Space Stroll Postponed By 'Bushed' Gemini Pair

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Hard luck plagued the Gemini 9 astronauts again today as they abandoned their "angry alligator" satellite and had Eugene A. Cernan's space walk postponed 24 hours until Sunday.

The fatigue of the astronauts and excessive use of fuel during a tricky rendezvous with the satellite early today contributed to the latest troubles.

"We're pretty well bushed," command pilot Thomas P. Stafford reported after the exhausting chase of the satellite.

"It raises a question in my own mind whether and when the EVA (space walk) should be done. Perhaps we should wait until tomorrow morning."

The Mission Control Center in Houston, Tex., agreed and put the walk off until Sunday morning. The 2½-hour walk, longest ever attempted, had been scheduled for 10:30 a.m. today.

Ground controllers then made an effort to shake loose the hung-up shroud on the target satellite by firing its control thrusters.

That started the satellite bucking and pitching, but it failed to dislodge the jaw-like clamshells of the shroud, which covers the docking collar.

With all hope of linking up with the satellite — called an ATDA for augmented target docking adapter — gone, the ground told Stafford and Cernan to fire their thrusters and gradually pull away from it.

"There's no further chance that we can dock," Mission Director William C. Schneider said.

The latest turn of events apparently didn't dampen the spirits of the astronauts, as shown in this subsequent exchange with a ground station.

Ground: "Tell Geno I'm sorry about his (Chicago) Cubs last night. But we'll try again tonight." (Cernan is a native of the Chicago area.)

Stafford: "Okay, you know how the Cubs are."

Cernan: "Ill be a winner tomorrow, no matter how you look at it."

The ground was able to spin the ATDA by firing small jet thrusters designed to stabilize the satellite. It has no propulsion system for changing orbit.

The Gemini 9 flight has been jinxed since May 17 when the original Agena target satellite failed to reach orbit because its Atlas booster failed.

Two postponements later, the astronauts finally got off the ground Friday in pursuit of the makeshift ATDA. They caught it in record time—and learned to their disappointment that the shroud was still on, hung up by a few wires.

Because they were unable to dock, the flight plan was reshuffled to give the ground a chance to perhaps figure out a way to shake the shroud loose.

The main change was to move up two rendezvous maneuvers that had been planned for after Cernan's space walk.

The first was effectively executed without the use of radar. Then, during the night, Gemini 9 moved out about 92 miles in front of the ATDA while Stafford and Cernan got eight hours of light, dozing sleep.

They were up about 2 a.m. (EDT) to begin the third rendezvous. They approached the ATDA from above, simulating a rescue of two astronauts who have started a descent to the moon and for some reason decide not to touch down. In such a case, a third astronaut in lunar orbit in the main Apollo ship would have to drop down to pick them up.

Two sessions of the workshop were scheduled.

AF, Navy Speed Up Offensive

SAIGON (AP)—The U.S. Air Force and Navy mounted their biggest raid Friday of the stepped - up air offensive on North Viet Nam.

Hundreds of jet fighter-bombers pounded the North in 86 missions, the largest number since Sunday when American fliers took advantage of clearing monsoon weather to renew heavy strikes.

The previous high for 1966 was 83 missions, flown Tuesday.

In South Viet Nam, B52 bombers struck early today at Quang Ngai provice where two battalions of Viet Cong had been sighted in recent days. The target area, 325 miles northeast of Saigon, has long been thought a Viet Cong stronghold.

A U.S. military spokesman described Quang Ngai Province as an area where the Communists had launched monsoon offensives in the past. He said successive B52 raids there were intended to thwart possible new drives and reduce the Viet Cong potential.

Also in South Viet Nam, the U.S. military command reported the loss to Viet Cong ground fire of two U.S. planes Friday.

An Air Force F4C Phantom was shot down 310 miles northeast of Saigon in Kontum Province. One of the two fliers aboard parachuted safely and was rescued. The other failed to eject and apparently went down with the plane. He is officially listed as missing.

The other plane, a Marine A4 Skyhawk, was shot down 55 miles northwest of coastal Qui Nhon. The plane was hit by ground fire while making a strafing pass and it burst into flames. The pilot did not eject, a spokesman said, and is listed as missing.

On the ground, the fighting in South Viet Nam continued on a small scale with only minor patrol clashes reported except for one close quarter engagement involving South Korean troops.

In hand-to-hand fighting in a heavily jungled area near the Binh Thanh Valley, units of the Korean Tiger Division reported killing 70 Viet Cong early Saturday.

Water Use Shows Gain During May

While early month and late showers temporarily dulled demand during May, the Colorado River Municipal Water District showed a substantial gain in deliveries over the same month a year ago.

Production topped a billion gallons for the month, said Paschall Odom, assistant to the general manager. The 1,037,904,942 gallons metered to customers was 6.89 per cent over May of 1965. This brought to 404,950,108 gallons the amount of water delivered in the first five months of the year, up 7.80 over the same period for last year.

Member cities took 672,371,300 gallons, an increase of 4.41 per cent. Odessa took 361,080,000 gallons, down 1.33 per cent; Big Spring 242,755,000, up 9.26, Snyder 68,536,300, up 17.86. The oil companies took 365,533,642 gallons, an increase of 26.46 per cent over May 1965.

During May Lake J. B. Thomas, the district's reservoir, caught about 23,000 acre feet of water, or enough to increase the lake level nearly five feet. At the end of the month the level stood at elevation 2244.06, which is 14 feet below spillway. This is about a foot and a half above the same date a year ago.

OLD BUILDING COMES DOWN — The old Boy's Club building on Twenty-eighth Street, which was heavily damaged by fire last December, was pulled down during the past week. Plans are to erect a new structure on the same site. The Scurry County Boys' Club is now engaged in a fund-raising campaign to provide approximately $25,000 toward cost of construction.

Pentagon Mum On 9,500 Draft Hike

By BOB HORTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Without announcing it, the Defense Department hiked its May and June draft calls by a total of 9,500 men.

The Pentagon acknowledged this today in response to questions, but described the increases as routine revision made because Army volunteer enlistments were less than anticipated.

In fact, figures provided by the department showed that it has had to amend each of its monthly manpower requests to the Selective Service for the past 10 months. Three major changes were publicly announced. A fourth, a 5,000-man cutback in the February call, was not disclosed.

Other unannounced draft call changes appeared minor, ranging from a 1,000-man reduction in the January request for 38,280, to an increase of 1,900 over last November's originally sought 36,450.

Pentagon figures show that in fiscal 1966 — last July through this month — its original monthly draft calls totaled 337,754, compares with a total of 334,500 for the amended requests.

In May, 34,600 men were requested for induction into the Army.

As for the increase:

"On May 2, the director of Selective Service was requested to overdeliver the May draft call by 6,000 and at the same time to overdeliver the June call, originally submitted at 15,000 by 3,500," a Pentagon statement said.

"These routine revisions," it continued, "were made on the basis of the latest Army enlistment results for April, which indicated that enlistments in May and June would probably be less than previously estimated."

The Defense Department adjusts its draft requests according to the number of expected volunteer enlistments, which have met about 65 per cent of the requirements for new enlisted personnel in fiscal 1966. But volunteer enlistments fluctuate.

"Since the beginning of the Viet Nam buildup," the Pentagon said, "enlistments have varied considerably from the normal monthly pattern, which has made forecasts of month-to-month changes particularly difficult."

The Defense Department said the Selective Service has cooperated fully in attempting to revise draft deliveries to meet changing conditions.

"Inasmuch as the ability to modify draft requirements on short notice has been uncertain a number of these administrative requests for 'overdelivery' have not been announced as formal amendments of draft calls," the department said.

Export Rationing Seen As Grain Surplus Disappears

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility of rationing wheat for foreign markets faces U.S. farm officials who have seen a huge grain surplus disappear much more quickly than they had dreamed possible.

Reserve and surplus supplies of wheat which reached a record 1,411,000,000 bushels on July 1, 1961, will drop to 555 million bushels by that date this year. This would be 45 million bushels below what farm officials have said is a safe reserve for emergencies, including drought.

Furthermore, there is a possibility that the reserve a year from now may drop to 350 million bushels. This possibility led Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman to tell a news conference Friday that the government would restrict exports should that become necessary to assure Americans ample supplies.

Despite the dwindling wheat surplus, there is no likelihood of a shortage which would put a pinch on American bread supplies. A sharp drop in the safe reserves could be countered with increased planting quotas. It would take a massive crop emergency — such as an acute and prolonged drought — to bring any wheat shortage down to the level of American dinner tables.

The need for limitations on exports could come before the year is out. Reports of damage caused by freezes and lack of moisture cloud the production picture for this year's crop.

Freeman said he had received crying estimates of the damage in the southern and central Great Plains. He said a clearer picture should be provided by the department's June crop report to be issued next Friday.

Two developments have contributed heavily to the rapid disappearance of the surplus:

— A government crop control program.

— Very large and unexpected foreign demands.

MONK, TWO NUNS

3 More Choose Fiery Suicide

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two Buddhist nuns and a novice monk burned themselves to death today bringing to nine the number of Buddhist self-immolations to protest South Viet Nam's military government.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Air Force and Navy yesterday mounted their biggest raids on North Viet Nam since Sunday, sending hundreds of jet fighter-bombers to pound the north in 86 missions. Two planes were reported lost, bringing to nine the number of American planes reported shot down this week.

On the ground, troops of the elite South Korean Tiger Division took on the Viet Cong in fierce hand-to-hand fighting near the coastal city of Qui Nhon, 270 miles northeast of Saigon. A Korean spokesman said 119 Viet Cong had been killed, but later changed the figure to 70.

The Buddhist suicides in widely separated cities came after the militant wing of the divided Buddhist movement threatened to wreck the government's precarious truce with them after weeks of civil strife and violence. The wave of fiery suicides began on Sunday.

One nun, Thich (Venerable) Nu Bao Luan, 24, set herself aflame in front of the Buddhist Institute in Saigon. The other, Dieu Ky, 20, died in Nha Trang, 200 miles northeast of Saigon.

The novice monk, an unidentified youth between 14 to 15 years old, ended his life in the city of Quang Tri, only 20 miles from the 17th parallel which divides North and South Viet Nam.

After the suicide, some 200 persons began to march to the residence of the province representative of the U.S. Agency for International Development but were stopped by Vietnamese soldiers.

The young Buddhist left three letters protesting actions of the military government.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My daughter (whom I shall call "Hilda") is graduating from high school in June, so my rich sister sent her a $500 check with a note, "To get your nose fixed, honey."

Now, Abby, Hilda's nose isn't that bad. She resembles my father, and his nose goes with his face. Some of Hilda's friends have had their noses fixed and she's been after us ever since to let her get hers done. We have said we couldn't afford it. Now what can we say?

I am so burned up at my sister I can hardly see to write this. She had HER nose bobbed a few years ago and she thinks she looks like Elizabeth Taylor, but I think her old nose had more character.

Abby, do you think my sister had any right sending our daughter that check for a nose job, knowing how we fought against it? And should we let Hilda do it even tho she really doesn't need it?

FAMILY NOSE FIGHT

DEAR NOSE FIGHT: Your sister should have kept her bobbed nose out of your family fight. But consider your daughter. HER nose doesn't have to go with her father's face. And if a girl's character is in her nose, heaven help her.

If Hilda thinks she needs to have her nose resculpted, she needs it. Take her to a competent plastic surgeon for a consultation. He won't chisel needlessly.

DEAR ABBY: I never did love my husband. I just married him for security, and I've been miserable ever since. I suppose I should tell you that I'm in love with my doctor. (That's why I've been so "sickly" much of the time.) He is very unhappy at home. My husband is in love with my best friend, who is also trapped in a lovelesss marriage.

My husband would be much happier with my best friend, and I would be happier with my doctor. Isn't there some way this can be worked out so that nobody will be hurt? You only live once, you know.

UNHAPPY

DEAR UNHAPPY: If you and your husband were to terminate your marriage, you could marry your doctor and your husband could marry your best friend. (Assuming, of course that they followed suit.) That would leave your best friend's husband and the doctor's wife at loose ends.

