended to do.

.... MORE MORE MORE ....

"You're a little fool," said Lillie in her downright way. "I'd never give him back a penny of it! You should worry about him, when he treated you the way he did! He's mighty lucky that you didn't sue him for breach of promise and walk off with twenty or thiry thousand dollars. You could have got it—just like that!"

She snapped her fingers to show how easily Merry could have taken a small fortune away from Bill Erskine.

But Merry shook her head. "No —I didn't want his money," she said. "Somehow, I don't want these things any more, either." She held out the diamond watch bracelet and some other bejewelled trinkets that Bill had given her, in the palm of her small hand.

Lillie looked at her as if she had lost her mind. "You don't mean to say you're going to send back that stuff to him, do you?" she gasped.

Merry nodded.

"Well, you poor little simp!" Lillie cried. "If you aren't a dumb Dora, nobody on this earth is."

Nevertheless, Merry put Bill's diamonds into a box and gave it to Morley Kaufman.

"I don't know Bill's address and I don't want to know it. You send this box to him for me, will you?" she asked him the day she called on him in his office.

She knew that he would. Morley might be as crooked as a dog's hind leg when it came to his dealings, but he was as straight as a die about money and other things.

Through the door of his open office Merry could see the beautiful blonde private secretary with whom Morley was supposedly in love.

She laughed and suddenly looked straight into her brother-in-law's eyes. "I'm going to take a business course, Morley," she said to him, "and then I'm coming down here to work for you. Will you let me?"

She saw him dart a lightning glance at the blond head bent over a typewriter in his outer office, and then back at her. "Fair enough! Of course, I'll let you do it!" he answered. "I'll be glad to do it. It'll stop Cassie from having hysterics, even if it does nothing else. I've never had a girl working for me yet, that Cassie didn't call her every kind of a vampire and siren known to man! Sure can't kick about her own sister working for me, can she?"

On the following Saturday Merry left the beauty shop for good.

She walked away from it at 5 in the afternoon, feeling that she had left the most unhappy part of her life behind her. Tony Gaines had never wanted her to go into that beauty shop and she was sorry she had ever entered it.

She felt that she had wasted eight of the best years of her life there, and that now she must go back to the place where she had been at 20.

"I'll take a week's vacation, and put my clothes into some kind of order, and then I'll start to work at the business school," she told Moms the next morning.

It was Sunday and the two of them were alone in the cool, neat kitchen that looked out onto the backyard.

The two of them were alone at breakfast. Lillie had gone to Sunset lake for the week-end and Mr. Hefflinger was away on business. There was nothing to be done in the house, except to make the beds and wash the dishes, for they were going to have an ice-box dinner, Cold roast beef and potato salad, and peach pie that Moms had made the day before.

"Mmm, what do you think of that?" Moms murmured as if she were talking to herself.

She was looking over the Sunday paper, and was reading the death list. She always read it before she even glanced at any other part of the paper.

"Tony Gaines' mother dead," she went on, without raising her eyes. "Somebody said she was sick the other day. Well, we all have to go sooner or later, don't we?"

She sighed deeply, and carried her dishes across the kitchen to the sink.

"The funeral's to be Wednesday," she remarked presently. "I suppose that's to give Tony time to get here from Montana. I wonder how he'll leave that murder case of his."

"He won it," said Merry, woodenly. She had looked at the front page of the paper while Moms read the death list. "The paper says so this morning."

"Well, I shall certainly go to the funeral. I never miss a funeral. I see all my old friend at them," observed Moms, solemnly shaking her head. "You can go with me, too, can't you? You'll be at home this week."

Merry looked down at her hands. "Yes, I'll go with you," she replied very quietly, "if you want me to."

from the seven cents of the ad valorem tax set aside for that purpose.

"There have been so many suits on crooked text book contracts, I would be surprised at nothing," Furl retorted.

School Aid Bill.

A substitute bill will be offered in the senate of the 39th legislature in call session by the finance committee for the appropriation from the general revenue fund to the scholastic apportionment, $2,750,000, it was decided late Tuesday. This will make the per capita apportionment about $13.50 regardless whether the three-cent gasoline tax of which the schools will receive a fourth, passes in the senate and is signed by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson.

Bond Bills Pushed.

Although the 39th legislature called in special session for the validation of $100,000,000 in district road bonds, has departed from the main purpose of the session to numerous other issues, both the houses have pushed the work of validation. Tuesday night of the third week the lower house had finally passed 270 of its own bills and 230 senate bills, with the senate reporting a few short of the house.

In the senate Tuesday 27 district road validation bills from the house were finally passed and 33 house validation bills were passed to the third reading in nine minutes, and eleven senate validation bills passed to third reading.

Probe Deferred.

State affairs committee of the senate of the 39th legislature deferred late Tuesday on the concurrent resolution by Representative T. K. Irwin of Dallas, to investigate the handling of $1,620,000 in Hidalgo county flood control bonds, because of the absence of Senator A. J. Wirts of Seguin, chairman.

The resolution was presented to the senate today following its passage in the lower house by a 103 to 10 vote. Although it is yet to come to the floor of the upper house, sentiment against the resolution is strong among some of the senators. The resolution charges fraud in connection with the handling of the bonds, names some Hidalgo county officials and bond dealers and provides for a committee of eight, five of the house and three of the senate, to inquire into the disposal of $447,900 of the money paid for the bonds.

Parnell On Committee.

Irwin's resolution will be considered by the state affairs committee consisting of Senators A. J. Wirts of Seguin, chairman; Charles Floyd, Paris; John Davis, Dallas; T. J. Holbrook, Galveston; Eugene Miller, Weatherford; J. D. Parnell, Wichita Falls; Archie Parr, Bena Vides; Gus Russek, Fayette county; H. F. Triplett, Beaumont; A. E. Dries right up!

If you just realized how easy it is to stop fiery, itching, burning eczema by simply building up the red-blood-cells in your blood with S. S. S., you wouldn't waste another minute trying to do it any other way. That's the only way to relieve irritated, broken out skin of any sort. You lack rich, red blood. Impurities are in your system. The blood is so weak it can't fight back and overcome the enemy, so the impurities break out through the skin.

S. S. S. builds the blood back—builds millions of new red-blood-cells. Eczema dries right up. Boils, pimples, blackheads, ugly blotches and irritating rashes all disappear.

Farmers Plow Up Cotton When Price Continues To Slump On Market

WESLACO, Texas, Sept. 28.(AP) When the price dropped from $6 to $10 a bale on cotton following the recent report on production in the United States, most of the farmers in the valley who had not picked all their cotton stopped picking, and are busy turning the stalks under with a plow to prepare for vegetable planting.

The total up through Saturday of last week was estimated at 160,000 bales. It is expected that from 2,000 to 5,000 more bales will be picked, mostly in the dry land sections. The total would probably have been 170,000 bales had the price not taken a tumble after the Thursday estimate was published.

Starr County Gets Drilling Campaign; Six Tests Started

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 28. Starr county, long promised a wildcat oil drilling campaign, is beginning to see the realization of its dreams. Since the campaign was launched more than a year ago to get acreage there have been three tests drilled but at this time there are a half a dozen new tests starting and the promise of more to follow at once.

Texas Company has the rig on the ground and is laying a water line from the Rio Grande and will start drilling soon in Share 173-B on the H. A. Russell land in Perion No. 69. The well is back from the river about two and a half miles and is on a block of acreage gotten together by the Southern Exploration company and in which Texas bought half interest.

Maddox is to drill the well on survey 232 on the Dancinger book of leases in the Jim Well ranch. The location is in the southwest corner of the northeast quarter of survey 233 and is about 20 miles northeast of Rio Grande City. # COAST GAS WAR HURTS MARKET

N. Y. Reports No Improvement in Demand But Prices Steady

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 28.—If the gasoline war on the Pacific coast keeps on, motorists should soon get their cars filled up at very little expense.

Late last week the Union Oil company of California cut prices three cents a gallon, and Monday the Richfield Oil company imposed a similar cut, for both California and Arizona. The Union Oil Monday followed with a cut of another cent.

Reports from New York City says that the demand for gasoline lately has shown little improvement, but prices are steady. Some refiners are reported making concessions. Prices there are 12 cents a gallon in tank car lots at the refinery, while on the Gulf coast they are at 11 3-4 cents. Export gasoline in cases was cut one-half cent to a new price of 28.40 cents a gallon.

The stormy weather that has hit the Mid-Continent has not benefitted Group 3 prices any, and they are somewhat soggy.

DEPUTY MAKES BOND

PORT ARTHUR, Texas, Sept. 28. (AP)—Six bonds for $500 each were made Monday by Deputy Sheriff John Foote of Port Arthur. Indictments charging bribery were returned against Foote by a grand jury here Monday.

The men who issued the bond included a score of business men of the city.

Sheriff Tom Garner, on his return from Colorado county, said that Foote would continue in his office as deputy and that he would not be discharged.

In a statement made Monday, Foote declared that in the political campaign that closed a few weeks ago, reports were circulated and threats of prosecution made. He also said he went before the grand jury and demanded an investigation.

GRAVEL CHOKE IN SMITH TEST

Drillers Have Trouble In Well But Strong Oil Showing Seen

FREDERICK, Okla., Sept. 28.—Wildcatting is always a precarious undertaking but it is believed that the drillers and promoters of the Smith test, six miles northeast of Frederick, have encountered a new difficulty in this test—at least new in the county.

Upon indications of gas and a slight showing of oil casing was set last week and the process of bailing the well began. This work was holted upon discovery of a bed of a bed of gravel believed 17 feet in depth in the hole. The customary bailing outfit had proved almost useless in removing this gravel and resort has been had to another devise which is bringing the gravel up slowly. Men interested in the well say that a strong showing of gas is working up through the gravel occasionally. They also say that oil accumulates in the hole when it is left standing for any length of time.

CONVICT MAY VISIT MOTHER

But He'll Have To Take Guard To Europe To Watch Him

HOUSTON, Sept. 28. (AP) — Georges R. Vexenat, French airplane pilot serving a life term in the state penitentiary in connection wit hthe killing three years ago of Miss Louise Floquet, his French sweetheart, May be granted a furlough to visit his sick mother in France, provided his family would be willing to bear the expense of a guard to accompany him.

The state board of pardons in a recent letter to Attorney General Russell Wolters, who defended the Frenchman, with Attorney D. A. Simmons, stated that Vexenat had not been in the penitentiary a sufficient length of time to warrant the consideration of an application for pardon, but said Vexenat might be permitted to visit his mother in case her state of illness becomes critical.

Wolters in turn has turned the letter from the pardon board over to G. P. F. Jouine, French consular agent here, in order that Jouine might communicate with the parents of the life termer at Vichy, France.

The trial of Vexenat in criminal district court in December, 1922, was one of the most sensational trials in recent years in Houston. Vexenat went in court asking for the death penalty. He said he deserved it and suggested he might have the distinction of being the first man to go to electric chair. The late C. W. Robinson appointed Simmons and Wolters to defend him. After a more or less extensive study of "borderline cases" of insanity, they offered the insanity plea for Vexenat and asked for a life penalty for their client. The jury promptly returned such a verdict.

OWIN NAMED WIFE SLAYER

Dallas Man Held After Wife's Indiscretions Are Revealed

DALLAS, Sept. 28.(AP)—Will Owin, one-armed proprietor of a soft drink stand, was remanded to jail today on charges of killing his wife, after a justice court hearing in which witnesses testified that she had affairs with two other men, one of whom threatened to kill her because she encouraged the other.

Mrs. Will Owin, 27, was shot to death last Tuesday night at her front door by a man who carried her inside to a bed and escaped. Owin gave up to officers the next morning on learning he was being sought, and denied previous knowledge of the killing.

