U. S. Accuses Reds Of 'Provocative Act'

SPACE BALLOONIST READY—Lt. Clifton McClure, 25, pilot for the third Man High balloon flight into stratosphere, gets settled in the capsule just before it is sealed up. The special assistant at the Aeromedical Field Laboratory of the Air Force Missile Development Center at Alamogordo, N. M., will ascend to further explore the edge of space. (AP Wirephoto)

Balloon Trip Is Postponed

By STEVE LOWELL

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP)—A series of last-minute postponements today delayed the scheduled flight of a young jet pilot who was to take a balloon ride into the stratosphere.

The flight of 25-year-old Lt. Chifton McClure was postponed until 8:30 a.m. early today then until 10 a.m. (MST) as Air Force officials charted high altitude winds.

McClure had been seated into a 3.9-foot metal capsule jammed full of instruments at 1:30 a.m.

McClure has been dozing part time in an artificial atmosphere inside the capsule of almost 100 per cent oxygen. There is almost no nitrogen in the gondola so that if there were accidental decompression at high altitude there would be no nitrogen in his blood to bubble and give him the so called "bends" that deep-water divers sometimes suffer.

The capsule atmosphere also is pressurized to equal about 24,000 feet altitude.

This third probe of the edge of space, like the second last year, was aimed at about 100,000 feet—20 miles above the earth.

Hopes were that this young military scientist, who holds a masters degree in ceramic engineering from Clemson College, could stay up there 24 hours.

A battery of experts in space medicine, physiology, meteorology, astronomy, space psychology and psychiatry will grill him constantly while he floats high above the earth.

During his 17th hour aloft he will get his first break—five minutes for silence and introspection.

Monday afternoon he took a mild sedative and went into seclusion to rest up at the trailer court where he, his wife and baby boy live near the Air Force's Missile Development Center. McClure is a special assistant assigned to the aeromedical laboratory there.

The young airman from Anderson, S.C., got up in the small hours Tuesday to get set for the flight.

The plastic balloon carrying him aloft will measure 200 feet in diameter at peak altitude. It was expected to travel about 300 miles and land somewhere within a radius of 100 miles from Amarillo, Tex.

If anything goes wrong, either McClure or the ground crew can cut the gondola loose to float earthward under a king-size parachute.

Mrs. McClure will wait out the long ride in her trailer home. The Air Force provided her with a receiver so she could listen to the panel of experts pick her husband's mind.

Man Is Held In Shooting

DALLAS (AP)—Police said today a father of five children admitted fatally shooting a Carrollton man, 27, last night whom he said was keeping company with his wife.

Irving Police Chief C. J. Wirasnik said the shooting occurred when an Irving man found his wife and the other man together in an automobile.

George Martin died early today. Attendants said he was shot at least four times, three of the wounds being in the chest and abdomen.

Wirasnik said the arrested man told him he had heard "about a year ago" that his wife and the shooting victim were keeping company.

Building Code Gets Approval By Council

A new building code for Snyder was adopted by the city council on second reading of an ordinance last night during a lengthy meeting of the council.

The code is much the same as the National Abbreviated Building Code, with some alterations made to make it conform to existing ordinances and codes in Snyder, and to liberalize it somewhat to more closely conform to the needs of Snyder.

Copies of the code and amendments will be distributed to contractors and builders here to familiarize them with its provisions, and the code will not go into effect for 60 days, Roy Dunlap, city manager, said.

Several sets of bids were opened for various purchases by the city council.

A six month supply of equipment tires were purchased from Goodyear Service Store and from Herman Doak, Gulf distributor here. Doak had the low bid on the tires on which he submitted bids, but did not bid on two sizes of tires. Goodyear was awarded contract as the only bidder on those two types of tires, and on two other types of tires on which the Gulf bid did not conform because of a steel wire tread specification. Other bidders on the tires were Richardson and Peacock, bidding on General tires, and J. B. Early Jr. Conoco., bidding on Dunlop tires.

Contract for purchase of a new adding machine for the city utility office was awarded to Burrows Corporation of Midland, on low bid on the adding machine.

Burrows bid was $253.98. Other bids on similar machines were: Bud's Office Supply, Snyder, $353.04; Abilene Typewriter Exchange, $275; Carver Co., Lubbock, $285; and Monroe Co., Midland, $263.25 on one machine and $283.50 on another.

Pipe was purchased for installation at the city's oxidation ponds on the sewer farm, subject to approval by the state health department, on the low bid. Purchase of a pump for the oxidation project was not made, because of a confusion of bids on different types of pumps, some of which did not conform to specifications in the bid call.

The low bidder on the pipe was Viking Supply, Dallas. Other bidders were Morrison Supply Co., Snyder, Clowe & Cowan, Amarillo, and Johns-Manville Co., Houston.

Snyder Truck & Tractor Co., Snyder, was awarded contract for purchase of a new International diesel tractor and backhoe unit on a low bid. The city is to trade in a smaller Ford tractor and backhoe unit, and pay a net difference of $4,400. The only other bid was by Scurry County Tractor Co. on a Ford diesel tractor and backhoe unit for a net difference of $5,200.

Russell Yorgesen of the accounting firm of Deffebach & Yorgesen was appointed auditor for the city books for the fiscal year which ended Sept. 30. Yorgesen is a certified public accountant.

The council approved a plan for the city manager to call for bids on purchase of uniforms for members of the police and fire departments for the coming year.

No action was taken on a request by Snyder Community Antenna Television Corp. for an increase in the reconnection charge of from $2.50 to $4 for its services.

All bids on purchase of a new or used bulldozer were rejected by the council. Bids had been called for by the city manager for either a new or used machine to replace a Caterpillar D-7 now owned by the city, but which needs extensive repairs. After considering the bids submitted and hearing sales talks by representatives of bidding firms, the city manager recommended that the present machine be repaired instead of purchasing another machine. Several bids were submitted on both new and used machines, but Dunlap said the repairs could probably be made cheaper than purchasing another machine.

The council voted to enter into a Blue Cross and Blue Shield hospitalization plan for city employes to replace the present hospitalization plan. The present plan is to be cancelled by the company.

The new plan includes a $25 deductible clause for illnesses, but has other aspects similar to the old plan. The deductible clause does not apply to maternity, surgery, or emergency cases. The city has 81 employes, and 75 percent must participate to receive the hospitalization plan, which was bid at a special group rate. The city pays $2.25 of the monthly premiums, with the employe to pay the balance. Single employes pay $5.10 per month, or an entire family's cost would total $14.75.

A life insurance plan in conjunction with the hospitalization plan was also approved. The Fortune Life Insurance Co. submitted the plan, and the life insurance is to cost 98 cents per $1,000 coverage per month.

Nasser Tightens Hold Over Syria

CAIRO (AP) — President Nasser's hold on Syria tightened today with the elimination of a vice president of the United Arab Republic who hindered close Egyptian rule of the province.

A sweeping reorganization of the U.A.R. government to centralize control of both provinces in Cairo was expected to be announced soon.

Sabri Assali, the last premier of Syria before it voluntarily joined Egypt under Nasser last February, said he had resigned the vice presidency he got when the two countries merged. The government-controlled Middle East News Agency said he was dropped.

Assali was removed to clear the way for a central government instead of the present system of dual ministries for the two provinces, the news agency said.

A representative of the old school of Syrian politicians, Assali was a brake on Nasser's plans to extend Egyptian control over the new province.

Cairo newspapers have been playing up reports from Baghdad which accused Assali of plotting an Iraqi-Syrian union in 1954 in opposition to Nasser. The accusations were made in the trials of former royalist politicians by the new Iraqi revolutionary regime.

Assali charged that the reports were distorted. He said he had sought Iraq's help to overthrow Gen. Adib Shishekly, the Syrian strongman whose regime collapsed in 1954. Assali then became premier.

He informed Nasser of his dealings with Iraq, Assali added.

The Syrian leader said he wanted to be relieved as vice president while a committee appointed by Nasser was investigating the charges.

Indicating apprehension about the outcome, Assali spoke of "the harm which has befallen me and could affect my health and freedom..." He returned to Damascus after giving his statemen to the Middle East News Agency.

The agency said the other three vice presidents under Nasser are remaining in the reorganized government. Two are Egyptians. The third is Akram Hourani of Syria, who reportedly favors close ties between Egypt and Syria.

Disagreement On 'Secret Sessions'

DALLAS (AP)— Governmental bodies such as commissioners courts should not hold so-called "secret sessions," a county judge and a county commissioner said today.

But another county judge and commissioner held out their right to hold such meetings, saying, "They are sometimes needed."

Commissioner Tom Foster of Cameron County called them "very necessary."

The views were expressed at the County Judges and Commissioners Assn. conference.

Voicing opposition to "executive or secret sessions" were Tarrant County Judge Marvin Simpson Jr. and Hidalgo Commissioner Charles Curtis.

Simpson said if such meetings were held "The public should be represented. We shouldn't deny the public what they should know. It defeats democracy."

Curtis said "I'm against them. County business should be out in the open."

Falls County Judge Fred Glass said there are times when "executive sessions are necessary."

"But they should be the exception—not the rule. As a rule, executive bodies shouldn't hold such meetings and deny the public that which they are entitled," Glass said.

Gainesville County Commissioner Bill Wescott said "We don't hold them" but agreed with Foster that "sometimes they are necessary."

