The 1985 edition of AJRA marks the 10th year that Snyder has hosted the event, and Mrs. Hataway's singing of the National Anthem has become a tradition of the rodeo. Her wardrobe this year is designed and made by "Two Friends" of Fluvanna.

Young cowboys and cowgirls from all over began arriving in Snyder Sunday for the rodeo finals. Most hotel and motels are reporting being full for rodeo week.

AJRA Rodeo finals is co-sponsored and coordinated by the AJRA committee of the Snyder chamber of commerce, headed by Ralph Miller.

On Wednesday, the schedule is the same except for a 2 p.m. meeting of the Cowboys Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Guest speaker will be Dennis McKinley of Keller, Texas.

Performances will continue at 8 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday. On Friday, Miss AJRA for 1986 will be crowned and presentation of award saddles will be made.

The finals will be held Saturday night.

Six women are competing for Miss AJRA. Those entered are Leslie Ward of Snyder, Rebecca Powers of Sonora, Karen Snodgrass of Texico, N. M., Angie Almand of Waxahachie, Traci Christenson of Hewitt and Karen Cochran of Aspermont.

County taxes will increase 13 percent

During Monday's regular meeting, county auditor Bernard Bartels recommended a proposed 1986 tax rate of .1765 based upon the county's tentative 1986 budget.

During 1985, the county tax rate was 15.5 cents per $100 valuation. Since they completed the bonded indebtedness pay cycle for Cogdell Memorial Hospital last May, a rate of 14.4 cents would generate the same amount of tax dollars in 1986 as required during 1985.

The effective tax rate increase, based on a formula used by the Scurry County Appraisal District is 22.8 percent. Bartels pointed out that the increase for the average taxpayer will actually be only 13 percent over last year's tax rate of .1558–an increase of 2.7 cents per $100 valuation. "We are actually going to collect less in terms of dollars in 1986 than in 1983-84. And we will still be one of the lowest in terms of county tax rates in the state," he added.

Estimated tax collection for 1985 stood at $3,787,093 with estimated expenditures of $12,047,240. The 1986 proposed budget lists estimated tax revenue at $3,859,324 with expenditures at $11,995,253. Bartels noted that if the county could collect 100 percent of taxes owed for 1986, $3,927,376 would be generated.

The commissioners noted that even though the hospital's bonded indebtedness has been retired, the continued decline in oil valuations is forcing the tax increase. Bartels added that valuations were 24 percent higher "about three or four years ago."

Bartels called holding 1985 taxes at the 1984 rate "probably a mistake. An increase last year would have meant a smaller increase this year."

A public hearing on the proposed rate– a procedure required by law — is set for Aug. 26 at 5 p.m. in the commissioners courtroom. The county's proposed 1986 budget is available for public inspection in the county clerk's office.

County commissioners also reviewed an outside audit of county 1984 finances by Anderson, Vestal and West, P.C. The firm's audit indicates that the county spent $3,147,460 from the general operating fund while generating $3,525,886 in revenues.

The special revenue fund — a fund with specific revenue sources that are legally restricted to expenditures for specific purposes — showed income of $1,489,165 with expenditures of $1,442,304.

The debt service fund — monies set aside for general long term debt– generated $673,736 in revenue while spending $695,870.

Commissioners voted to approve the report after discussing a deficit in the Cogdell Hospital operating budget. In 1984, the hospital's operating revenues totaled $5,664,888 while its expenditures stood at $6,815,988. Non-operating revenues– interest on investments and ad valorem taxes-- added an additional $425,217. The hospital's 1984 deficit stands at $725,883.

Commissioners noted that depreciation costs cited in the report were higher than monies actually used during the year. The firm listed $477,232. The court contended that since only $287,994 were actually used, the deficit stands at $438,089.

The firm's audit is available for public inspection in the county auditor's office.

$5.4 million budget approved

Western Texas College trustees approved the budget for 1985-86 and set the tax rate for that same period Monday night during its regular August meeting.

Trustees gave final approval for a $5.4 million budget–a spending document that is down some $86,000 from the previous year.

The tax rate was set at $.0869 per $100 of valuation. Of that figure, $.0121 is for bonds issued July 13, 1970 and Feb. 1, 1972 and $.0748 is for the support and maintenance of the Scurry County Junior College District.

Trustees also approved the following discounts for residents who pay their taxes early: October, three percent; November, two percent; and December, one percent. No discount will be allowed after Dec. 31.

In other action, bids for the greenhouse for the golf course/-landscape technology program were tabled pending further study.

Dan Osborn was also employed as counselor. He will join the counseling staff at WTC at the start of the fall semester.

A graduate of Lamesa High School, Osborn received the bachelor of arts degree from the University of Texas. He earned the master of arts degree from North Texas State University with a major in counseling and student personnel services.

As a graduate student at NTSU, he helped with workshops for high school seniors exploring vocational and educational opportunities. He also served an internship with the Texas Rehabilitation Commission in Fort Worth.

Osborn has held positions with the Texas Rehabilitation Commission, the Texas Department of Human Resources and the Texas Baptist Children's Home. He most recently has been associated with Builder's Square in Lubbock.

During the president's report, Dr. Don Newbury reported that with two weeks remaining before the start of the fall semester, reservations for both dormitories

School trustees to okay budget

A school budget of approximately $13 million–an increase of 13.7 percent–is expected to be adopted tonight when the Snyder school board convenes at 7 p.m. in the school administration building.

Trustees are expected to approve the budget and then vote their intention to increase the tax rate approximately six cents to finance the 1985-86 budget. The board is then expected to set a time and date for public hearings on the budget and tax increase.

