

Regime-Backers Rap Filibuster

Say Unionist Asks Payoff

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators backing the administration's communications satellite bill argued today that unless opponents abandon their filibuster against it, the United States could lose the race for supremacy in space.

Earlier during the Senate session, Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said a powerful unionist has been heard from meeting during the settlement of a strike now holding up work on anti-nuclear submarines.

He made the charges in asking permission for his Senate Investigations subcommittee to start hearings. Subcommittees have been held from meeting during the current filibuster.

Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., chairman of the Senate Space Committee, said there is danger that the advance made by the achievements of Telstar could be frittered away by "obstructionism and dilatory tactics" in the Senate.

Senator Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., chairman of the Commerce Committee, told the Senate that unless the United States arrives at a legislative policy on space communication, it will be left unprepared for the extraordinary radio conference to be held by the International Telecommunications Union in the fall of 1963.

"Unless we pass a bill, we will have no standing in this meeting," Magnuson said. "We are going to sit in this meeting out in left field."

Since last Thursday, critics of the legislation to create a privately owned, government regulated corporation to launch and own communications satellites have engaged in a filibuster tactics to keep the bill from even coming before the Senate.

The filibusters advocate government ownership of satellite communications systems.

Their leaders are Democrats who call themselves liberals. Among them are Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., said that if the Senate doesn't act at this session, the failure might have serious political effects on the Democratic party in the fall elections.

Sen. Democrats would be blamed for lack of action on a vital issue.

Kerr said senators must not forget there is a race going on between this country and the Soviet Union for supremacy in space. He said the United States must not lose the advantage it obtained by putting Telstar into orbit.

McClellan asked unanimous consent for his committee to meet, but Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., one of the leaders of the filibuster fight, refused to agree. Morse was cut off from an effort to explain his reasons for objecting.

In his Senate speech, McClellan did not name the man allegedly demanding a payoff. As a price for allowing the settlement of the strike which had paralyzed work on nuclear submarines at the Groton, Conn., plant of General Dynamics since July 19.

The Senate met two hours earlier than usual as leaders pressed for an end to the filibuster.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told reporters that while he would keep the Senate in session late tonight, he still did not plan to have around-the-clock sessions.

Asked whether he had anything up his sleeve to break the filibuster, he shook his head and said: "I'm just smiling through my teeth."

McClellan told the Senate that representatives of management and labor had twice reached terms for settlement of the strike, only to have their efforts blocked when rank and file unionists voted not to accept terms.

McClellan said his subcommittee "has information that the settlements heretofore have been obstructed by the efforts of a former president of a union" who had been expelled previously by the union but who still "apparently wields great influence with the rank and file."

This powerful unionist, McClellan charged, "has offered for a sum of money and other considerations to withdraw his opposition" and let terms of a third settlement plan "hammered out last Friday be accepted."

The new settlement pact is scheduled to be submitted to the rank and file members for ratification or rejection Tuesday, McClellan said, and if the charges against the unionist can be substantiated, he said this would have a great impact on the result.

Morse said "there is plenty of law on the statute books" to handle the labor dispute cited by McClellan.

Morse told newsmen he did not intend to permit any committee to meet as long as the fight over the satellite bill is on.

Road Crash Fatal To Six

HIGHLAND, N.Y. (AP)—Five elderly women — three of them sisters — were driving home to Sunday dinner in nearby Kingston.

The family of Alphonse Tuozzo was on its way home to New Paltz after a day of pleasure driving.

The five elderly women were killed and Tuozzo, 66, fatally injured.

Killed instantly were Elizabeth J. O'Shea, 88, identified by police as the driver of one of the cars, and all of the car's passengers; Mary O'Shea, 65; Lucy Daughton, 73; Kathryn Schlosier, 72; and Julia Schimmer, about 65.

The O'Shea women and Mrs. Daughton, a widow, were sisters. Tuozzo died in a Poughkeepsie hospital a few hours after the accident. His wife, Grace, 64, who police said was driving the family car, was in critical condition in the hospital.

