Valuation In County Lower

Valuation For 1931 Reveals A Total Of $24,910,670, According To Figures Released By A. B. Ellis

Tentative valuation figures, announced last night by A. B. Ellis, tax assessor of Lubbock county, show less than one per cent loss in the valuation totals of 1931 from those of 1930.

"Based on figures in this office, the valuation for the county for 1931 is $24,910,670," Mr. Ellis said. "This figure is about $220,000 below the total for 1930."

Little Change Seen

"It probably will be several months before we complete our rolls and make our final announcements, I do not anticipate much of a change."

Cause of the decrease is attributed by Mr. Ellis to several factors. The principal ones are: decreased valuations on real estate; smaller stocks of merchandise held by local stores in 1931 from the 1930 stocks and lowered valuation of livestock.

Ruth Nichols Cracks Up On First Leg Of Flight

Ocean Hop Of Woman Flier To Be Delayed Several Days As Result of Accident

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 18.—A society girl's golden dream of being the first woman to fly alone across the Atlantic, received a temporary setback late today when Miss Ruth Nichols, 26, damaged her plane at Floyd Bennett field.

She had hoped to get off today for Portland, Me., enroute to Harbor Grace, N. F., where she plans to start her solo voyage across the North Atlantic to Paris.

Plane Is Heavy

Late this afternoon she took off from Jersey City, heavily laden, for Floyd Bennett airport on barren island off Brooklyn. At the latter field she was to take aboard still more fuel and hop for the north.

She had difficulty, however, getting away at Jersey City, and when she landed at Floyd Bennett field, New York City's new airport, she came down hard.

The plane, a streamlined, highwing cabin affair, struck the ground on its right wheel. A tail skid cracked off, a bulkhead in the fuselage was damaged and the landing gear strained.

Mechanics said it would probably take a couple of days to repair the damage and the probability was Miss Nichols would not take off until Monday.

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, June 18.—B. P. Brown, part-time preacher and hotel baggage man, who was stripped of his clothes by four masked men today and hanged to a chandelier above the pulpit in the North Dallas Baptist church, tonight blamed dissension among members of the congregation for the attack.

The hanging he said the man told him, was "an example," to his pastor, the Rev H. P. Marler. A former member of the church who recently resigned as a deacon was arrested this afternoon for questioning.

Trouble In Church

"We've had trouble at the church, allright," he told newspapermen. "Some of the members want Brother Marler to resign. They don't like me, either, but they are going to have a hard time running me off," Brown said.

He said he didn't know who the men were, "but they were at church last Sunday morning and heard me pray to have strength to forgive my enemies. One of them told me he heard me pray in public Sunday."

Letters Received

Brown said he and Rev. Mr. Marler had received numerous threat letters during the last three months. Brown receiving the last one Tuesday. Federal postal authorities were expected to investigate the sending of the letters through the mails.

Gold-Star Mother Finds Her German Soldier Son

Pilgrimage To Land Of Fighting Ends In Reunion

BY MINOTT SAUNDERS
NEA Service Writer

PARIS, June 18.—Grieving for one son lost in the war, Mrs. Emilie Kennedy, Gold Star Mother of Germantown, Pa., has now been made happy by finding another, whom she had not seen for 32 years. She came here with a pilgrimage of war mothers, and thus the loss of her American boy soldier has made possible her reunion with her German boy soldier.

In her old age, with white hair but still vigorous, the blissfulness of motherhood has been restored to Mrs. Kennedy by her visit in Germany with her first son, Herman Weidmuller, 35, who served four years in the Kaiser's Army. While Herman was still a baby, his mother left him with relatives and went to Philadelphia, where she became Mrs. Kennedy. A son born by the second marriage, John Kennedy, died at sea on his way to France with the United States Army.

Scene Touching

The scene at the meeting of mother and son, who had to be brought together because they did not recognize each other, was one of the most joyfully touching that has marked the Gold Star pilgrimages.

Herman Weidmuller came from Lantzau, Germany, and was on the dock at Cherbourg when his mother arrived. He climbed aboard the ship holding a photograph which his mother had sent him, and scanned face after face trying to catch the resemblance. Officials guided him until he saw Mrs. Kennedy, anxiously waiving a handkerchief and holding a photograph which he

Probability Of Suicide In Death Of Girl Considered

NEW YORK, June 18 (AP)—The probability that Starr Faithfull, beautiful Greenwich Village girl, whose supposed slayer has been hunted on two continents for ten days, committed suicide, drew nearer tonight to a status of fact.

A liner plowing westward in the Atlantic was believed by the state to bear a solution of the girl's mysterious death. This important evidence was contained in a letter in the possession of Dr. G. "Shine, Mister?"--Well, Not Today Anyhow; Its "Juneteenth" And The Boys Plan A Hot Time

LUBBOCK negroes today will fittingly celebrate the annual "Juneteenth" or emancipation day, with a baseball game, a barbecue, dance, parade and what is said to be one of the first all-negro rodeos ever held in Texas.

Nearly every negro in town last night was either assured by his "white folks" of a holiday or they were fearful lest they would miss the big time. Days and weeks of anticipation are bound up in today's celebration.

J. P. Oliver, negro physician in charge of local arrangements, said last night he hoped the "white folks would let their negro servants have time to celebrate."

The day will start with a parade through the negro section of the two opposing baseball teams. The Lubbock Black Sluggers are to meet a team known as the Midland Mexicans. Parade starts at 10 o'clock and following this there will be a barbecue at Merrill park, in the negro section. There will be other refreshments at the park for all.

Baseball is to start at 3:30 in the afternoon. The two teams are to play the first of a 3-game series and a hot contest is expected.

In the evening there will be a dance at Johnson's hall on Avenue A with a real, "honest-to-goodness" New Orleans or-

"James told about his starting the club here eight years ago with one hog," Dr. Ellsworth said last night. "He said that for the last three years he had averaged over $800 a year profit from his club work. I could hear him well. He was one of three or four boys who spoke. I think there was a boy from Alabama and another from Illinois, and I think one or two others."

Young Potts was awarded one of the two trips in the state because of his club work record the past year. It was considered an outstanding record. D. F. Baker, county agent, with M. T. Ship Victims Given Burial

Aristide Briand, Representative Of Section, Attends Services; Little Emotion Shown By People

NANTES France, June 18. (AP)—Seventy-seven victims of the St. Philibert steamboat disaster were buried today after outdoor funeral services in which thousands of stolid Bretons participated.

They are shown, these Bretons, probably the least emotional of all the French people, but many of them wept as the simple service marked the passing of more than 400 men, women and children drowned in the Bay of Biscay when the excursion steamer sank.

Aristide Briand, who represents this district in the chamber of deputies, marched from the town hall to the ancient castle courtyard where the services were held, and stood up for two hours until they were over. Then his aides hurried him into an automobile and back to his hotel for a rest.

The city itself had suspended all business.

Mayor To Get Good Welcome

Friends And Foes Alike Preparing To Give Atlanta Head Warm Reception On Arrival From Trip Abroad

ATLANTA, Ga., June 18. (AP)—Friends and foes alike were preparing today to give Mayor James L. Key the warmest reception in the history of the city when he returns from his tour of France with a group of mayors who were guests of the French government.

Friends were preparing a rousing "tribute to the mayor, who was described as a man who dared to speak the truth about prohibition's colossal failure," while foes were circulating a petition seeking his recall.

