Children Receive Art Instruction

On March 10 and 11 Mrs. Jan Wendell gave art instructions to Mrs. Epps' fifth grade class at Rockport Elementary School. Mrs. Wendell is well known for her "Art Guild Gatherings" column and her work in the Rockport Art Association Gallery.

On March 10 the hour lesson consisted of Mrs. Wendell showing the children how to sketch everyday objects from basic figures of circles, rectangles, squares and triangles. The children used charcoal sticks to sketch the figures on newsprint. For their final sketch the children drew a vase of flowers.

The next afternoon, the hour was spent in painting the flower vase sketches. The children used acrylic paint, which is very easy to use and is washable. Mrs. Estelle Stair of the Rockport Art Association Gallery assisted Mrs. Wendell in helping the children to paint. Acrylic paint managed to appear on a few places other than the art paper, but everyone had an enjoyable time. The children gained a deeper insight into the world of art and art appreciation.

Pirates Beat Goliat 3-2

Charlie Nava gave up five hits enroute to his second victory of the year; he struck out nine batters.

Goliat scored two runs in the third inning on two walks and a pair of throwing errors to jump out ahead in the contest. In the fourth the Pirates used only one hit by Eddie Setterbo and four errors by the Goliat team to score their three runs.

The Pirates collected five hits—Setterbo 2, Arispe 1, Landrum 1, and Rinche 1.

SHELL DREDGING REPORTS REQUIRED

All firms dredging in shell beds near the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge must provide proof that their activities are not harming the environment before their permits will be renewed by the Army Corps of Engineers.

Several firms have been dredging shells from bays near the refuge for many years. All existing permits will expire Dec. 31, 1971.

The Corps of Engineers office in Galveston received a directive from Washington last week which will require that applicants for permits must submit studies conducted by independent consultants which describe any effects that their activities will have on ecological balance of the refuge and its environs.

Although the directive specifically mentions the rare whooping crane, studies must indicate any possible adverse effects on any kind of wildlife. The area is used as the winter home for the cranes which fly down each year from their summer habitat in Canada.

The directive apparently will not affect current permits. Several dredges are operating in the area, although a Corps of Engineers spokesman said the closest one was about two miles from the boundary of the refuge.

He said that dredging firms probably will need to commission their ecological studies far in advance of the renewal date for their permits. Hearings will be required in each case to sound out the public interest in any dredging activities.

The National Audubon Society has actively opposed dredging in the area. In 1969, it filed suit against five dredgers and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission which issued dredging permits. The case was dismissed last year by a U.S. district court in Brownsville.

Changes In Phone Service April 4

Southwestern Bell officials announced a change to take place in telephone service beginning April 4 for Rockport telephone users.

According to Miss Virginia Hill, manager for Southwestern Bell, four changes will be initiated which will directly affect Rockport users.

Due to a newer type of switching equipment being installed, there will be an absence of clicking sounds while dialing. This silent dialing may lead some to think the telephone is dead, but it is actually selecting the path to the called number through the new and quieter equipment.

There will be a distinctive change in the dial tone also. It will be considerably lower tone, which is also due to the new equipment.

Beginning Sunday, April 4, Directory Assistance may be reached by dialing 411 instead of dialing zero as in the past. Telephone Repair Service may be reached by dialing 4102 to report a phone out of order.

The fourth change eliminates the caller having to give his number to an operator after dialing direct. Once the user has dialed 1 plus the area code (if different from his own) plus the telephone number, the equipment will automatically record the user's telephone number in the company's billing equipment.

This system will make calls go through faster with no delay but this last change, however, will not affect customers with rural party lines. The operator will still assist the caller and will ask for his number.

"These improvements are being made to give our customers the most convenient and most modern telephone service available," said Miss Hill.

New Mobile Home Park Planned Here

Plans are being finalized for a 350-unit mobile home park and a 150-unit travel trailer park to be built on a 110-acre tract on Hwy. 35, north of Aransas County Airport.

Although situated less than a mile from both Copano and Aransas Bays, the unique site contains a 25-acre fresh water lake, heavily wooded, rolling hills, and some of the highest elevations in the county.

