Traffic In Suez Canal Is Blocked By Sunk Warship

ISRAELI SOLDIERS JUMP OFF ON DRIVE INTO DESERT—Israeli troops aboard a halftrack vehicle get a wave from soldiers on the ground as the halftrack moves across the border into Egypt's Sinai Peninsula. The drive toward the Suez Canal across the desert continued despite the Anglo-French ultimatum to Israel and Egypt to cease fire.

Israel Tells Egypt To Lay Down Arms

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—The Israeli government radio called on Egyptian soldiers today to lay down their arms in the Sinai Peninsula and warned them that they would be completely encircled and isolated shortly by Israeli forces.

The Sinai Peninsula was the first objective of the Israelis in the opening action Monday night. The government radio hinted the area was almost encircled and that Israelis believe victory there is in sight in a matter of hours.

The government radio earlier announced, and a government spokesman confirmed, that Israeli forces captured Rafa, at the southern end of the Gaza Strip, not far from the Mediterranean. This suggested the Israelis also have encircled the Gaza Strip area adjoining Sinai.

They may also have cut off the special Gaza Strip army of Palestine Arabs, trained and led by Egyptian officers. The Israeli army spokesman said Egyptian forces "are retreating in disorder" but declined to elaborate.

Israeli and Egyptian troops had been believed battling for the vital main highway stretching from the Israeli border across the Sinai Peninsula to Ismailia — midway point on the Suez Canal.

A brief communique said Israeli planes attacked an Egyptian convoy along the route and caused some Egyptian casualties.

The communique today added that Egyptian commandos crossed into Israel from the Gaza Strip and killed two civilians. When they thrust into Egypt Monday night, the Israelis said their purpose was to eliminate the bases from which the commandos were operating.

Air raid sirens wailed briefly in Tel Aviv this morning but there was no sign of Egyptian aircraft.

Middle East Parley Held

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower met for two hours today with National Security Council, expanded to include military and civil chiefs of the armed services, in a full-dress review of the Middle East crisis.

The session of the nation's top strategy board opened at the White House at 9 a.m. and broke up just before 11.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty, in announcing the end of the meeting, said he had no statement to make.

The Security Council never divulges its deliberations.

Eisenhower ruled out last night the use of American armed forces in the present situation brought about by the Israeli attack on Egypt and British-French intervention.

But the Security Council — the country's top strategic planning agency — has responsibilities military into coordination of diplomatic and economic action.

Thus its apparent task was to plan how to gear U.S. activities generally to the major pledges made by Eisenhower last night in his special radio-TV report to the nation:

1. To rely first on the United Nations for a solution to "this tormenting problem."

2. To do all within the United States' own power "to localize the fighting and to end the conflict."

One matter certain to come in for major attention at the Security Council session was American strategy in the U.N. General Assembly, called into special session today for an effort to end the fighting.

"In the past," Eisenhower said last night, "the United Nations has proved able to find a way to end bloodshed. We believe it can and will do so again."

He set up no specific plans for this country's individual actions.

Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., U.S. ambassador to the United Nations who frequently attends Security Council meetings, stayed in New York City for the Assembly session. Vice President Nixon, who seldom misses a council meeting, was absent.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters yesterday, in response to questions, that the Council session today would be a full-dress review of the Middle East crisis. It got under way, with Eisenhower presiding, shortly after 9 a.m.

Eisenhower said the U.N. General Assembly should be able to bring the "opinion of the world" to bear on the Middle East situation.

Russia Calls Top Meeting

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union called today for an immediate conference of the Bandung powers to demand a cease-fire in Egypt and withdrawal of all foreign forces from Egyptian territory.

The Bandung powers include the Asian-African group of nations. Israel is not represented.

The Soviet Union left open the question of its own participation at such a conference. It is not a member of the Bandung group.

The Kremlin's call was an open bid to champion the cause of Asian nations before the world.

It was contained in letters from President Vorosilov and Premier Bulganin to Prime Minister Nehru of India and President Sukarno of Indonesia.

Bulganin has dispatched a letter to President Eisenhower about Egypt, a Soviet press spokesman said today.

Shipping Of Oil Stopped

LONDON — British and French planes carried on nonstop attacks on Egyptian airfields today and Cairo announced attacking aircraft sank an Egyptian warship in the Suez Canal—blocking traffic and cutting off oil shipping to Europe.

Cairo said British and French warplanes raided Egyptian troops at crossing points along the canal and in the operation sank the Egyptian warship Akka in Timsah Lake just south of Ismailia, midway point of the canal.

Britain and France launched military operations against President Nasser's regime last night with the declared purpose of protecting the Mideast waterway from fighting swirling between Egyptian and Israeli forces in the Sinai Peninsula.

The Egyptians gave out no official information today on the fighting with Israeli troops. But the Israelis claimed Egyptian troops were in retreat and would soon be cut off in the Sinai Peninsula.

Even before Egypt announced blocking of the canal, shipping was reported turning back from its approaches because of danger from military operations.

Egypt asked other Arab states to block another source for Middle East oil—the pipelines from the main production centers to Mediterranean ports.

Egypt broke off diplomatic relations with Britain and France. Jordan broke relations with France.

Cairo dispatches said five air raid alarms sounded in Cairo up to early afternoon, and Egyptian military headquarters claimed six British planes were shot down over the Nile delta.

Troops of the two Western nations had not showed up in the area of operations, but their landing on Egyptian soil was expected.

British planes with cannon and rocket fire were reported in official announcements here and at Cyprus, their base, to be striking hard at five Egyptian airfields in the Suez zone and Nile delta in an effort to destroy Nasser's Soviet-built MIG airforces on the ground.

British pilots said they had destroyed 14 Egyptian planes on the ground, including Soviet MIG15 fighters. The pilots said they had encountered almost no resistance.

It was limited, they said, to ineffective antiaircraft fire and a lone fighter which attempted to intervene.

The air strikes, beginning at dawn after a night of British and French bombing attacks, were aimed at the airfields of Abu Sueir, Fayid and Kabrit in the canal zone; Inchass, 35 miles from Cairo; and Kasfareet.

The reported sinking of the Egyptian warship in the canal, followed the British announcement that another Egyptian warship had been sunk in the Red Sea off Suez, at the southern approaches to the canal. An Admiralty spokesman said the Egyptian frigate Domiat went down under the guns of the British cruiser Newfoundland.

"The Domiat was carrying mines with the apparent intention of laying them in the area," said the Admiralty announcement. It added 69 survivors from the Domiat had been picked up by British ships.

Adlai Preparing For Major Talk

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson will leave Pittsburgh at 3 p.m. today for Buffalo, N.Y., where he will make a nationwide television-radio address on the Middle East situation and talk to a Democratic campaign rally at 8:30 p.m. CST in Memorial Auditorium.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson today abandoned plans to make a nationwide television and radio talk from New York City and sought to arrange the speech to originate from either Pittsburgh or Buffalo, N.Y., tonight.

His news secretary, Clayton Fritchey, said that weather conditions in New York made a landing there almost impossible. This caused a shift in Stevenson's plans to fly to New York City before going on to Buffalo for a 9:30 p.m. speech at a Democratic rally there.

Fritchey made this disclosure as he awaited word from the major networks on Stevenson's request for equal time to reply to President Eisenhower's 15-minute talk to the nation last night.

Stevenson wants to elaborate on his claim that Eisenhower administration foreign policies have "brought the whole world" to the brink of war.

Stevenson earlier had canceled talks planned for Syracuse and Rochester, N.Y., in favor of the New York city nationwide talk, to have been followed by a quick trip to Buffalo for a night speech there.

The hostilities in Egypt virtually crowded out all other issues in the Democratic candidate's strategy as he entered the final stage of a campaign in which he is seeking to take the initiative on the "peace issue."

His campaign staff announced the cancellation of political talks in Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo, N. Y.

Stevenson has asked "equal time" to reply to President Eihower's 15-minute talk last night over major TV and radio networks concerning the Middle East crisis.

Cancellation of the upstate New York talks apparently was dictated by the availability in New York City of nationwide TV and radio network facilities.

Stevenson seemed confident the time he sought would be granted under federal communications regulations requiring equal time for candidates between conventions and elections.

Last night he asked a tumultuous audience in Pittsburgh's Hunt Armory to support "efforts to end the war between Egypt and Israel" but said "I cannot promise to support or respect a foreign policy that has bluffed and blundered the United States into a shattering diplomatic disaster."

"It has brought the whole world to the brink of another war that Mr. Dulles (secretary of state) may not have planned but which he did a lot to cause," he said.

An audience which fire department officials estimated at 12,500 gave him a roaring reception.

He hammered away at Republican foreign policy in rallies in New York City during a day in which a steady downpour of rain cut down his street crowds and forced him to do his speaking indoors in halls of limited capacity.

At Pittsburgh, he said Eisenhower-Dulles policies have not only alienated Great Britain and France, and lost the confidence of Israel, but left this country on the side of the Soviet Union and Egyptian dictator Abdel Gamal Nasser in the flaming Mideast crisis.

Man Leaves For Trip To Paris Again

DENISON (AP) — The lifelong dream of a railroad man began to unfold last night.

Hartley Edwards, 61, and his wife stepped on a train amid cheers and well-wishes of a throng gathered to see him off on the first leg of a trip that will take him to France.

It began on Armistice Day 38 years ago, when Edwards was a young sergeant in charge of a 50-man bugle corps in Gen. John J. Pershing's entourage.

World War I had just ended and Edwards marched through Paris in a parade which ended under the Arc de Triomphe, where he played "Taps" in memory of the war dead. Thousands watched in solemn homage.

Edwards said Marshal Foche, the Allied commander, told the bugle corps he hoped they could come back to France one day and play again.

For 38 years Edwards saved his money to return. As he boarded the train he was given more than six letters of introduction to present when he reaches Paris.

One was from Speaker Sam Rayburn, which introduced him as "a personal friend of mine."

The Chamber of Commerce sent greetings to Paris from Denison, "President Eisenhower's birthplace."

The Edwards will appear on a New York TV show and leave by plane for Paris, arriving Saturday.

Paris is expecting them and on Nov. 11, Armistice Day, Edwards will play Taps again under the Arc de Triomphe.

He will be wearing the same uniform and using the same bugle. He has played at least once a week since his Army days.

He Didn't Go To Work

FORT WORTH (AP) — George Parker Sr., 93, didn't go to work at Federal Court today.

Parker retired yesterday after 61 years. He was considered the dean of Federal Court clerks and one of the government's oldest employes.

A surprise farewell was arranged by his deputy clerks for his last day of work.

The largest crowd ever packed into the clerk's office presented him with luggage from his deputies here and at Dallas, Amarillo, Lubbock, Wichita Falls, Abilene and San Angelo.

Flowers and telegrams came from friends throughout North Texas.

Parker went to work in 1895 as a secretary and court reporter in Dallas. He became U.S. marshall and U.S. commissioner. He began his tenure as district clerk in 1925.

Parker said he has no plans other than to visit a granddaughter in California.

66 Persons Vote In Absentee Balloting

A total of 66 persons had voted and 25 more had secured ballots for absentee balloting by this morning for the general election, which will be held Tuesday.

Deadline for securing ballots for absentee voting is tomorrow, and those who will vote in person at the county clerk's office must do so today. Those who wish to mail their ballots back in must have them in by 2 p.m. election day.

Wallet Vanishes But It's Not Any Magic

DALLAS (AP)—A group of Dallas magicians held a seance in Harry Houdini's honor on the 30th anniversary of his death. About $70 and a wallet belonging to T. S. Palmer vanished.

Palmer insisted he must have lost the wallet before the lights were turned down.

Hungarians Will Quit Warsaw Pact

VIENNA (AP) — Premier Imre Nagy of Hungary called in the Soviet ambassador today and gave notice that Hungary was withdrawing from the Warsaw Pact, Radio Budapest announced.

BUDAPEST (AP) — For the first time in nine days no gunfire was heard today in the center of Budapest. Foodshops were operating, but other commerce, industry and transport were dead.

The revolution - scarred capital on the Danube was bathed in bright sunshine and many people were out in the streets. But they were out for food, trying to find relatives and to pick up the threads of their lives torn by the anti-Soviet, anti-Communist civil war.

Russian tanks and infantry had apparently been withdrawn from the capital to their bases.

Vengeance squads of young revolutionaries still prowled the streets of Budapest and the city's sewers, hunting members of the hated Hungarian Communist secret police.

When they found them in the sewers, they shot them and dumped their bodies. When they found them in the streets, they hung them up by the feet. When they shot them in the streets, they poured gasoline on their bodies and burned them.