A large number of business and political leaders joined in arranging the friendly welcome for the mayor, urging "thousands of just good plain Atlantans" to turn out in his honor for his widely quoted remarks in Paris that prohibition was not working so well.

Key's expressed anti-prohibition sentiments raised a storm, both of protest and approval, as soon as they were printed here.

LONDON, June 18. (AP)—Andrew W. Mellon, American secretary of the treasury, this afternoon conferred with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, Arthur Henderson, the foreign minister, and Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England.

It was the second successive day on which Mr. Mellon and Mr. MacDonald had conferred in the prime minister's house of commons office, but this was the first time Mr. Norman had been drawn into the conversations.

The American secretary declined to discuss these informal meetings with British leaders, other than to describe them as purely social, without the slightest official importance.

The Evening Standard said today it is generally assumed Mr. Mellon is discussing with British statesmen and bankers the present condition regarding reparations, war debts, and financial affairs in general throughout the world.

In 3 Months and Feels Years Younger

She feels much stronger, years younger and pains in sides, back and abdomen that bothered her for years are all gone. She says she not only feels better but look better as all her friends tell her.

"I shall never be without Kruschen Salts, will never cease taking my daily dose and more than glad to highly recommend it for the great good that is in it."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85 cents at Bowen's Drug, Bowen's Hilton Pharmacy, City Drug Store, Lubbock Drug Company, Mart Halsey Drug and druggists the world over. Take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast.

Attention to diet will help—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—the Kruschen way is the safe way to lose fat. Try one bottle and if not joyfully satisfied—money back.

Cigaret Bill Is Condemned

Severe Criticism Of New Law Is Seen In Resolution Of Texas Druggists In Closing Convention Session

DALLAS, June 18. (AP)—The Texas Pharmaceutical association today adopted emphatic resolutions condemning the new state cigaret tax and urging its repeal. Rep. Paul Finn of Sunset assured the convention he would introduce a bill to repeal the tax if he were returned to the legislature at the next session.

E. B. Oliver of Longview was elected president of the association at the concluding session this morning.

The associaion condemned the cigaret tax in strong terms, declaring that the major portion of the burden of collecting the tax would fall upon druggists.

A. H. Seely, chairman of the resolutions committee, said cigarets sold by druggists were sold at almost no profit to the stores but were kept because of public demand.

Speakers declared they were heartily tired of discussion over the problem of druggists handling prescription liquor and the convention tabled action on a resolution proposing that government dispensaries take over the burden of handling alcohol.

The legislature committee reported the resignation of Walter H. Whisenant of San Antonio and his replacement by Henry Hein of San Antonio.

Other officers named besides President Oliver were: L. C. Brenner, Gonzales, first vice president; Lee Stinson, Snyder, second vice president; Walter D. Adams, Forney, re-elected secretary; Sam P. Harben, Richardson, treasurer; B. B. Brown, Dallas, and A. A. Stolte, Waco, trustees; Dr. Chester Duncan, Dallas, historian; J. W. Graham, Austin, home secretary; and as new members of the executive board, Sam Harden and Shine Phillips, Big Spring. Holdover members of the board are C. B. Seely, Belton; C. C. Harris, Houston; Henry, Hein, San Antonio; and Marvin Anderson, Fort Worth.

The executive board will meet later in Dallas to select the next convention city.

Equable Share Is Resolution

Advertising Federation America Closes Annual Convention With Resolution Designed To Aid Workers

NEW YORK June 18. (AP) — The advertising Federation of America asserted today in a resolution passed at its annual convention, that the widest possible distribution among workingmen of "an equable share in the profits of production is necessary for business to realize its full development."

The resolution was a modification of a proposal considered by the resolutions committee. The original proposal was to stand flatly against wage reduction.

The modified statement was adopted unanimously at the closing general session of the annual convention, which has devoted much of its attention to causes of and cures for the business depression.

The convention expressed a conviction that there is enough latent buying power in those gainfully employed to absorb a great deal more goods, and that buying can be stimulated by establishing confidence in the future and by skillful advertising to desire for new products.

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

TODAY'S prediction: We are coming back to the buxom type of feminine beauty and these thin beings of a few seasons back are to be passe.

The inspiration for this prediction came from reading the weights of Miss Universe and Miss United States in the Galveston beauty review this week. Miss Belgium, who won the title of Miss Universe, weighs 127 pounds and Miss United States, who comes from Kentucky, weighs 118 pounds.

Neither young woman is buxom, to be sure, but these weights are, I believe, a little more than those considered ideal a few seasons back when it was the fad to reduce practically to the point of emaciation.

Plenty of young women in the United States and elsewhere are going to study these weights and set up new ideals from them because it is a perfectly human characteristic to want to be like the queen of beauty. So perhaps, an unforeseen good will come from this pageant if some young woman who is ruining her health in dieting will set up a new ideal of beauty and seek to gain a little weight.

There may be some significances, also, in the size of Miss Universe. She isn't of the petite type at all but her size and pictures indicate more of dignity in a sort of superb beauty. Blackhaired and smooth featured, she must be striking and she is five feet six and three fourths inches tall with that 127 pounds which is not so small.

NEW STITCHED ORGANDY

STITCHED organdy is a new fashionable fancy used instead of lace this season. Many black or dark blue street frocks are trimmed with ruchings or flat roses made of stitched crisp organdy. The organdy is so fine that wherever it is stitched the threads pull, giving it hemstitched lacy appearance.

POWER OF LOVE

LOVE makes the world go around, we hear often enough and the other day it stopped a big ship for three hours. The departure of the transatlantic liner Conte Biancamano was deferred three hours in order that William Wilson Wood, 3rd, and his bride, the former Frances Elizabeth Otley, might catch the boat after wedding festivities delayed them.

Steamship companies are impersonal except that, as with other things of the commercial world, there are perfectly human men and women in charge and humanity is greater than the things that men create.

BUT WOULD WE?

OCCASIONALLY someone does the thing that most of us have an urge to do at intervals and yet never have the nerve to attempt. There are few of us who have not at one time or another affectionately juggled the idea of doing a lot of bizzare and unusual things simply for the adventure involved—and perhaps the necessary money for expenses.

Two men in London, Honorable Mountjoy Pane and Saunders Davies, have organized a "Do Anything" club barring crime, only, they offer to do anything for a cash consideration. Among the things listed, for instance, are offers to go to South Africa and obtain a boa constrictor a zebra or a lion cub. They guarantee to bring gold nuggets from the Yukon, a rare orchid from the tropics or the bones of a mummy from an Egyptian tomb.

Just the sort of thing I would guarantee to do, most of us are eager to say, and yet, even for a cash consideration that would not be exorbitant, few of us would actually start off on the quest for a boa constrictor or an orchid, guaranteeing to bring it back. Obstacles that might not be so big would seem of tremendous size.

But I would like to stand around and watch the Messrs. Pane and Davies twiddling their thumbs and waiting for someone to come in with the money and start them on a quest for the unusual in some remote corner of the globe. A few orders a year would be a surplus if the requests were unusual enough.

Beer Baron Is Held In Jail

Dutch Schultz, Beer Baron Of Bronx, In Cell After Fight In Which Detectives Sought Three Of His Men

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—Dutch Schultz, Bronx beer baron known to the police as a general "bad man," was in a cell today while detectives tried to run down three of his men who escaped after a pistil fight with detectives in which the "boss" was taken.

