Caucasus Said Free Of Nazis

Reds Say 20,000 Slain In Clearing Oil-Rich Sector

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sunday, Oct. 10. — Charging Soviet divisions have wiped the Germans from the Caucasus, killing 20,000 troops and capturing 3,000 prisoners, Moscow announced today, while in the north the Red Army dashed to within 62 miles of the Latvian border.

The beaches of the former Nazi Kuban bridgehead were covered with sprawling German dead and great stocks of abandoned material, the Russians said, and Premier Marshal Joseph Stalin hinted triumphantly that the Crimea, Russia's "Florida," a few miles across the Kerch strait, soon would be invaded.

The Russians also won additional ground in their battle to broaden their three bridgeheads on the middle Dnieper, advanced to a town 25 miles southeast of Vitebsk in White Russia, and swept further toward the Latvian border in the fighting near Nevel.

Stalin in an order of the day to Col. Gen. Ivan Petrov said the Caucasus victory came "as the result of prolonged and bitter fighting" which "completed the destruction of the Taman forces of the enemy and completely cleared the Taman peninsula of enemy invaders."

Ordering an extended salute of 20 artillery salvos by Moscow guns to mark this milestone in Russian success, Stalin hinted in these words that the Crimea, just a few miles across the Kerch Strait from the now-cleared Taman peninsula, would soon feel the weight of russian assault.

Threatening Peninsula

The Russians already are threatening the peninsula from the north by their middle Dnieper bridgeheads and by fighting along the Sevastopol - Melitopol - Zaporozhe railway.

The Moscow communique, recorded by the Soviet monitor, said that incomplete data showed 7,073 railway cars, 83 locomotives, 540 heavy mortars, 52 tanks, 337 guns, 229 machine guns, 184 stores of military supplies captured in the last Caucasus battle.

The Germans said all troops and supplies had been safely withdrawn at night under the cover of artificial fog and claimed they had killed 335,000 Russians in the fighting.

The elimination of the Germans from the Kuban river bridgehead in the Caucasus ended the last German threat to Soviet oil reserves—and now the Crimean peninsula with its Black Sea naval base of Sevastopol is laid open for a Soviet attack from the east.

The Russians killed thousands more Germans and captured or destroyed more German guns and supplies in the great battle to ex-

Hurricane Hits Mexican Coast

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 9. (AP)—A hurricane with 100-mile an hour winds struck the Pacific coast port of Mazatlan this morning, but first reports said nothing of loss of life, Pan-American Airways reported today.

The only communication with the stricken port was by a short-wave radio on a Pan-American plane at the Mazatlan airport. The government was using this for special messages. Telephone and telegraph lines were down and all regular communication broken.

Up to 8 p. m. (ewt) there were no reports of personal injuries or loss of life. The residential portion of the city is inland on rising ground so the population should have been able to seek refuge from the high water which accompanied the winds.

Conversation Broken

Jose Gallardo, who was telephoning from Mexico City to the Pullman company offices in Mazatlan shortly after the storm began and before the wires went down, reported he had been told a coasting boat in the harbor had already floated four blocks into the city on the high water. Gallardo, an employe of the company, said the wires went down before he was able to obtain more information. He said rowboats were plying the streets at that time.

Pan-American said part of its airport was flooded but that it would try to send a special plane with medicines, equipment and government relief workers to the city tomorrow.

Business Area Flooded

Reports from Guadalajara, the nearest large city 260 miles south, were that many houses had been unroofed and the business section of the city flooded. They said it would be two weeks before the city's power plant can be put into service again.

Among the 21 passengers marooned in Mazatlan after the clipper landed and was storm-bound was Walt Disney, creator of Mickey Mouse, who was enroute to Mexico City.

Aussies Advance In Drive For Madang

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Sunday, Oct. 10—Allied airmen had the better of an exchange of moderately heavy blows in the southwesst Pacific during the past 48 hours while aground Australian troops fanned out in the Ramu valley of New Guinea to consolidate newly gained positions on a march toward Madang.

Adm. William F. Halsey's South Pacific command reported no additional Japanese attempts to withdraw from the central Solomons since an enemy Navy task force was defeated by American warships the night of Oct. 6 off Vella Lavella while bound for evacuation of troops from that island.

No American Landings

Neither was there any report of expected American landings on Kolombangara but South Pacific reports indicated some survivors of the repeatedly bombed enemy troops there had escaped by small craft during the past fortnight.

(A Japanese imperial headquarters communique said the evacuation of both Kolombangara and Vella Lavella has been completed.)

Belated reports from the South Pacific described a heavy rafd a few hours prior to the Navy battle, by American Liberators and Lightnings on the Japanese airdrome of Kahili on Bougainville.

Ranging over the equator north of New Ireland, a Liberator Friday morning spotted a convoy of three transports, escorted by destroyers, moving north. The big bomber attacked through an intense barrage thrown up by the enemy vessels and scored damaging hits on a 10,000 ton transport.

Battered Nips Lash Back

The badly battered enemy airforce returned to the attack in both New Guinea and the Solomons.

Friday, 11 Japanese medium bombers with 18 Zeros, raided Allied positions around Finschafen, the New Guinea air base on the Huon peninsula captured recently by Australians. The new raiders failed to cause any damage.

Over Vella Lavella in the Solomons Friday, patrolling Corsairs of the United States Navy broke up a formation of 15 Zeros, downing one enemy fighter in a brief battle.

On New Guinea, where Australians have reached a point 45 miles southwest of their objective of Madang, today's communique said "our forces continued the advance and now are entering the foothills of the Uria river valley."

Texans Urged To Aid In New Salvage Drive

AUSTIN, Oct. 9. (AP) — Put your old metal in a victory scrap bank, the Texas Salvage committee urged today in announcing a new campaign to meet the needs of mounting United Nations' war offensives.

The new drive will continue through Nov. 15, and Texans are being called upon to contribute their share of a national quota of 3,000,000 tons, said E. E. Kirkpatrick, chairman of the state committee. He urged the 700 local committees to lend every effort to making the new campaign a success.

"Present scrap inventories available to the mills represent only about two months' supply which is not considered a safe margin," Kirkpatrick asserted.

With the Allied armies carrying the fight to the enemy on every front, extra effort on the home front is necessary to meet production needs, he added.

HOSPITAL SHIP SUNK

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Oct. 9. (UP) — The British hospital ship Newfoundland, carrying among others a detachment of American nurses belonging to a field hospital to be landed at Salerno, was sunk Sept. 13 by German bombers, it can be revealed today. (The dispatch made no mention of casualties.)

Lubbock County Paces Area In Bond Campaign

31 Counties In Plains-Amarillo Sector Over Top

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

WITH Lubbock county setting the pace, at least 31 of the 45 counties in Lubbock-Amarillo region of the Dallas federal reserve district have exceeded their quotas in the Third War Loan drive.

This information was announced Saturday by George E. Benson

COUNTY—	QUOTA	SALES
Bailey	$ 369,500	$ 253,190
Briscoe	211,900	154,015
Castro	146,800	169,857
Cochran	189,200	211,481
Cottle-King	439,100	192,790
Crosby	571,100	444,555
Dawson	1,135,000	531,891
Dickens-Kent	410,500	420,056
Floyd	383,400	418,664
Gaines	164,900	221,426
Garza	362,300	379,235
Hale	1,191,100	1,389,684
Hockley	522,400	376,500
Lamb	999,400	1,015,350
Lubbock	4,618,900	5,894,903
Lynn	966,500	719,081
Motley	253,800	366,374
Parmer	316,500	324,223
Swisher	346,000	383,249
Terry	672,100	483,783
Yoakum	45,200	68,093

of Lubbock, region co-chairman of the Treasury's war finance committee, as having been received from C. M. Smith of Plainview, region manager.

The compilations were through Saturday, Oct. 2, the latest available, and showed that total sales in Lubbock county were $5,894,903.25. This exceeded the quota of $4,618,900 by $1,276,003.25, or slightly more than 27 per cent.

"Record "Almost Amazing"

The record revealed that Lubbock was ahead of its quota by a larger amount than any of the 45 counties in the region, and that its excess was the second largest in percentage.

The largest percentage belonged to Yoakum county, which had the smallest quota, $45,200, in the region. Sales there through Oct. 2 totaled $68,093 and exceeded the quota by 52 per cent.

Smith's letter to Benson referred to the Lubbock county record as being "outstanding, and almost amazing."

Drive officials expressed confidence that the final total for Lubbock county will be well above $6,000,000 before the end of the campaign, which has been extended from Oct. 2 through next Friday, Oct. 15.

Small Bonds Selling Well

They also were confident that the final report will show that the county has reached its quota for Series E, F and G bonds. Sales of these issues through Oct. 2 totaled $1,248,403, which was slightly more than 74 per cent of the $1,680,800 quota.

On the same date, the nation as a whole had reached only 62 per cent of the national quota set for these series. Lubbock also was ahead of the state in this respect, although exact state figures were not available.

In the Lubbock territory, at least 14 of 23 counties were over their quotas on Oct. 2.

Drives Combined

Counties which had failed to reach their quotas on that date were Bailey, Briscoe, Cottle-King, Crosby, Dawson, Hockley, Lynn and Terry.

Drives in Dickens and Kent and in Cottle and King counties have been combined.

It is strongly probable, Benson said, that some of the counties still short of their quotas on Oct. 2 have passed them since them. He expressed the belief that almost every county, if not every county, in the entire region will exceed its quota before the campaign ends.

The quota of $30,471,800 for the region was shown in the Oct. 2 report to have been exceeded. Sales to that time totaled $30,878,625.50. The region's excess over quota is sure to be increased substantially when final reports are made, Benson predicted.

Largest quota of any county in the region was assigned to Potter, of which Amarillo is the county seat, with $6,632,600. Sales there through Oct. 2 were $6,980,600.

The Lubbock county quota was the second largest in the region.

Young Lovers Tell Of Triple Slaying

Employer's Wife, Mother And Hired Man Found Murdered After Flight Of Couple

MERCER, Pa., Oct. 9 (U.P) — Blonde Janice Graham and surly William Albert Morell, standing side-by-side in the office of Sheriff Alex Albert, today told the story of how two women and a man were slain on the dairy farm near here where they worked as hired hands.

The young lovers agreed that Morell, petty thief and parolee from a correctional institution, committed the triple slaying about noon Thursday after trussing up the girl, whom he had lured into the barn on a pretext.

Janice, whose mother is former Sunday school teacher, and Morell, posing as man and wife were arrested in the bedroom of a farm house near Chardon, O., last night, ending a search which began with discovery of the murders Thursday afternoon.

Neither Morell nor the girl were clear as to the motive for the killings. Janice revealed a possible motive when she said that Morell and a hired hand, one of the victims, quarreled the night before the slaying over who was "boss." Morell was silent.

The victims were Mrs. Everett Wilson, 48, wife of the couple's employer, found strangled to death in the barn; her mother-in-law, Mrs. Catherine Wilson, 78, and the farm hand, Robert McKay, 61, the latter two killed in the Wilsons' 12-room home by shotgun blasts.

Deny Surprise Embrace

Although freely professing their love for one another, the 20-year-old couple denied emphatically that the younger Mrs. Wilson surprised them in a lover's embrace behind the barn.

Asked why he committed the slayings, Morell, attired in dark grey work clothes, replied: "I don't know."

"I'm sorry I did it," he added. "But there's no use being sorry now."

Janice extending her arms to show bruises on her arms and wrists where the rope she said was used by Morell to tie her up, injured the flesh, said:

"He (Morell) told me he did it because he wanted me and if he couldn't have me no one else would."

Janice, dressed in a blue blouse and figured skirt, sans stockings, and Morell, told of events from the time the youth called her to the barn until their capture last night.

The girl said she was doing the Cotton Oil Company Pays $10,000 Fine

AUSTIN, Oct. 9. (AP)—Southland Cotton Oil company of Paris, Tex., paid a $10,000 penalty and was permanently enjoined from violating the state's anti-trust laws under an agreed judgment entered in 33rd district court at Llano today, Attorney General Gerald C. Mann announced.

Mann said the judgment was entered in connection with two suits filed at Llano by the state on July 23 charging six corporations with an alleged conspiracy to dominate the Texas cottonseed industry.

Swift and company, West Texas Cotton Oil company and Midlothian Oil and Gin company were defendants with Southland Cotton Oil company in one of the two suits, Mann said, adding that cases against five defendants are pending.

"Good Neighbor" Policy Is Working On Tech Campus

By VIRGIL MIERS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

THE "Good Neighbor Policy" — which has as its aim the improvement of relations between Latin - Americans and Anglo-Americans throughout the Western Hemisphere — is on trial at Texas Technological college this year and thus far is working beautifully.

Six Latin - Americans, two from Costa Rica and four from the Republic of Mexico, are enrolled at the state institution here and, just like their Anglo-American counterparts, are wrestling with studies and cheering the efforts of their war-time football team. The six, which include a co-ed "muy bonita," believe the Good Neighbor policy can work; they say their experience has been that Texans, as well as Latin-Americans, are doing their share to make it work.

Says Business Firms Lagging

Guido Rodriguez, from Alajuela, Costa Rica, is an exchange student. His father owns and operates a banana plantation. He says that while the American government is doing its best to promote better understanding between Anglo and Latin-Americans, some of the government's efforts are undone by Americans business firms which create bad will in Latin-America by their policies, which "include taking advantage of everybody whenever they can."

Rodiguez, a freshman student, is majoring in civil engineering.

Another Costa Rica student, also from Alajuela, is Freshman Fabio Urbina. He is an enthusiastic admirer of Tech life, the people of this country and their methods. Also an enthusiastic dancer, he admits that "jeeterbugging" is as yet a little beyond his terpsichorean abilities.

The most prominent of the Latin-Americans on Tech campus is

Governor Sends Troops To Quiet Political Scrap

Sheriff Placed In Office In Face Of Bitter Opposition

POINT-A-LA-HACHE, La., Oct. 9 (AP) — Governor Sam Jones, invoking martial law, dethroned his bitter political enemy, District Attorney Leander H. Perez, at the Plaquemines parish courthouse here today and set up a temporary military rule under the commander of the state guard, Brig. Gen. Thomas Porter.

Jones issued a proclamation of martial law effective at 12:01 a. m. and with the use of about 600 state troopers removed Dr. Ben R. Slater from the sheriff's office and placed there his own appointee, Walter J. Blaize.

Resistance Swept Aside

The move was carried out with such strength and precision that armed resistance to Blaize which had existed in the parish for four months was swept aside and the guard was not forced to fire a shot.

The governor's proclamation declared that martial law was invoked "to suppress insurrection and rebellion against law and order" in Plequemines parish and to install Blaize in office and keep him from being interferred with "while lawfully performing" his duties.

The state guard convoy required approximately five hours to negotiate the 40 miles from New Orleans to this little river town by winding levee road.

It was held up twice by obstacles, first near the home of Perez at Braithwaite where a barricade of three trucks had to be moved from the road and then one mile outside of Point-A-La-Hache where a pile of oyster shells was fired with oil on the road.

Clash Narrowly Averted

A clash with parish special deputies was narrowly averted at the Braithwaite barricade where 75 deputies were massed but the deputies retreated and scattered without giving fight.

When the convoy reached the courthouse Perez and his deputies had departed.

Dr. Slater protested his civil rights were violated by the ouster.

"I will be a lot more comfortable with the military guard," Blaize said.

Lean On Ten Commandments

Slater, on the way out, declared:

"I don't think we will be able to resort to the civil law in this case. I think from now on we will have to depend on the ten commandments."

The contest over the sheriff's office has been in progress between Jones and Perez since the death of Sheriff L. D. Dauterive June 1.

Perez held out for an election to name the successor but Jones acted to enforce his appointment after the state supreme court had upheld it.

Change In Old Age Assistance Planned

CORSICANA, Oct. 9 (AP)— A change in distribution of old age assistance was indicated today by John Winters, newly appointed executive director of the state welfare department, who said "we are revising our policies in an attempt to get old age assistance to those who need it worst."

"There are many persons who qualify for assistance under the letter of the law but who do not need help as badly as others. It is our intention to see that the money goes where it is needed most," the executive director said.

The executive director, appointed by the state welfare board to replace J. S. Murchison, former Corsicana mayor, attended the closing sessions today of a conference of field workers and supervisors from areas 13 and 14, comprising six counties.

Half Of Jap Force Slain Near Nanking

CHUNGKING, Oct. 9. (AP)—Half of a Japanese force of unspecified strength has been trapped and annihilated near Hsuancheng, 80 miles south of Nanking, in unabated fighting in east China, press dispatches stated today.

The other half was said to have "broken through the Chinese ring and escaped with the help of reinforcements."

Yanks Smash Across River

Reinforced Nazis Flee To River Line Farther North

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Oct. 9. — American Fifth Army patrols have smashed across the Volturno river, where the Nazis have chosen to fight the first round in the battle for Rome, and clashed in hit-and-run engagements with German troops reinforced by an entire new division, headquarters announced today.

(The Cairo radio said in a broadcast recorded in London late Saturday that Allied forces had crossed the Volturno 'on a broad front." The Germans were retreating to positions along the Garigliano river, some 15 to 20 miles north of the Volturno and 80 to 85 miles from Rome, the broadcast added.)

Strategic Center

Caserta, strategic rail and highway center 16 miles north of Naples, fell to the Fifth Army as the last enemy resistance on the south side of the Volturno and Calore rivers was wiped out.

Relman Morin, Associated Press correspondent with the Fifth Army, said in a dispatch from the front that Allied troops had reached the Volturno "along its whole length from the mountains to the sea"—a distance of approximately 30 airline miles.

The American Fifth Army in the west and the British Eighth Army in the east both advanced two to three miles in spite of heavy rains which caused floods in some areas.

Although the bad weather continued, bomber and fighter squadrons of the Northwest African Air forces kept up their hammering of enemy supply lines on both sides of the Italian mainland and teamed with Middle East air units to smash at Nazi air fields in Greece, Crete and the Dodecanese.

Officials Are Cautious

While Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's forces were in complete control of the south bank of the Volturno, an officer at headquarters emphasized that reports from the battle area indicated that no major body of the Fifth Army had yet crossed the river.

The patrols which fought their way across the stream ran into brisk small arms and light artillery fire.

The new German division hurled into the battle was the Third Armored Grenadiers, once regarded as a crack combat unit.

(The Paris radio declared that the Allies now have 20 divisions in action in Italy, including fresh reinforcements for the Fifth Army.

Fleet Base, U-Boat Yards Are Blasted

LONDON, Sunday, Oct. 10. (AP) — A mighty force of American Flying Fortresses and Liberators, in perhaps their biggest raid of the war, made what was officially described early today as their deepest penetration into Germany yesterday to blast remote Nazi industrial targets in Pomerania, East Prussia and Poland, and shoot down 91 enemy fighters.

Declaring that "good bombing results were reported," the U. S. Army communique announced the record operation was carried out with a loss of 29 U. S. bombers.

Many Aerial Combats

The unescorted bombers fought many aerial combats with the enemy. Thunderbolts, which provided withdrawal support, were unopposed.

Targets of the American bombers were the fugitive German fleet's base at the former Polish port of Gdynia, the submarine yards at the former free city of Danzig, a large Focke-Wulf factory in the East Prussia city of Marienburg, 30 miles southeast of Danzig.

The Deutschlandsender, main radio station in the Berlin area, fell silent last night along with transmitters in Breslau, Germany; Kalundborg, Denmark; and Bratislava, Slovakia, indicating that the RAF night shift was keeping up the rolling attack now going into its 12th day.

In their spectacular penetration American bombers yesterday dropped their loads approximately 450 miles from the active front line in Russia, offering direct support to the Soviet Army on the eastern front, and completing the Allied aerial vise closing on Germany.

Complete Surprise

The attack on the plant at Marienburg, which has been assembling 50 per cent of Germany's fighter planes, caught the German air force completely by surprise.

The daylight assault graphically showed the mounting Allied pressure on Germany. Friday night RAF heavy bombers struck Hanover, site of a big government rubber works, and Bremen, Atlantic port still afire from a ponderous American heavy bomber attack delivered by daylight Friday. Swift RAF mosquitos also attacked Berlin for the ninth such blow since mid-August.

American and British planes yesterday conducted sweeps on air fields in Holland and France. Woensdrecht in Holland and Morlaix in France were among their targets.

Danzig is approximately 800 miles from London and the former Polish port of Gdynia is 12 miles northwest of Dandiz. Anklam is 90 miles north of Berlin. The attack refuted the German's claim that their inner industrial empire is safe from aerial attacks.

New Book Unaffected By Excess Of Foods

DALLAS, Oct. 9 (AP) — Points will not be taken from the new war ration book four for excess stocks of processed foods on pantry shelves of consumers, the regional Office of Price administration said it was advised today. The book is for use beginning Nov. 1.

"Every practical consideration makes it necessary for OPA to change its plan as announced at the time of registration for war book two," OPA explained. "The shortage of manpower to do necessary work, and the relatively small amounts of canned foods still to be accounted for, make it impractical to tailor war book two at registration last February was four-fifths of the total excess pantry stockks reported by consumers.

One Badly Hurt In Floyd Wreck

FLOYDADA, Oct. 9. (Special)— Louis Lindsby, resident of Motley county, was reported in a critical condition in a hospital here tonight following amputation of his left arm, as result of injuries sustained in the collision of his automobile with an oil truck eight miles east of here early tonight.

Driver of the truck, whose name was not of record here, was only slightly injured. He said that apparently Lindsby's car hooked the rear bumper of the truck when Lindsby was attempting to pass on the highway, and that both drivers lost control of their vehicles, Sheriff Lee Howard of Floyd county said he was told.

Sheriff Howard said that hospital attaches reported that little hope was held for Lindsby's recovery. Full extent of his injuries had not been determined.

LEVELLAND DOCTOR HURT WHEN CAR DEMOLISHED

Dr. C. R. Johnston, 36, of Levelland, was admitted early Saturday to Lubbock General hospital for treatment of injuries suffered about 6 o'clock Saturday morning when his heavy coupe was "demolished" at a curve near Wellman.

