How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain
Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:
1 Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion,* thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.
2 Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.
Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

Lions Club Plans Program of Work On Civic Projects

Program of work for the Snyder Lions Club on civic projects will be perfected within the next several days, it was announced by club officials Tuesday noon at the regular weekly luncheon in the Manhattan Hotel, following report of Chairman J. J. Dyer of the club's Civic Improvement Committee that has been studying immediate needs of the town of Snyder.

Street marking and house numbering will be one of the first projects to be tackled by the Lions, it was stated. A bus station closer to the business section of town, and arranging of more parking on the courthouse square for automobiles are to be other projects that will come in for club committee planning.

Vice President R. E. Patterson was in the chair at the Tuesday noon luncheon.

Forrest Beavers, it was announced at the luncheon, is new club secretary. He succeeds G. G. Gordon, resigned. Beavers was appointed by the board of directors last week.

Snyder High School Coach Tommy Beene urged Lions to attend and bring others to the Snyder-Colorado City football game at Tiger Stadium Friday evening.

Admiration Posts Big Prizes in "My Grocer" Contest

An unusual contest is brought to the attention of Times readers by Admiration coffee in their $5,000 "My Favorite Grocer" contest.

In this contest not only does the grand prize winner receive $1,000 in cash, but the grocery store named in the winning entry receives $500 in cash. Winners are judged on the best statements of 50 words or less completing the sentence: "My favorite grocer is (name of favorite grocery store because . . ." telling why this grocery store is the favorite of the contestant.

It was pointed out by contest officials that since this is strictly a regional contest—that is, confined to the Southwest—and not offered nationally—contestants have eight times better chances of winning than any contest offered throughout the United States.

In addition to the grand prize of $1,000 for the contestant, the second and third grand prizes are a Philco refrigerator and a Crosley radio-phonograph combination, respectively. Before the judging of the grand prize winners, there are six weekly contests with the winners receiving the items named above, plus Westinghouse electric roasters, Dormeyer electric mixers, Manning-Bowman electric percolators, Dominion electric toasters and dozens of others

The contest started September 29. Keely contest winners will be selected from entries received before midnight Saturday at the end of each week for the following six weeks.

Entry blanks may be secured from grocers ,or contestants may merely write on one side of a plain sheet of paper. Anyone may enter as many times as he wishes, but each entry must be accompanied by the label (or mammy picture) from the Admiration package or jar or the strip that unwinds from the vacuum can.

All entries should be mailed to Admiration Contest, Box 285, Houston, Texas.

Gas Exhibit at Fair Attracts Thousands

Lone Star Gas Company's air-conditioned exhibit building filled with displays of modern gas appliances at the State Fair of Texas in Dallas, was attracting thousands of people, including many from Scurry County and West Texas.

The exhibit contains a sparkling array of domestic, commercial and industrial gas equipment, designed for economy, convenience and comfort. Lounges, rest rooms, ice water and music are available for the comfort and entertainment of visitors.

Lone Star Gas Company exhibit building is about a block southeast of the Fair Pair auditorium on First Avenue. It may be spotted by a 70-foot tower atop of which is a giant blue flame, with "GAS" lettered out on four sides in neon lighting.

State Health Officer Urges Caution with Pneumonia Threat

Snyder and area people were concerned this week with announcement by Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, that pneumonia caused approximately 2,460 death during the past year in Texas, a total which is entirely too high. This disease is most prevalent during the winter and spring season.

In a release to The Tmes, Dr. Cox explains that pneumonia is caused by a germ called the pneumococcus, which many of us have lurking in our throats ready to start trouble, when our resistance to it is lowered. We can keep up our resistance by avoiding undue fatigue and unnecessary exposure to extreme weather conditions. When we go outside in cold weather sufficient wraps should be worn to protect us. Keeping the temperatures of our homes as low as is consistent with comfort will greatly lessen the difficulties encountered in adjusting ourselves to the cold when we leave the house.

Another method of prevention in pneumonia is not to neglect a cold, for the common cold often results in pneumonia when neglected. A person with a severe cold should stay at home, and call his physician for advice if temperature persists or the cold lingers on. He should follow his physician's advice until the cold has disappeared. A patient may really have beginning pneumonia when he thinks it is only a cold. If the physician's advice is sought, he will have an opportunity to start treatment early if pneumonia is present, or develops in such cases.

GENTLE BRAHMAS—J. V. Gates of Poeet, pioneer breeder of Brahman cattle, is shown with his two grandchildren looking over a portion of his herd. The breed of cattle is generally supposed to be wild and of a vicious nature, but Mr. Gates says he has developed a strain of Brahmans devoid of these undesirable characteristics which the photo tends to bear out.

Juniors, Sophomores Elect Class Officers

Junior and sophomore classes have elected their officers for the 1947-1948 school year. Junior officers are as follows: Joe Dave Scott, president; Darrel Black, vice president; Frances Leath, secretary; Billy Sims, reporter; and Marianne Randals, treasurer. Junior sponsors are: Mrs. J. P. Nelson, Mrs. Dan Gibson, and Jack Taylor.

Not the Guilty One.

The kindly old lady stopped before the blind man on the corner, fumbled in her purse and then gave him a two-dollar bill.

"Lady," said the blind man, "two dollar bills is bad luck. Ain't you got two ones?"

"Mercy, how did you know it was a two-dollar bill if you're blind?"

"I ain't blind, lady. It is my partner that's blind. Dis is his day off an' he's at de movies—Me, I'm a deaf mute."

Spirited Race for Grid Sweetheart Seen for Classes

Coach Tommy Beene announced Friday in assembly the Snyder Tigers' choices for the football sweetheart candidates.

From the senior class are Katie Tadlock, Betty Gatlin, and Eleanor Erwin. Junior candidates are Clarice McGlaun and Marianne Randals. For the sophomores are Dewey Faye Everett and Hope Thompson. Freshman candidates are Patsy Pogue and Joyce Walls.

On Friday, October 10, candidates will be eliminated to one for each class. The candidate in each class who has the most penny votes will be selected. All proceeds for the one week will go to the one candidate who leads in her respective class.

The contest will not officially close until Monday, October 20 at noon. This will give each class a chance to work over the week-end of the second week.

Mr. and Mrs. Haywood Moore and daughter, Sue Ann, returned this week to their home in California after visiting for several weeks with Mrs. A. G. Reynolds and other relatives in this section.

Mrs. Edgar Campbell has returned from a several day visit in Austin with her daughter, Joanne. Joanne has returned to Snyder to work for Scurry County Vocational School.

Louella Eades of San Angelo is spending the week in Snyder.

Rochester Gridders Beat Hobbs 47 to 13

Rochester High School Steers trounced the Hobbs High School Panthers by a count of 47 to 13 in a non-conference game played at Rochester Friday night.

Jack Gauntt, left half, was the stand-out man for the Steers, making two run backs of 90 and 85 yards, both good for scores. Other Steer tallies came in each quarter with King passing to Jack Jenkins and to Lin Johnson for four touchdowns.

Allen Covitt scored twice for the Pantners, one in the second and again in the third quarter. Both scores were made an pass plays.

The Steers rolled up 478 yards running and passing while the Panthers were gaining 178 yards with rushing and passes.

Francis and Vivian Chenault of San Angelo visited their mother, Mrs. P. C. Chenault, last week-end.

Frankilene Arnett Wins for Sophs as FFA Sweetheart

Frankilene Arnett was elected the F. F. A. Sweetheart in an exciting campaign which ended Wednesday, October 1.

The Sophomore class was in the lead with a total of $119.42. The freshman class followed with a total amounting to $59. The Senior class was third with an amount totaling $36.02. In the fourth spot was the Junior class with a sum of $1.50.

Other candidates for the campaign were: Anna Mae DeShazo, senior; Dean Shepherd for the juniors, and Patsy Rogue for the freshmen.

Methods used by the freshman class for making money were a rummage sale held in town and a boxing match held in the gym Wednesday, October 1, at activity period, charging a nickel per person. Contributions were used for making money by sophomore and junior classes. Money was made for the senior class by giving an assembly program held Monday, September 29, at activity period at five cents admission fee and by selling an extra edition of Swish Wednesday morning at five cents per copy.

Voter—"I suppose it is your great ambition to leave deathless footprints on the sands of time."

Candidate—"Well, no, not exactly—all I want now is to cover my tracks until after the election."

Fire Prevention Week Recalls Big Losses on Farms

National observance of Fire Prevention Week has brought out the startling fact that 100 farm fires occur in the United States each day, killing 10 farmers, according to Oscar Fowler, Scurry County agent.

Texas A. & M. College Extension Service is cooperating with the National Fire Protection Assocation and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, in an attempt to cut down this loss of life on farms in Texas, and is urging farm people to guard themselves and their families against fire.

Agent Fowler asks the pertinent question: What are the most dangerous causes of fires?

The careless smoker still is Public Enemy No. 1, on the strength of his smoking in bed and in the barn and discarding lighted cigarettes and matches. The thoughtless housewife ranks second on the list, by continuing to stack papers, magazines, old clothing, broken toys and discarded furniture away in the attic, closets, basement, the barn and other buildings.

Dangerous storage of gasoline and kerosene, and the use of flammable cleaning fluids take a high toll of life and property.

Children playing with matches cause 26,000 fire annually.

Dirty and improperly operating lanterns are a big threat, as well as the dust and cobwebs around motors, appliances and frayed electric cords.

Agent Fowler is asking Scurry County farm people to remember this: Every tenth fire that breaks out on a farm results in a death.

FARM FACTS WORTH KNOWING

Q.—What is the cause of a cow giving bitter, rancid milk?

A.—This trouble is usually due to the action of an enzyme known as lipase which is normally not present in milk but may occur in the last stages of the lactation period or in cows suffering from mastitis. If not due to mastitis, the trouble will usually disappear when the animal freshens or after she goes on pasture. The difficulty may be overcome by heating the milk to 145 degrees and then cooling promptly.

Q.—What factors should be considered in selecting the boar for the breeding herd?

A.—The major factors to consider in selection of the herd boar are: (a) Individuality or outward appearance; (b) ancestry or the inherited ability to produce strong, healthy and desirable offspring; and (c) performance record or the test of production.

Q.—After rabbits have been mated, is it advisable to have the does rebred?

A.—Yes. The rabbitry at a famous feed concern recommends that rabbits be mated and the same pair remated five hours later. Then, because of the possibility of does going through a period of pseudo-pregnancy (false pregnancy) all does are rebred again on the eighteenth day.

Q.—My five-month-old capons are developing breast blisters. These capons have been raised on wire since they were four weeks old. Is there any way to get rid of these blisters, and will they affect the quality of the meat?

A.—These breast blisters are no doubt caused by irritation from the wire floors. Raising the birds on slat floors will prevent most of this trouble. But ordinary breast blisters do not affect the quality of the meat although they do hurt the appearance of the carcass when dressed.

Good Prices for Poultry Products Seen for Months

Scurry County poultry raisers see continued good prices for poultry and eggs for months to come with steady demand from major markets maintained and reports that stocks are at an all-time low.

A monthly gain in interstate chicken shipments was the main bright spot in the poultry and egg situation in Texa during August, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported in a release to The Times this week.

Total shipments of chickens were 65 per cent below August, 1946, shipments despite the 18 per cent July-to-August hike. Turkey shipments dropped 36 per cent for the month, and shipments of eggs slid downward 32 per cent.

Intrastate shipments were light in August. No chicken loadings were recorded, one carload of turkeys went out, an degg shipments dropped to four carloads.

