Kitty's Korner

by
Kitty Montgomery

I'm having a hard time writing this column again this week, due to physical disability this time. I have a cyst under my left arm which is causing a great deal of pain. The doctor is going to remove it in the morning, but meanwhile he told me to hold my arm over my head for relief of pain. Believe me, I'm finding it difficult to get this column done with my arm over my head. I don't believe I could have managed if it had been my right arm, so I guess there is always something to be thankful for.

Since I can claim disability this week, it's a good time to steal from someone else's column. I don't know who to give credit to, since I've seen it in the weekly column of every exchange newspaper we get. I guess I'll credit Terry Neill, editor of the Van Horn Advocate. He is the only one who saw fit to publish it twice.

It is an obituary for Someone Else, and anyone who has been involved in community, civic, charity or church work can attest to its accuracy.

"We were saddened to learn this week of the sudden and unexpected death of one of our most active citizens, Someone Else. Let us reflect upon this very sobering news. Someone Else's passing creates a vacancy that will be difficult if not impossible to fill. Else had been with us for years and did far more than one person's share of the work.

Whenever leadership was mentioned, this wonderful person was looked to for inspiration as well as results: "someone else can work with that group." "Let Someone Else do it."

It was common knowledge that Someone Else was among the largest givers in the community. Whenever there was a financial need or another worker needed help, everyone assumed that Someone Else would make up the difference.

Someone Else was a wonderful person, sometimes appearing to be superhuman, but a person can only do so much. Were the truth known, everybody expected too much of Someone Else. Now Someone Else is gone. We can no longer depend on Someone Else. It looks as if all the needs that exist in our community are to be taken care of then we must do them together."

The Lions open the season Sept. 4, when they travel to Sonora for the annual predistrict tilt with the Broncos. The homecoming game will be Sept. 25 when the Lions host the Alpine Bucks. District play begins the following week when the Lions travel to Junction. Predistrict games will begin at 8:00 p.m. and district games will begin at 7:30.

The annual Ozona Stockman football contest kicks off this week and may be found on the football page, sponsored by local merchants each week during the football season. The contest was started a week in advance in order entries could be returned and graded before the next week's paper comes out. Ten games and a tie-breaker are listed. The winner will be announced in the paper following the games and will receive $15 in cash. Pick the team you think will win, then pick a score for the tie-breaker. Clip the contest and bring it by the Stockman office or mail it. All entries must be in by 5:00 p.m. Friday before the weekend games. Entries will be graded following the games and winners will be announced. There will be a winner each week, and for a perfect score, a $50 jackpot will be awarded.

THE INHERITED MESS

By Edwin Feulner

After wallowing for a few days in the muck of defeat, Congressional Democrats went home for their summer recess saying they were really happy the President got most of the tax and budget cuts he had asked for — because now they'll have someone to blame if the President's program goes sour.

It's his program all the way, they mused. You can't pin any of the blame on the loyal Democrat opposition, which fought the President all the way.

Of course, they're right. The ball's now in the President's court. But they're only half right. Because the President didn't create — he inherited — the economic mess we're in. For example...

- In 1980, 100 Savings & Loan Associations merged or went bankrupt.
- Chrysler's well-publicized problems were just the tip of the iceberg. In 1980, some 48,000 businesses actually declared bankruptcy.
- Taxes have climbed by 102 percent in just five years.
- In 1980, the interest on the national debt was $64.5 billion — nearly a 40 percent increase over fiscal 1975.
- Interest rates are the highest in a century.
- Inflation from 1976 through 1980 was the highest since the Civil War. If inflation were to average 10 percent a year for the next five years, an average car would cost an estimated $16,000; an average home $160,000; food for a family of four would run $464 per week, and it might cost six bucks just to take in a movie.

The national debt now stands at $921 billion (approximately $9,250 for every U.S. taxpayer), and is growing by $214 million every day.

Liberal politicians, enthusiastically backed by welfare pressure groups, have gone on deficit spending sprees for 42 of the last 46 years. Again, even with the budget cuts, the government will likely run in the red by $50-60 billion during the current fiscal year.

There are those, of course, who still refuse to see the danger signals. Fortunately, while they still put on good shows in front of the TV cameras, the power of the liberal free-spenders is clearly on the wane in Washington.

It's been more than seven months since President Reagan was sworn into office. Though things historically move slowly in this town, the real progress made in turning things around is nothing short of revolutionary.

While Congressional liberals may be delighted that the President rolled over them in his tax and spending-cut victories, I think they're being unrealistic if they expect us to totally forget that they are the ones who engineered our troubles.

We may forgive, but I don't think we'll quickly forget.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — The Texas Legislature may not meet in a second special session after all—Gov. Bill Clements announced last week he has reconsidered the call to repeal the ad valorem tax.

Repeal of the tax was the only issue important to Clements which he "lost" during the recent special session, and the Governor is the kind of batter who wants to knock every pitch out of the ballpark.

But the tax is the focus of a lawsuit, and both Clements and the Legislature now seem content to wait for a settlement in the courtroom. The verdict will give the officials the direction they need.

College Construction

The Texas Constitution levys a 10-cent per $100 valuation ad valorem tax which is dedicated to construction at 17 state universities and colleges. In 1979 the Legislature attached a statute which lowered the rate, making the tax so small that no one even bothers to collect it. However, Midwestern State University at Wichita Falls sued to overturn the Legislature's action as unconstitutional. It is scheduled for trial on August 24, but may be postponed 30 days.