Hospital attaches said he suffered compound dislocation of the ankle.

State highway patrolmen of the Lubbock district office said John Wood, state highway patrolman of Brownfield, investigated the mishap. An ambulance of Roy Collier Funeral home in Brownfield too Dr. Johnston to the hospital, Wood reported.

Yanks Strong For 'Rest Trip' Home

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Oct. 9 (AP)—A recommendation that American soldiers on foreign duty be brought home for a rest after a given period was received by troops in this theater as the happiest idea they had heard since they came here—but there was much skepticism that it ever would be put into effect.

The recommendation, made by senators who recently toured this and other battlefronts, was published prominently by the troops' newspaper, The Stars and Stripes.

There is no question that the one thing every American soldier wants more than anything else in the world is to go home.

Soldiers Are Uneasy

Recent opinions that the war may continue as long as 1949 and that an American occupation army might be kept in Europe long after the war is ended caused much uneasiness among the soldiers.

One sergeant said "I was drafted in 1940 and it was supposed to be for one year. Here it is now going on to four years. If it wasn't for this, I would be married by now. I'm 26 and beginning to get bald. If this goes on, I'll be here the rest of my life."

A soldier who had been here since the landings 11 months ago said: "Oh, it's all right for the senators to say we ought to go home after a certain length of overseas service, but I doubt that we'll even get that. It would be a great thing if you could look ahead and be sure of getting home by a certain date no matter how long off it is. As it is, we don't know how long we'll be here and have nothing definite to look forward to."

WACS Welcome Idea

Asked for the WAC's attitude, Sgt. Dorothea Patricia Maria Callahan of Minneapolis, who has been here nine months and assigned to duty in the public relations office, wrote this statement:

"It would definitely be conducive to my physical welfare to know that after a certain period of time I would be returned to the United States where I would be properly fed."

The airforce has a system of relief for flying personnel similar to that suggested by the senators. While there is no fixed regulation, the policy has been to let pilots and air crews go home after completing 50 missions.

Ground soldiers including those attached to the air force have no prospect like this.

Plumbers On Housing Project End Strike

ORANGE, Oct. 9 (AP)—Plumbers returned to the Riverside housing project today, evidently ending a labor dispute that threatened to bog down the entire $4,500,000 government housing program.

H. W. Stevens, assistant project manager, announced the plumbers were back on the job, but declined to say how many had returned to work, or disclose the nature of any agreement that might have been reached.

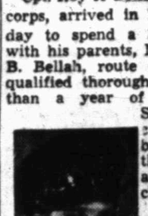

When the walkout started last Wednesday, Stevens said 80 plumbers left their jobs in protest over the use of negroes in the installation of underground pipe.

A walkout by 60 painters who objected to using spray guns rather than paint brushes was settled Thursday.

Cpl. Roy A. Bellah Back From Service In Pacific Theater

Cpl. Roy A Bellah, U. S. Marine corps, arrived in Lubbock Saturday to spend a 30-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Bellah, route 6, after having qualified thoroughly during more than a year of service in the Southwest Pacific for membership in both the Caterpillar and the malaria clubs.

In fact, Cpl. Bellah related, he qualified on two occasions for the famous Caterpillars when he was forced to trust to his parachutes when American dive bombers on which he was serving as radio-gunner were shot down.

Membership in the Caterpillar club, it was explained, becomes automatic for any person forced to take a parachute leap from a falling airplane. As result of his experiences, Cpl. Bellah was awarded the good conduct medal.

He reported that he spent four months serving of Guadalcanal, his experiences there having been made extremely unpleasant by the fact that he was ill with malaria on five occasions.

Cpl. Bellah was reared in Corpus Christi and enlisted in the Marines there April 6, 1942. After six months of training in San Diego, he was transferred to the Southwest Pacific. In addition to Guadalcanal, he visited or was stationed at various times there on Samoa, New Caledonia, New Zealand and Sydney, Australia. He reached San Francisco about two weeks ago.

Debate Seen On Immigration Bill

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—A lively debate on immigration policies when the bill to repeal the Chinese exclusion act reaches the House floor, was predicted today by handlers of the measure.

Representative Gossett (D-Tex) of the House immigration committee, who will be in charge of the bill during debate erpected to begin week after next, said he will welcome amendments to reduce all immigration quotas by 50 per cent or more for periods up to 10 years.

Abolition Proposal Due

There also was a likelihood that the House would hear a proposal for abolition of all immigration. When the Chinese exclusion repealer was before the House rules committee, representative Dies (D-Tex) said he favors closing the country to all immigration but does not approve a discriminating against the Chinese under present laws.

Gossett told Dies he sympathized with that view, and explained that the exclusion measure originally contained a provision by him to cut immigration quotas in half for 10 years. It was removed by the committee, he added, but he is sure the suggestion will be made again from the floor.

The repealer would remove all immigration discrimination against the Chinese as such, and would permit 105 of them to enter the country annually under the existing quota formula.

Slavs Report Gains At Trieste, Fiume

LONDON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Yugoslav liberation forces are fighting the Nazis in the southern suburbs of Italian Trieste, while to the south the Germans have thrown an entire division against patriots in heights commanding the port of Fiume, Yugoslav sources said today.

There was bitter fighting in these renewed drives to seize the two seaports, and in the interior of Yugoslavia the partisans declared they had surrounded the German garrison at Ogulin, 22 miles inland, and destroyed the largest bridge on the railway line from Ogulin to Karlovac and Zagreb.

Martial Law In Hungary

Intensified sabotage in southern Hungary, meanwhile, forced the Germans to proclaim martial law there, the Swedish newspaper Degens Nyheter said in a Budapest dispatch reported by the Office of War Information.)

A Yugoslav Liberation Army communique declared that "bitter fighting is going on in the southern suburbs of Trieste and south of that port.

Fierce fighting flared in the Susak area as the Germans sought to dislodge the Yugoslavs from heights near Fiume, and to drive east of Susak toward Bakar on the railway toward Brod.

Widening Offensive

A widening offensive was reported developing in a 50-mile area on the Ogulin-Karlovac-Zagreb railroad, and guerrillas wrecked the big railroad bridge as the Seventh Division fought toward Karlovac.

The Nazis threw more than 25 tanks into unsuccessful battle along the Ljubljana-Trieste railway and near Goritza, said the war bulletin broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio.

The port of Zara, 70 miles northeast of Split, was the objective of the first Dalmatian division. The communique reported capture of great stores of booty in seizure of Livno, Ludbred, Varazdinskitoplice, and Kolasin.

Bingham Convicted In Slaying Of His Wife

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 9. (AP)—Broken-hearted 10-year-old Jess Bingham today found himself motherless, and with his father convicted by a district court jury of first degree murder in her death.

The state's star witness, Jess had taken the stand to identify his father, Alfred Clarence Bingham, 38-year-old housepainter, as the knife slayer of his mother, only a few hours before the jury returned the verdict shortly before midnight, and recommended the death penalty.

Judge S. J. Clendinning set sentence for Oct. 20.

Calm as the verdict was read, Bingham smiled and said:

"Thank you, judge."

Mrs. Dora Osborn, Bingham's mother, who told the jury she was confident when her son was insane when he slashed his wife to death the night of last Aug. 8 collapsed as the verdict was read.

W-O John Watson Is Sent To Fort Worth

From sergeant to warrant officer and assignment to the special service section of Army Air Forces Training Command with headquarters in Fort Worth was the advancement received Saturday by John Neal Watson, former speech professor at Texas Technological college, who has won considerable recognition for himself as head of the post educational unit developed at Lubbock Army Air field.

The promotion came almost as an Army anniversary present. W/O Watson, whose parents live in Mineral Wells, enlisted in the Air corps at LAAF a year ago Oct. 5. At LAAF he assisted Capt. William A Murphy, special service officer, in organizing the school which includes almost every subject of interest to soldiers from the three R's to radio code, war map interpretation and a "prep school" in colleges subjects for soldiers desiring to become aviation cadets.

Lt. Col. Henry G. Stein, a member of Maj. Gen. Gerald C. Brant's Central Flying Training Command staff at Randolph Field, recently praised Capt. Murphy and Sgt. Watson for the educational unit which is used as a model at the special services school at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va.

Postwar Compulsory Training Opposed

CHICAGO, Oct. 9. (AP) — Sen. Carl A. Hatch, (D-N. M.), believes compulsory military training should be abolished after the war because "it doesn't belong in a democracy."

Hatch, a co-author of the Ball-Burton-Hatch-Hill Senate resolution calling for an international police force, told the Illinois Chamber of Commerce Friday night that collective security after the war made excessively large military forces unnecessary.

"and now...Good Luck and Good Hunting"

This is the day.

This is the day I've been waiting for. This is the day I've looked forward to since I was seventeen . . . this is the day I win my wings.

Mom and Dad are waiting there. Dad's standing tense and straight and tall, and his face looks proud and grim, as though the General were talking to him.

". . . they tell me you're hot pilots and navigators and bombardiers. And it is well you are . . ."

As we marched in, Mom waved and I caught the lift of her hand, and the white flutter of her handkerchief out of the corner of my eye. And I know in a moment or two she's going to cry—just a little—like she did the night we talked it all out, she and Dad and I, when I told them I wanted to fly.

". . . to your families, I say—ours is the safest military flying of any of the world's air forces."

And now here on the parade grounds, with the shadows falling and the bright flag whipping in the sky, I remember just how back home they listened and how finally Dad said, "Son, your Mother and I won't stand in your way. If this is what you want to do—do it with all your heart and soul and God be with you—we think you're right. And as for me—I wish I were your age—so I could fly and fight."

"And I say to you cadets; get the enemy in your sights and let him have it . . ."

Now, in just a minute, we'll right face and walk up to the platform under the flag. And the General will hand me the parchment, and then he'll pin silver wings on my blouse and return my proud salute.

"The world has never before seen a team like the Army Air Forces . . ."

Thinking of all the days and nights packed with hard work . . . our college training . . . the numberless flights with patient instructors . . . the painstaking way we were taught to fly safely on instruments, when even birds were grounded . . . how, flying wing tip to wing tip, we were brought together closer than brothers . . . I understand what our General means. The Army Air Forces are more than planes, more than men, more than machines—a great team with one aim, one object, one goal.

". . . to sweep the skies clear; so free men may walk with their heads up and without fear . . ."

And as the last man receives his wings and the gun booms out and we stand retreat and the flag comes slowly down, I'll thank God my father and mother gave me the chance to win my wings . . . gave me the opportunity to have a soldier's pride in belonging to the greatest group who ever fought or flew . . . gave me a future and a career!

"And now, gentlemen, we have work to do—and I leave you . . . good luck—and good hunting."

Real Nazi Stand In Italy Is Awaited

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Developments in Russia toward the close of an October week that saw even Adolf Hitler admitting rising defeatism in Germany bade fair to determine the locale of the real Nazi stand in Italy against hard-charging Anglo-American Allies and might also affect the timing of a long awaited revolt in the Balkans against Nazi rule.

SIMPSON

By every sign the Nazi high command is under extreme and growing pressure to reshift all available reserves eastward against the many-fronted Soviet juggernaut, and do it now or face the ultimate disaster of complete retreat from Russia.

The Dnieper line and its prolongation to the Baltic already is badly punctured by a Russian master offensive gaining instead of losing power despite torrential rains and seas of mud. If it is to be held at all, every Nazi division not absolutely necessary elsewhere is urgently needed in Russia. And the only Nazi source of heavy quick reinforcements for the east must be Italy and the Balkans.

Italian Attack Aided Drive

The Russian summer drive to the Dnieper unquestionably was aided importantly by the Allied attack in Italy. This forced withdrawal of Nazi strategic reserves from the east to cope not only with advancing British and American armies but with an Italian capitulation that left the Balkans seething with anti-Nazi attacks.

In addition to the estimated 20 to 25 Nazi divisions thrown into Italy largely from east front reserves, probably as many or more are lid-sitting in the Balkans and Greece. This diversion of forces must in some measure explain the Soviet drive to the Dnieper and beyond.

Recall eastward of some of the divisions in Italy and the Balkans is highly probable. The bulk of the German forces in Russia is worn by its vast retreat, its morale unquestionably lowered by that continual back-tracking and by the fact that for substantially a year there have been no victories to hearten the army or the German home front.

Reinforcements Needed

With the need of troops to reinforce the Russian front patent to the most casual observer, it seems clear that only the shortest and least vulnerable front in Italy can be Nazi held.

And that front is not on the Volturno river which the Allies now are crossing, or even on the Rome axis, but north of that on the Estruscan line or back to the Po.

Even without specific coordination through joint staff planning, the Allied offensive in Italy, threats from Britain and the Russian drive clearly are completing each other. They are compelling the foe to shift his reserves back and forth, and to waste many divisions in policing the turbulent Balkans and Greece as well as France, the Low Countries and Norway.

New Strokes Imminent

Fulfillment of the Allied threat of new strokes is not far off. It is portended in French-American occupation of Corsica. There has been a specific pledge from highest Allied authority of cross-channel operations against the continent in due course. Almost hourly the grim necessity of shortening the front is being forced on the foe, and every foot he falls back anywhere brings that much closer the deadly air attack upon his war industries and upon obviously over-strained war nerves of the German public.

A month short of a quarter century ago, those war nerves cracked under a lesser strain. There can be small comfort in Nazidom now at the close approach of another anniversary of the surrender of 1918. Rumor runs fast in neutral Europe of German under-cover dickering without Hitler sanction for peace somewhere, anywhere, to ease the growing strain. It may be knowledge of that which prompted Hitler's gloomy summons to the German nation that arms alone would not assure victory, only the will of the people to fight it out to the bitter end.

Demands For Bibles Now Exceed Supply

NEW YORK, Oct. 9. (AP)—Publishing houses reported today a shortage of Bibles resulting from lack of sufficent paper to meet demands for the books.

Treasurer Henry Walck of the Oxford University press said it was the first time in 100 years that demands for Bibles had so far exceeded the supply, and that his concern was rationing Bibles to book stores to percentages of their previous sales.

"We are supplying three or four times as many Bibles as a few years ago," said Walck.

Persons Convicted Of Hold-Ups Face Death

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 9. (AP)—A decree establishing the death penalty for persons convicted of hold-ups on highways was issued today by President Avila Camacho.

The extreme penalty, effective throughout the nation, is to be invoked in case victims are tortured, injured or killed.

Price Freeze In Restaurants Due

FORT WORTH, Oct. 9. (AP)—A hearing preliminary to "freezing" restaurant food and drink prices at last April 4-10 levels throughout the 49 county Fort Worth OPA district and establishment of dollars and cents prices for meals and specified food items served by eating places in McLennan, Bell and Coryell counties will be held here next Thursday, District OPA Director Mark McGee announced today.

McGee said the hearing is to receive suggestions from members of the industry and others for revision of an order drafted tentatively by the district OPA office and scheduled for issuance next Thursday unless reason for change is found. He said the order will go into effect about ten days after issuance.

To Mean "Rollback"

The order will apply to food and beverage prices charged by all eating and drinking establishments in the district with the omission of beer, which is controlled by a separate ceiling price order. In most cases district OPA said, the return to price levels of last April 4-10 will mean a "rollback" of food and beverage prices currently being charged.

The three counties of McLennan, Bell and Coryell, in the Camp Hood area will be under the double restraint of the freeze order and the flat pricing order.

McGee said the tentative order may be modified as a result of suggestions offered at the hearing, but stated that "very definitely a freeze order is going to be issued."

Stories Of 'Rocket Planes' Discounted

LONDON, Oct. 9. (AP)—"Rocket planes" which pilots said yesterday were used by the Germans attempting to break up a Thunderbolt screen protecting American heavy bombers in the big Bremen raid were German fighters equipped with rocket guns under each wing.

First reports so described the planes as to indicate they might have been rocket-propelled, bomb-carrying aircraft, but later intelligence reports showed the planes were using the same type rocket guns they used against the Americans on Aug. 17 during the Regensburg-Schweinfurt raid and on several occasions since.

On the Bremen raid the Germans succeeded in downing only three of the American fighters.

Sister Kenny Criticizes Treatment Handling

NEW YORK, Oct. 9. (AP)—Sister Elizabeth Kenny, Australian nurse who devised a method of treating infantile paralysis, was quoted by The Herald-Tribune today as saying physicians in the United States had administered the treatments in "shoddy fashion."

"It takes at least two years to learn my technique," she said in the interview, "in Australia it is a two-year course and here in the United States doctors look into my concepts for as little as one week and then consider they are experts."

Devastated Naples, With Its Hungry, Thirsty People, Big Problem Of Rehabilitation

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE AMERICAN FIFTH ARMY in Naples, Oct. 1 (Delayed)—Naples is a city with its hand out.

It is a beggar city of almost a million people without water and without food, except scraps, for a week. They have been thirsty so long they have forgotten they are hungry too.

The city is perhaps the largest that has been completely and scientifically paralyzed. In the days when the Neapolitans were enemies Allied bombers wrecked havoc on the dock and warehouse areas, covering the harbor with the battered hulks of Axis naval and cargo vessels.

Nazis Extracted Vengeance

Then when Italy capitulated, the Germans laid their plans to bring Naples to its knees, exacting vengeance from the men, women and children there to salve their own wounded vanity. With bomb and shell they systematically destroyed all remaining communication systems, blew up power feeder plants and smashed what remained of the water supply system. There were no lights.

Civil war broke out when they tried to draft 30,000 young Italians for forced labor in north Italy and the Reich. For seven days machine-gun and rifle fire swept the streets and the noise of exploding grenades echoed all day as the Germans moved about in squads seeking the Italians. The Germans dared not travel alone.

The inhabitants—panic-stricken at the firing—ventured out only when unbearable thirst forced them to hunt broken water mains or dip into stinking sewers. Often they were caught in the cross fire in street battles. Sometimes nervous Nazis took no chances and mowed them down without warning. Bodies lay in the streets for hours. For days the wounded lay in their blood. Some died.

Still the Germans could not shoot or stab the people into submission. The guerrilla bands grew in size and daring.

The British and Americans marched into a city festering with filth. They waded through narrow streets ankle deep in dirty papers and rotten orange peelings from which all the juice had been sucked.

They passed lines where women screamed, pulled each others hair and fought with tooth and nail for a few drops of water dripping from a broken pump. Only in the center of the city had the wide streets been swept clean in a semblance of order.

The reception these scarred, dirty, thirsty, violently emotional people gave the Allied soldiers would melt the heart of Midas. To them the Allied occupation meant salvation and life, no less. The people wept at Ferryville, Tunis and Bizerte in North Africa. They cried at Palermo, Catania and Messina in Sicily, but not with the same tired tears shed by these exhausted Neapolitans transported by deliverance from the Germans.

"You know we did not want to be in the war," those who could speak English mumbled over and over.

The leg of St. Thomas Stahl, Paducah, Ky., dangled over the side of a jeep in which he was riding with Charles Corte, Washington, D. C., newspaper photographher.

"An old woman began kissing my boot," he said. "Before I could pull it away she kissed it again and again. The people treated us like they thought we were gods."

The Italian people are helping the Allies. There is no doubt at all of their mass loyalty and good will—no doubt of the desire of many of them to help actively in bringing the war to an end.

But the responsibility now works two ways. American and British military police have restored order in this city. The people want to forget the past. They look to the Allies to help them get water, food and light again in Naples a peacetime playground area for the world.

It will be no easy job.

Signs Of Instability In Japan Are Seen

CHUNGKING, Oct. 9 (AP)—A Chinese army spokesman said today "the Japanese people are jittery and there are signs of political instability in Japan."

The spokesman attributed a recent three-pronged drive in east China to a desire by the Japanese army to give "a reassuring display of strength" to the people at home.

The drive, he said, was not a "large operation" and a Chinese communique said the Chinese already were launching counterattacks and had inflicted considerable losses on the invaders.

The spokesman said that with the arrival in India of Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, commander-in-chief of Allied forces in Southeast Asia, and the American naval attacks on Marcus and Wake islands, the Japanese "fear Japan will possibly be attacked in the not distant future."

Tech AST Unit Is Growing Rapidly

Beginning its second 12-week cycle Monday, the Army Specialized Training program for Advanced Engineers at Texas Technological college has more than tripled itself in men, it was announced Saturday by Major F. E. Hangs, commanding officer. This unit, No. 3888, was inaugurated July 12th. The first cycle had nearly one-third of the authorized strength. The second cycle will be full strength.

Men in this unit, whose birthplaces include 39 states of the union, Canal Zone, Germany, Palestine, Austria, Russia, China and Mexico, are training in the fields of civil, mechanical and electrical engineering. The Army was forced into this educational field due to the lowering of the draft age which took from college many boys who would normally receive this training. Men chosen for direct assignment to the advanced course are carefully selected and must have a high Army general classification test score and at least one year of college.

Purpose of the Army Specialized Training program is to help meet the tremendous demand of modern war for specialists in many fields. Trainees of this unit have a minimum of 24 hours per week class instruction and must devote 24 weekly hours to study. In the future it is expected that some basis will be established so that regular college credit can be obtained for this work.

Priority Is High

Priority of the Army Specialized Training program is high—second only to direct assignment to Officers Candidate school. Trainees are subject to military authority. Contrary to rumor, the War department policy is that these men are in the army for the duration plus six months, the same as all other soldiers.

Normally, trainees assigned to this program will be here for a year or four months. A few individuals for various reasons will be assigned other military duties. Upon graduation, some will be sent to Officers Candidate schools; others will be assigned to specialist duties with troops.

Texas Tech has contracted with the War department to house, feed and instruct these men. The unit is quartered at Barracks No. 3 (formerly Women's Dorm No. 2) and is fed under the supervision of Miss Mozelle Craddock, college dietician.

Academic instruction is given under the supervision of O. V. Adams, dean of the engineering division, with his staff. Regular college classrooms and laboratories are used. The government furnishes each trainee with text books and other individual equipment. Tech provides laboratory equipment and apparatus.