Despite repeated pleas of the Communist - dominated government of Premier Imre Nagy, nobody was back at work in the factories. There was no public transport. Nearly everything was still at a standstill.

Norther Is On Its Way

By The Associated Press

Another norther bore down on Texas Thursday. The Weather Bureau said this one wasn't likely to touch off rains like the one early in the week.

The front was due in the Panhandle and West Texas Thursday night. A freeze was forecast for the Panhandle, upper South Plains and the El Paso area. The front was expected to cross Texas by Saturday.

A few showers were forecast along the coast lake Thursday and Friday.

The Weather Bureau said there wasn't enough moisture over the state for the cold air to kick off the almost general rains which fell on thirsty farms and rangeland Monday and Tuesday.

Dawn readings Thursday ranged from 67 at Brownsville to 39 at Dalhart and Salt Flat. Skies were clear. Temperatures Wednesday ranged from 85 at Alice to 70 at El Paso.

Beaumont had .10 of an inch of rain.

Halloween Here Is Relatively Tame

Police reported this morning that Halloween was relatively tame here, with only a few disturbances recorded.

Several boys were picked up by police and carried home to their parents, but none had done anything more than throwing rotten eggs and tomatoes at residences or store buildings.

Each Halloween pranksters place a pit toilet building on the square, and that happened again last night about midnight.

Close patrolling of the downtown area prevented the out house from being put there earlier, Travis L. Steele, police chief, said.

Work Is Started On Water System

Work has been started on replacing some small water distribution lines in the west part of Snyder, Roy Dunlap, city manager, said.

The water and sewer expansion program is expected to be completed by next spring.

Bids On Library Submitted Here

Nine bids on the general contract for construction of the new Scurry County library were submitted to the county commissioners court yesterday at the formal bid opening.

While the commissioners did not award a contract yesterday, they did not reject the bids. After considerable deliberation, the group decided to let the two low bidders submit bids on alternate plans by next Wednesday.

Low bidders on the project were A. J. Allen of Levelland with $89,458, and T. E. Shelburne & Son of Snyder with $90,200. There was a difference of only $742 in the two low bidders. The bidding had a difference of $14,407 from low to high.

Other bids were $92,811 by Shiflet Bros. of Abilene, $92,830 by G. A. Jones of Lamesa, $95,950 by J. D. Jones of Big Spring, $95,900 by Horn Construction Co. of Abilene, $96,117 by J. D. Bell of Lubbock, $98,300 by Harden Construction Co. of Brownfield, and $103,865 by W. R. Grimshaw of Odessa.

The commissioners agreed on several alterations in plans which will not affect services of the library or size of the building but will help trim costs to some extent. Included in the changes are lowering the ceiling for the large adult reading room from 14 feet to 12 feet, eliminating a staff conference room which had been included, using Roman brick for the entrance instead of stone, eliminating one outside door which was not needed, and eliminated the women's powder room.

M. C. Butler, architect for the county on the project, said he would get detailed information on changes out to the two low bidders today, and the two contractors said they could submit their alternate bids by next Wednesday. The commissioners court has, by law, 10 days before it must accept or reject the bids.

Several equipment bids were also submitted yesterday, but all were rejected, and eqipment will be purchased later. Some of the bids were on wood furniture, some on metal. The bids were $15,994 by Abel Stationaries, $16,579.25 by American Seating Co., $17,583 by Kay's Fine Furniture, and $27,882.76 by Bennett Office Supply.

The library was one of the projects approved by voters this year in a bond election.

Griffin said he could not explain the high rate of collection, but that it was welcomed by the city.

U.S. Men Given Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)— The 1956 Nobel Prize in physics was awarded to three U.S. scientists today for their development of the tiny transistor.

The winners, who did their work in the laboratories of the Bell Telephone Co., are William Shockley of Pasadena, Calif.; Jay Bardeen of Urbana, Ill.; and Walter H. Brattain of Murray Hill, N.J.

The $38,633 physics award —to be split three ways among the winners—recognized the swift advance of science and technology into the vast new field of physics of the solid states.

It was known that the transistor team had been figuring high among the Nobel physics prize candidates for several years. They had long ago been declared prizeworthy by Nobel committee experts.

The microamplifiers known as transistors perform virtually every function of vacuum tubes in electronics and communications but need only a fraction of the current and space. They can be made of various semiconductor solids. Transistors work by directing the flow of electric current through "holes" in the crystals.

A Russian and an Englishman won the chemistry prize for discovering the rules of conduct when molecules blow up in chain reactions or combine smoothly.

Their work laid the foundation for the development of plastics and was a factor in later atomic research.

The winner of the first Nobel award ever given to a Soviet citizen is Nikolai N. Semyonov, bearded 60-year-old Moscow professor of physical chemistry and the organizer of much of Russia's chemical science.

Sharing the $38,633 award is Sir Cyril Hinshelwood, 59, of Oxford University. He and Semyonov worked independently, but have been friends and correspondents for some 25 years.

The prize will be presented to them by King Gustaf VI Adolf of Sweden at the colorful Nobel ceremony in Stockholm Dec. 10. The King also will present the prize for literature to Juan Ramon Jimenez, Spanish poet now living in Puerto Rico, and for medicine to Dr. Andre F. Cournand and Dr. Dickinson W. Richards Jr. of New York's Columbia University and Dr. Werner Forssmann of Bad Kreuznach, West Germany.

Snyder Students Learning To Save

The younger generation is accused many times by its elders today of not knowing how to save money.

But a number of freshmen students at Snyder High School, if they do not now know how to save, will know by the end of the school year. They are junior business students, who, while studying a unit on banking and servinces in class, decided to open savings accounts at Snyder's two banks.

The students each started their savings accounts with at least $1, and each must bank at least 25 cents weekly. This will continue throughout the school year.

Not only will these students learn quickly that saving a mere 25 cents weekly can amount to something over a period of several months.

The group of 30 students are taught in the general business course by Curt Wise. All are freshmen. When the students opened their accounts, about half at the Snyder National Bank and the other half at the West Texas State Bank, they were taken on tours of the banks and were shown the course of a day's banking business.

Several projects such as this will be conducted by the class during the school year, and there will be similar field trips in connection with each unit of study, such as a visit at the telephone building during studies on communications.

General business is the first course offered by the business department at Snyder High School, which also offers such business courses as bookkeeping, two years of typing and two of shorthand, commercial law, and commercial math. Wise teaches general business, bookkeeping, commercial law, and typing. Mrs. Theris King teaches typing and shorthand, and Miss Thelma Leslie teaches classes of typing. Typing is the most popular of the business courses, with several classes of typing students daily.

Business courses at the high school, like most other courses there, are also available to adults through the adult education program. Another session of adult training classes will begin next spring, with classes held two nights weekly, two hours per class, just as they are this semester. The high school offers any course which can be taught to adults, provided there are at least 15 persons per class.

Reduction In Crude Price Is Scheduled

AMARILLO (AP) — The price Shamrock Oil and Gas Corp. pays for crude in Texas Panhandle fields, Oklahoma and Kansas will be reduced 7 cents a barrel, the firm said yesterday.

The cut is to take effect Nov. 5 at 7 a.m.

Phillips Petroleum Co. lowered its price 7 cents early in September. Phillips also reduced its pipeline runs by 25 per cent early this month.

Shamrock President J. H. Dunn said:

"For some months our company has maintained a price for crude oil being purchased by it above the price paid by others for a like quality of crude oil.

"We have done this because we have believed and still believe that a general increase in the price of crude is justified not only from the standpoint of the industry but from the standpoint of the national welfare as well.

"Our hopes in this regard have not been realized, and we regret that for competitive reasons we are compelled to announce a reduction in the price we can pay for crude oil in the areas of our purchases.

"We hope that the causes underlying this reduced price situation will soon be removed."

The Big Question

Both the betting odds and the public opinion polls in 1948 made Thomas E. Dewey a strong favorite to defeat Harry S. Truman for his only elective term in the White House. Right up to the evening of the election the wise money among the gamblers was on Dewey by odds of 7 to 1 and as high as 10 to 1.

Many explanations were offered in the way of alibis for the debacle that followed, one of which was that the odds and the opinion polls were so strongly favorable to Dewey that many Republicans stayed home and let George do it.

Once again this year the public opinion polls and the betting odds are lopsided in favor of the Republican ticket. In many areas the polls show a heavier majority for Ike this year than in 1952.

For a time Republican campaign managers had the notion of putting on a sort of "front porch" campaign with the President contenting himself with five or six appearances.

That mood did not last long, and soon the campaign underwent a decided reversal of form.

In the last two or three weeks there have been indications that complacency has again settled over the Republican managerial tent, and there is talk that so effective has been Ike's active intervention that the election's in the bag.

That attitude is justified perhaps by the showing of the polls and the betting odds. All the same, there was 1948.

This century has not afforded a greater surprise upset of the dope bucket than that of 1948, but the election in 1916 had a regular cliff-hanger finale. Mr. Wilson went to bed thinking he had lost and Mr. Hughes went to bed thinking he had won. But final returns from California straightened out that momentary confusion.

One thing is pretty apparent at this time: There isn't much public indifference. But are the people really in a voting mood? That is a question only the returns can answer.

State election officials in the 48 states predict a smaller turnout of voters this time than in 1952, which isn't surprising since 4.5 million fewer voters have qualified themselves this year.

Also, only once in a great many years does the nation get so excited over an election, and therefore in a voting mood, as was the case four years ago. They were excited and vote-conscious in 1952. This year some of the old spizzerinctum is lacking.

One thing the poll-takers and the betting commissioners can't predict: how many people will actually go to the polls? That could have a decided bearing on the outcome next Tuesday.

Amendment No. 7

A great many welfare, medical and mental health groups are backing Amendment No. 7 in next Tuesday's action on constitutional questions.

This amendment would permit persons "arraigned" for unsound mind, or his next of kin, or the attorney ad litem appointed by the judge of the county probate court, to waive a trial by jury so such person could be committed to a hospital for a time greater than 90 days.

Besides the humiliation of a jury trial for mentally ill persons there is the question of treating such persons as though they were common malefactors. Mental illness is like any other disease, no disgrace to anyone, and the percentage of cures is high where the trouble can be got at soon enough. Fear and dread of a court "trial" have caused many patients and their next of kin to delay taking the final step toward treatment in a state hospital.

The amendment does not abolish jury trials in such cases; it merely permits waiver of trial upon presentation of the need for treatment by competent medical or psychiatric testimony, with the personal consent of the patient or his next of kin or his court-appointed attorney.

Texas is the only state in the Union that clings to the old "trial by jury" in mental cases.

Amendment No. 7, properly safeguarded to insure against unfairness to the patient, is in line with the remarkable progress made in recent years in the treatment of the mentally ill.

Under proper procedures the proposed change in the commitment of patients should be safe from abuses.

Seniority Is Involved In Controversy Over Special Senate Election In Texas

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Involved in the controversy over calling of a special election to choose a successor to Sen. Price Daniel is seniority.

After he won the nomination for governor, Daniel submitted his resignation as senator to Gov. Shivers effective Jan. 15, or an earlier date if a successor may be elected.

Shivers has indicated he would not call a special election, declining to do so on the ground that no vacancy exists.

Should Texas not have a new man ready to take office when Congress convenes Jan. 3, other newcomers who will be here will go ahead of the next Texas junior senator.

This could mean much to Texas in the years to come. Seniority largely determines committee assignments and committee chairmanship eventually.

The importance and influence of a committee chairmanship, especially in regard to key committees, can hardly be overestimated. Over the years, when Democrats have controlled Congress, Texans have held their share and more of these top legislative posts.

Around the Capial:

A former Texas newspaper reporter works in the nerve center of the State Department's vast news gathering and distribution organization.

He is Julius Walker Jr., 29, formerly of Plainview and a member of the staff of the Waco News-Tribune until January. His wife is secretary to Rep. George Mahon. She is the former Savannah Tunnell of Tahoka and Lubbock.

Walker was handling general assignments on the Waco paper last year when he wrote of the forthcoming visit to Waco of a State Department agent who would interview persons desiring jobs in the foreign serve. Walker lost no time in seeing him. Walker soon was a government employe.

Hailing from the largest oil state, Texans were foremost in numbers among witnesses testifying at the hearing by the Office of Defense Mobilization on proposals to curtail the shipment of foreign oil into this country.

The outcome of the hearing won't be known for some time. The President may order a curb on imports if the ODM director finds that they have been hurting domestic producers to the extent of impairing the ability of the domestic industry to meet the nation's oil needs in time of emergencies.

