In statewide voting...

10 amendments passed

AUSTIN (AP) — New constitutional amendments approved by Texas voters will give veterans a break in buying their first home and make it harder for wayward parents to keep from making child support payments.

Ten of 11 proposed amendments to the state's constitution won approval in Tuesday's statewide election.

The only one to fail was proposal No. 8, which would have authorized tax-exempt status to certain veterans' and fraternal organizations. With all of the votes counted, it received 52.8 percent "no" votes.

Secretary of State John Fainter had closed the state's vote-tabulating machinery at midnight, saying he did not expect the uncounted votes to change any trends. Tabulation was resumed this morning.

Proposition No. 10, authorizing cities to relocate or replace sewers on private property, collecting the money from the property owner over a period of years, received 52.4 percent approval.

Voter turnout statewide, as predicted, was low. It was not expected to go above 13 percent when the final votes were counted today. But in Houston, voter interest was aroused by a mayor's race and a controversy over building a downtown convention center, and turnout there ran more than 36 percent of the registered voters.

State elections officials said the vote in Harris County accounted for nearly 40 percent of all the votes cast in the state Tuesday.

Texas voters gave the most lopsided amendment support to proposition No. 6, which would allow for the first time in Texas the garnishment of wages to make overdue child support payments. The new amendment received the approval of 79.3 percent of those voting Tuesday.

Attorney General Jim Mattox said ironically "it will probably have the greatest impact on people who are not voters — individuals who do not accept their responsibilities." He hailed it as an "extremely useful tool to enforce wayward parents into supporting their offspring."

The landslide victory of an amendment doubling the size of the Board of Pardons and Paroles and taking the governor out of the paroles process "surprised" prison reform activist Charlie Sullivan.

Band trip expenses explained

Snyder High School band director Sam Robertson explained to school board members Tuesday the reasoning behind the band's recent decision to exchange a planned spring contest trip for the upcoming Austin state marching competition.

The explanation was requested by Superintendent Bill J. Hood, who indicated that several parents had questioned why the school district would not be paying for the trip to Austin.

School board policy directs that the SHS band and choir alternate each year with a "major" trip, one which normally involves several miles travel plus overnight stays. Policy specifies that the students may not miss more than two days from school.

These are normally taken in the spring and the school budgets each year $2,000 for travel expenses. Funds required above this are traditionally provided through student fund raisers.

In the band's case, magazine subscriptions are sold, an activity Robertson estimated raises as much as $9,000.

This school year is the band's year to take a trip since the choir went to Colorado last spring.

Robertson said after he learned the SHS band had qualified for the state meet, he asked the band membership of some 190 students if they preferred to wait until spring or to take the Austin trip.

The overwhelming response, he said, was to compete at the state contest.

Regarding expenses for this, he estimated the trip would cost approximately $19,000 — a cost broken down into some $5,500 for overnight motel expenses, some $6,500 for meals plus the cost of five charter buses.

He said the band currently has some $9,000 in expense money already raised which, coupled with the budgeted $2,000, still leaves the group short some $8,000 in expenses.

Since the band still has fund raisers scheduled this See BAND, page 8

The feller on Deep Creek says, "You never know what makes some people tick until they start to unwind."

With the public television showing of The Chemical People and the organization of a Scurry County Parents Association, there has been awareness in Snyder's greatest asset—the young people.

Frankly, we're pretty impressed with the Snyder bunch. We happen to be in a business where we hear both the good and the bad about youth—and in Snyder there is lots more good news than bad news.

We also happen to see area newspapers, and the number of articles and pictures telling of youthful accomplishments are not as plentiful as in Snyder.

We've never kept record on the number of awards and other accomplishments earned by local kids—but it might be interesting.

There are times when parents must discipline children, and a fellow in the coffee shop brought up the subject last week. "When I was a youngster, my father sent me to my room to suffer in silence," he said. "But my daughter has her own telephone, color tv, video games, radio and stereo."

What is his solution? "I send her to my room."

Johnny Carson and wife, Joanna, are splitting. That's hardly news these days, but the poor gal may just starve. She's asking for $220,000 a month in temporary support while her divorce is pending.

