The Wonder Of Fireflies In Summer

By GLENN SHELTON

I doubt if there's a soul-satisfying experience in life to compare with this: being a seven or eight year-old child, lying on a blanket in a summer night, watching the starlit heavens above and thousands of fireflies, or lightning bugs, the hordes of little twinkling stars on the ground. It is a never-to-be-forgotten interlude for a kid—especially when an adult lies with him, and shares his awe for the vast universe and encourages his imagination. At least such an experience is among my fondest memories. I recall many happy hours lying out in the night near Ardmore, Okla. The stars and fireflies weren't the only wonders in the night. I remember hearing the plaintive call of whip-poor-wills, the mournful hoot of owls and the lonely howls of coyotes.

But it's the firefly that really captures a child, though of course he knows little about it. It is enough to him that it is an insect apparently carrying a tiny lantern, and that it is harmless.

The firefly is not a fly at all, but a beetle equipped with light organs on the abdomen. Several layers of cells act as reflectors for a layer of luminous cells in which luciferin is oxidized. The flash is said to occur when a nervous impulse opens a network of air tubes through which oxygen passes over the light-producing cells. The flash seems to be a mating signal. The male switches on a glow at intervals of 5.8 seconds; the female returns the signal two seconds later.

DURING THE SPANISH AMERICAN WAR, A DOCTOR COMPLETED AN OPERATION ON AN AMERICAN SOLDIER BY THE LIGHT OF A BOTTLE-FUL OF FIREFLIES.

The Catholic Digest says that West Indian natives tie the giant fireflies to their toes to light their way at night, and that Brazilian girls tangle them as loveletters in their hair.

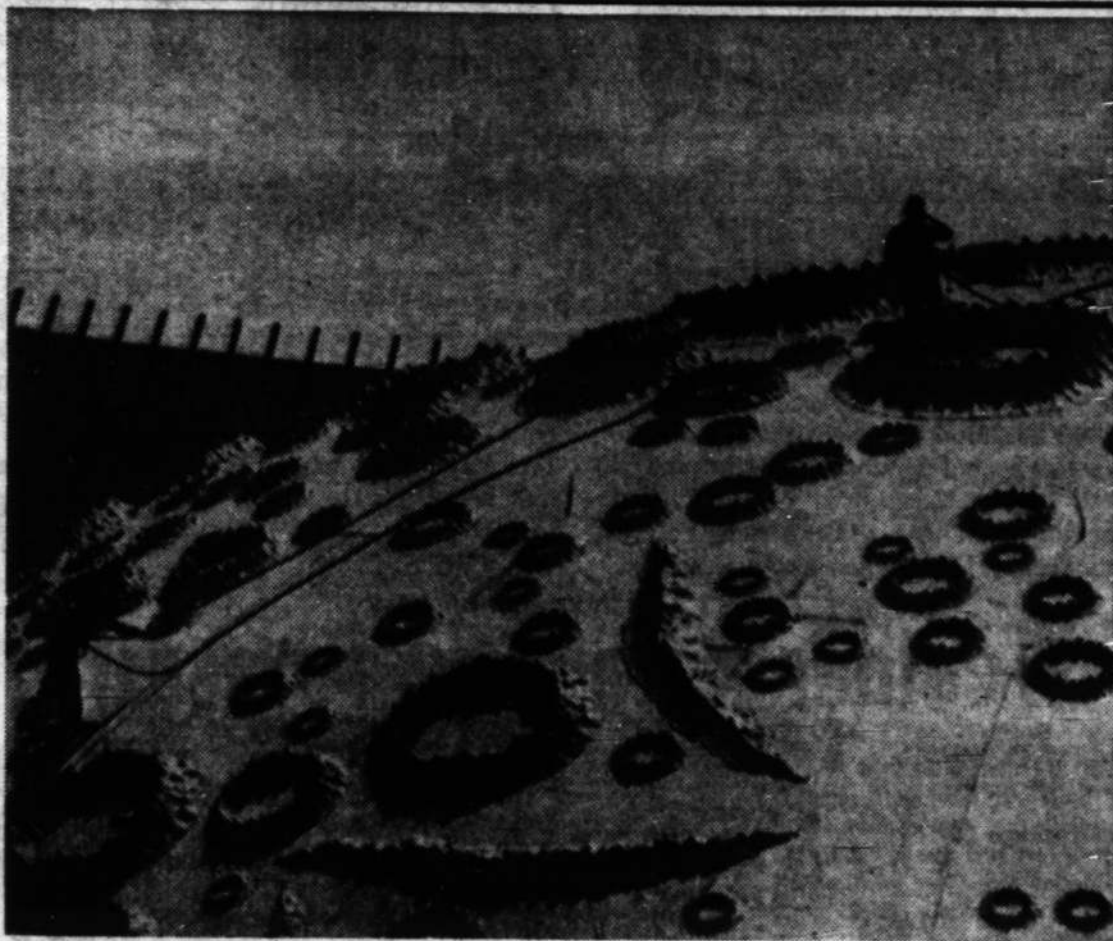

OFF ON A TANGENT—Well, now I've heard everything! I was told by one who was there that some enterprising people tried to beat the system at Waurika during the big rattlesnake hunt recently. In the contest for the snake with the most rattles, about ten to twelve seemed to be the maximum. But then the judges opened a sack and found a reptile with twenty rattles. A winner? Nope; the sharp eyed judges could see that ten of the rattles had been glued on!

HUNT OFFICIALS MARVELED THAT ANYONE COULD HOLD A RATTLE WITH TEN RATTLES LONG ENOUGH TO EFFECTIVELY GLUE ON TEN MORE. IT HAD TO BE A GOOD GLUE JOB, OTHERWISE WHEN THE SNAKE RATTLED THE FAKE RATTLES WOULD COME OFF.

BRAVE WOMEN — While everyone else scurried for shelter during the recent tornado alert, the women, headed by Mrs. Jack Jeffus, collecting money for the cancer fund, stayed on the job. They got $7,000 for cancer research, refusing to abandon their task.

They tell me tobacco counters are beginning to display this sign: "Cigars, Cigarettes, X-rays."

THE MAILBAG—From BOW. IE: "Just a note to tell you how much I enjoy your articles. I often send them to other sections of our country that others might enjoy them, too. I think the new newspaper building is handsome from the outside. Hope to visit it soon." COMMENT: THANKS TO MRS. WILL YOUNG FOR FINE "POME" AND THESE KIND WORDS.

Observers Expecting Fight At Key Pass

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Greek Cypriot fighters lobbed mortar shells Sunday at Turkish Cypriots dug in around medieval Saint Hilarion Castle.

A possible showdown battle was in the making for control of strategic Kyrenia Pass. Greek Cypriots denied they were aiming at the castle, and a U.N. spokesman said he did not know the accuracy of the fire being directed from about 4,000 yards away. The castle is a major tourist attraction said to have been used by Walt Disney as a model for his picture, Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs.

In addition to using mortar shells the Greek Cypriots probed the Turkish positions with rifle and machine gun fire. Four Turks and one Greek have been killed in this latest fighting in the Kyrenia Mountains. Saturday, the Greeks drove the Turks from mountain-top positions west of the pass, and the defenders dug in behind the castle.

Turkish Cypriots have controlled the pass and blocked traffic on the road between Kyrenia, a northern port city, and Nicosia. Greek Cypriots tried to negotiate with the Turkish Cypriots on reopening the road, but were not successful.

U.N. helicopters and ground patrols of Canadian troops kept a close watch on the situation. But the U.N. forces appeared to be taking the same attitude they did two weeks ago when firing broke out on the east side of Kyrenia Pass. As long as no civilians were involved it was a case of "let both sides have a go at it."

The opponents were about one-half mile apart on the west side of the castle. The Greeks knocked over several Turkish outposts during the morning.

Engagement Broken

Lynda Bird Attends Musical

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's daughter, Lynda Bird, 20, made her first public appearance Sunday since it became known that her engagement to a young naval officer had been broken.

She represented the Johnson family at a repeat performance of the Gridiron Club's musical spoof of political figures.

Lynda didn't smile too much at the wisecracks in song, but the audience of some 800 enthusiastically applauded the performers. The gridiron club is composed of Washington newspapermen.

The President's daughter had been engaged for the past 10 months to Lt. (J.G.) Bernard Rosenbach. They broke the engagement recently by mutual agreement. The breakup became public Saturday.

Rosenbach, stationed at Mayport Naval Station near Jacksonville, Fla., when asked about the broken engagement, said: "Yes, that is true."

He would not give a reason for the breakup, but said it was not another boy or girl.

"This is what an engagement is for," he said. "To find out how you get along. The engagement was perhaps premature."

"After being engaged for 10 months, we were both, naturally, upset."

It was learned that friends had been expecting the engagement to end for several weeks.

Rosenbach is a Roman Catholic, Lynda Bird an Episcopalian.

Rosenbach is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard W. Rosenbach of Comfort, Tex. His father operates a lumber business there.

President Johnson attended the gridiron dinner Saturday night where the show was put on for the first time, and Lynda represented the family for the repeat Sunday.

Her escort was a secret service man from the White House.

A Greek Cypriot spokesman denied reports from Turkish Cypriots that Greeks had fired upon several Turkish villages below the Kyrenia Mountains, including Agirda.

In Nicosia, Turkish Cypriots demonstrated against the United Nations. Several thousand men and women marched through the Turkish Cypriot quarter calling for removal of the U.N. troops and their commander, Lt. Gen. Prem Singh Gyani, an Indian.

Gyani drove into the quarter, just as the demonstration was ending, for an appointment with Dr. Fazil Kuchuk, the Turkish Cypriot vice president.

Kuchuk called off the meeting in view of the demonstration. There was no comment from Gyani.

Senator Humphrey Predicts Civil Rights Bill Passage

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., said Sunday the compromise jury trial amendment to the civil rights bill will be approved, the Southern filibuster eventually broken and the legislation passed perhaps by early summer.

Humphrey, Democratic floor manager of the bill, predicted also that if a vote imposing cloture—debate limitation—is needed it probably can be obtained sometime in May.

The Senate's assistant majority leader spoke on the CBS radio and television program "Face the Nation."

Other civil rights supporters cautioned that bitter young Negroes are ready to take their fight for equality back to the streets if the legislation is not passed.