Foster said after the meetings that officials could talk about issues with constituents.

"We need such get-togethers. One big problem is that many young reporters distort the news. They are often hell on commissioners courts," he asserted.

Gov. Price Daniel told the convention yesterday he will not turn more functions over to the federal government.

More Shower Activity Due

By The Associated Press

After a day of practically no rain, thundershower activity was building up in Texas again Tuesday.

The Weather Bureau said a low pressure area north of the state was pulling up considerable warm moist air from the Gulf.

The bureau said this movement would increase the prospects for occasional showers over the state.

No heavy amount of rain fell during the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. Tuesday. About the only measureable amount was .08 of an inch at Midland. Traces fell at Wichita Falls, Kingsville, Wink, Big Spring and Del Rio.

Predawn temperatures ranged from 51 degrees at Dalhart to 75 at Galveston.

High Monday varied from 88 degrees at Presidio to 76 at El Paso and San Angelo.

The flood on the Rio Grande continued to cause worry. Lowlands between levees in the Lower Rio Grande Valley were being inundated as the crest of the rain-choked river nears the Gulf of Mexico.

Blonde Bandit Hits Twice In Ft. Worth

FORT WORTH (AP) — This city's blonde bandit, a female felon who gets her way with a .32 automatic, held up a grocery store early today about 24 hours after she stuck up a service station.

A jeans-clad blonde, holding a pistol under her purse, got about $200 at 2:30 a.m. when she entered the store and told W. A. Taylor, the manager, "I want all the money."

Taylor, who was alone in the front of the store, gave it to her, and she fled to a car outside.

Planes Sent Over Quemoy

WASHINGTON (AP)—A State Department spokesman asserted today that Communist plane flights over Quemoy constituted a "provocative act" out of line with the Red ceasefire.

Press officer Lincoln White said that therefore the antiaircraft fire by Chinese Nationalist batteries against the Communist aircraft this afternoon was not in the slightest a break in the ceasefire by the Nationalists.

White went out of his way at a news conference to try to counter Red complaints that the United States had gone ahead convoying Nationalist supply vessels to Quemoy since the ceasefire was instituted by the Reds.

Yet he would not say flatly that all convoying had now actually been halted. He implied it had been or was about to be.

The Red Chinese complained Monday that after the seven-day suspension of Communist attacks on the offshore island was announced a U.S. warship escort of Nationalist supply craft had operated as usual.

"I want to make it perfectly clear," White said, "that the first convoy to Quemoy after the cease-fire announcement was well under way when the announcement was made."

The United States is expected within a day or two to quit convoying Nationalist Chinese supply ships.

The order to the U.S. 7th Fleet is to be based on the absence of Communist shelling — not on the condition laid down in Red China's offer Sunday to cease firing for convoy operations halted.

Officials drew that fine line of distinction to emphasize two points:

1. That Red China started the trouble with six weeks of almost continuous bombardment of Quemoy, and could ease tensions any time, without conditions, simply by stopping the shooting.

2. That U.S. convoying has been strictly in international waters, and nobody tells the United States what to do on the high seas.

Officials were gratified at the Red Chinese offer. But they were not unaware that it contained a number of diplomatic-propaganda hookers.

A determination to avoid getting snagged on any of them explained why the United States was taking its own good time about ordering a suspension of the convoy.

That was clear in a State Department statement welcoming the Peiping bid. Noting that no firing would mean "no further necessity for the convoy," the statement said: "This question is being given careful consideration."

Officials studying the statement announcing the cease-fire speculated on its motivation. Two aspects seemed fairly clear.

One of these was its propaganda tone. It called on the Nationalist Chinese to join forces against "our common enemy," the United States. This was renewed emphasis on a new Peiping line—that the Communist goal is the complete withdrawal of all U.S. forces from the area.

Moscow radio also said that the cease-fire gives the United States "a wonderful chance" to get out of the area and let the Chinese settle their own problems.

Pope Shows Improvement

By FRANK BRUTTO

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP)—Pope Pius XII continues to show improvement, an official medical bulletin announced today.

The bulletin, third released since the 82-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church was felled by a cerebral stroke Monday, indicated the pontiff's tremendous continuing resistance to the inroads of illness.

Even so, his condition continued to be regarded as grave.

For the first time since the stroke partially paralyzed the Pope some 26 hours before, there was cautious expression of hope that he could recover.

The bulletin, read in the square outside the Pope's summer residence, said:

"The condition of His Holiness, in general, continued to improve throughout the night. His senses appear to be completely lucid. There are no signs of failure of the movements. Last night the hiccups (with which the Pope has been troubled for a week) again reappeared, but they disappeared early this morning..."

Earlier Msgr. Angelo dell'Acqua the Vatican substitute secretary of state, told newsmen the Pope had spent a quiet night and "his improvement is satisfactory and progressive."

The bulletin added, "There are no signs of motor deficiency." This indicated that the partial paralysis which accompanied the stroke had ended.

One of the attending doctors, Prof. Ermanno Mingazzini, said the Pope this morning had been able to take solid food — some shredded chicken in thin broth—for the first time since the stroke. Mingazzini also said a kidney block which developed Monday had been overcome.

The bulletin was signed by the Pope's personal physician, Prof. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi; Antonio Gasbarrini, a specialist from Bologna; Mingazzini; and Ferdinando Corelli.

Scores of persons maintained a vigil outside the palace in this hill town 18 miles south of Rome. Thousands of messages of hope for his recovery poured into the Vatican. Around the world prayers were said.

The Pope suffered a blocking of blood to the brain soon after saying mass and receiving communion Monday. He fell into a coma and was partially paralyzed. Extreme Unction, the last rite of the Roman Catholic Church, was given, and members of his family were summoned.

Later in the day the pontiff rallied, and a bulletin at night said his condition had "appreciably improved" so far as the circulatory disturbances were concerned.

C-C Board Backs Hospital Proposal

The Chamber of Commerce board of directors, in its regular meeting last night, went on record as backing the $450,000 county bond proposal for the addition of facilities at Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

The board, in its resolution favoring the hospital expansion, urged all qualified taxpaying voters in the county to turn out and "vote on this issue for the vitally-needed hospital facilities."

Proposed hospital expansion was included on the chamber program of work for this year. A 40-bed addition is planned at the hospital, which now has 50 beds.

The board also made a resolution requesting that Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. include the Hermleigh area in the Snyder exchange, with no toll charge on calls between Hermleigh and Snyder.

Southwestern Bell is now working toward putting the Hermleigh exchange on a dial telephone operation, but its plans call for continuing a separate exchange there.

The chamber board submitted that including Hermleigh on the Snyder exchange would be a convenience both to Snyder and Hermleigh area residents. Other towns and areas in the county, just as far or farther away from Snyder, are on the Snyder exchange and have no toll charges on calls to Snyder.

A warning was issued by the board to businessmen and other residents to be careful when approached by salesmen, asking them to make sure they know what they are doing before investing in anything. This is the time of year for many racketeers and schemers, especially for investment salesmen. Residents were asked to check with the chamber or with city police when approached before investing.

The board also reminded residents that Snyder has a "Green River" ordinance which prohibits door-to-door canvassing by peddlers and solicitors, with a few exceptions, without their previously having permission from the resident before calling at his home.

Several committee reports were made to the board. One was by the oil and gas committee, which reported that it was preparing a half-day exhibition by the oil industry for Oct. 14 in connection with Oil Progress Week, which is next week. The exhibits will be in the former location of Sallie's Dinning Room, just east of the square on Twenty-fifth Street, and will include miniature displays, movies, and many other exhibits, as well as free coffee to be served by the Desk & Derrick Club.

A merchants committee report was made on Family Shopping Night, a weekly event which will begin Oct. 16. In the special program, many Snyder merchants will remain open on Thursday nights and have special values during the evening hours.

PLAN TO OPEN PRIVATE SCHOOLS

Faubus, Segregationists Confer

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus and segregationist leaders, fighting against time, plan to confer shortly on plans for opening private all-white schools despite an adverse federal court ruling.

Their target date for putting the schools into operation is mid-October, the same time the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals is scheduled to take its next action in the tangled Little Rock case.

School officials have said Oct. 31 is the absolute deadline for beginning classes in some form if a year's accredited school work is to be accomplished.

Monday the appeals court extended its order that prevents the city's four closed high schools from being leased and operated as private institutions.

But on the heels of the order, Gov. Faubus expressed confidence that the Little Rock Private School Corp. could successfully set up a high school system without use of the public school buildings.

And Dr. T. J. Raney, president of the private school corporation, said the schools would be opened "as soon as we get rolling."

The governor indicated he and Raney would meet soon, perhaps within the next few days.

As the knotty integration struggle settled into a grim round of behind-the-scenes conferences, there were these developments:

1. Gov. Faubus said his office had received $3,000 in donations in one day for the private school group, and he declared, "I think this gives an idea of the public response to the appeal for funds by the corporation."

2. A Methodist church's governing board voted to offer its new education building to the private school group, pending approval of the district superintendent.

3. Two Justice Department attorneys, sent here from Washington to assist in school integration matters, left and said they didn't know when they would return.

The appeals court at St. Louis extended its order preventing the leasing of the Little Rock schools after hearing attorneys of the federal government, the Little Rock School Board and the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

The court's order followed action advocated by the NAACP and supported by the Justice Department.