Owin was identified in court today as the slayer by Mrs. Mary Hanlan, who said she was sitting on a neighbor's porch. Her daughter, however, also purporting to be an eyewitness of the killing, could not identify Owin.

Mrs. Hattie Clark testified she had lived at Owin's apartment five weeks up to the time of the shooting, and that Owin had not lived there during the time. On the other hand, she named another man whom she said was there nearly every day and night and threatened Mrs. Owin for associating with still another man. She said Mrs. Owin and the third man had had a beer party and got drunk the Saturday before the killing. The second man who told neighbors he had been buying Mrs. Owin clothing and rings, regarded the third as an interloper, and said he guessed he'd have to kill Mrs. Owin, Mrs. Clark testified.

The man who made the threats was arrested and released after the shooting, Mrs. Clark said she "understood."

World Famed Riders Coming With Circus Showing Here Today

In an age of air-crafts and motor-driven vehicles it is the circus more than anything else that tends to perpetuate the breeding of fine horses. The Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey combined shows maintain their own stock farms and are probably the largest importers of blooded animals in America.

Two hundred and fifty splendid Arabian and Spanish thoroughbreds were landed last winter and, in a specially built hippodrome at the Bridgeport, Conn., winter quarters, they were trained for the biggest and most beautiful "Equine Ballet" ever taken on tour. Each of the splendid animals is ridden by an expert horseman or horsewoman in what has been termed the "Cavotte of the Garlands."

When the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus comes here Wednesday, Sept. 29, it will bring more than 800 horses. These include every class from the heavy percheron of the "baggage stock" to those ridden by the ladies of the menage, those trained to perform at liberty in the three dirt-floored rings and additional rings placed on stages, or the scores used by the bareback artists.

The bareback stars number seventy. They include May Wirt, the Marvel" in comedy riding, the Rooneys, the Rieffenach sisters, the Clarkdons, Bradnas, Mlle. Renee, the Wirth family, the Mardos, Herzogs and many others.

ALL REARIN' TO GO ALWAYS WITH 101 RANCH WILD WEST IN WICHITA FALLS OCTOBER 8

Rearin' to go? Well, rather. There are some six hundred four-footed creatures with Miller Brothers' 101 ranch real wild west and great far east that can do all sorts of mid-air callisthenics on their hind feet, and it adds to the thrill of the big show. Rita Dale, who can roll a cigaret while her steed is spinning on one hind hoof, says, "It's all fun with the 101."

There are more Indians, more cowboys, more cowgirls, more Cossacks, more vaqueros, more horses, more buffalo and more of everything with 101 ranch wild west than were ever with any other like show. And there are elephants and camels, too. You'll see them all in the world's largest and most picturesque street parade when 101 ranch, real wild west comes to Wichita Falls, Friday, Oct. 8, headed by the famous Russian Cossack circus from the London olympia, the biggest attraction ever imported by an American amusement concern.

"Thief of Bagdad" Shows At Gem

It is evident that when Douglas Fairbanks produced "The Thief of Bagdad," which will be on view at the Garden, he had in mind to make the apparently impossible an accomplished fact. In every city where this picture has been shown the same strain has been: "I wonder how—this or that—"

When the redoubtable Doug clambers up a rope that is suspended in thin air, one begins to take notice; then he dives to the bottom of the water, kills an undersea monster, and when his sub-oceanic business is finished, he calmly propels himself to the surface.

He enters an enchanted wood, where a tall tree, at the wave of a hand, comes to life and walks about with uncanny disrespect to all accepted ideas of tree conduct.

Later in the picture, the Thief climbs a flight of a thousand steps that leads to the clouds and mounts a beautiful winged horse that gracefully flies away with Doug on his back. By now, you are ready to believe that anything is possible and when as a climax, you see Douglas and the princess step upon a magic carpet, it seems quite proper for the rug of its own volition to rise up, sail out of the window, circle the house-tops of Bagdad amidst the plaudits of the multitude, and disappear with its human freight across the rising moon.

The magic introduced into this film is so unusual that it would seem likely to be the dominating interest, but very wisely Douglas keeps everything subservient to the story, and the beautiful romance of the thief and the princess is both compelling and dramatic, with a well balanced admixture of thrills and surprises.

ECONOMY IS THE WATCHWORD

ALL people should stand for economy, this includes all from the richest to the poor. President Coolidge has pointed the way. President Coolidge is a product of New England thrift. An important announcement comes from the White House. Mrs. Ellen A. Riley, no doubt of the famous Celtic house of Riley, is executive housekeeper of the presidential mansion.

In addition to this, in the future she is to be the custodian for the presidential china, silverware and furnishings and all other household property. Mrs. Riley began her career in the vast apartment store operated by Frank W. Sterns of Boston, the lifelong and political backer of the frugal son of Vermont, who is showing the American people how to make one household servant do the work where two erstwhile flourished and drew salaries from the government. In former years the valet of the president guarded the china and the silverware and furnishings.

It is all off now. Of course, the valet has not been dismissed, but an assistant valet has been assigned to other duties in order that he may earn his salary. "Cut down expenses," is the edict of the cautious and the conservative chief executive.

"Keep an eye on the pennies." Live smilingly but sparingly. Never mind the edicts of fashion or the vanities of the gilted mob.

Wonderful man is the New England president of the mighty republic. He believes in thrift. He practices thrift. He teaches thrift and he invests his savings according to Washington gossips in the securities issued by the American House of Steel.

And thus, it has happened the efficient woman who made money for Frank W. Sterns by operating most successfully the cafeteria in his Boston department emporium is not only the executive housekeeper at the presidential mansion, but the lynx-eyed guardian of the china and the silverware.

Efficiency has its own reward. Merit Takes down the plum. It is always well to have a backer like Frank W. Sterns, said to be the most unselfish friend of the occupant of the White House, a man who never seeks political favors, a man who never asks for fat jobs for his friends and a man who would like to see Calvin Coolidge elected for a third term.

MAN A PUNY CREATURE

MAN is a puny creature at best. He is as impotent in the face of angry nature as a dead flea trying to jump from the sand to the back of a dog. Man and his millions made a play garden of Florida. Man and his millions made a show place of Florida and mocked the past. Along came a hurricane from the Carribean sea and man and his works were demolished. This is the ghastly record:

One thousand lives snuffed out, two thousand injured, 30,000 people homeless and property loss estimated as high as $150,000,000. Man strutted and posed while he was building his play garden. He was the wonder of the world. Publicity agents and picture makers made him a living immortal. Along came the angry wave and man and his strut were broken.

It is the duty of Texas to respond to the Red Cross call. They have memories of the Carribean sea and its hurricanes. They recall Indianapolis. They recall the Galveston storm. They recall the Corpus Christi story of desolation of recent years. They should recall the generosity of the people of the north and the south and the east and the west when the Carribean sea wolves of death and devastation visited the shores of the gulf and wrecked the work of man and his money.

FISHING FOR VOTES

"THE port cities of Texas know the value to the national prosperity of republican policies and republican administrations, according to Col. Harvey H. Haines, republican nominee for governor, who is making the rounds of the port cities of the gulf coast country.

If the republicans are responsible for national prosperity, then where shall the responsibility be placed for the hurricane which crashed into the cities and towns along the Florida coast and inflicted a financial loss of $150,000,000.

Should the wicked democrats be held responsible for the hurricane and its frightful toll of life and destruction of property? Or should it be classified as a visitation of the Lord to punish miserable sinners here below?

TEXAS ON THE MAP

TEXAS for the seven months ending July 1926, consumed 49,304,000 gallons of gasoline. The largest consumption reported for any of the 32 states on the list of the American Petroleum institute. Texas shows a gain of 6,669,000 gallons over June this year. Indiana in total consumption for the seven months was second to Texas with 31,600,000 gallons, gaining more than 5,000,000 gallons over July last year and nearly 3,000,000 gallons over June.

Kansas showed largest gains, consumption in July of 29,270,000 gallons being an increase of 7,686,000 gallons being an increase of 7,686,000 gallons or 35.6 percent over July, 1925, and 5,451 gallons over June. Kansas, by the way, harvested an enormous wheat crop in July. North Carolina showed the largest percentage of gain, its consumption of 17,298,000 gallons in July being an increase of 5,971,000 gallons, or 52.7 per cent over the same month last year.

Gasoline consumption in 32 states, as shown by reports made by wholesalers and dealers, total for the seven months ending with July 1926, 2,307,817,000 gallons compared with 2,039,881 gallons for the corresponding period of 1925, an increase of 380,936,000 gallons, or 16.2 per cent. Gasoline consumption in the 32 states for the same period of seven months, total 424,705,000 gallons compared with 376,958,000 gallons in July 1925, an increase of 41,279,000 gallons, or 12.9 per cent.

The house of Ferguson insists that there should be a state tax on gasoline of three cents or better still four cents the gallon. In july the consumption of 49,304,000 gallons reported in Texas is a most remarkable showing. If the gasoline had been taxed four cents the gallon, it would not take long to fatten the treasury of the state, but this should be a subject of debate and consideration on the part of the members of the 40th legislature.

There will be a new administration the coming year and the matter of additional revenues will constitute a problem for the executive and the legislature departments of the state government. There is one thing certain; that American people burned a lot of gasoline in the month of July in the year of 1926.

COMING TO AMERICA

ALFRED LOEWENSTEIN of Belgium is coming to America. He is said to be one of the richest men that Europe knows. He is coming to the land of the free on a specially chartered ship and and his personal staff of boxers, golfers and tennis and billiard players, are coming with him. He is said to be a billionaire. Belgium needed money not many weeks ago. Alfred the billionaire, offered his government a $50,000,000 loan for one year, free of interest. Of course the government declined the offer.

He is said to be richer than any of the Rothchilds family. He is said to be richer than than Sir Basil Zaharaoff, the titled Greek, who owns Monte Carlo and who added to his great fortune while the World war was on.

If the belgium billionaire is coming to America for sport, he is certain to find it. If he is coming for a field of investment, he is certain to find it.

He is a bachelor and if he is hunting a wife he is sure to find her. He has amassed his fortune in recent years. Where did he get it? How did he get it? Where is he going to place it when he has no further use for it? Nobody knows; nobody cares. It is his own private affair.

After a man has accumulated a billion the parasites and the bootlickers of the world flock around him and about him, that is, if he lets them and they assure him that he made it legitimately; that he has a master mind and only master minds can acquire vast wealth and make noble use of it.

There is a crop of parasites harvested every year. There is a crop of bootlickers harvested every year. They are found in political worlds, the religious world and in all the other worlds.

SNOW ON HIS TRAIL

SENATOR REED SMOOT of Utah is one of the high priests of the republican party. He has been in the senate for years. Now the democrats have placed in the running against Smoot Honorable Ashby Snow.

Snow is a very wealthy man. He is a leading financier. He is prominent in Utah mining circles and is a descendant of two of the pioneer families of Utah. Democratic leaders were not caught napping this year.

They named as their candidate against the Mormon high priest and one of the hight priests of the republican party, a follower of Jefferson, who is the grandson of one of the Morman apostles who led the pioneer movement from Illinois to Utah and became a builder of a most unique commonwealth. He may win.

Family Stuff

BLUE STEEL

BY OCTAVUS ROY COHEN

Flash Morgan rendered his decision: "That idea about the Neighborhood trust is all wet. It's nix, floobe and out. Savvy?"

His words circulated through the noisome, stale-beer atmosphere of the unsightly little room. They fell upon the keen ears of six young men, but the level gray eyes of the speaker were focused upon one of them—a tall, broad-shouldered, coarsely handsome young gentleman who answered pridefully to the picturesque name of Blood Moreno, and on occasion to other sobriquets and aliases.

The person with the sanguinary name did not accept the judgment of his chief without question.

"Why?" he inquired.