The poor little thing. All she wants is enough to keep her in the style to which she became accustomed. Court documents reveal that in 1982 she had a personal allowance of $88,000.

I bet she doesn't even do windows.

CP spokesman asks two questions

At Tuesday's meeting, Snyder NAACP Chapter appeared before Snyder school board members Tuesday to ask two questions previously put to the board at the September meeting.

At the end of the regular meeting, Zurn inquired if any visions had been made regarding school district practices for minorities and the concept of "total integration" at elementary school level.

Board member J.D. Hinton, commenting regarding the hiring, said he felt district officials already attempt to hire the best staff personnel "regardless of color or creed."

As to the total integration concept — with the NAACP previously endorsing the one-grade, one-campus plan — the board said no further decisions had been made.

School Board President G.A. Parks Jr. commented, "I think we indicated this is something that has no short term solution."

At Tuesday's session, the board first considered a list of coach positions and the allowed out-of-district trips each would be authorized to take at school expense, a proposal prepared by members of the district's Athletic Review Committee.

For SHS head coaches, these trips were the Texas High School Coaching School, which includes both football and basketball all-star games each summer, plus one additional coaching clinic or the state meets in respective sports.

Assistant coaches — with the exception of the three varsity football assistants — and junior high coaches would be allowed the same schedule providing no school days were missed. Football assistant coaches would be given the same schedule as head coaches.

During discussion, Trustee J.D. Hinton pointed out that as currently outlined, the assistant coach would not be allowed to attend the state basketball tournament since this would entail missing regular school days.

Hinton said this would break a local tradition "going back 25 years" and indicated he felt a change in the proposed policy was needed regarding this.

Ways to word such a policy change — complicated by the fact that this would entail only one of several assistant coaches in both boys and girls athletics — prompted a board decision to table the action for further study and a final action at the December meeting.

Regarding the basketball schedules for 7th, 8th and 9th grade teams, Superintendent Bill J. Hood pointed out that as currently planned, the 8th and 9th grade teams had more games scheduled than allowed under current board policy.

For the 8th grade, this is directed to be a maximum of 12 games and two tournaments and, for the 9th grade, a maximum of 14 games and two tournaments.

He noted also the substantial distance of two 7th grade games scheduled at Andrews and Brownfield, both entailing more than 100 miles in travel one-way.

School board member Mike Reed commented, "We're up from zero to a big schedule." He was referring to the board's decision two years ago to change junior high basketball from intra-mural competition among home

Reagan meets with leader

TOKYO (AP) — President Reagan arrived in Tokyo this afternoon, met with the 82-year-old emperor of Japan, Hirohito, and then sparred with Japanese Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone on the contentious issue of U.S.-Japanese trade.

A senior administration official said Reagan pointed out in a meeting with Nakasone "the effect that failure to solve (the trade issues) would have on our political relationship."

But there was no indication after the meeting that progress was made, and the official, speaking on condition he not be identified by name, told reporters, "We never had any expectation that in this visit the president was going to become a trade negotiator."

Factions agreeing to truce

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Syrian-backed guerrilla mutineers shelled PLO loyalists in northern Lebanon today despite announcement of a cease-fire, while U.S. Marines traded fire with gunmen at their base at Beirut airport.

Beirut radio stations said Israeli air force jets made repeated reconnaissance flights over Beirut and surrounding hills at midmorning.

Reporters in Tripoli, where PLO chief Yasser Arafat has been cornered by the seven-day assault, said the attack on his forces was raging when Kuwait minister Sheikh Sabah al-Ahmed announced that Arab mediators had tentatively convinced the Palestine Liberation Organization rivals to cease their warfare.

Jurors acquit black engineer

DALLAS (AP) — A 25-year-old black engineer was arrested and charged with robbing a Garland 7-Eleven store of $31 after a Greenville police detective distributed his picture to other authorities, hugged jurors Tuesday after the verdict.

Civil rights attorneys contended that Lt. James Fortenberry was suspicious of Williams only because the former E-Systems Inc. engineer is black, drove a car with South Carolina license plates around Greenville and lived with another robbery suspect.

