Harvest In Full Swing; Good Weather Aids

COTTON, GRAIN SORGHUMS YIELDING BUMPER LOADS

BY BOB HAMILTON

Cotton harvest in the Olton area is taking on a complexion comparable to the bumper 1956 crop.

Since the skies cleared last week, fields have been buzzing with activity and the roads leading to gins have been almost clogged with traffic.

A combined total of bales ginned by 10 AM this morning at Olton Co-Op Gin, Smith Gin, Farmers Gin, Straw-Burrow Gin, Circle Gin and Thompson Gin amounted to 7,743.

This figure far and above exceeds the Oct. 10, 1957 total of 369 bales. On Oct. 13, 1955, 382 bales were reported to have been ginned.

Had weather conditions this year been the same as those in 1956, local authorities say the area's total number of bales would be about the same—or even higher—than the 15,000 bales ginned by the second week of '56.

However, weather conditions have been much better than in 1957, up to date. The week of Oct. 3-10, 1957, Olton received 1.10 inches of moisture. A heavy, long-termed spell of drizzling set in after the heavy rains.

Grain Sorghums Yield Good

Elevator operators in Olton estimate the grain sorghum crop is between 40 and 60 percent cut. Yields have been good, they said, and moisture content has been at a minimum during the past 10 days. Grain moisture has been testing between 11 and 13 percent.

Freeze Forecast

Weather bureau forecasters in Amarillo and Lubbock stated today area residents could brace for temperatures about 30 degrees Saturday morning. Very little, if any, chance of a heavy frost is indicated, the forecasters added.

A frost would not hamper cotton in the stage it is now in, local cotton authorities stated this week. They said almost half of the cotton growers in the area are planning to strip the cotton anyway, as indicated by the enormous acreage which has been defoliated. They added, however, that if the cotton was not harvested within about three weeks after a heavy frost, that the grade would drop rapidly.

The Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. office in Lubbock said this week "Overall damage to the potentially good quality crop has been light and officials figure farmers can still harvest one of their best crops in years if no additional rain is received. Moisture damage thus far has probably increased the amount of spotted cotton but otherwise officials see little damage."

Local ginners said yesterday morning the grade of cotton so far here has been far above average. All of the gins reported cotton grade has been approximately 75 to 90 percent white. The Lubbock office said the average in Lubbock and Lamesa areas, out of 96,000 bales, has been 86.8 percent classed white and only 13.2 light spotted.

The 23-county production total, estimated at 1,818,000 bales on Sept. 1 fell a few thousand bales the past month down to 1,870,000 bales as of Oct. 1, according to figures released by the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., and the Lubbock Cotton Exchange.

Elmer Cowart, about 76, fell dead on Main Street at approximately 5:55 PM today.

Justice of the Peace F. L. Burrow had not made an official statement as to the cause of death at presstime.

However, Dr. Lynn Fite, who made a preliminary examination of the body said Mr. Cowart apparently died of a coronary disorder. He said there was no sign of a heart beat when he arrived on the scene, immediately after Mr. Cowart had fallen.

Mr. Cowart has two cousins living in Olton, Henry and Loyd. He was a janitor in Olton schools nine years, but recently has been retired.

His body was taken to Community Hospital from where it had fallen, next to Kelley's Men's Store, by a Parsons ambulance. The body is now in Parsons Funeral Home.

David Maxey, left, and Robert Dennis, members of the Olton Volunteer Fire Department are shown helping put out a fire this morning on the Gallaway farm. The building was formerly housing nine Braceros. No one was injured in the blaze, but Wilbur and Cecil Gallaway lost some 300 two-week-old chicks and several hogs that were housed next to the building. A 20 to 35 mile-an-hour wind blowing out of the northeast saved a larger structure on the north side of the building. It contained approximately 2,500 caged layer chickens. The fire occurred about 10:30 AM. (STAFF PHOTO)

New Furniture Store Opening

Olton has a new furniture store. Formal opening for the Parsons Furniture will be held Saturday, October 11. The store is located in the building formerly occupied by Olton Drug.

Percy Parsons is owner of the store and his brother, Conner, is associated with the firm.

Registration will begin Saturday and will continue during the week for a mattress and box springs to be given away free Saturday, October 18. The mattress and box springs both cost $59.50 each.

Parsons Furniture will feature such name brands as Colony Arts Hardrock Maple; Vermont Solid Hardrock Maple; Maxwell Royal Hardrock Maple; Broy Hill, Bassett; Futorian; Ken-Line; Oliver and Meyers; Vinyl Forecast linoleum by Gold Seal; Goodyear Rubber; and Hardwick ranges.

Also to be stocked are wool carpet, viscose carpet, and vinyl tile.

OCCA Committee Nearing Naming Of New Manager

Olton Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture will soon have a new manager to replace resigned Joe Wood.

According to Ralph Glover, chairman of the screening committee for new applicants, the nine applications were studied yesterday morning, eliminating all but the top three.

Major James, Tom Carlisle and Bill Kelley are the members of the screening committee with Glover.

All have voiced opinions that the applications received were from very capable and impressive men. None, however, have served as Chamber managers before. No Olton residents have submitted applications, all are from out of town.

Wood resigned Sept. 27, to enter private business as an insurance salesman.

Bands To March With Muleshoe

The Olton Cadet band and the high school Mustang band will give a halftime performance with the Muleshoe Cadet and Muleshoe High School bands October 17, at Muleshoe.

This announcement came this week from Fred Stockdale, band director. Stockdale said that the 17th will be Muleshoe's homecoming and the bands will march together to present an unusual halftime performance.

Mrs. Walthall's Father Succumbs

Mrs. Albert Walthall's father, W. W. Peters, 83 years old, died Friday at 9:45 AM in Kerens. He had been in ill health for several years.

Mr. Peters was born at Rural Shade and had lived in Kerens all of his life. He was a retired groceryman.

Funeral services were held Saturday at 3 PM, at the Kerens First Baptist Church. Burial was in the Oak Grove Cemetery.

He is survived by two sons;

Relative Of Olton People Is Stabbed

The son-in-law of Emmett Burrows, Olton night watchman, is in West Texas Hospital in Lubbock after being stabbed twice in the back Sunday evening.

Patrolman James Rowland, 28, was stabbed when he and his partner were attempting to break up a gang fight at a Latin dance at 603 Broadway in Lubbock. One lung was reportedly punctured and collapsed.

Burrows says the entire rookie police staff of Lubbock is taking shift in caring for his son-in-law in the hospital. "There isn't a thing James or Patsy could want that those boys wouldn't turn heaven and earth to get," commented Rowland has been on the force for less than a year.

Two Lubbock Latin youths were arrested Tuesday in connection with the stabbing. Ralph Cantu, 18, and Henry Rocha, 17, both reportedly have signed statements, as well as two witnesses, in the case. Cantu, according to Dist. Atty. George Gilkerson, is accused of wielding the knife.

L. H. McAdams, Richard Redinger, Jerolyn Timmins Win "Fire Prevention Week" Contests

L. H. McAdams wrote the best theme on "Fire Prevention" in observance of Fire Prevention Week in Olton Schools this week. He was awarded $5 for being first place winner in the high school essay division.

Running second and third, respectively, were Frances Presley and James Maltby.

In the upper class poster division on the fire prevention theme, the winners were Richard Redinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Redinger, a fifth grader, first prize; Dennis Mandrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mandrell, also a fifth grader, second place; and Francis Dodson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Foy Dodson, another fifth grader, third place.

Fourth grade daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Timmins of Hart Camp, Jerolyn Timmins won first place in the lower class poster division. Her runners-up are Alicia Cooper, second, fourth grader, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cooper, and Roger Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson, fourth grader, third.

The judging of essays and posters was done Tuesday night by "All the entries were excellent!" exclaimed Fire Chief Tom Smith. "They were above average."

Prizes for the top three judged in each division will be awarded in respective amounts of $5, $3., and $2.

In commenting on Fire Prevention Week, Fire Chief Smith asked the question, "How many fire hazards are there in each individual's home?"

"Not many people can answer that question fully," he said. "But most people are living with one or more of the conditions that cause fires—they cause more than half-million home fires every year in the United States, according to National Fire Protection Association records."

Surest way to get rid of these dangerous conditions, says the Chief, is a fire department inspection of the peoples' homes. A fireman knows where fires start and what breeds them, he pointed out.

School Bus Struck By Automobile Tuesday

An Olton School bus was struck by an automobile on the highway Tuesday morning.

The empty bus was being operated by W. A. Reeves, who was leaving to make his route picking up students for the day.