In effect, it deadlocked the Little Rock situation. The schools remain closed and beyond the reach of the private school corporation. The city's 3,000-odd students still are schoolless.

Monday's ruling on an NAACP request for a preliminary injunction to prevent the schools from being leased, pending action on an appeal from an earlier ruling in the case.

The earlier ruling was by U.S. Dist. Judge John E. Miller, who declined to accept jurisdiction, saying the appeals court would have to take the case. The NAACP appealed and got a temporary restraining order.

Don't Miscalculate, Red Chinese Warn

TOKYO (AP)—Red China's Foreign Minister Chen Yi said today the United States will have totally miscalculated the Communist cease-fire if it interprets suspension of the Quemoy bombardment as a sign of weakness.

Radio Peiping announced Chen spoke at a reception given by East German Ambassador Paul Wandel honoring the ninth anniversary of the founding of Communist East Germany.

Premier Chou En-lai attended.

Chen said the United States should not misinterpret this (suspension of bombardment) as meeting its demand for a cease-fire. He said the Chinese people are determined to liberate Formosa, the Pescadores, Quemoy, and Matsu.

"No foreign interference will be tolerated at all," he said.

"There is only one way out for the United States, that is to stop interfering in China's internal affairs and withdraw all its armed forces from Taiwan (Formosa) and the Taiwan Strait."

Red China announced Monday a conditional seven-day cease-fire in Formosa Strait provided the United States quit convoying Nationalist supply ships to Quemoy. The United States welcomed the cease-fire but so far has continued the escorts.

"Any trick that the United States attempts to play absolutely will not work, it will only keep the United States a way on the defensive," Chen declared.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

To The Daily News:

I hope the public isn't tired of me expressing my views, even though it probably helps only me.

The Cogdell Memorial Hospital, I believe everyone will agree, is a beautiful place!

When a person is sick enough to be in a hospital, but not unconscious, beauty and light help one toward getting well — right? If not, why do we give flowers?

Since Mr. and Mrs. Cogdell so generously gave us the county the space to build such a nice hospital, are we going to exchange the beautiful lawns (which sometimes children play on) for another brick wall which will make this hospital look dark and dreary as hospitals in cities often do?

Why not try to buy the former Battenfield-Jones Hospital from Dr. Jones? Since it already has many of the facilities needed in a hospital, with a new roof to let in light and air, would make an additional nice hospital and probably save the county money.

Again I say (like about the bookmobile) we're not living in New York, Chicago or Los Angeles, but in Snyder in the wide open spaces of West Texas.

Second Swap Appropriate

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP)—William T. Holloway and A. Morris Underwood swapped living quarters upon their return from Las Vegas, Nev., last weekend.

It seemed practical, they said, because Mrs. Holloway had become Mrs. Underwood, and vice versa, in Nevada.

Neither couple wanted to discuss the swap.

"There are too many children involved and we don't want any notoriety," said the new Mrs. Underwood. Each woman has three.

Mental cruelty was charged in both divorce actions. The women retained custody of their children and each was granted $30 a week child support.

Chamber Panels Schedule Sessions

Two Chamber of Commerce committees have scheduled meetings for this week.

The merchants committee will meet at 3:30 p.m. tomorrow at the chamber office to hear reports from all sub-committees, including those on Family Shopping Night and projects for the Christmas season.

The membership committee will hold its monthly breakfast meeting at 7 a.m. Thursday at Sallie's Dinning Room.

Snyderite Named To ETSC Choir

Patsy Ann Coker, junior from Snyder, has been named a member of the 53-voice East Texas State College Choir.

The choir will make a number of appearances throughout the state at other colleges and in special college assemblies during this year.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market milled unevenly in active trading near its record high early this afternoon.

Most changes were narrow. Gains and losses of leading stocks were held generally within a 1-point range.

The market was at the crest of a three-day advance to historic peaks. Considerable profit taking and switching was evident.

Coppers were higher at the start but turned mixed by midsession. A tightened supply has resulted from strikes at mines in Rhodesia and Canada, leading to predictions of a further price boost.

Aircrafts took losses. American Motors was strong. Building materials showed some plus signs. Selected issues made fair progress.

The ticker tape was late five minutes at the opening. Magma, an outstanding gainer lately, was clipped for more than a 1-point loss. Kennecott dropped about a point and Anaconda a fraction. Phelps Dodge held a fractional gain. Homestake and International Nickel were slight losers.

American Motors rose about a point. Ford eased. Other motor stocks were about unchanged.

Brunswick-Balke and U.S. Gypsum drew buying and each rose more than a point. Minute Maid was active and higher by a sizable fraction.

Lockheed dropped a point as the company's chairman said orders for Electra turboprop transports are short of the firm's goal. Boeing and Douglas Aircraft also were off about a point each.

U.S. Steel and American Telephone took fractional losses. Eastman Kodak and Air Reduction were off around a point.

Gains were posted by Raytheon, Sperry Rand, Allied Chemical, Texas Co., Illinois Central and American Smelting.

Long-range U. S. government bonds edged higher.

Two Fined On Liquor Count

Two men paid fines in county court this morning after pleading guilty before Judge Edgar Taylor to charges of illegal transportation of intoxicants in a dry area.

They were Andrew Sparks of McCaulley and Pedro Rodrigue Lujan of Colorado, both of which paid fines and costs of $123.50.

Both were arrested last night by Arthur Dyson and Gordon Johnson, highway patrolmen.

Sparks, 365-pound man, had two cases of wine, a case of whisky, and half a case of gin when arrested. The intoxicants were hidden in the fenders and under the hood of the car officers said. He was arrested two miles southwest of Snyder on State Highway 350.

Lujan had eight cases of quart beer, three cases of wine, and seven pints over a case of whisky. He was arrested 15 miles southwest of here on Highway 350. Coming from Big Spring, he had planned to turn near Cuthbert and take an unpaved road to Colorado City.

Gas Fumes Kill Two Men

DETROIT (AP)—Gas fumes in a forge plant furance of Chrysler Corp. killed two workmen Monday.

The two, Joseph Bonk, 42, of Hamtramck, and Fred Bradshaw, 44, of Detroit, were overcome by carbon monoxide gas while cleaning the furnace. The furance had been shut down since Friday for cooling and cleaning.

Company officials called in experts to determine the source of the gas. The furance cleaning is routine work and gas masks are not normally needed.

Another employe found Bonk and Bradshaw on the furnace floor.

Benson Plugs For Free Enterprise

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson called today for believers in the free enterprise system to battle to preserve it.

He said that the three pillars of the nation's economic system—which he named as the right to venture, the right to own, and the right to exchange—are under attack by critics of the system, self-seekers and those dedicated to its overthrow.

"This is not only the farmers' battle to be free," he said in a speech prepared for a national affairs forum conducted by the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce.

"This is your battle—the battle of everyone who believes in individual enterprise rather than bureaucrats. I am convinced that businessmen and their organizations should be as fully active politically as any other group."

Benson made a similar appeal in a speech before the Rotary Club at Seattle last week. The Agriculture Department in Washington, which issued texts of the statement, described them as "nonpolitical."

The secretary urged that business and labor to go slow in seeking higher wages and prices.

"One of the complaints I hear most frequently from farmers," Benson said, "is that prices of the goods and services that farmers must buy are out of line with prices of the products that farmers sell."

The secretary said farmers are disturbed by wage increases which "continue the spiral of inflation without an equivalent increase in productivity" and by the charges of "racketeering and hoodlumism in certain unions so widely publicized in recent months."

Persons Is Sworn In As Ike's Aide

WASHINGTON (AP)—Wilton B. (Jerry) Persons was sworn in today as President Eisenhower's chief aide. Sherman Adams, the man he succeeds, looked on solemnly from the rear of the room.

Adams, who resigned under fire Sept. 22, is staying on at the White House until there has been what he has termed an orderly transition.

A White House conference room was crowded with relatives, White House staff members, and other well-wishers as Persons, 62, formerly Adams' deputy, was sworn in with Eisenhower standing beside him. Atty. Gen. Rogers administered the oath of office.

A moment before the ceremony started Adams slipped into the back of the room and watched from there. He left as soon as the oath had been administered and did not join the line of well wishers who shook hands with Persons and congratulated him.

Persons, a retired major general, was long associated with Eisenhower in the Army. He has been on the White House staff since the President took office in 1953.

Adams quit his $22,500 a year job after hot criticism of his relations with Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine. Some Republicans contended Adams had become a major political liability.

No Injuries In Collision

No one was injured and damage was slight yesterday afternoon in a car - truck collision just outside the city limits south of here on State Highway 350.

The accident occurred in a portion of the highway now being widened and involved one of the trucks at work on the road.

Investigating were highway patrolmen Gordon Johnson and Arthur Dyson.

Involved were a 1955 DeSoto sedan driven by C. B. Sanders, 40, of 3407 Avenue L, and a 1946 Ford dump truck driven by Granville G. Martin, Sr., 47, of Fort Worth.

The dump truck was preparing to make a lefthand turn on the road, where it was to dump base materials, while the car was attempting to pass. The front of the truck struck the side of the car. Damage was estimated to be very minor to the truck and about $75 to the car.

Desk & Derrick Club To Show Movies Thursday

Two movies will be shown at the dinner meeting of the Desk and Derrick Club Thursday, Oct. 9 at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

Plans will be discussed for the exhibit which the club will sponsor during the Oil Progress Week celebration to be held in Snyder on Oct. 14.

