THAILANDER VISITS WEBB TODAY

Thai Visitors Arrive Here For Webb Briefing, Barbecue

Visitors from the Far East arrived at Webb AFB shortly before noon today, for a briefing on the pilot training program.

Air Chief Marshal Boon Choo Chandrubeksa, commander in chief of the Royal Thailand Air Force, and his party of five senior officers, were greeted by Webb Commander Col. Wilson H. Banks and the base group commanders. Col. Paul A. Pettigrew accompanied the group here as representative of Gen. Curtis LeMay, chief of staff of the U. S. Air Force.

In addition to the official aspects of the visit, the Thailanders will be treated to a West Texas barbecue this evening at the Horace Garrett ranch, near Forsan. Several local residents will join with Webb officers in hosting the affair.

Included in the Thai party are Air Marshal Kamol Thejatunga, vice chief of Air Staff; Air Vice Marshal Tragool Thavaravej, surgeon general; Group Captain Chalerm Chittinanda, chief of the foreign division, Directorate of Intelligence; Pilot Officer Chanindr Chandrubeksa, Intelligence Officer, Tactical Air Command (son of ACM Boon Choo); and Group Captain Bansha Medvishai, air attache, Thailand embassy, Washington, D. C.

After landing in inclement weather about 11:45 a.m., the Thai visitors were escorted to the Officers Club for a luncheon with Webb officers.

The afternoon was to be spent studying the pilot training program under the guidance of Webb officers.

The special barbecue was to cap the day's activities. It was planned by the special events committee of the base-community division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Garcia Foe Leads Philippine Ballot

MANILA, Wednesday (AP)—Vice President Diosdado Macapagal took an early and expected lead today over President Carlos P. Garcia in first returns from the Philippines general election.

With about 2 per cent of the vote counted, Macapagal, of the Liberal party, had 104,561 votes to 74,301 for Garcia, leader of the Nacionalista party. The count was unofficial and too small to establish a trend from Monday's balloting.

In the vice presidential race, Emmanuel Palaez, Macapagal's running mate and a close associate of the late and popular President Ramon Magsaysay, took a slim lead over Rep. Sergion Osmena Jr.

Palaez led with 76,322 votes. Osmena, son of the late president running as an independent, had 75,108. Sen. Gil Puyat, Garcia's running mate, was way back with 28,503.

Macapagal got his early lead from traditionally anti-administration Manila. However, early returns from generally pro-Garcia areas in the central Philippines showed some districts going over the Macapagal.

PEACEFUL

Election day was the most peaceful presidential balloting of the islands' 15-year history as a republic.

By the time the polls closed only one confirmed shooting and two unconfirmed incidents of serious violence had been reported, an unusually low figure for this young Asian republic which counted at least 22 political slayings during the campaign.

In the South Mindanao Province of Cotabato a poll watcher was shot and critically wounded. The national constabulary were investigating reports that a poll inspector was shot at Zamboanga del Norte, also on Mindanao, and that another inspector was killed and several wounded in Iloilo City, on the central island of Panay.

There were reports of maulings, vote-buying and intimidation, but these are usual for Philippine elections.

The outcome of the election probably will not be known before late Wednesday when returns come in from Garcia's stronghold in the central and southern islands.

Some 16,000 national constabulary and army troops guarded the polls. Many of them were in Ilocos Sur, a traditional hotbed of political violence where half the confirmed 22 campaign deaths occurred.

Garcia, 65, sought re-election to a second four-year term on the ruling Nacionalista party ticket, campaigning on a 'Filipino first" policy of economic nationalism. Macapagal, 51, vice president in Garcia's administration, headed the ticket of the opposition Liberal party, which accused the Garcia administration of graft and corruption.

Both predicted victory by wide margins. Both pledged to continue the Philippines' close relations with the United States.

Three candidates sought the vice presidency. The elections also were to fill eight of the 24 Senate seats and the 104 seats in the House of Representatives. For the past four years the Nacionalistas have controlled both houses by a large majority. A record turnout of about 7 million of the 8,476,731 registered voters was predicted.

345 Doctors To Be Drafted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department issued a call today for drafting 345 more doctors.

All the new group will be assigned to the Army.

This is the third such call by the Defense Department this year and brings to 1,025 the total number of doctors summoned to military duty in 1961.

"This call is a special one necessary to support the military buildup," the Pentagon said.

The Defense Department said it is using Selective Service calls "to reinforce military physician strength in preference to the recall of large numbers of reserve medical corps officers at the present time."

Speaker Rayburn Continues Weaker

BONHAM (AP)—Sam Rayburn, ill of incurable cancer, had a somewhat better night Monday night but still is in critical condition.

The general trend of the veteran speaker of the house, 79, is downward, although there are some periods of slight improvement. Apparently one of them was Monday night.

Rayburn's doctor, Joe Risser, was not called in during the night. And his morning bulletin said:

"Speaker Rayburn rested well last night and is more alert this morning. Weakness still very severe. Fluid intake improved. Condition still critical."

Rayburn is fighting a valiant battle against cancer and the hours or days his doctors gave him to live are stretching on.

Last Saturday, Dr. Risser said it would be only a matter of hours or days for the 79-year-old speaker of the House. Then Rayburn was a bit better Sunday.

Monday he was a little worse.

So it goes. He improves somewhat, then slips. The net is a loss that shows up in such terms as "less alertnes," and "difficulty in breathing."

For day every medical bulletin has called Rayburn's condition critical.

Aides say he is lucid only part of the time, recognizes them only occasionally, and sleeps a great deal. They say he is receiving no anti-cancer drugs and apparently is in no pain.

A medical bulletin late Monday left it clear that Rayburn's condition gradually was getting worse.

It said: "Mr. Sam's condition is still critical. The respiratory passages have required frequent clearing. Alert periods less."

Income Farm Bureau Topic

GALVESTON (AP)—Four ways for a farmer to improve his income were outlined Monday by President Charles Shuman of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

He told the Texas Farm Bureau convention:

"During the past 30 years, Congress has tried almost every conceivable method of controlling farm production and fixing prices.

"With few exceptions; these schemes have failed miserably to the detriment of agriculture and our economy generally."

Shuman said these steps would afford farmers a chance to improve their income:

Accept the market price system as a guide for production.

Expand foreign markets.

Improve domestic markets.

Fight inflation.

A pretty blonde from Edna was chosen Texas Farm Bureau queen for 1961.

She is Anita Koop, 19, who was picked Monday night from among 12 contestants. She is a sophomore at Del Mar College and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Koop

Weather Blamed In Two Deaths

By The Associated Press

Freezing drizzle and light snow pelted parts of Texas Tuesday.

Snow caused a paralyzing electrical blackout in El Paso Monday night.

At least two deaths were attributed to the storm.

The Weather Bureau predicted that from 2 to 4 inches of snow will accumulate in the west and north parts of the Panhandle and High Plains Tuesday night and Wednesday.

The agency also forecast snow, sleet and rain for the south and east portions of extreme Southwest Texas — the area east of El Paso. Snow will be locally heavy in that area.

In the Big Bend area Tuesday, Norman Miller, district highway maintenance foreman, said some ice was forming on US 90 and on bridges and hills on Texas 118 and US 385. Snow started in early morning at Alpine but melted as it hit.

The snow in El Paso and far West Texas was termed the "bitterest in more than 30 years" although the depth was not great.

The Weather Bureau reported freezing rain or drizzle Tuesday at Alpine, Lubbock and Amarillo Tuesday, with snow at El Paso and Dalhart.

Winds brisk over most of Texas, with light rain and drizzle at many points.

The cold front which brought the bad weather was 100 miles into the Gulf of Mexico by dawn, but the ridge of cold air remained over the state.

5 INCHES

Muleshoe on the edge of the South Plains and near the New Mexico border measured 5 inches of snow at one time during the night. But by morning, the measurement was down to an inch and a half. Traffic was moving slowly.

Friona measured 4 inches of snow and Martin 2. Both are in the Muleshoe area.

Lowest reported overnight temperature was 26 degrees at Dalhart in the upper Panhandle.

An Amarillo commercial pilot, George Barnett, died in a plane crash near Canyon in an accident attributed to the storm.

At Houston, the body of Douglas Wayne Ford, 11, was found drowned when flood waters receded in White Oak Bayou. He tried to swim from a headboard he was using as a raft while playing Monday in high water caused by a 6-inch rain in that area.

Snow and freezing rain continued at Amarillo and was not expected to stop until tomorrow.

Amarillo received more than 2 inches of snow on the west side of town during the night and day, but only a trace on the east side.

The Highway Department reported all highways open in the Amarillo highway district, but light snow and sleet were on them.

In the Lubbock District, as much as 5 inches of snow fell. Ice was reported on pavements in spots in Castro, Cochran, Bailey, Lamb and Ylakum counties.

ROAD CLOSED

The coastal deluges left Farm 1155 in Washington County closed near Chapel Hill because of high water.

The big snowfall caused a major blackout in El Paso Monday night when it knocked electrical power out for several hours. Power flickered on and off several minutes before totally blacking out shortly after 8 p.m. It was restored after several hours.

El Paso radio and television stations, theaters, businesses, homes and other establishments were without power as the city came to a virtual standstill.

The El Paso police and fire departments ran their business on auxiliary power and as the hours wore on even that was not wholly effective.

DRIZZLE, FOG

Drizzle and fog were reported Tuesday along the Rio Grande Valley from Laredo to Brownsville and McAllen; in East Texas at Tyler, Lufkin and Texarkana; in West Texas at Wink and Midland and in South Texas at Corpus Christi.

Light drizzle or rain fell at Abilene, Dallas, Waco, College Station, Alice, Amarillo, Childress and Wichita Falls. The rest of the state was cloudy.

Temperatures, nowhere at really bitter levels, ranged from 30 at Amarillo and 31 at Dalhart and El Paso to 65 at Beaumont and 61 at Brownsville.

Winds that gusted up to 40 miles an hour Monday night continued early Tuesday in somewhat diminished force.

Traffic slowed in the snowbelts and streets in Muleshoe, near the Texas-New Mexico border about 70 miles northwest of Lubbock, were closed with 5 inches of snow. Friona measured 4 inches and Martin, in the same area reported 2 inches.

Forecast Still Calls For Snow

If the weatherman is right, the county is due for its first sample of snow for the current winter Wednesday.

The forecast, released at noon today, promised up to two inches of snow for Wednesday.

A low of 30 degrees tonight is forecast and it was not expected to warm up higher than 40 today. High on Wednesday should be around 44.

A chill drizzle prevailed steadily most of the night on into Tuesday. The skies were heavily overcast. The light wind was cold and, while the moisture was not significant, it was enough to bring a complete halt to harvesting operations on county farms.

The rainfall was measured at .08 inch at the U. S. Experiment Station.

The forecast saw a continuation of the same drab pattern for the remainder of today and for tonight with the light, occasional rains promised tonight, becoming snow by tomorrow.

Wreck Kills Midland Man

STANTON—Sterling Cole Hanks, 42, Midland realtor, was killed Monday afternoon when the car in which he was riding was involved in an accident with another car and a truck.

The accident occurred six miles east of Stanton on IS 20. Hanks, alone in his car, was traveling west.

According to Highway Patrolman Jack Reaves, Midland, who investigated the mishap, Hanks' car collided with one occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Robertson, both 67, of Euclid, Ohio, as the Robertsons attempted to pass a semi-trailer truck. The truck, out of Abilene, was driven by R. L. Winter.

The Robertsons were hospitalized in Stanton with cuts and bruises. The truck driver was not hurt.

The body of Hanks was removed to the Newnie W. Ellis Funeral Home in Midland and Arrington Funeral Home handled preliminary arrangements at Stanton.

Mr. Hanks is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Hanks of Midland.

Grand Jury Pushes On

Howard County grand jury, empanelled on Monday, pushed ahead with its investigations on Tuesday and planned to complete its work by late afternoon.

The grand jury had approximately 25 matters to investigate and more than half of these were completed Monday.

The third floor corridor of the courthouse was well filled on Tuesday morning with witnesses still waiting their call to appear before the grand jury.

Snow Hits Southwest

By The Associated Press

Snow driven by blustery north winds blanketed a large area of the Southwest today, reaching depths of up to three feet in the southern Rockies. Temperatures were mostly in the 20s and 30s.

The heaviest snowfall reported was 36 inches in the Sacramento Mountains southeast of Alamogordo, N.M. The snow area extended into Arizona, Colorado, Utah and Texas.

Bundled Against The Cold

Tiny Sue Miller, seven months, was bundled against the cold in the downtown area this morning, as Big Spring shivered in the light rain, amplified by thermometer readings in the upper 30s. Her mother, Mrs. R. H. Miller, 87-B Ent, braved the first wintry weather to take care of her shopping, as did many other housewives throughout the city.

Korean Military Leader Opens Talks With Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. Chung Hee Park, leader of the military junta that seized power in South Korea, opened his talks with President Kennedy today with a request for strong U.S. economic support and additional military aid.

U.S. officials said Kennedy will pledge American aid in principle and approve a plan to modernize South Korea's 600,000-man armed forces.

The groundwork for Park's meeting with Kennedy will be laid when Park confers with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Fowler Hamilton, U.S. aid administrator.

The general then meets Kennedy for the first time at a small White House lunch. Afterward, the two will talk alone through an interpreter in the President's office.

Park came to prominence last May when he and a group of fellow officers overthrew the elected government.

At first, the United States was cool to the revolutionary junta but gradually gave it increasing support as the junta attacked graft and corruption in government and undertook a series of social reforms.

Park was met late Monday with a red carpet welcome, complete with a 19-gun salute and full military honors at National Airport.

In welcoming him, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said: "In the next two days President Kennedy and members of his administration will discuss with you how we in America can assist in the fulfillment of plans for the greater well-being and prosperity of the Korean people.

Park replied: "This visit affords us an unparalleled opportunity to discuss our mutual problems. We shall repay the United States and other free world allies for their support and assistance by reconstructing our nation. Doing this will enable us to fulfill our responsibilities more effectively as a member of the free world."

Besides the draft of a five-year development plan which Park says will bring the liberation from poverty needed to re-establish free democracy in South Korea, he and Kennedy were expected to discuss a number of topics.

These include:

South Korea's desire to reunite Korea through the United Nations rather than by force.

Park's weekend meeting with Japan's Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda on a settlement of the long-standing dispute between Japan and South Korea.

U.S. policy in Southeast Asia, particularly in regard to Viet Nam.

Park's avowed plan of returning the Korean government to civilian control by the summer of 1963.

Schools Regain Lost Enrollment

Big Spring schools regained a previous loss in enrollment with the addition of 13 students to the rolls during the week ending Friday, according to Sam M. Anderson, superintendent.

Totals for both elementary and secondary schools were 7,178. The previous week had shown a loss of 11 pupils.

Elementary schools gained 10 pupils, secondary schools remained the same and Special Education was up three.

Enrollment by schools is Airport 519, Bauer 487, Boydstun 488, Cedar Crest 300, College Heights 545, Kate Morrison 285, Lakeview 221, Marcy 441, Park Hill 199, Washington 807, Goliad Junior High 872, Lakeview Junior High 66, Runnels Junior High 785, Senior High 1,025 and Special Education 138.

Oil Demand Indications Up

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas crude oil purchasers indicate they want to buy 2,529,017 barrels of oil a day in December, an increase of 17,886 over November, the Railroad Commission said today.

The commission said the U.S. Bureau of Mines forecast of the December demand for Texas crude is 2,545,000 barrels daily, an increase of 50,000 from November.

UF Drive Climbing

The United Fund campaign totals continue to climb as firms and individuals turn in their contributions. The amount is now $106,170.31, according to Marvin Miller, chairman.

Eagle Transport Company reported 100 per cent, turning in a gift of $690 to push gifts past the $106,000 mark. Other unsolicited donations keep arriving from persons whom workers were unable to contact while the drive was in full swing.

Several other firms in the employe division are still expected to bring in gifts, Miller said.

The United Fund office has been moved to Room 614, Permian Building. W. H. Wharton is in charge of collections. Gifts may also be mailed to the United Fund, Box 161.

George Thorburn is auditing receipts of the drive and a report should be ready at the end of this week. The date for a meeting to review the campaign has not yet been set.

Katanga Blamed In Lumumba Death

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —A U.N. investigating body expressed belief today former Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba was murdered last January with high Katanga officials as eyewitnesses. But it declared also that the central Congo government could not escape responsibility for the death.

A four-man commission said that probably among the eyewitnesses was Moise Tshombe, premier of secessionist Katanga Province.

It added that there is a strong suspicion that a Belgian army colonel was the actual perpetrator of the crime.

The commission described as "staged" the account released last Feb. 13 by Katanga authorities saying Lumumba and two associates were killed by tribesmen on the day before.

On the contrary, the commission accepted as substantially true evidence indicating the fiery Congo leader and his associates were killed almost a month before in a villa not far from Elisabethville, the Katanga capital. It fixed the day as Jan. 17.

There were unconfirmed reports three days after the Katanga announcement that Lumumba and his two associates were killed by a Belgian army captain.

The commission singled out Godefroit Munongo, Katanga minister of the interior, for special blame. It said its findings "bristles with evidence indicative of the extensive role" played by Munongo in the deaths.

The commission said that the Congo government prevented it from going to the scene of the crime to carry out its investigations.

It expressed hope its findings could serve as a basis for further investigation in the Congo, and "also in judicial proceedings which, in its view, should be instituted as soon as possible."

The commission took testimony from witnesses at four meetings in New York, two in Brussels and 10 in Geneva. Among those who testified were former mercenaries and U.N. officials who had been in various parts of the Congo.

Charges Filed For Violation Of 'Blue Law'

LAMESA — Charges have been filed here in two cases under the state's new weekend closing laws —and are believed to be the first that have been filed in the state since the law went into effect Nov. 7.

Dawson County Sheriff Henry Mayfield filed cases in Justice of the Peace Arthur Standefer's court against Eddie Hassen, manager of Martin's Department Store, and R. N. Kayal, owner of the Fair Store, both in Lamesa.

Hassen is charged with selling two T-shirts, a shirt and some underwear, each sale constituting a separate charge. Kayal is charged with sale of a shirt.

Mayfield said the sale of the merchandise occurred Sunday and that both stores were open Saturday and Sunday. He added that the Martin store displayed a sign in front of the store Sunday saying "open for emergency."

The sheriff explained neither Kayal or Hassen were arrested or arraigned, but he said both would be notified when to appear.

