The annual meeting will mark the 1949 membership drive and new officers for the year will be elected. There are 290 Ochiltree Farm Bureau members at present, and the organization has a potential membership of 400 members in the county.

Chief Farm Bureau officers are: Fred Huston, president; Cecil W. vice president; and Earl secretary. The terms of the board of directors will be filled at the annual meeting. Holdover members of the board of directors are George Dietrich, Roger Worley was a guest of the Farm Bureau at the annual meeting two years ago, accompanying the principal speaker, Rep. Taylor of Amarillo. Worley was asked to speak on the Farm Bureau members—the future of the government farm program.

Approximately 300 members are expected to attend the annual meeting, which will start at 7:30 p. m.

Eight Proposed Amendments on November Ballot Explained

Eight proposed constitutional amendments, to be voted on in the general election in November, will appear on the ballot in the following order, and will be explained as follows:

County Insurance
Authorizes counties to provide workmen's compensation insurance, including the right to make its own insurance risk, and to employ county employees.

County Employees
County employees are not now covered by insurance for injuries sustained while so employed as employees in other agencies and private insurance. If this proposal is adopted, the legislature is authorized to enact appropriate legislation providing for the administration of such insurance and the payment of the costs, the premiums of said policies, together with the benefits payable thereunder.

Would Re-District State
Creates a legislative redistricting board to apportion the state into senatorial and representative districts in the event the legislature fails to make an apportionment.

Society Editor Needed On Herald Staff—Soon

The Herald needs a society editor. Vivian Lee, who has done such an excellent job as society editor for the past five years, is resigning on November 1, and so far we haven't been able to find anyone to take her place. If any of our readers know of anyone that is qualified and interested in the position, we'd appreciate it if they'd let us know.

Final Services Today for Cliff McGarraugh

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. this afternoon, Thursday, at the First Baptist church, for C. S. McGarraugh, prominent Ochiltree county farmer and rancher, who died late Tuesday afternoon at his home in Perryton. He was 57 years of age.

He came to Ochiltree county in 1919 from Harper county, Kansas and bought several sections of land about 20 miles south of Perryton. He and his family engaged in large scale farming and ranching operations and he was well known over this section of the country for his extensive cattle buying and shipping business.

He was a member of the Christian Science church and was a 32nd degree Mason. Survivors include his wife, Minnie; three sons, Albert, Leroy and Neil; a daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Edwards; a brother, C. E. McGarraugh, five grandchildren and a number of nephews and nieces, all of Perryton.

Ward H. N. Gregg of Guyton, Okla., will conduct the funeral services assisted by Rev. O. C. Curtis.

County Court Opens Nov. 9

The November term of county court will open on Tuesday, Nov. 9, with several jury cases scheduled to come before the court.

The jury list will be released next week.

Tickets on Sale Monday; Phillips Football Game

Tickets will go on sale Monday, November 1, for the Perryton-Phillips football game to be played at Ranger Field on November 19. The tickets may be obtained at the Burk Drug and at Woodward's men's store.

The south stands, approximately 500 seats, have been reserved for Phillips fans, and another 200 bleacher seats will be reserved for the Phillips students. Phillips school officials have requested 1,500 tickets for the game, but it is unlikely that that many can be reserved, even with the addition of temporary bleachers all around the field.

The game is virtually certain to be a sell-out, attracting fans from all sections of the Panhandle as well as the two towns concerned. This game is expected to determine the district 1-A champion, barring upsets to either the Perryton or Phillips teams between now and the November 19 date.

Eight More Men Receive Draft Call For November 18

Eight more men from Hansford, Ochiltree, Lipscomb and Hemphill counties will go to Lubbock on Nov. 18 for pre-induction physical examinations. This makes a total of 14 men that have been called through local board 99, with headquarters in Perryton.

The eight men for the November 18 call are James Julius Strickland and Leroy Ellis of Perryton; Richard Buxman, Norman E. Smuck and Lewis Heffernan of Booker; Alvin Miller of Darrouzett; Willie Meier of Follett; and Lewis Earl Hender of Gruver.

Of the six men who have taken the physical examination thus far, only two have passed. These are Buddy Ray Wright of Taylor of Perryton, Robert Marion Black, Jr., of Gruver, Huber Edwin Pasley and Wesley Enterline of Perryton, and Joe Frank McCoy of Spearman failed to pass the examination.

B Team Plays Canyon Today

The only football game in Perryton this week will be on Thursday afternoon, when the B team plays the Canyon B team. The Rangers go to Canyon and the junior team journeys to Canadian this week.

The Perryton seconds will be trying for their first win of the season against Canyon. In their three games so far in the season, they have lost to Phillips 29-0; to Amarillo 12-0; and to Hereford 40-0 last week.

Game time is 3 p. m. Admission is 10 and 25 cents.

Designed primarily for the entertainment of the youngsters, adults enjoyed last year's carnival just as much as the younger set, and this year's attraction is aimed at entertaining all ages.

Lion committees have secured all the prizes, the booths will be built Friday, and everything is all set for the opening Saturday night. Everyone is invited to attend.

Above Normal Turnout at Polls Expected; To Vote on Eight Constitutional Amendments

Tuesday, November 2, is general election day all over the nation, and there will be nine polling places in Ochiltree county where voters may register their choices for county, state and national offices. General election day is ordinarily a light one in Democratic Texas, but this year a heavier-than-usual turnout at the polls is expected because of the widespread interest in the presidential and senatorial races.

Another Light Rain Received in County

Light rains over the county brought 45 of an inch of moisture in Perryton Wednesday night. The rains were reported to be general throughout the Panhandle. This rain, added to the .79 of an inch received in Perryton last Wednesday, makes a total of 1.24 inches in Ochiltree county during the past week.

Services Held Monday for Mrs. Short

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon in the First Baptist church for Mrs. J. W. Short, who died Friday, Oct. 22, in the Pampa Hospital. She had been living with her niece, Mrs. Alice Short Smith of Lefors, Texas, since June of this year.

She and her husband, the late J. W. Short, were pioneer residents of Ochiltree county, moving to old Ochiltree from Liberal, Kansas, in 1905. With the exception of a few years spent at Slaton, Texas, they made their home in Ochiltree county since that time.

Mr. Short died in Perryton on December 1, 1942.

Rev. O. C. Curtis conducted the final services. Pallbearers were Clyde Cofer, Roy Johnson, Irvin Buchanan, Oscar Flowers, LaRue Norris, and George Rupprecht.

Perryton is a heavy favorite to win the game, though the Eagles are expected to make it a real battle. Canyon has beaten Panhandle, Clarendon and has played a scoreless tie with Price

Of special interest to Texans are the eight proposed constitutional amendments which will be decided at this election. These amendments are explained thoroughly in another story in this issue of the Herald.

The ballots this year are considerably larger than normal, being practically the same size as a newspaper page, 15 by 22 inches. The various presidential nominees of the various parties are listed by name this time instead of naming the electors.

Isn't Something Missing?

Something like 250,000 Houstonians attended church services last Sunday. There they worshipped God and thanked him for his multitudinous favors.

What did these Houstonians think they saw, on the front page of their newspaper that day, a news story which began thus: "Paris, Oct. 9.—China and Britain asked Brazil Saturday to withdraw a proposed reference to God in the first article of a United Nations draft convention on human rights."

Startling, isn't it?

And yet, why should it be?

The name of God is taboo in the United Nations. It does not appear in the charter. Never yet has a session of the General Assembly, the Security Council, or any of the agencies of the United Nations been opened with the invocation of divine guidance.

Did you, reader, know that to be a fact?

Many persons do not. They are the persons who were startled to read that two of the Big Five asked that a proposed reference to God be withdrawn from the United Nations draft convention on human rights.