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said on ABC's "Issues and Answers" radio and television program that such renewed demonstrations "could be more fearful than just marching and parading."

Humphrey, exuding optimism, said the Senate's bipartisan pro-civil rights coalition is still four to five votes short of the maximum 67 it would need to limit debate, but added: "I have no

Methodists Ask Many Changes

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—The 1964 General Conference of the Methodist Church opened Sunday and was asked to remove speedily any mark of racial segregation in its structure.

"We believe that this general conference should insist upon the removal from its structure of any mark of racial segregation, and we should do it without wasting time," Bishop Gerald Kennedy of Los Angeles said.

He read from the Episcopal Address before the some 900 delegates assembled in Pittsburgh's civic arena.

The delegates represent about 10.5 million Methodists in 40,000 churches in the United States and about 1.5 million members in other countries.

Adjournment is expected about May 9, depending upon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The appointment of Lt. Gen. William C. Westmoreland

as commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam was seen here Sunday as presaging a new and tougher U.S. policy in this Southeast Asian nation.

President Johnson announced in Washington Saturday that Westmoreland would succeed Gen. Paul D. Harkins as of Aug. 1. Westmoreland has been in Viet Nam as Harkins' deputy for the past three months and his appointment came as no surprise.

There was no comment from either man on the change, and no official American reaction. But there was general agreement, as one U.S. official put it privately, that "things will be entirely different when Westmoreland takes over."

Major League Scores Pages 10-11

"If we are going to get tough here, with our friends as well as our enemies, Westmoreland is the man for it," said another officer who has worked with him.

The announcement came on the heels of Johnson's statement on Thursday indicating stepped-up U.S. activity and increased U.S. involvement in this nation wracked by civil war and political differences. There are 15,500 U.S. military personnel in the country now aiding in the war against the Communists.

The Vietnamese government had no official reaction.

Harkins maintained close and friendly relations with the Vietnamese military, stepped on no Vietnamese toes, and was highly regarded by them.

"Harkins did a good job here building up an efficient effort and he is due for retirement," said a U.S. source.

"He has been criticized for being too optimistic about the war, and too soft with the Vietnamese he had to work with, but in both cases he was implementing official U.S. policy."

Westmoreland will have to work on two levels—as a statesman and a soldier—in his new assignment if the United States

Jack Ruby Rams Head Against Jail Cell Wall

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Condemned slayer Jack Ruby took advantage of his jailer's momentary absence early Sunday to ram his head into the wall of his cell in what Sheriff Bill Decker called "a deliberate act."

"Apparently he suffered only a knot on his head," the sheriff said.

The convicted slayer of Lee Harvey Oswald, who was accused of having assassinated President John F. Kennedy, was rushed under heavy guard to a Dallas hospital for a physical examination, but Decker said that X-rays of his head had revealed no injury.

Returned to his cell, Ruby attempted to rip his clothing into strips, Decker said. As a precautionary measure the few furnishings were removed from

Warm And Windy Foreseen Monday

Wichitans received a respite Sunday from severe weather as tornadoes danced around some sections of the state, but stayed out of the Wichita Falls area.

For a while early Sunday the city was under a severe weather warning for thunderstorms, hail and damaging surface winds. The alert was in effect from midnight Saturday until 6 a.m. Sunday.

The city received an additional official 42 of an inch of moisture to add to the more than three inches recorded in some sections Friday.

Two lines of thunderstorms moved into Wichita Falls early Sunday with the first coming about 1 a.m. and the second between 4 and 5 a.m. Rain stopped shortly before 6 a.m. Sunday.

Generally, Sunday was mild and windy. The temperature rose to 76 degrees and the sunny weather was marred only by a small dust storm about 4 p.m.

The dust was caused by storm winds in East Texas and cut visibility to five miles.

At sunset Sunday the Wichita Falls Weather Bureau received several calls from anxious citizens asking about the possibility of a tornado since the dust mixed with the setting sun to produce an eerie effect.

Monday's outlook calls for fair and windy weather with the high temperature expected to be about 80 degrees.

Tornadoes Hit 2 Texas Cities

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tornadoes dipped out of black skies Sunday to inflict property damage at Port Arthur and at a farm near Round Rock before the turbulent weather that has plagued Texas for the past week finally made its exit.

Early Sunday night the U.S. Weather Bureau reported that the thunderstorm activity had moved eastward into Louisiana and Texas skies were fair.

Brisk winds kicked up dust in the western part of the state Sunday afternoon as maximum temperatures ranged from 71 degrees at Amarillo to 100 at McAllen, the highest in the nation.

A wide section of South Texas was under a tornado alert earlier Sunday as scattered thunderstorms brought drenching rains.

For the 24 hours ending at 6 p.m. Lufkin recorded 3.60 inches, College Station 2.01, Dallas 1.18, Beaumont .94, Abilene .83, Junction .80.

Westmoreland Said Man Of Action

is going to solve the dilemma it has faced in Viet Nam the last 10 years.

Winning the war against the elusive and increasingly aggressive Communist Viet Cong is generally regarded as a tough enough problem by itself. An even more challenging problem is the one of uniting the government and the people behind the war effort.

The United States failed to solve this problem under the dictatorial nine-year reign of President Ngo Dinh Diem. It has not been able to solve it in the nearly six months since Diem was overthrown and killed.

There is a growing body of Western opinion that advocates firmer U.S. control over the war effort, a "no nonsense" attitude toward the Vietnamese government implemented with tact, diplomacy and firmness.

Westmoreland could be just the man to implement that policy.

The much-decorated general was awarded the second Oak Leaf Cluster to his Legion of Merit for combat leadership in Korea and for promoting friendly relations with the Japanese while his unit, the 18th

Airborne Regimental Combat Team, was in theater reserve in Japan.

Westmoreland, 50, is 10 years younger than Harkins. He is quiet, courtly and gives the appearance of being shy. But his officers say he is tough and aggressive.

Westmoreland has indicated to intimates he favors more forceful prosecution of the war, and firmer U.S. control over it. He also has left the impression he plans some basic changes in the conduct of the war.

Deadwood Stage To Mark Statehood

RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP)—Shades of Calamity Jane, the Deadwood-stage will run again—with plenty of loot aboard.

The 450-mile trip gets under way at the U.S. Mint in Denver next Saturday, with 10,000 silver dollars going along with a double purpose—to show off 10,000 cartwheels in one heap and to be sold to finance the show of Western enthusiasm.

The dollars will be wrapped in plastic and orders for them taken along the way, at receptions in numerous towns, border stops and the like. All the money—weighing about 650 pounds—will make the entire trip.

The trip was conceived last November in South Dakota as a means of telling the world that 1964 is South Dakota's 75th anniversary of statehood.

The work and planning going into the trip is staggering. And it may get worse before the 450-mile jaunt is over, with modern-day traffic and skittery horses posing problems at least as formidable as the holdup men of old.

Five men left for Denver during weekend to make final preparations. The stagecoach was built in 1967, but it had to be repaired, strengthened and Painted. Three teams, four saddle ponies, a truck, a station wagon and six men make up the complement.

Riding shotgun will be representatives of Colorado's governor and Denver's mayor.

The party figures to make 20 to 25 miles a day. The money will be carried in a solid chest, bolted to the coach.

Humphrey Predicts Rights Bill Success

doubt at all when the time comes we will have the votes."

The compromise jury trial amendment, denounced by Sen. Richard Russell, D-Ga., the Southern leader as "a mustard plaster on a cancer," has wide support and will pass, Humphrey said.

"I hope to move on that amendment this coming week or a few days later," he said.

The amendment would limit a federal judge to imposing not more than 30-day jail sentences and $300 fines in contempt cases arising out of the bill. A jury trial would be necessary for greater punishment.

"The filibuster will be broken," Humphrey said. "It means the Senate." He added, "This lojam over the civil rights bill will break in the early summer."

Wilkins, noting the Senate opens its 41st day of the civil rights debate Monday, said "from here on the Senate can be accused of a stall-in on the civil rights of 18 million people"—an allusion to the Negro population.

If the bill is not passed substantially intact he said Negroes "will lose whatever remaining faith they have in the traditional legislative channels."

"They will go on perhaps to the streets," Wilkins said. "They will attempt to settle their grievances in some other way."

Jerry Norris, 15, 1213 North Tenth was injured when the bicycle he was riding at 700 North Lamar was in collision with an oncoming vehicle driven by Timothy M. Mersine of 1201 North Ninth at 6:49 p.m. The boy was treated and released at Wichita General Hospital.

Other accidents were: At Broad and Sixteenth at 5:53 p.m., involving Michael K. Bruner of 3125 Ninth and Freddie Gonzalez of 506 Woods; and at 4100 Iowa Park Road, involving vehicles driven by Jerry L. Hamilton of 3006 Avenue Q and Vernon M. Chatman of Sheppard AFB.

Fire Calls

Three calls were reported to the Wichita Falls Fire Department Sunday.

The runs were to No. 4 Sara Sue to an overheated air conditioner which resulted in $775 loss; to 1419 Gunnison to a smoke call, and to 3015 Seymour Road where a frying pan full of grease caught fire. Darr Jackson received first and second degree burns on his hands in attempting to handle the pan.

Politicians Hit Campaign Trail

Texas political hopefuls start their big last-week campaign drives Monday to woo the voters who are expected to turn out 1,800,000 strong in Saturday's Democratic and Republican primaries.

A few of the candidates had speaking engagements Sunday but most spent the day with their staffs, preparing speeches, or making radio or television tapes.

Gov. John Connally, seeking renomination for his second term, told a Rio Grande Valley Band Day celebration at Brownsville that state and local governments in Texas must provide the vocational and technical education "so necessary in this age of rapid change."

Connally plans to be in Corpus Christi Monday.

The governor's opponent in the Democratic primary, Don Yarborough, spent Sunday in Houston preparing television tapes. He is to be in Fort Worth Monday for a speech before the state convention of Texas Association of College Teachers of Education.

The sole candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, Jack Crichton, scheduled an appearance in Brady Monday.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough will campaign in Bexar County Monday, including appearances at the Golden Age Center, a rally with students from three San Antonio colleges, a public reception and a banquet at night.

Gordon McLendon, who opposes Yarborough in the Democratic primary, took verbal slaps at his foe at his Houston headquarters Sunday. McLendon planned a Monday tour that will include stops at Dallas, Corpus Christi, Harlingen and San Antonio.