Seven Climbers Returned To Camp

GRAND TETON NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (AP)—Seven storm-battered mountain climbers from four Eastern states were brought to safety to a well-equipped camp site Sunday night, but efforts to retrieve the body of a dead climber from a rugged Grand Teton Peak was delayed.

Stephen Smith, 21, of Holden, Mass., died of exposure when a snowstorm hit the group of 10 climbers near the top of the 12,760-foot peak in northwestern Wyoming.

Smith's body was found Sunday, but District Ranger Douglas McLaren said it is in one of the most inaccessible areas of the peak.

He said a team of experienced mountain climbing rangers would study the scene and rock formations on the peak today to determine the best route to reach the rugged area.

Two other climbers, John Fenimore of West Hartford, Conn., and Lester Gerrier of Millington, N.J., were born off the peak by helicopter. They were taken to a hospital in Jackson for treatment of exposure and frostbite.

The other seven climbers preferred to stay overnight at the Appalachian Mountain Club's campsite above Garnet Canyon where the body of a dead climber was found today, McLaren said.

It is only an hour walk along a horse trail the final 1,000 feet of the descent from the camp.

The easterners began their climb Thursday. That same day, a howling storm struck the upper slopes. Smith was one of three climbers who left the group in an attempt to find a way out of the storm.

Dr. John R. Walker of St. John's Hospital at Jackson said the three "tried to make it out Friday, but couldn't."

Dr. Walker said the men blown from the peak seemed in reasonably good condition.

The climbers all are members of the Appalachian Mountain Club which has 30 members in Wyoming for its annual camp.

EIGHT INJURED—Eight persons, including six members of the Snyder Colt League all-star baseball team, the team manager and his wife were injured today when this station wagon collided with a truck west of Snyder on U. S. 180. The baseball team was scheduled to play in a tournament in Lovington, N. M., this evening.

Colt League Youths Hurt In Road Crash

A car-truck accident six miles west of Snyder on the Lamesa Highway this morning resulted in the hospitalizing of eight members of a group destined for Lovington, N. M., and the opening of the sectional Colt League playoffs held here today.

Admitted to Cogdell Memorial Hospital were J. B. Hughey, driver of the car; his wife, Lana Carter Hughey; Duane Ray Daniel; Ronald Eugene Gilleland, 15; Ted Anthony Foreman, 16; James L. Lavier Heathington, 15; Bobby Joe Waddell, 16; and John Barry Hughey, 16.

With the exception of Mr. and Mrs. Hughey, all of those admitted are members of the Snyder Colt League All-Star team, scheduled to play Lovington this evening at 6 o'clock. All are Roby residents with the exception of Heathington, who is from Rotan.

The accident occurred at 10:20 a.m. at the "Handal's Corner" intersection of U. S. 180 and FM 1066. Hughey was driving west on U. S. 180 and was struck from behind by a truck traveling east on FM 1066.

The truck was a 1961 Falcon station wagon was extensive, while the truck damage was slight. The truck, which was empty at the time of the mishap, was bound for the Lion Oil Plant for loading.

Extensive of the injuries was not immediately known. Mr. Hughey, however, is known to have sustained a broken right arm, while his wife had a number of cuts and bruises. Hughey is the city manager at Roby.

Injuries to the boys admitted were not thought to be severe with the possible exception of Gilleland, who sustained leg and possibly chest injuries.

Indications early this afternoon were that the game would be played on schedule. Making the roster are 17 boys, most of whom had departed for Lovington earlier in the day.

NEW YORK (AP)—The city ordered an investigation today into the first reported infant death here in which the drug thalidomide was involved.

Dr. George James, acting city health commissioner, said he had ordered the probe.

A 43-year-old woman, he said, gave birth to a deformed child in a Queens hospital and the child died shortly after birth.

Dr. James said the woman had received the drug from a Park Avenue psychiatrist who was treating her and that she became pregnant during treatment.

Dr. James declined to identify the principals immediately.

The psychiatrist, Dr. James continued, had ordered a quantity of thalidomide for tranquilizing purposes.