God was barred from the United Nations because Russia is anti-God. Possibly Russia would not have become a member of that world organization if the other nations had insisted upon recognition of the Supreme Being in its deliberations.

This concession to atheistic communism was one of the many made by the late President Roosevelt, who believed that through almost unlimited appeasement he could bribe the ruling clique of Soviet gangsters into making Russia a member of the family of decent nations.

Roosevelt's ineffective successor has never made a move to rectify that monumental mistake.

God is worshiped in every one of the United Nations. That is true even in Russia, where efforts to extirpate belief in the Deity have been only partially successful.

Most of the United Nations are Christian nations. The largest group on non-Christian countries that are members, the Arab League, believe also in one God. Their conception of Him is somewhat different from ours, but they learned of Him from the same source as the Christians—from the Jews.

In brief, the wishes of a minority of one were respected while the desires of the vast majority of humanity, that God be honored in the organization that essays to speak for the whole world, were disregarded.

This policy of appeasement is still being followed.

The original wording of the draft convention on human rights declared that all human beings are "born equal in rights and dignity." Brazil wanted it changed to say they "are born in the image and likeness of God."

Well, aren't they? We have it on the authority of Holy Writ that they are. "So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him."—Genesis 1:27.

The founding fathers of this republic did not hesitate to acknowledge God. The Declaration of Independence does not stop at saying that "all men are created equal"; it goes on immediately to add, "that they are endowed by their Creator" with certain unalienable rights. It ends expressing a "firm reliance on Divine Providence."

Brazil was following the lead of the great man who established the United States of America in seeking to make this change in the wording of the draft convention.

Why did China and Britain ask Brazil to withdraw the proposed reference to God? Because Russia objected to it! The tail wag the dog. Appeasement still is in the saddle. Brazil's move failed.

Britain, a Christian country, still is afraid to stand up and be counted on the side of God. And this nation evidently is also, for it gave its assent to the move by silence, instead of supporting the stand of Christian Brazil.

The United Nations, as a world organization seeking to preserve peace and promote the general welfare, has grievous faults. The greatest of these is its ignoring God.

Who can believe that it ever will fulfill its function until it accords God his rightful place?—Houston Chronicle.

An Englishman, aged 94, arrested for burglary entered a plea of guilty. Maybe he was only bragging.

Babson Discusses Stalin

ROGER W. BABSON, Editor-in-Chief

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 22

I have had so many inquiries from my recent column which discussed in part Mr. Stalin, that I will now answer the main question, "What are probably Uncle Joe's plans?"

Uncle Joe's Program

We may get into war next year through some accident or unauthorized shooting by Russian, American or Allied troops. I, however, am sure that war is not a part of the Russian program for the three reasons which I gave a couple of weeks ago. Russia's program is to worry and scare us to build up such a great army, air force and navy that the expense will upset our domestic economy. Remember that it costs the United States ten times as much a month to maintain a soldier as it costs Russia.

This perpetual mobilization could so increase our taxes and cost-of-living that it could bring about a business recession here notwithstanding our shipments to Europe. Business failures and real estate foreclosures would greatly increase. These could intensify a moderate deflation like pouring kerosene onto a fire.

Great Shipments Abroad

I have just been told about a Government order for 26,000 big trucks with 100,000 big extra tires to be shipped abroad. I mentioned this to a Russian and he said, "We will get them free ourselves someday when we take over Western Europe." Stalin is not only encouraging us to bust ourselves by terrific armament expenditures, but he is also tempting us to send tremendous supplies to Europe. These he expects to someday take over together with factories and railroads which we are building there.

Stalin believes that time is in his favor and that the longer he can keep us from attacking Russia the better off he will be in three ways: that is, first, by causing us to have such a huge military program that it will upset our domestic economy; second, to get us to send all these good things to Western Europe which he can later take over; and third, he will have time to stock up atomic bombs.

How to Prepare for More Trouble

Stalin probably feels that someday the American people will get tired of supporting England and Western Europe; also that when we do quit he can take it over. Many military men admit he may be able to do this. If so, certainly this country would be in a desperate position. Let us hope there will be an internal revolution in Russia before that time comes.

We hear of individuals moving out of big cities, getting a little farm in the country and decentralizing their industries. This is all to the good. There is another thing which every business should recognize—namely, that continued high prices and high wages are causing a constantly increasing demand for more working capital. It is very possible that the next depression may not hurt the common man so-called, but rather his employer.

Build Up Working Capital

Many employers are destined to be short of cash, and will either have to give up their business or sell it out. Today with large sales, high profits, and everything going fine, it is difficult for most businessmen to realize this possibility. Remember, however, that it is usually the unexpected that happens. Never forget that Newton's Law of Action and Reaction applies to economics as well as to mechanics.

Every reader of this column should lay up sufficient cash reserves for trouble ahead. By all means, keep out of debt. Corporations, if necessary, should pay a withholding tax to the Government rather than declare too much of their earnings for dividends. It is certain that the present prosperous conditions will not always continue.

Warning to Employers

It is possible that the employers will have to take the brunt of the blow during the next depression. They may be the ones laid off instead of their workmen. Many businesses will avoid closing only by coming under the control of new owners who have the cash to carry on.

As the Government stores up munitions, and as your employees are storing up refrigerators, washing machines and other purchases, make sure that you are getting out of debt, storing up cash and increasing your working capital. Otherwise you may go "bust" if Uncle Joe's "waiting game" should succeed.

Wolf Creek Philosopher

Hopes Farm Machines Cause Unemployment

(Ed. note: The Wolf Creek Philosopher probably is taking a small-visioned view of the problem he discusses this week, which is typical of him).

Dear editor:

I picked up a copy of the Amarillo News which the wind blew in over the week-end and took it home to save to start fires with this winter but since supper wasn't ready and I didn't have anything else to do I opened it up and read where a expert has announced that farming is going to be mechanized more and more but that we ain't got nothin to worry about as it won't cause unemployment.

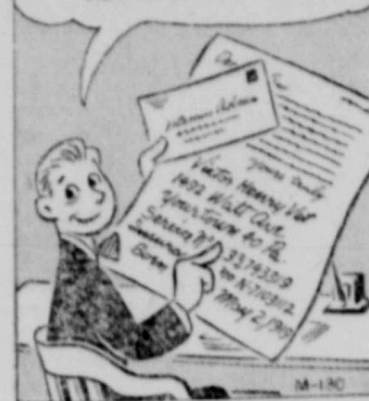

Now I certainly ain't got no objection to mechanizin farmin and any time anybody can invent a machine that'll take work off of me, I'm in favor of it. In fact, they can't go too far in this direction for me, a machine that would crank itself up around September 1, plan out a crop, prepare the land and plant the seed and keep the weeds and other people's cattle out and harvest it in the summer and hunk a horn when it passes my front porch say next July on the way to market, would suit me all right, although there wouldn't be no need in havin the machine cash the check, I could do that. No use in a man geetin entirely idle.

But what puzzles me is why the expert has to assure us machinery ain't gonna cause unemployment.

Thunder. That's what a machine's for. If we're gonna have more and more machines and still have more and more work, I'd just as soon leave things like they are. What I want is a machine that does more and more work and produces more and more unemployment, for me at least. And you can tell Roy Stinson and Charley Foote and the other implement dealers that

Sausage Skin Is Life Savers

BUFFALO, N. Y.—The lowly sausage casing does a medical job in artificial kidneys that sometimes save persons dying of blood poisoning.

Sausage skin often is made of cellulose acetate. In the mechanical kidney, the same stuff filters poisons out of human blood, just as normal kidneys do.