All four aspirants for the Republican nomination for U.S. Senate planned busy schedules for Monday. George Bush was to be in El Paso and Odessa, Jack Cox in Victoria, and Milton Davis in San Antonio. Robert Morris, who attended a Dallas reception Sunday, was to be in Austin and Houston Monday.

In the Democratic race for congressman at large, Robert W. Baker planned to be in Dallas while Dan Sullivan, scheduled stops at Lubbock, Amarillo and Wichita Falls Monday.

Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon was to be in Midland and El Paso, while his opponent in the Democratic primary, Jesse Owens, was to be in Beaumont, Port Arthur and Orange Monday.

the cell, leaving him only a mattress.

The sheriff told newsmen Ruby had refused to go to bed and had been talking with one of the guards assigned to watch him on a round-the-clock basis.

About 1 a.m. Ruby asked the guard for a drink of water, the sheriff continued, just as the jailer started to leave the cell Ruby lowered his head, took several fast steps and rammed his head against the cell wall. The guard, who stepped back into the cell quickly and restrained him, said Ruby had not lost consciousness.

The jail doctor was called immediately. He found an abrasion of the scalp but no cut.

Later Sunday Ruby was visited in his cell by Dr. Louis Jolyon West of the Oklahoma School of Medicine. Dr. West is a psychiatrist recently engaged by the defense counsel. He declined to reveal his findings to newsmen.

Mobile Diocese Will Integrate

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—The archbishop of the Mobile-Birmingham Catholic diocese ordered on Sunday the integration of all Catholic schools in the diocese.

A letter from Archbishop Thomas Toolen ordering the integration was read in Masses of all churches in the diocese, composed of all of Alabama and northwest Florida.

There are approximately 80 grade schools and 13 high schools in the diocese, with about 25,000 pupils.

Catholic schools in Pensacola, Fla., and one school in the Huntsville, Ala., area were segregated last September.

Archbishop Toolen sent this letter to every parish:

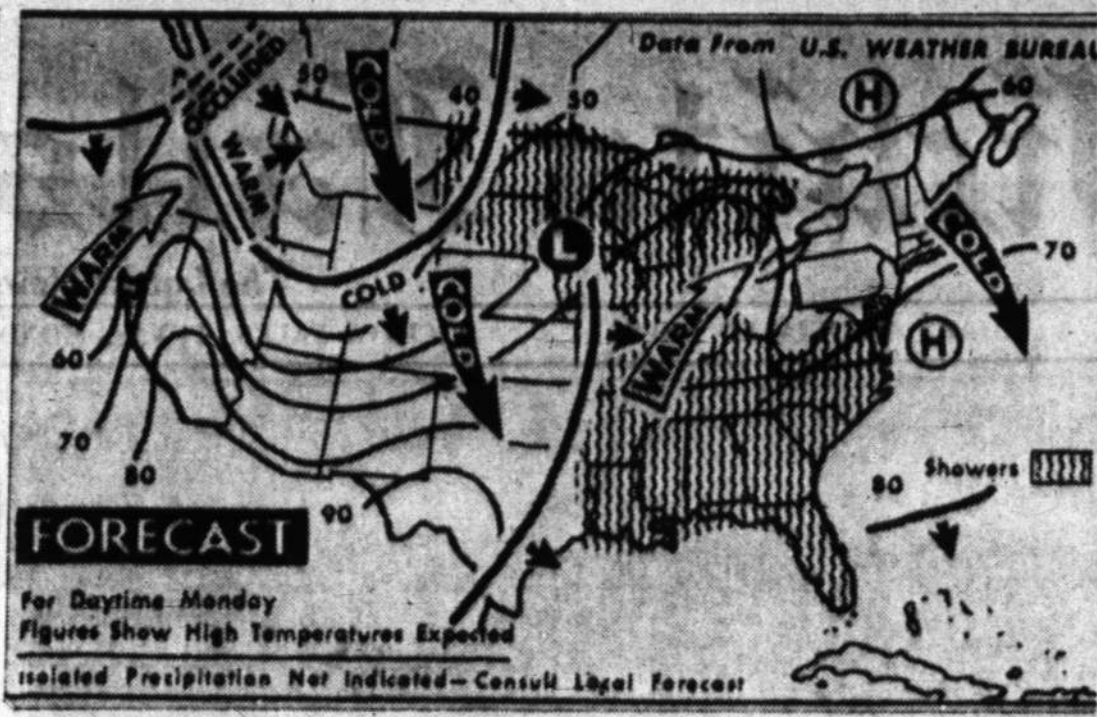

"After much prayer, consultation and advice, we have decided to integrate all the schools of our diocese in September. I know this will not meet with the approval of our many people but in justice and charity, this must be done."

"I ask all of our people to accept this decision as best for God and country. No matter what personal feelings are, the common good of all must come first. In the diocese, we have always tried to give our Negro people everything we have given to our white people, especially in the way of education."

"The procedure for admission will be determined by the pastors and the Right Rev. J. Edwin Stuardi, superintendent of schools. Again, I ask all of our people to accept this regulation as best for God and country."

The Rev. Casimir Krakulius, about 52, pastor of St. Benedict's church in this northeastern Wisconsin community, and the housekeeper, Cecelia Mella, were not hurt.

Indian Police Kill Three Men At Border

JAMMU, Kashmir (AP)—Indian border police killed three men in a series of clashes on the cease-fire line in divided Kashmir State, it was reported Sunday.

Officials said the firing broke out Saturday when three separate groups of "Pakistani intruders" tried to penetrate the Indian-held sector of Kashmir in the Samba-Ramgarh area. The so-called infiltrators opened fire when challenged, officials said, and Indian return fire killed one man in each group.

IN REMEMBRANCE — Dr. James H. Landes was presented a framed copy of the Congressional Record in which appeared his dedicatory sermon in the Courthouse Chapel. The chapel was furnished and decorated by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wood for the use of prisoners. Dr. Landes, president of Hardin-Simmons University, was pastor of the First Baptist Church at the time. The presentation was made at the close of the weekly service Sunday, in which Dr. Landes spoke on "Freedom and Liberty." Viet Cong Kills 131st American SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—An American Army officer was killed by Communist Viet Cong fire Sunday in a flareup of fighting around battle-scarred Kien Long in the southern tip of South Viet Nam.

A U.S. spokesman said the American was killed just before noon during a firefight with elements of two Viet Cong battalions. Two Vietnamese died with him. Nine other government troops were wounded.

The spokesman said 20 Viet Cong were killed and a 57-millimeter recoilless rifle seized among other weapons. Kien Long was the scene of a bitter four-day battle two weeks ago in which more than 300 government troops were killed or wounded, along with a similar number of guerrillas. An American helicopter gunner was shot dead by Viet Cong ground fire as he was escorting Vietnamese troops into that action.

Sunday's action was initiated by the Vietnamese government, the U.S. spokesman said. A large government force moved out of Kien Long in Chuong Thien province before dawn in search of two Communist battalions that intelligence reported had been menacing the town since the last battle.

Hallie Chapman, who presided over the session, introduced 42 quartets from Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, New Mexico and Alabama. About the same number of song leaders led songs.

Chapman, Truett C. Cobb and Mrs. Troy Ash were elected convention officers for three-year terms in 1963.

Independent Beats Chiang's Party Line

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—President Chiang Kai-shek's ruling Kuomintang party took a beating Sunday as Henry Yu-shu kao, an independent, was elected mayor of Taipei.

Country-wide the Kuomintang won two out of the five contests for mayor but achieved victory in 15 out of 16 races for county magistrate.

Kao indicated that his victory had no great international significance. In a victory statement he expressed hope that people in all walks of life would unite under Chiang's leadership to fight back for recovery of the Communist-held China mainland.

Whopping Crappie Lake Nocona

By DAN COLEMAN

Q. I have a small neighborhood grocery store, and the income from it isn't very steady. I'm 67 and I was thinking, "what about social security?" Can I apply for it even though I'm still in business?

A. Definitely yes. Under these circumstances it would be a good idea for you to apply for social security. If you do not have a net profit of more than $1,200 this year, you can receive social security benefits for all months of 1964. Even if your net profit is more than $1,200 you may be eligible for some benefits.

Q. I am planning to apply for social security retirement benefits. I was told that I can earn $1,200 a year and still get my payments. My brother-in-law insists that I would have to limit my earnings to $100 a month. Is he right?

A. No. If you do not earn more than $1,200 in a year, it does not make any difference how much you earn in any one month.

Q. I am 66 years old. I have worked for the same employer for the last 15 years. I am retiring July 31 and will be moving out of the state on Aug. 1. Should I wait until after I move to apply for social security?

A. No. Since you have definite retirement plans, it would be well for you to apply a month or two before you retire. Your application could be approved by the time you retire and you need only to notify us of your new address.

Q. When I file my annual report of total earnings for 1963, why must I also estimate my earnings for 1964?

A. Your estimate of 1964 earnings will be used to determine how much in social security benefits you will receive during the year and when these payments will start. If you first estimate is wrong, you can later change it by telling the people at your social security office at any time during the year. Otherwise, final adjustment of your account will not be made until you file your annual report of earnings after the close of the next year.

Two Texas Game & Fish Commission biologists, who test lakes in 13 counties from Waco north to the Oklahoma border, ran their survey on the type, number and size of fish in new Lake Nocona last Wednesday and decided they had "been doing their crappie fishing in the wrong places."

The biologists were Ned Adcock and Kenneth Jennings who work out of the Fort Worth office of the Texas Game and Fish Commission, Montague County Game Warden Joe Pig and Clay County Game Warden James Hale assisted in the net settings.

Adcock and Jennings set the three 150-foot gill nets in strategic locations around the lake on Tuesday morning and took them out Wednesday morning. The special nets were designed to take every size of fish by varying mesh tapering from one-half inch to three and one-half inches.

Nets Full

After the nets were out, the biologists had netted two and one-half tubs full of fish. A great deal of them were rough fish, primarily carpstickers, with a few small to medium size black and sand bass and a heap of pile of medium to monster size crappie.

Onlookers were dismayed at the predominance of rough fish but the biologists said it was natural for the shallow water net sets and the geographic location of the lake and that it only indicated the extreme "healthiness" of the lake.