Corsicana Fire Hits 3 Buildings

CORSICANA (AP)—Fire burned in three buildings on the main street of Corsicana in Central Texas early today.

The roof of one structure, housing the Beaton Street Market, collapsed as all available firemen battled the flames.

One of the other buildings, all two stories high and of brick or concrete block construction, was occupied by the general adjustment bureau. The other was vacant.

Police said the blaze was discovered shortly before 2 a.m.

Until it could be brought under control, firemen said the E. C. Barnett Jewelry Co. and Hutson Automobile, a wholesale parts house, also were in danger.

Make Names Public, Texas Solon Urges

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Texas congressman said today the House committee investigating the Billie Sol Estes case should make public the names of all the congressmen known to be involved in the affair.

Rep. John Dowdy, D-Tex., in a letter to Chairman L. H. Fountain, D-N.C., of the Government Operations subcommittee probing the Estes affair, said failure to identify the individuals particularly affects each of the 22-man Texas delegation in the House.

The committee has reported it has evidence indicating that eight House members and one senator have had some kind of association with the indicted Pecos farm commodities financier.

Dowdy told Fountain: "Indications are that pressure will be brought on the committee to withhold names of some officials who might be involved, but I have every confidence you will resist this effort and in reporting let the chips fall where they may."

In fairness to all elected officials and to the people who elected them, Dowdy said, there should be a complete report of the investigation. Suspicion rests on all, and particularly the Texas delegation, until the matter is cleared up, he said.

"Since this is a Texas case," he added, "it fits close to home to members of the Texas delegation, and I know many of my colleagues are as anxious as I am to see that the full truth comes out. Until it does, a lot of questions will go unanswered."

Cool Front Fizzles Out

Scattered showers and thunderstorms kept the Texas Panhandle and High Plains a bit cooler than other parts of the state Monday. It was generally fair in other areas.

Showers were developed over the Panhandle-Plains behind a cool front which pushed into Northwest Texas Sunday and played out. It failed to dent the summer heat elsewhere across the state.

Cloudbursts of late last week still were causing trouble, meanwhile, along the swollen Trinity River. The stream climbed to flood stage Sunday at Rosser and similar conditions were in prospect Monday for Tarrant.

The mercury hit a stalling 107 degrees Sunday at Presidio in the Big Bend country. Laredo recorded 104, San Angelo 105, College Station and Junction 101, and Austin, Lufkin and San Antonio 100. Amarillo's high was 77.

Temperatures were in the 70s Monday. Monday ranged from 63 at Dalhart to 81 at Galveston and Patacas.

Meany Testifying Today At Economy Study Panel Meet

WASHINGTON (AP)—ALFICO President George Meany, who advocates immediate tax cutting to help spur business recovery, testifies today before a congressional group studying the nation's economy.

Meany said last month he had written President Kennedy, urging a quick reduction in the lowest income tax bracket. Such a cut, Meany said then, would have a maximum effect on the economy.

The House Ways and Means Committee heard last week from business representatives and economists. The tax-writing group has sought to keep its proceedings under a tight lid, taking testimony behind closed doors and pleading the witnesses to secrecy.

The House group has emphasized that it is taking a broad look at the economy and is not studying possibilities of tax reductions.

Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., aligned himself Sunday with those who would go slow in considering any immediate tax cut.

Said Douglas: "At Bunker Hill, the assistant Senate Democratic leader said in a statement the administration should not wait until there is a decline and unemployment starts to snowball."

Another view was expressed by Republican National Chairman William E. Miller. The New York congressman said on a recorded radio-television program (ABC Issues and Answers), that a tax cut should not be considered unless President Kennedy backs down on requests for programs involving added spending.

Another Republican, Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York, said in a taped New York television show (WNET-TV—State Repet) that he favors a $5.5-billion incentive tax cut to stimulate the economy.

Javits proposed dropping corporate income rates from 52 to 47 per cent, a $2.7-billion cut in low personal income rates, particularly in the $2,000-to-$4,000 bracket, and a $275-million cut (or the 65 to 91 per cent bracket.