Midwestern Regent William M. Thacker, Jr. came under a lot of pressure in the last days of the special session when the repeal issue was hot. Thacker reportedly caught a lot of heat from Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and other directions to drop the lawsuit. Thacker held his ground.

Would-Be Assassin

Several new twists have occurred in the strange case of Rep. Mike Martin, R-Longview, who was wounded in the elbow with a shotgun fired by an unknown person.

The attack on Martin in the final days of the special session left his colleagues baffled, and the police and press cynical, but for reasons no one could really figure.

Martin repeatedly made statements about living in fear, and indicated first that the shooting was related to an investigation his office was conducting.

Later he said he was the target of an anti-Christian occult group.

In the course of the probe, Martin ignored two Travis County jury subpoenas and left the state, going into hiding.

Cousin Arrested

Late last week authorities announced Martin's cousin in Longview admitted shooting Martin. No details were released.

And Martin himself is now being sought for arrest by Gregg County officials who uncovered an old misdemeanor warrant for his arrest.

Martin, a carpenter, allegedly assaulted his cabinet shop employee.

Medfly Lawsuit

Texas agriculture officials last week filed a lawsuit against the California produce industry and the U.S. Agriculture Department, seeking reimbursement for funds spent protecting Texas from the Mediterranean fruit fly.

Now in effect is a $5,000-per-day program to stop produce trucks entering Texas borders and inspect them for the Medfly.

Leading the search is Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown, who has thrown the state's agriculture industry into a tizzy looking for the Medfly. Brown even convinced the Legislature to give him extra funds to combat the fly.

Last week Brown admitted his search program has stopped after inspecting over 70,000 produce-laden trucks, but none have been carrying fruit flies or their larvae. He also said that aerial spray planes are poised to spray Texas fields the minute one fly is found and positively identified.

GOP Gears Up

The Republican Party of Texas chalked up the points in the recent regular and special legislative sessions, and, of course, scored high with Reagan's tax cut victory in Congress.

Now the GOP reportedly is actively recruiting candidates for the 1982 elections, and is courting several conservative Texas Democrats.

Targeted in Congress are Phil Gramm of Bryan and Kent Hance of Lubbock, two Democrats who voted with Republicans on the tax cut issue. Several legislators are also eyed as possible switch-overs.

In the Legislature, the battle over congressional redistricting has polarized the members, particularly in the House. The Democratic Party pitted itself against the Republican Party on the issue, and the outcome cannot really be categorized until all the ballots are in. Democrats claim Speaker Bill Clayton stepped in to win a compromise favoring Republicans. Republicans down-play the victory, saying it was conservative Democrats who actually carried the win for them.

And Clayton, who should know better than most, says his plan does not favor Republicans.

Who's right?

No one will be able to say until the ballots are counted in 1982. But between then and now, political movers are not going to let the grass grow under their feet.

At any rate, conservative Democrats are on the spot again by virtue of pressure within their own party, and Republicans stand to gain a few seats in the Legislature.

you and the LAW

PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: I own my home and live in it now with my new husband. The value of the home has increased substantially during our marriage. If we divorce can he make any claim against this increase?

A: The home you owned before marriage is separate property. Your husband will have no claim to owning the house nor to its appreciation, because increase in value of separate property stays separate.

He might, however, assert a claim for reimbursement for his share of community money that went into maintenance and improvements.

Q: I recently lost my husband due to a sudden heart attack. We had some property which we had accumulated during our marriage but I noticed recently that the deed does not contain my name, only his. Is there a way I can have this deed transferred to my name?

A: There is really no need to "transfer" the deed. When your husband's will is probated, his property will usually pass to you, his wife. The executor of the will will make the transfer of the property on behalf of your husband's estate.

If your husband died without a will or if you have not probated it, you should hire an attorney to assist you in making the appropriate title transfers.

Q: I put $1,000 down on a new home. The closing is two weeks away. Now I have lost my job and won't be able to afford the house. Is there any way I can get my $1,000 back?

A: Typically, a contract for sale will allow the buyer to recover his earnest money if the contract is terminated because suitable financing is unavailable. The buyer must, however, be diligent in seeking financing. This standard provision is found in most of the typical contracts used in Texas, but it may not necessarily have been included in your agreement. You should carefully review your contract to determine if this provision is included. Since it is highly unlikely that a mortgage company will provide financing for a jobless buyer, if your application for a loan is rejected, you should explain this to the seller and ask for a return of the $1,000.

Q: Is it legal for a doctor to give another doctor information about a patient without the patient's consent?

A: Yes. Texas has no law making doctor-patient communications privileged. The privilege does exist between attorney and client because a statute specifically creates it.

In the absence of the privilege, a physician may discuss a case without the patient's consent. It is extremely unlikely, however, that any doctor would do this. Most physicians require a medical information release from the patient.

For further information about patients' rights, you may obtain a free copy of the Patient's Rights Handbook, published by the Texas Young Lawyers Association. Write to the State Bar of Texas, Communications Dept., P.O. Box 12487, Austin, Texas 78711.