The so-called "blue law" limits the sale of certain merchandise to either Saturday or Sunday. The individual merchant has the option of which day he will sell.

Reich To Pay Nazi Debts

WARSAW, Poland (AP) —The Polish Red Cross says West Germany has agreed to pay compensation to 73 Polish women used as medical guinea pigs by the Nazis during World War II.

The agreement arranged by the International Red Cross in Geneva is the first providing West German compensation to Nazi concentration camp victims behind the Iron Curtain.

The 73 women will receive from $6,250 to $10,000 each depending on the extent of their physical handicaps resulting from medical experiments performed on them in the Ravensbrueck and Dachau camps.

Polish Red Cross officials said today they are drawing up additional lists of other Nazi victims of medical experiments.

A major role in the negotiations for compensation to the Ravensbrueck and Dachau victims was played by Norman Cousins, chief editor of the American magazine, the Saturday Review.

Flag Ripping Case

Jesus Farias Iglesias, 28, a Mexican national from Guadalajara, waits to be booked in Los Angeles on suspicion of disturbing the peace. Earlier, two men made a citizen's arrest of him on historic Olvera Street because, they said, he pulled a U.S. flag from its pole and ripped it. Police said Iglesias told them he was "angry because the U.S. had been molesting Mexican nationals and beating Mexicans who came to this country."

School Integration Continues Pattern

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Another 36 school districts have been desegregated this fall in Southern and border states. So far there has been none of the racial violence which has flared every other year since the Supreme Court's segregation ruling in 1954.

Of the 6,599 public school districts in the 17-state area, 829 are now desegregated, Southern Schools News reports in the November issue. Integration also has increased at the university, college and teacher levels, the publication said.

The monthly newspaper, published by the Southern Education Reporting Service, compiles information on desegregation developments in the South for education facilities and news media.

The publication gave these details:

Most recent school districts to begin desegregation are in Florida, Kentucky and Delaware.

In Delaware, where a federal court order required that all schools and grades be open to Negroes, two more districts began operating biracial schools this fall, the 29th and 30th districts to do so. In one reversal of the general trend, a 15-year-old white pupil joined 714 Negroes at William Henry School in Dover.

Hillsborough County became Florida's fifth desegregated district. The 8-year-old son of the Rev. Leon Lowry, president of the Florida National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was admitted to a Tampa school for handicapped children.

In Kentucky, Clay and Taylor counties admitted Negroes to schools with white pupils for the first time. Of 211 districts in Kentucky, 133 are now desegregated.

The University of South Florida at Tampa reported it had processed a number of Negro applicants this fall but did not elaborate.

Guilford College in North Carolina, a church-supported school, will admit its first full-time Negro students for the spring semester.

Faculty and students at the University of Texas which already has about 200 Negroes, voted in a small turnout to broaden the school's area of desegregation.

Negroes now hold 66.9 of the teaching and administrative posts in District of Columbia schools.

Two Negro teachers have been placed on faculties in Ashland, Ky., making 16 districts in that state with teacher desegregation.

Nine of Maryland's 19 public colleges and universities have biracial faculties.

International Education Program Idea Is Pushed

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The United States was urged today to inaugurate "bold, imaginative, massive and costly" programs of international education, conceived along a broad front and involving tens of thousands of persons.

Five university officials said such programs on behalf of foreign students and foreign universities "will most probably bring greater results per dollar of expenditure than some of our direct aid programs."

A study group headed by Dr. Harry R. Wellman, vice president of the University of California, outlined its conclusions in a report to the annual meeting of the American Association of Land Grant Colleges and State Universities.

"The need is urgent," the report said, "to understand more about the emerging nations, not as potential allies or enemies in some war that should not happen, but as potential markets, as sources of raw materials and, above all, as groups of human individuals who have interest and challenge in their own right."

The report noted that "the leaders of the smaller and poorer emerging nations will for some time be educated abroad. It is important that as many as possible be educated in the United States."

The group also warned: "We will err grievously if we conceive of our foreign educational activity in terms of transplanting American political ideology."

The report protested the difference between what the federal government pays for the education of foreign students it sponsors and what the students cost the public universities they attend.

Optimists To Conduct Advance Sale

Members of the Optimist Club of Big Spring will conduct a door-to-door drive tonight to sell Christmas Tree Cards redeemable for $1 on any tree on the Optimist lot.

Trees have been ordered and the cards are going on sale in advance to care for expenses before the trees arrive, according to Jack Orr, chairman of the drive.

The Optimist Christmas tree lot will be at Tenth and Gregg, across the street from Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home, the same location it has had for several years. Trees should arrive between Dec. 3-8 and will go on sale immediately.

About 1,000 trees were ordered, some 300 more than last year. This will give customers a better selection and will guard against a sell-out as happened last year, Orr said.

Prices will range from $1.50 to $6. Some trees may sell for less, but whether any will be $1 or less will not be known until they arrive, Orr said.

Forty men will be out selling cards in an effort to raise about $1,000 in advance. They will work in teams in all areas of the city.

Proceeds from the sale go toward sponsoring such activities as the supervised playground on the North Side, a Pony League baseball team, the Boy Oratorical Contest, Bike Safety Week and Youth Appreciation Week.

U.S. To Propose Increased Output

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will propose this week that the 20 nations of the Atlantic Community increase their combined economic output 50 per cent by 1970, U. S. officials said today.

George W. Ball, U.S. undersecretary of state for economic affairs, will present the proposal at the conference of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development in Paris Thursday and Friday.

Soviet Fishing Fleet Is Threat, Says Publication

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union's growing and far-ranging fishing fleet poses an "overt challenge to our defenses," says a semi-official publication on naval affairs.

An article in the November issue of "United States Naval Institute Proceedings" also contends the Soviet fishing fleet is an economic threat to Western nations by cutting down on the amount of fish the Soviet Union imports from them.

These are the views of Bernard M. Kassell, a retired U.S. Navy commander who reads Russian and told a reporter he gets much information by studying Soviet publication of the United States Naval Institute, an organization of Navy, Coast Guard and Marine officers. Its headquarters are on the campus of the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.

Although the publication disclaims any official connection, it prints articles only after they have been approved by a board of control headed by Adm. George W. Anderson, chief of naval operations.

Kassell's article appeared a few days after a stir was caused by the appearance of a large fleet of Soviet trawlers and other fishing vessels in international waters off the Massachusetts coast.

"Reports from sources in the West, including those attributed to the U.S. Navy, indicate that there are from 200 to 400 such ships always at sea in strategic areas," the article said.

"Add to this number the countless fishing craft shuttling back and forth through strategic waters, and the picture becomes a disturbing one, particularly to nations bordering on the Baltic Sea."

Kassell suggests these fishing craft are capable of mining strategic waters. He quotes an unidentified Danish official as voicing concern that the Russians could land a sizable force from such craft.

The article indicates a worry about "passive countermeasures" Kassell suggests the Soviet fishing craft are engaged in off U.S. coasts. Passive countermeasures is a technical term for listening in on American military radio communication.

Kassell recalls that a Soviet trawler, the Vega, was photographed by U.S. Navy patrol craft south of Long Island on April 26, 1960. He told a reporter that a study of the pictures showed the Vega mounted 11 radio antennae.

Kassell also refers to an incident a year ago when a Soviet trawler was chased away after it tried to pick up test missiles fired by the Polaris submarine George Washington, off New London, Conn.

However, Kassells says it should be stressed that "the overwhelming majority of fishing vessels in the Soviet fleet are, today, engaged in the occupation for which they were built."

3 Men Killed In Plane Crash

VICTORIA (AP) — A single-engine Cessna 175 took off from here with a 200-foot ceiling and crashed, killing the three men aboard.

Relatives said Bob Guthrie, 31, and Tom Carswell, 31, were flying Ed Gauntt, 23, Los Fresnos teacher, to Georgetown to visit his seriously ill father.

The plane, bound from Harlingen to Georgetown, crashed four miles east of here.

Guthrie was an undertaker and Carswell a lawyer. Both resided at Georgetown.

The bodies were found late Monday.

Food Store Chain Granted New Trial

Ralph Caton, judge of the 118th District Court, Monday afternoon granted Safeway Stores Inc., a new trial in the suit for damages brought against it by Mrs. Shelby Hall.

Mrs. Hall, who sued the company for damages as the result of a fall she alleged she suffered on their property on Feb. 24, 1960, had been awarded $17,500 in a jury verdict on July 28, 1961.

On Sept. 20, the defendant filed a motion for a new trial and a hearing was held. The court at that time promised to rule on the motion on Nov. 15.

He sustained the motion. No date for the new trial was announced.

Drugs To Solve Bird Problem

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The city plans to use tranquilizers in getting rid of starlings and pigeons which mass in hundreds in City Hall courtyard.

Raymond J. Mauerman, deputy commissioner of public property, told City Council's budget committee Monday the birds will be fed grains of wheat soaked in tranquilizing drugs. When they become serene, a city employe will pick them up and put them in a box for shipment to the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The PSPCA will place the birds in a high altitude chamber, which officials said is a tried and tested method of painless extermination.

Seeks Delay In VA Closings

AUSTIN (AP)—A delay in closing 10 Veterans Administration offices in Texas has been asked by Sen. Ralph Yarborough.

Yarborough, chairman of the veterans affairs subcommittee of the Labor and Public Welfare Committee, asked the delay until he "can further investigate the necessity."

The VA offices to close in Texas are at Beaumont, Corsicana, Galveston, Wichita Falls, Corpus Christi, Brownsville, Laredo, Odessa, Abilene and San Angelo.

The 10 are part of 161 the VA said it will close over the nation in December. Regional offices at Houston, Waco, Dallas, San Antonio and Lubbock would handle veteran affairs.

HONESTLY MISTAKEN

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher,
Church of Christ, 3900 West Highway 80
P.O. Box 1383.

Christ prophecied that, "The time cometh, that whosoever killeth you will think that he doeth God service" (Jno. 16:2). Saul of Tarsus fulfilled this prediction by persecuting Christians. He later said, "I verily thought with myself, that I ought to do many things contrary to the name of Jesus of Nazareth" (Acts 26:9).

Saul's ignorance did not excuse him. He later said he was the chief of sinners because he persecuted the church of God (I Tim. 1:13-15).

We will not be excused for our ignorance. We are told to study the Scriptures (II Tim. 2:15), and are promised that we can learn the truth by continuing in His word (Jno. 8:31, 32). We need not remain ignorant.

Saul was honest, yet wrong in his religion. One can be honestly mistaken today. Let each man examine his religion in the light of Scripture, and hold only to those things which can be clearly justified by the Bible.

Murrow Calls Extremist Groups 'Mock' Patriots

HOUSTON (AP)—Director Edward R. Murrow of the U. S. Information Agency criticizes those Americans who, "under the banner of patriotism," would question dissent.

Murrow named no individuals or groups in assailing "those who would preach a new belief in politics." He said that "with the excuse of combatting communism," they would:

Spy upon their neighbors, impeach the judiciary, support the intrusion of politics into the military, abandon the United Nations, "impose upon the land stifling uniformity falsely labeled as loyalty," deny dissent and "impose patriotism from above by executive fiat."

In remarks prepared for the Public Relations Society of America, Murrow also said:

"The threat to this country from communism can and will be met. For that threat which is internal, there is an agency to attend the task. We serve neither its cause nor our own by charging every dissenter with debasement of his loyalty.

"For that threat which is external, as it is in Laos and Viet Nam, in Berlin and in big bombs, we poorly serve the cause of free men everywhere by dividing the people with false issues of mock patriotism."

Murrow introduced this subject as in the way of a "personal comment."

Earlier in his speech, Murrow called on business firms to cooperate with his agency's efforts overseas. If U. S. foreign policy is successful American business abroad can thrive, he said. "If it is not, your business climate becomes stormy."

Ouster Moves For S. Africa Beaten

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —South Africa today had weathered twin moves to expel her from the United Nations and place her under a worldwide political-economic boycott. But her white supremacy policies were condemned by a resounding 72-2 vote.

The 103-nation Special Political Committee voted 47-32 Monday for the demand by 30 Asian-African nations and Cubs to get the Security Council to consider ousting South Africa from the United Nations. The vote fell short of the two-thirds majority required for approval by the General Assembly.

The same fate befell the boycott call by the 31 sponsors. It was approved by the slim margin of 48-30.

The censure resolution by India and seven other nations denounced South Africa's apartheid policy of strict race segregation and asked member nations to take whatever action they deemed fit, individually or collectively. Only Portugal and South Africa voted against it, but there were 27 abstainers, including the United States, Britain and France.

The denunciation of apartheid was similar to a resolution approved by the assembly last year after a boycott proposal failed to get a two-thirds majority.

This time the committee tacked on three amendments which, since they did not get two-thirds majorities, probably will not clear the assembly. The Western powers had announced they would abstain in the vote on the resolution if the amendments were approved.

One, by Ethiopia, asked the Security Council to consider what steps should be taken against South Africa. Another, by the Soviet Union, calls for an embargo on arms to South Africa, and a Pakistani amendment calls for an oil embargo.

The vote came after three weeks of stormy debate during which South African Foreign Minister Eric Louw contended that expulsion of his country would be "the beginning of the end" of the United Nations.

The United States and Britain voted against both the boycott and expulsion resolutions.

U.S. delegate Francis T. P. Plimpton said the United States strongly opposes South Africa's policies but could not support such drastic measures. He added however, the United States sympathizes with those who want penalties imposed because of South Africa's long defiance of U.N. appeals to change its race laws.

The Security Council debate on the Congo was in suspension today. The council will meet again Wednesday afternoon.

Lucille Ball To Re-Marry

NEW YORK (AP)—Comedienne Lucille Ball has revealed what many of her friends have suspected for some time—that she'll wed comic Gary Morton, a man she met on a blind date.

The bouncy actress, whose 20-year marriage to Desi Arnaz ended in divorce in May 1960, said Monday night that a quiet ceremony will be held here Sunday with the Rev. Norman Vincent Peale officiating.

Her mother and two children and a dozen or so friends will attend, she said.

The tall, broad-shouldered Morton was born in New York City, the son of a truck driver. He attended Manhattan public schools, and got the show business bug while in Army Special Services at Fort Riley, Kan.

After the war, he played clubs and theaters, first as an impressionist and later as a satirical comedian. He appeared in "Mr. Wonderful" on Broadway, and in top night clubs about the country, including the Copacabana in New York where he was working when he met Miss Ball.

Like his bride-to-be, he has had one divorce.

Despite their marital split, Miss Ball, 52, and Arnaz still maintain close business ties. Both are millionaires several times over.

Immediately after the marriage Sunday, Miss Ball said, Morton will head for a two-week engagement in Palm Springs, Calif. She will go to Los Angeles.

An Acapulco honeymoon is planned for January, she said, after which they will live in Beverly Hills and Palm Springs.

Colleges Get Shortchanged Educator Says

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — State colleges and universities, needing money as never before, are being shortchanged in the battle for tax dollars, President John A. Perkins of the University of Delaware said today.

Action in the last session of Congress was blocked, Perkins said, by "ecclesiastical politics and obsessive fear of federal control."

In a keynote address prepared for the centennial convocation of the American Association of Land Grant Colleges and State Universities, Perkins said the states are reluctant or unable to levy taxes for public colleges.

The association is observing, during the 1961-62 academic year, the signing of the Morrill Act by President Abraham Lincoln in 1862. That act, in effect, set aside federal funds for the establishment of at least one public college in every state. There are now 68 land grant colleges in the 50 states and Puerto Rico.

Perkins said the Morrill Act inaugurated "a dramatic revolution in higher education" and established federal revenues "solely for instruction without leading to federal controls."

President Kennedy struck the same note in a filmed message to the association Sunday night.

Land grant colleges, Kennedy said, "are one of the finest examples of our federal system, the fruitful cooperation between federal and state governments in the pursuit of a decent education for all our citizens."

"Founded at federal initiative, strongly supported by federal funds — funds which were specifically appropriated for instruction, rather than the construction of buildings and facilities — these institutions have built a proud tradition of independence and academic integrity untroubled by government interference of any kind," he said.

Perkins said that "because of the pinched tax and budget circumstances of the states, our financial prospects are not at all bright."

DEAR ABBY

Case For 'Tattling'

DEAR ABBY: In our class at school we got into a big discussion about "tattling" and we would like to know how you feel about the subject. Thank you.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

DEAR STUDENTS: For some reason, teachers and even parents teach young people that it is "unethical" or downright disgraceful for one child to tell someone in authority that another child has disobeyed, misbehaved or even broken the law. Is it any wonder we have hoodlums and vandals who count it a virtue not to "squeal"?

This is not to be confused with running to Mamma or the teacher with, "Johnny hit me!" If children are to grow up with a sense of civic duty, they cannot be taught that it is "noble" to remain silent when they know who has destroyed public property or committed other serious anti-social acts. (It is their parents who must pay for such deeds.) Also it is unfair that a guilty child should "get by" unpunished; the next time he will try something a little bolder. I think it is time we adults reviewed our attitude on "tattling."

* * *

DEAR ABBY: When my husband and I rented this apartment, we specifically asked if we could keep our dog with us. The landlord said, "Yes, if the dog is quiet and well-behaved." Our dog IS quiet and well-behaved, unless a stranger comes around. We have been here less than a month and the landlord tells us we can't keep our dog. He said, "You have a full-grown boxer, and to me a boxer is not a dog, but a 'pony'." We signed a year's lease and like this place. Can he make us move? And is a boxer a dog or a horse?

JUST MOVED IN

DEAR JUST: If your boxer raises Ned whenever a "stranger comes around," he is being far from "quiet and well-behaved." You don't need a dictionary, you need a lawyer.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am amused by some of the women who write to you and ask your help to get them a man. I am an unmarried man, alone, retired and live in my own home on a lake—rather secluded—and have ample income for two. I have placed blind ads in papers and magazines and have answered others—61 to be exact. I have visited their miserable apartments and have yet to find a lady who will live more than four blocks from a bus line.

Child Slayer Dies Today In Gas Chamber

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Richard Lindsey, a roustabout who craved women, liquor and cars, died calmly today in the state gas chamber for raping and killing a 6-year-old girl with the help of his pregnant sixth wife.

Blond, blue-eyed Rose Marie Riddle, who fainted at the least excitement because of a congenital heart ailment, was lured to her death last Jan. 12 from a labor camp at Shafter in Kern County.