Scots Irked Over 'Goof'

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP)—A geographical goof in the White House has a number of Scots irked.

Someone in President Kennedy's office addressed a letter: "Edinburgh, England."

Edinburgh is, of course, the capital of Scotland.

Calling a Scotsman an Englishman is like calling an Alabamian a Yankee.

What happened was this: A Scottish newspaper, the Weekly Scotsman, is running a series on Scottish clans. When the story of the clan Kennedy was published, the editor sent a copy to the White House.

The editor was delighted to receive a letter from President Kennedy's office, thanking him for forwarding the information about the clan Kennedy.

But the address on the envelope was: "The Weekly Scotsman, North Bridge, Edinburgh, England."

Sheath Dresses Are In Today's Fashions

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
Associated Press Fashion Writer
PARIS (AP) — Designer Yves Saint-Laurent, who once put women in "sacks," put them in tubes today and an audience of celebrities loved it.

The tube, however, is nothing for a man to get panicky about. Although the prototype of the late Christian Dior called this the "give"-silhouette, it does not fit quite that closely. The slender elongated sheath does enhance the bust and subtly slides over the hips, hinting at the figure underneath. But it is the sparest of spare silhouettes this season. It appears to have guaranteed Saint-Laurent a second successful show since his army stint, a nervous breakdown, a legal battle with the Christian Dior House and a comeback last January.

Seemingly to assure his success was Princess Lee Radziwill. Instead of wearing a Givenchy as is the custom of the princess and her sister, Jacqueline Kennedy while in France, the princess was in a two-piece wool suit made especially for her by Saint-Laurent and rumors were rampant that she would probably interest her trend-setting sister in his costumes.

Princess Radziwill sat with Viscountess Jacqueline de Ribes, one of the world's best-dressed women, and self-consciously fulfilled her role as a fashion reporter for McCall's, an American women's magazine.

Things that have impressed her most about American so far are elevators, escalators, Washington, D. C. where she visited another UNICEF winner, the Empire State Building and the Statue of Liberty.

Irish Colleen Miss Scollan Tells Her Belief In Sharing

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
Pretty Irish Colleen Monica Scollan, 17, of Mohill, County Leitrim says she has no urge for a literary career. But her fate for words paid dividends recently when she won an essay contest sponsored by the Dublin Sunday Review and UNICEF.

UNICEF is the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund, now known as United Nations Children's Fund. Monica's reward was transportation to the United States for a summer visit with relatives.

"I was stunned when the news came," she says in a blithing tongue. "My teacher had read the essay and said it was good, but there was a good deal of competition, and so I never thought I could win. There were more than 5,000 entries."

Surplus Clothes Problem
She worked over it several days at her home on the 130-acre cattle horse and sheep farm run by her father, and in fact the very least of her, 800-word story is straight from her mother's mouth.

"Monica, take those surplus clothes out of the wardrobe and get rid of them," she had said. "The hinges of the wardrobe doors are at the breaking point from congestion. Burn them or give them to the tinkers; anything, but get rid of them."

Monica thought of the poor—Irish folk—and others. She got rid of the clothes, she explains in her essay, "but not the way mommy suggested."