The military staff consists of 29 officers, sixteen noncommissioned officers and enlisted men and four civil service employees. Major Frank E. Hangs, professor of military science at Tech, is the commanding officer; Capt. J. E. Johnson, jr., adjutant; Lt. J. F. Hink, personnel officer; Lt. LeRoy Booth, assistant professor of military science and tactics; Lt. W. E. Beck, assistant PMS&T and company officer; Capt. Henry D. Weston, assistant PMS&T and director of training; Lts. H. M. Sebastian and R. F. Rabbe, company officers; Lt. R. W. Clapp, supply officer.

J. H. Murdough, head of the department of civil engineering, announced instructors of that department as George W. Thompson of the Bureau of Reclamation, Robert Lee Lindsey of Consolidated Aircraft, and Wayland Merriman and J. B. White of the physics department.

According to C. V. Bullen, head of the department of electrical engineering instructors include Byron Bennett, Forest Campbell, LeRoy Evans, Raymond Glass, Ronnie Shepherd, all Tech graduates; E. H. Wilde, University of Michigan graduate and Ronald B. Beasley, graduate of the University of Missouri. In addition, all members of this department are doing part-time teaching for the program, Bullen said.

C. C. Schmidt, head of the physics department, announces that Dick Nachlinger, Tech graduate, is the only new ASTP instructor.

Horace Woodward, Mrs. Annie Rowland, Fred Assadourian, Lloyd Christianson and Ralph Underwood, all who were Tech mathematics staff members last year, are now instructors of the unit.

Cotton Picking Contest To Match Talents Of Carolina Governors

RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 9 (AP) — There was a new twist today to that perennial classic, "what did the governor of North Carolina say to the governor of South Carolina."

Said Gov. J. M. Broughton of North Carolina to Gov. Olin D. Johnston of South Carolina:

"Let's pick cotton, and I bet I can pick more than you can."

Answering the challenge, Gov. Johnston retorted:

"Governor, I'll pick cotton with you at any time at any place for just as long as you want to pick."

Broughton pointed out that Johnson had the advance of having grown up in the cotton country. But the North Carolina governor has been brushing up on his technique lately by picking cotton at the state test farm near here.

No date has been set for the contest.

Vatican Expects Sacking Of Rome

BERN, Switzerland, Oct. 9. (U.P.) —Frontier reports indicated today that the Vatican is preparing for a German sack of Rome, following the flight of Mussolini's puppet Fascist government.

(The free Italian agency "Justice and Liberty" reported rumors have spread throughout Italy that Benito Mussolini is dead and that his body has been taken to Germany, a Cairo dispatch said. The rumors arose from the fact that the voice in his only purported radio appearance Sept. 27 "had nothing in common" with that of the former duce, while supposed pictures of him were so blurred identity was uncertain).

Evacuation Stirs Fears

With onrushing Allied armies within 100 miles, the hurried evacuation of the Fascist leaders was believed to have aroused fear in the Vatican that the Nazis are planning to wreck the city before retreating to their northern defense lines.

Information reaching Swiss sources said the papal authorities have begun construction of a water reservoir inside Vatican City in order to assure a water supply in the event that the Germans dynamite the Rome waterworks. Until now, the Vatican has depended upon Rome for water, although a small power house inside Vatican City furnishes gas and electricity.

Rome Situation Tense

The situation within Rome was said to be increasingly tense, with the long-standing Italian hatred of the Nazis increased by the critical food situation in the capital.

The Romans are holding the German troops responsible for their failure to obtain food. For example, milk, which usually reached Rome from the north, is non-existent because of the shortage of rolling stock and the fact that the roads are jammed with German military traffic.

Inside Rome, all bus and street car lines were said to have been halted, and almost all the stores in the city are closed.

The frontier reports indicated that Mussolini's new seat of government will be Florence or Bologna.

PAPER OUTLOOK GRAVE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9. (AP)—Mirroring the increasing gravity of the pulp and paper situation, the War Production board today advised newspaper publishers that appeals for additional newsprint allocations over quota in the fourth quarter of 1943 would have small chance of success.

Lubbock Marine, Relieved Of Battle Post Due To Wounds And Illness, Dies In Plane Crash

Fate has practiced its last irony on a 20-year-old Lubbock Marine corps corporal who begged so impassionedly more than three years ago that he was allowed to quit school and enlist.

Cpl. Thomas R. Stanford is dead. The Army bomber that in a few hours would have deposited him in almost hailing distance of his mother, Mrs. Ted U. Glover of 1511-A Avenue M, crashed on the west coast—a few days after Cpl. Stanford, sick of his wounds and of tropical diseases, had reached the states after a 28-day voyage from the Southwest Pacific.

Stanford

Cpl. Stanford talked with his mother—23 minutes over the telephone. He was so proud of his service — interrupted only by wounds suffered in the bombing of Pearl Harbor, a bayonet in his stomach at Guadalcanal, hospitalization on Fiji, New Zealand and Australia. "I'm covered . . . I have three sheets of paper to show," he said, which meant something especially important to Mrs. Glover, even if its significance was vague to her. He said he had been diagnosed as of no value in active service on the fighting front, but that he was to be transferred into recruiting duties. He still could fight, in his limited way—and would. Hadn't his work in headquarters office in New Caledonia, his last active assignment, proven that?

But Thursday he crashed to his death, near San Bernardino, Calif. His brother, Master Technical Sgt. H. R. Stanford, jr., 22, also in the Southwest Pacific more than three years with the Marine corps, will have to assume the battle for both.

The mother said she had not been advised by the Marine corps when the body of her son would be sent here, but expected to learn probably today. "He was a child when he went away," she said. "He reached his maturity far away from me. It is a sad day, but I can be proud of him."

The Marine's father and a grandmother, Mrs. Ollie Stanford, live at 2760 Rouse street in Fort Worth, and Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Black of Floydada are other grandparents.

Cotton Crop In Texas Declines

AUSTIN, Oct. 9 (AP)—The United States Department of Agriculture today forecast a 1943 Texas cotton crop of 2,850,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight compared with 3,038,000 bales produced in 1942.

The ten year (1932-41) average production is 3,419,000 bales.

The indicated yield per acre of 173 pounds, compares with 182 pounds realized in 1942, 165 pounds in 1941, and 160 pounds the average 10-year period.

Conditions affecting the Texas crop were varied during September.

Drouth Damaged Crop

Cotton in the northwest districts deteriorated further under drouth conditions, although spot rains were received that benefited a few favored localities. Over the balance of the state the crop was too far advanced to be helped by rainfall, and picking made rapid progress under favorable harvest conditions. By the end of the month picking was almost completed in the southern half of the state, and stalks were being plowed under. In some counties frequent rains delayed remnant harvest.

On October 1 the peak of harvest was well passed in central, northern and eastern counties. Most of the crop was ready for pickers in the later northwestern areas, but damp, misty weather and lack of pickers was causing some delay. Harvest was expected to become general in these later areas with clear, dry weather and the in-movement of pickers.

State Department Defends Policies

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9. — The State department, whose critics have accused it of lacking policy, submitted a mass of papers tonight to show it was on its toes in the years before the war, and tried hard to head it off.

Its evidence is in the form of official speeches, messages and memoranda which provide a background for the white book, "Peace and War, United States Foreign Policy, 1931-41." This book was published in January.

These selected documents set forth that the department was forewarned of the interest dangers of political systems rising in Germany, Japan and Italy, and that this government sought to promote peace and world order and to meet the world-wide dangers resulting from Axis aggression.

100,000 Copies In U. S.

The white book has since sold about 100,000 copies in this country, and some 30,000 copies in the official British edition—the first American document to treated by the British government. It has been privately printed in German in Switzerland, and private printings in Portuguese and Chinese are under way.

The documents depict as the department phrases it, "the slow march of the United States from an attitude of illusory aloofness toward world-wide forces endangering America to a position in the forefront of the United Nations that are making common cause against an attempt at world conquest unparalleled alike in boldness of conception and in brutality of operation."

The full story of "the fateful decade" can not become known for about fifteen years, as it is customary procedure to wait that long to publish State department papers in full. The 275 documents represent only a fraction of the thousands of diplomatic papers sifted to provide the evidence for the book's thesis.

Hull's Statement Cited

There is cited a statement made by Secretary of State Hull on November 2, 1933, to the German ambassador, Hans Luther, that "a general war during the next two to ten years seemed more probable than peace."

Hull made this statement after word from American emissaries in Japan and Germany as to what was brewing in those countries.

Ambassador Joseph C. Grew in Tokyo had said in a message on August 13, 1933 that the Japanese military machine "has been built for war, feels prepared for war and would welcome war. It has never yet been beaten and possess unlimited self confidence. I am not an alarmist but I believe that we should have our eyes open to all possible future contingencies."

Messersmith Gives Warning

Meanwhile in June George E. Messersmith, consul general at Berlin, had reported:

"I think the department must be exceedingly careful in its dealings with Germany as long as the present government is in power as it has no spokesman who can really be depended upon, and those who hold the highest positions are capable of actions which really outlaw them from ordinary intercourse."

Later, on November 23, 1933, Messersmith reiterated:

"Hitler and his associates really and sincerely want peace for the moment, but only to have a chance to get ready to use force if it is found finally essential. They are preparing their way so carefully that there is not in my mind any question but that the German people will be with them when they want to use force and when they fell that they have the necessary means to carry through their objects."

Arms Embargo Proposed

As early as May 17, 1933, Secretary Hull had proposed to the Senate foreign relations committee legislation which would authorize American cooperation in an arms embargo against aggressor nations, the record shows.

From the fall of 1934, Ambassador Breckenridge Long reported from Rome on the danger of Italian aggression in Ethiopia.

After Munich, Hull advocated acquiring stockpiles of strategic materials in case of an emergency.

American diplomatic efforts to keep Italy out of the war and later to prevent the French fleet from falling into German hands are also recounted.

Soviet Warned Of Attack

The record shows that early in 1941 Under-Secretary of State Sumner Welles informed the Soviet ambassador in Washington of reports that Hitler was planning to attack the Soviet Union.

The painful negotiations with Japan are lengthily documented for 1941.

Beginning with a warning from Ambassador Grew in Tokyo in January, 1941, that Japan might strike suddenly and with every possible element of surprise, the records drag their slow way through months of conferences in Washington and numerous messages back and forth between the two governments.

The tragic climax comes on December 7, 1941, when Japanese Ambassador Kichisaburn Nomura and Special Envoy Saburo Jurusu handed Secretary Hull Japan's memorandum that the Japanese government considered it impossible to reach an agreement through further negotiation—one hour after Japanese planes had attacked Pearl Harbor.

SPAAF To Assist In Area Salvage Drive

Another concentrated effort to get in additional vital scrap for shipment to war plants is being launched in the South Plains area with salvage officials at South Plains Army Air Field offering their aid in the drive.

Lt. Col. Frederick W. Franke, quartermaster officer at SPAAF and coordinator of salvage for 15 South Plains counties, Saturday afternoon announced that the salvage unit at the field would pick up truckloads of scrap metal anywhere in the area.

"Especially during the month of November are we going to make an all out effort to get in the scrap," Lt. Col. Franke said. "During that month we will be able to haul metal from collection points to scrap yards or other disbursing points even though it isn't donated to the Army. However, in such cases the county salvage committee in concern will be responsible for furnishing the labor for loading and unloading the trucks. When the metal is donated to the Army we furnish the labor," he continued.

The 15 South Plains counties in which the SPAAF salvage unit will cooperate in the campign are Lubbock, Lynn, Garza, Hockley, Terry, Bailey, Yoakum, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley, Cochran, Crosby, Dickens and Kent.

Postwar Set-Up Like WLB Is Advocated

DALLAS, Oct. 9 (AP)—The postwar world should have a place for some kind of set-up similar to the War Labor board, Carl Schedler, field operations director of the national WLB, believes.

"There will be many persons trained through service on boards as public members in handling problems of labor and industry," he told newspaper men here yesterday.

He said the Dallas regional WLB had operated better than many other regional groups and that there had been less loss of time through strikes in the Dallas region than in any other area.

The Berlin spokesman acknowledged Allied superiority in aerial warfare and said there was no indication that the Germans would be able to halt the increasing raids, but told Swedish correspondents the war would not be won in the air.

Senate Frowns On OWI, Lend-Lease

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—The Senate's two-day private review of what's going on at the war fronts spawned today an investigation of lend-lease operations and boded ill for President Roosevelt's request for an additional $5,000,000,000 appropriation to the Office of War information. (OWI).

In a cantankerous mood after nearly six hours wrangling behind closed doors yesterday, members showed a pressing desire to look into the operation of some agencies that were criticized roundly by five senators who inspected the war theaters.

Lend-Lease Probe Due

One of the touring senators, Brewster (R-Me), served notice that lend-lease is in line for a thorough going-over by the Truman war investigating committee, on which he serves. Brewster charged there had been instances of mismanagement, citing 30,000 trucks sent to Australian civilians while only 15,000 were left for use of civilians in this country.

Brewster said the Truman group also is interested in the President's request for more funds for overseas operations of the OWI—a subject at which the House appropriations committee will have the first crack.

Propaganda Said Childish

Senator Lodge (R-Mass) previously told the Senate he felt some OWI propaganda in foreign lands was childish. Brewster supplemented this with the information that touring senators found OWI busy in India furnishing the native press with material on how Americans live, work and eat. He added that he had discussed this with Elmer Davis, OWI director, who "wasn't any too clear as to the reason for this activity."

Brewster and Lodge were in sharp disagreement over Lodge's statement that a million American lives could be saved if Russia gave the Allies air bases in Siberia.

With Lodge absent, Brewster led an attack in yesterday's secret meeting on this statement, declaring it was "unfortunate and inaccurate. Brewster said General George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff, had suggested at a conference with the tourists that the Siberian bases not be mentioned.

Third Cost Of Living Survey Slated Here

Plans for the third cost of living survey to be made in Lubbock in the past three years were announced complete Saturday.

It will be sponsored by the bureau of business research of the University of Texas, with the cooperation of city schools and the chamber of commerce. Arrangements for it were made by Dr. F. A. Buechel, director of the bureau, when he visited Lubbock last week.

Similar surveys are to be made in about 10 Texas cities representing a state cross section, Dr. Buechel said.

Questionnaire blanks are to be distributed to fourth and fifth grade pupils here Monday, according to R. W. Matthews, acting city school superintendent. They are to be filled out by parents, placed in sealed envelopes and returned to the schools Wednesday. Envelopes have been supplied by the chamber of commerce. The reports need not be signed.

Dr. Buechel urged especially that all the blanks on the survey questionnaire be filled out. Otherwise, the information desired will not be complete.

British Pledge Shipping Accord

LONDON, Oct. 9. (AP)—British ship owners said today they were willing to cooperate with the United States so that the postwar world would have efficient and economic shipping services, but they wanted to make clear that "however important the possession of an adequate merchant marine may be to the United States, to Britain it is a vital necessity."

In a formal statement through the general council of British shipping they said ship owners who had met Rear Admiral Howard L. Vickery of the U. S. Maritime commission in London "were not 'shocked' by his 'bluntness' then, nor are they surprised now" by his assertion that the United States had become a maritime nation and intended to remain so with or without cooperation with the British.

The British council said:

"Having expressed the view that this country must not be afraid to say to its allies that a strong British mercantile marine is just as necessary to this country as its navy, army and air force, British ship owners are not likely themselves to be afraid when an ally says virtually the same thing. This country's policy is to cooperate with America in the spirit of the Atlantic charter so that the world may have at its disposal efficient and economic shipping services."

Court Term To Open Monday At Morton

SPAAF Hospital Exemplifies Fine Medical Care In Army

On the bloody beaches of Salerno the medical corps won undying praise for its work in tending the needs of the wounded. With the enemy and sudden death looking over their shoulders these men etched their names in history as they did at Bataan, in the Solomons and in North Africa.

On those fiery beaches of Italy the climax to a story which starts the day a man enters the service is reached. It is the story of the medical corps, the men and women who first of all attempt to keep an Army healthy, who secondly attempt to administer to the ills of the men who need such aid.

Tulsa Storms Over Texas Tech, 34-7

Clyde Leforce Leads Tulsa To Victory In Impressive Manner; Milton Scores For Tech

By BEN FUNK
Associated Press Sports Writer

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 9.—Clyde Leforce, gallant little triple threat artist who stepped into the shoes of All-American Glenn Dobbs, almost made Tulsa fans forget the great Dobbs tonight as he led the Golden Hurricane to a 34-7 victory over Texas Tech.

A crowd of 13,000 saw Leforce gallop 44 yards to one touchdown and pass to Eric Field for a second after setting it up with a 62-yard sprint that left would-be tacklers sprawled all over the field.

But it wasn't all Leforce's game, for the Bristow Bombardier spent a large part of the evening on the bench as Coach Henry Frnka used three full teams against the Raiders, a scrappy but completely outclassed outfit.

Frnka, who has developed a ground attack as devastating as the aerial offensive of his 1942 team which breezed through a ten-game schedule and went to the Sugar Bowl, showed Tulsa fans a half-dozen fine backs in the Hurricane's first home appearance.

Red Wade, whose brilliant football career at Missouri was halted by a back injury, crowded Leforce for honors as he broke through the Tech defensese for several long dashes in a stirring exhibition of his old form.

The Hurricane rolled to a 28-0 lead in the third, then resorted to a kicking game as Frnka gave his second and third stringers a workout.

Against the third string, Tech went 42 yards for its only touchdown in the fourth quarter, Buster Melton climaxing the drive with a one-yard plunge for the score. Freddie Brown kicked the extra point.

The Hurricane took just two and one-half minutes to move 65 yards for the first touchdown, with Leforce and Dell Taylor battering the Tech line for that distance in eight plays.

Midway in the second period, Tulsa scored again as Allen Smith and Ed Shedlosky plowed 41 yards down field in five plays. Smith picked up the last two yards through the raider line.

The third quarter was all Leforce. Three minutes after the opening, he broke through the Tech line and raced 44 yards to a touchdown, and five minutes later he was off on a 62-yard sprint. Arthus Winkler pulled him down from behind on the Tech 13, but the wiry little tailback jumped right up to pass to Eric Field for the touchdown.

The hurricane added a fifth touchdown near the end of the game. Wade intercepted a Raider pass on the Tulsa 40, passed to Eric Field on the five, then clattered through the center of the Tech line for the score.

Leforce, who led the nation last season with 44 points after touchdown, hit four without a miss.

FIRST QUARTER

The Hurricane took the opening kickoff and moved quickly to a touchdown, with Clyde LeForce and Del Taylor battering the Tech line for 65 yards in eight plays. LeForce got the extra point from placement, giving Tulsa a 7-0 lead after two and one-half minutes of play, Freddie Brown, swift Tech tailback, took the Tulsa kickoff on his goal line and eluded numerous tacklers on a 27-yard sprint but the Texan couldn't gain and the game settled into a punting dual, with Tulsa's LeForce holding a slight edge over Tech's Brown.

SECOND QUARTER

The teams kicked back and forth cautiously for five minutes until Red Wade, replacing LeForce at tailback, led the Hurricane on a 40-yard march to the Tech 25. Wade dashed to the Tech 11 but the Tulsan took a holding penalty and after Nolan Luhn muffed a pass from Wade on the goal line Dell Taylor kicked out of bounds on the Tech 3. The Raiders returned the kick to their own 41 and Allen Smith and Ed Shedlosky galloped to a touchdown in five plays. Smith plunging over the two-yard line for the score. LeForce kicked the extra point. Tulsa 14, Texas Tech 0.

THIRD QUARTER

Three minutes after the second half opened, Leforce broke through the Tech line and raced 44 yards to a touchdown. Leforce kicked the extra point to give Tulsa a 21-to-0 lead.

Tech took the next kickoff and Brown quick kicked to the Tulsa 25. On second down, Leforce took off again on a 62-yard sprint, but was roped in by Winkler on the Tech 13. After Tulsa drew an offside penalty, Leforce passed to Eric Field for another touchdown. Leforce added the extra point.

Colgate Battles To Tie With Penn State

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 9. (AP) — Penn State and Colgate scrapped to a scoreless deadlock today before a homecoming crowd of 12,000. The draw ended a string of 17 State home triumphs.

Colgate hopes were smashed in a thrilling fourth period when Everett Sante's attempted field goal was partially blocked. State's Nittany Lions missed their big chance on two drives in the preceding stanza which carried to the six and 21.

Maxie Baer Wants To Meet Schmeling

SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 9. (AP)—Sgt. Max Baer, former heavyweight champion, wants to get overseas to meet just one man—a man he met and downed once before and who now is a soldier in the German army.

"And by golly this time I'd bring his scalp back.

"There would be no referee, no seconds or managers and no bright lights—just Max Schmeling and me."

Case Scientists Rap Weak Carnegie Tech

CLEVELAND, Oct. 9 (AP)—The Case Scientists, trimmed in two previous starts, bounced back with five touchdowns in the first half today to smash an unusually weak Carnegie Tech team, 36 to 13.

Starting with a 57-yard dash by V-12 halfback Bill Lund, the Case varsity ran up a 20-0 lead in the first period, sat on the bench in the second quarter and spent the second half in the stands.

Iowa State Cyclones Down Kansas 13-6

LAWRENCE, Kas., Oct. 9 (AP) — The Iowa State Cyclones defeated the University of Kansas Jayhawkers 13 to 6 in the opening game of the Big Six season for both schools played here today.

It was the first win for the Iowans and the third straight loss for the Jayhawkers.

Purdue Looks Good In Win Over Camp Grant

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 9 (AP)—Purdue's mighty Boilermakers took another step forward today toward the top among the nation's best football teams by rolling to an impressive 19 to 0 victory over Camp Grant before a Dad's Day crowd of 13,000. It was Purdue's fourth straight triumph.

COLORADO DROPS UTAH

BOULDER, Colo., Oct. 9 (AP) — The Colorado football fleet shattered all-civilian Utah, 35 to 0, today with a show of power that produced four touchdowns in the second half.

It was the first game in a home-and-home series that will decide the Mountain States conference championship.

HARVARD UPSET

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 9 (AP) —Worcester Tech's well drilled and well equipped football force upset Harvard's highly favored and over confident informal eleven today, 13-0, before a slim crowd of 8,000.