If you could sell them on EACH OTHER, you could turn a wreck-tangle into a sex-tangle But with all that switching and hitching, there's apt to be some ditching. I recommend living with the ills you know.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I received a telephone call from a very dear friend of ours who lives in one of the more fashionable suburbs of this city. She called to invite us to her daughter's wedding! Thinking of course it was a hurry-up affair I expressed our congratulations and waited for the details.

She then explained they were having a big church wedding with "all the trimmings, two months off! She then said she was inviting everyone by telephone because her daughter didn't want to go to all the "fuss and bother" of sending out regular engraved wedding invitations!

We have never heard of using the telephone to invite people to a big church wedding "with all the trimmings," have you? Because of our long friendship with the bride's parents we will attend, but I would like your opinion of such an invitation.

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: The bride's mother must be the original block (head) off which her daughter is a chip. I would hope that where a daughter lacked ordinary common sense, her mother would make up the deficit.

Graham To Appear On British TV

LONDON (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham prepared Saturday for the largest audiences of his current Crusade—two Sunday night appearances on television.

Graham will be interviewed by David Frost on the British Broadcasting Corp.'s program "Meeting Point," a weekly confrontation of religious and secular opinion.

Later Graham goes on the commercial network's Eamonn Andrews Show, which in recent months has been a center of controversy over what should or shouldn't be said before the camera.

Before the television appearances, Graham has another crusade meeting Saturday night at the Earls Court Arena, where he hopes to draw a capacity audience of 19,000.

At the arena Friday night, Graham said in his sermon that sin could affect the mind.

He pointed to Britain's sensational Moors murders, in which a man and woman were convicted of mutilating a youth and two children.

With 17,000 listening he asked: "What could cause people to act with such savagery and sadistic brutality?

"We ask ourselves over and over again: What is the basic cause of this?

"The answer is to be found in the basic nature of man himself."

He added:

"You can have a good time going on living it up.

"Go ahead with your sex and drunkenness. It can be exciting.

"But remember—the day of reckoning comes."

The Crusade organization said the sermon brought forward 484 to make "decisions for Christ," bringing the total to 1,665 since the Crusade began June 1.

Auto Sales Down Again

DETROIT (AP) — New car sales slipped again in May with only Ford Motor Co. having any cause for celebration.

Preliminary figures showed that for the second month in a row, monthly sales ran behind those of last year. The May figure of 692,805 cars was 10 per cent below the 772,063 cars sold in May, 1965.

Ford was the only auto company to run ahead of its May 1965 pace. The performance was double sweet to Ford for it meant that after more than seven straight years of trailing Chevrolet in monthly sales figures, it finally passed Chevvy last month.

The Ford division total of 184,255 was over 10,000 ahead of Chevrolet's 174,213 sales for May.

Chevrolet holds a lead of about 55,000 cars over Ford for the calendar year to date.

OUR VIEW

Success Continues To Be Best Gloom-Chaser Known

Nothing else chases gloom as sucessfully as sucess.

The latest example is the Surveyor space shot which, according to reports from authorities, hit the moon within a few feet of the exact target picked out in advance and came within one second of making its time schedule on the nose.

Whatever else the space program may involve, among its biggest contributions to our society so far is that sense of accomplishment that stems from competition. Although the harsher aspects of a competitive race are disavowed by both sides, everyone nevertheless knows that the race is on.

Our program has been spectacularly successful in most respects, the latest being the Surveyor moon shot which came at a time when the Gemini 9 efforts were bogged in more delays and disapointments. The surveyor program itself had been encountering schedule difficulties, but these were overcome with one amazing effort. It had been estimated that the Surveyor program was three yyears behind its schedule and it was feared that perhaps three or four tries would be needed to "hit" the moon with a soft landing of the type desired.

Within the space of a few hours, this part of the space program vaulted one year ahead of schedule. Nothing else succeeds like success.

Our Town Needs To Put Itself 'On The Road'

Perhaps Snyder is a bit timid about putting itself "on the road" particularly the new segment of U.S. Highway 84, often referred to around here as "the bypass."

Fact of the matter is, there is little in the way of beckoning signs to invite travelers to veer off the main thoroughfares and actually visit our town.

The city has been in conference with Texas Highway Department officials concerning official markings along U.S. 84. These discussions developed following several serious traffic accidents on U.S. 84 in and adjacent to the city. There is a need for improvement of these directional aids and perhaps more.

Some signs of welcome, clearly pointing up the fact that a town of some significance is here, may well be in order.

Proposed Talks Loom Big In Eyes Of West Germans

By CARL HARTMANN

BONN, Germany (AP) — Germans are looking forward to what many of them see as the biggest political event since the Allied armies of World War II split their country along the River Elbe.

To the naked eye it's only a couple of talk fests by leaders of the West German Socialist and East German Communist parties; highly unusual but with no necessary political consequences.

Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin, head of the West German Socialist party, is planning to lead a team of three speakers to Karl-Marx-Stadt in Communist-ruled East Germany on July 14. They will appear on the same platform with three East German Communists. Both sides have promised full news coverage and live telecasts on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

A week later three Communists are due in Hanover, West Germany, for a similar performance.

Arrangements are not complete. The big difficulty: Under West German law the visiting Communists could be arrested for a whole row of crimes and misdemeanors. These range from illegal propaganda, since communism is outlawed in West Germany, to premediated murder because of the shootings along the Berlin Wall.

The West German Parliament must pass a special law if they are to have safe conduct. Unless the West German parties agree on a bill and the Communists find it acceptable, the meetings may never come off.

But if they do, they will mark for West German patriots a new hope of progress toward the goal they have sought for centuries and only rarely won — a united country under a free government. Though still a long way from anything that could be called reunification, the debates would mean more political contact than East and West Germans have had for 20 years.

They also would have meaning for the world at large. West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard said recently: "It is possible to ignore the displeasure of Germans over the division of their country. It is not possible to ignore the confrontation of world powers in Central Eurpe which is bound up with this division."

Crosses Burn In Kountze

KOUNTZE, Tex. (AP)— Two burning crosses lit up parts of the Negro section of this Southeast Texas town Friday night on the eve of the runoff election.

One burned at Carver High School. The other flared at quarters of the Cariker Lumber Co., where many Negro employes live. The crosses were six feet high, of steel frames wrapped in gasoline-soaked sacks.

Officials said a ton of nails was tossed behind and in front of Negroes. They said the crosses and nails were apparent efforts to discourage Negroes from voting Saturday.

Kountze, 26 miles northwest of Beaumont, has about 800 Negroes and 2,400 white inhabitants.

The election has been enlivened by a heated runoff between incumbent County Commissioner D. W. Richardson and Howard Barrington, a real estate owner and farmer. Richardson is also police chief and fire chief and operates a filling station in the Negro section. He led Barrington 1,067 to 669 in the May 7 first primary.

A Texas Ranger arrived Friday night to keep watch on the situation.

Balloon To Study Star

PALESTINE, Tex. (AP)—A helium-filled balloon will soar from this East Texas city early Sunday to study a distant star that burst apart more than 30 centuries ago.

The 10½ million-cubic-foot balloon is to be launched on its 13-hour flight at 7 a.m., said Dr. Robert C. Haymes, project director. It is expected to reach an altitude of 130,000 feet.

Haymes, an associate professor of space science at Rice, said a five-foot-long gamma ray telescope will study the Crab nebula, the gaseous remains of the star.

"We want to see what, if any, radioactivity can be picked up from the exploded star," he said.

The balloon, carrying a 900-pound pay load, will be given a signal to drop back to earth in the vicinity of El Paso, Haymes said.

Last fall, Haymes and his associates launched their first balloon to study the Crab nebula. Data colleeted from the flight indicated some radioactivity is being emitted from the remains of the star, Haymes said.

Leads In Vote Recount

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A recount of votes in the May 7 primary Friday gave incumbent Raymond L. Kneese of Fredericksburg an 8-vote lead over Sam L. Darden of Bandera for the Democratic nomination for district attorney.

The recount gave Kneese 3,026 votes and Barden 3,018. The official election returns had shown Kneese winning by a 3,024 to 3,023 margin.

District Judge Charles Sherill Jr. of Fort Stockton made rulings on all contested ballots during the recount but said he would allow arguments by attorneys at a later time on the rulings.

Headon Crash Kills Four In Family

COLUMBUS, Tex. (AP)— A head - on collision killed two small children and their parents near here on U.S. 90 Friday night. Two persons in the other car suffered serious injuries.

State police identified the dead as Jose Fuentes, 30, of San Antonio; his wife Becky, 28, and their children, Joey, 5, and Liz, 3.

They were riding in a small foreign car and all except the little girl were thrown out.

The crash injured James L. Atkins III, 24 a Texas A&M University student from Medina, and Judith Overall, 22, of Bellaire, Tex.

Columbus is west of Houston.

Oilmen Reminded Good Roads Vital

By MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Oil Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Petroleum marketers have been told their industry must be alert to proposals that tax funds be used to build mass transit systems.

John E. Swearingen, chairman of the Standard Oil Co. (Indiana), also says the industry must give stronger support to better roads programs.

"With the certain future increases in population and traffic, driving will be curtailed and our business will suffer unless new roads are built," Swearingen said. "Without development of an adequate system of rural highways and urban roads and streets, the American motorist will be throttled by traffic and by governmental restrictions as well."

Swearingen made his remarks before the recent meeting of the Marketing Division of the American Petroleum Institute. He asked the marketers to accept the fact good roads cost money and someone must pay for them.

"The time has come for our industry to increase its positive support for meritorious proposals for better roads," he said. "This support must be as determined and effective as the opposition that we have always directed toward unnecessary tax increases. If we fail in this we may forfeit many of our own industry's goals.

"If the industry sits idly by, tax revenues will be used to finance the construction and operation of mass transit systems that cause people to drive less, rather than for building adequate throughways that will permit them to drive more, as they wish to do."

Swearingen said helping obtain adequate highways and roads is just one of the opportunities the petroleum industry is overlooking to perform substantial services to motorists.

Other opportunities, he said include the development of fewer but superior service stations and working actively the maximize the safety of vehicles and drivers.

As more attractive and efficient stations are built, he said, the low-volume, high cost, unattractive and outmoded stations now in operation must be eliminated or modernized.

Swearingen said the industry's active participation in traffic safety programs is a normal responsibility and that oilmen should give vigorous support to efforts that would insure that all drivers are trained properly.

"Despite the recent emphasis on driver training programs, we are not yet offering instruction to all of our new drivers, much less the older ones who are already on the road," he said.

"Each year, a potential 1,600,000 teen-age drivers are turned loose on our highways who have not had even an hour of formal training behind the wheel."

He also said millions of motorists already licensed have never had any instruction in safe driving practices or even the rules of the road.

"Most states today have no procedures to check whether a driver has suffered from vision impairment, some other physical disability, or even mental illness after he has received his license," Swearingen said.

"Some imaginative, innovative attention must be devoted to programs that will increase the skill and sense of motoring responsibility of these people if driving hazards are to be curtailed."

INSURE WHAT YOU HAVE

A HIT — Mack Galyean hit safely three times in as many appearances at bat during the first tilt of the Snyder-Dumas playoff game here Friday. Here, he "lays one down" the third base line. Rusty Kidder (far right in background) chases the ball as Galyean reaches first. Pitcher Bill McVicker (No. 11) covers first. Robert Hobbs scored on the play for Snyder.

SNYDER SCORE — Roy Hunter runs towards first base after bunting on a squeeze play. Buddy Powell no. 10), racing down the third base line towards home plate, slid in safely under the high throw from Dumas left-handed pitcher Bill McVicker (far right).

Dumas Raps Tigers In 2nd Tilt; Meet Waxahachie Next

There were two different ball games at Towle Park Friday. Snyder won the first one, 10-0, and Dumas took the second one, 8-0. With their second win, the Demons won the right to compete in the state tournament at Austin, June 10-11.

Dumas meets defending Class AAA champion Waxahachie at 3 p.m. Friday. Other Class AAA teams in the tournament are Brenham and South San Antonio.

Snyder won the first tilt Saturday with ease. Dumas couldn't do anything right in the opener, but did a complete turnabout in the finale. They put down the Tigers on the brilliant 4-hit pitching of Johnny Sober.

