DIRECTOR'S COMMENDATION — C. F. McDonnell, recipient of the Director's Commendation, listens as Dr. H. C. Ernsting, chief of staff, reads a letter detailing the service McDonnell has given the VA Hospital. McDonnell leaves the hospital this week to take a new post at the VA Hospital in San Fernando, Calif. McDonnell served as chief of Medical Administration service at the local hospital.

South Vietnamese Vow To Erase 'Tiger Cages'

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government said today it will demolish the so-called "tiger cages" at the Con Son Island prison and replace them with new disciplinary cells.

The cells, center of international controversy since two U.S. congressmen revealed their existence two weeks ago, will be dismantled immediately, a spokesman said.

He added that a survey of South Vietnam's correctional institutions will be made with a view to such improvements as the government can afford.

About 9,000 prisoners are held at Con Son, 140 miles southeast of Saigon in the South China Sea. Many are political prisoners, and several hundred of these have been confined to the "tiger cages," small cells open only at the top in which three to seven persons are confined.

The new cells, said Information Ministry spokesman Nguyen Ngoc Huyen, "will not be the same. They will be different. They will be better ones."

The tiger cages were first used by the French colonial administration in the mid-19th century, and the Saigon government said last year they had been abandoned. But Reps. Augustus Hawkins, D-Calif., and William R. Anderson, D-Tenn., managed to see them and the prisoners in them when they visited the island prison.

The two congressmen and others in their party said the prisoners in the cages were denied adequate food, water and medicine and were subjected to physical abuse and other mistreatment.

Their disclosures set off an international outcry, in the Western world as well as from Communist nations. All condemned the South Vietnamese government for its treatment of the prisoners and the United States was criticized because it furnishes financial aid and American advisers to the South Vietnamese.

VANDALS PLAY 'RAW' JOKE!

Park officials said vandals had removed the 150-pound lid of a sewage line manhole cover and blocked the sewage pipe with a large rock which diverted the effluent into the pool.

Officials said the pool later was drained and sprayed with chlorine and the high flow of 64 million gallons of water per day should flush the pool.

Judge Charged With Shooting

CROCKETT, Tex. (AP) — The former president of an insolvent bank was listed in good condition today and the Houston County judge free on bond after being charged with his shooting.

County Judge Loyd Lovell of Crockett and his brother, Elwin Lovell of Weches, Tex., both were charged with assault with intent to murder after Jim Grady Walter was shot once in the chest Monday as he stood on the courthouse lawn.

The Lovells posted $2,500 bond each after they were arrested.

Waller was president and chairman of the board of the State National Bank of Lovelady, Tex., when the bank was declared insolvent in May of 1969 by the U.S. Comptroller of Currency.

Since then the FBI has charged Waller and Ginger Lovell, the bank's former cashier, with embezzlement and misapplication of funds.

Mrs. Lovell is the wife of State Rep. Jim Lovell and a daughter-in-law of Judge Lovell, who was charged in the shooting.

Waller's trial is scheduled Oct. 12 in federal court at Tyler.

Fighting Forest Fires

By The Associated Press

Firefighters facing critical problems in Washington's forests received little encouragement Tuesday from the Weather Bureau forecast of hotter and drier conditions over most of the state.

Lightning storms, which have accounted for most of the fire starts, were also expected to continue.

A "slight" chance of thundershowers was forecast for the state's north central region, where some 50,000 acres of timber and grazing land have been blackened or are still burning. Those fires extend into British Columbia where flames have destroyed more than 14,000 acres of timber.

Tight Security As State Treasury Moved

AUSTIN (AP) — Fifteen men armed with shotguns or revolvers guarded the north entrance of the Capitol today as the contents of the state treasury were moved to a new home.

"Don't get too close or they'll get you," a Capitol guard warned an early arriving employee.

Two armored cars also were used to make the transfer from the old vault in the Capitol to the new state finance building two blocks away.

VA Hospital Celebrates 20th Year

The Veterans Administration Hospital commemorated its 20 years of service to veterans today by honoring those who carry out the work of the hospital.

Employees were honored for their outstanding work and their years of service in ceremonies at 10 a.m. in an assembly room on the second floor of the hospital.

Members of the staff who had been employed at the local VA Hospital since it opened receiving special recognition this morning. Leon Miller, director of volunteer services, introduced the "charter members" to the audience.

Jack Powell, hospital director, presented the Director's Commendation and performance awards. C. E. McDonnell, resigning chief of medical administration service, received the Director's Commendation, recognizing his service to the hospital. McDonnell, who worked at the hospital nine years, leaves this week to assume new duties at the VA Hospital in San Fernando, Calif.

Outstanding performance ratings were awarded to Mrs. Dorothy F. Hodges, dietetic service, and Mrs. Dene Shepard, medical administration service.

Superior performance awards were also given and special groups received recognition. The Twenty Year Club, composed of employees who had worked 20 years or more for the Veteran's Administration, and Volunteer Services received recognition.

Service pins denoting 10, 20, and 30 years of service were presented to many employees in today's ceremony, and division chiefs lauded the outstanding work of their employees.

Jack Powell, hospital director, congratulated the staff on their work and said that their outstanding efforts "make me look good and everyone wants to look good."

"One of our challenges at the hospital, and I want to say it with the mayor present," said Powell, "is how to use the water he's furnishing. Some of the doctors are afraid to let the patients take a bath in the stuff."

On a more serious note, Powell outlined the challenge that the hospital and its staff must meet in continuing its service to veterans.

"We have new equipment and services but people take care of people, and people must know how. We will have to build on what we have. We have added the nursing home care unit on the first of this month and pulmonary function lab has been added. This not only means that many of us have more to learn, but in some cases, we will have to start over," concluded Powell.

hit in the head during a disturbance Monday night a block from the main campus gate.

Merton R. Olds, 25, of Topeka, a graduate student enrolled for summer study, suffered a minor gunshot wound in the calf of his right leg. A policeman, Don Dalquist, 26, was injured when a brick or rock hit him on the right cheekbone.

Confrontations with police have been going on sporadically for the past year. The current series started last Friday, a day after a policeman shot and killed Rick Donald Dowdell, a 19-year-old Negro student at the university.

This shooting occurred in the city's Negro section. Police said Dowdell was shot during an investigation of reports that there had been sniping in the area.

Patrolman William Garrett was relieved of his duties pending a coroner's inquest into Dowdell's death.

Friday night Patrolman Eugene Williams was wounded in the chest by a sniper, police said, while he was patrolling the Negro section.

Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights, youths gathered near the campus, started small trash fires, taunted police and firemen and tried to burn down a vacant, condemned apartment house in the block. It is owned by a university professor and once was known as a commune for hippie types.

Police wore bullet-proof vests while protecting firemen who put out the fires.

Monday night's incident occurred on Oread Avenue in the first block north of the entrance to the campus. The block is lined with private apartments where most of the demonstrators live. Some are students.

Many are known as hippies. City police call them "street people."

A group started a fire in a trash can, ran to the end of the block and opened a fire hydrant. Some of them then overturned a small car.

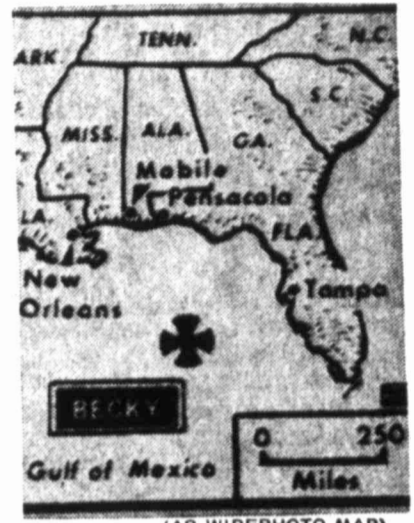

'HOT' PURSUIT

Gary Shivers, a radio newsman, said he was standing nearby and saw the youths trying to set fire to the car when the police charged up the street.

Youths with Rice said they were running from the overturned car with police in pursuit when he was hit by gunfire.

Police declined to comment.

Dispersed by tear gas and the shooting, the youths disappeared into their apartments along the street. Later about 30 to 50 filtered back on the street but dispersed again when told that police would drive them off if they remained.

Food Prices, Living Costs Continue Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs rose four-tenths of one per cent in June in a slight easing of the nation's worst inflationary climb in 20 years, the government said today.

But prices of food, housing, clothing, transportation, medical care and recreation still averaged six per cent above a year ago, said the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

And despite an increase of $1.65 in pay to an average of $120.05 per week for some 45 million rank and file workers, their purchasing power was still below a year ago for the 15th straight month because of inflation, the bureau noted.

The June rise in prices brought the government's consumer price index to 135.2, meaning that it cost $13.52 last month for every $10 worth of typical family purchases in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

Job Picture Spoils Brighter Days Song

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, in what has become an almost daily routine, said again today the economy is sure of brighter days ahead—although the silver cloud may have a black lining of high unemployment.

The latest assessment came after President Nixon vowed Monday to veto any strong trade bills imposing quotas on any imports except textiles. Nixon said such mandatory quotas on other products could touch off a global trade war.

Secretary of Labor James F. Hodgson told the Joint Economic Committee of Congress today the nation is moving out of its worst inflationary period in 20 years. He predicted in prepared testimony slower price hikes and real economic growth in the months ahead.

At the same time, he said, the nation is continuing its shift from wartime production to a peacetime economy. The changeover will continue to pose some unemployment problems, he said.

His remarks were prepared for delivery before the Joint Economic Committee.

Nixon, at an impromptu news conference Monday in his oval office, said he would veto the trade bill now before the House Ways and Means Committee if it contained provisions he did not recommend.

"Mandatory quota legislation is not in the interest of the United States," he said. "We are an exporting nation rather than an importing nation. It would mean in the end, while it would save some jobs it would cost us more jobs in exports that would be denied us."

He said he only agreed to import ceiling on textiles after negotiations with Japan to set voluntary limits broke off after 16 months.

Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, predicted improved business conditions in the second half of the year in testimony Monday before the committee.