LAAF Tangles With Ft. Bliss

The Lubbock Army Air Field gridders will be "in the dark" when they clash with the Fort Bliss Commandoes from El Paso this afternoon in Tech Stadium, for the local eleven has never had a chance to scout the El Paso club and learn just what they will be up against.

Kickoff is at 3 o'clock.

But it is an established fact that the team from El Paso will not be the one from the same post that was licked by South Plains here recently.

It's sort of an all-star team from the various teams that started the season at Bliss. A merger of numerous teams was effected following the ruling that Air Forces teams could not travel more than 25 miles for a contest.

A dislocated toe, it was indicated Saturday night, may keep Lawrence "Buster" Dixon, the Ennis Express, out of the LAAF lineup. Whether the coaches will feel his presence in the game equal to the risk of losing Dixon for future engagements remains to be seen.

On the broad shoulders of Roger Smith, a shining star in the Texas Tech firmament for two seasons, will rest the brunt of the Flier's attack in the absence of Dixon.

The Fliers will profit by the acquisition of Warrant Officer Chesley McDonald's play as blocking back. McDonald is another ACC ex-gridder. The Fourth man in the Flier backfield likely will be M. V. Lowrie. Bobby James may get the call over McDonald.

Around the Fliers' practice lot last week it appeared that virtually the same forward wall that started against South Plains last Sunday would be in there today. Perhaps the lone exception would be Marshall Cauley's being inserted at an end slot opposite Bill Schmidt.

James (Big Mac) McWhorter and Rabe (Big Moose) Nabors are mainstaps at tackle and are due to start. McWhorter, like McDonald, James and Dixon player at ACC. Nabors had a fling at professional football one season after finishing his eligibility at Tech and formerly played at Lubbock Senior High. The Big Moose has trimmed down to 215 pounds, the lightest he has been since high school days.

At guards will be G. B. Morris, another Tech ex and co-coach of the Fliers, and Vance Cotten. Arnold Teusink is slated to play center.

GOBS SHADE OHIO STATE

GREAT LAKES, Ill., Oct. 9 (AP) Steve Lach, the ex-Duke University star, scored a third quarter touchdown on a 28-yard run and Dewey Proctor, formerly of Furman, scampered 45 yards for another marker in the final period as Great Lakes beat Ohio State, 13-6, today before 22,000 recruits.

GEORGIA TECH WINS

ATLANTA, Oct. 9 (AP) — A smartly drilled Georgia Tech football team overwhelmed the Georgia Navy Pre-Flight Skyscrapers today, scoring in every period to win 35-7 before 12,000 fans.

Pirate Power Crushes SPAAF

Southwestern University's "dream team" was a nightmare in gold for South Plains Army Air Field's outclassed "Winged" Commandos" at Tech Stadium last night—the pulverizing Pirates running roughshod to their fourth consecutive triumph, 40 to 0.

A couple of terrific Texans of Longhorn fame — Jittery Jackie Field and Ken Matthews—paced the mighty Marine machine in a parade of pigskin power that kept a throng of more than 4,500 persons thrilled.

SPAAF's battered eleven put up a fight from the opening whistle but found the going too rough, losing a total of 5 net yards and making only 79 yards on 12 passes completed out of 38 attempted as against 294 yards gained rushing and 48 added through the air on 3 tosses for Southwestern. Southwestern chalked up 13 first downs, SPAAF seven.

The Pirates struck in every quarter, had the situation in hand from the beginning. The "Winged Commandos" threatened only once, then a "touchdown" pass backfired and Matthews raced 96 yards for the game's longest run in the fading moments.

First Score

Southwestern chalked up its first six points after 10 minutes of play, fullback R. L. Cooper plunging one foot to climax a 48-yard drive which was sparked by the line plunges of Matthews, the hipper dipper aerials of field plus some neat stepping by Field, Matthews and Cooper. Harold "Spot" Collins, quarterback and former Texas star, added the extra point, his first of four for the night.

The Commandos made a game of it in the second period, a couple of bad kicks and a 15-yard penalty finally breaking their spirit. With two minutes to go to the half, Don Jackson, SPAAF tailback who played a whale of an offensive game, saw his punt from under the goal posts slither out on his own 29. After an attempted pass by Field failed. Cooper raced down the sidelines to the seven. Matthews scooted down the right sidelines for the payoff. Collins converted. The half ended 14 to 0.

The Pirates scored twice in the third. Matthews climaxed a 52-yard drive with a 23-yard gallop in the first three minutes of the quarter. Collins split the uprights for the extra point.

Strike Back

The Commandos struck back on the kickoff, driving from their own 20 to the Pirate 21 before hitting a brick wall. The Pirates roared back after a temporary setback, regained the ball after a punt when End Gordon Hollon recovered Eager's fumble on the SPAAF 44. Five plays later on a play starting on the 33, Matthews lateralled to Field who dashed the remaining distance to paydirt. Collin's attempted kick went awry.

Two more counters ended the track meet in the fourth.

Early in the quarter, Southwestern powerhoused 45 yards after intercepting a pass, Sub Back R. W. MacGruder plowing the final two yards. His extra point try fizzled.

After a sharp punt exchange the SPAAF eleven battled back for its greatest threat of the game, driving to the Southwestern 11-yard line with Tailback Eager doing the tossing. But he lobbed one too many. On a heave toward the goal, Matthews came up from nowhere, snatched the ball on his own four and raced down the right sidelines 96 yards without a hand being laid on him. Collins kicked the extra point and this bit of an "encore" wound up scoring for the night. The game ended with the "Winged Commandos" far back in their own territory.

Cards Surprised At Yankee Choice Of Ailing Lefty

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9. (AP) — Two southpaws, Max Lanier and Marius Russo, were named today to the pitching assignments for the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees Sunday when the World Series is resumed at Sportsman's Park.

Russo's selection by Manager Joe McCarthy surprised many of the observers who expect to be in the crowd of 34,000 at the fourth installment of baseball's annual classic and it surprised Manager Billy Southworth of the Cardinals, too.

Before Southworth of the Cardinals, too.

Before the two teams worked out on the series scene today Southworth said he doubted very much that the Yankees would pitch a left-hander. Essentially the Cardinals are a righthanded hitting ball club and Russo has been bothered for two years by a sore arm which reduced his record this season to five victories and ten defeats.

But after Russo was named, Southworth declared, "That's okay with us. We don't care whom they pitch." He said there would be no change whatever in the St. Louis batting order, which includes three lefthanded batters, Stan Musial, Harry Walker and Ray Sanders.

McCarthy, reticent as ever, gave no explanation of his reason for choosing Russo, but it appeared that Spud Chandler needed another day of rest.

Russo, despite his record, has convinced McCarthy he has recovered from his arm ailment, which was caused by a sinus condition.

There was no similar question about the Cardinals opening with Lanier Sunday, but some doubts about his effectiveness came up when word got around that the stocky southpaw was suffering from a cold. However, Lanier said he felt fine and was ready to go.

At the park today Southworth sent his squad through an intensive workout which included everything in baseball.

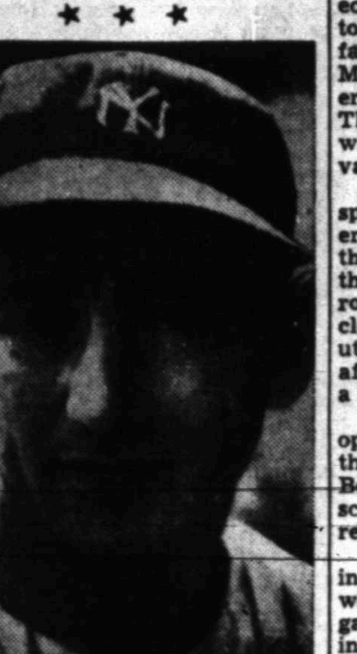

Afterward the Cardinals held a lengthy meeting in their clubhouse.

The Yankees whipped through a routine hitting and field drill, dressed and returned to their hotel without any more ado than would occur at a spring training workout.

Both teams appeared confident, but the Cardinals must win tomorrow to keep from falling almost hopelessly behind.

Sportsman's Park which will hold only half the crowd that packed Yankee Stadium for each of the three previous games this week, long has been sold out except for 6,800 unreserved seats and 3,000 standing room tickets which will be placed on sale when the gates open at 7 o'clock Sunday morning.

The fifth game will be played Monday with Chandler due to draw Mort Cooper as his pitching opponent and if additional contests are necessary the sixth will be played Tuesday and the seventh Thursday.

YANKEE STARTER—The selection of Marius Russo as the starting pitcher for New York Yankees in the opening game of the World Series in St. Louis comes as a surprise. The Yankee portsider has been bothered through two seasons with a sore arm, but seems to have convinced Manager Joe McCarthy that the arm has been cured, and is ready for the acid test.

Reardon Handicapped In Scrap With Thief

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9. (AP) — National League umpire John (Beans) Reardon retrieved his $300 but he will work the rest of the World Series with a broken finger.

Reardon left his berth on a St. Louis-bound train as it neared Pittsburgh Thursday night. He couldn't find his wallet and $300 when he returned. He spied a man slipping through the car door and cornered him. In the scuffle Reardon fell, breaking a finger, but he got his money and wallet.

"I had a heck of a time," Reardon said after his arrival here. "I was trying to get my money back and hold up my pajamas at the same time."

Penn Wins Again By Nosing Dartmouth 7-6

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9. (AP) — Pennsylvania's unbeaten football team won its third game in a row today, nosing out Dartmouth, 7 to 6, before 45,000 at Franklin Field.

Penn scored in the second period on Joe Kane's six yard end run while Frank McKernan booted the all-important extra point. Dartmouth's touchdown came in the final quarter on a 14-yard pass, Tom Kaprzak to Larry Bartnick. Harold Clayton's kick for the tying point was wide.

Long Runs By Franks Gives Olton Victory

OLTON, Oct. 9. (Special) — Touchdown runs of 49 and 60 yards by Franks, quarterback, gave Coach Lauis Hair's Olton High school Mustangs 13-0 victory over the Muleshoe Yellowjackets in the opening conference game for both teams here Friday night. Both runs were made from scrimmage.

IT'S CORPORAL NOW

LONG BEACH, Calif., Oct. 9. (AP) —Red Ruffing, who pitched the New York Yankees to a victory in the first game of last year's World Series, today was made an army corporal.

Ruffing, manager and pitcher for the baseball team of the Sixth Ferrying Group, previously was a private first class.

Tulane Smothers Rice Owls 33-0

By J. B. KRUEGER

HOUSTON, Oct. 9. (AP)—Underrated Tulane smashed slow-moving Rice institute into its worst defeat of their 37-year rivalry today, scoring in every period for an upset 33-0 intersectional victory.

Statistics of the game told the story: Tulane's 18 first downs to Rice's five; 262 yards gained aground to Rice's net 23.

Shiver Shines In Tulane

Among the many backs who shone for the Louisianans was a halfpint named James Shiver, 158 pounds, a Valdosta, Ga., boy who played freshman football for Auburn.

Shiver started things rolling for Tulane by returning a 50-yard kick through most of the field to Rice's 16. He passed to Kenneth Tarzotti on the two. Joe Renfroe flipped to Shiver, who was over the goal waiting for the touchdown pass. Bill Jones, Tulane's steady star, made the kick.

In the second a lateral from Jones to Renfroe got another touchdown for the Greenies and Jones again kicked true.

Rice Threatened Once

Next came Rice's only threat of the day, a threat halted at the three-yard line by a line under the dogged leadership of Buddy Gatewood. Three pases, with Buck Sheffield pitching, put the ball there, but four tries at the line crumbled.

Late in the third Tulane struck again, Gatewood taking a Rice pass and running about 15 yards for another score.

The fourth produced two more for the Wave. Alex Athas teamed with Shiver to power and pass the ball from midfield to a score. Shiver missed the kick, but it didn't matter. Athas, Ed Pechon, Shiver and Bill Jones got rolling again, and from midfield another touchdown was achieved in about 10 plays. Shiver scored the touchdown and kicked the point.

Whitney's Pukka Gin Wins Belmont Race

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—Lieut. Col. C. V. Whitney's Pukka Gin, a $16.40 for $2 shot, scrambled the puzzle of the nation's top two year olds still further today when it won the 73d running of the Champagne stakes at Belmont park.

A crowd of 34,209, tops for the meeting, saw the Whitney entry win by a length from Mrs. Dodge Sloane's long shot, Pressure, in defeating a field that included John Marsh's Occupy, Warren Wright's Pensive and other title aspirants. Pensive finished third, five lengths back of Pressure, while Occupy, the futurity specialist, was eased up last of the dozen starters. The time was 1:38 1-5.

West Point Wallops Temple Owls, 51 To 0

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 9 (AP) A fighting bunch of 17-year-old and 4-F Owls were no match for West Point's power-laden football squad and Temple went down to defeat here today, 51 to 0.

It was Temple's first defeat and Army's goal line remained uncrossed for the season after three games.

BIG SECOND

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—A fat second period in which Bill Kirst scored once and Ray Scussel twice brought Yale a 20 to 7 victory over Columbia today before 20,000 Ivy League fans.

Fighting Irish Dusts Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Oct. 9. (AP)—Roaring to the heights reached by any of Notre Dame's greatest teams, the Fighting Irish today battered Michigan's touted Wolverines, 35-12, for their worst defeat in six years before a record crowd of 86,000 at the vast Michigan stadium.

History was dramatically repeated as Creighton Miller streaked to two of five Irish touchdowns to match the performance of his father, the immortal Harry (Red) Miller, in Notre Dame's only other win over Michigan in 11 games. That was 34 years ago in 1909 when the Fighting Irish last invaded Ann Arbor.

Frank Leahy's "T" formation, sparked by Angelo Bertelli, Miller and stabbing Jim Mello, slashed the Wolverines to ribbons with the Irish scoring in all but an error-shortened fourth period. The closing quarter went seven minutes by agreement of the coaches after the time clock went awry in a 23-minute third quarter.

The Irish tallied once in the opening period and twice each in the second and third quarters, with Bertelli converting after all five scores to extend his place-kicking record to 14 out of 15.

Michigan's first touchdown came in the second period, the handiwork of big Bill Daley, who was a gallant figure even in the Wolverines' rout. The second Michigan score came on the last play of the game, a 13-yard pass from Elroy Hirsch to Capt. Paul White. Tackle Mervin Pregulman, with a previous record of 12 conversions in 13 tries, missed both point attempts.

Bertelli, the Irish sling-shot, made good on five of eight passes, covering 70 yards for a touchdown and another 31 yards to set up another score.

Navy Tumbles Duke From Victory List

BALTIMORE STADIUM, Oct. 9 (AP) — In a bitterly contested, rough and tumble battle Navy's Middies barely managed to drop Duke's Blue Devils from the undefeated class tonight, 14 to 13, as Bob Gantt, an expert place kicker, missed the tying point with two minutes left to play after the Durham eleven had rallied to push over a final touchdown.

All season long the great Blue Devil end, who has missed play because of a broken hand had kicked extra points like a sharpshooter, his first conversion tonight making it 18 to 20 this year.

Then, with time running out and obviously neither of the tired teams able to score again, he substituted. Fifty-six thousand fans sat spell bound as the ball went back, the Navy line surged forward and Gantt booted. The ball sailed to the left of the uprights, and there went the ball game.

Texas Beats O. U. On Pass, 13 To 7

Ellsworth Takes 63-Yard Toss From Lee For Texans' 4th Straight Win In Series

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Oct. 9. (AP)—The wildest two minutes in Texas-Oklahoma football history produced a 63-yard pass play, thirteen points and a bushel of thrills for 18,500 fans today as Texas came from behind to beat the Sooners 13-7.

It was Bobby Coy Lee, spindle-shanked Texas fullback, who got in the deciding punch to bring Texas its fourth straight triumph in the 43-year-old gridiron classic.

Oklahoma had just scored a touchdown and Bob Brumley had kicked the extra point to put the Sooners ahead. The clock showed less than a minute to go in the second period when the Longhorns took the kick-off and Lee came skipping back to the Texas 37-yard line.

The tow-headed, 160-pound fullback faded deep. Down the sidelines sprinted Ralph Ellsworth, a Texas trackman recruited in the manpower emergency to fill in the Texas backfield. Thirty yards from the Oklahoma goal line Ellsworth turned and took the throw. In came two Oklahoma backs. They both grabbed at the flying Longhorn. They got their arms around him but skidded off. Ellsworth ran like a scared rabbit straight for the goal posts.

Texas scored early in the first period on a great 37-yard run by Ralph Park, chunky tailback. Lee missed the goal but Texas led 6-0.

Back came Oklahoma to roll to the Longhorn one-yard line just as the period ended. Derald Lebow headed the surge with his passing. But on the five-yard line the going got rough. Lebow made two at tackle and Brumley hit the same place twice but made only one yard each time. Brumley's next plunge met a mass of Longhorns and the ball went over.

But the Sooner kept hammering away. Finally Lee got off a short punt that carried only to the Longhorn 18. A penalty and an eight-yard run by Lebow carried to the Texas five and Lebow crunched over left tackle for a touchdown. Brumley added the point.

Then followed the pass play from Lee to Ellsworth that won the game. Texas kept Oklahoma bottled up most of the last half and only in the final minutes did the Sooners get a dangerous march under way.

Trainees Blast Arkansas, 19-12

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 9. Some familiar faces, most of which appeared in the University of Arkansas's starting lineup a year ago, and a sprinkling of veterans from other colleges, returned to Razorback stadium in the roll of naval-marine trainers from Arkansas A. and M. of Monticello today and overpowered the young Razorbacks, 19-12.

Paced by Charles Steed, line-smashing fullback from Arkansas Tech, and Halfback Wayne Marshal, a former Razorback star, the experienced Bollweevils unleshed a pulverizing ground onslaught which netted 298 yards.

Steed, setting the pace with two touchdowns, brought blood after less than two minutes of play. Following the interception of an Arkansas forward pass, Steed powered over left tackle and sprinted 39 yards to cross the goal line standing up. Wilson Matthews, Arkansas' 1942 quarterback, added the point by placement.

The Porkers rallied to pull to within a point of A. and M. in the second quarter. Leon Pense, Arkansas's roving tackle, intercepted a shot from Jimmy Daniels on the A. and M. 27 and sold out for a touchdown.

In the second frame, steed landed again for the marine trainees. A. and M. iced the game with a 69-yard touchdown spirit by Marshall late in the third.

Speedy Aggies Trip LSU 28-13

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 9. (AP)—Texas A. and M., an eleven man track team in football taggery, outstripped and outpassed Louisiana State's powerful but slower Tigers 28-13 here tonight before a crowd of 25,000.

The speedy Cadets zig-zagged and passed the previously undefeated Bengals dizzy and at the same time dashed through and around the LSU forewall to break up all but a few runs and heaves by Tiger star back Steve Van Buren.

At least four Aggie backs shared their team's third victory of the season almost equally, with Jim Hallmark of Kilgore probably deserving the largest share because of his accurate tossing.

Van Buren, who ran through Rice and Georgia, occasionally found himself meeting Texan backs behind his own line, and several times was surrounded before he could pass. His best gains, however, were made from the same situation, including a 38-yard sideline trip for a touchdown.

Fullback Stanley Turner of Beaumont indirectly setup the first cadet score, by kicking out on the Tiger seven in the first quarter. The Tiger return punt was snatched by Marion Flanagan of Sweetwater, who zig-zagged to the 25, Hallmark heaved to Geer on the 19, circled left end to the 12 and right end to score. Turner converted.

The visitors scored again in each of the remaining periods, early in the second quarter on a one-yard drive by Turner following a 30-yard pass from Early Beesley of Dallas to Falangan, in the third quarter on another short plunge by Turner after alternate end runs and passes by Hallmark carried the Cadets from the Aggie 40, and in the final period on a six yard end run by Hallmark after Flanagan ran 12 yards following an LSU fumble and loss on the Tiger 19.

The Tiger first score came early in the third quarter after Carroll Griffith, freshman back, intercepted one of Hallmark's passes on the Bengal 40 and raced for a touchdown.

The Bengal second marker near the end of the game, resulted when Van Buren, unable to find a pass receiver, pushed Cadets out of his way for 38 yards to score.

The Tigers led the visitors 10 to 9 in first downs and 198 yards to 123 innet rushing yards, but trailed the Aggies 37 yards to 110 passing.

Redskins Open League Play With Brooklyn

CHICAGO, Oct. 9 (AP) — The Washington Redskins, favored to repeat as champions of the Eastern section of the National Football League despite an exhibition record of only one win in four games, open their league season Sunday at home against Coach Pete Cawthon's Brooklyn Dodgers.

In some respects the game is considered a rather easy touch for the 1942 national champions and their aerial circus featuring Slingin' Sammy Baugh. But the Dodgers, also displaying a strong overhead attack, may be about primed for a victory after losing both their previous league starts—27-0 to Detroit and 17-0 to the Phil-Pitt Eagles. Cawthon's immediate problem is formation of a running game to blend with his passing thrusts. In both games, the Dodgers' total ground-gaining record was a minus 35 yards.

Air Force Team Takes UCLA Bruins, 47 To 7

RIVERSIDE, Calif., Oct. 9 (AP)—The aerial-minded Fourth Air Force eleven swamped UCLA's Bruins today by a score of 47 to 7.

The Pacific coast conference champions of 1942 put up a game defense on the ground and halted many of the Fliers' drives, but in the air they were woefully weak, and pass receivers frequently slipped behind the defenders.

Easing Of Butter Market Expected

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP) — Military and other government purchasing agencies have arranged to get out and stay out of the butter market until next March to permit the entire production to move into civilian consumption channels.

This action, said War Food administration officials who disclosed it today, should help relieve shortages which have developed in some areas, particularly those far distant from major producing areas, by making from ten to 30 per cent more butter available for civilians than the average consumed by them during the past seven months.

No Ration Forecasts

They make no prediction, however, as to possible changes in the ration point value for butter, which now is 16 points a pound compared with 8 points last summer.