Roy Hunter and Bobby Clardy teamed up for a sparkling 5-hit performance in the 10-0 triumph. It went only five innings with Roy allowing four hits in the four frames he worked on the hill. Clardy appeared in relief for the final three outs and gave up only a triple to Wayne Harkrider.

Snyder tallied twice in the 3rd. Hunter reached first on an error, and Tommy Bullard, running for him, went to second on an infield hit by Mack Galyean. Mack moved to third as David Cadena took first on a fielder's choice. Cadena was forced at second when Roy Kizer hit a grounder, second to short, but Bullard scored. Then David Holt sacrificed Galyean in with a well - executed bunt.

The Bengals bombed lefty Bill McVicker off the mound in the 4th on eight runs and five hits. The hits all were singles —by pinch hitter Ronnie Shields, Galyean, Roy Kizer, David Holt and pinch hitter Robert Hobbs.

Glen Bonner moved over from short for a two - inning stint on the hill, but the Demons were never in the game.

The same could almost be said about Snyder in the second clash. The Demons took a 1-0 advantage in the 1st frame on an unearned run and built it to 4-0 in the 3rd and finally to 8-0 in the 6th.

That first run resulted from a single by Gary Kimbley, an error, and another one-base-hit by Lane Boyd. Kimbley was the outstanding hitter in the game. He went two-for-two in the opener and three-for-five in the nightcap.

Singles by Boyd and Tim Galloway, walks to Ronnie Stephenson and Ronnie Robbins and a sacrifice by Ronny McInturff accounted for the Demon tallies in the 3rd.

Bobby Clardy relieved Roy Hunter in the 1st, and the roof fell in on him in the 6th. Dumas hit him for four hits and four runs in that frame. The big blast was a three-run home run over the left field fence with Ronnie Stephenson providing the punch. Freddie Benitez worked the last 1 1-3 innings without giving up a run or a hit.

Johnny Sober, a little right hander, really "fireballed" 'em past the Tigers. Roy Kizer, with 2 for 3, got half the Bengal hits. One of them was a double in the 4th. Mack Galyean singled in the 1st and Dink Foree hit a little bingle in the 2nd. That was it.

The Tigers surprised many fans by going as far as they did in the playoffs. They were just one game away from the state tournament when it was over.

Ben Survives Memphis Cut

By BOB GILBERT

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — You could have expected defending champion Jack Nicklaus to be concerned about overtaking the leaders on the 17th green, but an unusual thought crossed his mind.

Nicklaus has never shot a 63 in the United States, and he had a chance to do it in the second round of the $100,000 Memphis Open Golf Tournament Friday if he could birdie the last two holes.

At that point, he was trailing Bert Yancey and Gene Littler who carried eight-under-par 132s into today's third round.

Nicklaus reached the short 17th hole in one and was 10 feet from the pin.

"As I looked at it, I realized I had never shot a 63 in the states," he said. "My putt pulled up short, and I went on to birdie 18 for a 64."

It was his first 64 since the third round of the 1965 Masters.

Yancey, first day leader at 63, shot a one-under-par 69 Friday, but was tied for the lead by the veteran Littler who shot a 66 for the second straight day.

Jack Rule had a second-round 68 for a 36-hole total of 135, followed by Bruce Devlin, Johnny Pott, Bob Goalby, Tommy Jacobs, Wright Garrett, Homero Blancas, Bob Charles and Nicklaus at 136.

Many of the players said the 6,466-yard Colonial Country Club course was harder to beat Friday. But Nicklaus was happy with its condition.

Littler, who lost playoffs in the Memphis Open in 1960 and 1962, played more consistently than anyone else during the first two days. But he wasn't satisfied with the second round.

Matson In Spotlight

HOUSTON (AP) — Mighty Randy Matson of Texas A&M and more than 200 other entrants from six states competed today in the U.S. Track and Field Federation district meet.

Matson, who set his world shot put record of 70 feet, 7 1-4 inches last year, took part in the afternoon discus finals before trying tonight to better his 1966 best of 69 feet, 2 1-2 inches in the shot.

Butler Stadium's new rubberized asphalt track received its first tests from athletes of six conferences — Southwest, Southeastern, Big Eight, Missouri Valley, Atlantic Coast and Southland.

The all-weather oval, compleated about two months ago, is considered muct faster than cinders.

Besides Matson's efforts, two other events were expected to be of particular interest.

Rice University's mile relay team was given a good chance mark of 3:04.5. Rice Coach Emmett Brunson planned to run two speedy freshmen, Dale Bernauer and Conley Brown, with the two swiftest varsity legs, John Moss and Jimmy Ellington.

Meet director Johnny Morriss said the four-minute mark in the mile could be broken for the first time in Texas.

Conrad Nightengale of Kansas State and Charles Christmas of Abilene Christian have posted 4:00.9 and 4:03.2, respectively.

Cowboys Ink Lewis

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League announced today the signing of a Mississippi high school sprinter and their 18th round draft choice.

The draft choice was Steve Orr, 6-foot-4, 250-pound tackle from the University of Washington. He will be tried at both offensive and defensive positions in the line, the Cowboys said.

TWENTY-THREE SKIDOO! — Glen Bonner (No. 23), Dumas shortstop jumps for a high throw from catcher Gary Smith as Snyder's Buddy Powell skids safely into second with a stolen base. The action occurred during the 4th inning of Snyder's opening 10-0 victory Friday. However, they dropped the second tilt, 8-0, and Dumas won the regional crown.

Fisher Beats Drysdale

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jack Fisher is a 24-game loser who pitches for the lowly New York Mets and can't beat Los Angeles. Don Drysdale is a 23-game winner who pitches for the world champion Dodgers and always beats New York.

Fisher took on Drysdale Friday night. It was a mismatch. Drysdale didn't have a prayer.

Fisher, 0-7 against Los Angeles in three National League seasons, shackled the Dodgers on three hits while the Mets, 2-18 against Drysdale over a four-year period, cuffed him for five runs en route to a 6-2 victory.

The victory snapped a three-game losing streak for the eighth place Mets. The loss was only the second in the last 11 games for the second place Dodgers.

Fisher, now 3-5 this season, gave up a single in the second inning and then set down 20 straight batters before yielding another. Wes Parker homered for the Dodgers in the ninth.

The Mets knocked out Drysdale in the fifth, Ken Boyer's two-run homer capping a three-run rally that nailed the LA right-hander with his fifth loss in nine decisions.

Philadelphia whipped San Francisco 6-1 behind Jim Bunning, St. Louis held off Atlanta 3-2, Cincinnati came from behind for an 8-6 victory over Chicago and Pittsburgh battered Houston 7-2.

New York slugged Boston 15-5, Cleveland edged Minnesota 6-5, Baltimore downed Kansas City 3-2 and Detroit nipped California 1-0 in American League action.

Bunning won his seventh in a row, scattering six hits, as the Phils snapped the Giants' five-game winning streak and extended their own victory string to five. Bob Uecker drove in three runs with a homer and squeeze bunt while Rich Allen and Cookie Rojas hit bases-empty homers.

Bob Gibson held Atlanta to two hits until the ninth, when Hank Aaron's 18th homer and a single by Felipe Alou drove him from the mound. Joe Hoerner came on and struck out Mack Jones, ending the threat.

Curt Flood had four hits for the Cardinals but was retired the first three times when Orlando Cepeda bounced into double plays, tying the league record. Flood's fourth hit, a triple in the eighth, knocked in Tim McCarver with what proved to be the winning run.

The loss was the seventh straight for the staggering Braves.

Don Pavletich's two-run double was the big blow in a five-run eighth inning rally that lifted Cincinnati past the Cubs, ending a six-game losing streak for the Reds.

The Cubs scored six runs in the sixth inning, two on Byron Browne's homer.

Jim Pagliaroni and Bill Mazeroski ripped successive homers in a five-run sixth inning burst that won for the Pirates. Woody Fryman, Pittsburgh's unbeaten rookie pitcher, scattered nine hits for his fourth victory.

Texas 9's Win With HR's

By The Associated Press

The home run was the important hit in the Texas League Friday night as first place Amarillo, last place Austin and Arkansas all won.

Home runs by Doug Rader and Levi Brown provided Amarillo's scoring in a 3-0 victory over El Paso. Brown's blow came after Rader had singled.

Austin's Glen Clark lofted a two-run homer and a tie-breaking single as the Braves defeated Dallas-Fort Worth 4-3.

Larry Stubing's home run started a five-run inning for Arkansas in its 9-6 triumph over Albuquerque.

Undefeated southpaw Dan Rivas, winning his second game, had a three-hitter going against El Paso until the ninth inning when he was touched for two more hits. Then outstanding reliever Ron Cayll came in and protected the shutout.

Pat House won his sixth game for Austin but needed help from Eugene Garnell in the last two innings after Dallas-Fort Worth pulled to within one run.

Although Arkansas got off to a 5-0 lead against Albuquerque, the Travelers needed a three run rally in the ninth to win.

Lamabe Twirls Second Shutout

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Boston Red Sox should have known better than to walk a .156 hitter to get to a .158 hitter, but how were the Washington Senators supposed to know about Jack Lamabe?

Sure, the Senators knew Lamabe pitched a one-hitter last Monday against the Red Sox. But that was the first shutout in his five-year Major League career, and it came in his first start of the season.

So how were they supposed to know that he would come back four days later and pitch another shutout, this time on a three-hitter? That's what Lamabe did Friday night as the Chicago White Sox whipped the Senators 8-0.

In Boston's case, the strategy of the intentional pass didn't work out so well either time it was tried and in fact helped the New York Yankees run away from the Red Sox 15-5.

Shortstop Clete Boyer, the recipient of the walks, was hitting .156 going into the game. The man who followed, the intended victim of the strategy, was pitcher Al Downing, and he possessed a .158 average before the game.

When Earl Wilson walked Boyer intentionally the first time, loading the bases in the fourth inning, the Yankees led 2-1. Downing came up and promptly lashed a single to left-center field, driving in two runs.

Boyer came to the plate in the seventh inning, again with runners at second and third and with the Yankees now leading 9-3. Ken Sanders walked Boyer, and this time Downing cleared the bases with a triple to the wall in right-center.

That gave the 24-year-old slugger five runs batted in for the game and nearly enough support to gain his sixth straight triumph by himself.

Lamabe, on the other hand, didn't get any hits—in fact he extended his season-long hitless streak to nine at bats—but he did increase his record to 3-1 while lowering his earned run average to 2.45.

In other American League games, Cleveland edged Minnesota 6-5, Baltimore nipped Kansas City 3-2 and Detroit topped California 1-0.

In the National League, Philadelphia whipped San Francisco 6-1, New York stopped Los Angeles 6-2, Pittsburgh defeated Houston 7-2, Cincinnati trimmed Chicago 8-6 and St. Louis nipped Atlanta 3-2.

In posting his first complete game, Downing scattered eight hits, including Boston homers by George Scott, George Smith and Joe Foy. Besides his own, the fireballing left-hander received support from Tom Tresh, who drove in five runs with a single a double and a homer.

Lamabe faced the minimum number of batters in the first five innings and didn't allow a Senator to reach third the entire game.

Yankees, Braves In FL Wins

The Yankees clipped the Indians 16-7 and the Braves downed the Giants 14-6 in Farm League games Friday night.

The Yanks scored 10 runs in the first inning and were never behind in their victory over the Indians. The Indians could only manage scattered runs through the six innings and never posed as a real threat to the Yankees. Doug Sims scored twice in the first inning, and all his teammates managed to score at least once.

The Braves had a consistent scoring attack in their victory over the Giants as they scored in every inning. David Whittie scored three times and went four - for - four. Gregg Godair collected two doubles for the winners.

Dick Sisler, 1965 manager of the Cincinnati Reds, now coaches for the St. Louis Cardinals.

State Tourney Begins Friday

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Defending champion Waxahachie and seven other teams have made their way to the semifinal round of the Class AAAA and AAA state high school baseball tournament next weekend.

Wachachie's next obstacle in its path toward a second Class AAAA title is Dumas at 3 p.m. Friday. Brenham and South San Antonio, making an unprecedented trip to the state meet, open the tournament at 1 p.m.

A new champion was assured in Class AAAA when Dallas Samuell was eliminated in the district playoffs.