Reeves reportedly was pulling onto Highway 70 when the motor stalled, and the bus was struck in the side by a car being driven by a Clovis, NM, woman. Neither driver was injured. Damages were slight. Approximately $75 in damages occurred to the car and $25 to the bus.

In Olton there will be an accelerated program of inspections of

Olton Bands In Competition At ENMU Saturday

Olton's Cadet band and Mustang band will enter competition at Eastern New Mexico University Homecoming parade Saturday at Portales, NM.

Band Director Fred Stockdale said some 55 high school band members will travel to Portales, along with 80 Cadet band members.

The Cadet Band, which won first place in the South Plains Fair Parade two weeks ago, will be in stiff competition this Saturday. They will be marching against the two Clovis Junior Highs, Lovington, NM, Junior High, and Portales, NM, Junior High.

In the high school band division, the Mustang band will compete with Friona, Jal, NM, Tatum, NM, and Texico, NM.

Three trophies will be presented in each class and Mr. Gilligan, director of Kermit, will be the judge.

Stockdale said the bands would be fed free barbecue at the noon hour and then will play at 2 PM, at the ENMU football stadium in unison with the other visiting bands. They will play "Our Director". They will view the football game between ENMU and Omaha University at 2:30.

During the morning, the Olton bands' twirlers will enter a twirling contest. According to Stockdale, the parade will begin at 11 AM, New Mexico time.

Midland Chamber Manager To Talk At OCCA Banquet

Delbert Downing, Midland Chamber of Commerce manager, will be guest speaker at the annual Olton Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture banquet.

The banquet date has been set for Jan. 16, according to Chamber secretary Russell Grimes. It will be held in the school cafeteria.

TWO OLTON YOUTHS ARRESTED IN CONNECTION WITH THEFTS

Two Olton youths were arrested Tuesday afternoon in connection with three cases of theft on farms near the city.

Arrested and in Lamb County jail yesterday were two teen-age boys, 18 and 16 years old. Both are from Olton.

The pair are charged with stealing several items from farms Saturday and Monday evenings. Both have admitted taking part in the thefts. They were taken into custody Tuesday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff V. L. Smith and Hale County Deputy Cletus Dyer of Plainview.

The youths are charged with stealing two tires and wheels from a stock trailer Saturday night belonging to Bill Dickenson, Jr., on the Bill Langford farm, one mile south of town.

On the same night they are reported to have stolen a case of oil, a Chevrolet radio and 15 gallons of gasoline from a combine on the George Nichols farm east of Olton in Hale County. The articles belonged to Albert Pillow.

They are also charged with stealing a box of tools, but neither admits seeing or taking the box.

Because these items were taken from the farm inside Hale County, charges have been filed in Hale County of misdemeanor against them.

Misdemeanor charges on two accounts have been filed in Lamb County for the tire and wheel theft, and for the Monday night taking of a small electric motor belonging to L. W. Howard, who lives south of Circle community.

Deputies Smith and Dyer arrested the boys near the Olton High football field Tuesday afternoon. All of the items were in the car. The two tires and wheels were already mounted.

Olton Chief of Police Vernie Head was tipped by an unknown source that the boys had taken the articles. He informed the two deputies, who later made the arrests.

During the morning, the Olton bands' twirlers will enter a twirling contest. According to Stockdale, the parade will begin at 11 AM, New Mexico time.

MUSTANGS DROPPED IN HOMECOMING GO

Olton High's homecoming football game was lost, but there was never a let down of excitement for some 2,100 fans who attended the Friday night game.

The class AAA Whitefaces of Hereford nipped the Mustangs, 8-6.

Both teams threatened during the first half, advancing inside each other's five-yard line. But goal-line stands held, and standing excited fans voiced their approval of the teams' efforts with the noisiest racket Olton has heard since the tornado.

The loss was number three for Olton, against two victories, for the season. Hereford had been defeated in three previous outings before making the 40-some-odd-mile trip south. Hereford tied Olton last year, 0-0.

Spunky, 125-pound halfback John Wayne Hair scored for Olton in a comeback situation late in the fourth quarter. The junior star skirted his right end on a two-yard jaunt, was hit on the one-yard line, dribbled the ball into the end zone, but recovered it inches before it went out of bounds. And Olton had its score.

John Wayne was sent out on the same play for the points-after-touchdown, but this time the would-be tackler accomplished what he meant to do the play before. And Olton lacked two points of tying Hereford, 6-8. It was senior halfback Durwood Jacobs who did the honors for the herd. Jacobs, with 4:20 minutes remaining to play in the third frame, went six yards around his right end to tread on the land of stripes.

Then quarterback Billy Dirks called on Jacobs again, and the latter plunged the required three yards over right guard for the all-important two points.

Fail In First
Olton looked a sure bet to score in the fading minutes of the first quarter, but was unable to muster enough to capture what yardage separated them from the goal line.

Taking the ball on their own 20, the Mustangs marched four-yard line, then were aided by an off-sides penalty against the Whitefaces, and the ball was placed on the one-yard line.

On the next play a Mustang fumbled, losing two yards. Then J. Hair made two around his right end, but not enough, and the ball went over on downs.

From that point, the Whitefaces copied Olton's Mustangs and marched all the way down to the Olton one-foot line before being halted. The Whitefaces had a first-and-goal on the Olton eight, but were held by a determined Mustang defense.

Olton's scoring drive commenced from the Mustang 45-yard line. Thirteen plays were required to eat up the distance. Sophomore halfback Randee Buchenau set up the scoring play with a 17-yard run to the four-yard line.

The Whitefaces used up the remaining 3:43 minutes of the game after Olton scored with seven plays, and the Mustangs never had another chance to score again.

Hereford led in every statistic department except in first downs. Olton gathered 16 first downs to Hereford's 13.

IMPRESSIVE DOUBLE-RING CHURCH CEREMONY UNITES MARY FRANCES MOUNT AND WILLIAM RICHARD SMITH

MRS. WILLIAM RICHARD SMITH

DALLAS—Chiff Temple Baptist Church in Bassett Chapel was the setting Saturday night, Oct. 4, for the marriage of Miss Mary Frances Mount and William Richard Smith.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. William O. Mount, 2646 Burlington, Dallas, and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Smith of Olton.

A double-ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Dr. Wallace Bassett and Maurice Clopton and Gus Berry presented the musical program.

Wears Traditional White The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a princess style gown of white silk taffeta. The moulded bodice was fashioned with a wide decollete neckline, outlined by alencon lace, encrusted with seed pearls and iridescent paillettes, and three-quarter length gloves. The princess paneled bell-shaped skirt, enhanced in the back by pleat-fullness and tiny tailored bows, was waltz-length.

Her veil of white French silk illusion extended in tiers to shoulder-length from a narrow pearl crown. She carried a cascade bouquet of white gladioli, white orchids, and stephanotis.

Neice Attends

Attendant to the bride was her neice, Miss Alice Mount, maid-of-honor. She was attired in a frock of pink chiffon and carried a cascade bouquet of pink carnations. Miss Virginia Williams lighted the candles.

N. Odell Smith of Peoria, Illinois, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

At a reception, following the ceremony in Mead Hall, members of the house party were Mrs. J.

Morris Phillips, Mrs. L. W. Bray, Montgomery, Ala., Mrs. Stanley Raskin, Fort Worth, Miss Leanne Le Ray, Houston, and Miss Doris James.

After a wedding trip to Colorado and Nevada, Mr. and Mrs. Smith will sail from New Orleans, La., November 15, to make their home in Caracas, Venezuela.

Mrs. Smith graduated from the University of Texas and the bridegroom received degrees from Texas A&M College and the University of Texas.

Mrs. Coffman Will Be Bridal Shower Honoree

Mrs. Richard Coffman will be honored with a post-nuptial courtesy in the home of Mrs. Alva Kersh, four miles west of Olton on Highway 70, Thursday, October 16.

Mrs. Coffman is the former Miss Carolyn Davis of Hart. Party time is 3 P.M.

GASH Group Meets In Legion Hall Thursday

Wives of the Olton Volunteer Firemen sponsored the Thursday meeting of the Golden Age Social Hour at the Legion Hut. The meeting which was originally scheduled for Sept. 25 was called off due to bad weather.

Mrs. Jack Edwards sang "Closer Walk With Thee" and Mrs. Joe Chester read "Maggie and Jiggs" sent in by J. W. Dennis. Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Tom Smith played a duet, "Witches Flight", on the piano.

The group sang "Happy Birthday" to Mrs. L. S. Kennedy.

Doughnuts were provided for the group by Mesdames James Hall, Tommy Burrows, and Joe Chester.

