VOLUME XXXI

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS 76252 - FEBRUARY 23, 1968

NUMBER 14

A statement from the Social Security administration reminds us that "$7800 rather than $6600 will be the top limit in 1968 on social security credits and taxes." One thing at least can be said in favor of that statement. The demand for more tax is softened by a promise of more benefits. It could have said bluntly that lots of people will have to kick in an additional $52.60 this year, but it consoled us first by saying that lots of people have a bigger income waiting for them at some future date.

So, another statement — that social security does not increase in 68 — should be rated as just a half truth. The rate remains the same, but the amount to be paid goes up for all incomes over $6600.

Besides that, it might be added that the word credit is rather loosely used. It has a nice sound but actually no assurance that the person now paying will receive the full benefits of the credit. His returns when he becomes a beneficiary will depend entirely on the amount collected from payers of that time.

One wonders whether the earning people then will be able to meet the accumulated obligations of all credits. If so will they be willing to do it? Or will the system be modified, or even eliminated by popular demand because of its absurdly high burden?

They tell us about our credits in Social Security. No doubt the figures are there. However, it's well known that the money is not there. The system is a hand to mouth operation. Beneficiaries get their money out of current payments, not out of a fund. As total benefits are increased by inflation and more beneficiaries they can be met only by increased revenue — which will require increases of Social Security or income tax, or both.

The fact is that we are indulging in socialism, a mistake we should have been wise enough to avoid after seeing its tragic effect in other countries. What we pay into Social Security is nothing but a tax. It is not, as they used to tell us, an insurance premium put aside for ourselves. Along with our income tax remittance it goes into the big federal fund from which the big spending flows.

It is not the intention here to criticize the security feature which was originally presented to the public. If it had been real insurance, as it was called, it would have provided definite future benefits to all who paid or to the beneficiaries named by them. But this was different. Benefits went to many who had not paid and did not need it. On the other hand — no benefits whatever are returned to many who pay in. For instance the person who dies before he can qualify for benefits and leaves no wife or children who can qualify as his dependents. Also, most people who qualify die long before receiving as much as they paid in. If this were insurance, as we were told, every person or his heirs would receive his full benefits.

A major goal of our government in the near future should be a complete overhaul of the Social Security system, gradually converting it to a real insurance plan like the public was originally led to expect. In time it should be replaced by real insurance assuring that every person or his designated heirs will receive the full amount he paid. While that change is in progress there must also be a way to gradually phase out the present system, providing for beneficiaries who are dependent on it.

Obviously this calls for a lot of doing. In fact it requires earning people to support two plans at the same time. However it also has one definite merit. It presents a way of halting the constantly increasing demand in Social Security, then gradually decreasing it, as the benefits of insurance provide increasing security.

Even so, the idea of a double burden on earning people is no more depressing than the thought of increasing needs of Social Security. If the system keeps growing as it has in the past it will make bigger and bigger demands. Either way the public will pay more.

Heart Fund Drive Slated Feb. 26 by Hospital Auxiliary

Muenster's 1968 Heart Fund campaign will be conducted by Muenster Hospital Auxiliary and will be kicked off with a porch light drive Monday, Feb. 26, 6:30 to 8:30.

Under chairmanship of Mrs. Martin Kralicke, members are organized in 12 groups to canvass the city. Residents are invited to have their porch lights on and contributions ready when solicitors call.

Plans for the march were made at the Auxiliary's February meeting. Mrs. Henry Starke, president, presided.

Committee reports revealed the recent chili supper added $103 to the organization's treasury.

With the $3,000.00 debt retired on the hospital's cardiac equipment, the Auxiliary's biggest project is completed and a new project has been adopted. Next equipment to be gifted to Muenster Memorial Hospital is a high speed dentist's drill.

Next benefit is being considered — a talent show or pancake breakfast.

A program feature for the meeting was presented by Sister Richard's speech and drama students. Margaret Kralicke gave a dramatic interpretation. Linda Rohmer read a poem and Laurie Truebenbach presented a monologue.

Mrs. Francis Fisher was welcomed as a new member and Mrs. Gerald Hess won the door prize.