In other business tonight, school trustees are expected to amend the 1984-85 school budget. Also, the board will consider bids for janitorial supplies.

Also on the agenda are three proposed policy revisions. Two deal with travel and meal expenses for student and athletic travel. The third proposed policy change deals with student dress guidelines.

In personnel action, the board is expected to accept two resignations and ratify the employment of seven professional employees.

The district has received resignations from Rodney Parker, assstant band director at the junior high; and from J. D. Smith, choral music teacher at Central.

The board will also receive a number of informational items, some related to the beginning of school. The staff will report for in-service on Aug. 27 and the first day of classes will be Sept. 3.

Information obtained on employee health insurance will be discussed and the status of the alternative school grant will be discussed.

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "If there's enough for second helpings, you can bet it's colored green."

Peggy Vernon, owner of Circle In Grocery on the Lamesa Highway and long-time Girl Scout leader, had an incident occur last week which she said "restores faith in mankind."

Peggy lost her bank bag after the close of business one day last week. It contained over $400–with about half of it in cash.

After looking everywhere she could think of and after spending a miserable Friday morning, in walked Snyder's J. B. Vaughn of 3100 Ave. T.

Vaughn showed up during the noon hour to return the bag he had found on his way to work Friday morning. Peggy said he apologized for waiting until noon to return it.

Peggy noted, "Anyone honest enough to return that much money wasn't going to cheat his employer out of any time during the working day."

Sharyon Bond of Snyder called Friday to take exception with the item we had about the word "toot" in last Thursday's column. Another reader had noted that the word was a slang word for snorting cocaine.

According to Mrs. Bond, the wood "toot" is a Cajun word for "my lady" and has absolutely nothing to do with drugs.

Like a lot of words in the English language, there can often be double meanings.

We have a friend whose elderly mother often gets her words twisted. After some new furniture was delivered, the woman insisted that the daughter come over and see her new "sextional sofa."

Ask Us

Q.–When a new manager is hired, are there any plans to take down the signs that prohibit alcoholic beverages in the coliseum?
A.–No. That regulation is a result of commissioners court action and not a decision of coliseum management alone.

In Brief

Food costs up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Analysts see no symptoms of a 1985 inflation epidemic despite an unusually sharp rise in food costs that sent July wholesale prices up at the fastest clip in four months.

Food prices have fallen eight of the past 12 months.

Case settled

Jurors, called Monday to hear testimony in the civil case of Patricia Ivy and Deborah Pool vs. Toby Morton were dismissed Tuesday after a settlement was announced.

The jury heard testimony in 132nd District Court until 3:50 p.m. Monday before recessing for the day.

Attorneys for both sides, however, met with District Judge Gene Dulaney prior to 9 a.m. Tuesday and announced a settlement.

Ivy and Pool–both of Midland–had sued Morton in an attempt to collect compensation for damages and injuries suffered Nov. 13, 1983 when their car struck a cow owned by Morton.

Man arrested

Scurry County Sheriff's inyestigators say they have cleared three rural burglaries and an arson case with the Monday arrest of a 31-year-old Lake Thomas man.

Held in the Scurry County Jail in lieu of bonds set at $5,000 in each of the four cases is Edward Ray Whitehead.

Whitehead is charged with an Aug. 10 burglary of a Mesa Pipeline Co. waterflood station about 5 miles west of Snyder and a June 27 burglary of that same installation.

Whitehead is accused of taking an air compressor from the facility in June and then returning Aug. 10 to take an electric motor.

Whitehead has also been charged with burglary and arson in connection with the theft of a water heater and subsequent fire in a vacant residence near the Lake Thomas Lodge.

Officers allege that Whitehead entered the cabin– owned by Blanche Graham of Odessa–on Aug. 10, took the water heater and then set fire to the structure.

Carbide offers to pay for medical expenses

INSTITUTE, W.Va. (AP) — Union Carbide Corp. has offered to pay the medical expenses of the 135 people injured in a poison gas leak, but disputed a company memo that said the chemical is as dangerous as the gas that killed more than 2,000 people in India.

Company officials admitted Monday that workers initially thought the leak at the Institute plant was not serious and delayed notifying authorities.

And Senate Minority Leader Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., arranged for a delegation of top federal regulatory officials, including Environmental Protection Agency Director Lee Thomas, to inspect the plant today.

Six Carbide employees were injured, 129 residents were treated at hospitals and thousands more were trapped in their homes when aldicarb oxime, the main ingredient in the pesticide Temik, escaped Sunday morning.

Carbide disputed the significance of a 1983 internal memo describing aldicarb oxime as being in the same toxicity class as methyl isocyanate, or MIC, the deadly substance that leaked from the Carbide plant in Bhopal, India. The memo was released by the office of Rep. Henry Waxman, D-Calif.

Carbide spokesman Tom Sprick responded that "the category has considerable range to it and all products are not equal in weight. From what I understand, it (aldicarb oxime) is not as dangerous."

Byrd said he arranged the tour in part to investigate residents' complaints that they were given inadequate warnings and information when the chemical cloud engulfed their homes.

"This incident has raised a lot of questions that need to be answered," he said. "The people of the Kanawha Valley need to know if this situation was handled properly."

State Air Pollution Control Commission Chairman Carl Beard said Monday the leak raised "serious questions" about the effectiveness of $5 million in "supposed fail-safe equipment" installed recently at the plant.

Indictments follow criminal investigation

PYOTE, Texas (AP) — A criminal investigation of some male employees at the West Texas Children's Home has led to indictments being handed down against two men for allegedly promising a teen-age girl an early release from the center in exchange for sex.

Charges of sexual abuse by male staff members first surfaced at the center for delinquent youths in late June, said Joan Timmons, chief of media relations for the Texas Youth Commission in Austin, which operates the home.