The acreage was recently acquired by John A. Lewis and Carl Krueger, Jr., from Emory M. Spencer.

"The park, when completed will be the finest of its kind on the Texas Gulf Coast," according to the developers. "It will be called 'Lakewood' and will feature a swimming pool, lakeside recreation building, underground utilities, and a marina facility on Copano Bay."

"We don't believe there is a more attractive site for this type of development on the Texas Coast, and since there is a growing need for a first class development of this kind, we hope to fulfill that need," said Lewis.

Construction of the first phase is expected to begin by May 1. Engineering and sight planning for the project is being done by Urban Engineering of Corpus Christi.

Mrs. Malchar Chairman Mar. 20-21 Telethon

Mrs. Velma Malchar of the Volunteer Firemen's Auxiliary was named today as the area chairman for the up-coming United Cerebral Palsy "Talent Parade Telethon."

The 18½ hour-long marathon show will originate in the Coliseum in Corpus Christi, and will be televised on Channel 10, March 20 and 21. Top professional talent in the area has been contracted for the show, with the recording group, Rene and Rene, as the principal attraction.

The Auxiliary will be in charge of the local telephone center, which will be open to receive calls from local residents wishing to make a donation during the show. The names of those making donations here will be relayed to the Coliseum so that donors can be credited during the telecast.

Mrs. Malchar said that the money donated will be used in the Coastal Bend area for the benefit of children and adults who have Cerebral Palsy. She cited the fact that the parents of many of these children cannot afford the cost of the treatment the children need, and that the telethon will help provide this assistance to individual families.

A portion of the proceeds will support educational programs to help the professional people who work with Cerebral Palsy to learn more about the crippling condition. Thirdly, a portion of the proceeds will go to support research into ways of preventing cerebral palsy.

Mrs. Malchar cited the fact that cerebral palsy is a community problem, needing the response of each community in the Coastal Bend area.

Census Bureau Reports Official 1970 Population of Aransas Co.

Aransas County's official population in the 1970 census was 8,902, up 27.1 percent from the 1960 figure of 7,006. The Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce, reports.

The official population of the state was 11,196,730, up 16.9 percent from the 1960 population count, which was 9,579,677.

The 1970 census counted 8,437 white persons in Aransas County, 94.8 percent of the total; 411 negroes, and 54 persons of other races. In 1960, 95.9 percent of the population was white.

The census showed 724 children under 5 years; 2,352 in ages 5 through 17; 4,643 people 18 through 64; and 1,183 who were 65 and older. The population 14 years and over included 4,619 married people, 466 who were widowed, 220 divorced, and 1,276 never married.

To give the public a thorough understanding of the facts involved in connection with the April 3rd special city election, the City Council has prepared a special letter which will be mailed to all qualified voters before the election.

The first proposition to be voted on will be to give the city the authority to sell the land where the old fire station was located, directly west of Johnson's Drug Store. The old fire station itself was virtually destroyed by Hurricane Celia.

Regarding this matter, the letter will point out:

"City voters approved the issuance of $15,000 in bonds for the construction of a new Fire Station. We have received another $14,000 from a combination of insurance on the old building and disaster funds and we expect to receive an additional $9,800 in disaster funds. The funds from these three sources are not enough to provide a new fire station."

"The old site MUST be sold to provide the balance of the expected construction cost. The City owns the site for the new station (just west of the County Jail) and no additional land purchase will be necessary."

The second proposition to be voted on will be to give the City the authority to sell the present Little League Park site.

Regarding this, the letter states:

"The City has taken an option to purchase a 25-acre tract of land just north of the sewage treatment plant for a city park. This location will serve as a buffer zone between the treatment plant and the future development to the north and is near enough to the Junior and Senior High Schools to be used by them in the future."

"The sale of the old park must by law be used for park purposes only and which the City will use as matching funds with a federal grant to purchase and begin developing the new park. The Little League Park will operate the present site this season."

The third proposition to be voted on will be "sale of lands determined to be surplus." Regarding this, the letter points out:

"In order to provide the (Continued on Page 8)

"The proceeds of such possible sales would, by law, be placed in the general fund and be budgeted. Please keep in mind that the City could sell only such lands to which it had fee simple title and not streets or alleys that are dedicated to the public use."