The notice of the government decision to remain out of the market until production begins to increase next spring has been sent to congressmen who have inquired about recent butter shortages and the sharp advance in the ration value.

Stocks now held by the government total about 200,000,000 pounds.

WFA officials estimate production of creamery butter will average between 110,000,000 and 130,000,000 pounds a month during the next five months, all of which, under present plans, will be available for civilians. Civilian consumption during the past seven months has averaged only 100,000,000.

Party Leaders Take Sides In Election

NEW YORK, Oct. 9. (AP)—A former corporal and a retired lieutenant general have squared off against each other in New York state's wartime election with the leaders of both major parties serving as the big guns behind the lines of their respective candidates.

Behind William N. Haskell, the 65-year old general and Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, is President Roosevelt. Backing Joe R. Hanley, 67-year old former corporal and Republican candidate, are Wendell L. Willkie, 1940 Republican presidential nominee, and Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

Mr. Roosevelt announced he would vote for Haskell on Nov. 2. Dewey and Willkie will not only vote for Hanley, they will campaign for him.

The outcome of the election necessitated by the death of Lieut. Gov. Thomas W. Wallace may affect Dewey's availability as a potential Republican presidential candidate in '44. Should Haskell win, he would automatically succeed to the governorship in the event that Dewey ran for the presidency and was elected.

Dewey, first Republican governor in 20 years, has said he will serve out his term ending Dec. 31, 1946, but his name continues to figure in presidential speculation.

Africa Campaign Cost Axis 6,000 Planes

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Oct. 9. (AP)—The campaign that began in North Africa last Nov. 11 has cost the Axis more than 6,000 planes up to Oct. 1, Allied airforce headquarters said today.

Of that number, 3,411 were destroyed in the air. Nearly 2,600, mostly wrecked by bombing, were found on captured Axis airfields.

The number of enemy planes counted on fields occupied on the Italian mainland has mounted to 880. More than 600 were found in Tunisia, and more than 1,100 in Sicily.

The total does not include planes destroyed by bombings in fields still held by the Germans.

New York City's banks and trust companies have resources in excess of $30,000,000,000—28 percent of the national total.

Rep. Bradley Believes Crude Prices 'Ample'

Warning Issued On Escaped Brothers

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, Colo., Oct. 9. (AP) — Colorado deer hunters were warned by Sheriff Ernest Todd tonight to be on guard against two well - armed Texas brothers who felled him "like a clubbed steer" and fled yesterday from the Routt county jail, where they were awaiting trial in the torture-slaying of a sheepherder.

The state's big game season opened today with hunderds of hunters going into mountainous northwestern Colorado where the fugitives, O. B. Throneberry, 28, and Randel, 26, were last reported seen driving the sheriff's maroon-colored, police-radio-equipped sedan.

Desperate And Dangerous

"Both are desperate and highly dangeraus. I'm afraid somebody's going to get killed before this is all over," the sheriff opined.

Todd said the Throneberrys, whose escape followed two previous jailbreaks attempts and who have police records in Texas and Missouri, probably would abandon his automobile and might seize a deer hunter's car. Todd said the brothers lured him into the cell with a request for stationery and struck him on the head with a leg ripped from an old-fashioned table.

Todd was checking reports late today that his automobile was seen speeding westward through Vernal, Utah yesterday evening and early today going east on U. S. highway 40 through Hayden, Colo., just 15 miles from Steamboat Springs, and south on state road 84 through Toponas, at daybreak.

Awaiting Slaying Trial

The brothers were awaiting trial November 8 on charges of slaying Ethelbert Purdy, 56 - year - old sheepherder whose body was found at his sheep camp south of Hayden last August. Purdy was bound with a rope. He died from exposure and shock. His dog, howling nearby, attracted a rancher to the body. The camp had been robbed of a rifle and some $38.

While authorities were investigating Purdy's death, the Throneberrys were arrested in Rawlins, Wyo., as suspects in a liquor store holdup. Todd said O. B. Throneberry admitted he and his brother bound and robbed Purdy.

personable, beauteous and popular Maria Valdes, from Torreon, the manufacturing city of Northern Mexico, located in Coahuila. Miss Valdes is a sophomore home economics major, with clothing and textiles as her principal studies. She attended Southern Methodist university last year and with eight years residence in New York in her earlier life "likes the way they do and say things in the U. S." She is a member of Ko Shari social club.

Carlos Rios, of Mexico City, is the "joiner" of the Latin American group. A textile engineering student with junior classification, he belongs to Phi Psi fraternity and the Engineers society. Petroleum Engineer Cecilio Velasco, also from the Mexican capital, is a junior and came here because he believed he could get a better education at Tech than elsewhere.

Biggest current worry of Jorge L. Munoz, sophomore agriculture major from Chihuahua, is that people will mispronounce his last name if they base their attempts on the way it looks in the newspaper. Linotype machines in use in the U. S. do not have the tilde, a diacritical mark, which among other things indicates the palatal nasal pronounciation. So to make him happy, we here explain that Jorge's last name is pronounced as if it were spelled "Moon-YOHS," with the accent on the last syllable.

Jones Keenly Interested

Intensely interested in the "Good Neighbor policy" as it applies to Texas Tech is President Clifford B. Jones. Dr. Jones believes Tech can become a veritable educational "Mecca" for students from Latin - America in general, and neighboring Mexico in particular.

The Tech president takes a keen personal interest in Latin-American students and has ever since a few began trickling into the college. He is particularly proud that Latin-Americans on the campus come to him not only for advice, but to tell him they like the college and about the courteous treatment they receive from the faculty and Anglo - American schoolmates, alike.

President Jones has received numerous letters from parents of Latin-American students in the past, commending Tech for its hospitable attitude toward Southern neighbors.

The men were taking part in a routine training flight.

Protection Asked By Hungarian Germans

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 9. (AP) — A dispatch to the newspaper Dagens Nyheter said today that Hungary's German minority had appealed to the Hungarian government for protection from Heinrich Himmler's Germans gestapo.

The minority leader was quoted as protesting that Himmler's agents were using "violent terroristic methods" against German nationals, presumably to insure obedience to Nazi orders.

Fighting In Italy

crack than the Volturno-Termoli line, may be based on the natural barrier of a mountain line more than 30 miles wide and 6,000 feet high stretching from the Ligurian Sea to the Adriatic.

Three days of heavy fighting on the Adriatic front subsided somewhat after Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's Eighth Army forces knocked out half of 30 German tanks which attempted to break the British hold on Termoli.

A Paris broadcast said that a "considerable American naval force had bombarded German positions in the vicinity of Vasto, 15 miles north of Termoli, and that violent fighting was in progress in the Termoli sector."

Allied medium bombers and fighters supporting the Eighth Army along the Adriatic destroyed 20 enemy motor vehicles and damaged a bridge at Palata, 12 miles west of Termoli, yesterday. RAF bombers struck at road junctions and bridges at Isernia and Formia, northeast and north of Naples, last night.

Heavy and medium bombers of the Northwest African Air forces battered enemy airdromes at Elevsis, near Athens in Greece, and Heraklion in Crete yesterday after Liberators had pounded the air field at Kasteli in Crete and Maritza in Rhodes the previous day.

The RAF also hit Heraklion Thursday and Calato in Rhodes last night, losing one plane in these and other attacks.

The raids on Crete and Rhodes were the first to be made on these German-held islands by Northwest African Air force units.

The total score against the enemy for the past 24 hours was seven planes shot down against no losses for the Allied air forces.

Air force headquarters announced meanwhile that up to Oct. 1 the Axis had lost more than 6,000 planes in the campaign that started in North Africa last Nov. 11.

But a Moscow report broadcast by the London radio said the Red army was now 12.5 miles west of Nevel, and Only 62 miles from the Latvian border and 38 miles from the main railway which supplies the German Army on the Leningrad front.

British Announce Loss Of Destroyer Intrepid

LLONDON, Oct. 9. (AP) — The loss of the British destroyer Intrepid was disclosed in an admiralty communique today. It gave no details.

The Intrepid took part in the rescue of 300 Britons from the Nazi prison ship Altmark in February of 1940 off Norway.

Machine Gun On Planes Praised

DALTON, O., Oct. 9 (AP)—Armament engineers at Wright field today described the .50 caliber machinegun on American fighting planes as "the finest arm of its kind in the world."

Reviewing developments in aircraft armament, Army Air force Materiel Command technicians credited multiple high firing rate cannon and machine gun installations with bringing "increasing superiority in the air."

"The .50 caliber gun," said one armament expert, "is capable of firing at the rate of 850 shots per minute and weighs approximately 65 pounds. The projectile, leaving the muzzle at a speed of over 3,000 feet per second, is capable of penetrating any and all parts of an airplane, including the engine."

Test Reveals Power

In one test, armament laboratory officers disclosed, the .50 caliber gun was fired at an obsolete bomber fuselage and the shell penetrated the bomber's skin, smashed through some ammunition boxes, a longeron, three-fourth of an inch of hard pine and then through armour plate 7-16 of an inch thick.

The gun is small enough to fit easily into all modern fighter and bombing planes, one expert asserted, adding:

"The over-all size and weight of the complete round, notwithstanding the tremendous striking power of the bullet, is small enough that quantities in excess of 1,000 rounds per gun are carried in some planes."

Remote Control Turrets

Laboratory engineers also reported development of remote-control turrets for aircraft equal in efficiency operation to turrets on a modern battleship.

"Another comparatively new device for installation in planes and turrets is a chute type feeder that allows more rounds of ammunition to be carried than ever before," a Wright field announcement said.

Further progress also was reported in the use of glass and steel armor plate.

Republicans Attack Government Spending

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9. (AP) — House Republicans used the administration's battered $10,500,000,000 tax program today as a springboard for a renewed attack on government spending.

"We are not going to let them strangle the public with new taxes without any effort to cut down expenses within the government," declared house Minority leader Martin (R-Mass).

"We're going to insist on more government economy," Martin said. "That seems to be a thing they're trying to overlook entirely."

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the House appropriations committee, observed, however, that new taxes are inescapable as the only means of financing the government's huge war-time budget.

Martin made no estimate of the amount of savings which Republicans would demand, but Rep. Taber (R-NY) argued the government could whittle $4,658,000,000 off its expenditures.

The ways and means committee will hear tax proposals from private organizations next week as it takes up the job of getting some sort of a tax bill in shape before the end of the year.

family washing when Bill called to her from the barn.

"He asked me to help him put a heifer in. When I got there he grabbed me. I started to yell. Mrs. Wilson came to the barn after I had been tied up and Bill must have tied her, too."

Morell said that after he tied the girl and Mrs. Wilson he went to the farm house, picking up Wilson's shotgun off the back porch.

"I could hear Mrs. Wilson (the older woman) and McKay talking," he said. "When I went in, McKay was coming down stairs. I shot him in the chest. Going into the living room, I saw Mrs. Wilson standing there. She didn't say anything. I shot her in the stomach. She sank to the rocking chair. Then I shot her again in the shoulder."

Both agreed that after the killings, Morell took the girl, still bound, and placed her in McKay's automobile. After they had set out for the home of Morell's relatives in Stoneboro, the youth released the girl.

Unaware Of Slayings

Asked why she continued to go along with him, Janice said she was not aware of the slayings. She said she did not hear the shots.

She said both her parents and Mrs. Wilson disapproved of her "dating" young Morell. She said they had their first date last July when Morell took her to a show in Mercer. Out of savings from his $7-a-week wages he bought her a $17 wrist watch and a $9.50 band for it.

From the time they left the Wilson home until their capture last night, the young couple had had nothing to eat except a few apples Friday morning.

CIVIL WAR RAIL TIES USED AS HITCHING POSTS — Boys of the Coast Guard's mounted patrol station near Brownsville didn't go so far for hitching posts. Old Ties From Civil War Narrow-Gauge Rail Line Used For Coast Guard Hitching Posts

BROWNSVILLE, Oct. 9. (AP) — Coast Guardsmen attached to a mounted patrol unit near Brownsville have unearthed ties from an old narrow-guage railroad, built during the Civil War by General Francis Herron of the Union forces, and are using them for hitching posts.

Linking wars almost four score years apart but of entirely divergent natures, the wooden ties have withstood well the ravages of wind and storm and, according to the "Southwest Mounties" of the Coast Guard, are "just what we needed to tie our horses to before and after patrols."

Some of the ties have been planted solidly in the sand to make a corral for the animals; others form the supporting beams of a large feed barn.

The railroads was built to transport supplies from Brazos de Santiago Island, where large ships could dock, and Clarksville, at the mouth of the Rio Grande, but was never used for this purpose. About the time the line was finished, Texas state troops under command of Col. John S. "Rip" Ford chased the Union forces out of Brownsville and confined them to Brazos Island. Thus, one end of the new railroad was in the hands of its builders, the other in the possession of Southern forces.

Mann Asks Dismissal Of Plea By Thomas

AUSTIN, Oct. 9. (AP)—Attorney General Gerald C. Mann today filed a motion to dismiss the application for a writ of habeas corpus sought by R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automobile Workers (CIO), in the Texas supreme court.

Thomas, who came to Texas to test the validity of this state's recently-enacted labor union regulation law, was released from jail here Sept. 25 on $1,000 bond granted by Chief Justice James P. Alexander of the Supreme court.

Thomas had been held in contempt of a district court, fined $100 and sentenced to three days in jail after he addressed a labor rally at Pelly, allegedly soliciting membership in a union without registering with the secretary of state as required by Texas law.

Judge J. Harris Gardner of 53rd district court had issued an injunction, sought by the attorney general, to restrain Thomas specifically from violating the labor union law.

The three-day rodeo sponsored by American Business club was proclaimed an outstanding success last night by club officials after another huge crowd taxed the capacity of the grandstand at the Panhandle-South Plains fairgrounds for its final performance. Prize money totaling $1,200 was distributed among some of the Southwest's outstanding rodeo stars, many of whom already were packing early today for trips to big-time western shows in various parts of the country. The rodeo was sponsored by the club for the benefit of the Boys club fund, and pending completion of a financial report, it was indicated the sponsor will net a substantial amount.

Another Hemphill-Wells Co. service "sent to the sidelines"

Our team of "EXTRA SERVICES" for which Hemphill Wells Co. has long been famous, now loses substitute halfback Number 29, known as Delivery Service . . . He was badly shaken up weeks ago by Office of Defense Transportation Order Number O.D.T. 17 . . . and now is knocked for a loop by Amendment 3-B . . . So now he is benched, practically useless . . . he's barred from the game except for a few plays in which he can participate on Wednesdays and Saturdays. . . .

To-be-sure we're dejected about it but "War Football" is a rough game, and we must expect some casualties.

Crippled as he is Number 29 H.W.D.S. (Hemphill Wells Delivery Service) will function as follows, after October 10th.

There will be only two deliveries per week . . . One at 5 p. m. on Wednesday and the other at 6 p. m. on Saturdays.

Even on those two runs per week only the types of articles listed below can be delivered.

1. Parcels of more than five pounds in weight.

2. Parcels measuring more than 60 inches in length and girth combined.

3. Articles which we have altered or repaired.

4. Articles ordered by telephone or by mail.

5. Articles purchased by one person for another.

And remember, things which fall into the above classifications can be delivered only on Wednesday evening and Saturday evening of each week.

The minute Number 29 is permitted to recuperate, we will put him back in his regular position, and maybe his other service teammates will be allowed to get back into the game too . . . and we are looking forward to the days when "our team" of extra services can do things for your comfort and convenience as they once did.

FROM QUEEN MARY

SEVERAL months ago on an impulse, Mrs. Roland Lee, the former Miss Ruth Pirtle of Lubbock who recently moved to LaGrange, Ga., from New Orleans where she had lived since her marriage, clipped several stories from newspapers of courtesies shown American soldiers in England. One of particular interest to her was an account of Queen Mary's own birthday celebration for men in the armed forces, and she sent these clippings, together with a short note expressing her appreciation for the warm reception given our boys in England, to Queen Mother Mary.

About two weeks ago Mrs. Lee received an envelope bearing the crown of England and containing a letter dictated by the queen mother.

After acknowledging Mrs. Lee's expression of appreciation from American women for the friendly and courteous treatment afforded American soldiers on English soil by the British people, the letter states "the queen herself feels the importance of the real friendship which has sprung up between Great Britain and the U. S. A. as a result of the war. American troops have for the most part made an excellent impression in England and it has been a delight to entertain them in every way possible."

In conclusion the queen expressed the belief that "so much will depend, one feels, after the war upon this continued understanding and cooperation."

SCATTERINGS

"UNITED Nations on the March" likely will have a longer life than most songs that have been written since the beginning of World War II. An American soldier named Harold Rome wrote the words to the melody composed by that fiery Russian, Shostakovich . . . Wish the LAAF band would play a medley of the well loved "star" songs: "Evening Star" from Tannhauser, "Estrellita" (little star), "Star Dust," etc. . . . Mrs. Lloyd A. Ross, who was Miss Mahota Gephart before her marriage Saturday, in commenting on her given name said she was the last of seven daughters and her mother having run out of names named her for a neighbor. Recently the sisters and their one brother, who is in the service, attended a reunion . . . A woman who spent five hours copying from a Lubbock dime store book at a counter the other day explained she was a writer. Clerks, agreeing she was a writer all right, wondered at her patience to stand there that long . . . Miss Ethel Foster of Sterling City is paying her first visit to Lubbock since she was elected president of the Texas Federation of Women's club when she attends the City-County Federations program Friday.

BING IS CHAMP: In a popularity poll in Los Angeles in which 3,000 persons took part, Mr. Crosby won by 43 votes over one Mr. Sinatra . . . Comes peace and the nylon industry plans to expand to take in such items as: evening dresses, men's shirts, featherweight tents, scuffproof shoes, easily cleaned auto upholstery, rustless, stainless window screens . . . Little Joel Kupperman, one of the Quiz kids, says memorizing movie script is easy, "because it's just like the multiplication table, only it's words." You don't suppose that little genius goes to a school old-fashioned enough to teach the multiplication table, do you?

IN answer to numbers of queries, we've discovered that bush of bright yellow flowers that adds such a spot of fall color to the corner of the courthouse lawn is a Mexican sunflower. But unless you want them in your yard for the rest of your life, better not plant any, warns C. D. McGehee, city park superintendent . . . Title of war correspondent Ernie Pyle's book, soon to be published, has been changed to "Here Is Your War," from the original "With the Yanks In Africa" . . . Wonder what the difference is between a fox hole and a trench?

MANY Lubbockites refer to the Army air fields near town as the "West" and "North" bases . . . Parachute pants, made from nylon rejected for parachutes and waterproofed for infants, will be seen next season . . . A young soldier stationed near New York City writes that Gotham movie audiences miss pictures of Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker but always cheer loudly when pictures of President Roosevelt are shown . . . It's our observation that Lubbock movie audiences are indifferent to pictures of almost anyone whether they be presidents, generals or any other figure in the public eye . . . Wonder why lecturers and artists and musicians do not keep their pictures for newspaper files up to date? Don't you suppose those whose coming is advanced by pictures taken in their youth feel silly to show up with gray hair or bald heads and a thickening waistline or don't they realize the years are no kinder to them than to the rest of us? . . . Irish potatoes, one of America's most popular staple foods, have been designated by the War Food administration as the nation's victory food selection from now until Nov. 5.

Santa Barbara Church Scene Of Marriage Of Miss Floyd To Lt. Leete Jackson, Jr.

OF interest to a wide circle of friends was the marriage of Miss Jane Ann Floyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Floyd of 3901 Twenty-first street, and Lt. Leete Jackson, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leete Jackson of 1608 1-2 Broadway, which was solemnized Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the First Christian church in Santa Barbara, Calif. Rev. Dr. Stansifer performed the ring ceremony.

Wears Satin Bridal Gown

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a model gown of white duchesses satin, designed with a high round neck and long fitted sleeves, terminating in points over the hands. Intricately embroidered seed pearls outlined the sheer yoke, and accented the drop shoulder effect. Tiny self buttons extended down the back of the gown to the low waistline from which fell the very full skirt, sweeping into a regal train.

Her finger tip veil of imported bridal illusion fell in tiers from a shirred calot of matching satin embroidered in seed pearls. The bride carried white orchids with stephanotis spray and wore a diamond lavalier, a family heirloom.

Mrs. C. H. Killen, the former Miss Mary Margaret Alexander of Beaumont, and the bride's sorority sister at the University of Texas, was matron of honor.

Lt. Stark Is Attendant

Lt. Bill Stark of Orange, also stationed with the Marine fliers at Goleta, was best man.

The bride attended National Park college at Forest Glen, Md., in 1939 and was a member of Chi Psi Upsilon sorority. Lt. Jackson was a four year letterman in Lubbock High school, serving as captain of the Western State Championship football team in 1939, captain of the All-State game in 1941, captain of the West team in the East-West game in 1941, all state squad in 1939-40, played football at Texas Technological college in 1941 and played football for Naval Pre-flight in Athens, Ga., in 1942. He was graduated from the Naval Air Training center at Corpus Christi last June and was commissioned a second lieutenant and received his wings in the Marine corps reserve. IN CORCORRAN HOME

The Southwest Ware Home Demonstration club is to meet Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. R. O. Corcorran.

Well folks, here I am again after my visit to the Decorators Studio and did those girls remind me that Xmas is here and from the looks of things there, Xmas must be right around the corner.

They have a room set aside for lay away packages and while I was there I heard one very charming lady say she had just finished purchasing her last present from a long Xmas list.

The girl's Wedgwood, Spode and Fransiscan china is complete and they have several complete services of sterling flat ware. By the way, if you want pottery they just received a very large shipment of Franciscan pottery and have been selling it right and left. You men who really want to give your wife a lasting gift should drop in on the girls and see their silver. I also saw several silver tea services and large serving pieces.

I saw Alma selling a pair of lovely lamps and tables (don't forget lamps and furniture are wonderful Xmas gifts) and the girls have some most unusual pieces including a couch and pair of host chairs with pre-war construction —Yes—down and springs.

I saw a lot of gifts that would brighten the service man's life—colorful bottles, pipe holders and game sets in handsome leather cases.