"After our people at the children's home began an investigation into the matter, and determined it required more than they normally would do, we at the Texas Youth Commission started an investigation with the Texas Rangers," Ms. Timmons said.

The probe prompted the firing of four male employees, the transferring of a fifth staff member to another TYC facility, and disciplinary action being taken against two others, she said.

It also led to the case being presented to a Ward County grand jury in nearby Monahans, said Jack McGowan, who prosecutes cases for the state in Reeves, Loving and Ward counties.

Man Discovers His Marriage Is One of Convenience for Wife

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1985 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for nearly three years to a very beautiful 23-year-old woman. I am 30. Our marriage hasn't been perfect, but I considered it better than average, with one exception—"Betty" has no interest in sex. Once every two or three months is enough for her; then she acts like she's doing me a favor.

When I try to discuss it with her, she gets angry. Despite our differences, I have given her all my devotion and a very comfortable life with all the material things a woman could want—a lovely home, clothes, jewelry and a car of her own.

Two weeks ago I discovered that Betty had been seeing a married man. I was shocked and hurt. When I confronted her, she admitted it, and told me she'd never been physically attracted to me; she married me because I had money and she wanted to get out of her parents' home. She says she "loves me"—but not in a physical way.

Betty doesn't want a divorce. She says she's strongly attracted to the married man and will not give him up. She insists that she wants to save our marriage, but needs to see her lover twice a week. I find this totally absurd and unacceptable.

Abby, is this marriage worth saving?

HURTING HUSBAND

DEAR HURTING: You didn't have much of a marriage in the first place. By Betty's own admission, she used you. You may qualify for an annulment.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Everybody writes to you to get something off their chest; well, now it's my turn.

Does anyone realize how difficult it is for a woman with a child to get a date? Once a man finds out a woman has a child, he assumes she wants to get married and stick him with a ready-made family, then boom! it's all over!

Abby, that's not true. There are some women, like myself, who would just like to go out with a member of the opposite sex once in a while. If marriage is in the cards, then it will work out. If not, well, it was fun while it lasted.

So where does a decent woman meet a decent man? Don't suggest church; I don't belong to one.

LONELY IN LEHIGH, PA.

DEAR LONELY: Here we go again. Decent women meet men where decent people go to entertain themselves, do volunteer work, improve their minds and bodies, enjoy sports, music and theater, and even to worship the Lord, whether you belong to a church or not. They also meet through the thoughtfulness of friends.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Am I touchy, out of line or overly sensitive to resent it when someone asks, "Is that dress new?"

I enjoy being complimented on my clothes, but I bristle when I am asked, "How much did it cost?"

I never know what to say, so I foolishly respond as though I were on the witness stand, having sworn to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

Am I an oddball to feel that these are impudent questions? And how should such questions be handled?

KICKING MYSELF

DEAR KICKING: You are no oddball. Quit kicking yourself and have the answer ready. To any question that strikes you as being impudent or out of line, haul out the standard response: "Why do you want to know?"

Ex-POW tells story

AUSTIN (AP) — Former World War II prisoner John Allen McCarty does not like to tell his war stories. But he is recounting them on behalf of fallen soldiers who cannot tell their own.

"I feel like I owed it to them to tell it the way it was," the 70-year-old Henly rancher said during a break at a book-signing party.

McCarty's 33 months in a prison camp in the Phillipines are recounted in the new book, "Cabanatuan, Japanese Death Camp."

McCarty was captured when Bataan fell April 9, 1942. After a 65-mile forced march, he was loaded onto a box car and sent to a POW camp in the Philippines.

"During the first hour I was captured, the Japanese killed seven Americans and a Filipino. Any soldier who had any article made in Japan or Japanese money was tried and executed on the spot. They were bayonetted and clubbed to death," McCarty said.

After several months, McCarty was transferred to the Cabanatuan camp.

Here is how McCarty sums up 33 months in captivity:

"Fence in a bunch of animals with one water spigot. Throw in a little feed every once in a great while. That's what it was like. We had no sanitary facilities. We weren't allowed shoes, blankets, razors, soap, water to wash with, no clean clothes.

By James Jacoby

What's one rule about opening leads? Lead your partner's suit, unless you have a good suit of your own. Poor West certainly thought he had a good suit. That A-K-J-9-2 certainly qualifies in my book, but look what happened.

After the heart king, West continued with the heart ace and led a low heart, ruffed by East. South won East's lead of the king of diamonds with his ace and played three rounds of spades, ending in dummy with the 10. He ruffed a diamond and began running his remaining spades. On the fifth spade West shed a heart and dummy shed a club. On the last spade, West had to hold on to his high heart to keep dummy's eight-spot from becoming a winner, so he threw a club. Declarer discarded the now useless heart eight from dummy, and East was at the moment of truth. The diamond jack was staring him in the face, so he had to keep the queen. East came down to only two clubs. Declarer played a club to the king and came back to the club ace, and the lowly five of clubs took the last trick.

If you'd like the name of what happened to the defenders, that's a double squeeze. Bear in mind that it never would have worked if West's opening lead had been the diamond eight. That's why, after thousands and thousands of deals, we still keep coming back for more.