Intrastate shipments accounted for the hike in chicken shipments, turkey loadings sagged 44 per cent, and egg shipments logged up an 11 per cent July-to-August jump in spite of the 44 per cent drop below the August, 1946, mark.

Aaron Hartman of Dumas spent several days with his little son and mother, Mrs. Roxie Hartman.

Miss Norman Jean Haley of Wichita, Kansas, receives the golden horse trophy from Michael O'Shea, Hollywood movie star, in Fort Worth, at the closing performance of the World Championship All-Palomino horse show, for being selected as Miss Palomino of 1947. She is riding Man o' Gold, owned by Louis Bromley of Gardner, Kansas, at the show.

Some Changes Coming.

Deal Completed For Scout Camp Near Balmorhea

Snyder District Boy Scout leaders were advised today that the Buffalo Trail Council, Boy Scouts of America has consumated a deal acquiring the C. Hunter Strain ranch in the Davis Mountains for a council camp site. Announcement was made by C. W. Brenneman, president of the council.

The property, consisting of approximately 6,000 acres, is located 24 miles from Balmorhea, and is just 12 miles off the Pecos-Fort Davis highway. The main canyon on the place is called Aguja, meaning needle in Indian, and is so called because of a towering rock in the middle of the canyon.

Total consideration for the property was $74,981.25. Plans for financing the total purchase are being developed and will be announced in the near future.

Preliminary drive for funds for the camp was conducted several weeks ago by Snyder District Scout leaders, in which several hundred dollars was raised. The campaign was dropped pending further negotiations for the property. Foy Wade and J. E. Blakey were directing the solicitations. They state further contacts will be made in the near future for additional contributions.

Providing a camp for the Scouts of the 15 counties comprising the council is a big step forward, according to Brenneman, and represents a capital expenditure and not an operating expense.

Deed to the property has been received and is made to R. M. Simmons of Sweetwater; George Abell of Midland and Frank Myers of Pecos as trustees of and for the council.

Carl Blomshield, chairman of the council camping and activities committee stated that plans for developing the camp site are well along the way and that it is expected the council summer camp—in which Snyder District Boy Scouts will participate— will be held on the newly acquired site in 1948.

Farm Families to Housing Projects Spend $592,000 on

Farm families in Scurry County will spend more than $592,000 for new housing in the next three to five years, according to a forecast released to the Times by the Tile Council of America.

"As a result of high incomes during the last few years, farmers in every part of the nation are prepared to invest record amounts in new home construction and in general farm improvements," said F. B. Ortman, chairman of the council's residential construction committee.

Pointing out that the comforts and conveniences of urban living are now available to farm families, Ortmn said that new rural homes will incorporate such features as water pressure systems, tiled bathrooms and modern kitchen facilitiee.

Rapid electrification of rural areas of West Texas is making possible the incorporation in new homes of many labor saving and comfort providing devices undreamed of a generation ago. Rural Electrification Administration estimates disclose that more than 55 per cent of all farms in the state now receive central station electric service. Refrigerators, electric washing machines and deep freezing units, as well as plumbing systems, will go into many new homes homes as a consequence.

When Connecticut adopted its constitution in 1639 it was the first time in history when a government was organized and refined by a written constitution.

Good Roads Official Says State Needs to Expand Highways

Color movies and a collection of charts and maps are telling the story of Texas roads at the State Fair of Texas at Dallas.

The exhibit is sponsored by the Texas Good Roads Association.

"Most engineers say that 3,000 vehicles per day is the maximum efficient volume for a two-lane highway," Colonel Ike Ashburn, executive vice president of the association, declared. He added: "Texas now has 400 miles of two-lane highways carrying more than 4,000 vehicles per day. If current trends continue, 1,050 miles of Texas roads will be over-crowded by 1955."

Increased road use will demand continuous expansion in all classes of roads, Ashburn stated.

"Texas people must prepare to meet this problem courageously," he said. "The continuation of a balancer road program to develop all classes of highways must be assured for the future of Texas. The Texas Good Roads Association is unequivocally committed to such a program."

Yep, The Times still has lots upon lots of office supplies.

BARSON — Authentic Statement

By ROGER W. BABSON

St. Louis, Oct. 3.—Next to specific questions about securities, the people here at the present time seem most interested in problems concerning the residential building outlook. Many are asking whether they should build at all or buy an older type house. I shall discuss these problems today.

Shall I Build Now or Wait?

Specifically, I advise your waiting a little while longer if you can possibly do so. Pressure on building materials and building labor is still very strong. This means that your freedom to insist on quality is still restricted. Those of you who want the best should be in a better position to demand it next year than now.

As far as price is concerned, I do not believe you will save any money by waiting until next year. Your saving will be in quality, which, after all, is most important when you are making a 20, 30 or 50-year investment. It also is wise to wait until you can get a firm contract price and build under an architect's supervision.

What About Demand?

The years 1939 through 1946 saw a net increase in families of about 9,600,000. During that period, however, there were only 2,600,000 net dwellings added to the total. At the beginning of this year, I therefore estimate an accumulated demand for about 7,000,000 dwelling units. The Bureau of Labor Statistics reports that there were 359,000 units completed in the first half of 1947. During the last half of the year, there should be 700,000 more completions. Yet, 1,00,000 more couples will get married in 1947!

Hence, it can be seen that the pressure of demand remains extremely high. This prevents any sharp early decline in the cost of construction. I, however, would predict that during 1948 the price of building will remain close to present levels; but with improved quality of construction and less labor union interference. In fact, I expect building costs to stabilize not far from current levels.

Should I Buy an Old House?

If your need for a house is imminent and pressing, you might consider buying an old house if the location is right. However, if you can wait, I suggest you wait and then build a new and modern home. In buying an old house, be doubly certain that needed repairs are not too extensive as renovation costs are now very expensive. In selecting an old house, be very careful to avoid extremes in size and architecture, as the "out-of-style" types will be the first to crash value-wise when the demand fades.

Bear in mind that the future value of your house will ge governed by the prce district in which you buy or build. Never build a $15,000 home in a $10,000 price district. If you do, you may be throwing away $5,000 immediately. Generally, depreciation occurs on the house only, and appreciation occurs on the land only; while money spent on personal desires either on a new home or on remodeling an old one must be charged off when reselling. Watch out for restrictions.

Mortgage Outlook.

During the months ahead I do not expect any change in the mortgage money situation. The pressure of savings seeking investment should continue low interest rates and an easy attitude on the part of bank appraisers. The biggest demand for mortgage money will be for multiple dwelling units. High costs of homes forces many in the lower income groups to seek small rentals in apartment dwellings. Hence, the demand for such homes will reach a higher level and there will be more of some types of government housing subsidies.

The weather here in the Central West is wonderful. Most crops are bountiful and the people are uperbly gracious. These great broad farms and rich natural resources and independent people make me want to stay here forever!

Harley Sadler Says He May Be In Governor Race

Representative Harley Sadler of Sweetwater may become a candidate for governor, he admitted first of the week in a talk with Sweetwater friends.

In a telephone conversation the familiar West Texas show man, said when asked about his intentions of becoming a candidate for governor, I do not particularly want to run for governor but if the response from the people of Texas is sufficient I would naturally give it consideration, Only, of course, from the standpoint of being of service my humble way."

Sadler stated that he had been completely dumbfounded because of the tremendous momentum of this thing has gained over the entire state of Texas."

He pointed out, however, that there is still a lot of time left in which to make up his mind about the matter.

"I appreciate the fact that I have been receiving encouragement from hundreds of my friends over the state, and particularly West Texas," he said.

Several Snyder and Scurry County people indicated to a Times reporter this week that they would heartily support the candidacy of the Sweetwater man if he decides to throw in his hat.

Soil Conservation Sweetwater Meet To Attract Many

At least two officials of the Upper Colorado Soil Conservation Association were slated to attend a district soil conservation meeting Friday afternoon at Sweetwater, when area conservationists gather at the Sweetwater municipal auditorium for the conference. Several farmers of the county probably also will attend.

L. A. Hill, county supervisor, and Bob Dupree, office manager of the Snyder office, will attend the meeting they said.

More than 1,500 farmers and business men interested in soil conservation are expected to attend the afternoon meeting, which is under the sponsorship of the Second National Bank of Houston and the Santa Fe Railway.

One of the principal speakers will be R. B. Ball, vice president and general manager of the Santa Fe. Another talk will be made by C. M. Malone, vice president of the Second National Bank.

Manager L. A. Wilke of the Sweetwater Board of City Development will be chairman at the session opening at 2:00 p. m. in the auditorium.

Also on the program will be a 15-minute panel discussion headed by Nolan County Agent M. B. Templeton, an address by H. M. Bainer, general agricultural agent of the Santa Fe, and C. Dooley Dawson, also a vice president of the Houston bank.

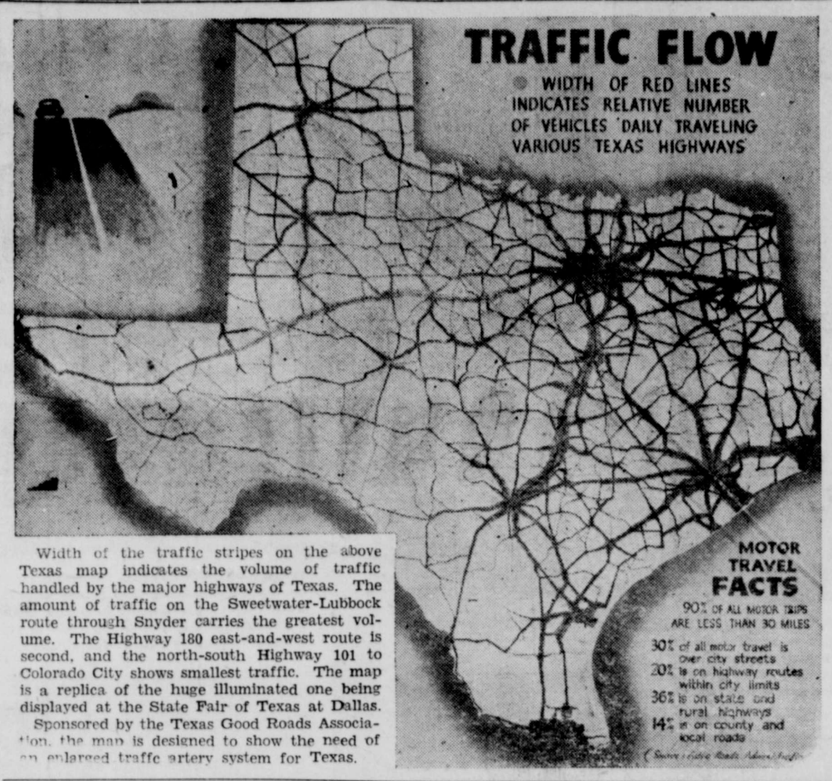

In addition there will be a 20-minute movie, "This Land of Ours," produced by the Ethyl Corporation.

Mayor R. O. Peters of Sweetwater will give the address of welcome.

H. E. Girls Canning As Project in Class

If you want to learn to can, just drop in on the second year H. E. girls. They have canned peaches and tomatoes so far. Mrs. Gibson said if anyone had fruit or vegetables to be canned free, that the H. E. girls would can them if you furnish the jars, caps and sugar, if needed.

This is so the girls may get experience and save grocery money so they can get some new reference books for their library.—S H. S. Tiger's Tale.

Width of the traffic stripes on the above Texas map indicates the volume of traffic handled by the major highways of Texas. The amount of traffic on the Sweetwater-Lubbock route through Snyder carries the greatest volume. The Highway 180 east-and-west route is second, and the north-south Highway 101 to Colorado City shows smallest traffic. The map is a replica of the huge illuminated one being displayed at the State Fair of Texas at Dallas.

