Kitty's Korner

By Kitty Montgomery

I've been on vacation since I last sat down to write this column and I'm not quite sure I'm up to it. Looking back on it, I'm not sure you could call it a vacation, maybe a mini-vacation.

Tom and I left Ozona last Wednesday to visit my drinking brother and his wife in Louisiana. I try to check on him at least once a year. Well, to make a long story short, we went half way around the world and got back to Ozona Sunday afternoon late, with Tom driving every mile of the way.

The reason I say half-way around the world, we got lost so many times on the freeways we must have driven at least that distance. If you are in the wrong lane when it's time to turn, you've just had it. I firmly believe that they should add a lane to all these super highways and besides having arrows to the left for the left lane, straight ahead for the center lane, and right for the right lane, they should have a lane labeled "stupid" and have information booths where you could inquire as to your whereabouts, which is where we needed to be driving.

After taking two days on the road, and stopping for shock therapy at a couple of hospitals along the way, we finally got there. And believe me, we were really wined and dined. My brother has taken up gourmet cooking, between drinks of course, and he can really turn out the fancy vittles. His wife is a true "southern belle" and was still smiling when we left, at least on the outside.

After steak and eggs Sunday morning we finally headed back toward Texas and Ozona, Tom still driving. He is a big tourist, so we had to stop at all the tourist attractions along the way and just blindly find our way back to the main road. The heat was fierce, the traffic congested, the crowds enormous, and I was so glad to be back in good old West Texas I could have wept. The city is alright for a visit, but Ozona is still the place to live. Is it not so?

Registration Is Set At ASU Wed.

Registration for the fall semester at Angelo State University will begin Wednesday, August 23, when graduate students and those taking evening courses only begin signing up for their classes.

Students in the above categories will register in the physical education building from 6 to 7 p.m.

Registration for upper-classmen and graduate registration will be conducted on Thursday, August 30 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the physical education building.

Supplemental SS Pay Automatic

People already getting public assistance because they're 65 or over, or blind, or disabled do not have to apply now for Federal supplemental security income payments, according to J. M. Talbot, social security manager.

"Some people getting State or local assistance misunderstand and are coming in to apply for supplemental security income -- but, they don't have to," Mr. Talbot said. "We're taking applications now only from people who aren't getting public assistance but who think they may be eligible for the new Federal payments that start next year."

"People already getting State or local assistance don't have to do anything now about the supplemental security income program. They'll get more information and instructions later this year," he said.

The first monthly supplemental security income payments will be made in January, 1974. "Until then," Mr. Talbot said, "State and local public assistance offices will continue to make payments in the usual way."

Benefit Roping To Be Held Sat.

Ozona Roping Club will have a special roping August 25 at 1:00 p.m. at the county arena. There will be flags, barrels, calf, and steer roping as usual. The roping is being given to help raise funds for the grandstand cover.

The 4-H Horse Club will have the concession stand with lots of good food and the proceeds will go to the grandstand cover fund.

Cyclists Must Have License To Ride Vehicles On Public Roads

Youngsters who ride motorcycles, minibikes or any two-wheeled motorized vehicles, and their parents, should be aware of the various provisions of the laws of Texas as applying to such vehicles, Highway Patrolman Tom Toussant said this week.

The minimum age to operate a motorcycle is 15 years, Patrolman Toussant pointed out. The 15-year-old is limited to a cycle not to exceed 100 cc rating and in addition, must pass the written test and take a vision test, after which he will be required to pass a driving test as outlined in the Texas Drivers Handbook.

Grocers Meet Tonite in Sonora

There will be an important meeting for all Sutton, Crockett, and Schleicher County retail and wholesale grocers in the Sutton County Court House, Sonora, Texas, for the purpose of explaining the food stamp program.

This program will replace the commodity distribution program now in operation. The food coupons can be redeemed only in retail grocery stores which are authorized by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Interested retail and wholesale grocers may obtain authorization information by attending this meeting on Thursday, August 23, tonight. It will start promptly at 8:00 p.m. and be over by 9:00 p.m.

Four Ozonans Receive Degrees From ASU Fri.

Four Ozona students were awarded degrees at the Friday commencement exercises at Angelo State University.

Nancy Louise Vincent, Kathryn Jean Reavis, Linda Jorene Richey and Michele Anne Nations were awarded Bachelor of Science degrees.

The students were among 209 graduates of Angelo State who received degrees Friday. Dr. Jose San Martin, Jr., an optometrist and city councilman of San Antonio, delivered the commencement address.

Dr. Hugh E. Meredith, vice president for academic affairs, presided over Friday evening's program and certified the candidates for degrees. Dr. Lloyd D. Vincent, president of ASU conferred the degrees.