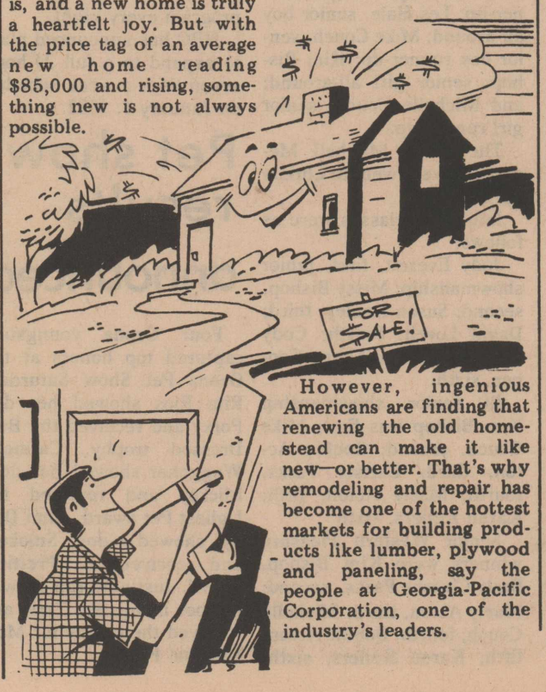

Q: I would like to find out what legal rights I have as a common law wife. We've been living together for four years, but he was divorced only seven months ago.

A: In Texas, a common law wife has exactly the same rights as a wife whose marriage was contracted through a ceremony. However, only a party who is unmarried can contract either a ceremonial marriage or a common law marriage. Therefore, under the facts given in your question, the common law marriage did not commence until seven months ago when your husband received his divorce from his former wife.

Send your questions to "You and the Law," State Bar of Texas, P.O. Box 12487, Austin, 78711. Answers may appear in columns in hypothetical terms; personal answers not possible.

IT'S A FACT! By Miller

Home is where the heart is, and a new home is truly a heartfelt joy. But with the price tag of an average new home reading $85,000 and rising, something new is not always possible.

However, ingenious Americans are finding that renewing the old homestead can make it like new—or better. That's why remodeling and repair has become one of the hottest markets for building products like lumber, plywood and paneling, say the people at Georgia-Pacific Corporation, one of the industry's leaders.

Tips For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

It seems the late showers skipped us on both sides but there is always a hope they will soon return and give us a good soaking rain to encourage fall planting.

Throughout this month and the fall our green thumbs should be ready to get busy again. Maybe you are one that wishes for a green thumb. That myth which would have you believe that all great gardeners are born is just not so. The real secret to relaxed and sucessful gardening is simply having a desire and enjoyment of the chores it involves common sense gardening know-how, a few professional gardening tricks, practical information, and new ideas and experiments from several magazines available.

I hope many of you read and take heed of the most informative article by our county agent, Mr. Reagor, pertaining to the care of the pecan crop at this critical time.

Do drive by to see the beautiful blue and white morning glory vines on Ave. F north on Highway 163 to Barnhart.

These cool mornings may be a time for pattering around and not have to hurry. Adahlia may need to be tied up, disbud a few roses, pinching some leggy annuals, staking a tomato plant, puiling a stray weed, repotting a geranium or other plants that are needing attention, and disbudding mums for the last time. Also pinch back poinsettias to make the plants more compact, induce branching and cause the plants to produce more blooms.

Summer is the best time to control such houseplant insects as scale, whiteflies, and mealybugs. Move infested plants outside to a cool, shady place. Spray with a weak concentration of the appropriate insecticide (generally half the amount recommended on the label). Use Lygon to control scale, malathion for white fly and Diazinon to control mealybugs. With severe infestations, repeat applications at weekly intervals will often be needed.

To care for cut Dahlias, carry a bucket of water to the garden and plunge the cut stems into deep, cold water. Then cut the stems again under water at a 45 degree angle when you are ready to arrange.

MP Garden Club meets

Sorority kick-off party held

The Alpha Alpha Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met August 17, at the home of Mrs. Sandy Stokes for the kick-off party of the year. Serving as hostesses were Mrs. Randy Crawford and Mrs. Dennis Clark.

Members enjoyed homemade ice cream after presenting Mrs. Fred Chandler, formerly Nesa Smith, with recipes and ingredients.

Others attending were Virginia Baggett, Sadie Davidson, Evelyn Hall, Chris Weant, Pearley Meacham, Cindy Nicks, Jan North, Lori Parker, Karla Turland, Nancy Vannoy, Kaye Williams, and Belinda Wilkins, and a new member transferring from Rankin, Cindy Collins.

Lost documents may not be essential

The Veterans Administration today reminded veterans and their dependents that they shouldn't let lost documents prevent them from applying for VA benefits.

"Some veterans who can't locate birth or marriage certificates don't apply for benefits because they believe these documents are essential," a VA spokesman said.

But, he pointed out, VA accepts certified statements from applicants in instances where documents needed to establish eligibility for benefits are lost.

In the case of a marriage, the official said, this policy applies only to the first marriage for each partner, and there must be no contradictory information on file with the agency.

In years past, VA required formal documentation to support claims for compensation and education benefits for veterans, widows and orphaned children.

More recently, however, the agency has accepted a certified statement regarding the birth of a child or as proof of age and relationship in disability cases.

Veterans or dependents with questions about eligibility for benefits are urged to contact the nearest VA regional office or a representative of one of the national veterans organizations.

Debra Says

By Debra Price

Julie Pollard, Stretch and Sew instructor, presented an interesting program on the fall fashion forecast. Fall fashions emphasis is on multi-purpose mix and match separates. Fashion headlines focus on pleats, divided skirts and new jacket looks.

You are supposed to change your looks by changing garment combinations. Divided skirts seem to be the newest look. Pleats are also popular. They will be good in blouses, dresses, pants, or skirts. Pre-pleated skirts are good in straight and flared styles.

For a new look, tie dark hemlines and dark shoes together with color-coordinated opaque hose.