Lindsey, 31 and an ex - convict, entered the green walled chamber at 10:02 a.m. (PST). The deadly pellets were released at 10:03 into a pan under the chair to which he was strapped. He was pronounced dead at 10:05 a.m.

Lindsey's common-law wife, Dixie Elaine, 23, gave birth to a son two months after the crime. She is serving two life terms for bludgeoning Rose Marie with a tire iron after Lindsey raped and choked the child.

Lindsey and his 208-pound wife abducted Rose Marie from a labor camp at Shafter. Rose Marie's father, Everett, had brought his wife and two daughters there from Chandler, Ariz., so he could work as a farm migrant.

The Lindseys drove to a remote field where Lindsey raped the girl in the car while his wife sat in the back seat. Then he choked her. But he wasn't sure she was dead.

"If you don't do it, I will," Mrs. Lindsey said. She grabbed a tire iron and struck the girl 19 times.

The couple dumped the body on a desolate alkali flat, drove to San Francisco and stayed drunk in a cheap hotel for two days.

Three days after the crime, the Lindseys were captured asleep in their blood-stained car across the bay from San Francisco.

Lindsey pleaded guilty Jan. 20. On March 22, Mrs. Lindsey, was removed from jail to a hospital where she gave birth to a 6-pound, 3-ounce boy, later given in custody to her mother.

Lindsey and Dixie Elaine first were married several years ago. Then, after each had other spouses—Lindsey four—they got back together a year before Rose Marie's murder.

At 18, Lindsey served a car theft term at the Texas State Penitentiary. Two years later, he was in the federal reformatory at El Reno, Okla., for transporting a stolen car to Los Angeles from Texas.

He was in the State Mental Hospital at Terrell, Tex., in 1958 and 1959 where psychiatrists tabbed him an "anti-social personality, incorrigible but not insane."

Condition Better

John Casselman, Sig Spring High School teacher who was injured in an automobile accident early Sunday morning, was reported to be improving at the Cowper Clinic and Hospital Tuesday morning. He suffered serious head injuries and bruises when the car he was driving from Odessa to Big Spring went out of control and catapulted end - over - end about seven miles west of Big Spring.

Jon Adams, teacher in Big Spring's Goliad Junior High, died Monday morning from injuries suffered in the same accident. Funeral services were set for 2 p.m. today at Hamlin, his home town.

Science Finds Dead Men Do Tell Tales

DETROIT (AP)—Dead men do tell tales.

Deaths mark the great epidemics and changing ways of the living—and now they may indicate that heart disease and lung cancer are nearing the peak of their deadliness, a scientist said today.

Dr. Reimert T. Ravenholt was a featured speaker at the opening session of the annual meeting of the American Public Health Association. He told of a study of death records for the Seattle-King County area that went back 85 years.

Recent records indicate that the death rates from coronary heart disease and lung cancer have ceased to increase for persons under 60, he said, and also indicate that "both these epidemics should reach a plateau or peak within 10 to 15 years."

Dr. Ravenhold cited death statistics based on official records and newspapers dating back to 1876, compiled with the aid of University of Washington students.

The records for the Seattle area told the story of changing times through the changing ways in which men met their death, he said.

"There is a wonderful history contained in old death records, a mute eloquence of earlier days: of stormswept Puget Sound and falling Douglas firs, of black damp (methane gas poisoning in mining) and cave in, and of the rush for gold in Alaska, and the accompanying misery of diphtheria, meningitis, syphillis and murder. As they record changing ways of dying they speak eloquently of our changing ways of living."

In the same way the study of more recent death statistics can shed light on modern diseases, said Dr. Ravenholt, who is now Public Health Service consultant with the U.S. Embassy in Paris.

From the statistics you can infer that lung cancer and heart disease are reaching their high points, he said.

If by 1975 lung cancer hits a plateau and remains at a high level, "it would probably largely be the ultimate expression of cigarette smoking upon males born after 1900" who acquired the habit in youth and smoked most of their lives, he said.

If, however, lung cancer hits a peak about 1975 and then declines despite the continuation of smoking and possibly air pollution, then it might indicate that some other cause was responsible. It may, for example, show that the current older generation of males was unusually susceptible to lung cancer because of their experience with the large scale influenza epidemic of 1918-20, Dr. Ravenholt said.

Clubs Report Sale Proceeds

Partial returns from a cake sale sponsored by Senior Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y girls were reported at a meeting Monday evening at the YMCA, according to Joe Leach, athletic director.

Katherine Hepner, chairman of the sale, said $20 had been turned in with about $30 more expected. Proceeds go toward a goal of $700 set as the local contribution to World Service work.

World Service Week, which began Monday and continues until next Monday, is being held here with 18 clubs in the Y organization participating. During this week YMCA groups in the United States and Canada raise funds to spread Y work in other countries. Last year $551.33 was collected.

Junior Hi-Y club members will view a film titled "Assignment India" at 7:30 p.m. today. The film was taken in India and shows work which is currently being done by World Service secretaries there. Similar work is done in most countries of the world.

The film was shown Monday to Junior Tri-Hi-Y and to Senior Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y club members.

Funeral services for Samuel M. Gladney, manager of Sun Oil Company's Southwest Production Division, were held Monday in Dallas. Gladney, who was 62, died in a Dallas hospital Nov. 11 following a heart attack suffered two weeks earlier. Burial was at Hillcrest Memorial Park, Dallas.

U. N. Panel Votes Africa A 'Denuclearized' Zone.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The main U.N. political committee today brushed aside opposition of the Western nuclear powers and called for recognition of Africa as a denuclearized zone.

The vote on the African-sponsored resolution was 57-0 with 42 abstaining.

It not only called for a halt to all nuclear weapons testing in Africa, but urged all countries to refrain from transporting or storing hydrogen or atomic bombs on African territory.

The United States and France voted against two key provisions of the resolution in paragraph-by-paragraph voting, but on the resolution as a whole they abstained along with Britain, a substantial number of Western European countries and some Latin-American delegates.

The Soviet bloc voted with the majority for the resolution.

The Western powers objected to having such restrictions voted for only one part of the world. The move hit directly at France which has a nuclear testing base in the Sahara.

Two Hurt In City Accident

Mrs. Ouida Polk Henson, 30, and Pam Forster, 6, a passenger in the Henson car, were taken to the Howard County Hospital Foundation at 8:45 a.m. Tuesday following a two-car collision on Wasson Road, west of the city park entrance.

Mrs. Henson was treated for minor lacerations and released. The youngster was treated and admitted to the hospital for observation and treatment for similar injuries. Neither was seriously hurt, hospital officials said.

Driver of the second car involved was Mrs. Claudine H. Cartwright, 625 Ridgelea, who was not injured.

Estimated damage to the two vehicles, made by police who investigated, was approximately $500.

A River ambulance carried the injured to the hospital.

Other accidents investigated by police since noon Monday, their locations, and drivers of vehicles involved were: West Fourth and Scurry, Joseph E. Leatherwood, 502 Scurry, and Harvey P. Wooten, San Angelo Highway; West Fourth and Jones, Dorothy Matchett Brown, OK Trailer Courts, and unknown driver who left the scene:

Third and Johnson, William E. Rhoer, Crane, and Hudson Lee Aken, 1001 E. 3rd; Sixth and Johnson, Opal Crosskeisling and Dorothy B. Trantham; Fourth and Runnels, Danny Earl Croft, 1906 Runnels, and Bearl Thomas Croft;

Twenty-first and Gregg, Marvin Lee Blackwell, city policeman driving a city vehicle, and Floyd Neil Robinson, 1307 Settles; 700 Block Lamesa Drive, Edward S. Crabtree, Knott Rt., and Travis Sandefer, Duncan, Okla.

Mrs. Tierce Hurt In Wreck

Mrs. Ethel Tierce, 64, Rt. 1, was hospitalized following a two car collision Monday night. She was removed from the scene of the accident, three miles north of Coahoma, to Cowper Hospital, in a River amublance.

Highway patrol officers said that she and her son, William M. Tierce, 37, were in a station wagon which was struck from the rear by a pickup truck.

The truck was driven by Jesus Garcia, 67, Vincent. The station wagon was on County Road 34 and Garcia was travelling west on SH 821. His pickup struck the station wagon on the right rear panel.

Garcia was accompanied by his wife, Juanita Garcia, 53. They were not injured.

The highway patrol estimated damage to the Tierce station wagon at $400 and to the pickup at $200.

Attendants said Mrs. Tierce was not seriously hurt.

Underground Water Survey Discussed

SWEETWATER — Nolan County commissioners tabled a request Monday from Mitchell County to participate in an underground water survey, but promised to investigate the matter.

Mitchell County Judge Elmer Martin and Frank Kelley, both of Colorado City, explained the request for Nolan County to provide $1,000 toward the $23,000 cost of the survey. The survey would include Mitchell County and the west third of Nolan County.

V. M. Shamburger Jr., Sweetwater, a geologist of the State Board of Water Engineers, appeared at the request of County Judge Lea Boothe to explain the project.

Stay Of Execution

Condemned slayer Howard B. Stickney, 23, won a 12th stay of execution about 30 minutes before he was to die in the electric chair at Huntsville. District Judge Cullen W. Briggs, at Corpus Christi, granted the Houston man a 10-day stay to allow time for taking a new habeas corpus petition before the State Supreme Court. Stickney was sentenced to die in the electric chair for the 1958 murder of a Houston woman.

Pest Control Meeting Set

A proposal to set up a program in Howard County to combat the screwworm menace will be discussed at a meeting tonight in the district court room in the Howard County courthouse.

All ranchers, farmers and others interested in the plan to launch a statewide control program on screwworms are asked to be at the meeting. It will open at 7:30 p.m.

Herb Helbig, county agent, said that the group will be told of the plan to combat the screwworm, which costs the state of Texas at least $100,000,000 annually. The program calls for the establishment of a state wide foundation financed by voluntary contributions from ranchers and farmers. The contributions will be based on 50 cents a head for adult steers, dairy cattle, and horses and 10 cents a head for adult swine, sheep and goats.

This money will be pooled to activate a program which calls for the introduction of sterile male screwworm flies into the area and, by this process, destroy the pest by eliminating its reproduction.

Forum Has Good Crowd

Over 175 persons heard C. L. Kay, conference leader, tell of the threat of socialism to the United States and the world at fourth session of the Freedom Forum Monday night. The sessions are being held at the Howard County Junior College auditorium, and sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

"The infiltration of Socialism in America has become alarming," Kay said, "and Socialism always precedes communism where it envelops a country in which people become apathetic."

He described the Socialist philosophy, its claims, and its promises. He traced the history of the movement, the degree of its acceptance in Europe, Asia, and America, and told of the difficulties of throwing it off once it is accepted. The trend is toward centralized control where top leaders do all the thinking and give orders to a subservient people, he said.

"The danger to America today is great," he said. "People have turned toward a desire for security without thinking of the penalties attached to their existence."

The session next Monday night will be on The Profit System. The basic economics of capitalism will be examined and the importance of incentive in relationship to savings, investment, production, and general welfare will be emphasized. The actual benefits of the profit system will be contrasted with the false hopes and empty promises of all systems of controlled economy.

Bids To Be Opened

The Big Spring City Commission will meet in two sessions tonight, with the first beginning at 5 p.m. Three sets of bids will be opened and considered, following which the commission will recess at 6 p.m. to attend a barbecue at the Horace Garrett ranch. The city officials will greet a group of Thailand Air Force officers at the barbecue. They will return to the commission room at 8:30 p.m. to continue the session.

Bids to be considered will be for a 1.5 million-gallon water storage tank for the city's business area; for re-laying water mains along the US 87 route north from the city limits to permit widening of the highway, and for leasing Section 17, near the city dump grounds, for grazing rights.

The commission will also read and consider three ordinances, two for annexation of areas to the city, and one for requiring meters on all taxicabs operating in the city limits.

Recommendations of the Big Spring Traffic Commission and the Planning and Zoning Commission, will also be heard.

Other matters may be brought up at the meeting, which are not scheduled on the regular agenda, A. K. Steinheimer, city manager, said Tuesday morning.

OIL REPORT

Kimbell Stakes Soash Project

Kay Kimbell has staked the No. 1 Soash, an 8,500-foot Ellenburger prospector, in the southeastern portion of Garza County. Five other new projects were filed in the area, three of them in the Ackerly (Dean) field in Dawson County.

The No. 1 Soash is five miles southwest of Justiceburg. It is 1½ miles east of the Rocker "A," South field, and separated from it by two shallow failures, and two miles south of the Tobe field.

The three Ackerly field sites are all by Conoco and are projected to 8,800 feet. They are No. 1 J. M. Womack, No. 2 G. W. Martin and No. 2-A J. Archer.

Borden

Chambers No. 1 Wills is digging in shale below 8,368 feet. Location is C SE NE, section 533-97, H&TC survey.

Texaco No. 12-A A. M. Clayton is contracted for 8,305 feet in the Good, Northeast (Canyon) field. It spots 2,002 feet from the east and 662 feet from the north lines of section 32-32-4n, T&P survey, on a 1,940-acre lease 13 miles southwest of Gail.

Dawson

Conoco No. 1 Lee Burns, spotting C NE NW, section 8-34-3n, T&P survey, flowed 208 barrels of 40 gravity oil through a 16-64 inch choke on initial potential in the Ackerly (Dean) field. The gas-oil ratio was 456-1 and tubing pressure was 200 pounds. The oiler bottomed at 8,720 feet and perforations are between 8,544-636 feet.

Conoco No. 1-A Lewis Etheridge flowed 81 barrels of oil through a 12-64 inch choke and perforations between 8,517-607 feet in the Ackerly (Dean) field. Gravity was 37 degrees, the gas-oil ratio was 125-1, tubing pressure was 90 pounds and casing pressure was zero. The well bottomed at 8,680 feet. It is C NE SW, section 33-34-4n, T&P survey, on a 306-acre lease four miles north of Ackerly.

Texaco No. 1 McDougal is drilling below 11,072 feet in lime and sand. Drillsite is C SE SW, section 23-36-4n, T&P survey.

Conoco No. 1 W. G. Reed, in the Ackerly (Dean) field, is a duster at 9,370 feet. The hole is 2,175 feet from the south and 467 feet from the west lines of section 35-34-4n, T&P survey, five miles northwest of Ackerly. This is the second time the project has been abandoned.

Conoco No. 1 J. M. Womack is set for 8,800 feet in the Ackerly (Dean) field. Location is C SW SW, section 40-34-4n, T&P survey, about four miles northwest of Ackerly.

Conoco No. 2 G. W. Martin, in the same field, is due to bottom at 8,800 feet. It spots C NE SE, section 41-34-4n, T&P survey.

Conoco No. 2-A J. Archer, spotting C SW NW, section 45-34-4n, T&P survey, is projected to 8,800 feet in the Ackerly (Dean) field. The site is about four miles northwest of Ackerly.

Garza

General Crude Oil Co. No. 1 Irene Rodgers is making hole below 4,423 feet in lime and shale. This Ellenburger explorer is C SE NW, section 84-5, H&GN survey.

Kay Kimbell No. 1 Soash is an Ellenburger wildcat set for 8,500 feet five miles southwest of Justiceburg. The site is about three-fourths mile east of a 2,732-foot project which was plugged and abandoned in January, 1950 and two miles southwest of an 8,245-foot Ellenburger try abandoned in December, 1951. It spots about 1½ miles east of the Rocker "A," South field and two miles south of the Tobe field. Location is C SE NW, section 28-6, H&GN survey.

Humble No. 2 J. S. Boren, a Post (Glorieta) venture, has been plugged and abandoned at 2,670 feet. The hole is 990 feet from the south and 2,160 feet from the west lines of section 132-5, H&GN survey, five miles northeast of Justiceburg.

Howard

Sinclair No. 112 G. M. Dodge Estate is due to bottom at 2,800 feet in the Iatan-East Howard field. The venture is 25 feet from the north and five feet from the west lines of section 11-30-1s, T&P survey, five miles east of Coahoma.

Socony Mobil No. 4 Kelly Roberts, a dual completion with the Queen, was completed in the San Andres in the Howard-Glasscock field for 52.27 barrels of 31.2 gravity oil. It was acidized with 1,000 gallons and fraced with 50,000 gallons. Elevation is 2,559 feet, total depth is 2,378 feet, the oiler was plugged back to 2,349 feet, pay was topped at 2,169 feet and seven-inch casing is at 2,378 feet. Perforations are between 2,169-306 feet. Eighteen per cent water was produced. The well spots C SE SW SE, section 112-29, W&NW survey.

Bell No. 1 Lowe-Read is making hole in lime below 4,680 feet. Location is 660 feet from the south and 1,780 feet from the east lines of section 7-30-1n, T&P survey.

Martin

Shell No. 1 Epley is at a total depth of 11,616 feet and the operator is running surveys. Drillsite is C SE SW, section 7-36-1n, T&P survey.

Texas National Petroleum Co. No. 2 Harry Billington was completed for 226.10 barrels of 39 gravity oil, with 10 per cent water, on initial potential in the Spraberry Trend Area. It bottomed at 8,085 feet, perforations are between 7,132-8,010 feet, the gas-oil ratio was 766-1 and the project was fraced with 40,000 gallons. The well is C NW, section 10-36-1s, T&P survey, two miles northwest of Stanton.

Sterling

Roden Oil and Cosden No. 1 Reed is running logs after bottoming at 3,015 feet. The explorer is 2,040 feet from the north and 650 feet from the west lines of section 9-30, W&NW survey.

Police Check On Three Thefts

Big Spring police investigated three reported thefts in the past 24 hours. Items stolen were valued at approximately $132.50.

Lowell Cessna, sub-contractor for Cortese & Milch, reported 15 bags of cement taken from location in the Kentwood Addition. He said other bags had also been taken.

Olive Truder Roller called police to investigate the theft of a coat, valued at $50, from a trailer house at Miller Trailer Courts.

Sonny West, Northwest Eighth and Lamesa Drive, reported a radio taken from his car while parked in front of Speck's Cafe.

Nominees Selected For Chamber Board

Nominees for 1962 Chamber of Commerce directors were chosen at a meeting of the Chamber board of directors Monday at noon, according to Horace Garrett, president of the board.

Ballots will be mailed to members to elect five of the 10 nominees for three - year terms as Chamber directors. Nominees are Jeff Brown, D. M. McKinney, James Cape, W. D. Caldwell, Jack Davis, M. R. Koger, E. V. Spence, Cuin Grigsby, H. W. Smith and Jerry Mancill.