Two Texas congressmen were among those pleading for a cutback in imports—Reps. Frank Ikard of Wichita Falls and Walter Rogers of Pampa.

The Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Assn. had its top officials on hand to join in the plea—A. E. Herrmann, Amarillo, president; W. E. Turner, Austin, vice president; and L. A. Douglas, San Antonio, a director.

Robert Wood of Midland spoke as president of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America; J. R. Butler of Houston and J. P. Coleman of Wichita Falls, as directors of the IPAA.

P. W. Pitzer Jr., president of the West Central Texas Oil and Gas Assn., represented 1,900 independent operators. John Crutchfield, Corus Christi engineer, spoke for Southwest Texas.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

THE ELEGANT OAKEY. By Croswell Bowen. Oxford.

A. Oakey Hall served New York County as district attorney for more than 10 years until, in 1868, he was elected mayor of the great city and stayed in office till 1873.

He had a variegated career: Born in Albany, a New York City lawyer, a poet — an "execrable" poet, as Bowen says most correctly — a punster, a dramatist, an actor, a newspaper correspondent and editor.

He was admitted to the Union Club, though the members would eventually vote on his explusion. He would sue James Bryce for a chapter in Bryce's "The American Commonwealth" with uncomplimentary references to Hall. He married well though his career contained incidents too lurid for his wife's peace of mind. He was conspicuously "elegant" — velvet collars, silk ties, fine linens, fancy vest, jewels, and beard.

But his central experience was his mayoralty during which the Tweed Ring mulcted the city, right under Hall's nose, of millions. Cartoonist Nast pilloried him, and he suffered under the relentless scrutiny of The Times. Tweed, himself in a tight spot, would call Hall guilty; but two juries trying him could reach no verdict, and they acquitted him.

Hall is an extraordinary blend of bits of poetaster, hack, wit, pe- and touches of Beau Brummel and Jimmy Walker. Bowen, with the details at his fingertips, lets the record speak for itself.

It Looks As If British And French Plotted With Israel

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The missing link in the fighting in Egypt is this: Did the British, French and Israelis plan it together? It looks that way. All three stood to gain by what they did.

What the Israelis wanted was to help wreck Egyptian President Nasser, whom all three hated. He was the rallying point for Arabs against Israel. What the British and French wanted was to wreck Nasser and get back the Suez Canal.

But the effects of what the British and French did went far beyond their move to seize the canal. They ignored the United Nations, although pledged to work with and uphold the world organization.

They made American leadership of the free world look as sick as a straw hat in the rain by telling Secretary of State Dulles nothing of their plans to go into the Sues area and then ignoring President Eisenhower's personal plea not to.

They made their move at a time when the West might have profited by the Russian killing of Hungarians in Budapest. Now world attention has been diverted.

The French and British had been angered and frustrated by Dulles ever since Nasser seized the canal last July. They wanted to take military action against Nasser to take back the canal.

Dulles proposed a couple of plans—for negotiating peacefully with Nasser—which didn't work out but managed to forestall military action until now.

The British and French apparently made up their minds he wouldn't block them again. They shut him off from information for 10 days. American ambassadors for that time were not able to see the heads of the French and British governments.

On Monday — when the Israelis marched into Egypt — the British and French ambassadors were absent from Washington. But on that day the British Minister J. E. Coulson, told Dulles the American - British - French agreement of 1950 — to stop any aggression in the Middle East — was dead. Nevertheless, the White House said Monday night this country would nonor that agreement.

Will Insurrection In Hungary Stop With Titoism, Or Become Anti-Red Uprising?

By WALTER LIPPMANN

The insurrection in Hungary has raised the question whether the anti-Russian movement in Eastern Europe will stop at Titoism or become an anti-Communist uprising. Nagy, who is the Hungarian Tito, was not able, it appears, to cope with the revels in Budapest, and was compelled to call upon the Red Army to quell the uprising. There have been demonstrations in Warsaw which went beyond Titoism, being both anti-Russian and anti-Communist. But in Poland and Gomulka government seems to have had enough prestige and enough police power of its own to deal with the trouble without calling upon the Russians.

We are, we must realize, poorly informed about a situation which is in large part hidden from sight and in rapid flux. But, as a working hypothesis, I would say that the critical place to watch is Poland, and that in Poland the immediately critical issue is whether the Gomulka regime and the Kremlin are able to work out what amounts to a new alliance.

• • •

Poland is of all the satellites the critical country. Both Germany and Russia are vitally interested in Poland because the Polish plain is the avenue on which have marched all the armies that have invaded Russia. For the Germans, the Polish plain is not only the avenue of the Russian advance into Europe but, since World War II, Poland has annexed German territories which the German nation has never renounced.

Poland's pre-eminent importance lends credence to the report, which has come in this week, that Marshal Tito reached an understanding with the Kremlin during his visit to Yalta in which they divided Eastern Europe into two spheres of influence. The Poles would be in the Russian sphere and Hungary and possibly Romania and Bulgaria would be in Tito's sphere.

• • •

The critical issue in Poland is whether the new Polsih regime will stabilize its foreign policy, more specifically its policy toward Germany and the Western world beyond Germany. We know what Gomulka wants. It is to renew the Soviet alliance which guarantees him against Germany.

The old alliance, which goes back to the end of World War II, was imposed upon a Polish puppet government by the Red Army, and it has depended on the infiltration of the Polish Army by a controlling foundations of the old Soviet-Polish alliance. The question is whether a new alliance can be formed based not on Soviet domination but on the mutual interests of Poland and the Soviet Union. The indications are that Gomulka wants this to happen, and there are credible reports from Moscow that the Kremlin, despite what must be deep suspicion of Poland, wishes to negotiate the Gomulka.

• • •

Unless the Polish crisis is stabilized at about this point, with Gomulka in power, with Russian military and ideological control dismantled, but with a Polish-Russian alliance renewed, then we may expect to see, I would guess, the Polish crisis become a far-reaching crisis of the European continent. For it will then spread to and involve not merely the rest of Eastern Europe and the Balkans but the two Germanys. There is no telling what would come of such a crisis. For the essential character of the crisis would be that there was no power and authority — be it Soviet, Western or local — to organize Central Europe.

In the interests of peace and of freedom — freedom both from despotism and from anarchy — we must hope that for a time, not forever but for a time, the uprising in the satellite orbit will be stabilized at Titoism. It is in the interests of the Western world that the Soviet Union be helped to accept Titoism in its empire, and that it should not feel that its own security is menaced.

For with Titoism in Eastern Europe, the military threat that the Russian Army will invade Western Europe is radically reduced. The danger of a World War beginning in Europe will be even less than it has been these last two years.

It is not in our own interest that the movement in Eastern Europe should go so far that no accomodation with Russia is possible. For that could lead to bloody deeds in which we would be called upon to intervene, our honor being involved, though we could not intervene, knowing that the risks were incalculable.

Lower Your Age, Because You Really Are Younger

By INEZ ROBB

Hallelujah, science has done it again!

If you shave a year or two — or even five or six — off your age, honey, you aren't kidding anyone, not even yourself. You really ARE younger, and that's a fact.

A wonderful, brainy phylologist at the University of California has just stuck his head out of his laboratory long enough to announce that we Americans in our middle years are physiologically four years younger than our fathers and grandfathers at the dawn of the 20th Century.

We are getting younger all the time. This sweet man also figures that five to 20 years have been added to the active, productive early middle age of all of us. So, even if you have been whittling a decade or a mite more off your chronological age, you haven't been lying. You have just been a prophet without honor in your own back yard.

This scientist has made honest men and women of millions of us, and saved a whole nation from premature old age. And I guess this announcement will silence a critic or two around Chez Robb who have been caustic because I am still 35.

Naturally, I have always looked younger than I am, and I know you do, too. It just takes me a little longer to look that way, that's all. Say, an extra hour a day.

So by the dawn's early light, who looks good? But by dinner time and candlelight, with a little extra eye shadow and a teensy-weensy bit of this and that, honestly, I'm a living doll. Well, all right; anyway, I'm living. At 35, who can ask for anything more?

Let me tell you what takes the heart out of persons like you and me who don't look our age: It's our contemporaries who do!

Is there anything more disturbing than to go to a party, looking like a dead-ringer for your daughter's sister or your son's brother and be greeted by a one-time school friend who has lost his or her waistline and - or hair? If only such squares would get lost along with their hair!

A pox on any boor who can tell another's age at a glance and does!

It's one thing to feel one's age, or even to act it. The unforgivable sin is to look it. That's why the Mesdames Elizabeth Arden, Helena Rubinstein, Marie Earle, and Jacqueline Cochrane were born. Time and tide may wait for no man. But both will know tiley've been in a fight when the above mentioned get through with 'em.

Man is growning younger, says my favorite physiologist, because he is healthier. The body's internal chemical processes do not age as rapidly as in the past since they are freer from infectious diseases and injury. This, in time, can be bigger and better than a Fountain of Youth.

Who's for laughing at Jack Benny now?

WASHINGTON LETTER

Congressional Wives Ban Politics In Social Life

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Congressional wives, most of whom "politick" like mad trying to get their party into the White House and their husbands to Capitol Hill, ban "politicking" among themselves in their busy social life.

They don't have to wait for the returns from the national elections to determine which party will take over the helm of the own very actice Congressional Club.

They've known all along that their next president in January will be a Republican! It's the GOP's turn to head the group for the next two years. The new president, as yet un-named, will succeed Democratic Mrs. Omar Burleson, wife of a congressman from Texas.

"By rotating Republican and Democratic presidents every two years we keep up our bi-partisan policy," Mrs. Burleson explains.

The new board will have four Democrats and three Republicans so that at meetings there will be equal representation. The bi-partisan idea is carried even further, with equal representation not only of both parties, but of all geographical areas, on down through all the club's committees.

Mrs. Burleson points out that with no middle aisle separating Democrats from Republicans in the wives' organization, there are no little cliques, no factions, and "that is why the club is as harmonious as it is."

"We may have politics in our own minds, but we never bring it out into the open when we get together," Mrs. Burleson says.

The woman who will be the club's next president will be selected by a nominating committee composed of five Republicans and four Democrats elected at a special business meeting, Jan. 2. To win, a woman has to have as many friends among the opposite party affiliates as in her own, Mrs. Burleson said, and though rarely is more than one name presented, voting is by secret ballot. Board members are elected at the same time.

"Members can campaign for any one," says Mrs. Burleson, "but it is an unwritten rule you do not seek office, the office seeks you. And, in our club, no one builds up any seniority. A House member's wifes, for instance, has only two years of security since her husband is up for re-election every two years. To be an officer of the Congressional Club one's husband has to be a sitting member of Congress. Senators' wives have six years, but even with that time or even being on the board, or being vice president, doesn't help a woman get upped to the top spot.

Competition Keener For Various Kinds Of Fuel

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—With a smaller market for home heater units this year, competition between the various kinds of fuel grows keener today. So does the race between hot water, hot air and various radiation devices.

Fuel oil and natural gas are fighting harder for first place. Coal is trying for a comeback. Electricity is making an all-out effort to capture more of the heating market.

For the householder the outlook —given normal winter weather— is for adequate supplies in most sections, but with fuel oil prices a little higher and coal prices tending that way because of wage increases at the mines.

Some burner makers report sales of new euipment slowing down this year—blaming the slower pace of home building. Others claim higher sales this year, either through relative price changes among the fuels or through advances in equipment performances. New types that can be switched from heating to cooling as the seasons change are also racking up sales gains in both the home and the apartment house fields.

The Better Heating - Cooling Council reports fluid heating and cooling equipment sales this year will reach 353 million dollars, a gain of 10 per cent over a year ago. Hot water heating lost favor shortly after World War II; but the council says it's coming back now, thanks to new radiators or convectors that both heat and cool.

The race between the fuel types gets closer. Oilmen say they should sell about 10 per cent more fuel oil this year than last—a rate of gain that has been fairly steady since the war.

The American Gas Assn. claims that 22 million American families are warmed by gas in their homes and apartments. A little more than half of these use gas space heaters, floor or wall furnaces.

The National Electrical Manufacturers Assn. reports gains in electrical heater sales. For one thing, it says that 112 rural electrification cooperatives now serve 12,074 electrically heated farm homes.

RADIO-TV REPORT

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—While a lot of people have been looking the other way, bowling has been attracting very large television audiences.

Whether televised bowling matches have influenced the tremendous increase in the national popularity of this sport or TV bowling merely reflects the widespread interest is a sort of chicken - or - egg argument. Certainly they are interrelated.

