STANDING ON THE CORNER

With P. J.

While we have a lot of fun in this column, its main objective is, and always has been, to provide food for thought. Some of the "food" has many times been slightly stale, or a bit moldy, we admit, but only when we try to put into words our own thoughts.

One of the best quotations that is both timeless and timely is this: "Life is too short to be little." After reading it, we are "supposed" to ask ourselves why we are content with the "little" things in life—why we don't strive toward those things of larger and unseen values.

This blank verse quoted by Rev. Bill Thompson last Sunday morning brought the same questions to the minds of the listeners:

Little keys, little keys
That unlock the little doors
To little visions, little delights—
That open them
To little pleasures, And little pains
That divine so little, Reveal so little
And yet there.

Beyond,
The great door, And the great locks;
The giant doors, And the giant locks
That the little keys
Will not unlock.

—Theodore Dreiser

A. N. Norman Jr. got a "kick" out of a bull session the other day. Literally, that is. A bull had a session with A. N. and although was unsuccessful in his attempt to puncture his knee with a well-aimed horn, did manage to pull a few ligaments in his leg.

A. N.'s red long handles must have been showing.

Orator: "All I am I owe to my dear old mother."

Heckler: "Why don't you pay her the 30 cents?"

Now with Little League and Pony League almost over, except we hope, for a successful showing in the play offs, eyes will be turning to football.

Before we take leave of the local baseball season, there are many boys and men in our midst that deserve a great deal of credit for working so unselfishly to provide a summer program for Tahoka's children.

It hasn't always been easy for the managers, coaches, umpires, score keepers, and players themselves to make the games, when a hard day's work lay both behind and before them. But then, they are the ones who realize that those things worth doing are worth sacrificing their time. And it's been fun too!

Well, well. Now we know why Al Lehman has a pretty yard. It (Cont'd. on Page 4)

New Teachers Elected Here

Three new teachers have been employed by the Tahoka Schools according to Supt. Otis Spears.

Eddie Bowman, a May graduate of West Texas State, will be the new band and chorus director. He is a young married man whose wife will graduate at Texas Tech in August.

Bowman succeeds Don Wortham, who resigned recently to accept a band job at Anson.

Mrs. N. E. Wood has been elected to a position as an eighth grade teacher. A graduate of Baylor University, she has had several years teaching experience and recently has been a substitute teacher in the local schools.

Mrs. Dock Dewbre, who taught here in 1901-02 and who has since been teaching at O'Donnell, has been selected to teach in the grades.

BETTY PHIPPS

SANDRA SINGLETON

New Entry For Queen Contest

Another entry in the Lynn County Farm Bureau queen contest has brought the total to four, with the local office seeking more contestants for the event.

Sandra Singleton, 16 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Singleton of O'Donnell, is the latest entry. She is a junior student in O'Donnell High School and recently won the 4-H Club district "Share the Fun" contest and participated in the state meet at Texas A and M College in June.

Other candidates for the county title, the winner of which will be a contestant in the district event to be held in Lubbock, are Misses Betty Phipps and Jeanette Melton, both spring graduates of Tahoka High School, and Dolores Smith, a student in Wilson High School.

The local contest will be held in Tahoka on Aug. 23. Contestants must be single, between the ages of 16 and 22 years, and a daughter or sister of a member of the Lynn County Farm Bureau.

Golf Instruction Offered Ladies

Group golf instruction for women will be given at T-Bar Country Club Monday evening by a professional from Lubbock Country Club, according to Mrs. Peggy Elliott.

A charge of only 50 cents will be made each person, with a possible additional small fee for use of practice balls, she says.

At least 16 ladies are desired for each of two classes, one starting at 5:00 p. m. and the second starting at 6:00 p. m.

Whether an experienced player or a beginner, anyone playing the game of golf can probably learn a lot of fundamentals in even one lesson.

Hank Hansley, assistant pro at Lubbock Country Club, will be here to give instructions. Arrangements may be made for further instructions if there is sufficient interest.

Local Students At Band School

Several members of the Tahoka High School band are attending a two-weeks band school at McMurry College in Abilene.

Misses Linda Williams, Mary Jane McCord, Betsy Adams, and Vickie Hamilton, all of Tahoka, and Minnie Lee Mathis of Grassland will study twirling, marching and other phases of band work at the school.

Texas' 1955 population was estimated 67.3 percent urban and 32.7 rural.