Holdover directors are R. H. Weaver, John Currie, J. R. Hensley, Jim Lewis, Rad Ware, R. N. Andrews, Jack Little, A. J. Prager, Oliver Cofer and Dr. M. W. Talbot. Three one-year directors will be appointed by the next president.

The building committee, chaired by Harold Talbot, recommended a site for the planned Chamber of Commerce Building. The site is on Johnson, between Third and Fourth streets.

Talbot siaid the committee recommended the lot because it is within walking distance from downtown, convenient to transient travel, and has adequate parking area. Members of the board decided to take steps toward acquiring the lot, although there may be a five-year wait before the building can be started.

Champ Rainwater, Jack Little, Clyde McMahon, Bob Andrews and John Currie were appointed on a committee to work out a satisfactory financial arrangement.

In other business, a resolution of appreciation was voted to R. L. Beale and the Texas Electric Service Company for offering the firm's facilities to assist in installing, maintaining and taking down Christmas decorations.

Other reports were from the advertising and promotion, agriculture, education, membership, Base-Community, sports and recreation, retail and public relations committees.

Girl Scout Training Session Set

The Program Caravan, a special event planned by the training committee of the Girl Scouts, will reach Big Spring Wednesday.

Headed by the executive director from Abilene, Mrs. H. L. DuPape, the traveling workers in the program are Mrs. D. M. Costlow, Fane Downs and Harriet Redwine.

The all day meeting in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church will include two training sessions.

A "ranks and badges" course is planned for leaders of Intermediate troops who want to help in planning ways of carrying out the program for the girls ready to start on that phase.

The Brownie program workshop session is for leaders who wish to share new program ideas for Brownie troops. Emphasis will be on community life, out-of-doors, songs, games and dramatics. Two workshops will be conducted simultaneously so it is recommended that at least two people from each troop attend.

Starting at 10 a.m., the meeting will continue until 3 p.m. The training is open to all adults participating in the Girl Scout program. Those attending are asked to bring the Leader's Guide and Handbook, notebook, pencil and a nosebag lunch.

Soft drinks will be served at noon and a free nursery service provided.

Art Masterpiece Is Up For Auction

By MILES A. SMITH
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Shortly after 8 p.m. this Wednesday, if all goes according to schedule, a broad-faced, red-haired man will whack a little ivory knob against the battered, dented edge of a paneled rostrum.

"Sold!" he will announce, and at that moment an overpowering tension will break. The Rembrandt masterpiece, "Aristotle Contemplating the Bust of Homer," will have a new owner.

The price is expected to be around a million dollars. Perhaps half again as much.

Multimillionaire collectors, museum officials and agents from all over the world will shift in their chairs and then pull themselves together to catch the bidding on the next item.

Even with "the big one" gone, there will be plenty more. By 9 p.m. or thereabouts, the little ivory nob will have cracked down for the 24th time and the auction will be over. The total bids will run $3 million or so in approximately an hour.

For these two dozen paintings, almost without exception, are top grade. There is a Perugino "St. Augustine" worthy of any museum in the world. There is a Crivelli "Madonna and Child" that would look well with the two associated panels now in the Metropolitan Museum. There are prime examples of the work of Cranach, Holbein, Terborch, Van Dyck, Gainsborough, Raeburn, Romney, Fragonard and Nattier.

The scene will be the Parke-Bernet Galleries on Madison Avenue, where plush apartments, art galleries and fancy shops have created a setting for the rich and knowing.

The man in the rostrum will be Louis J. Marion, executive vice president of the galleries and head of its auctioneering staff. He is fiftyish, with the quickest blue eyes in the business. He looks Irish, but says he is of Italian descent. He has a computer-like mind, fast and sharp, and enough nervous energy for three.

Marion, an ebullient man, says he is going to get an opening bid of $1 million on the "Aristotle."

There is tradition behind him. Parke-Bernet and its predecessors have been selling art objects of the rich for three-quarters of a century. Not just paintings. Back in 1930 an anvil used by Paul Revere brought $9,800. In 1947 a "Bay Psalm Book," the first book printed in the colonies, brought a record price of $151,000. Lincoln's ax handle, Caruso's wigs, Cromwell's sword and Lillian Russell's golden shoes have raised an auction fever in days gone past.

Texas Constitution Battle Rages On

By BOB ROOKER

AUSTIN (AP)—Just 86 years ago last week, Texans finished writing the last of a long line of Texas Constitutions.

When they adjourned Nov. 4, 1875, most of the 90 delegates at the constitutional convention believed they had accomplished their one primary goal:

To write a Constitution so specific, detailed and restrictive that there could be no repeat of the past decade's excesses under Reconstruction government.

These 75 Democrats and 15 Republicans were not unique in Texas history. Texans had been writing or helping write 8 Constitutions since 1824.

The thinking of the men at the 1875 convention was reminiscent of the ideas of the colonists following the Revolutionary War with England.

The colonists, fearful of strong government after their experience with England, produced the Articles of Confederation, which was so restrictive on central government that it nearly wrecked the economic and political unity of the infant nation.

Texans writing their Constitution a century later were equally fearful of central government powers following a decade of reconstruction government.

The first colonists' effort at Constitution writing lasted only eight years and was replaced by the current U.S. Constitution.

The Texas Constitution has stood since its ratification in 1876, but not without serious and frequent attack.

Resolutions have been introduced in almost every legislature since 1876 calling for another constitutional convention. Only twice, 1917 and 1919, have such resolutions passed. Gov. James Ferguson refused to call the convention in 1917 and voters refused overwhelmingly to accept the 1919 resolution.

No movement for revision has come close to success. Those who oppose total constitutional revision contend there is no need for such change now. The 1876 Constitution is a basically sound document, they argue, and more important, it reflects the governmental philosophy of the people of Texas.

Some opponents fear that if a constitutional convention is called, it might be dominated by liberal or ultra-conservative groups and produce a "socialistic" or "stone-age" document.

On the other hand, while proponents of revision give scores of reasons they believe Texas' Constitution needs basic, overall change, one theme runs through all their arguments: Placement of responsibility.

Both sides generally agree that the 1876 Constitution fragments governmental power to a point where it is difficult for the government in Austin to act in many instances.

Proponents of change say this is a fundamentally unsound governmental principle. If adequate power to act is not given clearly to state officials, they ask, how can the voter place blame when something goes wrong or give credit when things go well?

Another offshoot of a state's inability to act, proponents contend, is an increase of federal powers at the state's expense. If something needs to be done and the state can't do it, the federal government will step in, they argue.

But there are at least two things on which both sides could agree:

The opponents of revision are clearly in control and intend to stay there, and proponents of change will continue to plug away at their campaign to rewrite the 84-year-old document.

Beauticians Visit Hospital Patients

Fifteen beauticians from Odessa volunteered their services Sunday afternoon for patients at the Big Spring State Hospital, according to Mrs. Lou Hyre, volunteer coordinator.

They represented Childer's Beauty Shop and Mary's College of Beauty. Mrs. Nita Sanders and Ida Compton, hair stylists, were with the group.

The volunteers gave 28 permanents, eight haircuts and 13 shampoo and hair sets.

Senate Candidate

AUSTIN (AP) — Rep. Murray Watson said today he will be a candidate for state senator from Bell, Milam and McLennan counties. The seat is held by Sen. Jarrard Secrest of Temple, a candidate for lieutenant governor.

State's Moisture Condition Improves

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Moisture improved in Texas last week. Harvesting halted but was resumed with the return of favorable weather, said Director John Hutchison of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The driest areas were west of the Pecos River, parts of the far South Texas District and in upper coastal counties, Hutchison said.

Range and pasture conditions are good in all except the drier areas. Livestock generally are in good condition though feeding is increasing in the drier counties and stock water is becoming short.

Moisture is generally adequate over the Panhandle and wheat prospects improved. The sorghum and cotton harvests will be speeded by the freezing weather. Ranges and cattle are in good condition.

The first killing frost and freeze, along with rain stopped all harvesting on the South Plains last week. The cotton harvest should hit the peak within 10 days after clear weather returns. A few counties south of Lubbock have reported up to half of a bumper cotton crop harvested. Very few counties north of Lubbock have harvested as much as a fourth.

Rains varying from one to two and a half inches fell over the Rolling Plains where soil moisture is now adequate. The first freeze of the season hit some counties Nov. 2 and this, plus the rain, stopped all harvesting.

Weekend rains stopped all field work in North Central Texas. Cotton, corn and sorghum harvests in most counties are over; early small grains are providing good grazing with some planting still being done and range conditions and livestock excellent.

A good rain over the weekend improved the moisture situation in Northeast Texas. Some areas are still on the dry side. Harvesting of all major crops is about over. Early oats are being grazed and pastures are average.

Moisture is adequate east of the Pecos but only fair to very poor west of that river. Ranchmen are culling and feeding. Livestock are in poor condition in Reeves, Hudspeth and Culberson counties. The cotton harvest in far West Texas is now 75 per cent complete with yields good and quality excellent. Farmers are busy plowing before their labor contracts expire.

Rains helped Central West Texas and were just what was needed for winter grass and weed growth. The cotton harvest is past halfway but was slowed by rain. Some farmers are waiting for a frost before harvesting cotton. Ranges and livestock were in good to excellent condition. Deer and turkeys are plentiful and fat.

Moisture is adequate in Central Texas and cotton harvesting in the scrapping stage. Grains are providing good grazing. The peanut harvest continues with yields fair to good. Pastures are improving.

Moisture is adequate to short in East Texas. Cotton yields have been poor but most corn yields are good. Pastures are in good condition. The condition of cattle was fair.

Moisture is now adequate in most South Central counties and livestock conditions generally are above normal. Oats and flax are doing good. A large acreage of winter legumes has been planted in Lavaca County.

Rain will help all upper Gulf coastal pastures but more moisture is needed, farmers have about completed stalk destruction work. Cattle feeding is continuing and will increase.

Most of far South Texas is on the dry side with the western section extremely dry. Some ranchmen are beginning to feed, and stock water is short in some counties. The harvesting of beans, peas and peppers is near the peak. The citrus harvest was picking up but the demand for grapefruit was weak.

Y Secretaries Attend Area Meet

Francis H. Flint, general secretary of the YMCA, and Curtiss L. Chatham, program secretary, are in Lake Murray, Okla., attending a four-day annual meeting of the Southwestern Area Association of Secretaries.

The session will include group discussions on improvement of professional secretarial service and problem areas which are common to most YMCA organizations, according to Flint.

"We do not have any special problems for which we hope to find answers," Flint said. "However, since Chatham and I are both new to this area, it should prove to be an informative session on Y work in the southwest."

They left Sunday and will return Thursday morning.

Cuban Visitors

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Fidel Castro Dias, at Khrushchev's left, son of the Cuban premier, pose in Moscow's Red Square. The young Castro and other Cuban youths were part of a delegation to Moscow, headed by Blas Roca, right, to attend the 44th anniversary of the Soviet revolution.

Unknown But Not Forgetful

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP)—Nineteen years ago Robbie Wilson, 6, got bored with his sister Edna's fourth birthday party and ran out to play in the street.

The driver of a passing automobile swerved but hit the child and killed him. The driver carried the boy into the house and collapsed.

A doctor treated Robbie's parents and the motorist for shock. Then the driver left. He didn't tell the Wilsons his name. They knew only that he lived in England, in the city of Sunderland.

A year later, on Edna's next birthday, a huge parcel arrived for the girl. It was a rocking horse. There was no sender's name. The only clue was the postmark: Sunderland.

On her sixth birthday, Edna got a child's cycle. Again it came from Sunderland.

Each year since Edna has received an expensive birthday present from Sunderland. As she grew older the gifts became more sophisticated — a beauty set, French perfume, cosmetics.

When she became old enough to drive, money arrived to pay for driving lessons.

A beautiful evening gown was her 21st birthday gift.

A few weeks ago Edna married and went to live in an Edinburgh suburb. The family has no idea how the man in Sunderland found out, but he sent a wedding present.

The Wilson family still doesn't know who he is.

Sands Board To Study Plans

The plans for the new building in the Sands Independent School District will be ready Thursday, R. N. Pierce, superintendent, said Monday. Some $200,000 in bonds were voted earlier this year to finance the facility.

The board of education is to meet Monday, Nov. 20, to consider approval of the plans and set a date to take bids for the construction. The new building will include a gymnasium, cafeteria, home economics and science area.

Pierce said the board will probably open bids on the project before Christmas with work to begin soon after the holidays. Plans now are to occupy the facility by next September. The building is an addition to the high school building at Ackerly.

Completion date on the remodeling of the Knott elementary school building will be Dec. 10, Pierce said. This work was also part of the bond issue that school patrons approved this year.

Pierce said Monday that enrollment in the Sands school district is at an all-time high with 455 students on the rolls. The high last year was 405. The high school has 97 enrolled this year, compared with an 84 high last year.

23 Hurt When Bus Leaves Road

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — A Greyhound bus veered from a rain-slick highway three miles north of here today and smashed into a tree. Twenty-three persons were injured, one seriously.

The bus driver said he had been blinded by the lights of an oncoming automobile that did not stop.

The bus was en route from New York City to Montreal. Most of the passengers were Canadians.

The driver, George W. Gannis, 54, of Brooklyn, suffered an arm injury.

Conservative Coalition Of 2 Men May Affect Fate Of Bills

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two men other than the speaker and majority leader may decide the fate of major legislation in the House in the session starting Jan. 10.

They are Howard W. Smith, Virginia Democrat who heads the Rules Committee, and Charles A. Halleck, Indiana Republican who leads the minority.

For years Smith and Halleck have teamed up to head a conservative coalition that at times has dominated the House despite its nominal control by Democrats.

The Northern Republican-Southern Democrat coalition's chief stumbling block in the past has been Sam Rayburn, who was able on occasion to win over enough Southerners to save coalition-opposed legislation. Rayburn's success was attributed primarily to his personal popularity with his Southern colleagues.

The 79-year-old speaker is ill with cancer in a Bonham, Tex., hospital and not even his most optimistic friends expect him to return to Washington.

It is generally assumed that Rayburn will be succeeded as speaker by John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, now the Democratic leader, and that McCormack's leadership post will go to Carl Albert of Oklahoma, now the Democratic whip, or assistant leader.

Neither McCormack nor Albert has demonstrated the ability to crack the usually solid Southern lines as Rayburn did on occasion.

On at least three major issues during the 1961 session of Congress, Rayburn was credited with having saved the day for the liberals by personal appeals to some Southern Democrats.

The three issues involved a change in the rules, which won by a vote of 217 to 212; a major amendment, backed by conservatives, to the general housing bill, and a move to kill a bill raising minimum wages. The housing amendment lost by vote of 215 to 197. The attempt to recommit the minimum wage measure failed by a vote of 224 to 196.

Even some of the more optimistic liberals in the House concede privately that the 1962 session will be a bad one as far as the Kennedy legislative program is concerned. They see serious trouble aheal for legislation dealing with tariffs, school aid, medical care for the aged, foreign aid and any program involving heavy expenditures of public money.

Bearnapers To Learn Fate Today In Death Of Cub

AUSTIN (AP)—Nine University of Texas students who kidnaped and killed a bear cub mascot of Baylor University will learn late today their punishment.

A special committee of student leaders, faculty members and Athletic Department officials met with dean of student life Arno Nowotny Monday and recommended that the students appear this afternoon before the disciplinary committee "for serious disciplinary action."

The students, whose names were not disclosed, claimed self-defense in killing the nine-months-old bear with a wrench Thursday night at Waco.

Wires of apology went to Baylor University. Among them was one from coach Darrell Royal, which said "We sincerely regret the killing of your mascot. The incident in no way reflects the attitude of our staff and squad, and we are sorry it happened."

Football team co-captain Mike Cotten, the director of the Longhorn Band, the student body president and other campus leaders sent wires.

The nine students agreed to make complete restoration by buying Baylor another set of twin cubs. The bear killed was named Ginger. Its twin, Pepper, was not harmed.

Nowotny said this agreement would have no effect on the action being taken against the students.

The special committee recommended that student leaders go to Waco to make a public apology to Baylor students and that University President Joseph Smiley be asked to issue a statement to the effect that any similar actions by students would result in immediate suspension.

C-City Council Discusses $50,000 Paving Program

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The City Council discussed a proposed assessment paving program for which $50,000 in bonds were voted earlier in the year, during the regular meeting Monday.

The council will designate approximately 50 blocks to be paved. The city's engineering firm, Parkhill, Smith and Cooper, will make a survey, set out plans and specifications, and bids will be called. After bids are let, the city will hold a public hearing, in which property owners may protest inclusion in the program. In the case of owners of homesteads, City Manager Earl Keaton said that his recommendation would be to skip the block if the homeowners refused to sign a lien.

Mayor Bob Robinson agreed, saying, "This is not a program we're going to ram down their throats. Let's tell the people that they DO have recourse, if they do not want to enter the program.

The council delayed passage of the paving ordinance pending the results of a drainage survey, delayed when engineer A. C. Cooper, Lubbock, was unable to be present because of the weather.

The council approved a resolution submitted by the Chamber of Commerce, pointing out the desirability of building a new section of SH 208 along the eastern edge of Colorado City to intersect with IS 20. The council directed City Manager Earl Keaton to draw a similar resolution for council passage and transmittal to the State Highway Department.

According to the Chamber of Commerce resolution, passed by its board of directors, the removal of heavy traffic from Hickory Street—the present site of SH 208 — would promote traffic and school safety, increase the use of the highway for travel and for industrial use, and would provide better residential access to the northeastern part of Colorado City.

In other action, the council voted to donate the proceeds of parking meters during the period of Nov. 19-25, to the United Fund and approved an ordinance to change a lot belonging to Mrs. Alton Moore from G to H zone. The members decided to pay for electricity for Christmas lights in the downtown district and rejected two bids on a city owned motorcycle as too low.

Texas Loses A Good Servant

Texas has lost one of its least ostentatious yet most dedicated and efficient officials. O. B. Ellis, director of the Texas Prison System, died suddenly Sunday evening of a heart attack.

In 1948 Mr. Ellis was induced to come to Texas to take over management of a system that was disorganized, inefficient and bordering on if not actually involved in mistreatment and sadism. The system then may not have been the worst in the nation, but it was a prime candidate for such an inglorious distinction.