The first movie, "Destination Earth" is a rib-tickling animated cartoon entertainment with a serious side, explaning the advantages of competition in business and in America's oil industry in particular.

The second movie, showing how the oil industry helps to keep us healthy, is a dramatic, inside story of today's pharmaceutical revolution, and how the modern drug industry is producing hydrocortisone, one of the greatest "wonder drug" discoveries of recent medical history.

All members of the club are urged to attend, and any girl working for the oil industry, or related industries, are invited to attend. Reservations for the dinner must be made by noon on October 8, by calling Pat Williams at HI-3-5403.

Justice Burton To Quit Supreme Court

By JOHN H. AVERILL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Harold H. Burton is retiring next Monday after 13 years on the Supreme Court—opening the way for the court's first Eisenhower-appointed majority.

The White House announced the 70-year-old jurist's unexpected request for retirement Monday night a short time after the court opened its regular fall term.

The announcement gave no indication of whom President Eisenhower might name as a successor to Burton or how soon he might act.

Burton, a Republican, wrote Eisenhower he was retiring "with regret but in accordance with competent medical advice and with a desire to serve the best interests of all concerned." Burton's two-paragraph letter didn't elaborate.

Approving the request, Eisenhower praised Burton for "devoted and dedicated public service."

"Our country is indebted to you," Eisenhower wrote.

Eisenhower's appointment of a successor will be his fifth to the nine-man court.

Except for his selection of Chief Justice Warren—a former California governor and twice an aspirant for the Republican presidential nomination — Eisenhower has picked Supreme Court judges from other judicial posts.

Of the three other Eisenhower appointees, Justices John M. Harlan and Charles Evans Whittaker were federal appeals court judges and Justice William J. Brennan was a member of the New Jersey State Supreme Court.

With Burton leaving, the court has five Democratic and three Republican members, the latter being Warren, Harlan and Whittaker.

Burton's retirement leaves the court with only one justice, Tom C. Clark, who was appointed by former President Truman. The other three were named by Franklin D. Roosevelt. They are Justices Hugo L. Black, Felix Frankfurter and William O. Douglas.

Burton, at the time a Republican senator from Ohio, was named by Truman to the high bench Oct. 1, 1945, when Justice Owen J. Roberts, also a Republican, retired.

Burton described his political position at the time as the center, between left and right.

"I hold to the belief that if folks get around a table and talk things through they usually can come to the right and fair answer," he said.

Discussing his years on the court, Burton told a news conference at Brunswick, Maine, two weeks ago that the school integration issue was one of two high marks during his court service.

The other, he said, "was the attempt of President Truman to take over the steel mills in 1952." Burton was with the six-justice majority that ruled against Truman in the steel case. He also joined in all the court's unanimous school segregation decisions since the original ruling in 1954.

When Truman named him to the bench, Burton was serving a two-year term as moderator of the American Unitarian Assn., a position that made him head of the church in the United States and Canada.

He was mayor of Cleveland from 1935 to 1940 just before being elected to the Senate.

In writing Eisenhower, Burton noted he is past the permissive retirement age of 70. Because of his age and service, he is entitled to retire on full pay of $35,000 a year.

Strike Of Deck Officers Is Ended

NEW YORK (AP) — A six-day strike of ship deck officers has ended and the issues in dispute will be arbitrated by AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Meany said the 1,300 strikers would resume work today.

The strike tied up about 60 American passenger and dry cargo ships berthed in Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports.

Meany announced Monday night that the strikers' union and management had agreed on the issues he is to arbitrate.

Arbitration sessions will start here Oct. 21.

The deck officers are members of the International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots. The 23 shipping companies involved are represented by the American Merchant Marine Institute.

The union president, Capt. Robert E. Durkin, announced that the union had ordered the officers to return to their ships.

The strike began shortly after last Tuesday midnight, when the work contract expired and negotiations were deadlocked.

Ships tied up by the strike included some big liners such as the United States and the America.

Wages are not an issue in the dispute. Among the union's goals are longer vacations, overtime pay for holidays, premium pay on ships that carry obnoxious cargoes and other fringe benefits.

The union, making a concession as the strike ended, agreed that four of the largest steamship lines could continue to control the hiring of captains. The union had sought to gain control over the placing of captains aboard 120 ships through union hiring halls.

Snyder FFA Team Takes Fifth Place.

The Snyder Future Farmers of America grass judging team took fifth place in the grass judging contest held during the weekend at the State Fair of Texas.

The results, released by the State Fair, showed that Skeet Dunn, one of the members of the Snyder team, was fourth high individual in the contest with 380 points out of a possible 400.

Taking first place in the contest was a team from Whitewright, while Gatesville was second, Quanah third, and Maybank fourth. The Snyder team had a score of 1,070 out of a possible 1,200.

Contestants judged 40 specimens of grasses, legumes and forbs or woods. Judging consisted of identification of each plant and giving its characteristics. Each contestant told whether the plant was an annual or perennial, whether it grows in cool or warm seasons, if it is an introduced or native plant. They also gave information on each plant's grazing value.

A total of 45 teams from throughout the state, with a total of 139 boys, participated.

This was the first judging competition of this school year for the Snyder team.

U. S. Steel Executive Says Labor's Course To Inflation

DALLAS (AP) — Organized labor's demands are a "leapfrog up the ladder of wage inflation" and threaten America's free enterprise system, a top business executive warned today.

Robert Tyson, chairman of U.S. Steel Corp.'s finance committee, said a that point spiral would lead to a "point of no return" in the business world if not choked off.

Tyson described the spiral to the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Assn. at its annual meeting here.

"When wage inflation forces cost-covering price inflation, then living costs rise, and this becomes the social justification, now recognized in many wage contracts, for still further wage inflation," Tyson said.

"Thus the vicious spiral completes its circle and continues onward. It is rooted in America's new institution of industry-wide labor monopolies."

Tyson said the need was for maximum incentive in business by the government and labor.

He said the point of no return would be reached when there was "the official abandonment in peacetime of competitive markets, which would be marked by establishment of comprehensive price and wage controls, rapidly and inevitably followed by allocation and ration controls.

"This would be the final abandonment of the system under which how much of what was to be produced, by whom, where, when and at what price of wage, was determined by the voluntary and competitive choices of free men. In its place would be substituted the arbitrary decisions of an ever more powerful bureaucracy, motivated by political expediency and self-perpetuation."

Tyson said labor leaders were forced "ever to seek unearned increases" to keep the leadership they have attained.

The two-day Mid-Continent gathering brought together men who run most of the billion-dollar business of producing oil and gas in Texas.

Directors of the organization, conferring in advance of the convention, approved yesterday arrangements to absorb the Oil Information Committee of Texas.

This group will become a standing subcommittee of the association with a separate budget for its work, executive vice president Charles Simons said.

The change is part of a move by the American Petroleum Institute, under which the committee has been operating, to decentralize its operations.

Philanthropic Gifts Near A New Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Recession or not, philanthropic gifts are piling up toward a new national high of seven billion dollars this year, says a fund-raising expert.

David Church, executive director of the American Assn. of Fund Raising Counsel, made the estimate in a speech at a meeting of the United Negro College Fund.

Corporations are channeling 34 per cent of their philanthropic activities into education, a 13 per cent increase over 10 years ago, Church said. He noted a corresponding decrease in the share that goes to welfare agencies.

Church said the statistics were compiled by the Council for Financial Aid to Education.

School alumni are giving to their alma maters at a 25 per cent higher rate this year, he said, and the treasuries of institutions for higher education are expected to swell by a total of 700 million dollars.

Church said later that the donation trend indicated the recession had slight effect on philanthropy. Total giving reached $6,700,000,000 in 1957 and $6,500,000,000 in 1956.

Funds for construction of new religious buildings may reach last year's record of 70 million dollars, he said.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

SNYDER AND LEVELLAND certainly must have set some sort of a record last Friday night when only five series of plays were run in the second half. This is compared to 12 series in the first half.

Snyder had the football twice in the last half and Levelland had it three times. But the Lobos got off 47 plays while they had possession to only 10 plays for the Tigers.

Each team had the ball six times in the first half.

Levelland used up 15 plays the first time she had the ball in the second half in driving 66 yards to a touchdown. The next time the Lobos had possession they used 17 plays in driving 76 yards to a TD. Then the third and final time Levelland had possession she had run 15 plays in driving 86 yards to the Tiger one when time ran out.

To show how slowly but surely the Lobos drove downfield each time they had the ball in the second half, only three plays of the 47 they run covered 10 yards or better. One of those "big" gainers was a 36-yard pass and lateral play on the last drive, their biggest gainer.

Thirty-eight of the 47 Lobo plays in the second half gained five yards or less, six others gained between 5 and 10 and three over 10.

Out of these 47 plays, Levelland fumbled only once, meaning they had good timing on their handoffs. Quarterback Doug Cannon committed the only bobble in the second half when he fumbled a snap-back from the center but he immediately fell on the ball to keep the Lobos in business.

Scribe Wishes To Leave Well Enough Alone

Before leaving the press box Friday, we congratulated the Levelland sports scribe, Orlin Brewer, for a fine game and then we added:

"Maybe we'll meet again before the season is out," to which Brewer quipped:

"I hope not."