The encounter occurred in front of an upper Fifth avenue apartment house where Schultz was living in hiding. When the smoke cleared, Daniel Amacio ,alleged to be a Schultz henchman, lay in the street with a bullet in his abdomen.

Police raided the Schultz apartment and found he had fitted it up as an armed outlook post, equipping it with pistols, shotguns and binoculars.

All but Amacio fled when the detectives first opened fire. Schultz was caught as he was climbing into a taxicab.

Schultz said he mistook the detectives for rivals bent on vengeance. Amacio drew a gun, but the fight was over in a moment.

Forty-Seven Golfers In Matched Play For City Title

Robins And Cubs Divide Doubleheader Bill; Cardinals Win

Payne, Hughett Tie For Medal Honors: Match Play To Begin Early Today And End Sunday

Former Lubbock Country Club Caddy Fires 69 For Second Place In Qualifying Round; Match Play At Country Club

No one was able to beat Mendall Hughett's and Gibson Payne's 68s yesterday and qualifying play for the annual city championship golf tournament came to a close with the Tech student and local business man tied for medalist honors.

The closest approach to the 68 mark, two below par for the Meadowbrook course where two days of qualifying ended yesterday, was a smart 69 fired by J. K. Bradshaw, a high school student and a former caddy at the Lubbock Country club. Bradshaw came into the golfing limelight when he shot a par 72 to qualify in the West Texas Golf association tournament here last month but was barred from play because he had not been graduated from the caddi ranks long enough.

Forty Seven To Play

A disappointing number of local golfers qualified for the tournament, match play of which will begin this morning and continue through Sunday at the Lubbock Country club. Only 47 golfers turned in qualifying scores. At least one hundred were originally expected to enter. The extreme hot weather and sandstorms on both qualifying days held the number down. Had strong winds not interfered the number would have gone past 60.

Match play will begin at 7 o'clock this morning at the Lubbock Country club. It was originally planned to have four flights, the fourth flight players to remain at the Meadowbrook course for the remainder of the tournament, but the shortage of players cut the flights down to three with two players drawing byes.

Finals On Sunday

All preliminary and semi-final rounds are scheduled to be completed Saturday, with 36-hole final matches for the city championship and for consolations and flight winners slated for Sunday. Eighteen holes will be played in the morning and 18 in the afternoon.

Bradshaw's 69 yesterday was the sensation of the second day of qualifying and ranks with the best fired recently over the course. Playing with John Bell and Lawrence Doherty, the latter of whom qualified for the first flight, Bradshaw shot perfect par going out and one under coming in. He is not accustomed to playing the Meadowbrook course and his fete was considered an outstanding one.

Doherty shot a neat 73 and Bell fired a 77 yesterday. Edgar Doherty, brother of Lawrence and member of the Lubbock High school team, shot a 75 on Wednesday to qualify for first flight.

Jo Dick Slaughter, James Alldredge and E T. Daniels tied for third place in the qualifying with 73s, and were closely followed by Lyle Holmes, V. O. Jennings and Lawrence Doherty with 73s. John Jarrott and W E Davis tied with 74s and Ross McWhorter, Larry Hines, D. A. Dowell and Edgar Doherty tied with 75s. The next lowest scores were Buster Fluke's 76 and John Bell's 77. A 76 was needed for first flight.

Beginning at 7 o'clock this morning, the third flight players tee off at the Country club. Second flighters will begin at 7 45 and the championship flight players will go out at 8:30.

BEAUMONT, June 18. (AP)—The Exporters broke the Fort Worth jinx this afternoon by beating the Cats, 5-4, for their first win over Phelan's club this season. White's triple and Schuble's long sacrifice fly scored the deciding run in the ninth. Terry, who relieved Chagnon, was charged with the loss, while Green, who replaced Marrow, was given credit for the game. In the fourth Yaryan hit his fourth homer in three days, scoring Cox who had been hit by a pitched ball. Taylor led off Beaumont's third with a homer. In the seventh, Eddie Moore fell victim to the old hidden ball trick.

Sir Walter Finds Western Course Too Fancy And Shatters Record For Lead

MIAMI VALLEY CLUB, DAYTON, Ohio, June 18. (AP)—Walter Hagen found the range of the rolling fairways of the Miami Valley course today and shelled it with a record smashing 68 that shoved him one shot in front of a closely bunched field in the Western Open golf championship fight.

Flashing the same form that made him one of golf's immortals a decade ago, the Haig just about made the first 18-hole round of the 72-hole struggle a one man show until Ed Dudley of Wilmington, Delaware, came in late wtih a 69 to do some crowding.

Olin Dutra, the Spanish cabelero from Long Beach, Calif., and Charles Garringer, of Indianapolis, landed third with 70's, only other par shattering performances turned in by the fiel dof more than 100 entries. One shot away from them and three away from Hagen came Gene Sarazen, of Fresh Meadow, N. Y., the champion they must beat and Gene Marchi, assistant professional on Miami Valley championship course. Five stayed close up in the running with 72's, one over par.

They were J. B. Roone, Columbus, Clem Weichman, Portsmouth, Ohio; George Von Elm, of Detroit; Bob MacDonald, Chicago; Densmore Shute of Hudson, Ohio; Emmett French, Southern Pines, N. C.; Charles "Chick" Evans, of Chicago had a 73, as did Mortie Dutra, of Long Beach, Calif.

His Majesty Rides In Rain But His Jockey Wins Classic

ASCOT, Eng., June 18 (AP)—Butterflies of fashion, gathered at Ascot today to see Gen. Charles Lambton's Trimdon win the classic Guld Cup, were rained on again and the old fashioned umbrella remains the conventional style note for well-dressed English folk.

A storm burst over the great pageant of fashion and horseflesh just as King George and Queen Mary were starting their ceremonial drive down the course. Royal landaus were hurriedly closed, their majesties driving past the stands in a pouring rain.

The storm disappeared as quickly as it had rolled up and the sun came out brilliantly before the race.

The king smiled under his white topper and the queen beamed under her toque of gold as Trimdon was declared the winner, for in the pilot seat was the king's own jockey, J. Childs, who had been loaned to General Lambton for the race.

Interscholastic League Tightens "Recruit" Rule

Buck Is Passed To District Body In Warning

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 18. — The Texas Interscholastic League has placed "teeth" in its rules against recruiting of athletes.

The central executive committee has authorized the district committee to disqualify "any high school whose officials or 'fans' are believed to be recruiting players." Roy B. Henderson, athletic director of the league, said the rule was adopted to uphold the principle that high school football is worthwhile as an educational force when properly controlled.

Under the old rules, the district committee had no authority to suspend a school until subsidization of one of its athletes had been proven.

The new rule gives the district committee power to disqualify any school where the belief is current that recruiting of athletes is practiced, Henderson said.

"Efforts on the part of any school official or 'fan' to recruit players will be considered a violation of the principle and will subject the school to disqualification. Disqualification may be made by the district committee after the school concerned has been given an opportunity to be heard in its own defense. When a school is disqualified it will remain on the disqualified list until its superintendent has convinced the committee that the errors complained of have been removed and that he can guarantee the proper conduct of football in his school," the rule reads.

CHANNEL MARKERS

IN THE earlier days of this country, spending the family budget used to be a hazardous business. It was only by harsh experience that a householder learned to steer clear of bad bargains and come into port with his money's worth.

There were snags and shoals aplenty. Inferior goods and unscrupulous merchandising methods made the channel dangerous. "Let the buyer beware" was an accepted slogan of trade.