Sponsored by the Texas Good Roads Association, the map is designed to show the need of an enlarged traffc artery system for Texas.

Chief Autry Goes to Austin Fire Meeting

Snyder Fire Chief N. W. Autry left Wednesday for Austin, where he was slated attend a conference of a State-Wide Fire Prevention Commission this morning. Autry was appointed by Governor Beauford Jester three weeks ago.

Purpose of the commission is to promote year-round fire prevention consciousness among the people of Texas in an effort to trim the heavy toll of property damage and lives which fire is taking annually in the Lone Star State.

Members of the commission were to meet in a conference at Austin this morning. Autry, second vice president of the State Firemen and Fire Marshals Association, will probably return by way of Fort Worth Saturday, he says.

First Baptist Revival Will Conclude Sunday

Increasing interest is being shown in the annual fall revival of the First Baptist Church that will close Sunday evening, according to Rev. E. K. Shepherd, pastor, who is doing the preaching. M. H. Roe is directing the music for the revival.

Services are held each evening this week at 7:30 o'clock. Special nights for the balance of the revival are slated as follows: Thursday, Training Union night; Friday, Sunday School night; Saturday, W. M. U. night.

Variety Makes It.

Sambo—"How come you're in jail?"

Rastus—"For throwin' rocks out of my neighbor's yard into mine."

Sambo—"That don't sound right."

Rustus—"Well, they was Plymouth Rocks."

Eighth Graders at Hermleigh Organize

Eighth graders of the Hermleigh Junior High School met Friday, September 19, and elected officers for the current school term, The Times is advised by the class reporter.

Following are the officers named: Sally Ann Coleman, president; Wynell Bert Herrley, vice president; Wanda Jean Glass, secretary-treasurer. Class sponsor is A. L. Kerby, grade school principal.

A class party and picnic are on the program for the eighth graders soon. Room mothers are Mrs. E. E. Glass, Mrs. Frank Andrews, Mrs. Ivy Herrley, Mrs. C. M. Pieper and Mrs. Coleman.

The Gunnison Tunnell in Colorado is the largest single irrigation project ever undertaken by the U. S. Government.

14 from County Go to Area Farm Bureau Session

Fourteen Scurry County farm people attended a regional meeting of the Texas Farm Bureau Monday at Big Spring. The conference was one of a series of conferences being held in Texas.

Designed to get a cross-section on the thinking of farmers with reference to continuation of the national farm program, which is in jeopardy at this time, a farm-to-market road plan, and other problems of Texas farmers, the Big Spring meeting was attended by several hundred farmers and others interested in the farm program, Ross Williams, Scurry County Farm Bureau president, said Tuesday.

Walter Hammond of Tye, state president of the Farm Bureau, was a leading figure at the Big Spring meeting. Other speakers were Representative Harley Sadler of Sweetwater and Representative Sterling Williams of Snyder.

Plans for a state-wide membership drive were outlined at the session, in which the Scurry County bureau will participate.

President Ross Williams states that the county group pledged a membership of 750 for the current year. Three hundred and eighty-five members were enrolled last year.

Attendants from Scurry County at the Thursday meeting were M. L. Andress, Ross Williams, Tinsley Rainwater, John Layne, M. W. Bavousett, Nolan and C. N. von Roeder, Herman Stahl, Henry Coldewey and wife, Sterling Williams, J. J. Henry, Bentley Baize and Sterling Taylor.

Hermleigh Beats Ira In Friday Tilt 25 to 0

Hermleigh High School Cardinals did all their scoring in the frst half of a football game at Hermleigh stadium Friday night to defeat the Ira High School Bulldogs in a non-conference game. The final score was 25 to 0.

Dub Wright and Billy Friend each tallied once and Jake Smith scored twice for the Cardinals' scores. One extra point was kicked.

The Hermleigh aggregation will meet Wylie at Hermleigh Friday night in their first Class B conference game.

EDITOR for this school term's edition of the Tiger's Lair, SHS annual is Betty Lynn Gatlin, who wa snamed by the staff at t first meeting.

Gibson Twins Get Bronze Palms at Boy Scout Rites

When they do it, they do it by twos in the Dan Gibson family—especially if the twin boys are concerned.

Monday evening at the Snyder District court of honor Dan Jr. and Kenneth Gibson, members of Boy Scout Troop 35 received their bronze palm awards in ceremonies at the Snyder High School. Given for earning of 26 merit badges, the bronze palms were presented by James K. Polk, field executive of the Buffalo Trail Council.

Dan and Kenneth have made regular progress in their Boy Scout work for several years, according to Doyle Bynum, Scoutmaster of the troop. Last year they received their Eagle Scout badges together.

Lowell Bynum of Troop 36 received his Star Badge at the Monday evening ceremonies. He is a member of Troop 36, of which Jesse Clements is Scoutmaster.

Other advancements for Troops 35 and 36 and Jack Caperton's Troop 38 failed to arrive in time for the Monday court of honor, Scout leaders said.

Saving One-Fifth Believed to Be too High to Expect

General reaction of Snyder and Scurry County housewives, as well as housewives of America as a whole to President Truman's food conservation program seems to be that they are willing to try harder, but cannot see how they can save much more.

Most women say they have already cut their menus to a bare minimum because of high prices. And, they add, you do not waste much butter and meat at $1 a pound.

Comment of a housewife in Washington, D. C., quoted in the daily press this week, is typical. Mrs. Eileen Waits says, "The only kind of left-overs I do not use are coffee grounds."

Mrs. Charles Miller of Detroit, Michigan, says, "the plan sounds just like a man. I wonder if a committee of housekeepers and mothers wouldn't be in a better position to tell the nation how to save food than the president's committee."

Scurry County housewives have long been noted for their conservation of foods. During the war this section was recognized by government food specialists as being saving practically all of their foods.

The chairman of the President's Citizens Food Committee, Charles Luckman, announced the five-point conservation program last week-end. It urges the public to buy cheaper cuts of meat, to serve less food, not to overcook meat, to use left-overs and to save as much wheat as possible.

The plan is intended to be a double-edged sword to slice food prices at home and cut starvation abroad.

The program calls for saving of 100,000,000 bushels of grain by buying cheaper cuts of meat, but cutting down on servings, discouraging second helpings, using left-overs wisely and watching cooking tcehniques.

But the executive vice president of the Millers National Federation, Herman Steen, says housewives cannot possibly save 100,000,000 bushels of grain to send to hungry Europe.

He said American families would have to cut out every fifth loaf of bread, doughnut, cake, bun or pie. Steen added: "During the war people saved only three per cent of our food supply through conservation programs. It isn't practical to feel they can save 20 per cent now."

The Department of Agriculture believes consumers can save up to 60,000,000 bushels of corn, mostly by buying cheaper cuts of meat.

At any rate, the average Snyder area housewife will do her best to aid in the food conservation program.

Good Management With Livestock and Poultry Pays Raiser

Good management practices by Scurry County livestock and poultry producers are likely to pay even bigger dividends the remainder of this year and on into 1948, says Oscar Fowler, county agent.

Economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Fowler says, point to the probable continuance of heavy exports on grain, cotton and other staple commodities as a factor which is bolstering prices The prospective short corn crop, says Bates, is influencing the level of other feed prices, which affects production costs of meat animals, dairy and poultry products.

In the face of higher feed costs, wise Snyder area producers will aim at the best possible returns from purchased and home grown feeds, the county agent says, and suggests that they consult him for specific information on feeding and management practices. Fowler points out that careful plans laid now can mean more profits, whether prices go up or down in the future.

Older Scout Unit to Be Reregistered Soon

Boy Scout Explorer Unit 5 at Snyder is scheduled to be reregistered within a few days, according to members of the troop committee.

Sponsored by the Snyder First Methodist Church, the Explorer unit is for senior Scouts 16 years of age and older. Good interest in the older boys' group has been shown since the starting of school. About 20 boys were registered in the unit last year, committeemen say.

Ben Newhouse Heads Taylor Area Teachers

Ben Newhouse, for two years principal of Snyder Junior High School and connected with Fluvanna and Hermleigh schools for several terms, now superintendent of schools at Trent, Saturday was elected president of the Taylor County Teachers Association for the ensuing year.

About 70 teachers attended the meeting of Taylor County school leaders.

Kathleen Norris Says:

They Aren't So Lucky

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.

"It never will fill a man's soul with the deep content, the trembling pride, the fears and hopes, despairs and victories that are true marriage."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"IN NEW YORK state the percentage of old bachelors and unmarried old women is increasing; it has doubled in less than 50 years. Everything that touches our domestic life has changed, and this is possibly one result. Men can be very comfortable without the little woman, the glowing fireside, the waiting slippers and housecoat. Women can earn real money, enough for motor cars, fur coats and ocean trips, unencumbered by the presence of children or the need to arrange things with George.

Of course, men and women who don't marry sacrifice a lot—only they don't know it. They may have occasional wrenches of loneliness and longing, but they consider them but passing emotions, not to be taken too seriously. Also they see the failures; they hear the babies crying, hear about doctors' and dentists' bills; they study divorce figures. So they think they know all about it, and decide that they are lucky to have kept out of it.

Clubs make men delightfully comfortable now, or faithful old servants —Filipino, Chinese, perhaps colored, take care of their every wish. They are asked out to dinners, and fascinating widows, "grass or sod," as Mrs. Wiggs put it, flank them on either side. As they grow richer and older they grow more and more spoiled, complacent and adroit at dodging feminine nets.

Just Fooling Selves.

On her side the single woman has lots of cold reason too. She can spend her money as she pleases. She doesn't have to face the physical and nervous strain of child-bearing. She can buy a charming little mountain cabin or a weather-beaten seaside farmhouse, and putter with it and make it perfect, and presently have intelligent women friends up for week ends, and decide that there is nothing like freedom from family ties. But both the bachelor and the maiden lady know that they are somewhat fooling themselves. They know that there are emotional and practical doors they dare not open. They know that they have dodged the really vital side of life, and filled its place with make-believe; clubs and clothes and business success and old silver spoons and new cars. These are not life.

When the years begin to creep into the sixties there is nothing quite so alone as the unmarried man or woman. Even the widower has his sacred memories, and perhaps his children and their children to remind him that he still has strong ties with life. A thousand tender pictures come back to him; he sees his lovely young wife spent and triumphant in a hospital bed, with her child in the curve of her arm. He sees the little six-room house, the shaky slip of an apple tree, the fireplace with plaster and chips still piled in it, and again they are viewing their own home, their first owned home. He remembers the blazing logs in winter, breakfast under the apple tree in summer, Christmases, measles, money cares, high holidays. He remembers that her last look, tired and gray and glad to close her eyes, was for him.

Nor is this one-millionth part of what the unmarried lose, and never know they lose.

Marriage Should Be Glamorous

For I don't think they are to blame. I think it's the married folk who are to blame. I don't think they make marriage attractive enough. I don't think they preserve carefully enough the glamour and the miracle. If husbands and wives always spoke to each other kindly; if they built up an increasing and multiplying credit of confidence and goodness in the bank that is their life together; if they valued their children, loved them, dramatized the exquisite beauty of the nursery; if they made light of money worries, saved, planned, rejoiced in their life together—then there would be no bachelors, and every girl who got a good husband would feel herself blessed among women.

The old financial dependence won't come back. A man no longer has to make a home and pay all expenses for a houseful of women, old women, children, babies. Everything is easier now; everyone lives separately. Mother has a lucrative job, and the very teen-agers break away and set up bachelor establishments of their own.