Flash Forgan's gaze never wavered from the flared countenance of his lieutenant. "Because I say so."

Blood sneered. "It's easy pickin's, Flash. A dinky little safe, a moth-eaten watchman—nothin' anywhere around but houses and grocery stores."

"Not a thing stirrin'."

"You must have a reason. You scared?"

One member of the assemblage who happened to be seated between Morgan and Moreno drew discreetly back. Revolt flamed. Moreno was insolent, Morgan deadly. The air of the rendezvous was electric. Save for a slight twitching at the corners of his mouth, Morgan was impassive. There was a shadow between the two men—the question of disputed leadership—a girl.

"I've said the deal is off," repeated Flash. "What are you goin' to do about it?"

It was a challenge, inviting action. Moreno was twice Morgan's size with half his courage.

"Ain't you got a reason?"

"Yes. And you know damn well what it is. The Neighborhood Trust is in the Fifth Precinct. Dan Rariden is police lieutenant there."

"I don't see—"

"Lou ain't supposed to do the seein' for this bunch. I am. We got nine precincts in this town; you can work in eight of 'em. Rariden is out."

Moreno leaned forward. He was afraid of Morgan—more afraid to show his fear. "Just 'cause you and that cop are friends—"

"Shut your big mouth, Blood, or I'll shut it for you."

Morgan didn't move—not a muscle. In physical power he was no match for the gloriously garbed Moreno, but Blood had never forgotten the Nicky Farron affair, twice Morgan's size, had disputed gang leadership. He had manhandled Flash Morgan, beaten him beyond recognition. And just before losing consciousness Morgan had smiled—a twisted, horrible smile. "Better kill me, Nicky. You'll be sorry if you don't.

They hadn't tried Flash for Farron's death when it occurred six weeks later; but that, perhaps, was because when one gangster kills another, the police consider the world one gangster better off. The specter of Nicky Farron entered the room now and stilled the fury which was on the tip of Blood Moreno's tongue. He rose and passed out of the room. The other five, no one of them over a quarter of a century old, crowded toward the door.

They were a queer group, young, full-blooded, clear-eyed, courageous, unscrupulous knights-errant of the underworld—a warped and twisted crowd who worshipped false gods and were loyal only to the standard of the gang. They were malleable, asking only to be led by the strongest, not caring who that strongest might be. At the moment it was Flash Morgan. Tomorrow—

Flash Morgan sat alone, immobile, inscrutable. As the door closed gently and respectfully behind the last of his departing henchmen, a faint smile played about the corners of Moran's lips. He crossed to a mirror which hung on the wall, and surveyed himself: saw himself in a glamourous rose-light—youthful and fearless and most wonderfully dressed in clothes which shrieked to high heaven. "I guess," he reflected, "that Mr. Blood Moreno will sit tight for a little while now, the dirty—" And Flash proceeded to express his candid opinion of Mr. Moreno and of that person's forbears.

Flash left the room, passed through a musty, dusty hallway, shoved out through the swinging door which had once been the family entrance of Wink Sullivan's saloon. Mr. Sullivan—whose nickname was derived from the fact that a tiny muscle in the lid of his left eye had many years since ceased to function—was very proud of the vile reputation borne by his establishment, a reputation directly attributable to the iniquities of the Greyhounds, that group of unmoral young gentlemen captained by Flash Morgan. Ostensibly but actually neither the complexion nor the aroma of his private rooms had altered.

Mr. Morgan stood at the curb and gazed with sardonic disdain upon the squalid neighborhood. It was an unpretty place, cheap and tawdry and poverty-ridden; but it was the hard-boiled kingdom over which Mr. Morgan ruled by right and might, and he felt toward it a great affection and a great superiority.

Now, however, there came to Flash Morgan a softer emotion, a percuasive yearning for friendly converse, and so he wended his way through a welter of traffic, past malodorous delicatessens, aromatic poolrooms, gaunt tenements and undernourished humanity, toward the Fifth Precinct. All of Flash's world was a matter of police preeincts—he knew no other boundaries.

The Fourth and Fifth precincts adjoined. A narrow undescript avenue separated them. They lay next to each other, and a thousand miles apart, for where the Fourth was fierce and stark and primeval the Fifth was soft and sheltered.

Ten minutes later Mr. Morgan swung jauntily into the Fifth Precinct police station. Several uniformed officers greeted him pleasantly enough, and he passed unceremoniously into the private office of Lieutenant Daniel Boone Rariden. Lieutenant Rariden was taking things easy, immersed in contemplation of the physiognomy of some erring gentlemen temporarily A. W. O. L. from the state penitentiary, upon whose head a bounty had been placed. But at sight of his visitor, the big squared-toed feet came down from the polished desktop and the big voice of the big man boomed hearty welcome.

"Well, doggone, your hide, Flash what's bringing you here?"

"Nothin' special." Mr. Morgan flung his hat into the desk, lighted a cigarette and flopped into a chair. "Just wanted to see you."

"I'M THE GINK"

I'm the gink who spends all my time during the summer in getting a coat of tan. I dash out on my Saturday afternoons and Sundays off and spend the time at the lake or the seashore letting the old face and shoulders bake. It was painful at first, but now it looks great. Or at least I think it does. I go without a hat and I just know that all the girls lok at me and admire my he-manish look. I am a man of the outdors. Of course, folks know just how I got it, but I stride along just so happy at the thought of how people must be envying my coat of tan.

Questions from the World of Love Answered by a Noted Authority

We Can Never Marry Our Ideal Man or Woman Because No Such Person Exists—How Much Wiser to Make the Best of Our Human Partners Instead of Being Unhappy Because Dreams Don't Come True.

A woman writes me that she is married to a man who is tender, kind and considerate to her, and who gives her every comfort and luxury, but that she is thinking of leaving him because he doesn't come up to her ideal.

If this lady's grievance is admitted as a just cause for breaking her marriage vows, divorce will become universal, for no man comes up to his wife's ideal of what a perfect husband should be. Neither does any woman approach within a million miles of a man's ideal of a perfect wife.

Before marriage, both men and women indulge in dope dreams of matrimony, in which they exist in an earthly paradise that has none of the sordid difficulties of the workday world, and through which they wander hand-in-hand with the godlike creatures who possess none of the nerves and tempers and cussedness that afflict ordinary huban beings.

How people of ordinary intelligence can so befool themselves into believing that the marriage ceremony is going to waft into Elysium and give them these godlings for wives and husbands is beyond explaining, but we all do it.

And we get the shock of our lives when we find out that no miracle has been wrought in our behalf, that matrimony is strewn with tacks for us just as it is for every one else, and that it does not take long for the halo with which we have crowned our brides and bridegrooms to dim, and let us see them as mere ordinary men and women with their faults and defects thick upon them.

Somebody has said that every wife holds her husband responsible for the wreckage of the dreams of her girlhod. This is true. Many a bewildered man, doing his honest best to be a good in indulgent husband, wonders why his wife is disgruntled and discontented and utterly indifferent to him.

He would find the answer in the fact that she is taking out on him her disappointment in not realizing her impossible ideal. It is not what he does, or is, that she objects to. It is what he is not that she can't forgive. She feels herself cheated because her visions have not materialized.

She is not fair enough or just enough, to realize that no such human being as her ideal man ever existed, for her had welded together in her imagination every virtue and every charm that the whole conglomeration of mankind possesses, and left out all of the faults and blemishes.

It sounds like a joke, but in sober truth every young girl dreams of marrying a man who will be as handsome as a movie actor; who will dance like Maurice who will have the money-making talent of Mr. Rockefeller; who will be as soulful as a poet, as humble and patient as Job; who will be a perpetual lover, and who will never weary of petting parties and telling her how wonderful and beautiful she is, and that the first time he ever saw her he knew she was his predestined mate.

LABOR ABUSES CHARGED

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 29. (AP)—Serious abuses resulting from operation of workmen's compensation laws were listed in the report of William H. Walsh, executive secretary, as one of the chief subjects to be considered at the 28th annual convention of the American Workman's association now in session.

PLAYING CAR

I live up yonder, up the crick,
And haff the time my Ma is sick,
And haff the time my Pa can't find
A bit of work of any kind.
And yet we get a lot of good
From things he'd buy us if he could,
For playing car is lots of fun,
Almost as much as owning one.

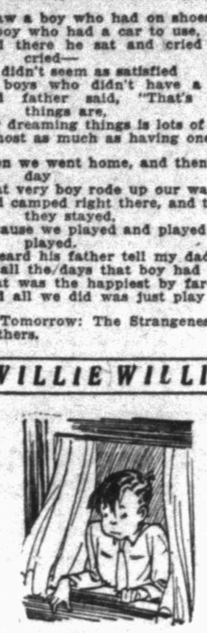

One time my father had to go
To town to pay a bill we owe,
Because the interest came due,
And so he went, and took me, too.
I knew I'd see some children there
Who had the nicest clothes to wear,
And cars to ride in every day,
And nothing else to do but play.

I saw a boy who had on shoes,
A boy who had a car to use,
And there he sat and cried and cried—
He didn't seem as satisfied
As boys who didn't have a car.
And father said, "That's how things are,
For dreaming things is lots of fun,
Almost as much as having one."

Then we went home, and then one day
That very boy rode up our way
And camped right there, and there they stayed,
Because we played and played and played.
I heard his father tell my dad,
Of all the days that boy had had,
That was the happiest by far—
And all we did was just play car.

What Do You Know About It?

Daily Science Six

1. What is the highest country in the world?
2. What densely populated country has much land below sea level?
3. What are the chief bodies of water which are below sea level?
4. What river important in Biblical history never reaches the sea?
5. What is the Salton sea?
6. Are all the Great Lakes on the same level?

Answers to these questions in tomorrow's Record News.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

A million years ago, as geologists say, or some think only a hundred thousand years ago, a great glacier crept over the northern United States. When it melted back the water that it formed collected in gouged out basins and formed the Great Lakes. The outlines of these glacial lakes were strangely unlike the present ones however. A boat could have begun at New York and sailed up the Hudson and then along the present site of the Erie canal and right into Lake Erie. From thence it could have passed into Lake Huron and then right across the state of Michigan, beginning at Saginaw and ending near Grand Rapids, where it would have gone right into Lake Michigan. It could then have sailed south to the Chicago river, which then flowed out of the lake, not into it, as it did when the white men found it, and so by degrees the boat would have reached the Mississippi and the Gulf of Mexico.

Now what do you know about that?

Answers to Tuesday's question:

1. A doctor's thermometer must be shaken down because it is a self-registering maximum thermometer, having a sharp bend and constriction in the tube which prevents the mercury from flowing back into the bulb unless jarred.
2. Water is not used in a thermometer because it takes a very long tube to register the expansion and contraction of water when heated or cooled; also water does not expand and contract at the same rate at all temperatures as mercury does.
3. A hygrometer is an instrument for measuring humidity; it has been found that the best possible thing for this purpose is a human hair, which expands (straightens, and contracts (curls) in proportion as the air is wet or dry.
4. An anemometer is an instrument for measuring wind velocity; essentially it is a little wind mill, which as it turns operates a speedometer.
5. Temperature is not measured in sunlight (ordinarily) because if it were, temperatures in different places could not be fairly compared, because the amount of sunlight varies from moment to moment, while shade is always shade; also a special sort of thermometer (black bulb, which absorbs the sun's rays) is required to measure sunlight; the ordinary thermometer if left in sunlight measures the temperature of the glass, not the sunlight.
6. A sling thermometer is one arranged o na rope and protected against breaking, so that it can be whirled around. It measures air temperature more accurately than a stationary thermometer, as it takes, so to speak, the average temperature of many cubic feet of air, instead of the temperature of a special spot.

THE SHOW DOWN.
By Wallace M. Bayliss.