The first round pairings in Class AAAA have Odessa Permian meeting Freeport Brazosport at 7 p.m. Friday and Fort Worth Arlington Heights facing San Antonio MacArthur at 9 p.m.

In the windup of the regional meets Friday night San Antonio MacArthur got help from four unearned runs in the third inning and defeated Waco Richfield 5-1. Waco had evened the best-of-three series with a 6-2 victory Friday afternoon.

Odessa Permian needed only two games to advance past Grand Prairie, winning the finale 2-1 Friday.

Waxahachie and Dumas each played the allotted three games before earning places in the state meet.

Waxahachie had to put down a seventh inning rally during which Arlington Sam Houston scored all its runs for a 4-3 triumph Friday. Harvey Huffstetler accounted for two of Waxahachie's runs and Phil Brown's two-run homer provided the other pair.

Dumas, carrying a 28-5 record into the state meet, traded shutouts with Snyder Friday but won the important last game. Snyder evened the series 10-0 but lost the nightcap 8-0.

Fort Worth arlington Heights has a 25-8 won-lost record for the season and San Antonio MacArthur is 22-7.

Phils, Dodgers Romp To Wins

The Dodgers trounced the Sports 7-3 in a Pony League game while the Phillies slipped by the Yankees 8-7 in Colt League action Friday night.

The Dodgers scored three runs in the third and two in the fourth inning to beat the Sports. The Dodgers only collected four hits while the Sports managed only two hits. The Sports scored twice in the fifth and once in the sixth, but could never close the victory gap.

Ronnie Potts and Steve Holder both got two hits while leading the Phillies past the Yankees. The Phillies rallied for five runs in the seventh inning to erase a Yankee lead with three back to back base hits and two Yankee errors.

I bought my first Savings Bond 25 years ago

I was 14 years old

NOW PAYING 4.15% WHEN HELD TO MATURITY

Mr. Jack Benny, distinguished star of the entertainment world, may not have a computer's memory when it comes to his age, but his dates are accurate about Savings Bonds.

The first Series E U.S. Savings Bond was issued 25 years ago on May 1, 1941, by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau to President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Mr. Benny was already famous as a radio comedian (the youngest in the business, by his own admission). And in the years which followed, he proved himself to be a good friend of the Bond Program, not only buying Bonds, but helping to sell them to the American people.

Through his efforts and those of countless other volunteers in radio and TV, stage and screen, and in all walks of life, the American people have bought more than $150 billion in Bonds.

Of these, about $100 billion have been cashed in for emergencies, homes, retirement, etc. The balance is being held by tens of millions of American families—a star-spangled nest egg for the future.

Why not start building your nest egg with Savings Bonds—for yourself, and to back up our men in Vietnam. But give it a chance to build up by starting young. Like Jack Benny.

NOW—Savings Bonds Pay 4.15%!

Interest on new E and H Bonds you purchase has been raised to 4.15% when held to maturity. E Bonds mature faster —now in just 7 years. Your old Bonds will earn more, too. Savings Bonds are better to buy, and hold, than ever.

East Side Prepares For Vacation Bible School

"Stand Up for Jesus" will be the theme of the Vacation Bible School at the East Side Church of Christ. The classes, which begin Monday, June 6, and will be held daily through Friday, June 10, will begin at 9 a.m. and be dismissed at 11 a.m., with a 15-minute refreshment break each morning at 9:45.

All Snyder and local area residents are invited to attend the classees, which are offered for the following age groups: Nursery for toddlers; classes for ages two through pre-school six; classes for grades one through six; separate classes for junior high school boys and girls; High school; adult. The morning adult class, taught by Don Browning, minister at the East Side Church, is titled "The Uplifted Christ" and will be designed to show the relationship of the Pentateuch to Jesus Christ, the Messiah, and man's total dependence on Him as Savior.

Two evening classes will be offered this week, designed especially for those who are unable to attend during the daytime session, but open to all who can and will attend. Bob Barnes, minister of the 22nd and Austin Streets Church of Christ in Colorado City, will teach a five-day series on "The Beatitudes" for adults. Billy James, Hermleigh Church of Christ minister, will teach a class for teenagers titled "The Cost of Discipleship." These two special classes will be offered each evening, Monday through Friday, at 7:30.

The "Stand Up for Jesus" series of Vacation Bible School lessons are designed with a two-fold purpose: first, to show the application of the teachings of Jesus to the present-day low moral and ethical standards; second, to give motivation for young people to "take a stand" for the principles of Jesus when given an opportunity to witness for Him.

Witnesses Heard In Ashley Trial

GATESVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A number of state witnesses in the second murder trial of Leslie Douglas Ashley testified Friday they discovered a smouldering human body near the Houston ship channel on the night of Feb. 6, 1961.

The prosecution will attempt to prove that the victim was that of a Houston real estate man, Fred Tones. Ashley is charged wih murder in Tones' death.

Testimony began Friday after nearly two weeks was required to complete a jury. The trial recessed late Friday until Monday morning after seven witnesses had been presented.

The witnesses also told of finding a gasoline can near the burning body.

The state alleges that Ashley and Carolyn Ann Lima shot Tones to death during a sex party in the latter's office, then dumped his gasoline-drenched body near the ship channel and set fire to it.

Both Ashley and Miss Lima were convicted and sentenced to death but a federal court ordered new trials four hours before they were to have gone to the electric chair.

The woman has been re-tried, assessed a five-year prison term and is now free.

Grants To Finance Medical Facilities

WASHINGTON (AP)—Medical facilities in two Texas cities will be financed by grants totaling $494,000 from the Welfare Department.

A grant of $286,000 goes to Amarillo to help construct a center for retarded children.

A welfare grant to the Good Shepherd Hospital in Longview for $208,000 will aid in financing a 48-bed addition.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., made announcements of the grants Friday.

Bullet Wound Fatal

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Edward Narramore, 31, died Friday in a Fort Worth hospital of a bullet wound in his head. Officers said he was found wounded in his home at Weatherford with a pistol nearby.

Texas Permits Show Hike In Building

AUSTIN (AP)—Building permits issued in four months of 1966 indicate a 20 per cent rise in Texas construction this year, a business survey says.

The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research said residential construction was up 10 per cent but nonresidential authorizations had a value 44 per cent above that of the first third of 1965.

April authorizations were 8 per cent above the same month last year but 4 per cent below this March.

Nonresidential permits for April were the fourth highest on record, trailing only November 1964 and August and December 1965.

"Most dynamic of the various nonresidential reporting categories during April were commercial garages, hospitals and public works and utilities buildings. Permits for new and expanded hospital facilities totaled well over $15 million," the bureau said.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

MEXICO CITY — A group of gentlemen from Arkansas have written asking for information about Oaxaca. They want to know about driving down, the routes to take and what kind of clothes to wear during the summer. All sorts of things.

First of all, I think it is definitely worth the drive. You can fly and rent a car in Oaxaca, or use taxis. But having your own car, you can stop en route and look around at anything that catches your attention. If you fly, you will take the Mexican Aviation Company (CMA) plane from Mexico City direct to Oaxaca and return the same way.

Driving, you should take the new toll road from Mexico City to Puebla, then catch Highway 190 to Izucar de Matamoros, Huajapan de Leon and in to Oaxaca. It is a full day's drive but the scenery is beautiful. This is the only highway route so you can't get off. If you have plenty of time, I would suggest you return via Tehuantepec and Juchitan, taking the highway across the Isthmus and up to Veracruz, then in to Mexico City. A bit long but a nice trip and different scenery all the way.

Oaxaca is an antique colonial city and informal. You should take light clothing and a rain coat because this is the wet season and you might hit thunderstorms in the afternoons or evenings. Suggestion for the hotel would be the Monte Alban which is in the center of town. Moderate prices and good food. Everything informal so you can wear sports clothes day and night.

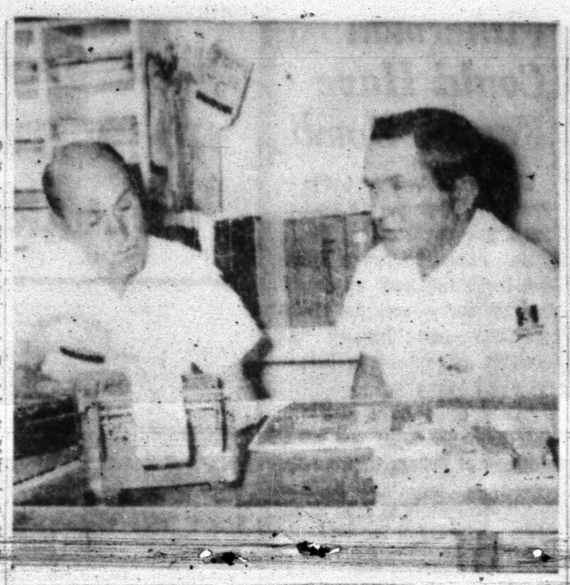

See the ruins at Mitla, down the Panamerican Highway toward Tehuantepec, and the ones atop Monte Alban just outside the city. Be sure to visit the market and take your cameras with you. They have everything from pottery to fruits and vegetagles. Very good for color film and the people are accustomed to camera - totin' tourists now.

Best way to get to Patzcuaro and place to stay there?

It's an overnight train ride from Mexico City and you're afoot when you get there. I think you're better off if you drive to Toluca, Morelia and turn off just outside Quiroga where the sign points. You have a drive of about half an hour around the lake, through several villages, to Patzcuaro. I like the Posada de Don Vasco. It has a fireplace in the dining room (you need it cool evenings) and is loaded with atmosphere. The food is good. Be sure to try the famous white fish they catch with the butterfly nets in Lake Patzcuaro. The Posada is at the foot of the long hill that goes up to the town of Patzcuaro. You can rent boats at the landing below the hotel and go out to the island of Janitzio to look at the fishing village there.

Is Mexico City informal in the summer months?

You see people in slacks and sports shirts on the streets during the day. This is all right for tours or shopping for souveniers. However, if you go out in the evening wear a suit and tie. Many restaurants won't let you in without a tie. It's as formal or informal as any other big city.

Eight Jurors Are Seated

ANGLETON, Tex. (AP) — Eight jurors have been selected in the trial of Henry Francis Amerson, charged with the rape-slaying of a 26-year-old Houston airport insurance clerk.

Two jurors, a machinist from Richwood, Tex., and a Clute, Tex., housewife, were selected Friday. Jury selection continues Monday morning.

Dist. Judge G. P. Hardy Jr., presiding in 23rd Dist. Court, has directed that jurors' names not be made public until the trial is completed.

Amerson, 38, a Houston airplane mechanic, is accused in the Jan. 16, 1965, slaying of Mrs. Marjorie Wills, whose nude body was found in a ditch near Pearland, Tex. An autopsy report said she had been strangled and raped.

Amerson has denied any knowledge of Mrs. Wills' death.

Brazoria County Dist. Atty. Tom Kenyon has said he will seek the death penalty.

Jehovah's Witness Sentenced Friday

AUSTIN (AP)—Thomas Gene French, 26, of Baytown, a member of Jehovah's Witnesses, was sentenced Friday to 18 months in federal prison for violation of the Selective Service laws.

French entered a guilty plea May 20 to failing to report to the Austin State Hospital for two years of service as an alternative to military service. He had been ordered by the Baytown draft board to report to the hospital April 22, 1963.

Two other members of the sect appeared before federal Judge Adrian Spears Friday.

Pickets Moved To Hidalgo

RIO GRANDE CITY, Tex. (AP)—Pickets for a farm workers' union spread into an adjoining county Friday after being barred by a court order from interfering with the Starr County melon harvest.

U.S. Dist. Judge Reynaldo Garza declined at Corpus Christi to rule on a request by the Independent Workers Association that he nullify a state injunction against picketing of melon packing sheds in this county.

Judge Garza said the union had not exhausted its state court remedies.

The union is seeking a minimum wage of $1.25 an hour, compared to the current 85 cents an hour.

Four Star County melon growers who obtained the restraining order in state court claimed they were harmed by the picketing. Each asked damages in excess of $1,000 a day.

Packers, members of another union, honored the melon pickers' picket line when it went up Wednesday. They returned to work Friday when the court order went into effect.

Barred from picketing in Starr County, the melon pickers posted pickets at Mission and McAllen packing plants in adjoining Hidalgo County.