But the old values remain. Using canned pie-crust and dropping garbage into an incinerator tube, flooding the house with electric lights and keeping halls and bathrooms at June temperatures all the year 'round, telephoning downstairs for company dinners and leaving Detroit at dawn to lunch at Scotts in Piccadilly—all this is exciting. But it never will take the place of the real values of life; it never will fill a man's or a woman's soul with the deep content, the trembling pride, the fears and hopes, despairs and victories, that are true marriage. It never will give them the faithful firm clasp of another hand on theirs, in sickness and health, for richer or poorer, for better or worse.

They grow richer and more spoiled . . .

LIVING ALONE

Those who prefer to stay single enjoy certain advantages and compensations, as Miss Norris points out in today's article. It is something to be able to spend all your money on yourself, to do what you please without having to worry about what your spouse thinks. There is freedom from the expenses and worries of family life, the care of children, the troubles with in-laws.

Yet these single people are really trying to deceive themselves, Miss Norris continues. All the luxuries and pleasures, the freedom and the unconcern, are poor compensation for the deep human joys and satisfactions that married life brings. Life without love is dull and barren.

Part of the reason why people stay single, Miss Norris says, is because married people fail to make marriage look attractive. The glamour fades quickly because of the selfishness and pettiness of one or both partners. The high divorce rate indicates that there is something fundamentally wrong with our attitude toward married life. With our high level of comfortable existence, many of the older problems should disappear, but there seems to be more domestic discord than ever.

Despite worries and hardships, married life is so rewarding to those with a little patience and forbearance, that the most luxurious life spent alone is drab and dreary by comparison, concludes Miss Norris.

ANTISEPTIC IN CINNAMON

A germ-killer from cinnamon oil has been discovered accidentally by Sister M. Petronella Schroeder, bacteriologist at the Institutum Divi Thomaum in Cincinnati. It is a by-product of the scientific search during the war for chemicals to replace quinine as a malarial remedy.

Searching for a remedy related to penicillin in another mold, the sister used ether reclaimed after its war use in extracting a chemical from a plant that yields cinnamon oil.

Twenty Million Dogs in U. S., Survey Estimates

America's dog population is much larger than has heretofore been believed, a survey by Gaines Dog Research center, New York City, indicates. A projection of data secured from a representative cross section of 2,759 American families points to a dog population near 20 million instead of the 15 million figure accepted until recently by most dog authorities.

The South leads in the number of dog-owning families, with 53 per cent of its homes having one or more dogs. In the southern states, too, the average per family numbers 1.6 dogs as compared with the national average of 1.4 dogs.

Dog ownership varies in inverse proportion to the size of communities. Farmers have a higher percentage of dog-ownership than any other population group. Dog ownership is only slightly higher among families with children than in those without children.

The Times' Weekly Page of World News in Pictures

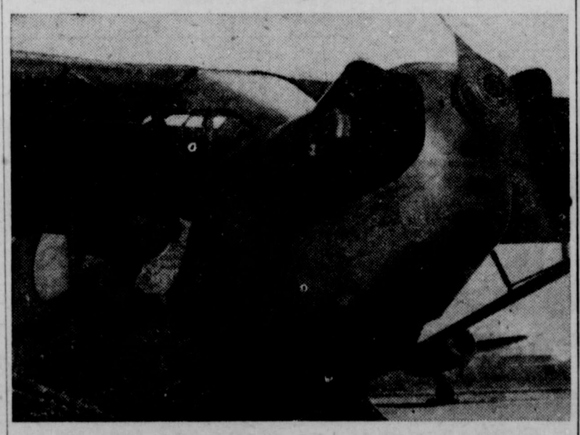

YOUNG VISITORS TO "FREEDOM TRAIN" . . . Whole classes of Philadelphia's school children form long lines to await their turn to go aboard the "Freedom Train" to view the historic documents that are the foundation stones of American liberties. The train will carry its precious cargo on a swing around the entire nation this fall, visiting some 300 communities.

ATHLETIC CLUB IN ACTION . . . Jaded photographers aboard the U.S.S. Missouri carrying President Truman from Rio de Janeiro to the United States were considerably cheered when the "Truman Athletic club" was organized. Pictures of the President of the United States working off excess avoirdupois by leading a group of perspiring would-be athletes in calisthenics are not exactly run-of-the mill.

NEW YEAR'S HORN SOUNDS . . . Rabbi Isaac Israel, 76, of the Home of the Daughters of Jacob in New York makes this impressive picture as he blows the ram's horn, or "shofar," signifying the end of the Jewish New Year celebration. The "shofar" also is sounded to introduce the New Year period, this year marking the beginning of the year 5708 in the Jewish religion. Observances this year were marked by memorial services for Jews who died through persecution.

ALMOST BEFORE SHE COULD WALK . . . Dixie Lee Bertolino of San Diego, Calif., 10 years old, amazed veteran airmen when she took over the controls of a Piper Cub plane after 45 minutes of instruction and flew the craft for 21 minutes. In the plane with her is Howard Albright, veteran flyer, who went along for the ride and also as added protection to make sure that Dixie got back on the ground.

ROYAL NIMROD . . . Although he is 89 years old, King Gustav of Sweden is still an active sportsman. He is shown here in a blind while waiting for a shot during a recent two-day elk hunt. The king is a crack shot.

COMMUNIST LEADER . . . Italy's Russian-trained Communist boss, Palmiro Togliatti, told 100,000 shouting followers in Florence that the U. S. is a "world dictatorship" trying to "spread another war." Togliatti threatens to install leftist government in Italy.

ROBOT SKIPPER . . . Col. James M. Gillespie commanded U. S. robot plane, guided and flown by a "mechanical brain," that made flight from Newfoundland to England with its controls untouched by human hands. The "brain" lowered landing gear and flaps and brought ship to perfect landing in 10 hours and 15 minutes.

EXCHANGE STUDENT . . . Hermann Nickel of the Berlin suburb of Dahlem is first German exchange student to come to the U. S. since the war. Pronounced free of Naziism, he will study at Union college, Schenectady, N. Y.

WEST IS STILL WEST . . . Mae West, whom quite a few will recall as a well-known stage and screen star, is in England to present a revival of "Diamond Lil," the play she made famous, in a London theater.

HIGH COST OF LIVING PROBE . . . Mrs. Nessa Feldman of the League of Women Shoppers presented her case against soaring food prices in graphic fashion when she appeared before a joint congressional sub-committee which was holding hearings on the abnormally high cost of living. She demonstrated the difference between prices of the same foods in 1939 and 1947. Numerous other groups also appeared before the committee, headed by Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (Rep., Vt.) to protest against prices.

WIND OF FURY STRIKES SOUTH . . . Rolling in from the Atlantic ocean, the worst hurricane this country had experienced since 1935 slashed destructively across the southern third of Florida, leaving in its wake desolate scenes like this one at West Palm Beach. Veering out across the Gulf of Mexico, the swirling winds then struck savagely at New Orleans and Gulfport and Biloxi, Miss. Thousands in Florida and along the Gulf coast were left homeless. Damage to property and crops soared into millions of dollars.

FOOTBALL PRACTICE DE LUXE . . . Tough, cigar-chewing sports writers told Coach Jack Harding that this was a silly way to train the University of Miami football team for such opponents as Texas Christian, South Carolina, Vanderbilt and Alabama. His reply was brutally frank: "This part of training is being conducted especially for newsreel men and news photographers." The hurricane-battered Miami chamber of commerce probably didn't object to a little sunshine and pretty girl publicity either.

G.I.S HOLDING THE BORDER . . . American soldiers of the 88th division are shown on duty at the recently established provisional border between Italy and Yugoslavia pending arrival of Italian and Yugoslav troops. When Marshal Tito's forces did move into position, they forced a number of "incidents" all along the line by attempting to move up into Italian territory.

PERFECT GAME . . . Ruth Elston of Toronto, Canada, entered softball's hall of fame when she pitched a perfect game against a Fort Worth team in a tournament at Cleveland. She struck out nine, allowed no hits or walks. It was the first perfect game in 15 years.

RIGHT OFF THE VINE . . . This daughter of la belle France doesn't even bother to look for wine. She prefers the juice of the grape unfermented and makes a picture of ecstasy as she demolishes a bunch of France's choicest.

Truman Plans Food Conservation; U. N. Takes on Difficult Agenda; Taft Hits Labor Trouble in West

Released by WNU Features.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

FOOD PLANS:

Conservation

It wasn't hard for President Truman to figure out: Europe is in desperate need of food from the U. S., but the U. S. will leave itself wide open for even greater price spiralling if it boosts its exports much higher.

The answer, he told a special press conference, is food conservation by all Americans. It is not a matter of eating any less, he said, but of wasting less.

In line with that, he announced the setting up of a citizens food committee to develop a food conservation program in the nation. Charles Luckman of Cambridge, Mass., president of Lever Brothers, was named president.

Regarding Europe, Mr. Truman said the food and fuel situation there is too critical to allow time for detailed study. Thus, apparently in an emergency frame of mind, the President called together congressional leaders to discuss possible steps that could be taken immediately to aid the starving continent.

If possible, he said, he would not call a special session of congress if stop-gap aid for Europe could be pushed through without resorting to that step.

Americans could start preparing for a heavy barrage of food conservation propaganda.

ELEANOR:

An Old Note

"Dear Sumner — This Eisler case seems a hard nut to crack. What do you suggest? Sincerely, E. R."

That, Sumner Welles, former undersecretary of state, told the house committee on un-American activities, was a note he received from Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt in 1939 when the then first lady was interested in obtaining an open hearing on the passport application of one Hanns Eisler, Austrian refugee from Hitler.

The note, an almost forgotten memento of the prewar era, was hailed resoundingly in newspapers across the land because Hanns Eisler was accused of being a Communist. He is the brother of Gerhart Eisler, No. 1 agent of the Kremlin in the U. S.

Mrs. Roosevelt Hanns Eisler

Eisler and his wife finally were issued visas in Mexico City to cover their entrance into this country. He has taken out naturalization papers and is a song-writer in Hollywood.

In 1926, Eisler told the committee, he had applied for membership in the German Communist party, but had dropped out. A department of labor report made in 1938 said of him: "The evidence establishes preponderantly that Hanns Eisler is a Communist."

Mrs. Roosevelt's attitude toward the affair was lackadaisical. The note to Welles on behalf of Eisler was strictly routine, she said, adding that she neither knew Eisler nor remembered the note.

TOUGH AGENDA:

No Dodging

United Nations general assembly proved at least one thing in the first week of its current session—it isn't going to dodge any issues.

After riotous preliminary sessions in which they heard the U. S. and Russia flay each other verbally and U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie call for an end to feuding, the delegates voted doggedly to take on the entire list of tough, almost insoluble problems standing as a barrier to world accord.

Among the items admitted to the agenda were the partition of Palestine, peace in the Balkans, independence of Korea and Marshall's proposal to reorganize U. N. machinery to hold a tighter rein on the turbulent peace.

Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky's resolution calling on member nations to take criminal action against warmongering propagandists was whole-heartedly admitted to debate, probably because it will provide a chance to mull over the concept of freedom of the press.

ATOMIC CROP:

Above Normal

In Japan, much to the wonderment of practically everyone, the radioactive soil around atom-bombed Nagasaki has been reported to be giving out with huge crop yields 50 to 300 per cent above normal.

A Japanese agricultural expert estimated the wheat crop to be about twice normal and the cotton crop three times average. Pumpkins, sugar beets, tomatoes and similar produce had a 50 per cent increase.

U. S. scientists, warily admitting that "anything is possible," nevertheless were inclined toward scepticism. The Nagasaki report "looks very strange," said Dr. George Gamov, a Washington scientist, who pointed out that normally radioactivity would not help crop growth.