Present were C. T. Mason, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Kennedy, Mrs. L. M. Holland, Mrs. T. Combest, Mrs. Maude Cure of Riverside, Calif., Mrs. Hattie Lewis, Mrs. Dora Walthall, Mrs. C. M. Owens, Mrs. Jack Edwards, Mrs. Joe Chester and Jeana and Mrs. Tom Smith.

Next meeting will be Oct. 23, with the Esther Class of the First Baptist Church sponsoring the group.

Mrs. Lloyd Cowart Is Party Honoree

Mrs. Lloyd Cowart was honored with a birthday party by her Sunday School Class, the Esther Class, of the First Baptist Church last week.

The home of Mrs. George Bohner, the class teacher, was scene for the party.

The outgoing members were recognized and the new members welcomed.

Mrs. Bob Worley and Mrs. Rufus DeBerry sang "All on the Altar", accompanied by Mrs. Bill Smith. Mrs. Tom Smith directed games during the evening.

Pineapple salad, nuts, candy, and coffee were served by Mesdames DeBerry, Witt Laceywell, Ray Montgomery, Worley, C. C. Black, Paul Feathermill, Bill Smith, Doyle Pinson, Roy Copeland, R. A. Burgess, R. L. Hines, A. B. Adams, Tom Smith and George Bohner.

WSCS CIRCLES MEET FOR STUDY, "CUBA, HAWAII"

The Martha and Elsie Reynolds circles met Wednesday at the First Methodist Church to continue their study on "Continents."

Mrs. Thurston Tollett was leader for the program on "Cuba and Hawaii".

Present were Mesdames Owen Norfleet, Dick Cade, Bill Collins, J. B. Williams, Gene Wilson, Delmer Givens, L. R. Bryant, Russell McAnally, W. T. Whitaker, Truitt Sides, Jack Straw, J. C. Brown, and Tollett.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service meets each Wednesday morning.

OLTON GARDEN CLUB WINS HONORS IN LITTLEFIELD FLOWER SHOW SATURDAY

For the second year in a row, the Olton Garden Club won more blue ribbons than any other club in the Littlefield Flower Show and brought home the trophy.

Mrs. A. D. Melton and Mrs. George Bohner, club members, pointed out that if a club can win the trophy for three years straight, they may keep it. Olton Garden Club has won it two years now.

Sweepstakes were won in two divisions by the local club. They were Horticultural entries and Artistic arrangements. Mrs. Walter Schreier and Mrs. Bohner took the honors in the horticultural entries with a rose and dahlia, respectively. Mrs. Bohner won the Artistic Arrangements sweepstakes with an arrangement entitled, "Rails of Iron", depicting the railroad when it came to Littlefield and arranged in a black container.

"Everyone that entered from our Olton club took home several blue ribbons," Mrs. Bohner boasted. Those who entered the show and won blue ribbons were Mesdames C. M. Owen, H. G. Walker, Jack Alcorn, Doyle Pinson, A. D. Melton, Schreier and Bohner.

Theme for the flower show was "Golden Anniversaries".

Bride-Elect

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Hendrick, Jr., of Dimmitt, formerly of Hart Camp, are announcing the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Judy Ann, to Jackie Claude Condren of Chillicothe. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Condren of Chillicothe. The wedding will take place in the Hart Camp Baptist Church on October 18 at 8 P.M.

Mustang-Bobcats In Clash Friday

The Mustangs of Olton High will be fighting tremendous odds tomorrow evening, when they travel to Dimmitt for the annual clash with the hard and powerful Bobcats.

The once-beaten Dimmitt eleven have been scored on only once—and that was when they were beaten by Abernathy, 12-6. Dimmitt has blanked Springlake 42-0, Hereford 6-0, Lockney 26-0 and Muleshoe 18-0.

In all, the Bobcats have racked up 98 points against their opponents' 12.

Dimmitt's defeat of Muleshoe is magnified, when it is considered that the Muleshoe crew tied Clovis, a town slightly larger than Plainview, 6-6.

And, again, the Bobcats power is shown in their defeat of Hereford. The Whitefaces only last week spoiled Olton High's homecoming celebration by handing the Mustangs an 8-6 defeat.

Bolstering the Bobcat lineup is the return of eight lettermen, coming back from the 1957 edition which chalked up a very impressive 9-1-1 season record.

Heading the Dimmitt line will be returning regular Boyce Tate, a guard, Norman Nelson, a half-back, is the only experienced back in the entire squad, however.

Dimmitt lost its starting fullback early in the season. James Collins received a serious back injury in the game against Hereford.

The Bobcats were not given a chance to run in the District 1-AA title race this year, in pre-season publicity. However, since the season opener, Dimmitt has steadily climbed in the opinions of "experts".

Dimmitt has a big team, even if the Bobcats are considered inexperienced. A look at the roster discloses:

Ends—Hal Radcliffe, 179, junior letterman; Junior Coffey, 170, sophomore, B-team; Houston Frye, 152, senior, B-team.

Tackles—Don Warren, 168, senior, B-team; Jack Ragland, 183, junior, letterman.

Halfbacks—Jimmy Curtis, 147, senior, letterman; Gordon Thannisch, 143, senior, B-team; Norman Nelson, 153, senior, letterman; Ted Collins, 163, junior, B-team.

Fullback—Jerry Hyatt, 156, junior, letterman.

Most Versatil
Probably the most versatile player on the team is 175-pound Holcomb. He has played every position on the line, and can switch to any slot when the power is needed.

Coach J. D. Covington was the first to point out that Dimmitt has a good defensive line, and just as quickly adds that lack of depth and inexperience are the main problems the team possesses.

Dimmitt last year rolled past all District 1-AA competition, only to lose out to Lockney on penetrations in the bi-district clash after tying, 13-13.

The game will be the last non-conference tiff for both squads. Olton, the following week, will open conference play against Muleshoe. Dimmitt, on the other

Finney Is Winner Of Third Weekly Contest

W. G. Finney, Rt. 1, Olton, was winner of last week's Enterprise football contest.

As has happened every week of the contest, the winner had to be selected via the "tie breaker" method. Three were tied this week with 6 right and two wrong selections.

And, as luck would have it (and pity the poor judge who had to get out the slide rule to compute the scoring), all three of the top men picked the winners of the "tie breakers" games. In such cases, the point-spread system is brought in to settle the dispute.

Pushed out of first place by Finney this week were Bill Phillips and Bill Shelby. Phillips was second and Shelby third.

This is the third week Shelby has finished in the money. "He was third the first week, second in the following, and now third again.

Phillips, who sent in his entry all the way from Tulia, entered for the first time. Needless to say—he picked the proper week.

Shelby Leads Totals
Shelby, Longhorn football coach, is leading the pack for total number of correct guesses this season. He leads second-place G. T. Sides by a scant three wins. Shelby has chalked up 41 correct guesses against 12 incorrect ones, and Sides has a 39-14 season record.

Some of the other contestants who follow the leaders closely are Howard Hall and Wayne Hair, each with 37 wins and 16 losses, and Alton Goodin and Flake Price, with 37-18 each.

Question Cleared
A few contestants have asked for clarification on a question they had concerning the contest. They asked, "Are those who win each week the only ones who are eligible to win the Grand Prize?"

The answer is definitely no. The contestant who, at the end of the contest, has the highest number of correct guesses, and lowest number of incorrect guesses, wins. In case of a tie, a coin will be flipped to decide the winner.

All records are kept from week to week on each contestant and his selections. Also, all entries will be kept on file until the contest is over.

For a look at one of the rooms the Grand Prize winner will be seeing in the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Dallas, where reservations are already made, look elsewhere in this edition, for a picture.

Shamrock Bid On Gas Accepted By School Board

Olton Independent School board of trustees Tuesday night accepted the low bid submitted by Shamrock dealer Earl Traylor to supply the schools with gasoline this school year.

Three bids were submitted on gasoline and heavy-duty motor oil. The board decided not to change the brand of oil presently being used in the buses, Phillips, and G. H. Bley will be distributor for the schools for oil.

Shamrock bid for gasoline was 20.4 cents per gallon.

Other Business
In other business, the board heard reports from superintendent of schools Joe Harper concerning student daily attendance, bus expenses, football gate receipts, school tax analysis, lunch room attendance, school health report, building contractors proposing to submit bids and a progress report of the Hale-Aiken study on a state level.

Bids for school construction will be opened at 2 PM Wednesday. Eleven contractors have asked for proposed plans, but the figure does not indicate the actual number of bids which will be submitted.