Spokesmen claim the IWA has 1,500 members in this vicinity and all are striking. Melon growers contend the new union has no more than 50 members.

Margil Sanchez, a union local officers, said laborers are being brought across the border from Mexico to replace those on strike. He said a Labor Department official in Washington had promised to investigate and to close the border to commuting workers if this proved the case.

36th Division To Start Field Training

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP)—The 4,000-man 36th Infantry Brigade heads for the open country of Ft. Hood Sunday for annual field training.

Brig. Gen. Ross Ayers said the priority brigade, formed by a re-shuffling of reserve forces in November 1965, will spend its entire 15 days this year in the field.

He said his units will conduct battalion training tests during the June 5-18 period.

Insect Survey To Start Monday

The insect survey team being sponsored jointly by the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. and the Agricultural Extension Service will begin in Scurry County June 6 according to an announcement mady by the county agricultural agent. Sixteen fields will be included in the survey during 1966. This survey should give a very good picture of the insect situation over Scurry County this year since there were only four fields included in the survey during 1965, said County Agent Billy Roach.

The Crops Committee met with the County Agricultural Agent to select the fields which would be included in the survey and the survey team has located and made one inspection of each field in Scurry County. The insect survey team is composed of Jimmy Jeffries and Rodney Teichelman. This team will work under the direct supervision of Emory Boring, Area Entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service located in Vernon.

A weekly inspection will be made of each field and a copy of the insect report will be left with the producer and a copy will be given to the County Agricultural Agent. This report will be used to keep the producers over the county informed of any buildup or problems that may develop during the growing season.

The survey is being used to not only determine the amount of over-wintering of bollweevils and their habits but also to try to determine the in-season buildup of certain insects and when other insects might be expected to increase to damaging population. It is felt that this survey will be very helpful in keeping up with the insect population which will develop during the 1966 growing season.

Club Has Program On South America

Charlie Noble presented a program based on his recent trip to South America to the Snyder Rotary Club at noon Friday.

Noble showed slides and made comments on his colorful and fast moving trip.

Guests at the meeting were Bill Lindley of Abilene, Peter Fox and Bill Brown of Sweetwater.

Rotary Club President Don Browning presided at the meeting.

Jaycees Plan Events

The Snyder Jaycees held their regular noon meeting Friday and discussed arrangements of junior golf tournament and combination barbecue and hootenanny.

A Junior Golf Tournament will be held at the Snyder Country Club June 8-9, under the supervision of the Jaycees. The meet will begin each day at 9 a.m. Anyone that meets age requirements can enter by calling Charlie Bruce at the country club pro shop.

Plans on the barbecue and hootenanny were discussed, but all arrangements were not made.

Herb Reed, Jaycee president, presided, and John Bollinger gave the invocation. Jack Lawrence read the creed.

Hermann Sons Plan Camp

SAN ANTONIO—More than 1,600 junior members of the Sons of Hermann fraternal order, ranging in age from 9 through 13, will attend the Hermann Sons Youth Summer Camp at Comfort, Tex., June 5-Aug. 20. They will represent nearly all of the 167 Hermann Sons lodges cross the state, including the Snyder area.

Attendance this summer will be a new record, reported Fritz Schilo, San Antonio, Grand President of the Hermann Sons. The camp is free on a merit basis to junior members of the order. Those unable to earn the required number of points under the merit system may attend the camp for one week with all meals included for $10. All of the youngsters must have paid for at least a year's membership in the Hermann Sons in order to qualify through either route.

Conducted in 11 sessions of one week's duration each, the camp will be exclusively for girls for the first six weeks, and a capacity number of 996 girls have already been signed up. For its last five weeks the camp will be exclusively for boys, and more than 600 boys have already made arrangements to attend.

First opened in 1954, the camp has been continually expanded over the years due to an ever increasing demand, Schilo said.

Fisherman Could Have Found Bomb

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Spanish fisherman Francisco Simo was perplexed.

He claimed he saw a hydrogen bomb fall from an American bomber — over the Mediterranean last January but couldn't get anyone to believe he could locate it.

"They could have saved all this time (80 days) and many millions of dollars if, from the first day, they had believed me," Simo wrote to John R. Elliott, a copy editor for the Louisville Times.

Two months ago, Elliott put $1 in an envelope addressed to the H-bomb finder and mailed it as part of America's gratitude for the recovery.

Simo's reply, typewritten in Spanish, was translated to read, in part, ". . . always showing them the same spot and tired that they didn't believe me, I bet my head—in the presence of two commanders, a captain of the navy, and an air force colonel—saying that if the bomb wasn't found within a 100-meter radius, they could dispose of me. An hour and a half after this conversation, the submarine Alvin found the bomb."

The fisherman wrote that he told the Americans several times he could take "a simple boat and six men" and make the recovery.

Simo wrote that he was told, "Don't worry about anything, you will be recognized and compensated.

"I have been 'recognized' (Simo received a scroll and presidential inauguration medal) and the only compensation has been your small gift, which I esteem."

Meantime, the Navy reported it would bill the Air Force for about $6 million to cover its costs of recovering the bomb.

Letters To The Editor

To The Daily News:

My home town, that's Snyder. Many times when we've been on vacation we've been asked where we were from. I've always said, "Our home town is Snyder." They were just words then, but now I'm beginning to realize that Snyder is indeed "my home town," and has been for 15 good years. Our oldest son, Kenneth, completed 12 years of school in Snyder Public Schools. I only wish that Randy and David could do the same.

We are moving to Victoria, Texas, on June 8. I've made no secret of the fact that I don't want to go. I am leaving something very precious behind me—a host of good friends, and it's going to be very difficult for me to say goodbye to any one of them.

We've seen people come and go in 15 years. In our block on Thirty-eighth, Mrs. Alice Lane is the only original home owner, besides ourselves.

For five years I've worked in a dry cleaning plant off the square in Snyder. There are so many businessmen and women I've met that I'll never forget. I have worked for and with some of the most respected people in Snyder—Joe and Janie Graham, Art and Helen Roberts—they are not only employers, but good friends as well.

I don't think I could leave Snyder if I didn't think that one of these days I'll be able to come back. As long as Sunray is here, there is that possibility. But wherever we go, "My home town", will always be Snyder.

I'm always ready for a cup of coffee, and will be more than eager for news from home. So, come and have a cup with me whenever you're in Victoria.

Starnes-McPherson Vows Exchanged Here May 28

White gladioli and leather leaf fern decorated the lovely altar of the Trinity Methodist Church, for the formal marriage of Miss Evelyn LaVoyce Starnes and Garry Ellis McPherson May 28.

Rev. Ross Dunn, the pastor, officiated at 8 p.m., for the double ring ceremony. White ribbons and leather leaf fern marked family pews.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Starnes, 2902 Thirty-second, Snyder, and Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Morrow, 308 East Highway.

The organist, Mrs. Jack Patchell, played a prelude program of nuptial music, and accompanied Bob Covey, soloist.

When given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing an Empire A-line sheath of Chantilly lace over peau de soie with scalloped edged carpet train, scalloped neckline and long pointed sleeves that buttoned to the elbow. Her pillbox headdress of peau and Chantilly lace was dotted with bridal pearls and secured a flowing fingertip illusion veil.

Attending the bride were Mrs. Jeff Buesher, who served as matron of honor, and Miss Margaret Zeck and Miss Marie Jackson, bridesmaids. Their Empire styled gowns were of mint green embossed peau de soie, with emerald green velvet ribbon sashes at the waistline. Their headdresses were of matching green tulle held to a ring of mint green embossed peau, with attached back bow and streamers of velvet ribbons. They carried white gardenias with sprays of English Ivy. The flower girl, Marjann Morrow, sister of the bridegroom, was dressed identical to the attendants.

Paul Baker served as the best man.

Groomsmen were Jimmy Don Everett and Buck Martin. Ushers were Royce Starnes, brother of the bride, and Johnny Gardner, a brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother chose a flamingo spring wool two-piece suit with matching accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a beige knit suit with black accessories. Both had orchid corsages.

The couple was honored with a reception in the fellowship hall of the Trinity Methodist Church. The bride's table held a three-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal figurine and a memory candle encircled with leather leaf fern. The bridegroom's table held mint-green carnations.

Mrs. Johnny Gardner registered wedding guests and Mrs. Spud Curfew of Crane, Miss Phyllis Sealy, Miss Suzanne Birdwell and Mrs. L. D. Starnes assisted with the reception.

The couple left on a wedding trip to points in New Mexico and will be at home in Huntsville. A 1965 graduate of Snyder High School, the bride attended Southwest Texas State College and her husband, also a graduate of Snyder High School, attended Texas A&M University and is now a student of Sam Houston State Teachers College.

Out of town wedding guests attended from Amarillo, Bryan, Midland, Odessa, Lubbock, Mineral Wells, Crane and Texarkana.

Novel Takes Side Of Red Man

A COUNTRY OF STRANGERS. By Conrad Richter.

Richter's novel is a touching, tragic, thought - provoking story of a victim of early America's betrayal of the red man.

Ironically the victim is a white girl, who at a very early age had been captured by the Indians. She has been raised in an Indian family, and given the name of Stone Girl. She has married an Indian, is the mother of an Indian boy named Otter Boy. She has only a few faint memories of her pre-Indian life. She thinks, feels and acts like an Indian.

But when the white men demand the general return of captives, she is taken away from her husband — later she is to learn he has been killed in a raid — and with Otter Boy is sent on a long journey. A French priest takes them and another captive girl back to the white settlements in Pennsylvania to restore them to their real parents.

Disastrously, Stone Girl is rejected by her white father. She becomes lost between the races — neither white nor Indian, but in her primitve way her allegiance is with her dark - skinned son.

Then comes the terror of an Indian raid on the white settlements; a dangerous mission to save her small white sister; a desperate escape, a sorrowful retreat to the wilds.

Richter has told the story from the viewpoint of the almost - Indian beliefs and customs, with an expert insight into Indian psychology, language and symbolism.

This is a companion novel to the author's well - known "The Light in the Forest." It contains a deep sense of tragedy and fortitude, and a deep sympathy for the victims of the white man's arrogant invasion of the wilderness.

TO WED—Mr. and Mrs. Denver H. Springer of Lenorah have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Carolyn Ruth, to Glenn Lanier Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Ward, 3200 Hill Avenue, Snyder. The bride-elect is a graduate of Stanton High School, attended Howard County Junior College and Hardin-Simmons University. The prospective bridegroom is a graduate of Snyder High School and is attending Hardin-Simmons. The wedding is set for 7 p.m. July 15 at the Lenorah Baptist Church. The Rev. John S. Rankin will officiate.

Kiddies Games In Tile

Why not utilize the floor of your playroom as a specialized game area? A hop-scotch court can be easily laid out in ceramic tile, and the variety of tile available allows for a wide choice as to color and size. For additional games, nine white tiles surrounded by a darker border will provide a tic-tac-toe layout while alternating black and red-tiles make a checkerboard. And tile's easy maintenance wins the game all the way.

The recipe for Eggs Benedict usually calls for toasted English muffins topped with sauteed slices of cooked ham, poached eggs and Hollandaise Sauce. Instead of using the ham, you can substitute slices of Canadian bacon.

MRS. DANNY LYNN FENTON

Miss Cotton, Mr. Fenton Wed In Buford Church

Miss Sareta Jo Cotton became the bride of Danny Lynn Fenton at 8 p.m. June 2 in the Buford Baptist Church. Rev. Jimmy Law of the Belvue Baptist Church in Kermit officiated in the double ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom A. Cotton, Rt. 1 Hermleigh, and Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Fenton, 1706 Thirty-seventh St., Snyder, are the parents of the couple.

When the bride was presented in marriage by her father, she was wearing a formal gown of white slipper satin which was designed and made by the brides' mother. The bell-shaped skirt with chapel train had lace flowered appliques embroidered with pearls on the skirt and bodice. The bride had long tapered sleeves, and wore a finger-tip length veil with rinestones, pearls and flowers. The bride carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Vickie Cotton attended her sister as maid of honor wearing a light blue satin gown with bell skirt and fitted bodice. She wore a brief veil and carried a bouquet of gladiolus.