Opening Day School Enrollment Shows Drop Of 55 Students

Classes in all Ozona schools convened Monday with a total enrollment of 922 students, a drop of 55 students from last year's opening day total of 977. However, enrollment is usually up after the first week of school and after the Labor Day holiday which will be observed Sept. 3, and will be the first school holiday.

Lions Looking Good; First Scrimmage Fri.

A total of 81 high school boys are out for football this year. The varsity, coached by Rip Sewell and John Richey, will carry 29 players on its roster. Coaches Charles Spieker and Richard Granado have 25 boys on the junior varsity, and the freshman team, coached by Leslie McLaughlin, has 27 players.

The boys had two-a-day workouts the week before school started and have been working out in pads since last Friday. Coach Sewell said he and his staff are well pleased with the boys' effort and attitude, and feels that the Lions will come up with another good football team this year. An inter-squad scrimmage will be held tomorrow night at 6:30, and Sewell urged all parents and fans to have their first look at the 1973 Lions.

Coach Sewell said that after two days of pad workouts Monday afternoon that the offensive line looked good, with almost a full line of lettermen returning. The offensive backfield is a little short on experience, he said, but seem to be making up for that with lots of hustle and spirit. Coach Sewell said that if the Lions have a basic weakness it would be in the defensive secondary. However, he said the team is not set right now. He has two boys working out at every position and will not name the starting line-up until after the scrimmage with Lakeview August 31.

The annual Lion Booster Club barbecue will be held following the Lakeview scrimmage. Jack Baggett is heading up the Booster Club this year and tickets will be available from several club members.

Mrs. Joe Perry and daughter, Leigh, of San Antonio, were here over the weekend to visit Mrs. Gertrude Perry.

Enrollment was down in Ozona Primary School by 35 students from last year's enrollment. Total enrollment for opening day was 215, compared to 250 last year. The figure includes 49 kindergarten students, 76 first graders, and 90 second graders.

Ozona Intermediate School enrollment was off 13 students from opening day last year. Total students enrolled Monday was 293. Broken down the figure includes 74 third graders, 80 fourth graders, 70 fifth graders and 69 sixth graders. Junior High School enrollment was 158, exactly the same as opening day enrollment last year. Of this number 81 were seventh graders and 77 were eighth graders.

High School enrollment was off 7 students from last year with a total enrollment of 256. Of this number 84 were ninth graders or freshmen, 71 sophomores, 57 juniors and 44 seniors.

TPCA Directors To Meet Friday In Kerrville

Directors of Texas Production Credit Association will have the opportunity to hear one of the nation's top leaders in the field of director responsibility at a PCA Director-Manager Seminar in Kerrville Friday.

Area participants include J. R. Canning, Eden; R. C. Chandler and Clifton A. Simcik, both of San Angelo; Aubrey DeLong, Mertzon; J. Burney Ligon, Fort Stockton; and Bob Childress, Ozona. Phil Lane of San Angelo, PCA president, will accompany the group.

Dr. Vernon E. Schneider, past president of the American Institute of Cooperation, will outline director duties to the more than 75 participants. Schneider presently is the Roy B. Davis Distinguished Professor in Agricultural Cooperation of Texas A&M University.