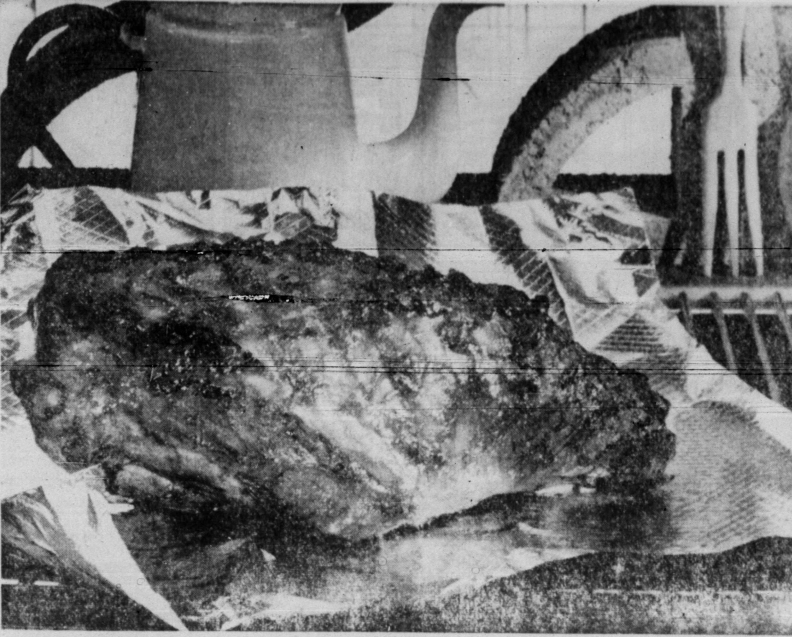

"I thought of the poor—Irish children in Nigeria and those other tropical countries where fever and ague are so rife; of the sick and dying mothers and fathers in far away Tanganyika; of Jomo who will die in Arusha if something doesn't happen soon; of Sam, Fran Maria and Geraldine whose lives are endangered from malnutrition; of the thousands of other starved and starving children the world over who contract mortal diseases of body and mind because their parents are too poor to provide necessary preventatives of basic remedies."

School Raised Money
As Monica thought of all these needy she packed the unwanted clothes and brought them to her teacher to forward to UNICEF. Her teacher improved on her idea. Why not form a juvenile branch of UNICEF in Mohill, she had said. That was the beginning. Students made plans to collect old clothes, old books, jewelry and toys and hold a "Jumble" sale. The proceeds went to UNICEF. Monica as president of the UNICEF school group organized a school walk drive at the teacher's suggestion, they put on a play and found other ways to raise money.

Ira HD Club Meets Friday

The Ira Home Demonstration Club met Friday in the Ira Community Center.

Roll call was answered by Mrs. J. D. Hooker, Mrs. Floyd House, Mrs. Pete Sterling, Mrs. Annie Sterling, Mrs. Robert Erwin, Mrs. Weldon Wiggins and three visitors, Mrs. Jim Stirling, Mrs. Robert Kruse, and Neva Payne.

During the program Ira 4-H girls modeled the clothing they made for the dress review.

Modeling were Linda Wiggins, skirt and blouse; Joe Stirling, dress with jacket; Brenda House, skirt; Diane Erwin, skirt; Annette Erwin, skirt; Jackie Adams, skirt; Carole Sterling, skirt and blouse.

Thought for the day for the HD group was "It is difficult for children to learn good manners without seeing any."

The group will have a family social for club members and prospects August 11 at 7:30 p.m.

Hostess for the Friday meeting was Mrs. Floyd House. Refreshments of tea and cake were served.

Party Honors James Children

A birthday party for Gerald and Elaine James, two year old cousins, was presented in Towle Park Saturday.

Cake and ice cream were served to Sid and Greg Crawford, Julie and Rodney Glass, Robert and Sharla James, Danny, Debbie and Linda Peterson, Rusty, Vickie and Connie Terral.

From me to you A DAILY VIEW

"I gave you a land on which you had not labored, and cities which you had not built, and you dwell therein; you eat the fruit of vineyards and oliveyards which you did not plant. Now therefore fear the Lord, and serve him in sincerity and in faithfulness."
Joshua 24:13-14 (read verses 1-13)

It is good for us to sit down and count over our blessings every so often. We human beings have a way of forgetting how greatly we have been blessed by God.

In the scripture today Joshua helps the people remember all the great things God has done for them, and then admonishes them to serve the Lord. Implied in Joshua's speech is the statement, "No one else has done such great things. No one else has the power to create or destroy as God does. No one else has my life in his hands as God does. No one else has cared for me, guided me, loved me, as God has. Therefore I can do no less than return that love—I will serve the Lord."

If you will sit down and count off your blessings you will come to the same conclusion.

Washington Star Staff Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—What can a candidate's wife do to help her spouse get elected?