Mr. Jim Sullenger of Snyder served the groom as best man, and David Feaster of Colorado City and Dick Williams of Big Spring ushered.

The church was decorated with two baskets of white gladiolus and stock with an arch between and two candleabras holding white candles.

Mr. Don Feaster provided organ music, and Miss Judy Carter sang selections of "O Promise Me." and "Lord's Prayer." Miss Carter was accompanied by Miss Amelia Erwin.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the bride's home. Miss Jerlyn Dunn presided at the bride's table which was decorated with medallion cut work cloth over blue, candles, bride's bouquet and maid of honor's bouquet. A white three tiered-separated wedding cake was served.

The bride chose a three piece suit of light blue silk to begin a week long wedding trip to Corpus Christi. The couple will make their home in Snyder.

The bride is a 1965 graduate of Colorado High School, and is now a sophomore at West Texas State University.

The bridegroom is a 1965 graduate of Snyder High School, and is also attending West Texas State University. He is engaged in farming and ranching near Snyder.

Some Try To Save The Foxes

THE RUNNING FOXES. By Joyce Stranger.

This small gem of writing about foxes, dogs and people, imported from England, should glow for many a year.

It is fiction of the sort that transcends even the most imaginative of factual nature reporting.

The scene is a rural hamlet in the Lake Country, where an odd sort of fox hunting takes place. Not the fashionable, pink jacket, fence-jumping chase on horseback, to the sound of the kennel pack's cries. It is hunting on foot, by local farmers and artisans who individually breed their own hounds.

The chief human protagonist is 86-year-old Jasper, a pensioner who owns an ancient one-eyed terrier named Skim. Because of their age, Jasper and Skim have been given the brush-off by the gruff characters at the local pub.

The principal animal protagonists are a vixen and her two cubs, Rufus and Rusty.

Old Jasper watches the trio, and feels sympathy and admiration for them. It is a feeling that is shared by a local vagabond who delights in freeing animals from snares and traps-including the vixen. There also are a Welsh veterinarian and his wife, who operate what amounts to an animal rescue project.

The animals and people are depicted with heartwarming sympathy and understanding, the story is fascinating, and the book is a treasure for every animal lover's shelf.

Symphony With Love Motif

MEMORIES OF THE FUTURE. By Paul Horgan.

Basically this is a story of a love triangle that was shattered by war.

But Horgan, rather than focusing solely on two men and a woman in a tragic situation, has written a narrative covering two generations in the tightly knit world of naval officers and their families.

David and Duncan, classmates at the Naval Academy, had courted Eliza, and David had won. A few years later both men were in a Japanese prisoner of war camp, and David had died five days before the cessation of hostilities.

The narrative begins at Annapolis the following January, upon Duncan's return, and before long Eliza has fallen in love with Duncan.

By means of long flashbacks, the author shows the romance of David's father and mother—the father was a naval officer too — the dying father's heroic efforts to get young David into the Academy, David's courtship of Eliza, and the long vigil the mother and wife kept after David had been reported missing. There also is a graphic description, given by Duncan to the mother, of David's last days at the camp.

The love theme is framed in a compassionately told story of the whole family.

Cotton won't shock or cling

To keep a ham slice from curling while it is under the broiler, snip the fat around the edge at about 1-inch intervals. You can use your kitchen scissors to make these gashes.

Large capers are particularly delicious. You can usually find them in jars in a supermarket or other food shops that stock Spanish - type foods.

From the back of the neck, draped the removable English net train banded with peau and showers of lace motifs extending the length of the aisle - wide sweep. The bride's headpiece served as "something borrowed." The crown, which held the three - layer silk illusion veil, was created from pearls of the groom's great - grandmother, which had also been worn by his aunt, Mrs. Ray B. Dickey and his cousin, Mrs. R. J. Demmer. A white orchid and Frenched mums atop the bride's mother's white Bible composed the bridal bouquet. For the traditional something old, she carried the Irish linen handkerchief used by her mother in her wedding 36 years ago.

Library Notes

You don't have to be an astronaut to discover new frontiers. Many of your neighbors are finding their new frontiers right in the Scurry County Library. From skin diving to sky diving, and from art and music to gardening, the library has something for everyone.

New books from which to choose are: "Games People Play" by Eric Berne. This is a best seller.

"Thirty Years That Shook Physics" by George Gamow. During this century's early decades, two revolutions in the field of theoretical physics astounded the scientific world: Einstein's theory of relativity, and the quantum theory. This book is the story of the still - incomplete quantum theory — a product of the creative work of several scientists — and of the handful of men whose contributions changed the face of physics.

"How To Collect the New Antiques" by Ann Kilburn Cole. This knowledgeable book gives you the latest, inside information, and explores completely new territory. The author has researched objects and furnishings dating from the decline of Victorian in 1890 to the beginning of Modern in the early 20's, and reveals these turn-of-the-century items as the "new" antiques — the next targets for the knowing collector.

Other non - fiction books are "Games For Insomniacs" by John G. Fuller; "Mr. Jefferson's Ladies" by Gordon Langley Hall; "This Kind of Peace" by T. R. Fehrenbach; "Churchill's Last Years" by Roy Howells and "Teen Scene" by Lawrence Lariar.

New fiction: "Child Divided" by Henry Cecil. This is a tense and sobering, though often very funny, novel which will fascinate its readers and start a lot of discussion.

"Last Warpath" by Will Henry. This is a new fictional treatment of the forty - year struggle for Cheyenne survival.

"Children are Gone" by Arthur Cavanaugh. Here is a novel of extraordinary intensity that touches us where we are most vulnerable — in our deep poignant love for our children and the always - lurking fear that they might be harmed.

Other fiction books are: "Sisters and Brothers" by Janet Stevenson; "Generous Man" by Reynolds Price; "Tenant" by Roland Topor and "If Reader of Science Fiction" by Frederik Pohl.

Texas Reading Club program is scheduled to begin registration on Monday morning, June 6th, at the Scurry County Library. All school age children, from high school to those who were first graders during the 1965-66 school term, are eligible to sign for the program.

In order to qualify for the program, children must call at the Scurry County Library and fill out an abbreviated form which includes his or her name, address, age and grade in school for the coming fall term. Any school child in the county may qualify.

Children may choose their own reading material from books at the library. Credit will be given for 12 books read during the summer vacation period, providing the books selected are suitable for their age and grade reading level. Only two books by any one author will be honored for credit toward a reading certificate.

The vacation reading program will end on August 15th. Certificates, issued by the Texas State Library at Austin, will be given each child who satisfactorily completes the required number of books.

This year, each child or parent will be responsible for keeping a list of books read. They will also be responsible for returning the list to the library for credit.

When cooking with cheese, always keep the heat low. Cheese needs just enough heat to melt and blend with other ingredients. High heat or long cooking makes cheese tough and stringy.

Exercises Can Foil Wrinkles

By VIVIAN BROWN

Every little facial muscle has a meaning all its own, says Joyce Lee, who has been studying them since childhood.

Her Viennese mother and grandmother used to do facial exercises to foil wrinkles.

It testimonials are any indication, her method works. Miss Lee is armed with the good wishes of a sizeable number of well-known clients who claim she has helped them.

"Circulation slows down as we grow older and muscles of the face lose the ability to hold up flesh. Skin droops. But if the muscle is exercised, it can perform its natural function," she explains.

But if you can't sit down and concentrate, you shouldn't start the exercises, she says. A large amount of self discipline is necessary.

Exercises are divided into preliminaries (learning to manipulate the muscle) that are done for six days, morning and night the main exercise is once a day, six days a week. After lines disappear, it is done once a week. If a line at the corner of the mouth is just beginning, preliminaries might halt it. But if it has reached the jowls stage, the complete exercise is needed.

Many lines have their beginning in youthful habits—grimacing, resting the face against the hand, wrinkling the forehead to apply eye makeup. Some exercises are supposed to ward off wrinkles but create additional ones, Miss Lee explains.

Try these exercises in front of a mirror.

For the scowl line: apply a thick layer of cream to the face. Scowl by moving muscles between eyebrows inward in tiny, definite controlled movements, one movement to each count of ten. Now do a release exercise, controlling muscles on the return as you did on the inward movement, counting back, 10 to 1 in reverse steps, one movement to each count.

After that position take hands (in white cotton gloves) lacing index finger of left hand at inner corner of right eyebrow and left thumb at inner corner of left eyebrow, spreading and smoothing the scowl area between finger tips. Place a round of facial tissue about the size of a half-dollar over scowl area. Over that tissue place a smooth disc (Miss Lee uses a round 4-inch long acrylic disc) pressing it flat against scowl lines with pressure of both hands. This is a "resistance position."

While the disc is in hand, do the two preliminary exercises, keeping pressure on it all the time. First do the muscle movement, then the muscle releaser, making sure the movements are tiny, gradual and controlled.

Beaver-Overturff Vows Are Exchanged At Fluvanna

Miss Robyn Elaine Beaver became the bride of Houston Ray Overturff Thursday, May 26, at 8 o'clock in the Fluvanna Church of Christ. Sanford Thompson of Abilene officiated the double ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Beaver of Fluvanna and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Overturff of 7102 Andrews Hwy., Odessa, are parents of the couple.

When presented in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a carpet length gown of imported silk. The sheath gown was designed with elbow length sleeves and a fitted empire bodice encircled with Venice lace. The scooped neckline extended to the back into a modified decolletege. A detachable panel, outlines in lace, swept to the floor from a soft bow. She wore short white gloves and a pearl and lace trimmed double crown secured to elbow length tiers of silk illusion. The bride carried a cascading bouquet of feathered mums topped with a white gardenia, and a lace handkerchief belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. J. E. Shipp.

Miss Gina Lisa Beaver attended her sister as maid of honor wearing a sleeveless ming blue satin sheath designed with a modified empire bodice. A narrow self material ruffle encircled the bodice and hem of the street length dress. Her head was adorned with a "caplet" of Lily-of-the-Valley and satin leaves in matching color. A circular veil of silk illusion fell softly to the brow. She wore shoes matching the color of her dress, short white gloves, and a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bride, and carried a colonial nosegay of feathered mums with a white gardenia.

Mr. Burl Belew served the groom as best man and Ronny and Joe Rue Beaver ushered. The church was decorated with tapers and bursts of greenery. Music was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lieb and Mr. Wade Davis.

Following the ceremony the reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. Miss Jane Bell of Midland registered guests. Mrs. Ronny Beaver and Miss Pam Beaver presided at the Bride's table; which was covered in a linen and lace cloth and appointed with crystal service. Serving at the groom's table were Misses Belva Jo Shipp and Regina Ellis. Coffee and chocolate cake were served in silver appointments and red napkins and an arrangement of red carnations adorned the table. Also assisting in the house party were Mrs. Panch McDonald, Mrs. Matt Allen, Mrs. Sam Bruner and Mrs. Frank Beaver.

For a short wedding trip the bride chose a three piece navy and white summer knit suit, and white accessories to complete her ensemble.

The bride was Miss Snyder in 1963, and represented Snyder in the Miss Texas Pageant in Fort Worth that year. She graduated from Fluvanna High School and attended San Angelo College. She is completing her studies at Sul Ross State College in Alpine, Texas.

Mr. Overturff, a graduate of Odessa High School and former American Junior Rodeo Association champion is also attending Sul Ross. He was a member of the Sul Ross Rodeo Team in 1965 and served as calf roping director of the SR rodeo club in 1966.

For Kids— Help On Each Block

By JAY BOWLES
Associated Press Writer

Suzie is walking home from junior high school when a strange automobile stops. She is invited by the driver to ride "home," with candy thrown in as an incentive.

Bruce is on his way to class when he slips on the sidewalk and falls on a piece of glass. He's badly cut and doesn't know where to turn.

Both children get caught in a sudden thunderstorm which materializes out of a clear blue sky. They have no place to go for shelter.

These problems are typical of any hometown. No special situation spawns them and generally no quick solution is available for them.

The problems have been met in a large residential and business area of East Chattanooga, one of the city's older middle-class neighborhoods which is counted among thousands around the country that have become victims of creeping urban deterioration.

Suzie, Bruce and the more than 500 junior high students like them have places of refuge in which they can seek shelter or protection. These havens are nothing more than homes. But their occupants know whom to call and what to do in case of emergency; and the children know that the occupants know.