District Coaches Name Sparkman On Dream Team

Sammy Sparkman is the only Muenster High player named on this year's 28-B all district basketball teams. He was one of three unanimous selections in a meeting of the loop coaches last Thursday at Lindsay.

The coaches officially certified final district standings and selected first and second dream teams in boys' and girls' divisions.

Title honors went to Era boys and Callisburg girls. Second place honors for the boys went to Callisburg and for the girls was shared by Era and Saint Jo.

On the all district boys' team Sparkman, Robeson of Era and Talley of Saint Jo were unanimous selections. Others were Kindiger of Era, Gunter of Callisburg and Kile of Valley View. A tie in the vote accounts for six players on the first team.

On second team are Alexander and Roeder of Valley View, Morrell of Callisburg, Fuhrmann of Lindsay and Gaston of Saint Jo.

The girls' first team includes Hunt of Era and Samplie and Blankenship of Callisburg as forwards; Hawkins of Callisburg, Zimmerer of Lindsay and Harvill of Saint Jo as guards.

The girls' second team has Hess of Lindsay and Cook and Copley of Saint Jo as forwards; Proffer of Callisburg, Rosson and Ford of Era, Parker of Saint Jo and Mann of Valley View as guards.

12 Teams Compete In Local Quickie Volley Tournament

Sacred Heart gymnasium was a busy place Sunday as 72 local volleyball enthusiasts held a quickie tournament and about twice as many spectators came to see.

The SH Alumni Association, sponsors of the event, were highly pleased and promptly started plans for another. A date has not been set, however, members feel confident they will have no problem booking teams for it.

Sunday's tournament started at 10 a.m. and ended shortly after 6 p.m. Six teams each were entered in the men's and ladies' division and each division had its champ and consolation brackets. They played a total of 24 games to determine the bracket winners after which those two played for the tourney title.

SH Alumnae was winner of the ladies' champ bracket and became the grand champ by beating SH Seniors, the consolation winner. SH Alumni was winner of the men's champ bracket then beat the Rockets for grand champ title.

Once we talked out our problems over coffee and cigarettes. Now they are our problems.

Funeral Services Held Monday for John B. Schmitz

Death has taken a longtime Muenster resident, John B. Schmitz, 83, who lived in Gainesville the past three years after reluctantly giving up the farm he and his bride moved to in 1908. He died Saturday 10:45 a.m. at Gainesville Hospital where he was admitted January 19.

Winter Makes Strong Comeback

More winter weather, as predicted by a sunny Groundhog Day, has arrived. Muenster is shivering in the cold wave which has the greatest part of Texas in its grip. Shirtsleeve weather prevailed the day before.

A blast of Arctic air came whistling in early Wednesday and shortly after 7 it turned into freezing rain — timed just right to deal grief to drivers of cars and busses bringing children to school. Visibility through glazed windshield was poor and streets were slick. It made miserable driving.

After 8 came a spurge of sleet with a bit of snow covering the area to a thickness of about an inch and improving driving conditions.

Thawing weather in the afternoon cleared most of the ice off the streets leaving only scattered slick patches. Low temperature of the day was 27.

Next night was clear but the temperature plunged to 20 degrees by Thursday morning. And early forecasts were for more of the same — freezing rain with sleet and snow later in the day.

Measure of the melted down ice, as recorded by Steve Moser, was .03 at 7 a.m. Wednesday and .29 at the same time Thursday. That brings the months total to 1.01.

One Stop Voting For 3 Elections Here on April 6

Voting will be simpler this year for people of the city and community. The three local elections will require only one trip.

Elections for the city, the school district and the hospital district will be held simultaneously on Saturday, April 6 in the public school. A separate area of the main corridor will be used for each and voters can go from one to the other in a moment.

The arrangement became possible for the first time this year when a new state law became effective ordering municipal elections on the first Saturday of April rather than the first Tuesday. Since it is at the same time as school and hospital elections the city council also favored using the same place.

When the hospital district was organized its election was set for the date and place of local school elections.

To date candidates are not known for either of the three ballots.

VIETCONG VICTORY PLAN

A captured Vietcong document recently released by the State Department deserved a great deal more circulation
than it received, because it shows exactly what the National Liberation Front has in mind when it comes to negotiating. Pretty clearly such doves as Doctor Spock, Senators McCarthy, Kennedy and Fulbright should be cooing to Ho Chi Minh instead of to President Johnson.