LAFF-A-DAY

DENNIS THE MENACE

Astro-Graph
By Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

Aug. 14, 1985

In the year ahead you are going to want more from life than what previously made you content. The course you choose may be a tough one, but you can weather it successfully.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Today you could experience opposition from sources who are usually in accord with your aims. Don't overreact. Just smile, even if it hurts. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It may be necessary for you to deal with someone today who treated you disagreeably in the past. If you hold a grudge, you'll have a repeat performance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Use your common sense today regarding social expenditures. Don't be too proud to back out of activities that friends can afford, but you can't.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov.22) Just because you're a nice person doesn't mean things will be handed to you gratis today. You'll have to work hard for what you hope to get.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This is the wrong day for you to try to impose your philosophy on others. Let everyone think for himself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't be drawn into a complicated situation with some friends today. You could end up being obligated to an undesirable action.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Decisions based upon spiteful motives or the desire to get even with someone you dislike will backfire today and cause more problems.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 19) Pace your work sensibly today. If you press yourself too hard, you'll get fatigued and make needless mistakes.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It's only best at this time not to become involved businesswise with someone you know only socially. You may get along great at the club, but not in the marketplace.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Most of your frustrations today are apt to be generated from domestic matters. Be patient and keep your temper in check so they're not enlarged.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Weigh the severity of your words carefully today, especially in discourses with co-workers. Harsh comments could ignite an argument.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be extremely prudent and careful in money matters today, because, if you do something wrong, it could prove to be difficult to rectify.

Deanna Ryan on Dean's List

WEATHERFORD, Okla.-- Deanna Lee Ryan of Snyder has been named to the Dean's List at Southwestern Oklahoma State University.

Six Americans aboard crashed jet

KITA-AIKIMURA, Japan (AP) — Helicopter-borne rescue teams have found four survivors and recovered the bodies of 50 people from the wreckage of a Japan Air Lines jumbo jet that crashed on a mountain with 524 people aboard, officials said today.

The crash of the Boeing 747 on Monday almost certainly was the worst single-plane commercial air disaster ever. Airline officials said that among the passengers were six Americans.

Airline spokesmen, U.S. Embassy officials and relatives said the Americans included two Colorado men, a 26-year-old graduate student from the Los Angeles area and three members of a Korean-American family.

Two women and two girls were known to have survived the crash. All were taken by military helicopter to a hospital in Fujioka, 25 miles east of the crash site, said hospital official Kyomi Shinozaki.

Shinozaki reported that the hospital was expecting three other survivors to arrive, but later said the report of three more survivors may have been based on rumor.

State police said they could confirm only the four survivors, and Tokyo police and a local fire official both reported that there had been confusion on the number of survivors.

A Japan Defense Agency official who spoke on condition he not be identified, said that as of midafternoon local time workers had found at least 50 bodies around the scarred mountaintop.

Television pictures showed two of the survivors on stretchers, dirty, battered and bandaged. Police identified them as Mrs. Hiroko Yoshizaki, 35, and her daughter, Mikiko, 8.

Another survivor, Keiko Kawakami, 12, was said by Fuji TV to have been rescued from the branches of a tree. A woman who was found alive and extricated from the crushed fuselage was identified as Yumi Ochial, 26.

Officials said 15 crew members and 509 passengers were aboard JAL's domestic Flight 123 when it crashed on the 6,929-foot peak about 70 miles northwest of Tokyo.

Television film of the site showed debris scattered along the ridgeline and a large piece of wreckage in a ravine.

JAL spokesman Geoffrey Tudor identified two of the Americans on board as Edward Anderson, 47, Englewood, Colo., and Michael Hanson, 40, Aurora, Colo. Both were employed by Stearns Catalytic Co., Denver. Neil McLagan, a Sterns vice president, confirmed that Anderson and Hanson were on the flight.

Later, airline spokesman S. Yoshida identified the four other Americans as Ward Wallach and three members of a family, Mrs. Okja Kim, Scott Kim and Christopher Kim.

Wallach's sister-in-law, Ginger Wallach of Los Angeles, said in a telephone interview that Wallach, a graduate student at the University of Tokyo, had been on his way to Osaka for a seminar.

The U.S. Embassy confirmed that the Kims were a Korean-American family, but could not provide an address for them.

Officials said more than 5,000 people were involved in rescue efforts, although most apparently had not yet reached the nearly inaccessible crash scene in steep, thickly forested mountain country.

The area has few roads or foot trails.

It appeared certain that the death toll would exceed that of history's worst previous single-plane disaster, the crash of a Turkish DC-10 that killed 346 people near Paris in 1974.

Among Japanese passengers on the manifest were singer Kyu Sakamoto, 43, known internationally for his 1964 hit, "The Sukiyaki Song," and Hajime Nakano, 63, president of the Osaka-based Hanshin Tigers professional baseball team.

The first American naval hero, John Paul Jones, died in Paris, July 18, 1792. He was born July 6, 1747, at Arbigland, Scotland.

Cougar attacks 3-year-old

NEW BRAUNFELS, Texas (AP) — A 3-year-old girl was to undergo surgery today after being mauled by a mountain lion in the parking lot of Comal Park at Canyon Lake.

The child, identified as Charlie Natalie Keller of Elmendorf, suffered a skull fracture and multiple lacerations Monday evening when a man's pet lion, which was leashed, attacked her, according to hospital and sheriff's office spokeswomen.

Comal County Sheriff's dispatcher Jan Cox said the girl was attacked by one of two mountain lions owned by Michael Ottea of Wetmore, a small Bexar County community.

"Both animals were on a leash, but the owner was unable to subdue the male," Ms. Cox said.

She said she did not know the details surrounding the attack or why Ottea had his lions at the park.

She said the girl was attacked between 7 and 7:45 p.m. She was visiting her aunt and uncle, whose names were not immediately available. Ms. Cox also did not know the names of the girl's parents.

A spokeswoman at McKenna Memorial Hospital in New Braunfels said the girl was transferred in stable condition to Methodist Hospital in San Antonio.

A spokeswoman at Methodist Hospital said late Monday the child was to undergo surgery and would be hospitalized in pediatric intensive care.