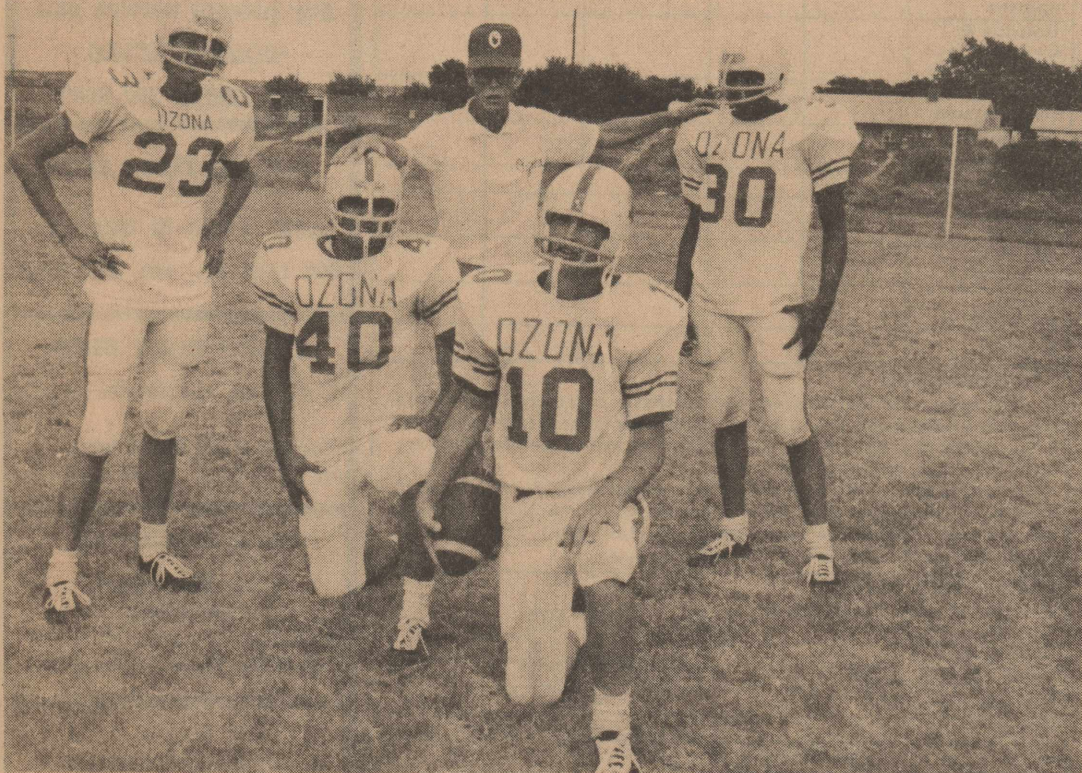

The seminar is designed to specifically meet the needs of Association directors, with emphasis on roles, responsibilities, and decision analysis, Lane said.

New Library Hours Told

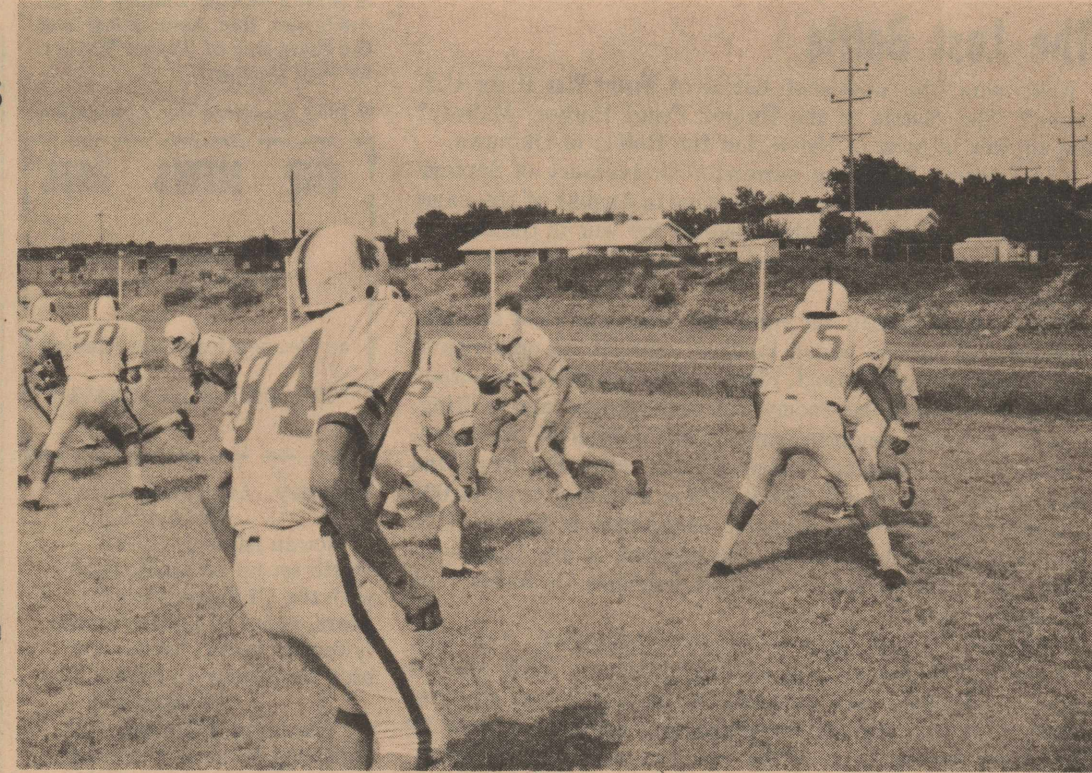

Mrs. Earline Jones, high school librarian, announced this week that fall and winter hours for the library will be the same as last year, open to the public anytime during school hours, and probably open Monday from 5:30 until 7:30 p.m. The evening hours might possibly be different.

WORKING WITH THE BACKFIELD Coach Rip Sewell gives these boys a few "instructions" at workout Monday. There were 81 high school boys on the field during the Monday afternoon workout. Coach Sewell just happened to be working with this foursome when the photographer happened by on the way to a heat stroke. From left to right the boys are Rick Hummcutt, Pete Maldonado, Craig Taliaferro and Oliver Payne.

LION LINEMEN DO SOME HEAD KNOCKING -- In the second day of heavy workouts with pads the line gets instructions from Coach John Richey, and they look pretty tough. Most of the returning lettermen are experienced on the offensive line. The Lions will have an inter-squad scrimmage tomorrow night with parents and fans welcome, and see the first real action of the year in a scrimmage with Lakeview, here, August 31.