The mechanical kidney is a machine used outside the body. The patient's blood is pumped through it and back into his body again. Its main value now is in last-resort attempts to save persons suffering from certain kinds of blood poisoning that develop when their kidneys fail to work.

The first such machine, a big apparatus, was invented by Dr. W. J. Kolff of Holland. Recently three Canadians, Dr. Gordon Murray, Dr. Edmund DeLorme, and Newell Thomas, developed a kidney using the cellulose filter, plus a pump. A third one, with some improvements, was designed and is operated here by Dr. George S. Slotkin, of Millard Fillmore Hospital and the University of Buffalo Medical School.

It can't substitute for or repair permanently damaged kidneys. But it can take the poisons out of blood and give the kidneys a rest. Benefits are only temporary unless the brief holiday helps the real kidneys recover and go back to work.

It may save lives in kidney failure and blood poisoning due to metals, to reactions after blood transfusions, acute nephritis, a kidney disease, or certain blood poisonings during pregnancy, Dr. Slotkin said. It does not help in chronic nephritis or in high blood pressure.

In the machine here, the patient's blood is drawn from a vein in the abdomen and then is pumped through 100 feet of narrow tubing made of cellulose acetate. This tubing is coiled around the inside of a six-gallon plastic jar. The jar is filled with a special chemical bath, stirred by a propeller. The blood is purified as it passes through the tubing. Poisonous salts in the blood pass through the tubing into the chemical bath. The tubing permits only one-way traffic for these poisons. Nothing in the bath can enter the blood. And only the toxins in the blood are small enough to pass out through the tubing. At intervals some of the chemical bath is drawn off and fresh material added. An air trap captures any bubbles or blood clots, and the blood then flows back into another vein in the patient's body. A drug, heparin, is used to prevent blood from clotting.

Dr. Slotkin's machine can operate at 70 different speeds of blood flow. The speed is adjusted to the patient's body size and blood pressure. It usually takes four hours for a person's blood to be completely de-toxified.

BAND LEADER HOPES TO BREAK RECORD—Guy Lombardo puts his Gold Cup craft, Tempo VI, through a trial run in anticipation of another crack at Gar Wood's record of 124.915 miles per hour. Lombardo hopes to better the mark this year.

British Night Spots in Slump

LONDON (AP)—London night clubs, about the only places you can buy a drink after 10:30 p. m. are in a slump. Not so long ago people elbowed their way thru the crowds, paying anything up to $24 for a bottle of Scotch. But that's all changed now. They can buy a bottle of gin that used to cost them $12 and more in a night spot, for about $6 from their grocer or local wine shop.

Pubs as well as night clubs are complaining about the shortage of money. Too many of their old customers, they say, are saving their money for vacations on the continent or are cutting down because they just can't afford it.

Air Gun Thought Key to Zoo Deaths

BARCELONA (AP)—Police believe a boy hunter with an air pistol is the key to the mysterious deaths of a leopard and eagle in Barcelona's zoo.

The leopard died from a nasal hemorrhage which mystified the zoo keepers. An autopsy disclosed only a small hole in the animal's upper nose. The eagle's death, following that of the leopard, provided the clue. An expert found a small blood stain above the bird's heart. An autopsy brought forth an airgun lead pellet.

In the investigation that followed, police learned a small boy had loitered around the cage es during the time of the deaths of the leopard and the eagle. Witnesses related the boy stayed by himself and, whenever he was approached, hurriedly fled.

Mrs. R. H. Holland returned home Monday night from Cincinnati, Ohio, where she was called upon the death of her nephew.

Rangers Uncover Sharp Passing Game to Trim Hereford 31-0 for Second Conference Victory

The Rangers found Hereford meat to their liking last Friday night, trimming the Hereford Whitefaces to the tune of 31-0. The Rangers drove to two touchdowns in the first quarter, added two more in the second quarter, to lead 25-0 at the half. The final score came in the fourth period.

Hereford's quartet of small, fast backs were never able to dent the Ranger forward wall and wound up the evening with a minus yardage on the ground. They penetrated down to the Ranger 13 in the second quarter, aided by a 51-yard pass from Stanton to Christian, and drove down to the Ranger 14 in the third period on another pass, 45-yard pass from Stanton to Kelley, but were held for downs on both occasions.

Outside of these two threats, Hereford's offense was very feeble against the hard-charging Ranger team.

However, the Whitefaces displayed a stout ground defense of their own, holding Perryton fairly well in check on the ground during most of the evening. They did something no other team has done this year—hold Raymond Powell's running game down to a minimum. When they concentrated on Powell, however, Jerry Key blasted the Whiteface line for substantial gains time and again.

The Rangers uncovered a devastating aerial attack in this game, the first time this season they have struck with any effectiveness through the air. They completed 10 out of 11 passes for 193 yards, and three passes went for touchdowns. Raymond Powell and Don Rogers collaborated on the throwing end, with

Marvin Smith, Earl Olmstead and Johnny Revis favorite receivers. Key threw a touchdown pass to Olmstead, and gathered in a 11-yard pass from Rogers as his contribution to the passing game.

The outcome of the game was somewhat of a surprise to the capacity crowd at the game, especially to Hereford partisans who pecked Whiteface Stadium hoping to see their team upset the dope bucket by beating the Rangers. However, this wasn't Hereford's night, and the game was clearly Perryton's all the way.

The Rangers' first score came soon after they received the opening kickoff. Key and Powell worked the ball from their 30 in the Hereford 49 and then Perryton received a 5 yard offside penalty. With first down, and 15 yards to go, Powell dropped back, received plenty of protection, then dropped a long pass to Earl Olmstead at the 25, and Olmstead got down to the 15 before being downed.

From the 15, Powell took a pitch-out lateral from Rogers around right end, cut down the sideline and scored standing up. His attempted kick for extra point was no good.

After receiving Perryton's kickoff following that score, Hereford was held for downs on their 30. The kick was partially blocked, and a Hereford player fell on it on the 33, but since it didn't travel the necessary yardage, the Rangers took over at that point.

Powell faded to his left and fired one down to Marvin Smith, who had to turn and come back for it, but he made a nice catch for a first down on the Hereford 9. Key got 3 yards, then Powell galloped over from the 6 through a hole large enough to drive the proverbial wagon through. This time Louis Flowers attempted the extra point, but it was no good, and the score remained 12-0.

The fireworks started again in the second quarter, when the Rangers took the ball on their own 28. Key made 2 yards, Powell went 17 yards down to the Ranger 47, then Key bounced through left tackle to the Hereford 32. On the next play Powell went to his right, then threw a pass down to Marvin Smith on the 5, which the Ranger end gathered in and went across for the third score. This time Flowers kicked the extra point, making the score 19-0.

The next Ranger score, toward the end of the first half, was set up by an alert fumble recovery by Larry Slaughter, who recovered the ball on the Hereford 30 after Christian dropped it. A 5-yard loss by Olmstead and a 5-yard penalty set the Rangers back to the 40.

Then Don Rogers flipped a short one to Revis on the 29, good for 11 yards, but short of a first down. On the next play, Key ran laterally to his left, took a bullet from Rogers, then heaved one down to Olmstead on the 10. Olmstead shook off two tacklers and scored standing up to bring the score to 25-0. Flowers' attempted kick was wide, and the score remained 25-0 at the half.

The final Ranger score came midway in the final quarter, as Stanton passed to Davison for 9 yards, then tried another pass. This time Jerry Key intercepted it on the 40, and raced back down to the 32 before being downed.

On the next play, Powell, went wide to his right after taking a lateral, then tossed a pass to Olmstead, who took it over his shoulder on the 5 and went on crosses for a touchdown. Powell's kick was wide and the score ended 31-0.