Swiss Student Guest Due Here by Sunday

Hans Irniger of Zurich, Switzerland, will arrive here this week end to spend nine weeks as a guest of Tahoka Rotary Club, alternately staying in the homes of various Rotarians.

He is the third European college student who has been brought to Tahoka by the club working in cooperation with the International Research Fund, Inc., of New York, which furnished transportation from the student's home to New York. The local club pays the visitor's expenses to and from New York to Tahoka, and furnishes the visitor quarters and spending money. Other Rotary guests have been Bernard Debonne of Paris, France, in 1955, and Fred Maubart of Linz, Austria, in 1957.

The program is a contribution to better international understanding.

Irniger writes Harold Green, chairman of the committee, in charge of the visit, and Johnny Reasonover, past-president, he is looking forward to his stay in Texas. He has heard a lot of the jokes and Texas brags, and seems to have a great sense of humor. He writes that coming from a mountain region, he will enjoy Texas life and people, the flat country, and the hot weather.

Hans Rud Irniger, age 22, was born and reared in a small Swiss village, Urnasch Ar, the son of Dr. Gustav Irniger, a practicing physician. He has three brothers and two sisters, all musicians. His special interests include gardening, armoring, aid to Hungarian refugees, and languages.

He attended school eight years at Urnasch Ar, and four and a half years at Gymnasium Trogen Ar, followed by three years in Zurich University, studying English and Romance Philology. He hopes to become a professor of languages.

Hans spent three months in England last summer living with a London family to learn to speak the language more fluently. He has also visited in France and Italy. Like most Swiss, he speaks several languages fluently.

He is a former Boy Scout leader, has been an anti-tank fusilier in the Swiss Army, and admits that he can play the piano.

The father of Hans is a member of the Swiss Friends of the USA founded in 1920, now having a membership of 430, which meets weekly and provides scholarships for college students to the United States from that country and to Switzerland from the U. S.

It also promotes trips of Swiss businessmen to the U. S. In fact, this nation has few better friends in Europe than the Swiss Friends organization. The Swiss Friends sponsored the organization of Rotary in that country.

Hans Irniger was to arrive in New York City Tuesday night, spend Wednesday sight-seeing in the city, and arrive in Tahoka about Sunday.

Church At Draw Is 50 Years Old

The Methodist Church at Draw, southeast of Tahoka, will celebrate its 50th anniversary this Sunday with an all-day homecoming meeting, which will feature three ministers who grew up in the community and entered the ministry from the Draw church.

John Sewell, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Bakers, La., will speak at the evening service.

Two other ministers have also come out of the Draw church, Rev. Gerald McCollum of Dallas, and Rev. Bervin Caswell of the First Methodist Church in Pecos, the latter also being expected to be present for the event.

At noon lunch will be served at the church by a catering service. All members and former members of the church are invited and urged to attend the occasion.

Insects Working On Cotton Crop

Lynn county crop prospects continue good in spite of the weather, but much old feed is suffering for want of rain. Some cotton where the weeds have been bad also needs water.

Farmers tell The News that most of the cotton does not especially need rain yet, but a good rain soon would insure at least a pretty fair crop.

County Agent Bill Griffin warns farmers to keep a close watch on fleahoppers and lygus, now in most cotton fields in varying degrees. In fact, they have done considerable damage to some cotton.

A number of farmers have already reported poisoning this week.

Buddy Bragg New ASC Manager For Hutchinson County

Little League Area II tournament will be played in Tahoka, beginning on Monday, July 29, and continuing through the following Tuesday and Wednesday nights, according to Tom Bartley, district tournament director.

Tahoka was awarded the tournament and Bartley appointed the director at an area Little League meeting in Big Spring Sunday. This city's field was a unanimous choice for the play-off games.

Playing in the tournament will be all-star teams from Lamesa, Seagraves, Post, Jayton, and Tahoka. Winner in the tournament here will enter the District II play-offs in Abilene August 1. Winners advance from there to State, Regional and National play-offs.

Mr. Bartley said some portable bleachers may be erected for the tournament. Admission will be free, but the hat will be passed and proceeds divided between the two teams playing any given game after sufficient funds are taken out to pay for balls.

This is Tahoka's first year to participate in the Little League play-offs. Although Tahoka was officially a member of the Little League organization last year, it was not permitted by the rules to participate in the play-offs.