C. Waldemere Clarke was the kind
Of a man people sought for advice;
If a neighbor had aught on his mind
He hunted up Clarke ina trice;
And always, if truth must be said,
The wisdom that he handed out
Has struck the nail right on the head,
And helped folks, without any doubt—.

If babies were sick with the croup;
If men felt financial distress;
If someone was locked in the coop
Or otherwise mixed in a mess;
If politics seemed on the bum
And taxpayers groped for the light,
To Waydemere Clarke folks would come
And quickly he'd set them aright.

But gone is Clarke's local renown,
His praise no longer you hear;
Just mention his name in the town
And promptly the people will sneer
He got so he threw out his chest;
Self-confidence made him TOO bold;
He took an intelligence test——
And rated just 13 years old!!

Betty: Oh, Reggie! This is quite a surprise! Won't you come in?

Reggie: Came Reggie out of the star-lit night to give one last long kiss to the girl he loves!

Betty: You mustn't make much noise because father is here, and he's terribly irritable tonight. Why—why what are you trying to do?

Reggie: To his manly arms came the girl of his dreams to be folded in one last, passionate embrace in which heaven and earth seemed blended in one long—say, what's the matter with you tonight?

Betty: Don't! If you do, I'll slap you. I like you, and all that, Reggie, but——

Reggie: To his lips came a snarl off ury as he advanced toward the girl—Ouch!

Her Father: What does this mean!!

Reggie: Came her father! Ye gods!

Her Father: You young puppy! I'll teach you to—take that! And that! And that! And—

Reggie: Came her father's foot! To Reggie's lips comes one long cry of agony—OUCH! As her father's foot sinks to rest in the west, leaving the dim horizon softly colored with black and blue, Reggie bids the house one long last and sad farewell. Finis!

The evening should be spent in some recreational diversion, that will take your thought completely off the affairs that have occupied your attention during the day, as there will be experienced a desire to be querulous and fault-finding.

Children born today will, during infancy, be subject to the usual physical "ups and down" of babyhood. Given, however, proper nutrition and wholesome environment these need cause neither worry nor anxiety. The signs denote that thereafter, they will enjoy normal health and attain a vigorous adulthood, unmarred by any chronic ailments. In disposition, they will be rather difficult to manage, as, even as babies, they will show great willpower. This, although looked upon as a liability in little ones, may, by judicious training, be converted into an asset of great value in a later period of life. They will show a great love of sports and pastimes, but will be intelligent enough not to allow this proclivity to interfere with the acquisition of useful knowledge.

If today is your birthday, you possess great determination of character, and are purposeful and venturesome. You are always willing to take a chance, and it is quite possible that you will achieve considerable success, as your dominant force—in which stubbornness plays no part—must carry you to the fore. Your undaunted courage, combined with tireless energy, can be accomplished during the favorable period, especially in the way of execution of contracts, or the entering into of commitments, makes of you a born leader, and your associates look up to you as such. You are impatient of all that is dull and drab, and choose for your friends those who are lively and vivacious, and who can amuse and entertain you. In your home life, you are affable and lovable, although dominating, and if mated with one born in June or August, your private and most intimate life should be happy.

Successful people born this date are:

Thomas H. Seymour, soldier and politician; Jesse Hutchinson, singer; John McA. Schofield, soldier; Christopher, C. Shayne, merchant; Frederick Schwatka, arctic explorer; George Frederick Kuna, mineralogist.

IMPROVEMENTS IN THE LANGUAGE

The infusion of Russian and Polish stocks into New York has been responsible for some curious additions to the language of the Manhattan Cockney. Most of us are familiar with the story of the small East Side boy who told his father that what he liked best about the arithmetic he studied at school was Gozinta.

"What do you mean Gozinta?" asked his parent.

"Why, 2 gozinta 4, 4 gozinta 8, 8 gozinta 16."

Of somewhat more recent coinage is the one which recites how a teacher asked if any member of her class knew the meaning of the word "Stoic."

Up rose a small second-generation American from Rivington street.

"Sure, teacher, I know what is a stoic," he said.

"Well, then, Sidney, suppose you tell us what a stoic is."

"A stoic is the boid wot brings the babies."

But of all such yarns I believe I like best the tale of the transplanted Pole who had made a fortune by building cheap apartment houses. He had just completed the erection of a flat-building near Riverside drive, whereas theretofore all his operations had been confined to the more crowded downtown districts. A friend said to him:

"Meyer, that's a mighty nice looking flat-building you've just put up. Have you got a name for it yet?"

"Soltinly," said the capitalist. "I've decided I should call it the Cloister Apartments."

"Strikes me as a rather curious name. Why call it that?"

"Because," said Meyer, "it's cloister to the subway, it's cloister to Central park and it's cloister to the river."

80-FOOT FALL FATAL

Cameron Oil Worker Tumbles From High Derrick.

CAMERON, Texas, Sept. 28.(AP) Falling eighty feet from an oil derrick, Charles L. Sprauge, 24, of Luling, Texas, was instantly killed last night at the Batt well number one, Riverside farm, seven miles south of here.

The strap rope holding Sprauge to the lofty side where he was working, broke and he fell across a steel brake beam. The body was to be sent this afternoon from Hearne to his parents at Luling.

In the public Eye: Three Cardinal Reasons for Victory, Pirate Who Fought Bravely and Lost; Cleverest Halfback With Trojans

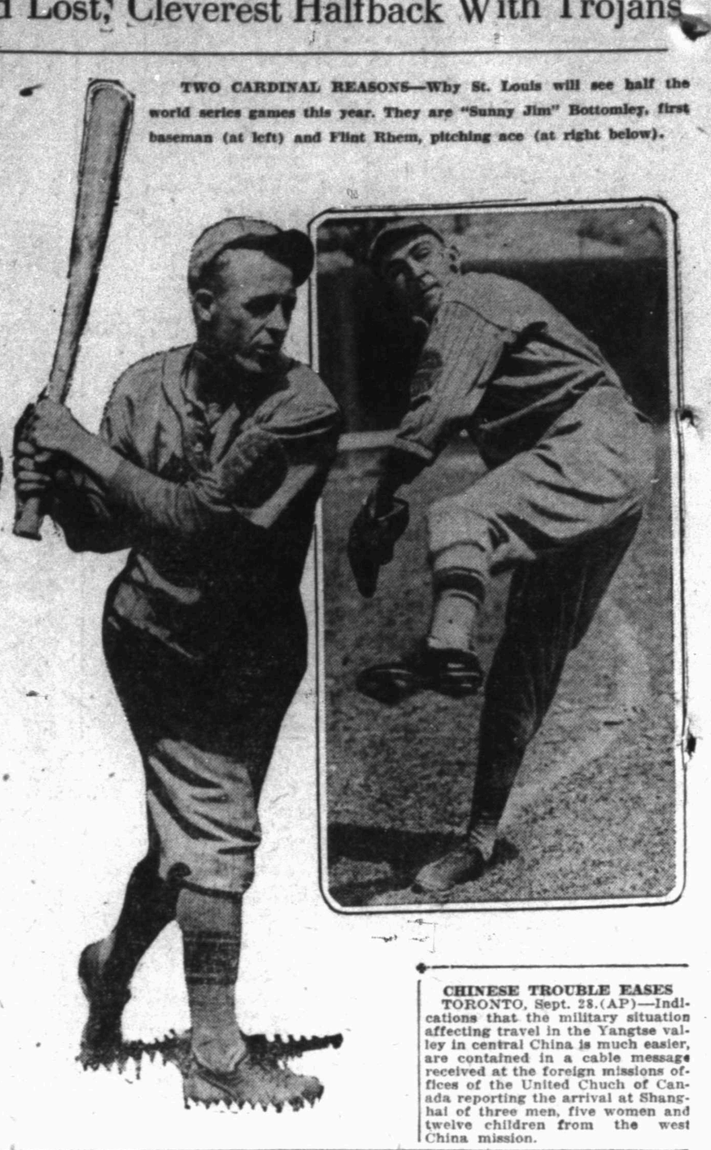

"WE WANT IN!"—And one of 'em GOT in, too. Art Reinhart, hurling his second season with the St. Louis Cardinals had quite a bit to do with the Cards finishing the season in the world's series. Paul Waner, left, young Coast star with the Pirates, went on a hitting rampage but his efforts failed to bring the Buccaneers under the wire victorious.

TOUCH-DOWN!—Howard Elliott, who led the Pacific Coast in scoring the first five weeks of last fall, hopes to top the list this season for the University of Southern California Trojans.

CHINESE TROUBLE EASES

TORONTO, Sept. 28.(AP)—Indications that the military situation affecting travel in the Yangtse valley in central China is much easier, are contained in a cable message received at the foreign missions offices of the United Chuch of Canada reporting the arrival at Shanghai of three men, five women and twelve children from the west China mission.

BIBLE FEARS PIRATE GAME

Aggie Mentor Expects Real Fight With Buccos Saturday

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Sept. 28.(AP)—With a decisive victory over Trinity university on the record book, the Aggie football team is being drilled intensively for the game with Southwestern university on Kyle field here Saturday. In view of the close game the Pirates gave the Bears in Waco last week, head Coach Dana Bible believes Southwestern will be a difficult team to defeat. Furthermore, the Pirates always play their best against A. and M.

Whatever the outcome the contest will offer another opportunity for rounding out the Aggie line-up for the big intersectional game to be played with the Sewanee team at Dallas, October 9, durig the state fair. With this fight in view Coach Bible and Line Coach Clyde Rothgeb, began Monday afternoon to build up a regular combination that will be thoroughly drilled in team play by the time the Aggies and the Tigers meet. The toughest kind of a battle is expected in the Dallas game. Last year the two teams played a 6-6 draw and for a while during the game the Aggies were clearly outplayed by the Tennesseeans.

Five Texans.

Coach Bennett's veteran eleven against whom the Aggies will be pitted this year shows five Texas boys, one of them being Claude Johnson, half-back from Fort Worth. The other four include: O. G. Helvey, Houston, a giant tackle; R. H. McBride, a 169-pound halfback from Dallas; John Prude, a 220-pound tackle from Colorado, and George Rice, a halfback from Houston.

The Aggie tentative line-up for the game will include a number of north Texas boys, among them "Fats" Simmons of Denton. He and "Jelly" Woodman of Austin, who received a 20-yard pass in the game with Trinity last week and ran 30 yards for a touchdown, give the Aggies two heavy backs. These two and Joel Hut of Waco, whose last week falls within the class of brilliant playing will be supported by "Burge" Burgess of Dallas and "Happy" Colgin of Gatesville, two promising young halfbacks. "Red" Petty of Honey Grove will be used at quarter if anything should happen to Hunt.

Balance Sewanee Line.

It is believed that the A. and M. line will be the equal of the Sewanee defense in every way. "Babe" Watts of Austin is a center of whom conference honors are expected. Others of the Aggies line whose work in the coming Aggie-Sewanee clash is expected to figure effectively include: J. A. Rektorik, of Violet and H. P. Wylie of Dallas, regarded as two of the best guards in the state; Captain "Ox" Dietrich of Dallas; Z. W. Bartlett of Marlin; J. G. Holmes of Arlington, three star tackles; end positions will be taken care of by J. V. Sikes of Leonard, P. M. Price of Honey Grove and J. A. Deffenbach of Fort Worth.

The Aggie coaches this week are trying to develop team play, work up new formations and develop reserve strength especially in the backfield.

BAM WILL SET NEW RECORD

Ruth Enters His Seventh World's Series Play This Year.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28. (AP)—Babe Ruth will break his first world series record by going out to the park and taking his place in the opening game. If the big fellow retains a grip on his health and is able to play, he will enter his seventh world's series. No other player has played more than six.