Fortunately for millions of consumers, this condition has wholly changed in more recent years. The channel has been charted. Today advertised, trademarked goods of known value are for sale in every city and hamlet. The buyer knows he can trust such products. He reads the advertisements in his paper, chooses the commodities he needs, and makes his purchases with the knowledge that he will get full value for his outlay.

The advertising columns of the Avalanche-Journal newspaper point the way to satisfaction. If you make it a habit to read them daily you will save money, and save time.

Mr. Duggan's New Theory

IN an address before members of the Lubbock Rotary club the other day, Arthur P. Duggan, of Littlefield, offered a remedy for the racketeer. To be sure Mr. Duggan's remedy is theoretical, but it offers food for thought to those who see in our present social system a serious national illness.

The former president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, who is being frequently suggested by his neighbors as a candidate for Congress, would fight the racketeer and the underworld with that most potent of all weapons—education. He would sponsor popularity and respect for the prohibition laws by teaching children in their early years that alcohol and its by-products are poison and to be avoided. He would, in short, "use the public schools to rear citizens instead of criminals."

The Lamb county man pointed out that while such education is now prevalent in the high schools of the country, it is too late to leave the education for citizenship to the high school years. It should be applied, he said, to children yet in the plastic state, whose minds are easily moulded and in whom principles are easily inculcated. He would make the education of citizenship a national affair over a period of years, to combat the readily apparent disregard for law.

The Morning Avalanche does not know whether Mr. Duggan's theory has ever been expressed before other than in the address here. But it is a thought which might well be passed along to the educators of the nation and to those agencies which strive to improve the standards of living wherever the American flag may fly.

Perhaps the idea is too much theory—mayhap it will never be practicable. On the other hand, it may be just the vehicle needed to take the nation back to normalcy in respect for law and order. It is at least worth a study.

RURAL EDUCATION

Educators and representatives of rural interests and regions will meet in Los Angeles in July at the call of the United States commissioner of education to discuss the condition of rural schools and their prospects and programs.

One of the purposes of this conference is the drafting of a program of rural education which will lessen the cultural gap between the rural and the urban school by removing some of the overemphasis on vocational studies in the country school.

It is unfortunate that the problems of the country school must be considered separate and apart from those of the city school. The country and city boys and girls should be educated in the same classroom, and anything that tends to emphasize the differences between urban and rural requirements and interests widens the social, mental and economic gap separating rural and urban America. One of the proper functions of the public school system is the unification of the American mind and the civilization which represents it. It can be accomplished only if the recognized purpose of the schools is broad enough and big enough to cover a great variety of local conditions and an equal variety of educational methods.

The time will come when the controversies, distrust and lack of sympathy which divide country and city will disappear in the merged or consolidated school in which the "country rube" and "city dude" shall grow up together.

An Indiana woman found $17,150 in government notes in four jars she dug up in her garden. Bottled in bond, as it were.

The trouble with crime in this country is that too few gangsters are hung up after they are "framed."

Practical Health Problems

SILICOSIS, OR DUST DISEASE

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a series of two articles by Dr. Morris Fishbein on Silicosis, or Dust Disease.

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

The effects of silica dust depend on the amount that is present in the air and the extent to which it damages the tissue. Apparently anything over 6,000,000 parts of dust in each cubic foot of air is beyond the limits of safety. Associated with the danger to the lungs is the secondary reaction of the heart and the blood vessels. A man with advanced silicosis, or dust disease, may seem to be in good health, but he may have had a slight persistent cough, pains in the chest, loss of breath on exertion and little difficulty in breathing. That is why the disease was so often confused with tuberculosis in the past.

Fortunately the development of the X-ray has made it possible to watch the development of silicosis from the very early stages down to such serious changes as result in death. The particles of dust cast a shadow in the X-ray plate which develops gradually from tiny lines to mottling, and finally to what is called a snow storm effect, because of its spotted appearance. After the disease is well established, it may continue to progress even though the man is removed from all further dust hazard, owing to the fact that the silicotic process once started continues to develop.

Should silicosis become complicated by tuberculosis or infectious bronchitis, the condition is naturally more severe and more promptly serious than uncomplicated silicosis.

In Great Britain certain industries have already been put under special lists in relation to compensation for silicosis. These industries include sandstone and pottery industries, in which periodic examinations are already being made, and metal grinding, tin mining, granite quarries and a number of processes in which silicon rock is mined, blasted, crushed, ground or broken, laso sand blasting and foundry workers.

Only a few states in this country provide for compensation. Public health officials, industrial physicians and specialists in industrial diseases are working on the problem. Articles are beginning to appear in scientific publications. No doubt these studies will lead to plans for lessening the hazard, to the installation of periodic examination of workers and to provision of compensation for those afflicted.

Aid Plea Puzzling

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Germany's plea for financial mercy from the World war victors seems to have fallen upon compassionate American ears, if expressions by the few senators and representatives now in Washington between sessions of congress, are typical of national public opinion.

Senator Thos. Schall

But—

Mighty little that I have heard from any of these lawmakers indicates that they think there is much the United States can be expected to do about it.

As Senator Thomas D. Schall, Minnesota's Republican member of the upper congressional chamber, puts it:

"Germany is crying out for reparations modification, an appeal to which I listen with deep sympathy. Yet if reparations modification be granted to the Germans, we know quite well that it will be upon the condition of corresponding modification of payments by the reparation beneficiaries to this country.

"Now, what can we grant in the way of war debt reduction?

"We have settled with England on the basis of 37-10 per cent interest for 62 years—and cancellation of the principal. We have settled with France on a 2 17-100 per cent basis; with Italy and Belgium on a 1 1-10 per cent basis—and cancellation of principal."

"Reduction!" exclaimed the senator hotly. "How can we reduce what we already have cancelled?

"Besides, we advanced the money that Germany has paid in reparations.

"And it has gone, cancellations and reparations alike, into increased European armaments, which, in turn, force us to build warships we otherwise would not need, for defense against some possible future old world combination—financed with our capital.

"Honestly," said the senator, "it is hardly believable that Europe will have the effrontery to ask us to wipe out our 3 7-10, our 2 17-100 and our 1 1-10 percentages in interest in addition to our 12 billions in principal—loaned by us, too, in considerable part, in France's case, after the war was entirely over."

AMONG DEMOCRATS—

"Of the World war's victorious belligerents," said Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway of Arkansas, "the United States and Great Britain alone have made sacrifices in the cause of international rehabilitation.

"I voted for the war debt settlement with the British; opposed all others. I particularly resented the French terms, because of France's greed in all her post-war bargaining.

"Germany unquestionably is in dire need of reparations concessions. Conditions of today not only are to the disadvantage of world economics; they are a threat against world peace."

"However," added the Arkansan, "the responsibility is not ours. We have made our contribution. And the British. As to those who have made none—" and the senator left his sentence unfinished significantly.

"There is such a thing," he continued after a pause, "as public opinion; stronger than armies. We saw it lately overthrow the oldest monarchy in Europe. No government can long defy it.

"If France insists on her last pound of flesh nearest the heart, hers be the peril. An honest, industrious, courageous population of 65,000,000 cannot be enslaved in safety."

That the administration will be as resolutely opposed as lawmakers like Senators Schall and Caraway to further "debt reductions" (provided they are accompanied by sharp armament cuts) is not so certain.