OUTDOOR CLUB HAS FIELD TRIP

The Corpus Christi Outdoor Club had a spring field trip at Rockport, Saturday, March 13th. This is always a popular field trip with the members. They love to greet Connie Hagar when they come because she started many of them learning about birds.

The field trip leaders were Mr. and Mrs. Estes of Ingleside, Mrs. Mildred Berry of Corpus Christi and Doris McGuire of Rockport. The visitors were very impressed with the number of species of birds in the Connie Hagar Wildlife Sanctuary and thought Rockport very fortunate to have a wildlife sanctuary in the center of town. So many visitors come to Rockport because of this. About 40 people attended the field trip and picnic.

Taylor Oak News

The monthly birthday party was held March 11 with 38 ladies present. Bridge, canasta and dominoes were played. Hostesses were Mrs. Leona Clary, Mrs. Maribel McKinley, Mrs. Cora Gronewald and Mrs. Daisy Manchester. A delicious lunch was served.

High in canasta was Mrs. Opal Bowman, high in bridge was Mrs. Wilma Newton and domino winner was Mrs. Vici Perry and the finale prize went to Mrs. Billie Chaney.

Those having birthdays for the month were Leona Clary, Olive Robertson and Faye Towne.

The ladies have a day of arts and crafts every Thursday afternoon. They are making beads, hats, and exchanging many new ideas.

Actress Martha Ray has been a registered nurse since 1936.

Art Guild Gatherings

By

JAN WENDELL

Children's art classes are due to begin on March 20 at the Rockport Art Ass'n Gallery, 105 S. Austin, under the instruction of Miss Claudia Nelson, who is the art instructor for Rockport-Fulton Junior High. Classes will be held each Saturday morning from 9:30 until noon and the age limit for the class will be 7 to 15 years. The class will have to be limited because of space, so it is important that registrants enroll early in order to insure a place. Tuition for each lesson will be $1.00 to help defray expenses of the Ass'n, and will be payable before each lesson. Students who cannot pay will be sponsored by the Art Ass'n as well as their supplies.

Children wishing to enroll for the class are asked to come by the Gallery to obtain their student identification card and their list of supplies. The Gallery will not sell supplies—these can be obtained at the various art supply shops in Rockport. The supplies required for the first classes will be a sketch pad at least 16"x20", one charcoal square stick, one artgum eraser, and one table or standing easel. Students must have these supplies when they attend the first class, unless they are sponsored students.

Also, the cry goes out to anyone who wishes to help with these classes by donating or lending used, but usable, chairs or card tables. Since Celia took her toll, our equipment has been cut about in half. If anyone has any of these items that are in the garage or attic gathering dust, please call us at 729-2478 and we will be more than happy to pick them up, dust them, and we might even paint them for you. You never can tell what will happen when some of our members get happy with a spray gun.

Most technique for today's art often requires different skills and attitudes than those that were used by the old masters in the earlier centuries. In fact, the genius and recognition of the great majority of the world's most famous artists were not realized nor appreciated until long after their deaths. But, an exception to that rule is the case of one of the United States' most noted realistic artists, Andrew Wyeth, whose best-known painting, "Christina's World," has become familiar to millions. Honors have come to Wyeth from all directions—prizes, medals, and election to organizations such as the National Academy of Design and the American Academy of Arts and Letters. However, he has a son, James Wyeth, who was taught as a child and all through his growing years the basic techniques of drawing and painting by his father. Thus, by the time he was 20, James received national recognition for a tender and compelling portrait of the late President John F. Kennedy.

James' father believed in teaching a child early about art techniques, just as you would teach a child to read or count. Thus, James was better equipped to begin serious painting by the time he was 17, than most artists are until they are in their 40's or 50's. Andrew Wyeth's philosophy paid off.

Yet many of us still have songs to sing in the many time-honored media and find pleasure in our expression. But those other new and young voices who have other songs to sing and new ways of singing them should not be overlooked. We believe in creating artists early, so that their voices will not be stifled or go unheard. Listen and look, there may be another James Wyeth in our community! We can certainly give him the chance!