"I am strictly opposed to abuse, cursing, nagging, the bat or any other form of brutality," he said. "But I am also a believer in firm and just discipline."

With deft management, he brought the system out of the doldrums far faster than to be expected. For many, prison ceased to be a cesspool of despair Self-mutilation (to escape work or discipline) dropped drastically. So far as practical, prisoners were categorized so as to facilitate rehabilitation rather than mere incarceration or punishment. Working and living conditions were improved. Brutality among guards was rooted out methodically.

Yet Mr. Ellis was firm. The minor examples of internal problems is evidence that he administered with fairness and the inmates knew it. While far from ideal, the Texas system today is rated one of the best in the nation, which is within itself a great tribute to a good public servant.

American Industry Faces Test

The American industrial system, which has been without a peer for almost a century, may be in danger of losing its title. For other parts of the world, especially in Western Europe, have developed production facilities which, in some instances, can outstrip the present American facilities.

Recent European progress in automated manufacturing underscores this hard fact. In the field of automobile manufacture, for instance, some observers contend that the most modern and economically efficient plants are no longer found in Detroit but in France and West Germany. Similarly, in automated steel facilities vigorous foreign competition has become a reality in large part because too many U.S. mills lack modernization.

This represents more than a blow to national pride. Were this trend to continue, our vaunted standard of living could be in jeopardy. For American economic superiority has been predicated in the past on a willingness to develop and use new tools and new methods.

Certainly this momentum has not come to an end. But the question should be asked of both labor and management: Are we too much interested in the security of jobs and capital? And of government: Are tax policies so stringent as to strangle investment capital? Risk and daring are among the major ingredients of economic success. The American industrial system should not be allowed to rest on its past glories. It should continue to be, as it has been, the promise of the future.

Clouds Break A Bit For The President

WASHINGTON—The Presidency, as 34 tried and troubled men have discovered, is an office with its ups and downs. For the present occupant of the White House this is an up, with the sky that has been dark and foreboding clearing a bit if only for the moment.

There are several reasons why the atmosphere has lightened. One, of course, is the outcome of the recent elections which gave the President a bigger lift than he was willing to acknowledge at his press conference.

Shortly before he took the decision to go into New Jersey he was told that the Democratic candidate, Richard J. Hughes, would lose by 80,000 to 100,000 votes. This was the consensus of private poll takers and the President was inclined to accept it as an accurate forecast. He understood very well what it meant to put his prestige on the line with the likelihood that it would be diminished by a defeat.

MOREOVER, AN important element in the Kennedy temperament—in all the Kennedys — is the will to win. Yet the President took the calculated risk well aware of how badly certain of his predecessors had fared when they ventured to intervene in off-year elections.

The Democratic victory coming on top of that in San Antonio, Texas, was a great restorative. The President has taken it as one bit of evidence that people understand his domestic policies and favor them when they are given a clear choice. He sees this as an answer to the critics who have been saying that he does not communicate with the American public.

The charge of failing to communicate is one about which he has been very sensitive. He can point to several ways—aside from White House press conferences—in which he has sought to open up channels of information. Unlike the Eisenhower Administration, when clearance from the press office had to be obtained, any official can talk directly with reporters. And that, as the President remarked wryly to a visitor the other day, is something of a risk.

THE EDITORS from various states whom he has invited to lunch are each asked to bring a memorandum on problems and attitudes in their areas. Not all these are discussed at each lunch but they are left behind for the President to read. More than any President, certainly in recent times, he has talked privately with individual reporters.

When it comes to foreign policy the President is on somewhat less sure ground on the communication issue. He has discovered, as other Presidents have before him, the hazards in off-the-cuff answers to questions involving delicate and uncertain negotiation under the threat of nuclear war, revolution and chaos. This apprehension has been particularly strong with respect to the differences within the Western alliance on how, when and whether to negotiate on Berlin and Germany.

BUT EVEN ON foreign policy the conviction in the White House is that the atmosphere has lightened. The President felt deeply rewarded by his talks with Prime Minister Nehru even though they disagreed on many points. It was the understanding coming out of this quiet exchange that was important, rather than disagreement in some areas. The way has been prepared for the President to return the visit perhaps as early as next January or February.

The relief is great over the formation of a government in West Germany with Chancellor Adenauer again its chief. Adenauer is coming here, it is hoped, with some flexibility so that at last a start can be made at working out a Western negotiating position.

Another source of satisfaction is the way in which the crisis over the Secretary-Generalship in the United Nations has been resolved. High marks go to Adlai Stevenson for the quite, patient diplomacy with which he helped to bring this about. While there have been those who would like to make trouble between them, the President and his Ambassador to the U. N. have had a good working relationship.

SO ALTOGETHER it is with renewed confidence that the President this week makes his first foray into the country since entering the White House. He speaks twice in Seattle, once each in Phoenix, Ariz., and Los Angeles. In this year of no national elections, these are not billed as political speeches. But in Southern California he will be in the arena of right-wing extremism — the White House got the biggest deluge of mail in a long time as a result of the recent Christian anti-Communist demonstration in the Hollywood Bowl—and he will have to speak out for Governor Edmund G. (Pat) Brown who is faced with a fierce fight for re-election next year.

If everything had been going wrong there might be reason to hesitate. But in the President's confident mood this should be a welcome challenge.

Difference Between An Ideal And A Reality

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Korean general who flew here to see President Kennedy today is a symbol of the difference between an American ideal and the reality in the backward nations this country is trying to keep out of communism.

The ideal would be to see them spring full-blown out of the darkness of colonialism and feudalism into democratic systems like this one. The reality in many places is quite different.

Gen. Chung Hee Park, 44, heads a 28-man military junta which runs Korea as a dictatorship—for the time being, at least — after throwing out the elected government of John M. Chang.

FOULED UP

The democratic system wasn't working. Korea was riddled with poverty, graft, corruption despite the enormous American aid it was given. The U.S. aid got largely lost in the graft and corruption.

It was only six months ago that Park's group of military officers thrust aside Chang's government. That was last May. Chang had been elected the previous August as the successor to Syngman Rhee.

Rhee, 84, supported by this country, had been elected by so-called democratic processes. Those processes were called something altogether different by Koreans, particularly students, when they rioted against Rhee in the spring of 1960.

THREW HIM

They screamed that the elections were crooked. They were sick of the corruption and Rhee's repressions. They threw him out. Park and his group felt that Rhee's successor, Chang, after eight months had failed to improve things.

So they took over. Now they have American backing. Last August they promised to hold power only two years more before turning the government over to civilian authorities. How are they doing?

Almost a month ago The Associated Press reported out of Seoul:

Park's major problems are unchanged—factionalism within the 28-man ruling group, nationwide business stagnation and the danger of inflation. Division within the junta is deep and involves provincial loyalties, military academy classes, and family ties.

HUGE PROBLEM

The generals and colonels have a gigantic farm problem. Sixty per cent of the 25 million South Koreans live through farming. Most farmers exist by borrowing on next year's crop and paying interest rates of up to 100 per cent a year.

The junta is trying to correct this. The junta is anti-Communist —the United States can take some consolation from this — but communism is sitting just across the doorstep in North Korea.

The Frightened Mice

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the things that keeps girls on their toes in the average business office today is the married Romeo.

He sometimes keeps them on the run, too.

No office is without a married Romeo; most have several. But they add more comedy than menace to the Poor Working Girl's life, as generally they are merely would-be wolves who long ago have lost their claws.

Office Romeos can be divided into four general types: Pinchers and patters, creepers and leapers. But each one is a character in his own way.

Here are some you can find in almost any large office:

Winded Wilbur — He asks his secretary to stay late. Then he closes the door and pursues her around the office 12 times, leaping desks like a broken-field runner. Finally he pauses, puffing heavily and says, "Well, I guess that will be all for tonight, Miss Winfield. Please be in on time tomorrow morning. We have a lot more work to catch up on."

Cry Baby Bobby — "We're all lonely prisoners in a lonely world. Life is but a jail," he whines, wheedling each girl in turn for a comforting kiss. This little boy blue isn't looking for romance. He just wants a dozen more mothers.

Oily Oliver — "Be nice to me, kid," he says, "and I'll see you go places in this firm." This gives the girls a big laugh, as Oliver has been with the firm 25 years and hasn't been able to get any place himself.

Treat and Trick Ted—He believes one good turn deserves another. He doesn't mind splurging on a box of chocolates for his secretary at Christmas, so long as she allows him one free pinch for each piece of candy.

Ambushing Arnold—He hides in the supply room and pounces at any unwary stenographer who comes tripping in for a packet of paper clips. The older girls are wise to him. They go to the supply room only when Arnold is out to lunch.

Light-fingered Larry — The fatherly type. As his arm gently steals around a girl's waist—pat, pat, pat—he tells her, "Here are some new snapshots of my grandson. Isn't he a fine-looking lad?"

Big Shot Bert—The firm's top salesman is as expansive as an accordion. "Baby, go out with me, and you'll travel first class—anything from caviar to champagne," he says, pulling out a wallet that contains two $1 bills and 27 credit cards.

Lunar Lew—The full moon does something to him. Then every girl in the place looks like Marilyn Monroe to him. The rest of the time he is as harmless as bunny rabbit.

Pleading Paul—"My wife simply doesn't understand me," he weeps, using the oldest line in the book. His real trouble is that every girl in the office does understand him.

Leo the Leech — His wife gives him only $2 a day. Leo's idea of romance is to sweet-talk any available secretary into taking him out for two martinis and a big lunch. On the way back he gives her a big squeeze—and a large IOU.

Sniffing Of Solvents Can Be Dangerous

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Trust the teen-agers to discover whatever there is to be discovered — and some of them now are on a dangerous "kick."

The solvents used in modern plastic glues and cements have vapors which can have strong narcotic or inebriating properties, if inhaled in excessive amounts.

Because of this, "glue or cement sniffing" has become a fad among some youngsters.

It is bad enough that this sniffing can cause all the hazards we associate with drunkenness. But it also can become habit forming.

Still worse, it can cause serious physical harm, and not all of the damage can be corrected afterward.

Depending on the type of vapors that are inhaled, there can be damage to the brain, nervous system, blood, liver or kidneys.

I am not proposing that we give up the use of these glues and cements. Properly handled, they are not harmful. But I do strongly urge that parents and teachers watch out for this practice of "sniffing," and take whatever steps are necessary to stop it. The risk is too great.

Among the solvents being used are such materials as methyl ethyl ketone, methyl isobutyl ketone, toluene, xylene, methylene chloride, methyl chloroform, trichlorethylene and occasionally the very dangerous carbon tetrachloride or benzene.

Using an occasional dab of these adhesives is all right. If they are to be used steadily on a project or hobby, then be sure to have good ventilation. And sniffing? Never!

"Dear Dr. Molner: Should a man who has a heart condition smoke cigars, and how many a day? You never say anything about cigar smoking, only cigarettes.—H. B."

I beg your pardon, sir. I do not limit "smoking" or "tobacco" to any particular form. True, the discussions over lung cancer deal with cigarettes because cigarette smokers usually inhale.

But in relation to other problems, the same noxious factors — nicotine, tars and miscellaneous chemicals — exist in any form of tobbaco.

I don't know what you mean by a "heart condition." There are many types. But if your doctor told you to stop smoking, don't try to wheedle me into giving you an excuse for not minding him. If he warned you not to smoke, that would include cigars as well as cigarettes.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have been troubled with my gums. They bleed easily and seem to turn a different shade of red in some places and whitish in other spots.

"I have taken penicillin tablets, Vitamin C concentrate and a mouth wash. All work temporarily, then the infection reappears. My dentist calls the infection trench mouth.—J.H. Jr."

The germ which causes trench mouth exists in all normal mouths. It causes trouble when dental disease lets it penetrate beyond the normal surfaces of the mouth. Usually that means some dental problem below the gum level. Therefore local treatment — lozenges, mouth washes and all the rest, are of only temporary value if effective at all.

Special attention to whatever dental defect permits the invasion of the germ is the way to get at the problem. (People without teeth don't have trench mouth.)

NOTE TO MRS. B.T.G.: A lesion is not a disease. According to the dictionary, it is "a hurt, an injury, any morbid change in the structure or organs or parts." A sore elbow, a spot on a lung, a cut finger, a swollen gland — anything that isn't the way Nature originally planned it is a lesion.

Hemorrhoids can be cured! If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching and other rectal problems, write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper requesting a copy of my booklet, "The Real Cure For Hemorrhoids," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Business Words

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Don't say "off season." Say "thrift season" or "economy season."

This can make all the difference in the world for a summer resort, G. Raymond Wood, executive director of the Southern New Jersey Development Council, told a civic group.

"The phrase 'off season' has an indication that there is nothing doing," he said.

Weighty Display

SEATTLE (AP)—Wonder what a million stacked dollars look like?

Northwest Historical Medals Inc., of Walla Walla, Wash., may show you at the Seattle World's Fair next year.

The biggest bugaboo may be the weight problem. The million would weigh about 63,000 pounds—heavy enough to collapse an ordinary floor.

Camera Shyness Is A Rare Affliction

Comparatively few folk are camera shy.

Generally, if you point a camera in their direction, they freeze into a pose and very likely stare right at the lens until the picture is taken. It doesn't do much good, usually, to ask that they make like they are looking at a paper, examining a picture or just sort of talking to one another. Folks just want to look right at the camera, and there's very little you can do about it.

I remember it used to be the custom to take "panorama" shots of big groups. The photographer would line up the subjects, focus his camera and start it operating. The camera would revolve slowly on an axis and the lens would swing along the entire line of men, women and children.

CUTUPS USED to pull fast ones on these old time photogs. They would take a place in the back line of the group, pose while the lens scanned their segment. Then, ducking down back of the lines, they would race 15 feet along the way the camera was moving. They would pose at this point and wait for the slowly moving lens to reach them. Then off they'd go to another point still further along the line.

The result was the somewhat bewildering discovery that the smart alec's grinning face would appear from three to five times in the finished photograph. When the task came to list the names of those in the picture, it sometimes messed things up.

THERE USED to be a young man in my old home town who was the world's most camera-shy character. It so happened that he was extremely wealthy, benevolent and much in the forefront as a civic leader. As a result, there were numerous occasions when we needed his picture in the newspaper.

Unfortunately, we had no picture of him on file. And when we would send out a cameraman to get a picture, he would come back empty-handed. The publisher posted a notice on the bulletin board that a bonus would be paid for any useable photograph obtained of this young leader.

Every reporter and photographer on the staff determined to collect that bonus. I have shot up a lot of film myself trying to get the subject when he wasn't aware of my intentions. Sometimes I would spot him in a group of other men and casually focus and shoot at the group.

WHEN I developed the negative I'd find he had stepped back of one of his companions or had ducked his head. Anyway, we never got a picture we could file and no one ever collected the bonus.

A little over a year ago, this young man died suddenly. He left a tremendous fortune and there were many requests from other newspapers and from wire services for his picture.

And the odd thing about it was—there just weren't any pictures.

Fortunately, for newsmen, such fellows are few.

John Q. Begs In Vain For Guidance

Is it too much to hope that the White House and national headquarters of Civil Defense pulled their respective heads out of the sand sufficiently long the other evening to view CBS's "The Balance of Terror"?

If any of the parties of the first part were looking and listening to this hour-long program on civilian survival in atomic war, surely they could not fail to get the message that:

(1) To date, civil defense has been and is a gigantic boondoggle and disastrous flop; and

(2) American citizens, from coast to coast, are begging for leadership and direction toward survival.

THAT PROGRAM showed both the American people and television at their best. And, not surprisingly, it showed the people light-years ahead of the politicians in their understanding of the horrendous problems of survival and in their sturdy willingness to do something concrete if only the government will give leadership and guidance.

"Town hall" meetings in Tuscon, Ariz., and Lyons, Kan., showed citizens fully cognizant of the dangers of atomic war. Here were informed, nonhysterical men and women, "puzzled and without direction," asking only that the federal government, after all these years, tell them the truth, devise an intelligent program and train citizens for survival.

Sometimes grammar went by the board, but there was a touching eloquence and a hardheaded intelligence on the part of men and women who spoke up at the community meetings. It showed a people frustrated by lack of intelligent planning or leadership at both the Federal and state level.

EARLY IN THE PROGRAM there was a moving testimonial to the humaneness and decency that we like to believe are American characteristics. In the Tucson community meeting, a tieless man in a sports shirt murdered syntax.

But never doubt his eloquence as he explained that he is building a shelter for 50 persons. He didn't have any particular 50 persons in mind, he said, and added that there wouldn't be nobody with no guns to keep nobody out in an emergency.

IN ONE MUTILATED sentence that good man disposed of all the savage suggestions of recent weeks that the man with a back-yard shelter must stock his molehill with guns and ammunition to keep out the neighbors' children. It was nobly echoed by others throughout the program.

Certainly the hero of this program as it unfolded was the average American citizen, neither hysterical, apathetic, uninformed nor complacent. The citizen of Tucson, a city of 250,000 persons soon to be ringed by 18 Titan missile bases, knows that in case of a direct hit by a 10-megaton bomb nothing is going to save him.

But if the enemy missile is off target, the resident of Tucson wants leadership from his government in protection from fallout and training for survival in an atomic-devastated world he can scarcely imagine.

IT IS THE SAME with the people of Lyons, Kan. They know that geography no longer protects them; that they are as vulnerable as the people of New York or Tucson.

The program added up to an urgent but dignified plea for Federal leadership in survival. It also added up to a damning indictment of the civil defense setup that has made a mockery of the whole business for more than a decade. One of the sorriest parts of the program was Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara passing the buck right back to the citizen even as the latter begged for guidance.

Surely, the government cannot much longer sweep this problem under the rug.

Something New In Psychologal Diversion

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — The New Frontier's political road show, allas the White House Regional Conference, rolled into the midland city on the same day that President Kennedy's political Juggernauts were winning impressive and strategic victories in New York City and New Jersey.

The main difference between the two events deserves to be remarked. The Regional Conference, at least as it came off in this one of 12 selected cities, is psychological warfare. The crunching victories of Mayor Robert Wagner and Governor-elect Richard Hughes are overt battlefield triumphs.

IN BOTH CASES the New Frontier asserted itself beyond all dubiety to be a major political power. It showed itself capable of waging total war on various fronts. It demanded to be taken in all earnestness by its opponents and by interested bystanders who hope some day to witness its downfall.