Tahoka's team will be managed by Gordon Smith, regular season manager of the Giants, assisted by each of the other three team managers. The Tahoka All-Star team picked to play in the tournament appears elsewhere in this issue.

TORNADO VS AUTO

Austin—"If you're afraid of being killed by a tornado, then you'd better stay off the highways," warns James H. Garner, Deputy coordinator Division of Defense and Disaster Relief. "Statistics," Garner points out, "prove that the automobile is 187 times more dangerous than a tornado. In the 41 years that records have been kept by the Weather Bureau, tornadoes are credited with killing 8,964 people. Last year alone, 40,200 lost their lives in the slaughter on our highways."

Today's MEDITATION from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room
© THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

I am the living bread. (John 6:51.)

Bread is the world's most common food staple. Though it may vary somewhat in ingredients and methods of preparation, in shape and taste, bread is essential to the diet. The Brazilian, for instance, eats bread with coffee each morning. He would feel lost without it.

Jesus' mission to mankind and His way of expressing Himself cut across all time and national boundaries. When He said, "I am the bread of life," He spoke to all men of all times. Christ is as essential to our daily spiritual diet as daily bread is for our physical diet. His absence from our lives leaves us spiritually hungry; His presence is a joy to us and a source of strength.

Only the bread of heaven come down from God gives us true life. In Christ is our hope for spiritual health, for He alone, the one who is the living bread of life, satisfies our deepest need.

PRAYER

Our Father, as Thy people long ago prayed, so we pray: "Lord, evermore give us this bread." Grant that as people everywhere this day eat daily bread, they may also partake of the bread of life. Strengthen and sustain them, and us, in service to Thee. In His name. Amen.

Aid Proposed For Mentally III

Complete and permanent invalids or persons in the community who are mentally deranged that they require continuous oversight to keep from harming themselves or others may soon be able to receive small monthly checks from their State Department of Public Welfare through the new state-federal program of Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled. The Constitutional Amendment, which was adopted by the voters in November, 1956, limiting the amount of money that can be appropriated for this program to 1.5 million dollars per year, makes aid possible only to those who are helpless and have no relatives able to support them.

Lea Healer, Welfare Supervisor for this area, pointed out this is the only welfare program which requires consideration of the ability of relatives to support. This law defines "responsible relatives" as children, parents, step-children, brothers and sisters. Healer said that for the first time in nearly 20 years the Department's Field Workers will be required by law to determine the resources of relatives of persons who apply for aid.

The "permanency" and "totality" of the disability will be determined by a State Reviewing Physician after a complete physical or mental examination by the person's own private physician. Complete helplessness from a medical standpoint, rather than inability to work, is the criteria. The state will pay the private physician for his examination.

Funds for assistance payments will not be available until September 1, 1957, but applications will be taken after July 15, while the helpless individual will not be able to leave home, the persons responsible for his care may come to the local welfare office and acquaint the Department with his situation. A Field Worker will then call, as soon as possible, at the home to take the application.

Offices in this area are located at: Courthouse, Tahoka; Courthouse, Brownfield; City Hall, Stanton; Old Courthouse, Lubbock; Courthouse, Levelland; Courthouse, Morton; Courthouse, Muleshoe, and Courthouse, Dimmitt.

Field Worker headquarters office in this area are located in the towns of Lubbock, Brownfield, and Levelland. Outlying counties or towns are handled by workers from these offices.

More Power For West Texas Area

More power for the growing electrical requirements of the Eastern New Mexico and West Texas area becomes available early in July, when Southwestern Public Service Company's new and modern Cunningham generating plant goes on the line.

Southwestern Public Service's eleventh principal steam plant is located 12 miles west of Hobbs, N. M. and one mile north of the Hobbs - Carlsbad highway. The gleaming aluminum structure is on a 160 acre tract owned by the power company.

The new plant is named for J. E. Cunningham, president of the Public Service Company and member of its board of directors. He has been associated with Southwestern Public Service 30 years, and president for the last 12 years.

Generation from Cunningham plant will "feed" onto the existing 115,000 volt transmission line between the Company's Denver City and Carlsbad plants. This same line connects the power company's principal generating stations and interchange substations with 3000 miles of high voltage transmission line over the 45,000 square mile area served by Southwestern Public Service.