GOP freshmen conservative

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas' six freshmen Republican congressmen are among the most conservative in their class, according to a political action committee that rated their votes during their first six months in office.

The Fund for a Conservative Majority said Reps. Joe Barton of Ennis, Dick Armey of Denton and Tom DeLay of Sugar Land, voted 100 percent "correct" based on 10 votes selected by the group as a barometer of their conservatism.

Texas' three other freshmen Republicans — Beau Boulter of Amarillo, Mac Sweeney of Wharton and Larry Combest of Lubbock — each scored 90 percent in the group's ratings. All three disagreed with the FCM on the same vote — emergency farm aid.

The Fund for a Conservative Majority is a major PAC contributor to conservative political candidates.

"For the second straight session of Congress, Republican freshmen are more conservative than the Republican delegation as a whole," the organization's chairman, Robert Heckman, said in a statement released with the ratings.

Heckman said the study "demonstrates that the Reagan revolution is alive and well" and that candidates do not feel they must become more moderate in order to get elected.

Texans elected seven new congressmen last year, six of them Republican. Four of the Republicans won seats previously held by Democrats. The 28-member Texas delegation now has a record 10 GOP members.

Republicans scored a 76 percent conservative rate on their votes last Congress, according to the group.

Crew was unable to control plane

TOKYO (AP) — The pilot of a Japan Air Lines 747 jumbo jet that crashed Monday night with 524 people aboard reported "unreliable control" in his last conversations with air traffic controllers.

These are the final communications, as reported by spokesmen Keizo Shimizu of the Transport Ministry and Shuzo Mikawa of Japan Air Lines:

6:25 p.m., 13 minutes after takeoff (5:25 am EDT) — Pilot requests radar guidance from the Tokyo air control headquarters while descending from 24,000 feet to 22,000 feet. Air control officials tell the plane to proceed 90 degrees east.

6:27 p.m. — Pilot declares an emergency.

6:28 p.m. — Traffic control tells the pilot again to fly 90 degrees east, instead of northwest, where he is proceeding. The pilot only responds, "Unreliable control."

Traffic control asks the pilot if he can land in Nagoya, 168 miles west of Tokyo. He says he wants to head back to Haneda airport in Tokyo.

6:33 p.m. — Pilot tells JAL ground control: "SQ confirm (damage area confirmed). R5 door broken, making emergency descent due to cabin pressure drop."

6:46 p.m. — Pilot says, "Unreliable control" or "Unable control." Tokyo air control officials ask if he wants to land at Haneda. Pilot shouts, "Yes, please proceed with that."

The pilot then asks where he is. Haneda traffic control officials confirm the plane's location at 51 miles west of Haneda.

6:55 p.m. — Both Haneda airport and Yokota U.S. air base give the plane permission for an emergency landing at any time.

There is no subsequent communication from the plane.

6:57 p.m. — Plane disappears from Haneda's radar at an altitude of 9,900 feet.

Proposed city budget calls for less

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — The elimination of 189 city positions are necessary to avoid an $8.5 million deficit by the end of this fiscal year, the city manager of this financially troubled city says.

City Manager Karl Nollenberger is expected to present the proposed $74 million budget to Beaumont's City Council on Tuesday. Final adoption of a city budget is set for Sept. 27.

Nollenberger recommends cutting the city positions over one year by moving displaced employees into newly vacated positions and paying their salaries with a $2 million transition fund. A reduction in employee benefits and no pay raises for the fiscal year are also included, he said.

With this recomendation, Nollenberger says, the city would save the city $1.5 million and city spending would drop by 15 percent, about $12 million from last year's budget.

No cause known for crash

QUINLAN, Texas (AP) — A Hunt County Sheriff's investigator said there was no immediate explanation for the midair collision over northeastern Texas that killed three Jackson, Miss., men on a business trip.

Two Dallas area men survived the crash Monday by making an emergency belly landing of their plane in nearby Van Zandt County, authorities said.

The Hunt County Sheriff's Office identified the three Jackson men as broadcast executive Owens Alexander, 63, the pilot; his son, Doug Alexander, no age available, and son-in-law Kurt Baskin, 33, who were partners in a landscaping business.

Hunt County Sheriff's Lt. Bryan Henson said federal investigators were trying to find the cause of the crash, but "there's no explanation right now."

The sheriff's office said the Alexander plane was a 1974 Cessna 206 six-seater en route from Jackson to Love Field in Dallas.

It collided with a larger twin-engine Super King Air Beech 200, an eight-seater, which was being flown by two commercial pilots on a training flight from Dallas Love Field.

Chief Deputy David Alexander of the Hunt County Sheriff's Department said the smaller plane left John Bell Williams Field in Raymond about 8 a.m. and was en route to Dallas when the collision occurred about 10:15 a.m.

Hunt County sheriff's deputies said the larger plane came down on the Cessna at an altitude of about 3,000 feet.

Reagan is resting at home on ranch

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — With President Reagan out of sight at his remote ranch, his staff aides are planning a rigorous autumn round of speeches, trips and TV appearances for him, confident he will be in top physical shape.

"The doctors have assured us he should be (in) normal health, that is health similar to what it was last spring," White House Chief of Staff Donald Regan told reporters Monday.

"I talked to him today and he's in great spirits mentally and physically. He said, 'I feel fine; I'm ready to go,'" Regan said.

The president, who underwent colon cancer surgery July 13, is spending three weeks of rest and recuperation at his mountaintop ranch with only one public appearance planned, during a four-day trip to Los Angeles, 90 miles southeast of the ranch.

Reagan's aides, meanwhile, were gathering on two coasts for today's top level brainstorming session designed to map out the balance of the Reagan term.