To put a blunt edge on the matter, the Kennedy machine has an unblushing and diabolical virtuosity. The like of it hasn't been in evidence since the New Deal was in its prime, and maybe JFK surpasses FDR iin certain uses of strength, subtlety and sheer audacity.

The President's immensely clever touch in New Jersey was to make a virtue of the fact that Candidate Hughes was seemingly an underdog—as was Kennedy early in the 1960 election contest. The St. Louis Regional Conference was blandly described by an off-record Frontiersman as being a parade of domestic subjects and functionaries intended to distract the American public's attention from the disastrous matters and distrait personalities that relate to foreign affairs.

THIS MAY BE something almost new, and certainly very rare, in the art of government. The classic move is for a ruler with troubles at home to throw attention to a foreign devil. Trotted out to expound vague subjects were the blameless ministers: Postmaster General Day, Interior Secretary Udall, Commerce Secretary Hodges, Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Ribicoff.

When I left Washington for St. Louis on Nov. 7 and found myself on the same plane with Secretary Hodges, who had left Japan only two days before, Nov. 5. The Commerce Secretary, an elder of sixty-some years in the youthful Cabinet, was plainly fatigued. Yet in a late recasting of the show, involving considerable strain and inconvenience upon Mr. Hodges he came to beam upon the businessmen, because of a slow burn of welfare exhibits at tax payers expense.

I ASKED three usherettes where they were employed. One was in the Army Department, one was in Social Security, one in Unemployment Compensation. Two other girls desultorily gesturing toward the main hall of the Kiel Auditorium told me they were members of a high school Ethical Society. A Negro youth, serving as an attendant, said members of his class were also excused. The publicist in charge of the sessions turned out to be an employe of the Federal Aviation Agency in Washington. It would be needlessly unkind to name one of many publicly-paid persons, pulled off their jobs for a stint of political promotion.

But the faults observable at close range probably do not take much away from a production that was staged for nationwide effect. The canned speeches of the Cabinet members, the benevolence of the minor characters who hosed smaller study groups with propaganda, the coverage of many news stories and pictures, probably accomplished just what the promoters intended—they caused the people to count their blessings, on hand and on promise, and to enjoy a degree of escape from visions of more distant horrors.

TB Testing Extensive

The Fierro children, Rosalinda, Lupe, Eusebio Jr., Jesse and Eduardo, talk with Bo Bowen, County Health nurse, about their mother, Consuelo Fierro, who is a tubercular patient at McKnight Hospital. Eusebio explains that his mother will visit them Christmas. In discussing the mother's illness, Miss Bowen tries to establish the source of the disease. This also requires extensive testing and is a part of the program carried out through the Howard County TB Association. The 1961 drive for the county is now in progress.

ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

There is absolutely nothing like a Toastmistress Club for curtailing the amount of time a woman can talk. Only here can the timer call them from the floor and make it stick. Also, without fear of hurting the feelings of a member and friend, a speaker may be told where she has made mistakes and has been redundant in her use of words. Only one such organization now exists in Big Spring and the membership is not large but the Tall Talkers have a world of fun as well as improving their ability to deliver talks and conduct meetings.

Toastmistress Club Elects New Officers

Mrs. Leonard Einstein was elected president of the Tall Talkers Toastmistress Club Monday evening at the meeting in the Officers Club at Webb AFB.

Others who will serve the six months period are Mrs. Robert Chepolis, vice president; Mrs. Ronald Stors, secretary; Mrs. Albert Freeman, treasurer; Mrs. Caribel Laughlin, club representative.

Guests were Mrs. Charles W. Head, Mrs. Richard J. Wright, Mrs. Betty Ray Clifton, Mrs. Jim Click, Mrs. E. W. Dozier and Mrs. Joe Pickle.

Mrs. Laughlin, topic mistress, chose to speak on home types and their decor. Impromptu talks were made by Mrs. Leland Younkin, Mrs. Philip Smotherman and Mrs. Freeman concerning furnishings for various type houses.

The program on opening and timing a meeting was moderated by Mrs. Einstein. Mrs. Hollis Smith spoke on "Themes, Aims and Opening Exercises," and Mrs. Frank Meacham told of the timer's responsibilities. Mrs. Smotherman evaluated the speeches and Mrs. Freeman was grammarian. Mrs. Younkin was general evaluator and also received the boner award.

Mrs. Einstein reported the possibility of organizing a Toastmistress Club at the Big Spring State Hospital and the club voted to invite Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent, and a panel of doctors to attend a meeting to discuss the plan. Members brought cookies which will be taken to the hospital for the patients.

A report on the council meeting held recently in Clovis, N. M., was given by Mrs. Smith.

Luncheon Honors Mrs. Taute

An Oriental tree centered the luncheon table Monday, when Mrs. August Taute was honored by Wing Headquarters Wives. The tree, having detachable ornaments for use on various occasions, was given to Mrs. Taute, who is to leave soon for Del Rio, where she will join her husband, Colonel Taute.

Held at WAFB Officers Club, the candlelit luncheon table was spread with pink linen cloth and featured Oriental figurines.

Twenty-seven wives were present and were served champagne punch prior to the luncheon. Also, Mrs. Taute received an orchid from Mrs. Charles Smith, chairman of Wing Headquarters Wives.

Mrs. Cain Heads Trainman Ladies

Monday evening in Carpenters Hall, a meeting of Trainman Ladies was held and officers elected. Mrs. A. J. Cain was named president; Mrs. W. C. Moore, vice president; Mrs. Albert G. Smith, secretary; Mrs. Frank Powell, treasurer; Mrs. C. L. Lumpkin, chaplain.

Also, Mrs. Joe Nixon, conductress; Mrs. C. W. Kesterson, warden; Mrs. J. H. Eastham, inner guard; Mrs. A. L. Welch, outer guard; Mrs. Della Hicks, pianist; Mrs. Cain, delegate; Mrs. Nixon, alternate.

G. C. Ragsdale was elected counselor.

Mrs. Nixon served as conductress and Mrs. Cain, chaplain, in the absence of regular officers. After the business session, refreshments were served by Mrs. Della Hicks and Mrs. Effie Meadors and their groups. Autumn flowers centered the refreshment table which was spread with lace cloth over yellow satin.

Unity Topic Of Guild Speaker

The Rev. Joe Leatherwood discussed "Christian Unity" as featured speaker for a meeting of Martha Wesleyan Service Guild, Monday evening in the parlor of the First Methodist Church.

The Ecumenical theme featuring a cross formed the worship center. This was flanked by the circular emblem of the World Council of Churches and the triangular emblem of the Methodist World Council. An open Bible was placed in the foreground.

Members agreed a gift would be sent this week to Brookhollow Home for Retired Deaconesses, Asheville, N. C.

All were asked to bring food this week to the chairman of Christian Social Relations, Mrs. W. D. McDonald. The food will go into a Thanksgiving basket for a needy family.

Refreshments were served to 22 members by the hostesses, Twila Lomax, Mrs. R. L. Penney and Mrs. M. R. Turner.

Granger Speaker At Supper Meeting

Seventeen young people of the Park Methodist Church were entertained with a spaghetti supper Monday night at the church and heard a discussion of problems in Guatamala by a former resident.

Guest speaker was A.2.C. Edward Granger, stationed at Webb AFB, who formerly made his home in Guatamala. He answered questions on the churches, schools, politics and living conditions in Guatamala. Another guest from Webb was A.3.C. Jim Cole.

Mrs. Elvin Bearden opened the meeting with prayer and the group prayed in unison at the conclusion.

Cosden Club Duplicate Reported

Winners of weekly players in Cosden Country Club Duplicate, Sunday, were North-South, Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow and Mrs. Ed Hartstein, first place; Mrs. Truman Jones and Mrs. Hudson Landers, second; Mrs. Charles Tompkins and Mrs. Tom South, third; Mrs. E. L. Powell and Mrs. Elmo Wasson, fourth.

East-West, Mrs. Ward Hall and Mrs. Bill Emerson, first; Mrs. John Stone and Mrs. J. H. Holloway and Mrs. L. G. Nalls and Mrs. Fern Durham, tied for second and third; Mrs. Ray McMahen and Mrs. D. W. Hall, fourth.

Credit Club Has Dinner

A pre-Thanksgiving dinner was the entertainment for members of the Women's Credit Club when they met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. C. O. Nalley.

Places were laid for 19 members at the table laid in white linen and centered with a turkey fashioned of chrysanthemums in varying hues. Pink candles were also used for table decoration.

The Christmas party will be held on Dec. 11 at the home of Mrs. J. B. Apple.

New Credit Women's manuals were distributed.

Members brought dominoes and checkers to be distributed at the Big Spring State Hospital.

Dinner Party Planned By Noble Grands

A Christmas dinner party was planned when the Past Noble Grand Club, of Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284, met at the home of Mrs. J. R. Petty Monday night.

Names were drawn for a gift exchange to be held during the party, Dec. 9, at the home of Mrs. Earl Wilson, 2304 Roberts Drive. Husbands will be guests.

It was decided to buy six glass candle holders for the lodge rooms, after which the business meeting was adjourned.

The game "42" was played and refreshments served to 17 members during the social hour. Mrs. Petty was assisted in serving by Mrs. Gene Crenshaw.

Baptist Circles Meet In Homes Of Members

Circles of the First Baptist Church met in the homes of members Monday for study and worship.

Christine Coffee Circle met in the home of Mrs. D. G. Harris. Opening the meeting, Mrs. Dick Lane read the missionary prayer list and Mrs. W. B. Younger led the group in prayer.

A devotion on Russian Baptists and their difficulties in worshiping and attending church, was given by Mrs. Jack Swearingen. A letter was read from Mrs. Coffee, the circle's namesake, in Inglewood, Colo. Six members were present and a guest, Mrs. Younger, WMU president.

The closing prayer was offered by Mrs. J. P. Dodge. The circle will meet again Dec. 11, in the home of Mrs. Lane, 1724 Yale.

MARY HATCH

Mrs. T. K. Price led members of the Mary Hatch Circle in a program when the group met at the home of Mrs. C. O. Hitt.

"The Eyes of the World" was the topic of the study and parts were taken by Mrs. Price, Mrs. Hitt, Mrs. J. E. Brown and Mrs. Irvin Daniels and Mrs. A. E. Underwood. Mrs. Hitt read the call to prayer and Mrs. Daniels read the prayer calendar and offered prayer for the missionaries.

Plans were discussed for participation in the activities for the diamond jubilee celebration of the church and members were asked to bring cookies for the Sunday afternoon tea.

Mrs. Price announced a leadership training course for Baptist WMU members over the city to be held at the First Baptist Church on Thursday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Those attending will bring a sack lunch.

Mrs. Dennis Observes Birthday

Observing her 88th birthday, Mrs. Nancy Luce Dennis received guests and gifts Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bill Davidson, 4130 Connally. Sharing the birth date, Nov. 11, with his mother, Elbert Dennis was also honored at the Sunday reception.

Mrs. Dennis is the mother of 14 children, eight of whom are still living and were present for the observance. Others present included several grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Children are Elbert and Floyd Dennis and Mrs. Davidson, all of Big Spring; Luther Dennis of Nolan; Alfred Dennis of Plains; Mrs. John Mayes of Abilene; Mrs. B. E. Whitman of Lubbock; Mrs. E. G. Thrower of Warren.

Grandchildren are Burl, Raymond, Sammie, Betty, and Carol Dennis, Dempsy Mayes and Juanita Wheeler. Merlee Dennis and Allen Ray Wheeler are great-grandchildren.

Sooners May Have 'Turned Corner'

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Has Oklahoma turned the corner from failure to success as the 1961 college football season nears its close?

Those who've seen the Sooners win their last two games, after losing the first five, think so, particularly after a crisp 7-0 victory last Saturday over heavily favored Missouri.

"You can definitely say that Oklahoma is on the way back," Army scout Bill Rowe said today. He has seen the Sooners play four times—two won and two lost—in preparation for Army's game at New York's Yankee Stadium against the Sooners this Saturday.

"Oklahoma has a solid defense," he went on. "It is typical of the Oklahoma teams of the past—they go right out there and try to eat 'em up. It has a solid line, one of the best in the country.

"No sir, there's nothing wrong with the Sooners—they just had an off-year and had to meet some tough competition but they're on the way back."

Those close to the Oklahoma scene feel that the NCAA probation imposed in 1960 hurt the recruiting program.

"Bud Wilkinson has done the best coaching job of his life this year because he's had to," OU publicist Harold Keith told the New York Football Writers Monday. "He's been forced to use kids who last year couldn't make the traveling squad, or just were not good enough to win a letter. And he's had to use them against opposition as fine as we've ever had in the Big Eight Conference."

Wilkinson has also been plagued by injury problems, and when these diminished, along with the emergence of Bob Page as a take-charge quarterback, his fortunes began to turn for the best. Against Army this week, he is expected to have tackle Bill White off the injury list. White is considered OU's best player.

The Cadets will be without No. 1 quarterback Dick Eckert, who reinjured an ankle last Saturday against William & Mary.

Minnesota, hot on the trail for a repeat of its 1960 national championship, will have halfback Jim Cairns off the injury list for this week's Big Ten game against Purdue. Coach Darrell Royal of the top-ranked Texas Longhorns said he still didn't expect fullback Ray Poage to be ready for this week's game against Texas Christian.

Notre Dame, which meets Syracuse this week, may not have tackle Roger Wilke and fullback Dick Naab because of injuries but end Jim Kelly, out for the last two games, is expected to be ready. Orange center Bob Stem is in the questionable category.

Quarterback Bill Mrukowski and end Chuck Bryant of Ohio State were expected to be ready for the game against Oregon. Columbia, which can gain at least a share of the Ivy League title by beating Penn this week, is expected to have fullback Tom O'Connor in the lineup.

In the do-it-yourself category: Clay Stapleton, Iowa State coach, said after his team lost two in a row for a 4-4 record, "If we lose a couple more games I'll go hang myself in effigy and beat the students to it."

With his tailback Dave Hoppmann, the nation's total offense leader, hampered with a sprained ankle, Stapleton blanched at the thought. But Hoppmann figures to be ready for this week's game against Tulsa.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Sports dialogue:

MURRAY WARMATH, Minnesota football coach:

"You don't need to scout a team to know they run their best man when it counts. That's just sound football. You go with their tendancies. Everybody does this. This is the way you coach. The only thing different about me is that I get credit for being four times more conservative than the others."

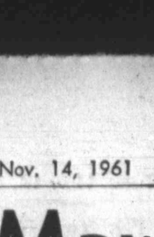

* * * *

BILL SKOWRON, New York Yankee first baseman:

"Yogi Berra will make a great manager someday. He knows his baseball. He can catch a few throws from a pitcher and tell you right away whether he's got it that day or not."

* * * *

Boxer ARCHIE MOORE, discussing his technique for fighting Pete Rademacher, whom he knocked down six times before knocking him out recently:

CHAMBERLAIN

"My years of operating a yo-yo came in good stead."

* * * *

LOS ANGELES TIMES:

"The sports oddity of the year has to be Chuck Rotar's earthquake-moved ball in the Orange County Open Golf tournament. The shake caused his ball to roll down a slope near the green into a lake. So a potential three became a six. Rotar finished with a 288, just one stroke out of the money."

* * * *

JIM MURRAY, California writer:

"Wilt Chamberlain of the Philadelphia Warriors towers so high in the air people need oxygen to climb up and whisper in his ear. He has to shout to be heard by a guy standing right next to him and they have to send his lunch up by dumb-waiter. Chamberlain was so good last year that basketball was ready to start a fund to have him declared a national monument—the highest peak on the Atlantic Seaboard—and have TV stations transfer their community antenna from the Empire State Building to Wilt's head. If he was heavier they could carve statutes of presidents on his north face. He's so tall, when he talks he gets an echo back."

* * * *

EARL RUBY, Louisville writer, discussing the recent reunion of the 1921 Centre College football team:

"The fellows recalled that three of their number—Bo McMillin, Norris Armstrong and Bill James—were playing their fifth year of college football when they engaged Harvard. The group governing football at the time ruled that the season of 1918, 'the war year,' wouldn't count as a year of eligibility. All had played as freshman, so the added season gave them five varsity years. Bill James coached 13 years at Texas A&M after leaving Centre, and three at Texas U. He now owns a 2,500-acre ranch in Texas and runs the biggest boys' camp in the west."

* * * *

JACK BEGUM, veteran fight manager:

"You know what killed boxing? Sugar Ray Robinson and television. And you can add honesty to the list. I don't mean honesty as in honest fights. I mean as in honest managers. There's too many Honest Johns in the business today. They don't know what's going on. I used to like the old guys. I don't care if they lied a little bit if they sounded honest. What I mean is, those guys lied from the heart. You know how Mickey Cohen got the fighter, Willie Joyce? He got him from George Trafton. He used to go to Trafton and slip $1,000 in his pocket and say, 'I won two grand and we're partners. Here's your half.' Naturally, Trafton takes it. This happens two, three times. Then one night, Joyce blows a fight. Cohen comes around, looking sad. 'Partner,' he says, 'We blew $15,000 tonight. I put you down for half.' Trafton is trapped. He's been taking the money. 'Take the fighter,' he says to Mickey. That's what I mean by the old days. I used to be in this business when it was a business. There were 400 promoters and not a one of them got out of bed before 6 o'clock at night. You never found a promoter before midnight. You called them up with coins that had strings on them because, what the hell, the phone company had enough money . . . Football! Kids want to be football players. You got to go to Hungaria to get fighters. But football! Ten guys on you instead of one."

Baylor Goes Off Salary Shortly

ELGIN BAYLOR

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When Elgin Baylor reports to Fort Lewis, Wash., as an Army medical corpsman Nov. 26 he will go off salary as a $50,000-a-year Los Angeles Laker basketball star and draw $85-a-month from Uncle Sam.

Baylor, 26, signed a five-year personal services contract with Laker owner Robert E. Short this year, calling for $250,000. General Manager Louis R. Mohs said a new contract, probably for the same duration and same terms, will be negotiated when Baylor completes his year of service.

Baylor was the high scorer with 39 points Monday night as the Lakers beat the Chicago Packers, 127-113, and extended their lead in the Western division of the National Basketball League race. The Lakers now are 10-2. It was the ninth loss in 11 games for the Packers, who were led by Walt Bellamy's 30 points.

Baylor was getting his affairs in shape today, for he plays his last game at home Wednesday. He recently bought a home here.

"I've been with this club for four years and I thought this was the year we had a chance for the championship," says Baylor.

