Blizzard Hits In New York; Traffic Halted

Twenty-Five Die Over Weekend In Varied Mishaps

(By The United Press)

Winter took a rising number of lives today as a cold wave gripped the nation. Subzero weather swept the midwest and north while temperatures in the sunny south tumbled to below freezing.

Twenty-five persons were reported to have died over the weekend because of the cold, fog, snow and slippery highways.

Fog Blamed In Wreck

Heavy winter fog was blamed for a train wreck at Kollock, S. C., that cost the lives of at least six persons yesterday, and transportation in the Buffalo, N. Y., area was paralyzed in one of the greatest snowstorms in the city's history. Thirty-two inches fell during the blizzard.

Wintry winds moved rapidly eastward, and kept a firm hold on northwest and midwest states. Temperatures dropped sharply along the eastern seaboard from New England to the Carolinas. In most eastern areas thermometers stayed slightly above zero.

Readings Below Normal

The mercury was below zero in sections of the north central states and in an area extending through Illinois and Indiana to Ohio. Recordings were 20 to 25 degrees below normal for mid-December.

Temperatures ranged from 20 below in Montana, increasing to 8 to 10 above as far east as Pennsylvania.

Unseasonal, below - freezing weather covered Mississippi, Georgia, Alabama and northern Florida. Brownsville, Tex., registered 61 last night, Los Angeles, 47, and even Miami dropped to 49 during the night. Coldest city was Williston, N. D., with a 22 below.

Deaths Are Reported

Five persons died in Colorado during the weekend in highway accidents and car-train wrecks in Illinois took six lives. West Virginia, Ohio and Pennsylvania each reported at least one slippery highway death.

A sledding accident caused one death in Pennsylvania, where two men drowned.

Two Detroit men died in fires attributed to overheating, and a 76-year-old man was found frozen to death in his home in Quechee, Vt.

Although no "weather" deaths were reported in the Pacific north-

Execution Stay Is Granted By Supreme Court

Death Sentence Held Up Pending Review Of Case

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 — The supreme court today granted a stay of execution to Japanese General Tomoyuki Yamashita, who was sentenced to death by an American military commission in Manila.

The tribunal acted at a conference after leaving the court room at the completion of its regular session for the day. The action was taken a few minutes after arrival of an airmailed petition from Yamashita asking review of a decision by the Philippines supreme court in his case.

Contention Was Denied

Secretary of War Patterson earlier had ordered Yamashita's execution stayed pending final decision by the supreme court on his petitions. The Philippines court denied Yamashita's contention that the military commission was illegal and that Philippine civil courts should take jurisdiction.

The supreme court also has under consideration petitions in which Yamashita challenged the authority of the military commission to try him. He asked to be brought to Washington for a hearing before the court of one of its justices.

Adjourns Until Jan. 2

The court adjourned today until Jan. 2. Attaches said they did not expect it to announce its decision on the petitions before that date.

Yamashita, former Japanese commander in the Philippines, was convicted of permitting atrocities.

Picket Line Cracked By Cops

Flying Wedge Is Formed To Enter Gates

Office Workers Are Escorted Into Factory

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Dec. 17. — Police cracked a picket line of CIO United Auto Worker strikers to escort office workers into one plant of General Motors today while at other factories the picket lines opened voluntarily.

A flying wedge formation of police charged the line at the AC spark plug division in Flint, bringing some 30 office workers into the administration building at the outset with another 120 later following.

Ordered To Report

General Motors, which has charged the UAW-CIO with "illegal picketing" and has sought injunctions in Ohio, Illinois and New Jersey, had directed office workers in several Michigan cities to report today.

Thirty-eight thousand office workers, supervisory personnel and other non-strikers have been idle in the 26-day-old walkout of 175,000 production workers over the union's 30 per cent wage increase demand.

Although office workers entered GM plants in other Michigan cities without untoward incident, the state police sent out an alert order to all its posts in affected communities.

Shouts Of "Scab"

In a number of plants the UAW-CIO's pickets have permitted the entry of non-strikers since the day the strike began. Strikers in Flint, however, had protested the entry of any. Shouts of "scab" greeted the non-strikers appearance today.

The union's wage fights in the auto industry broadened meanwhile as the newly formed Kaiser-Frazer Corp. entered the negotiations scene.

President R. J. Thomas of the UAW-CIO planned to carry the union's case personally into the first conference with Kaiser-Frazer while other unionists met again with General Motors.

Meeting Is Delayed

A meeting with the Ford Motor company was postponed until tomorrow, limiting today's docket to General Motors and Kaiser-Frazer.

The new firm, planning to build two lines of cars in the Willow Run bomber plant, reportedly will demand some kind of guarantee

Setting Of Death Trap Is Revealed

Hearing Delayed By A Political Squabble Today

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—Vice Admiral Theodore C. Wilkinson related today that he set a death trap for Japanese Admiral Yamamoto despite fears that the Japanese would thereby learn that the United States was cracking their codes.

The former head of naval intelligence and later a seafighter with Admiral William F. Halsey gave the account to a Senate-House committee investigating the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941.

Testimony Is Delayed

Wilkinson's testimony was delayed by a political squabble among the members at the opening of the session.

During the arguments, precipitated by controversy over committee employes and the course of the inquiry, Rep. Keefe (R-Wis) demanded to know at one point whether the group was investigating Pearl Harbor or Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Along with Wilkinson's testimony, the committee also received naval documents showing that:

1—Six days before the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor, the office of naval intelligence believed the Nipponese might soon make some advance against Thailand.

Spoke Of Crisis

2—On Nov. 15, 1941, a naval intelligence summary spoke of "the aproaching crisis" in U. S.-Japanese relations.

The Yamamoto incident came up while Wilkinson was telling of the great secrecy that surrounded the code-breaking when he was in intelligence from mid-October 1941 to July of 1942.

Later at sea, he recalled, he got orders from Admiral Chester W. Nimitz to arrange to snare Yamamoto, the head of the Japanese

Death For Goering Ordered By Hitler On April 22, 1945

NEURNBERG, Dec. 17. (U.P.) — Adolf Hitler ordered Herman Goering arrested and shot on April 22, 1945, but the fat luftwaffe leader was rescued at the last minute by a band of his own paratroopers, the United Press learned today.

The pictures of his ex-partner, Mussolini, hanging by his heels from the roof of a Milan gasoline station shook the Nazi fuehrer. He apparently made up his mind then to commit suicide and have his body destroyed to avoid a similar fate.

Originally, Hitler planned to kill himself on April 22, 1945. He issued orders that Goering, then at Berchtesgaden, was to succeed him. But on the appointed day he postponed his suicide.

Through some mix-up, however, Goering received the expected telegram that day authorizing him to assume command. Goering telegraphed Berlin for verification of Hitler's death and a complete definition of his own authority.

When Hitler learned of Goering's telegram, he flew into a rage. Believing that Goering was trying to seize power and force Germany's surrender, he ordered the luftwaffe chief arrested and executed immediately.

Sixteen Injured In Two Auto Accidents

BORGER, Dec. 17. (AP)—Sixteen persons were injured in two automobile accidents on the partially ice and snow covered roads in this area early yesterday.

Seven persons were injured when an automobile and taxi collided two miles west of Borger. They were: Seaman 3/c J. B. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Conway, Borger; T. C. Chamstad; Mr. and Mrs. Dowell and their daughter, Martha

Nine persons were listed as seriously injured when two automobiles were in a head-on collision on highway 117 seven miles south of Borger. They were Leonora Turner, Mildred Seymour, Clarence Seymour and Bobby Fritz, all of Amarillo; Marvella Roberts, Charlene Wheeler, Joan Torbett and Cecil Carter, all of Borger; and S. V. McCarthy of Phillips, Texas.

Two Hijackers Sought Here

City and county officers this morning were investigating a "slim" in connection with the reported highjacking early Sunday of H. A. Lightfoot of 2418 Ave. L.

Lightfoot told police and the sheriff's department that about 6 a. m. Sunday he was walking toward the business district, along Ave. L between Seventeenth and Eighteenth and that two men came up behind him.

Told To Put Up Hands

"One of the men punched me in the back and told me to get my hands up—and 'keep 'em up.'

"The other came around in front of me and searched me. He took my wallet and took $31 from it and handed the wallet back to me."

Lightfoot told officials the men then told him to:

"Hold up your hands and keep 'em up. Walk two blocks—but not too fast."

One Was Masked

The victim said he did not see the man behind him, but the bandit who took his wallet was masked.

He described the man as about 22 years old, approximately 160 pounds, 5 feet 10 inches tall and wearing a blue hat.

Police, who arrested 18 persons Sunday, 13 of them for drunkenness, one for vagrancy, two for fighting, one for investigation of adultery, and one for drunk driving, said they still were investigating the "case of a missing beat-up woman."

Found Girl In Car

At 2 a. m. Sunday, R. O. Beechly and S. J. Miller, both of Lubbock, informed officials they had

Prince Konoye Kills Himself

TOKYO, Dec. 17. — Prince Fumimaro Konoye's dramatic suicide yesterday — a new and powerful blow to the prestige and position of Emperor Hirohito — may have profound repercussions in the imperial household as well as in political circles.

The prince himself, in his final hours, expressed concern for the future of the imperial house as discussions of possible abdication were revived. Some Japanese said the suicide might be the final factor in precipitating the emperor's resignation.

Konoye committed suicide by poison to escape American trial as a war criminal.

A written statement in which Konoye rejected the "humiliation"

Many Of Injured Given First Aid At Wreck Scene

(By The United Press)

KOLLOCK, S. C., Dec. 17.—Heavy winter fog was blamed today for the broadside crash of the luxury train Silver Meteor into the New York-bound Sun Queen near here yesterday.

There were six known dead and at least 62 persons were injured when the Florida-bound Meteor crashed into the middle of the Queen as it pulled onto a siding to clear the tracks.

Casualties Are Listed

The dead:

One soldier (name withheld),

Two sailors (names withheld),

Meteor Engineer W. W. Shoemaker of Raleigh, N. C.

Porter James T. Ferrell of Richmond, Va.

Perry C. Reese of Alexandria, Va., a passenger.

Officials of the Seaboard Air Line railway said an early investigation showed that Shoemaker didn't see the Sun Queen coaches until it was too late. Survivors reported there was a heavy predawn fog.

Pulling Onto Siding

Shoemaker's train was roaring southward as the first section of the Silver Meteor. The Sun Queen was pulling onto the Kollock siding.

All but the last five coaches of the Queen were on the siding when the few passengers not asleep saw the Meteor's headlight burst out of the fog. A second later there was a grinding crash as the south bound engine plowed

Listing Of Kiddies Will Close Today

Here's your last chance to help the Goodfellows make sure that not one needy child in Lubbock is missed with a generous gift on the morning of December 25!

Today's is the deadline for listing youngsters with the Goodfellows and the listing coupon, carried in Avalanche-Journal papers daily for the past two weeks, is appearing for the last time in 1945. Turn to Page 11, now, and, if you know a child who should be listed, fill out and mail in the coupon as directed. The coupon is self-explanatory.

Donations Continue

With the $1,500 cash goal topped last Thursday, contributions continued to come in and the total to date is more than $600 in excess of the amount asked. Chief Goodfellow, anonymous leader of the campaign, announced today that contributions will be accepted for a few more days, because "the more money we get, the better presents will be available for the boys and girls."

The financial record up to noon today reads:

Previously Reported	$2,091.32
Room 135 Senior High	4.00
Anonymous	5.00
Lubbock Chapter No. 248 R.A.M.	10.00
Tom Garrett	5.00
Anonymous	1.00
TOTAL	$2,114.32

This is the eleventh consecutive year that Lubbock Goodfellows have taken the initiative in spreading Christmas cheer among youngsters of all races and creeds. In order to receive a Christmas morning visit from the Goodfellows, a child needs only to be 14 years of age or younger; reside within the corporate limits of Lubbock, and require a Goodfellow present in order to have a Merry Christmas.

Two Women Killed In Car-Truck Collision

MONAHANS, Dec. 17. (U.P.)—A holiday trip to Oklahoma to visit an ill relative has ended in tragedy today for two California women.

Mrs. Sophie DeLay, 54, and Mrs. Emil Jenny, 55, both of Compton, Calif., were injured fatally yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding collided with a truck driven by Johnnie Currie of Big Spring.

Mrs. DeLay was killed instantly. Mrs. Jenny died in a Monahans hospital last night. Mr. Jenny was under treatment in a Monahans hospital with shoulder and internal injuries, while Currie was under treatment in an Odessa hospital.

College Exes To Aid Drive

Former students of Texas Technological college will gather tonight in the Agriculture building auditorium on the campus at 7 o'clock to launch a drive for additional funds for the proposed $300,000 athletic stadium for the college.

Jason O. Gordon, president of the Lubbock chapter of ex-students, made the announcement this morning in urging all former students to be present at the session.

Stangel, Ratliff To Speak

Dean W. L. Stangel, chairman of the athletic council at the college, will outline briefly what needs to be done toward securing the fund, and will give those present a full picture of what has been done.

O. B. Ratliff, Tech graduate and a member of the board of directors, will also address the group assembled, giving full details of the drive being conducted here.

Numerous requests have come from former students for an opportunity to contribute toward the needed fund, Gordon said, and the chapter officials feel that a drive among ex-students should be organized, outlined and completed within the shortest possible time through the alumni association.