The Vietcong confidently expects to win, not through defeating America's armed forces
but through a general uprising in Vietnam, plus considerable inside help from soul-mates in the United States.

They're counting on stirring up things in Vietnam so that there will be an uprising and then "US forces must be withdrawn" and a "coalition government" formed. We have seen how these coalition governments, so beloved by our liberals, actually turn out. Invariably they come to be Communist dominated. Here is how the document spells it out:

"To all appearances it will be a coalition government,
but the real powers will lie
in our hands and we will follow the Front's political program, the revolutionary line
... In regard to the coalition government, our Party will exercise over-all control over it and if our agents are firmly established and if they properly carry out the principal lines of the Front (the party) will lead the revolution to the final objective."

And what makes the Vietcong so sure. The document speaks out quite clearly:

"Many US divisions are held up in the USA because of the developing Negro movement...
"There is a shortage of copper in the USA..."

"No more taxes can be levied
on the American people...
Many young Americans refuse to be drafted..."

Citing other such reasons as the ridiculous claim that "the US became entangled in the war of Israel against Egyptians," and American terror
over the H-bomb tests in Mao's China, the document declares:

"Because of the above situation it is possible for us to defeat the Americans and puppets with a general uprising
and thus secure final victory..."

Of course, the document is speaking of an uprising in Vietnam. Isn't it interesting that the Reds are having more success promoting uprisings
right here in the good old USA?

WAR WITHOUT DOVES

We recently had occasion to go through some old newspaper clippings covering World War II. We were struck by certain differences between that conflict and the war now being fought in Vietnam.

Soon after we got into the war against Germany, Italy
and Japan, Jimmy Doolittle bombed Tokyo and the American people went wild. Later, when Berlin, Hamburg and Tokyo were devastated by bombing raids there was enthusiastic response. The consensus was: "Good going. Hit
'em again. Harder."

Nowhere did we find any news stories saying that this group of clergymen, that bunch of professors or a certain association of distinguished lawyers of businessmen deplored
the civilian casualties incurred.
Nor did we find any pictures of pickets carrying banners demanding that we stop such bombing.

We looked in vain for stories telling of individuals or groups insisting that we negotiate with Hitler, Mussolini and Tojo. And apparently no unofficial envoys traveled to Berlin, Rome or Tokyo to set the stage for negotiations. Instead, we read a lot about "unconditional surrender," and there was general agreement that we should accept nothing less than this — even when it became known that Germany and Japan were ready to negotiate. We found nary
a full-page ad calling for negotiation with Hitler & Co.

There were not even any speeches on the floor of the Senate deploring the strong actions calculated to win the war. That famous body seemed to include no doves, as far as we could see. In fact, the membership seemed to be hawkish as all get-out.

There was quiet even on the campuses, where you'd expect to find a certain amount of non-conformity if not rebellion. But in those days, no one burned draft cards, the American flag was safe from desecration, and we found nothing to indicate that any high-spirited collegians had burned in effigy the President or the Secretary of State for not bringing the boys home
from Europe, forthwith.

Strange isn't it?
But then of course we were in a different alignment. The Soviet Union was then our great and noble ally, and somehow that seems to make all the difference to a great many people.

NOT SO FUNNY

There he was, one of the most powerful men in the United States, spouting nonsense to a group of college students. The theme of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas' address at Pace College in New York was revolution —
"big, basic social revolution."

Why do we need such a revolution? "We run a great risk of becoming serfs in the new feudalism which seems to overcome us," he told the students. U. S. laws, said the justice, are biased against the poor because they "were drawn up by the establishment and not by the poor and there is a great difference between those groups."

There is even more.
"We live in a country where every person who doesn't think exactly like General Motors is likely to be called a Communist."

"Everyone in Washington assumes his telephone is tapped
and throughout the country
every hotel has six to ten rooms that are wired."

The absurdity of his comments would be comical were it not for his position. Justice Douglas, now 68 years old, is one of nine men, appointed for life, who tell us what our Constitution says. He has the power to declare acts of Congress void, to write new laws
and to rewrite the Constitution.