FHA Baby-Sitting Service Continues
The FHA girls will continue baby-sitting at the Home Ec. cottage for parents who want to attend home football games this season. Their charge for the evening is 50 cents per child.

Parents may bring their youngsters at 7:30 PM, or later and MUST pick them up by 30 minutes after the ball game is over. There will be adult supervisors with the girls during the baby-sitting.

Mrs. H. B. Maxey, Jr., one of the Home Ec. teachers, announced that there will be toys and play pens and, if needed, baby beds.

In your stomach, goose-pimples, tight numbness, and that dizzy feeling all combine to make you the "happiest" person in the world.

Then comes the thrill of proclaiming your love to the world (parents not included) by becoming engaged. There's nothing in the world to take the place of "love".

After all, that's what makes the world!

MUSTANG TALE

BY GAYLE McANALLY

Woozie!!! If all six weeks tests in OHS are to be like the ones that were dealt the student body this week, something has gotta be done! Don't have an idea what, though. Suggestions will be printed in this column.

OHS was glad to have all of the exes with us this past weekend. Several of them didn't make it to the ballgame, but did get to be home over the weekend.

Sandra Cox has the statement of the week: I'm just going around in circles! "Nough said?"

Noticed Tommie Wilson, Robert Priest, Gary DeBerry, Phil Neinst, Jerry Mathis, Lonnie Miller, Johnny Beth Crawford, Bobbie Campbell and Janice Campbell together Saturday night. Not that they were all together at once, but they managed to get most of them in the car at one time or the other.

Linda Gail Thompson is no wall-flower! She had dates with Rande Buchanan, Jeral James, and Carl Nafzger (yup, all of them) sometime during this weekend. All this dating keeps one rather busy, doesn't it, Linda?

Dan Wallace has been home for about two weeks now, and somehow or the other, I've managed to neglect him. Well, now I'm getting back on the ball. Anyway, Dan will be leaving around the 15th to return to California and the service. He dated from Plainview Friday night.

Many, many congratulations to Ellen Jones, senior, who was revealed as Mustang Football Queen Friday night!

Ellen's attendants were Charla Granberry, senior; Judy Ogletree, senior; Janet Oak, junior; and Jean Williams, junior.

Here is one of my favorite pieces of poetry. Just in case you find it rather difficult to understand, don't worry! You have to be somewhat of a nut to get the drift of the thing. ("Nough said?")

Me wish him were die
He tell I he love I
But darn him! he lie
But darn him! he lie
Alas, alas, it cannot was

Also, you might enjoy this one. It is rather different from the above poem, and so might be easier to understand for those of you who are not quite so intelligent as us nuts!

He flew through the air
With the greatest of ease
The funny part is—
He forgot the trapeze!

CHORUS FEATURES FUTURE

Future Mustang stars and their cheer leaders were featured on the Olton High Chorus float in the homecoming parade Friday afternoon. The float was in the school organization category. (STAFF PHOTO)

Favorites Named For School Year

OHS class favorites were elected this past week. The students were named in class elections Monday.

Arno Hall and Ellen Jones were chosen Senior Class favorites. Arno is a co-captain of the football team, vice-president of the FFA, and was Junior Class candidate for Annual King.

Ellen was named Football Queen this past week. She is head cheerleader, treasurer of the Student Council, and Stock Show Superintendent. Ellen is associate editor of the school newspaper.

Named Junior Class favorites were Johnny Crawford and Roy Neal Jones. Johnny Beth is a member of the FHA, the pep squad, and the National Honor Society. Roy Neal is active in the FFA.

Sophomore Class favorites chosen were Becky Hall and Lewis Earl Calame. Becky is a twirler with the Mustang Band, treasurer of her class, and assistant copy editor with the yearbook staff.

Lewis Earl is member of the Mustang football team and is sports editor of The Student Chronicle.

Marilyn Jones and Jimmy Lawson are Freshmen Class favorites. The couple are also the class' candidates for Annual King and Queen.

Olton P-T.A. Takes In $357 At Ham Supper

Olton Parent-Teacher Association took in $357.76 at the Ham Supper Friday, prior to the Olton-Hereford Football game.

However, Mrs. David Grimsley, reporter for the organization announced that they will have a lot to come out of that—for instance, the ham alone cost more than $100. She declined to say what the P-TAers would clear after expenses were paid.

Proceeds will go to help in the constructing of the community tennis courts.

Boy Is Born To Bob Hamiltons

An eight-pound boy was born Saturday afternoon to Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hamilton in Deaf Smith County Hospital, Hereford.

The baby, born at 3:45 PM, was named Kevin Robert. He is the Hamilton's second child. They have a daughter, Kellie, 20-months.

Mother, son and daughter were returned home Wednesday afternoon. Kellie stayed with relatives in Hereford during Mrs. Hamilton's stay in the hospital.

Hamilton is news editor of The Enterprise.

THE GRAND PRIZE GOAL

Here is where the Grand Prize winner of The Enterprise football contest will stay two nights when he or she attends the Cotton Bowl game Jan. 1. The distinctive new 1,001-room Statler Hilton is located in the heart of Dallas' shopping and theatre district. Most of the guest rooms have studio-type beds and specially designed furniture and furnishings to give the atmosphere of a living room in the daytime. All guest rooms are air-conditioned with individual room controls. All rooms have Servidor service—laundry and garments for cleaning and pressing may be placed in the room door and picked up from the hall without disturbing guests. Each room has a combination television and radio set. Enter the contest today, and be a two-day guest at the beautiful Dallas hotel.

Ruby Lee pours herself a cup of coffee in her kitchen. "I love my kitchen in the center of things," she told us. "One thing I really like about it, is that it is at the front of the house and I can see the front yard as I work." In the above picture, you see part of one side of Ruby Lee's cabinets of knotty pine. In the background is the hutch. (STAFF PHOTO)

"WHAT A WONDERFUL PLACE TO LIVE!"

By Sue May

Living qualities of a home really stand up to be counted when shorter days and turning leaves announce the return of fall.

Families used to move indoors for what amounted to hibernation. Nowadays, in such an accommodating house as this, it's a pleasure to look forward to company for football weekends, children and friends in from school, the family together for Thanksgiving, and all the happy holiday parties upcoming.

What makes the difference? A floor plan that helps this handsome house fulfill the objective of a home: a wonderful place to live all year round.

We're speaking about the home of Ruby Lee and Basil Sherman, located at 604 Ave. D.

Here's how the plan makes the house come alive . . .

LIVING: Flexibility is its strongest feature. You can treat the living and family rooms as one spacious unit; you can use the rooms as they are or "swap" the two to enjoy a more secluded living room and more active family functions—whichever would suit your family better.

WORKING: The kitchen's at the front of the house, with easy access to all other working areas; adjacent utility room has an outside door to the double garage; and kitchen connects to the living room and family room and the entrance hall which leads to the bedroom wing.

SLEEPING: Three bedrooms have that hard-to-achieve combination of adequate storage and lots of window space. Away from active areas, bedrooms are quiet for sleeping at night. Two baths are cheerful and give variety for taking a bath or taking a shower.

The first door at the front of the house from the entrance hall leads to the kitchen—all sunny and bright in the mornings with the morning sun glittering in. The walls are tex-stoned aqua;

the lovely cabinets and hutch are knotty pine natural wood with copper knobs; the cabinet top is turquoise vinyl plastic; the vinyl linoleum is tan, cream and brown. Ruby Lee's copper dishwasher is one of her favorite built-ins.

The cabinets on the east wall make a small snack bar for serving coffee and snacks into the dining nook. A large picture window, draped in curtains of autumn leaves in tan, aqua, and pale aqua, add zest at the round dining table.

The hutch is in the dining nook provides an excellent place for Ruby Lee to display her aqua and white china.

From the dining nook, you can go into the spacious, livable den or family room. The room is enormous, large enough for several tables of bridge, a teenage session, or a place to build model airplanes.

The spacious room is where Basil, Ruby Lee, and their son, Rusty, live. A center of attraction in the room is a round dining table, legs cut down, and the top covered and padded with plastic—that is used for a coffee table. Big comfortable chairs and sofa, a TV set, and dining table and chairs ("We like to watch TV while we eat.") The walls in the den are pre-natural paneling. A door from the den goes into the backyard and the patio.

Connected to the den by a big entrance doorway is the living room which gives a sense of division between the areas, but both can work as one when you're entertaining a crowd. Here, in the living room, Ruby Lee has used modern decor with an enchanting appeal.

The huge brown curved sectional, aqua and pink chair, pink modern chair, against a background of mist pink walls and mahogany furniture and modernistic lamps, make a comfortable and pretty room. A picture window that covers the west wall in the living room, looks into the backyard. The home is carpeted with a nutra carpet in the Sequence pattern.