The work of two Rangers, in particular, stood out in this game. They have been consistently good all season, but against Hereford they were better. They are Jerry Key and Marvin Smith, both of whom played their best game of the year this far. Key was the leading ground gainer of the night, threw a touchdown pass, and set up the final score with a pass interception. Smith turned in a bang-up job on defense, and displayed a good brand of blocking as well as his expert pass receiving.

Earl Olmstead stood out in this game, too. He didn't make many yards by running, but was on-the-spot when passes came his way. He scored two touchdowns on long passes, played a brilliant defensive halfback, and carried out his blocking assignments well.

Consistent Raymond Powell, sparkplug of the Ranger team, turned in his usual fine game, in spite of being held down on his running game. He scored two touchdowns through the line, pitched two touchdown passes, and stood out as usual from his defensive linebacker post.

Other Rangers who turned in sparkling games against Hereford were Don Rogers, who handled the ball faultlessly from the quarterback slot and completed 5 out of 6 passes during the evening; Larry Slaughter, who stacked up running plays all evening and who recovered a fumble that set up the fourth Ranger score; and Delbert Trev, whose improved work at center is showing up better each game.

All America FUTURE BOOK

LEON HART
Notre Dame Nifty

AP Newsfeatures

All America selectors will have a wealth of top end men to choose from when they fill the flank posts on the mythical eleven at the season's end. But there is a good chance that Dick Rifenburg of Michigan and Leon Hart of Notre Dame may be the men tabbed for the posts.

Michigan and Notre Dame are among the gridiron's mightiest aggregations this campaign. Strength at the ends has much to do with their prowess.

Rifenburg was terrific in Michigan's important conquest of Northwestern. His catch of a touchdown pass also was vital in the Wolverine's win over Michigan State in the opener.

B Team Gets Chance

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP)—The Cornell University B football team will play a four game schedule this season, with two home and two away games.

On Oct. 8 the squad will meet Cortland State Teachers at Cortland; Oct. 15, Syracuse at home; Oct. 23, Army at home, and on Nov. 25 it will travel to Philadelphia to play the Penn. B squad.

Mrs. Dave Deal Jr. returned to Perryton Sunday after spending more than a week in Gage, Okla., helping care for her mother, who has been critically ill but is now much improved.

Hart, who stands six-four and weighs 220, is a tough end to run around as vanquished line opponents have discovered this season. He is a top-flight pass receiver. In addition to his stellar line work he has been on the receiving end of many of Frank Tripucka's passes.

Rangers Uncover Sharp Passing Game to Trim Hereford 31-0 for Second Conference Victory

The Rangers found Hereford meat to their liking last Friday night, trimming the Hereford Whitefaces to the tune of 31-0. The Rangers drove to two touchdowns in the first quarter, added two more in the second quarter, to lead 25-0 at the half. The final score came in the fourth period.

Hereford's quartet of small, fast backs were never able to dent the Ranger forward wall and wound up the evening with a minus yardage on the ground. They penetrated down to the Ranger 13 in the second quarter, aided by a 51-yard pass from Stanton to Christian, and drove down to the Ranger 14 in the third period on another 47-yard pass from Stanton to Kelley, but were held for downs on both occasions.

Outside of these two threats, Hereford's offense was very feeble against the hard-charging Ranger team.

However, the Whitefaces displayed a stout ground defense of their own, holding Perryton fairly well in check on the ground during most of the evening. They did something no other team has done this year—hold Raymond Powell's running game down to a minimum. When they concentrated on Powell, however, Jerry Key blasted the Whiteface line for substantial gains time and again.

The Rangers uncovered a devastating aerial attack in this game, the first time this season they have struck with any effectiveness through the air. They completed 10 out of 13 passes for 193 yards, and three passes went for touchdowns. Raymond Powell and Don Rogers collaborated on the throwing end, with

Marvin Smith, Earl Olmstead and Johnny Revis favorite receivers. Key threw a touchdown pass to Olmstead, and gathered in a 11-yard toss from Rogers as his contribution to the passing game.

The outcome of the game was somewhat of a surprise to the capacity crowd at the game, especially to Hereford parishioners who packed Whiteface Stadium hoping to see their team upset the dope bucket by beating the Rangers. However, this wasn't Hereford's night, and the game was clearly Perryton's all the way.

The Rangers' first score came when they received the opening kickoff. Key and Powell worked the ball from their 30 to the Hereford 19 and then Perryton received a 5 yard offside penalty. With first down, and 13 yards to go, Powell dropped back, received plenty of protection, then dropped a long pass to Earl Olmstead on the 25, and Olmstead got down to the 15 before being downed.

From the 15, Powell took a pitch-out lateral from Rogers a round right end, cut down the sideline and scored standing up. His attempted kick for extra point was no good.

After receiving Perryton's kickoff following that score, Hereford was held for downs on their 30. The kick was partially blocked, and a Hereford player fell on it on the 33, but since it didn't travel the necessary yardage, the Rangers took over at that point.

Powell faded to his left and fired one down to Marvin Smith, who had to turn and come back for a first down on the Hereford 9. Key got 3 yards, then Powell galloped over from the 6 through a hole large enough to drive the proverbial wagon through. This time Louis Flowers attempted the extra point, but it was no good, and the score remained 12-0.

The fireworks started again in the second quarter, when the Rangers took the ball on their own 28. Key made 2 yards, Powell went 17 yards down to the Ranger 47, they Key bounced through left tackle to the Hereford 32. On the next play Powell went to his right, then threw a pass down to Marvin Smith on the 5, which the Ranger end gathered in and went across for the third score. This time Flowers kicked the extra point, making the score 19-0.

The next Ranger score, toward the end of the first half, was set up by an alert fumble recovery by Larry Slaughter, who recovered the ball on the Hereford 30 after Christian dropped it. A 5-yard loss by Olmstead and a 5-yard penalty set the Rangers back to the 40.

Then Don Rogers flipped a short one to Revis on the 29, good for 11 yards, but short of a first down. On the next play, Key ran laterally to his left, took a bullet from Rogers, then heaved one down to Olmstead on the 10. Olmstead shook off two tacklers and scored standing up to bring the score to 25-0. Flowers' attempted kick was wide, and the score remained 25-0 at the half. The final Ranger score came midway in the final quarter, as Olmstead to a scoring drive which carried from the Ranger 15. Featuring the plunges of Key and Powell, aided by two short passes from Rogers to Key and Rogers to Revis, the Rangers worked the ball down to the Hereford 22. Here the Whitefaces held, however, and took the ball on downs.

Stanton passed to Davidson for 9 yards, then tried another pass. This time Jerry Key intercepted it on the 45, and raced back down to the 32 before being downed.

On the next play, Powell went wide to his right after taking a lateral, then tossed a pass to Olmstead, who took it over his shoulder on the 5 and went on across for a touchdown. Powell's kick was wide and the score ended 31-0.

The work of two Rangers, in particular, stood out in this game. They have been consistently good all season, but against Hereford they were better. They are Jerry Key and Marvin Smith, both of whom played their best game of the year this far. Key was the leading ground gainer of the night, threw a touchdown pass, and set up the final score with a pass interception. Smith turned in a bang-up job on defense, and displayed a good brand of blocking as well as his expert pass receiving.

Earl Olmstead stood out in this game, too. He didn't make many yards by running, but was on-the-spot when passes came his way. He scored two touchdowns on long passes, played a brilliant defensive halfback, and carried out his blocking assignments well.

Consistent Raymond Powell, sparkplug of the Ranger team, turned in his usual fine game, in spite of being held down on his running game. He scored two touchdowns through the line, pitched two touchdown passes, and stood-out as usual from his defensive linebacker post.