Then we asked him, "you'd rather play us than Breckenridge, hadn't you? Brewer answered by saying:

"No!"

(Note: Breckenridge defeated Levelland, 40-13, a week before meeting the Tigers.)

Brewer apparently wants to settle for that 14-8 Lobo victory over the Tigers. Brewer realized that the Tigers weren't in the best of physical shape Friday, and since the Lobos had a difficult time in winning, anyway, he doesn't want to have to face the Bengals again.

Then he probably figures it would be easier to get the Lobos "up" for a rematch with Breckenridge since they have a score to settle with the Buckies.

There's a long row ahead, though, for the Tigers and Lobos if they are to meet again this season. The occasion would be the state quarterfinals.

To get to this stage, each would have to win their respective district crowns and then win their bi-district games. The Tigers have four stumbling blocks in their District 3-AAA path and probably Breckenridge in their bi-district path.

Levelland must cope with such powers as Phillips, Dumas and Littlefield in district play and Andrews, perhaps, in bi-district.

Oh well, it was a nice thought, anyway.

Borger Wins Big 'Un

Tiger football foes had a pretty good weekend last week. Only three of the 10 Tiger opponents lost but one of them came at the hands of another Tiger foe (Sweetwater 34, Big Spring 6).

Borger, the Tiger victim in the season opener, up-ended the District 3-AAAA favorite, Palo Duro, in its conference debut Friday. Borger hasn't lost a game since meeting the Tigers.

Here's the way the Tigers' 10 foes fared last week (Tiger opponents in capital letters and in order they appear on the Tiger schedule):

BORGER 12, Palo Duro 0.
ANDREWS 27, Hobbs, N.M. 6.
Sweetwater 34, BIG SPRING 6.
LEVELLAND 14, Tigers 8.
Abilene 22, BRECKENRIDGE 0.
Monterey 21, MIDLAND 8.
COLORADO CITY 8, Kermit 6.
SWEETWATER 34, Big Spring 6.
LAMESA 18, Brownfield 6.
LAKE VIEW 34, Ballinger 6.

Spahn, Ditmar Likely To Hurl Tomorrow

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Two-time Milwaukee winner Warren Spahn and New York's Art Ditmar appeared to be the logical candidates today to pitch Wednesday's sixth game of the World Series.

Bob Turley shut out the Braves 7-0 Monday. That gave the Yankees their second victory in five games and fanned their faint hopes of becoming the first team in 23 years to overcome a 3-1 handicap.

Neither manager — Fred Haney of the Braves or Casey Stengel of the Yankees — has announced his pitcher as yet. They said enough, however, to indicate that Spahn and Ditmar would get the call.

Asked whether he thought Spahn, who pitched a brilliant two-hitter in the fourth game Sunday, would be sufficiently rested by Wednesday, Haney replied: "He's got all winter to rest."

Spahn said: "I'll be ready but it's up to the manager. If he asks me, I'll try to do the job for him."

Stengel listed four possible pitching choices . . . Don Larsen, Ryne Duren, Johnny Kucks and Ditmar.

"Right now Ditmar would be the closest man that should pitch," he said. "He's better now than he was last year. I haven't had to use him in this series yet, but he's been my No. 1 early inning relief man all the way through. I didn't use him because I had no spot for him."

Stengel was especially pleased by the way his charges went to work on Lew Burdette Monday once they had the Yankee-killer on the ropes.

After touching him up for a run on Gil McDougald's third-inning home run, the Yankees routed him with four hits in the sixth. By the time lefty Juan Pizarro put out the fire, the Yankees had scored six runs and the game was no longer in doubt.

It was the first time the Yankees had been able to beat Burdette in five fall meetings.

Burdette didn't appear depressed.

"They got only one good hit off me in that sixth inning," he said, referring to Yogi Berra's double.

"As for McDougald's homer, it was a freak. The ball hit the screen alongside the foul pole. It would have been a foul ball in our park."

Burdette would have had to pitch a shutout to match Turley's brilliant work. The strong-armed right-hander doled out five hits, all singles, and fanned 10. He walked three and was in trouble only once. That was in the sixth when Bill Bruton led off with a single and Red Schoendienst followed with a soft liner to left center that had "base hit" labeled all over it. Elston Howard, playing left field in place of Norm Siebern, dashed in and made a spectacular sprawling catch in the outstanding defensive play of the series. Scrambling to his feet, he threw to Moose Skowron, doubling up Bruton. The Braves did not threaten after that.

Auburn Takes Over Top Spot In Poll

By The Associated Press

Auburn's Tigers, back in the familiar spot at the top of the national college football rankings, take off Kentucky next Saturday in an effort to become the first team to hold that place for more than a week this season.

Auburn, national champion last year, was rated only fifth in the preseason Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters. Ohio State was picked as No. 1. In just two weeks those positions have been reversed.

Ohio State slid after its second straight close call, a belated 12-7 decision over Washington.

Auburn climbed to the top with rather impressive victories over Tennessee and Chattanooga, drawing a rush of first-place votes from the experts to lead Oklahoma by 99 points this week.

According to the voting, the Game of the Week should be the meeting between third-ranked Army and fourth-ranked Notre Dame at South Bend, Ind., Saturday. Another meeting of top 10 teams pits Michigan State, No. 9, against Pittsburgh, No. 10, at East Lansing, Mich.

Auburn drew 43 first-place votes from a total of 107 ballots this week and 813 points on the usual scoring basis of 10 for first, 9 for second, etc. Oklahoma trailed with 24 first and 714 points.

Behind them were Army, Notre Dame, Ohio State, Wisconsin, Mississippi, Clemson, Michigan State and Pitt in order. Although the ranking order was completly shuffled, the only newcomer to the top 10 was Pitt, replacing Iowa.

The leading teams, with first-place votes in parentheses:

1.	Auburn (43)	813
2.	Oklahoma (24)	714
3.	Army (7)	678
4.	Notre Dame (7)	654
5.	Ohio State (8)	589
6.	Wisconsin (6)	456
7.	Mississippi (1)	375
8.	Clemson (4)	301
9.	Michigan State (1)	248
10.	Pittsburgh (2)	214
	The second 10:

Changes Made For Open Qualifying

NEW YORK (AP) There will be no more of that annual muddle on golf courses across the country when it comes time to qualify for the National Open.

The U. S. Golf Assn. today adopted a new plan whereby local 36-hole qualifying round on May 18 at 70 locations will provide a field of about 500 for sectional qualifying June 1 over the same distance.

In the past, qualifying has been done strictly on a sectional level, with upwards of 1,200 competing for 162 spots. The new plan will cut the final field to 150, including those exempt from sectional qualifying rounds.

Locations under consideration for the local rounds include four each in New York and California, and three each in Florida, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Texas.

The Open is slated for June 11-13.

Tigers Drop To Ninth In Dallas Poll

DALLAS (AP) — Abilene, although once beaten, bobbed up first among Class AAAA football teams today in the weekly poll of Texas sports writers by the Dallas News.

Sweetwater, which two weeks ago handed Abilene its first defeat in 51 schoolboy games, took over top spot in Class AAA.

Both changes stemmed from Abilene's 22-0 rout of highly regarded Breckenridge last week. The victory shoved the Eagles past idle Wichita Falls in Class AAAA and it dumped Breckenridge from No. 1 ranking in Class AAA.

Terrell held onto first in Class AA and White Oak kept top rating in Class A.

Class AAAA—1. Abilene. 2. Wichita Falls. 3. Dallas Highland Park. 4. Corpus Christi Miller. 5. San Antonio Jefferson. 6. Austin. 7. Orange. 8. Dallas Jefferson. 9. Odessa. 10. Longview and San Angelo (tie).

Class AAA—1. Sweetwater. 2. Breckenridge. 3. Cleburne. 4. Carthage. 5. Kingsville. 6. Weatherford. 7. Levelland. 8. Killeen. 9. Snyder. 10. Phillips.

Class AA—1. Terrell. 2. Abernathy. 3. Stamford. 4. Quanah. 5. Marlin. 6. Bonham. 7. Brady. 8. Electra. 9. Bowie. 10. McCamey.

Yogi Sets 2 New Marks In 5th Game

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Figuring the World Series:

Bob Turley is only the second pitcher in World Series history to strike out 10 or more batters in two series games. The Yankee right-hander fanned 11 Dodgers in the sixth game of 1956 and set down 10 Braves Monday. The only other pitcher to fan 10 or more in two games was Walter Johnson.

The Yankees will be out to snap a four-game series winning streak at home by the Braves Wednesday. Milwaukee won its last two games against New York in 1957 and the first two in County Stadium this year.

In addition to tying one series record — most hits (59) and setting another most total bases (97) Yogi Berra of the Yanks also has broken the record for most times at bat in the series. He has batted 215 times. The old mark was 199 by Joe DiMaggio.

McDougald's third inning homer Monday put him in seventh place in the all-time series listings. Gil has six. Babe Ruth leads with 15 followed by Mickey Mantle 11, Lou Gehrig and Duke Snider 10 each, Joe DiMaggio 8 and Goose Goslin 7.

The Yanks are out-slugging the Braves. New York has a slugging mark of .361 with 57 total bases in 158 times at bat. Milwaukee has an average of .358 with 62 total bases in 173 trips.