The bedroom wing is away from the everyday traffic and entertaining rooms, down a wide hall. Here is the beauty of the house plan—you enter the front door into an entrance hall that is laid quirey tile, and you can enter the kitchen, living room or go to the bedroom wing, all without entering any other part of the house.

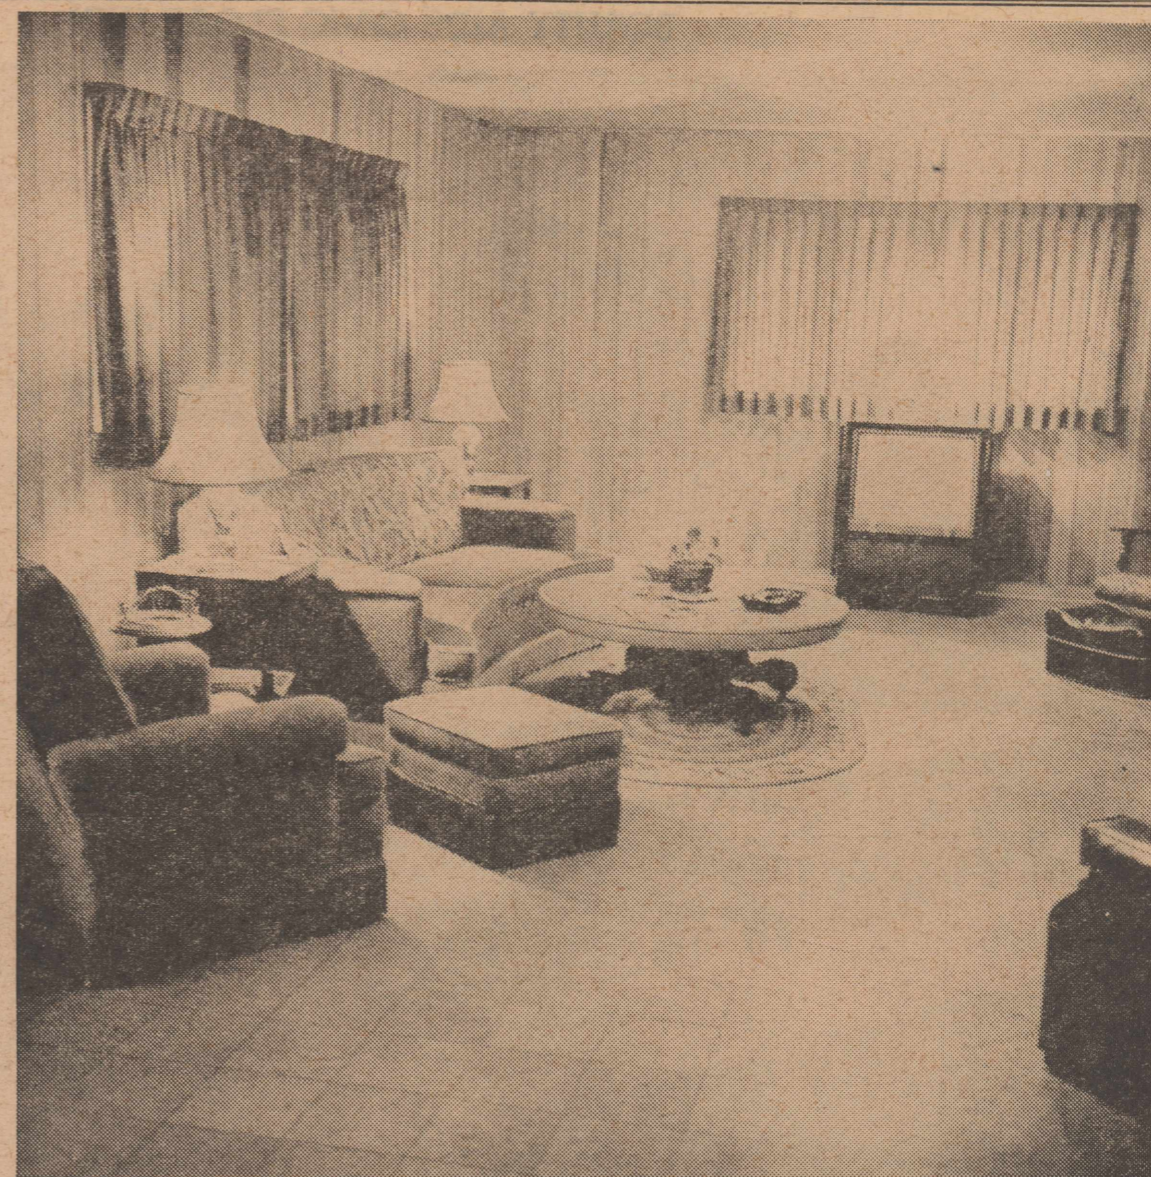

Rusty's room (Rusty is the son of Ruby Lee and Basil) is a boy-looking, lived-in-looking room. His walls are pebble and his furniture is solid oak. His twin beds are covered with green spreads and his windows are curtained with drapes of tan background and wild horses running across them. Model airplanes hang from the ceiling and a built-in shelf over his dresser holds more planes and cars. Hanging on his wall are two giant-size pictures of Rusty and Hop-along Cassidy.

One of the most restful and prettiest bathrooms, is the hall bath—all in pink and white. The floor and half of the wall are covered with pink ceramic tile. A large mirror runs across the double dressing table. Fixtures are white and a pink chair at the dressing table adds another touch. The would-be open end of the tub is glassed in with the glass used at the bathroom window—the kind you can't see through. In here, you also see storage for linens and a dirty clothes hamper. Figured wallpaper goes from half-way up wall to ceiling—in black, white, pink and aqua.

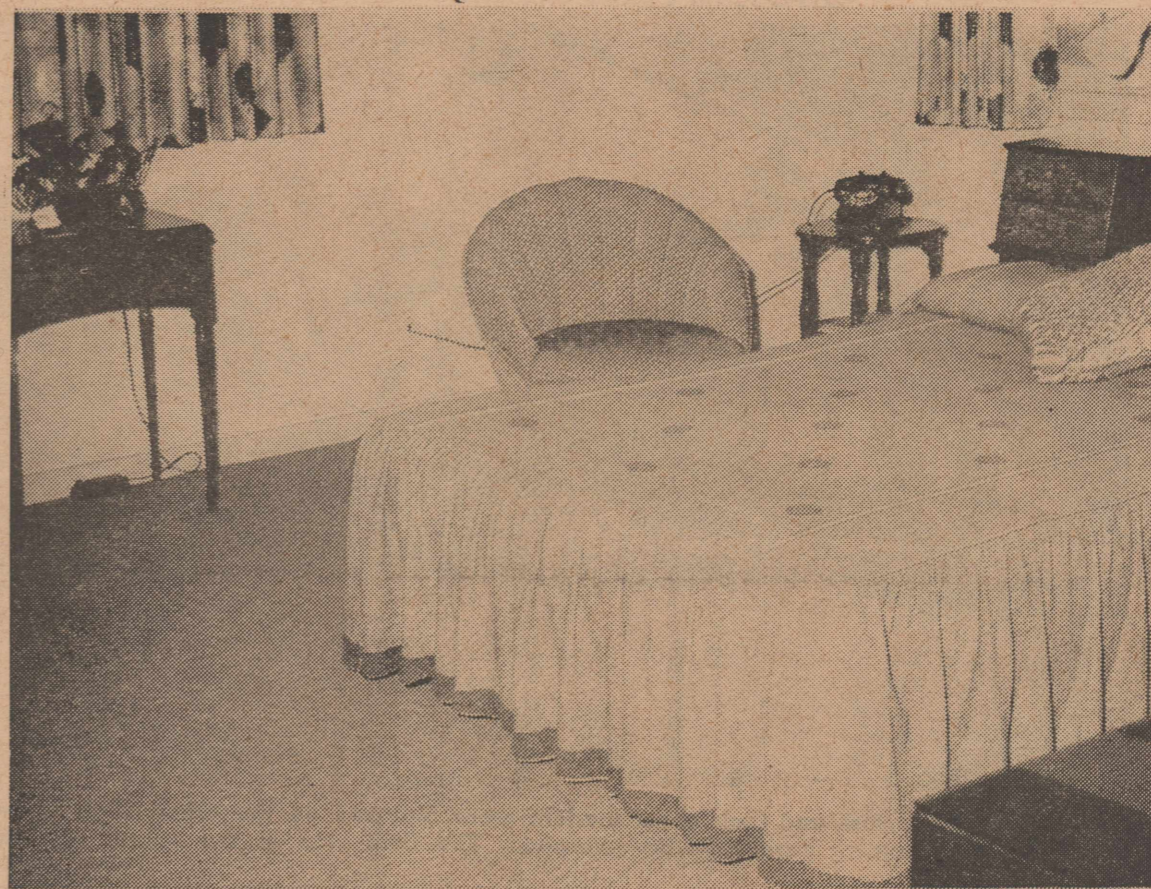

The guest bedroom (it was originally Kay Sherman's room until she married Edward Feathermill, May 30) strays away from the pink and aqua color scheme of the house. The walls are green; the curtains, white background with aqua and green flowers; a ruffle around the bed matching the curtains, topped by a mint green coverlet; and the furniture is blonde. Rusty also has his set of drums in the guest bedroom—"just as far away from the kitchen as I could get them", Ruby Lee exclaimed.)