Healthy Lake

Adcock and Jennings dismissed the presence of the rough fish and were admittedly astonished at the size and number of giant crappie, but wondered about the fact that no catfish were caught. Their guide for the expedition, Weldon Crow, relieved their worries quickly though with a picture of an overnight trotline catch from a week earlier.

His blue catfish catch included two four-pounders, an eight, and 13 and 17-pounders.

Big Crappie

Six of the crappie taken in the nets weighed 17½ pounds. The largest weighed three and one-half.

The "fishery technicians" exclaimed that they had never seen a larger crappie taken from a lake in this part of the nation and had certainly never seen so many big ones. They were obviously impressed. Adcock said the lake should be Texas' number one hotspot for crappie soon.

The biologists measured and recorded the length and weight and species of every fish caught and said apparently the lake was providing optimum conditions for the growth and reproduction of fish. They also said that the number and size of crappie taken in the single net setting indicated that there must be literally thousands of the slab-sided White Crappie in the young lake, still far from full.

Coming Back

They said that the fish were "plenty" numerous and were in fine condition. Between expositions of "Man! I'd like to get him on a cane pole!" they indicated that they would be back very soon, not with nets but with minnows and tackle, because, "these fish are all full of eggs and they'll start to spawn in the next two weeks and when they do we're going to be here!"

Coeds Beat Boys In Beer Keg Race

SEASIDE, Ore. (AP) — Five Portland State College coeds chopped 45 minutes off a men's record this weekend when they rolled an empty beer keg from Portland to the Pacific Ocean in 19 hours.

Two weeks ago, six Portland State boys rolled a keg over the 75-mile distance in 19 hours and 45 minutes. They claimed it was a collegiate first.

The girls reached the water Sunday after receiving a police escort through the coastal resort town of Seaside.

Both groups received friendly welcomes from Seaside officials who took a dim view of the combination of beer and young people during Labor Day weekend riots the past two years.

Ann Landers Says

Let The 'Enslaved' Scream:
Your Letter Is Published Here!

Dear Ann Landers: You wrote, and wisely, that smoking is neither sophisticated nor stylish. You said it can shorten lives, and that it is an expensive and a dirty habit. Why then, do so many people do it? The answer is simple:

A child can suck his thumb and drag around an old blanket. An adult who sucked his thumb and dragged around an old blanket would be led off by a man in a white coat.

So the adult does what is socially acceptable. He sticks a cigarette, or a cigar or a pipe in his mouth. These are pacifiers for adults. These babies don't mind fouling the air of your living room, or an office shared by non-smokers. They care not if they burn holes in their clothing or set fire to their mattresses and burn up the whole family. They are large infants who haven't grown up.

You have the courage to print this? I'll wait and see.

UN-ENSLAVED

Dear Un-Enslaved: Your theory is not new and I don't agree that it takes any special courage to print it.

Of course the "Enslaved" will scream like eagles, and shout "Freudian garbage" when they see this but the experts (many of them at any rate) say you are right.

Dear Ann Landers: When you spoke here at the auditorium you said the basis for a successful marriage is communication. I was happy my husband was there to hear you because I've been trying to get that idea across for years but I never knew how.

I decided last night to write down everything he said from the minute he came home. Here is the full report:

6:10—"Any mail?"

6:25—"Tell the kids to get that darned dog to stop barking."

6:35—"Don't you know how to fix anything but meat loaf?"

6:50—"Pass the sugar."

7:10—"How come the newspaper is wet?"

7:45—"Change the channel. This is lousy."

8:30—"Walk the hound. I'm going to bed."

Now, Ann Landers, I ask you: IS THIS communication? Thanks for your help. — BILLINGS, MONTANA

Dear Billings: It's a start. At least the guy has vocal chords. You said nothing, however, about your responses to Blabber Mouth.

Did you try to engage him in conversation? This is where many wives fail. They are uninformed and dull. Their idea of conversation is a Gestapo report on the kids or a rehash of the palaver heard across the back fence. Most husbands couldn't care less, so they retreat behind the newspaper or fall asleep in front of the Boob Tube.

I invited him to three different parties at my school but he refused me every time. He has never asked me to a party at his school. I have suggested we double date and he always says, "Yeah, that would be great." Then he shows up alone.

I'm afraid Todd wants me for only one thing. I care a great deal for him so please tell me how to get him to treat me like an all-around girl.—THE DOG

Dear Dog: Once a girl is typecast it's tough to win another role. Tell Todd not to call anyone unless he plans to take you somewhere besides the woods. If he never calls again take my word for it. Honey, you're lucky to be rid of him before you wind up in real trouble.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 17-year-old girl who is crazy about a fellow I will call Todd. He takes me out about once every other week. I always get dressed up nice hoping we will go to a movie or to a party, but it's always the same routine. He heads for the woods and we make out.

Dear Ann Landers: When you spoke here at the auditorium you said the basis for a successful marriage is communication. I was happy my husband was there to hear you because I've been trying to get that idea across for years but I never knew how.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Use Head Band To Prevent Rollers From Drooping

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY — Many of the pointers have become habits with our family. Here's one for you: Put a headband around your neck BEFORE rolling up your hair on the large rollers. When set, pull the headband up around the bottom rollers at the neck, ears and forehead. Keeps the rollers from drooping. This is especially good for those of us with fine hair.—MRS. F.A.M.

DEAR POLLY — Threads from old nylon stockings are useful for mending many things. Pull out some of the threads in a discarded one and wind on a thread spool. Collect several shades and use the thread that matches best to mend other usable hose that might have small tears. This thread is also excellent for mending nylon, dacron and all kinds of knit-wear. Try it on wool. The threads blend beautifully.—MRS. R.T.

GIRLS—This is a dilly. The nylon threads really did an invisible mending job on a tear in wool fabric. Reminded me of my grandmother using a long strand of hair for mending. Cut the top off the stocking and then start pulling threads from around the hose.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — This is NOT a joke. Those of you who want to "distress" furniture can do as professional cabinet makers do and hang the piece with three chains.

Line silverware drawers with hangers to absorb the moisture from "quickie" drying.—MRS. H.R.

DEAR POLLY — We always seem to have a clothes-hanger shortage. Often the hooks would break off of metal hangers, which was very annoying until I came up with the idea of slipping the hanger over the hook of another hanger, thus providing space for the hanging of two garments such as a skirt and blouse that would be worn at the same time. One hook works fine for both hangers.

I worked as a secretary for years and found it most annoying to pull out the desk drawer every time I needed a paper clip. Our clips came in small boxes of 100 each so I removed the lid from a new box, rolled plastic gummed tape around my fingers, put the tape on the bottom of the box and placed it on the table beside my typewriter. Each time I needed a clip it was at my fingertips. The tape held the box in place.—MRS. L.E.H.

DEAR POLLY — If you like to wear your pearls or other beads under a dress or sweater collar and find the string too short, take a sweater guard and clip to both ends of the necklace.—M.D.

Who Says Make-Up Isn't An Art?

By MARTHA B. STEIMEL

There's nothing better looking than women all dressed up for a party. They smell nice and they look nice and, alas, any one of them would be the first to admit there is something about their face, for judicious use of make-up is why women look as nice as they do.

On Random Ringing today, the question was "What do you find is the most difficult part of applying make-up?" And nearly everyone finds some part of putting on make-up a little trickier than the rest.

All except MRS. WILLIAM R. SCOTT, 4512 Westward. She says she doesn't think any one thing is harder than another. She wears liquid foundation that goes on smoothly.

"It all seems to blend in very easily," she said.

"Eyebrows are the hardest part," said MRS. H. CHARLES HARBAUGH, 2111 Indian Heights. "They are naturally darker in places and its hard to make them look natural. I'm blonde and its hard to make my eyebrows the same shade without them looking artificial," she said.

MRS. E. C. POTTS, 2805 Taft, had no hesitation in pinpointing a trouble spot either.

"I have more trouble with lipstick than with anything. They say the thing to do is use a brush but I've never learned to. Frankly, I have trouble with my lipstick feathering around the edges. If I wear an oily lipstick that makes my lips feel comfortable, it feathers. If I wear a dry one, it isn't as comfortable," she said.

She keeps hunting for the perfect lipstick, though. At the moment she has 10 different kinds. MRS. J. A. JOHNSON, 2300 Kirk, says her biggest hurdle is not so much implements but engineering.

"Getting my bifocals just right so I can see what I'm doing and get things where they go is the hardest part for me," Mrs. Johnson said. Putting her eyebrows on is the most difficult, she added.

She has solved one problem quite neatly—getting powder to stay put in hot summer weather. After she finishes powdering her face, she pats it all over with a damp washcloth.

"It seems to set it and makes a nice matte finish," she said.

MRS. ALTON A. PEDERSON, 82-A Childress, doesn't use a whole lot of make-up. Getting foundation on evenly is the hardest part for her, though.

"It's having a good light and rubbing it in smoothly with my fingers," she said.

Wouldn't it be nice if somebody would invent a make-up you could put on like a decal? Think of the time you could save. I'm just talking about foundation, however. I share Mrs. Pederson's and Mrs. Potts' problem. When I wear foundation my skin is about three different shades and my lipstick is always leaking into my skin.

What would you like to have me ask on Random Ringing? Please call or write Martha Steimel, care of The Wichita Falls Record News. I'd really like to hear from you.

Mink Ranchers Want Area Kept Quiet

EVERETT, Wash. (AP)—Operation Hush is under way at Paine Air Force Base and the order of the day is: Please do not frighten the mink.

Fifty local mink ranchers appealed to the Air Force for quiet until the spring crop of mink is born. They said loud noises sometimes frighten baby mink to death.

LISTEN TO WHAT OUR TOUGHEST CRITICS HAVE TO SAY

You would have to search long and hard to find a tougher critic of cars than the average Cadillac owner.

For those who have owned and driven this great car over the years have become accustomed—year in and out—to the finest that motoring can offer.

And yet, occasionally, there comes along a car of such dazzling prowess that it inspires their most lavish and unstinted praise. The 1964 Cadillac is such a car.

Listen to a few current Cadillac comments:

"It took my breath away the first time I drove it."

"That new 340-horsepower engine and new transmission turn out the smoothest performance imaginable. It's a wonder in traffic."