George P. Shultz, director of the Office of Management and Budget, said he expects the unemployment rate to be about 5 per cent or slightly under on Sept. 1.

"The economic slowdown has resulted in job cutbacks and shifts in many sectors of the economy," Hodgson said.

But despite a drop of some 400,000 defense jobs in the past year and the highest unemployment rate in five years, he expressed confidence the economy is basically healthy.

There is no indication of any future drastic increase in unemployment, he declared.

BIG BURDEN

"We now have an unemployment rate hovering near 5 per cent and an average period of unemployment of nine and one-half weeks. The twin objectives of cooling the fires of inflation and shifting to a peacetime economy have produced this circumstance," he said.

"Since both of these objectives are considered meritorious by the vast majority of Americans, their pursuit is worth some discomfort," he said.

But Hodgson added the government is doing everything it can to ease the burden of unemployment. He urged Congress to enact Nixon administration proposals to provide more aid to the jobless.

McCracken predicted the unemployment rate would continue to rise through the end of the year.

Shultz said workers in the aerospace industries would be especially hard hit. He said defense spending cutbacks had already forced the industry to lay-off 700,000 individuals since early 1969 and predicted there would be a "direct impact" on another 1.3 million by mid-1971.

SIGNS OF STRAIN ALREADY SHOWING

Navy Could Lose Another 100 Ships

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy could lose another 100 ships from its already dwindling fleet under the Pentagon's next big budget cut, defense sources say.

The deep slash faces the Navy, as well as the other armed services, in the fiscal 1972 budget. Planning for that budget is well under way, and President Nixon has summoned top defense officials to confer on the question next Monday.

TOO EXPENSIVE
Pentagon authorities have said in recent weeks it may be necessary to cut proposed spending by about $6 billion in order to limit the next defense budget to somewhat over $70 billion. A $70 billion budget would be about $2 billion below the current fiscal year allotment.

The Nixon administration already has acted to retire more than 130 vessels and a layup of another hundred would cut the U.S. Navy to about 650 ships compared to a fleet of some 900 before the budget squeeze.

Some defense officials argue that many of the ships being retired—some dating back to World War II—are too old, too expensive and obsolescent in a combat sense.

OVER AGE

The admirals, who have been urging fleet modernization for years with slight success, agree many vessels are over age.

But they wonder what the United States will do to fill gaps in its sea forces while slowly updating the fleet—particularly with a growing Soviet navy now operating on a global basis.

The total naval shipbuilding program in the past two years has provided a maximum of 48 ships—24 new vessels and the remainder conversions.

It takes years to build modern warships. A new program to construct 30 advanced destroyers will take eight years to complete.

Meanwhile, the signs of strain already are showing.

The U.S. 6th Fleet, operating in the Mediterranean near the inflamed Middle East, now has five to 10 fewer ships than it did up to last fall.

Adm. E. P. Holmes, commander in chief Atlantic, told a House committee recently he can no longer maintain an amphibious ready group in the Caribbean on a continuous basis.

This means that the United States has a battalion of Marines afloat in a critical region only on an intermittent basis.

Some relief has come from reductions in U.S. naval activity off Vietnam. Navy sources said the U.S. 7th Fleet has been reduced by one carrier, one cruiser and four destroyers.

Two Groups Will Discuss Doc Slaying

MATHIS, Tex. (AP) — Two Mexican-American organizations planned a meeting here tonight to discuss the slaying of a local doctor by a deputy sheriff.

Mayor Winston Bott said it would be a "friendly meeting" between members of the Mexican-American Youth Organization (MAYO) of Houston and the Mathis Action Party, a Mexican-American political organization here.

The meeting was called after MAYO members and about 1,000 Mathis Mexican-Americans attended the funeral of Dr. Fred E. Logan Jr. last Wednesday.

Logan, who operated a clinic here and worked closely with Mexican-Americans, was shot to death July 11 during a scuffle with a deputy sheriff who had arrested him following a disturbance.

Bott said the groups at tonight's meeting were expected to discuss "what courses of action" may be taken after investigations by the FBI and others are completed.

The meeting was scheduled for 8 p.m. at a dance hall in the predominantly Mexican-American section here.

Mathis has been in turmoil since Logan was killed. One of the latest developments was a request for the Governor's Committee on Human Relations to investigate unrest here.

But in Austin, Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr., chairman of the committee, said he has called no hearing.

"Inasmuch as appropriate state and local authorities and the Federal Bureau of Investigation are in the process of conducting an investigation of the incident at Mathis, it would be inappropriate for the human relations committee to interfere at this time," Dies said.

"The judicial process, as established by law, should not be circumvented," he said.

AFL-CIO official Henry Munoz Jr. of San Antonio said he had requested the investigation in a telegram.

Dies said his committee was following the matter closely.

"It is not the intent, however, of the human relations committee to pre-empt authority of a grand jury, either state or federal. The committee has no jurisdiction insofar as criminal investigation is concerned," Dies said.

Welfare Protest

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Houston Welfare Rights Organization protested to the Harris County Commissioners Court Monday about the "long lines, the mismanagement, the abusive treatment and the shortage of workers" at the county's Good Stamp Distribution Center.

The group asked the court to expand the hours and add more employees at the center, which issues federal food stamps to the poor.

The court took no action.

Voters To Turn Against Big Spenders, Says Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says the future government of South Vietnam must be selected through elections—not imposed on the war-torn nation by negotiators in Paris.

His administration will not stand for an imposed coalition government, the President said. "It must be a government selected by the people of South Vietnam."

In a wide-ranging news conference Monday, the President also said he would veto a bill setting mandatory quotas on any imports except textiles. Such quotas, he said, are not in the national interest and might set off an international trade war.

PULLS SURPRISE

"We are an exporting nation rather than an importing nation," Nixon said. "It would mean in the end, while it would save us some jobs, it would cost us more jobs in exports that would be denied us; and, second, even more important, it is highly inflationary."

The House Ways and Means Committee has proposed quotas on shoe and textile imports.

Beyond Vietnam and imports, Nixon ranged over a number of topics at the surprise news conference.

He said the United States has no idea of using armed forces to expel the Soviet Union from the Middle East; promised no "vigilante squad of Department of Justice agents" will force school integration in the South; predicted voters will turn against big spenders in Congress; forecast an economic upturn for the last half of the year and said he sees little chance of a tax cut during the next two years.

BREEZY MOOD

The President announced plans for a major meeting on national defense and the defense budget at the Western White House July 27, followed by conferences on the domestic budget for fiscal 1972.

In ruling out any imposed coalition government in Saigon, Nixon said he has no significant disagreement with South Vietnamese President Thieu in this regard. But he said the United States still is willing to listen to any proposals made by Hanoi at the Paris peace talks.

The President was in an amiable, breezy mood at times after he usurped press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler's afternoon briefing in the press quarters at the White House and converted it into a news conference in his own office.

DESEGREGATION

The school desegregation questioning centered around criticism of administration policy by Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., in a Senate speech Friday.

Thurmond, jumping on what he said were arbitrary and discriminatory actions by the administration, cited threats to the tax exemption of private schools set up to perpetuate segregation and what he termed a proposed invasion of carpetbagging Justice Department lawyers to assure forced integration of public schools in the South.

Nixon said Thurmond objected to an action that has not been taken and there is no intention of taking—"that is of sending vigilante squads, in effect, from the Justice Department, lawyers, in to coerce the Southern school districts to integrate."

"We have not done that; we are not going to do that," he said. "Our policy, in other words, is cooperation rather than coercion."

UNDERSTANDS SOUTH

But the President added that, while there cannot be instant integration, segregation must be ended because that is the law of the land.

Thurmond reacting to Nixon's remarks, said later: "I am pleased that the President has reversed the Justice Department on its plans to send carpetbagging lawyers and marshals into the South. . . . This action shows that President Nixon understands the South far better than some of his aides."

The give-and-take on Southern school problems followed a switch earlier to the Middle East. A reporter asked for clarification of Nixon's approaches to problems of the area and Soviet movement there.

BALANCE OF POWER

Nixon recalled having said in his July 1 television conversation the U.S. interest is peace and recognition of the sovereignty and independence of every state in the area.

He noted he had pointed out the importance of maintaining a military balance of power that would discourage anyone from launching an offensive or preemptive strike.

He said the power balance had not been upset but the movement of Soviet weapons and men to the Mideast to man the weapons causes this country concern because a continuation could tip the scales.

He said arms escalation, particularly the use of troops in the Mideast, increases the risk of a confrontation neither side wants.

Then Nixon brought up a point he said he thought was worth clarifying—the use of the word "expelled" in a White House background discussion concerning Soviet influence in the Mideast.

TALKS JOBS

"The use of the word 'expelled' was not with the idea of using armed force for that purpose," Nixon said, "but to negotiate any peaceful settlement—removal of these forces which if they remain here we believe might increase the chance of a confrontation."

Nixon said he wouldn't and shouldn't speculate on how high unemployment might rise or how strong he thinks economic recovery might be this year. He said at this point the nation is a watershed of economic policy—the reason for his rather strong statement to Congress last week on its record of appropriating and spending money.

HIGHER PRICES

"When the American people learn that the big spenders in Congress are primarily responsible for higher prices, and eventually even higher taxes, I think that the American people

HEW Secretary To Unveil Revised Welfare Package

WASHINGTON (AP) — Elliot L. Richardson took the Nixon administration's welfare package to Capitol Hill today, needing all the mental fortwork he used to impress senators in his first congressional appearance as welfare secretary a week ago.

Richardson was scheduled before the Senate Finance Committee as it turned again to the welfare proposals that have come under attack from members of both parties—particularly the guaranteed-annual-income concept and the family assistance program.

Committee Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., said in a Senate speech Monday, "I am very reluctant to support anything so costly unless we have assurances that it is a good national investment."

And Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., charging the administration plan amounts to an expansion of welfare, offered an amendment adding a broad, new work-incentive provision. This would allow tax credits for businessmen hiring welfare recipients.