Other Rangers who turned in sparkling games against Hereford were Don Rogers, who handled the ball faultlessly from the quarterback slot and completed 5 out of 6 passes during the evening; Larry Slaughter, who stacked up running plays all evening and who recovered a fumble that set up the fourth Ranger score; and Delbert Trew, whose improved work at center is showing up better each game.

All America selectors will have a wealth of top end men to choose from when they fill the flank posts on the mythical eleven at the season's end. But there is a good chance that Dick Rifenburg of Michigan and Leon Hart of Notre Dame may be the men tabbed for the posts.

Michigan and Notre Dame are among the gridiron's mightiest aggregations this campaign. Strength at the ends has much to do with their prowess. Rifenburg was terrific in Michigan's important conquest of Northwestern. His catch of a touchdown pass also was vital in the Wolverine's win over Michigan State in the opener.

B Team Gets Chance

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP)—The Cornell University B football team will play a four game schedule this season, with two home and two away games.

On Oct. 8 the squad will meet Cortland State Teachers at Cortland; Oct. 15, Syracuse at home; Oct. 23, Army at home, and on Nov. 25 it will travel to Philadelphia to play the Penn B squad.

Mrs. Dave Deal Jr. returned to Perryton Sunday after spending more than a week in Gage, Okla., helping care for her mother, who has been critically ill but is now much improved.

Hart, who stands six-four and weighs 220, is a tough end to run around as vanquished Irish opponents have discovered this season. He is a top-flight pass receiver. In addition to his stellar line work he has been on the receiving end of many of Frank Tripucka's passes.

INDEX OF TEXAS BUSINESS

ADJUSTED FOR SEASONAL VARIATION 1935-39=100

INDEX OF TEXAS BUSINESS ACTIVITY—The composite index of business activity for August, prepared by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research, stepped up during August to 223 per cent of the prewar base (1935-39), establishing a new high for the postwar period. The index was 227 in July, 1948, and 204 per cent in August, 1947. Four of the six components of the composite index registered increases above July. Miscellaneous freight carloading rose 8 per cent; pay rolls and electric power consumption 4 per cent each; and employment one per cent. Two decreases were crude oil runs to stills and department and apparel store sales, each of which dropped one per cent. All six of the components showed substantial increases over August, 1947.

Old Age Catches Trout

Mt. Shasta, Calif. (AP)—It isn't the same around the state fish hatchery. A 24-year-old Mackinaw trout who came from Minnesota as an egg in 1923 has passed on. He was always pointed out to tourists, as he got to weigh 15 pounds and was 26 inches long.

He is survived by three other outside specimens, who also crossed the plains as fish eggs in the early twenties. The average life span of a trout is 3 to 5 years says the State Division of Fish and Game, which adds that it stopped inviting Mackinaws in to the state in 1924, when it found they ate other game fish.

Mrs. Merton Smith and Mrs. Wallace Sharpless and Julie returned home Saturday from Mineral Wells, where they had spent two weeks vacationing.

Mrs. Roy Ratliff of Haskell joined them for the trip home and is visiting friends in Farnsworth and Perryton this week. The group met Mr. Smith at Hereford for the football game.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Bolerjack, Sandra and Buddy, were guests of the Lawrence Ellzeys for dinner Sunday.

Atom Poison Has Delayed Effect

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—Proof that the harm done to heredity by radioactivity can lie dormant many generations, and then act like poison, has been found here in the Biology Division of the Oak Ridge National Laboratory.

This happened in parameria, slipper-shaped, single-cell creatures that live in fresh water ponds. Parameria differ from men by reproducing for 20 generations or more without mating.

In this mateless period, a paramerium simply divides into two to reproduce. After a score or more such generations, the slipper-shaped animals pair off and mate. X-rays were given to the parameria during the mateless period. These rays have the same effects as those of radioactive atoms. All during the mating generations, nothing happened.

After mating it was different. The parameria in the succeeding generations were less vigorous. This loss of vigor was permanent. It appeared even though only one paramerium among the ancestors had been given only one shot of x-rays. This delayed poisoning is like the harm expected in human beings, never yet found though known in certain animals and plants. In human beings the theory is that radioactive damage to heredity will not show up until after mating, and probably not until after many generations.

1961. It provides for the re-apportionment of the state into such districts by the legislature after the publication of each United States decennial census and further, that if the legislature does not act, then the board, comprised of the lieutenant-governor, speaker of the House of Representatives, the attorney-general, comptroller and commissioner of the General Land Office, is to make the re-apportionment.

Its adoption may bring about a delayed re-apportionment of the state. No re-apportionment into legislative districts has occurred since 1921, although the present constitution provides that it shall be done each 10 years. The population increase in certain areas of the state, particularly in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and in West Texas, brought about this proposal.

Community Property

3. Provides for changes in the community property law authorizing partition of community property for the limited purpose of preventing both husband and wife being taxed for federal estate taxes.

This proposition is the result of an amendment to the United States Internal Revenue Code adopted in Oct. 1942. The code since has been changed in this particular respect by Congress; hence, the apparent reason for this amendment no longer exists. Present community property rights are well-established in Texas, much to the envy of those states which do not have such a law.

Successor to Governor

4. Clarifies succession to the office of governor.

This proposal apparently comes as a result of the situation which arose in Georgia after the death of the governor-elect in the latter part of 1946.

Taxes and Homesteads

5 and 7. These proposals will be considered together, since they are more or less interdependent. The first to appear on the ballot is known as HJR35, designed to preserve the $3,000 of the assessed taxable value of residence homestead exemption from all state taxation purposes. The other, known as HJR24, provides for the abolition of the ad valorem tax for state purposes and authorizes counties to levy, not to exceed 30c on each $100 valuation, for the construction of farm-to-market roads, or for flood control, under certain conditions.

Salaries for Sheriffs

6. This proposed amendment provides for the mandatory compensation of sheriffs, deputy sheriffs and county law enforcement officers, including sheriffs who also perform the duties of assessors and collectors of taxes, on a salary basis in counties of less than 20,000 population, according to the last federal census.

Whether these officers shall be paid on a salary or fee basis is optional with the county Commissioners Court in such counties under the present provisions of the constitution. This proposal, if adopted, simply means that henceforth sheriffs will be paid on a salary basis.

Judge Retirement

8. This proposal authorizes the legislature to provide for the retirement of judges and commissioners of the appellate courts and for the judges of the district and criminal district courts, based on the length of service, age or disability.

The effect of this proposed change would be the provision of security for those attaining a certain age, or those who hold office long enough to come under its protection. Texas now has 179 judges on the state payroll who might be affected by the proposed changes.

Officials to Attend Road
Meet Friday

County judges and commissioners from Ochiltree, Roberts and Gray counties will meet in Austin Friday with the State Highway Department to ask for paving of state highway 70, better known as the Perryton-Pampa road. Grading and drainage work is now in progress on the road.

The three counties plan to ask for paving of the road from the six mile junction with highway 117 south of Perryton to the old 21-mile corner south and from Pampa north to the Canadian river. They will ask also that the road be opened from the 21-mile corner south to the river.

The three counties have already agreed to apply their allotment for farm-to-market road construction for the next two-year period toward the paving of this highway.

Guessing Contest
Is Announced by
Goodyear Store

A guessing contest in which participants attempt to guess the exact number of feet of ply cord in a tractor tire is announced by Dick Sauer, local Goodyear Tire and Rubber company dealer.

Occasion for the contest, starting Thursday and ending Nov. 13, is the introduction of a new, improved tractor tire, called the Super Sure-Grip, recently released by the Goodyear company.

One of the tires will be on display in the Goodyear store, with a large illustration of the cord body of the tire, showing layer upon layer of tightly twisted cord.