"I had hoped I could play out the season, but since I have to go I'm no different than any other guy who is called up by the Army."

"Elgin has six more games to play with us before he leaves," said Coach Fred Schaus. "We're not dead. We'll carry on just as we have until Elgin leaves, then make the necessary adjustments.

"Of course, we'll miss Baylor's 35 points a game, but his rebounding is even more important to us. He's been getting 20 a game, and we'll have to depend upon Howard Jolliff and the rookie, Wayne Yates."

Yates is 6-8, Jolliff 6-7.

Tom Hawkins will take over Baylor's forward job. He was captain of Notre Dame's basketball team in his senior year and has been with the Lakers two years. He is 6-5.

GRIDDERS, PEP SQUAD WILL BE QBC GUESTS AT 7:30 TONIGHT

Members of the 1961 Big Spring High School football team and the pep squad will be special guests at tonight's meeting of the Quarterback Club, which again will be held in the high school cafeteria starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Jimmy Felts and Roy Bennett, co-captains of the club, have called this Steer Loyalty Night and all fans who have watched the Longhorns play are being urged to be in attendance.

Felts said he was hopeful the largest crowd of boosters this season would be in attendance.

A scouting report on the Steers' final opponent, San Angelo, will be given and a film of last week's game with Abilene will be offered, along with a commentary by head coach Emmett McKenzie.

San Angelo has already clinched a spot in the playoffs but need the win over Big Spring to nail down sole posession of first place.

The Steers, who have already experienced a fine season, could add frosting to the cake by belting the brawny Bobcats.

Coffee and cookies will be served to those attending tonight's conclave.

Buddy Dial Is Always At Best Against Giants

PITTSBURGH (AP) — There's something about the New York Giants which usually brings out the best in Buddy Dial, the pass catching dynamo of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Dial was once the valuable property of the Giants — a top draft choice, no less. But he was released before playing a league game because, as he puts it, "They just didn't think I was professional material."

"I don't hold any grudge," Dial said in recalling the incident. "It just makes me want to beat them more. I want them to know they made a mistake."

Dial, one of the most dangerous pass receivers in the National Football League, will get another chance to harass his old employers at Yankee Stadium Sunday.

"I seem to always have good days against the Giants," Dial said. "The most satisfying game I ever played was against New York in my rookie year. It was my first start, I think, and I gained something like 146 yards and a touchdown on six catches. We got beat but that was one of my greatest moments in sports. I proved to them I could play pro ball."

Dial doesn't have to do any more convincing—to anyone. In nine games this year, he has snatched 36 aerials for 785 yards and nine touchdowns.

The nine TDs are best in the league for pass receivers this season as is his single game yardage total of 235 yards against the Cleveland Browns. Both marks either tied or broke Steeler club records.

Dial almost didn't become a Steeler. In fact, he almost quit football altogether.

"I was never so doggone discouraged as after the Giants cut me," Dial said. "And when I heard I had been claimed by the Steelers I was scared to death to come to Pittsburgh. I was especially afraid of Bobby Layne whom I played with at the Hula Bowl."

But it didn't take Dial long to realize that Layne would be the most instrumental man in his career.

"Bobby has taught me more football since I've been here than I learned the rest of the time I've been playing football. That man is a real gentleman and a real fine athlete."

Actually, it was Layne who recommended Dial to Steeler coach Buddy Parker. And in Parker's estimation, Dial is one of the best pass receivers he has ever seen.

Dial is from Rice. Layne was a University of Texas star.

Angelo Ducats Go On Sale

Tickets for the Big Spring—San Angelo football game here Friday night will go on sale at the School Business Office at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday.

The adult ducats are priced at $1.50 each while the student tickets retail for 30 cents each, if purchased prior to game time.

Don Crockett of the School Business Office said this morning that 1,644 adult and 1,500 student tickets had been forwarded to San Angelo.

A large turnout is anticipated by school officials, since both teams have experienced fine seasons and are traditional rivals. San Angelo has already clinched a spot in the playoffs and local fans could be seeing the No. One Class AAAA team in the state.

The Bobcats, coached by Emory Bellard, have consistently been rated second and third in most state polls.

5-B Champ Will Play In Snyder

Grandfalls-Royalty, champion of District 5-B eight-man football, will tangle with Oklaunion in bi-district competition at Snyder at 8 p.m. Friday.

Oklaunion is Titlist of District 7-B.

Barnes Top Defensive Back, Says McDonald

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Tommy McDonald, the fleet flanker back of the Philadelphia Eagles, rates Erich Barnes of the New York Giants the best defensive back he has met this year.

The figures back up McDonald. With the 26-year-old former Purdue star shadowing him at every move, McDonald caught only three passes for 26 yards against the Giants in their National Football League game Sunday, won by New York 38-21. In eight previous games, he caught 40 for 628 yards, an average of 15.6 yards.

"The way the Giants played against us they would have beaten any team in the country," McDonald said at the New York Football Writers luncheon. "This Giant club is five times better than last year's team. More offensive punch and that same old defense.

"Barnes did a job on me but I dropped four passes. It was my fault. I have no excuses. There is nobody to blame but myself. This time we are going home with our head between our legs. But we play them again (Dec. 10) in Philadelphia."

The battered Giants were gathering themselves for another big effort Sunday against a Pittsburgh team that always rises to the heights against New York.

Word from the hospital ward was that defensive backs Dick Nolan and Billy Stits, both out of action due to dislocated shoulders will be lost for two or three weeks. Jack Stroud, a bulwark on the offensive line at guard, also will miss the next two or three games due to a recurrence of an old injury to his right knee.

With Nolan and Stits out, the Giants are down to four defensive backs for the Steelers. Allan Webb, who normally specializes in running back kicks, took over Sunday against the Eagles in the safety spot.

The Giants must make some maneuvers during the week to beef up the defensive backfield. At this date, they cannot expect a waiver deal from any other club in the league. One possibility might be to move Joe Morrison, an offensive back, to the defense for at least emergency duty. Del Shofner, the top pass catcher, also was used on defense at Los Angeles.

With only five more games to play, the Giants now head into the rugged part of their schedule. After Sunday's home game with Pittsburgh, they go on the road to play Cleveland, Green Bay and Philadelphia before ending the regular season at home against Cleveland, Dec. 17.

TO BEAT TEXAS

Frogs Will Need Luck Saturday

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—It will take a lot of luck and a supreme effort to beat Texas Saturday, says coach Abe Martin of Texas Christian.

He declares he has no special gimmicks in mind nor does he plan any special preparation of his Horned Frogs for their meeting with the nation's No. 1 team at Austin.

"I don't think any of this inspirational stuff like putting clippings on the dressing room wall, making flowery speeches or talking about upsets of the past can have any effect on present day football players," he said.

Reminded that the Texas Christian Horned Frogs of 1941 upset Texas when it was the nation's No. 1 team and had won seven straight games, Martin said:

"My boys read the papers and this has been in them several times. But they weren't even born when that happened and I doubt that they will get any particular inspiration from it. I wouldn't insult their intelligence by telling them they should try to emulate 1941.

"Texas is one of the great teams of the nation and one of the finest teams I have seen since I started coaching in the Southwest Conference in 1945. It is well-balanced, has great speed, great defense, great offense and if there is a weakness I have not been able to discover it."

Martin said there's always the chance to win a football game against the greatest.

"Even if they have more experience and speed than we do, we know we may be able to offset that somewhat with a great effort," he said. "But my boys have been putting out a great effort every game so I would say that they'll have to have a lot of luck and the ball will have to bounce just right if they beat Texas. The odds are stacked against us."

The Frogs will be in good shape comparatively speaking. "We are bruised some but not as badly as in the Baylor game (Baylor beat Texas Christian 28-14) and I believe my boys are ready to put up a good fight."

He said, "We are playing this just like any other game. If we win it it will be wonderful but it won't be because we pulled that upset in 1941. Heck, my boys don't even know anybody who played on that team."

ENEMY HAS BIG EDGE

Rushing Figures Belie Steer Won-Lost Record

The Big Spring Steers have yielded rushing yardage at an average of 163 yards a game and passing gains averaging 68 yards per start, yet have managed to win seven of nine starts this year.

The locals have given up a total of 1,466 yards in rushing gains and an additional 612 paces through the air.

They have gained 965 yards rushing and added an additional 1,136 yards through the air for a total pickup of 2,101 yards—compared to 2,087 for the foe.

First downs favor the opposition, 117 to 105.

Jack Irons remains the leading ground gainer on the local club, having picked up 344 yards in 73 carries for a 4.7-yard average.

Jerry Tucker's passing gains total 1,044 yards. He has completed 71 of 145, ten of which have gone for touchdowns. His average gain figures out to 14.-7 yards.

Willie Mendoza's gains as the top pass receiver have gone for 441 yards, probably a record in District 2-AAAA. He has caught 22 (three less than has teammate James Gilbert), which have gone for an average gain of 18.8 yards.

Irons' punting average of 27 boots is a respectable 33.7 yards.

Worley Leads In Returns

DALLAS (AP) — Eight of the nine leaders in Southwest Conference football statistics held their places last week but the other—Lance Alworth of Arkansas—finally was dislodged as top man in punt returns.

Bill Worley of Texas Tech took over as he upped his average to 13 yards per runback compared to Alworth's 12. Worley, however, has made only seven returns compared to 23 for Alworth, who gobbled up 275 yards.

Jim Saxton of Texas and Jerry Rhome of Southern Methodist pulled well in front of their challengers in ball-carrying and passing respectively.

Saxton ran for 171 yards against Baylor and it increased his lead over teammate Jerry Cook to 227 yards. Saxton has amassed 706 yards and averaged 9.1 yards per carry.

Rhome threw 26 passes and connected on 17 for 141 yards and two touchdowns against Texas A&M, so he leads the league with 56 completions in 101 for 451 yards. Sonny Gibbs of Texas Christian is second, 10 completions behind. He has tried 87 passes.

Gibbs continued as the total offense leader with 830 yards on 142 plays.

Bob Witucki of Texas Tech leads the pass receivers with 20 catches for 252 yards. Babe Craig of Texas A&M tops the punters with a 37.9 yards avdrage.

Albany Favored In A Circles

DALLAS (AP) — If the Dallas News poll of the schoolboy football is borne out Jacksboro and Albany will win the Class AA and Class A championships.

The final poll today ranked those schools as No. 1 in the divisions with defending champion Denver City rated No. 2 in Class AA and with undefeated, untied Wink next to Albany in Class A.

Final polls in Classes AAAA and AAA will not come until next week. Wichita Falls tops the AAAA poll and Dumas AAA at this time.

The top 10 by classes:

Class AAAA: Wichita Falls, San Angelo, Corpus Christi Ray, San Antonio Jefferson, Fort Worth Paschal, Galena Park, Odessa Permian, Houston Milby, Ysleta, Spring Branch.

Class AAA: Dumas, San Benito, Gainesville, Breckenridge, Cleburne, Brownwood, Carthage, Bay City, Corsicana, Belton.

Class AA: Jacksboro, Denver City, Sweeny, Quanah, Brady, Hillsboro, Terrell, Plano, Floydada, Hearne.

Class A: Albany, Wink, Hull-Daisetta, Forney, Crowell, Rio Hondo, New London, Gruver, Kress, Seagraves.

Texas Keeps Top Spot

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas remained the No. 1 college football team in the country today in the weekly Associated Press football poll and in the process won over another half-dozen panelists.

Last week the Longhorns, now 8-0 and rushing toward the host spot in the Cotton Bowl, collected 35 first-place votes. This week, 41 members of the nationwide group of 47 sports writers and sportscasters placed them on top.

Alabama, also 8-0, continued a strong second, followed by Ohio State, 6-0-1, Louisiana State, 7-1, and Minnesota, 6-1. That's just how the top five looked a week ago.

Texas finished with 463 points on the basis of 10 points for first place, 9 for second and so on. Alabama had 401 and Ohio State 365. Alabama, which had six first-place votes a week ago, had three this time.

Georgia Tech and Missouri tumbled out of the top 10, while Purdue and Syracuse jumped into the select circle.

One unusual aspect of the poll this week was that two losers, Michigan State and Colorado, both hung on in the top 10. Usually, when a team loses it nosedives right into the also-rans.

The top teams with first-place votes in parentheses:

1.	Texas (41)	463
2.	Alabama (3)	401
3.	Ohio State (2)	365
4.	Louisiana St. (1)	336
5.	Minnesota	307
6.	Mississippi	234
7.	Purdue	101
8.	Colorado	61
9.	Michigan State	60
10.	Syracuse	47

Others receiving votes: Missouri, Georgia Tech, Maryland, Arkansas, UCLA, Kansas, Rutgers, Utah State, Duke, Wyoming, Utah, Michigan, Iowa, Notre Dame and Arizona.

Have The Virus?

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.

A virus is a poisoning chemical created when something goes wrong with its cellular chemistry during an illness.

Let's think of spoiled fish for a moment. It is poisonous. it contains a virus. It is spoiled because the cellular chemistry changes have created a virus that is deadly.

This virus is popularly looked upon as causing—rather than resulting from—an abnormal bodily condition.

Anyone who has fooled with a chemistry set knows that the slightest deviation from required measurements and processes will bring about unpredictable end results—and is sometimes disastrous.

Now consider the chemistry of our body. The glands within us are somewhat like factories or laboratories which produce our various chemicals. The controlling master chemist is the nervous system which regulates, correlates, and integrates all bodily processes.

Suppose this master chemist is unable to send proper vital messages to one of his many factories or laboratories, causing that factory or laboratory to create an inferior product or the wrong quantity. Then a hot nerve could set up a hot inflamed end plate that destroys cells. This disintegration of cells creates a virus like the spoiled fish. All because of an interference or disturbance in the nervous system. The proof lies in many clinical cases wherein virus ailments disappear readily after the nervous system is restored to normal — such as this one:

A forty-five-year-old woman had to leave her job with high fever and acute gastric symptoms. For two miserable days she suffered with frequent diarrhea, upset stomach, repeated vomiting, severe headaches and high fever. She was told by her physician she had a "virus attack." Her condition persisted despite all efforts. Being a former patient, she came in to see if we could help her. Her brother brought her in—she was so sick. Our examination and spinal analysis disclosed the faulty, hot and inflamed nerves responsible for her symptoms. Proper adjustments removed the offending pressures and as normal nerve transmission regulated "bodily processes" back to normal integration and function, her symptoms vanished.

If other doctors have made you well, you don't need us. If you are still suffering, our method might succeed. Wise readers are investigating. What can you lose except ill health? 1004 Eleventh Place (across from Piggly Wiggly). AM 3-3324. —Adv.

Forsan Buffaloes To Host Gail Cagers At 8:30 P.M.

FORSAN — The Forsan Buffaloes open their 1961-62 basketball season with an 8:30 o'clock game this evening, meeting the Gail Coyotes.

B teams of the two schools clash at 6 p.m. while the girls' contingents clash at 7:15 p.m.

James Blake coaches the boys' teams while Sue Garrett is the fems' mentor.

The Buffaloes finished with a 15-13 overall record last year and were third behind champion Sterling City and runnerup Sands in District 19-B standings.

Among boys who can expect to see action tonight for Forsan include David O'Brien, 5-8 sophomore; Jerry Morgan, 5-10 soph; Kenneth Soles, 6-0 soph; Tommy Evans, 5-11 junior; Walter Fields, 5-10 senior; Donnie Gooch, 5-11 soph; Danny Henry, 6-0 senior; and Hubert Bardwell, 5-11 junior.

O'Brien, Morgan and Soles were part-time regulars for the Buffs last year.

Probably starters for the girls' team are Betty Conger, 5-7 sophomore; Joyce Shoults, 5-4 senior; Bonnie Simpson, 5-4 junior, all forwards; and Darla Dunagan, 5-4 senior; Carla Hughes, 5-7 junior; and Lanell Overton, 5-6, junior, all guards.

AF Stresses Volleyball

The Air Force made it clear recently that it is literally "behind the volleyball." It is pushing it as a major sport, now that it has achieved Olympic game status.

Headquarters USAF is setting its sights on placing several airmen on the United States team that plays in the Olympic games in Tokyo in 1964. Actually, the first Air Force goal in representation at the 1963 Pan American games in San Pablo, Brazil.

Chances are good that some airmen will make both United States teams. One of the USAF personnel—often two—make the Volleyball All-American team each year. In 1959 the Air Force team won the AAU championship. This year the Air Force scored again, winning the all-service championship at Ft. Ord, Calif.

Played properly, volleyball is a team effort requiring grace, skill and split-second timing. Phil Hines, Webb AFB athletic officer, said in discussing the game. To help out base teams and individuals who want to achieve volleyball excellence, Personnel Services section has acquired a film which will be loaned out to the different base units.

Jimmy Ray Smith, athletic officer for the 3561st Student Squadron, has already checked out the film and is showing it to the student pilots at Webb. The film's duration is seven minutes.

With volleball becoming a major sport, Webb athletic officials will soon be announcing a revision of the Commander's Trophy point system. Bigger trophy points will be allotted to this area of competition—bringing volleyball up to a level of other major spectator sports.

Pro 11's Feud Over Star End

CHICAGO (AP) — The newest controversy between the rival professional football leagues centers around end Mike Ditka of the Chicago Bears who is heading for rookie honors in the National Football League.

John Breen, vice president of the Houston Oilers of the American Football League, charged Monday that Notre Dame Coach Joe Kuharich kept Ditka from talking contract with the Oilers and maneuvered him to the Bears.

"Absolutely ridiculous," said Kuharich when reached in South Bend, Ind.

"I have no knowledge of any college coach contacting Ditka on our behalf," said Bear owner-coach George Halas. "No part of Breen's story is consistent with the facts. One of the reasons we drafted Ditka was because he had told Art Rooney (owner of the Pittsburgh Steelers) that he wanted to play in the National Football League.

Ditka, an All-America at Pitt, is one of the National League's top pass receivers, having snared nine touchdown passes.

Breen, speaking at Chicago's American Quarterback Club, said "Kuharich spends half his time working for the Bears and if he devoted full time to his Notre Dame job his team probably would have a better record." (Notre Dame has a 4-3 record this season).

Moore Agreeable To Tokyo Fight

TOKYO (AP) — Featherweight champion Davey Moore, now a two-time winner in Japan, would like to defend his world title here a third time providing the price is right.