Patti Coates is organizing a Stretch and Sew Course with six basic lessons. The lessons will be on T-shirts, pants, dresses and tops, sweaters, tab front tops and jackets. Contact Patti for further details about the course.

The clothing specialists have recommended some ways to make your money go further on clothes. Analyze your wardrobe needs and decide what purchases you need to make. Avoid impulse buying, especially on "fad" items. Select better quality items that get the most wear. Sewing can help you save money.

Calling All Homemakers

Brought To You By Brown Furniture

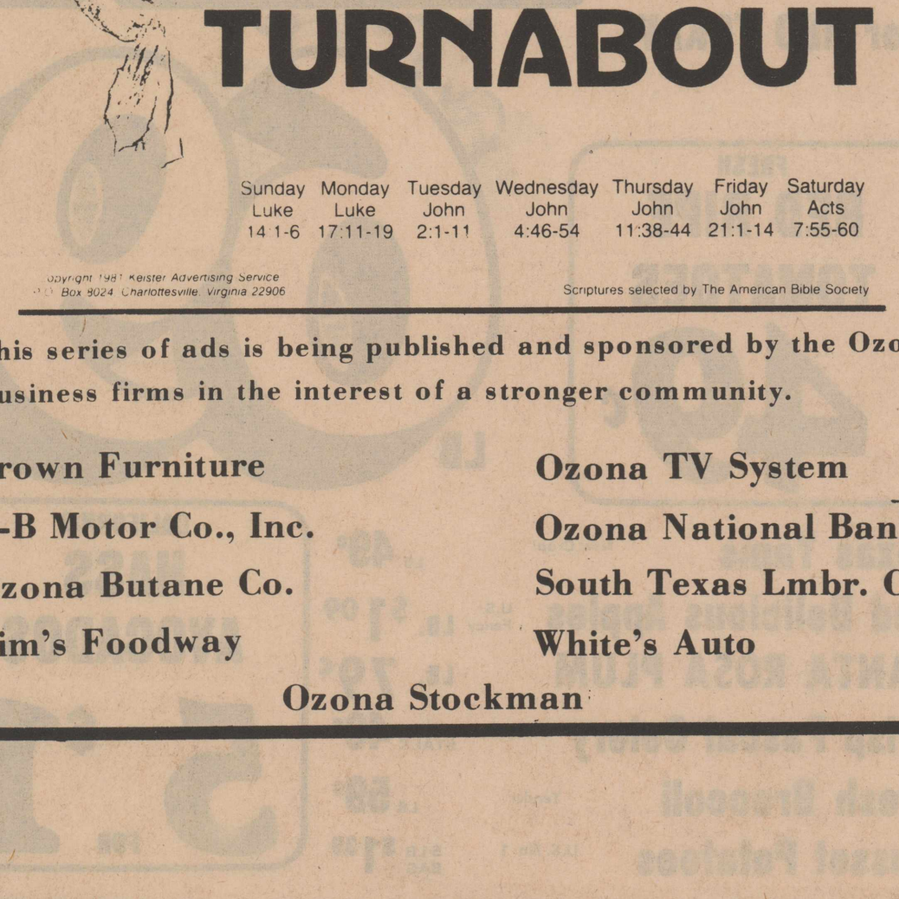

Among the best buys new home makers should consider are such things as a sofa that can also be used as an extra bed; a nest of tables that can be used together or provide separate tables when necessary; an ottoman that can double as a seating piece (or perhaps an exotic ottoman that opens into a bed or has a built-in storage area), really comfortable chairs that you buy for the long haul and will really last a long time; and tables that can be used for different purposes.

One of the main questions asked by new homemakers is how much of their budget they should allocate for the different rooms. Most experts say that roughly 40% should be spent in the living room, 30% for the bedroom, 20% for the dining and other areas, and 10% for the kitchen.

And most experts agree that you should concentrate first on the basic furniture essentials and then gradually make additions. They also say you should spend more on your upholstered furniture and beds.

But most important is the help you get, and we offer our assistance to enable you to get the most for your money, and a good start on the exciting road of making a beautiful and comfortable home.

Come to Brown Furniture and make your selections.

Folks used to wonder what Grandpa Brown and I had in common. He must have been close to eighty when I was just a kid. But I remember him as one of the best friends I ever had.

He was a wonderful old man, with a simple, native wisdom. We used to go fishing together and he would talk to me about God and Faith and Love. I remember he said people shouldn't wait until they're in trouble before going to Church. "When you're happy," he told me, "take time out to offer a prayer of thanks."

The Church had acted as a balance for him during good times and a bulwark during bad times.

Down through the centuries the Church has made great Christians out of unassuming people. They in turn have transmitted the blessings of the Church to oncoming generations. I hope I can bring Grandpa Brown's faith and wisdom to others, as I was impressed by him.

Ayerok Petroleum is negotiating for wells

Vancouver, B.C...Ayerok Petroleum Ltd., of Vancouver, B.C., announced that it is negotiating with three major oil companies for the drilling of four additional wells on the company's Mayme K. Daniels Prospect in Crockett County.

Shell, Union and Hunt are interested in drilling in the 16,000-ft. Ellenberger formation. In addition, Tenneco, which controls acreage to the southwest, has scheduled the drilling of an Ellenberger well in the near future and has asked permission to do seismic work on the M.K. Daniels Prospect and share additional data. Ayerok believes that if the Tenneco well is successful, it "will help us to prove up additional deep Ellenberger potential in the southern part of our lease."