Yes, folks I thought I'd pass all these ideas on to you since I know you are walking now and won't like going all over town. You can stop at one place and take care of your entire wants, and don't forget a package wrapped with Mary's artistic hands is something the boys write home about. We know one New Yorker who buys his Xmas presents on his May trip to the Studio just to show the folks in New York the lovely wrappings the girls do at the Decorators Studio.

Hope I have given you some helpful hints and if you will stick around I'll have some more suggestions for next week. That is, if Fredda doesn't ship it all out of town. She seems always busy taking care of out of town customers as well as her Lubbock clients.

See you next week,
Nosey III.

FOOT TALKS
BY A. C. B.

I am just an old foot
All painful and sore
I hurt when I'm put Down on the floor

I'm all cramped up
To meet some style
I throb and puff
Each step is a mile

A dozen big corns
And a callous or two
Just like I had horns
I could boo-hoo

Many a time
I hurt so bad
My owner will whine
And I am glad

I'll see Dr. Wright
I can hear him say
And sure before night
They'll be away

He cripples along
In the late afternoon
And every foot bone
Hums a misery tune

He pulled off my shoe
I could see the light
Howdy, Dr. Wright

I am glad to see you
I spoke with my throb
This old shoe
Has done a good job

In creating pain
And building up corns
And driving insane
Whenever worn.

Thanks, I am happy
For what you have done
And now I feel snappy
And know I can run

National Head Of Federated Clubs To Be Speaker

AUSTIN, Oct. 9—In announcing dates today for the forty-sixth annual convention of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs for November 9-10-11 in Austin, Miss Ethel Foster of Sterling City, TFWC president, also stated that Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, will be the chief convention speaker.

Post-war planning will be the general convention theme and this question will pace all discussion groups as well as for the Board of Directors meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 9. Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins of Eastland, convention program chairman, has chosen Ephesians 6-15 for the meeting's theme study —"And your feet shod with PREPARATION of the Gospel of Peace."

It is understood there will be several major constitutional changes to come before the convention body.

To Discuss Trip Abroad

Mrs. Whitehurst, as the convention's chief speaker, will give a word picture of women's activities in Great Britain based upon facts gleaned during her recent visit to the British Isles. Her speech will have four points of discussion—black markets, possible conscription of American Women as compared to conscription now in force in England, nursery schools in war time, and just what American clubwomen can do about these problems. Mrs. Whitehurst will also direct a challenge to Texas clubwomen as to post-war planning.

Junior clubwomen will have charge of the opening session and their part of the program will be directed by Mrs. Ed Hamann of Fort Worth, TFWC junior chairman. Each session will be strictly work meetings with social events cut to a minimum of one formal dinner, honoring the Texas pioneer clubwomen.

TO TEACH LESSON

Mrs. C. V. Bullen will teach the lesson, "Christian Ventures in Learning and Living" at the meeting of St. John's Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service at the church, 3 p. m., Monday.

Expecting a Baby?

Mother's Friend helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exquisitely prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy . . . it helps keep the skin soft and pliable . . . thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin . . . for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use.

Mother's Friend

Highly praised by users, many doctors and nurses. Just ask any druggist for Mother's Friend—the skin lubricant. Try it tonight. adv

Before an altar banked with gladioli and chrysanthemums arranged with fern and huckleberry, Miss Dorothy Stephens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Stephens of route 6, was united in marriage with Lt. Paul D. Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Scott of Dodson, in a double ring ceremony read at the post chapel of Lubbock Army Air field Thursday evening by Chaplain Randall T. Miller.

WAC Sgt. Alice Ward played the traditional wedding marches and during the ceremony played "I Love You Truly" and "Indian Love Call." The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a soldier blue dressmaker suit with black accessories and a corsage of gardenias. For something old and borrowed she wore a cameo lavaliere worn by her aunt, Mrs. J. C. Mayhugh, on her wedding day.

Miss Hodel Is Attendant

Miss Ruby Hodel of Hobbs, N. M. served as maid of honor wearing a coffee brown suit with dark brown accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Lt. Truman L. Stephens, brother of the bride, attended the bridegroom as best man.

Mrs. Stephens, mother of the bride, was dressed in a sequin trimmed black dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a gray pin-stripe suit with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Out-of-town guests besides the parents of the bride and bridegroom were Miss Paula Faye Stephens, Mrs. Vernon L. Scott, of Childress, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hunt and Eddie Z. Hunt of Dodson.

Reception Is Given

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents for the wedding guests. The bride cut the two-tiered wedding cake which was topped by a miniature military bride and bridegroom.

Mrs. Stephens was an honor graduate of the division of commerce at Texas Technological college in May, president of Casa Linda, member of Las Leales and Alpha Chi. Prior to her marriage she was employed as secretary to County Judge G. V. Pardue.

The bridegroom is a former student of Texas Technological college where he majored in mechanical engineering. He is a graduate of Ft. Sumner Army Air field and of the four-engine pilot school at Hobbs, N. M.

Italians Let Nazis Escape In Corsica

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

AJACCIO, Corsica, Oct. 9.—Because 85,000 Italian troops, fully equipped with tanks and guns, failed to hold vital bridges against a handful of German patrols 20,000 Nazi troops escaped to safety virtually unscathed.

This is the conclusion one must come to today after reviewing the recent Corsican campaign with American and French officers, who participated in the fight, and even after talking with the Italians themselves.

Other self-evident facts of the campaign visible at first hand are these:

The only serious damage done the Germans in evacuating Sardinia and Corsica was done by the Allied Air force shooting down Nazi transport planes and by Flying Fortresses and Mitchells, of the American Air force which turned the road from Bonifaccio to Bastia into a mass of twisted bloodstained wreckage.

100 Germans Captured

Only about 100 German prisoners were captured.

With the exception of the gallant partisan stand against the Germans trying to take Bastia in the first days of the fighting and a violent mountain battle between the Germans and an American "occupational group" there was no heavy fighting.

The Italians did almost no fighting and what they did was in the best tradition of Caporetto and in many instances when isolated groups of Italians wanted to fight they were stopped by their Fascist officers.

The Italian commander, General Magli, refused to let his soldiers fight and ordered an American officer out of his headquarters and complained to the French general of "discourteous treatment."

Allies Refused Vehicles

Magli also opposed every move by the Americans or French to obtain Italian vehicles to move American and French troops to the battle zone. This island abounds with thousands of Italian trucks, mortorcycles and cars, all still run by the Italians. The Americans and French are virtually without transportation and cannot requisition it but must ask the Italians "to lend" it if they are willing.

Only now as the Italians dribble back to Sardinia are the Allies refusing to let them take their vehicles on the ships.

They key to the hopes of the Allies of cutting to ribbons the German forces trying to hold Corsica lay in the Italians holding the key bridges over the terrible mountains which are the spinal column of Napoleon's birthplace.

Italians Held Bridges

The Italians guarded all of these bridges. If they had held, American and British troops being rushed to the island could have made their way rapidly across the islands and cut the Germans strung along the eastern coast into isolated segments. But, when German patrols approached, the Italians not only fled but obligingly blew the bridges themselves to keep the Germans from chasing them, American and French officers on the island at the time said.

Operating as commandos, the Americans gave an excellent account of themselves in the mountainous fighting.

The liberation of Corsica was of special significance to at least one American, Capt. Jean Foulke of Los Angeles, Calif., who was born in Corsica but went to the United States when a small child.

Relatives All Over Place

"I have relatives all over the place. In fact almost everyone in this town is a relative one way or another," he said.

The only Navy man in the operational group was Lt. S. P. Karlow of New York City whose mother lives in Scranton, Pa.

The position of the Italians in Corsica is particularly obnoxious to the American fighting men, especially the Fascist officers who openly opposed the idea that their men join the Allied side.

But the Italian soldiers are pathetically eager to be friendly to their new "allies." They will, with the slightest opportunity, tell you how much they hate the Germans. They are deeply sincere about this, but when the question comes up of their actively fighting their enthusiasm wanes.

Italians Lived Off Country

The Italians have been living off the country since their arrival here and the demands of 85,000 soldiers left the Corsican population of 220,000 persons on the brink of starvation. The problem of feeding the Corsicans is receiving the most attention at present from the American and British and ships are bringing in food.

Because of their demands on the civilian life the presence of the Italians is deeply resented by the Corsicans and the whole island is on edge. Partisans wander around town with sten guns slung over their shoulder and an incident might touch off a battle. The attitude of the Italians has not been helpful since they still maintain headquarters in the best villas and hotels.

Corsicans Cheer Gen. DeGaulle

AJACCIO, Corsica, Oct. 9. (AP)—Standing in the shadow of the Napoleon Bonaparte memorial, Gen. Charles DeGaulle today told 3,000 cheering Corsicans that France would be freed as was Corsica, and that "all must give way to the Cross of Lorraine."

The fighting French leader's speech in a square newly named "DeGaulle square," which shelters Napoleon's memorial, climaxed a rapid two-day tour of the war-battered island, during which he was greeted tumultuously everywhere, smeared by the liprouge of enthusiastic women and defended by partisans heralding his arrival with barrages of gun fire.

There is no doubt of DeGualle's popularity on this island, but this popularity is not attached to any political significance. He was hailed as a symbol of French resistance only.

Communist Stronghold

This city is the Communist stronghold of Corsica, and parts of his speech which drew the heaviest applause referred to Russia. Corduroy-clad Corsicans with sub-machine guns slung over their shoulders cheered wildly when he mentioned the Soviet union.

Outside this city, however, Catholics and left wing groups not affiliated with the Communists, hold power. That rival Corsicans who united to fight with the French already had split along traditional clan lines was seen in a pro-DeGaulle sermon by the Catholic archbishop just before DeGaulle's speech. The archbishop urged the partisans to forget their private feuds and "not lose sight of the fact that the Germans are our first enemy."

At a press conference for three American and one British correspondent DeGaulle said the Italians had been useless in helping to liberate the island. He said the Italians must give up all their military equipment to the French before leaving Corsica.

"They have signed an armistice with the Allies, but not with us yet," DeGaulle said. "Anyway, they are not fighting us."

DALLAS, Oct. 9 (AP)—Funeral services for Frederick A. Smith, 50, science teacher at North Dallas High school for the last 16 years, who died suddenly of a heart attack Thursday night, will be held at Trinity, Trinity county, Sunday afternoon.

A native of Hillsboro and a graduate of Baylor university and the University of Texas, Smith taught in high schools at Marshall and Austin before moving to Dallas sixteen years ago.

U. S. Proposal For World Bank Hailed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—A U. S. Treasury proposal for a $10,000,000,000 world bank to help war-ravaged lands get on their feet was hailed in at least one capital today as another move toward insuring the peace.

The banking plan was widely published in the British press last night, confirming what Treasury Secretary Morgenthau had been reported as telling a secret congressional meeting earlier in the week.

The statement in the Lisbon newspaper Diario de Lisboa added that "peace would be another war just as dreadful and dangerous if victory should serve only to give satisfaction to plutocratic appetites."

Its hand flashed by the British press, the Treasury made public the draft "guiding principles" for the proposed world bank.

J. L. MOYER TO RESUME PULPIT TODAY

The Pioneer Park Church of Christ is happy to announce their regular minister J. L. Moyer will resume his work today. Brother Moyer has been away holding meetings, and upon his return a few weeks ago was confined to the hospital and his home due to an operation. However at this time we are glad to report he is getting in splendid health once again.

J. L. MOYER

You are invited to the Pioneer Park Church of Christ today and hear these subjects discussed—

MORNING: "YEA ARE THE SALT OF THE EARTH."

EVENING: "SIMILARITIES OF THE TEMPLE AND THE CHURCH."

You admit there is a God; yet you offer Him no homage; you never worship Him. You admit that you are a sinner; yet you exercise no repentance; you make no effort to become holy; you make no use of the means to secure pardon, and to avoid the wrath to come.

You admit that you can be saved only by the merits of the Lord Jesus Christ; yet you are not seeking to obtain an interest in His blood.

You profess to believe that there is a heaven, yet you are making no efforts to secure it; a hell, yet you make no efforts to avoid it.

She knew that she would not be able to do the work in her garden and other things around their farm home. I examined her for the cause of her trouble. She began a series of adjustments and improved so much that she was able to do her gardening as well as other things that she had not been able to do for years.

CASE HISTORY No. 1565. Lady age 32, who had backache and headache and neck hurting severe insomnia and headaches. She had severe pain in her left knee and a lump under her left breast. The brain is the great generator of the nerve energy, which is the basis of body function. This nerve energy is the current which is transmitted over the nerve cables to the various organs, tissues and cells of the body. When you turn off the electric light switch you do not expect the light to burn. Do you think you have any more right to expect your organs to function when the current is turned off? This is what happens when the bony segments of your spine press upon the nerves and thereby cause interference to the normal flow of life force from the brain to the body. You should have the interference corrected by a chiropractor if you want to enjoy health.

From Lou To Louella

DEAR Louella: Peggy Seale, of Amarillo, still treasures memories of having her picture made with Freddie Bartholomew in the old home town recently . . . Bonnie White is famous for her record collection, one in particular that all girls swoon over is Wayne King's arrangement of "None But the Lonely Heart," with recitation of the poem "Alone" by Franklyn MacCormack . . . Betty White, Ko-Shari pledge, has a date book resembling a city directory. . . . Showing their appreciation of American music, were Maria Valdez and Carlos Rios, Tech students from Mexico, at the Artist Course Wednesday night.

John Clark Long, according to the last communique, says he is a member of the mental chain gang at Navy V-12 training unit at Tulane University . . . James Cope in Troy, N. Y. in Navy V-5, also an ex-Techsan, is spending a few days in the guard house after throwing a rock through a barracks window. War-happy maybe. . . . Some of you may remember Lt. Jack E. Downhill, honor graduate of class 42-K at LAAF. He writes from Egypt that he recently traveled to Cairo on a furlough via camel caravan . . . Lt. Crab Lail, also a graduate of 42-K is now stationed in Alamogordo, N. M. Crab was the owner of the long white convertible bearing South Carolina license plates . . . Three ex-Techsans haven't forgotten the art of hitch-hiking since college days as was proved last week end when Maury Kelisky, stationed at Camp Roberts, hitched a ride on a B-26 Marauder bomber to San Francisco where he met Burl Hubbard, Overseas Replacement Pool, Pittsburgh, Cal., and Bo Bachman of University of California, Berkely. The three did the town in typical Texas Tech fashion.

CAUGHT ON THE FLY

Mary Jane Johnston is wearing Wiley Brazzel's pin . . . Jerry Shaw and Charles Fugitt are dating often now . . . So are Norma Barnes and Phil Brown . . . A spectacle that threatened to revolutionize the whole girls dormitory last Sunday was the appearance of six cadets in tow of Cadet Devon Biggs. Biggs was performing his good deed for the day by providing his date, Mary Virginia Mixon, with six dates for club members . . . Speaking of numbers of uniformed soldiers, we hear of an interesting incident which happened to Maxine Deardoff last weekend. Four pre-flights were invited to her home for Sunday dinner and this week they were transferred to a higher class which is to graduate Oct. 26. You can't win!

ALETHA HOOPER, the very feminine blonde enrolled at Tech this summer, is a student at Lindenwood, Mo., this year . . . LESLIE FOX, last year Ko-Shari, is working in a department store in Washington, D. C. . . . Pat Price has broken her engagement with Whitney Lee of the Naval Air corps. Mabel Murray evidently thrives on variety for she has had three jobs since Sept. 13. . . . PADUCAH—Lt. W. L. Hawkins, of the U. S. Army Air Forces, landed his four-motored B-17 bomber "Sweater Girl" in a perfect "dead stick" landing at an undisclosed air base in England after a raid on southwestern Germany last month. Lt. Hawkins, who has been affectionately nicknamed "Abe" because of his likeness to "Honest Abe" in stature and facial characteristics, has built up the remarkable record of 17 raids with the same engines in his faithful bomber. "Abe" and his co-pilot D. G. Barnes of El Paso, so skillfully maneuvered the huge plane, when she ran out of fuel some 2000 feet above the home flied, that the other crew members were unaware the ship was in trouble until the landing had been effected. "Landing a B-17 without power is like trying to fly a brick" Hawkins said "but Barnes and I were too busy to be scared." Lt. Hawkins is the elder son of Mrs. Merle Hawkins of Paducah and grandson of Mrs. W. E. Madera, also of this city. He was born in Taylor county, Texas and attended school from the first grade through his sophomore year in high school at Ropesville, and graduated from high school at Petersburg. Wildcat Is Staked In Yoakum County

Location for a wildcat test two miles north of the Wasson field in Yoakum county was announced at the end of the week. Applications to drill an outpost to the Northwest side of the Wasson and two outposts to the Ownby producing area of East Yoakum and a southeast outpost to the Seminole field in Central Gaines county were filed with the Railroad Commission during the last few days.

Paul G. Schaefer, Midland independent operator will drill No. 1 Mrs. Mittie E. Farmer, 660 feet from the south and west lines of section 635, block D, John H. Gibson survey to around 5,300 feet to explore for production in the San Andres lime of the Permian series.

This prospecting effort is two miles north of the nearest producing well in the Wasson field. George P. Livermore, Inc., Lubbock has the contract for the project and the drilling will start as soon as a rig can be put on the location.

South of Gulf Well

Schaefer's wildcat will be approximately one mile south of Gulf Oil corporation No. 1 Dixon which had good shows in section 609. Rowan Drilling company No. 1 Dixon in section 571 also had indications of production several years ago and some operators think that if present completion methods had been in use that test could have made a well.

Major exploration concerns supporting the No. 1 Farmer include Standolind Oil & Gas Company, Humble Oil & Refining Company, Honolulu Oil Corporation and Plymouth Oil Company.

George P. Livermore, Inc., and Malco Refineries, Inc., of Lubbock will drill No. 1 R. M. Kendrick, 375 feet from the north and west lines of the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 501, block D, John H. Gibson survey as an effort to extend the producing limits of the Ownby field in Yoakum county to the southeast. Drilling depth is about 5,300 feet.

Another Outpost Planned

C. U. Bay No. 1 Story-Lynn, 440 feet from the south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 770, block D, John H. Gibson survey in west-central Yoakum county will be a prospecting project about one-half mile north of production on the northwest side of the Wasson area. It will drill to approximately 5,300 feet.

In Central Gaines county C. U. Bay No. 1-B Humble-Austin, 1,984 feet from the east and 1,980 feet from the north lines of the northeast quarter of section 190, block G, WTRR survey will drill to around 5,100 feet in an effort to find the Seminole pay section. The location is approximately one mile southeast of the present proven limits of the field.

Magnolia Petroleum company and Atlantic Refining company No. 7-193 Havemyer & Jenny, 1,980 feet from the north and west lines of section 193, block G, WTRR survey has assured a producer one location southwest of the Seminole field.

From a pay section drilling to 5,192 feet the well made 179 barrels natural flow during six and one-half hours after cleaning out.

Wildcat Drilling Plug

Honolulu Oil Corporation No. 1 Mrs. Elsie Buck Homann, wildcat test to 5,700 feet six miles northeast of Seminole and located 660 feet out of the southwest corner of section 96, block G, WTRR survey is drilling out plug where 7-inch casing was set early in the week at 3,719 feet with 250 bags of cement to cut of an estimated fifteen to 20 million cubic feet of rich natural gas encountered about a week ago at 3,443 feet just in the top of the Yates section marked at 3,320 feet.

This flow was first called strait air, but after an examination was found to be high-quality inflamable gas. As soon as the plug is drilled out and the hole cleaned drilling will be continued toward an anticipated pay section around 5,000 feet.

Action of No. 1 Homann up to now has been very similar to that of the discovery well of the Seminole field. That test had gas in the top, but not as much gas as the Honolulu wildcat has shown. Future drilling of the test will be widely followed and many oil operators are predicting that the No. 1 Homann is indicating for a new discovery—however the well is not completed and anything could happen, according to some conservative oil men who are keeping in close touch with the development.

Texas Co. Well Drilling

The Texas company No. 1 Parmer county fee, 685 feet from the north line and 660 feet from the west line of labor 5, league 317, Parmer county school land survey, 17 miles southeast of Seminole and eight miles northeast of the Means field in northeast Andrews county is drilling below 5,271 feet in lime. This operation has logged several shows of oil staining in rotary mud in the last three hundred feet. It has been running some high on top of marker points when checked against other controls in the immediate area.

Continental Oil company No. 1-A Dr. E. H. Jones, 2,310 feet from the north and 1,650 feet from the east lines of section 22, block A-&, psl survey in Northwest Gaines county, Ordovician test to 11,000 feet has progressed below 9,455 feet and is drilling lime after going through a comparatively thin strata of chert.

Humble Oil & Refining company No. 1 Cox, 1,980 feet from the north and east lines of section 14, block A-11, psl survey, cc 9,000-foot wildcat in West Gaines county is drilling lime below 7,531 feet.

8,000-Foot Test Seen

Shell Oil company, Inc., No. 2 R. A. Cox, 554 feet from the west line and 557 feet from the north line of the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 380, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, on the south side of San Andres lime production on Northwest Gaines, and a wildcat project which may drill to 8,000 feet, has progressed below 4,889 feet in lime.

Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 15 American Warehouse company, 1,650 feet from the south and east lines of section 5, block H, D&W survey, extra-deep exploration in the Cedar Lake region of northeast Gaines has drilled below 11,650 feet in lime and shale and is still going toward its objective of 12,000 feet or oil at a shallower depth.

Hugh W. Stoddard No. 1 Kendrick, 330 feet from the south and east lines of section 748, block D, John H. Gibson survey, 8,000-foot wildcat six miles east of the Wasson field in southeast Yoakum county is drilling under 6,800 feet in lime.

Wrilght, 660 feet from the north and east lines of labor 8, league 59, Martin county school land survey is a new project in East Cochran county about one half mile west of the nearest production in the Sunray northwest extension to the northwest side of the Slaughter field. This test will drill to the Slaughter pay section around 5,000 feet.