The fund has been at least half completed through previous donation of $100,000 by Dr. Clifford B. Jones and another $50,000 by the directors. The remainder is yet to be solicited, Gordon said.

U. S. Ships Not To Transport Chinese

SHANGHAI, Dec. 17. (U.P.)—The United States Army has denied a request by the Chinese government to transport three additional Chinese armies to North China and Manchuria aboard American vessels, it was learned today.

An authoritative source said the Chinese government was informed bluntly that the American mission — to assist in the redeployment of Chinese troops required to disarm the Japanese — was completed.

PATTON SITS UP

COL. HAROLD N. HOLT

ESTES LEAVING FOR GERMANY—Col. Howell M. Estes, jr., commanding officer of Lubbock Army Air Field for the past 18 months, will leave this afternoon on the first leg of a journey which will end on December 30 at Weisbaden, Germany. Colonel Estes is being succeeded here by Col. Harold N. Holt, who has been deputy station commander at LAAF for the past six months following his return to the states from a long tour of combat duty in the European Theater. Mrs. Estes and the two Estes sons, Howell, III, and Mike, will accompany Colonel Estes to the East. He will be stationed at Washington prior to flying to Germany on December 23. They expect to spend the Yule holidays with his parents, Col. and Mrs. Howell M. Estes, sr., in New York.

Capital Newsmen Poke Fun At Bigwigs At Gridiron Banquet

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP) — Washington still chortled today over the fun frolicking capital newsmen poked at world bigwigs at the Gridiron club dinner.

President Truman, who took part in one skit, came in for a share of the lampooning along with such absent notables as Generalissimo Stalin, Prime Minister Attlee and General MacArthur.

Annual Event Reviewed

The dinner Saturday night marked the revival of the annual event which had been cancelled during the war years.

At the end of one song, referring to Mr. Truman, a character dubbed "The Spirit of the Ozarks" lectured the gathering on "the right of every man—the right of 60,000,000 Missouri men—the right to a job. Full employment, here we come."

At another point Skipper James F. Byrnes guided the showboat of American foreign policy in all directions at once shouting "Full speed ahead! Full speed astern! Full speed amidship!"

Aged And Crippled Mother To Keep Lonely Christmas Vigil

HOUSTON, Dec. 17 (U.P.) —With a silent prayer the aged, crippled mother of dreamy-eyed Annie Mae Dodd today wrapped Christmas presents for the 17-year-old girl who mysteriously disappeared 19 months ago and never returned.

Refusing to admit that pretty Annie Mae is dead, Mrs. Minnie Dodd arranged the Christmas gifts under the family tree.

Disappeared In 1944

Curly-haired Annie Mae was last seen alive May 26, 1944, when a cousin left her sleeping in his mud-stuck car on a side road. He told police that upon his return from a farm house where he went for help the happy care-free girl had disappeared.

Police were soon convinced she met with foul play but her mother never lost hope. For weeks she traveled the lonely country road almost daily seeking a clue.

Kept Clothes Pressed

She kept Annie Mae's clothes neatly pressed and hanging in a closet. Her daughter, Mrs. Dodd told friends, was never one to stay away from home of her own accord.

Last Christmas she bought gifts and prayed Annie Mae would be

Lewis-Priebe Wedding Read

The marriage of Miss Frances Priebe of Magnolia, Ark., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Priebe of Wink, and Wilmer A. Lewis, son of Mrs. Henry Lewis of Atlanta, Ark., was solemnized Thursday, Dec. 13, at the First Methodist church in Magnolia with Rev. L. M. Sarkey, pastor, reading a double ring ceremony.

Baskets of huckleberry and white gladioli decorated the altar. The tapers were lighted by Misses Juanita Lewis and Bernadean Priebe, sisters of the couple.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a rose wool suit with black accessories. She carried a white Bible, topped with an orchid.

Sister Is Attendant

Miss Helen Priebe, who attended her sister as maid of honor, wore a green wool suit with a corsage of Talisman roses. Sam Bass, jr., was best man.

The bride is a former student at Texas Technological college, and a graduate of Scarritt college, Nashville, Tenn. She is a rural worker for the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church.

The bridegroom is a former student of Arkansas A. and M. college, Magnolia.

The couple is at home in Atlanta, Ark., where Mr. Lewis is employed.

Bethrothal Is Told At Tea

To announce the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Grace Durham and Lt. Carl Hittle of Hartman, Colo., Mrs. Edna Swift and Miss Sannie Callan entertained Sunday afternoon at their home.

Christmas decorations were used in room an dtable appointments. Mrs. Lucy Bibb poured tea.

The marriage is to take p lace Saturday in Fort Collins, Colo. Miss Durham is assistant professor in the Tech home economics division. Lt. Hittle is stationed at Fort Jackson, S. C.

Club Attends Yule Dinner

Pierian-Sorosis club members and their husbands attended an annual Christmas dinner party Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Kirby.

Guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Harold Blank, Ralph Douglas, Rex Galloup, Horace Gilmore, C. J. Griggs, Lt. (j.g.) and Mrs. W. H. Tinney, Mr. and Mrs. T. Euel Liner, Mrs. Otis Hackney and her brother. Steve McMackin of Fort Worth.

Pupils Will Appear In Christmas Play Here

A speech class is to be presented in recital at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the primary department of First Methodist church by Mrs. C. M. Kaigler.

A pageant, "Waiting Up for Santa Claus," will be given by Lora Ann Kerr, Nancy Crawford, John Guy Terry, Ann Millikin, Ronnie Barnett, Marilyn Goodwin, Shirley Stevens, Claudette Hill, Mary Wilkerson, Howard Wilkerson, Rose Ann Blackwood, Bobbette Sherman and Patsy Ruth Logan.

home to answer her name when they were distributed. All Christmas day she sat beside the tree waiting vainly for her daughter's return.

This year she plans the same lonely vigil. And the next year, and the next and the next. She refuses to accept the grim theory of police and her own family that Annie Mae is gone forever.

Broke Leg In Fall

A month ago Mrs. Dodd fell down a stairway and broke her left leg in three places. She is barely able to hobble to the door to answer each ring of the bell to see if it is her long lost daughter.

Her faith is everlasting, Mrs. Dodd says. She refused to lose it when officers dug up a filled-in well this week on a tip that Annie Mae's body might be underneath its 30 feet of debris. The diggers found only murky Texas water.

For the first time since the war started, Mrs. Dodd's three sons will be with her on Christmas. All served overseas and the eldest, J. W. Dodd, makes frequent trips to the desolate spot where Annie Mae was last seen.

Car Became Stuck

Annie Mae's 16 year old cousin, the last person to see her, told police he met Annie Mae on the night of her disappearance and after taking two companions home they drove along the road near the abandoned well and his car became stuck.

Unable to budge the vehicle, they decided to sleep until daybreak. At 6 a. m. he went for help, he said, and upon his return Annie Mae was gone.

He said that down the road he saw a gray horse and rider galloping away in the misty morning. Police never located the horse or rider.

P-TA Sponsored Open House Sunday Draws Large Crowd

A pre-Christmas open house, given Sunday afternoon at Roscoe Wilson school, by the Parent-Teacher association, drew an attendance of 350 parents, many of whom were fathers.

All of the past presidents of the host organization were in the receiving line which was headed by Mrs. Ivy Savage, principal.

Mrs. S. C. McCarty greeted callers and presented them to the line made up of Mrs. C. C. Files, incumbent president, and Mesdames L. D. Thomas, C. R. Young, Clarence Whiteside, S. W. Brunson and Joe Bryant.

Sixth grade pupils, directed by Miss Dimple Watson, gave a Christmas program over the loud speaker and caroling was continued in the hall throughout the afternoon.

The rooms were decked in a Christmas motif and a decorated tree stood in the hall.

Colorful Parties Are Given For Town, College Groups

One hundred guests attended the Christmas party for the Tech Art Institute, given Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Vickers on the Plainview highway.

Mrs. Roscoe Wilson registered guests and Mesdames Claud Keeton, W. O. Stevens, W. A. Bacon, Chester A. Hubbard and John Daly were on the arrangements committee.

Mrs. R. G. Porter was chairman of the musical program and Mesdames J. O. Cade, Douglas Witt and J. C. Allensworth were other members of the house party.

The program included "The Birth of a Carol," told by Mrs. F. A. Kleinschmidt, with accordion accompaniment played by Mrs. E. G. Wylie; Mrs. James Vickers played "Fire Dance" and "Lullaby" (Chopin) and Mrs. Jane McDonald read Van Dyke's "The Other Wise Man." Mrs. Elois Elliott led group singing of carols.

Robert I. Lockard, at Santa, announced his packages included a folder of 20 wood engravings the institute has bought for enjoyment of the community.

A graveside service in Memorial Park cemetery was to be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon for the infant son of Pfc. and Mrs. William B. Atchley of Lubbock. Rev. Jeff Welch was to conduct the service, Rix Funeral home reported. The infant was born in Lubbock Memorial hospital this morning and only lived a few minutes.

Members of the Methodist Men's club heard Miss Joyce Watson sing Christmas songs as the feature of their luncheon at Lubbock hotel today noon. She was accompanied at the piano by Miss Carolyn Reynolds. W. W. Campbell was program chairman. Recently discharged service men guests at the luncheon included L. B. Copenhaver, Homer Maxey, Herschel Maxey, Dick Green, Aubrey Thompson, W. M. Robertson, H. A. Nelson, Jay Gordon and Clowes Jones. Servicemen guests were: Sgt. Ray Cox and SC/3c Dwight L. Newsom of Brownwood. Dr. Glenn Flynn of Dallas was another out-of-town guest.

A movie of South America, "Our Good Neighbors Down the Road," was shown to the Junior Chamber of Commerce today noon at their luncheon in the Hilton hotel. President Glenn Woody presided and furnished the program. It was announced that no luncheon would be held next Monday, Christmas eve. Announcements of a dinner dance tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Lubbock hotel was also made. Attending members brought toys or 50 cents for the Goodfellow Christmas Cheer fund.

Firemen early this afternoon answered an alarm from the Calf stand, at Main and Ave. Q, when electric wiring caused a slight blaze and smoke. Damage was negligible, it was reported. Two automobiles caught fire earlier today, and were badly damaged, firemen said.

Two automobiles — one in Lubbock and one at Tahoka—were reported stolen today. One, owned by Fred Briggs, was described as a maroon 1940 Buick, license BV 7914, and was taken from Kuykendall Chevrolet company's used car lot. The other was a 1941 Crevrolet sedan, license ED 9792, and was stolen from Tahoka.

A two-tone blue 1941 Nash coach, license ED 4359, was reported stolen Saturday night from Ira L. Carpenter of 2004 Eighteenth, police said. The car was parked at Texas Tech.

Educators Urged To Note Conditions Of U. S. Latin Citizens

AUSTIN, Dec. 17 (AP)—Dr. Stuart Cuthbertson urges educators to use their eyes instead of surveys if they would learn the true conditions of Spanish-American residents of the Southwest. He spoke at a regional conference on education of Spanish speaking people at the University of Texas.

Three miles from the heart of any city you'll find all the information you need about sub-standard housing and other problems, he said.

Dr. George I. Sanchez of the University of Texas opposed Dr. Cuthbertson's views on discarding surveys, contending that more comprehensive information is needed for continuing improvement in the education of Spanish speaking people.

"We need to know how many children are involved in the migratory labor movement, how many are in school and how many are not."

Miss Myrtle Tanner, director of inter-American relations education in the state department of education, explained the teaching of Spanish in Texas elementary schools. At last report, she said 350,000 elementary children were taking the courses.

Greyhound Bus Strike Ended

FORT WORTH, Dec. 17. (AP) — The first Greyhound buses rolled out of terminals at 12:15 a.m. today, ending a strike in the Greyhound southwestern division that had made 2,000 idle and tied up transportation in eight states since Nov. 4.

Terminal workers returned to their jobs Sunday morning after a new contract between the company and the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway and Motor Coach Employes (AFL) was signed Saturday.

Get Pay Increases

Under the new contract drivers and terminal employees will receive pay increases retroactive to Aug. 18, date of expiration of the wage stabilization. The union had asked that the increases be made retroactive to last Jan. 30.

Drivers will receive pay increases of from .0384 cents per mile for employes of one to six months to .05 cents per mile for drivers with three or more years of service.

Terminal employees were allowed a $5 per month raise on minimum and maximum grade rates and reduction of the automatic increase period from five to four years. Terminal employes will receive a 12½ per cent wage increase, figured on base pay, when a switch from 48 to 40-hour-week is made.

Big Three In Session Today

MOSCOW, Dec. 17 (AP)—In an atmosphere of cordiality enhanced by an informal preliminary meeting last night, the foreign ministers of the Soviet union, the United States and Britain turned today to the serious business of bringing their countries closer together in the interests of world peace.

A British embassy spokesman said the foreign ministers would meet for the second time this afternoon and observers expected they would embark at once on discussion of the momentous issues which had brought them together.

Their first meeting last night lasted about two and one-half hours.

Soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov, as the host, presided over the proceedings — his first joint meeting with Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin since the unsuccessful conferences of the foreign ministers' council in London last September.

U. S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and British Ambassador Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, as well as other members of the American and British delegations, were present. The terse official announcement of the initial meeting gave no details, but an atmosphere of good feeling and friendly cooperation was apparent.