Another opinion was that the bumper yields probably could be better explained by local weather conditions and the fact that planting was done in burned off areas, or that the ground had rested for some time and had regained much fertility.

Fasts for Funds

The Rev. G. A. Gaines of Conyers, Ga., vowed to go on a fast until he obtained the $9,600 necessary to finance the haven for homeless children that he is determined to establish.

HARD TIME:

Taft's Tour

Way out west, where pickets are pickets and carry insinuating signs to prove it, Sen. Robert Taft of labor law fame was finding the going a little rugged on his political junket.

But in Seattle, labor stronghold of the Pacific Northwest, he was treated to new heights of heckling. Physical pain was the senator's lot, too, when a jittery chauffeur, unnerved by milling demonstrators, slammed a car door on his hand.

The labor element was, in short, downright inhospitable. Massed pickets booed Taft enthusiastically as he entered Seattle's Eagle auditorium to deliver his address. Inside the auditorium there were more boos, mingled with Republican cheers.

"Eat less," cried some of his vociferous critics in the audience.

Undaunted, Taft made his speech: "We are proud of our Republican record in congress," he said, to a motley accompaniment of more boos and cheers. He characterized the Taft-Hartley law as a "bill of rights" for union members, and called upon voters to render "gratitude" to congressional backers of the act.

Wilbur Zundell, president of the Young Men's Republican club of Seattle, had a word for the senator's tormentors: "Communists," he said, adding that a Communist demonstration was expected when Taft took the rostrum.

WARNING:

Consequences?

That the aggravated situation in Trieste rapidly is becoming intolerable to the United States was emphasized in a state department note to Yugoslavia that her "exceedingly dangerous" activities at Trieste may produce "most serious consequences."

The U. S. protest deplored the "irresponsible Yugoslav actions" in demanding changes in the Trieste-Yugoslav boundary, and asked the government "to issue immediate instructions to end this practice."

Yugoslav troops had been forcing a number of "incidents" all along the border in attempts to bluff American troops into letting them encroach on Trieste and Italian territory.

Not easing the situation at all was the fact that Yugoslav authorities were holding to their refusal to release an American officer and two enlisted men they had seized.

It was a tense, bitter situation, and it was straining to the danger point the all too tenuous threads of physical peace in the Balkans.

HEADLINERS

IN FRANKFURT, GERMANY . . . Members of a German family convicted of mistreating refugees were sentenced to four weeks in a refugee camp.

IN HOUSTON . . . Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, former deputy commanding general of U. S. air forces, retired, readjusted himself to civilian life by taking a job as vice president of Hughes Tool company.

IN HAMILTON, ONT. . . . Mrs. Marshall Lounsbury, no art authority, bought an oil painting at an auction for "a song," later discovered it was "Palm Sunday Morning" by 19th century master Calisano, valued at $20,000.

IN PITTSBURGH . . . City Councilman E. J. Leonard, longtime advocate of sidewalk repair, cited the danger of increased spills as a result of a combination of the new long skirts, high heels and broken pavements, frightened the city council into passing a ruling that all walks be repaired immediately.

Longest Bridge Planned

World's longest suspension bridge —400 feet longer than that spanning San Francisco's Golden Gate—one day may link Brooklyn and Staten Island, New York officials have disclosed.

City Construction Coordinator Robert Moses said permission to construct the proposed 4,600-foot bridge would be sought from military authorities. Golden Gate bridge is 4,200 feet long.

POTATOES:

Government Stew

Remember all those potatoes that the government had so much trouble with last spring? Up to its ears in a surplus of spuds, the department of agriculture finally burned, buried or abandoned them, beset all along the line by a good deal of wrathful criticism.

Currently, the government still is buying potatoes under the price-support law and still is wondering what in the world to do with all of them.

So far in 1947, 11,460,000 bushels have been purchased at a cost of $12,273,000. They are being disposed of in these various ways:

Gifts to schools, hospitals and similar institutions; sold to make industrial alcohol; sold for export; sold for dehydration; sold for flour; sold to make starch.

Losses, including those destroyed last spring, amounted to 643,000 bushels. There is a superabundance of 1,761,000 bushels still in storage.

Potato support prices average out to maintain a retail price level of about 5 cents a pound.

NAZI GOLD:

Shares Offered

The U. S. treasury has no intention of redistributing its Fort Knox gold to destitute European countries, but there is no objection to passing out the gold stolen by Hitler's armies during the war.

And that is precisely what is going to be done to help tide Europe over its economic crisis until the Marshall plan can take hold.

About 165 million dollars, half of the total amount looted by the Nazis, will be passed around. France and Italy are due for the largest shares, while other claimants are Albania, Austria, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Greece, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Poland and Yugoslavia.

Meanwhile, Acting Secretary of State Robert Lovett reported that top administration officials have been "fully mobilized" to deal swiftly with the 16-nation Paris conference's appeal for 22.44 billion dollars in aid over the next four years.

AVIATION FUEL:

Shortage Worse

That old bugaboo of the armed services—aviation fuel shortage—is cropping up again more nastily than ever, Col. G. H. Vogel of the army-navy petroleum board has indicated.

He said that it "looks almost impossible" for the armed services to obtain as much fuel as they need during the first six months of 1948, and that training may be curtailed.

There seems to be little hope of meeting full military requirements, Vogel added, and the services may have to accept gasoline of lower octane rating than they would like to use.

Although the army and navy have contracted for enough fuel to carry them through the rest of 1947, stocks are still so low that there are some restrictions even on certain phases of flying regarded as essential, he revealed. Diesel fuel, motor gasoline and a number of special fuels also are scarce, Vogel said.

British Visitor

Hugh C. McClelland (left), British consul at Philadelphia, greets Sir William G. Tennant, vice admiral and commander of the H.M.S. Sheffield, after the 10,000-ton British cruiser docked at Philadelphia navy yard.

ABSOLVED:

Hirohito

Even while five high-ranking Japanese army and navy officers were being hanged by the neck in payment for their crimes of cannibalism, torture and murder of U. S. prisoners, Emperor Hirohito was being publicly absolved of any responsibility for the Pacific war by the chief U. S. war crimes prosecutor.

Joseph B. Kennan told the international war crimes tribunal that "The prosecution believes the people in the dock are really responsible for this war. If there had been anyone else, they would be in the dock too."

American Music

America has only one type of music that it can, without fear of contradiction, call its very own; and that, says Bernard Wagenaar, Dutch-born composer, is the cowboy song.

"Aside from cowboy songs, there is no genuine folk music in this country," Wagenaar asserts, and they are "hardly the background for serious music in the larger forms" which could form an authentic American style.

Wagenaar's opinion is that Negro music is not American folk music. "It is African in origin, and our Indian music is Indian rather than American. Kentucky ballads are an inheritance from England. Creole songs are French."

He believes that genuine American music will arise from "the fusing of nationalities in this country," explaining that "that spirit which will be called typically American will most likely be marked by two very strong American characteristics—a healthy exuberance and a charming sentimentality."

Snyder Gridmen Beat Post 7-6 in Friday Tilt Here

Snyder High School's Tiger gridmen finally got over into the win column Friday night when they won a close and hard fought contest from the Post High School Antelopes. The score was 7 to 0.

The Tigers had previously lost to Winters and Stamford after holding the edge in statistics over both the elevens.

An estimated 2,000 people saw the Snyder-Post encounter. School spirit ran high during the evening, when pep squads from both schools vied for vocal honors.

Post scored on the fourth play of the game following the opening kick-off when S. Benge galloped 50 yards off tackle, cutting out to the sidelines in a beautiful run.

Coach Tommy Beene's charges came back fighting in the third stanza and, after taking the kick-off on their own 25-yard stripe, chalked up four successive first downs to the Post 25-yard marker. Then Jack Gorman skipped 25 yards around right end for the score.

The extra point from placement and the winning margin was booted by Right End George Richardson.

Richardson later suffered a sprained knee that will keep him out of the Tiger line-up for several weeks, Coach Beene said Wednesday.

Post made seven first downs to Snyder's six, and gained 142 yards to 105 for Snyder.

Gorman and E. J. Moore, tackle, were outstanding for the winners. Malouf in the backfield and Ingram, right end, looked best for Post.

Green Pastures Will Pay Dairy Farmres Returns

Scurry County dairy farmers are being cautioned this week by County Agent Oscar Fowler to avoid the tough winter time feeding conditions now that seem appertn for many of the farmers.

Realizing what the feed situation is likely to be, many dairymen are looking for ways to avoid the high-price slap that seems to be coming.

Fowler says Extension Service dairymen at Texas A. & M. College, looking back over the years they have seen dairy farmers face the same situation, say that a first and wise step will be to see that each pound of feed is used to best advantage. Every dairy herd of any size has some cows that need culling out, because they will not be producing when the feed load is the heaviest.

During the few weeks before frost, Fowler points out, there will be the opportunity to put up more hay and silage, and every pound of good roughage will come in handy this winter. So, between now and frost, a good job of harvesting hay and silage crops is No. 1 on the list of dairy farming chores, the county agent says.

Because of dry weather in this area during September, it was not possible to get enough small grain pastures planted in early September. This should not, however, cancel all plans for planting winter grains, the agent says. The feed situation is such that planting on through October will be worth the time and expense. With costs as they are, $1 spent for small grain pasture should return more than $16 worth of grazing, Fowlers declares

Only $50,000 spent between 1920 and 1932 on soybean research has resulted in a total crop value of several billion dollars.

Orchard Pruning Helps Fruit Yield Declares Fowler

Let's look ahead in your orchard for a minute or so. October is coming—and October is the month that can make or break your orchard as far as the next growing season is concerned.

Oscar Fowler, county agent, says extension horticulturists at Texas A. & M. College could make a pretty tough work schedule for you in October. Right now he wants all you orchardists to take a look ahead and start figuring.

There's the job of pruning that's coming up—and that one will start as soon as the first frost comes along. Then there's your cover crop, which will blanket that ground during the winter, cut down erosion and put some added life into the soil. And another job coming up is removing unhealthy trees and replacing them with new ones.

That old pruning job, at best, is a slow job, Fowler says, especially in large orchards. But he says it's a lot easier to remove some of those fruit buds by pruning them than it ir to pull them off each individual tree next spring after the fruit was reached the size of a 25-cent piece.

Fowler likes to see peach and plum trees pruned to a frame work of branches, made up of only three or four lareg limbs. On apple and pear trees, the job is simple to thin out the main branches to keep dangerous crotches from forming. Of ccurse, those sucker sprouts on the lower branches need to come off, too.

October is one of the most important months as far as your fruit trees are concerned,

Eight from Snyder in ACC Record Number

Eight students from Snyder enrolled this year when Abilene Christian College at Abilene, opened for its forty-second session September 19. An enrollment of 1,601 students, the largest registration in the history of the college. The largest preceding registration was the 1,455 students of the fall semester of last year.

Enrolled in ACC this year from Snyder and vicinity are eight students. They are their major fields are as follows: Joy Brown and Joseph Glass, engineering; Bobby Gene McCormick, business administration; Jo Anne McGlaun and William A. McGlaun Jr., pre-engineering; Wanda Mills and Mary Dovie Pogue, chemistry; Sammie Williams, dramatic arts.

J. O. Morrison Jr. Says Japan Still Second to Home

Technician Fourth Grade J. O. Morrison Jr., a former student of Snyder High School, has returned from a year's service in Japan. He gave an interesting interview to a Tiger's Tale reporter.

Sergeant Morrison stated that the dress of the Japanese girl was usually American fashions, while the typical kimonas were worn by older women. The wooden sandal was their most common shoes.