"I found it hard to believe a car of its size could be so effortless to handle."

"I've owned five Cadillacs, and this one tops them all—on every count."

And backing up our owners are the men who evaluate cars by stop watch and test track. Never have these professional critics been so eloquent about Cadillac—or any other automobile in its class.

So the next time the talk turns to cars, listen well to the man who has driven a 1964 Cadillac.

You can believe every wonderful word he says. And you can double check him behind the wheel at your Cadillac dealer. You won't be a skeptic long.

By JACK COATS

Charisse Woods, 13-year-old daughter of Mrs. Jean Woods, 406 Calhoun, has received a picture of President Lyndon B. Johnson and his family with an autographed calling card from the President and a letter from his personal secretary, to add to her growing collection.

The young girl, an eighth-grade student at Hirschi Junior High School, has been collecting autographed pictures for two years, and has 30 such pictures in her collection, including an official photograph of the late President John F. Kennedy and another of Mrs. Kennedy with the two Kennedy children.

She received a prompt reply from President Johnson's secretary, together with the family picture and the autographed calling card.

"This is wonderful. I thought the newspaper should know about it," Charisse said.

The youthful collector also has autographed pictures from many Western television and

New Discovery Now Makes It Possible To Shrink And Heal Hemorrhoids Without Surgery

Stops Itch — Relieves Pain In Minutes

New York, N. Y. (Special): A world-famous institute has discovered a new substance which has the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids without surgery. The sufferer first notices almost unbelievable relief in minutes from itching, burning and pain. Then this substance speeds up healing of the injured tissues all while it quickly reduces painful swelling.

Tests conducted under a doctor's observations proved this so — even in cases of 10 to 20 years' standing. The secret is the new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — now offered in both ointment or suppository form called Preparation H®.

In addition to actually shrinking piles — Preparation H lubricates and makes bowel movements less painful. It helps to prevent infection (a principal cause of hemorrhoids).

Only Preparation H contains this magic new substance which quickly helps heal injured cells back to normal and stimulates regrowth of healthy tissue again. Just ask for Preparation H Ointment or Preparation H Suppositories (easier to use away from home). Available at all drug counters.

Jarrell Wins Electra Golf

By CHARLES CLINES

ELECTRA, Tex.—It just shows that patience pays off—Bill Jarrell of Electra, after playing golf for 30 years, finally won a tournament.

The Electra led all the way and wound up with a 54-hole total of 226, two shots better than defending champion Bill Randall of Wichita Falls in the 13th annual Jaycee Invitational at the Electra Country Club.

Hurtubise Clips Foyt's Record; Easy Triumph

LANGHORNE, Pa. (AP)—Jim Hurtubise of Phoenix, Calif., won the 150-mile national level model stock car race Sunday in one hour, 40 minutes, 14.46 seconds.

His average speed of 89.783 miles per hour in a 1964 Plymouth established a record, topping the old mark of 88.911 posted by A. J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., in winning the 150 last year.

Foyt finished eighth after being in contention until the 112-mile mark when he blew a head gasket on his 1964 Ford. Hurtubise crossed the finish line a little over two miles ahead of Norm Nelson of Racine, Wis., who finished second in a 1964 Plymouth.

Third was Herb Shannon of Peoria, Ill., in a 1964 Plymouth. Parnell Jones of Torrington, Conn., winner of last year's Indianapolis 500, took fourth in a 1964 Mercury. Rounding out the top five was Ron Lous of Lancaster, Pa., in a 1962 Ford. A caution flag was up for a total of 12 miles through the race because of minor accidents.

During the first 85 miles, the lead changed hands four times between Foyt, who took an early lead, then Hurtubise, then Foyt again. At the 85-mile mark Hurtubise took over for good. Other top finishers were Ray Darnell, Chicago, 1964 Ford sixth; Malcolm Delaney, Poughkeepsie, N.Y., 1962 Chevrolet, seventh; Foyt, eighth; Bob Siensby, Illinois, 1964 Ford, ninth; and Joe Leonard, San Jose, Calif., 1964 Plymouth in tenth place.

Miles 'Apart'

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—Ken Miles drove his Carroll Shelby Ford-Cobra to a wire-to-wire victory Sunday in the manufacturers' event of the U.S. Road Racing Championships at Riverside Raceway.

Miles, of Hollywood, Calif., took off from the pole position in the 22-place field of Grand Touring cars and quickly pulled away from Porsche 904s driven by Scooter Patrick and Don Wester.

By the 10th lap, however, Ed Leslie of Monterey, Calif., had moved into second in his privately owned Cobra. He held that spot until the finish and was 35 seconds behind Miles.

Miles toured the 125 miles at average speed of 92.55 miles per hour to set a Grand Touring record at Riverside. The old mark of 87.77 m.p.h. was made by Bob Bondurant in a Cobra on Oct. 12, 1963.

The victory gave the Shelby American team 9 points toward the manufacturers' championship.

Shelby had 27 points to lead the standings.

Miles' purse was $1,700.

Crampton's Closing 65 Wraps Up Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Bruce Crampton shot a five-under-par 65 Sunday to win the $40,000 Texas Open Golf Tournament when Juan (Chi Chi) Rodriguez missed a six-foot putt on the final green.

Australia, came from a tie for 16th on the final day to take the $5,000 first money as the veteran Dutch Harrison faltered in the stretch. Crampton had 273 for 72 holes.

Harrison was leading by a stroke going into the final round but soared to a 74 on the last 18 and fell down the list.

Rodriguez came into 1 able to tie for first if he parred the hole. But he was on the edge of the green on his tee shot, went by the hole on his first putt, and then missed the second putt for a bogey and a closing 69.

Bob Charles, the left-hander from New Zealand, and Rodriguez tied for second. Charles came in with a 69 and a total of 274. Each won $3,100.

Miller Barber, Mason Rudolph, Gene Littler and Don January all tied for fourth with 275.

Crampton, 28, had to break the course record for nine holes as he laid down a six-under-par 29 on the back nine — also equalling the best nine holes on the tour this year — to snatch victory.

Harrison, the 54-year-old veteran of 35 tours, led going into the final round with 202 for 54 holes. He also led after Sunday's first nine although shooting a one-over-par 36.

Harrison faltered down the stretch and wound up with a 276 to tie for eighth place.

A capricious wind played havoc with everyone on the front nine but the back nine was made to play with it and Crampton streaked in late afternoon with his 65 — which tied the lowest round of the tournament.

He also made up the most strokes for a winner in the final round of this year's tour.

The 6,715-yard Oak Hills Country Club course was raked by rain in the morning and the start of the final round was delayed two hours. But the sun came out and the finish was in uncomfortable heat.

Crampton said his putting touch returned after a long absence and he needed only 29 putts to make the final 18. He had seven one-putt greens.

His only trouble came on the fifth hole where he was in a grass-covered hole and in getting out hit into a bunker. He wound up with a bogey.

Crampton lipped the cup on two putts that would have put him well in front but he also made many tough ones. He started his great surge to victory on the 10th hole where he two-putted from 50 feet for a birdie.

He birdied 11 with a 20-footer and a 15-footer. Then he rammed down a 14-footer on 14, 30-footer on 15 and a seven-footer on 17 for the birdies that gave him his first victory since the Motor City Open of 1962.

Russell Again Sparks 105-99 Warrior Raking

BOSTON (AP)—The proud Celtics, spurred by Bill Russell, mustered all their defense and teamwork for a rough 105-99 victory over San Francisco and an unprecedented sixth straight National Basketball Association championship Sunday night.

Boston thus extended its basketball dynasty to heights never before attained by professional athletes.

But the Warriors aggressively battled to the wire before the Celtics could climax a year of dedication by wrapping up in five games the final NBA playoff series.

Russell rebounded a Tom Heinsohn miss and dunked it in with 12 seconds left for the clincher. A parade to the foul line had enabled San Francisco to close to 101-99 at the 19-second mark.

Towering Wilt Chamberlain and Little Guy Rodgers brought the Warriors back from an 11-point deficit to a brief lead early in the fourth quarter, when a basket by Chamberlain made it 78-77 for the visitors.

But the foul-laden Celtics, who love winning and do it better than anyone else, would not be denied.

Russell fed Willie Naulls and sank a free throw as Boston regained the lead 80-78.

Heinsohn, a spark as were Sam Jones and retiring captain Frank Ramsey, got two free throws. Next Russell leaped high for a rebound and fed Heinsohn the length of the court and it was 84-79. It was a battle the rest of the way but the Celtics held on for their seventh title in eight years.

In the annals of pro playoff sports the highest previous string of consecutive titles was five. It has been shared by the Celtics, the New York Yankees of 1949-53 and Montreal's Stanley Cup hockey kings of 1956-60.

With two minutes left, Ramsey put in two free throws that just about wrapped it up 100-92.

Holiday Boatmen Move Notch To Sixth Place

ROCK POINT, Tex. (Special)—Kenneth Guiley and James Stevens, two Holiday, Tex., boatmen manning a Grumman canoe with a lateen sail, moved up a notch into sixth place as the Texas Water Safari boat race pulled up here Sunday evening.

Their boat, No. 140, arrived here at 5:03 p.m. Sunday. They depart Monday morning for Ingleside, then leave at daybreak Tuesday for the last — and short — leg to Corpus Christi of the 500-mile trip.

Despite bad weather, 22 boats started Sunday from Seadrift. It was two less than began Saturday. Six boats were swamped en route and one failed to get in by the sundown deadline.

Albert Widing and Robert Gillings, the Michigan entry which started in second place Sunday morning, moved into the lead with a time of 73 hours and 23 minutes. Edward Adams and LeRoy Widing of Holly, Mich., who had held the lead, dropped to second with a time of 74 hours and 63 minutes.

Guiley and Stevens, who began the Seadrift-to-Rock Point trip at 6:15 a.m., has an elapsed time of 111 hours and 44 minutes for their sixth place.

Senators Claim Home Run Duel

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Don Zimmer slammed two home runs and Bill Skowron hit one as the Washington Senators out-powered the Kansas City Athletics 7-4 Sunday.

Zimmer led off the game with a homer, then hit his third of the season in the fifth. Skowron socked his fourth in the sixth inning.

Washington's Bennie Daniels was rolling along with a five-hitter until Manny Jimenez blasted his second pinch-hit homer of the year in the eighth.