The Republican Congressional Campaign Committee has come up with some sprightly advice on the subject, couched in light-hearted vein.

The wives of incumbent G. O. P. Congressmen complied it.

Rule No. 1, the ladies agree, is to keep both eyes fastened on the candidate while he is making a speech.

"Watch him as if you certainly agree with everything, and now really, isn't he just simply marvelous!"

"This takes self-discipline," the G. O. P. wives concede, "especially if you have heard the same talk over and over."

Can't Please Everyone
"Remember, you can't please everyone. Be prepared to ignore gossip and nasty criticism."

"Candidate women never let smoke waft in another's face, they never leave butts burning in an ashtray. They do not smoke while sitting at a head table."

Don't Yawn
"Try not to yawn," they enjoy. "We know of one Congressman who has said to his wife, 'If I catch you yawning, I'll stop my speech and say, 'Am I boring you?'"

The advice is contained in a pamphlet prepared for the wives of G. O. P. congressional candidates for a recent weekend for a two-day candidates' school.

Words of wisdom passed along by the ladies whose husbands already have made it inside the charged congressional circle include these:

"Never let your picture be taken while holding a cocktail glass or a cigarette."

"When sitting on a stage or at the head table (especially if the table covering doesn't reach the floor) watch the position of your legs. Either cross your ankles... or try to keep the knees together."

"An over-ambitious wife is detrimental to any man. Your husband is in the limelight and rightly so; never detract from him."

"Malicious gossip or criticism of your opposition never win

Characters Found In Laos Would Make Thrilling Book

BY RICHARD STARNES
VIENTIANE, Laos.—Maybe it's nothing but the old business of Nature imitating art, but the ancient craft of Somerset Maugham himself couldn't have assembled a better cast of characters for an Oriental intrigue novel than are to be found in this seedy monsoon-drenched place.

Who, for example, is the faded Hungarian beauty inevitably dubbed the Dragon Lady? Every afternoon without fail she arrives in the lobby of the Constellation Hotel (itself an inn that might have been architected by the creator of Terry and the Pirates) and sits for hours over a single cognac.

She must have been a smasher 30 years ago because even the cruel passage of time hasn't been able to erase all trace of her classic central European beauty. She speaks to no one, firmly discourages overtures from anybody, and seems content to spend her days lingering over her thimble of brandy and remembrance of things past. Some say she came here years ago with her husband and when he died she just stayed on—doing nothing but letting her mind stray back over the years that must have been full and exciting.

And certainly no writer could invent a more pat group of American freebooters than the tough leathery pilots of an outfit called Air America. This ostensibly is a commercial cargo-carrying airline under charter to various alphabetical U. S. Agencies which have mysterious fingers in many

Ancient Street Cars Going To Museum

VERACRUZ, Mexico. (AP)—Gerald Brookins of Cleveland, Ohio, has bought this city's two most venerable streetcars, which since 1907, have been operating continuously in a commercial cargo-carrying airplane under charter to various alphabetical U. S. Agencies which have mysterious fingers in many

The trouble is it's all so far-fetched nobody would ever believe it could happen.

Op' Mail Bag Yields Little Known Facts

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail.

Although the world has some 6,000 languages, half of the people on earth speak one of seven major tongues. Of these English is by far the most widely understood.

France is considered the international fashion center but a recent poll in Paris revealed that men there spend more money on their clothing than women do.

Prosperity note: Americans spend more each year to buy and operate automobiles than the combined total national income of Canada and Mexico.

Blue for dunning: Only one tenant in five pays his rent promptly on the first of the month. Landlords have found they get their rent money back sooner if they mail out notices on blue instead of white paper.

Tippling time: Of Californians who enjoy drinking, a state public health survey found, three out of four like to have glass in hand while viewing television. With some programs it's a big help!

How they got started: Jimmy Cagney was a hooper. Ed Wynn, the timeless comic, was a millinery salesman.

One notable: "By all means marry; if you get a good wife, you'll become happy; if you get a bad one, you'll become a philosopher."—Socrates.