The block home program is supported by the neighborhood P-TA, school officials, ministers and the women's auxiliary of the city - county medical society. Participating homes are marked with 5" x 5" orange and white signs.

"The idea is to try to get a home on each block on the main routes that youngsters use to come to school and return home," says Robert J. Matusek, principal at Hardy Junior High School. "We want a home on each block where youngsters are able to go in case of any kind of emergency—any time they need any help of any kind."

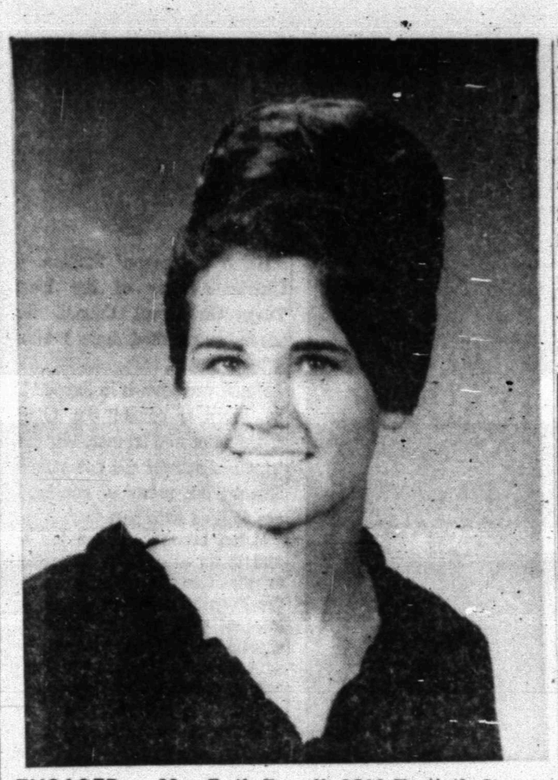

There is no more problem with crime in the area than anywhere else in the country. "But the situation is worsening all over," notes The Rev. Leonard Townley, a local minister who is spearheading the effort.

Residents of the homes, and businesses along the main routes, are provided with complete lists of telephone numbers to call in case of any kind of emergency. Their job is not to break up fights, give medical attention or fight off accosters —it is to notify the proper agencies who can do the job.

"We've encouraged all our youngsters to actually re-route themselves in a direction where they will have a series of these block homes," says Matusek.

The Rev. Mr. Townley admits the program is "not free from people taking advantage of it."

"But is is the best way of providing an island of safety for children in distress.

ENGAGED — Mrs. Ruth Powell, 3509 Fortieth Street, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Brenda Kay, to Gordon Everett Shultz, son of Mrs. Geraldine Shultz, 632 Wells, Pampa. The ceremony is set for 7 p.m. July 9 at the First Methodist Church. The bride-elect is a graduating senior at Texas Tech. The prospective bridegroom is a music education major at Texas Tech.

Clue For Irregulars

THE INCREDIBLE SCHLOCK HOMES. By Robert L. Fish.

Of course the In Group will relish this book, and a good many others will find it diverting. By In Group we mean the fans — often organized as the Baker Street Irregulars — of Doyle's Sherlock Holmes stories.

There are 12 yarns here, and they might be called affectionate parodies of the Holmes saga — the 19th Century granddaddy of the modern detective story — in which the sage's residence in Baker Street becomes Bagel Street.

Fish has done the literary equivalent of the musical form known as "variation on a theme."

The structure of each story is the same. Homes receives a strange visitor. He deduces instantly some odd facts about the visitor, from his aspect, his clothing, his mannerisms, etc.; this being a parody, he is utterly wrong. The visitor always has a tremendous mystery to solve, sometimes involving a message of (presumably) deadly import.

Fish arranges matters so that Homes always takes some very transparent clues and converts them into deeply mystifying and esoteric puzzles. He always arrives at a ridiculous solution, and at the end his friend — "Dr. Watney" of course — happens to read in a newspaper the outcome of what the reader has known all along. The whole trick is that Fish has imagined so many variations on the basic theme.

As a gentle and appreciative parody this is quite clever. But there is a bonus. The author spices his humorous mockery with some delightfully sly, delicious puns.

Savory Wax Beans

1 pound wax beans
1 cup boiling water
¾ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons butter
1 medium onion, cut in thin strips
1 can (6 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained

Tip beans; scrub in cold water; drain. Cut crosswise in ¼-inch pieces. In a covered saucepan rapidly cook beans with boiling water and ½ teaspoon of the salt until tender - crisp — about 10 minutes; drain. Meanwhile in a skillet in the butter, gently cook the onion until golden; mix with the beans, mushrooms and remaining ¼ teaspoon salt; reheat. Makes 6 servings.

Scarbrough-Nokes Vows Exchanged Here Friday

Barbara Scarbrough and Johnny Nokes Jr. were united in marriage at 6 p.m. Friday, June 3, at the First Methodist Church. Vows were read before an altar decorated with white gladioli, brass candelabra holding votive candles and greenery.

Dr. John English, pastor of the church, officiated at the doublering ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Scarbrough, 2804 Thirty - sixth Street. Mr. Nokes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Nokes Sr., 2301 Denison, Snyder.

Mrs. Wendell Rehm, organist, presented nuptial music at the organ as guests arrived.

The bride, accompanied down the aisle and given in marriage by her father, wore a floor - length wedding gown of white silk organza designed with an A-line skirt and an empire waist line. The close - fitting bodice featured a bateau neckline and long sleeves that came to petal points over the hands. The gown was highlighted with sprays of alencon lace in a rose pattern and had long stems outlined in pearls. A detachable watteau train carried out the same pattern.

Her veil of silk illusion fell from a pearl tiara. She carried a cascading bouquet of white gardenia surrounded by white feathered mums.

For something old, the bride had a six pence in her shoe. Something new was her wedding dress; something borrowed was the pearl tiara, worn by Mrs. Dennis Haddon of Plainview. Something blue was a garter.

Miss Karen Doherty of Durango, Colo., was the honor attendant. Miss Susan Boren was bridesmaid. They wore ginger pink floor length gowns following the same silhouette as the bride's gown. A watteau panel of lace accented the back. They wore matching headpieces featuring circular veils.

Cathy Scarbrough, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a floor - length gown of "better times" pink with matching headpiece and carried a basket of white rose petals.

Terry Scarbrough, the bride's brother, was ringbearer.

Johnny Nokes Sr., father of the bridegroom, was best man, and Ray Nokes, brother of the bridegroom, was the groomsman. Ushers were Jay Don Rogers, Don Terrell of Plainview, Harvey Coe of Houston, Don Richardson of Fort Worth and Bonnard Green of Sweetwater.

A reception was held in Wesley Hall, with the bride's parents hosts. The table was laid with a white organza cloth with pink insertions. The table was centered with a white memory candle and a crystal punch bowl. The three - tiered wedding cake was on each end.

Those in the houseparty were Phyllis Sealy, Jo Ann White, Phyllis Gladson, Pam Cole and Mrs. A. D. Dodson.

The bride chose a wheat lime two-piece suit with beige accessories for traveling, and she wore the gardenia corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a spring graduate of Snyder High School and will continue her education at Odessa Commercial College this summer.

Mr. Nokes is a 1965 graduate of Snyder High School and attended Cisco Junior College the past year. He will continue studies at Odessa Junior College.

The couple will be at home at 1602 N. Tom Green, Odessa. Out-of-town guests here for the wedding were from Conroe, Childress, Quanah, Lubbock, Houston, Fort Stockton and Roswell, N.M.

The bridegroom's parents were hosts for a rehearsal dinner on Thursday evening at their home.

Helen Costlow of Stanton, a District Adviser of the West Texas Girl Scout Council for seven years, died June 1 after a long illness.

Helen was known in Snyder in her work as council day camp coordinator and trainer. Her district assignment did not include Snyder, but many of our leaders worked with her.

Helen brought to her job — and to us — a deep dedication to the Girl Scout movement; the Promise and Laws were an integral part of her life. She shared her skills and knowledge with us so that we could have better program for our girls.

Her never - failing good humor added a fine touch to associations with her. Helen was a professional worker in every sense of the word. She knew the value of the volunteers in Girl Scouting and always tried to help us do a good job. Helen was generous with her time and talents; we have been enriched because of our acquaintance with her.

Helen Costlow will long be remembered in the West Texas Girl Scout Council.

Fort Bliss' Foreign Soldiers Learn More Than Tactics

EDITOR'S NOTE: Soldiers from Japan, Italy and other allied nations get to learn about America as well as how to defend their countries, thanks to the "host family program" at Ft. Bliss on the Mexican border.)

By FINIS MOTHERSHEAD

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)1 — Agostino Slaza brings the pizza.

Yukuo Ikeda brings the sake.

And Mrs. Flosi bakes the cake.

It has nothing directly to do with their countries' military might, but it fills otherwise lonely hours beween lessons on how to destroy attacking airplanes.

Soldiers of many nations converge at Ft. Bliss, an old post on the Mexican border which has become a U.S. Army air defense school teaching Nike missile techniques.

During their visits, many students form friendships which may one day affect much more than military readiness.

Take the case of Sgt. Natale Veloccia, 10,000 miles from home and family in Frosinone, Italy. His approaching 20th birthday promised to be lonely until he made friends with some lively young Japanese soldiers who arrived enough earlier to be better acquainted in El Paso.

They introduced Veloccia to Lawrence and Barbara Flosi and the couple's four children. By the time his birthday arrived, this acquaintance blossomed into one of the gayest celebrations he ever hopes to experience.

It came about because this short - statured, quick-smiling Italian was taken into a gradually broadening "host family program," also called Operation Americana. This a joint project of the El Paso Council for International Visitors on the civilian side and Ft. Bliss, Allied Student Battery on the military side.

El Paso families volunteer to "adopt" certain foreign trainees, opening their homes for relaxed and casual visits. The aim is to fulfill a need enunciated by the late President John F. Kennedy:

"The reception and treatment of foreign visitors coming to the United States . . . have an important effect upon the attiudes of other people toward the United States . . . I am convinced that increased participation by dedicated Americans in international exchanges will help us to achieve our common hope for a durable and just peace."

A friend told Barbara Flosi about the host family program last fall. She talked things over with her husband, a U.S. post office employe, and their children — Jeff, 15; Greg, 12, Laurel, 8, and Alicen, 5.

"When we learned that more than half the foreign boys who trained at Ft. Bliss last year went back to their own countries withou ever seeing the inside of an American home, we decided to do something about it," Mrs. Flosi said.

At the start the Flosis became sponsors of a group of Japenese, among nearly 1,000 Nike trainees currently at Ft. Bliss.

As freedom from classes and field training permitted, visits to the Flosi household became customary for S.Sgts. Yukuo Ikeda, Kunihisa Kawano, Syoihi Matsuura and Kiyoshi Yasumoto. Their respective home towns in Japan are Okayama, Miyazakin Aomori and Tokyo.

They talked and ate together, went on picnics and desert "cookouts," drove to points of interest — in short, engaged in the leisure pursuits shared by many energetic families in this country. For one regular pastime they sat on the floor with maps and travel literature to plot dream tours of Japan.

One evening there was an "all-Japan Night" program at Ft. Bliss. There the Flosis noticed their Japanese were especially friendly with several Italians, comparative newcomers.

Inquiry brought out that no sponsors had been found for the Italians. Result: The Flosis added two more soldiers to their foster family — Veloccia and a buddy, Sgt. Agostino Salza from Ronciglione, Italy.

Veloccia's birthday arrived soon afterward. It was agreed all would contribute something for a dinner. The Italians brought pizza. Sake for a ceremonial toast was provided by the Japanese. To top off the festive meal, Mrs. Flosi baked a big cake, complete with candles.

Similar interludes in the lives of Ft. Bliss' foreign trainees are arranged almost daily. The project developed against this background:

In the dozen years since this old cavalry post became an Army air defense center, soldiers from 50 Allied nations have been taught what to do with Nike missiles and returned home to instruct fellow troops.

A recent tally showed military students were here from the Republic of China, Denmark, France, Germany, Great Britain and Canada, Greece, Italy, Japan, Korea, the Netherlands, Saudi Arabia and Turkey. Usually there are about 1000 along with 25,000 U.S. Army personnel.