Tied with Ruth up to this year at six participations in the baseball classic were J. Franklin Baker, Everett Scott, Eddie Collins and Wally Schang. Baker is farming and not interested in playing world's series baseball. Scott, Collins and Schang can not better their records at the moment for the White Sox and Browns are not winning pennants this year,

Pluvius Holds City's Grid Teams to Skull Practice

Junior College, Senior and Junior High Elevens Face Important Games Over Week-End

Skull practice was by force of circumstances the chief item dished out at the three local school football squads Tuesday afternoon. All three faced important contests this week-end and hence could hardly spare the entire time off, especially with the weather looking as moist in prospect for the next days as it was moist in fact during the past few days.

Indians Need Practice.

Junior college is slated to invade Oklahoma this week-end for a game with Cordell Christian college at Cordell. Coach Ludgate has much need for extra practice time to round out some of the kinks uncovered in his squad in the Fort Sill game last Saturday, which, although contrary to the expectations of many local fans the Tribe annexed as a victory, still brought out very strongly the fact that the Indians need much earnest work before they will be ready to do battle with teams like Tarleton and the North Texas Aggies of conference mettle.

Pups in For It.

The Junior High Pups are grooming themselves for their first conference battle, which, according to the original schedule, is slated for the coming Friday afternoon. The Cubs' three-touchdown loss to Olney last week while Archer City was defeating the Class A team of Electra all makes the prospects for a winning encounter with the Arche county lads not so strong. Coaches Lewis and Golden realize that they are going against a tough assignment in their curtain?raising engagement.

Coyotes Have It Tough.

Bud McCallum's Coyotes will meet the Junior college team from Cameron Agricultural colleg of Lawton, Okla., on the Wichita Falls gridiron Friday afternoon as the next step in their conditioning program for league competition. The way Bud has scheduled them he evidently believes that the way to bring out the greenness in his Coyotes is to give them plenty of concentrated doses of experience in the form of larger and heavier teams against whom there is not an easy chance of winning. If the Pack annexes any of the remaining practice games, either that with Cameron or that with Decatur, it will have something to write home about.

Chillicothe Not After Any Title

"Police" Building This Year For 1927 Gridiron Race

BY BLONDY CROSS

(Record News Sports Editor.)

"We don't expect to win any championship. We're in the game for sport, exercise and with the purpose of building for 1927."

It was Coach R. M. Cowden speaking over in Chillicothe the other day when the writer had dropped in for a visit with him.

And with this as their aim, Cowden and a small but enthusiastic band of his Chillicothe "police" are working away at a diligent clip.

Light Team.

The "Cops" compose a comparatively light team, in fact, too light and inexperienced to travel very far in Texas university interscholastic league Class B grid race. So this year they're looking forward to the next and not worrying about what may happen to them the current season.

Cowden has a nice little club that averages around 140 pounds. His backfield is just about as heavy as his line. Building around Captain Slick Stephens, 145-pound quarterback, Chillicothe has a fairly speedy and capable secondary defense. Stephens is a neat passer and a fast runner.

Joe Tom Nuckles at fullback is a capable punter and good line plunger. Charley Seeley at halfback is a first-class forward pass snatcher. Guy Creaghton at the other half is a little fellow but is a real fighter and a mean line plunger.

Lively Ends.

In Junior Creighton and Lefty Price Chillicothe has two small but lively wingmen.

Cowden isn't very certain about his tackle positions yet but in Conwell White, Benton Collins and J. W. Taylor he has three pretty fair 165-pounders or so from which to select his guards.

In Eldridge, Collins and Tom Ward Chillicothe has two reliable players for the center position. Cowden tops his squad off with a gob of green and untried material.

The "Police" were billed with Quanah last week and have another game coming up Friday at Chillicothe with the same team. They intend to play Crowell a couple of games this season and Electra one. Other games are to be matched.

Vernon Bucks Mean Opposition

Crippled Lions May Find Tartar At Memphis Friday

Having done away with Henrietta's sturdy little eleven the past week-end in 60-0 victory, Vernon's Lions are priming for one of the meanest schedules Baggett's teams have ever been confronted with.

The Lions played wonderful straight football Saturday against the more or less weak and light class Henrietta club, but just how the boys will stack up against heavy and tough opposition is entirely another question. Meeting the powerful Memphis team Friday at Memphis the Lions may be forced to use far more than straight football and if so no doubt will be sorely up against it. For since the departure of Ryan the Bengals are without a capable passer. The kicking is none too good, also.

Rival grid mentors who may be worried about the strength or lack of strength of Vernon this season avail themselves of the opportunity of scoutnig the Lions at Memphis, for Memphis probably will force the Lions to the limit and may beat Baggett's crippled charges.

With the exception of one open date, Baggett has completed his schedule for the year, and the Lions will meet some stiff opposition. The local team will meet Amarillo November 11, regardless of the outcome of the title hopes of the two clubs in the Interscholastic League competition.

The club's schedule follows: October 1, Memphis at Memphis; October 8, Cameron, Okla., Aggies at Vernon, October 15, Grandfield, Okla., at Vernon; October 23, Quanah at Vernon; October 29, Electra at Vernon; November 26, Wichita Falls, location undecided; November 11, Amarillo at Amarillo; November 19, open date; November 25, Frederick, Okla., at Vernon.

MONDAY'S FIGHTS

NEW YORK.—Andy Routis of France won from Eddie Anderson, Wyoming, on a foul, 4 rounds.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Chuck Wiggins, Indianapolis, defeated Chief John Metoquah, Hutchingson, Kan., 10 rounds. Jimmy Mahoney, Chicago, won from George Mulholland, Indianapolis, 8 rounds.

TROY, N. Y.—Red Herring, Gulfport, knocked out Johnny Berry, Philadelphia, 4 rounds.

Yankee Outfield Has It On Cards

Ruth Balances Batting Scale In Four of Hug's Outfit

NEW YORK, Sept. 28. (AP) Babe Ruth's huge bulk tips the scales in favor of the New York Yankees as the strength of the outfields to play in the world's series is weighed. St. Louis has no Ruth. The Yankee slugger with 47 home runs and a batting average of .368, has distanced the best effort of any Cardinal outfielder.

If Blades can join in the Cardinal outer defense, Manager Hornsby will offer three .300 hitters with Southworth and Douthit completing the trio. With the injured Blades probably not in the lineup, Hafey is expected to get the call with Holm next in line. The five St. Louis outfielders with Blades included although a doubtful starter, have an average of .299.

Ruth, Combs and Meusel, the regular Yankee outfield, with Paschal and Carlyle in reserve, boast an average of .313.

Too Much Ruth.

Ruth dominates the outfield talent involved in the series. He has scored 139 runs and stolen 12 bases. He will be in his seventh world's series. Southworth, who will patrol rightfield for the Cardinals, has had more limited world's series experience, but his batting average of .319 enabled him in part to score 97 runs and he has made 15 home runs and stolen as many bases.

Only in centerfield can the Cardinals offer a stronger offense on paper than the Yankees. Douthit has hit .309 to .303 for Combs. The Cardinal scored 97 runs against 116 for Combs, but his 22 stolen bases dwarfed a total of eight for the Yankee.

Combs scored an advantage in home runs, eight to three.

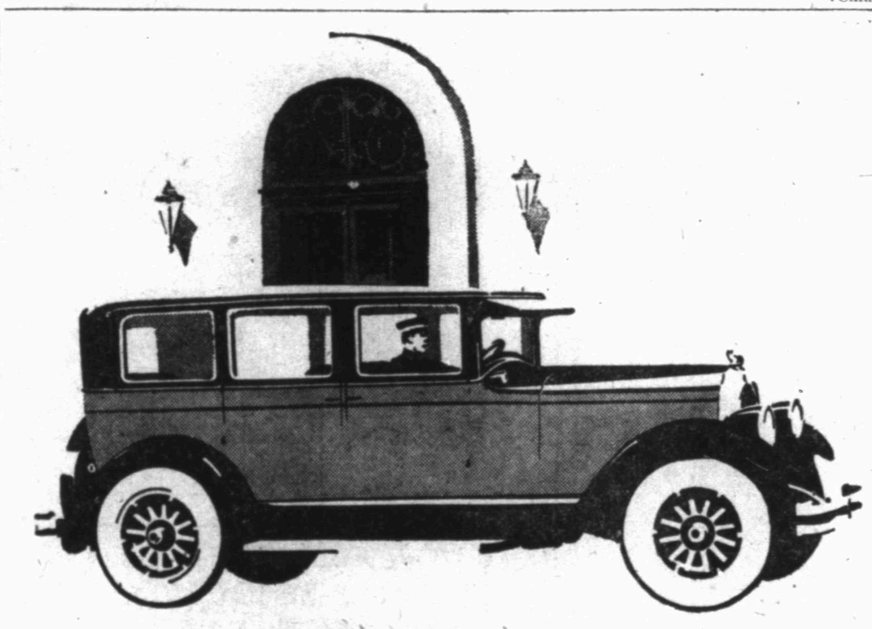

If Hafey goes to left for St. Louis, New York with Meusel in the opposition role will make a greater impression on the face of the season's returns. Meusel has compiled a batting average of .318 and scored 89 runs with 12 of the runs unaided through the medium of circuit smashes. He has stolen 18 bases. Hafey has a batting average of .270 with 30 runs scored, four home runs and two stolen bases. He has played only 75 games.

Blades Bats .307.

Blades will bring a good record into the series if he is able to appear actively. He has batted .307 with 81 runs scored, six stolen bases and eight home runs. Holm, the fifth St. Louis outfielder, batted .288, scored 18 runs, stole three bases and did not enter the home run class.

Paschal and Carlyle are two hard hitting outfielders subject to call from the bench. Paschal has a batting average of .285. He has seven home runs and the same number of stolen bases. His runs total 45. Carlyle's batting average of .291 was assembled while he was wearing two uniforms, his early season hitting being for the benefit of the Boston Red Sox. He has made two home runs, but has not stolen a base. He has scored 25 runs.

STEERS SHADE NEW ORLEANS 3-4 SCORE

Slim Love Checks Rally Of Pelicans In Ninth Inning

DALLAS, Sept. 28. (AP)—The Dallas Steers moved within a game of the baseball championship of the south by winning a battle of belated rallies for their third Dixie series victory from the New Orleans Pelicans here Tuesday afternoon. The score was 4 to 3.

New Orleans has won two victories and the clubs have played one tie. The next game will be played in New Orleans Thursday and if another is required to decide the series, its scene will be determined by the toss of a coin.

Rally In Ninth.

The Steers put over their winning run in the last half of the ninth inning, after the Pelicans had scored two tallies in the first half to knot the count at three-all. Each team had scored a run in the sixth, and the Steers had pushed two over in the eighth for a momentary lead.

A walk to Morse and singles by Gross and Brainard accounted for the deciding run before Joe Martina, last of the three New Orleans hurlers who went to the firing line, had succeeded in retiring either of the opposing batters. Moss had started for the Pelicans but was driven to the showers in the eighth. Scott finished that frame, but retired for a pinch hitter in the ninth.

Love Is Star.

To the arm of Slim Love, southpaw ace of the Dallas club, went much of the credit for the Steer's winning for it was his relief work that checked New Orleans' biggest rally. He went to the mound with the bases full in the ninth, facing Tarzan Tucker, clean-up hitter for the Pelicans. Tucker was safe on Gross' error of his grounder, and Whaley, next up got life on Tate's boot. The miscues permitted the tieing runs to score, and left the bases full with Deal at bat. Deal tried hard and slammed a mighty wallop, but it was straight into the hands of Brainard in center field.

Love had relieved Tink Riviere, who was sent to the hill in the seventh after Shuman had been supplanted by a pinch hitter in the sixth.

Early Threats.