Their plans relied heavily on the president's predicted robust good health. Regan said the current plan was for at least one presidential trip a week after his vacation ends Sept. 2.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said the fall agenda would include radio and TV appearances, speeches and trips by the president as chief spokesman for his administration's domestic and foreign policy.

"The major goals that we are focusing on are budget, tax reform and foreign policy," as well as holding down federal spending, he said.

In foreign policy Reagan's advisers are focusing on preparations for November's summit meeting in Geneva with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

There is a growing consensus that routine chest X-rays required for admission to many hospitals is of little benefit to many people, according to Family Circle Magazine. It says patients under 20, pregnant women and some patients admitted for surgery have a very low incidence of heart or lung disease, and for these groups chest X-rays may be nothing more than a costly nuisance. Yet, at an average charge of $50, these X-rays cost about $1.5 billion a year.

Man surrenders in slaying of women

BOSTON (AP) — A man released after he couldn't find a house where he said he killed two elderly women surrendered late Monday, hours after a warrant was issued for his arrest a day after the victims' bodies were found.

Ronald Guest, 37, was accompanied by his two sisters when he turned himself in at police headquarters, and faced arraignment Tuesday, said Kevin Foley, an officer assigned to the office of Police Commissioner Francis Roache.

Guest, who was drunk when he appeared Saturday at police headquarters, was named in two murder warrants, police Deputy Superintendent John E. Barry said in a news conference earlier Monday.

Police drove Guest around in a fruitless search for the house, and he was held overnight and early released Sunday, said Barry. The women's bodies were found Sunday evening.

Dorsett continues hold out; believes he could be traded

DALLAS (AP) - Dallas Cowboys holdout running back Tony Dorsett says he has told team president Tex Schramm that the team should consider trading him before the National Football League regular season begins.

Dorsett and Schramm met briefly during the past weekend and Dorsett says he is no closer to reaching a contract agreement now than he was two weeks ago.

Schramm confirmed that Dorsett asked for the trade.

"He keeps saying he's been embarrassed and that he might be better off somewhere else," Schramm said. "But I told him you don't just pull down the curtains on a bad experience because you're traded to another team."

If traded, Dorsett said he would prefer to play for Don Shula with the Miami Dolphins or the Pittsburgh Steelers, who play only 20 miles from his hometown of Aliquippa, Pa.

Dorsett has been seeking to renegotiate his contract with the Cowboys, he has been involved in a dispute with the Internal Revenue Service over an more than $400,000 in back taxes the IRS says he owes and he has been upset that his financial problems have been publicized by the news media in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

"Right now I think I will be traded," Dorsett told the Dallas Times Herald Monday. "I think I've made it pretty obvious that I wouldn't mind going to another team."

"Right now I don't know if I will be with the Cowboys or not this season," Dorsett said.

Dorsett wants a new contract that would include an annuity that eventually would pay him $6.4 million, the same amount that Cowboys defensive lineman Randy White will receive from his 20-year deferred payments. He has missed 18 days of training camp and has been fined $13,000 so far.

Tiger workout report

Approximately 70 boys reported for varsity and junior varsity workouts as two-a-days began Monday.

Coach Dennis Tomlin indicated that some 49 of them were working out as the varsity unit, although some shuffling may occur before the Ragin' Tigers first game, Sept. 6.

The athletes reported in generally good physical condition.

First-day workouts seemed to go well. A year's experience with the new system was evident. Said Roger Goodwin, junior high coach who is working with the group during two-a-days, "We could run plays right now if we wanted too. That's the difference experience makes. Last year, it took a week for the kids to get the drills down and understand what it was they were supposed to do in workouts. Now we're not having to spend nearly as much time getting those things across."

Sam Cruse, listed as a player in the first roster released last weekend, will not play, but will serve as a team manager.

Jackson, others move toward record books

by The Associated Press

Along with round-number milestones like 20, 30, 400, 500 and 3,000, baseball has numbers whose importance comes from the stars who stopped there - 56, 61, 714, 755 and 4,191. Reggie Jackson reached 521.

Jackson entered a new class of baseball royalty with his 521st career home run Monday night, but in a losing cause. The California Angels lost the first game of their doubleheader 6-5 to the Seattle Mariners.

The Angels won the second game 4-3, with Brian Downing hitting a two-run homer.

Rod Carew advanced on an all-time list of his own. His four hits in the doubleheader left him with 3,009 hits. He moved ahead of Al Kaline into 14th place on the all-time list. Lou Brock is next in line with 3,023 hits.

At 39 years of age and in his 18th major-league season, Jackson is now tied for the No. 8 spot on the all-time home run list.

Five hundred and twenty one is the number of home runs Ted Williams hit.

It's also the number hit by Willie McCovey, the only man not enshrined in the Hall of Fame besides Jackson to have hit 500 home runs. McCovey becomes eligible next year.

His first time up Monday, Jackson hit a 1-0 pitch from Seattle's Frank Wills into the left-field stands. With one more like that, Reggie will become one of only eight men to hit more than the Kid.

His 521st was Jackson's 96th homer with the Angels. He hit 254 with the Kansas City and Oakland A's, 27 with the Baltimore Orioles and 144 with the New York Yankees.

Jackson's 521st home run came on his 8,957th career at-bat. Williams hit 521 in 7,706 at-bats, and McCovey in 8,197.

Jimmy Foxx, with 534 home runs, and Mickey Mantle, with 536, are well within Jackson's reach. After them the list leaps to 573 and Harmon Killebrew.

The only players in baseball history with more home runs than Reggie Jackson are Hank Aaron, Babe Ruth, Willie Mays, Frank Robinson, Killebrew, Mantle and Foxx.