Most are 18 to 25 years old and practically all are sergeants. They study courses lasting two to 54 weeks, phased so that a complete new Nike battalion is ready for duty at the end of training for each national group.

Liaison officers of the various countries help to see that their men are satisfied with quarters and food, and that they comply with general directives.

Operation Americana evolved from the thinking of local leaders with guidance from the National Council for Community Services to International Visitors. They started putting the host family program to work in October of 1963.

Foreign students are assigned to foster families only by their own request. Except in special instances they must be able to speak at least some English. At last count there were 338 trainees and 104 of their dependents under sponsorship of 184 families living in or near El Paso.

"Please plan no special entertainment — just normal activities," the U.S. families are urged.

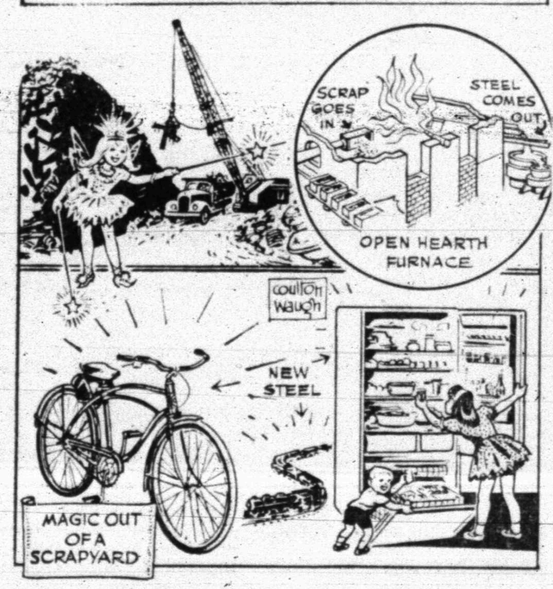

One hostess, running late because of a rather hectic day, decided on the spur of the moment to feed her husband and children sandwiches in the evening. Too late she remembered that their adopted soldiers also would be present.

"As it turned out," she reported, "they had never seen or tasted sandwiches — and they were delighted."

In another family, a teen-ager brought home a failing grade in algebra. One of his foster brothers, a Greek from Ft. Bliss who was a whiz at mathematics, took over as tutor. At semester's end the teenager proudly displayed an "A" on his grade card.

A young Frenchman was visiting as his adopted mother set out to visit an ailing friend in a new and modern hospital. She took him along. He came away so impressed that he asked and received permission for a half a dozen French friends to inspect the same institution.

Junior Editors Quiz on SCRAP METAL

QUESTION: Why is scrap metal used in the production of steel?

* * *

ANSWER: Steel is simply a refined form of iron, which is a very common metal, found in mixtures of materials called ores. Iron ore, dug out of the earth, is put in a blast furnace to become liquid or molten iron. Some of this is cast into shapes called pigs, but much is directly used in the making of steel. Something else, however, is used in steel making beside molten iron. This something is scrap iron or scrap steel, such as comes from old automobile bodies and all kinds of discarded pieces of steel and iron. This material, gathered by scrap yards and sold by the ton to steel making plants, is highly important for several reasons. First, it is an additional supply of raw material and so helps to conserve the natural supplies of iron ore. Then, scrap metal has had the impurities already taken out, and so helps greatly to create the purity needed in steel making. Even the rust on scrap in valuable, as it helps, in a chemical reaction, to purify the steel. Much steel is made by the "open hearth" method. Boxes of scrap are dumped in a pit, which is heated from below. After the scrap has melted, molten iron is poured in. Impurities flow off the top in the form of slag; molten steel flows out from below.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: You will have many possessions made from the melted steel which was cast into ingots and then pressed or rolled into various shapes. Although rust is of value in the manufacture of steel, it should be kept off the metal objects you possess. Wipe them with a little oil now and then if they are kept in a damp location, especially tools stored in a basement. 6-4

Stamps In News

HOW TIMES have changed. Twenty-five years ago the Nazis in Germany were persecuting the Jews. Today a new stamp issued by West Germany honors the Jewish Community Center Building in West Berlin. The stamp is part of the "New Berlin" series of six stamps depicting local buildings. The Community Center stamp is 30 pfennig. Also issued in this set is 60 pfennig showing the new Europa Center. The next three in the series will feature the University of Technology, Radio Tower and Planetarium with the Wilhelm-Foerster Observatory.

Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien announced plans for the issuance of three additional U.S. commemorative postage stamps during this year.

The stamps will salute the 75th anniversary of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the 25th anniversary of the U.S. Savings Bond program, and the Great River Road (a highway system linking Canada with the Gulf of Mexico on either side of the Mississippi River).

All will be 5-cent stamps. Designs and dates will be reported in this column as soon as they are received. These three new stamps will bring to 15 the number of commemoratives for 1966.

Another report from the postmaster general's office reveals the design of the new international airmail post card. The 11-cent card was issued May 27 with first-day ceremonies in Washington in conjunction with the Sixth International Philatelic Exhibition.

This will be the first international airmail post card ever issued by the U.S. It is also the first to be printed in duotone, a lithographic process by which inks are blended for rich tones.

The stamp itself is based on the symbol of the Commerce Department's U.S. Travel Service. To the left of an American Flag is a white panel in which appears in blue a map of the country. Across the bottom in blue is "Visit the U.S.A."

Four photographs on the left of the card itself are idicative of the widely varying attractions awaiting the tourist from abroad —the New York Skyline, the shoreline of Miami Beach, a view of Mt. Rainier and an Indian on horseback.

Collectors desiring first-day cancellations may submit orders to the Postmaster, Washington, D.C. 20013, including name and address, with zip number and remittance to cover the cost of the card—11 cents each. The envelope to the Postmaster should be endorsed "First-Day Covers 11-cent International Airmail Post Card." Orders must be postmarked no later than May 27.

Canada has issued a new 5-cent stamp honoring the 300th anniversary of LaSalle's arrival in the New World. The stamp bears a vignette profile of LaSalle superimposed on a ship and symbols of his career as an explorer and colonist.

Unsubtle Movie Script

REBECCA'S DAUGHTERS. By Dylan Thomas.

This is a literary novelty. Not a novel, but an original film script written some 20 years ago, when the author was toying with the idea of a hybrid form, a scenario that could be published as literature.

It is a script (never produced) about a remote area of Wales in the 1840s, when the landowning gentry used suppressive measures to squeeze the last bit of profit from their poverty-drugged farmers and herders. Their device was a series of tollgates on the sloppy roads, and they pressed their peasants to the point of revolt.

For the sake of prospective movie audiences, the story had to be told as a costume romance.

There was the young squire returning from military service in India to find that his estate had been drawn into the gentry's greedy scheme to exact tolls from the poor. Nominally he was among the oppressors, but his secret sympathies were with the oppressed.

The revolt took the form of a night - riding band that wrecked and burned the tollgates. They disguised themselves as women, called Rebecca's Daughters (from a Biblical reference). You have guessed, naturally, that the young squire was the real "Rebecca."

The romantic element had to be a beautiful young woman of the gentry, who scorned the young, dissembling squire as spineless, and secretly admired his other image as the dashing Robin Hood - like figure of "Rebecca."

Being movie material, this script was distressingly less than subtle. There were the usual eccentric lords, the faithful retainers, and craven spy in the ranks, the alarms and excursions and the heroine riding out at night to carry the message when the hero has been wounded in another valiant foray.

With its final fade - out, this was a formula - ridden film plot. It did have some touches of genuine humor, but its only appeal is as a novely.

Plaster cracks sometimes will appear on the walls of houses that are only a few months old. These openings, which can cause the owner of a new house to doubt the purchase, usually occur only because the structure has begun to settle in the ground and very rarely indicate any serious trouble.

Before attempting to repair such cracks, it is important to know whether the house settling has ended. If it hasn't — and if the repairs are made — the same thing will take place again in a short time. The best way to do this is to mark off the extremeties of each crack with a pencil or something else that can be easily erased. Wait a few weeks. If the crack hasn't lengthened, it is safe to go ahead with the patching job. Don't rely on your eyes and your memory to tell you whether the plaster split is getting larger.

Most plaster patching materials come in powder form and are mixed with water to make them workable. One of the most common is the spackling - type compound used mostly for small openings. It dries fairly quickly and is easy to handle. Others, including the old reliable plaster of paris, dry much faster and require that only enough be mixed to cover a small surface. Some professionals find that a 50-50 mixture of spackling compound and plaster of paris is very effective. In any case, no matter which material is used, read the directions on the container to determine the drying time.

Three things are important in patching plaster. One is to wet down the opening that is to be filled. The second is to wet it down after it has set. The third is to prime the spot with a primer, sealer or dab of paint before either repainting the entire wall or trying to match the patch with the rest of the surface. If either of the first two steps is omitted, the patch will dry out too quickly. If the third step is omitted, the spot will be visible after the wall has been repainted.

Small cracks are filled merely by applying patching material to them with a putty knife. But larger cracks require undercutting. This means making the bottom of each opening larger than the top, that is, making the edges of the plaster slant inward. When this is done, the new plaster is locked in place and will not easily fall out. Where a lot of plaster needs repacing, it is sometimes wise to fill the opening almost to the top, but not quite. Let it set for a few hours, wet it down, then fill the remainder, smoothing it out with the putty knife. This helps to prevent shrinkage, which occurs when a large opening is filled at one time.

Professional painters sometimes patch plaster, then go right ahead with the repainting of the wall. You'll be better off if you do the patching one day and the painting the next or, at the least, allow an interval of five or six hours.

QUESTION: There is a clay surface in the crawl space under our house. It appears to be perfectly dry at all times, except, of course, after a heavy rain, when water flows in there. We have been told that the excessive moisture in our house is coming from the crawl space, which doesn't seem very likely because it is well ventilated. Can you tell us what the trouble is?

ANSWER: First of all, there is no reason why water should be flowing into the crawl space during or after rain. Either install some sort of concrete barrier to prevent this from occuring or regrade the soil so that water will flow away from the crawl space rather than into it.

Once that has been done, wait until the clay appears perfectly dry, then place an old small rug on it and weight it down with stones. Wait about two or three days, then take up the rug. If the bottom of it is wet, then you know that moisture is arising from the ground and that this is a possible cause of the excessive moisture in your house.

In that event, cover the entire ground inside the crawl area with a vapor barrier, such as heavy roll roofing or polyethlyene film. Overlap the pieces about six inches and seal them well.

You had better be prepared, however, for the possibility that the excessive moisture inside your house is emanating right there (from showers, dryers, cooking ranges, etc.) and is not able to escape. This calls for exhaust fans, dehumidifiers, vents or some other method of getting the warm, moist air out of the house.

The Gardeners Corner

CHEMICAL weed controls are changing some aspects of gardening. For instance, the government has cleared some pre-emergence herbicides for control of weeds in vegetable gardens, as well as in lawns and flower beds.

You have to change garden timetables if you use chemical weed controls, applying at times and in amounts specified for the greatest effectiveness.

Such pre - emergence herbicides as Dacthal (Diamond Alkali Co.) will help you stay off your knees, that traditional position.

An easy - to - handle shaker can is effective when using the granular form of this herbicide in small vegetable plots and ornamental areas.

The manufacturer reports that Dacthal has been cleared by the Food and Drug Administration for use on food crops. It has been in use for years to control such weeds as: crabgrass, yellow foxtail, johnsongrass, annual bluegrass, lovegrass, witchgrass, barnyardgrass, carpet - grass, common chickweed, lambsquarter, purslane and Florida pussley.

Picture what a help pre-emergence herbicides will be on strawberry and onion fields, where weed control is so important.

Pre-emergence herbicides attack and destroy weeds as they reach the germination stage, preventing their emergence above the soil surface.

Dacthal, for instance, should be applied in the early spring, before the weeds emerge. Once the vegetation germinates, its effectivness is sharply reduced. It also should be used immediately after transplanting new plants.

Cultivate your plant bed thoroughly before introducing the chemical.

Apply it evenly to a soil or turf and water the treated area thoroughly.

If you use a general chemical cleared for use on food crops, be sure that the formula you buy does not contain other ingredients that may not have been cleared for the same specific crops.