His comments reinforce the position of those who maintain Supreme Court justices ought to be appointed only for a term of years.

WHERE ECONOMY SHOULD START

Civilian personnel on the federal payroll for fiscal 1969
will exceed the total population of each of 27 states in the nation. It will be greater than the combined populations
of Alaska, Delaware, Nevada, Vermont and Wyoming — plus
about half the total of Hawaii.

The federal government, according to the Budget message,
will pay $42.55 billion to 6,502,- 695 persons on the government payroll during the next fiscal year.

The major share of the payroll, $25 billion, will go to an estimated 2.9 million civilian employees (approximately 170,- 000 more than last November).
The 3.5 million in uniform will receive an estimated $17.5 billion.

Few if any government employees are losing their jobs
as a result of the spending cuts ordered by Congress and the Administration. In fact when questioned about retrench-ments, an Administration spokesman said, "We are abiding by the guideline, principally by attrition."

The 85th birthday of Henry Pels Sr. on Feb. 14 brought his children to his home with gifts and greetings. There was no special celebration. The visitors came and went throughout the day. Mrs. Arnold Muller baked and decorated the birthday cake for her father.

90th Birthday

Children, grandchildren and other relatives stopped in at the home of Joe Lutkenhaus Friday, Feb. 16, with gifts and greetings in observance of his 90th birthday. The birthday cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Al Felderhoff for her father, held one candle and was inscribed with the numerals 90. Mr. Lutkenhaus is looking forward to the time when he'll be able to see better and read again. His failing eyesight will be corrected by surgery—a cataract operation—in the near future.

The Earl Fishers Feted to Observe 25th Anniversary

Muenster Mayor and Mrs. Earl Fisher whose silver wedding anniversary was February 17 were honored on the eve of the anniversary, Friday, by his sisters and brothers at a family reunion in the homeplace where Pat Fisher now lives.

Over 50 members of the Fisher clan were present.

Father Harry Fisher of Fort Worth celebrated the anniversary Mass in the home at 7 p.m. Nephews Steve Taylor and Dickie Fisher were acolytes. The bell used at Mass is a treasured keepsake in the Fisher family. It was used in the early days when their father, the late Joe Fisher Sr., was an altar boy at Sacred Heart Church.

A buffet meal, including a decorated anniversary cake, followed and there was a shower of gifts for the honor couple.

Guests included their ten children, eight of Muenster and Miss Joan Fisher and Mrs. Jerry Urias (Doris) of Dallas, and their one grandchild Gina Marie Urias who attended with her mother.

Their other children, all of the home, are Robert, Gary Alan, Janice, Mary Ann, Judy, Donna and Glenn.

Earl Fisher was a yeoman 2c in the Navy stationed in Dallas when he married Miss Velma Evers of Canyon in Umbarger on Feb. 17, 1943. He had quit work at Muenster State Bank to enter the armed forces. After his discharge he returned to the bank and is vice president and cashier. He is serving his third term as city mayor and is an active member of Muenster Volunteer Fire Department.

Pfc. David Hess of Fort Sill Okla., spent the weekend here with his wife LaVerna and their daughter Sharon, dividing time between their families, the Johnny Ottos and Mrs. Arnie Hess.

Proper Grounding Of Building Will Reduce Fire Risk

A metal covered building without adequate grounding is not protected against lightning. Neil Tibbets, County Agent, says that proper grounding of such buildings, especially roofed structures, will prevent many fires.

Lightning protection is very inexpensive and easy to provide. All buildings with metal roofs or sides can be protected by grounding the roof at all four corners. This can be done by flattening the end of a piece of 1/2 or 3/4 inch galvanized iron or steel pipe and bending it so that it may be attached by bolts to the drip edge of the roof. For support, galvanized steel screw hooks should be placed in the side of the building and bent shut over the pipe.

After the pipe has been firmly attached to the roof, it may then be attached by galvanized wire rope clamps to a 1/2 or 3/4 inch pipe driven eight to ten feet into the ground. This ground pipe should be placed as close as possible to the building's foundation.

These lightning rods may not be as fancy as those of grandpa's day, but they serve the same purpose of property protection and fire prevention. Their installation could save a great deal of money by preventing lightning damage.