Entry blanks have been provided on which visitors to the store may make their estimates. Blanks will then be dropped into a sealed box. The only man in the country who knows the exact number of feet of ply cord in the tire is R. W. Sohl, manager of tractor tire development at the Goodyear plant in Akron, Ohio.

The correct answer will arrive by letter November 13, and will be posted in the store window. A. B. Hankins, who has agreed to act as judge, will open the sealed box of entries and will determine the winner.

Prizes for the best guesses will be: two 6-00x16 4-ply tires; a Mirro Matic pressure pan and a Steam-O-Matic iron.

Perryton women attending the sessions besides Mrs. Key included Mesdames O. C. Curtis, Arthur Daniels, J. D. Copeland, A. M. Horan, Virgil Castle, J. W. Caylor, Luther Wade, I. R. Buchanan, Holly Palmer, C. C. Coler, J. D. Wade, Mary Milam, C. C. Carter, Jim Gunter, and Don Shockley.

Members, former members and guests who were present for the dedication services at the First Baptist Church Sunday were delighted with the furnishings in the church parlor. Furnishing this room in the church had been a project of the Women's Missionary Society.

The room features a color scheme of grey, green, and watermelon red, predominately and semi-modern furnishings. The walls are green; the carpet, given by the church is gray; one sofa and chair are watermelon red.

Material for the drapes was given the women by Castle's and were made by volunteers of the missionary society. They are a floral print. A large mirror over the fireplace also lends attractiveness to the room.

The committee from the society which was in charge of the work included Mrs. Don Shockley, W. M. U. president; Mesdames Luther Wade, Virgil Castle and Jim Gunter.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Shockley was the scene for a party and potluck supper on Thursday evening. Fall decorations were used as was the room motif in the decorations.

WHAT IT MEANS:

The Floor for Farm Prices

WASHINGTON—The price of food is high, and yet the government is guaranteeing the farmer a minimum price for 20 major crops.

Most farmers understand the principles behind price supports but not so all the city folks with grocery bills to meet.

The farmers know, for instance, that while the government was guaranteeing a certain price for some crops in the past few years, it was seldom that the market price fell below the guaranteed price. So the government seldom had to step in with heavy support.

Attempts to stabilize crop prices by artificial means date back many years. At first farmers tried to do it by cooperative methods, by agreeing to withhold products from markets so there would be a scarcity and prices would stay up.

During the Hoover administration the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1929 was passed in an effort to keep prices from falling because of farm surpluses.

The government bought grain in an effort to keep up the farmers' prices. Then the Democrats came to power and passed the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1933. Farmers agreed to limit the size of crops in return for "benefit" payments. The government attempted to finance these payments through taxes levied against food processors, but this was held unconstitutional in 1936.

The government then began paying the farmers out of general revenues, raised by taxation and other means.

Before the war the problem was to limit crops to prevent market gluts and declining prices. In wartime the government guaranteed prices to encourage the farmers to produce all the food possible. That's one reason the U.S. had as much food as it did. Thus price support plus crop controls—limiting acreages—have been used by the government at one time to limit production, and price supports have been used at another time to increase production.

What's happened now is this: We have moved once more from a situation in which a scarcity of food was threatened, as during the war, into one in which surpluses may occur.

We have bumper crops and a declining market. Many agricultural experts estimate the government will have to put out around $1,500,000,000 to keep prices on 1948 crops from falling below levels fixed by law.

Some experts are saying price control supports must be cut if the face of this record production.

But in the closing hours of Congress this year a bill was passed which continued the price supports through 1949. Any new changes would have to be made by Congress, and Congress won't meet until January. That's too late to have effect on some 1949 crops, like winter wheat.

After next year the law provides the supports may be lowered, in most cases.

The price at which the government supports crops is based on a complicated formula. In general this formula attempts to tie crop prices with the farmer's cost of living. If the prices of the things he has to buy go up, so do the support prices. If farmers' costs go down, so do support prices.

After 1949 the law also provides that the more abundant crop, the less support the farmers will receive, as far as most crops are concerned. This will tend to reduce unreasonable surpluses, agriculture experts say.

Agriculture experts say price supports aren't responsible—or at least entirely responsible—for high prices. They point out that most market prices are higher than the government support price. This, they say, has encouraged production. And high production, they add, is the best way to bring down prices.

FLORIDA WORM FARMERS—In Florida, fishermen do not dig worms—they "grunt" them out of the ground. And it's big business, big enough to provide a living for hundreds of families. The "grunting" is done by driving a hardwood peg into the ground then one member of the grunting crew rubs an old automobile spring leaf over the tops of the pegs. It makes a noise exactly like the grunt of a bullfrog and causes ground vibrations over a wide area. This disturbs the worms and drives them to the surface. Above is shown a grunting crew in action. Boy at right rubs the automobile spring leaf over the pegs and the girl at the right gathers the crop.

Carl R. Gray, Jr., Administrator of Veterans Affairs, will visit Southwestern installations of the Veterans Administration next month.

It will be Gray's first official visit to Texas. Louisiana and Mississippi since he was appointed head of the VA by President Truman to succeed General Omar Bradley, now Army Chief of Staff.

Gray left the position of Vice President of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway System to come to VA. He has had an active railroad career since his youth in Kansas.

During World War II, Gray served overseas 34 months as Director General, Military Railway Service in North Africa, Italy and Southern France. Later, he became Director General of Military Railway Service in the European Theater of Operations.

Gray, a Major General, commanded approximately 25,000 officers and men and supervised military railway traffic over a system embracing more than 46,000 miles of lines.

The first GI Bill deadline is not far away. Veterans discharged before July 25, 1947, have only until July 25, 1949, to apply for readjustment allowances for unemployment and self-employment. GI's discharged after the 1947 date have until two years after discharge.

Here's a job tip for veterans scheduled to graduate this year as pharmacists.

VA needs qualified pharmacists who are graduates of accredited colleges of pharmacy and who have registered as pharmacists in one of the states or the District of Columbia.

No experience is necessary for P-1 ratings ($2,974.80 to $3,727.20 a year).

MOSCOW (AP)—Shango, the Moscow Zoo's big elephant, has no desire to be a movie star. During a recent filming of animals at the Zoo many behaved normally before the camera. Some often did a little acting,

Don't you tempt fate...

Don't try to palm off a worn-out summer oil on your engine this winter. It just doesn't pay. Because, first of all, it's bound to be dirty. And that means excessive wear on metal surfaces. But more important, old summer oil just can't measure up.

So don't tempt fate! Make a date today to OIL-PLATE your engine with winter-grade CONOCO N Motor Oil. Get N oil's quicker starts... plus the extra protection of CONOCO N OIL-PLATING.

Because N contains a special added ingredient that fastens an extra film of lubricant to your engine's working parts... cylinder walls are actually OIL-PLATED, extra-protected from "dry" friction starts, from power-clogging sludge and carbon due to wear.

It's your car's good fortune when you...

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

(CP) Newsfeatures POPULARITY of the rambling ranch house with all rooms on one floor continues to grow. This plan 725 by Walter T. Anicka, architect, of 617 Forest St., Ann Arbor, Mich., is for a house 60 feet wide, excluding garage, which can be built for either one or two cars. The dwelling covers an area of 912 square feet and has a content of 17,500 cubic feet. It can be built with or without basement. A dual use bathroom features the sleeping area. Open plan between living room and dining room creates spaciousness on the garden side of the house, where a terrace for outdoor living opens from the dining room. The architect suggests an exterior of wood siding or white cinder block with a roof of asphalt shingles in solid or blended colors. A service room provides laundry space.