O'Dwyer Recommends Buying Quonset Huts

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (AP)—Purchase of 5,000 Quonset huts at a cost of $25,000,000 to help relieve New York City's housing shortage has been recommended by mayor-elect William O'Dwyer's emergency committee on housing.

The steel huts were used by the armed forces during the war and the committee recommended the city buy them from government surplus. They are 20 by 48 feet and it was suggested that each hut be divided into two apartments so the cost would be $2,500 a family home.

Texans Plan Memorials

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Living memorials, differing sharply from the plaques and monuments of World War I, will honor Texas heroes, living and dead, of World War II.

Auditoriums, civic centers, parks, libraries, playgrounds, airports and gymnasiums already have been planned.

These are a few:

Austin—The Capitol City post of the American legion has approval plans for a campaign to erect a $5,000,000 30-story memorial hall and hotel building to be dedicated to Texas veterans of all wars.

McAllen—The McAllen Memorial Public Libary association is launching a $65,000 to $100,000 fund drive to finance the construction and stocking of a new library. It will be located down town, and will include a modern acoustical bandshell for concerts and public meetings.

Also, a 24-acre park is proposed east of town.

Kerrville—Kerrville citizens have raised $100,000 to build a community center which will include an auditorium, indoor playground or gymnasium, library, banquet hall, lounge and rest rooms.

Beaumont—A division of the city planning commission has suggested a civic center, with a music hall, auditorium, armory, and a new library surrounding an edifice to be a monumental memorial.

The chamber of commerce postwar planning committee has proposed a community commons building to house space for women's club activities, a music hall, art gallery, museum and auditorium.

Another Beaumont proposal is a memorial rose garden.

Alumni To Be Honored

Marshall—Plans for construction of a memorial court, honoring Marshall high school alumni who served in the war and dedicated to 33 alumni who lost their lives in conflict, has ben sponsored by the student council. It will cost an estimated $2,500 to $3,000.

Voters of Marshall and Harrison county also have approved a $350,000 bond issue to finance a memorial airport.

Waco—The Veterans Alliance, representing all veterans organizations, plans to combine a memorial to the dead of all wars with a veterans center.

Last spring the junior chamber of commerce planted crepe myrtles in Cameron park as a memorial to McLennan county war dead, one for each man. Trees were planted in the park for the dead of the last war, each tree with a bronze marker and a man's name.

Houston — A memorial club house is being planned by the Navy Mother's club.

Austin—The newly created roadside council has voted a "living memorial" through beautification of Texas highways. Trees and shrubs are to be planted.

Doctor Bags Deer After 24 Years

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 17, (AP)—The 25 children and grandchildren of Dr. B. J. Lewis are glad that, after 24 years of trying, he finally killed a deer.

The 72-year-old retired surgeon announced he would serve the four-point, 110-pound deer at a Christmas dinner for all the family. It was his first, he said, after nearly a quarter of century of persistent hunting.

The name Massachusetts was derived from that of an Indian tribe.

WEDDING BELLS—Hollywood, Dec. 17 (AP)—Wedding bells will be ringing early in the new year, says Actress Marsha Hunt, for her and Robert Presnell, jr., author and movie writer.

It will be the second marriage for each. Miss Hunt, 28, is a former model. Presnell, 31, once was a police reporter on the Milwaukee Journal.

Man Killed In Scrap With Ft. Worth Cop

FORT WORTH, Dec. 17 (U.P) — Fort Worth police today sought further information on the recent activities of a man identified as R. E. Davis, 30, of Greenville, S. C., after his death Sunday night in an attempt to resist arrest.

Davis was killed in a struggle with Officer C. C. Carmichael when the latter tried to take from him a .38 caliber revolver. Davis and an unidentified woman were arrested at a small hotel by Carmichael and two other Fort Worth officers, and the struggle occurred when Davis jammed the revolver into Carmichael's ribs after the pair had been placed in a police car, Carmichael said.

At the city morgue, Davis was identified by Henry Marino, a recreation club owner, as the man who recently robbed him.

More Of Hollywood's Stars Are Starting To Produce Movies

By ROSALIND SHAFFER
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 17 — One Hollywood wartime idea has taken hold, and is continuing to operate, with augmented numbers of players producing their own films. While many of them admittedly went into production at the time to take advantage of a more favorable rating in the income tax, the results have been so good, artistically and financially, that the practice is spreading.

One actor-producer of the wartime crop, Gary Cooper, has bowed out of his deal, but Hedy Lamarr, Joan Bennett and the three Marx brothers are now joining the ranks of those players making independent films as their own producers.

Can Be Shrewd

Actor-producers weren't exactly originated during the war, though the practice became widespread then. But it was the wartime scene that proved that contrary to popular beliefs, screen beauties, lovers and crooners can also be shrewd business operators. James Cagney, teaming with his brother Bill, has made two successful films. Bing Crosby with "The Great John L.," and more recently, "Bells of St. Mary's" has a fine rating as actor-producer. Charles Boyer attained artistic success with "Flesh and Fantasy," though it was not a big moneymaker, and retains his producer status to make another when he is ready. Kay Francis returned to the screen as actress-producer for Monogram, with two B films, successful enough financially. Pat O'Brien, with his own company, continues to do well.

Paulette Goddard, never suspected by her intimates of being lacking in business acumen, recently completed "Diary of a Chambermaid," as actress and coproducer with her husband Burgess Meredith.

Constance Bennett, another shrewd operator, produced "Paris-Underground," as a film comeback. A trifle late with timing with war films on the wane, the film is paying off, and Constance has another in work, "Nine Black Pebbles."

Joan Bennett, freelancing after years of contracts, has formed Diana productions in association with her husband, Walter Wanger, Director Fritz Lang and Writer Director Dudley Nichols. The first release is "Scarlet Street."

Hedy Lamarr, whose career had become contract-bound with roles which displayed her as a beauty but gave her little chance to act, has branched out as a producer of her own pictures. Hedy bought "Strange Woman," the best seller, as her first to produce and act in.

VOTE ON THEATERS

BESSEMER, Ala. (U.P)—It took a vote of the people here recently to settle a political squabble that kept the town's theaters closed on Sundays since last spring. The theaters were ordered closed on Sundays by the city council last April, after theater officials had brought a restraining injunction against the city to halt a contract the city had entered into with a private individual renting out the municipal auditorium as a theater. The case was carried to the Alabama supreme court, and the recent election was made mandatory by an act of the 1945 legislature. City officials and theater operators in Bessemer have been involved in controversy several years.

Record-Setting Army Test Bomber Crashes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17. (AP) — Just eight days after it set a new Long Beach-to-Washington air record, the Army's "Mix-master" experimental bomber crashed to destruction at nearby Oxon Mill, Md., yesterday. The three crew members parachuted to safety.

Nicknamed for its unique propellor-in-tail design, the XB-42 was on a routine flight from Bolling field Army Air base.

The highly streamlined craft averaged 432 miles an hour in the five-hour, 17-minute flight from Long Beach December 8.

Officials of the Douglas Aircraft company which built the Mix-master said at Santa Monica that a second model has been made for the Army.

Shreveport Attorney Dies At Home Sunday

SHREVEPORT, La., Dec. 17 (U.P) —Funeral services were pending today for Pike Hall, veteran Shreveport attorney and former Louisiana State senator, who died at his home here Sunday, following a heart attack last Thursday at his office.

Hall, a member of the law firm of Foster, Hall and Smith, was a veteran of the first World war. He served with the AEF in France, and had served as commander of the Lowe-McFarland American Legion post.

He was elected to the State Senate in 1924 and served two terms. He was a member of the Masonic lodge, and held a law degree from Columbia university.

Hall is survived by his widow, a son and a daughter.

10% more than wartime take-home pay refused by UAW-CIO

Before GM workers were called out on strike, the UAW-CIO refused an offer aimed to increase wartime take-home pay by at least 10%.

Read the background and ask yourself, does this make sense?

HERE ARE THE SIMPLE FACTS:

1. During the last year of the war, the average General Motors hourly-rate worker earned $56.93 per week.

This is based on actual records of the money paid and the number of people working. To earn this money they worked an average of 45.6 hours per week.

2. The public demand for GM products and services is enough to keep our plants working at the wartime level of 45 to 48 hours weekly.

During the period of shortages, we plan to operate at this rate, barring work stoppages due to causes beyond our control. In fact, some of our plants were working 48 hours a week when the strike was called. The number of people employed when reconversion is completed and our new plants and facilities are in production, will be larger than before the war.

3. General Motors offered to adjust wage rates in line with the cost of living.

Since January 1941, General Motors' wage rates have increased substantially. Before the strike was called, the union was offered a cost-of-living wage adjustment in line with the Government's stabilization policy. The union rejected this offer and called the strike. This offer has finally been determined to amount to an average of 13½ cents per hour.

4. The UAW-CIO turned down a proposal which would have given the average GM worker $63.44 a week.

Under this offer, the average General Motors hourly-rate worker would have received $63.44 for the same number of hours for which he was paid $56.93 during the war. This is at least 33% more than he would have received in January 1941 if he had worked the same number of hours then. The union rejected the offer. The strike continues. The workers are getting nothing.

5. What does the UAW-CIO want?

Government figures say that the cost of living has gone up 33% since January 1, 1941. As already pointed out, General Motors has offered this much to its workers. But the union insists it wants 30% more than present rates, which are already substantially higher than 1941 rates. Its battle cry is "52 for 40 or fight"—52 hours' pay for 40 hours' work.

It refuses to budge from that demand.

Nazis Planned To Starve Russians

(By The Associated Press)

NUERNBERG, Dec. 17. — German plans for systematic mass starvation in Russia would have virtually wiped out the cities of Moscow and Stalingrad had they been captured, American prosecutors charged today at the war crimes trial of 21 top Nazi leaders.

Reading from captured German plans for the conquest of Russia, the prosecution named Hermann Goering, sitting uncomfortably in the prisoners box, as the instigator of a calculated starvation plan that would have caused the deaths of "many tens of millions" of Russians.

Mass Murder Program

"This document reveals a program of mass murder to stagger the imagination," one U. S. prosecutor told the four-power tribunal.

The plan, drafted by Goering's economic ministry in 1941, called for export to Germany of every ounce of food in the Ukraine and other areas. In the food-deficient north, the Army was to seize all food for its own use.

Another defendant, Alfred Rosenberg, administrator of the conquered Ukraine, was quoted as saying in a speech in 1941 that "the job of feeding the German people falls on the east. . . . We see no reason for feeding the Russian people of that area."

Disregard All Rules

Also introduced as evidence was a Rosenberg decree ordering his subordinates to disregard Hague convention rules for treatment of captured peoples because, he said, the rules "are not applicable to the Soviet union."

Just before the court session opened, defendant Ernst Kaltenbrunner, who took his place in the prisoner's box after the trial began because of hospitalization for a cerebral hemorrhage, was taken from the courtroom. Kaltenbrunner, former chief of the dread security police, complained of a headache and medical authorities decided he needed a rest.

As the fifth week of the historic trial began, virtually all the 21 Hitler leaders were losing their nonchalant courtroom air and apparently becoming resigned to death as punishment for Nazi crimes.

Defendants Unnerved

The mounting "pile of evidence" —taken from the Germans' own records — that the Hitler regime was responsible for the enslavement of nearly 7,000,000 foreigners and the extermination of 6,000,000 Jews has virtually unnerved many defendants, according to their prison guards.

Jail attendants said only Hjalmar Schacht, former reichsminister of economy, holds grimly to the hope of acquittal. Schacht has maintained he had little connection with Hitler's machinations, despite his letters introduced in evidence declaring he was rebuilding German economy so it would support a large military machine.

Prince Dead

of facing trial was disclosed several hours after Princess Konoye found his body on his bedroom floor. The statement accepted responsibility for the China conflict but defended Konoye's part in tripartite pact and the preludes to the Pacific war.

Blow To Hirohito

Doubtless, Hirohito personally felt the blow deeply. Konoye long was his close confidante and it generally was believed the mikado placed great authority in "the dangerous prince."

Konoye's death was a swift parallel blow to General MacArthur's recent directive against Shinto. That directive struck deeply at Hirohito. Before that, the widespread network of MacArthur's war criminal lists had stripped from around the throne all but two of the principal and still active court actors in the tragedy of the past 15 years. The imperial household had been invaded by the arrest of Prince Morimasa Nashimoto.

Kido Surrenders

Yesterday, a few hours after Konoye's pre-dawn suicide, Marquis Koichi Kido, until recently lord keeper of the privy seal and another close adviser of the emperor, surrendered as a war criminal suspect.

It may have been with design, then, that a few days ago newspapers suddenly blossomed anew with stories about Crown Prince Akihito, whose twelfth birthday is Dec. 23.

It is known now that the emperor's abdication before the occupation was discussed and Akihito was being groomed as ruler under a regency. The plans were abandoned when the Allied attitude indicated relative leniency toward Hirohito.

Discussion of the emperor and whether he is responsible for the war, something unthinkable until recently, has consumed several hours in the diet.

Testimony Is Heard In Rape Case Here

The state had rested and the defense had presented two witnesses when Judge G. V. Pardue recessed for lunch 99th district court's trial of J. B. Jackson, a negro ex-convict, on charges he raped Ruby Lacy, a negro woman, the night of Nov. 17.