The 93rd

The August recess of the 93rd Congress leaves the nation with hopes unfulfilled. The furor over Watergate so dominated Capitol Hill in recent months other issues were somewhat neglected.

A trade bill, badly needed since the Nixon Administration begins vitally important trade negotiations in September, was not passed. Thorough, fair tax reform was not enacted.

The obvious failure of the voluntary armed forces system was not faced. Members meanwhile voted themselves a fat pay increase as they moved to reform election procedures.

Progress was made in some fields, however, and, of course, Congress reconvenes September 5th. It is therefore early to give a final assessment of the "Watergate" Congress.

Free Buses

Seattle is to become the nation's first city to offer free bus service in its downtown area. Free service is to begin in September on a one-year trial basis.

The idea, of course, is to reduce traffic and smog in the center of the city. Free buses will also help boost business where it has, in some cities, dropped off alarmingly because of congestion.

Cost of the free downtown service is estimated at $64,000 for a year—less than might have been expected and a relatively minor item in the city budget.

The Seattle experiment is undoubtedly being watched by hundreds of American communities, especially metropolitan areas with serious smog, pollution and traffic congestion problems. It appears a sensible and logical approach to a growing national problem.

Tennis Teams

In sports there is always something new and in tennis the news is city tennis teams. Already top stars are being signed for lucrative annual contracts.

City teams make more sense than constantly touring pro groups. Players on tour have less special identity and often build no local, loyal fan group. But stars playing for a city team, as in baseball, football or basketball, represent a population segment which logically attaches to them.

Golf, of course, is still a touring pro system and it may be, that because of the large number of top players needed for a golf tournament, it will remain so. Tennis teams, however, can be composed of fewer players than baseball, football or basketball teams.

Tennis, the really international game, will apparently benefit from the new team system and if so the teams will prove a valuable addition to the American sports scene.

The Last Battle

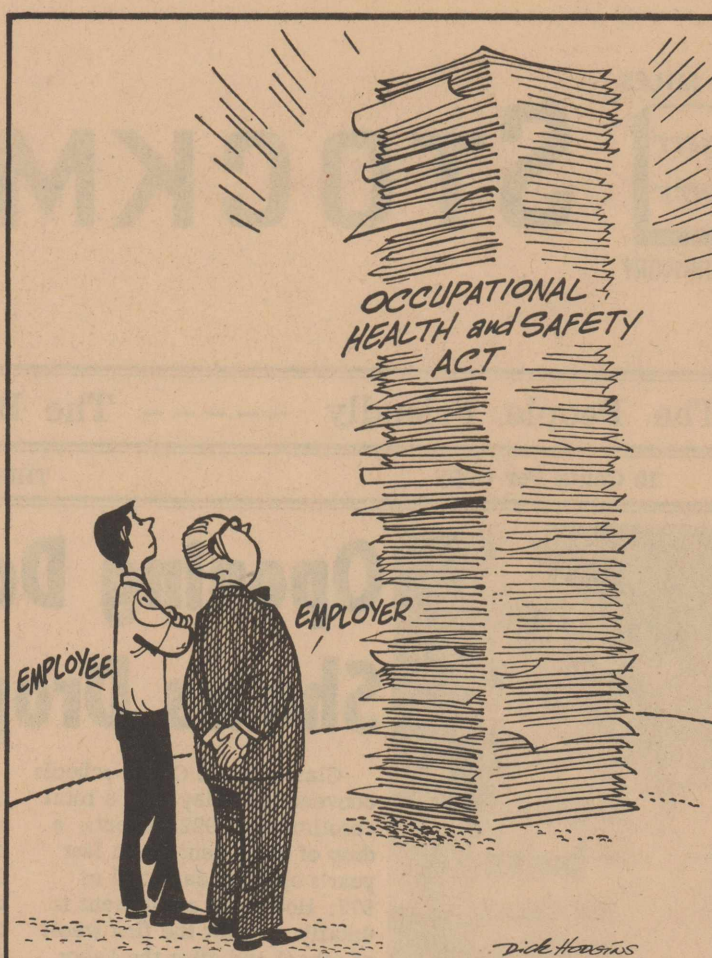

What was the costliest battle of World War II for U.S. forces? The Battle of the Bulge? Pearl Harbor? Midway? The answer is none of these, but the Battle of Okinawa.

The looming Japanese surrender anniversary of September 2nd and the end of actual fighting in August of the same year (1945) bring to mind the close of the war in the Pacific and the last and most costly battle of the war for U.S. forces that summer.

That battle began on April 1st when the first of eight divisions of troops began landing, against no opposition, on the 75-mile-long island. What at first seemed easy turned into grim surprise; the enemy was underground and waiting, in well prepared concrete bunkers and defensive positions.