By scoring six runs in the sixth inning Monday, the Yanks tied a series record. The New York Giants, in the third game of 1933, and the Boston Braves, in the fifth game of 1903, also had six runs in the sixth frame.

Warm Weather Due For Sixth Game

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Summer temperatures, 65 to 70 degrees, are forecast for Milwaukee Wednesday afternoon when the New York Yankees play the Milwaukee Braves in the sixth game of the World Series.

The weatherman predicted partly cloudy skies, with winds shifting to northeasterly.

Change Of Ball Pays Off For McDougald

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Gil McDougald doesn't accuse Lew Burdette of throwing a spitter.

Bust just before the Yankee second baseman hit a Burdette pitch for a third inning home run in Monday's 7-0 New York victory, he asked Plate Umpire Al Barlick to inspect the ball.

Barlick looked the ball over carefully, threw it out of play and flipped another to the pitcher.

Ike Is Eager To Wage Battle In Campaigns

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower apparently is eager to lay his prestige heavily on the line in a stepped-up congressional campaign he says may decide the fate of "moderate government."

His White House pep meeting with GOP leaders today produced strong signs that he will bear down on the twin issues of socialism and higher taxes in a forthcoming chins-up tour to stir up Republican voters.

At the same time, he made it clear he is ready to take on all Democratic critics of the manner in which he has handled the crisis over Quemoy and Matsu.

GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn reported Eisenhower was "very vigorous" in condemning those who contend the Nationalist-held islands aren't worth fighting for. Alcorn quoted the President as saying his critics missed the point that the principle of halting possible Communist aggression is involved.

However, a joint statement issued by the conferees after a 2½-hour session with Eisenhower laid heaviest stress on the contention that continued Democratic control of Congress would point the country "down the left lane which leads inescapably to socialism."

Alcorn said the statement was revised to include some presidential suggestions. This led to an assumption that Eisenhower may be pigeon-holing his theme of "Modern Republicanism" for the time being in favor of an attack on the old-line GOP's target of "socialism."

In the past, some Republicans have grumbled that Eisenhower himself was too much of a New Dealer to suit them because of his proposals for expansion of social and welfare services of the government.

The presidentially approved statement pictured a black future for private enterprise if the Democrats win in November.

It said that because the Democratic party is "dominated by certain politico-labor bosses and left-wing extremists" any future Congress controlled by the party "would be far to the left of the New and Fair Deals."

"Taxation for political purposes would again become a harsh reality with an increased Democratic majority in Congress," the GOP leaders said. "Imposition of higher federal taxes to finance grandiose spending schemes would become a reality."

Alcorn quoted Vice President Nixon as expressing the belief at the conference that peace and economic recovery are the principal campaign issues.

In this connection, Alcorn reported that Chairman Andrew F. Schoeppel (Kan) of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee said he had found "a tremendous reservoir of confidence in the President in the handling of foreign affairs."

Sen. Schoeppel also said he had found that the people generally believe the President handled the economic recession in the right way," Alcorn said.

Financial Woes Could Lead To Special Session, Says Fly

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN (AP)—The tough money-raising job faced by the next Legislature could bring a deadlock and a special session, says Chairman William Fly of the Tax Study Commission.

The Victoria senator made the prediction in releasing tax studies Nos. 4 and 5 in the series being prepared by the Texas Research League.

No. 4 details the taxes paid by individuals. No. 5 outlines taxes paid on business, except for the severance and production taxes on oil, gas and other natural resources.

"So much of our money comes from these two tax sources that the commission feels it essential that special reports on each be prepared," Fly said.

Fly was pessimistic over prospects of a quick solution of the state financial problem. The state will have to find at least 140 million dollars in new money to keep spending at present levels, he said, predicting that the task will have to be done at a special session.

"We will be lucky if we pass a tax bill in the regular session," Fly said. "I believe there will be a deadlock and a special session."

No matter what tax bills may be proposed, the outlook is for a stubborn battle. Business groups appearing before the commission have indicated they will back a sales tax and fight corporate income taxes. Labor and other groups have vowed a lastditch fight against a sales tax. Labor has urged a corporation income tax.

Gov. Daniel in a speech at Dallas yesterday renewed his campaign pledge against either a sales or an income tax.

The Tax Study Commission was created by the last Legislature to make a complete survey of the state's fiscal situation. It was instructed not to make recommendations.

Fly, asked if he thought members of the House Revenue and Taxation Committee would bother to read or digest the material, replied:

"I hope every member of the Legislature will make a careful study of this material."

The state is facing a fiscal crisis, not only because of an immediate deficit outlook at current rates of spending, but because the increasing population and general growth projects the need for more money far into the future. In an earlier report, the commission underlined the fact that the deficit will become chronic if new sources of revenue are not found.

In giving the results of its latest research, the commission reported these possible new revenue sources not now tapped:

1. New selective sales taxes.
2. A general retail sales tax.
3. A personal income tax.
4. A value-added or "adjusted business receipts" tax.
5. Gross income and receipts tax on business.
6. A corporation net income tax.

Any of these suggestions would being a sharp fight in the Legislature — as will almost any new tax proposal.

The new reports estimate the take which might be expected from some of the now-unused revenue sources.

A one per cent retail sales tax with no major exemptions would net 60 million dollars a year. With food for human use and medical presciptions exempt, it would bring 37 million dollars a year.

Personal income tax yields would range from 28 to 149 million dollars annually. Business income taxes outlined would produce 16 to 43 million dollars annually.

Scouters Set Roundtable For Thursday

Plans for distribution of emergency handbooks by scouts, a part of the 1958 Safety Good Turn, will be discussed Thursday night at the monthly roundtable meeting of the Lone Buffalo District of the Boy Scouts of America here.

The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the high school.

Bill Zimmerman, district health and safety committee chairman, will head the discussion on plans for the distribution of about 5,000 emergency handbooks to residents in Snyder by Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, and Explorers. The youths will distribute the handbooks Saturday.

The distribution here will be a part of a nation-wide distribution of about 50 million handbooks Saturday.

At the Thursday night meeting, definite assignments will be made to unit leaders for the delivery of the handbooks, with the city zoned for the assignments. Zimmerman's committee has also arranged for delivery of about 3,000 handbooks in Colorado City, through A. C. Benson, vice-chairman of the committee.

The 1958 Safety Good Turn has already included water safety and home safety programs.

At the Thursday night meeting, Harold Lacik, assistant district commissioner in charge of Boy Scout and Explorer roundtables, will have a program involving unit leaders.

Joe Dicus, assistant district commissioner in charge of the Cub leader roundtable, will have a program on the Fall Roundup, as well as demonstrations on opening and closing ceremonies and things to do in dens and Cub packs. Mrs. Frank Cabiness will aid Dicus and demonstrations and will lead a discussion on handicrafts, according to the theme of the month.

Woman Hiker Starts Fire

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A woman hiker said she accidentally started a brush blaze that burned 250 acres and killed a fire fighter, authorities reported.

County Fire Capt. Dan Talbot identified her as Mrs. Elaine DeSimone, 30, Sylmar, Calif.

He said she told him she dropped a match while hiking with her husband John and their 6-year-old son. She said they became frightened when flames spread and they drove off in their pickup truck. Another hiker took the license number and reported it.

Sheriff's Sgt. William Carlberg said the case will be submitted to the district attorney's office for determination of what if any action is to be taken. Mrs. DeSimone was not held.

Australia Sentences Its Top Aborigine

ALICE SPRINGS, Australia (AP) — Australia's best known aborigine, Albert Namatjira, was sentenced to six months at hard labor today for supplying liquor to fellow tribesmen who aren't allowed it.

Namatjira, 56, was granted full Australian citizenship rights two years ago in recognition of his atristic ability. That gave him the right to buy liquor. But Australian citizens are also liable to jail if they supply liquor to an aborigine who is a ward of the state, which most aborigines are.

OUR VIEW

Teamsters Near A Cycle

A lot of mail comes into a newspaper office, most of it destined for the scrap heap because it originates as "ideas" for working an "angle" to get publicity for various and sundry products and projects.

Just this date our own quota from the postal service contains items ranging from a notice that National Cat Week is set for Nov. 2-8 to a well-filled envelope from the Soviet Embassy.

Missing for several months, however, has been a magazine "The Teamster," which used to come with the regularity of natures spelled backward, or a box of cereal. Inside, it used to have a photograph of a smiling corpulent individual, who rode herd on the giant Teamsters Union and always wrote a piece for each issue of the magazine.

The individual, of course, was one Dave Beck, who subsequently got his picture published outside the union's magazine while squaring off with congressional investigative committees, grand juries, etc.

Eventually, Dave Beck was succeeded as head of the Teamsters Union by one Jim Hoffa, who has garnered his share of space in various publications in much the same manner as his predecessor.

Even now, there is talk of seeking nullification of the action which catapulted Hoffa into the driver's seat of the big union. It would require a court order, and there is a movement afoot to get same, if possible.

There are those who suggest that the Teamsters Union leaped from the frying pan into the fire when Hoffa was elected to seek Beck.

Now, Victor Riesel, the columnist, points out that a court order unseating Hoffa might well produce a leap back into the frying pan. If the action which elected Hoffa is thrown out by the courts, it would mean that Beck is the last legally-elected president of the Teamsters Union.

How's that for going around in circles? And how's that for abandoning the ridiculous in favor of the absurd and then getting plumb ridiculous all over again.