Drinks Can Make Stubborn Stains

When you open a soft drink or a beer, do so cautiously advises Doris Myers, Extension management specialist at Texas A&M University. These spills can cause brown or yellow stains on your clothes.

If your clothing is sprayed in opening a bottle or can, blot it away quickly. Mrs. Myers recommends prompt removal of all stains. The longer they are left the greater the damage will be.

If you dry clean the garment tell the cleaner exactly what the stain is or label it with a piece of paper pinned onto the spot telling what it is and when it happened. Drycleaners cannot be expected to guess.

An old-timer is one who remembers when "on time" meant punctuality — not payments.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fitch of Dallas have announced the birth of a daughter, a baby sister for Wayne and Leann. The little girl arrived Friday, Feb. 16, 5 p.m. weighing five pounds 12 ounces. Others welcoming her are her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Al Hess.

Earnings Report By SS Beneficiary Are Due April 15

"Social security beneficiaries who earned over $1500 during 1967 should file an annual report of earnings by April 15, 1968", according to Gus Jones, District Manager of the Sherman Social Security Office.

The exempt amount is $1500 for 1967 and individuals not earning more than this have no problem. However, those beneficiaries earning over $1500 must file this report so that a final adjustment of benefits received in 1967 can be made, if necessary.

People working for wages need to know how much is earned each month, and self-employed people need to know the total number of hours spent each month in connection with their business. This becomes important because the Social Security Law states that a person can be paid his benefits for any month in which he neither earns over $125 in wages nor renders substantial services in self-employment. Since an incorrect report may mean a loss of social security benefits, the thing to do it to keep a record of the amount earned each month if you are working for wages, and a record of all hours of services rendered each month if self-employed. This will make it possible to file a correct report and insure payment of all benefits.

Information about filing annual reports or any other social security business may be obtained from the Sherman District Office at 315 West Mulberry. Office hours are 8:30 a.m. until 4:45 p.m. Monday through Friday and Thursday evenings until 6:45 p.m. Mr. Jim Lewis, a representative from the Sherman office, may be contacted in Gainesville each Tuesday and Thursday from 9:30 a.m. to 12:00 noon at the Federal Building.

It is written that Newton once said that people are lonely because they build walls instead of bridges.

A car screeched to a halt at an intersection, barely missing a white-haired old lady. But instead of giving the driver a tongue-lashing she recovered herself quickly, smiled sweetly and pointed to a pair of baby shoes dangling from his rear-view mirror.
"Young man," she asked, "why don't you put your shoes back on?"

"Halt! Who goes there?"
"American."
"Advance and recite the second stanza of the 'Star-Spangled Banner.'"
"I don't know it."
"Proceed, American."

Nine-Year-Old Has Birthday Party

Ramona Walterscheid celebrated her ninth birthday at a party Sunday afternoon in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Walterscheid. Eighteen guests — girl classmates, neighbors and cousins — helped her celebrate.

Her grandmother, Mrs. Joe Hermes of Lindsay, was a special guest.

Games with prizes, color books for favors, birthday gifts and party refreshments made it a gay afternoon for the group.

Robert Embry Is Married in Dallas To Carol Bullard

St. Luke's Methodist Church in Dallas was the scene of the wedding Saturday of Miss Carol Lynne Bullard and Robert Clark Embry. After their honeymoon they will be at home in Houston.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Embry of Forestburg and was graduated from Oklahoma State Technological College where he was on the registrar's honor roll.

Parents of the bride are Mrs. Ruth Bullard and Harry F. Bullard of Dallas.

The Rev. Don W. Waddell officiated at the wedding. The bride's father gave her in marriage.

She chose a gown of ivory peau de soie and Alencon lace enhanced with seed pearls and crystals. The jeweled lace formed the decollete neckline and veiled the Empire bodice and elbow-length sleeves. The A-line peau de soie skirt was accented with a chapel length train caught at the waistline by a bow trimmed with the jeweled lace. Her English silk illusion veil fell in tiers from a small pillbox of silk and lace. She carried Amazon lilies and Stephanotis.