Ruby Lee and Basil's room is spacious and lovely with its taupe walls and ceiling, solid hickory furniture, and curtains of aqua, pink, brown, gold and black figured drapes. Other than the bedroom suite, there's room for a cedar chest, aqua chair, sewing machine, and sun lamp.

Basil and Ruby Lee's joining bath is green—green walls, light green ceramic tile with darker green trim. Here is the shower in the house with a glass door. A long dressing table complements this

This is a scene from the roomy family room. You see the cork floor and pre-natural wood paneling on the walls. The coffee table was remade from an old round-topped dining table—the legs cut down and the top padded and covered with tan plastic. It makes an easy-to-care-for table that cold drinks and food won't ruin. (STAFF PHOTO)

Here you see only a corner of Ruby Lee's and Basil's bedroom. The solid hickory furniture, taupe walls, and nutra carpet make for comfort in the out-of-the-way room—excellently arranged away from the busy areas of the house. (STAFF PHOTO)

The backyard is fenced with a Stockade fence and homes a lovely green yard with a patio where family and friends relax in privacy during the summer months.

Yes, the Sherman home fulfills the objective of a home: a wonderful place to live all year round.

OPTOMETRY: The Art and Science of Visual Care

The odds ARE against her

Through 12 years of public schooling, your child must read and understand an average of 432 books. With such great demands on her reading vision, the odds are against her completing these years without developing a visual problem.

She begins life very farsighted, seeing only form and motion. By the time she starts to school, it is assumed her focusing and eye coordination are developed and equal to the task. If they aren't, then seeing problems can develop.

Professional optometry can determine if she is "visually ready" to start to school. EYESIGHT IS NO GAMBLING MATTER.

THIS MESSAGE PRESENTED IN THE INTEREST OF BETTER VISION BY

SOUTH PLAINS OPTOMETRIC SOCIETY

AFFILIATED WITH THE TEXAS OPTOMETRIC ASSOCIATION

play of a hole to ascertain from his opponent the number of strokes the latter has taken. If the opponent give wrong information as to the number of strokes he has taken and correct his mistake before the player has played his next stroke, he shall incur no penalty; if he fail to do so, he shall lose the hole.

RULE 11

Disputes and doubt as to rights

1. CLAIMS IN MATCH PLAY

In match play, if a dispute or doubt arise between the players on any point, in order that a claim may be considered it must be made before any player in the match plays from the next teeing ground, or, in the case of the last hole of the round, before all players in the match leave the putting green. Any later claim based on newly discovered facts cannot be considered unless the player making the claim had been given wrong information by an opponent.

2. REFEREE'S DECISION—If a referee has been appointed by the Committee, his decision shall be final.

3. COMMITTEE'S DECISION—In the absence of a referee, the players shall refer any dispute to the Committee, whose decision shall be final.

If the Committee cannot come to a decision, it shall refer the dispute to the USGA Rules of Golf Committee, whose decision shall be final.

If the point in dispute or doubt has been referred to the Rules of Golf Committee, the player or players have the right to refer an agreed statement through the Secretary of the Club to the Rules of Golf Committee for an opinion as to the correctness of the decision given. The reply will be sent to the Secretary of the Club or Clubs concerned.

If play be conducted other than in accordance with the Rules of Golf Committee will not give a decision on any question.

4. DECISION BY EQUITY—If any point in dispute be not covered by the Rules or Local Rules, the decision shall be made in accordance with equity.

5. STROKE PLAY: DOUBT AS TO PROCEDURE—In stroke play only, when a competitor is doubtful of his rights or procedure, he may play out the hole with the balls in play and, at the same time, complete the play of the hole with a second ball. Before playing a stroke with either ball, the competitor must announce to his marker his intention to proceed under this Rule and must announce which ball he wants to score with if the Rules permit.

On completing the round the competitor must report the facts immediately to the Committee. If it be found that the Rules allow the procedure selected in advance by the competitor, the score with the ball so selected shall be his score for the hole. Should the competitor fail to announce in advance his procedure or selection, the score with the second ball shall be his score for the hole if played in accordance with the Rules.

Note 1: The sole purpose of this Rule is to enable a competitor a second ball does not exist in match play. A second ball played under Rule 11-5 is not a provisional ball under Rule 30.

doubtful of his rights or procedure; a competitor is not permitted to play in two ways and choose his score.

Rule 9 Advice

1. GIVING OR ASKING FOR ADVICE—A player or a competitor shall not ask for advice or take any action which may result from his caddie, his partner, or his partner's caddie.

2. INDICATING LINE OF PLAY—Except on the putting green, a player may have the line of play indicated to him by anyone, but no mark shall be placed on the line, nor shall anyone stand on or close to the line while the stroke is being played.

Penalty For Breach Of Rule: Match play—Loss of hole; Stroke play—Two strokes.

Rule 10

Information as to strokes taken—

1. GENERAL—A player who has incurred a penalty shall state the fact to his opponent or marker as soon as possible. The number of strokes a player has taken shall include any penalty strokes incurred.

Homecoming Tomorrow For Hart Ex-Students

Homecoming activities are planned for Homecoming, which

WELCOME HOME EXES

L & A DRESS SHOP

Howdy, And Welcome Home Hart High Exes

RUES BEAUTY SHOP

is set for Friday for ex-students of Hart High School.

The football queen will be crowned out of four candidates. Her identity will be revealed at the crowning at the halftime of the football game.

Candidates for the queen title are Sandy Johnson, senior; Janice Sharp, junior; Jo Ann Lacy, sophomore; and Vivian Shives, freshman.

A pep rally will be staged down Broadway at 3 PM, and refreshments will fete the ex-students at the school lunchroom.

Also, the Zealot Club is sponsoring a ham supper from 6 PM, to 9 PM, in the American Legion Hall.

Meeting Slated For Hart 4-Hers

A meeting has been slated for members of the Hart 4-H Girls on October 13 in the Home Economics Building.

All girls interested in 4-H are invited to attend.

An election of officers will highlight the meeting.

Father Of Hart Teacher Dies

Claude Sheets of Spearman, father of Branch Sheets of Hart, died after suffering a heart attack Saturday in his home at 5 PM.

Sheets was born July 5, 1884, in Henderson County. He moved to Hansford County in 1907.

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon at 2 PM in the Spearman Church of Christ, with Dale Pearson, minister, officiating.

He is survived by his wife, Mammie L. of the home; four daughters, Mrs. Arthur Johnson of Stinnett; Mrs. R. E. Harmon of Sweeney; Mrs. J. D. Mitchell of Dallas; and Mrs. Gene Cudd of Perryton; seven sons, Martin of Albuquerque, NM, Daniel, Willis and Claude of Spearman, Branch, Hart, S. B. of Sunray, and Floyd of Guymon, Okla.; and twenty grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

Ronnie Clark In Two-Car Wreck

Ronnie Clark was recently involved in a two-car accident near Arney.

Ronnie, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Clark, reportedly struck a 1957 Plymouth pulling a two-wheel trailer when the automobile's driver, Irwin Frost of Schenectady, NY, ran a stop sign.

Though Ronnie's car was demolished, none of the occupants in either car were injured.

Hart Cemetery Is Cleaned, Cleared

Glyn Reed, T. C. Ray and prisoners from Castro County jail under the watchful eye of Deputy Sheriff Granville Martin cleaned Hart Cemetery last week.

The grass was mowed, weeds were cut and hauled away. Money is being collected to finance a paved road to the cemetery, and also for installing a water system there. Contributions may be taken or mailed to Farmers Grain Company in Hart.

This & That

BY MYRT LOMAN

Are we not grateful for the few pretty days we have had this past week? The farmers have really taken advantage of the sunshine. Grain and cotton really are being harvested but not nearly as fast as farmers would like.