Work incentive was one of the key points of criticism about the House-approved measure which former HEW Secretary Robert Finch presented to the Finance Committee several weeks ago.

Republicans and Democrats said then welfare recipients would be better off under the administration bill on the public dole than working.

Welfare clients would receive Medicaid, food stamps and public housing aid as well as direct cash assistance in order to guarantee a family of four with $1,600 a year, continuing on a sliding scale until household income passed $3,920.

In announcing revisions to the program, President Nixon proposed overhaul of the food stamp program and a new health insurance system to be will turn on the big spenders politically."

Figures and statistics point to a cooling of inflation, Nixon said, and "The economic experts, with whom I have been meeting quite regularly here, indicate that the last half of the year will definitely see the economy turning up . . ."

On other topics: —Campus Unrest. Nixon said it would not be news to conclude one way to bring peace on the campus would be to bring peace in Vietnam. But he said he was not sure it would bring campus peace and: "I want peace on the campus, but my major obligation is to adopt policies that I consider will bring peace to the world."

—Isolation. Nixon said he has no concern that his staff might have isolated him, as some news columns charged; he sees not only his staff but a great number of people representing all points of view.

Funds To Fight Slum Housing At El Paso

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has quietly launched the government's first concentrated effort to rehabilitate absentee-owned slum buildings, starting with 22,000 housing units in 10 cities.

Housing Secretary George Romney said the effort—called Project Rehab—started last winter and work is under way on 6,000 units. Officials said an announcement of the program was held back to prevent speculation in the target housing.

Romney emphasized Project Rehab is designed to further the administration's plans for volume housing production and minority business enterprise.

"Few things can provide for immediate and more tangible improvement to living conditions in slum areas than volume rehabilitation," he said.

"It can also provide much-needed jobs and entrepreneur opportunities to residents of the affected neighborhoods, especially members of minority races," the secretary said.

Project director M. Carter McFarland said in an interview that local housing authorities nonprofit sponsors first buy rundown properties from absentee owners then employ existing government subsidy programs for rehabilitation.

McFarland estimated $1,000 in direct federal aid is used in rehabilitating each unit.

While thousands of owner-occupied buildings have been rehabilitated with government aid, a mere handful of the slum housing owned by absentee landlords, have benefitted from traditional rehabilitation programs, McFarland said.

"Most rehabilitation has been on a building to building basis," he said. "We now have an opportunity to help cities do it in large scale and low cost."

Romney said these 10 cities have been approved so far: Cincinnati, Detroit, El Paso, Tex., Hartford, Conn., Indianapolis, Memphis, Tenn., New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Seattle.

Opening lead: Jack of ♦. In order to eliminate one of his losers, South, the declarer at four spades, had to end play each of his opponents in turn.

West opened the Jack of diamonds and South played the ace. Prospects were not very bright, for it appeared that declarer must lose two trump tricks, one diamond, and one club.

South decided that—barring some unexpectedly fortuitous distribution in clubs, such as one defender holding a doubleton queen-jack—his best chance to eliminate a loser was to induce the opposition to lead clubs for him.

In order to begin a stripping operation, he cashed the ace and king of hearts. With that suit eliminated as a safe exit, he turned the ball over to the other side by leading the seven of diamonds. West played the ten and East overtook with the queen to cash the ace of spades, so that he could not be thrown in again subsequently.

East was reluctant to open up the club suit, so he returned a third round of diamonds which proved to be the best defense, even though South was presented with the opportunity to ruff in dummy while he discarded a club from his hand. The one sluff did not yet eliminate his club loser, so declarer exited with a trump again—this time saddling West with the lead.

West could not get out with a heart, for another ruff and sluff would be fatal, so he shifted to a club. The deuce was played from dummy, East put up the jack and South won with the king. On the return, South was able to take a successful finesse against West's queen. The club suit was brought in without casualty and declarer scored 10 tricks.

Observe that unless South takes full advantage of the block in the trump suit, he will not be successful. If he attempts to lead spades before the diamond, East can put his partner in by under-leading the king, queen of diamonds, thereby giving West a chance to cash the king of spades. The exit in hearts or diamonds, presents declarer with a ruff and discard, however he is now saddled with the lead and must eventually play clubs—which will assure West of the opportunity to score the setting trick with the queen.

A LOVELIER YOU Open-Toed Sandals Call For Pedicures

By MARY SUE MILLER
Riddle me this: If strip sandals and open platforms are in... and if feet are in those nudities... what's out? Flawed feet, but of course! Some problems are serious. Most, however, result from oversight. There'd be immediate improvement were pedicures more frequent and more expert. Since a good pedicure follows the same general rules as a manicure, we girls should be adept. Let's check with professional procedures.

Start with polish-free toenails; clip or file nails straight across, even with tips of toes. Now, massage feet with a film of petroleum jelly and immerse for a five-minute soak in warm water. That way the skin gathers up moisture.

Follow up with a sudsy brush- scrub; pumice callouses and push back cuticles with a cotton swab. Next rinse well and dry vigorously. For a final touch, buff toenails or apply polish as both.

As most toenails are ridged or anemic, polish is preferable to a buffed finish. The preferred polish shades are opaque natural or pale pink. Another scheme—new again—is to use a deep color that matches or blends with a darker shade now being worn on the fingernails.

Given weekly, pedicures keep the feet bouncy as well as pretty. The foot is prepared for any sort of exposure the season or the footgear opens up.

MODEL TIPS FOR TEENS
Fifty ways to ideal skin and natural makeup for young adults ages 13 to 19 — are detailed in my book, MODEL TIPS FOR TEENS. Advice covers corrective skin care; how to use makeup to accent good points and play down problems; fashion model make-up tricks. For your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long self-addressed stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

SHOCK WAVES SUBSIDING

Paris Promises Few Fashion Bombshells

By LUCIE NOEL
AP Fashion Writer

PARIS (AP) — Hemlines will be low in the fall, most designers agree, but the designers still will give the women who wear the fashions a chance to choose their own low level.

Yves Saint Laurent is all for ankle-length kilted styles. Jean Patou is promoting a long elegant look but says the days of pavement sweepers are over. Courreges says hemlines problems must be settled individually. Griffe settles for 15 inches from the ground for daytime, and Lanvin definitely prefers calf-length.

Then a big group — including Dior, Chanel, Griffe, Ricci, Goma and Cardin — propose from knee to mid-calf for day wear, ankle-length for gala evenings.

Having already thrown the fashion world into confusion, the designers promise no bombshells in their collections for this season, which opened Monday.

The edict for lower hemlines in the spring and summer showings didn't really catch on, although some long dresses can be seen in the streets. Store buyers were uncertain about what lengths to stock and the customers in the stores generally turned up their noses at the new lengths. Now the public will be given time to digest the new fashions before any more radical changes are made.

Andre Courreges, who has always been inclined to extremes, says there will be a new classicism in his collection.

"It will be less avant-garde than previous collections," he said. "It is a collection of transition, to reassure women who have just survived a troubled fashion experience."

He will propose no see-through effects. Fabrics will be opaque and smooth.

Cardin, with "long hemlines dominating," covers up all nudity. He says he is against all peek-a-boo effects, bare arms and nude eroticism. He promoted dark stockings so that even his miniskirt hemlines give a total look.

The question of pants is no longer an obsession. Many designers say pants are out, fashion-wise. But Dior says pants will never die, and Coco Chanel thinks they are right for sports or country relaxation.

For once, everyone agrees on the winter color palette. Dark muted tones stress ranges of violets, chestnut browns, plum or a dark burgundy red. Black is revived by all, even for day-time at certain houses.

'ROUND TOWN

BY LUCILLE PICKLE

Families gatherings are continuing for Big Spring folk and will probably be going on right up until the time for school to start which certainly won't be long now.

Members of the family of the late MR. and MRS. H. C. BOATLER gathered here Sunday at the home of MR. and MRS. LOWELL KNOOP . . . and it was a good size party and would have been much larger if all the family could have been here.

Big Spring members of the group present included E. C. BOATLER, M. H. BOATLER, PAT BOATLER, MRS. RUBEN McNEU and MRS. R. J. KELLY and their spouses. From San Angelo came the BRYAN BOATLERS, (he's outstanding as the only grandson along with the nine granddaughters) and the RONNIE HUNTLEYS and their families. Also here, were MR. and MRS. JIM LAMMERS, Toledo, Ohio, MR. and MRS. HOLLIS KENNEMUR of Ackerly and the two local grandchildren, MRS. AL ATON and MRS. TOMMY WAGONER and their husbands. MRS. NOLAN VOIGHT, the wife of Capt. Voight, is a great-granddaughter and her children are Bryan and Wendi, the only great-grandchildren.

Most of the J. E. SANDERS family will be here for a Wednesday get together. MR. and MRS. HENRY CARPENTER are here from Tulsa, Okla., and MRS. WARREN SMITH is expected to arrive Wednesday from Los Angeles. They will visit their brothers, Garland and Virgil and their families along with seeing their father who sustained a broken hip last January.

An announcement of interest to a number of Big Spring people is the arrival of Leslye Shea Boggs on June 12. She is the second daughter of MR. and MRS. WILLIAM H. BOGGS JR. of Tulsa, Okla. Mrs. Boggs is the former JANET CARPENTER, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carpenter. J. E. SANDERS is the maternal great-grandfather.

MR. and MRS. L. B. NEWMAN and their daughter, Susan, have returned to their home in Houston after visiting with her mother, MRS.

ROGERS HEFLEY, and other relatives. During their vacation period the Newmans went to Las Vegas, Nev., and left Susan who will be three years of age in August, with her grandmother.

MRS. WILLIAM FROWE of Lawrence, Kans., is visiting in the home of MR. and MRS. WILLIAM McREE. She accompanied them back here when they vacationed in Kansas recently. Also a recent visitor in the McRee home was their eldest daughter, MRS. NANCY DOWALIBY, who has been on a tour of Mexico. She stopped here en route to her home in St. Louis.