Before the fighting ended months later the Army and Marines had lost over 7,500 dead and missing, over 31,000 wounded, and suffered non-battle casualties of 26,211. U.S. Navy losses had been by far the highest of any battle—almost 5,000 dead, a similar number wounded, 36 ships sunk and 368 damaged!

Japanese losses were even more staggering. The U.S. war machine had wiped out 110,000 soldiers, 7,800 aircraft (mostly suicides) and sixteen warships. It was the last battle of the war and the bloodiest. But because it came so late, when the outcome of the war was no longer in doubt, less interest has been attached to it than to some earlier battles. Yet its outcome was a major factor in convincing many in Japan that the struggle was hopeless. The atomic bomb made that fate even more obvious.

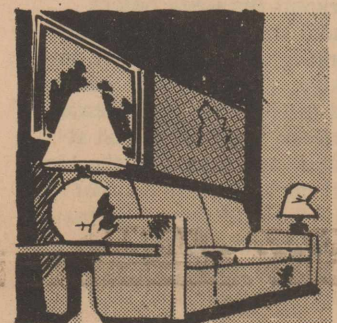

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"Reasonable Wear and Tear"

Because the rent for his apartment was high, Henderson figured he could do pretty much as he pleased with the elegant furnishings. During his occupancy he broke two valuable lamps, lost a costly pitcher and a painting, and scattered the antique furniture with unremovable stains.

When the landlord demanded reimbursement for the damage, Henderson said he could not be held liable for "reasonable wear and tear." But a court saw things the landlord's way and ordered Henderson to make good.

If you are renting a house or an apartment, chances are that somewhere in your lease there is a clause about reasonable wear and tear. This puts common-sense limits on the use you can make of the premises. In other cases, courts have held it wrongful when

1) a man chopped wood indoors, ripping the wallpaper, splintering the woodwork, and punching holes in the plaster;

2) a woman let her bathtub overflow, causing extensive water damage;

3) a man, trying to chisel open a stuck window, gouged great holes in the sill;

4) a couple permitted their pet poodle to soil the living room rug at will.

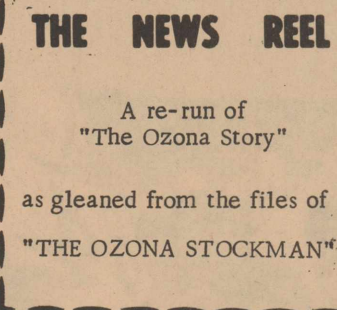

On the other hand, the law recognizes that a certain amount of deterioration—scuffed floors, worn carpets, nicked chairs—can come from normal, everyday use.

Nor is the tenant usually liable for harm done by the elements. Accordingly, in another case, the weathering and weakening of porch railings and outside shutters were held not the tenant's responsibility.

As one judge put it: "Reasonable wear and tear contemplates that deterioration will occur by reason of time and use despite ordinary care. A tenant is not required to renovate the premises at the expiration of his lease."

Sanity Regained

In spite of operating difficulties and all the publicity efforts of Space Agency personnel, the American public has taken the latest Skylab flight in stride.

Perhaps it cannot match Watergate; perhaps the general public is just weary of space spectacles. Whatever the reason, the Skylab-2 mission has been relegated to its proper niche in the news.

This will help discourage the trend toward glamor boys, celebrity personalities, and heavy overdoses of hokum and staged publicity from NASA publicists, mercifully.

Senator Tower Reports

SENATOR JOHN TOWER'S WEEKLY REPORT TO TEXANS

There has been increasing discussion lately of withdrawing considerable numbers of troops from Europe. Critics argue that we spend too much to keep over four divisions and associated air support in Europe. They say that the Europeans should be able to defend themselves, and in some cases, they imply that the United States has no business in Europe.

Though the arguments of these critics are at times persuasive, I must disagree with them on their isolationist view of America. Whether we like it or not, the United States is involved in world affairs. We are deeply involved by our commerce, by our dependence on foreign supplies of raw materials, and by our distaste for totalitarian aggression.

On the other hand, America's great wealth, her technological pre-eminence make her a desired trading partner, and a threat to any power bent on expansion through violence. It would take an ostrich-like viewpoint to think it possible for America to curtail her involvement in world affairs. The importance of Europe to America cannot be overstressed. Western Europe today possesses a technological base nearly as sophisticated as our own. The loss of this to a hostile power would provide that power with the technological means to overcome our quantitative superiority.

Should the Soviet Union gain superiority in technology, then the countries around the world would begin to look to them for leadership. Trade agreements favorable to the Soviets would result. American businesses would have difficulty in finding markets for their goods and would have problems in obtaining raw materials from which those goods are produced. It would not happen overnight; and perhaps that is the greatest danger, for the American public lulled into a false sense of security could easily fail to see this decline in America's power. It would then be too late to react.