The television hubbub began a few years ago when a Chicago auto dealer named Peter De Met sponsored a bowling program on a local TV station there. After a short time the show developed the largest audience of any live local program in the Chicago area. If it worked in Chicago, De Met asked himself, why shouldn't it work on a national basis?

He borrowed $300,000 and launched the syndicated, filmed series Championship Bowling three years ago. Its popularity increased rapidly until its audience ratings rivaled those of many widely publicized shows. Spurred by its success, competitive bowling programs such as National Bowling Champions have sprung into being.

What is there about this sport of bowling that makes it so popular?

There is a bowling authority here in New York who has a fascinating theory. When he is not bowling or talking or thinking about bowling, he writes a column for the Associated Press. His name is Hal Boyle.

Boyle's theory of bowling is simply this: It is the perfect civilized way that one can work off his repressed aggressiveness. Those pins at the end of the alley represent the things that bother you most — your job or wife or husband or boss or mother-in-law. It is highly significant, believes Boyle, that the bowling ball is black — which is symbolic of the evil one casts from himself.

TEXAS BRAGS: So often we have heard this old adage c Texas grows them bigger and better, that few people give it much thought, but from the flower in the picture above maybe some persons who are not yet convinced will take heed. This cockscomb measures 39½ inches around and weighs over two and one-half pounds. It was raised by Mrs. T. F. Brice, 1707 Avenue R, she didn't intend to pick it but the wind broke it off Monday night, so no telling how much larger it would have grown had this not happened.

Theme for the program was, "One collects material possessions not only for security, comfort, or vanity, but for beauty as well."

An interesting review of "The Phalman Book of Interior Design", by William Phalman, was given by Mrs. Scott Casey. She offered the following suggestions for home decorating:

1. The style in which you live should be affected by climate, location, income, family and age range, availability of domestic help, standards necessary to your business or social position, and the community in which you live.

2. If you take the best of the past, combine it with the best of the present and face the future with hope and optimism, your home will represent you best.

3. Adjust your living style and your surroundings to demand made on you.

The Cosmorama Club has purchased ten folding tables and forty folding chairs which will be presented to the Women's Club at a future date.

MRS. DOUGLAS G. AYERS

Jacque Harrison Becomes Bride Of Douglas Ayres

Wedding vows were exchanged by Jacque Harrison of Midland and Douglas G. Ayres, Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the Asbury Methodist Church in Midland. The Rev. J. W. Rosenburg, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremonies.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Harrison of Lubbock. Mr. and Mrs. Dee Ayres, Lubbock Highway, are parents of the groom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over white taffeta styled with a fitted bodice and bouffant waltz length skirt. Topping the bodice was a matching jacket of lace with sleeves ending in points over the hands. Her finger-tip length veil of white tulle fell from a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid, accented with stain streamers.

Geneva Stallings of Abernathy served as maid of honor, and Celia Ruth Hanson of Sterling City, and Barbara Timmons of Midland, were the bridesmaids. They wore gowns of red Italian velveteen, fashioned with empire waistlines, full waltz length skirts, and accented with a matching bow at the back of the waistline, which fell to the hemline. They also wore elbow length gloves and red net tiaras. Miss Stallings carried a colonial bouquet of red and white carnations, and the bridesmaids carried colonial bouquets of variegated carnations.

Jim Baker of Odessa was the best man. Johnny Lynn Hedges of Midland, nephew of the bride, and Gordon Calson of Crane and Hodges Flaster were the ushers.

Candle lighters were Dot Hopkins and Mrs. Hodges Flaster.

Beverly Gail Harrison of Lubbock and Mary Ellen Hedges of Midland, nieces of the bride, served as flower girls. They wore dresses identical to the bride's attendants, and carried baskets of white and red carnation petals.

Jane Umberson, organist, played traditional nuptial selections and accompanied Mrs. Thomas D. White of McCamey, and Ann Matlock of Midland, who sang two duets, "Walk Hand in Hand" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The vows were repeated before an archway of greenery and white chrysanthemums. Flanking the archway were baskets of white asters and chrysanthemums, with white cathedral tapers in branched candelabra.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlor. Assisting the couple in the receiving line were their parents and the attendants.

Mrs. Daniel Peterson served cake, while Mrs. Gayle Head presided at the punch bowl. Betty Joy Redwine registered guests.

The bride's table was laid with a white lace cloth, centered with an arrangement of chrysanthemums. The three tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bridal couple, completed the decorations.

For a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M., the bride changed to a tweed suit with boxy jacket and slim skirt. Black accessories and a white orchid corsage completed her ensemble.

They will reside at 309 East Seventh Street in Odessa.

Mrs. Ayres is a graduate of Abernathy High School, and attended Draughon's Business College in Lubbock. She has been employed with Universal CIT Credit corporation in Midland, and is a member of Nu Phi Mu.

Mr. Ayres is a graduate of Snyder High School and is employed with the Magnolia Petroleum Co., in Crane.

DATE DATA.

By BEVERLY BRANDOW

Dear Miss Brandow:

Joan and I were going steady and I thought we both liked the idea.

Then, without any explanation, I received my class pin and class ring through the mail. Aside from her return address on the package, there wasn't a word.

We haven't had any arguments and, to my knowledge, I wasn't in the dog house. What do you think happened?

Phil

She met another boy. He swept her off her feet and she wanted to be free to date him. That's what I think.

She probably didn't relish the ordeal of breaking off and thought mailing your ring and pin solved everything simply without requiring her to make any awkward excuses.

Naturally you are curious, and being a boy, society gives you the right to pursue your curiosity.

Call her if you like and tell her you are sorry she doesn't want to go steady anymore and then ask if it is because of anything you have done.

If you still like her and hope to win her back, you might say that you can still be friends and you would like to date her from time to time when she is free.

Then don't call her for two or maybe three weeks. Then ask for a date. After she has had time to miss you and time to get over her new crush, she may be very glad to hear from you again.

There is the possibility you will find "she is out" when you call for an explanation; in that case, realize that she is embarrassed and does not want to talk to you. Leave her alone but call in two or three weeks as suggested, if you still want her back.

(Don't be left out! Write today for a questionnaire so you, too, can participate in the teen survey being conducted by this column. Address Beverly Brandow in care of this newspaper.)

Aerial Fences

RUIDOSO, N. M. (AP) — The Mescalero Apaches took to the air to build a fence high in the White Mountains. They solved the problem of getting steel fence posts into place by hiring the pilot of a light plance to fly them in and drop them at correct intervals along the strip the fence was to be built.

Stevenson Victory In State Predicted By Local Democrat

(Ed. Note—Lee Watson, Daily News reporter-photographer and an avowed Democrat who was a Scurry County delegate to the state Democratic convention, foresees a victory for his party's slate next Tuesday. Herewith, he submits his line of reasoning which led to the conclusion that Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver will win in the general election. Lest there be those who conclude that Watson's line of reasoning is biased, he confesses that he has another "line" which gives the Republican ticket a chance, and he may get around to presenting it before the general election).

By LEE WATSON

Depression prevention, bungled intentions and Divine intervention, will spell out a surprising decision by Americans when they return the Democratic party to the presidency next Tuesday.

At least those are some of the things which I believe vaguely point to the unqualified prediction that Adlai Stevenson will become the voters choice to reside in the White House for the next four years.

As vote deciders the three things, depression prevention, Divine intervention and bungled intentions, all will probably have about equal weight, but, of course, Divine intervention—the hand of God — could be called the all-powerful force in the coming election.

A move early this year which was maneuvered behind the scenes by Democrats, although they never openly claimed credit for the move, will have a profound influence on voters all over the nation Tuesday.

That was a move designed to prevent another depression which at that point was threatening the nation—a depression which would have been equal to, or worse than the one which started in the reign of the last former Republican president, Herbert Hoover.

Traditionally labor, the laboring man and labor organizations from top to bottom have been Democratic since they were nursed from infancy by that party.

Early this year reports of the stock-pile of new automobiles on dealer showroom floors and in warehouses of manufacturers was estimated at 900,000—then as the summer buying slump developed the stock-pile reports jumped the total to 1,200,000 new cars ready to be sold, but facing no buyers.

That was a serious situation for the dealers, manufacturers and for the whole economy of our nation— whose economic distresses are always reflected throughout the world.

Many dealers were faced with possible bankruptcy—all were faced with having to sell their new cars on a buyer market with buyers then only at dealer-cost prices or below. The dealers were about to lose their shirts.

Health and stability of automobile manufacturers in the past decade in America has been erratic, to say the least, and several of the smaller manufacturers have had to join with their small competitors to retain any symblance of survival. Even the largest ones are only as strong as their retail dealers.

This heavy-stock-piling of unsold automobiles was of necessity reflected in the steel industry which finds its major market in the automobile manufacturers of the nation.

Also bearing heavily on the economic structure of the nation was the wage-cost squeeze which finds the laboring man and his family caught between the jaws of the vice of a wage which is lower than the cost of the necessities of life.

There you have the makings of a real fiasco—cars not selling, steel not selling, and laborers needing a wage increase.

The result-a prolonged steel strike.

If anything was obvious during the "haggling" over terms of a new labor contract between labor and management in the steel strike, it was the apparent disregard for the length of the strike itself. No one was pushing for an end to the strike.

It was even rumored at the time that there was definite collusion between labor and management in the strike—and the unusual amiability which reigned throughout the hearings substantiated the rumors.

Actually, with or without collusion, the strike was working to the benefit of both labor and management and neither failed to recognize that fact.

Idle steel mills meant idle automobile assembly lines, and idle assembly lines meant no more new cars to the already over-stocked dealers.

To the automobile buyer the strike threatened to cause an automobile shortage—one of the grestest price stimulants known in our economy. No price is too high for Americans if they are faced with having to do without something—especially a new car.

This artifical price stimulation made it possible for dealers all over the nation to unload their car stocks without doing so at give-away prices—they were enabled to continue to make money on what they sold although they could not make full markup profits.

The idle steel mills permitted the automobile manufacturers to retool their factories for new models which would offer a new buyer stimulant.

The strike itself was destined from the first to result in a wage increase to the laborer. The wage increase was to be reflected in a price increase in steel, which would be shifted along to a price increase in cars and other steel consuming retail products.

All along the line the profit margins could be maintained, and there is an obvious advantage in net earnings if the same margin of profit can be earned on a greater gross dollar volume of business.

Then to labor, management, manufacturers, new car dealers, and back to the laborers who consume those new cars—along with the rest of the nation—the strike was an artifical economical "crutch" which kept a part of our economy, which had a sprained-ankle, from becoming a stretcher case.

Labor, management, manufacturers, dealers and their employes are likely to remember this maneuver—although they may not realize it—when they go to the polls Tuesday.

BUNGLED INTENTIONS

One of the most commonly heard criticisms of President Eisenhower and his administration is that "his intentions are honorable and good."

That actually is not a criticism in the censure sense when said by either Democrats or Republicans.

Many persons find fault with parts of his program, but few if any find fault with his intentions.

That he realizes—and uses in his quest for a second term.

But his intentions, however honorable, have led to the grestest administration.

He maintains faith in his underlings in the administration—witness the undying faith he has demonstrated in the persons of Richard Nixon, vice president, Ezra Benson, secretary of agriculture, John Foster Dulles, secretary of state, and Oveta Culp Hobby, former secretary of Health and Welfare, all of whom have conducted affairs of their offices in a highly controversial manner, and one of whom has resigned under fire already. The resignation came from Mrs. Hobby, whose own "health" dictated her resignation, ironically just at the time when it was being publicly charged that she had "bungled" administration of the Salk anti-polio vaccine program. And there are few if any subjects which weigh heavier with a housewife and mother, to say nothing of fathers, than the dread subject of polio.

Richard Nixon, vice president, cried on the shoulders of all Americans through the medium of a 30-minute television program to try to wash away with tears the scars of a contributions scandal in which he became involved. He never tried to wash away the scars of having censured the Democratic party almost to the point of public libel by calling them traitors, but he did deny the act. Legend are his other "bunglings."

John Foster Dulles, secretary of state, brought the nation to the "brink of war" just as the nation was alerting itself to the fact that this is an election year. His other acts of office have been wide open to not only criticism in his homeland, but throughout the world.

Some say the Suez crisis is a direct result of his bunglings, while others attribute our loss of face, and loss of influence in the middle East and in Europe directly to his bunglings.

Ezra Benson's farm programs have been given the credit or infamy of causing the present bad situation in which the American farmer finds himself. A situation which is not blessed with artificial injections which pulled the steel, labor and automobile industries through the last of Eisenhower's first four years in office.