Not many cousins come as far for a wedding as MRS. TOM NEWMAN. She came from Toronto, Ontario, Canada, here and joined the DEE JON DAVISES to go to Houston for the wedding of Buddy White the past weekend. She came to Dallas Monday from Houston and took a plane back to Canada.

MRS. BOB BRADBURY is in Tyler with her mother who underwent surgery last Thursday.

MR. and MRS. FRED STITZEL and Martha Ann were here from Garland last week while Fred attended to business for Fina.

MRS. WILLIAM DILLARD and her daughter, Denise, of Little Rock, Ark., have been guests in the home of MR. and MRS. DEWEY RAY. Mrs. Ray's mother, MRS. WILLIAM HEATH of Austin has also been visiting here and accompanied Mrs. Dillard, Denise and the Ray's two older daughters, Maria and Melodie, on a flight to Denver, Colo. The three girls will register at Camp Shoshoni near Denver for the five weeks camp.

MR. and MRS. RAY are looking forward to being in Austin Wednesday night for a party given by their good friends, MR. and MRS. ED WROE JR. who will be honoring their son-in-law and daughter, MR. and MRS. RICKY MARTIN, who have recently married.

Luncheon Held For Attendants

Feminine attendants for the Saturday wedding of the former Janice Cooper and Wayne Dow were honored at a luncheon Saturday at Coker's Restaurant.

Hostesses were Miss Lurae Biffer of Dallas, Mrs. Elva Biffar, Mrs. Eltha Whisenhunt, Mrs. O. H. Daily and Mrs. David Duke.

Tables were placed in a U arrangement with the head table accented by a basket of pink and orange flowers interspersed with babies'-breath. Places were marked with pink and orange miniature candles and flowers.

Missionary Will Speak At Church

Donald Orr, a missionary who returned to the United States in June, will speak at 1:30 p.m. July 27, to the Woman's Missionary Union, First Baptist Church. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Orr, who has completed 20 years service in Colombia, S. A., has been granted a year's furlough and will be residing with his family in Fort Worth. He will use film and slides to illustrate the program on his work in South America.

Bride-Elect Honored At Gift Party

Miss Mary Ellen Hedges, bride-elect of Roger Atkinson, was honored Sunday afternoon at a miscellaneous gift shower held in the home of Mrs. Simon Terrazas, 1001 Bell. Cohostesses were Cindy Stanley, Peggy Daratt, Teresa Atkinson, Brenda Tynes, Kim Guthrie, Cindy Williams, Sharon Andrews, Mary Alice Terrazas, Mrs. Willard Hendrick, and Mrs. O. L. Nabors.

The honoree received guests with her mother, Mrs. D. C. Hedges, her fiance's mother, Mrs. V. J. Atkinson, and her fiance's grandmother, Mrs. Betty Johnke. Yellow and white corsages were presented to the guests of honor.

The honoree's chosen colors of yellow and white were featured in the centerpiece of yellow roses. The refreshment table was covered with a heirloom hand-crocheted cloth over yellow. The appointments were crystal and silver. Forty guests called during the afternoon. The couple plan an August wedding.

Jim Baum Is Guest Speaker

The history of communications was detailed by Jim Baum, guest speaker at Monday's dinner meeting of Cactus Chapter, American Business Women's Association, at Coker's Restaurant. He was introduced by the program chairman, Mrs. R. L. Nall.

Baum described various means by which man has communicated with others since the time of the cave man, and his crude drawings, to interplanetary communications which are being researched today. In conclusion, he noted the potential of mental telepathy as a means of communications in the future.

Mrs. J. B. Price presented a national grant check to a local woman, Mrs. Ted Thomas, who will be furthering her education at Howard County Junior College under the sponsorship of ABWA. Initial plans were made for the fall Hand of Friendship tea with Mrs. Leroy Dolan as chairman.

The vocational talk was by Mrs. Eldon Watts, an employee of Community House, a branch of Big Spring State Hospital.

Other guests were Mrs. Jim Baum, Miss Becky Johns, Mrs. Willis LeVier and Mrs. J. M. Campbell.

The next meeting will be Aug. 17.

A Devotion For Today . . .

After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father . . . (Matthew 6:9)

PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee for the inclusiveness of our Christian faith. In praying may we unite ourselves, and thus sense that we are together in our misfortunes and in our approach to Thee. And when blessings come, may we be quick to share them. In Christ's name. Amen. (From the 'Upper Room')

The President And Congress

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield believes that Richard M. Nixon will be re-elected in 1972. This seems to be a reasonable assumption at this time, although much could happen in the interval to change the picture.

But the President's relationship with Congress is on the rocks. Nor is there any reason to believe that this relationship will improve after the November general elections. It is rare for the party in the White House to pick up many seats during a non-presidential election year.

Nixon's troubles with Congress are partly of his own making. He could have done much better (in fact he did on the third try) in his two defeated selections for the Supreme Court. He should have known better than to veto the Hill-Burton extension, which Congress promptly passed over his veto. It is one of the most popular measures that Congress has ever formulated. He did manage to water down somewhat the Cooper-Church amendment to the foreign military sales bill, but he might have been better advised to have ignored the amendment since the House is almost sure to reject it.

The basic cause for congressional mistrust, though, is the war in Vietnam, its extension to Cambodia and the feeling of some members that the President is not really interested in a negotiated settlement of the conflict. This feeling is shared by some Republicans in addition to many Democrats. Any hope of better days must await the end of the war.

So the situation is one that Nixon will have to learn to live with. Members of Congress are beginning to feel their oats. They are trying to recover some of the authority surrendered to the President during the past 30 years. They will not be any easier to deal with six months from now. The President will have to spend more time trying to soothe ruffled feathers and be very careful in the exercise of the veto power, using it only when he is reasonably sure that two-thirds of the members will vote to uphold the veto.

A Faint Ray Of Hope

Hope springs eternal — and now some reports from Washington say that intelligence analysts claim to see a new movement on the part of Soviet Russia to think of peace in the Indochina war.

Not highly publicized was a dispatch last week that out of New Delhi, India, came an indication that Russia would revive a call for a new Geneva conference.

U.S. authorities indicate they have reason to believe that Russia might be ready to serve as peace-maker. They quote neutral diplomats in western Europe, who reportedly are quoted as saying that Moscow believes the time had come for a breakthrough in the peace stalemate. The Russians told their fellow diplomats to watch for a "Soviet initiative."

Moscow, of course, has been disturbed by Peking's rising influence in both Southeast Asia and North Korea, and may see the need for steps to thwart this new threat. The issue of the Middle East may also be a factor.

It must be well known that there is no way, really, to fathom the Soviet machinations. But every little hint leads to a little more hope.

Art Buchwald Presidential Body Language

WASHINGTON — There is a book called "Body Language" which deals with the new science of kinesics, which is nonverbal communication. Julius Fast, the author, maintains that body gestures can tell more about a person than what he says. An unconscious movement, kinesics tells us, is all-revealing.

Fast is not the only person who is an expert on "Body Language." My friend, Dr. Heinrich Applebaum, has been working on a project for some time to find out if President Nixon's gestures tell more about him than what he says.

DR. APPLEBAUM has been watching every TV program that President Nixon has appeared on and has come to some interesting conclusions.

"The President," Dr. Applebaum told me, "uses his body as well as anybody we've had in the White House. I have been able to interpret many of the gestures he makes."

Billy Graham

For a long time I have been disturbed about the following sentence in Scripture: "Holy and reverend is his name." (Psa 111:9). I can never bring myself to address a clergyman as "reverend," because that is a title reserved for God, in my opinion. Am I right or wrong? M. M. (Glasgow)

The verse you refer to begins: "He sent redemption to his people: he hath commanded his covenant forever: holy and reverend is his name." The word "reverend" means "to hold in awe." We should be awed by God — not by men.

Ministers, those called of God, are "sinners" saved by grace. All they are, they are by the grace of God. And when they see a person bound by sin, they say, "There, but for the grace of God go I." I know of no clergyman who requires people to address him as "reverend." This is a custom, and has come into vogue because people endeavor to honor the "calling," and not the person himself. The minister of Christ is the conveyor of God's message, much like a Western Union boy, who delivers his company's message. Few people salute the messenger boy or give him special honor. It is the message which is important. Just so, when people address a minister as "reverend," they do so because they respect his high calling, and respect him for being a herald of God's message — not because they stand in awe of him or consider him to possess elements of the Infinite.

MOUNTAIN CLIMBER

John Cunniff Supermarket Decisions

NEW YORK (AP) — Today's supermarket carries 8,000 and 10,000 items, meaning that any shopper is faced with more decisions in the span of one hour or so than an executive makes in a week at the office.

The huge number represents one of the ironies of our consumer age: The very outpouring of goods has irritated some customers who complain of the nearly impossible task of choosing with any degree of wisdom.

No doubt about it, there are many decisions to be made by the shopper, but 10,000 items does seem high. A check with the Grocery Manufacturers Association, however, brings assurance it is accurate. No duplication, they insist, except that different sizes of the same product are counted separately. But 50 tubes of toothpaste, all the same size, count as only one.

This is part of the fascinating picture that emerges from a statistical study of the food industry, the nation's largest single industry, prepared by the National Industrial Conference Board for the grocery manufacturers.

The tremendous increase in the products available—the number has doubled since the late 1940s—is not accounted for solely by food products. As any man who accidentally gets a look at the shopping lists can testify, the supermarket is not only a food store.

In 1950, for example, $3.1 billion of nonfood products were handled in the nation's supermarkets, or 12 per cent of total sales. By 1968 this figure had grown to $16 billion and the percentage to nearly 23.

The types of foods purchased has changed enormously over the past few decades. Meat and poultry consumption has risen sharply; consumption of potatoes is falling; and more vegetables and fruits are delivered processed rather than fresh.

The figures: In 1910 Americans ate 139 pounds of meat per person. This dropped to 123 pounds at the onset of the Great Depression, but by 1960 it was up to 147 pounds and in 1968 to 162. Undoubtedly it's higher now.