Police had reported immediately after the Lacy woman's accusations that she and her mother, Willie Mae Lacy, had been taken to a negro hospital for treatment. Both had been beaten.

Jackson went to the Oklahoma reformatory for chicken theft and to the Texas penitentiary twice for burglary and murder. He denied the state accusations. He said his relations with the Lacy woman had been with her consent.

The forgery case naming L. T. Crawford was tentatively set for Tuesday morning, but Nelson & Brown, Crawford's attorneys, this morning filed a motion to quash the indictment. Judge Pardue probably will announce his ruling Tuesday morning, court officials said.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (AP)—The cotton market suffered a reaction today on hedge, commission houses and New Orleans selling. With the securities markets lower and recent sharp advances in cotton carrying prices almost a cent a pound above the government selling price for the staple traders were generally in a profit taking mood. There was considerable switching from near to the later months, a good part of it of a year end character.

Futures closed 60 cents to $1.05 a bale lower.

Stock Market

SETBACK IS SUFFERED

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (AP)—The stock market today suffered one of its worst setbacks of the last several months on expanded volume with leaders backsliding 1 to 7 points at the worst.

Transfers ran to around 2,000,000 shares.

Conspicuous retreaters included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Great Northern, Eastern Air Lines, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Pacific Gas, American Telephone, Radio Corp., U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Eastman Kodak, Anaconda, International Harvester, American Smelting, Schenley and Electric Power and Light.

Bonds softened in virtually all departments.

New Autonomy Set Up By Azerbaijan Party

MOSCOW, Dec. 17. (AP) — The official Soviet news agency Tass said today in a Tehran dispatch that Azerbaijan insurgent Democrats had proclaimed the existence of an autonomous national government which would operate "without violating the integrity of Iran."

The insurgents, in a 19-point statement, said their government recognized the central Iranian government at Tehran and "will carry out all measures which do not contradict the autonomy of Iranian Azerbaijan and the full rights and demands of the people," Tass said.

Truman Will Reveal Position On Merger

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17. (AP) — President Truman has virtually completed the draft of a lengthy message on the proposed unification of the Army and the Navy for submission to Congress, probably on Wednesday.

White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross would not discuss the President's position on the unification proposal at his news conference.

At the same time Ross said he did not know when the President would send a message urging Congressional ratification of the recently negotiated $4,400,000,000 British credit.

Funeral Rites For Matt Kimes Held

McALESTER, Okla., Dec. 17 (AP) —The Rev. Alton Parker called Matt Kimes the best friend his real friends ever had, at funeral services for the Oklahoma outlaw today.

Mr. Parker, long time friend of the Kimes family, referred to Matt as "the boy we all knew and loved but who had the breaks come all the wrong way."

He made no reference to Matt's criminal career which put him into Oklahoma's state prison for the slaying of two Oklahoma peace officers during his bank robbing days in the 1920s.

George Kimes, brother of Matt and also serving a long sentence in state prison, came to the church handcuffed but sat unshackled during services. Guards sat behind the family pew.

Matt died in Little Rock, Ark., last Friday after an operation necessitated by injuries received in a traffic accident there Dec. 1 that led to his capture.

west, slick roads halted bus and automobile transportation in many sections.

Some trains, especially on the New York Central system, were delayed because of the Buffalo blizzard. Many were being rerouted through Detroit and Windsor. East-west planes were grounded in many northern cities.

Excepting slight moderation in some areas, no major relief from the cold wave was expected this week, the weather bureau said.

CPA Chief Suggests Use Of Substitutes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP) — The government asked the nation's builders today to make ingenious use of substitutes for scarce brick and lumber in order to get volume home production started.

And in the same breath, Civilian Production administrator John D. Small asked communities to bar construction of such buildings as night clubs until the housing crisis is nearer solution.

It's time, Small said in an address prepared for the opening session of a two-day industry-government housing conference, for a nation-wide drive to beat that crisis. Whereas the slogan since V-J day has been "get the boys home," he suggested changing it to "get the boys housed."

A "shortages of certain materials," the CPA chief asserted, "will quite frequently not hold up the building of houses if available substitutes are used. For example, where lumber is short concrete blocks may be available.

Results Of Autopsy Awaited In Inquiry

HOUSTON, Dec. 17. (AP) — Police today awaited the result of an autopsy ordered by Justice Tom Maes, after a 24-year-old Port Arthur schoolteacher died here Saturday night under puzzling circumstances.

The young woman, identified as Miss Dorothea Houghton, was found at 6 p.m. Saturday slumped in a semiconscious condition on a stairway between the mezzanine floor and lobby of a local hotel. She apparently was descending the stairs alone when she collapsed. She dies at 9:40 p.m. in a local infirmary.

According to Detective J. F. Willis, who investigated, Miss Houghton mumbled to bystanders as she lay on the hotel stairway:

"I wish you folks wouldn't get too close to me; I've just recovered from the flu."

Aged Spur Resident Is Taken By Death

SPUR, Dec 17 (Special).—Mrs. Lucy T. Wells, 82, of route 1, Spur, died Sunday morning at 5 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John K. Johnson. The body was sent to Marshall by Bryan McDonald and Son Funeral home of Lubbock.

Services will be conducted at Marshall Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Other survivors are two sons, R. H. Wells of Marshall, Ernest Wells of Hanna, Okla.; another daughter, Mrs. W. R. Stroud of Marshall; 10 grandchildren and 5 great grandchildren.

Defense For North America Is Planned

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP) — Mindful of atomic age possibilities, the United States and Canada are beginning to work out joint plans to defend North America against any attack from Asia or Europe across the north polar regions.

Disclosing this today, Allied diplomatic officials said one of the first specific steps taken by this country was the assignment of six observers to accompany a Canadian Army Air Forces expedition on an 81-day Arctic exploration.

Four Children Die In Apartment Fire

PINOLE, Calif., Dec. 17 (AP)—Four small children burned to death here last night in a fire which razed a chicken house that had been converted into apartments.

Two other persons are in critical condition at nearby hospitals.

Five other youngsters, all less than 8 years of age, were rescued without being hurt. A young married women caring for them suffered minor burns.

The actual shooting down of Yamamoto—an intricate operation that required split-second timing —Wilkinson described simply:

"I arranged for an interception of him."

The controversy at the opening arose after Senator Brewster (R-Maine) told the committee that he is personally paying the salary of Percy L. Greaves, a former employe of the Republican national committee whose presence at the inquiry has evoked caustic remarks from Democratic members.

Brewster read into the record a statement by Greaves saying that the latter never had intended to "insult or reflect in any way" on members of the committee.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill) charged last week that Greaves, while sitting at the committee table, had made insulting remarks to majority members.

Fines Are Assessed

County Attorney Syrian E. Marbut said R. L. Harrington and Mrs. Bessie Walsh had been fined $100 and costs each on county court charges of liquor law violation. Martin Eugene Gardner, 24, $50 and costs for drunk driving. Pleas of guilty were entered before County Judge Walter Davies, officials said.

The sheriff's department said Houston officials had accepted custody of W. H. McClure, 18, after presenting a felony warrant, and had left with him for Harris county. McClure was allowed suspension of a five-year sentence given in 99th district court here recently on a car theft charge.

against unauthorized strikes before making known its proposed wage rates.

Speculation that Ford would come up soon with a wage offer has mounted steadily since a union plan for such a purpose was commended by Ford officials last week.

Not Formerly Accepted

The plan, not yet formally accepted by the company, would subject instigators of wildcat strikes in Ford plants to discharge and participants to fines of $3 to $5 a day.

Leavening the union's pay hopes, however, was a Ford statement last night that the company will have produced only 30,000 of the 80,000 cars it had promised by Christmas.

Asserting "the American people should know why" the goal will not be reached, Henry Ford II, president, said the company's production was "limping instead of galloping along because of insufficient supplies—parts and materials."

"This situation definitely is not the fault of our employes," he declared. "Since V-J day we have not had a single unauthorized work stoppage."

English Town Safe After Fuse Removed From Old Nazi Bomb

CROYDON, Eng., Dec. 17. (U.P.)—"Operation groundhog" was completed today and Herman, the two-ton German bomb which had imperiled south Croydon for nearly five years, at last was a harmless dud.

Shortly before 3 a. m., a tired but grinning bomb disposal crew emerged from a 43-foot hole triumphantly carrying the fuse which might have set off Herman's 3,000 pounds of TNT with disaster to the district.

Worked 21 Hours

They had worked 21 straight hours rendering the explosive impotent in a secret "Turkish bath" so that the sensitive fuse pocket could be cut out.

Residents of the area had been evacuated to a rest center early Sunday morning and only a few newspaper men were on hand to cheer the victorious crew.

"We're bloody well near done in," commented Lt. G. A. Frake who performed the sterilizing operation on Herman with a non-friction cutting tool. "Let's all go home to bed."

Frake and the crew planned to return at 11 a. m. for an official ceremony ending the hazardous mission they began early last week.

Train Wreck

into the front end of the fifth coach from the end.

Ferrell's body was buried in the earth by the force of the impact. The Meteor's diesel engine crashed right through the coach, plowing up steel rails and crossties as if they were kindling.

Trees Are Snapped Off

Pine trees along the right of way were snapped off at the roots as the huge locomotive skidded to a stop on its side.

Four sleepers of the Meteor left the track but remained upright. None of the Meteor passengers were reported injured.

The smashed coach was crowded with servicemen, women and children. It came to rest, a mass of twisted steel, at the bottom of a 30-foot embankment. Rescuers had to cut through the wreckage with acetylene torches to reach Ferrell's body.

Ferrell was porter in the coach which the Meteor struck. Most of the dead were taken from that coach.

The injured were passed through windows, broken out by uninjured servicemen and other passengers. They were taken to hospitals at Maxton, N. C., Hamlet, N. C., and Bennettsville, S. C.

Passengers in both trains were hurled from their seats and berths by the impact. Many of them were treated at the scene for minor cuts, bruises and shock.

Brief Service To Be Held For Aged Man

Lon Carlisle, 92, died at 9:15 o'clock this morning at the home of his step-daughter, Mrs. A. W. Hall, at 1922 Thirtieth. A brief funeral service will be conducted at 7 o'clock tonight at the Hall home with Rev. H. G. Gantz and Dr. H. I. Robinson officiating.

The body will be taken overland to Temple where a graveside service will be held Tuesday with Rev. Noel Keith, pastor of the Temple First Christian church, officiating.

Mr. Carlisle had lived with his step-daughter the last 10 years. He was born near Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 5, 1853. He moved to Texas in 1882 and lived at Belton and Weatherford before coming to Lubbock.

Mrs. Hall is the only survivor. Rix Funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

Smyer Resident Dies In Roswell Sunday

William W. Scott, 66, of Smyer died Sunday morning in Roswell, N. M., at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Edna Rice, with whom he had been visiting for two months.

The Scott family moved to Hockley county 20 years ago from Eddy, Tex.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Smyer Baptist church with the pastor, Rev. V. W. Allen, officiating. Funeral arrangements are in charge of Rix Funeral home.

Other survivors are six sons, Woody W. Scott of Hereford, Elmore Scott of Daingerfield, Ellis W. Scott and Jack Scott, both of whom are overseas, Myrl Scott of the Navy stationed in San Diago, Ernest Scott of Fort Sam Houston; three other daughters, Mrs. Charles C. Bowen of Smyer, Mrs. E. V. Gleaton and Mrs. Tina Howard, both of Hereford; four brothers, Van Scott of Hereford, Bill Scott of Corpus Christi, Erb Scott of Eddy, J. D. Scott of Austin; three sisters, Mrs. Cleo Jennings and Mrs. Tula Shotwell, both of Eddy, Mrs. Pearl Warrick of Waco; 10 grandchildren.

Burial will be in Smyer cemetery.

Wife Slain As Husbands Duel

VINCENNES, Ind., Dec. 17 (U.P.) —Police today questioned two young children who officers said saw their mother shot to death in a gun duel between her third and fourth husbands. Both men were critically wounded.

Mrs. Leona Lloyd, 27, was killed last night, the day after her fourth marriage, in the home of her third husband whom she had recently divorced. Her second husband heard the shots and called police.

Bullets From Two Guns

Police said bullets from a .22 caliber rifle owned by Ward Wright, 36, husband number 3, and bullets from a .32 caliber revolver owned by Donald Lloyd, 30, her fourth bridegroom, were found in Mrs. Lloyd's body.

Mrs. Lloyd's two children by Wright were witnesses to the shooting. Police said the children told them that Lloyd, a discharged soldier, walked into Wright's house and shot his bride. The children said Wright then appeared with a gun and shot Lloyd and that Lloyd returned his fire, police reported.

Both men were taken to the Vincennes hospital after Claude Johnson, the woman's second husband who lives nearby, called police.

Officers tried to learn why Mrs. Lloyd was in Wright's home.

McVay Is To Testify In His Own Defense

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17. (AP) — Capt. Charles B. McVay, 3rd, will testify in his own defense tomorrow at his court martial, defense counsel disclosed today.

McVay, skipper of the cruiser Indianapolis, is on trial on charges of negligence and inefficiency in the loss of his ship last July 30 between Guam and Leyte.

Help them get home for Christmas

Make only essential trips during the holidays

528,000 home-bound members of our victorious forces will reach West Coast ports this month

The biggest gift that thousands and thousands of the men and women in our fighting forces could get is a chance to spend the Christmas holidays with the folks at home.