Business Taking To Leasing Plans

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Leasing equipment for a factory or store instead of buying outright has won new adherents in the recession and today is reported more appealing than ever to businessmen eyeing the recovery under way.

It is the latest comer to this field of business management, joining the better known forms of leasing cars, trucks or real estate.

Tax laws have given leasing one of its biggest boosts. But the rate at which automation and scientific research have made older machinery obsolescent is tempting still more companies to look into the leasing method of financing the retooling of plants with expensive but competitive machinery.

Long-term equipment leasing (for three years or more) has grown since 1950 and is now estimated to be a 166 million dollar a year business. The present trend in business planning leads leasing's friends to predict it will reach the billion dollar a year mark within five years.

Whole plants, or divisions or departments are included in the activity as well as special installations in existing setups.

The tax laws enter in because high rates on company-owned equipment cut down the cost of leasing. Tax depreciation schedules also mean that in this fast-paced age machinery may go obsolete before it can be written off the books. To buy the new equipment to meet competition, the treasurer must dig up new working capital and this has stayed pretty tight for most companies since the war.

While total net working capital has climbed to a record 115¾ billion dollars in the latest available report, the ration of cash, government securities and receivables to current debt runs at $1.20 to $1. At the end of the war the working capital ratio was $1.55 to $1.

To see what business thinking was in this field, the Foundation for Management Research, Chicago, queried 1,837 companies from coast to coast. These include 44 lines of manufacturing, wholesale and retail firms, with total gross assets of 400 million dollars. Individual annual sales of the companies range from $250,000 to a billion dollars.

The survey specifically excluded cars, trucks and real estate and any equipment leasing for less than three years.

The foundation reports to the United States Leasing Corp., San Francisco, that in 1950 only 17 of the 1,837 companies were leasing some equipment. By last year 89 were leasing equipment and 71 of these were leasing equipment worth $50,000 or more.

The future looks brighter. The foundation says 833, or 45 per cent, reported they are considering leasing in future, with 483 planning to do so within five years. About half plan to lease equipment valued at more than $100,000.

The San Francisco firm interprets the survey to mean that while now about 2 per cent of total production equipment is on a long-term lease, within another five years 10 per cent of it will be.

The main reason, it thinks, is that industry is more eager to preserve liquid working capital and more loathe to raise capital by diluting present ownership through the sale of more stock.

Blimp Walking Is Suggested As Fad

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

When the hula hoop craze finally burns itself out in an epidemic of dislocated hips, the fad makers of American might look into blimp walking as a replacement item.

Bizarre, time-consuming, dandy escapism for old and young, blimp walking could become bigger than bingo. Bird walking and girl walking aren't even in the same league.

I was introduced to this little known sport when assigned to cover the recent flight of the Navy blimp, "Snow Goose," to the North Pole region.

The first of several lessons took place on a gravel runway in the Arctic with pot holes deep as oil drums, mud like an inch-thick layer of peanut butter and puffles colder than a muskox's metatarsal.

It takes 50 men, 15 on each of the two forward mooring lines and 10 each on the lines amidship to nuzzle along the block-long silver bag puffed up with more than a million cubic feet of helium.

Blimp walking is done in two directions: toward the mooring mast or away from it, depending on where you want to go and where the wind wants to take you. Frequently these aims are in conflict. Then you either drag the blimp or it drags you.

It's a little like trying to get an elephant through a subway turnstile with a bent token.

Blimps are not exactly flown like a kite. They have engines for taking off and landing, but their mastadonic dimensions require some chaperoning. The technique is similar to berthing a big ocean liner: lines are cast off and grabbed and everyone hopes for the best.

"Snow Goose," always seemed to object to being led by the noose on a leash. Up on Cornwallis Island, 500 miles above the Arctic Circle, she threw a takeoff tantrum and veered off the runway into a ditch. Her right front landing gear held fast in the permafrost beneath the mud, and a distinguished ground handling crew, volunteers all (carefully selected by the Navy pronoun pool: "You, you and you), set about extricating her.

The party included, among others, a Columbia University geologist; a Navy geographer and glaciologist, a commodore from the Canadian navy, the commandant of the RCAF base on that remote island, two cooks in crisp white uniforms, assorted commanders and lieutenant commanders, and an Associated Press reporter, namely myself.

Some of the best brains north of the Arctic Circle were on that mooring line when the pull signal was given. Some of the broadest bottoms on either side of the circle were immersed in the mud when it broke.

Blimp walking went over big. Everybody got in on it, mainly because there was nobody else.

Oklahoma Firm Cuts Price On Crude Oil

ENID, Okla. (AP)—Champlin Oil Co. reduced crude prices 14 cents to $3.01 a barrel today.

It said the differential will be increased from 2 to 3 cents per degree of gravity on oil below 36 degrees gravity.

Rangers Perform In Dramatic Role

(Editor's note: This is the second of a five-part series about the Texas Rangers, one of the peace officer organiations being honored during Law Enforcement Appreciation Week Oct. 5-11)

By The Associated Press

One of the most dramatic periods in the history of the Texas Rangers began in 1874 with the creation of the Frontier Battalion.

When the battalion was created bandits and cattle rustlers were wrecking the Rio Grande Valley area. Indians were ravaging the western border and an increasing number of cattle outlaws were robbing and looting settlements.

To meet the crisis, the frontier battalion was created. John B. Jones was commissioned a major and placed in command of the outfit.

Thirty days after Jones took over he had five companies strung along the western frontier from the Red River to the Rio Grande. At the end of six months Jones reported his Rangers had engaged in 15 Indian fights and recovered 200 cattle.

By August, 1876 Indian raids ceased to be as important as the white outlaws. The outlaws robbed travelers, held up stages, stole horses and plundered for anything of value. There were so many outlaws that a directory containing 3,000 names of wanted men was prepared.

Jones issued orders to the Rangers calling for the suppression of lawlessness and crime as the Rangers' most important task. Fighting against outlaws, they routed cattle rustlers, stopped feuds, and captured or killed marauders and bandits. One by one they scratched out the names in the directory.

Jones commanded the battalion from 1874 to 1879. He died at 46. The battalion was abolished in 1901. The Rangers continued to operate under the adjutant general until they became part of the Department of Public Safety in 1935.

The Rangers will be honored Oct. 10 at a banquet in Fort Worth sponsored by the Texas Law Enforcement Foundation.

Crude Price Is Reduced

HOUSTON (AP)—The Texas Co. reduced the posted price yesterday for crude oil purchased in the Sherman area of Grayson County, putting a new top pf $3.01 per barrel on 40-44.9 gravity crude.

The new price represented a seven - cent reduction and was effective at 7 a.m.

The posting also carried a two-cent reduction per degree on gravity up to 55 gravity. Crude in the 36-40 gravity range drew a two-cent per degree cut also, and below 36-gravity was reduced three cents per degree.

A company spokesman termed the action a competitive adjustment.

Junior Editors Quiz on SPORTS

QUESTION: How fast can anyone pitch a baseball?

* * *

ANSWER: Pitching is the most important single factor in a baseball game. But boys who aspire to be pitchers will be glad to know that practice and skill are as important as physical strength. The pitching arm is important, but if you throw a hard ball with reasonable speed, you can perfect the mechanics and improve your pitching ability.

Some of the best professional pitchers throw a ball that travels more than 100 miles an hour over a distance of 50 feet.

When you're delivering a fast ball, grip it tightly, with index and middle fingers on top of the ball, and the thumb underneath. When it leaves your hand, it will roll from under your fingers and have a strong back-spin.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: Work on a smooth, easy delivery of your ball, because faulty form beats a pitcher more than does the batter, and causes arm ailments too. The young man above has wound up, stretched, and now is getting drive into the motion with the leg lift. He'll stride forward, shift his weight from rear to front foot, pitch the ball and follow through. How would you analyze your pitching ability?

* * *

(Jim Harman, Rowayton, Conn., receives a $10 award for this question. If you have one, send it on a postcard to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures, in care of this newspaper, and you may win an award. Tomorrow: Are American boys getting bigger?) 10-7

Students In Makeshift Classrooms

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP — Students of Clinton High School return to makeshift, integrated classes today pending transfer — probably Thursday—to a vacated school building at nearby Oak Ridge.

Meanwhile, the Anderson County School Board voted in executive session to send three of its members to Washington later this week for a conference with President Eisenhower on the Clinton problem.

"We're sending three members," said School Supt. James A. Newman, "but we don't know which three or what we will say to the President. We're still working on procedure."

Three predawn explosions rocked the high school last Sunday, wrecking the interior. Damage has been estimated at $300,000.

Since then, rewards totaling more than $60,000 have been offered for the arrest and conviction of those responsible.

As FBI and local authorities investigate the bombing, the 850 white and 11 Negro students will attend classes in the undamaged gymnasium, an elementary school the city recreation center and a National Guard armory.

Linden Elementary School, where the students will be transferred, is six miles to the west at Oak Ridge. The school, which had been vacant, was made available by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Clinton High School was integrated racially in 1956 under federal court orders, and became the first state-supported high school in Tennessee to mix the races. Sporadic violence accompanied the first year of race mixing, but last year and this had been quiet.

British Back Fund Increase

NEW DELHI (AP) — Britain, West Germany and other nations threw their support today behind a U.S. proposal to increase the International Monetary Fund.