Americans have been cutting back on their starch consumption, which is typical of a rising standard of living. In 1910 they ate 221 pounds of potatoes, on average, but now they eat only 105 pounds or so.

The amount of vegetables eaten has remained fairly stable at about 200 pounds per person, but the nature of those vegetables is changing. Almost all vegetables in 1910 were fresh; now 60 of those pounds are processed, most of them canned but at least 10 pounds of them frozen.

Do Americans eat well in comparison with other nations? Millions of Americans still have poor diets, but generally speaking, most Americans can afford to eat well.

In the United States and Canada less than 20 per cent of all "personal consumption expenditures" are for food. In less developed countries, the figures are much higher. In Ghana, for example, about 60 per cent goes for food, and even in Spain the percentage is around 40.

Hal Boyle Horsefly In Boudoir

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

The weather has nothing to do with why so many men now carry umbrellas in the big cities after dark. They aren't as afraid of being rained upon as jumped upon.

Nothing is less anonymous than a horsefly in a boudoir.

One of the things about pole vaulters that has puzzled me for years is how they manage to get their vaulting poles from one track meet to another. The poles are too long to fit easily into cars, bus, train or airplane.

On the other hand, it would seem too expensive to transport them on flatbed trucks as if they were skyscraper beams.

My guess is that they put the front end of the pole on one midjet's shoulder and the back end on another midjet, and then tell both midjets that whichever gets his end of the pole first to the next track meet site wins $10.

Unless you're in a really first class restaurant, the beef stew is a better buy for your money than the steak.

Why parents hate to see their kids grow up: When he's only 8, you can send a son half out of his mind with joy by giving him a second-hand $5 bugle; when he's 18, he claims his life will hold no meaning to him unless you give him an auto horn—with a new sports car attached.

You can't judge the contents of a book by the title of a jacket anymore. One out of five girls you see reading on the subway is reading one of the new sex books—which she has inserted into the jacket of a more conventional volume. Yes, in some cases, into the jacket of a cookbook.

It is hard to say which is the more widespread of the two commonest fears in America now—the fear of being followed, or the fear of being a leader.

City streets are fully of shady characters hawking shabby merchandise—ranging from watches to fur coats—at supposedly fabulous bargain prices. The only way you can get full value in anything you can buy on the streets today is to drop a dime in a blind beggar's cup and take one of his pencils. But what kind of a cheap skate is that?

Around The Rim

Forever On Sunday

At dawn this morning the temperature was 60 degrees — an alarming signal which tells me one thing: It's not a bit too early to start worrying about football.

YOU MAY REMEMBER that I had a little trouble with football last year. A kind reader came up with the answer to my problem — "A Woman's Guide to Football."

Hy Goldberg, columnist for the Newark News, has authored this handy little book (about the size of a pocket calculator) and it has been published by Dell/Purse Books, selling for 25 cents. Buy it, ladies. It's the best bargain in town.

According to Mr. Goldberg:

"HAD THE HOUSEWIFE of 1869 been able to see ahead, chances are, she'd have stormed to New Brunswick, N.J., and plunged her Victorian hatpin into the backsides of 22 students (from Princeton and Rutgers) who were assembled to play the first football game on record. But Granny was no soothsayer, and, as it turned out, her lack of foresight didn't matter for the better part of a century. Until the 1950's, Sunday was a restful day — a time for visiting, taking a stroll, enjoying a leisurely dinner.

"But, I guess you know, lady; things have changed.

"THIS IS THE AGE of television and the era of football, and between the two, you haven't got a chance. Like your grandmother, you may prepare a big Sunday dinner, but it's a good bet that from late August through the middle of January, you eat fast, late, or alone.

"You've lost your man to the NFL, AFL, the Big Ten, the Southern Conference, the Southwest Conference, the Ivy League — you name it, he's there: in person or in front of the tube. For five months of the year, it's football forever on Sunday, and it's time the women of America learned this new adage: the family that prays for the home team together stays together.

"HOWEVER, DON'T expect to learn the game from your husband — or any other male you're fond of. Just as husbands shouldn't teach wives how to drive a car, it's wisest to learn football from a stranger. You'll catch on faster — and be spared a glimpse of your man that isn't altogether pleasant. Don't ask me why, but the average male is incapable of talking football to a woman without being smug, impatient, even disdainful."

So do get the book. Read it thoroughly once, then start watching games with the book in your hand. Your husband won't notice that you're studying (face it, honey, when a game's in progress, a man wouldn't notice if you collapsed on the floor), which means you can learn a lot before the season ends.

FINALLY, ACCEPT the idea that you're going to fall in love with the game — eventually, if not now. This season, if you want to score — know it!

The Kissinger-Rogers Rivalry

WASHINGTON — In the hierarchy of government the Secretary of State is No. 1 after the President, a position of great power and prestige. In a turbulent world he has in recent years been the fall guy to get hit with the custard pies when anything goes wrong anywhere. Since this is almost a daily occurrence, the Secretary spends a good bit of his time wiping away the debris.

WILLIAM P. ROGERS is one of the most personable and friendly men to hold the office. That helps to explain why he has enjoyed a honeymoon longer than most of his predecessors. With a jarring crash the honeymoon is coming to an end.

Given the custom of the news media of squaring off A against B in the boxing ring of government, it may have been inevitable that Rogers and Henry Kissinger, the President's advisor on national security affairs, should be put in rival corners. The reporting has come to sound at times as though it were a sporting event. Kissinger's up, Rogers is down, blood is flowing, the referee is stepping in.

WHATEVER THE degree of rivalry for the referee's favor, much of this is nonsense, if only because of the differing nature of the two offices. The influence, the standing, of the Secretary cannot be measured by the number of hours a day he sits at the President's elbow as against the number of hours Kissinger enjoys that privilege by reason of having a White House office.

The Secretary is required to attend a fixed number of international gatherings. If he decides against going to meetings of the NATO Council and the SEATO high command, those meetings are thereby downgraded, since the foreign ministers of member nations will not attend if the American Secretary of State is absent. A commitment on his recent Asian tour was a SEATO Council session in Manila.

ROGERS HOPES to ease this burden by persuading the member nations to have at least some of these meetings in Washington. Nevertheless, journeying about the globe has become a traditional requirement of Secretaries of State in the jet age.

The present Secretary has already traveled 170,000 miles in his year and a half in office, which compares with the record set by John Foster Dulles of more than a half-million miles in six years as secretary. While it sounds easy to jump into Air Force 2 (two staterooms, eight berths, galley, cook, stewards) bound for Tokyo or Rome, even such well-cushioned travel takes its toll. The time changes of six to 12 or 13 hours are hard on the system.

What is more, the Secretary cannot control the course of events while he is on the road. Things happen and the first reaction is, "Why wasn't he home tender to his knitting?" The obvious answer is that he cannot be in two places at once.

ONE ASPECT of the Rogers-Kissinger rivalry as reported in the media was over the Middle East. Rogers, so it went, was so mild and moderate on the peril of the Soviet presence in Egypt that the President, prompted by Kissinger, had to take a much sterner line. But a comparison of the language used by the Secretary, when at his press conference he floated the Administration's Middle East peace initiative, shows no marked difference. It was the authority of the President's voice that added the emphasis of warning on the imminent peril.

WHEN ROGERS stopped at San Clemente on his way to the Far East the President congratulated him on the peace initiative and his presentation of it. The Nixon-Rogers friendship, cemented when the latter was Attorney General in the Eisenhower Administration, insofar as outsiders may judge has not been impaired.

Besides being three minutes away from the President's oval office, Kissinger has other advantages. Enjoying the role of gray eminence, Cardinal Richelieu to the king, in theory he never surfaces. Therefore, he never gets the custard pies.

NEVERTHELESS, in a recent instance Kissinger's anonymity was violated with unfortunate consequences. The President had assembled top publishers and broadcasters for a briefing at San Clemente and his advisor on national security gave them a characteristically lucid rundown on foreign policy. A transcript of his remarks became public and in it was his statement to the effect it might be necessary to "expel" the Soviet technicians and pilots from Egypt. This did not contribute to the peace initiative and Kissinger sent Rogers a telegram apologizing for the slip.

All this has happened before. Dean Rusk had the ubiquitous Walt Rostow glued to Lyndon Johnson's side. And in the end it is the President himself who makes the fundamental decisions on America's course in the stormy waters of world policy. (Copyright, 1970, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

To Your Good Health Hormones Taken With Other Medicines

By G. C. THOSTESON, M. D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am having the various menopause symptoms and am taking several kinds of medicine, but I have never taken any hormone. Would it be all right for me to do so? Would it have any effect on any other medication I might be taking? — Mrs. L.C.

The question, as you pose it, it tough for me to answer because you give me no notion of what other medications you are taking. I can see no conflict with any of the usual ones used in menopause, however.

I myself have seen enough women helped by judicious use of hormones at the "change of life" so that I am convinced of their usefulness. They are used in conjunction with other medications at times.

However, you can't walk into the drugstore and just ask for hormones. They must be under prescription, so discuss this with your doctor — and whether he prescribes them will depend on whether you are having symptoms that really call for them.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is taking vitamin C and aspirin considered bad for your health? Also please give your opinion of cooking with safflower oil in place of vegetable shortening. —S.G.J.

First question: nothing harmful about it.

Second question: safflower is a polyunsaturated-fat type of oil, and I have nothing against it. However, I am perfectly satisfied with other types of vegetable oils for cooking and cannot see that the choice of one over another involves any question of healthfulness.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please explain an erosion of the cervix. Is this an ulceration? —V.S.

Yes, it is. It may result from a tear during childbirth, irritation from douche materials, or other causes.

Anyway, the protective membrane is damaged. Infection usually occurs, preventing normal healing, and this continuing ulcer "erodes" the tissues.

Erosion of the cervix is one of a number of causes of chronic discharge. Cauterizing such an ulcer usually is a fairly simple procedure, but a useful one.