Sunray No. 1 Reed, 660 feet from the south line and 1,980 feet from the west line of section 57, Harrison & Brown survey, 5,500-foot exploration, 14 miles west of the Slaughter field in central Cochran county has plugged back to 5,250 feet after drilling about 100 feet deeper.

Drillstem Test Run

A string of 5½-inch casing was set at 5,238 feet with 235 sacks of cement and then the plug was drilled out. The section of 5,062-70 feet was perforated and a drillstem test of the zone was taken with the tool open for 36 hours. A 55-minute blow came at the start of the test and then 300 feet of oil and fresh water cut mud was recovered.

A 2,500-gallon acid treatment was pumped in and the operation is now preparing to test results of that injection.

Helmerich & Payne, Inc., No. 1 M. L. Slaughter, in the northeast quarter of labor 1, league 116, C. A. Pierce sub-division No. 2 of Potter county school land survey, 5,500-foot exploration one and one-half mile northeast of Lehman in central Cochran county topped the San Andres at 3,920 feet with a surface elevation of 3,794 feet. Wildcat Still Idle

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware and Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company No. 1 Lloyd Evans, section 15, block Y, psl survey West Cochran county wildcat to 5,500 feet is still held up while a hunt for water for drilling use goes on. Five water wells have been dug, but none of them have yielded enough for the job.

Brown & Wheeler No. 1 Earl French, 660 feet from the south and west lines of labor 22, block 74, Haskell county school land survey, 6,500-foot wildcat nine miles northwest of Levelland is drilling ahead below 2,060 feet. Top of the anhydrite was marked at 2,024 feet and a string of 8⅝-inch casing was set at 2,040 feet with 200 bags of cement.

Don McDonald No. 1 C. F. Ratliff, outpost to the northeast side of production in the Slaughter field in West Hockley county is testing after treating saturated section with 2,000 gallons and 8,000 gallons of acid above total depth of 4,906 feet in the San Andres lime. West Coast Relaxes Dimout Restrictions

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9 (AP) — A radical relaxation of west coast dimout restrictions, permitting virtually normal use of automobile headlights, the return of night time sports and liberalizing home illumination was announced by the Army today.

A public proclamation issued today by Lieut. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, commanding general of the western defense command, modified virtually all of the restrictions on lighting under which Pacific coast residents have been living for a year. The required shielding of street lights remained unchanged through the dimout area. The order is effective at midnight (PWT) tonight.

It permits full automobile headlights in all areas except those visible from the sea where motorists may operate with a decreased beam of full candlepower. Under the original dimout, only parking lights were permitted in some places.

The proclamation points out that current military developments permit the relaxing of restrictions but cautions that "it is expected that" attacks by Japanese submarines on coastal shipping and American shores themselves "may be resumed."

Authority To Settle War Contracts Urged

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9. (AP)—Undersecretary of War Patterson told Congress today that if the comptroller general has any doubt about the right of the War department to negotiate an immediate and full settlement with a war contractor when his contract is terminated Congress should specifically authorize it.

Patterson put his views into letters to Chairman Murray (D-Mont) of a Senate subcommittee studying the question and to Chairman May (D-Ky) of the House military committee. Accompanying the letter was a draft of a bill by the War department embodying its recommendations for settling the dispute over contract termination settlements.

Involved in the matter is the negotiated settlement by the War and Navy departments and the Maritime commission with contractors for amounts due them when contracts are terminated suddenly because of war developments.

HOW TO HELP PROTECT EYES AND GET MORE FROM YOUR LIGHTING!

1. SET A GOOD EXAMPLE FOR THE CHILDREN! Our eyes get worse as we get older . . . not better. Whether you're reading a bedtime story or a report from the office, make sure your lamp has the right size bulb. You can't go to work tomorrow fresh for any important job . . . unless you protect your eyes tonight!

2. KEEP BULBS AND SHADES CLEAN! Scientists say you can get from 25 to 30% more light from a reading lamp just by keeping shades, bulbs and reflectors free from dust! Wipe bulbs with a damp cloth. If shades are dark inside, clean them or replace with white-lined shades that reflect light instead of absorbing it.

Hollywood On The Loose...

Joan Bennett Turns Authoress And Pens Book In Longhand

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 9.—There's an old Hollywood legend that movie queens buy their books by the yard to match their drapes. Today we talked to a film queen who WROTE a book—and not to match her drapes.

Miss Bennett

You don't have to look at Joan Bennett twice to know that she knows the secrets. And it's a very nice job of writing, too.

There's even a chapter the men should read, "How to Attract Men," in which the star explodes what she calls three popular myths, "He's Just a Little Boy Grown Tall," "All Men Fall for a Pretty Face," and "Keep 'Em Guessing."

Joan wrote in longhand. It took her a year and nine months. "Just a year longer than to have a baby," she laughs. She wanted to title it, "Beauty for Beast" but the publishers said no. They were afraid people would think it was an animal story.

Now that she's written a book titled, "How to Be Attractive," Joan says she finds it rather embarrassing. There was the time, for instance, she went shopping in Westwood Village with her hair in curlers, no makeup, and wearing a spood and pajamas.

"A woman walked up to me and said she recognized my voice. She said she hoped to sell a lot of copies of my book. She was the owner of a book store down the street. I expected her to say, 'Why don't you find out yourself.'"

* * *

HOW TO WRITE A BOOK

JOAN said she started thinking about the book two years ago. She couldn't decide whether to write about raising children — she's the mother of three—a cook book or a book of beauty hints. Finally she decided on the later.

"But I'm still going to write those other two some day," she says.

Actual writing of the book was strictly unorthodox. First thing she did, Joan said, was to figure out the chapter headings. Then the sub-chapters. Then the illustrations. Then, she said, she started writing.

"And no cracks, please," she laughed, "about my deciding on the cover of the book's jacket before it was written."

First day she tried dictating to her secretary. But that didn't work. So she wrote the entire book in longhand. The first draft came back with a note from the publisher. It was very good, the publisher said, but it was too short. Would she write several thousand more words, please.

"So I wrote and wrote some more and finally the publisher sent me the galley proofs. By the length of them, I thought I had out-written "Gone With the Wind."

And then the book almost didn't get printed. Joan said she mailed the completed manuscript to the publisher just three days before fire completey destroyed her Beverly Hills home. "If the manuscript had been burned," she said, "I would never have re-written it."

* * *

APT ADVICE

SOME of Joan's advice to the ladies on how to attract men: "Never publicly correct a man — for his manners, his English or his opinions. Never break a date for a later and more attractive invitation. Don't lie to a man. Refuse to answer, 'edit,' or even evade, but avoid the lie direct. It catches up with you.

"Put your mother complex in moth balls and let the man run the date he has planned for you. You'll be surprised how much fun it is. Make requests. Don't issue orders. Avoid sarcasm like the plague. Men hate it; they never forgive it in a woman."

Sailor's Intentions Good, Memory Bad

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 9. (AP)—Seaman Bill Florence of St. Louis had heard how tough it was on civilians—the chewing gum shortage and all.

From somewhere in the Pacific, he wrote Betty Lou Strange, Jefferson City High school senior, that he was sending a stick of gum—just for her.

"I hope," he added in a P. S., "that the censor doesn't take it."

Betty Lou searched the envelope in vain. No gum.

It has been estimated that the annual progeny of a single pair of mice may total 1,000,000.

"Mr. Lucky" With Cary Grant And Loraine Day Is Week's Top Attraction At Lindsey

* * *

WITH Cary Grant in the starring role, "Mr. Lucky" tells the story of a romance between an earnest socialite welfare worker and a carefree gambler.

Loraine Day has the feminine lead as a wealthy sponsor of War Relief, Inc., while Grant enacts the part of "Joe the Greek," owner of a big gambling boat, but at the moment short of cash.

Plans Gyp

Grant encounters Miss Day selling tickets for a charity ball her organization is giving. The gambler, seeing a chance to grab a bankroll to pay expenses of his boat to Cuba, endeavors to induce the relief agency to let him operate a gambling concession at the ball. His plan is to skip with the entire proceeds.

Grant has to apply a little romance to get Miss Day to consent to the gambling concession idea. Unaware that Uncle Sam is on his trail and that one of his pals is planning to double-cross him, Grant gets ready to trim the war relieefers when he is brought to a sudden realization of the magnitude of the crime he has designed.

Bogart At Tower

Other players include Charles Bickford, Alan Carney, Gladys Cooper and Henry Stephenson.

"Action in the North Atlantic," a naccount of the men of the Merchant marine and the shipment of war cargoes to the fighting fronts, is to be shown at the Tower three days, beginning today. Humphrey Bogart is the star. The film features actual sequences and adventures that have been experienced by U. S. Merchant marines.

Flynn, Sherdian Teamed

The cast offers, in addition to Bogart, Raymond Massey, Julie Bishop, Alan Hale, Sam Levene, Dane Clark and Ruth Gordon.

The Broadway will present today through Tuesday "Edge of Darkness," starring Errol Flynn and Ann Sherdian. The story depicts the efforts of a tiny Norwegian fishing village to overthrow the Nazi yoke.

Hollywood Not So Hardboiled

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 9 (U.P.) — You hear a lot about Hollywood being hardboiled, stony-hearted, calous and cruel.

But Carol Thurston complains that she is being subjected to so much mass concern for her well-being that it's driving her crazy.

Miss Thurston is the newcomer from Forsyth, Mont., who stepped into the role of Three Martini, the Javanese native girl in C. B. De Mille's "The Story of Dr. Wassell."

She never had faced a movie camera before in her life. And Hollywood naturally was a bit startled that such a neophyte should be hired for a part that two such stars as Veronica Lake and Simone Simon had put in their bids for.

"On my first morning in the picture," says Miss Thurston, "Dennis O'Keefe took me over into a corner and said, 'Would it help any if I told you that I am nervous and Gary Cooper is nervous and even De Mille is nervous?'

"'Oh,' I said, 'that's too bad.'

"'No,' he said, 'that's all right. We're always nervous. Everybody's nervous. I'm just telling you so you won't be nervous.'

Cooper Bucks Her Up

Then 10 minutes later, she continued, Gary Cooper whispered, "Buck up kid, this will be a cinch." And then De Mille took her aside and asked how she felt.

"I said fine," Miss Thurston recalls. "He laughed, patted me on the shoulder and said, "That's it, don't you let on.'

"Ever since then people have been treating me like that. The actors, the assistant director, cameramen, even the prop men and electricians. They all take it for granted I must be scared to dath."

What nobody seems to take into account is that she has been acting since she was 12 with her father's country repertory company in Montana. She has played everything from Topsy to the Bernhardt role in "L'Aiglon."

Aldrich Film Is Palace Feature

HENRY ALDRICH has a new set of problems in "Henry Aldrich Swings It," which will be the attraction at the Palace today through Tuesday.

Henry, in the person of Jimmy Lydon, is in this case enamored of his music teacher, Marian Hall, much to the unhappiness of his regular girl friend, Mimi Chandler. To buy Miss Hall a new piano Henry looks for outside engagements for his swing band and finds one in a shady night club.

Before their night club date, however, the boys and girls play in accompaniment of the great violinist, Josef Altman, played by Fritz Feld. Altman plays on a Stradivarius worth $10,000 and a couple of crooks are in the audience with a well-devised plan to steal it.

But Henry picks up Altman's violin when the concert is over and the crooks get Henry's worthless fiddle instead of the Strad. Henry unknowingly uses the precious violin in his night club engagement and is forced to leave it behind when the place is raided, which sets up some humorous complications.

The Texan's offering for today and Monday is "Aerial Gunner," with Chester Morris and Richard Arlen.

"Traitor Within," with Don Barry and Jean Parker, and "Jitterbugs," with Laurel and Hardy, will comprise the double-bill today through Tuesday at the Cactus.

Jimmy Lydon, Mimi Chandler and Charles Smith are stars of the latest Aldrich series release, "Henry Aldrich Swings It," showing at the Palace today through Tuesday.

Democracy In Italy May Be Jeffersonian

NEW YORK, Oct. 9. (AP)—Count Carlo Sforza today proposed a Jeffersonian democracy for Italy after the war in a transcribed broadcast.

The anti-Fascist leader and former Italian foreign minister said "Italian freedom, Italian democracy, Italian political development should be Jeffersonian and not Hamiltonian."

Sforza, declaring Italy would have to establish her democracy herself, however, said "political ideas and even moral ideas cannot be imported from abroad."

The transcription was substituted for a planned personal address. Sforza arrived in London today, en route to Italy.

The count said democracy was present in Italy 10 centuries ago. But, he added, "sometimes people even in Italy speak of Italy as a nation which never had liberal institutions until a hundred years ago, in 1848 or 1860.

Since France fell, more than 1,500 convoys have been escorted by the British Navy through the Straits of Dover.

"Keeper Of The Flame," Starring Spencer Tracy And Katharine Hepburn On At Tech

"KEEPER Of The Flame," starring Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn, shows today and Monday at the Tech.

Tracy plays Steve O'Malley, noted war correspondent and newsman, who is assigned to write the life of a great patriotic leader recently killed in an accident. Tracing down the events in the man's life he meets and falls in love with his young widow, played by Miss Hepburn.

Widow Suspected

Circumstances point to murder, and the newspaperman comes to suspect the widow of complicity in a plot to kill her husband. After a series of tensely dramatic situation, O'Malley finds that she was attempting to protect the dead man's memory, and that he was involved in an unpatriotic, dictatorial plot.

Both Tracy and Hepburn turn in great performances. Richard Whorf, formerly of the New York stage, is compelling as the jealous secretary, and Margaret Wycherly, veteran stage star, gives a gripping portrayal as the demented mother of the dead man.

"The Feminine Touch" And "You Can't Escape Forever" In Twin Bill At The Arcadia

"THE Feminine Touch" and "You Can't Escape Forever" are the Arcadia's features for today and Monday.

In the first film, Don Ameche plays a professor of philosophy who is scientifically incapable of jealousy and so is only mildly amused when he discovers that the star football tackle is in love with his wife (Rosalind Russell). He and his wife leave for New York where he hopes to have his book "Jealousy in All Its Aspects and Universal Applications" published. The publisher's assistant, played by Kay Francis, showers attention on the professor while Van Heflin, as the publisher, falls in love with the professor's wife. An acute domestic crisis arises, but is finally eased when the publisher marries his assistant.

George Brent and Brenda Marshall carry the principal roles in "You Can't Escape Forever." The film is taken from Thelma Strabel's Cosmopolitan magazine story of the newspaper world and newspaper people. It is a metropolitan melodrama in which the reporter encounters adventure and love in about equal quanities and under equivalent conditions of risk.

The United Service Organizations has a volunteer staff of about 600,000 workers throughout the United States.

McCrea To Quit For War Post

BY ERNEST FOSTER
United Press Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 9 — Know of a war job for an able-bodied, draft-exempt man who has been making hundreds of thousands of dollars per year in motion pictures?

Screen star Joel McCrea announces that he will retire from motion pictures for the duration when he completes his current title role in "Buffalo Bill" at 20th Century-Fox.

While he believes motion pictures are an essential industry, McCrea believes that he himself is not essential to motion pictures. Somewhere in the war effort, he thinks, is a niche wherein he can serve better than in his present capacity.

In addition to whatever qualifications his acting experience has given him, the star says he has two other assets.

"One is an extensive knowledge of cattle-raising that I have been acquiring all my life," McCrea explains. "The other is an economic security for my family that permits me to do jobs that other men might not be able to afford."

Will Tour Hospitals

McCrea's job after "Buffalo Bill" will be a tour of military hospitals, and it's possible something may come out of that.

Then, he has been working with the Department of Agriculture for the past year and a half, and a full-time job may develop there.

"Whatever it is," he says, "I want it to be a job I am big enough and experienced enough to handle. The reason I am leaving pictures is that I know others can and will do my job here.

"It's a completely personal thing for me. I have to feel that I am doing the most I can."

McCrea is not subject to the draft, having recently passed his 38th birthday. He and his wife, Frances Dee, also a screen player, have two boys, Joel 9 and David 7. His active operation of a 2,400-acre ranch would give him further deferment if such were needed.

Italian Warships Are Aiding Slav Patriots

LONDON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Italian warships are shelling German-occupied towns on the Dalmatian coast in support of Yugoslav patriots, the Bari radio said today in a broadcast heard by the London Daily Express.

This was the first report of any action by Italian naval units since Italy capitulated, although King Vittorio Emanuele said in a speech last Saturday that Italian warships were once again sailing on "the seas of the fatherland" under their own colors.

Under government - controled sealing in the Pribilof Islands, 117,164 seal skins were taken this year, enough for more than 15,000 coats, compared with 127 skins taken in 1942.

'South Of Tahiti' With Marie Montez, Brian Donlevy And Andy Devine Is On At Midway

UNIVERSAL'S "South of Tahiti," featuring Maria Montez, Brian Donlevy and Andy Devine, is on the Midway's bill of fare today through Tuesday.

Able actor Brian Donlevy has the role of a rough and tumble fisherman who winds up on an uncharted isle with his two pals, played by Andy Devine and Brod Crawford.

Motivating themes of the plot are the love of a man and woman and a plan to steal a store of pearls.

Crawford turns in a performance equal to those excellent ones he gave in "Seven Sinners," "Trial of the Vigilantes," "Tight Shoes," and "Badlands of Dakota."

H. B. Warner and Henry Wilcoxon are other well-known actors in the cast.

Postwar Business To Be Fight For Survival

DALLAS, Oct. 9 (AP)—The postwar business is in for a high, wide and handsome time.

That is what Charles F. Leland of Washington, field representative of the national committee for economic development, prophesies.

"Business must plan for selfish reasons," Leland told Dallas members of the committee. "After the war the fight for survival will be intensive.

"The survivor will be the one who puts out the most of the best and cheapest."

Leland said business must provide 10,000,000 more jobs after the war than in 1940 and a gross national output of 142 billion dollars—40 per cent above 1940 production.

Postwar Education For Service Men Foreseen

FORT WORTH, Oct. 9 (AP) — Postwar education for returning service men may be provided by the government's engineering, science and management war training program, W. R. Woolrich, dean of Texas university's school of engineering, believes.

Woolrich, regional supervisor for ESMWT, made the suggestion when he spoke here Friday night at an open house conducted by ESMWT officials.

(Federally financed, ESMWT classes are conducted throughout the state under sponsorship of various colleges and universities as training groups for war industry workers.)

YOUR GOVERNMENT ASKS YOU TO USE LESS GAS

EVERY gas user is asked to conserve natural gas, a vital war material!

This request to all residential, commercial and industrial gas users was made recently in a letter to gas companies from J. A. Krug, Director, Office of War Utilities, War Production Board. Gas conservation is part of a broad program designed to meet a grave wartime shortage of manpower, fuels, material and equipment.

HERE'S HOW EVERY RESIDENTIAL GAS USER CAN HELP

1. Prepare your home for winter through insulation, weather stripping, caulking, and storm windows.
2. Close off all unused rooms.
3. Eliminate garage heating.
4. Never use the cooking range for heating the kitchen.
5. Keep home temperatures as low as possible.
6. Reduce temperatures to 55 degrees at night and when home is not occupied.
7. If heaters have no thermostatic control, use them only at such times as actually needed.
8. Save gas in other ways which will occur to you.

Your gas company will cooperate fully with the War Production Board to the end that no essential war industry is without gas to make war materials and no home without gas for essential needs.

However, the success of the program will depend upon our customers. By saving gas you can minimize the requirements of critical materials and manpower necessary to produce, transport and distribute gas. Also, you will help make it possible for war plants to continue making weapons and munitions without interruption, so the war will be won as quickly as possible.

You are urged to heed your government's earnest request for your help.

"Hush-Hush" Morgenthau Misses The Boat; Economic Pact Is Sought With Reds

His "Secret Plan" Disclosed

"World RFC" Secretary's Dream

HIS secrecy is sure to be harmful, if not fatal, to the world currency stabilization scheme presented by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau to a few congressional leaders behind locked doors the other day.

Little has been disclosed as to what he proposes except that it is something in the nature of a "World Reconstruction Finance corporation." Mr. Morgenthau obviously doesn't intend to tell the American people any more about his scheme than is absolutely necessary. His record supports the belief that, if he could obtain the plan's approval without telling the people anything, he would do just that. His record proves his belief in the "mother knows best" form of government, which would not consult the people in governmental matters.

But, despite the secrecy, a public grasp of the basic fundamental of the scheme is neither difficult nor denied. It can be likened to a world bank which would have the nations of the earth as its operators and patrons.

The plan might have merits if it could be assumed that all nations would assume a proportionate share of responsibility. But not even Mr. Morgenthau pretends that such would be the case.

Not even the secretary denies that, in such a bank, the taxpayers of the United States would put in most of the money, and other nations would draw most of it out. They would be given extremely liberal checking accounts in return for very small deposits—and, in some cases, no deposits at all.

The reasons for Mr. Morgenthau's secrecy are somewhat difficult to understand. Peraps it is because he never has become acquainted with the American people, and thus does not realize their aversion to such tactics. Or it could be that he realizes that the people would be sure to reject his ideas if the cards were laid before them. Perhaps he realizes that secrecy offers the only hope, however faint, of putting his scheme into operation.

However, any hopes he may have had of preserving secrecy were blasted the instant his star-chamber session broke up. Some of the participatants made clear quickly they would not "play ball" in an attempt to put a thing of that kind over on the American people.

Thus, the broad proposition is in the open. Mr. Morgenthau has made the task of obtaining approval for the plan infinitly more difficult than if he had taken the people into his confidence at the outset. He has to do more than persuade them that the plan has merit—a forbidding task in itself. He now must overcome the prejudice and suspicion engendered by tactics which suggest an attempt to cram something down American throats without first consulting them.

The Auto Theft Problem

DESPITE the reports that automobile thefts have been fewer than usual in Texas, readers of newspapers know that this form of crime still is a problem. The report of one or more such thefts, either in this city or area, has become almost a daily occurrence.

The reasons are obvious as to why such a problem should exist and for the expectation that it almost certainly will grow worse.