The turbo-generator in Cunningham plant was manufactured by General Electric has a nameplate rating of 70,000 kilowatts and a capacity of producing 96,000 horse power. This additional generation brings Southwestern Public Service's total plant capacity to 820, 600 kilowatts or 1,100,000 horse power.

A. R. Watson, executive vice president and general manager of Public Service, remarked that just ten years ago the total plant capacity of Southwestern's system was only 166,000 kilowatts.

"Our last ten year's growth and the new plant capacity symbolizes the progressive thinking of our 170,000 customers in applying more electric power for use in industry, commercial establishments, and the home," the power company executive added.

Mr. Watson also added that Cunningham plant was another home grown product, for this newest plant was the second steam generating station in Southwestern Public Service's system which was designed by the company's own engineering staff. And, like the first, which was Plant X, Cunningham plant incorporates the latest features in economical power

Public Service engineers cut down on the construction time by putting aluminum exterior walls instead of steel. Designers did not omit a decorative touch, for they used black ceramic coated aluminum for outside trim, parapet caps and front entrance facade.

Another construction cost cutting application was the location of the plant's 55,000 gallon water storage tank on the roof deck of the semi-outdoor boiler. This location saved most of the construction cost of a conventional h-tank.

Nazarenes Plan Tent Revival

Plans are almost complete for the Nazarene Tent Meeting which will be held here August 4 through 10 with the Rev. Thomas Hayes, nationally known Nazarene evangelist, conducting the revival.

To be held nightly at 7:30 p. m., the tent which seats 1500 people, will be erected at the drive-in theatre one-fourth mile north of Tahoka on the Lubbock highway.

Professor Jim Lee of Pasadena

Nazarene College, an accomplished pianist and organist and talented in other musical instruments, will be the accompanist, while the song evangelist will be Rev. Ernie Moore. A well-known song leader and soloist, Rev. Moore will be accompanied in duets by his wife, who will also assist Professor Lee at the piano and organ.

Each week day morning from 9:00 until 11:30 a. m. children's services will be held at the big tent. A corps of vacation Bible school workers will direct the training in singing, crafts, object lessons and handwork for children of all ages.

Transportation for children to the tent will be available, from the court house in Tahoka at 8:45 a. m. and returning promptly at 11:30 a. m.

The Nazarene tent meeting is expected to be a highlight of the Tahoka area, Rev. David A. Hess, pastor, said. The evangelist, Rev. Thomas Hayes, will hold special healing services for the sick several times each week following the regular evangelistic services. Other Nazarene churches in the area will also be participating in the meeting and everyone is urged to attend, Rev. Hess said.

Prohl Tells Of Visit In Europe

Dr. Emil Prohl, recently returned from the Rotary International convention in Zurich, Switzerland, and a tour of Europe in company with Mrs. Prohl and son, Karl, made his report to Tahoka Rotary Club Thursday noon of last week.

He said Switzerland is about 60 by 120 miles in size and is all mountains, valleys, and lakes with no plains. The four to five million people are very ingenious and democratic, importing some of their food and all their raw materials which are manufactured for export to much of the world.

Four languages are spoken in the country, German, French, Italian, and Swiss (onansch), the latter being the only native language but is spoken in only some areas. Most people speak English, also children attend school six days a week for 10 and a half months, and English is a required subject.

His talk dealt principally with the Rotary meeting at Lucerne, fishing, resort, and watch manufacturing city. There were 10,000 registered at the meeting from 78 of the 100 countries of the world (now 102) in which there are Rotary clubs. He reviewed talks by some of the principal speakers, President Paul Lang of Italy, who speaks seven languages; new president, Chas. (Buz) Tennent, North Carolina florist; and Helen Keller, who is blind and deaf.

He says there was no "hoopla" or foolishness, as Europeans look on such as distasteful. There is no singing at European Rotary clubs but the welcome mat was out, and the fellowship was outstanding.

He told of attending Rotary meetings in Paris and Rome, also.

The speaker was introduced by Granvel Ayer, who, along with Prohl, have the programs for July.

President Happy Smith, conducting his first meeting at the head table, announced that President Johnny Reasonover had ended his year with 100 percent attendance for June, giving the club 10 months of perfect attendance.

Harold Green announced the forthcoming visit of Hans Irniger, young Swiss college student to Tahoka this summer for nine weeks, and called for volunteers to entertain the visitor during his stay here.

Visit Here From South America

Bill Headstream and wife of Caracas, Venezuela, South America, were here Friday until Monday visiting his sister, Mrs. Buel Draper, and family.