Senator Robert B. Howell of Nebraska, perhaps the country's foremost authority on actuarial calculations, is, indeed, in entire agreement with Senator Schall that the principal of all outstanding war obligations has been completely cancelled, leaving only a low rate of interest to be paid during the 62-year period that they nominally are to run. However, bookkeeping sleight-of-hand conceals the fact that the principal sums have been wiped off the slate and permits continued discussion of the totals in terms of principal-and-interest.

It is on the supposition that the distinction still exists that Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, chairman of the senate committee on foreign affairs, is quoted as tentatively favorable to a program of combined debt and armament reductions, although no statement yet made by him commits him definitely on the subject.

Nevertheless, it is true that the Idaho senator appears less irreconcilable than hitherto to joint consideration of debts and armaments, a policy toward which the White House generally is believed to incline, if the two can be inseparably connected.

Assuming that he is readjusting himself to debt cancellation, that Idahoan indisputably is an influential recruit for that school of thought.

Thus far it by no means is an absolute certainty that he is doing so.

In any event, it is an outcome which evidently will meet with plenty of opposition.

WAR DEBTS AGAIN

No credence is given the rumor that President Hoover will offer to reopen the war debt question and reduce the obligations of the allies to Uncle Sam if they will agree to a further arms reduction.

The administration can make no such offer because it has no power to reduce the debts. The president may propose but congress disposes. If the president, or any spokesman for him, were to make such a bargain, the nations of Europe would reply: "Your country sold us once on a peace treaty which your president negotiated but congress refused to ratify. How do we know you could carry out your side of this new bargain?"

Moreover, such an offer would hold no allure for the key nation in the disarmament debate, France. France pays to the United States only what she receives in German reparations, and if the United States were to let up on France she would be expected to let up on Germany, which would net her no advantage. And what has France to fear? She has bound to her her allies—Poland, Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia—with hoops of gold.

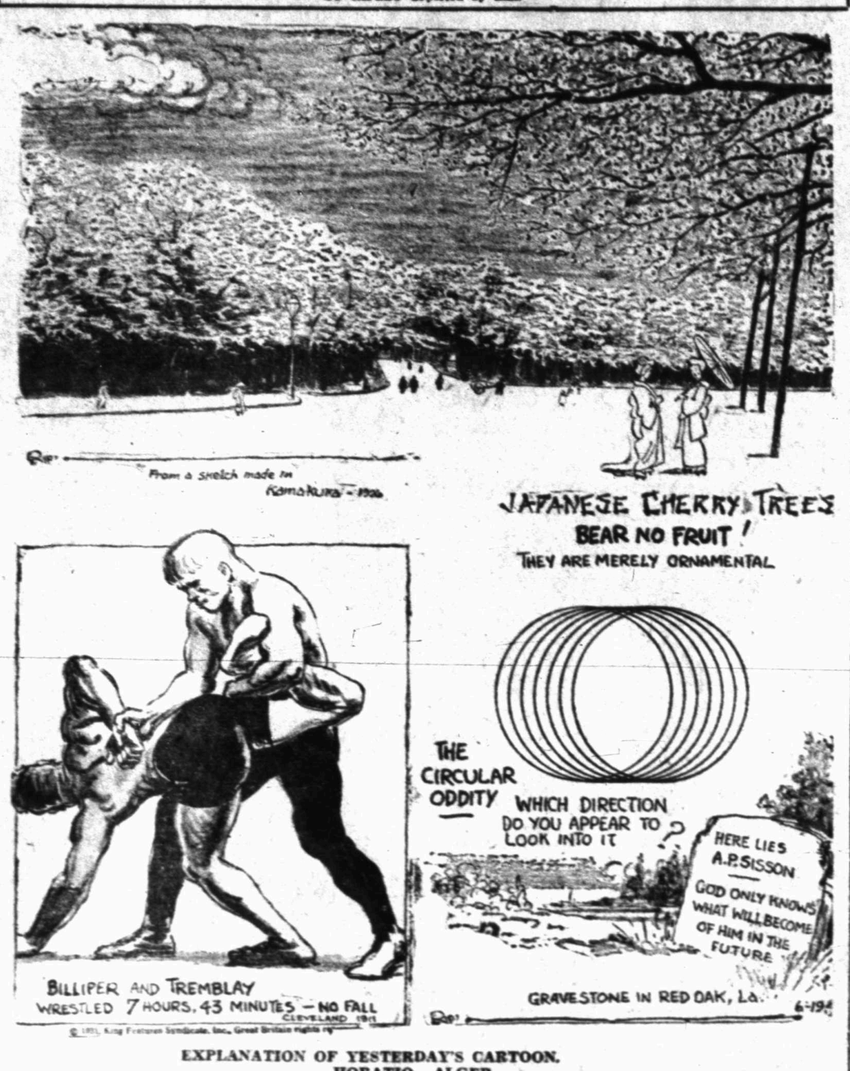

About the only "bribe" Washington could offer that would be acceptable to France is the proposition money spent on armament is money wasted in unproductive enterprise and represents a heavy burden on the shoulders of taxpayers who are groaning under the load.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

BERYL BORDEN, secretly in love with TOMMY WILSON, succeeds in delaying his elopement with her half-sister, IRENE EVERETT, but fails to convince him that it is his duty to his family to finish college.

Later Irene postpones the marriage date believing she is to become a radio singer. Securing an audition, she permits Beryl to go to the studio with her. While waiting in an ante-room Beryl sits down at a piano and croon smelodies. One of the directors hears her and gives her a private test. He promises an interview with MR. GAYLORD. Irene fails and is furious she hears her sister has been given a test. Beryl's hopes of a radio career dim as no word comes from the studio.

At last a letter arrives and she slips away for her interview. Nervous during the ordeal, Beryl is elated when presented with a contract. Her victory is bitter-sweet for her family and Tommy believe she robbed Irene of her chance. Beryl's debut is a success, and she returns home in Mr. Gaylord's limousine laden with floral tributes. Burning with envy, Irene decided to marry Tommy.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVII

For this elopeemnt Tommy and Irene kept their plans secret, taking no chance of interference. Beryl saw her sister sewing on a pretty dress of eyelet embroidered organdy (Irene sewed the ribbon bows on; her mother had made the dress) and noted the mysterious smile that accompanied the work.

Why that smile, she wondered. Irene had worn it on her soft red lips constantly in Beryl's presence for the past three days. It was beginning to be irritating. Beryl believed if you had a secret you should keep it or let it go, not keep it hanging about you half concealed hald reevaled.

The dress had been made hurriedly but Irene was always wanting dresses made in a hurry. Sometimes she wore them little more than basted together.

Beryl might have guessed the truth but her work kept her too busy to give much thought to Irene's affairs. Tommy's elation would have given it away but Beryl had not seen him with her sister since Irene had agreed to the elopement. Irene would not take that chance. She wanted to make Beryl suspect there was something in the air and worry over it but she did not want to give her too many clues.

Again Tommy packed his suitcase for a honeymoon—and again he was frustrated. On this occasion the interference came from a grim source. Death stepped in and put an end to the affair.

Quietly and without a word to anyone his Aunt Emma died. His uncle called him an hour before the time he had set to slip out of the house to meet Irene. It was morning. A heavy, foggy morning of the kind on which people with asthma find it difficult to breath.

Uncle George couldn't, he said, wake Aunt Emma. Tommy ran to see what he could do. Presently they called a doctor. Before the physician got there Aunt Emma had turned cold.

Out in the sound the fog horn bellowed dismally. Aunt Emma had always hated to hear it.