Threats were frequent in early stages of the game, but neither scored until the sixth when each team got a run. A walk to Tucker, Whaley's sacrifice, Deal's infield single, a walk to Ewoldt which filled the bags, and Dowie's force out at second of Ewoldt, produced the Pelican run. Riley's single and Woeber's double with one out accounted for the first steer tally.

Two more Dallas runs resulted in the eighth from a walk to Riley, Woeber's sacrifice, Tate's infield single, Billing's sacrifice which sent Riley home and Reviere's single on which Tate counted. Reviere's hit drove Moss from the hill, Scott taking up the burden. Reviere was thrown out at first when he took a long lead off the bag for the final out.

The final bid of the Pelicans for victory consisted of a walk to Osterkard, pinch hitter for Scott, with one down in the ninth, Gardner's Texas leaguer to left, Vick's infield single to fill the bases, and the muffs by Tate and Goss.

Sensational Plays.

Spectacular fielding predominated, despite the momentary ascension of the Steer infield in the ninth. The fourth particularly produced great plays. In that frame Miller robbed Tucker of at least a double with a great catch along the right field foul line and immediately after Tate's running one-handed stab of Whaley's drive deprived that hitter of a safety. Vick turned in the Pelican's circus play in the fifth when his great throw to the plate after catching Brainard's fly in deep center doubled Morse trying to score. The score:

Gorman Sure Of Winning Way To Matsuda Title Match, But So Is Wild And Fuzzy Monkey-Man

Jack Meets Mantell Thursday With $100 Side Bet and Championship Match Next Week at Stake

It's a chance of a lifetime for Wee Jackie Gorman and a pretty good shot for Dutch Mantell, too.

Neither of these rugged battlers are underestimating the opportunity, you can lay to that.

For both these athletes realize they are very fortunate in being selected to battle for the honor of meeting Matty Matsuda, world's welter mat champion, in the last match of the veteran Nipponese grappler's career.

Mantell and Gorman are scheduled to meet in finish battle at the Eleventh and Ohio arena Thursday night, 140 pounds weight limit, $100 side bet. It's a grudge affair, Gorman seeks to erase the "stigma" of that defeat registered against him a month or so ago here. Mantell hopes to quiet all argument to effect he is not Gorman's master and that the last match with the San Angelo flash was won in unorthodox manner.

But on top of it all is the largest stake either man ever has wrestled for. Both are challengers of Matty Matsuda. The champion has agreed in his final appearance here next week to take on the winner of the Gorman-Mantell affair. That in itself is a wonderful incentive to the two Dutchmen, but an additional bounty of a $300 guarantee to the man who meets Matsuda has been put up by the Wichita Falls wrestling association.

Most Important Match.

It is seldom, if ever, two men have been allowed to meet each other for the privilege of meeting the champion in the champion's last match. Matsuda had hoped to retire and retain his belt. For that matter, he still expects to do so. However, at petition of nearly 3,000 Wichita Falls wrestling enthusiasts who signed on the dotted line, Matsuda has decided to perform in this city one more time with either Gorman or Mantell his adversary. The championship match is to be staged next week.

It will be remembered that almost a year ago in the old legion hall on Scott street Gorman gave Matsuda the toughest battle ever staged in Wichita Falls unless it be the match last week between Mantell and Yaqui Joe. Jack lost on a trick fall that knocked him cold, although he appeared on the very brink of beating the wonder Jap once and for all time. Ever since that match Gorman has been confident he can turn the tables on Matsuda. They wrestled several months ago in San Angelo two hours and five minutes and then the match was halted. Gorman had captured a fall and the champion had taken one, also. When hostilities were called off Gorman appeared to be getting the better of his Nipponese opponent. At any rate, Matty was in such sore plight that a week later he had to call off a series of matches he had billed earlier in various Texas towns.

Lots of Argument.

That Gorman will beat Mantell he is positive. "I can beat that guy any day in the week and rough him just as much as he does me," said Jack. "He beat me on a fluke here the last time. Fact is he did NOT beat me; I was gypped out of the match."

Anybody who knows Mantell knows that Dutch merely laughs at Jack and reiterates, "I'll clean his clock just like I did the Indian and just like I intend to do all the rest of your pets down there in Wichita Falls. And you know that Chinaman has been running from me all along. I'm surprised he is willing to meet the winner of my match with Gorman. He must think Gorman is going to beat me. I kind of feel sorry for the Chink, at that, because it's going to be his last match and I'm going to beat him so bad he will be glad it is his last match. Too bad I've got to clean that Chinaman in the final scrap of his career. But I'd have done it before if he'd shot square with me and hadn't been dodging around all the time."

Yankee Stadium Biggest Ball Park

NEW YORK, Sept. 28. (AP)—The Yankee stadium, where the New York Americans make their home, is the largest baseball plant in the country. It saw its first world's series games in 1923, the year it was built, when the Yanks and Giants hooked up in the October classic that returned the American league champions the winners.

Oft described as "The House That Ruth Built," its vast triple-decked stands and spacious bleachers will hold about 65,000 persons. The largest paid attendance in the 1923 series was 62,817, but no stands were allowed and as there is standing room for several thousand the actual capacity has never been officially made known. In a double header this month with the Athletics the Yanks were said to have entertained a few hundred over 65,000 cash customers.

The stadium is built on a ten-acre plot just north of the Harlem river in the Bronx and is understood to hav cost close to $3,000,000. The grand stand is a triple-decked steel affair with concrete floors.

300 REALTORS

you and trust that your stay may be a happy one."

President Is Ill.

H. P. Hadfield, president of the state association is ill at his room in this city and was unable to attend the convention, and his address was read by William A. Stone of Amarillo. A part of his address follows:

"The remarkable growth of the state of Texas and of your various communities is reflected in the startling increase of real estate boards in Texas," Mr. Hadfield's message read. The realtor is primarily the man who builds his community—his whole life is devoted to the end of improvement, of beautification. The realtor's prosperity means the prosperity of the rest of the community and yet so often his efforts are unappreciated. I can hardly realize what a tremendous force the realtors of Texas have become, and in this address to you I can only report as your servant and co-worker for the past year and then give my personal hopes and ambitions for the future of the state association."

Work Outlined.

In summarizing the work of the state association, for the year, Mr. Hadfield mentioned five features on which emphasis had been placed. He called attention to the efforts of the association toward tax reduction, carrying on a national advertising campaign for the state, securing a state license, and in extending the field of the state organization. He also pointed to the monthly reports and service bulletins of the state organization and suggested that a monthly magazine to be the organ of the association, considered in the immediate future.

Texas on Map.

"Indications from the entire United States point to the fact that Texas is to take the place of California and Florida as the center of real estate development. Naturally this certain boom will bring prosperity to Texas realtors and will likewise bring grave responsibilities. As a group we must study and take to heart the lessons learned from California and Florida. We have the opportunity to foresee the cause that led to the sudden collapse in Florida. We must read the history of these states and avoid the things which meant destruction to them, as this same proposition is going to confront the state association immediately and for some time to come.

Praises Colleagues.

"In closing my term of office it is a pleasure to remember the friendship of you men, to recall your loyalty and unselfish assistance; to live over in my memory the work we have done together; to feel that realtors in Texas are now coming into their own as one of the greatest forces for progress, for development and for good citizenship. I must thank you for the spirit that you have shown and for your unfailing and unselfish interest and your continued friendship I extend my best wishes to the new administration and assure them of my willingness to help in any work they have for me to do," Mr. Hadfield's message ended.

Vote Honors Hadfield.

Mrs. Hadfield, wife of the president, was introduced to the club and the organization gave a rising vote of thanks to the president for his unselfish work for the association.

A brief talk on "The National association," was given by Russell Hill of San Antonio. He reviewed the growth of the association since its organization in Chicago 18 years ago.

Frank Keil who was scheduled to address the convention was called out of town and no speaker took his place on the subject, "The Prosperity and Future Development of Texas, Agriculturally and Industrially."

COTTON LOANS

named on the committee which will meet and draft a definite working basis whereby every bank may have ample funds for financing the proposition.

All Endorse It.

In discussing the plan bankers from the other towns in the county expressed themselves as favoring the idea. R. R. R. Cooke, vice-president of the First National bank of Electra, stated he believed this cotton to be the best kind of collateral and was heartily in favor of the move.

C. W. Coffee, president of the First State bank of Electra, favored the move but expressed that some of the smaller banks in the cotton districts would need financial assistance from the larger city banks, and was assured that such assistance would be forthcoming if needed.

J. E. Hanes, vice-president of the First National bank at Burkburnett, was willing to co-operate when a satisfactory plan is worked out, and urged that it be done without delay. R. E. Fisher, of the same bank was also favorable to the proposition. The proposed resolution had already been unanimously adopted by the Wichita Falls bankers at a previous meeting.

Educational Campaign.

A resolution was passed authorizing the chairman to appoint an educational committee to work in conjunction with Guy R. Jones, county agent, in inaugurating an educational campaign for the purpose of explaining the entire proposition to the farmers and getting their co-operation to the fullest extent.

The plan outlined will call for mass meetings to be held at various school houses in the county where speakers will explain the entire situation and farmers will have an opportunity to express themselves.

Mr. McGregor will appoint this committee, which will be composed of a banker from each town in the county, to work with Mr. Jones. The school house meetings will begin as soon as possible.

Will Insist on Reduction.

One of the features of the statewide movement is to have pledges presented when the loans are made to farmers and bankers will insist that farmers sign these pledges when they make the loans on their cotton. The pledge requires that the farmer give his word that he will reduce his cotton acreage next year by at least 26 per cent, and wherever possible as much as one-third. The bankers will also urge these pledges on the farmers, and it is believed that this effort alone will do more to bolster up the cotton situation and the price of cotton than any other one thing.

Financing Will Be Easy.

In commenting on the proposition Mr. McGregor stated that this financing will be easy for the bankers as the cotton paper could be rediscounted and would not actually require very much collateral than at present in the banks possession. The only sacrifice the banks are making is that of interest rate charge, and this factor will be of a great benefit to the banks in the long run.

The bankers present at the meeting were all advised to work out their plans and present them to the committee, after which the actual loans will be started on the cotton.

Warehouse or Compress Receipts.

The bankers decided that warehouse or compress receipts would be accepted as collateral, and where neither of these storage facilities are available a town would have to provide a storage place and hire a bonded keeper for the warehouse which provision would make his receipts collateral for the loans.

There is nothing standing in the way of the loaning of the $50 per bale and these loans will be in active working order with a very short time.

Mustangs Expect To Clean Trinity

DALLAS, Sept. 28.(AP)—Scrimmages will dominate the week's training program for the Southern Methodist university football team in preparation for the game with Trinity university, Saturday, marking completion of the new $200,000 Jordan Owenby stadium.

The club business managers hope to have 15,000 spectators on hand for the dedicatory game, and accompanying stunts by rooters.

Coach Ray Morrison hopes his Mustangs will make as decisive a showing against the Waxahachie eleven as the Texas Aggies made last week.

With a dozen backfield stars to pick from, Morrison will devote main efforts to whipping the line into better shape than was evident in the game last week with the North Texas Teachers. He probably will not use a definite first or second team against the Trinity eleven, but likely will select two well-balanced combinations to put on the field.

Some time during the game, however, he will have on the field eleven men who seem to be favorites for first string positions.

The Stecher-Lewis match to settle the rival claims of the two to the world's title was called off because Lewis broke a small bone in his left arm.

in newspapers. Out of 4 billion dollars, spent in classified advertising in the United States, $50,000,000 is spent in classified real estate ads," Mr. Mackey said in showing the importance in newspaper advertising.

Paper Great Aid.

"Properly classify your ads and the newspaper can help you. Select a certain kind of style for your advertising and stay with it. Study rate sheets of the newspaper and work with it with your advertising solicitor. Describe environments in the neighborhood; in the sale of vacant lots tell which direction the lots face; give name, address and telephone; run your ads over a signature; one way to encourage advertising is to cut out the blind ads," he said.