The downtown buildings are very modern, while the houses are similar to the ones used years ago.

The Japanese people were polite and friendly to the American soldier. They speak good English, while the soldiers speak little Japanese. Their favorite sport is baseball. They copy many American products in their factories.

Some of their main products are rice, tangerines, and watermelons.

Bill Schiebel Named Cubmaster at Snyder

Revived interest in Cub Scout work is being shown by Snyder youngsters and oldsters, according to James K. Polk, field executive of the Buffalo Trail Council.

Bill Schiebel was Monday named Cubmaster for the Snyder Unit 7 of Cubs. Appointment was made by the pack committee composed of W. D. Casebolt, Sam Spikes, M. E. Stanfield, Phil Burns, C. L. Williamson and Earl Horton.

Unit 7 is sponsored by the Snyder Schools, and last year registrations reached 45, according to local Cub officials.

Den mothers will be named within a few days, and reregistration of the nine, 10 and 11-year-old boys will be completed within a few week, leaders state.

STATEMENT OF THE OWNERSHIP, MANAGEMENT, CIRCULATION, ETC., REQUIRED BY THE ACT OF CONGRESS OF AUGUST 24, 1912, AS AMENDED BY THE ACTS OF MARCH 3, 1933, AND JULY 12, 1943, of The Scurry County Times, published weekly at Snyder, Texas, for October 1, 1947.

State of Texas, County of Scurry:

Before me, a notary public in and for the state and county aforesaid, personally appeared Willard Jones, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the publisher of The Scurry County Times, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management (and if a daily, weekly, semi-weekly or tri-weekly newspaper, the circulation) etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the act of August 24, 1912, as amended by the acts of March 3, 1933, and July 2 1946 (Section 537, Postal Laws and Regulations), printed on the reverse side of this form, to-wit:

1.—That the name and address of the publisher, editor, managing editor and business manager is: Willard Jones, Snyder, Texas.

2.—That the owner is: (If owned by a corporation, its name and address must be stated and also immediately thereunder the names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding one per cent or more of total amount of stock. If not owned by a corporation, the names and addresses of the individual owners must be given. If owned by a firm, company or other unincorporated concern, its name and address, as well as those of each individual member, must be given.) Willard Jones, Snyder, Texas.

3.—That the known bondholders, mortgagees and other security holders owning or holding one per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages or other securities are: Farmers & Merchants National Bank, Hamlin, Texas.

4.—That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders as they appear upon the books of the company, but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds or other securities than as so stated by him.

5.—That the average number of copies of each issue of this publication sold or distributed, through the mails or otherwise, to paid subscribers during the 12 months preceding the date shown above is 2,340.

WILLARD JONES, Publisher.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 1st day of October, 1947.—Hugh Boren Jr., Notary Public.

Make a Note OF THESE "Lighting Tips"

For bright and cheerful living in your home, you need plenty of the right kind of light. Floor lamps, table lamps, decorative lamps and all sizes and types of lamp bulbs are available now—see your electrical dealer.

These timely suggestions will help you have better light:

1. Clean your new lamp bowls and lamp bulbs frequently. You'll get 25 to 30 per cent more light.

2. Select lamps with white shades or shades with white linings. Repaint them or reline them when they become soiled. Dark shades waste light.

3. Sit close enough to the lamp to get all the help it can give your eyes. A difference of a few inches may mean 50 per cent less light.

4. Avoid direct glare from lamp bulbs or bowl by using shades that are deep enough and big enough.

5. Arrange lamps and furniture so each lamp can serve two or more people, if possible.

6. Place each lamp so glare is out of eyes of persons using it.

SOUTHWESTERN BELL INSTALLS

Millionth TELEPHONE IN TEXAS

SOUTHWESTERN BELL'S millionth telephone in Texas was installed late in August in the home of a Houston architect, his Luxembourg war bride, and their 14-month-old son.

Mr. and Mrs. Gunter W. Koetter had been waiting for a telephone for many months.

And, like many another Texas family, the Koetter's new telephone is on a four-party line until telephone factories and installation crews can catch up with Texas' post-war needs for telephone service.

When the millionth Texas telephone was installed, no one was happier than Mrs. Koetter. Said she: "I can hardly believe I'm going to have a telephone of my own. Back in my native Luxembourg, only the very rich can afford telephone service."

* * *

INSTALLATION of the millionth telephone is a historic milestone and a far cry from Texas' first telephone, installed in 1878, connecting Col. A. H. Belo's office at the Galveston News with his nearby home!

Less than 10 years ago—in 1938—Texas had only half a million telephones!

On V-J Day—just two years ago—Texas had 750,000 telephones!

Thus, Texas has added as many telephones in less than 10 years as were installed in the previous 60 years! And despite postwar shortages, we've gained more telephones in Texas in the two years since V-J Day than were added in the 10 years preceding the war!

Yet—despite this record, 137,000 Texas families and business concerns are now on the waiting list for telephones. Although we're installing service several times faster than ever before, it has been impossible to connect telephones as fast as Texans are applying for them.

WE'RE PROUD to be growing with Texas. And, we're hard at work on the biggest telephone expansion and improvement program in the history of the state. We shall continue to do everything within our power to bring telephone service, as early as possible, to everyone in Texas who wants it.

Keeping Public Informed

WASHINGTON. — One thing General Marshall hasn't learned in his difficult role as secretary of state is the importance of keeping the American public informed. Not only has he abandoned the daily press conferences of previous secretaries of state, but also his undersecretary, Bob Lovett, has ordered a new blackout which helps to mystify rather than clarify the issues Marshall should want the public to understand.

Twenty-odd years ago, Secretary of State Charles Evans Hughes began a policy of meeting the press once a day. At times he even held conferences twice a day. Thus began a period of genuinely frank and open diplomacy.

Other Republican secretaries of state—Frank B. Kellogg, Henry L. Stimson—followed suit. So also for a while did Cordell Hull. However, because of illness, Hull's conferences gradually lapsed.

Jimmie Byrnes held conferences intermittently, but now Marshall has suspended them almost altogether. Instead of daily meetings, his press conferences can be counted on the fingers of two hands. At first this could be chalked up to inexperience. New at the game, Marshall was not familiar with various foreign questions, felt he couldn't talk about them to the press. But now that he has the reins firmly in his hand, Marshall still shuns the old Republican tradition of regular press conferences.

FLYING HIGH

The air forces is keeping it quiet for the sake of the other services but it has been snowed under with applications from former army, navy and marine officers—begging for enlisted status in the air corps. More than 24,000 applications have poured into recruiting offices from ranks as high as navy captain and army colonel. Those who can meet the air corps' tough standards are assigned new ranks, ranging from corporal to master sergeant. Although enlistments are booming under impetus of a vigorous recruiting drive, the air corps is still short 67,000 enlisted men.

Henry Wallace—Democrat

You can write it down that Henry Wallace finally has made up his mind not to lead a third party in the 1948 election campaign.

The Wallace decision came after a political survey showed:

1. A third party would have no chance of victory in 1948.

2. A third party would elect Republicans everywhere.

3. There is more hope of liberalizing the Democratic party than of forming a successful third party.

The Wallace decision means that he definitely will remain in the Democratic party, although he has reached no decision about supporting Mr. Truman for reelection.

Wallace and aides won't admit it publicly, but privately they believe Mr. Truman has only a slight chance for reelection, no matter whom the Republicans nominate.

MacArthur as Candidate

Quiet, conscientious Rep. W. Sterling Cole, Republican of Bath, N. Y., was discussing his trip to the Philippines with Capt. Vic Harding, secretary of the Democratic congressional committee.

"Are you going to see to it that General MacArthur gets back here in time for a heroic 100 days before the convention?" Harding joshed his friend.

"You've got it figured right," the New York congressman replied, "and when we bring him back here, you come and see me. Maybe I'll have jobs for you and some of your Democratic friends on my farm. With MacArthur back, you won't have much to do in Washington."

"I'm not worried about that," shot back Harding. "We'll just bring General Wainwright in, fight the Battle of the Philippines all over again and find out who left the Philippines first and why."

No Caste System in Heaven

Caste-conscious enlisted men may achieve after death what they could never get in life—equal privileges with officers. Once they are six feet under, according to a postwar army ruling, discrimination officially ends. The new war department regulations call for identical graves regardless of rank or race, except in old cemeteries where the pattern would be interrupted.

Yet despite this bold break with brass-bound tradition, old practices still prevail up to the grave's edge.

The old burial code giving officers bigger tombstones and exclusive graves was scrapped by the army quartermaster corps under pressure from indignant kin. The quartermaster corps has charge of national cemeteries for both the army and navy.

Merry-Go-Round

President Truman is intimating another trip — this one to Puerto Rico with a stop at Key West in October. Mr. Truman finally has decided against any political tour of the West. With everyone else politicking, he feels he should not do likewise. . . . Because of the European crisis, the state department will delay taking over control of Germany from the American army. The army thinks it can handle Germany better.

HARD GUYS

By MILTON BRACKER

THE dead man's foot protruded from the blanket like a discarded boot. A pan of water rested on the sidewalk; they had tried to do something for him, without being able to. Just an ordinary sidestreet, a speeding car, a rat-tat-tat and that was all. Another not-so-big shot was through.

Five minutes after the cops came, a squeaky sedan jolted to a stop at the opposite curb. Half-a-dozen men piled out.

"Reporters," someone in the crowd decided.

The newcomers took in the scene in a matter-of-fact way, then swarmed about the lieutenant and the homicide squad man and plied them with questions. One of the newspapermen was chewing gum. The others were smoking and one rotund fellow laughed raucously at something the homicide squad man said. Soon a few broke away and headed for the drugstore across the street with the blue and white telephone emblem outside. Within twenty minutes all of them squeezed back into the car.

"S'long, Mac, see y'in church," the man at the wheel yelled to the lieutenant as the gears meshed.

"Hard guys," the man in the crowd muttered, as the machine turned the corner.

"You said it," his companion agreed, dryly.

An hour later, Joe Melsner of the City News Federation, "Old Man" of the borough's police reporters, left the smoky-walled pressroom on the ground floor of the Supreme Court Building to buy an afternoon paper. Johnny Hennessy, of the Globe, the kid of the shack, sat in a corner figuring out his expense account. Jim Reide, of the Post-Flash, Nason, of the Mail, Cohen, of the Reflector and Lenox, of the Home Press, with a few of the usual pressroom hangers-on, were at the inevitable rummy game. Opposite, Delany, of the Star, legs stretched majestically across his desk and feet high in the air, sat back reading a fat book with a scarlet cover and yellow edges. Levito, who was with an up-county paper, fidgeted in a phone booth, waiting to "clean up" the shooting story.

A voice thundered in the corridor. The others looked up; they always did when Melsner spoke. He was pointing to something huddled at the doorway.

"Now what d'ya call this?" the Old Man grunted, stooping over.

He picked up the cringing something and deposited it gingerly on his desk, a massive roll-top affair with "Private: Keep Out!" on it in forbidding letters. The "something" was a very tiny dog, a bedraggled puppy that looked as if it hadn't eaten in as long as it hadn't bathed. Its eyes were red-rimmed, as if with weeping. But there was a pink spot on the end of the moist black nose. And the eyes themselves sparkled, giving a pert look to the whole tangly bundle.

Hennessy stopped pondering, Delany tossed his book aside, and both ambled over. Reide turned his head from the card table.

"The mutt probably has fleas," he remarked. "Keep it offa my desk."

As if understanding, the puppy turned to its critic appealingly. Melsner laughed gruffly, ignoring the complaint.