Benson presented programs to Congress which congressmen found compatible with their own good tastes—and with the necessities of their constituencies.

But Benson did get the soil bank program into operation—just in time for it to be called an attempt to buy votes for the Eisenhower administration. And if there is one thing an American, especially a farmer, will not sell, it is his vote.

It still can not be said that Eisenhower's intentions were not good in these respects, but his tenacious defense of the men whom he placed in high offices even when it was apparently obvious to almost everyone that they were detrimental to his program and to his administration will be heavy loads for him to carry to the polls Tuesday.

In addition, he has had the additional load of other aspiring Republican politicians all over the country—many of whom were trying to pull themselves up by Eisenhower's boot straps.

DIVINE INTERVENTION

To God all things are possible, and to say that he does not take an interest in the actions of men would for a more learned scholar than me.

A near-fatal heart attack suffered by President Eisenhower, and the almost miraculous recovery were almost assuredly attended by the Divine hand of God. At least the recovery. Because Eisenhower's recovery was certainly asked for in the prayers of all Americans.

Since then the hand of God—and possibly the hands and pitchfork of the Devil have been at work in international affairs which right now see the spilling of blood on several fronts.

A five-year-long drought is almost surely a work of God, because it is a phenomenon of nature the creation of which is related in the first chapter of Genesis in the Holy Bible.

Certainly the drought will have an effect on voters at the polls Tuesday. If all were prosperous the Republican theme song of "Peace and Prosperity" would have a much truer ring to voters who depend on rain on their land for a livlihood.

All of these things summed up do not point with alarm at the administration of Eisenhower, but they are sure to guide many pencils when ballots are marked.

It appears here that Stevenson and Kefauver will be the next tenants of the White House.

Illegal Fund Use Claimed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former Rep. Ernest K. Bramblett (R-Calif was sued yesterday in U.S. court for $71,724 for padding his payrolls during his tenure in the House.

Bramblett was convicted in 1955 of diverting public funds to his own use. He served in Congress from 1945 to 1953.

U.S. Atty. Laughlin Waters said the amount diverted was $35,408. The remainder asked was for damages.

Bramblett was accused specifically of setting up a dummy staff of four clerks and collecting money for their salaries. He was given a one-year suspended sentence and fined $5,000.

Winter To Average Colder This Year

DUBLIN, N.H. (AP)—The winter will average colder than last year and will have "on the whole more snow," says Abe Weatherwise in a forecast in the 1957 Old Farmer's Almanac.

And, says Abe, you can expect a cold, late spring.

The 165-year-old periodical claims it has "the largest paid almanac news stand sale in the world."

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

THE LARGEST CARAVAN in Snyder's history is expected to follow the Tigers to Sweetwater tomorrow night for that all-important game with the Sweetwater Mustangs.

Early ticket sales already indicate that a new record will be set. More than 2,000 reserve seat tickets have already been gobbled up by Tiger fans for the big game, according to a report from the Chamber of Commerce Office where the tickets are on sale.

The CC office announced this morning that only 250 tickets of the original 2,300 remained to be sold here. If there are any tickets left after today, they will be on sale at the school business office in the administration building until about 10 a.m. tomorrow.

In addition to the adult fans who are buying up the reserve seat tickets, there'll be some 1,000 Snyder students, including the Tiger band, who'll be on hand for the game.

Snyder Going To Sweetwater 3,000 Strong

So, it looks like there'll be at least 3,000 Snyderites in Sweetwater tomorrow night for what may be the championship game of District 3-AAA.

No one is happier over this tremendous amount of local interest than the Tiger footballers themselves. Good solid backing never hurt a football team. And it certainly makes a team feel at home away from home when a large delegation of local fans are on hand for the road games.

Traffic, of course, will be tremendously great between here and Sweetwater tomorrow night. Which means that everyone should make every effort to drive within the speed limits to avoid serious accidents.

The safety slogan "slow down and live" certainly should be employed by fans going over to Sweetwater tomorrow.

Fans are asked to keep in mind that the starting time for tomorrow's game is 7:30, thirty minutes earlier than the usual starting time. The fans, too, are asked to allow plenty of time to drive to Sweetwater.

It's only 37 miles to Sweetwater but you should allow at least 1:30 hours to make the jaunt because of the heavy traffic. Then, too, it will take considerable time to get out to the stadium upon arrival in Sweetwater.

Fans wanting to get into the spirit of things for the Sweetwater game are invited to be on hand for the bon-dire and pep rally tonight at 7. This ceremony will be held just west of the barn in Towle Memorial Park.

Coaches Keeping Tigers On Spot

The 16 coaches on the United Press rating board are keeping the Tigers on the spot. The UP poll continues to pin-point the Tigers as the top team in Triple-A with 12 of the coaches rating them first and the other four placing them second.

Nederland and Cleburne, who are 2-3 in the poll, each collected two first place votes.

Kilgore, who was named as the No. 1 team by a metropolitan newspaper this week, is fourth in the UP ratings.

Rounding out the Top 10 are Phillips, 5th; Bryan, 6th; Garland, 7th; Littlefield, 8th; San Antonio Edison, 9th; and Levelland, 10th.

These coaches believe like a lot of other fans — they didn't see Dumas beat Levelland so they don't believe it. At least that's the way it seems.

Despite Dumas' victory over Levelland last week, Levelland continues to rank above Dumas in the UP poll. Dumas, however, is only one notch back in 11th place.

Coaches Say Mustangs Will Win Cage Title

DALLAS (AP)—SMU was picked to win the Southwest Conference basketball championship by four league coaches yesterday.

The Mustangs have won two straight.

Coaches Bill Henderson, Baylor; Glen Rose, Arkansas; Don Suman, Rice, and Ken Loeffler, Texas A&M, said Rice was the team most apt to knock the Mustangs off, if anyone does.

The coaches were here for the basketball clinic of the National Assn. of College Commissioners.

SMU Coach Doc Hayes has declared Rice ought to be ranked above the Mustangs.

Riojas Risks Title

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Ray Riojas of Fort Worth will put his state lightweight championship on the line Nov. 13 against Jacky Blair of Dallas. Blair was formerly the state champion but lost the title to Cesar Saavedra in 1954.

Ed Price Quits As UT Coach

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Ed Price, who resigned as coach under fire of the alumni, set out today to pick up the pieces of what could be the worst football season in University of Texas history.

Price brought an end to a turbulent period, during which he was thrice hanged in effigy, when he quit with a year to go on his $12,500 contract but with the provision that he would finish the current season.

With all officials stressing that there was no pressure brought from university sources, Price declared yesterday that he was resigning because "it is unfair to the team for us to have a house divided."

Saturday the Board of Regents will meet here and delegate to the athletic council the duty of selecting another coach and athletic director. Athletic Director D. X. Bible will retire to "modified service" in September, 1957. Tom Sealy, chairman of the board, said it was quite likely that one man would be obtained to fill both positions.

While no official has mentioned a likely successor to Price, the names of Red Sanders, coach of UCLA; Gomer Jones, line coach of Oklahoma; and Jack Mitchell, coach of Arkansas, were being talked among others by prominent ex-students.

Price had a good overall record for the six years he has been coach but it was compiled the first three seasons during which he won one championship and tied for one. In 1954, his team lost 5, tied 1 and won 4 after being named the heaviest favorite in conference history. Disciplinary trouble figured in the poor season.

"No official pressure has been placed upon me to resign, and I appreciate that, too," Price said. "When dissatisfaction and bitterness develop because of a losing season, no one profits. These boys are entitled to the full support of the alumni. I don't want to stand in the way of that undivided support."

Fishing Derby Is Planned In Oklahoma

BROKEN BOW, Okla. (AP)—There may be a fortune in the streams of southeastern Oklahoma in 1957 if plans for a fishing derby go through.

Jewel Callaham, Broken Bow, area chairman for the semi-centennial next year, said Lloyds of London has agreed to tag insured fish for $10,000 each, with that amount going to the fisherman lucky enough to land one of them.

Plans call for the local communities taking part in the fishing derby and possibly the Fish Commission to pay the premiums of $2,000 each.

TOUGHER THAN FACING NOTRE DAME—Jerry Tubbs, Oklahoma's football center who is an all-America prospect, is faced with a tougher assignment than last week's game against Notre Dame. He is judge in the OU yearbook beauty queen contest at the Norman, Okla., school. Above, he remains adamant while the Sooner beauties bid for his favor. The girls are unidentified. (AP Wirephoto).

Ponies Lead 6-4 In Series

Snyder and Sweetwater High Schools will be meeting for the 11th time when they clash Friday night at Sweetwater in perhaps the most important game of the 1956 District 3-AAA race.

Sweetwater owns the edge in the series thus far, winning 6 games of the previous 10 to 4 for the Bengals.

The Tigers have won two of the last three games with the Mustangs but before that the Sweetwater team had captured 5 out of 7 from the Black and Golders.

The series began in 1925 with Sweetwater winning a 30-0 decision. The Tigers evened the series in 1927 with a 6-0 win (the two teams didn't meet in '26).

The next two games were also split, Sweetwater winning in 1928 by 21-12 with the Tigers rebounding in 1929 to triumph by 26-7. The latter is the most decisive win a Tiger team has recorded over Sweetwater.

Sweetwater took 3-2 lead in the series in 1931 with a 32-0 victory and the Mustangs have led the series since that time.

The Mustangs made it 4-2 in 19-37 with a smashing 49-0 victory.

The two rivals then didn't meet each other again until 1952 when they became members of the same conference — District 1-AAA. Sweetwater built its series lead to 5-2 by winning the '52 encounter, 47-7.

The next three games saw the Tigers gain on the Mustangs, the Black and Gold winning 13-0 in 1953 and 26-14 last season — '55. Sweetwater took the 54 tussle by a conversion point, 13-12.

The Tigers, meanwhile, held their last full scale workout yesterday before the Mustang tilt. Coach John Conley and his staff will send the Tigers through a light drill today at which time the Bengals will brush up on their offensive and defensive assignments for the all-important game tomorrow night.

The Tiger squad will be on hand for the bon-fire and pep rally tonight in Towle Memorial Park.

Following are the scores of all Tiger-Mustang games played to date:

1925 — Snyder 0, Sweetwater 30.
1927 — Snyder 6, Sweetwater 0.
1928 — Snyder 12, Sweetwater 21.
1929 — Snyder 26, Sweetwater 7.
1931 — Snyder 0, Sweetwater 32.
1937 — Snyder 0, Sweetwater 49.
1952 — Snyder 7, Sweetwater 47.
1953 — Snyder 13, Sweetwater 0.
1954 — Snyder 12, Sweetwater 13.
1955 — Snyder 26, Sweetwater 14.

It's Official Now: Lopez Inks Pact

CHICAGO (AP)—Al Lopez formally signed a one-year contract at a reported $40,000 yesterday to manage the Chicago White Sox and immediately named three-fourths of his coaching staff.

Lopez retained first base coach Don Dutteridge and pitching coach Ray Berres from the Marty Marion regime and said he'll bring with him Tony Cuccinello from the Cleveland Indians.

Lopez said a fourth coach would be named at a later date.

Coach Reports Conflict In Ag-Hog Camps

By The Associated Press

Coaches Bear Bryant of Texas A&M and Jack Mitchell of Arkansas have given conflicting opinions on what the Razorbacks will do Saturday in their attempt to derail the Aggie Express.

Bryant said, "I think Arkansas will be the best team we've played this season, and we'll have to play our best game yet."

"I don't think they'll play well Saturday," Mitchell said. "We even had to run extra laps today because they weren't hustling."

The Aggies have whipped Baylor and TCU and are favored for the Southwest Conference championship.

The Porkers, out of the running with two league losses, have improved tremendously. Last year they tied A&M.

The A&M starting team of 12 players who have played the most scrimmaged briefly against Arkansas' offense and defense Wednesday. Bryant sent other members of the squad through another scrimmage and said he thought they looked better on defense. He said halfback Luther Hall and fullback George Gillar especially showed improvement.

Mitchell, who has indicated his squad is overconfident because of its 14-0 victory over Mississippi last week, worked the Razorbacks on pass offense, backfield timing and team offense and defense.

Chuck Curtis returned to TCU practice Thursday and Coach Abe Martin said if no complications from a kidney injury arise, he probably will be able to play Saturday.

Curtis watched Wednesday's drill in street clothes. He bruised a kidney in practice Tuesday.