Mr. Headstream has been in Venezuela for 13 years with a subsidiary company of Gulf Oil Co. They like the country fine and declare the climate is almost perfect. High temperatures are around 85 degrees, low around 56, and no airconditioners or heating units are necessary. Also, there is little difference between winter and summer.

Also here for a visit was another brother of Mrs. Draper, Dean Headstream, and wife, of Colorado City.

The Headstreams were reared at Ropesville.

Odd Ends

(By E. L. Elder)

Political events and discussions are coming so thick and so fast now that I do not know how I am going to be able to keep up with the procession.

The State Bar Association had its annual meeting week before last and many discussions respecting state and national issues occurred during its sessions which all of us need to peruse. Speakers from the North came down here to tell the lawyers of Texas that it is next to treason for Texas to oppose and criticize the recent decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court and that it is our duty to fall in line and accept its decrees without a murmur. One of them, a Connecticut newspaper editor, told the lawyers that Congress has no right to seek to limit the powers of the Court by legislative acts. He pronounced as "non-sense" the efforts of Southern people to resist integration of the races in the public schools, public parks, public conveyances, and in other places.

Southern people are the best friends the Negroes have today. In many places they have not always treated the Negroes right, but for many years they have been improving the public schools, providing better public school facilities, and giving Negroes more and better jobs than they can get in many of the cities of the North. New York, and Detroit, and Boston, and Chicago, and Saint Louis, and Omaha, and many of the cities of California and the west coast should clean up and sweep the trash from their own front doors before galloping down here to Texas to tell us how to deal with our problems. But at this time we have other fish to fry; a bunch of crooked politicians must be driven permanently from the State Capitol, Insurance crooks must be punished, and so forth, and so forth. We will turn back to Washington a little later on, we hope.

Last week we quoted briefly from an article published in Look Magazine reciting in a general way some of the crookedness of Texas legislators in accepting bribes and selling "influence" affecting legislation. But we did not go into the recital and discussion of individual cases. This week we are presenting some of these cases as published in The Texas Observer, a political newspaper published in Austin, Texas.

One of the most putrid and disgusting cases reported is that of Representative James E. Cox. He had introduced into the legislature a bill to outlaw the practice of "Naturopathy," which is rescribed as a method of treating certain ailments by the use of "natural" remedies, heat, air, light, and water. This organization of "Physicians" had been held up and made to "kick in" with a donation two or three times previously under threats of extermination by the legislature.

A man who called himself Dr. Howard G. Harmon, who represented himself to be the president of the State Naturopathic Physicians Association, becoming tired of being held up by somebody without knowing where the money was going or who was being paid, decided to find out. He contacted Representative James E. Cox, who had introduced a bill in the Legislature to outlaw the practice of Naturopathy. Suspecting that Cox would touch him up for a contribution, and bent on trapping Cox at his illegal game, he invited Cox to meet him in his hotel room for a consultation, where he had hidden a tape-recorder under his bed, all unknown to Cox of course. That tape-recorder was afterward read to the Legislature. Using some putrid and disgusting profanity, Cox proposed that they get down to business and reach an agreement as to the amount of money he was to be paid for withdrawing his bill and abandoning his fight against "Naturopathy." Cox suggested that "nothing be said about the matter, for he said if the secret should leak out, "They'll send us to the pen. You know that, don't you?"

Harmon, instead, took his tape-recording to the speaker of the House of Representatives; where upon a trap was set to catch the treacherous James E. Cox, but the news leaked out, and Cox tried to turn the tables on Harmon and his other accusers. Thus the gun back-fired, but Cox will doubtless be compelled to face a jury on a grand-jury indictment for a conspiracy to take a bribe.

The trap set by Harmon and the speaker of the house and a few of their trusted friends was to the effect that Cox was to be invited back to Harmon's Hotel Room, where the deal was to be consummated and the agreed price was to be paid to Cox. Unknown to him the money was to be paid in marked bills, which were to be used as unmistakable evidence of the bribe at the proper time. But somebody talked or in some way tipped off Cox to the scheme to entrap him. The gun back-fired therefore and the money was never paid to Cox. He tried to turn the tables by claiming that he had never intended to keep the money promised him but was seeking to entrap Harmon. But there was the recording tape which in itself was sufficient to convince honest men that Cox had solicited and intended to take money as a bribe.