Ayerok owns a 22.5% working interest and 16.425% net revenue interest, reverting to 12.15% after payout in the M.K. Daniels 8,400-acre Prospect, which borders on the Brown-Bassett and J.M. Gas Fields. By 1979, the fields had jointly produced over 1.2 trillion cubic ft. of gas from only 37 of 40 wells. Ayerok plans two wells to the Ellenberger zone, just a short distance from two existing major producers. Another well will be produced adjacent to a well drilled on the prospect in 1967; that stem tested to 9 million cu. ft. of gas per day.

Ayerok's consulting geologist has estimated that "the Ellenberger zone has reserves of 60 to 75 billion cu. ft. of gas per well and that there is 5 to 7 billion cu. ft. of gas per well in the six upper producing zones which have not as yet been depleted by adjoining fields."

A total of 14 wells can be drilled to the Ellenberger and 52 wells to the upper Siberian and Pennsylvanian zones. Assuming the drilling of these 66 wells, with 75% success, minimum estimated reserves, $5/mcf deep well and $3/mcf shallow well gas prices, 25% per year interest and a 10-year life, Ayerok estimates that its gross income after payout would be approximately $420 million.

Ayerok is active in other Texas counties and recently announced that two of its wells in the 2,745-acre Paint Rock Prospect in Concho County had been hooked up to the main gathering system of Sun Gas. The company plans three more wells in that area as soon as a rig is available. On the 640-acre Nail Ranch Prospect in Mitchell and Nolan Counties, Ayerok plans 8 wells. Its first well, drilled to 7,290 ft., has hit three pay zones, all with good porosity.

In addition, Ayerok is searching for oil and gas in Utah and for silver in Idaho. In Canada, the company owns oil reserves in Alberta and mineral claims in British Columbia and in the Yukon Territory.

The Carlton Drilling Co. of Houston is operator in the U.S. for Ayerok Petroleum.

Based in Vancouver, B.C., Ayerok Petroleum has almost 2.3 million shares outstanding and is traded on both the Vancouver Exchange and on NASDAQ, the national U.S. network for over-the-counter securities.

MRS. SHANE FENTON
...nee Peri Pennington

Miss Pennington and Mr. Fenton wed here

Miss Peri Leigh Pennington became the bride of Mr. Billy Shane Fenton in a 6:30 p.m. ceremony August 22, at the Ozona Church of Christ.

Parents of the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald C. Pennington and Mr. and Mrs. Rex Fenton.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a long gown of white Chantilly lace. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a Queen Anne neckline edged with silk Venice lace and accented with pearls. Full bishop sleeves of all-over lace were gathered at the wrists with a wide pleated lace cuff. The accordian pleated skirt fell from an empire waistline. A deep ruffle of crystal pleated lace edged the hemline which flowed to a chapel-length train. Her floor-length veil edged with lace flowed from a picture hat. Her bouquet was a cascade of white tea roses and baby's breath on a Bible.

Maid of honor was Miss Fawn Pennington, sister of the bride, of Breckenridge. Bridesmaids were Miss Karise Aycock of Bellville, Miss Rea Lynn Dews, Miss Stacy Chapman, Ms. Karla Turland, Miss Lisa Mitchell, and Miss Jamie Tiemann of Rankin.

The attendants wore blue qiana dresses with long full skirts and cape collars of blue flower print chiffon. They carried candles in silver candleholders.

Best man was Greg Wall of Sonora. Groomsmen were Cody Cain of San Angelo, Clay Chapman, Freddy Garza, Lane Huffman, Danny Sewell, and Steve Pagan of San Angelo.

Ushers were Miles Miller and Matt Miller, both of Sonora.

Mrs. Sara Hignight was the organist.

The church was decorated with English ivy, white doves and white tapers.

A reception followed the wedding at the Granny Miller Hall.

After a trip to Hawaii, the couple will be at home in Ozona. The bridegroom is an employee of Anderson Petroleum and the bride is a computer operator at Circle Bar Truck Corral. Both are graduates of Ozona High School and the bride attended Abilene Christian University.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pennington, Nicole and Heather, and Mrs. J. J. Pennington of Houston; Mrs. Bessie Bannister, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Bannister, and Mr. and Mrs. Perry Day, all of Brownwood, Mr. Paul Gambill of San Antonio, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Day, all of Brownwood, Mr. and Mrs. Earl McCaleb of Anson and Greg Dunham of Dallas.

Parties honoring the couple or the bride included a gift coffee August 4, a barbecue at the home of Lisa Mitchell, a lingerie shower, a supper at the Circle Bar and a hamburger supper Aug. 10, at the Dick Kirby home.

A safe start for the school year

When your child goes off for his first day at school, don't let yourself be caught unprepared. There are school registration forms to be filled out ahead of time. Some school boards also require general health and dental check-ups before the school year begins. Even if your own school district has no such requirements, the Texas Medical Association (TMA) suggests that you take your child for a physical examination if he hasn't had a general check-up recently. Your child may have some special condition, such as poor eyesight or hearing, which could affect his or her work in school.

In addition to making sure that your child is physically ready to start school, the state has certain specific immunization requirements for admission into kindergarten or first grade. According to the Texas Department of Health, beginning school child must have up-to-date polio, DPT (diptheria-tetanus-pertussis), measles, rubella and mumps vaccinations, and have the immunization form signed either by a physician or by a public health clinic.

Equally important in ensuring your youngster a healthy start in school is preparing him for a safe journey to and from the school. First, decide whether your child will walk or ride. Consider factors such as traffic, distance and your child's maturity. Is your child old enough to walk to school by himself? Does he know the rules of traffic and safe crossing? If you do decide to let your child walk, you may want to contact other parents in your area and find a "buddy" for your child to walk with.