Miss Sandy Bullard was maid of honor for her sister. The bridegroom's sister-in-law, Mrs. Richard Embry of Lubbock, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Alvin Sechrist of Cotton Center and Miss Movalynn Greer of Dallas.

Richard Embry was best man for his brother. Groomsmen and ushers were Jan McGee, Grapevine; Eric Dahlke, Morrilton, Ark.; John Brown, Sherman; Bobby Powell, Saint Jo; Melvin Derr, Irving.

Wedding reception was held at the church.

Cubed Eggs Seen As Development in Food Technology

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 20 — Homemakers may someday be serving their families cubed eggs.

Researchers have learned that they can improve upon nature's natural egg shell packaging. As marvelous as the shell is from a biological standpoint, it is fragile, wastes storage space, requires special handling, and makes the edible part invisible.

Food technicians can freeze shelled eggs into cubes, wrap them in plastic, and do away with much of the present lack of appeal and cost of handling.

Dr. W. E. Black, Extension economist in marketing and policy at Texas A&M University, says the cubed egg is an example of how homemakers of the future will be using fewer products that come directly from the farm.

"More and more of our new foods will contain ingredients other than those you find today," he explained. "For instance, you may be able to buy ham that never was part of a pig. You might get ham that is spun directly from soybeans, with special flavoring added. By varying the flavor, tomorrow's technology can make beef, chicken or any other of today's meats."

And more and more foods may contain little or no products from the farm, Black added. Housewives are already buying orange "juice" that never saw an orange.

The paradox in these new developments is that they might not make the homeowners' job any easier. Fact is, she will probably need more nutritional and economic know-how for smart shopping and to feed the family properly.

Black believes that the housewife of the future will get still more built-in maid services with her food because she is going to demand it.

"More women working and greater emphasis on leisure time will bring more foods requiring less time for preparation. 'Completely prepared' foods, such as are now sold in delicatessen stores and eating places, will be common."

Packaged items will look more natural, be fully visible, more completely protected, yet easier to get into.

Black predicts that encroachment of synthetic foods will cause food suppliers to be even more sensitive to consumer desires in the future.

More foods will have stand-ards of identity. Labels will give consumers a more accurate description of contents that will help with price, weight and quality comparisons.

"This development will come about whether the federal government takes the leadership or not," the economist said.

Ground-up Paper, Molasses Is Good Cheap Cow Chow

A mixture of ground-up newspapers and molasses was fed to a test group of heifers for 56 days in an experiment by dairy scientists at Pennsylvania State University.

And, believe it or not, it made good cattle feed. These cows digested the mixture — at the rate of two and a half pounds of newsprint daily — just as well as a controlled group of heifers digested a standard high-quality feed supplement.

Both groups of heifers were fed conventional corn silage along with the supplement.

It is predicted by Dr. Earl M. Kesler, professor of dairy science, that a newsprint-molasses mixture could help alleviate the expected world food deficit by making available a cheap, nutritious cattle feed that would not compete with man's own food needs.

Molasses is cheap and nutritious and cows can digest molasses better when it's mixed with newsprint. Furthermore newsprint provides the kind of fiber the animals need.

What effect the mixture had on the milk was not mentioned, but evidently there was no appreciable difference in the quality or quantity.

Next meeting will be on March 12.

"Had a letter telling about a cousin of mine breaking a bottle of turpentine in his hip pocket."

"What happened?" "Don't know, no one has caught him yet!"

Mrs. Endres Hosts HD Club Meeting

Muenster Home Demonstration Club members had their February meeting with Mrs. Arthur Endres hostess in her home. Fifteen attended in spite of snowy weather that prevented Mrs. Bernice Thurman from attending and giving the program.

Mrs. Joe Hoenig substituted by giving a demonstration on how to insert the new zipper.

An added feature was presented by three of Sister Richard's speech and drama students, Margaret Kralick, Mary Koesler and Linda Rohmer who did dramatic and poetry interpretations.

Mrs. Bill Lutkenhaus conducted the business session during which members voted a contribution from treasury funds for the state school in Austin.

In committee chairmen reports Mmes. Martin Bayer and Albert Dangelmayr and Joe Hoenig and Rudy Hellman told about visits to senior citizens in Muenster and Mmes. Henry Pick and Paul Fisher volunteered for visits this month.