Godiva, it's argued, never took that horseback ride in Coventry 900 years ago. It's kind of late to be told she didn't have anything to wear. — Windsor (Ont.) Star.

The advantage of being a woman is that you don't have to marry one.—Chicago Tribune.

PROMOTED BY H.E.B.—Joe L. Brown of Corpus Christi has been promoted to the positions of president of the five H.E. Butt Store Property Companies, executive vice president of H. E. Butt Grocery Company, and chairman of the board of Texas Gold Stamp Company. He has been in the grocery business 43 years and has been associated with H.E.B. since 1952.

Land of the Free--

Faced with the shrill accusations of leftish rabble-rousers intent upon dividing and destroying us, we often lose sight of the fact that America is indeed "the land of the free and the home of the brave".

As in not other country, the average man has the opportunity to exercise his God-given right to freedom and the opportunity to advance as far as his ambition and his courage permit.

Brains, determination and imagination of individuals have helped America grow into the world's most progressive, most prosperous and most envied nation in the long history of mankind.

Yet revolutionaries and malcontents would have us believe that the only way to achieve progress to to promote a state of anarchy, destroy everything that has made America great and start all over again with ideas promoted by nations which have a long record of suppression and refusal to recognize the rights of the individual.

In addition to savings accounts, certificates of deposit are offered by First National as a means of saving money at a higher rate of interest.

Emory M. Spencer — An 'Institution'

Emory M. Spencer. What kind of a man is he? Ask a dozen people and you'll get six different answers, among them:

"He sure is a character."

"He's a cantankerous individual and I sure wouldn't want him as an enemy."

"He's a wonderful man and has done more good for the Rockport area than anyone."

Here are some of the things he is: 66 years old, distinguished looking with white hair, wealthy, oil operator, lawyer, extensive land owner, real estate business, owner of abstract and title company, married, proud father of two daughters, art connoisseur, Democrat, Episcopalian, lives in a beautiful home on Copano Bay called Majorca, and he is what the public calls a powerful man.

Among the things he used to be: city attorney, county attorney and county judge, but more about this phase of his life later.

In writing about Spencer, one could relate some project he is working on today or tell about something he did 30 years ago. Decisive action are two words that describe his way of life.

But first, let's get some biographical information out of the way: Born in Redwater, Texas, Mar. 13, 1905; A. B. degree Rice Institute 1926; University of Texas Law School 1931-35; admitted to Texas Bar 1936; married Mildred Farraw Sept. 17, 1943; children, Sandra, Mary Alicia; geophysicist Sun Oil Co. 1927-34; city attorney 1943-45; county judge 1948-49; county attorney 1939-43, 1945-48; director Portland State Bank; member American Bar Association, Texas Bar Association, Texas Bar Foundation, Delta Tau Delta.

Now let's get into the "meat" of the story of Emory M. Spencer, starting with law enforcement.

"My long suit always has been law enforcement," Spencer says. "When I slipped into office as County Attorney, I dropped some bombs. Thirty years ago there were many slot machines and marble tables in South Texas, including the Rockport area."

"They were not only operated here without fear on the part of the operators," Spencer relates, "but the owners of the machines had warehouses and repair shops here for machines operated in adjoining counties."

"At the first meeting of the grand jury in 1939 where they allowed me to appear, not as an advising attorney but as a witness, I told them in substance that the operation of the machines was illegal, that it would be unfair to prosecute without giving some notice but that there was no reason why they should be allowed to continue to operate."

Spencer recalls he said that if the law was not enforced, he would, if necessary, "call the Texas Rangers in to do the job." Operation of slot machines stopped almost immediately.

During Spencer's service as county attorney, his stated philosophy was "There are no privileged characters in Aransas County."

"Of course, this won me some enemies even down to the second generation, which accounts today for some of my unpopularity," Spencer remembers. "I enforced all of the laws. Some of them were hard to enforce because they involved some of my best friends, the commercial fishermen, but I enforced them without discrimination and I told the fishermen, in substance, 'You know where the closed waters are and if you go out and get caught you will have to pay a fine.'"