Emphysema can be controlled. To learn how to live with this serious lung disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald, requesting a copy of the booklet, "How To Control Emphysema," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Andrew Tully A 'United States Of Asia'

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's foreign policy strategists are putting together a grand design for Asia that — if successful — could be the biggest international coup of the administration.

Under Nixon's direction, Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Henry Kissinger, the President's No. 1 foreign policy adviser, and others are trying to set up a kind of United States of Asia as a barrier to Communist aggression. Governments being consulted are those of South Vietnam, Laos, Cambodia, Thailand, Malaysia, the Philippines and Indonesia.

AMONG OTHER aspects, the alliance eventually would have some of the characteristics of the European Common Market, with a common trade policy and a free exchange of currency. But for the immediate future the plan is aimed at providing an "establishment of self defense" against the day when the U.S. military presence will come to an end in Southeast Asia.

WASHINGTON APPEARS to have made it plain to the nations involved that there is no alternative to the grand design. Secretary Rogers put it in diplomatic language during his recent tour of the area, but his message was plain: The time has come for those nations to defend themselves with their own bodies.

Meanwhile, Rogers brought firm assurances that the United States would contribute both military and economic aid, starting with a $1 billion fund, if the governments succeeded in building a viable and operative self-defense mechanism.

ADMINISTRATION sources say a modest start already has been made with Thailand's assurances to Cambodia's defense if necessary. The Thai regime has agreed to begin training some 10,000 Cambodian soldiers on Thai territory, and has started delivery of uniforms and other equipment, excluding weapons, for 50,000 men. 6 People Power tips to make air conditioning work better, cost less.

Providing you with good electric service takes the best efforts and ideas of the 2600 people at Texas Electric. That's why we call it People Power. Here are six ideas our people have found that will help you get the most comfort from your air conditioning at the lowest operating cost:

Set the thermostat properly: Set the thermostat no lower than necessary for your personal comfort. Most air conditioning specialists recommend a thermostat setting of 76° to 78°. Remember, the lower the setting, the more electricity the unit uses.

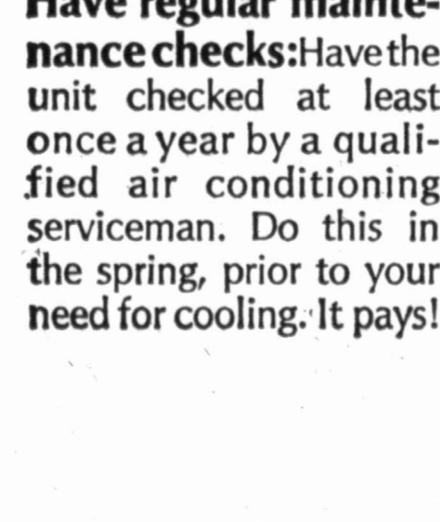

Trim shrubbery: The outdoor unit needs free air circulation. Help it maintain full efficiency and keep operating costs down by trimming nearby shrubbery and by checking to make sure compressor coils are clean.

Inspect filters often: Clogged filters make the unit work harder and use more electricity. Replacement of disposable filters—or cleaning of permanent types—will help keep the system running efficiently.

Keep sunlight out: Direct sunlight increases the heat in your home. Reduce the air conditioning unit's load by using awnings, blinds, shades or draw drapes.

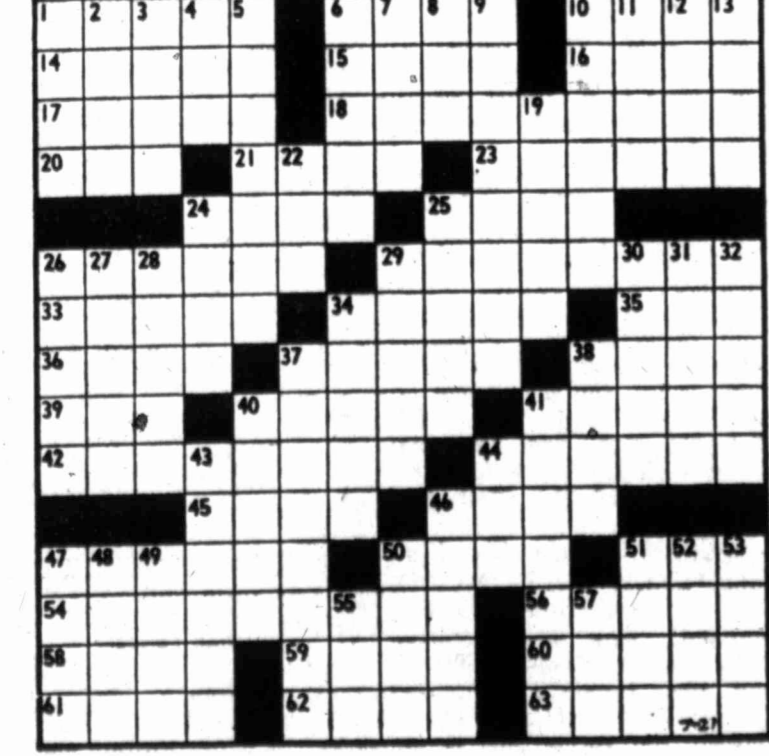

Have regular maintenance checks: Have the unit checked at least once a year by a qualified air conditioning serviceman. Do this in the spring, prior to your need for cooling. It pays!

Insulate: Proper insulation keeps the hot air out, the cool air in. It reduces the cost of winter heating too. Ceiling insulation is particularly important.

car belonging to one of the women and forced Reitz to drive to a field 10 miles away, where he marched them deep into dense brush.

Then, Reitz said, the robber ordered all three to lie down side by side.

The bandit pulled two rings off Reitz' right hand.

SO THEY SAY

Reitz said the man asked: "Would you be out too much if I took these rings?"

"Yeah, I guess I would," Reitz said he answered.

The gunman tossed the two rings on the ground and said: "There's a little bit of good in every thief."

Police said the man then started shooting, wounding Reitz and killing the women, all with shots in the head.

After the killer left, Reitz struggled a mile and a half before he attracted the attention of a passer-by.

John Perrotti, a business executive, bandaged Reitz' head and talked to him while they waited for an ambulance.

Pointing to the field he had crawled out of, Reitz said, "There's also two ladies out there bleeding."

Profits Up For LTV Unit

DALLAS (AP) — LTV ElectroSystems, Inc., part of the Ling-Temco-Vought conglomerate, announced Monday a substantial increase in earnings for the first half of 1970, compared to a year ago.

The firm reported earnings of 22 cents per share, in contrast with a loss of 8 cents per share for the same 1969 period adjusted to exclude discontinued operations.

Chairman and President John W. Dixon attributed the improved earnings to cost reduction measures.

LTV ElectroSystems announced sales of $97.5 million and earnings of $1,082,000 for the first six months this year.

Sales last year, after adjustments for discontinued operations, were $101.8 million with a loss of $414,000.

Dixon said that although sales volume remains comparable to 1969, bookings have been slow.

The 1970 results, he said, reflect continued recovery from the company's problems.

"This results from the combined efforts of all our people," he said. "We have applied stringent cost reduction measures throughout the year and brought our employment into line with our current business level."

"We substantially reduced our corporate overhead structure and closed the Roswell, N.M., facility when it did not develop an acceptable volume of business within a reasonable period," Dixon said.

"In our selective approach to new business, we have continued to emphasize profitability rather than sales growth."

We, the undersigned directors attest the correctness of this report of condition and declare that it has been examined by us and to the best of our knowledge and belief is true and correct.

Bankruptcies Record Looms

DALLAS (AP) — The current tight money situation is being reflected by a sharp rise in the number of bankruptcies filed by businesses and individuals here.

Elmore Whitehurst, U.S. bankruptcy referee for the Northern District of Texas, said that 1970 will unquestionably be a record year for cases filed in his court.

Judge Whitehurst said this week that an average of 250 cases per year have been filed for the past three years.

But in the first half of this year, he said, over 200 cases have been filed.

Some Dallas bankruptcy lawyers said the increase in businesses failing will continue until at least the end of the year, and a few indicated the peak has yet to be reached.

"I think the high number of bankruptcies are going to continue," said lawyer Jim Mahon. "We haven't peaked out."

The maximum sentence could be a dishonorable discharge. The defendants applied for conscientious objector status last April. No action was taken on their request.

The Bexar County men who surrendered in San Antonio are Perfecto Caballero, 18, and Charles Mayberry, 23, Caballero was persuaded by a brother to turn himself in. Mayberry unexpectedly walked into the sheriff's office with his wife and lawyer about four hours later.

The Bexar County sheriff's department said Rusk officials reported they had finished evaluations of both men and the pair did not need to be returned.

Still sought were Harold Thomas, 32, of Midland County; Albert J. Cadgle, 34, of Wilbarger County; and Leon Wesley Colbert, 56, of Harris County.

for the criminally insane were inadequate.

"NOT A JAIL" — "We run a hospital — not a jail," Connally declared. "We're not supposed to chain them up, but to take reasonable precautions to prevent escape. I think we did that."

The five inmates broke out of their maximum security ward by snipping through a 24-foot chain-link fence with bolt cutters and climbing a second fence. Those still at large were reported to be armed and dangerous.

Connally also rejected an assessment by State Rep. Joe Sallies of Corpus Christi that facility at Rusk were poor and inadequate. Salem visited the hospital last Friday.

"PRETTY RIDICULOUS" — Connally said it was "pretty ridiculous" for "this first-time legislator to come up here and spend an hour talking with people and then make a bunch of criticisms."

Salem said later that although a freshman legislator, he was not "blind or deaf."

He called for the state mental health board and Gov. Preston Smith to investigate the hospital and not listen "to a man who is trying to save his high-paying job."

GI Appeals To Homefolk, Charged With Firing Gun

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — After according Army Sgt. Esquivel Torres almost a hero's welcome, his homefolk heard strong appeals Monday for funds to finance his defense against charges of murdering four Vietnamese civilians.