But getting them home is far more than a matter of discharge papers or a holiday leave—there's the problem of getting them to wherever home is.

Tens of thousands are now in California ports waiting to get home.

The Army and Navy tell us that better than a half million service personnel will be returning in December. That means 17,000, on the average, must be taken care of each day.

Our trains are already overcrowded. We don't want to disappoint a single soldier, sailor, marine, coast guardsman, Wac, Wave or Spar we can possibly find space for.

So won't you help us to do our share in playing Santa Claus to them by postponing your trip until after the holidays—unless it has to be made.

You'll get—we'll bet—a little glow out of knowing that you're making it possible for somebody in the service to be home. So again we ask, in all friendliness, won't you postpone your trip until we can serve you in the traditional Santa Fe manner.

Parade Honors Hero General

FORT WORTH, Dec. 17 (AP) — General Jonathan M. Wainwright, hero of Corregidor, leads a parade in a jeep and participates in other activities here today to aid in this city's lagging Victory loan campaign.

Wainwright, still 30 pounds underweight from malnutrition suffered while a Japanese captive, arrived here by automobile yesterday from El Paso. He was met at Weatherford, 30 miles west of Fort Worth, and given an official greeting and a State police escort to the city limits.

At the city limits he reviewed part of the 43rd Cavalry squadron which he once commanded. Then the 43rd formed a mile-long escort of armored vehicles to bring Wainwright to the downtown section and thousands of citizens lined the route of the parade.

Among those to greet the General were Lt. Col. Tom Dooley of McKinney, his former aide and S/Sgt. Hubert Carroll of Paris, formerly orderly. Both these men were with Wainwright during his imprisonment.

General Wainwright stopped at a Weatherford cafe for a cup of coffee and a crowd gathered when he was recognized. He smilingly gave autographs.

He was informed at a press conference here that he had been made an honorary member of the Sons of Confederate Veterans.

The General's schedule today calls for a Victory loan dinner at 6 p. m. and a bond rally at Will Rogers Memorial coliseum at 8:15 p. m.

Pioneer Airman Ill Of Kidney Ailment

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (AP)—Bert Acosta, famed pioneer aviator of the 1920's, is in Bellevue hospital suffering from a kidney ailment and his physician said an operation might be performed today or tomorrow.

Acosta, who piloted the plane in which Admiral Richard E. Byrd flew the Atlantic in 1927, was admitted to the hospital Saturday.

TAKEN BY DEATH—Princeton, N. J., Dec. 17 (AP)—Dr. Edwin W. Kemmerer, 70, retired Walker professor of international finance at Princeton university, died yesterday at Princeton hospital.

The author of many books on economics, and financial advisor to 14 countries during 31 years, Kemmerer was a member in 1924 of the Dawes commission which planned for Germany's rehabilitation after the last war, and served in 1922 on the United States trade commission in South America.

Santa Is To Visit Horses Of Detroit

DETROIT, Dec. 17. (AP)—That noble servant of man, the horse, will have his own Christmas here Wednesday.

He'll hang his feed bag over the fireplace at the Michigan humane society shelter.

Santa Claus will come down the chimney to unload bales of hay, sacks of oats and bunches of carrots for all the nags.

Each year the shelter invites Detroit's junk wagon drivers to bring their horses to the party. About 60 four-footed pavement pounders are expected this year.

Meet The People— Man Battles Tiger And Emerges Victor

FORT WORTH, Dec. 17 (U.P.)—Meet a man who fought hand to claw with a tiger and lived to tell it.

Meet Don V. Shuhart, a big husky fellow who came through the encounter not too much worse for wear. The Tiger didn't.

Shuhart is over in Calcutta, India, in a hospital. He wrote of his meeting with the Bengal in a letter to a member of the Fort Worth Rifle Club, of which he is a former secretary.

Trailing a wounded tiger in India, Shuhart came upon him suddenly with a native forest guard.

"When I shot," he wrote, "instead of falling over the tiger jumped up and sprang at me. The guard ran without firing a shot. . . . The tiger was standing with his claws dug into my left leg. I was on my back and kept the rifle moving up and down in front of my neck and face.

"The tiger bit my right leg just above the knee and broke the bone. He then turned and walked over some five or six feet and lay down facing me."

That gave Shuhart a chance to reload and he shot the tiger through the head.

"Tell the boys," Shuhart concluded, "not to do any tiger hunting until I can coach them a bit."

Gene Tunney Heads Building Company

STAMFORD, Conn., Dec. 17 (AP)—Gene Tunney, the former heavyweight champion, is listed as president of the Stamford Building company in incorporation papers filed over the weekend at the town clerk's office.

The firm, he said, will concentrate on small, moderately priced dwellings.

"I have just spent five years in the Navy building men; and now I want to spend as much of my available time as possible constructing homes," he said.

CONSTIPATION Hazardous In BAD COLDS

Beware of sluggish elimination when you have a cold. If you are constipated you may be sure your intestines are retaining virus-laden mucus and other putrefactive waste matter. This condition may interfere with the treatment of the cold and lead to more serious complications.

Relieve this hazardous constipated condition promptly tonight with Calotabs. Calotabs are one of the most dependable of all intestinal eliminants. They pleasantly yet thoroughly act on every foot of the intestinal tract, thus helping to sweep out virus-laden mucus and other putrefactive material, enabling Nature to more effectively combat the cold. Get Calotabs from your druggist. Use only as directed on the labeling.

Air Show Features Army, Navy Planes

EL PASO, Dec. 17. (U.P.) — El Paso's first air show since the war ended will be concluded today, but the schedule may prove to be an anti-climax after Sunday's special events honoring International Aviation day.

Both the Army and Navy contributed to the day's thrills. The Navy sent over a number of carrier aircraft, including torpedo bombers, Helldivers and Corsairs, piloted by combat veterans. They made a simulated attack on the airport. The attack was followed by a demonstration of low-level bombing and strafing.

The Army's part in the show was the appearance at 540 miles an hour of three P-80's, the famous Shooting Star. The Navy's Bearcat, only recently removed from the secret list, flew across the field at about 460 miles per hour.

Other features included commercial plane exhibits, contests for civilian pilots, and a reception for visitors and participants given by the El Paso Chamber of Commerce.

Among the guests were numerous visiting dignitaries and government officials from Mexico.

AIDED IN MEAT SHORTAGE

RIVERTON, Wyo. (U.P.)—During a meat shortage this year in Rawlins, where the state penitentiary is located, the prison farm here furnished 30,000 pounds of beef for butcher shops there, following a request from the OPA. Meat was supplied by the prison farm for a two-week period. Butchering was done by state prisoners, under supervision of Warden Alex MacPherson.

LORD BYRON TEES OFF—Byron Nelson, golf's top money winner, tees off in chill weather in the $10,000 Fort Worth open at Glen Garden County club. Nelson, who got his start at a caddie at Glen Garden, returned from a two-months vacation to cop the tourney with an 11 under par 273 Sunday.

Byron Nelson Cops Fort Worth's Open

Denton Ace Fires An 11 Under Par 273 To Win; Jimmie Demaret Takes Second

FORT WORTH, Dec. 17 (AP) — Lord Byron Nelson, golf's superlative, went back to the farm today but the stay will be brief. He's going to invest his first place money in the Fort Worth open tournament in a tractor then rejoin the nation's links tourists at Los Angeles to start the P.G.A.'s new year.

The tall stylist from Denton, hurried to an eleven-under-par 273 yesterday to win the Fort Worth open in a breeze. He finished eight strokes ahead of another Texan, Jimmie Demaret of Houston, back in golf's big time after a hitch in the Navy. Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Sanford, Me., who shot a six-under-par 65 in yesterday's last round, was third with 282, while E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Little Rock was fourth with 283.

Took A Vacation

Nelson, who took a two-months vacation from golf after winning 18 tournaments, returned to the links wars at Glen Garden Country club where he got his start as a caddie.

Lord Byron now has been a money-winner in 102 consecutive tournaments over a period of four years and this year ran his total winnings to $66,000 in war bonds. McSpaden finished in second place with $34,000 and Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., who tied for seventh in the Fort Worth open yesterday, was the third man in the money race with total winnings of $27,425.

Golfers on the P.G.A. tour will return to their homes for the Christmas holiday. The next tournament—the Los Angeles open—is Jan. 4-7.

The Americal Infantry Division, the only one assigned overseas during the war without an official number, derives its name from a combination of the words America and New Caledonia.

Redskins Lose To Rams 15-14

Freakish Safety Proves Margin

CLEVELAND, Dec. 17 (AP)—It was a matter for argument today whether it was too little or too much Sammy Baugh that enabled Cleveland's rah-rah-Rams to hang up their first National Professional Football league championship as well as the title of "world's best icicles in football suits."

Sammy opened up the ball game yesterday and in the first quarter threw a gamble pass from his end zone that bounced back for a Rams' safety when the goal posts got in the way of it. This bound was the edge that gave the Rams their 15 to 14 photo-finish decision over the Washington Redskins, who are known to the trade as Baugh & Co.

Slinging Samuel left the game with an injured side shortly after that "one pitch too many" and reappeared only for a few minutes in the second half. Since it is well known that the Washington attack percolates only as Samuel goes on those B-29 raids, the Redskins didn't have much chance with him out of there, especially against a hot club that was three to four points the favorite going to the post.

The safety was probably as freaky a score as ever was made in football, amateur, pro or "catch as catch can" but it was two points and enough to decide it after winging Bob Waterfield, who signed a three-year Rams contract only a few hours before the game, threw two touchdown passes.

Doc Blanchard Tops Sports Writers Poll

DES MOINES, Ia., Dec. 17 (AP)—Felix (Doc) Blanchard of unbeaten Army is the choice of the nation's football writers as the top intercollegiate player of 1945.

Blanchard polled 114 of 120 votes cast by members of the Football Writers Association of America for their All-America team, Bert McGrane, secretary of the organization, announced today.

Ranking next in the balloting were halfback Gleen Davis of the Army, with 110 votes, and DeWitt Coulter, Army tackle, 106.

Dallas Club Prexy Seeks Pro Franchise

DALLAS, Dec. 17 (AP)—George Schepps, president of the Dallas club of the Texas Baseball league, said today he was seeking a franchise in the All-America conference—a major professional football league.

The All-America now has nine clubs, is adding a tenth and plans to compete with the National Pro league next season.

Schepps and his brother Julius, hold an option on the Cotton Bowl for professional football.

Food gifts to Russia in 1945 included 310,000,000 pounds of meats, 106,000,000 pounds of lard, 8,541,000 pounds of butter; 110,000,000 pounds of sugar, 36,000,000 pounds of vegetable oils.

Wichita Falls And Highland Park Tangle At Fort Worth

Goose Creek And Waco Meet On Houston Field

(By The Associated Press)

Three teams that have been playing around among themselves enough to know there's no more difference in strength than a touchdown that an opportune spot won't take care of are in the semi-finals of the Texas schoolboy football race.

Then, there is Goose Creek, the mystery team of the year, to complete the foursome with this schedule for next Saturday:

Highland Park (Dallas) vs Wichita Falls at Fort Worth.

Waco vs Goose Creek at Houston.

Survivors of these games will clash for the twenty-sixth championship of the interscholastic league.

Meet In Feature

Highland Park and Wichita Falls meet in the feature battle of the week—not that it's more important than the struggle of Waco and Goose Creek because each game aims at the same thing, but the Fort Worth melee matches the only unbeaten elevens in the state and it's a return engagement. Highland Park and Wichita each has been once tied and this came about when the two clubs clashed in midseason in a nonconference game.

Waco also played Highland Park and lost 7-0 in a game that failed to satisfy the critics as to which eleven was really the best. That was the only loss on Waco's record for the season.

Dark Horse Of Race

Goose Creek comes into the semi-finals for the second time in three years with a couple of defeats but the Goose Creek team of today is a far cry from the one that dropped decisions to Lufkin and Port Arthur. It's the dark horse of the state race.

Highland Park and Wichita Falls will meet on a neutral field because officials of the two schools didn't want to flip a coin and take a chance on one getting the at-home advantage.

In the case of Waco and Goose Creek, there was a coin flip and Goose Creek won, designating Houston as its home field.

Each game should attract 20,000 or more with stadiums capable of taking care of such throngs.

Wichita Falls and Highland Park won their way to the semi-finals last week with decisive victories, the former knocking Odessa loose from its undefeated record 35-0 and Highland Park downing North Side (Fort Worth) 40-6.

Waco had considerable trouble with Marshall before winning 13-0 and Goose Creek found Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio) a fairly tough trial horse in taking the decision 19-0.

Good Sportsmanship Displayed In Sunday's Title Pro Battle

By HUGH FULLERTON, jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

CLEVELAND, Dec. 17. — That double zero at the pro football playoff yesterday wasn't just the number worn by Washington's Steve Bagarus. You could have seen it on any convenient thermometer . . . The unusual weather was responsible for one fine gesture of sportsmanship . . . Before the game both teams tried out regular cleated footwear and basketball shoes and decided to wear the cleats . . . Between the halves, Coaches Adam Walsh and Dud Degroot held a confab about changing and Degroot decided that since Walsh was going to continue using cleats, he would do the same—just so there would be no question of the game being decided on merits . . . The most appropriate thing about the whole performance was the "White Christmas" act put on by the Washington band during the intermission.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

James E. Doyle, Cleveland Plain Dealer: "Lou Boudreau had two headaches but he never thought of taking headache powders . . . No, he just made each of his headaches take a powder."