Baylor, which meets TCU Saturday, ran through a long scrimmage aimed at stopping Horned Frog plays. The Bears also practiced breaking backs loose in an offensive scrimmage.

Coaches said all the backs seemed to be running unusually hard.

Both clubs have lost to A&M and the loser of Saturday's battle will drop from contention.

SMU meets Texas Saturday. The Mustangs emphasized running and passing and worked on defensive patterns.

The Ponies also heard scout McAdoo Keaton say he expected the Longhorns to throw more passes than usual.

The oft-beaten Longhorns ran through an offensive and defensive scrimmage Wednesday. Coach Ed Price announced his resignation right in the middle of the scrimmage, but will continue as coach until after the season is over.

Rice's Owls were in good physical condition as they completed their heavy work in preparation for Utah. The Owls will be 20-point favorites.

Tiger-Pony Tilt Is State Feature

By The Associated Press

District championships go on the line from Panhandle to Gulf this weekend in Texas schoolboy football.

The list of 31 undefeated, untied teams is due for whacking with at least two to fall.

Abilene takes a rest after setting a new record for the upper classes with 30 straight victories.

Deer Park, with the top winning streak—36 triumphs and one tie in 37 games—will try to nail down its district championship in Class AA. The Deer play LaPorte.

Stamford, unbeaten, untied defending champion of Class AA, will be out to extend a winning string of 25. The Bulldogs play Hamlin. If Stamford wins this one—it is favored—the Bulldogs will set the stage for the district championship showdown next week with Seymour.

The biggest games match undefeated, untied teams. Grapevine will be entertaining Lewisville in the first crucial clash in Dist. 10 of AA. West Columbia will be at Sweeny in Dist. 26.

Class A has a oust of unbeaten teams with Three Rivers at Yorktown in Dist. 29. Yorktown has a tie on its record but like Three Rivers and George West is undefeated and untied in conference play.

Of five teams in AAAA with undefeated, untied records—Abilene, San Angelo, Amarillo Palo Duro, Dallas Highland Park and Wichita Falls—only San Angelo would appear in danger. San Angelo meets Midland in an important Dist. 2 clash—setting up a team for Abilene to worry about in the conference race.

The feature of AAA has Snyder playing at Sweetwater. This appears to be the only threat to Snyder, generally rated No. 1 in the class, in its district race.

Hermleigh Meets Loraine In Homecoming Tilt Tomorrow

The Hermleigh Cardinals, sporting a perfect mark in District 6-B play, will host Loraine tomorrow night in their annual Homecoming game.

It will be the third District 6-B game for the Cards, the Redbirds having won their first two, 28-21 over Bronte and 33-0 over Robert Lee.

The overall Hermleigh season record shows six wins and two defeats, both losses being to outside opposition.

The Card-Loraine football contest will be the feature attraction ceremonies.

Homecoming activity gets underway tomorrow afternoon at 2 with a cake and coffee session in the high school cafeteria. Then the evening meal, at $1 per plate, will be served between 4:30 and 7 p.m.

Starting time for the football game will be 7:30. A Homecoming queen and romeo will be crowned at halftime of the game.

Tomorrow's game is the next to last game on the Cardinal regular season schedule. The Cards wind up the season next week against Trent at Trent. By winning both games, the Cardinals will clinch the District 6-B crown.

Hobbs Team To Jayton; Ira, Gail At Home

Loop leading Hobbs goes out of the district this week to meet Jayton at Jayton Friday night.

Hobbs took command of the District 9-B (Six-Man) football race last week with a 27-8 win over hitherto unbeaten Ira. Hobbs now is the only unbeaten 9-B team in district play, the Panthers having chalked up three loop wins in as many starts.

The Panthers, in fact, have already clinched at least a tie for the 9-B title. Hobbs closes out its regular season next week at Blackwell.

Ira and Gail, the other two Snyder area Six-Man teams, will be at home tomorrow for conference games.

Ira will host Blackwell while Gail will entertain Klondike. Gail is also unbeaten in District 7-B play, the Coyotes having won its first three conference games.

By winning tomorrow night, Gail will enter the final two weeks of play in a heated race for the district title with Loop and Dawson. The Coyotes meet these two contenders in their final regular season games.

Season records for the area teams are as follows:

HOBBS (7-1)
46	Loop	13
20	Paint Creek	49
36	Welnert	28
59	Loop	21
63	Garden City	33

IT'S IN THEIR BLOOD

Seething Middle East Has History Of Long Struggle

By The Associated Press

In Jerusalem, one night during World War II, a woman said:

"Nobody but a Jew can realize how we feel about this land. It is beyond thought, deeper than reason, in our very blood."

Her voice shook with emotion.

Two days later, the later Emir Abdullah, King of Jordan, said in an interview, "We will resist a Jewish state with all our strength. This land is ours. We shall keep it."

His luminois dark eyes flashed fire.

In these two statements lies 40 years of tragedy.

They express fierce emotions embracing religion, politics, economics, culture and a love for the land that is holy to both the Jews and Arabs. "If I forget there, O Jerusalem, let my right hand forget its cunning."

They explain, in part, why this region has run wet with the blood of many people from many nations.

They are the rock on which every effort to find a solution to the "Palestine problem" has shattered.

And they lie behind the fact that, today, real war has come to the Sinai Peninsula and the Suez Canal zone.

Israel is a gentle and lovely land. An incredible green flows between the grey stones of the hills. Olive trees and lemon groves rustle in the wind. It has been made fruitful by human hands.

Much of the land around it is tawny desert. Even that has been fought over for years.

Here, in brief, is the background story. It does not include the 2,000 years of Jewish exile, hope and striving.

It begins in 1961. Britain, at war with Turkey, solicited the help of the Arabs, who were subjects of the Sultan. In these negotiations, the Arabs said, they were offered independence after the war.

Two years later, and independently of these actions, the British foreign secretary, Lord Balfour, wrote a letter to Lord Rothschild which contained this passage:

"His Majesty's government view with favor the establishment in Palestine of a national home for the Jewish people and will use their best endeavors to facilitate the achievement of this object, it being clearly understood that nothing shall be done which may prejudice the civil and religious rights of the existing non-Jewish communities in Palestine or the rights and political status enjoyed by the Jews in any other country."

This became known as the "Balfour declaration," and in Jewish eyes, the foundation of Britain's responsibility to them.

World War I ended. The area became a mandate of the League of Nations with Britain administrating.

Now began the efforts to find a solution to the "Palestine problem."

They took many forms—a proposed constitution, a legislative council with both Jewish and Arabic members, etc. All were abortive.

Far worse, total disagreement developed over boundaries. The Arabs insisted that, to them, "Palestine" was merely one district of what they called "Syria." Citing the World War I negotiations, they fiercely disputed any British suggestion to create a Jewish national state there.

Blood soon flowed.

Between 1936 and 1938, Arab nations went all-out to drive the British from Palestine.

In 1937, a British royal commission reported after an exhaustive study that Arab-Jewish differences were "irreconcilable," and recommended partitioning Palestine—but that insoluble matter of boundaries remained. Where do you partition to satisfy both peoples?

Meanwhile, Jewish immigration was increasing. By 1940, the census showed the population of Palestine to be 1,529,559 of whom 456,743 were Jews.

During World War II Britain limited immigration. Riots broke out when the five-year period London specified came to an end.

With peace came the drive for a Jewish state, an independent nation with all the prerequisites.

Its chief proponents were the Zionists and two underground fighting arms. Certain other Jewish organizations were opposed. Dr. Albert Einstein testified in 1946: "I have never been for a political state. I think that is an imitation of the weaknesses of Europe."

A year later, the United Nations voted for partition.

Then the summer of 1948. In the white-walled Museum of Art at Tel Aviv, the words were pronounced "We hereby proclaim the establishment of the Jewish state in Palestine to be called Israel."

In a matter of hours, President Truman extended American recognition to the new state.

War with the Arabs erupted immediately. They were beaten.

But at the battle of Faluja, an Egyptian officer — who had previously resigned from the army and then volunteered for combat — led several attacks, and was wounded several times. His name was Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Out of this war came the terrible problem of the displaced persons — Palestinian Arabs who became refugees. They numbered 922,000 in a United Nations count last June.

They live in miserable camps in various Arab countries. They get little or no help from Arab governments. They are wards of the United Nations, fed and clothed by the organization. Over 200,000 of them are children born in the camps.

The scene now shifts to Egypt, 1952.

That summer a few Egyptian officers revolted and forced corpulent King Farouk to leave his throne. One was Lt. Col. Nasser.

He soon became head of the government. In 1954 he told this correspondent he would "never rest until Israel aggression is ended." In that same year Nasser got the agreement by which Britain pulled her 83,000-man garrison out of the Suez Canal zone.

Meanwhile, border incidents, raids, killings, ambushes and general bloodshed took the lives of men, women and children in the Gaza Strip and on the Jordan border.

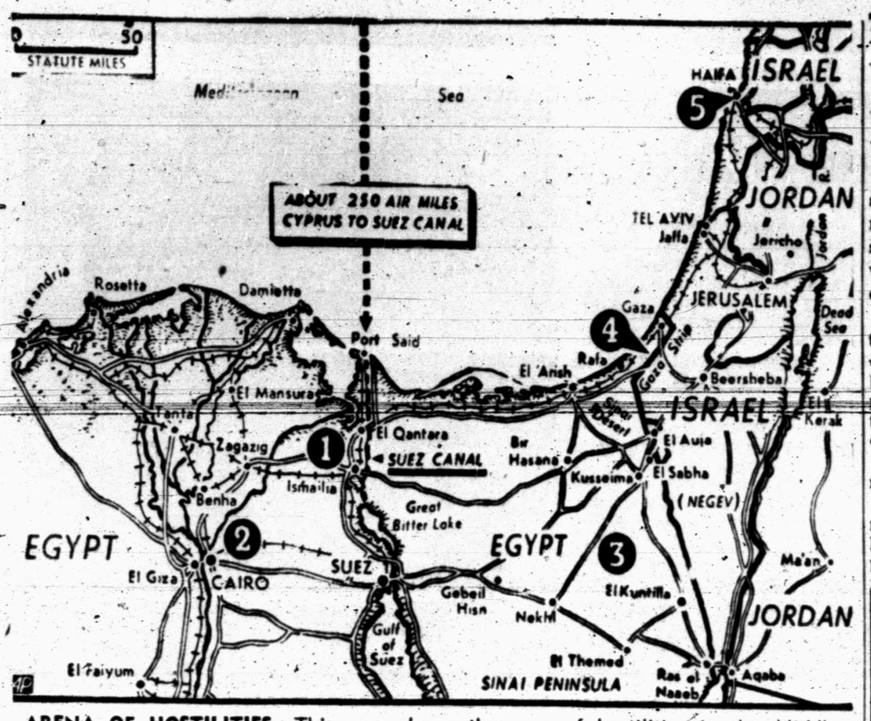

Then, this year, the United States and Britain withdrew an offer to help Egypt finance the long-planned "high dam" at Aswan, on the upper reaches of the Nile.

There had been reports, later denied by the Soviets, that Nasser was playing off the West against the Russians. The U. S. note withdrawing the offer said, however, that Washington doubted Egypt's economy could provide the rest of the necessary money, and that other "riparian" states — those with water rights on the Nile — had not consented to the dam.

Nasser's answer — having said "May they choke on their fury"—was to seize the Suez Canal, announcing its nationalization.

Israeli shipping had been barred from the canal earlier. Now, the big-jawed, heavy-shouldered colonel had the power to close it to anybody, if he chose.

Israel, Britain and France have reacted.

ARENA OF HOSTILITIES—This map shows the area of hostilities in the Middle East. The Suez Canal zone (1) was the target of British-French attack, with Cairo (2) reporting bombs there. Israeli-Egyptian fighting continued in the Sinai peninsula (3) and in Gaza strip area (4). Off Haifa (5) Israel announced the capture of an Egyptian frigate.

Halloween Holdup

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Two Halloween-minded gunmen, wearing false black beards and clown makeup, held up a supermarket last night and escaped with an undetermined amount of cash, police reported.

Water Bond Meet Opens

AUSTIN (AP) — The Water Resources Committee today was told municipal bond dealers want to see the proposed 100 million dollar water bond issue carry "the lowest possible interest rate."

W. E. Tinsley of Austin, executive director of the Municipal Advisory Council, said, "The state's bond dealers want to see the proposed financial assistance constitutional amendment dressed up to carry the lowest interest rate."

The committee opened a 2-day meeting here today.

The financial assistance amendment, if passed by the next Legislature and approved by the people, would allow the proceeds to be used for water conservation and development.