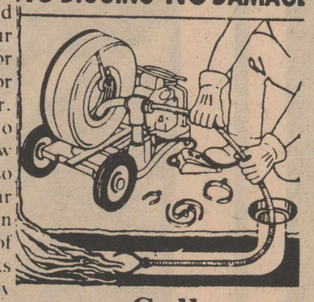

Select a safe route. Look at traffic flow, crossings, busy parking lots, blind alleys, garage entrances and exits. Choose the least dangerous path, even if it's a little longer. Take the walk with your child at least a few times, to let him learn familiar landmarks. Time the trip so that you'll know when to expect him home. Point out hazards along the way, and explain the dangers to your child. Be sure to tell him or her not to talk to strangers or get into a stranger's car.

If your child is going to school by city bus, take a few rides with him beforehand so that he can become familiar with the route. Make certain that he knows the name of his stop and what it looks like. If he's traveling by school bus, find out the driver's name. It will make your child much more comfortable if the driver is a "real person" to him. And when it's finally time for your little one's first day of real school, be brave!

First Baptist team to minister in Brazil

A team of 5 from the First Baptist Church will be involved in an evangelistic mission in Fortaleza, Brazil, September 2-17. The team is composed of Dr. and Mrs. S.N. Lanham, Polly Eppler, Evelyn Noah, and Dorothy Hewitt. They will be one of eighteen teams from the Concho Valley area working in Fortaleza. The Ozona team will be led by Dr. Lanham who will be preaching nightly in the Memorial Baptist Church. During the day the team members will do house to house visitation sharing their own personal testimony which has been translated into Portuguese.

Presently there are 13 Baptist Churches in the greater Fortaleza area, with some 16 congregations (missions) and perhaps twice that number of preaching points. The city, with a population of 1½ million, boasts the only Baptist hospital in Brazil, a Baptist Book Store, a Baptist School with an enrollment of 2,000 and an active drug rehabilitation program.

Brazilian Baptists in Fortaleza requested 18 revival teams from Texas churches to come help them in this Evangelistic Crusade. This is the first of several major thrusts that extends through 1982 to double the number of churches and members in Fortaleza. The team from Ozona requests that the entire community join in prayer for the success of this evangelism effort. The team has set as its goal to reach 100 people for Christ in the Memorial Baptist Church, and a goal of at least 1,000 for the entire city of Fortaleza.

Manage rather than control range brush

In dealing with range brush, it's now an issue of management rather than control.

Over the years, both brush eradication and complete control methods have fallen by the wayside because they were ineffective, impractical or cost prohibitive.

Changing land uses, with rangeland going into farmland, have caused problems regarding the use of traditional herbicides, which damage crops.

What, then, is the answer?

"A total system concept using various methods of brush control that complement each other and extend the life of each treatment at lower cost seems to hold promise."

Such a system takes into consideration the use of rangelands as wildlife habitats as well as the fact that rangelands serve as watersheds in many areas, notes Hanselka.

"Brush management should be based on the ecological potential of the range and should be aimed at optimizing production, considering all the potential uses."

"Brush control should be integrated with all other inputs--especially grazing management--to achieve the desired results."

Among considerations in setting up a brush management system are the rancher's management objectives, potential of the rangeland, type and kind of grazing management, available alternatives, proportion of ranch to be treated, and economics.

"With the integrated brush management concept, traditional herbicide rates can be reduced in many cases if followed by another treatment.

Integrated brush management systems have worked well on machartney rose and huisache in the coastal prairie (near Victoria and Sinton) and on whitebrush near Tilden. Also, in-depth studies on running mesquite are under way near Freer.

"Objectives of these studies have been to reduce large, dense stands of brush to encourage the growth of grasses and herbs, to maintain this improved condition, to restore forb production, to remove woody plant debris, and to suppress any resprouting of brush plants."

To accomplish these objectives calls for a sequence of treatments: mechanical or chemical brush control, deferred grazing, prescribed fire, application of pelleted herbicides, and a sound deferred rotation grazing system.

"With rising costs of brush control treatments, the rancher must become increasingly skillful in deciding where to put his dollars. A system of integrated brush management appears promising in achieving well-defined range management

Crockett County Care Center News

BY ANN McCARTNEY
DIRECTOR OF ACTIVITIES & SOCIAL CARE

August has been a time for reflections and change at the Center. Mary Wilton, Activities Director, resigned for health reasons and was replaced by yours truly, Ann McCartney. (I worked five and one-half years as Activities Director in Quanah. We all are in hopes that Mary will visit us often.

We reflected on our wonderful volunteers and the endless list of services they perform and in doing so honored them with an appreciation party and certificates. Those receiving certificates include: Terry Adams, Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander, Ralph Anderson, Rev. Also Jonesy Williams, Williford Band, Alma Wilson, Pam Wilton, Women's Forum, Bonnie Warth, Ybarra Band, Hortensia Ybarra, Juanita Yocham.

We have had our regular activities this week. These include dominoes on Monday, bingo on Tuesday and Friday mornings, sunshine hour on Tuesday afternoons (with refreshments on the patio), Bible study on Wednesday mornings, beauty shop on Thursday mornings, reading on Thursday afternoons, Spanish hour on Friday afternoons. The second Monday we had our birthday party honoring Granny Carter and Eunice Graham.