I believe concrete action now by America can save her from such distressing predictions of decline. First, we must recognize and re-affirm that our interests are integrally tied with the security of Western Europe. Second, we must begin negotiations with the Soviet Union on troop reductions in Europe. And third, we should continue our discussions with our European allies on their assuming a greater proportion of Western Europe's defense.

The present Administration has gone a long way toward revitalization of NATO's force structure. And, now that the Vietnam war is ended, we can concentrate more on returning our European forces to the high level of personnel readiness that marked pre-Vietnam Europe. The United States will this October 30th undertake with the Soviet Union negotiations on troop reductions in Europe. These talks will include most Central European nations.

While I support the principle of these talks, we must nevertheless be cautious in our approach toward them. The United States and the Soviet Union do not have the same relationships with their "allies". For example, it is doubtful that the governments of most of the Soviet allies would remain in power without the presence of Russian troops.

It is my belief, then, that the United States must continue a full and vigorous partnership in NATO. Our own interests are inextricably intertwined with European security. But as we maintain our presence in Europe, we should re-evaluate our contributions to NATO in light of our negotiations with the Soviets and the increasing ability of our allies to pull a greater share of European defense.

Screwworm Season Is Approaching Peak

With the peak season of the year for screwworm infestation in Texas livestock fast approaching, officials of the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Screwworm Eradication Program urge extreme caution on the part of all livestock owners.

This is particularly true in the Trans-Pecos, Edwards Plateau, and Hill Country areas where the annual shearing season for sheep and goats is reaching its annual peak, says Dr. J. E. Novy, acting veterinarian-in-charge of the Screwworm Program.

"We had an increase in the number of cases from this region during the past week," reports Novy. Owners of newly shorn animals are urged to spray their stock with either KORLAN, or CORAL, both approved by USDA, to protect against the possibility of screwworm infestations in the nicks and scratches which are a usual side-effect of the shearing operation.

Comal, Irion, Menard and San Patricio counties each recorded its first case of screwworm infestation in 1973 during the week ending August 11. These counties accounted for four of the 140 cases recorded in 24 Texas counties during the week. This compares to a like number of counties totaling 136 cases the preceding week.

A check of sites of screwworm infestations in cattle reported during the past week indicates 29% were in the navels of newborn calves. Dr. Novy says it is worth noting that the other 71% were in external wounds, most of which would have been prevented by a regular spraying program.

He further cautions: This is the time of year when ear ticks are most active. Novy warns livestock owners to be particularly watchful for screwworm infestation in tick caused wounds in the ear. In the unending effort to help livestock owners meet the threat posed by the screwworm fly, either a state or federal animal health official will contact each owner of livestock known to be infested with screwworms.

Range Fires Pose Threat

Hot, dry summer weather combined with plenty of vegetation from spring rains is increasing the fire hazard on many Texas ranges, says a range specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Range fire prevention is everyone's job, from the outdoor recreationist to the landowner and rancher. County rural fire control groups should be organized as soon as possible where none exist. Fires destroy vegetative cover which leads to increased soil erosion and water run-off. They also destroy feed for livestock and food and cover for wildlife and produce an "eyesore" to man.

Governor Sets Sept. 23-29 As Highway Week

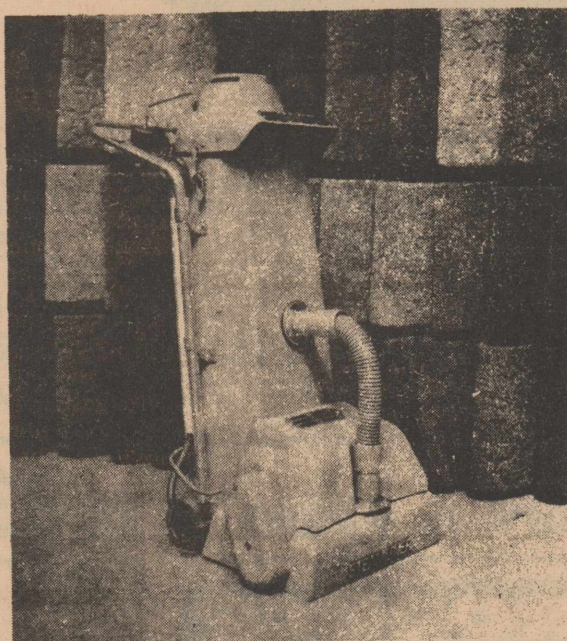

Terming the Texas highway system "the basic transportation resource in Texas," Governor Dolph Briscoe has designated September 23-29 as Highway Week in Texas.

The event coincides with National Highway week which this year is under the honorary chairmanship of television personality Lorne Greene. Theme of the observance is "Better Roads -- Better Living."

Speeches, highway dedications, open house and other special events activities at many Texas Highway Department facilities across the state are planned for the week.