Mize and Murry Attend District Basketball Meet

Superintendent Gilbert Mize and coach Floyd Murray of the Perryton schools attended a district 1-A meeting in Dumas Monday night to lay plans for the basketball season this year. The basketball district 1-A is the same as for football, consisting of Perryton, Phillips, Dalhart, Dumas, Canyon, Tulsa and Hereford.

It was decided to decide the district champion at a three-day tournament to be held in Dalhart on Feb. 17-18-19. This will be a double elimination tournament.

The tournament system has been used for years in district 1-A to decide the district champion, because member schools are unwilling to play a round-robin schedule because of undesirable gymnasiums at some schools.

When Perryton and Hereford construct their new gymnasiums it is probable that the championship will be determined over a full season of conference games, as in football.

Russians in China Drop Red Rights

SHANGHAI (AP)—More than 1,000 Russians in China have renounced the Soviet citizenship they recently obtained, the China Press says.

They took out the new citizenship papers when Moscow announced by-gones would be by-gones and these Russians were fled the Communist regime more than two decades ago would be welcome back home.

Of the 1,000, at least 700 live in Shanghai, the rest in north China cities. Apparently they don't like the stories of the hard life in Russia seeping back from those who already have gone home. Of the original 14,000 White Russians in Shanghai, only 4,000 remain. The rest either were repatriated or emigrated to North and South America.

Athens Visitors Find Language All Greek

ATHENS (AP)—So you want to learn Greek?

It's very easy, the Greeks declare. Especially, if you know whether you wish to write your girl friend or a diplomat; or whether you want to discuss philosophy or order apples from the corner grocer.

You simply must know these things, they say, to keep from being crossed up on such everyday items as your shoes and bread. If you're asking for bread, you call it "psomi". If you write it, it's "arios". If you mail an order to your shoemaker, your shoes are "ypomidama". If you telephone him, they're "papoutsia". (English characters substituted for the strange Greek alphabet.)

Many persons, including foreigners here, talk fluently but can't puzzle out a newspaper headline. Others can read the gossip columns, but can't digest the editorials. A lot of scholars can understand Homer and then can't call for a glass of water. The man in the street speaks a language of his own, full of Turkish and Italian words. He can neither read nor write and never heard of grammar. The politician knows how to talk to him when he's after his vote. And, if you're going to buy your own apples, you'll have to learn too.

The stilted official language, mostly written, preserves much from the ancient, and would appear familiar to Socrates or Plato. It is employed in documents of state, newspaper editorials and learned articles. The remainder of the newspaper is in the breezy highbrow conversational medium of the upper and middle classes.

County Sells Eight Lots at Auction; Rejects Two Bids

The Ochiltree county commissioners court accepted bids Tuesday on eight city lots, rejecting two others, and are holding the bids on the two remaining lots under consideration. Twelve city lots owned by the county, located along the west side of the block just east of the courthouse, were put up for sale at public auction Tuesday afternoon.

Lots 1, 2, 3, and 4, on the northwest corner of the block, were sold to the Pierce Johnson Post, American Legion, for $1,200.

Lots 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8 were sold to J. R. Thomas for $325 each. The court rejected the bid for lots 9 and 10, upon which one of the county warehouses is located. The bids for lots 11 and 12, on the southwest corner of the block, are being held for consideration.

The lots purchased by the Legion were bought with the intention of constructing the new Legion building at this location.

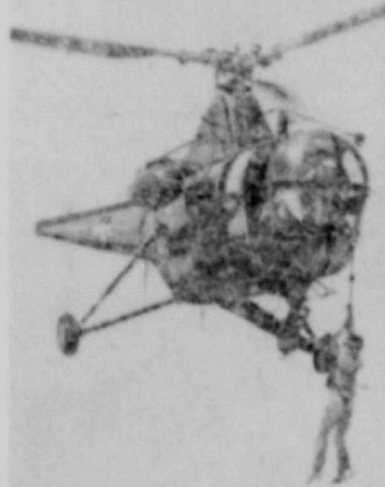

Car Theft Solved By Horn Tooting On Main Street

Excessive tooting of an automobile horn on Perryton's Main street last Saturday led to the arrest of three teen-age Liberal boys and the recovery of a 1948 Ford automobile which they stole a few hours earlier in Liberal.

State highway patrolman Jack Shields stopped the boys because they were making a lot of unnecessary and aggravating noise while riding up and down the street. He asked the driver for his driver's license, and the boy had none. So Shields arrested Gilbert Morton, age 16, formerly of Perryton, and took him to the city hall on a charge of operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license. The fine was $10 and young Morton couldn't pay it, so he was detained while his two companions, James Dunaway and Charles Anderson, went out to raise the money.

While they were gone, the sheriff's office received a call from Liberal police, reporting the stolen auto, and giving a description of three youthful suspects.

Shields and deputy sheriff Ray Phagan then went out and found the other two boys, arrested them on suspicion of theft, and

With all due respect to the football team, the Rangers didn't look nearly as sharp as they did in the game against the Lufkin team. They were sharp enough to win a game, but they were not sharp enough to win a game.

The passing performance was good, and practically perfect. The Rangers passed for 111 yards in the game. The Rangers passed for 111 yards in the game.

The leading pass receiver was Earl Oimstead, who caught 4 passes for 103 yards. Two of them for touchdowns. Marvin Smith was close behind as a pass receiver, catching 3 for a total of 61 yards. One of them for a touchdown. Revis caught 2 for a total of 16 yards, and Key caught one for 11 yards.

Under Interscholastic League rules, a team gets credit for a first down when they score a touchdown from scrimmage from any point outside the 10-yard line. We keep statistics that way, which accounts for the discrepancies in first downs in the Herald and the Amarillo Times.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Want To Join Our Club?

Members to our town are puzzled by the talk of "The Beer Club." Want to know who it is, and what the purpose is. Well, the answer is: any one can join. It's simply to enjoy good beer and ale, good conversation—all towards getting to know another better.

Any other Saturday, at one o'clock, the pit is dug, the fire started, and by sundown neighbors from miles around come together—the women contributing cakes, pies, and coffee, the men contributing the meat for barbecuing, and the beer or ale. From where I sit, it's this simple wholesome side of country life in America—that makes for tolerance and better understanding between neighbors.

As I say, Neighbor, any one can join up! So come along a week from this Saturday.