Our volunteer party was our special event for the month. We had Barbara Eisler, volunteer coordinator for the Texas Department of Health and Lucy Hester, chief of volunteer service, Austin with us. Twenty registered guests and the staff and residents enjoyed music furnished by the Baird Band of Big Lake.

Special thanks go to the Big Lake Ladies Auxiliary of the VFW for beauty supplies found in our closet last week.

Also thanks goes to Madeline Stokes for conducting reading Thursday, August 13, while I was in San Angelo preparing for my college graduation exercises.

So many volunteers come on a regular basis that I fear some of those who come most regular may be overlooked. If you are one of those and did not get a certificate, please notify me so we can get our records straight.

PBPA energy report

OPEC countries met in Geneva last week and were scheduled to both raise and lower prices and probably reduce production. OPEC sources predicted that Saudi Arabia would raise their price from 32 to 34 dollars a barrel if African members would lower their price to $3- dollars a barrel. The Africans, in return, want the Saudis to reduce production. Saudi Arabia says it will talk about reducing production only when the pricing question is settled. Refineries in Europe have reportedly lost 4 billion dollars during the first half of this year because of the lower demand for refined products.

Independents and majors alike continue to put their money back into the ground. The U.S. rig count is 4,110, an increase of 1,111 over a year ago. Hughes Tool Co. says there will be 77,000 wells drilled this year and is predicting a 1982 average rig count of 4,500. And, the total number of seismic land and marine vessels reached a record 711 during July. This is a leading indicator of exploration activity. Standard Oil of California has increased its budget by one third to 5.4 billion dollars this year.

In other news, the Environmental Protection Agency is expected to ease the rules that limit the amount of lead refiners may use to increase gasoline octane and improve the performance of older cars. This action will help small and independent refiners.

And, if you need an Oilfield Theft Hotline Bumper Sticker, call us at PBPA in Midland.

Crockett County gas & oil news—

A wildcat and three confirmers were scheduled in Crockett County and a confirmer was finaled in Crockett.

Union Oil Co. of California, Midland, will drill the No. 1 Wayne West Ranch, an 11,000-foot Strawn gas wildcat in southeast Crockett County, 4 5/8-miles east-northeast of the Euleeone Wolfcamp gas) field, seven miles west-southwest of Hudspeth Ranch (Canyon and Strawn gas) field, 1 5/8-mile north and very slightly west of the opener and lone producer in the Massie (Strawn gas) field of Val Verde County and 30 miles southwest Ozona.

Location is 1,295 feet from the south and 1,390 feet from the east lines of 54-O-GH&SA. Contract depth is 11,000 feet.

The project was filed in the West field, however, there is no field by that name in Crockett or Val Verde. If it was intended as a confirmer to the Massie field, it should be filed through RRC Dist. 1 San Antonio.)

The Massie opener, Cities Service Co. No. 1 West "A", drilled to 13,100 feet, was finaled July 8, 1980 for a calculated, absolute open flow of 4 million cubic feet of dry gas daily, through perforations at 11,100-321 feet.

Southland Royalty Co., Midland, will drill the No. 2 University Land "A", as a 2-mile north outpost to the opener and lone producer in the Ozona, West (Strawn gas) field, one mile northwest of Strawn production in the Uniersity 31 multipay field and 11 miles northwest of Ozona.

Location is 2,170 feet from the north and 2,170 feet from the west lines of 24-31-ULS. Contract depth is 9,100 feet.

The discovery, the firm's No. 1 University 29-20, was finaled May 21, for a calculated, absolute open flow of 3,300,000 cubic feet of gas daily, with gas-liquid ratio of 12,063-1, through perforations at 8,149-8,260 feet.

J. Cleo Thompson, Dallas, will drill two confirmers to the seven-well University 29 (Strawn-Detrital) field, 24 miles west of Ozona.

Both projects are scheduled to 9,500 feet.

The No. 1 University 29-17, one mile southwest on the north, is 1,500 feet from the south and 660 feet from the east lines of 17-29-ULS.

The No. 1 University 29-18, 7/8-mile northwest, is 1,320 feet from the south and 660 feet from the east lines of 18-29-ULS.

The Halfaw (Queen) field gained its fourth producer and a 3/8-mile northwest extension, with completion of C.F. Lawrence & Associates Inc., Midland, No. 5 Halff 62, six miles southeast of Iraan, to pump 18 barrels of 31 gravity oil, plus 12 barrels of water, with gas-oil ratio of 800-1.

Hardberger flies solo to Spain

Phil Hardberger, a San Antonio attorney and the nephew of Mrs. Lowell Littleton and Mrs. Pleas Childress, is vacationing in Spain with his wife, Linda, after flying his single-engine Beechcraft Bonanza to Madrid, Spain from San Antonio, to commemorate the 250th anniversary of Spanish settlers establishing a civilian municipal government in San Antonio in 1731.

Hardberger flew across the United States, Canada, Newfoundland and the Atlantic Ocean alone. He was joined in Lisbon, Portugal, by his wife, who flew commercially.

He arrived in Madrid with a number of gifts for that city's mayor and for Spain's King Juan Carlos. He met with the mayor and exchanged gifts. He had an audience at the Royal palace of King Juan Carlos, but did not meet the king who was on vacation.

Hardberger attended school in Ozona, intermittently during his public school years.

Joggers awarded

Students at Ozona Intermediate School participated in a jogging program during the last school year. On completing the program the students received a small award and a certificate naming them members of the Jogging Club.

The goal for third and fourth grade students was 75 miles and for fifth grade students, 100 miles. One fifth grader, Ernesto Castillo jogged 200 miles.