But before Japanese promoters sign him again, they'll probably have to find some other talent than Kazuo Takayama, the 25-year-old challenger Moore outpointed Monday night in a rough 15-round title bout.

Takayama, despite a nine-count knockdown in the 13th round, gave Moore, 28, a workout and befuddled the champ at times with his consistent rushing tactics.

But Takayama, defeated in August, 1960, by Moore in the champion's first Japan title fight, was not in the same class with the Springfield, Ohio, Negro despite a No. 3 ranking by the National Boxing Association.

FIGHT RESULTS

TOKYO—Davey Moore, 126, Springfield, Ohio, outpointed Kazuo Takayama, 125½, Japan, 15. (Moore retained world featherweight title).

NEW ORLEANS—Ralph Dupas, 147, New Orleans, outpointed Hilario Morales, 148, Mexico, 10.

NEW YORK—Lino Rendon, 169, Cuba, stopped Rory Calhoun, 171½, White Plains, N. Y. 2.

SAN FRANCISCO—Charlie Smith 146½, San Francisco, stopped Bobby Sanders, 146, San Francisco, 12.

SAN JOSE, Calif.—Cisco Andrade, 135, Los Angeles, stopped Al Medrano, 137, Sacramento, Calif., 6.

CHICAGO — Bobby Stinisto, 177, Cleveland, outpointed Jimmy Christopher, 174, Milwaukee, 8.

MIAMI — Tommy Schaffer, 138, Pittsburgh, stopped Willie Finney, 142, Miami, 8.

BANGKOK — Keowan Yontarakit, 132, Thailand, stopped Kang Shaw Sul, 152, Korea, 2.

Bryant Is Silent On Bowl Hopes

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Does Alabama want to go to the Rose Bowl?

That's the question everybody's asking Crimson Tide coach Paul Bryant these days. He isn't talking. But the question is the chief topic at the University of Alabama.

Actually, because of Southeastern Conference rules, Alabama can't officially accept a bowl bid until after its last game with Auburn Dec. 2.

But the Rose Bowl is a symbol of great Alabama teams, and mere mention of it recalls the Tide's glory days in the late 1920s and 1930s.

Alabama has been to the Rose Bowl more than any other eastern team—six times. The Tide has a 4-1-1 record in the Rose, and its last appearance at Pasadena resulted in a 34-14 victory over Southern California in 1946.

Alabama has made two appearances each in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, the Cotton Bowl at Dallas, the Orange Bowl at Miami, once in the Liberty Bowl at Philadelphia in 1959, and in the Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston, Tex.

As far as wanting to go to the Rose Bowl, all Bryant will say is, "They're all bowl games from now on out."

The unbeaten and untied Crimson Tide, ranked No. 2 nationally, meets Georgia Tech at Birmingham Saturday, and then Auburn Dec. 2, also at Birmingham.

Members of the Souther California chapter of the football writers association Monday voted for their preference for a Rose Bowl invitation. Alabama won, hands down.

Coach Bill Barnes, whose UCLA Bruins have the inside track as Big Five conference host for the New Year's Day game, was asked if he had a preference between Minnesota and Alabama.

"I'll tell you what I think—we play Washington this week," he said.

Published reports at New Orleans said Sugar Bowl officials are going all-out to land Louisiana State University and Alabama for the New Year's Day classic there.

One official was quoted as saying: "The pickings are slim if we can't match LSU and Alabama."

Pressure Is Building Up On Texas 11

By The Associated Press

What is an upset in football? Coach Abe Martin of Texas Christian says it couldn't be an upset when a good football team beats another good football team.

He disclaimed credit for upsetting Texas in 1958 and 1959 because he says he had good football players and he couldn't figure those were upsets.

But, adds the headman of the Horned Frogs, it'll be an upset Saturday if his team beats Texas, the nation's No. 1 outfit.

He wasn't predicting an upset but Coach Darrell Royal of Texas was thinking more about it.

Royal commented on how much the pressure builds up when a team keeps winning. And he pointed out that Texas had won eight in 1959 when it was whipped by Texas Christian.

And he drew the parallel—Texas this year has won eight straight, is No. 1 in the nation. And it's playing Texas Christian at Austin Saturday.

The psychological sparring took the emphasis off training throughout the league but the conference teams were hard at work Monday getting ready for the big games of the weekend—all except Texas Tech.

Coach J. T. King of Texas Tech rewarded his players with the day off because they beat Boston College 14-6 last week. Tech doesn't play this week, anyway.

Texas and Texas Christian generally were in good condition for their engagement although Texas had David Russell and Johnny Genung with back injuries. Both will probably be ready to play by Saturday.

There were contrasting reports from the camps of the Rice Owls and the Texas Aggies, who meet Saturday at Houston. Coach Jess Neely of Rice was cheered because his fullback, Roland Jackson, appeared to be recovered sufficiently from a hip bruise received in the Arkansas game, to play against Texas A&M at Houston Saturday. Neely expressed regrets, however, over the fact that halfback Lonnie Caddell would miss the game because of a broken nose.

Coach Jim Myers of Texas A&M had four players, two of them starting halfbacks, on the injury list from the Southern Methodist game. He wasn't sure the two, Jim Linnstaedter and Travis Reagan, would be available for the Rice game.

Arkansas plays Southern Methodist at Dallas but the Razorbacks couldn't get in a workout Monday because of rain. Coach Frank Broyles had them practice indoors and the reserve team ran some SMU plays.

Southern Methodist had three regulars out of action, and none of them may be ready to play Saturday. They were halfback Jimmy Reeves, tackle Jim Crowe and center Joe Miller. Assistant coach Ralph Hawkins gave the Mustangs a scouting report on Arkansas.

Baylor, which plays Air Force Academy at Waco, gave most attention to offense. Coach John Bridgers had been displeased with the execution. Baylor had three regulars out of action and question marks for Saturday. They were quarterback Bobby Ply, halfback Ronnie Goodwin and defen-

Keep That Fish, Biologist Says

Don't throw that fish back!

That was the warning of James Wilcox, San Angelo biologist who paid a professional visit to Webb's new man-made Mesquite Lake recently. Because the lake is overstocked, and in order to preserve and to control the normal growth, Wilcox suggested that all fishermen at the lake keep all fish caught, regardless of the size.

Wilcox also suggested to M. Sgt. Ethan L. Blankenship, custodian of the lake area, that he use sodium arsenite to kill the moss which is creating a problem. The expert said that when the lake had been cleaned out and the surplus fish caught, the size of the remaining fish would increase greatly; overstocking can stunt the growth of the fish. Wilcox also recommended that there be no more stocking of the lake for at least one year.

Titans Bidding For A Crown

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Billy Mathis, who had to build himself up so he could play fullback for the New York Titans, is in hot pursuit of the ball-carrying championship of the American Football League.

Mathis gained 127 yards last week as he led New York to a 23-12 victory over Oakland and that shoved him within 130 yards of the AFL leader, Paul Lowe of San Diego, who has played in one more game.

Mathis has gained 540 yards on 129 carries compared to Lowe's 670 in 143. He is 70 yards ahead of third-place Billy Cannon of Houston.

George Blanda of Houston retained his lead among the passers. Blanda has completed 96 throws out of 205 for 1,715 yards, Butch Songin of Boston is second with 84 of 176 for 1,224 yards.

Lionel Taylor of Denver snagged 10 passes against San Diego last week to maintain a long lead in receiving. He has caught 77 for 999 yards. Art Powell of New York is second with 54 for 667 yards.

Gino Capelletti of Boston added three points to make his scoring total 113—35 points better than second-place Bill Groman of Houston.

Mexican League May Stay Same

MEXICO city (AP)—The Mexican League probably will continue as a six-club circuit.

Tampico and Puerto Mexico had been expected to join the Class AA league but the latter ran into financial trouble.

NEWEST ENTRY IN THE LOW PRICE FIELD
THE NEW LEAN BREED OF DODGE

FULL-SIZE DODGE DART

You're looking at a full-size '62 Dodge that will out-scat, out-save just about anything running on gasoline. And it's priced down the line with Ford and Chevrolet.

Dodge Dart! An Action-Economy car that will accelerate 7% quicker than last year's comparable model and do it on 5% less gas. You've never driven anything like it! Handles neat and easy. Rides level and smooth on torsion-bar suspension. The brakes adjust themselves. The body is rust-proofed. You go 32,000 miles between grease jobs. Why not come in and drive the new lean breed of Dodge?

HERE'S HOW DODGE PRICES STACK UP AGAINST THE LOWEST PRICE MODELS OF OTHER FULL-SIZE CARS

DODGE DART	$2315.40
CHEVY BISCAYNE	$2324.00
FORD GALAXIE	$2453.00

Comparison based on manufacturer's suggested retail price of lowest priced full-size model including heater-defroster. Only white-walls, wheel covers and other optional equipment, state and local taxes, if any, and destination charge are extra.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"HELP! A WICKED OL' WITCH IS GONNA PUT ME IN A TUB OF BOILIN' WATER!"

We can change a VW engine in 90 minutes

Our VW mechanics can take out a VW engine and put in a factory-rebuilt engine in 90 minutes.

The point is, we have special VW hoists and tools and a full supply of spare parts and rebuilt assemblies. Most important, our mechanics know VW inside out.

Every VW mechanic receives postgraduate training in exacting VW Service methods from special instructors schooled at the factory. Moreover, he doesn't have to contend with a new line of cars and trucks every year. No wonder he's so expert. Come in soon and see for yourself.

De-Stalinization Blitzes E. Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany staged a blitz de-Stalinization during the night, renaming East Berlin's showplace boulevard and removing its statue of Stalin and countless other memorials to the late Soviet dictator.

This morning only workmen and debris remained as bulldozers cleared the square where East Berlin's bronze Stalin statue had stood since shortly after World War II.

Stalinallee, the broad, three-mile avenue that is East Berlin's main street, had fresh name signs—Karl Marx Allee—for half its length and Frankfurter Allee for the rest. Frankfurter Allee was the street's name before the Russians occupied East Berlin.

Stalinstadt, a major East German iron and steel town on the Oder River, was renamed Eisenhuettenstadt, or iron foundry town, according to a small front-page announcement in Neues Deutschland, organ of the East German Communist party.

The important Josef W. Stalin plant in Berlin Treptow was renamed "Electrical Apparatus Works Berlin-Treptow."

The dictator's name-changing was the first concrete sign of de-Stalinization in East Germany since condemnations of the dictator were made public from the Soviet Communist party congress last month and his body was removed from Lenin's tomb in Moscow's Red Square.

East Germany's regime is dominated by Communists of the Stalinist variety, led by Chief of State Walter Ulbricht. But Neues Deutschland on Sunday, in an article denouncing Stalin, asserted at great length that Ulbricht had never developed a personality cult or committed other Stalinist crimes.

GOP Sole Hope Says Tower

DALLAS (AP)—Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said Monday night the future of Western civilization depends on their party.

He spoke at a GOP fund-raising rally also addressed by Jack Cox, who seeks the Republican nomination for governor next year, and Rep. Bruce Alger, Dallas Republican.

Officials said more than 3,500 paid $5 each to attend.

Tower urged the audience to "think in more immediate terms than 1964."

Speaking of this year, he said: "We can win a majority of the seats in the House and enhance our position in the Senate. If we do it, and only then, we can elect a good sound Republican president in 1964—and perhaps save Western civilization."

Speaking of "the liberal establishment" in Washington, Tower said:

"For the most part it is a collection of eggheads . . . who see themselves as a new elite bent on subjecting the people to total dependence on state government."

Cox, the Breckenridge business man, ran for the Democratic nomination for governor two years ago.

"Plans are being made in Washington to destroy me personally," Cox said. "They are welcome to try. All I have is my family, my home and a small business in a tough field."

Alger told the crowd the GOP is "the only hope against the menace of communism and liberalism.

"I'm a Republican because I'm a conservative," Alger said. "The Democratic party is so married to the labor bosses and other liberals it can no longer be conservative."

Biddle Rites Set Thursday

WASHINGTON (ap) — Ambassador Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Jr. will be buried Thursday with military honors in Arlington National Cemetery.

Biddle, 64, U.S. envoy to Spain, died Monday in Walter Reed Army Hospital of a heart attack. He had been under treatment for lung cancer since his return from Madrid a month ago.

A member of a noted Philadelphia family, Biddle had held many diplomatic positions and served as an Army officer in both world wars.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk will head the State Department delegation attending the funeral at 3 p.m. Thursday in the chapel at Ft. Myer across the Potomac River from the capital.

Big Springers Pose With Changs

The Rev. and Mrs. Richard Deats counted a Sunday morning worship with Gen. and Madame Chaing Kai-shek as a highlight of their recent tour on Formosa and the offshore island of Quemoy. Mrs. Deats, the former Jan Baggett, and Rev. Deats, who are missionaries, were members of the Manila Concert Choir which made the trip.

Local Couple Worships In Chang's Chapel On Formosa

A young Big Spring couple, Methodist missionaries in the Philippines, has recently had a rare experience which included an audience with Gen. and Madame Chang Kai-shek on Taiwan (Formosa).

It all came about when the Manila Concert Choir made a series of appearances on Taiwan under the auspices of the Chinese Chambers of Commerce in the Philippines. Mrs. Richard Deats is accompanist for the choir, which had been appointed the personal goodwill ambassadors of the president of the Philippines. Her husband, the Rev. Richard Deats, became a member of the bass section of the choir.

Writing to their parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Deats and Mr. and Mrs. Rex Baggett of Big Spring, they recalled that "the highlight was Sunday when we worshipped in Chang Kai-shek's private chapel. Then he and the Madame posed for photographs with us. We sang three songs for them and they seemed very impressed.

BUSY SCHEDULE

"We sang six concerts in all and received tremendous ovations from the people. We were entertained royally with dinners being given the choir by the Congress, the national bank, the Philippine embassy, the ministry of foreign affairs, etc. We met and were given receptions by many of the government's highest officials.

"The meals were fabulous, around 15 courses served each meal in the best Chinese style. We even learned to eat easily with chop sticks.

ON QUEMOY

"We spent all day (one Saturday) on the offshore island of Quemoy where we sang two concerts for the troops at the front. This is the Berlin of Asai, being surrounded on three sides by the mainland China which lies only a few short miles away. We were flown in an Air Force plane, flying a zig zag course at low altitude in order to avoid Communist radar. We were taken into the underground installation tunnelled through the rocky terrain."

The island, with 200,000 troops on it, appears to be impregnable, but Rev. Deats had the impression that in event of Communist China attack on Formosa, the islands would be by-passed. He expressed the hope that the U.N. could neutralize the area to the extent of avoiding an all-out war.

"The Chinese have suffered so much in this century with war, revolution, aggression and finally by Communist rule," he said, adding that they felt they got an insight into at least a part of the Chinese situation.

LIKE INDIANS

A native tribe did some dances and songs for them, and they were surprised how much they resembled American Indians in their looks and customs, reminding us (as some authorities speculate) of the ancient past when the Indians migrated from Asia to the New World."

The choir, of which they were a part, was making its farewell appearances under Lois Florendo Bello, a pupil of Dr. John Finley Williamson, head of Westminster Choir College. In addition to being accompanist for the choir, Jan Deats is on the faculty of Harris Memorial School, the Mary Johnston School of Nursing and Union Theological Seminary. She is co-author of a beginners book for reed organ. Later this year she will be featured soloist with the University of the Philippines Symphony Orchestra. Rev. Deats, in addition to his missionary duties, also is on the seminary faculty. He makes numerous trips over the islands, speaking to mission schools and churches. Soon he is due to fly to India on a special trip. Rev. and Mrs. Deats have two small sons.

Sharp Increase In Gas Prices At Wellhead Said Mandatory

By MAX B. SKELTON

CHICAGO (AP)—An oil executive said today a sharp increase in the wellhead price of natural gas is mandatory.

Ira H. Cram, New York City, said federal price controls have curbed incentive to develop new supplies for a product for which demand is skyrocketing. He said federal controls have kept wellhead prices below competitive levels.

The vice president of Continental Oil Co. said he sees no hope for congressional approval of remedial legislation in the near future.

He said there is indication the current average wellhead price of 14 cents per 1,000 cubic feet will have to rise to 20 cents by 1965 and to 27 cents by 1970.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the statistical section of the American Petroleum Institute's 41st meeting, Cram acknowledged many variables make such increases subject to argument.

MUST COME

"However, under any reasonable assessment of the future," he said, "I have been unable to juggle the variables without concluding a substantial increase in the average wellhead price is mandatory."

Cram said a worldwide surplus of oil probably will keep the price of domestic crude oil at the current average of $2.88 a barrel through 1970. He said this means natural gas will have to provide a greater percentage of total wellhead revenue than in the past.

L. T. Potter, president of the Lone Star Gas Co., Dallas, said he believes the final solution to the regulation of field prices will involve some form of area pricing as now being developed by the Federal Power Commission.

AREA PRICING

Potter was chairman of an industry-wide task force which assisted in drafting remedial legislation. He told API's production division the pending Harris Bill (H.R. 7575) has at least one unfavorable provision but otherwise defines an acceptable basis for regulating field prices.

He said some form of area pricing, however, will prevail even if legislative changes are adopted.

"There is no question in my mind about the fact field prices for gas sold into regulated markets will be regulated and the only workable basis for such regulation is to be found in some form of area pricing application," he said.

CUT COSTS

A New York City investment banker said the domestic oil industry must cut costs if it is to compete successfully with more cheaply produced foreign oil.

Lyon F. Terry of Lehman Brothers said oil proration regulations need to be revised to encourage the drilling of fewer wells. He said many unnecessary wells are being drilled for the sole purpose of increasing production allowables.

"Such wells require a heavy and unnecessary expenditure as a result of our uneconomic well-spacing and allocation regulations which have not been substantially improved in years," he said.

U.S. Trade Deficit May Worsen Before Improving

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. deficit in international payments which has climbed to an annual rate of $3 billion may grow worse next spring before it gets better, government sources indicated today.

Administration officials do not expect anything like last year's speculative assault on the dollar, however, because measures already undertaken in its defense should by then be showing some results.

One major cause of the looming payments trouble, in fact, may be the rising prosperity of the United States, resulting in larger dollar outlays for imported goods and materials. This comes at a time when a business slowdown in Germany, England and Japan may cause their purchases here to decline.

The new balance of payments figures were issued Monday by the Commerce Department. They showed that U.S. payments abroad were nearly $800 million greater than its receipts from foreign countries in the third quarter of the year.