CLEANING THE CUFF

If the indoor track meet promoters are smart, they'll stuff the ballot boxes in the Big Ten's mail vote on postponing application of its eligibility rule until after the winter season. Among the boys who can't compete under the rule as recently passed are Michigan's Ross and Bob Hume and Indiana's Campbell Kane, who have both gate and gait appeal . . . Chicago writers are raising the question of whether the Cubs still owe the Yankees some money or players on the Hank Borowy deal and Boss Jim Gallagher's replies indicate that maybe some dough still is due . . . The absence of fumbling in yesterday's snowbound grid game, according to coaches, was due to the players' consciousness of the danger of committing a $500 or $1000 error . . . The worst error was just going into the joint on a day like that.

Bo McMillin Chosen Coach Of The Year

NEW YORK, Dec. 17, (U.P.)—The nation's football coaches today selected Alvin Nugent (Bo) McMillin, who brought Indiana its first Big Ten gridiron championship, as the coach of the year in the annual poll conducted by the New York World-Telegram.

BO McMILLIN

McMillin, no newcomer to football glory, received 63 first place votes out of the total of 155 ballots cast by his fellow coaches. Col. Earl Blaik, coach of Army's undefeated team, placed second, being named on 28 first place ballots, while Lou Little of Columbia was third with 22.

The graying man of the Sycamore country who gained his first gridiron prominence when he led little Centre college to a 6 to 0 upset victory over Harvard in 1921, was named for either first, second and third places on 125 of the ballots. He received 34 second place votes and 28 third place ballots.

Texas Cagers In Busy Week

All-College Tilts Set In Oklahoma

(By The Associated Press)

A dozen games are scheduled this week as Southwest conference basketball teams finish most of the practice campaign and clear the decks for participation in the all-college tournament at Oklahoma City and the start of the conference race.

Texas Christian's Horned Frogs, leading the way in victories with six, figure in two intersectional tilts, the Frogs meeting Loyola at Chicago Friday night and Bradley Tech at Peoria, Ill., Saturday night.

Meet First Defeat

Arkansas also has an intersectional contest on the card, the high-scoring Razorbacks, who met their first defeat of the season last week in losing to New York university 63-62, clashing with Kentucky at Lexington, Ky., tomorrow night.

Other games this week:

Tonight — Texas Christian vs. Dallas Naval Air station at Fort Worth; tomorrow night — Texas vs. Southwestern at Georgetown, Southern Methodist vs. North Texas at Denton; Wednesday night — Texas A. and M. vs. Sam Houston at College Station, Rice vs. Southwestern Louisiana Institute at Houston; Friday night — Texas vs. Bergstrom field at Austin, Southern Methodist vs. North Texas at Denton, Rice vs. East Texas at Houston; Saturday night —Rice vs. East Texas at Houston.

Florida In Market For A New Coach

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 17 (AP)—University of Florida is in the market today for a head football coach and a new athletic department official designated as a "football scout."

Adopting an entirely new athletic policy, the board of control refused at a meeting yesterday to renew the contract of Head Coach Tom Lieb and then created the new position.

University President John Tigert told the board he had approached Dana X. Bible, veteran coach of the University of Texas, Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern, Bo McMillin of Indiana, and Biff Jones of West Point to see if they would be interested in heading the new Florida system, but all had declined, he said.

BLUEJACKETS WIN

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 17 (AP)—Fleet city's undefeated Bluejackets, rated by many experts as the most powerful football team in the country, ended a 12-game season yesterday by blanking the Fort Warren Broncos of Cheyenne, Wyo., 27-0 before a crowd of 40,000.

EL PASO — Back in the days when hotels used to be looking for business, instead of dodging it as they are now, many hostelries across the country used to advertise themselves as "your home away from home." The idea, of course, was to make the guest feel more at home in the particular hotel he was in than anywhere—save in his own house.

Well, El Paso to The Plainsman is and for a long time has been his "home town away from his home town." In short, we like El Paso better than any other city we know—except Lubbock.

Probably there are two principal reasons for our feeling for this, the largest and greatest of American cities along the Mexican border.

In the first place, we know more people here; have more personal friends here, than in any other city outside of Lubbock.

And in the second place, we find El Paso intensely interesting because of its historic background and the fact that it is simply drenched with color.

Back in the old days, folks used to call Jack County "the Free State of Jack," because Jack County people stuck closer together than sardines in a can; because they put up a solid front against the world; because Jack County was, in the minds of Jack Countians, at least, a place set apart—a little section of God's green earth that was "all to itself."

The Plainsman, of course, didn't know Jack County in those days when it was the last frontier overlooking the rolling brakes which led to the Plains which were empty, then, of everything save occasional roving bands of Indians and countless herds of buffalo.

But we do know El Paso; have known it well these 20 and more years. And knowing El Paso and quite a sprinkling of its people who speak both English and Spanish, we doubt if there ever was a time when Jack County possessed more community of interest than is possessed by the John Smiths and Enrique Gomezes of this justly celebrated city at the Rio Grande's North Pass.

EL PASOANS go the people of Los Angeles double when it comes to "sticking up" for their home town.

The people here can give Floridans cards and spades when it comes to promoting the glories of their own bailiwick.

In their never-for-a-moment forgotten fetish of "hooray for us," they live in a continuous West Texas Chamber of Commerce spirit of boost, Boost, BOOST. And this spirit is reflected in every phase of the city's life.

When there is a crime wave on—and there's no way of ignoring it—El Pasoans point with pride that it's the "biggest and the best crime wave ever."

If they have a football team that wins three games in a row—which only occasionally happens—it's "the greatest football team in the world."

Their oldest and most dignified church is "the very oldest and the most dignified" and when they haul off on a political campaign, be it local, state or national, they throw themselves into it with complete abandon. Then when it's over; opposing sides bind up their considerable wounds, shake hands all around—and forget their differences until the next time.

PERHAPS it is because El Paso is stuck "way out in the middle of nowhere" that its people largely obey the laws which please them and ignore those which do not. After all, who cares? There's nobody to care within thousands of square miles in all directions!

Maybe it's because this Southwestern country has yet to be really "broke to halter;" maybe it bred rugged individualists for so many years when no one but a rugged individualist could stand the pace that it hasn't yet gotten away from the habit.

But whatever the reason, as Texans are a breed apart in the U. S. A., El Pasoans are a breed apart in the empire that is Texas.

El Paso is a big city as cities go in the Southwest. It is surrounded by a big desert; it is guarded to the north by a big mountain; when it has rains they are big rains and when it has drouths, they're big, too.

So maybe everything works together, including Nature, the elements, geography and topography, to inspire bigness in the people. And it cannot be denied that whatever an El Pasoan does—good or bad—he does it in a big way.

This is no half-way, half-hearted town and the people who live here aren't given to temporizing.

If El Paso ever adopts an official municipal hymn, it will have to be the ditty "It's Gotta Be This, or That!"

There's no way under the shining sun to discourage these people, either. That's probably because down the years they have experienced almost every kind of setback, from Indian raids to economic collapses of the first order, so nothing can surprise them. When the bottom falls out of anything in El Paso—as must happen, on occasion, to all cities—the people just put in a new bottom.

Perhaps there aren't 1,000 people here who are absolutely sure that "Kipling" refers to a now dead English poet, instead of to a popular Scandanavian game. But when it comes to building things back with worn out tools, as Kipling advised in "If," the tough, hardy, irrepresible El Pasoans need take a back seat for no other group of people anywhere.

TYPICAL of the never-say-die spirit of El Paso, we think, is the rank-and-file's view of the railroad tracks which cut through the big middle to town; annually cause millions of hours of lost time and scores of deaths and injuries.

Upon at least 4,000 times in the last 40 years, El Pasoans have "almost" beaten the railroads into submission and forced the lines to do something to eliminate this insufferable condition. And upon at least 4,000 times in the last 40 years, the railroads have wiggled out and El Pasoans have taken a civic and economic licking.

Yet are El Pasoans downhearted?

They are not.

At this very minute they are working on the biggest, most expensive and encompassing plan yet evolved to move the trains off of their main streets.

And you'd be surprised how many intelligent El Pasoans—including many who have been spanked time and time again by the railroads—will bet you money, marbles or chalk that "this time we got 'em over a barrel!"

Old El Paso—once the unlovely little mud-shack town of Franklin; later Paso del Norte, which was a mere suburb of Juarez across the river, and now one of America's few "unusual" cities—is riding high again and we glory in her spunk, her snap-back, her energy and her broad vision.

Once again more than 100,000 people of all races and creeds swarm her streets, each a self-appointed assistant secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and ready to "sell you" El Paso at the drop of a hat—and drop the hat for you!

A mining town, an Army town, a great wholesale and retail center, a medical and tourist Mecca, considerable of a power in cattle, finance and education, El Paso is a city in which Texans who believe in guts and freedom—and that means all Texans—can take pride.

GONE from the current scene are Cabeza de Vaca, El Paso's "first tourist;" Judge Magoffin, Josh Raynolds, Juan Hart, Bernard Schuster, Judge Burges, Charlie Bassett and many, many other strong men of other days, who laid well the foundations of El Paso, or who aided in building the structure higher.

Yet El Paso is more fortunate than many another old city in that it has nurtured a new crop of empire builders to carry on for those whose work is done.

It always has been a great old town. It will be for a long time and, we hope, for always.

Feminine Viewpoint

BY RUTH MILLETT

(Copyright, 1945, For The Journal)

A SURVEY made among business executives who recently met in convention at Spokane, Wash., reveals that one of every five men prefers his secretary to have both beauty and brains, two out of three don't care what she looks like, and every seventh man demands beauty first.

MILLETT

It's a good thing the men are not all of one opinion. For there are many types among the girls who look to secretarial work for their living.

The beautiful but dumb ones must depend for their chance at a pay check on their sex appeal and on what it does for some men's ego to have a pretty girl waiting on them. So it is good there are men who consider looks most important in a secretary.

And there are intelligent but not so pretty girls who must get by on brains and ability alone. Fortunately there are men who don't expect a secretary to be a Powers model, if she can run an office in their absence.

WIVES JUDGE DIFFERENTLY

AND it is fine for the fortunate girls who have a nice balance between beauty and brains that there are men who appreciate the combination enough to demand it in the women they hire.

Yes, it's a good thing for the girls that employers have different ideas. If the men's wives were doing the hiring, for instance, only one type of girl would have a chance. And it wouldn't be the beautiful girl, either with or without brains.

"Automobiles are continually adding to the motorist's vocabulary", asserts a college professor. Yes, indeed, professor—and you ought to listen to a pedestrian talking some time.

TRAVEL TO GO SOUTHWARD

Americans with the travel urge are likely to see a lot of Latin-America in the next few years. With unrestricted travel to Europe and Asia still a long way off, foreign travel naturally will turn to "south of the border."

News dispatches and breath-taking advertisements herald the forthcoming boom in western hemispheric travel. Routes are gradually expanding to accomodate tourists—by fast airliners, luxury steamers and smooth, modern highways. New hotels are being built to offer comfortable and attractive living quarters everywhere.

All the American nations are taking steps to encourage travel, and they are giving consideration to means of simplifying the myriad regulations that have hindered travel in the past. Perhaps, eventually, passports and visas can be eliminated for inter-American travel; and simple tourist cards — like those already used by Mexico, Cuba and Guatemala — will be all that the American traveler needs.

Many persons in this country will see for the first time wonders of Latin America — colorful, musical Mexico, picturesque Guatemala, the sparkling West Indian islands and Rio de Janeiro's world-famed harbor. And many Latin-Americans, in return, will view the wonders of the United States.

The expected flood of travel is going to do a great deal more than just give delightful vacations. By providing an opportunity for the peoples of all the Americas to become better acquainted with one another, it will promote cultural bonds so important to international relations. Furthermore, tourist expenditures will stimulate trade and general prosperity throughout the hemisphere.

Tribute Paid To Late Syndicate Editor

Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—The other day in New York a man known to almost every newspaper editor in the country, yet almost unknown to the general public, quietly departed the "Merry-Go-Round" and the "My Days" he had helped to develop and went on to a more peaceful world.

He was George Carlin, guiding genius of the United Feature syndicate, who cracked the whip over the greatest conglomeration of star syndicated columnists the world has ever seen and who, for better or for worse, served as midwife, patron saint and godfather to this column when it first started, 13 years ago today.

PEARSON

When I indicate George Carlin was a whip-cracker, perhaps I give the wrong impression. George could and sometimes did crack the whip. But on the whole he was the mildest-mannered man I ever knew. Perhaps that was the secret of his ability to get along with such a motley assortment of performers as Westbrook Pegler, Pearson and Allen, Mrs. Roosevelt, Heywood Broun, Ernie Pyle, Raymond Clapper, Marquis Childs and Tom Stokes.

Outsiders marveled at how one man could keep this circus of trained seals performing in one ring with no visible evidence of cannibalism. Yet he did. He even kept Mrs. Roosevelt happy, while Pegler, in an adjoining column, was holding her feet up to the hot coals almost every other day. In fact, George was the only man I ever knew who could censor and edit the First Lady, yet be invited to the White House continually.

And on those annual occasions when the publishers gathered in New York, Pegler and Mrs. Roosevelt and the rest of us would stand side by side in the receiving line no matter what one had written about the other, to play host to the publishers — all because we loved George Carlin. For no one else would we have done it.