Community public service reports included one member serving on the jury, nine visiting nursing home patients, seven helping serve dinner on the day of funerals and members providing 40 covered dishes for bereaved families.

TP&L Will Spend Over $65 Million On '68 Expansion

Texas Power & Light Company will spend $65,989,000 for the construction of new facilities in 1968, T. L. Austin Jr., TP&L president, announced.

A major portion of the expense involves the construction of three generating units capable of producing more than 1½-million kilowatts of electricity. Austin said the new generating units will provide TP&L customers with ample electricity for the future.

The three units are to be located on Big Brown Creek near Fairfield in Freestone County, on Tradinghouse Creek near Waco and at the Valley Steam Electric Station near Savoy in North Texas.

He added that the 1968 construction budget is the largest in the Company's 56-year history.

In addition to the power plant construction, the Company also will build or improve other facilities in its 52-county service area.

The Big Brown Creek Steam Electric Station, to consist of two generating units, will produce more than 1 million kilowatts of electricity when completed in late 1972. Construction of the first unit, 575,000-kilowatts in size, will begin this year. Construction of Unit No. 2 will begin in 1969. The plant is being built jointly by TP&L and two other investor-owned electric companies, Dallas Power & Light Company and Texas Electric Service Company.

Tradinghouse Creek Steam Electric Station is currently under construction near Waco. Its maximum capability will be 565,000-kilowatts, and it is scheduled for completion in late 1968 or early 1970.

In addition, the Company has completed Valley No. 2, a 550,000-kilowatt generating unit, at its Valley plant. Construction of a third Valley unit, rated at 375,000-kilowatts, is to begin this year, and will be completed in late 1970.

The Company will construct also new 138,000-volt transmission lines from South Lufkin to Herty, from Edm Mott to Bellmead and in the Mesquite and Palestine areas. In addition, transmission lines will be converted from 69,000-volt to 138,000-volt from Stephenville to Dublin and from Dublin to Brownwood.

Work will continue on a 345,000-volt transmission line from Lake Creek to Temple to Shadow and on 138,000-volt lines from Oran to Mineral Wells; Northwest Carrollton to Gainesville; Valley to Payne; Payne to McKinney and West Plano to McKinney.

Additionally, substations will be constructed or improved at Mineral Wells, Lake Creek, Northwest Carrollton, Argyle, Corinth, Gainesville, Forney, Payne, McKinney, Plano, Van Alstyne, Shadow, Lufkin, Mesquite, Palestine, Stephenville, Dublin, Comanche, Brownwood, Elm Mott, Bellmead, Terrell, Richardson and Tyler. Austin noted also that on a nationwide basis, total generating capacity of the electric utility industry in the United States in 1967 reached an estimated 269 million kilowatts. This was an increase of 8.6 percent over the actual 1966 total 247.7 million kilowatts.

In addition, Austin said that nationally, 1967 generating capability provided an estimated annual margin in reserve of about 20.7 percent over the estimated annual peak demand. The margin of reserve is maintained to insure adequate service and protection against emergencies.

Austin estimated that investor-owned electric power companies had invested a total of more than $70 billion in electric plant and equipment at the end of 1967. Expenditures for new construction by these companies during the year were about $5.9 billion, or 10 percent of the total new construction expenditures by all American businesses.

Taxwise the investor-owned electric power companies are expected to have a 1967 tax bill of $3.16 billion, about $113 million greater than their 1966 tax bill, he said.

He concluded that during 1968, investor-owned electric companies will install 21.1 million kilowatts of additional generating capacity. Nationally, 1968 electric power capability is expected to reach 310 million kilowatts, an 8.4 percent increase over the estimated 1967 total.

Elm-Red District Sets Land Judging Contest April 6

The Upper Elm-Red Soil and Water Conservation District board of supervisors made plans at their February 13 meeting to hold their 12th Annual Land Judging Contest in Gainesville, Saturday, April 6, 1968. It will be held in the Cooke County Junior College gymnasium and will be open to all the twenty-two FFA chapters and the three 4-H programs in the District.