Vagrant thoughts came to Tommy as he stopped for a while before the window, trying to check his tears so that he could go down and telephone to Irene.

Beryl liked the fog horn. Its bellow or faint boom had stirred elusive thoughts in her mind, she had said. Something seemed to come—like that train in Lilliom—and carry her away. Only this was a boat, and for a bit of time she could feel that she had traveled, been somewhere.

Tommy had laughed at her. "Carried away by a sound—huh? That's some imagination!"

Now he did not laugh. Did death give you a new sense—someone else's death? Bewildering thoughts—and he had to telephone Irene.

How did he feel when he had talked with her? Back in his room—the tears unchecked now—he was not conscious of any effect upon himself from Irene's words. What had she said to him? Certainly nothing of moment, nothing to be remembered.

Many people came to the house. Irene, of course, and Beryl, too. There were many things to do. Tommy felt bewildered. Death was new to him. New and terrible. Beryl told him in conventional phrases that tortured her how grieved she was for him. Her voice was steady, but what she suppressed would have astonished Tommy.

Irene had declared openly against the tyranny of a fate that upset her plans. Beryl had learned then what those plans were and what that mysterious smile had meant. Irene did not seem to mind that Aunt Emma was dead. She was annoyed because her plans were spoiled.

Beryl had dreaded to hear what Tommy would say. Would he, like Irene, think of himself? Would he have less regret for the passing of one who had loved him because that passing interfered with his plans?

He did not once speak of the proposed elopement and Beryl knew, with an elation she found it hard to hide, that it was because he had not thought of it. She watched him with Irene and could see that Irene was provoked with him. There could be but one explanation for that. He

Hassell Talks For Kiwanians

Local Club Observes Program With Sons Of Club Members As Guests; George Dupree, Jr., Is Speaker

"Being a father, you begin to realize what a good man your own father was," J. D. Hassell declared Thursday noon to members of the Lubbock Kiwanis club in the Lubbock hotel. "It's a challenge, a game—a God-given opportunity to make good in the eyes of that boy or girl."

Mr. Hassell's talk was in line with the program of the day, that of honoring boys and sons of club members. At the opening of the program, the sons or the boys who were guest of members were introduced.

"The present age offers difficulties and compiexities for youth," Mr. Hassell said as he cited problems facing fathers. His talk was on "What It Means To Be a Father."

"The father has the inside track or edge over any other influence on the boy," Mr. Hassell continued. ". . . and there's no reason why the boy's life can't be shaped so that both he and his father will be proud. There are four stages in which a boy passes in life. The first one is from the time he's born until he is about fourteen when he thinks that his father is everything and he puts him up as his ideal. Then there's the age when he begins to feel that maybe his dad's not so hot, after all. That's when his father begins to fall short in his athletic achievements, such as playing tennis, running or, maybe he has taken up golf. The next period is from about 21 years until he's thirty and this is when he feels that dad is just too slow for words, he's an old fogie and backward in his thoughts and ideas. Then comes the period say from thirty on, when he begins to realize, after he himself has probably become a father, that after all dad wasn't such a bad fellow after all and looks upon him as he should be thought of."

"A parent should have four objectives for his child," he continued, "and if these objectives are molded into the career of the youngster, there is nothing to fear. He should have love without weakness; respect without fear; pride without snobbishness and ambition without ruthlessness."

Following Mr. Hassell's talk, George Dupree, jr., made a few remarks on "What Father Means To Me." He expressed his father as being "a leader, a teacher, a character guide, a playmate and a real pal."

President Jack M. Lewis announced an "On To Oklahoma City" committee to arouse interest in the annual Texas-Oklahoma district to be held in Oklahoma City in September. Charles Whitacre was named chairman and Dr. O. W. English and L. E. Grimes, members.

Belgium has established a large fund to aid in building workers' homes.

not thinking about her.

With Beryl it was as though she ed on the edge of a deep, black as, never knowing at what mo- nt she would be pitched head- ng into the bottomless depths. at's what Tommy's marriage to me would mean to her. She had t quite known what it would an before their first attempt to n away and be married. That oc- sion had opened her eyes and e had not been able to close them mpletely since.

Once when she was a little girl ere was a thing Beryl had said e would never do. Later she did It wasn't a great sin—some ght piece of mischief that she ad since forgotten—but from it e had learned a lesson. The les- n was that she might say she ould never do so-and-so again but at did not make it a fact. She ight be fooling herself again, Beryl argued, when she said she would never love anyone but Tom- y. Still she believed this was true nd the anguish the thought of his ing married to Irene caused her as real enough to matter what hanges the future might hold.

For a while after his aunt's leath Beryl felt safe. Then the erms of Emma Hoffman's will ere made public and she didn't now what to think. Tommy was ot the heir. His aunt had died in- estate. She'd had a superstitious ear of preparing for death and so her favorite nephew was left to hare her fortune with other kin. There were several children of sev- ral brothers and sisters and Tom- my did not receive much.

Irene told her nothing. Beryl did not ask questions. It was like the erisis in an illness. She held her breath and waited. She was uncer- tain. Would Irene think of Tom- my now? Was there a streak of fineness in her character deep un- der the shallow exterior?

In her generous moments Beryl hoped this was true—and rebelled against it in a flash. Irene could never make Tommy happy. No mat- ter what he thought, that was true.

Irene told her nothing because she did not want Beryl to know what was going on.

Suppose Beryl knew that Tom- my was giving up college? She'd heard Beryl express herself on this subject with a talent for words that Irene had found too searing to wish to hear repeated.

Irene had a habit of shrugging, both mentally and physically. She shrugged aside what reproaches her conscience urged upon her in this matter of Tommy turning his back upon higher education for her sake.

She had promised to marry him if he would accept his uncle's offer to take over the management of Hoffman's Motion Picture Palace as a permanent job.

Mr. Hoffman had induced Irene to place this condition upon her consent by bribery. She and Tom- my would, he had said, come to live with him and the Hoffman house was an attractive dwelling. Aunt Emma's sister, Ernestine, who had been keeping house for him would be going home soon. She expected to take a lot of her sister's things with her but he would see that they were left. They were old-fashioned things and he understood people were making a fuss over such things at the present time.

He need not have urged further. Right there Irene made up her mind. What envy it would excite in Beryl to see her among the Hoff- man heirlooms, Irene thought. She remembered Beryl had once said she hopes Mrs. Hoffman would will her just one piece of the Lowestoft. Of course Mrs. Hoffman hadn't done anything of the kind.

Irene decided to give a luncheon for Beryl, bringing the Lowestoft from the china closet and serving her food on it just as though it were ordinary ware.

She was planning the meal even as Mr. Hoffman continued talking. Perhaps her mother would cook the luncheon. No, Mr. Hoffman would let her have a maid for that. A smart maid in a black dress and lace apron and cap.

"I haven't a lot of relatives like Emma had," Mr. Hoffman was say- ing, and Irene's mind snapped back in time to grasp the significance of his words.

She and Tommy would live with him. They could remodel the house as they liked because some day it would be theirs. It wouldn't be any fun fixing the house but they could have a decorator from New York and that would make people open their eyes.

Irene was too much taken up with these thoughts to give Mr. Hoffman the answer he wanted and when she realized, as she did sud- denly, that he was piling up in- ducement on inducement, she de- liberately waited until he had made his final offer.

This is how it came about that, with the anticipation of a hand- some wedding present in her mind, she issued her ultimatum to Tom- my.