Saw a field of sesame cut and shocked last week and it looked so pretty, was almost tempted to stop and ask a farmer for some to dry and make into a winter arrangement. Have seen some beautiful bouquets from dried weeds and flowers, even Christmas trees made from Thistles. As bad as we dislike the weeds they can make pretty ornaments.

We are so fortunate to have such a doctor as Dr. Harris in our midst. His wife Betty is a graduate nurse, and no one could ever appreciate them more than we do. They are not only your doctor and nurse but are your neighbor and FRIEND.

Have you been by the DRUG STORE and introduced yourself to Mr. and Mrs. Casey Jones?

If not go by today and extend them the hand of FRIENDLINESS. They are friendly, so let's make them WELCOME to HART.

Hear reports from some of the churches that a little visitation on your part was responsible for an increase in Sunday School attendance last Sunday. If each of us would be present each Sunday unless a good excuse and took one other person with us, just think what a GOOD SUNDAY SCHOOL WE WOULD HAVE.

Dates You Might Like To Remember:

October 9, birthday of Thelma Joyce Martin

October 10, birthday of Jim Smith

October 11, birthday of Miles Cox

October 12, birthday of Kathy Alexander

October 13, birthday of Edgar Varner and Larry Cox

October 13, Meetings of Boy Scouts, Lions Club, Producers Co-Op Gin, and Hart P-TA.

October 14, birthday of Danny Dean George and anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Boots Rogers

October 15, birthdays of Terry Armstrong and Paul Johnson. Meeting of W.M.U. of Hart Baptist Church

October 16, birthday of Brenda Chevez. Meeting of Olton Masonic Lodge and W.S.C.S. of Hart Methodist Church

October 17, anniversaries of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Swopes and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brooks, also birthday of Mrs. Brooks

Have you driven up and down some of our streets in Hart last few days and noticed the new grass coming up in the yards of some of the folk who have moved into other houses

LONGHORNS BOW TO ANTON POWER, 50-0

Quarterback Oren McGrew and halfback Ronnie Biffle ran wild as the Anton Bulldogs romped on the Hart Longhorns, 50-0, Friday at Anton.

The Bulldogs showed little mercy as they won their first homecoming game in six years. McGrew scored in the first quarter on an eight-yard run.

Biffle ran for the extra point. Later in the same quarter Barnett scored on a 21-yard pass play from Biffle, and Barnett ran for the conversion.

In the second quarter Barnett ran 45 yards for the tally, with McGrew converting. Biffle also scored again in the same frame from 12 yards out.

Doug Goen, in the third quarter, took a pass from Biffle and scored—the play covering 50 yards. Smith ran for the points-after-touchdown. Biffle scored from six yards out and McGrew from 22 in the final period.

After the first quarter, Hart was never in the game, as Anton completely dominated the play. Tomorrow night Hart meets Whitharral at Longhorn Stadium in what is expected to be a thriller. Experts have the contest rated as a toss-up.

When cleaning out your closet, do not THROW AWAY OR BURN any clothes. The Ladies of the Methodist Church and the Ladies of the Assembly of God Church, are sponsoring Rummage sales, and they will be happy to have your clothes, shoes and hats.

This World we are living in is mighty hard to beat. We get a thorn with every rose. But are not the roses sweet?

If someone you know has helped to make your life a little brighter, why not tell them so today, as we or they may not see tomorrow.

Please call 2372 and give me your news. You may think MY NEIGHBOR does not care what I do, but they like to read about you as well as you like to read about them.

I make mistakes, but am sure you will and have forgiven me of my many errors. Even Paul Kennedy forgave me this WEEK. If you have not found out the mistake I AM SURE NOT TELLING ON MYSELF THIS TIME.

SEE YOU AT HOMECOMING!

Panhandle Compress & Warehouse Co. LOAN COTTON

The services of an approved cotton warehouse are essential to the Government loan program. This company has always cooperated with the Government and the farmers in making the loan available to our customers. We have served this territory for 26 years. The loan when offered by the Government has always been available to the farmers in this territory and no customer has been forced to sell his cotton on a distress market because of the lack of the services of a qualified warehouseman.

Panhandle Compress & Warehouse Co. CONTRIBUTION TO THE COMMUNITY

We are glad to be a part of each community served by these compresses and Warehouse plants. These facilities not only serve the farmer, the ginner, and the cotton merchant directly, but they also render a real public service, in the maintenance of substantial local payrolls, and the payment of city, school, and county taxes; thus contributing to the general public welfare.

Talk about eager beavers! At 4:30 on the morning of September 1, Jo and Sim Hays were awakened by a commotion in their three boys' bedroom.
Jo investigated, to find second-grader Drew lying in bed completely dressed for school, cowboy boots and all.
The boys had been so excited they couldn't sleep, and when Mark told Drew it was time to get ready for school, Drew eagerly took him at his word. Then when he discovered it was really only 4:30, well, why get undressed and go through it all again!
Brett was in on the fun, too, and Jo says they never did settle down again before getting up time.
September 1, you remember, was the first day of school.

Slip of the tongue:
Club members were discussing the request of the OCCA for them to prepare a Christmas scene for one of the corners of the hospital square at the Yule season. After President Bertie Lee Brown had heard an exchange of opinions on the matter, she asked for a motion.
Nig James obliged with: "Madame President, I move we make a scene . . ."

Well, what are you going to do when your five-year-old son makes up his mind to get a job pulling cotton?
Jamie seems to have got the idea from his little buddy, Gary Kelley's experience in the cotton patch back of his house. We went along with the idea to humor him, but it rather got away from us, and for a week now, he's been trying to get Clarence Mason on the phone to ask for a job.
So, we have a cotton sack all ready, and Troy has contacted Mr. Mason on the QT, and at the first opportune moment, he'll take Jamie out to the fields to pick cotton.
Troy maintains it will be good for him; that he was toting a cotton sack at even a younger age. He claims we shouldn't stifle Jamie's initiative in wanting to work.
Jamie's mother doesn't agree. She claims that even if her husband did pull cotton at a tender age, that doesn't make it right and necessary for his child. She believes it's just a whim of a little curious boy and about 15 minutes at the job will satisfy that curiosity.
Furthermore, Jamie's father decided that if the boy was eager to work, why should he be working for someone else, when he could make himself useful and learn a bit about industry by helping Sonny sweep up and tidy the shop a bit. Or maybe even sell papers on the street on publication day.
Jamie's mother still doesn't agree.
They're liable to get us for violating the child labor law, too. Anyhow, if a little boy approaches you about Friday with a pack of papers in his hand to sell, don't be surprised. But don't let it get you. We aren't quite that hard up—yet.

Books On Parade
By Mardema Ogletree

Remember how Shirley Temple as a child sang and danced her way into the hearts of millions of movie-goers all over the world?
And now Shirley Temple as a very beautiful woman is making glad the hearts of millions of television viewers all over America with her television series.
All of the enchantment of her programs of the past and of the programs to come has been captured and bound into her book Shirley Temple's Storybook, just published by Random House, $3.95.
This collection of stories includes Rapunzel, the one scheduled for next Sunday night's dramatization. Shirley Temple says in the foreword to the beautifully illustrated book, "As a child I loved fairy stories and tales of enchantment. Even in this Atomic Age, children enjoy the magic world of fairy princes and princesses, of wicked witches who are punished for their bad deeds, of cleverness that is rewarded—in short, the same kind of stories that their parents read when they were young. Certainly this is true of my own children."

A clever little book is Pre-School Party Parade by Berniece Hogan, published by Abingdon Press, $1.35. It has complete plans for 24 parties for children under six.

Another new book from Abingdon Press is Proofs Of His Presence by Grace Noll Crowell, $1.50. This gifted writer, through the use of appropriate quotations from the Bible and her own beautiful poetry and prose, shows how an understanding Christ is ever with us.
Especially helpful are the chapters entitled "The CONQUEST Of Sorrow" and "Clear Shining After Rain." In the latter she uses the lives of Job and William Cowper to show that patience in tribulation brings blessings.
She says, "Greatness does not grow in shallow soil; it must develop slowly before it springs from the dark depths of one's being. The soil must be enriched by patience and watered with tears."

DELANE VISIT NEPAL PARADISE DURING HER WORLD TOUR WHERE "BUDDA WAS BORN UNDER TREE OF ETERNAL LIFE"

(Editor's Note: Last week, we began a continued story, written by Miss Adams, on her trip around the world. She made the trip this past summer after spending two years in Japan, teaching GI children. Miss Adams is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Adams and is teaching this fall in Hobbs, NM)

BY DELANE ADAMS

PART II Katmandu, Nepal

If you are searching for paradise (I must see that movie, now) Katmandu SHOULD be on your list. As of yet it still has an "untrammelled by tourists" feeling.