Conkling's Eclipses City Women's Mark

Conkling's Contractors erased a week-old team record Sunday afternoon in the 27th annual City Women's Bowling Tournament at Village Bowl with a three-game set of 2808.

It bettered by 37 pins the previous high of 2861 established by Flake Uniform Linen, which now is in second place. Prior to this year, the best series was a 2854 set by Shaw Motors last year.

Wanda Williams, with a 643 including a 228 singleton, highlighted the new high. Jean Adams was next with a 565, followed by Ada Thomas' 521, Sally Green's 498 and Mary Jones' 458.

After Sunday's firing and with one weekend remaining, Peggy Albright took over the lead in two departments—high game and all-events. She rolled a 254 Sunday to better the 225 high of Boots Sillar last Sunday. Her 1674 all-events was 69 pins over the 1605 rolled by Jonnie Butcher last week.

Eighth Inning Houston Rally Boots Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Bob Aspromonte's single and Rusty Staub's sacrifice fly scored two runs in the eighth inning and carried Houston to a 6-4 victory over St. Louis Sunday.

The two-run rally followed a similar spurt in the seventh which put the Colts ahead to stay. Singles by Jerry Grote and Eddie Kasko, Johnny Lewis' error and a single by Bob Lillis accounted for two runs that gave the Colts a 4-3 lead.

Manager Johnny Keane announced the Cardinals were playing the game under protest as the result of a ruling in the Houston eighth. He contended the run that scored on Staub's fly should not have been allowed because of a double play.

Mike White scored on the play, but Aspromonte was declared out for leaving second base before Lewis caught the ball in right field.

The Cardinals scored in their eighth on singles by Dick Groat, Lewis and Ken Boyer. Hal Woodeschick replaced Bob Bruce and got out of trouble after Bill White singled, loading the bases. Woodeschick struck out Charley James and retired Julian Javier on a grounder.

Economic Position

One of the incendiary factors causing unrest in underdeveloped lands, and even in some that are relatively advanced, is inequality in income distribution. The rich are very rich and few, the poor are very poor and many.

We of the United States, most of us would agree, have pretty well solved that problem, and through peaceful means.

An exception to that consensus is taken by Herman P. Miller, an economist with the Census Bureau. In a recent study entitled "Rich Man, Poor Man," he tosses out the following statistics:

The top one-fifth of U.S. families receive 45 per cent of the nation's income, only one percentage point less than their share 20 years ago. The bottom fifth, however, is receiving exactly the same as in 1944 — 5 per cent.

"Our 'social revolution' ended 20 years ago," Miller asserts. Before that, between 1929 and 1944, the top fifth's share went down by eight percentage points and the bottom group's share increased slightly.

He sees signs that there may actually be a widening of the distance between top and bottom, which he fears will be accelerated by the machines that are displacing unskilled and semiskilled workers.

On the other side of the picture, Miller reports that although the percentage shares of the American economic pie have remained the same, the dollar size of those shares has steadily grown, even allowing for inflation.

In 1929, 51 per cent of U.S. families earned less than $3,000 yearly (in 1962 dollars). In 1962, the under-$3,000 group was down to 21 per cent of all families.

It may be that the U.S. has arrived at a more or less permanent percentage arrangement among the rich, the well-off and the poor. Whether or not it is the optimum arrangement is open to question.

But the problem would seem to be less one of shaving percentage points off the top and more one of bringing the lower end closer to the middle in terms of absolute dollars.

It is to upgrade this "poor fifth" of the nation — the 21 per cent earning less than $3,000 — that President Johnson has launched his "war on poverty."

Gambles On Coalition

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — On the face of it, it is surprising when a U.S. ambassador moves to block a revolution against a Red-leaning government, as Ambassador Leonard C. Unger did in Laos.

It seems all the more surprising when it is remembered that friendly control of Laos would take a good deal of the Red pressure off Thailand and make it possible to close the Ho Chi Minh trail down which travel the Red North Vietnamese cadres for the war in South Viet Nam.

Here is the story behind that unusual State Department action:

Defense secretary Robert McNamara, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and their advisers are convinced by U.S. experience in Laos that the anti-Communist Laotian forces cannot hold out in battle against Laotian Reds reinforced by North Vietnamese troops.

The precoalition experience of American military advisers in Laos was disheartening. Anti-Communist Laotian troops would not stand and fight.

The U.S. specialists on Laos believe, therefore, that a friendly army coup, even if it did gain control of the government, would be defeated and ousted by a Pathet Lao-North Vietnamese attack. They predict a completely Red Lao government would result.

There were, however, exceptions to the tenacious Abhay, who led the current coup. His troops fought well in the civil war.

Rusk's advisers are convinced that if the present uneasy leftist-rightist-neutralist coalition can be made to hold however shakily, the North Vietnamese will be held back from an all-out military takeover by fear of U.S. intervention from Thailand, where advance bases are ready for quick use by American troops who could be ferried in by air from the Pacific. Some defense officials hold threats of bombing North Viet Nam would be even more effective.

White House advisers hope that if the present coalition is continued, South Viet Nam's Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh can reach agreement with the conservative elements of the Laotian coalition for quiet joint action to cut the illegal Red supply lines from North Viet Nam through Laos to South Viet Nam.

Some key U.S. diplomats see signs the Laotian neutralists are beginning to get fed up with the Communists, who have consistently broken truce agreements and sabotaged the neutralist coalition government.

At the start of the coalition, the neutralists were considerably more on the Red side than against. Some U.S. specialists now believe the neutralist premier, Prince Souvanna Phouma, while still leaning to the left, may well be on the way to turning against his half brother, Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the Communist Pathet Laos.

U.S. government experts want time for this disillusionment to strengthen. They hope that in the long run disillusionment will be more effective than military action in keeping Laos out of Communist hands.

Meanwhile, the Communists have been strengthening their military positions in a series of carefully timed military truce violations.

Guest Editorial

Prayerful Demogogy

The following is an editorial run recently in the Bowie, Texas News:

"On June 25, 1962, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that state-ordered prayers may not be recited in the public schools. Later it ruled that state authorities may not order Bible reading in the schools, either.

"Since that time, no fewer than 146 Congressmen have introduced bills to modify the First Amendment to the Constitution to permit these things to be done.

"I simply don't understand it.

"Do we actually want the Congress or the state of New York or the school board of Bowie to have the right to ORDER our children to say certain prayers or read certain scriptures each morning at school?

"If so, what prayers? What scriptures?

"Do we want to give state bureaucrats the authority to compose their own prayers, then require them to be recited daily in the schools?

"That's exactly what happened in the state of New York, and that is the specific thing that the Supreme Court rejected as a violation of the amendment to the Constitution which says, in effect, that government must keep its hands off of religion and let the people do their own worshipping in their own way.

"What is freedom of religion if it is not freedom to worship as YOU please rather than as the state tells you?

"Have we forgotten that it was to escape state-controlled religion that so many of the first settlers of our nation left their homes in England and Europe and chose a foreign, savage land where they could be free above their own countries where the shadow of a state religion stymied their search for God?

"Actually, I do understand it.

"On the public side, there has been a wide misunderstanding of the court decisions, thinking it banned all religious exercises from the schools.

"It didn't. Voluntary exercises are still free as air. It is just the ordering of exercise by official authorities which has been banned.

"On the political side, there has been a whale of a lot of pure demogogy. Most of the bills would make no change in the First Amendment at all, but would merely restate a freedom of religion already there.

"But they have permitted the congressmen to write back home, explaining how they are doing their best to 'put God back in our schools' and, at the same time, take a crack at a Supreme Court which has not been winning any popularity contests in this neck of the wood for some time now.

"And that's about the whole sum and substance of the matter."

THOUGHTS

Now the parable is this: The seed is the word of God. — Luke 8:11.

This Book is far more than man's book. It is God's unchanging Word sent to man, that he may have a chart and compass for his voyage and that he may have a staff upon which to lean in weary hours. — Billy Graham.

For you know that afterward, when he desired to inherit the blessing, he was rejected, for he found no chance to repent, though he sought it with tears. — Hebrews 12:17.

You cannot repent too soon, because you do not know how soon it may be too late. — Thomas Fuller.

For Christ also died for sins once for all, the righteous for the unrighteous, that he might bring us to God; being put to death in the flesh but made alive in the spirit. — I Peter 3:18.

WASHINGTON — President Johnson is personally intervening in the presidential primaries in Indiana and Maryland to help "favorite son" candidates oppose Alabama Governor George Wallace.

Faced with the possible loss of one of these "swing states" to the segregationist leader, the President has assigned Clifton Carter, his top political troubleshooter, to direct and coordinate administration help for Senator Daniel Brewster, D-Md., and Indiana Governor Matthew Welch.

Carter already has assisted Senator Brewster and Governor Welch — both running "scared" — in raising nearly $100,000 for their campaigns to assure pro-Johnson delegations to the Democratic national convention in Atlantic City.

On directions from the President, Carter loaned two staff members of the Democratic National Committee to Brewster as speech writers and advance publicity men to bolster his sagging campaign.

Carter arranged to have Governor Welch and Senator Brewster individually photographed with President Johnson in the White House for their use in tv during the closing days of the Indiana (May 5) and Maryland (May 19) primaries.

The President's unannounced decision to intervene in these hotly contested primaries was made after polls by the Democratic National Committee showed that Wallace will make a stronger showing in both states than he did in Wisconsin, where he unexpectedly polled 33 per cent of the vote.

The poll in nearby Maryland startled President Johnson by indicating that Wallace is running "neck and neck" with Senator Brewster and has a possible chance to win the primary unless the present trend is reversed.

Senator Brewster, with an original campaign budget of $75,000 is now seeking $50,000 for additional tv appearances during the final weeks. Governor Wallace, who always seems to have plenty of money, purchased $50,000 worth of prime tv time for the closing of his campaign. A Wallace aide estimates the governor will spend $250,000 in Maryland and another $150,000 in Indiana.

The Side Show

The Brewster-Wallace battle in Maryland is being complicated by a ding-dong battle for the Democratic senatorial nomination between Joseph D. Tydings, son of the late Senator Millard Tydings, and Louis Goldstein, State Controller since 1959.

In his campaign, Goldstein is giving Brewster his full support at the private request of President Johnson; while Tydings, being backed by Attorney General Robert Kennedy, is taking a neutral stand and staying completely out of the Brewster-Wallace contest.