The best deterrent to crime, according to Spencer, is sure prosecution. In his last year of office as county attorney, there was not one contested case, jury or otherwise.

Turning to another facet of Spencer's service to the Rockport area, he acted as agent for Aransas County, beginning in 1943, in the acquisition of land north of the city for a county airport. It's a long and complex story but what it boils down to is that Aransas County acquired the land for $20,000. This has to be one of the best investments ever made — here or anywhere — because since 1943 the county has received hundreds of thousands of dollars from oil rights.

From airport to art, Spencer's interests are virtually limitless. In the latter category he was responsible for the establishment here of Simon Michael's School and Gallery of Fine Arts, a widely known art center.

In 1952 Michael introduced himself to Spencer. Michael had been painting here several years and he asked if Spencer had a building he could use for summer art school. Spencer had a guest house near his office which he permitted Michael to use that summer.

The following year Spencer designed, financed and built a combination home and art studio for Michael to assure that Rockport would have a topflight art school and gallery. "What he got was a building that cost about $12,000 for $6,000," Spencer recalls.

In the years that followed, Spencer sponsored the art exhibits and bought paintings to encourage the students. "In my opinion, the acid test of whether a painting is good is whether it will sell. I have a collection of more than 100 paintings of the students of Mr. Michael."

"Simon Michael is the Johnny Appleseed of art in Aransas County," Spencer says. "In the beginning I conceived of an art colony. Later I found out that no two art teachers could use the same art school or get along with each other."

Even people who don't like Spencer will admit that he is generous in giving money to people in need and in contributing large sums or valuable tracts of land to worthwhile purposes.

Here are a few examples of his benefactions:

—For the Girl Scouts he gave almost a block of land, bought the old Church of Christ building, moved it to the lots, fixed it up, fenced the land, and gave it to the Girl Scouts for their Little House.

To the Whooping Crane Council of Girl Scouts he furnished a site on Copano Bay for a camp and gave them a 20-acre free lease on about 20 acres with 200 feet of waterfront.

—Woman's Club Building: In 1947 a group of ladies told Spencer they could buy the recreation building of the former Humble Refinery at Ingleside and that they needed someone to finance the purchase and they also needed a site to put it on. They wanted the site where the Woman's Club Building now stands which was owned by the City of Rockport.

Spencer agreed to finance the project, buy the building, pay for moving it to Rockport and build the foundation. He advanced about $8,000. About $10,000 was raised for the project, half of it from oil companies contacted by Spencer. His personal gift was $500.

—Churches: He helped build the Community (now Baptist) Church at Fulton, and the Methodist and Baptist Churches in Rockport. He has made four-figure contributions in either cash or land to Fulton Community Church, Fulton Baptist Church, Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Church of God, First Baptist Church of Rockport, United Methodist Church, First Presbyterian Church, United Pentecostal Church and Calvary Baptist Church.

As mentioned earlier, Spencer is an Episcopalian. Regarding gifts to the Episcopal Church, he and R. R. Rice, Sr. gave the three lots on which St. Peter's Episcopal Church stands; Mr. and Mrs.

Spencer gave the three lots on which the rectory stands; to the Diocese of West Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer gave the present site of 30 acres for the Bishop Elliott Conference Center.

April Draft Call For Texas Is 1,033

AUSTIN—The April draft call by the Department of Defense is for 17,000 men, all for the Army. Col. Melvin N. Glantz, State Director of Selective service for Texas, today announced the April draft call in Texas as 1,033.

Most of the men selected for induction in April come from the first priority group for 1971, however a few men in the extended priority group, who were needed by their local boards to fill the March call, but who were unavailable for induction in March for several reasons, will be included.

Glantz said the limitation on lottery numbers for April would be the same as in earlier months of 1971. He explained that no one in the 1971 first priority group with a lottery number above 100 would be inducted.

The State Director said the pre-induction physical examination call for Texas in April will be 4,001 men.

Glantz pointed out that the special call by the Department of Defense for Doctors and Dentists, which is being processed within the next few days, is separate and apart from the regular draft call.

Once upon a time, a room over the garage was nothing to brag about; today, the split-level house is a status symbol. —L&N Magazine.