Lost on purpose: According to Interpol—International Police Organization—there are more than four million missing persons in the world—most of them husbands.

How old is your buggy? The average age of U. S. automobiles last year was 5.89 years, that of trucks 7.82 years.

Household hint: Tell your wife that if she wants to "touch up" your wash-wear clothing after laundering, to iron them lightly wrong side out. That'll avoid surface shine.

This may be a tough time for people, but Rover never had it so good. There are now 3,000 brands of dog food on the market.

Wisecrack of the week: Crooner Mike Clifford says his girl friend serves him television dinners that come in his mouth. (He only wishes she'd defrost them first.)

Love of games: Playing cards once were the diversion only of the nobility and were hand-painted. In 1415 the Duke of Milan had artist Mariuzzo da Tortona execute a personal deck of cards for him and paid him 1,500 pieces of gold for the job, more than many an American now loses in six months at pinocle or poker.

Subsurface matrimony: Maramba Cavere, a tourist mecca on Highway 66 in Missouri, has justices of the peace on 24-hour call for nonconformist couples who want to get married on the rocks underground.

A caution to the wasteful: "You have a bank, and its name is time. Every morning it credits you with 86,400 seconds. Every night it rules off, as lost, whatever of this you have failed to invest. It carries over no balances. Each day it opens a new account for you. Each night it burns the records of the day. If you fail to use the day's deposits, the loss is yours."

Opportunity: In a recent year only 139 Americans reported earning a taxable income of a million dollars. Why don't you listen to your wife's advice and become the 40th?

It was Robert Frost who observed, "the world is full of willing people; some willing to work, the rest willing to let them."

Junior Editors Quiz on TONSILS

QUESTION: Why do we have tonsils?

ANSWER: Tonsils are two soft, egg-shaped lumps of tissue about 1-1/2 by 3/4 inches in size located in the side of the throat just behind the tongue.

The function of the tonsils is not fully understood but some believe they were put there as barriers against infectious diseases that might enter our bodies through the nose and mouth.

Sometimes young children have their tonsils removed in an operation called a tonsillectomy. Frequently, tonsils become infected themselves and the infections can spread to the rest of the body.

Tonsils may be called "backward organs" because they are large in a child and grow smaller as the child becomes an adult. People get along quite successfully without them, if they have been removed.

FOR YOU TO DO: Usually when a child has a tonsillectomy his adenoids are removed too. See if you can find out what adenoids are and what purpose they serve.

(Betty Jo Beres of Barberton, Ohio, wins $10 for this question. Send your question on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper.)

Turnout Heavy In Vaccine Centers

By The Associated Press

Polo-conscious Texans joined Sunday in another massive surge toward stamping out the often crippling disease.

By unofficial count, 1,392,704 persons queued up in 27 counties to obtain and munch cubes of sugar saturated with Sabin oral vaccine.

The heaviest turnouts were in Dallas and Fort Worth, just starting the campaign, and in Houston, where the drive began the previous Sunday.

Officials estimated 500,000, or about 60 per cent of the population, filed through public clinics in Dallas. In Fort Worth the figure was 288,435.

An additional 241,931 in Houston brought the number immunized in Harris County to 1,178,806, or 95 per cent.

Greater incidence of polio in Texas prompted civic leaders, working with local doctors' associations, to set up the clinics in schools or other public buildings.

There have been reports of 150 cases in the state this year and one patient died at Houston. Health authorities listed 33 cases in the same period last year.

Doses of the Sabin oral vaccine already had gone to approximately 1.7 million Texans, and the aim is to see that around 4.5 million receive it.

Incomplete reports showed about 250,000 persons were given the vaccine in 18 other North Texas counties—Cooke, Collins, Denton, Ellis, Erath, Grayson, Hamilton, Hood, Hunt, Jack, Johnson, Kaufman, Navarro, Parker, Rains, Rockwall, Somervell and Wise.

Three counties starting the project in the Houston area—Austin, Grimes and Waller—distributed approximately 33,000 doses and estimated 84 to 92 per cent of their residents were protected.