Discussion Held.

Following Mr. Mackey's talk, a discussion was carried on among the realtors who told in concise statements what they learned from the lecture.

"Lack of an ideal ad a vision of business in the future on the part of the building is one reason for the cause of waste and inefficiency on home building," L. E. Fite of San Antonio said in his address on "Waste and Inefficiency in Home Building."

Work Important.

"He doesn't figure out how important his work is. Too many work on the theory in building a house that it is for the greatest percentage of profit and there is the biggest leak in home building. The home builder is not responsible only to the client who purchases a home but also to the financial interests," Mr. Fite talked of many home builders who are outside the organization of real estate boards because they have the idea that the boards are to organize and foster the fellows who make the sale.

In speaking of ways to stop waste and inefficiency, the speaker told of building on a scale that enables the builder to get a reduced price on materials; build houses in groups; avoid false accounting, build houses with good foundations and durable roofs; build a house that for the home owner so that it can be traded in for a better home later on.

Thomas Presides.

W. A. Thomas of Dallas, vice president, presided at the meeting and conducted the round table discussion following each address.

Telegrams were read from H. W. Brouse of Dallas who was on the program but was unable to come because of a death in his family; A. D. Foreman of Houston who was to speak Thursday, telegraphed he would be unable to attend, John G. Willacy of San Antonio is also unable to attend but is mailing his address; Loren W. Benton of Austin and Lawrence Miller of Dallas sent telegrams wishing success for the convention.

Committee Named.

The following committee on resolutions was announced: John Hanna, Galveston, chairman; B. G. Irish, San Antonio; F. H. Kohfeldt, Denison; J. L. Compere, Welasco; John Torrence, Waco; Cullum, Dallas; E. E. Stucky, Port Arthur.

The nominating committee was announced as follows: R. Emmett Morse, Houston; John Tandy, Fort Worth; J. R. Gilvin, Amarillo; P. S. Richardson, Wichita Falls; John O. Banks, Beaumont.

Visiting realtors and their wives were entertained Tuesday night at an informal dance at the Kemp hotel. A reception at the Country club was given Tuesday afternoon for the visiting ladies.

FORTUNE GOES UP IN SMOKE

Last of Big Estate Left To Charles Garland Is Given Away

NEW YORK, Sept. 28. (AP)—A $1,654,000 fortune which Charles Garland, founder of the April Farm, alleged "free love" colony, refused for personal use four years ago and with which he started the American fund for public service, has been spent. Announcement was made yesterday that no further enterprises can be undertaken.

Records show that the fund was generally used for advancement of labor enterprises. The largest single gift was that of $150,000 to Brookwood labor college at Katonah, N. Y.

At the time he refused the fortune Garland said he did not approve of the way it had been accumulated by his father, a Wall street financier. He reconsidered a year later and formed the endowment which was dedicated to "unfavored causes."

Garland, in 1924, also refused to accept an $88,000 estate left htm by his grandmother.

Among enterprises aided was the Vanguard Press, publishers of books on radical and labor subjects for working people, which received $100,000. Stock valued at $10,000 was purchased in the Russian reconstruction farms, an enterprise to further industrialization of agriculture in the Caucasus, and stock amounting to $20,000 was bought in the Oklahoma Leader, a weekly farm paper.

Garland figured in the news recently when his wife, Mary Wrenn Garland, obtained a divorce at Barnstable, Mass. Mrs. Garland with her daughter left her husband in 1921 when he established a girl art student in their home at North Carver, Mass., but later was reconciled.

The April Farm colony, started near Allentown, Pa., was disbanded after it came under official investigation following burial of a child. The district attorney stated in the death certificate that it was Garland's son. Garland served two months in the Lehigh county (Pennsylvania) jail.

Negro Claims Abuse At Employer's Hands

DALLAS, Sept. 28. (AP)—Claiming he had been struck over the head with an automobile pump by an East Texas cotton farmer, and forced to work the remainder of the day in the field, a negro applied last night at the emergency hospital for treatment.

Physicians found he had a fractured skull and sent him to a sanitarium. The negro said he is George Evans, 23, Big Sandy, Texas.

Numerous reports of ill treatment of negro cotton pickers and of the peonage act are being investigated by federal agents who, today took up Evans' case. Evans said the man struck because he would not pick cotton and wanted to go to another farm to work.

GALVESTON, Sept. 28.(AP)—Cable messages received here today from Vera Cruz told of the removal of 109 passengers from the Ward Line steamer Mexico arground 40 miles north of Progresso by the motor ship Rio Bravo and of a severe storm which had interrupted wire communication between Vera Cruz and Mexico City. The message from the Rio Bravo to the local agents of the German ocean liner said that a heavy gale was blowing but that all on board were well.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.(AP) — Higher prices here for wheat resulted today from an unexpected advance in quotations at Liverpool and from big export sales, mostly Canadian. Wheat in Chicago had an unsettled close, ¼c to ⅝c up, with corn unchanged to ⅛c down, oats showing ⅛c to ½c gain, and provisions varying from ⅛c decline to 5c advance.

Agricultural college reports that frost damage in Nebraska and Iowa was light tended to weaken the corn market. There was but little speculative demand for corn. Oats held better owing to smallness of receipts.

Provisions eased down in line with the hog market.

Cotton

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.(AP)—Still lower price levels were reached in the cotton market today through continued southern selling and further liquidation. December contracts broke from 14.66 to 14.15 or 29 points net lower and 410 points below the high price of September 2. December closed at 14.32, the general market closing at net declines of eight to 13 points.

Market opened steady at a decline of one to 11 points under overnight selling orders from the south and soon showed net losses of 13 to 16 points. In addition to the southern selling, there was liquidation by recent buyers together with selling by local and Wall Street traders who appeared to be influenced by belief that the cold wave over the south had passed without damaging temperatures and that the outlook was now for warmer weather.

There was considerable trade buying on the early decline, and after the first report of October liquidation, incident to the circulation of notices estimated at nearly 50,000 bales the market rallied several points on covering. Offerings increased on the bulges, however, while some of the October notices still seemed to be circulating early in the afternoon leading to further near month liquidation. This, combined with rumors that farmers were still selling cotton freely in the south, and that the basis was easier in some of the interior markets, brought in re-selling by early buyers into new low ground for the movement. October selling off to 13.91 and January to 14.24 or 24 to 30 points net lower. Last prices showed rallies of 15 to 18 points from the lowest on covering.

Business was active at the start and again on the afternoon break but the volume of trading tapered off during the middle of the day and again on the closing recovery. Trade interests were credited with buying considerable cotton on scale down orders which doubtless contributed to the late rally.

Port receipts today 129,153. U. S. port stocks 1,324,175. Exports 31,551, makin 979,106 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 28.(AP)—The cotton market was quite active today and price were on the down grade most of the day under pressure of hedge selling and more or less liquidation. Following a slight gain at the start owing to better cables than due the market turned soft and continued to decline under pressure until late in the afternoon at the lowest, showing losses of 32 to 35 points. In the last half hour of trading prices rallied 22 to 24 points from the lows under covering by satisfied shorts and probably also in fear of a turn to unfavorable weather over night. The close was steady showing net losses for the day of only three to eight points.

The forecast showed unsettled and showery weather in the belt and the weather service issued a warning that a fresh tropical disturbance of unknown intensity had developed north of Porto Rico moving northwestward. These developments had no apparent effect on the market.

First trades showed gains of four to five points on near positions and one point less on later months. The opening gains and one day's rise of the day with October at 14.23, December at 14.45 and January at 14.49. The market promptly turned easier and kept on the down grad euntil late in the session when October traded as low as 13.93, December at 14.12 and January at 14.17, or 32 to 35 points down from the highs. In the final trading prices rallied to 14.17 for October, 14.34 for December and 14.40 for January.

Trading in the new contract which will permit delivery at New Orleans, Galveston or Houston will start October 15 and the first month traded in will be August, 1927.

Exports for the day totaled 31,551 bales.

The body of the woman was found by R. H. Wages when he returned to his farm Tuesday from a trip to Fort Worth, after more cotton pickers. The negro lad was the only witness to the affair and seemed not to realize the gravity of the crime.

"Daddy and mammy got to quarreling durin' the rain an' he done beat her up," was his laconic comment on the murder.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.(AP)—Opposing speculative forces again struggled for control of price movement in today's stock market with neither side able to gain any decided advantage. Operators working for higher prices succeeded in marking up a number of industrials and rails, but the rallies did not hold in many cases whereas bear traders were able to uncover a few weak spots but failed to unsettle the general list. Commodity markets furnished much more speculative interest, sugar prices being bid up to new high levels for the season where cotton futures broke to the lowest levels in years.

Credit conditions were again a source of uneasiness to the "bull" element. A reduction of nearly $150,000,000 in brokers' loans last week failed to arouse any widespread enthusiasm. On the other hand, call money renewed at 5½ per cent and held steady at that figure all day, despite the rather heavy calling of loans by out of town banks.

Failure of the Allied Chemical directors to make a special dividend distribution at today's meeting caused disappointment in some quarters, the stock selling down to 139 and then rallying to 140 where it was off 1⅝ on to day. American Smelting, which is believed to harbor a large short interest as a result of the recent decline in silver prices, was bid up to 149¾ but slid back later to 139, up one point net, with buying influenced by reports that the directors would either increase the regular dividend or declare an extra next week.

General Motors, which is expected to make an unusually favorable showing in the third quarter, was bid up to a new high of 161¾ for the present stock closing within a point of the top. Other motors were mixed. Moon dropping over two points to a new low at 36¾ on rumors of unfavorable action by the U. S. Steel crossed 150 in large volume but net large offerings around that figure and slipped back to 149 where it was up fractionally on the day. Baldwin, which was run up nearly five points yesterday dropped back 1¾ on profit taking.

DuPont soared over nine points to a new high at 224¾ on expectations that unsocial distributions received on its large General Motors holdings would be passed on to DuPont stockholders.

Rails held fairly steady, although Chesapeake and Ohio, "Nickel Plate" common and some of the other recent strong spots yielded moderately on realizing.

Time money was on a flat 5 per cent basis as against 4½ to 5 earlier in the week. Prime commercial paper held steady with demand sterling quoted around 4.85 11-16 and French francs around 3.80 cents.

COLQUITT FOR HIGHWAY POST

Rumor Has It That "Ma" May Name Moody Men To Board

AUSTIN, Sept. 28. (AP)—If the senate, in special session in the 39th legislature, does not confirm Hal Moseley and John Cage, members of the highway commission, Governor Miriam A. Ferguson will appoint new members she notified John Cage in a letter today. Immediately after receiving the letter Cage went into conference with the governor and former Governor James E. Ferguson.

The postponement of the confirmation to the 40th legislature recently voted was led by supporters in the senate of the incoming administration of Dan Moody, governor nominee, and was considered a triumph for the next administration because 22 of the senators voted for postponement and seven against.

Since then some agitation has been instigated for a reconsideration of the action on confirmation of the highway commissioners and S. C. Granberry, state prison commissioner.

Cage said that in event he, Moseley and Granberry are not confirmed by the senate that on the last day of the special session, their offices will become vacant and the governor will have the privilege of appointing other men. He said it was a question whether the governor would have the right to reappoint the present commissioners, because they had not been rejected, yet had not been confirmed.

It was rumored in the senate chamber Tuesday that the governor was planning on appointing some supporters of Moody to the highway commission and the name of former Governor Oscar B. Colquitt was mentioned. The plan would be to then determine the action on the newly appointed commissioners.