In other American League games, Texas tipped Toronto 5-4, Kansas City topped Boston 3-2, Milwaukee stopped Detroit 4-3, New York stomped Chicago 10-4, and Cleveland beat Baltimore 8-5. Minnesota swept a doubleheader from Oakland, 4-3 and 5-4.

Rangers 5, Blue Jays 4

The game was tied 4-4 after the top of the ninth, then Wayne Tolleson drove in Steve Buechele with a one-out single in the bottom of the ninth inning.

Dwayne Henry got the victory in his first major-league appearance.

Texas' Cliff Johnson hit a three-run homer in the eighth. Toronto's Tony Fernandez tripled, doubled and scored two runs. Over his last nine games, Fernandez has 11 hits, seven of them doubles and two of them triples.

Indians 8, Orioles 5

Next time Pat Tabler comes up with the bases loaded, walk him. Tabler is 22-for-34 with 54 RBIs in such situations over three years with Cleveland. He has driven in 15 runs while going 6-for-6 with the bases full this year.

NCAA finds Houston pair to be ineligible

HOUSTON (AP) - Tito Horford, one of the nation's most intensely recruited schoolboy basketball players last season, went through freshman orientation Monday at the University of Houston and then learned that he was ineligible to compete for the Southwest Conference school.

"He'd already learned the Cougar fight song and was ready to go," Houston Athletic Director Tom Ford said after announcing that the NCAA had declared Horford and Bay City track star Joe DeLoach ineligible to compete for the Cougars because of recruiting violations.

"The real shame is that these two athletes really want to come to the University of Houston," Ford said. "They are the ones being punished through no fault of their own."

Horford, tabbed as the next Akeem Olajuwon at Houston, was ruled ineligible because of an apparent illegal contact made by Houston assistant Donnie Schverak during the recruiting season last year.

Schverak's contact with Horford came during a July 1 to Aug. 1 NCAA ban on face to face contract with recruits.

NCAA rules forbid alumni to recruit prospects.

The NCAA sanctions came despite an internal investigation by Houston administrators followed by a self-imposed restriction on Houston's basketball and track programs.

Houston banned Schverak from off-campus recruiting for one year and ordered head basketball coach Guy V. Lewis to give up one scholarship for each of the next two seasons.

The school never formally filed DeLoach's scholarship with the SWC and the 100- and 200-meter specialist is now free to attend any school of his choice.

Ford said that Horford's scholarship agreement had been filed with the SWC and that the 7-0 schoolboy hopeful was still bound to the Cougars, pending a final appeal to the NCAA Council Subcommittee on Eligibility.

Woman and son are found dead

BRENHAM, Texas (AP) — A 35-year-old mother and her son were found dead in the trunk of their car after being abducted on their way home from church and authorities said suspects were still being sought today.

Kathy Coppedge and her son, Casey, 11, were found about 11 p.m. Sunday on an isolated stretch of U.S. Highway 290 near Burton, Brenham Police Chief Alfred Becker said.

Mrs. Coppedge was naked from the waist down and apparently had been raped, Becker said.

The two apparently suffocated, but autopsies had not been completed today, Becker said.

"I would think they would have suffocated in the trunk due to the tremendous heat," Becker said.

Phil Coppedge called police Sunday afternoon after his wife and son failed to return from morning services at the Brenham Presbyterian Church.

"He was alarmed that she hadn't come home. He knew by then that something had happened," said the Rev. Tom Currie, minister at the church.

Police found the car late Sunday parked along the highway, 10 miles west of Brenham.

One church member reported seeing the pair in their 1982 Buick with two men shortly after services ended at noon, investigators said. However, the member was unable to give authorities a description of the two men.

"We were so slow to react to something like this because we're not used to experiencing anything like this," Currie said.

Washington County Sheriff Elwood Goldberg said residents are not accustomed to random killings. There were no murders in 1983 or 1984, Goldberg said.

South African death toll rises to 600

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The home of Winnie Mandela, wife of the South Africa's top jailed black leader, was burned down, her lawyer said today.

Mrs. Mandela was not in her home at Brandfort, a remote black township in the Orange Free State, when the fire broke out late Monday or in the early hours today. A week ago, the house and an adjoining medical clinic were badly damaged in a police raid, lawyer Ismail Ayob said.

Mrs. Mandela had been at an undisclosed address in the Johannesburg area since the police raid.

No information was available immediately on how the fire started.

Meanwhile, the unofficial death toll in nearly a year of unrest in South Africa topped 600. Police said arsonists hurled the body of a black man wounded by police gunfire onto a burning truck during serious overnight rioting near East London.

The man was burned to death "as a result of this barbaric act," a police statement said.

In racial violence across the country Monday, six blacks were killed.

Three bullet-riddled bodies were found in Durban, and reports said an Indian shot and killed another black man. Fighting between Indians and blacks that began last week has claimed 67 lives in Durban.

At the University of the Witwatersrand in Johnnesburg, 32 white students were injured Monday and eight were arrested when police dispersed protesters at the start of a three-day protest. The students followed the lead of white students in Cape Town who have boycotted classes in support of black demands for equal rights.

Anti-government groups, meanwhile, spread their call for blacks to avoid white-owned businesses.

In the black township of Kwa-Thema, east of Johannesburg, witnesses said police went from house to house Monday morning, forcing students back to the schools they had been boycotting. Students said that those who refused were beaten with rubber whips.

For months, young blacks have boycotted classes in areas hit by anti-government rioting.

In Pretoria, thousands of black workers heeded a general strike call that lasted from Saturday to Monday, as well as a consumer boycott that is to last until Aug. 28, news reports said.