Tommy felt that the marriage should be delayed a while in re- spect to his aunt's memory—a de- cision which he shortly came to regret.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS June 18. (AP)—A quiet morning the cotton market was followed by considerably more activity in the afternoon, with a downward trend that brought net declines of 25 to 27 points at the close. The close was steady 25-27 points down for the day.

Liverpool came in 4-6 penny points worse than due and private cables stated that there was local and foreign liquidation with poor off-take. Manchester cabled that business in cloths and yarns is slow in developing

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—Cotton was lower today under liquidation combined with some local, southern, Wall Street and western selling. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 25 to 28 points.

Lowest prices of the day were reached in the late trading when July sold at 8.46 and Dec. at 9.08. The close was within a point or two of the lowest.

The less active demand in evidence during today's trading was regarded as indicating that the technical position of the market had eased on the recent advance of about 70 points from the low records established earlier in the month.

Local Markets

These prices are furnished by the following Lubbock firms: Poultry—Lubbock Poultry and Egg company, delivered Lubbock; Dairy Products—Bell Ice Cream company and Mistletoe Creameries; Grain—S. E. Cone Grain and Seed company following prices being asked by Lubbock grain dealers. Cotton — Blocker Cotton company. All prices subject to change during day.

o'clock Saturday morning. Cooperation of virtually all operators in the field was expected to be required to make the plan successful.

The railroad commission was awaiting an opinion from the attorney general's department before deciding whether to issue an emergency order in line with the plan. Fred Upchurch, assistant attorney general in charge of oil litigation, was expected back in Austin tomorrow. The commission doubted its authority to issue an order without a hearing after ten days' notice.

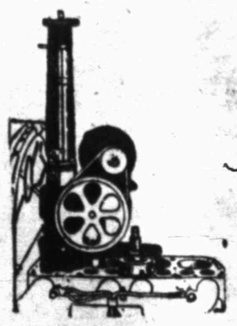

Meanwhile the 17th East Texas oil proration injunction suit was filed against the commission by the Arkansas Fuel Oil company. Lloyd Price of Fort Worth, attorney for the company, said the suit was filed to adjust his company's allowed production rather than increase it. The Arkansas company had been permitted an increased production because an offsetting lease was violating proration.

Stocks And Commodities Take Easy Way Downward; Share Sales Higher

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—Stocks and commodities found the easiest way was downward today.

Trading in the share market paralleled the Wednesday turnover until the last hour when activity quickened, presumably because professionals sensed that the list was more susceptible to pressure. Many favorites lost one to two points net, with a few weaker spots evident. Sales of approximately 1,100,000 shares compare with yesterday's total of not more than 900,000.

Railroad stocks were inactive but still heavy, with the exception of St. Louis Southwestern which rose 3 on news of Southern Pacific's conditional offer to the minority holders. The latter road, however, was off 2 points.

had sent her.

A Hope Fulfilled

With a cry of "Mutter!' he folded her in his strong arms. For a long time mother and son remained clasped, pausing now and then to gaze into each other's eyes.

Mrs. Kennedy had looked forward for just such a meeting upon her arrival, but she had not been informed that Herman was there.

Accompanies Son

Since members of this pilgrimage all lost their sons at sea, they had no graves of their own to visit, so plans were quickly made, through special permission, for Mrs. Kennedy to accompany her son to Bavaria for a visit.

"We don't hardly know each other, but we have lots to talk about," she explained.

Herman went with his mother to her hotel and was at her side as much as possible. When she had to join the other mothers in the ceremony of laying a wreath at the tomb of the French Unknown Soldier Weidmuller discreetly remained at the hotel waiting. But he went with her to other functions she attended.

Second Victim

M. B. Havener and A. F. Havener and Wilson Havener, relatives, were enroute from Phoenix to Shawnee, by automobile. They reached here Wednesday and stopped at the Tajo Tourist camp, two miles south of town on state highway No. 9.

About 4:30 Thursday morning, while Mrs. Wilson was asleep in the same bed, the aged man shot himself in the head, the .32 calibre bullet entering the right temple near the top of the ear and coming out behind the left ear.

Officers Notified

The sheriff's office was notified and Will Earnest, deputy; H. K. Porter, justice of the peace and Vaughn E. Wilson, county attorney, conducted the inquest. Mr. Porter after the investigation returned a verdict of death by a self-inflicted pistol shot.

Mrs. Wilson, who said she was same age as her husband: told the authorities that about a month ago at Phoenix, Mr. Wilson had said that "it would be better if he killed himself." He had been depressed by lack of finances for some months.

When the officers reached the tourist camp a revolver was found in Wilson's right hand, the index finger being inside the trigger guard and the hand and gun lying on his stomach. His other hand also rested on the stomach.

Frank Jones, operator of the tourist camp, assisted officers in their work and also the family. He notified realtives in Shawnee and Phoenix. It was reported that the family had only about $3 in cash when the tragedy occurred.

Up to a late hour yesterday no definite word had been received from relatives in Phoenix.

Body Of Davis Is Shipped Thursday

The body of Guy U. Davis, real estate operator, who died Wednesday morning from self-inflicted wounds, was sent last night by the Bynum-Morgan funeral home to Nacogdoches, where burial is expected to take place probably Saturday. Previously it had been expected to send the body to Rusk for burial.

Mr. Davis died some time after Tuesday midnight. He was found in his apartment at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning when a message for him was received at 1511 Main street.

Mrs. Davis, who had been living at Ruidoso, arrived Wednesday evening. Two sisters arrived yesterday.

Out at the Johnston ranch, southeast of Lubbock and near Slaton, a rodeo will be held. This is said by some to be the first or one of the first all-negro rodeos ever staged in the state. There are not many negro cowpunchers and riders.

Entertainment will include besides the rodeo, a dance, broncho busting, roping and some boxing. Barbecue is to be served during the day at the ranch.

Roger Williams Released From Confinement In Jail

left the hotel where he works, shortly after midnight, taking the last bus to the suburban district where he lives. When he alighted from the bus and started walking toward his home, a masked man suddenly stepped in front of him, leveled a gun at him and commanded him to walk to the church, two blocks distant

Saw Three Men

"On going into the church auditorium," Brown said, "I saw three other men standing near the chancel rail. Without a word between them they tied my hands behind my back and tied my feet together. A noose was put about my neck and the other end of the rope was thrown over a chandelier.

"Before they pulled me off the floor, they asked if I had a 'dying request.' This made me mad and I told them my wife knew what my dying request would be."

Then they kicked him and slapped him, he said, and tore his clothes off him. He exhibited a bruise on one of his legs which he said was made by his assailants.

of the plaintiff. Following him Mr. Dupree spoke for an hour and a half, closing his address shortly after 5 o'clock. There was a short recess during the period between addresses.

Thursday morning Charles C. Crenshaw opened for the plaintiff and he was followed by George R. Bean. The two men consumed about three hours of argument.

Courtroom Crowded

Today's schedule is for E. L. Klett to start at 8 o'clock. He has nearly an hour and a half. Following him Mr. Lockhart will close for the plaintiff with a two hour address.

Crowded court rooms have featured the arguments of attorneys. Despite additional chairs in the room, there have been large numbers of people who have had to stand during the entire time. Besides many relatives and friends of Mr. Spikes, there have been scores of old timers, and others who have listened with marked attention to the addresses. All of the attorneys are well known in Lubbock and this section and their talks have attracted wide attention. There have been a good many attorneys who have listened to the arguments.