Others were expected to appear before the committee today to discuss a proposed anti-pollution bill, a resolution asking the Legislature to appropriate 10 million dollars to buy water conservation space in federal-built reservoirs, and a master plan hearing bill.

Woman Jumps Six Floors, Feet Hurt

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Police said a 65-year-old woman jumped from her sixth floor hotel room, landed feet first on a garage roof three stories below and told officers: "My feet hurt." Mrs. Matt B. Walker was taken to Kaiser Foundation Hospital where her only apparent injuries were bruises on the soles of her feet.

Fall Is Time For Hearty Dish, Old Fashioned Cake

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

One of the delights of our Canadian childhood was to watch our mother baking a jelly roll. Lolling in a chair at one side of the large kitchen table, chin cupped in palms, we watched in fascinated silence while she smoothed sugar over a freshly laundered tea towel.

After lifting the big flat pan from the oven, she turned out the cake over the sugar and spread it with gleaming red jelly. With her deft right hand she guided the cake, and and with her left hand she lifted high the snowy towel as she rolled the dessert to a finish. It was all done, with the sureness of a practiced cook, in a matter of seconds. But to our young and wondering eyes it was a miracle.

Wrapped in its towel, the cake was left sitting until a precise moment—four o'clock tea—when it was gently removed, sliced, served and eaten blissfully.

We were startled the other day when, after describing this jelly roll rite, a friend asked us what sort of jelly our mother used. It never occurred to us that anything but homemade red currant jelly could go into a "real" jelly roll.

Modern sponge-cake rolls do not always use jelly and despite nostalgic memories, we admit that some of the present-day fillings are delectable. One of our own is a custardy concoction with crushed pineapple. Recently, to please both children and older guests, we made this a two-way filling. Maraschino cherries were folded into one half of the pineapple custard and spread over one half of the cake; rum flavoring went into the other half of the filling and it in turn was spread over the remaining half of the cake. Then the sponge layer was rolled as usual. When we served the roll, the youngsters were happy with the cherry part and a few of our older guests asked for a slice from each end!

BUTTER-SPONGE CAKE ROLL

Ingredients: 1 cup sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 3 large eggs, vanilla, 1 cup sugar, 1-3 cup water, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, confectioners' sugar, Two-way Filling, ½ cup heavy cream.

Method: Grease bottom of jelly roll pan (15½ by 10½ by 1 inch), line bottom with waxed paper; butter paper. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Beat eggs and one teaspoon vanilla with rotary beater (hand or electric) until they begin to get thick and a pale yellow color. Add sugar, a couple of tablespoons at a time; beat just until combined after each addition. Meanwhile heat water and butter until butter melts. Add sifted dry ingredients and hot water mixture at one time; beat gently just until smooth. Turn into prepared pan. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven just until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean—about 15 minutes. Loosen cake from sides of pan with spatula. Invert onto a tea towel spread with confectioners' sugar. Quickly remove paper with the help of a spatula. Starting with long end, roll cake and towel together so inside of cake is against outside of towel. Place on cake racks to cool. Unroll and spread with Two-way filling; roll up again with towel just on outside. Refrigerate until serving time. Spread or garnish outside of roll with whipped cream (sweetened to taste with confectioners' sugar and flavored with vanilla) before serving. Makes 8 servings.

TWO-WAY FILLING

Ingredients: 1 tablespoon cornstarch, ½ cup milk, 2 egg yolks, 1 can (9 ounces) crushed pineapple, 1-3 cup drained sliced maraschino cherries, rum flavoring.

Method: Put cornstarch in top of double boiler; stir until smooth with a couple of tablespoons of the milk. Add remaining ½ cup milk and egg yolks; beat just until combined. Stir in undrained crushed pineapple. Place over simmering water; cook and stir constantly until thickened—10 minutes or longer. Place over cold or ice water and stir occasionally until cool. Stir the sliced cherries into one-half of the filling and spread over one-half of the sponge cake. Stir rum flavoring to taste into other half of the filling and spreadover remaining half of the cake. Roll cake and filling up as directed in Butter-Sponge Cake Roll recipe.

That time-tested combination, sauerkraut and apples, is one that's good to remember for a hearty cool-weather supper. Our favorite quick way of preparing the sauerkraut and apples is to put them in a big skillet with onion and brown sugar. If you use an attractive-looking skillet, you can bring it right to the table.

Choose apples that do not easily "fall apart" during cooking if you want to serve firm apple slices with the sauerkraut. If you don't mind the apples getting "mushy," choose such a variety as McIntosh. In a way having the apples fall apart is all to the good because the good fruit flavor reaches every strand of the cabbage!

Pork chops and pork roast are fine with the sauerkraut and apple team. But equally delicious, is broiled ham with currant jelly.

SKILLET-KRAUT AND APPLES

Ingredients: 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 medium-sized onion (finely chopped), 3 tablespoons light or dark brown sugar, 1 can (1-pound) sauerkraut, salt and pepper, 2 medium-sized red unpeeled apples (cored and cut in eighths).

Method: Melt butter in a medium-sized skillet (about 10 inches) over moderately low heat. Add onion and cook, stirring often, until wilted and yellowed (or until lightly browned if you prefer). Mix in brown sugar and sauerkraut; add salt and pepper to taste. Bury apple slices in sauerkraut. Cover and cook slowly, stirring a few times, until apples are tender — about 10 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Broiled Ham With Currant Jelly

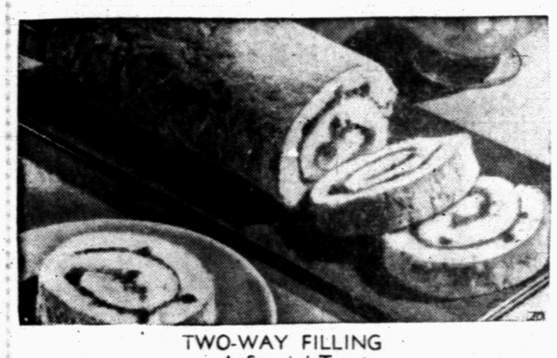

Whether you use a slice of cook-before-eating or a slice of fully-cooked ham for broiling, it's a good idea to notch the fat around the outside of the meat in a flumber of places to keep the slice from curling. Use a knife or your kitchen scissors for this slashing.

A cook-before-eating slice of ham that is about ¾-inch thick will need to be placed on your broiler rack so that the top of the meat is several inches below the heat unit. The ham will need about 6 minutes broiling on each side. A ready-to-eat ham slice that is the same thickness may be arranged the same way under the broiler, but it will need only about 3 minutes on each side. These timings are approximate and for use in broilers that have been preheated about 10 minutes.

For a delightful sauce for the ham, melt currant jelly with a little butter and pour over the broiled ham slice. For a ¾-inch thick ham steak, you can use 1-3 cup currant jelly and 1 or 2 tablespoons of butter; if you like a lot of sauce, just double these amounts.

Second guessers and Monday morning quarterbacks always have brilliant hindsight. How well they pinpoint the booboos the coach made last week!

So it is with the trial in a law suit: After the jury brings in the verdict people can tell you how your lawyer should have conducted the trial.

But as with football, it's somewhat harder to look forward into the swirl of maneuvers and predict in advance how a particular move will make out. The future holds many surprises.

Our system of justice rests upon the "adversary" theory of a trial where both sides fight for real stakes in dead earnest.

Our U. S. Supreme Court, for example, will not give an "advisory" opinion to anybody — neither the President or Congress — as to whether a proposed law would be constitutional. The court decides that point only in a real law suit with real people fighting for real stakes.

Our courts have an aversion to deciding a point of fact or law where each side does not present its views on the merits with skill, vigor, and good faith. They know how plausible one side can sound until the adversary has his inning.

So, during a trial the pressure is on. Each side tries to present the facts favorable to its cause and prevent the other side from presenting matters which are not properly admissible under the rules of evidence.

To make matters worse, unless your lawyer acts at once, say, when the other side offers a piece of testimony, he loses the right to get the court to stricke it from the record at a later time.

Fully to protect you, your lawyer must plan your case so that if things go against you, he can take your case on the record" to a higher court if he feels that the trial court has erred. But alas, often he cannot claim the error unless he made a point of it at the proper instant during the trial.

If you ever sat on a jury, you may have wondered why some lawyer always objected to every little thing. He ought to have known, you think, that he was making the jury angry with him.

Well, this is why: If he had not, for example, moved to quash the indictment," or objected to certain evidence, the higher court might not let him raise the point on appeal.

So even if he antagonized everybody in the court, the lawyer by the rules of our system of justice, still had the duty of "protecting the record" so that if need be he could also protect his client in the higher courts.

At every stage of a lawsuit, your lawyer must remember to make points against the possible day that a panel of thoughtful appelate justices will sit down calmly to review what was done in the excitement of a trial.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Panty Raid In Montana

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Halloween fun turned into a panty raid at Montana University last night. The women apparently started it.

Before the hourlong battle of the sexes ended the school president, Carl McFarland, had been hanged in effigy, a car had been left atop a pile of gravel and several girls were thrown into showers at Craig Hall, men's dormitory.

An eyewitness said it all started when women students from the residence halls decided to run through Craig Hall and other men's dormitories.

The men then decided to run through the women's residence halls. Some of them turned it into a panty raid, emerging from the buildings waving their trophies.

Mrs. Hobby, Shivers, Gore Air Views In State Campaign

By WHITEY SAWYER
The Associated Press

Oveta Culp Hobby and Gov. Shivers said Wednesday the nation should be thankful Eisenhower is President during the Middle East crisis, but Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) charged that the chief executive had failed the nation and the free world in the matter.

Gore, speaking at Austin, said "When President Eisenhower admits as he did tonight on television that he didn't even know what was going on, it is time for America to rise up and provide leadership that does know."

"It is a sobering and sad thing to realize we are losing our leadership of the free world under Eisenhower," Gore told a Democratic fund-raising rally.

He said the President told the nation a few days ago there was good news from the Middle East. "Either he didn't know or he chose to misinform. Either is bad and neither is acceptable," Gore said.

Shivers said at an Eisenhower rally in San Antonio that the nation should be grateful that "Dwight Eisenhower is President —not Adlai Stevenson."

The governor called Stevenson an "irresponsible politician" and said he was "now trying to tell us that he knew what was going to happen in the Middle East—that he warned the Eisenhower administration there was bound to be trouble over there and they paid no attention to him.

"He says this was his view and his warning a year ago. Yet, within the last few weeks, this same irresponsible candidate—this same Adlai Stevenson—stood before the American Legion convention in Los Angeles and held out to these battle-scarred veterans and to the mothers and fathers of America the hope that he would abolish the draft and ban the H-bomb tests," Shivers said.

Mrs. Hobby, former secretary of health, education and welfare, said the Middle East crisis makes re-election of Eisenhower even more important because of his background and experience.

She spoke in a Houston television address sponsored by the Democrats for Eisenhower.

An array of top Democratic leaders will be in Wichita Falls Thursday night for a $10-a-plate dinner. Gore will be the main speaker. Others present will be Senate Majority Leader Johnson, House Speaker Rayburn, State Democratic Chairman Jim Lindsey, National Committeeman Byron Skelton and half a dozen congressmen.

Shivers speaks at Lubbock and Abilene Thursday.

Former Gov. Coke Stevenson was to speak over Austin radio stations Thursday, urging re-election of Eisenhower.

State Eisenhower-Nixon campaign manager Paul Ledrick said at Fort Worth, "A major shift of sentiment toward President Eisenhower has been reported." He said a detailed county-by-county estimate of political sentiment in Texas would be ready within a few days.

Santa Monica Sued Following Landslide

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Four women who rode a landslide down Santa Monica's Pacific Palisades Aug. 26 are suing the city for a total of $55,000, contending it was the city's land which slid.

Mrs. Maude Hankerson, 64, Mrs. Lucille Glenn, 48, Mrs. Eugenie Baughman, 72, and Mrs. Norah K. Hayward, 63, said in their suit that they were injured when a portion of the Palisades Park broke away, dropping them—and nearly 12,000 tons of earth—on the Pacific Coast Highway.

CLASSMATES HAVE THEM TOO—Little polio victim, Jimmy Mason, doesn't feel any different than his classmates at a school for crippled children in Phoenix, Ariz., anymore. Forced to wear a crash-type helmet for protection against falls, his classmates envied the youngster. So Luke Air Force Base personnel remedied the situation by supplying all his classmates with helmets and activated an honorary jet squadron at the school. Here Capt. Hugh Matheson, left, and Capt. Robert B. Parker of the field pose with young Jimmy and his helmet.