"It's a cute-lookin' mutt at that, ain't it, kid?" the Old Man winked to Hennessy. "Send out and we'll give it a feed."

One of the ever-present bootblacks was dispatched across the street. In a minute or two, the pooch was sipping milk and sniffing chopmeat, oblivious to further criticism, or his audience.

"We'll call him Ginger," Hennessy suggested. "Lookit the fire in his eyes, will you?" Ginger yapped appreciatively, provocatively. That finished the card game. Reide, the most die-hard of the players, threw down his gummy cards, and with the others, gathered around Melsner's desk. Fondly they watched the grimy little mutt push his snoot into the worm-like chopmeat.

Two days later, Ginger was part of the life of the shack. A bootblack had been commissioned to give him a bath, to provide a lined box for a bed, to continue general caretaking. While the men were out on stories—holdups, suicides, fires, whatnot—Ginger tripped around impatiently, until they came back. Then he greeted them joyously, with quick, short barking yelps.

• • •

The pressroom was crowded one sultry afternoon, crowded with sweaty men in shirtsleeves. At the card table, next to Reide, was Al Brown, a thick-necked hardware clerk who spent his idle hours with what he called the "newshounds."

Ginger, temporarily deserted, sniffed in and out of the chair legs, feeling for Reide, who always petted him. The dog rubbed against Brown's trousers by mistake.

"Why, the —— ——," the startled clerk swore. He reached down, picked up the pup clumsily and tossed him carelessly to the floor about a yard away. "Wonder you guys wouldn't keep animals outa here," he growled, drawing a card. "You'd think it was a zoo."

Nobody replied. Hennessy looked up queerly from his typewriter.

Ginger, not having sensed the rebuff, returned to the table. Again he brushed Brown's trousers. As if having anticipated the annoyance, the clerk kicked vigorously. There was a sharp squeal, then Ginger, living up to his name, bit.

Brown roared, grabbed the pooch from his leg, and before anyone could protest, hurled him with crushing force against the wall. There was a crunch, then a whimper.

Every eye in the place turned to the battered little body on the floor. But in a split second, every eye was glued on the centre of the room, and Ginger was forgotten. Hennessy has sprung from his chair like a starting sprinter, yanked Brown from his seat, overturning the table at the same time—and smashed a hard fist to the outsider's jaw.

Brown reeled, regained his footing, swung, and missed. Nason and Delany started to intervene, but Melsner, who had taken everything in quietly, stopped them with a move of his hand. "Let 'em go a while," he said, grimly. The others backed away.

Thoroughly aroused, Brown lunged at his lighter rival, who danced aside just fast enough. As the clerk plowed by, the reporter grabbed him by the scruff of the neck, swung him around, and sent him sprawling away with another punch that cracked against his jaw.

Brown shook his head, spat, then went for Hennessy again. The result was still another crack; he could feel his eye swell as if air had been pumped around it. Clearly he was no match at boxing for the fire-eyed "newshound" who sidestepped and stung him so deftly. He dropped back, then plunged low like a football player and threw Hennessy to the floor.

Again Nason and Delany leaped forward to interfere, but the Old Man, an intense gleam in his eyes, restrained them.

It looked bad for the reporter. Brown pressed his advantage, bore down with his full weight. One of the newspaperman's shoulders was down, the other twisted consulsively as the panting fellow on top sought to wrench it into the dirt of the floor-boards. Then suddenly one of Hennessy's legs appeared, entwined about the body of his foe, the other leg applied pressure from beneath, and a perfect wrestler's "scissors" hurled the heavier man to the side, almost reversing the positions.

The knotted pair whirled crazily across the floor like a two-headed fiend. They crashed into Melsner's desk, upsetting a bottle of purple ink, which spilled over both of them. Then they tore apart, and each staggered to his feet, a livid mess.

Brown wiped his brow, smearing it grotesquely with sweat, ink, and blood. He lunged again, but for the last time. Hennessy, his whole frame taut for one blow, poised like a matador and as the clerk rushed in, brought his left fist forward and up like a lead mallet. It caught the hardware clerk on the point of the chin, and he went down for good. From the corner, a faint bark signalized Ginger's approval, and jolted the wide-eyed onlookers to their senses.

• • •

Ten minutes later, a few blocks down, Brown was telling his boss how he'd been "mobbed" in a card game brawl with a "half-dozen" reporters.

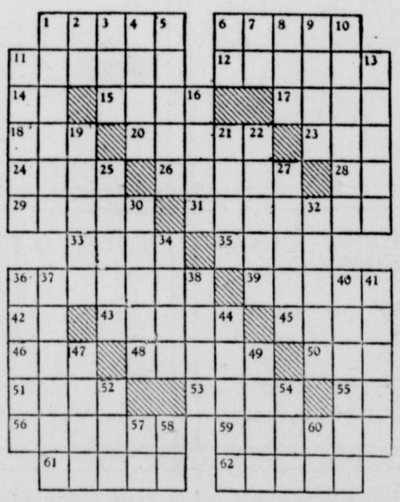

"I told you to keep away from those fellows," he was told. "They're hard guys."

In the pressroom, Reide held a blue bowl and Delany held Ginger. The others were clustered around, beaming. The puppy's bruised side was bandaged clean around his fat little middle, and tied with a funny bow on top, like a Christmas parcel.

"Will ya look at the runt go for that milk, will ya?" Melsner grinned at Hennessy.

Man's Four-Footed Friend Lived in the Stone Age

The domestic dog of today can trace its ancestors to prehistoric days. Ancient caves and middens that the dwellers of the Stone Age left, reveal histories of the savage wolf, the origin of our present day four-footed friend.

The great mastiff, known to writers as Molossus, was common in Babylon of antiquity. In the Middle Ages this dog was used for bear and bull-baiting. Graceful dogs not unlike the present greyhound are depicted in ancient Egyptian records, and the Greeks and Romans had a large variety of breeds. Early explorers in America and Australia found that the natives had domesticated and highly prized the dog.

The history of dogs always has been closely linked with that of man. In recent centuries a multitude of breeds have been developed, in all sizes and colors.

Egyptian monuments about 3,000 B. C. shows reproductions of several varieties of domestic dogs—a wolf-dog, a hound, a greyhound and a type of terrier. The first mention of the dog in the Bible was in connection with the sojourn of the Israelites in Egypt, and the earliest mention of the dog as the companion of man is in the Book of Tobit. Among the Romans evidence has been left of the use of dogs for many purposes, and of a standard or classification having been in existence at that time.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Economical Cuts Of Meat Are Tasty If Prepared Right

Leftover meats are easily creamed and served in patty shells on a platter generously heaped with vegetables—an economy note for your budget.

Budget-wise homemakers are taking a second look at their budgets this season, and most of them are keeping one eye on their purse strings, while the other eye is glued to prices. One item that is getting extra consideration is meat.

There's hardly such a thing as a budget cut of meat anymore, but naturally there are some that are less expensive than others. Breast of lamb is among those as well as some of the beef cuts including tongue; if you like pork, you'll have to be satisfied with a suggestion of the flavor.

A roast is good economy if it is beef or lamb because you can count on two or three meals as well as sliced meat for sandwiches. If you plan on one roast per week—carefully cooked so as to avoid expensive shrinkage—then it's easy to use the economy items I've already mentioned to fill up the other days nicely.

Liver-Rice Cakes.
(Makes 10 cakes)

1 pound sliced pork liver
⅓ cup shortening
½ small onion
1½ cups cooked rice
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 egg
1½ tablespoons milk
¼ cup milk

Fry the liver in the ⅓ cup of shortening until nicely browned and let cool. Put the liver and onion through the food chopper. Add the rice, salt, pepper, egg, milk and mix well. Shape into small cakes and brown in ¼ cup of shortening until brown on both sides.

Barbecued Lamb Breast.
(Serves 4)

2 pounds breast of lamb
1 medium onion
½ cup chili sauce
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper
¼ teaspoon red pepper
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 cup water

Cut lamb into 5 pieces. Season with salt and pepper. Place in a hot skillet with the fatty sides of the meat on the bottom so they will brown easily. Mix chili sauce, red pepper, vinegar and water and pour over lamb. Slice onion and place over meat. Cover. Simmer for 1½ hours, then remove lid and cook for about 20 minutes or until most of the barbecue sauce is absorbed.

A pot roast is very nice to have as the roast of the week, and then it's easy to use as sliced meat for supper, or ground and used for meat pies, stuffing for peppers, pinwheels with biscuit dough, etc. If you make it creole style, it will have plenty of flavor for other uses.

Creole Pot Roast.

5 pounds chuck of beef
¼ cup salad oil
Juice of 1 lemon
2 bay leaves
1 onion, minced
2 teaspoons allspice
5 teaspoons salt
Pepper
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
2 cups tomatoes

Mix oil, lemon juice and seasonings; rub well into meat. Dredge meat with flour and brown slowly in fat. Add the tomatoes. Cover closely and cook in a slow oven for about 4 hours or until meat is fork tender.

Swiss steak is cheaper than some cuts of meat, and the leftovers may be used as the meat from pot roast.

Cream Swiss Steak.

1½ pounds round or arm steak
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup flour
2 tablespoons lard
½ cup sliced onion
½ cup water
½ cup sour cream

Have steak cut 1½ to 2 inches thick. Season with salt and pepper and pound flour well into steak. Brown steak on both sides, in lard or drippings. Add remaining ingredients. Cover closely and simmer for about 3 hours, or until tender.

Rice-Beef Balls.

1½ pounds ground beef
½ cup uncooked rice
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 can tomato soup
½ can water
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper

Mix meat, rice and seasonings. Shape into small balls and drop them into tomato soup to which the water, onion and green pepper have been added. Cook very slowly for 40 minutes. Serve with tomato sauce poured over them.

A few slivers of leftover meat are easily used in an attractive salad served in shells to make a substantial luncheon dish. Add eggs, cottage cheese and vegetables if you are some what shy of meat itself.

Here are two real economy dishes which you'll like for the cooler weather:

Breaded Oxtails.
(Serves 4)

2 oxtails
3 sprigs parsley, chopped
3 sprigs thyme
1 bay leaf
Salt and pepper
Dash of cayenne
1 egg, beaten
1 cup sifted dry bread crumbs

Wash oxtails and cut into 4-inch lengths. Cover with boiling water. Add parsley, thyme, bay leaves, salt, pepper and cayenne. Simmer tails until tender, about 2 to 3 hours. Let cool in stock. Drain meat, dip in egg and roll in crumbs. Fry in deep, hot fat (370 degrees) until brown.

Ham-Sweet Potato Puffs.
(Serves 5)

1 cup ground, cooked ham
2 cups mashed sweet potatoes
1 egg, beaten
¾ cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt

Combine ham, sweet potatoes and egg. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Add to ham mixture. Drop by spoonfuls onto a hot greased griddle. Brown on each side.

LYNN SAYS:
Add 'Beauty Touches' To Vegetables

Curl your raw carrots by slicing them with a potato peeler and curling them around the finger. Slip off the curls and place them close together in a dish of very icy water. Let stand for one half an hour and the curl will stay.

When you broil ham for dinner, place corn or green beans in the dripping pan and let the vegetables catch the delicious juices.

Corn and green beans will taste much better if you season them with bits of ham or bacon or even the drippings from those meats.

If you have a sausage cake or link leftover from breakfast, break it up and use it when frying or hashing potatoes for extra flavor.

Green or waxed beans can really take on a gourmet touch if they are served with sliced, toasted almonds.

Mushrooms in cheese sauce are a real treat if you hollow out onions and place the mixture in them. This makes a good luncheon dish.