Chairman Harold Skaggs stated, "We have been having a good contest but it could be much larger. I would like to see teams from all FFA Chapters in our District plus the three County 4-H programs. Last year approximately 80 boys participated from all over the three county district. There were many conflicting events which reduced our entries. We would like to have well over 100 contestants this year."

The contest will be run by experienced SCS technicians who are assisting the Upper Elm-Red District. It will follow the rules and regulations used in the state and national land judging contests.

Teams will start registering at 8:00 a.m. on Saturday, April 6th and the contest will start at 9:00 a.m. The District will serve a noon luncheon to the contestants and their coaches and awards will be presented the winning teams and high scoring individuals in the contest.

There will be a junior and a senior division in the contest. First year agriculture students will be in the junior level and more advanced students will make up the senior division.

Skaggs remarked, "Skills learned in this contest go with a boy all through life. He has better understanding of the land, how to classify and judge it and how to conserve and take care of the soil. Boys receiving this training in land judging can appreciate our soil and its problems and be better prepared in future life to help improve and conserve it."

Winners Listed in Soil Conservation Essay Contest

Harold Skaggs, chairman of the board of supervisors of the Upper Elm-Red Soil and Water Conservation District, has announced the winners in the 8th Annual Essay Writing Contest. He said the board had received 571 entries from 13 schools all over the three county district and that competition was keen among the best entries. This is the largest number of entries the board has received and it is thankful to all who participated.

First place winner was Mark Rice, Denison High School student. Barbara Fuhrmann, Lindsay High School student took second place honors and John Bright from the Denison High School was the third place winner. Awards to the winners will be $15.00 for first, $10.00 for second and $5.00 for third place.

Judges for the contest were Lee Putnam Soil Scientist with the Soil Conservation Service, Bill King, Sports Editor of the Gainesville Daily Register and T. H. Dick, Sup. of the Era High School.

Skaggs expressed his appreciation to all the vocational agricultural instructors, English teachers, other high school teachers, school superintendents, county agents, and others who encouraged and assisted the high school students in the preparation of the essays. He also thanked all who prepared essays for this contest, adding that each contestant has benefited from the experience.

The 1968 essay subject was "Conservation: Key to Texas Prosperity". All entries will be entered in the state contest.

New Farm Income
Seen in Grazing
Associations

Farmers and cattlemen are acquiring needed land resources by forming grazing associations and obtaining financial assistance from the Farmers Home Administration, the agency's Cooke and Montague county supervisors, John D. Cunningham, said this week.

A grazing association is composed of a group of family farmers and ranchers who join together to acquire and develop land to provide seasonal grazing for livestock belonging to its members.

Small farmers, Cunningham said, can increase their incomes, make better use of land and water resources and develop larger equity in land through use of a grazing association. Other advantages of an association include providing opportunities to improve livestock quality, gain bargaining power in the market place, build more stable operations and strengthen the rural community.

Results benefit the entire community, Cunningham said, because associations accomplish better use of land and water resources and provide expanded tax bases and more buying power.

Grazing associations range in size from three to eighty members, depending on the number of livestock to be supported and dimensions and quality of land. Eligible to form associations are neighboring farmers and ranchers who operate family size units.

Financial and technical assistance is provided by the FHA. Additional aid often is provided by the Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service and Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. The Bureau of Land Management, an agency of the Department of Interior, and State Departments of Agriculture also provide advice and aid to grazing association. Loans are available to qualified borrowers for periods up to 40 years at an interest rate of 5%. Information and applications may be obtained from the County FHA Office at Gainesville in the Federal Building, between the hours of 8:00 to 5:00 Monday-Friday. Telephone HO5-4251.

When you can think of yesterday without regret, and of tomorrow without fear, you are on the road to success.

Why do some people know all the answers when you try to tell them something, and then keep silent when you ask them something?

Confetti - - -

is that Social Security is headed for a crash. Desperate efforts to sustain it by ever increasing tax will eventually reach a limit, after which many people will be tragically hurt.

On the other hand, a corrective program started in time can be a way of meeting present obligations while establishing a real system of security.

The need of a change is supported by two simple facts. The insurance way works. Social Security does not. So common sense demands the change. Doing that unquestionably will be a big job. But it can be done if we have the will.