The Governor singled out citizen support as an important factor in highway progress in Texas and noted that development has been a cooperative effort between all levels of government.

Danell Royal

Here's a big point about the beautiful 1973 Plymouth Fury you probably didn't know...it runs on regular gas.

Fury is not only a beautiful car, it's strong, solid and reliable, with such great engineering features as an Electronic Ignition System. What's more, Fury is engineered to run on regular gas. And that means a lot these days. There's a lot of value built into a Fury—all part of a plan to win you over. And now that you can get a Fury at year-end prices—well, it seems like a real good buy to me.

So if you're looking for great value in a car, I'd advise you to spend a few minutes with your Chrysler-Plymouth dealer.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club
by
Mrs. Bailey Post

Though vacation time and summer relaxation is almost over, another two months of more or less dry, hot weather is still in store, unless the usual pattern changes.

For this reason, this is a critical time for gardens and lawns, if they are not to suffer from neglect. Especially, shallow rooted shrubs such as azaleas and camelias need plenty of moisture and mulch, so they can resist the coming cold weather. Too, they are forming buds for spring blooming. If leaves are looking yellow between the veins, apply iron chelates as a foliage spray or in the soil.

Most evergreens need to be kept well watered regularly if no rain comes to our area soon.

Lantanas are a popular plant which take very little care or water. They are not particular as to soil, but do need full sun. Use these plants in ground beds, containers, as low hedges, foundation shrubs, ground cover on banks and hanging baskets. Prune in the spring to remove dead wood and prevent growth becoming too large and woody.

Pinks (Dianthus) are found in many varieties in almost every garden as an annual, biennial or perennial. These pleasant spicy fragrant plants can be enjoyed from spring until frost. All pinks thrive in full sun to partial shade and can be used as in borders or beds; in rock gardens and containers. The Sweet William is an all time favorite garden pink in several varieties. We have enjoyed the attractive gray-green foliage of plants that were small and planted late in a tub. This is the husky compact hybrid, Dianthus, "Queen of Hearts" that has brilliant flowers.

The annual Zinnia binear is a compact plant 18 inches in height with very narrow leaves. Many 1-inch-wide golden orange flower heads cover the plants. Flowers begin to appear six weeks after seeds are planted and continue until late fall. They can be planted now.

Debra Says:

By HD Ageht
Debra Price

Families without air-conditioners can find some relief from Texas heat by following a few simple guidelines. To keep heat out, close the house in the daytime--then open the windows between sundown and sunup, so warm air can move out. If windows open from either the top or bottom, open one from the top and another from the bottom to move out any hot air pocketed near the ceiling.

Dense window coverings help a house stay cool by keeping out sunshine. Use heavy window shades, draperies or a combination of the two. Tape aluminum foil, cardboard or newspapers against the inside of windows in direct sun. Make sure springs and fasteners on outside doors work properly. Try to get family cooperation in closing doors. Don't give hot air a chance to come in.

Fans can bring cooler air inside, send warm air out, and keep families comfortable. Use a fan wherever the most activity occurs. Moving air dries the skin so it feels comfortable. Run the fan at a constant speed throughout the day--this is more cooling than turning it on for a blast of air now and then. Try placing the fan to direct the air toward a wall. Air will bounce off the wall, spreading over more of the room.

In the evenings, a properly placed fan will pull cooler air through open windows. Exhaust fans can help move heat and moisture out--from cooking, bathing and laundry areas.

During hottest months, save homemaking tasks which create moisture for the coolest part of the day. These include washing or cooking. If possible, close off the working area to keep moist air from traveling to other rooms. Avoid using the range by cooking outside, preparing a cold meal or using a portable appliance instead.

No FishingLicense Heads*Game Violations

State coffers swelled by $51,000 at the end of June from the 2,590 cases filed by Parks and Wildlife Department game wardens.

The violation heading the list, as it usually does in the summer, was the lack of fishing license -- 1,032 Texans were found without the $2.15 license which is being increased to $4.25 Sept. 1.

Wardens also are charged by the Texas Water Safety Act with the enforcement of water safety laws, one of which is having a Coast Guard-approved Personal Flotation Device for each person on a boat.

Six hundred persons failed to have the proper number of PFDs on board during the month of June.

Parks and Wildlife Department law enforcement personnel remind Texas boaters that they have until Oct. 1 to comply with new federal regulations concerning life saving devices.

The new rules won't affect owners with boats under 16 feet in length, canoes and kayaks, but those with larger craft may have to resupply their stock of U. S. Coast Guard approved Personal Flotation Devices.