For cooked carrots, fleck them with chopped chives or parsley by adding the latter to the melted fat you use for seasoning.

Season chopped, freshly cooked spinach with crumbled bacon and a dash of nutmeg. Top with hard-cooked egg white and yolk, separated and put through a sieve.

Scalloped or stewed tomatoes take on added color and flavor if you add a dash of herbs to them and also a suggestion of finely minced onion and chopped green pepper.

Peas go well with the herbs like thyme or sweet basil. Add the herb to the melted butter.

Do something different with eggplant. Hollow out the center, and stuff with cooked eggplant that has added to it some cream sauce and mushrooms. Top with cheese and bread crumbs and bake in a casserole for about 20 minutes in a moderate oven.

While the leafy portion of swiss-chard is usually cooked like spinach, the tender stems can be served like asparagus. The small crisp leaves may be used raw in salads.

Better Varieties Pay Off

Because Texas farmers, who produced the biggest wheat crop this year in many seasons are taking big penalties in price due to inferior grades, they are making plans now to do something about the situation before another wheat harvest rolls around.

Improved varieties of planting seed, that have been proven over a period of year to produce better quality wheat on Texas soils are being selected for planting for next year's crop. Slight additional cost of improved varieties will be many times offset by improved prices at the mill next summer.

Improved varieties not only in wheat, but n other types of grains, cottons, fruits and vegetables are at the command of the farmer of today. Much of this improvement work has been done by experiment stations as well as individual seed and plant breeders.

We cannot get away from the old adage: You can't plant sorry seed and get good yields. Scurry County farmers have improved their varieties over the past two decades, but there is still plenty of room for improvement.

Our Women Studying

New club years are beginning for Scurry County study clubs, and review of the organizations' yearbooks show that the membership is keeping abreast of the times. Courses of study include discussions and demonstrations on home improvement, current events, new foods, new books and new modes of living.

Typical of American women, Scurry County wives and mothers are constantly endeavoring to improve their minds and their position. This inate desire in them is in contrast to that of women of practically every other nation of the world.

No wonder our country prospers and is the most enlightened on the globe today! No little credit for the progress of the country as a whole is due to the influence of an enlightened and forward-looking womanhood.

Good Old Uncle Sam

Good old Uncle Sam is emerging clearly, week by week, as the caretaker for all of the world that is worth saving—as President Truman will find on his return to the capitol, and Secretary of State Marshall, neck-deep with details of his self help plan for Europe, may be led to believe that some nations know no limit as to the type of help they feel we ought to dish out during the months ahead.

There remains small doubt this week but that the Congress will be called into special session by mid November to draft some kind of immediate aid for Europe—aid that will take the sting out of maunutrition and physical suffering well before Christmas.

Good old Uncle Sam, however, is getting used to having his leg pulled by the "down-under" countries of the world. After World War I he well illustrated how this country is the world's caretaker. We are again being called on, under different skies and on the field where tenative peace may be drafted, to once more save the world from chaos and with a closer alliance to the Golden Rule lay the cornerstone for a braver, more inclusive world brotherhood to keep the human race from commiting suicide with atomic power.

Editorial of the Week

THE GOLDEN FLEECE

England wants us to divide up the gold which the United States has buried at Fort Knox, Kentucky. Naturally. England has had her hands in Uncle Sam's pockets for such a long time that she is perfectly willing to dig in again, taking away a liberal supply of our gold reserves.

This little country newspaper man has no idea about that huge gold pile. We wondered just why we were buying the stuff at record prices, and then dumping it into a vault. It was said by government economists that this pile of gold was stabilizing our currency. Well, in spite of a corner on the gold of the world, our dollar went down to 59 cents on the dollar. And when you go to buy commodities, you are really getting about 25 cents on the dollar. As a stabilizer this gold stock has not benefitted us much.

We are told that we would have great inflation without the gold pile. Maybe so, we simply don't know a thing about the operations of a huge financial machine like the United States.

One thing we do know sure and certain: Every nation in the world is playing us for the sucker and trying to get all they can from us, and being a big-hearted brother to all mankind, we are filling their outstretched arms. Will that gold pile keep us from wrecking our financial structure? We hope; just hope. And another thing we have found out—the Labor government of England has as much gall in demanding more and more from Uncle Sam as Churchill had during the war.—The Canyon News.

Get your heart into your work, whatever it may be, for work without heart is dead.—Ramsey MacDonald.

Current Comment

By LEON GUINN

The historic retreat did not mean, in any sense of the word, that the West Edmond field was playing out. . . . The pool has yielded only 60,000,000 barrels out of an estimated 600,000,000-barrel oil reserve, but at a time when the nation is fast using up its known oil reserves West Edmond was tragically wasting its supply. . . . And in order to conserve the greatest possible volume of what crude remains, the state's oil regulating Corporation Commission ordered "unitization" of the field—meaning the whole field must be operated as a single lease. . . . This drastic departure was necessary to conserve oil, stop the highly wasteful practice of burning so much "flare" gas and with "unitization" production can actually be stepped up. . . . The move may well form the basis of like action in other fields of the Southwest.

☆

One can say the mists have cleared to an extent over the road back with announcement by Great Britain and the United States that Germany industry in their two zones would be based on a production ceiling of 10,700,000 ingot tons of steel a year. . . . This jump, paling the previous level of 5,800,000 tons in 1946, caused Russia to protest sharply but we are at long last realizing that Western Germany especially must go to paying for itself with steel, more coal and exports toward a general European recovery. . . . Those who may think we are softening toward Germany need not be alarmed, for it will take until 1951, with good luck, for Germany to reach this worthy goal. . . . The French, who also protested the hike in German steel production, would be comfortable, however, if France can out-produce Germany for before the war the French could never "down" the fact that Germany could make three times as much armament as France.

☆

Our export trade, unfortunately, is slipping rapidly. . . . The June total, for example, was 13 per cent below May—a bad month because of a shipping tie-up, but when July figures are released they will not show any improvement. . . . Value of our exported goods may slip below a billion dollars a month when the full impact of the British suspension of pound convertibility is registered. . . . Such a dip in foreign trade will weigh heavily on American prosperity; pity being that nothing can be done about the matter until legislation giving effect to the Marshall Plan is approved by Congress. . . . Even though Congress may be called into session by mid-November, it would be well after January 1 before we can revive foreign trade to an appreciable extent.

☆

Ten years from now the world can well say that in August, 1947, the United States took one of the most vital steps of the hectic 40s, for in August of said year a new program was started in sharing some "tracer" atoms from our atomic ovens with foreign countries. . . . This move advanced research over cancer and other diseases by a full 50 years; but 10 years from now the world will have the answer as to how wisely we acted . . . Time, too, can tell whether our action brought about smooth achievement of international control over the atom bomb and atomic energy.

☆

Our action in this good year of sharing "tracer" atoms with scientists of 44 nations is restricted in that none of the 20 radio-actve elements can be applied to developing atomic energy for military or industrial uses, the Atomic Commission states. . . . Sales will not include plutonium or uranium, or give the slightest clues to any atomic bomb secrets. . . . Supplies at the outset will be very limited, and foreign users will be required to report for the benefit of everyone their findings on tracer researches. . . . Semi-annual reports must be made to the AEC and foreign purchasers must open their laboratories to qualified visting scientists of any nationality. We believe firmly in doing anything that will combat dsease, but we should be extremely careful in turning loose of anything that might give away any of our atomic secrets.

☆

Because of the greatly accelerated deterioration of economic and political situation in Europe, it's a safe bet that Congress will meet in special session by November 15 if not sooner. . . . This time we shall really get down to bedrock on writing the peace for World War II, a job we should not have postponed this long. . . . We should have, United Nations or no, sat down as soon as Germany and Japan quit fighting and did the work we eventually will have to do anyway, whether we like it or not. . . . Russia is going along mostly on bluff, but America cannot afford to let Communistic influences cast encircling shadows and gloom on any more of the world than is already blighted by the sickle and hammer. . . . One notices, too, that in view of the approaching crisis Stalin has climbed on the water wagon and can be counted on to be right in the middle of everything he can help muddle still more.

Livestock and Grains Reflect Steady Market as Cotton Continue to Drop

Southwest farm markets paid mostly firm to higher prices for livestock, grains and many other products last week, according to the Production and Marketing Administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, in a release to The Times this week.

Hogs scored gains of mainly 50 cents to $1. San Antonio and Fort Worth established new all-time high prices of $28.25 and $29.50 respectively. Week's top at Oklahoma City was $29.75, Wichita $29.60, and Denver $30.50.

Cattle closed the week generally strong to 50 cents higher, although Houston and San Antonio netted losses on steers and yearlings. Houston paid a top of $22 for medium and good corn fed grass steers. San Antonio bought low to average medium steers at $20. Fort Worth took good fed steers and yearlings at 23 to $27.50. Oklahoma City paid $27 to $29 for good and choice steers, and Wichita gave $20 to $25 for medium light steers and yearlings. Denver set a new all-time high of $33 for choice steers, while other medium to choice kinds brought $25 to $31.

Most markets paid steady to higher prices for sheep last week, but sheep and goats declined at San Antonio. Medium to good lambs brought $18 to $19.25 at San Antonio, and $19 to $21 at Fort Worth. Good and choice sold at $21.50 down at Oklahoma City, around $22 at Wichita, and up to $23.50 at Denver.

Eggs and poultry sold firm to a little higher in the Southwest last week. Seasonally best white graded eggs brought around 55 to 52 cents per dozen at most places, and mixed colors 50 to 56 cents. Most markets paid 37 to 40 cents per pound for good quality full sized fryers, 24 to 28 cents for heavy hens, and 10 to 15 cents for roosters.

Continued good domestic and export demand kept grain markets strong most of the week. Wheat and corn netted gains of five to 15 cents; while oats barley and sorghum grains advanced about five cents. No. 1 hard ordinary wheat closed Friday at $2.94 per bushel at Texas points; while No. 2 white corn brought $2.55 to $2.60.

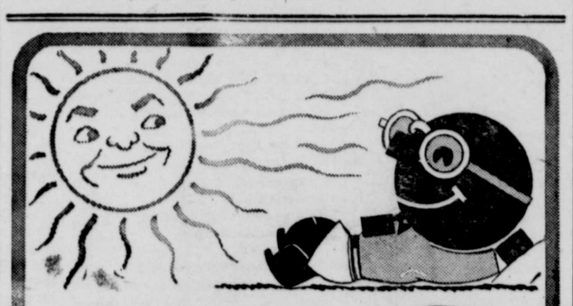

Further declines in rough rice mixed prices during the past week reflected slow demand for milled rice. Feed markets appeared more settled and most prices remained unchanged. Hay demond exceeded supply at principal markets, and alfalfa advanced about $1 per ton. Light offerings of shelled peanuts met slow demand. Average-to-good staple fine wools sold in Texas at grease prices of 44 to 54 cents a pound.

Slight ups and downs during the week left cotton $1.25 to $2.50 lower Friday. Growers in all sections called for more pickers as harvesting conditions were ideal.

Convinced of One Thing.

Officer—"Look here, sailor! What is the idea of wearing that barrel? Are you a poker player?"

Sailor—"Nope, but I just spent a couple of hours with some guys who are."

BOTTLES, TOO, NEED SUN GLASSES

• That's why we put Orange-Crush into a protective, amber, flavor-guarding bottle. For sunlight penetrates plain, ordinary bottles—steals away the flavor and leaves the beverage flat-tasting and insipid. But in the patented, amber Orange-Crush bottle, flavor is protected against harmful light-rays—like your eyes are protected by sun glasses. This flavor-guarding bottle guarantees the original goodness of a grand fresh-fruit drink.