LOREE WANTS LINES JUNKED

Merger Proponent Declares Too Many Railroads Do Not Pay

DALLAS, Sept. 28.(AP)—Thirty thousand miles of railroad in the United States should be abandoned as a cancerous growth on the transportation system, L. F. Loree of New York, chairman of the boards of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas and the Kansas City Southern railroads testified here today at a hearing of his application to merge these two lines with the St. Louis Southwestern road.

This was his answer to the protest of short line representatives that his proposed merger would crush them in the hearing before C. D. Mahaffie, finance director for the interstate commerce commission.

Railroad Baron.

Baron of many railroad properties and considered one of the outstanding minds of the rail transportation business, Mr. Loree paid his respects to the transportation act of 1920 in no uncertain terms.

When asked by counsel whether the plan of consolidation sanctioned by this act was not intended to save weak lines, he replied that he had often heard this explanation but that he considered it "so socialistic as to be unthinkable."

Later in the hearing he said that there was no reason, "for this socialistic idea."

Loree Plans Merger.

Mr. Loree plans to combine the Katy, the Kansas City Southern and the St. Louis Southwestern into one system through joint stock control. Among the opponents of the plan are certain short line railroads, chief of which is the Waco, Beaumont, Trinity and Sabine road. The minority stockholders of the Cotton Belt railway, certain New Orleans interests and Oklahoma shipping interests also are opposed.

Lions Minstrels Draw Loud Claps In Majestic Bill

Local Wags "Go Over Big" In Comic Show Given Tuesday Night

As producers and performers in a minstrel the Lions club has the well known "lasses" White and various other noted black-face artists backed several blocks off the boulevard.

This was displayed to an enthusiastic and jammed theatre Tuesday night when at the Majestic Police Chief George Hodgins, in full official regalia, and his sepia tinted troubadours, not the least of whom were locally famous wags Joe Marlow, Raymod Smith, Joe Dickey, Bert Ripley, J. Tol Camp and Jerry Jones, rendered a mirth-provoking offering as a benefit to the Wichita Falls boys band.

The show was the riot it had been expected to be. 'Twas highly successful both from a thespian and from a financial angle.

Comic Cracks Galore.

Besides staging the regular minstrel stuff done to a turn, quite a bit of fun was had by the end men and the audience at expense of a number of prominent local men, comic cracks centering as a rule on such as the venerable P. P. Langford, Mayor R. E. Shepard, Hubert Harrison, George Massey, Judge John C. Kay, Bruce Greenwood, Dr. R. H. Graham and Dr. H. D. Prichard.

Joe Marlow, elongated end man, found his calling. His general all-round by-play had the boys and girls sitting up on the edges of their seats and his song and dance verson of "Don't Be a Fool, You Fool," supplemented with a bit of razor work by Mrs. W. L. Underwood in the "cork," also, made that portion of the populace in the theatre pop their palms until it hurt.

Excellent Ballads.

Not a little bit of the spotlight was used to advantage by Raymond Smith, S. M. Gose, Bert Ripley, Dell Brasher, Jerry Jones, Bill Underwood and Mrs. Underwood in pleasingly rendered ballad selections.

Little Miss Loula Nolan, sprightly and pretty, interpolated a clever Egyptian toe dance and encore the synchronization and beauty of which captivated that vast audience.

Paul Sneeds, director of the boys' band, injected a series of highly pleasing saxophone solos.

Melody Players.

Bert Wilburn't Blue Moon entertainers, jazz orchestra deluxe, broke into the oleo with a melody that came very near to stopping the show before it had hardly started. Mrs. J. S. Fitman, with songs and monologues, and then Joel H. McGregor, with Scotch vocal selections, rounded out the oleo with a flourish of humor, also pathos, and melody that was heartily received.

The minstrel proper was featured at two stages by "The Roll 'Em Girls," a bevy of fair maids, fair of face and dimpled knees, who added an extra touch of color. There were Misses Mary Francis Ray, Bernice Brown, Packey Erwin, Viva Riley, Louise Lauderdale and Genice Simmons.

Hodgins Director.

Hodgins was director and interlocutor, J. S. Pitman musical diretor. The chorus was composed of Eggleston, Wynn, Graham, Bunnenberg, Spangler, King, Lyle, Hatchett, Bolding, Ripley, Groves, Maples, Millican, Murray, Pottillo, Harris, Thompson, Cripliver, Gose, Scott, Bailey, Baum, Raley, Wilson, Crouch, Somerville, Prichard, Frazee, Underwood, Brashear and Duke.

Drip, Splash and Wallow Is City's Lot Tuesday As Rainfall Comes Steadily

A driving, dripping, soaking, splashing rain that came in torrents, subsided to a misty drizzle and then broke with renewed fury kept Wichita Falls well under doors Tuesday and added another chapter to the sorry weather report the final days of September have been compiling in this section.

From a standpoint of sheer unpleasantness, yesterday was about the worst of the lot. The last four days have been disagreeable in varying degree through the medium of frigid temperature, high, cold winds, dust and a little rain. Not all of these were combined in one day, however, and failed to make things as entirely uninviting as did Tuesday with its weeping, leaden skies; its sloppy muddy streets and walks and its bottomless pits of mire wherever paving happened to be lacking.

Comes Whole Day.

The rain prevailed off and on the entire day. At no time in the afternoon and early evening hours did more than a few minutes pass in which water was not falling. The thermometer failed to sink to alarming levels, but there was enough frigidity and cold, raw winds to make coats and fires comfortable.

North Texas and southern Oklahoma were blanketed with the same damp sheets as was Wichita Falls, reports coming to railroad dispatchers here stated. Unpaved roads throughout both sections were virtually impassable and farmers watched with increasing uneasiness as the steady downpour carried growing danger for unpicked cotton. From many points, it was reported, cotton pickers were packing up and leaving for more hospitable climes, thereby further complicating an already delicate situation arising from the shortage of hands to pluck the stable.

A promise of possible relief from the weather was made in Tuesday forecasts which told of clearing skies and freshening winds in some sections of north Texas. There was no indication late Tuesday night, however, that Wednesday would be anything but a repetition of Tuesday.

300 Entries Checked For Livestock Show

More than 300 entries in the cattle and livestock department of cattle and livestock department had been registered up to Tuesday night when the entries were closed for these events, Secretary R. E. Shepherd announced. He declared that this large exhibit will make the Texas-Oklahoma fair larger in the livestock department than any other fair in the southwest, including the Texas state fair.

Additional sheds and tents have been provided for the large number of exhibits and these will be well cared for the secretary announced.

The fair will be the largest in the history of the organization and every offer will be made to make everything satisfactory with the exhibitors.

Still Seized in Raid And One Man Jailed

A fifty-gallon still, plenty of bottles and equipment, and a quantity of mash were seized by the city police department yesterday afternoon in the 1100 block on Burnett street, and one arrest was made in connection with the raid.

The still said to be one of the most elaborate ever taken here, was sanitary to a marked degree, so far as stills go. It would under regular run produce fifty gallons of whisky a day and was in active operation at the time the raid was made.

The confiscated material was taken to the city hall and the arrested man placed in the city jail where he will remain until charges can be filed against him.

COURT TO MEET

The October court of of honor for Boy Scouts will be held Friday night at Grace Methodist church at 7:30 o'clock when merit badges will be given boys who have successfully passed their tests. First class badges will be awarded to Eugene Cope, Maurice Patton and Edward Mulligan; second class badges will go to Herbert Wiley, Thoro Swatzel and James Thornton.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Marriage licenses were issued to the following by the county clerk yesterday:

Will Moody and Mrs. Lillie Hill of Electra.

R. L. Kirby and Miss Delight Peery of Denver, Colo.

Perfect Hearts Available For All, Evangelist Says

"The person deepest in the mire God loves the most," A. E. Davis, evangelist at the salvation and healing revival, said Tuesday evening at the First Evangelical church.

The sermon was based on the text, "Be Ye Perfect Even as Your Father in Heaven is Perfect," and the speaker stressed the point that while persons might not have a perfect intellect they might be perfect in heart.

"Salvation passes our understanding and goes down into our heart," he declared. "We'll find that we haven't any religion till we get it below the neck. A head religion is a humanistic religion that is trying to pull itself up by itself. We'll never in this wide world have a perfect head but we can have a perfect heart."

The speaker spoke of the response of a girl who gave up singing in grand opera to take a position as gospel singer, declaring that her conversion was "the operation of the Holy Ghost over the heart."

"If we're like God we'll not just love those that love us," he continued. If we take the word 'perfect' as meaning 'sincere,' we'll find that the word means 'without wax'—not any of the old sticks or be gum or dirt in the honey—without alloy. That's as strong as the word 'perfect.'

"When I came a penitent sinner God didn't slap me or berate me. He just loved me. If ye love those that love you, what praise have ye?"

The audience joined in the song service, and prayers were led by Mr. Davis, the Rev. Frank Doege and D. C. Evans.

All-Family Night For Church Service

The Yale Avenue Evangelical church is planning an all family night mid-week service starting Wednesday night at 7:30, according to the pastor, Rev. W. D. Cook.

An outline of the program follows: A ten-minute general devotional including a song service; a ten-minute study on "Widening the Horizon," with the basis for the study taken from Deuteronomy 22:9-14; a group meeting prayer service arranged according to age; at 8:20 o'clock a business meeting of the board of stewards of the adult department and also a business meeting of the young people's department will be held. Closing exercises will be held at 9:10.

Three Boostin' Boosters From Amarillo Hit Town

TOM COTTON

TOM BRUNER

J. R. GAUT

Three land-selling cowboys from the wide open spaces of the Panhandle led a noisy delegation into Wichita Falls Tuesday for the annual convention of the Texas association of Real Estate Boards. For lack of better designation, they are labeled a trio of Amarillo realtors, come to spread the gospel of Amarillo as a convention city and thereby a contender for the 1928 convention of the association.

With their wide-flung sombreros, hefty canes and colossal good cheer they cut a figure of considerable dimensions on the streets.

Thirty-six years ago Tuesday J. R. Gaut landed in Amarillo when it was something of a cross roads trading station on the winding trails that, in one direction, led off toward the mountains of New Mexico and Colorado; and on the other side toward the lower passes of the El Paso territory.

Today he is one of the prominent realtors of Amarillo and has played no inconspicuous part in the phenominal development of the Panhandle metropolis.

Tom Burner is also prominent in the affairs of the Amarillo realty board and is a delegate to the Wichita Falls convention. The same is true of Tom Cotton, who is also here for the fun and to boost his own city.

Rain prevented the meeting of the Barwise Girl Reserves Tuesday afternoon, but it is announced that the regular meeting will be held on next Tuesday.

A piano solo by Ira L. Cain, Jr., featured the chapel exercises at the Junior college and high school Tuesday morning. Announcements regarding the coming football games for the college and high school teams were made by S. H. Rider, dean, and Doyle Stephenson was introduced to the group as the Junior college football captain and the party responsible for the only touchdown of the last week's game with the Fort Sill team.

Nearly forty mothers and teachers were present at the Parent-Teachers asociation meeting of the Sam Houston school Tuesday afternoon in spite of the rain and cold. After a program, given by various members, a short business session was held in which it was decided to give a reception honoring the teachers next Friday evening, October 1.

Miss Dorothy Reed, senior in the local Junior college, has been chosen at the editor-in-chief of the Wichitan, school weekly, according to announcement made Monday. Miss Evelyn Hardeman was selected at the same time to edit the Campus News section, and Miss Jean Fisk was given the position of exchange editor. Other staff members will be announced later.

The first edition of the paper, which is edited jointly by the Junior college and high school students, will make its appearance today, according to A. F. Edwards, sponsor. Regular editions will come out on Wednesday's of each week throughout the school year.

The Wichitan, the Wal-Kun college year book, and the Coyote, high school annual, are the only publications edited by the college and high school students.