All students worked hard to complete the program, according to instructor Carol Sessom.

Tax form program for schools

Balancing a checkbook. Comparison price shopping. Installment purchase contracts. Preparing an income tax return. Though they are not the usual reading, writing, and arithmetic skills that students learn in school, they all are a part of the knowledge that high school students need to function as competent consumers. Because schools are becoming aware of students' needs for these skills, information on consumer skills is being added to the classrooms. Understanding Taxes--a course designed by the Internal Revenue Service--gives students an understanding of their responsibilities and rights in the area of tax law.

The Understanding Taxes course usually lasts from three to six weeks and can be incorporated into any of a number of regular classes. Some schools include the course in economics, government, or social science classes; while others include it with math or business classes. All of the materials for teaching the course are supplied free by the IRS to participating schools. The materials include student course books, teacher guides, special farm supplements, and other special training and visual aids. In addition, three films are available for teachers to show during the course.

The IRS advised school administrators interested in learning more about offering an Understanding Taxes Program to contact the IRS.

Screwworm disaster possible this fall

A screwworm disaster for Texas this fall?

That's not a prediction of things to come, but it is a distinct possibility, warns Dr. J.E. Holcombe, executive director, Texas Animal Health Commission. "The potential for an outbreak of screwworms is in place, and we must take steps now to thwart it," he said.

He urges all livestock producers to perform routine inspections on all livestock, and submit suspected screwworm samples to the fly lab at Mission. "Pet owners and veterinarians need also to be alerted to this task," Dr. Holcombe said.

An increase in the number of confirmed screwworm outbreaks in Mexico near the U.S. border is one of the major reasons for fearing a screwworm disaster in Texas this Fall. Twenty-seven known screwworm cases in Mexico, all well within the insect's flying range of this state, were reported during July.

"This is not our only worry. A wetter than usual spring and summer caused an explosion in the number of Gulf Coast ticks which feed in ears of cattle in large numbers, leaving wounds when they drop off; these are made-to-order targets for screwworms. Shearing of sheep and goats is underway, and this will create wounds which will be ideal for screwworm infestation.

"But perhaps our biggest problem is complacency. The screwworm eradication program has been so successful that we forget that continued checking of livestock for possible screwworms is essential to an eradication program. Producers along the Rio Grande River need to be especially watchful; in fact, producers throughout the state need to get back in the habit of submitting suspected samples to the fly lab at Mission," Dr. Holcombe explained.

Mailing kits for sending in the samples are available free from a number of outlets, including veterinarians, county agent's offices, and Texas Animal Health Commission area field offices.

The confirmed cases in Mexico are from 50 to 120 miles south of the Texas border. "Now is the time to be looking for screwworms. We need to know where the screwworm is in order to take appropriate measures to wipe out infestations which may occur in great numbers in Texas this Fall," Dr. Holcombe said.

Range fires to increase

As the hot summer progresses, leaving behind past months of abundant rainfall that boosted forage growth, the threat of wildfires increases dramatically.

Everyone stands to lose from wildfires, says Billy Reagor, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Uncontrolled wildfires can severely damage or destroy desirable forage plants and crops as well as livestock, wildlife, fencing and other improvements. They also pollute the air and water, and the burned area remains an eyesore for some time.

The best cure for wildfires is prevention, says Reagor. This means using extreme caution with fire of any kind.

In case of a wildfire, report it immediately to the nearest authority, advises Reagor.

Counties should have updated rural fire fighting plans to effectively deal with wildfires. Equipment should be in good order and easily located.

Should a wildfire occur, Reagor suggests keeping livestock off burned areas until forage plants are reestablished. Seeding may be necessary to insure a ground cover.

Collins bill to require audit of IRS

A bill to require an annual audit of the IRS and its agents has been introduced by Texas Congressman Jim Collins. These auditing provisions are included in Collins' Taxpayers' Bill of Rights--H.R. 2389.

"Currently, there is only random and select auditing of the IRS. My bill provides for a comprehensive and complete audit. This would bring to light any questionable procedures or irregularities within the IRS.

"My Taxpayers' Bill of Rights addresses many inadequacies in our tax system. A full annual audit of the IRS would have raised these issues, such as whether a quota system is used for the evaluation of an IRS agent's performance," Collins said.

Collins noted that the provision to audit the agents annually was also essential. "Because of the great amount of responsibility these agents have, they ought to be held to a higher standard. Also, they should know what it's like to be audited so they can better understand what the taxpayer experiences.

"This bill is basically one of fairness and equity. Any unfair advantage an agent might have over the taxpayer, because of familiarity with the formula used to determine who gets audited, should be eliminated," Collins said.

Other provisions of H.R. 2389 include: binding the IRS to its advice, allowing taxpayers to record interviews, and awarding legal and accounting costs to taxpayers who challenge the IRS and win.

Sports Fans

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Jerry Lay

Here's a surprising fact. No team in the National League in baseball has been able to win the pennant 3 straight years since way back in the 1940s. Last National League team to win 3 straight flags was the Cardinals in 1942-43-44. Since then, the Yankees, Orioles and A's have all won 3 straight pennants in the American League.

Can you guess which player scored the most touchdowns in the National Football League last season? Answer is Billy Sims of Detroit who led the NFL by scoring 16 touchdowns.

One of the oddities in sports is that while pro football is the most lucrative sport of all, its players get the lowest average pay of any of the major pro team sports. National Football League players make less, on the average, than players in big league baseball, the National Basketball Association or the National Hockey League.