Clinics held for a second Sunday in Brazoria and Montgomery counties received 7,754 serum-soaked cubes. Brazoria had put out enough to immunize all its 76,000 residents and Montgomery enough for 89 per cent.

In all cases the initial doses protect against Type 1 polio. Vaccine for Types 2 and 3 is to be given later. Dallas and Fort Worth have arranged make-up clinics next Sunday for those unable to participate in the first round.

County medical societies, as sponsors, are financing the program. Persons able to pay are asked to donate 25 cents per dose.

Those in charge described the undertaking as successful but urged individuals who have not received vaccine to take advantage of the next opportunity.

"We are still short of the required percentage immunized to assure a Dallas County safe from polio," said Dr. P. E. Luecke Jr., chairman in his locality.

"We are concerned over the 400,000 people who aren't yet protected. These people are not only in danger themselves but also continue to endanger the community by continuing to be potential carriers."

The senator's cousin, Gillis Long, 36, won the 8th District House seat from Rep. Harold McSwain, 56, a conservative who has generally opposed the administration.

Long was making his first bid for elective office in the political heartland of his famous family.

In the 7th District in southwest Louisiana, Rep. T. A. Thompson defeated three opponents, all sharp critics of the federal government's activities.

Two other congressmen defeated token opponents.

Rep. James Morrison of Hammond won re-nomination in the 6th District over Herbert Price of Baton Rouge, who campaigned an all-out segregationist. Price accused Morrison of selling out to liberal groups. Morrison won by a 4-to-1 majority.

Rep. F. Edward Hebert of New Orleans, dean of the state's House delegation, defeated Jacob Fink, a contractor, by more than a 7-to-1 margin in the 1st District.

Three other congressmen were re-nominated without opposition, and none has a Republican opponent in November. They are Reps. Edwin Willis of St. Martinville, Joe D. Waggoner Jr. of Plain Dealing and Otto Passman of Monroe.

Boggs and both Longs will have GOP opposition in the Nov. 6 general election.

Boggs will go against another all-out conservative, David Treen. Treen joined the Republican cause this year after resigning as head of the Louisiana States Rights Party, which backed a slate of unpledged electors in the 1960 presidential election.

Sen. Long faces Taylor W. O'Hearn of Shreveport, a political newcomer, while Gillis Long meets Mrs. Dorothy Lewis, wife of Alexandria's postmaster.

Blame Track Trouble In Train Derailment

STELTON, Pa. (AP) — A repair crew that worked throughout Saturday night to repair the 1,500 feet of track.

With its main line back in service, the railroad began preparations to hoist the three derailed cars which tumbled down an embankment into the shallow waters of the Susquehanna River.

Another railroad spokesman said track was being repaired last week in the area of the derailment.

"Whether or not the repair of track adjacent to where the wreck occurred had anything to do with the derailment is a matter of speculation," said Sunday.

The Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission joined the railroad in the investigation of the derailment, and the Interstate Commerce Commission was prepared to move into the probe.

"Crews' statement concerning the track alignment was based on first-hand reports given by Howard C. Kobout, the railroad's regional manager in Philadelphia. Kobout directed the salvage and to his third full six-year term by a 4-to-1 margin over Phil St. Amant, a retired Army lieutenant colonel. St. Amant, an all-out conservative, called the Long's voting record "socialistic."

CITATION AWARDED LOCAL DRUGGIST—Thomas J. Lyle, right, pharmacist at Snyder Drugs, shows R. E. Patterson, owner of the firm, the certificate he was awarded by the Texas State Board of Pharmacy. The tribute was given Mr. Lyle for his part in the ethical and technical progress of the profession over a 30 year period. Mr. Patterson, himself, is no newcomer to the profession, having practiced pharmacy for over 30 years.

Pharmacy Department First Concern At Snyder Drugs

No matter how many or how varied the departments of a modern drug store may be, there should be one department that always receives the first attention of the owner. That department is the pharmacy department.