A lot of people wondered not only how George kept the peace among his performers, but also how he stood the daily grind of running his far-flung syndicate. For he handled comic strips and all sorts of other features. The secret was that George lived for his work. The columnists were his children. They might be problem children, but they were his, and he loved them.

Came the day when his children went off to other things and George, like many parents, wilted. Two of his greatest writers, Ernie Pyle and Ray Clapper, were war casualties. That zestful tilter of lances, Westbrook Pegler, had Roy Howard trouble (Roy was George Carlin's over-all boss on United Features). So did the Merry-Go-Round. We went off to other booking agencies, as had Heywood Broun before us.

Gradually, through no fault of his own, George Carlin's performing circus disintegrated. He took on new performers — top performers — though they didn't snarl so much at each other. Perhaps it was because they didn't cause him as much trouble as his earlier prima donnas, or perhaps it was because he loved his first children best; anyway the excitement, the turmoil, the hurly-burly passed out of George's life.

And the other day he quietly passed on to another world, where I like to think of him with Ray Clapper, Ernie Pyle, and Heywood Broun, pounding out masterpieces for a new public truly appreciative of their great genius, a world free of wars and bloodshed and the puny pettiness of mankind.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

ERIC Johnston came within an inch of resigning as president of the United States Chamber of Commerce over the issue of continued price control. Johnston believes in maintaining price control even beyond June 30 of next year. But the U. S. Chamber of Commerce directors voted to issue a blast calling for immediate suspension of price control. Johnston fought it. Finally he won out only after price chief Chester Bowles addressed the board of directors at a hush-hush luncheon in the Hotel Statler . . . American troops will be kept in China for at least another 100 days, Secretary of State Byrnes told a secret meeting of congressmen including DeLacy of Washington, Patterson, Healy and Douglas of California and Biemiller of Wisconsin. Byrnes said about 3,000 Jap soldiers are being shipped home from China daily, with about another 300,000 yet to go. He admitted that American lend-lease supplies are still being sent to Chiang Kai-Shek to be used in the Chinese Civil war . . . General Eisenhower has approved a directive permitting thousands of starving, persecuted Jewish refugees from Poland to enter the American zone of Germany. Other thousands are flocking to the U. S. zone from the British area, where the treatment of displaced Nazi victims is still something the British empire should be ashamed of . . . Pat Hurley's attack on the State department has back-fired so badly that Byrnes and Truman are now reconsidering their entire Chinese policy. Result: General Marshall is going to China with clear-cut orders not to intervene on behalf of the Chungking government, but rather to put strong pressure on Chungking and the Chinese communists to get together. Marshall will inform both factions that the United States plans to use every influence to end the Chinese Civil war. This is a reversal in fact, though not in name, of administration policy under Hurley.

GEN. MARSHALL SITS

GENERAL Marshall's letters to Governor Dewey regarding the Japanese code were made public only after a stiff protest by General Marshall, who wanted his reference to cooperation with the British withheld. Marshall knew the Russians would read between the lines and figure that we were also intercepting their code messages.

The Pearl Harbor committee met in executive session in Senator Barkley's office to listen to Marshall's plea, but before Marshall could open his mouth, Republican Senator Ferguson of Michigan and Democratic Senator Lucas of Illinois got up and walked out. Both absolutely refused to listen to Marshall or any other witness in executive session.

"This investigation is strictly an on-the-record public affair," they insisted.

After they left, Senator Brewster of Maine proposed that the committee make the sole decision regarding publication of the letters and that Marshall not be permitted to remain. So the former chief of staff went outside and warmed a chair with Ferguson and Lucas in Barkley's outer office.

Only Rep. Clark of North Carolina and Murphy of Pennsylvania had any doubts about making the entire letters public. They did not insist upon a vote, however, and the committee finally agreed to ignore Marshall's secrecy plea. When the letters were put in the public record, Marshall's pencil marked to indicate what parts he wanted withheld were not left on the text.

CAPITAL CHAFF

PRESIDENT Truman will reappoint FDR's former law partner, Basil O'Connor, to head the American Red Cross, despite the bitter attacks against O'Connor for cooperation with organized labor. . . . Oscar Cox, former assistant solicitor general, has made a bid to buy the Big Inch and little Inch pipe-lines which carried oil to the Atlantic seaboard during the war. He wants to pipe natural gas, much of it wasted in Texas, to the eastern United States. However, John L. Lewis is dead opposed. He doesn't want competition with the coal industry . . . Cox would give each city using the gas a stock ownership in the project . . . The Army is closing 20 separation centers in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, just as discharges are going more smoothly. This is apt to create a new discharge bottleneck just before Christmas . . . General Eisenhower, now Chief of Staff, has sent a "for your eyes only" cable to General McNarney, his successor in Europe, ordering him to adhere rigidly to the Roosevelt-Truman policy of a tough peace for Germany. Eisenhower also told McNarney not to get involved in any Allied political arguments . . . Presidential aides John Steelman and Judge Sam Rosenman were chief authors of President Truman's labor message to Congress. Truman has told friends privately that what he tried to do was put a "ceiling on labor legislation." In other words, if reactionaries in Congress pass legislation stronger than which he proposed, he will veto it.

"Try And Stop Me"
By Bennett Cerf

WHEN the Victoria theater occupied the present site of the Rialto at 42nd Street and Seventh Avenue, and Willie Hammerstein managed the vaudeville shows staged there, anybody in the public eye could get headline billing for a single week.

Hammerstein particularly favored good-looking gals who had just beaten a murder rap. One such damsel shot a man on Friday and opened at the Victoria the following Monday at $1,000 for the week. She tried to get a second week at the same figure. "Not until you go out and shoot somebody else," Hammerstein told her promptly.

JIM TULLY once persuaded Wilson Mizner to try his hand at a short story. He promptly sold it to a leading magazine for a thousand dollars, but wasn't satisfied. "It took me eight hours to write that thing," he complained. Later he made an observation on the writing game that has been quoted many times since: "If you steal from one author, it's plagiarism; if you steal from many, it's research."

Mizner never minced words about his numerous sins of omission and commission. "They'll find out anyhow," was his philosophy. "There's something about a closet that makes a skeleton terribly restless."

NOTES of an Innocent Bystander—The Intelligentsia: Dr. Robert Oppenheimer, the top man among the atomic bomb scientists, was tittered at by two gals because of his "college-cut clothes." He was the one who actually put the final bomb together. . . . There'll be forty "angels" for "This Business of Life" . . . Ex-Sgt. Desmond, who crooned with Major Glenn Miller's crew overseas, will receive more money for three weeks on the Strand stage than he got for his three years in the Army . . . Washington correspondent Frank Gervasi reports that advance sales on his new book, "To Whom Palestine," already total 15,000 copies. It comes out in Feb. . . . Soldier Bill Mauldin's book, "Up Front," tops the non-fiction best-seller list. General Marshall's report is runner-up . . . Jack Lawrence's song hit (the lyrics) is called "Symphony," a French tune smash. He is a civilian again after 3½ years . . . Tex McCrary, the former editorial writer of the Mirror, will head a newsreel firm. His wife, Jinx Falkenburg, will colyum for a new femme apparel weekly . . . THE SHOW SHOPS: Two of the new season's biggest box-office bonanzas are plays dealing with political problems and racial issues: "State of the Union" and "Deep Are the Roots." Yet Hollywood producers won't handle such themes on the theory that they lack box-office zing . . . Maurice Evans' "Hamlet" has Boston observers dusting off seldom-used adjectives in the dictionary . . . Why actors glare at critics: Some of the thespians who were patted when "The Tempest" opened were booted when it returned to town . . . They should have a permanent company of "State of the Union" in Washington. It can teach politicos more than they will ever learn in Congress . . . "The French Touch" lifted its asbestos for the first night zoo as this was pushed, shoved and kicked to press.

THE MAGIC LANTERNS: The cinema branch of the Main Stem is celebrating Ingrid Bergman month. Teamed with Bing, her third click in four weeks is "The Bells of St. Mary's." Wholesome as a blown kiss, this tender and luminous tale leaves the spirit feeling like it had been caressed by an angel . . . Joan Leslie pulls the woo over the eyes in "Too Young to Know" via dazzling sleight-of-heartricks . . . "Appointment in Tokyo" is the inspiring pictorial record of our Pacific triumph. The victory trail blazed by the Yankee Doolittle Dandies is paved with the valor and glory of the Army, Navy and Marines. A 48-starrific film.

The Radio: The Phillips H. Lord outfit has given up using the word "penitentiary" in any of ex-Police Commissioner Valentine's scripts. Reason: He just cannot pronounce it. They use "jail" instead . . . Cugat's rich rhythms from the Troc in H'wood (via Mutual) make you think you know how to rhumba . . . Those pictures of Mayor LaGuardia signing a contract with the radio network were handouts. The contract actually consists of two letters, one written to LaGuardia making the offer, the other a letter from him agreeing . . . Gary Stevens in a weekly item: "WW's newscasts Sunday nights should be played in Congress Monday mornings; it would keep those guys awake."

THE Comic Section: Over at Villepique's they were gabbing about suggestion to put Congress on the air as a regular feature. "'Stoo late," said a listener. "They already have a program titled: 'It Pays to Be Ignorant'" . . . Jimmy Durante came to a broadcast shivering from the raw, wintry wind. His famed schnozz was a lurid red because the north breeze used it for a special target. A dim-wit

"What Do You Want Me To Bring You?"

American Reporter Claims Allies Losing Peace In Asia

British Tactics Causing Racial Unrest

BY MARQUIS CHILDS
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — At the very time that word comes of British determination to put down the nationalist movement in the Dutch East Indies with all-out force, we get an analysis from an American reporter with a long background in the Far East who says that the Allies are losing the peace in southern Asia and losing it fast.

CHILDS

A. T. Steele of the New York Herald-Tribune has completed a tour of Java, Siam, Burma, Malaya and French Indo-China which he knew well before the war. Summing up in a dispatch from New Delhi, he makes it clear that British tactics are alienating the brown and yellow peoples of this populous part of the world.

Thus far American prestige is not directly involved. We laid up a greater store of good-will in the Pacific than we realized when we set a definite date for Philippine independence.

Must Live Up To Pact

Nothing must be allowed to interfere with carrying out the terms of that pact next year in such a way that the Philippines will be able eventually to gain their economic independence. Both President Roosevelt and President Truman have stated unequivocally that we would live up to the Philippine compact.

But if we are not directly involved in the bloody business of Java and Indo-China, our position is a negative one and therefore open to question. By our curious silence, we seem to lend consent.

On the basis of his observation, reporter Steele brushes aside the conventional explanations and apologies for Allied conduct since V-J day. He found that they simply do not stand up under an on-the-spot examination.

"WE are only fooling ourselves if we try simply to explain away the epidemic of nationalism as a great and sinister Japanese coup. Obviously the Japanese added moral and material fuel to the fires. But it is equally evident that the foundation of this movement is the genuine aspiration of peoples to free themselves once and for all."

We can take a justifiable pride in the traditions of American reporting. Long before the chancelleries of the world were aware of the threat of the crazy paperhanger named Hitler, American reporters were interpreting his rise in terms of possible world disaster.

They went right on as long as they could telling the story of Fascism and its meaning for the Democracies. Unfortunately both in Britain and America there were influential elements that preferred to believe otherwise, or it was more convenient to keep silent.

It is human nature to try to shut out unpleasant truths. Both in Britain and America there are those today who would minimize what is happening in southeast Asia, masking it under such convenient phrases as "keeping order" and "the white man's responsibility."

Masking Truth Great Peril

As we should have learned from the holocaust just ended, this deliberate blindness is a very great peril.

In the present instance, with millions upon millions of brown and yellow peoples ranged on what they believe to be the side of freedom, the peril may well be greater than it was in the 'thirties.

An immediate question is whether Britain has the resources to restore the imperial pattern in "liberated" areas. Edward Murrow, just returned from London, reported in a weekend broadcast serious trouble with both British and Indian troops in Java.

It is an altogether thankless task that Britain is undertaking. Certainly they will not be thanked by the Indonesians who die under their tanks. Nor will they be thanked by the Dutch owners when they go back, if they go back, to face sullen and ever-present hostility. In fact it is impossible to see how the present approach can gain anything but more trouble in a world which has an oversupply of that commodity.

INEVITABLY, of course, this issue will be raised in connection with the British loan. The Chicago Tribune, that great organ of justice and liberty, has already found it a convenient weapon for smacking a favorite enemy, the British empire.

Looked at honestly, the loan has no connection with the political issues of the Far East. Putting aside for a moment the hopes for an expanded world trade and the benefits to flow out of that trade, the loan can be considered on a purely business basis as mutually profitable to the two nations.

In fact, some voices in Britain are now crying out in indignation that Uncle Sam has put over a smart deal on John Bull. Some go so far as to say that it means the shackling for all time of Britain's economy to America.

Certainly it links us more closely together than we ever have been linked in peace time. That is why our moral responsibility to help find a more equitable solution in Asia is so great since we are unhampered by a history of imperailism.

Silence is not enough. It does not accord with the facts as reported by conscientious American reporters.

More And Cheaper Men's Wear Coming

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (U.P.) — More men's and boys' shirts, shorts and pajamas should reach the market soon. And they should be five per cent cheaper.