THE CROSSROADS

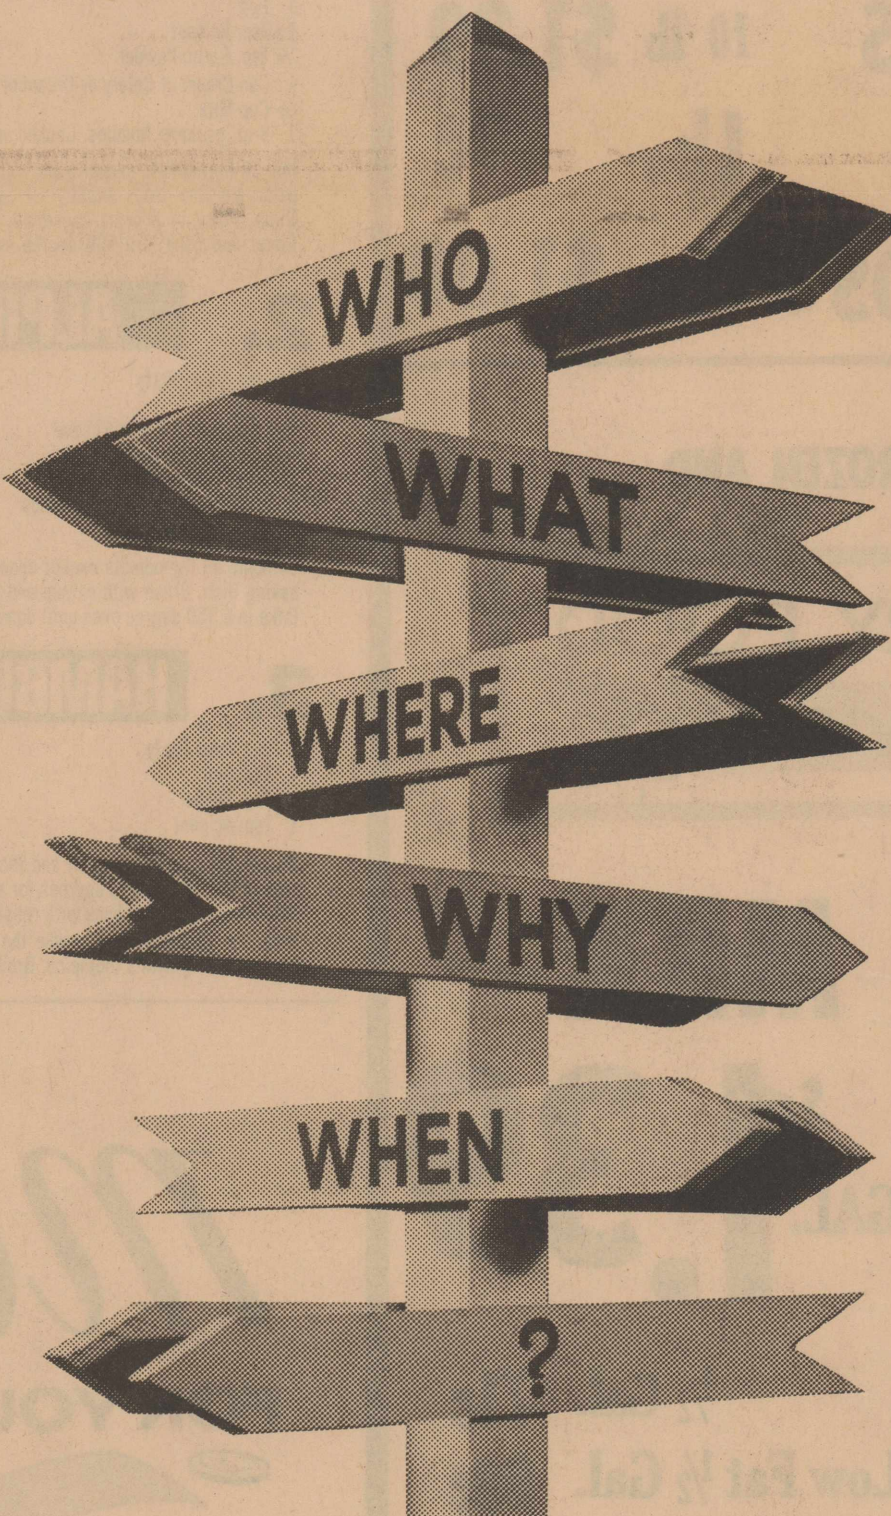

Who am I? What is life? Where am I going? Why am I here??? When will I know???

Almost everyone who's ever lived has at one time or another asked himself one or all of these questions. Or others--What shall I do? Where shall I turn? Why did this have to happen to me? Who will help? When???

Sooner or later every man seeks understanding. The seeking can be exhilarating, depending upon where one searches.

Those who turn to God and His Church find unlimited opportunities opening for them, as their concept of life is enriched and enlarged.

If you stand at the crossroads and the world seems a turmoil of conflicting ideas, turn to your church. Its truth never wavers. Its strength and purpose can make your life fuller and happier.