In Cape Town, 14 anti-apartheid groups appealed for a boycott of white-owned shops beginning Wednesday. A boycott that began in the eastern Cape province a month closed has closed many shops in that riot-torn region.

Anti-apartheid groups see consumer boycotts as a means of making blacks aware of their grievances without resorting to violence.

On Monday, U.S. Rep. Stephen Solarz, D-N.Y., said he came away "profoundly pessimistic about the prospects for peaceful change" in South Africa after a meeting with President P.W. Botha.

He said Botha gave no indication the government would free Nelson Mandela, leader of the outlawed African National Congress who was convicted of plotting sabotage and has been in prison for 21 years.

Solarz said Botha compared Mandela's imprisonment to that of Rudolph Hess, Adolf Hitler's former deputy who has been in Berlin's Spandau prison for 40 years. Solarz called the comparison "totally without validity or foundation."

Police reported 1,623 activists have been detained without charge under the state of emergency imposed July 21 in 36 black townships. They say 696 have been released.

In final action, commissioners voted to meet in special session Wednesday at 9 a.m. to review applications for coliseum manager.

AIDS-insect link not yet explored

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I know that some cases of AIDS have been traced to contaminated blood transfusions. Given this, is there any evidence that a mosquito can act as a carrier?

DEAR READER — This is a fascinating question, and I have been unable to track down an answer. The connection between AIDS and mosquitoes certainly makes sense. It really raises some important issues, inasmuch as the disease seems to have made its original appearance in residents of tropical countries where mosquitoes are endemic. Perhaps an enterprising AIDS researcher will skim this column, zero in on the quesion and provide an answer.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have severe advanced emphysema. I read recently in the Globe about some sort of gland operation which helps people like me. Do you know anything about this?

DEAR READER — There is no legitimate surgery, especially involving "glands," which can help patients with emphysema. I wish the "sensational press" would stop cruelly raising patients' hopes by publishing bizarre reports which make unscientific and unjustifiable claims. They won't stop publishing this trash, however, because desperate people are constantly looking for miracles and will buy newspapers which seem to promise that dreams can come true.

If I were you, I'd disdain buying sensational publications and use the money to purchase responsible and factual newspapers, like the kind you're reading now.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have hiatus hernia. What are the causes, symptoms and treatment?

DEAR READER — The esophagus empties into the stomach, just below the diaphragm, through a small hole which is surrounded by a ring of muscles. When food enters the stomach, the ring tends to close and prevent irritating stomach acid from being discharged backstream into the esophagus.

As people age, this muscular ring becomes progressively more lax, and this permits backflow of stomach contents which can inflame the lining of the lower esophagus. Doctors call this hiatal (or hiatus) hernia.

The symptoms resemble those of peptic ulcer: heartburn, gas, poor digestion and a feeling of chest heaviness. If you have a hiatal hernia, you can help control the discomfort by avoiding lying down after meals, eating frequent small meals and using antacids. Medicine to reduce gastric acidity may be useful. In rare cases, surgery is necessary to correct the defect.

Family seeks ruling change

AUSTIN (AP) — Twenty-four years after his father's death, Don Marshall is in an Austin courtroom this week trying to clear his father's name by having the death declared a homicide instead of a suicide.

At the time of his death, Henry Marshall, a U.S. Department of Agriculture official, was investigating Billie Sol Estes. Estes, a flamboyant West Texan who claimed ties to Lyndon Johnson, eventually was convicted of fraud over a nonexistent fertilizer business.

Estes gained more attention last year when he told a Robertson County grand jury that Marshall had been killed on orders from then-Vice President Johnson.

Marshall's body was found June 3, 1961, on the family farm in Robertson County, north of Bryan. Five bullet holes marred his body. He also had inhaled carbon monoxide.

A 1962 grand jury in Robertson County ruled the death a suicide. But a 1984 grand jury reopened the case, heard testimony from Estes, and ruled the death a homicide. The grand jury issued no indictment or comment on the claim that Johnson was involved, saying only that those involved with the murder were dead.

In state District Court before Judge Peter Lowry on Monday, Don Marshall and his mother, Sybil Marshall, asked that the cause listed on Henry Marshall's death certificate be changed from "gun shot wounds — self-inflicted" to "gun shot wounds — homicide."

Marshall said he only recently learned that the listed cause of death could be changed.

Assistant Attorney General Lou Bright said a judge can order a change in a death certificate if there is a satisfactory showing that the information listed is wrong.

Phil Banks, the Marshalls' attorney, said the family believes the investigation was botched by the Robertson County sheriff.

Clint Peoples, a Texas Ranger who investigated Marshall's death, testified Monday that he believed there was no question that Marshall was murdered. "My opinion from the investigation prior and after is that someone went out there to make it look like a suicide," Peoples said.

Peoples said he believes the evidence shows that Marshall had "a terrific struggle" with someone and received several cuts on his head. He then inhaled carbon monoxide, possibly from the exhaust pipe of his pickup. "After that came the finishing off part with the rifle," Peoples said.

The shots came from a single-shot, bolt-action, .22-caliber rifle. Peoples demonstrated that Marshall, who had a partially crippled right hand, would have had to bolt the gun, aim the barrel at his abdomen, and reach a full arm's length away to pull the trigger. That action would have had to have been repeated five times if the suicide theory is correct.

An autopsy was not done until a year after Marshall's death. Dr. Joseph Jachimczyk, chief medical examiner of Harris County, ruled the death a "possible homicide and possible suicide." A grand jury later determined the death was a suicide.

Peoples and Bryan Russ, who was Robertson County district attorney in 1962, said the grand jury had all the evidence available at that time. Russ said he thinks the sheriff's office did a thorough investigation.