The OPA has announced a new pricing method designed to halt rises in manufacturers' prices, restore the 1942 price level as nearly as possible and increase production of low-cost garments.

Manufacturers' prices on shirts, shorts and pajamas have increased almost 36 per cent in the last three years, OPA said, while production of low-cost items has dropped sharply.

HOUSES DESTROYED

HOUSTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—Twenty-four crates containing pre-fabricated houses awaiting shipment to France were destroyed in a grass fire yesterday. There was no estimate of the loss, but firemen said that there were four crates to the house.

Today's Thought

For thy violence against thy brother Jacob shame shall cover thee, and thou shalt be cut off forever.—Obadiah 1:10.

* * *

That brother should not war with brother,
And worry and devour each other.

—Cowper.

MRS. RALPH J. WILLIAMSON ANTIQUES
Just a little old shop,
Where the crowd hurries by,
But it catches the colors,
Of moonlight and sky.
Full many a gem,
As rare as a dream,
Has graced its wide shelves,
And reigned there supreme.
It may be a plate, or
Perhaps it's a vase,
That reigns for a day
With its bright, cheery face.
They never stay long,
Are soon on their way,
To another new home,
And help make it gay.

Rio Grande Valley, With Orange Groves And Palms, 'Something To Howl About'

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff Writer

McALLEN, Tex., Dec. 17—After a visit to the lower Rio Grande valley, other things are going to have to be pretty super from now on.

Touring newspaper men from two state were unanimous on this today. They had visited Tulsa and loved it. They had moved on to Oklahoma City and respected the capitol's drive.

They had stopped over in Amarillo and had been deeply impressed by the Panhandle's metropolis. They had flown on to Waco and thought it was swell.

But the valley is in a class by itself. Palm trees, grapefruit and oranges hanging in lucious clusters on the trees, Old Mexico just a few minutes away, a charming hospitality, blooming poinsettias and brilliant bugainville. Two gentlemen from Oklahoma said they'd like to retire down here. Three from upstate Texas said they were coming back on vacations in a few weeks. They were on a tour of the Southwest making a study of reconversion, and got converted instead.

Contrast In Climate

Flying from Amerillo (11 degrees) to the valley (84 degrees) in a few hours was a startling contrast.

J. Gilbert Hill of Oklahoma City, busy snapping pictures of 9-year-old Jimmy holding a hatful of oranges, said "I know why they brag on Texas now. They have so much room in which to howl." He admitted later they had something to howl about, too.

The reconversion tour has ended, and just in time. Another day, and 85 per cent of the travelers would collapse from sheer exhaustion. One conclusion has been reached: The Southwest has reconverted, is in full swing on peacetime products, and prosperity is in immediate prospect.

Hal Roach Is Back At Old Stand To Make Nation Laugh

BY BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 17 — The man who spent 31 years making America laugh is back at the old stand.

Hal Roach left his massive, bear-rugged Culver City office four years ago for the Army Air forces. Now he says, the country needs laughs, and he's busy planning a production program devoted exclusively to comedy.

What kind of funny pictures?

"I don't think there is any 'kind' of comedy." Roach answers. "If people laugh, it's funny and that's comedy." As for slap-stick, his particular forte in the past, he adds:

"If two-thirds of a picture is straight humorous situations and lines, the remaining third can safely be slapstick."

Roach intends to make his pictures 45 minutes long. "I want people to wish there were more when the picture ends," he explains.

The Easy Dough

Movie stars are becoming more and more susceptible to the easy dough which can be found in radio. Five grand for one day's work ain't hay. Don't be surprised to see a number of new programs starring such individuals as Irene Dunne, Ronald Colman, Lucille Ball, Fred Astaire, Charles Boyer or Judy Garland . . . Paul Henreid and Pianist Vladimir Horowitz were scheduled to be naturalized at federal building today . . . Joan Crawford, the town's champ knitter, is needling like mad to finish two red sweaters for Helen Hayes for Christmas. She claims an average of 160 stitches a minute . . . Ann Sothern's is a planned household. She got a boxer and a Siamese cat the same age as her baby and wants them to grow up together. She plans another child ere long.

Party For Vets

Twentieth Century-Fox tossed a party for its returning servicemen, the likes of which this town has never seen. The more than 500 clebrants gathered in a large tent for a starter of any brand of Scotch or Bourbon you could name.

Then followed a chicken dinner in the studio dining room, accompanied by sparkling Burgundy. Boss Darryl Zanuck introduced the returnees, who included Ty Power, Henry Fonda, George Montgomery, Caesar Romero and Vic Mature. John Payne got the biggest hand because of his former rank—pvt.

Students Have Lost A Perfect Excuse

BOUND BROOK, N. J., Dec. 17 (AP)—The 35 high school students who commute from nearby Franklin township have lost their perfect excuse for being tardy almost every day.

A school bus driver who hates to get up in the morning has been shifted to another route.

During the first few months of school he was late only every third day, sometimes as much as an hour. December's record so far was late every day but one on the six-mile, one-hour run.

The board of education informed Franklin township that unless something was done about the casual "chauffeur—and soon—the students would have to find another school.

C. I. Van Cleef, owner of the bus line, said the bus would get a new chauffeur. He said of the sleepy-head driver whose name he wouldn't divulge:

"He's been driving for 15 years, and he never hurt the finger of a child. The country should be proud of him."

Asked why the bus was late so often, he explained:

"Why indeed! Because the school changed its schedule this year. It started classes 10 minutes earlier. Bound Brook is not like other schools. It's a bit uppity. Anyway, he was never more than five minutes late—except when the weather was bad."

Sailor Knows The Full Sweetness Of Life After Suicide Attempt And Now He Wants To Live Forever; He's Lucky To Be Alive

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

ABOARD U. S. NAVAL VESSEL OFF NORTH CHINA—There are hundreds of sailors on this ship, but one lying in the sick bay knows best the full sweetness of life. He knows because only a few hours ago he tried to kill himself.

And now he wants to live forever.

He is a moody man of about 30, whose job was to help handle ship stores. Only a few days ago he was given a summary court-martial after an inventory showed him short a few case of beer. He received a small fine and was restricted to the ship for 20 days.

He Felt Disgraced

The penalty was light, but he brooded about it constantly. He felt himself disgraced in the eyes of other men, and the situation became intolerable to his overwrought mind. He decided suicide was his only way out.

He didn't want to make a mess of himself. He just wanted to disappear utterly.

During the morning he walked to the deck and stared into the water for a long time, fascinated by the foamy wake streaking away beneath. He glanced around and the deck was deserted except for himself. And then his brain said "do it," and in an instant he had gone over the rail and leaped dizzily into the rolling sea.

Cooled His Madness

The chill water cooled his madness instantly, and as the waves closed over his head he saw a million things in life worth living for. He came up to the surface fighting for the breath he no longer wanted to lose. But he was too stubborn to cry out.

"And beides, I didn't think it would be any use," he told rescuers afterward. "I didn't think anyone had seen me go overboard. I thought I was done for, but I decided to keep swimming until I wore myself out and drowned."

His jacket and shoes hampered him, and although he was tiring fast he managed to take them off, and they sank out of sight in the sea. He turned to gaze at our ship, and then his heart leaped. The ship was circling back toward his position. One of the lookouts had sighted him struggling in the water.

Our destroyer escort also had seen him and raced over, and sailors tossed him a lifebelt. He swam to it with fast dwindling strength. Men on our ship by then were close enough to toss him two more lifebelts, and we lowered a small boat and rowed over and pulled him, numb and dripping, from the waves he had been fighting for almost half an hour.

The incident has been the chief topic of conversation aboard ship, and everybody agrees the sailor must be one of the luckiest men in the world; for he had no better than one chance in a hundred of being seen and picked up. It was this lucky chance that saved the life he thought he wanted to throw away.

Jap Militarists Still Enjoy Apparent Freedom In Shanghai

By WILLIAM H. NEWTON
Special Correspondent

SHANGHAI, Dec. 17—This correspondent several times before has written about the apparent freedom Jap militarists still enjoy here because we can't arrest them on sight.

Only last night there occurred an incident further reflecting on this situation.

A young American officer was seated with his back to the door in a small lunchroom on Shanghai's crowded Nanking road. At his table were two refugee girls who had lived in Shanghai throughout the occupation.

Were Talking Quietly

The three were talking quietly when suddenly the girl facing the door dropped her fork and screamed. The other girl followed her glance and her face paled in fright.

The officer jumped to his feet, turned and saw a small Japanese in typical blue cotton robe hurriedly back out of the door and disappear into the crowds.

When the girls were quieted they explained the "Chinese" actually was a member of the Jap secret military police whom they had known during the war and who had been at notorious "Bridge house" where the Japs confined and tortured non-collaborators.

"Why get so excited," asked the officer, "he didn't do anything to you, did he?"

For answer one girl pulled aside her coat. All along her leg from ankle to knee were ugly burn scars, each about the size of a dime.

They had been inflicted by the same little Jap who had wandered into the lunchroom and who enjoys free run of Shanghai today.

Red Tokens Will Be Turned In By Jan. 5

By ROBERT TAYLOR
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—What is OPA going to do with all those little red tokens, now that rationing is over?

They've called them in. Retailers, wholesalers and distributors are supposed to turn in all they have by Jan. 5. But what's going to happen to them hasn't been decided.

Various suggestions have been made. One is for a bonfire of tokens to celebrate the end of rationing. Another is to store them, against the day—may it never come—when rationing breaks out again.

Collectors Get Some

Some hopeful citizen suggested they be put in the Smithsonian institution. Collectors will get some. Stamp collectors have been adding ration stamps and tokens to their collections. They even write to OPA, wanting ration stamps no longer valid, to paste in their books.

The tokens are made of vulcanized fiber. There are two billion of them and the cost $2,380,000. OPA said there was a saving of more than $2 million in the cost of printing extra ration books, and that the retail trade would save $35 million a year in handling ration transactions.

The last time the government called in ration tokens—the blue ones—there wasn't any immediate use for them. Later, however, they turned up in the ration program of an Allied country.

DRIVES ON PARKED CARS

SEATTLE (AP)—Mayor William Devin has declared war on motorists who leave their vehicles parked overnight on downtown streets, and on busy arterials.

Taking the street cleaning department, which just received an expensive street cleaning machine, to task for failure to live up to the city's claim to being the "cleanest city in America" Devin was advised the cleaning device could not operate efficiently because of streets "cluttered with parked cars."

Present Moscow Conference Is Fast, Head-To-Head Diplomacy

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—The present Moscow conference—bringing together Secretary of State Byrnes and the foreign ministers of Britain and Russia — is high-speed, head-to-head diplomacy.

But the usual way for our government to get an idea across to another government is to go through "channels." This means the regular diplomatic procedure. It's the day-to-day stuff.

Take the problem that arose in Iran, which is on Russia's southern border. The United States, Russia, and Britain all have troops there. Iran was important to the Allies during the war.

We had planned to pull our troops out shortly. Britain and Russia agreed to remove theirs by March 2. Recently some Iranians in the north revolted against their government, which sent troops north to suppress them.

Iranians Were Stopped

But Russian troops stopped the Iranian troops. Iran protested. Because this might develop into real trouble, the United States, Britain and Russia were intensely and immediately concerned.

Here, in outline, is how U. S. diplomacy worked in that instance:

The American ambassador in Iran, Wallace Murray, gathered information on the situation and wirelessed it in code to the State department here. It was received in the department's code room.

Experts decoded it, put it back into understandable language, and sent it down to the department's Middle Eastern division. That division has a staff of men specialized in the problems of countries in that area.

Henderson In Charge

Loy Henderson is in charge of the division. The message however, went first to Lampton Berry, who has had 20 years in foreign service and is Henderson's assistant.

Berry wrote a memorandum and sent it to Henderson. Henderson then wrote a recommendation on the action he thought this government should take.

(This wasn't, of course, the first information the State department had on the Iranian trouble. There were news stories, and the Iranian ambassador already had been over to see Henderson.)

The Henderson recommendation went to Secretary of State Byrnes, who called in Henderson, and the State department's experts on Russia and Britain, plus James C. Dunn, who is assistant secretary of state in charge of European and middle-European affairs.

Together they decided we should suggest to Britain and Russia that they and the United States all should take their troops out of Iran, not on March 2, but on Jan. 1.

They drew up a note, sent it to the code room, had it put in code and then wirelessed it to our ambassadors in Britain and Russia. The note told each of the ambassadors: "You will please present this to the government to which you are accredited."

The American embassies in London and Moscow—like all other American embassies—have their own code experts who received the Byrnes' note, decoded it, and turned it over to our ambassadors.

The ambassadors then delivered the notes in person to the foreign ministers of Britain and Moscow. The Russian foreign minister finally informed our ambassador in Moscow that the Russians would not withdraw their troops in Iran until the agreed-upon date of March 2.

This note was relayed to the State department by our ambassador.

In this case, we then announced we would withdraw our own troops Jan. 1, anyway.

Byrnes made the various notes and moves known to newsmen.

CONFOUNDS HIS FRIENDS

GARY, Ind. (U.P.)—Hugh C. Brewer, late of the United States Army, is having a hard time convincing people that he isn't the "late" PFC. Hugh C. Brewer. Brewer says several friends were dumbfounded when they saw him on the street after his recent discharge. They had heard he was killed overseas, when he was wounded instead.