Gasoline shortages are an added reason for the casual thief who plans to abandon the car after a few hours of joy-riding. Critical shortages of tires and other parts are an added incentive for the theft of a car to be stripped. Then there are reasons peculiar to the times, with which all are familiar, for the attempted outright theft of the car.

True, the casual thief may not get far with a stolen automobile. The gasoline in the car probably won't take him far and it might be extremely difficult to get additional supplies of fuel.

But, against this, is the logical supposition that the professional thief is likely to have the foresight to arrange, in one way or another, for enough gasoline for his getaway. And, if he does succeed in his getaway, it is an unfortunate fact that he might profit largely from his crime.

So automobile thefts are a big problem that may become bigger. This is a fact to be borne in mind by automobile owners and to inspire suitable precautionary measures. Otherwise they may find themselves afoot.

Soldiers Pay Tribute For Privilege Of Helping Save A Crop

Today's World . . . . By S. Burton Heath

LEON SCHACTER, business manager of the Meat and Cannery Workers Union, scents a "smear against union labor" when the president of the New Jersey Farm Bureau discloses that soldiers, who were furloughed to work in canneries in an emergency, were required to pay union dues.

HEATH

We think Mr. Schacter is unduly sensitive. Mr. Voorhees did say, when he described the incident, that he was "shocked beyond words." He is not the only one who feels that way about such a situation.

Mr. Schacter, on behalf of the union, does not deny that the soldiers, who went into the cannery because manpower was so short that huge quantities of tomatoes were ready to spoil, were required to pay union dues in order to help save vital food.

On the contrary, he gives details. The canneries were operating under a closed shop agreement, he says, and therefore nobody could work in them without paying union dues. The soldiers didn't have to work there. They could have gone on soldiering at Fort Dix and let the tomatoes rot.

• • •

WHAT happened there has happened in at least several instances elsewhere. Emergencies have arisen in which too scarce foodstuffs would have spoiled for lack of help to harvest and handle and process them. The Army has given furloughs to those who volunteered to help. The men continued to receive their Army pay, and were permitted to receive also the wages for the work they did.

Under Army regulations soldiers are not permitted to compete with civilian labor. In time of war soldiers can not take off their uniforms, technically (though actually, in dirty work, they may do so occasionally, unofficially).

• • •

BUT theoretically they are in uniform when they help out in such emergencies, and therefore can not "compete" with the non-existent civilian help whose absence caused the emergencies.

If these Fort Dix sodiers had not paid union dues they would have been competing with civilians. Since they paid the dues there was no competition.

New Jersey farmers are described as being "very incensed." Mr. Schacter can not understand why. Can you?

SHORT WAVE WARNING

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS warns relatives and friends of missing service men not to trust enemy broadcasts which purport to give information about prisoners of war.

False information is short-waved, as part of Axis propaganda, along with accurate data. Sometimes the inaccuracy is unintentional; sometimes deliberate, for the purpose of injuring American morale.

All such broadcasts are monitored by the Red Cross, and checked against other sources of information, so that when you hear from the Provost Marshal's office you get not what the Axis would like you to believe but the most accurate facts that can be assembled.

• • •

CIVILIAN RELIEF

SHARP reminder of the burden that is imposed on us by even the beginnings of victory comes in the announcement that the Army's medical corps procurement service has placed orders for half a million infants' undershirts.

• • •

MANPOWER WASTE

THE War Manpower Commission concedes that the nation's labor force could be used with 25 per cent more efficiency. This will surprise few. We know we aren't getting anything like maximum results. But we do not know, and the WMC hasn't told us, how we can eliminate the waste.

Obviously part of it comes from geographical maladministration of manpower in relationship to work. Except in a dictatorship, if there, workers can't be shifted like pawns to match up with jobs.

But that doesn't account for the 25 per cent loss that is estimated. Whence does the loss come? What can be done about it? What is being done about it? Are we to know before the war is ended?

JAP "EMERGENCY"

PREMIER TOJO has warned his Japanese subjects that a "time of emergency" is at hand, in which it would be desirable to have factories and unneeded civilians evacuated from Tokyo, and the air defenses of other cities strengthened.

There are some things about which the Japanese are backward. But apparently they can read handwriting on the wall.

SO LONG, CHUM!

THE man who came to dinner has moved away. He is, as almost everybody knows, Harry Hopkins, a former New York social worker. Mr. Hopkins dropped in at the big white house at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. one weekend in May, 1940. His host, an old acquaintance named Roosevelt, is supposed to have remarked in that casual way one has with week-end guests who always theretofore have departed with normal promptitude: "Come on, Harry, send for another suitcase and stay on."

Harry did. Week after month he lingered. He courted from his temporary abode, was married there, and his wife moved in. Three years passed, and four months, and five days. Then, at last, it became known that Harry had hired a home of his own in Georgetown and was going to move out.

Well, so long, Harry. Come again. It's really our house, you know. We keep it in repair and pay for its upkeep. We let your host live there so he will be near his work. We enjoyed having you with us. Do come again, when we have another war.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

YOU'VE probably read the story of that fellow Weinberg, in New York, who posed as a lieutenant commander in the Navy and ran a school for draft dodgers until the FBI cracked down on him and slapped him into jail.

Well, he shouldn't be in jail at all, said his wife, but in a lunatic asylm.

He is suffering from a terrific case of megalomania, she alleges, which in plain English means imagining you are something that you ain't.

He craves publicity, she claims. He loves being in the limelight. He pictures himself as a great man, when, in reality, he is a nobody.

Once he bought a great organ for his apartment, she told the court, although he cannot play a note.

Another time he purchased some monkeys, squirrels and dogs and had them run all over the place.

• • •

I chuckled when I read the story—and then I stopped chuckling.

Hallucinations of grandeur?

Megalomania?

Weinberg?

How about myself? How about you? How about a lot of people you know?

How about the fellow who tells his wife what he's going to tell the boss tomorrow when he asks him for a raise?

How about the woman who is spending all the family money trying to be a social leader?

How about the little fellows who are trying to make the world believe that they are millionaires?

How about the loudmouths and the braggarts and the boasters and the phonies?

• • •

OH, THEY don't all go as far as Weinberg.

They don't buy monkeys, but they make monkeys of themselves.

I, myself, get these illusions of grandeur every now and then. I try to impress my wife with my superiority. I show my dog what an important guy I am.

Do you ever get that way? If you do just look in the mirror and say:

"NUTS."

Alliance Deemed Essential

(The National Whirligig)

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE tremendous advantages of a close economic alliance between Russia and the United States will be urged on Josef Stalin by American representatives at the forthcoming tripartite conference. Business and financial experts here are already assembling data designed to convince the Soviet leader of the wisdom of a bread-and-butter relationship.

Washington's planners are of the opinion that purely political problems will be solved more easily if they can sell the other argument to the dictator. Should he agree to go along on that basis, they believe that questions involving territory, guarantees of world peace and trade rivalries will become secondary—mere matters of mechanical arrangements.

Spokesmen for this school of thought are W. Averell Harriman, the new ambassador to Moscow, who will participate in the conferences, and Edward R. Stettinius, jr., recently appointed Under-Secretary of State. It is known that the British share this viewpoint, although for a few years England may not be in a position to engage in large-scale commerce.

Numerous American corporation executives once hostile to the Reds have informed federal officials that they envisage the Soviet Union as one of the richest markets. They look forward to having the Muscovites as eventual customers for consumer commodities as well as for heavy goods required for restoration, especially machine tools.

• • •

SALE: The pre-eminence which industrialists rather than nineteenth century diplomats will henceforth enjoy in the management of our foreign affairs accounts for this changed attitude toward the USSR. Another explanation can be found in the eyewitness observations made by our lend-lease and military experts of Russia's simultaneous accomplishments on the battlefields and in the factories behind the lines.

In prewar days our statesmen were inclined to think only of the Kremlin's political and social structure about which they were deeply prejudiced. They thought that they could neglect and disregard the vast land as a strange and backward area.

Now—and this applies particularly to Messrs. Harriman, Stettinius and Harry Hopkins — they realize that we cannot give the Reds the cold shoulder without jeojardizing all prospects of world rehabilitation and peace.

E. C. Ropes, Russian expert of the Department of Commerce, recently expressed this attitude at Cornell university. "I have been delving into Soviet industrial development for 20 years," he declared, "and I find something new every day, particularly as I try to account for the progress of her armies in their westward march. The things we still do not know, as they gradually become known, will, I believe, provide a still more amazing picture of accomplishment."

Restoration of destroyed plants in the Donetz basin alone, according to Washington's inventories, will require at least a billion dollars' worth of machine tools. There will also be an opportunty to dispose of freight cars, railroad equipment and trucks. And a slowly rising standard of living will stimulate the sale of refrigerators, cheap automobiles, washing machines etc.

• • •

COMPLAINED: Federal spenders and propagandists are preparing many future headaches for Uncle Sam. All over the globe they are raising the hopes of war victims that they may look toward the U. S. as a permanent world WPA with strawberry festival dainties on the side. That is one of the reports of the five senators just back from abroad.

The statesmen testify that the present orgy of money-flinging reminds them of the old days when western tourists tipped foreign waiters too heavily. Thenceforth, rates for all services were inflated and every American visitor was taken for a ride. Only difference now is that the government itself is committing all the mistakes formerly made by individuals.

Our various agencies are paying excessive wages in many areas for local labor. This practice frequently defeats its purpose, for after a native has worked a few days he quits until his money runs out.

Our functionaries built unnecessarily luxurious offices and living quarters in remote sections. They handed over inordinately high fees for "preclusive buying" and purchased goods of no military advantage to the Axis. The rehabilitators supplied inhabitants with the type of food that may spoil the recipients for the more ordinary peacetime diet.

Indeed, officials in many places complained of this spree and begged the Capitol Hill investigators to carry their criticism to Washington.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

THE fuel industry vouches for cozy homes this winter provided that its product is wisely distributed.

Though SFA Ickes continues to broadcast forebodings, the trade is confident that it can satisfy, unless its elbow is jostled by Washington back-seat drivers and a jittery public. The operators even suspect that much of the talk of the wolf at the door is purposely circulated to discredit them.

As things stand now, New England—a critical spot—may be granted a reasonable allowance of oil. Until more carriers can be commissioned or released by the Army and Navy, the purchase of anthracite will be difficult. But the prospects for bituminous coal are reassuring.

Output for the first nine months was 433 million tons compared with 425 million during the same period in 1942. The soft accounts for 37 per cent of residential usage; wood 23, anthracite 13, gas 11, petroleum 10 and coke four.

• • •

DEMANDS: Train, tanker and pipe line bottlenecks make industry's problem more acute. Managements dread that rationing or finicky allocation will disrupt production. Dealers are acquainted with the special requirements of old customers, which vary radically according to the nature of their work. Deliveries are scheduled to conform to individual plant needs.

Operators of red tape ignore these considerations and topsy-turvy conditions result. Owners are now on pins and needles in consequence of the Solid Fuel administration's scheme to take combustibles from corporations with three or four months' reserves and limit everyone to a 30-day stock pile, a margin too narrow for peak loads.

In their haste to establish war factories, federal planners did not give enough thought to fuel resources. Great shops where power is generated by boilers were bunched into the Seattle region and expected to burn coal dug locally. But the great Northwest is a geologically young area. Its seams are thin and costly to mine. The shafts could not supply eough, so the government was forced to impose limited rationing on Washington, Oregon and Idaho.

A new layout in Utah stands idle. Its proprietors finally accumulated 40,000 tons of bitumen but the wheels cannot start until 100,000 tons are in the yard—and the Appalachian fields furnishing 75 per cent of all the nation's nuggets are miles and miles away.

Electricity is not sufficient to meet business demands. Coal men assert that a single day's pit yield will give more horsepower than the Grand Coulee and Boulder dams can generate in three and a half years.

"Paris-Underground" Is Book-Of-The-Month

Mrs. Etta Shiber Writes Thrilling Story Of Experiences

IT'S not only soldiers who have exciting stories to tell of this war. One of the most thrilling books you'll come across for some time is "Paris-Underground," a Book-of-the-Month club selection for October. "Paris-Underground" is the true story of an American woman in her middle sixties, Mrs. Etta Shiber, who helped many a British soldier to escape from Nazi-occupied France at the risk of her own life.

Mrs. Shiber

Mrs. Shiber just happened to be living in Paris at the time of the French armistice. And she just happened to become involved in the whole underground movement in France.

In June 1940, Mrs. Shiber and the Englishwoman with whom she lived, Kitty, tried to drive their car along the refugee-cluttered roads south from Paris. A German officer ordered them to return.

Beginning Is Told

On their way back they stopped at an inn for a cup of tea. The innkeeper confided to them that he needed help. A British pilot was hiding there and he dared not keep him longer, for the Germans might search the inn at any moment. Impulsively, the two women volunteered to hide the boy in the luggage compartment of their car.

This was the beginning. Later, they met up with Father Christian, a small town Priest, who was in touch with a large group of English soldiers hiding in the woods. They managed to hide the boys he sent them in their Paris apartment until they could be turned over to others of the underground chain for transportation to unoccupied France and England.

All Were Arrested

Eventually they were all arrested—first Mrs. Shiber, then Kitty and Father Christian. Kitty and Father Christian were sentenced to death. Mrs. Shiber was given three years. She did 18 months of this sentence. Then, with sudden and mystifying sympathy the Germans one day granted her a six months parole to regain her health.

Back in Paris she tried in vain to learn the fate of her friend Kitty. She did, however, learn that Father Christian had escaped. On the day of his execution two supposedly German officers had arrived to take him to the place where his sentence was to be carried out. They had the correct papers, and the prison authorities let him go. A few hours later, the real German officers arrived. The first two had been members of the British Intelligence Service.

Shortly afterwards, Mrs. Shiber was sent back to America in exchange for Johanna Hoffmann, the German hairdresser of the S.S. Bremen. She is living in New York now. Recently someone asked her if she hadn't considered lecturing about her experiences. "Oh, I couldn't do that," said this woman who had risked her life daily and hourly. "Why I'd be scared to death."

FOR THE YOUNG'UNS

IT often takes a whimsical children's book full of make-believe and fantasy to remind us that war has not erased all the fundamental pleasures of life.

Maud Hart Lovelace's "Down Town" is a Betsy-Tacy story which seems to be the "Bobbsy Twins" and "Dick in the Mountains" of the last younger generation.

Miss Lovelace has her young characters frolic from one hilarious adventure to another. The story never leaves the children's world in style or vocabulary. It's a book the youngsters will enjoy, for they need not constantly run to their parent to explain "grown-up" words.

The story is about Betsy, Tacy and Tib, "the very best friends," who are old enough to go beyond the Big Hill where they used to play and venture toward the excitements of the town. Climax to their adventures come when they find themselves acting behind the footlights on the stage of the Opera House.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

LET'S GIVE 'EM MORE VICTORY SHIPS!

Today our soldiers on every battlefront depend on the men of the Merchant Marine to deliver the goods--to bring them the guns, the tanks, the bombs they need to win the fight. And to get these necessary materials to our boys on the far-flung battlefronts across the Atlantic and Pacific, the men of the Merchant Marine defy all the perils of war. They sail through submarine-infested waters, they watch their ship sink after she has been cut in half by torpedoes. They face the long lonely days and nights without food or water in crowded life boats, while their eyes strain to catch sight of a passing ship. The survivors of disaster see their shipmates struggle to hang on to life as they are swallowed by the raging sea. Although many have suffered painful injuries, they accept their war risk with the same valor and gallantry as the men in the armed forces and cheerfully return to duty. We who are at home are challenged to give these men the ships they need! We are the people who must buy the bonds, work in the ship yards, and exhaust every possible means to insure the officers and men of the Merchant Marine that they will have the ships to carry the cargoes of war materials to those men who won't be home until the war is won. Let's give them more Victory ships!

First Baptist Church Growth Reviewed As Anniversary Marked

Accomplishments in the First Baptist church in the last year and during the last seven-year period have been recalled here following commemoration of the seventh anniversary of the pastor, Dr. C. E. Hereford, last Sunday.

Dr. Frank B. Malone, deacon, paid tribute to the pastor and gave a gift in behalf of the church membership before a congregation which filled the auditorium to overflowing.

The past associational year has been the best in history of the church, is was announced. There have been 704 additions, 127 by baptism. Total receipts were $73,076.32. The building fund now totals $80,000, which has been invested in government bonds.

4,235 Additions To Church

During the last seven years, there have been 4,235 additions to the church, an average of 605 a year or more than 11 a Sunday. Of that number, 662 were by baptism.

Church indebtedness of nearly $50,000 has been paid and a total of $347,117.22 has been given into the church treasury.

The church was listed as 10th in membership in the Southern Baptist convention and sixth in the state in one of the Quarterly Review editions this year. Larger churches in the convention were listed as the First church of Shreveport, Lt.; Bellevue church, Memphis, Tenn.; First church, Oklahoma City; Third Street church, St. Louis, Mo.; First church, Cliff Temple and Gaston Avenue churches, Dallas; Travis Avenue church, Fort Worth, and First church, San Antonio.

Tribute also has been paid to Mrs. Hereford, chorister and organist and who aids in other ways in church work.

Revision In Income Tax Law Proposed

WASHINGTON, (Oct. 9 (AP) — A revision of the pay-as-you-go tax law, under which 20 per cent reductions are made from taxable portions of wages and salaries, was proposed to Congress Friday to encourage contributions to churches, schools and other privately-supported philanthropy.

Rep. Curtis (R-Neb), who said he appeared in behalf of religious and educational organizations, asked the House ways and means committee to set up in the tax laws a "pay-as-you-go" credit for such donations.

The proposal would permit an employe to declare at the beginning of a taxable year what his religious, educational and charitable contributions would be per payroll period and have that amount exempted in the application of the 20 per cent withholding tax.

A young lady employed by the government in hospital 28 days unconscious as a result of being struck by a truck when stepping from a bus. Both arms were broken. Upon regaining consciousness she was found to be suffering with amnesia (loss of memory), and was diagnosed clot on brain. Her symptoms showed pressure on the brain or spinal cord. Moving Of Japan's Government Seen

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The warning by Senator Chandler (D-Ky)—just back from the five-senator inspection trip to the war theaters—that the Japanese may move their seat of empire to the Asiatic mainland will strike many observers as a rather startling conclusion.

This column long ago called attention to the possibility that surrender by Japan proper wouldn't by any means necessarily guarantee the capitulation of the Japanese militarists and their great armies on the continent. My point was that the Nipponese generals in command of the armies of occupation in China, being in control of a vast new empire, might decide to ignore orders from the home government and carry on.

However, that's different from the idea of transferring the Jap seat of empire to China. Removal of the government and the person of the Mikado from Tokyo to the continent would represent a veritable cataclysm in the history of Nippon—a loss of face which would almost call for national hara-kiri. Still, it can't be denied that cataclysms have happened in this war, and might happen again.

Industries Believed Moved

The senator says he has good reason to believe that some of Japan's heavy industry already has been moved to the Asiatic mainland, besides the concentration of industry in Manchukuo. That's a true bill.

Moreover, during a decade of control in Manchukuo the Japs have developed both resources and manufactories. The picture in China is not clear, but the invaders have made some progress there. In any event, the ten per cent of China which they have overrun (apart from Manchuquo, outer Mongolia and Tibet proper) represents the country's richest territory, both in natural resources and industrially.

Allied strategy apparently depends heavily on bombing of the Japanese mainland to reduce Nippon to submission. If we had suitable air bases from which we could reach Tokyo, Osaka and other cities, we should be about the job right now. The rub is we haven't the bases, and Tokyo therefore is comparatively safe for the moment.

Explains Burma Invasion

The impending Allied offensive against the Japanese is calculated to produce the necessary bases in due course. That's one of the reasons for the projected invasion of Burma. We want to get equipment and air support to the Chinese so that the Japanese can be forced back towards the coast, giving us the air bases we need. Recognition of this danger accounts for the present heavy Jap offensive in East China.

When finally we are able to bring full force of our aerial striking-power against the cities of little Japan, we shall rip them out by the roots. The day will arrive when Japan proper will have to surrender. But will the Japanese war lords on the continent, with their great armies, obey any call to lay down their arms?

Certainly it will be a huge temptation to them to carry on. They have a million troops in Manchukuo, and another million or more in occupied China. They are in control of a wealth of organized resources. It would be a terrific job to conquor them by arms and drive them into the sea. Yet we may have to do exactly that.

Business Credited In War Change-Over

NEW YORK, Oct. 9. (AP)—Elmer Davis, OWI director, said today civilian change-over to war-time standards would have been impossible without the cooperation extended by American business through its paid advertising.

Addressing the war advertising council, the head of the Office of War information said:

"Up until the time the various government war programs were consolidated, Mr. and Mrs. Smith were being exhorted to do too many things at once, in too little time, by too many agencies. "The Smiths are not only doing what is expected of them today, but doing it with a minimum of confusion."

He described the campaign, which resulted in an over-subscription of the Third War loan, millions of victory gardens and participation in government conservation, salvage and manpower programs, as "one of the most effective examples of close cooperation between government and business in our entire history."

Grange Rejects Plea To Support Subsidies

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9. (AP)—The National Grange today flatly rejected what it described as an administration request that the farm organization withdraw its opposition and join in support of the government's food subsidy program.

Albert S. Goss, national master, said in a letter to President Roosevelt that War Food Administrator Marvin Jones had asked farm organization officials to support the subsidy plan.

Goss, in explaining why he could not comply with the Jones request, said: "We do not feel that a price ceiling-subsidy program is sound. Every nation in history which has tried to prevent inflation by price ceilings rather than by closing the inflationary gap has failed, and we are failing at an appalling rate."

Warning On Amended Tax Returns Given

DALLAS, Oct. 9 (AP)—Taxpayers shouldn't be too eager to file amended declarations of estimated income and victory tax.

Assistant S. L. Mayo, assistant collector of internal revenue, said some taxpayers already had filed amended declarations on September 15 returns and may be jeopardizing their right to file an amended declaration December 15 as provided by law since law provided for filing only one amended declaration.

Mt. Daisen, a 5,653-foot "holy mountain" near the Sea of Japan, is climbed by 25,000 persons a year in normal times.