The irony of Tydings' campaign is that it is encouraging some of his campaigners to make deals with Wallace supporters for votes at the same time that Tydings is traveling about the state "mimicking" the speech manner of the late President Kennedy. From watching old Kennedy movies, Tydings not only tries to talk like the late President, but uses a jabbing finger to drive home key passages of his speeches. He also changed his hair style to have a lock cover his forehead like Kennedy's.

Big-Money Campaign
Despite these outward emulations of the late President, Tydings has shown no indication that he plans to follow White House hints to openly support Senator Brewster against Wallace, who is opposing the Kennedy civil rights program.

Money also seems to be no serious object in young Tydings' campaign. His step-grandmother is Marjorie Merriweather Post May, one of the richest women in the world. She helped the former U.S. District Attorney purchase $150,000 in prime tv time for the campaign.

In addition, Tydings has purchased a $40,000 full-page advertisement in the Saturday Evening Post for statewide distribution, and a $32,000 five-page spread in a Baltimore paper. One of Tydings' speech writers is being paid more than $20,000. Opponent Goldstein has budgeted less than $100,000 for his campaign.

Political Fallout

Supporters of Defense Secretary Robert McNamara are planting stories that President Johnson is considering making McNamara his vice presidential nominee and offering the Defense post to Attorney General Kennedy. The latter's interest in "counter-insurgency" warfare is being cited as one of Kennedy's qualifications for the McNamara post.

Senator Barry Goldwater is so enthused about his chances of winning at San Francisco in July that he is organizing a special train to bring his supporters to the Republican convention from the East Coast. The train is to leave Washington, D.C., on July 10, and make stops in Pittsburgh, Akron, Chicago, Kansas City and other cities to be named later. The Senator's two sons, Mike and Barry Jr., will be aboard, as well as other celebrities. Goldwater backers are also planning a national rally at Madison Square Garden, May 12, to step up the tempo of his campaign. Bill Haddad, former associate director of the Peace Corps, is circulating a folder of photographs showing his close association with the late President Kennedy, in his bid for the Democratic congressional nomination from the 19th district in New York.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q — Is it true that oak trees are struck by lightning more frequently than any other tree?

A — Yes. It appears that electricity has easier passage through oak wood than through other kinds.

Q — How do presidential nominations differ from legislative measures in Congress?

A — Nominations, unlike legislative measures, do not carry over from one session of Congress to the next.

Q — To what country did Panama formerly belong?

A — Colombia. The people of Panama declared their independence on November 3, 1903.

U.S. Has Big Supply Of Nuclear Material

Charlie Halleck.

"Charlie," said LBJ, "you complained about that thick Texas bacon we've served you in the past. I want you to know that I instructed the cook to prepare thin-cut Yankee bacon especially for Charlie Halleck."

Most of the breakfast, however, was a serious though optimistic report by the President on how he had worked out the historic joint move with Khrushchev to cut back on plutonium.

He explained that he had taken it up with Khrushchev both in an exchange of letters and also through American representatives at the Geneva Disarmament Talks. He also discussed it with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin.

But, revealed Johnson, he had no definite commitment that Khrushchev would go along until about ten minutes before he made his New York speech to the Associated Press.

"How do we know the Russians will live up to the agreement?" asked Rep. Les Arends of Illinois, the Republican Whip.

Johnson replied that he didn't know; there was no way to be sure; though he felt hopeful that the Russians would. But it doesn't matter, he added, for U.S. security needs are fully met despite the setback. The President then made the dramatic statement that the United States has ten times its needs in fissionable materials.

He added: "We are not going to use nuclear energy as a WPA Project."

Republican leaders on the whole seemed satisfied.

Responsibility Of Being President

"When a man becomes President of the United States," remarked a Presidential adviser the other day, "and when he merely by picking up the telephone, can start a world catastrophe, it gives him a new and profound sense of responsibility.

"With each of the two Presidents under whom I have served — Kennedy and Johnson," said the adviser, "this has caused them to start taking constructive steps to get away from the brink."

This is what Johnson has been doing almost from the week after he assumed office. He has had, however, some minor opposition. One week after John F. Kennedy's death, Johnson proposed writing a letter to Khrushchev thanking him for his unprecedented action in sending him Russia's confidential file on Lee Oswald.

The State Department advised against the reply, but the new President wrote it anyway, though the State Department managed to extract some of its warmth before the letter was finally sent.

Again when Johnson's recent AP speech as drafted, State Department advisers tucked in one paragraph which spoiled part of the Johnson gesture toward winning better relations with Russia. It so prevented the speech from being published in the Soviet.

That paragraph read: "The communists, using force and intrigue seek to bring about a communist-dominated world. Our convictions, our interests, our life as a nation, demand we resolutely pose that effort. This activity is alone the cause of the cold war between us."

Why LBJ's Speech Was In Pravda

This paragraph, alluding to the spread of communism by force, was just what the Russians have been battling the Chinese about. The Chinese have claimed that communism must be spread by force and plutonium. Khrushchev has claimed nuclear war is too catastrophic a ride and the original war crime of Marx must be revised.

For the Chinese have called Khrushchev a "revisionist," the very name in the communist lexicon, and even worse than calling Mr. K a "Bible-reading buffoon" an unrequited lover of the Wamho made himself a laughing stock by being soft on imperialism, which the Chinese also call him.

The State Department, obviously afraid Johnson would be called "soon communism," inserted that paragraph in the AP speech, even though it put the United States in the position of a believing Khrushchev in battle with the Chinese over reading communism by force.

As a rift, word from the Kremlin that full publication of the Johnson speech was seriously decried, finally turned down because of this one paragraph.

Tourist Trouble

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON — This is the time of year when the average occupant of the nation's capital leads a furtive, hunted life, slinking down back alleys from home to office and back, and refusing to answer the phone.

He avoids his favorite saloons, where he could be trapped, and wanders into strange grog shops where the bartenders are surly and suspicious. At home, he keeps the windows curtained tightly and lets newspapers and milk bottles accumulate on the stoop.

For this is the tourist season, and people are beginning to "drop in" from Painted Toe, Texas, and Des Moines to sight-see themselves—and their hosts—to death.

Oh, It's Cozier

By now, the Washington squatter knows the awful routine. The bell rings and you rush to open the door, thinking it's a convivial golf partner named Hank. It is, instead, Cousin (Fifth) Porcupine, fresh from the train station with his brood of 13 children—oldest 14—"for a little holiday."

"We could go to a hotel, of course," he says, smacking his lips over four fingers of your whiskey, "but it's so much cozier and friendlier staying with kin folk. And, after all, we'll only be in town a couple of months."

Or it's a guy from your home town who once went to school with your sister's husband's brother-in-law and who'd promised the folks back home he'd "look you up." He couldn't get a room in his "favorite hotel"—the one his grandpa spent one night in just after the Civil War—so he figured he'd come over and see what you could suggest.

Moves In

While you're trying to decide between the Salvation Army and the District Jail, this character has stowed his trunk in the guest room, taken a bath, and ordered dinner in bed.

But whoever it is, the regimen that follows would send a Marine drill sergeants whimpering to a rest home; you are up at the crack of dawn to shepherd the sightseers—because everybody knows those kids are bandits. You buy the lunch at the Mayflower or De Zeibert's "where all the big boys eat." You bail out their kid when they try to walk off with the crockery at Mount Vernon.

What They Want

Somewhere explain that the President won't be able to have them in to meet—this trip. But you're a bit if you don't get them an air's audience with their Senator and an introduction to the Vice Cabinet. They want to go one of Perle Mesta's cocktail parties. They've got to confer with J. Edgar Hoover about how to catch Commies; have their picture taken with the full bent of the Supreme Court, and get the Soviet Ambassador a peek of their mind.

It happens every year and by this time the Washingtonian has accepted it as a cross he must bear for his sins. But there are signs of rebellion. A harassed type I know recently nailed a sign to his door. It reads, simply, "Smallpox."

"Guff Hacker says he doesn't need to learn to live better—that he's only living has good as he knows how now."

Educator Says Schools Losing Touch With Times

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—American education has lost touch with the times and an educational revolution is badly needed, an educator told the National School Boards Association on Sunday.

Israel is turning ancient ruins into living towns. The 10th city in 40 centuries is rising at Arad, and a cooperative farm village adjoins the ruins of En-gedi on the Dead Sea.

Dr. Ernest O. Melby said the nation's dropout problem is a failure of the schools and the teachers, not the pupils. And, he added, the same educational weaknesses which drive youngsters out of school before high school graduation also limit the development of all other pupils.

The great metropolitan centers are becoming educational wastelands, Melby said.

"The children of the poor get the poorest and oldest buildings and the poorest and least experienced teachers," he said.

"Our teachers are middle class people with middle class attitudes. They usually do not want to teach the culturally deprived and when they do, their attitudes keep them from helping the deprived child."

Melby, now at Michigan State University, is former dean of the colleges of education at New York University and Northwestern University, and former president of Montana State College.

He told 6,000 school board members, convening here, "We must immediately move to develop a new education, designed to meet the demands of our rapidly changing society."

Some of his proposals: Shift the goal of teaching from the acquisition of facts to helping each child become his best self, a good citizen, a productive worker.

Keep all schools open continuously from 8 a.m. to at least 10 p.m. with a continuous program for adults as well as children and youth.

The lower the economic and social level of the community, the more elaborate and well designed the educational facilities should be.

Make service to the educationally disadvantaged a form of recognition to our ablest teachers. "This somehow happens in medicine where the most serious illnesses tend finally to go to the most skilled specialists."

Melby emphasized that all-out efforts must be made to improve the education of Negro youngsters in the great cities.

"The Negro will no longer accept second class citizenship," he said. "He will continue to make our guilty conscience hurt us day and night."

Unless we heed our consciences, bloodshed and strife are inevitable.

Fashionable women have used cosmetics since antiquity. Archaeologists excavating Roman ruins in Syria found ivory boxes containing white face powder, eyebrow pencils and tubes of perfume.

Melby said the son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Blalock. He was born in Electra and lived in Iowa Park before moving to Alaska with his parents. He attended school in Wasilla, Alaska his first year; in Akutan, Aleutians his second year.