The fund supports trade in the non-Communist world with a pool of the various foreign currencies from which nations can borrow when short of exchange to pay for imports.

Derick Heathcoat Amory, British chancellor of the exchequer, proposed at the annual meeting of the fund that its 67 member governments increase their quotas of contribution to the fund by 50 per cent.

Heathcot Amory's speech heightened the general belief that an increase of fund quotas is likely. The members were expected to direct their Executive Board to study the situation and report by December.

Lebanon Mob Turned Back

BEIRUT (AP — A club-swinging mob of several hundred today attempted to grab control of the coastal village where President Faud Chenab lives. Lebanese security forces smashed the attempt.

It was the 16th day of the general strike and rioting which is being led by anti-Nasser Phalangist party members. Most of their wrath is directed at the Cabinet formed by Premier Rashid Karami, who helped lead the rebellion against former President Camille Chamoun, a Maronite Catholic. The Phalangists, who are Christians, are demanding more representation in the Cabinet.

More Terrorism

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — In a rising tide of terrorism by Greek Cypriots, two British soldiers, and a Turkish Cypriot policeman were killed during the night.

Seven soldiers were wounded in the four ambushes in different parts of this east Mediterranean island.

Seawolf's Crew Works As A Team

Editor's Note — Albert W. Durkee, 28, machinist's mate first class, of Acton, Mass., was aboard the atomic submarine Seawolf when she set a 60-day underwater record. Here is his story.

By M.M. 1. Albert W. Durkee
Written for The Associated Press

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP)—We are a stick-together outfit on this ship. We live together well. And that's the main reason we were able to set the record.

It was fabulous the way the guys got along with not a bit of trouble. This crew has always been that way—we're a group of adults.

It was a good trip. We're happy about setting the record, but I don't think any of us have a desire to do it again. Of course if it's broken by someone else, then that's coming up another channel.

We didn't get really excited about setting the record until we passed up the Skate's mark of 31 days, 5½ hours.

Then we really started trying to set a record that would last a while.

Before that, we passed a milestone without even knowing it. Several days went by before we realized that we had gone past Jules Verne's "20,000 Leagues Beneath the Sea."

But it isn't surprising we didn't notice it. Sometimes, when you're under the water and you can't tell night from day, you even get your sleeping hours mixed up. You think it's noon and it turns out to be midnight.

We worked a normal watch routine all the time—four hours on duty, eight off.

The first week under water seems to be always busy while you get your machinery all tuned up and the kinks ironed out.

Then after that first week is over, things begin to get into a routine where you can begin spending a lot of time on the hobbying bit.

I tried to break into electronics this trip, something I had never done before. I got my instruction from some of our experts, my own field being mechanical.

I brought along a do-it-yourself kit to build a hi-fi amplifier. I thought it would be a tough job, but I got it done in five days and that left me without my hobby project for the rest of the trip.

So I turned to doing quite a bit of reading. And I got started with a little bit of leatherwork, making a knife case.

We had two or three people who do real well at painting. They copied photographs of their shipmates' families and made oil portraits for them.

Leathercraft was big too. And there were a lot of games going—monopoly, cribbage, bingo, pinochle, chess, checkers.

We wore two monopoly sets to a frazzle. Dozens of decks of cards got so worn we had to throw them away.

A lot of the people aboard wrote a short letter every day or made a continuous letter. Then they swapped them with their correspondents when they got ashore. This is common amongst the married "Johns," of whom I am not one.

But the off-time was not all games and letter writing. Many people worked on correspondence courses, including those that would advance them in their Navy jobs and those that will get them high school diplomas.

A lot of us attended voluntary lectures given by each other on a rotating basis on subjects relating to naval tradition, customs and history.

And during the on-duty hours, we spent time educating the 10 or so new submarine sailors aboard on the way we do things on the Seawolf.

Some people ask us about how we got along and how the food and air were over such a long period.

Well, I can't remember more than two cross words being put together at any one time. There was absolutely no antagonism.

The food was wonderful. It compares favorably with the better restaurants around the country. Some of our cooks were taught the finer art of fancy cooking in hotels. We even get some wine cooking occasionally.

Our air down there was perfect. It was regulated all the time to ideal conditions. It was a lot better than it was when we were down for 30 days last May.

We were in our own little world, but we stayed in touch with what went on outside because we got newscasts and the ball scores.

We even had our own cartoonists and our own gags.

The amateur cartoonists spoofed any little mistakes or accomplishments that any of us made. One fellow even made me up a set of spurs so when things got a little rough I could ride them down like a Texas cowboy.

As for the gags, one of our favorites was to call a man via voice tube. When he put his ears to the tube to get the message, he got a surprise instead. Somebody up above poured a cup of cold water down the tube and into his ear.

The humor helped pass the time.

Finally, we started looking homeward — toward the Thames River in New London. When you start that homeward trip, things begin to get a little more excited. Everybody becomes interested in when you're going to get there.

The closer we got to surfacing, the more tension built up. At that particular moment, I was pretty tense — not because of surfacing, but because we were going to do something different. It was a big change from just staying down all the time.

And once we got up, it was an even bigger change. Unlike past trips, we were met by photographers and the press, who were hovering in helicopters and a blimp over the spot where we were surfacing. A press boat was also in the area.

For most of us, the most anxious moments of the trip were when we were pulling up to the dock. We wanted to look our best and make a good landing for our families and the dignitaries watching us.

After 60 days of operating submerged point and maneuvering alongside the dock indicated to everybody present that we had not forgotten the lessons we learned on the conventional type sub and brought to this new truly submersible submarine Seawolf.

No Limit Due On FM Roads

DALLAS (AP)—Marshall Formby, chairman of the Highway Commission, said today he did not think the Legislature would set a limit on farm-to-market road mileage.

Formby was a speaker today at the Texas County Judges and Commissioners Assn.

Formby pointed out there is a reasonable limit to the number of miles of farm to market roads the Highway Department can pave, perpetuate and maintain.

"As to what this exact figure is, no one knows at this time," he said. "I am sure that we cannot stop and should not stop at the 35,000-mile figure for there are still more than 10,000 miles of unpaved rural roads in Texas which carry more than 100 vehicles per day."

Formby also said he thought taxpayers were being gouged by a new state law which requires the state to pay for movement of utilities in right-of-way relocations.

Children Suffocate As Steam Pours In

DETROIT (AP) — Three-year-old Tavanna Patillo and her brother, Kenard, 2, suffocated Monday night when steam poured out of a pipe and filled their bedroom as they slept.

Their mother, Ardina, 20, told police she left the children alone for a few minutes to go to the grocery.

Police Sgt. Clifford Briney said the steam apparently escaped from a screw-type valve left open on a steam pipe in the bedroom.

Appeal May Hinge On Lawyer's Card

AUSTIN (AP)—Whether an attorney who does not pay his State Bar dues is a competent lawyer according to law is a question that may determine the appeal of a man sentenced to death for murder.

The Court of Criminal Appeals will consider a motion for rehearing Wednesday in the appeal of Eusebio Regaldo Martinez, assessed death by a Midland jury in the Oct. 14, 1957, slaying of a nine-months-old baby. Martinez pleaded insanity at the trial through his court-appointed attorney, Merritt Hines of Midland. The jury decided he was sane at the time of the killing.

The trial court decision was upheld June 18 by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

In a motion for rehearing filed July 1, Rex Emerson, "attorney for appeal only for appellant," alleged that the Midland court erred in not charging the jury to determine whether the defendant had any specific intent to kill.

On Sept. 16, Emerson filed a supplemental motion saying the case should be reversed because Martinez was tried and convicted of a capital offense "without the court appointing him a competent qualified and experienced lawyer."

Emerson's brief contended Hines "was not listed on the rolls of the State Bar of Texas as an attorney" at the time of the trial. He quoted a portion of the State Bar Act providing that members of the State Bar who do not pay their dues within 90 days must have their names stricken from the State Bar rolls.

"The act also states that a person who has been dropped from the rolls who practices law in this state shall be guilty and such practice shall constitute unauthorized practice of law," said the brief filed in the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Attached to the supplemental brief was a certificate from Mrs. Florence Baker, bookkeeper for the State Bar which said Hines had not paid his State Bar fees since June 1, 1946, and had been dropped from the rolls Sept. 1, 1946.

Daily Crude Flow Drops

TULSA (AP)—A big decline in Texas dropped daily crude production 77,250 barrels to 7,002,150 the week ended Oct. 4, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Texas' outpuqt fell 89,025 barrels to 2,801,475 to account for well over the net loss. Oklahoma was down 7,900 barrels to 561,300.

Louisiana advanced 6,625 barrels to 891,275.

The Journal estimated 1958 production at 1,821,973,000 barrels compared to 2,013,050,701 a year ago.

Colorado fell 400 barrels to 130,900. Mexico rose 2,225 barrels to 281,325, and Arkansas, 1,125 to 74,725.

Officers Intercept Shipment Of Heroin

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—U.S. customs agents and federal, state and city narcotics agents nabbed a Mexican national yesterday as she stepped off a bus from Piedras Negras, Mexico, with $10,000 worth of heroin.

Police Lt. Charles Doerr said the woman, a mother of four, pulled the heroin from her brassiere and threw it away as narcotics agents encircled her. It landed at the feet of a state agent.

Doerr said the heroin apparently was rushed to San Antonio to keep the dope business alive after Friday's mass raids.