Representative Carlton Moore Sr. of Houston is accused of having received $3,750 in 1954-'55 from the commissioners' court of Harris county for the appraisal of certain Harris county lands during which time the legislature gave substantial pay-raises to Harris county officials. That looks mighty shady.

Another alleged offender was Wayne Rychick, son-in-law of Garland Smith, who held a $700.00 a month Pay-Roll with the ICT Insurance Company.

The ICT Insurance Company, says the Look Magazine, was formed by Ben-Jack Cage, a Texas prospector, who "parleyed $5,000 into 74 corporations stretching from the United States to South America.

In four years his holdings grossed $12,060,992.52—and then follows a maze of figures which are difficult to understand and for which we have no time nor space here to unravel.

The Texas Observer cites the case of ex-Senator William Shireman of Corpus Christi, "who took $3,000 from the U. S. Trust & Guaranty Company but agreed to repay it," on the grounds, as he stated he had not done anything for it.

It also cites the case of Ex-Sen. Gus Straus of Hallettsville, who was indicted by a grand jury upon a charge of having received $3,600.00 from A. B. Shoemaker of the U. S. Trust when he was a member of the legislature.

The case of Carlos Ashley of Llano who has returned the $10,000.00 he got from A. B. Shoemaker; and the list could be considerably extended.

A remedy for this situation has been suggested—that is that the salaries of legislators be raised to the point at which they can easily live on the same; that the legislature should meet once or more times each year; that they be required to file statements of any fees received from corporations or private interests; that they be forbidden to vote on any issue arising in the house in which they are serving which might affect their personal interests. These or similar regulations should be approved by a vote of the people and incorporated into the Texas State Constitution.

ROY L. WILLIAMS ELLIS BARNES

ELMER BLANKENSHIP

Sorghum Almun on Theo Campbell's farm south of Wayside has some plants that are five feet high with seed heads formed. This is the fastest growing perennial grass that we have observed. It is being grown in the Lynn District this year for the first time. The plants at Sorghum Almun along with careless weeds have about used most of soil moisture, growth is slow at present and a rain is needed.

It appears that if Sorghum Almun is to be grown for grazing it should be planted thicker than if planted for seed production.

The thicker plantings tending to cause growth of a smaller stalk, while at the same time thinner stands will allow maturity of seed. The planting rate for seed production is one to two pounds per acre in 40-inch rows.

Range technicians assigned to the District made grass clipping studies on rangeland of Clarence Church south of Wilson. These plants were clipped in February and this spring growth of native grass was clipped last week as a study of comparative production when connected to acre basis. The clippings revealed that Arizona Cotton top had 3,750 pounds per acre and Buffalo grass and Blue grama each had 2,750 pounds per acre.

In the same place on rangeland where there is a sufficient cover of native grass the mesquite trees may be controlled by pouring kerosene on the base or by hand grubbing. Kerosene used on mesquite trees on Dr. Durham's ranch west of Tahoka last summer effectively killed the trees.

Sam Singleton drilled thirty acres of Blue Panic grass on his place south of Newmoore. This seeding was made in a litter of drilled rye which has made growth and is now a dead litter. The planting was made dry and showers will bring the blue panic grass up to a stand.

In nearly all cases where perennial grasses are planted the annual weeds make rapid growth the first year or two. At a distance the field appears to be nothing but weeds. After the first year the grasses crowd out weed growth. Annual weeds are nature's way of growing a quick litter on bare soil.

Lynn Ridwell harvested approximately eight hundred pounds of rye per acre on his farm west of O'Donnell. The present price of rye for planting seed is four cents per pound.

Tar Pick-Sacks Damage Cotton

Merchants and farmers who sell or use cotton pick sacks are being warned again this year against one of cotton's worst enemies, the asphalt or tar coated pick-sack.

Due to efforts of the cotton industry, such sacks have almost been eliminated, but a few pickers still persist in using them.

Several years ago it was determined that the asphalt coated sack was one of the major sources for tar in cotton. Placed on the bottom of a sack to lengthen its life, the tar cracks after the sack is used a short time. When sacks are emptied, the tar flakes off into the cotton. Much of this tar clings tenaciously to the cotton fiber through all processing and finishing.

Tar spots lower the cotton's quality, and the mill has to sell the product at a 15 to 20 percent reduction. In turn, areas from which tar-damaged cotton is received may be graded downward in price for the mills.