He went to the Harrold, Tex. school when in the third grade. When his parents went to Guam as teachers in the late summer of 1962, Kelly was advanced to the fifth grade.

The Blalocks have three other children, Ronald, 13; Judy, 8 and Kim, 4.

Maj. Gen. Thomas Carroll, adjutant general of the Alaska National Guard, declined Egan's invitation. To stay here overnight and said he and his crew would return to Anchorage. With Carroll were Lt. Col. Thomas Norris of Juneau, pilot; a co-pilot, Maj. James Rowe of Anchorage, and Sgt. (first name unknown) Ayres, also of Anchorage.

Several witnesses saw the plane hit the water. It was a mile due west of the spot where 32 persons were carried to their deaths when a dock slid into the harbor last March 27, in the great earthquake and tidal wave.

Search boats soon found two wing tanks, an oil tank, a brief case and papers.

Col. Merle Mason, U.S. Air Force, who accompanied a Fairbanks delegation which also arrived here Saturday, watched the search efforts and soon said "indications are there are no survivors."

The eye witness included Sgt. John Slaughter, who was on a dock on the shore. He said the plane was flying low over the water when suddenly he saw a "flash" as it hit.

Russia To Try Dam Bombing To Open River

MOSCOW (AP) — Warplanes and combat engineers stood ready Sunday to use aerial bombs and other explosives in an attempt to keep a fast-rising lake from cascading into Samarkand, ancient capital of the Mongol Empire, deep in the Soviet south.

Engineers and bomber pilots were reported gathered at the edge of the Pamir Mountains for preparations to blast out a huge landslide that has blocked the Zhetysayn River and threatens to send a deluge onto the fabled city.

A Tass news agency dispatch said an attempt would be made to divert the river along a new course.

"This catastrophe is fraught with the danger of an unprecedented flood in the whole of the Zhetysayn Valley, if the waters suddenly break through the dam," Tass said. "That is why the population of villages along the river is being urgently evacuated."

It said it was believed that the danger could be eased in five or six days.

Weakened by old earthquakes, a mountain collapsed into the river after a month of heavy rains and formed a natural dam, according to authorities in the area. Samarkand is 1,700 miles southeast of Moscow near the juncture of the Soviet Union with Red China and Afghanistan.

A lake is rapidly forming 100 miles upstream from the city, fed by continuing rains. The natural dam threatens to break, allowing flood waters to sweep everything in their path in the valley below.

Tass and Moscow radio said the landslide occurred Friday and that the Darnvorz Mountain had "cracked as a result of earth tremors" and then was "cut in two by water." Western seismological stations recorded a strong earthquake, possible in that same area, on Friday.

Samarkand, a city of shimmering blue-tiled old mosques and new industries, has a population of 215,000. Smaller cities are closer to the slide.

Emergency headquarters have been established at the village of Aini.

Buttercup—Marquise makes the little yellow suit of Galey and Lord's bubbly pique—the fabric with the surface interest that is capturing so much attention. Decorative yellows and greens are stencilled on the Screen. Carressa's yellow shoes add chic.

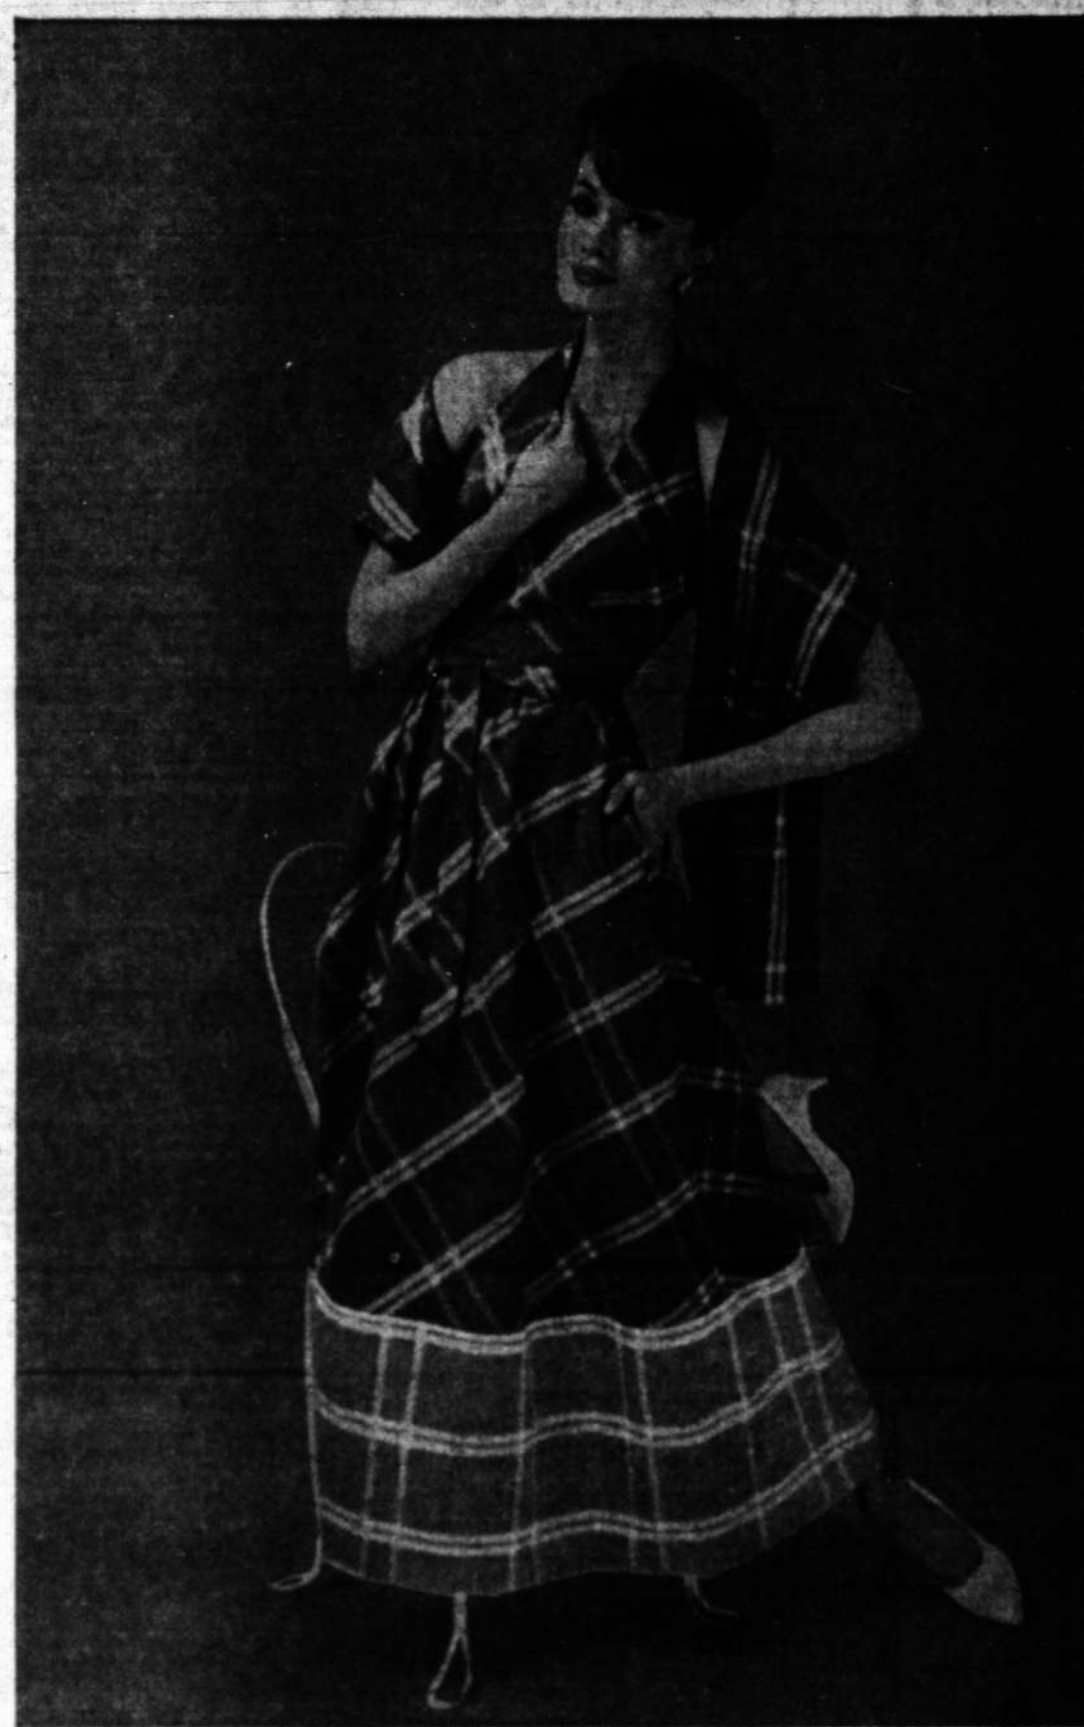

Check and Double Check—Galey and Lord's bright navy and white checked Dacron and cotton makes up superbly in Hannah Troy's jacket dress. Picking up the check—the stencil motif in the Lampshade—the high white hat of John Fredericks.

Fashion Excitement:

Ottomans—Bubble Piques—Ribbed Cottons
And Color adds the Flavor

The Galey & Lord cotton story this season in the world of fashion is one of textures, ribs, construction. The fabulous success of ottoman has carried on with many new fabrics in the ribbed theme. The look of cavalry twill or whipcord, the crisp hand of pique, the happy alliance of polyester with cotton makes for new vitality and excitement on the cotton scene.

The newest and most conversational is the bubble pique in tender romantic shades of mauve, buttercup, mint, hyacinth and the like. And in all forms of bubble and of ottoman, WHITE continues as a high fashion color in the hands of America's foremost designers.

Color Carnival—plaids are big and bold as Bill Blass of Maurice Rentner uses them—Galey and Lord's Fortrel and cotton is used in a happy alliance of pink and blue for a summer dance dress.

The Gentle Woman—chooses mauvey pink bubbly pique by Galey and Lord for her hostess gown deluxe. Estevez designs the costume, adds shimmering jewel buttons and a shaped skirt. The decor—very a la mode—the stencilled pink flower window shade—the Galey and Lord satin striped chair.