In this area cuddled between India and Tibet, Budda was born under the "tree of eternal life"—the banyan whose branches drop roots to the ground that return become trunks with branches etc. (In Calcutta is the banyan tree supposed to be the largest in the world. It looks like a park. It is one tree.)

The stupas (a monument in memory or honor of Budda—shaped something like an inverted ice cream cone) have eyes painted on them. It is something like the eyes of Texas—always upon you. Budda is watching you.

The people seemed gentle and curious and child-like. They loved to have their pictures made and did not hold out the hand immediately for a "Baksheesh" (gift) as is the custom of the Middle East.

Two items of fascination: 1. The "Living Goddess" who was a little girl of about ten years looking out of her palace window. Through some unknown rites, she was chosen as the pure incarnated goddess. She will live in that capacity until she enters womanhood. Then she loses her place to another child who will be chosen to take her place. 2. In Katmandu also lived a Tibetan priest in some way connected with the Dalai Lama of Tibet. He was sixty-nine years old and spoke twenty-four languages—both of which he was quite proud.

At our hotel, the owner's wife let us borrow her sarais to come to dinner in. Somehow we don't have the same formal, charming feminine look the Indian girls have in this same costume. Perhaps it is that we unconsciously wear the facial expressions and gestures that show what we are thinking.

"I wonder, is this thing coming off?"

And if you are ever up in a far-off place like this and the bath boy comes to ask "How many buckets do you want?" answer, "Two please". He means how much hot water do you need for a bath—which is a thing we in America have almost forgotten.

Banaras

The holy Ganges River flows through the city of Banaras. It is the holy Hindu city.

The deformed, the sick, the dying come here for their last days, if possible. The Ganges flows to paradise and it is a quicker journey if your ashes are put into the river.

Other people come to bathe in the river and worship at the temples on the river bank.

"Surely there must be great epidemics, here," we said, looking at all the people and even a dead cow in the river. Our guide (college student with an MA in Psychology and supposedly working on his doctorate) said that tests of the river water were said to show a bacteria that lives in only one other stream of water (unknown) which keeps the water purified regardless of what is put in the water.

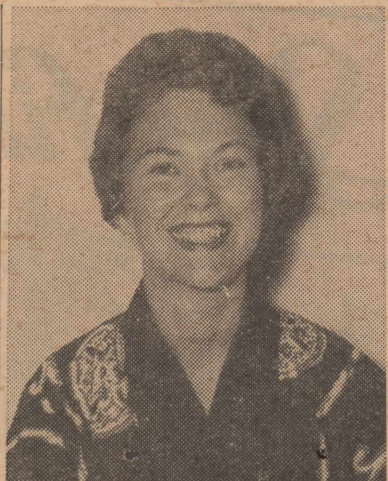

At night we again went out on the river to see the moon rise. Also, we wished to see the burning ghats. On the bank of the river, a certain spot is given to the cremation of bodies. The Hindus cremate their dead and the Moslems bury theirs. The person who died is to be cremated before the next sunset. The body is on a litter—covered with red cloth, if a woman, and white, if a man. Without going into detail, I thought it more humane in almost every respect than our method.

Every place leaves a quick picture or smell or feeling in your mind—usually some unimportant thing that is forever welded to that name.

Banaras brings to me a feeling of being in a narrow alley pushing a sacred cow over so I can go past her. I did many times.

Delhi

From the air one could get the best understanding of Old Delhi and New Delhi. The former was a jumble of small houses and crooked streets. New Delhi was a geometric pattern punctuated by new dignified buildings and the two looked like Siamese twins of different personalities connected along the backbone by a wall.

The Red Fort of red stone looked like an MGM setting for a movie of old India. It housed the ruler of that area long ago. Here was the harem, also.

A huge bath house with the interior of inlaid precious-stone work was the most impressive spot. Shah Jehan who built the Taj Mahal (for his wife, Mumtaz Mahal) was the builder of this work of art, also.

In the huge mosque we were allowed to see relics of Prophet Mohammed—for a "baksheesh" (gift), of course. There was a sandal preserved in spices and a red hair from Mohammed's beard. Some of the faithful followers dye their beards red in this day.

In Delhi we hired a guide (called "Bob"—a handsome law student at the university) and a driver we called "George" much to his annoyance.

"George Five, George Six, don't like George", he muttered.

"George Washington", we said proudly.

He was not impressed, George V and VI were the ones he knew.

We also rented a car and started out into the countryside to Agra where is the famous Taj Mahal.

On the way we stopped at mud villages to photograph the people, the wells where the women were doing the laundry and filling water pots for the day, the fields where the men were plowing with oxen and a wooden plow and the market places where the oil seeds were piled on straw mats to be sold.

George just WOULD herd the people into stiff staring groups just as we were getting a good "natural" pose. But he was trying so hard to help we could not be too irritated.

Accompanied by a strange little wailing violin-like instrument, we struggled our way up to see the Amber Fort in the broiling sun. The music was peppy and racy and kept us plodding on. The strolling musician seemed not to know it was hot beneath his dusty rags.

More harem rooms—this time decorated with pale blue mica set into the walls and ceiling in designs. In the queen's tiny cubicle were four niches for lamps and at the bottom of each niche was a deep hole in which she hid her jewels.

Along the way we stopped at a rest house that had been the country home of a rajah. In the "living room" was one of the old fashioned fans that is a long board with a strip of canvas on it. This contraption is made to swing back and forth and make a breeze by a servant pulling a rope attached to it. George gave us the royal treatment.

At the city of Jaipur which was painted all pink by the maharaja who lived there (and most of the buildings—especially main street—are still pink) we spent the night in a hotel that had been the palace of a rajah.

This was a small town and we were rather near the edge. The screams of wild peacocks kept us from sleeping well that night. But we were up next morning to make our exit from the hotel on the back of an elephant!

The Taj Mahal was as lovely as the photographs you have seen. I'll always remember it in the moonlight. But I'll remember George every time I remember the Taj!

While we were waiting for the moon to rise, George noted that a large pipe was filling the pools with fresh water. Casually, he got into the pool and took a cool bath.

Then refreshed, he sat and fanned us until the moon came from behind the clouds.

Back in Delhi again, we were taken out to a well known restaurant to eat Indian food, Indian style—with the hands. We had something like barbequed chicken and the bread was similar to a pancake. For dessert we had a sweet dish made from milk curds.

On the top was draped a thin soft sheet of pure silver leaf—the sauc. Who can describe the taste of a real silver sauce?

Kashmir

Leaving the hot dry plains behind, we went up into the foothills of the Himalayas again. This time we were in a piece of paradise—Sringgar, Kashmir.

We lived on a houseboat for three days with the services of five servants including an excellent cook.

We just rested by visiting the gardens restored from the days of the Mogul kings, and floating around on the river and canals and the soft blue lakes ringed by the blue hills—in a canopied boat. It was like going into a Persian print.

One day we rode horses up into the near-by mountains for a picnic—with our guide to lay out the lunch and then clean it all up again.

Bombay

The first sun in three weeks arrived with us. Bombay had been flooded with monsoon rains. It was so hot and humid—like walking into a warm shower.

A man I met on the plane felt sorry for tourists because they never get to visit homes, so he invited us to come to tea at his house the next day.

After a tour guided by Miss Raja, on which we were told, "Over there behind those trees is the Parsee Tower of Silence where the dead are laid for the vultures to devour"—the most impressive part of the whole tour, we went to Mr. Gursuhadi's for tea. His wife and nine-year-old daughter and daughter with a newly acquired MA were there.

Blessings on those who befriend strangers and foreigners in their land and may be as hospitable!

Karachi

A desert outpost by any other name would look the same. Camels were pulling wagons in the streets and on the edge of the town were the shacks of the refugees. Across the road were the new modern homes—of the Americans who were there to oversee the spending of the American dollars sent to Pakistan for aid? No one seemed to know, but the architecture was certainly an American adaptation of a desert palace—with air conditioning.

Hearing music in the huge patio in the center of the hotel, we went out on the balcony to see what was happening. It was a Parsee wedding—a double one at that. The ceremony performed by five priests in white gowns and caps (like surgical gowns, we thought) was full of symbols far beyond us.

But never again will I see a wedding that looks like a huge bouquet of flowers—the women were wearing such lovely saris.

(To be continued—next week, Delane carries us to Tehran)