Adlai Blasts Mid East Policy, Ike Sets Philadelphia Speech

By The Associated Press

President Eisenhower travels to Philadelphia tonight for a campaign speech dealing with the Middle East crisis, which Adlai E. Stevenson called a "shattering diplomatic disaster" for the United States.

Meantime, Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, pressed for free time on nationwide radio and television to reply to Eisenhower's talk last night. Network replies to Stevenson's demand were expected during the day.

In last night's speech—described by the White House as "nonpolitical"—Eisenhower pledged "no United States involvement" in the conflict putting Britain, France and Israel on one hand, and Egypt on the other.

Shortly before Eisenhower went on the air from his White House office, Stevenson announced in New York that he had sent the President a telegram expressing hope that "you will not commit us to any precipitate military action" in the Middle East.

Stevenson said Eisenhower administration policies have "brought the whole world to the brink of another war."

With the political campaign in its final days, Stevenson bore down hard on the Middle East crisis as he sought to shatter Republican peace claims.

He canceled scheduled appearances in upstate New York today to fly to New York City in his quest for free radio-TV time to "speak at length" on what he termed "the bankruptcy of the Eisenhower-Dulles foreign policies."

Eisenhower has curtailed his campaigning activities because of the Middle East situation, but aides said he decided to go ahead with his scheduled Philadelphia speech because it will take him away from Washington for only a few hours.

Hagerty said Eisenhower's speech will be on the Middle East. Some of the President's lieutenants said they expect Eisenhower to slam back at Stevenson's contention that the GOP administration "bears heavy responsibility" for the way things have gone in the Israeli-Egyptian-Suez Canal matter.

The speech will be telecast and broadcast by NBC at 9:30 p.m. EST.

Vice President Nixon was scheduled to make a series of stops in Pennsylvania today.

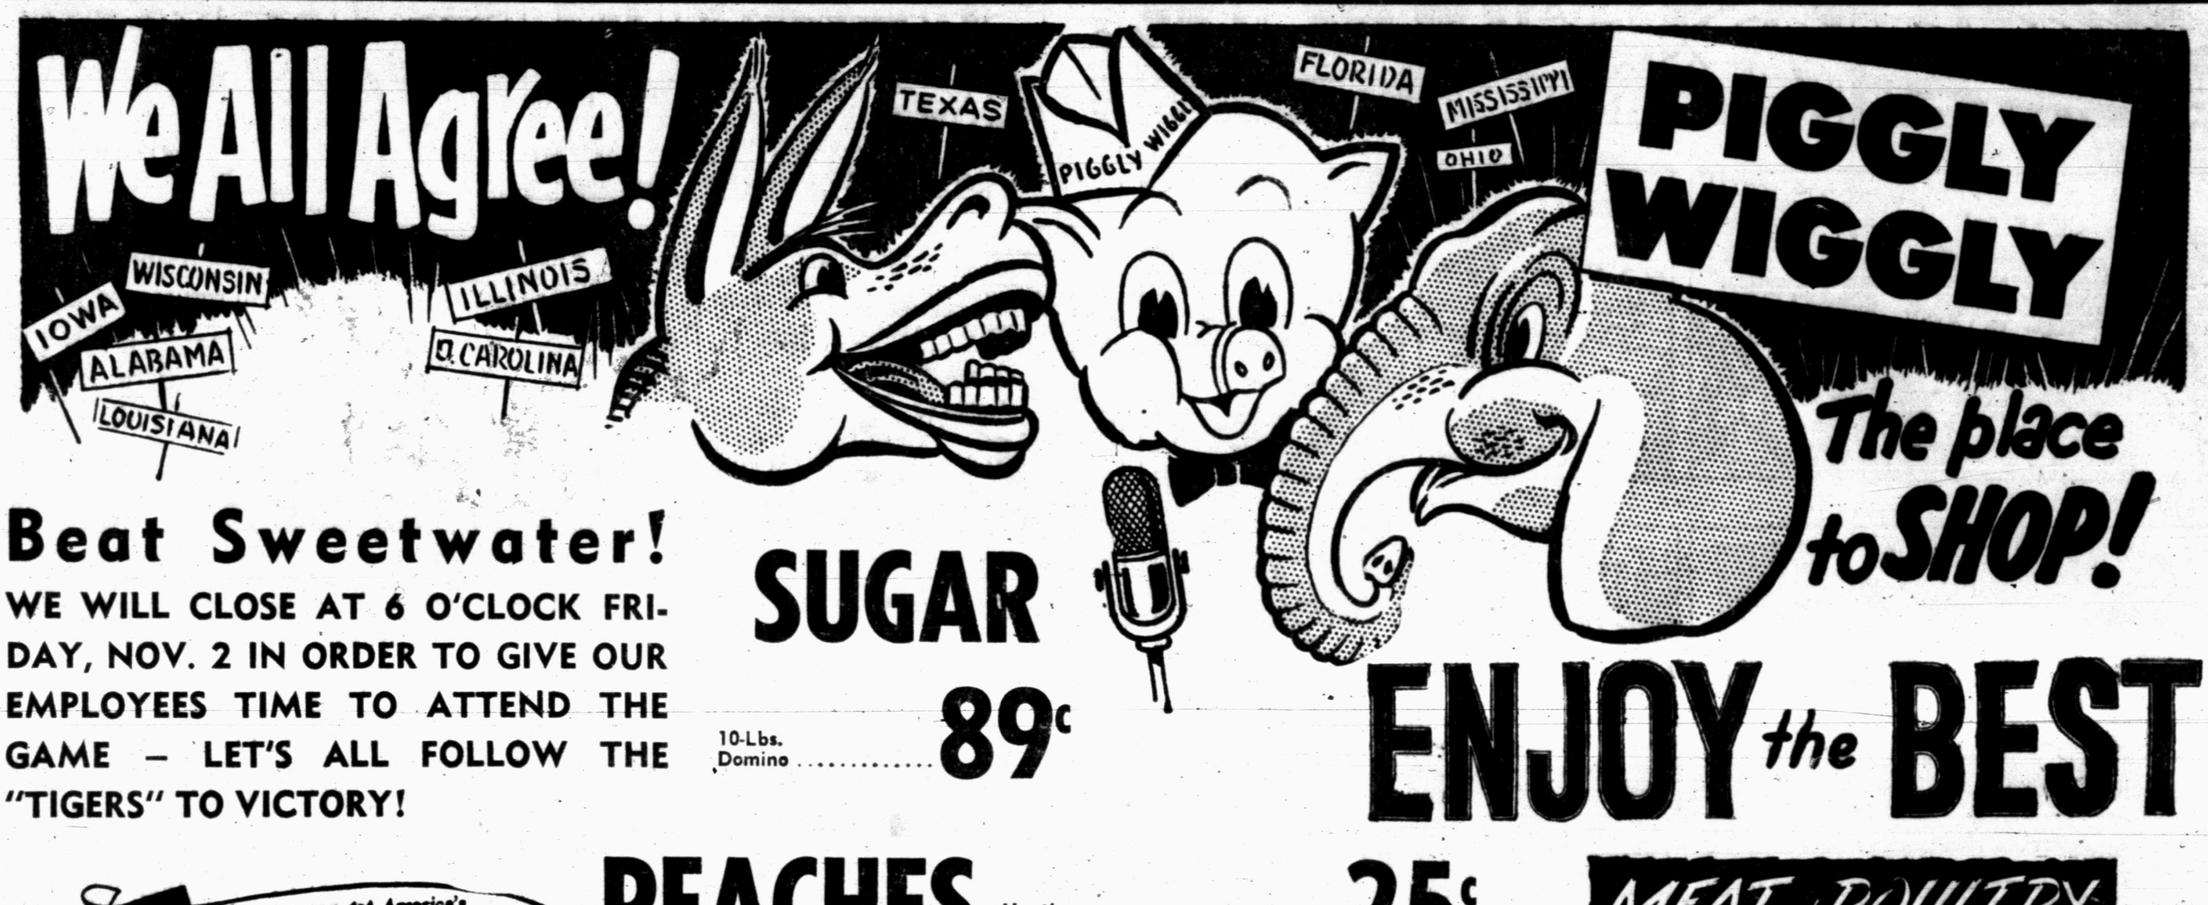

It appeared likely Nixon would continue to assail Stevenson as he did yesterday in Detroit. There, he said that the Democratic nominee "deliberately attempted to inflame passions at home and abroad" in statements criticizing the administration on the Middle East question.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, the Democratic vice-presidential candidate, joined Stevenson today in banging away at the Eisenhower administration on the Middle East situation.

Kefauver said in a speech prepared for a rally at Boston University that "the Eisenhower-Dulles foreign policy has brought us to the brink of war for the fifth time in four years."

In Kansas City, former President Harry S. Truman put out a statement last night saying "the blunt truth is that as a result of the Eisenhower-Dulles foreign policies, the United States is not respected or trusted or followed anywhere in the world."

Tea production hit a new world record in 1955 with India, Ceylon and Africa reporting bumper crops.

Answer To Question Will Have To Wait

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Sen. Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah) says he's sorry, but ninth-grader Lynda Hambrick will just have to wait a week for an answer to a question she poses in a letter to him.

"Lack of a heavy-duty crystal ball," he wrote, makes it necessary for me to forego responding to your request of Oct. 23 until Nov. 7."

Miss Hambrick had written: "Would you please send all election information, including which way your state will vote, for a ninth grade scrapbook that I'm making."

Ike Looking To UN In Solving Mid East Issue

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Eisenhower, having ruled out use of U. S. armed forces in the present Middle East fighting, looked to the United Nations today to find a way of solving "this tormenting problem."

"In the past," the President said in a radio-TV broadcast to the nation last night, "the United Nations has proved able to find a way to end bloodshed. We believe it can and will do so again."

He did not suggest specific steps.

He said the U. N General Assembly should be able to bring "the opinion of the world" to bear on the situation created by Israel's attack on Egypt and British-French intervention.

He chided Britain, France and Israel but added that all had been provoked by Egyptian actions.

He said he has no plan to call a special session of Congress. But promised to maintain close contact with congressional leaders.

A few hours before Eisenhower spoke, the State Department banned travel by U. S. citizens into Egypt, Israel, Jordan and Syria except where a trip is determined to be in this country's "best interests."

The department announced also that 1,888 Americans had been evacuated from the same four countries by late yesterday afternoon, and that by its count 4,878 Americans remained. It said the Air Force and units of the 6th Fleet are aiding in the evacuation.

The Maritime Administration, meanwhile, advised all U.S. merchant ships to avoid the Suez Canal area until the Middle East situation is clarified.

Eisenhower described the tangled situation in his speech, and then said: "In the circumstances I have described, there will be no United States involvement in these present hostilities."

Eisenhower declared that the Israeli, British and Freneh deeisions to attack Egypt were decisions "taken in error."

Yet to say that the U. S. government considers the British, and Israeli actions wrong, Eisenhower declared, "is in no way to minimize our friendship with these nations — nor our determination to maintain those friendships."

"For we are fully aware of the grave anxieties of Israel, of Britain and of France," he went on. "We know that they have been subjected to grave and repeated provocations."

He said the Middle East situation is not one "that calls for extravagant fear or hysteria."

After saying that Egypt had provided "repeated provocations" to Israel, Britain and France, he continued:

"The present fact, nonetheless, seems clear: the actions taken can scarcely be reconciled with the principles and purposes of the United Nations to which we have all subscribed. And, beyond this, we are forced to doubt that resort to war will for long serve the permanent interests of the attacking nations."

"In all the recent troubles in the Middle East," he said, "there have indeed been injustices suffered by all nations involved. But I do not believe that another instrument of injustice — war — is the remedy for these wrongs.

"There can be no peace — without law. And there can be no law — if we were to invoke one code of international conduct for those who oppose us — and another for our friends."

Earlier in his speech, Eisenhower said that "in Eastern Europe there is the dawning of a new day."

"If the Soviet Union faithfully acts upon its announced intention," he said, "the world will witness the greatest forward stride toward justice, trust and understanding among nations in our generation."

He reaffirmed U. S. readiness to assist the new governments of Hungary and Poland with economic help.

Demand For Obscene Literature Declines

CINCINNATI (AP) — H. Joseph Houlihan of Lexington, Ky., president of the American Booksellers' Assn., says smut, obscenity and sex are not the easy road to fortune in fiction writing that they were for some years.

Houlihan, speaking at a meeting of his association, said:

"I think the demand for dirty literature is leveling off and, in fact, the public is showing some signs of revulsion against the stuff."