The pleas came from a former Texas attorney general and from the Brownsville sergeant's Atlanta, Ga., lawyer at a special meeting of the city's American Legion post.

Torres has been ordered by the Army to stand trial on murder charges in connection with the alleged My Lai massacre.

Legionnaires held their meeting a few hours after police lodged a complaint of illegally discharging firearms within the city limits against Torres. That case is to be heard in municipal court.

Torres, who came to the Lower Rio Grande Valley to start a drive for defense funds, was arrested at his home early Monday following a shooting incident outside a Brownsville tavern, according to police records.

Police Chief Gus Krausse said a witness identified Torres as the man who argued with a barmaid over some beer and fired four rifle shots into the ground from an automobile.

Charles Weltner, an Atlanta lawyer who represents Torres, was disturbed when told of newsmen of the arrest. Torres arrived at Brownsville Sunday, one day before Weltner.

Torres and Weltner received a near hero's welcome at the Brownsville Airport Monday morning. They later appeared on a Harlingen television program.

NOT PRETTY — Former Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, who promised to take Torres' fund raising drive before the state American Legion convention at Fort Worth, said he holds no position in Torres' defense.

"We should do everything we can in Texas to raise what we can to help Sgt. Torres get a fair trial," said Carr. "War is not like Sunday school. It is not a pretty business."

Weltner said it would be impossible for Torres to get a fair trial because of a statement made by President Nixon and because of what he called "command influence."

"The Commander-in-Chief of the Army has already convicted this man," Weltner said.

The lawyer quoted Nixon as telling a nationally televised news conference that the My Lai incident "was certainly a massacre and under no circumstances was it justified."

IT'S IMPOSSIBLE — "In this case, with this defendant, it is impossible for a court martial to be justice for Sgt. Torres," Weltner said.

Weltner said he has asked an injunction to prevent the Army from trying Torres. The request was heard last week by a three-judge panel at Atlanta. Weltner said the case will likely be taken to the U. S. Supreme Court regardless of the ruling by the special court.

Taking a case such as the one involving Torres to the Supreme Court is "a very expensive proposition," Weltner said.

Irwin Shepard, a Brownsville Legionnaire named to take care of the funds, said the Brownsville post and others in Texas should attempt to raise about $5,000. Shepard said Rep. Eligio De la Garza, D-Tex., asked him to organize the drive.

MINERAL WELLS, Tex. (AP) — A court-martial opens Wednesday at Ft. Wolters for two young warrant officers, both Vietnam veterans, charged with being absent without leave and failing to stand at attention.

The defendants are Michael G. Becker and George W. McIvor, both 21 and helicopter pilots.

The maximum sentence could be a dishonorable discharge. The defendants applied for conscientious objector status last April. No action was taken on their request.

DOC DISPUTES LAX SECURITY CHARGE

Three Escapees Still Free

RUSK, Tex. (AP) — Three of the five men who staged a week-end break from the Rusk State Hospital remained free today as angry words echoed over their escape.

The other two escapees surrendered Monday to authorities in San Antonio. They told officers they returned to Texas by bus from Louisiana, where their fellow fugitives dropped them off.

Dr. Archie Connally, superintendent of the hospital, meanwhile disputed a statement by Chief Deputy Sheriff Otho Black of Cherokee County that security measures at the institution for the criminally insane were inadequate.

"NOT A JAIL" — "We run a hospital — not a jail," Connally declared. "We're not supposed to chain them up, but to take reasonable precautions to prevent escape. I think we did that."

The five inmates broke out of their maximum security ward by snipping through a 24-foot chain-link fence with bolt cutters and climbing a second fence. Those still at large were reported to be armed and dangerous.

Connally also rejected an assessment by State Rep. Joe Sallies of Corpus Christi that facility at Rusk were poor and inadequate. Salem visited the hospital last Friday.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Right-hander Bill Singer accepted a $500 bonus for pitching a no-hitter for the Los Angeles Dodgers, but apologized for taking the money.

"I'm not worth it," said Singer of the bonus, although his teammates sent him a note urging him to hold out for more.

Singer, 26, handcuffed the Philadelphia Phillies Monday, 5-0, for his first no-hitter in seven seasons as a Dodger. The $500 bonus is a Dodger tradition dating back to Carl Erskine's no-hitter in 1952. Singer's teammates cite inflation.

"I have a real nice salary," he said. "I haven't justified my salary by being out for two months."

Singer was sidelined April 16 with infectious hepatitis, believed caught from teammate Pete Mikkelsen. He spent three weeks in a hospital and didn't return to the team until June 14.

President Visits Sens And Plugs 'Cool' Rule

By The Associated Press

President Nixon came out for a cooling off period in Washington when the real cooling off was needed in Chicago where the White Sox were being burned up by Ellie Hendricks.

Hendricks and the Baltimore Orioles threw cold water on Detroit's surge toward the top in the American League East by bombing the White Sox 14-Monday night behind Hendricks' grand slam homer and two-run double.

The victory boosted Baltimore's lead to four games over Detroit, which had climbed within three games before losing to Kansas City 3-0.

But it was the President who made the biggest hit of the night no-hitter was in the cards for Singer, who had been out with infectious hepatitis for 53 days between April 22 and June 14.

The 26-year-old, now in his seventh season in the majors, pitched no-hit ball for 7 2/3 innings June 23 at Atlanta and posted a two-hit shutout against San Francisco July 5.

While Singer was boosting his record to 7-3 and putting his name in the record book, the tight battle for the top spot in the National League East remained the same. First-place Pittsburgh lost 5-4 to Houston in 12 innings and remained two games ahead of the New York Mets, who bowed 7-4 to San Francisco.

Cincinnati swept St. Louis 4-3 and 4-0 in 10 innings. Atlanta took the Chicago Cubs 3-1 and 5-0 in a rain-shortened, five-inning game and San Diego edged Montreal 3-1.

Singer struck out 10, walked nine and allowed only two base runners. Oscar Gamble was hit by a wild pitch and went to second when Singer threw wildly on a pickoff attempt. Don Money reached in the seventh when Singer fielded his grounder and threw wildly. In one stretch Singer retired 18 straight batters.

RBI singles by Jim Lefebvre and Wes Parker, a sacrifice fly by Willie Davis and Bill Russell's two-run double backed the third no-hitter in the majors this year. Dock Ellis of Pittsburgh hurled one in the NL, and Clyde Wright of California posted one in the AL.

The Mets led 4-2 in the sixth when the Giants scored four runs. They gained a tie on an RBI single by Hal Lanier and Bob Heise and then won when reliever Danny Frisella forced in two runs with bases-loaded walks to Frank Johnson and Ron Hunt.

Pitcher Gary Nolan, 12-4, started Cincinnati's winning rally in the ninth inning of the first game against St. Louis. Nolan singled and then scored on Bobby Tolan's two-out single.

The Reds had tied it 3-3 in the eighth when one run scored on Lee May's double and another on left fielder Lou Brock's error.

May's bases-loaded homer in the 10th broke a scoreless deadlock and gave the Reds the nightcap.

Atlanta took its opener against Chicago when Hank Aaron walked with two out in the ninth and his brother, Tommy, smashed a homer.

In the rain-shortened, nightcap, Don Cardwell held the Cubs to three hits and was backed by Tony Gonzalez's three-run homer.

RBI singles by Al Ferrara and Nate Colbert, Ollie Brown's homer and Pat Dobson's seventh-inning pitching paced San Diego past Montreal.

with Manager Ted Williams and his Senators. After watching Frank Howard blast a long homer in Washington's 2-0 victory over Milwaukee, Nixon came out in favor of Williams' rule that keeps his clubhouse closed to sportswriters for 15 minutes after each game.

It was a good idea "for politicians as well as baseball players," he said. "After a game—win or lose—fellows are a little bit wrought up. So give them time to cool off and then let them talk to the press."

Elsewhere in the American League, Minnesota topped Cleveland 4-2, New York clubbed California 6-1 and Oakland edged Boston 3-2.

Astros Win In 12th Frame

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Rookie Ron Cook pitched three extra innings Monday night and claimed his first major league victory as the Houston Astros beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-4 in the 12th inning.

Cook was the seventh Houston pitcher to face the Pirates as the game seasawed wildly. The Astros used three pitchers in the eighth.

Jesus Alou singled with one out in the 12th, went to second on a wild pitch and scored the winning run on a single by Astro's first baseman Bob Watson.

Pittsburgh jumped ahead 1-0 in the first inning on Roberto Clemente's home run, his 11th this year.

Denis Menke duplicated the feat for the Astros, hitting his sixth homer of the year into the left field seats in the second inning.

Twins' Ace Is Out For 10 Days

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—

Minnesota Twins' right-hander Stan Williams will be out of action "a week to 10 days," team physician Dr. Harvey O'Phelan said Monday.

Williams, 6-0, pulled a muscle in his left side during Sunday's game with Cleveland, but O'Phelan said X-rays taken Monday showed no injury to the side.

Stalemate Continues

NEW YORK (AP)—The pro football stalemate continued today as the National Football League club owners meet in special session and the big money stars lined up behind their player association.

According to John Mackey of Baltimore, president of the NFL Players Association, the issue boils down to one thing—how much the owners are going to put into the retirement fund over the next four years.

Alan Miller, general counsel for the NFLPA, claims the players want an increase of $3.6-million-per-year for the pension plan and the owners are offering an increase of $1.7 million. He said Monday it was not possible to break down the proposed pension at this time into dollar and cent benefits.

As the owners gathered there were hints some were of the opinion their negotiations committee already had been over-generous in their offers.

The players called a news conference Monday afternoon to clarify their stand.

Such big names as quarterback Roman Gabriel of Los Angeles, Frank Tarkenton of the New York Giants, John Brodie of San Francisco and John Hadl of San Diego backed the association. So did Gale Sayers, the great running back of the Chicago Bears and linebackers Jim Houston of Cleveland and Larry Grantham of the New York Jets.