Joe Marsh

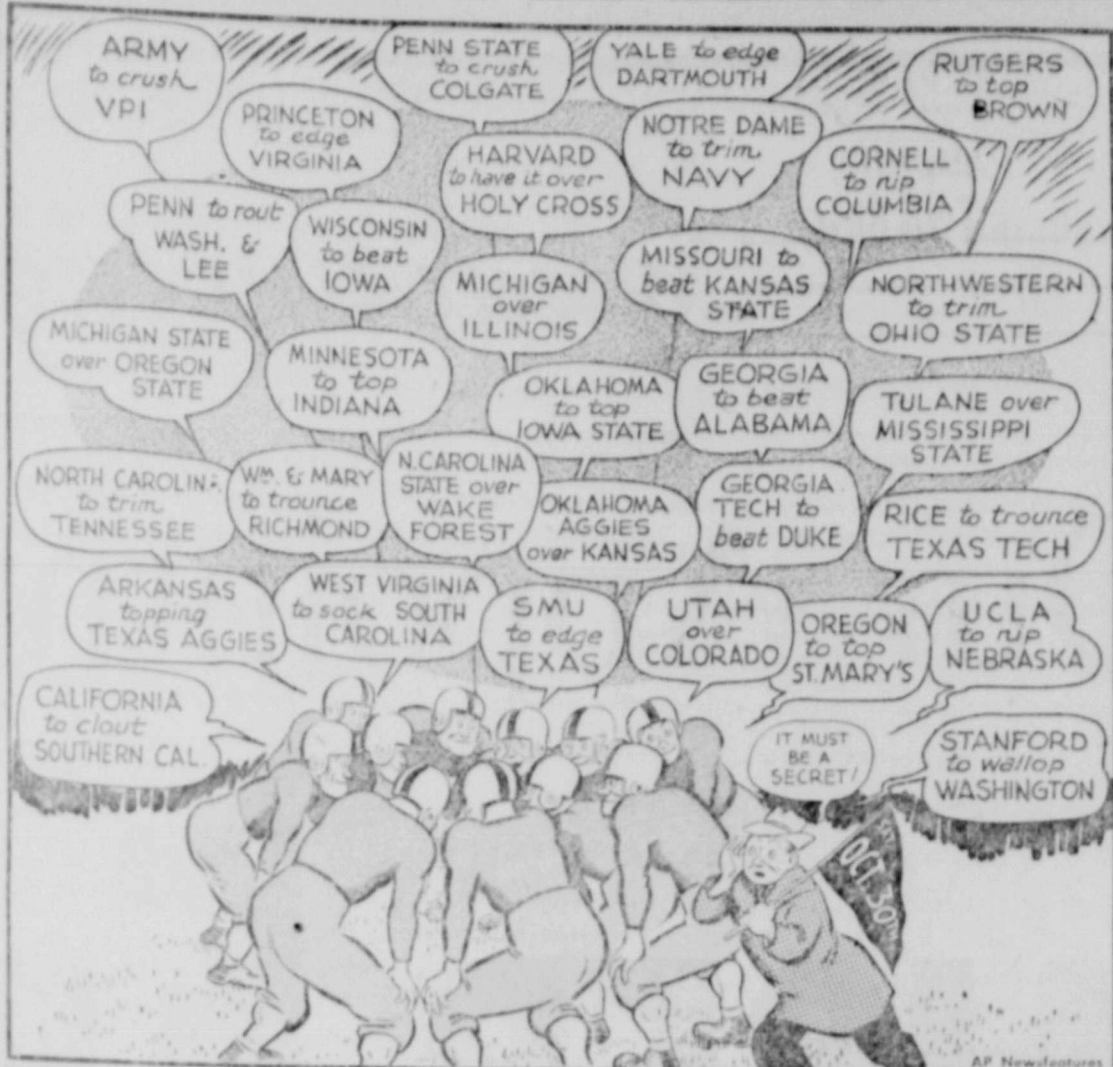

Copyright, 1948, United States Brewers Foundation

Jerry Key averaged 6.0 yards per carry against Hereford, while Raymond Powell averaged 3.6 yards per try. Don Rogers averaged 1.6 yards and Earl Oimstead had a minus average of 1 yard. Key carried the ball 11 times for 67 yards; Powell carried 16 times for 59 yards; Rogers carried 3 times for 5 yards; and Oimstead carried 4 times for a net loss of 4 yards. Louis Flowers carried once, for no gain.

In running, Powell passed 4 for 4, hitting Oimstead twice, once for 29 and once for 32 yards. He hit Smith twice, once for 21 and once for 32 yards. Rogers passed 6 times, connected for 5. He passed to Oimstead for 51 to Revis for 11; to Smith for 6; to Key for 11; and again to Revis for 5. Key passed only once, a 29-yard touchdown flip to Oimstead.

The leading pass receiver was Earl Oimstead, who caught 4 passes for 103 yards. Two of them for touchdowns. Marvin Smith was close behind as a pass receiver, catching 3 for a total of 61 yards. One of them for a touchdown. Revis caught 2 for a total of 16 yards, and Key caught one for 11 yards.

Under Interscholastic League rules, a team gets credit for a first down when they score a touchdown from scrimmage from any point outside the 10-yard line. We keep statistics that way, which accounts for the discrepancies in first downs in the Herald and the Amarillo Times. For example, this is a useful thing to remember in a tie game as the number of penetrations inside the opponent's 20-yard line counts first to decide the tie, and if penetrations are the same, then the number of first downs is the determining factor.

We hope, however, that the Rangers don't have to decide any games this way.

It has now come to light that the close and hard fought games at the first of the season against Wellington, Lufkin and Tulla were not an indication of Ranger weakness as much as an indication of their opponent's strength. In later games, we have seen just how tough those Pirates and Skyrockets actually are. We believe the Rangers caught the Shamrock Irish at the peak of their game this year and would beat them if the two teams met again now.

Hereford fans, especially those in and around the press box, were very disappointed that their team didn't play a closer game. We gathered from the conversation that they thought the Rangers were over rated, and that 7 points was a lot for Perryton fans to be giving. This conversation was before the game, we might add.

Perryton and Phillips, the two district 1-A leaders, should have rather easy going this week-end. Phillips, of course, should have a breeze with Dumas, cellar dweller of the district. The Rangers will have more opposition from Canyon, beaten last week by Phillips, 26-0, and humbled two weeks ago by Hereford, 33-13.

More equal contests will be at Tulla, where the Hornets take on the fast improving Wellington Skyrockets, and at Dalhart, where the Wolves meet Hereford.

To round out the week of football fare for local fans, the junior high team goes to Canadian for a return engagement with the team they beat 32-6 on Sept. 30. At home the B team will meet the Canyon B team, and this may be the victory the locals have been looking for in their three games thus far this year. In fact, we wouldn't be surprised if they score their first touchdown Thursday.

Plenty of Browns

CLEVELAND (AP)—Domination of the All-American football Conference during its first two seasons by the Cleveland Browns is evident in the official All-Conference selections. Four Browns—End Dante Lavelli, Guard Bill Willis, Quarterback Otto Graham and Fullback Marion Motley—were named in 1946, while six of the Clevelanders graced the 1947 squad. In addition to the four players honored in '46, End Mac Speedie and Tackle Lou Rymkus were added to the stellar team.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Rupprecht returned home this weekend from Austin where they had been visiting their son, Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Rupprecht and making the acquaintance of their new grandson, George Allen Rupprecht. They attended the game in Hereford Friday evening and stopped in Amarillo on their way home.

Policy Peddler

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Little George Guerre, pocket-size Michigan State College halfback, was as successful this summer selling insurance as he is on the gridiron. During one month Guerre ranked second in sale in his company's central division of three states. A senior, Guerre plans to enter the insurance business full-time when he graduates.

Glenn Johnson, Oklahoma University student, spent the weekend in Perryton with relatives and friends.

Carnegie Tech Builds New Atom-Smasher

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Though a midget among giants, Carnegie Institute of Technology's new 1,500-ton synchro-cyclotron will pack a punch equalling that of cyclotrons weighing twice as much.

The new atom smasher now under construction will be in operation by 1950, experts at Carnegie Tech predict. The instrument will produce 400 million volt particles.

The increased magnetic field of the cyclotron results from improved overall magnet and pole tip design. It will be used to produce mesons, the tiny mysterious particles found in cosmic rays.

Scientists are attempting to learn more about these rays, believed to be the life-force of the universe.

Things Are Ducky for Firemen

MOLINE, Ill. (AP)—Soaring meat costs rang no alarm in fire station number four. A group of foresighted firemen were ready for the emergency. They bought 75 young ducks at 33 cents a head, and fed them generously. Now the birds are ready for the knife and fork.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Henry returned home Thursday from a two week's vacation to Oregon and Idaho where they visited relatives. Mrs. W. A. Henry, Wallawa, Ore., Mr. Henry's mother, returned to Perryton with them to spend the winter months.

Donnie Deal, Shattuck, Okla., spent Friday and Saturday visiting his uncle, Dave Deal Jr.