He diagnosed the ills of the country as "Industrial stagnation" and added, "That is all that is wrong with us."

Garner Protests Mellon's Action

LAREDO, June 18. (AP)—Congressman John Garner of Uvalde said here today he believed Secretary of the Treasury Mellon had made a mistake in offering $800,000,000 treasury certificates at 3 1-8 per cent interest. He said he advised Secretary Mellon the issue undoubtedly would be oversubscribed at 3 per cent.

Garner expressed dissatisfaction at the uneven distribution of wealth over the country.

"For more than 100 years we have been feeding New England and concentrating money there," he asserted. "The time has come for this money to be more evenly distributed and Texas should get its share. The state of Rhode Island, no larger than Webb county, paid more inheritance taxes last year than the entire state of Texas."

with each man and called out "Good luck" before he entered the chamber. As he entered he waved to the spectators and said "Good night."

Says He Was "Framed"

In a last interview with newspapermen about two hours before the execution, Herrera declared he had been "framed" in his trial. He laughed at first and said he "was feeling pretty good."

He seemed inordinately proud of the fact that his head had not been shaved as is customary, but had merely been clipped.

Had Held Hopes

"I seen 23 men go through that door," Herrera said, "and I was hoping the governor would help me until the last."

He said he had written a song with 83 verses and a book dealing with Bill Smith, executed some time ago. It was Smith and his shouts of "Oh! Jones," that led a third man many months ago to write a sketch of the death house that later was adapted in the Broadway melodrama "The Last Mile."

Make Last Request

"I'd like to make a last request. Please don't put anything in the paper that I didn't say."

A bunch of roses lay on his bunk. He said he wanted them to be sent out with his body.

The two, Nicandro Munoz and Victor Rodriguez, received in almost a transport of joy news that Governor Sterling had allowed them reprieves of 20 days. Herrera, visited by a number of his relatives for the last time, said nothing, so far as prison officials knew. What Munoz and Rodriguez said was in their native language and nobody could understand but the warden's secretary who took the news said, "Folks they almost shook my hand off."

Herrera had seen more of death row, perhaps, than 'anybody who ever occupied it. He had been here two years. He had seen 24 men leave before him, 20 to die and four to serve life sentences.

He was convicted of murdering Sheriff A. T. Murray of Mason county Feb. 28, 1929, and in all the time since had tried every recourse to escape the penalty. His first death sentence was reversed by the court of criminal appeals but the second trial brought the extreme penalty again.

Munoz and Rodriguez, both Mexican aliens, were convicted of participation in the murder of Bert Ellison, a customs inspector at Weslaco on last August 9. Their alleged confederates were Margarito Rodriguez who was slain by officers, and Jose Maria Lopez, who was sentenced to serve life here.

Herrera's visitors includ his wife, his young son, his father and a brother.

Pope And Mussolini Again Nearly On Friendly Terms

Plainview Is Preparing Entertainment For Thousands At Big Free Program; Josh Lee To Be Speaker

(Special to the Avalanche)

PLAINVIEW, June 18 —Plainview is preparing to take care of and entertain one of the largest crowds in history July 4, according to W. J. Klinger, general chairman of the celebration, which is being staged under the auspices of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce.

The affair will be staged at the city park at Plainview, and an old fashioned picnic is planned with free barbecue lunch. Enough barbecue is being prepared to serve 12,000 people.

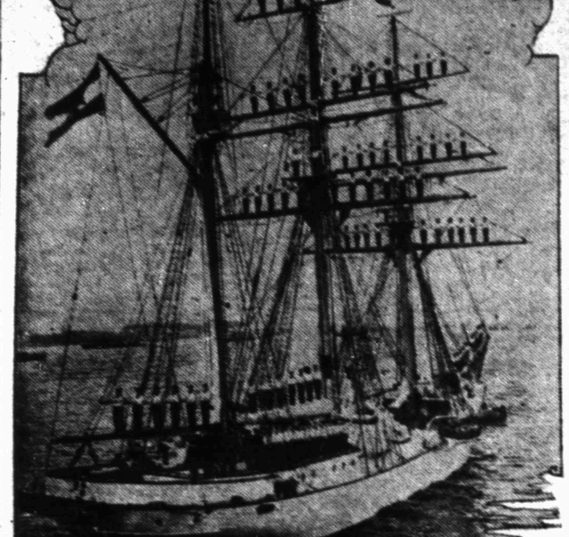

In the morning a parade of decorated floats depicting the progress of this section will march through the main business section of the city. The parade will be approximately one-half mile long.

In the afternoon, one of the main attractions is a speech by Josh Lee, popular humorist of Oklahoma university. This is also free. Lee will speak twice in Plainview, the first appearance being the evening of July 3 and on the afternoon of July 4.

Other features of the program include athletic stunts, fiddlers' contest, wrestling match, fire works display, baseball game, etc. No organized carnival has been contracted, but the concession supervision will be made under the chamber of commerce.

Klinger has named the following committee chairmen: General entertainment, H. S. Hilburn; Josh Lee program, Meade Griffin; parade, Bill Gouldy; barbecue, Roy Pierce; athletic stunts, E. M. Ballengee; fiddlers' contest, Fred Lowe; wrestling match, Kirby Nash; concessions, Clay Barrow; fire works,

Panhandle Oil Is To Get Increase

BORGER, June 18. (AP)—Prospects for the Panhandle oil industry were regarded by oil men today as substantially brighter although they were undecided upon remedial procedure since an increase in the area's production would be necessary to care for the 5,000-barrel daily increase sought by the Phillips Petroleum company.

The Phillips company first posted a notice through its Philtex purchasing agency of re-entering the purchasing market which it deserted last November. Allowable production of the Panhandle field was increased from 40,000 to 45,000 barrels yesterday when the Philtex prices were posted but that figure did not provide for the Phillips request.

H. J. Corooran of Pampa, proration umpire, was authorized by the Panhandle proration advisory committee to determine the needs of the present three major pipeline carriers in the field and to boost the total 5,000 barrels to admit Phillips company.

A $20,000,000 in enlarging erected in the Yangtze Val China.

To smokers who are hard-to-convince

WE LIKE nothing better than to induce hard-to-convince smokers to switch to Camels for just one day.

For we know that after they have made a real test, it will be mighty hard to lure them away from this famous brand.

It's not easy to smoke parched-dry cigarettes once you have known the delights of perfectly conditioned Camels.

After inhaling the cool, soft fragrance of the Camel Blend of choice Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos protected by the Humidor Pack, your throat protests against the bite and sting and harsh hotness that comes from crumbly, dry tobacco.

No matter where you pick them up, in any land, in any climate, Camels are the same fresh, factory-prime cigarettes.

For the Humidor Pack of moisture-proof Cellophane air-seals all the flavor in and keeps out weather, dust and germs.

This is no mere advertising story. It is a recitation of fact that has made the whole country conscious of a new superiority in Camels.

If you are hard to convince, won't you switch to Camels for just one day? Then leave them—if you can.

Tune in CAMEL QUARTER HOUR featuring Morton Downey and Tony Wons Columbia Broadcasting System—every night except Sunday

CAMELS
NO CIGARETTY AFTER-TASTE

Don't remove the moisture-proof Cellophane from your package of Camels after you open it. The Humidor Pack is protection against sweat, dust and germs. It delivers fresh Camels and keeps them right until you smoke the last one