Ernie Wright, Cincinnati tackle, Kermit Alexander, defensive back from Los Angeles, and John Wilbur, Dallas guard, also were present to stand up and be counted.

Mackey read a wire from Jim Tyrer, player representative of the world champion Kansas City Chiefs who said the team had voted not to report to camp, even if the owners open the doors, until the dispute is settled. The Chiefs stand in extra important because they are due to play the College All-Stars in Chicago July 31. The All-Stars are hard at work.

Grantham reported the Jets also had voted unanimously not to hold any formal workouts until the matter is resolved.

Westside, Catholics Are First Round Winners

Westside Baptists overwhelmed Crestview Baptists in the opening game of the City and Church League softball tournament Monday, but it took an extra inning to turn the trick for Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic to edge First Assembly of God.

Westside won 19-3 after the 10-run rule was invoked in the fifth. A 13-run explosion by Westside in the first shattered Crestview's hopes.

The other game was a seesaw affair that saw the Assembly break a tie with three runs in the top of the ninth. The Catholics bounced right back, and in the 10th, Baxter Moore blasted one over the left centerfield fence to settle the issue in the bottom of the tenth.

In the second game, E. Thomas, J. Thomas, Williams of the Assembly doubled, as did Hattenbach of the Catholics; Choate and E. Thomas tripled for the assembly, while Boadle and Moore homered for the Catholics.

The first game saw Carter of Westside double, Shaw of Crestview triple, and Linsey of Westside homer. Batteries for Crestview were Don Ritchey and Jerry Phillips; for Westside Jerry Don Paige and Jackie Owens; of Assembly, Charles Williams and Knight; and for Catholic, Danny Clendenin and Albert Mendoza.

Crestview plays Assembly at 7:30 p.m. today, and Catholic meets Westside at 9 p.m. One game is slated Thursday and the finals Friday.

A LOTTA HORSE — A world thoroughbred auction record was set Monday night when this full brother to 1969 Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner Majestic Prince sold for $510,000. Frank McMahon, Vancouver, British Columbia, made the top bid. He also bought Majestic Prince at the Keeneland sale in 1967 for a then-record $250,000. Leslie Combs II was the seller both times, at Lexington, Ky.

When it was over, Frank McMahon, a lumber tycoon from Vancouver, British Columbia, had set a world record Monday night by buying a full brother to 1969 Kentucky Derby winner Majestic Prince for $510,000 at the Keeneland Summer Yearling Sales.

The previous record was set in 1968 when W. P. Rosso paid $405,000 for Reine Enchanteur, a filly who is expected to start in her first race in New York later this week.

The record purchase also set Keeneland marks for the most paid by any one buyer and the most earned by any one seller—McMahon and Leslie Combs II, owner of the same Spend-thrift Farm that produced Majestic Prince.

However, while McMahon must pay the entire $510,000, he later will receive a refund of about half that amount because he owns a half interest in the colt's dam.

Partners for all A class players were drawn at random from the list of C players to make up the nine team roster.

The bottom four teams were given a nine point spot except for the championship finals.

On the way up to a perfect record and the title, Cook and Finkenbinder defeated Don Farley and Steve Stanley, who went on to win the losers bracket and win a shot at the title in the final round. Again Cook and Finkenbinder defeated Farley and Stanley.

Trophies were presented to the winning teams.

Cliff Harris, a free-agent cornerback from Ouchita University in Arkansas, intercepted four passes during a pass drill to highlight the day's action.

Houston City Fathers Beat Another Retreat

HOUSTON (AP)—City officials beat another retreat Monday in the face of recurring protests—and more arrests—over where Houston garbage shall be dumped. Mayor pro tem Frank Mancuso ordered a two-day shutdown of a dump near a Negro residential section on the North Loop. He said this would permit what he described as a "communications period" with residents of the area. While the North Loop site is closed, dumping will resume at the Alameda-Genoa landfill in a white area, where the city council had stopped using because of similar protests. Mancuso said time was needed to provide persons living near the North Loop dump time to voice their opinions about the site to city council. Police arrested 65 persons Monday as they tried to block garbage trucks going into the dump. About 150 police officers faced some 300 mostly black protesters there. The protesters had vowed to fight the dump since the city council approved it last week.

Three armed men halted a city garbage truck en route to the dump Monday. They took only the truck's keys and fled. Police charged all persons arrested, except juveniles, with failure to move on, subject to a maximum $200 fine. The city decided to stop dumping at the Alameda-Genoa site several weeks ago after 39 persons were arrested in two days. The main objection of North Loop residents, officials said, is that garbage from the affluent white sections of town is being hauled to a Negro area for disposal.

STERN TURNS 50 — Russian-born violinist Isacc Stern marks his 50th birthday today with a firm resolve to improve the arts through political action. "A birthday is really a small thing. What's important are war and people and smog and how societies express themselves through their art," says Stern. He will play Brahms Violin Concerto tonight at the Hollywood Bowl.

Dent Put In Texas Heat

By The Associated Press Cold air, moving into Texas, set two low temperature marks for July 21 today and equalled another with a major break in the weeks-long heat wave. One vicious and damaging thunderstorm broke out.

It was a fine day for weather-watchers as they saw the mercury drop, felt some showers fall and noted that a tropical storm was boiling up in the Gulf of Mexico. One record low for July 21 occurred at Wichita Falls in North Central Texas with a reading of 59 degrees. And Midland had a record low of 60 for the date. Waco equalled a record low for the date with a 58—matching a 1947 figure.

The severe thunderstorm struck Kilgore during the night, dumping 3.4 inches of rain and causing water to flood into several downtown stores. Several trees were uprooted by the high winds and some areas lost electrical service for a time. But although there were thunderstorms in many places, the only area where the rainfall was worth measuring was in East Texas. In addition to Kilgore, Longview received 2.30 inches and Tyler 1.21.

It was drizzly in the Panhandle around Amarillo this morning, and occasional light showers fell in Central and East Texas behind the front, which spread over the northern half of the state before dawn and eased on southward. Meanwhile a Weather Bureau advisory placed the center of Tropical Storm Becky at 270 miles south of Pensacola, Fla., in the Gulf of Mexico and churning toward the north about 10 miles per hour. Whether Becky would grow into a hurricane or head directly for the Texas Coast remained problematical. Observers tracked the poorly organized storm, with top winds of 55 m.p.h., as it progressed. Behind the cool front, temperatures near dawn dipped as low as 59 degrees at Amarillo, Childress and Lubbock while readings on the coast held as high as 78 at Palacios and 80 at Galveston.

AUSTIN (AP) — Dick McCollum, 10, died Monday in a traffic accident on Farm 2222. A witness said the boy was crossing the highway and, seeing a car coming, stepped into the path of a truck. The truck swerved and turned end over end and hit the youth.

Legislative Hams Might Hog Show?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted grudgingly to permit broadcasting of its public committee meetings, despite a warning that legislative hams might try to hog the show. By a 96-93 secret vote Monday, the House approved a provision allowing broadcasting under certain restrictions at the option of the committees. The provision is a part of a comprehensive congressional reorganization bill. Witnesses who objected to being the object of camera lenses could halt the procedure while they were on the stand. And the number of cameras, microphones and photographers allowed would be limited. Coverage of committee hearings by any of the news media would have to be in "strict conformity with and observance of the acceptable standards of dignity, propriety, courtesy and decorum traditionally observed by the House in its operations and public sessions." Present House rules have been interpreted to prohibit radio and television broadcasting of committee sessions. The proposed change would become effective with the 1971 session of the House, provided the Senate approves it and the bill becomes law. The Senate now allows broadcasting of committee meetings. The television provision would not apply to sessions of the full House. Still to be considered when the House resumes consideration of the bill—probably Wednesday—is an amendment allowing publication of the names of members voting on what now are non-record votes on many major amendments.

SEUL (AP) — U.S. plans to withdraw 20,000 troops from South Korea have brought on a political crisis in this Asian nation. Premier Chung Il-kwon says he and all 19 members of his Cabinet will resign if the cut is made. The reason is obvious. The South Koreans know North Korea has been adding to its military strength from their Communist suppliers, and they fear another invasion. The United States has 64,000 troops guarding an important sector of the line dividing the two Koreas. American troops have been stationed there since the Korean War ended 17 years ago with an armistice, not a peace treaty. While the South Korean army has been built up to about 550,000 men, and its morale is good, Korean officials say it must be refitted with more modern equipment to keep up with what North Korea is doing.

Top Koreans Will Resign If Cut Made

As If Mondays Aren't Bad Enough

What could be worse than going to work on Monday morning? Going to work and finding your office flooded, that's what.

Although it was clear and sunny outside, District Judge R. W. Caton and County Attorney Bill Eysen needed galoshes and umbrellas when they arrived for work at the County Courthouse Monday morning. A leak developed in a hot water pipe in Judge Caton's office ceiling over the weekend, and the water had gone through the flooring, flooding Eysen's second-floor office below. About two inches of water covered the floors in both offices and was running out into the halls. The water had damaged some law books and other effects on Judge Caton's desk and damaged the top of Eysen's desk and a calculator among other things that were on the desk when the waters began cascading down.

According to Judge Caton, Jerry Spence, court reporter, found that $500 worth of paper had been destroyed in the mini-flood. Spence's office is adjacent to the Judge's. Plumbers had to knock out the ceiling plaster in Judge Caton's office in order to get to the leak. "They found a hole in the pipe about the size of a matchstick," said Caton. No sooner had the plumbers laid bare the first leak when another one was discovered, according to Judge Caton.

The ceiling in Judge Caton's office will have to be replaced, telephones in both offices are out, and the conduits are flooded with water. Eysen's desk will have to be refinished and his calculator has been sent to the shop to "dry out," according to Eysen.

"You'd never believe what water can do. The hot water took the varnish off the arms and legs of the chairs and couches and cracked the veneer on the desks," Eysen said. All the furnishings in Eysen's office are his personal property. Judge Caton's main concern was for his law books. This morning it looked as though they had not suffered too much damage, but the books have still not dried completely.