"If I ran into Lt. Fortenberry, I'd probably shake his hand," Williams said after his acquittal. "I don't feel animosity toward anyone."

Police and prosecutors, he said, "had a job to do and they thought what they were doing was right. When it comes right down to the jury — that's where it really counts."

Williams' supporters, many of them from South Carolina, cheered as State District Judge Ed Kinkeade read the verdict, which jurors said was reached after two hours of discussion and one ballot. Some of the jurors, and Williams' mother, cried.

Williams said he believed his arrest and indictment "was motivated from racial prejudice (in) Greenville. I'm not down on Greenville as a whole, but there's always at least one bad apple."

In closing arguments, NAACP attorney George Hairston told jurors national attention had been focused on Dallas County and its judicial system.

"This case is being watched by the whole country," Hairston said. "They are watching what you do about a $30 robbery where there's a black man accused. They want to know whether Dallas renders blind justice, equal justice."

After the verdict, the Brooklyn, N.Y. attorney said, "My faith in the Dallas County judicial system has been affirmed. I'm just sorry Anthony had to go through this long ordeal."

Williams, who was arrested about a year ago, spent one month in jail before being released on bond.

Defense attorney Edwin Sigel said the verdict will help NAACP attorneys in their appeal of a life sentence given William's roommate, Lenell Geter.

Geter, who moved with Williams from South Carolina last year to work for E-Systems 50 miles northeast of Dallas, was convicted of robbing a fried chicken restaurant in 1982.

In scrimmage...

SHS play encouraging

Snyder's girls have come a long way and still have a winding road in front of them, but don't look for a repeat of the 1982-83 season.

The girls were blanked in District 2-4A play a year ago. From all indications Tuesday, that won't happen in 1983-84.

"I think we've progressed quite a bit," said Coach Ken Housden, after the varsity scrimmage with Roscoe.

"We looked real well at times and there were times when we didn't look so well. We've still got a lot of work to do on our ball handling in the back court and our freethrow shooting (13 of 30) was terrible. But we're coming along."

The bright spots in Snyder's play were made even brighter when one considers who the Tigers were scrimmaging against.

"They (Roscoe) have all their kids back and they were in the playoffs last year," said Housden. "They've got a good team. I was encouraged."

Duran vs Hagler...

Usual business for big fight

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) - Marvelous Marvin Hagler and Roberto Duran staged the usual pre-fight press conference with the usual gestures and threats, the usual disdain for the opponent and the usual demands to stage the bout right here and now.

It is, well, business as usual for a big fight.

"Somehow, they will control themselves and keep this $20-million bout on hold until Thursday night when Hagler defends his undisputed middleweight championship against Duran."

The promotion put together by Top Rank and Caesars Palace has a huge revenue potential for the middleweight division. Hagler is guaranteed $5 million and percentages of other income could push his total to $8 million. Duran has a lower guarantee of about $1.5 million, but his percentage trigger comes more quickly.

Martinez and senior letterman Andrina Kitchens. Karlene Thompson, a sophomore who played freshman ball last year, fills out the squad.

Housden also played sophomore Rena Alexander and freshman Stephanie McKnight in the varsity and junior varsity scrimmage. He said both girls would be junior varsity members this season, however.

"Our junior varsity is mostly freshmen and some of them haven't worked out but about four times," said the coach. "I was also pleased with the effort they gave."

Snyder will scrimmage Borden County at 4 and 5:45 next Tuesday at the Snyder High School Gym.

The season opens Nov. 22 in Brownfield.

annual Harvey Penick Intercollegiate Golf Tournament.

Chamblee's seven-under-par score matched Tom Kite's record set in 1971. Chamblee made eight birdies on his round but three-putted the 18th hole at the Morris Williams Golf Course for his only bogey of the day.

The 65 and an opening 69 left Chamblee at 134, one shot ahead of Chip Craig of Houston and Philip Jonas of Lamar. John Slaughter of Houston had a 66 for the day's second-best round and was two strokes off the pace at 136. Billy Ray Brown of Houston, whose 67 on Monday tied him for individual honors with Craig, shot a 70 Tuesday and was tied with Philip Parkin of Texas A&M at 137.

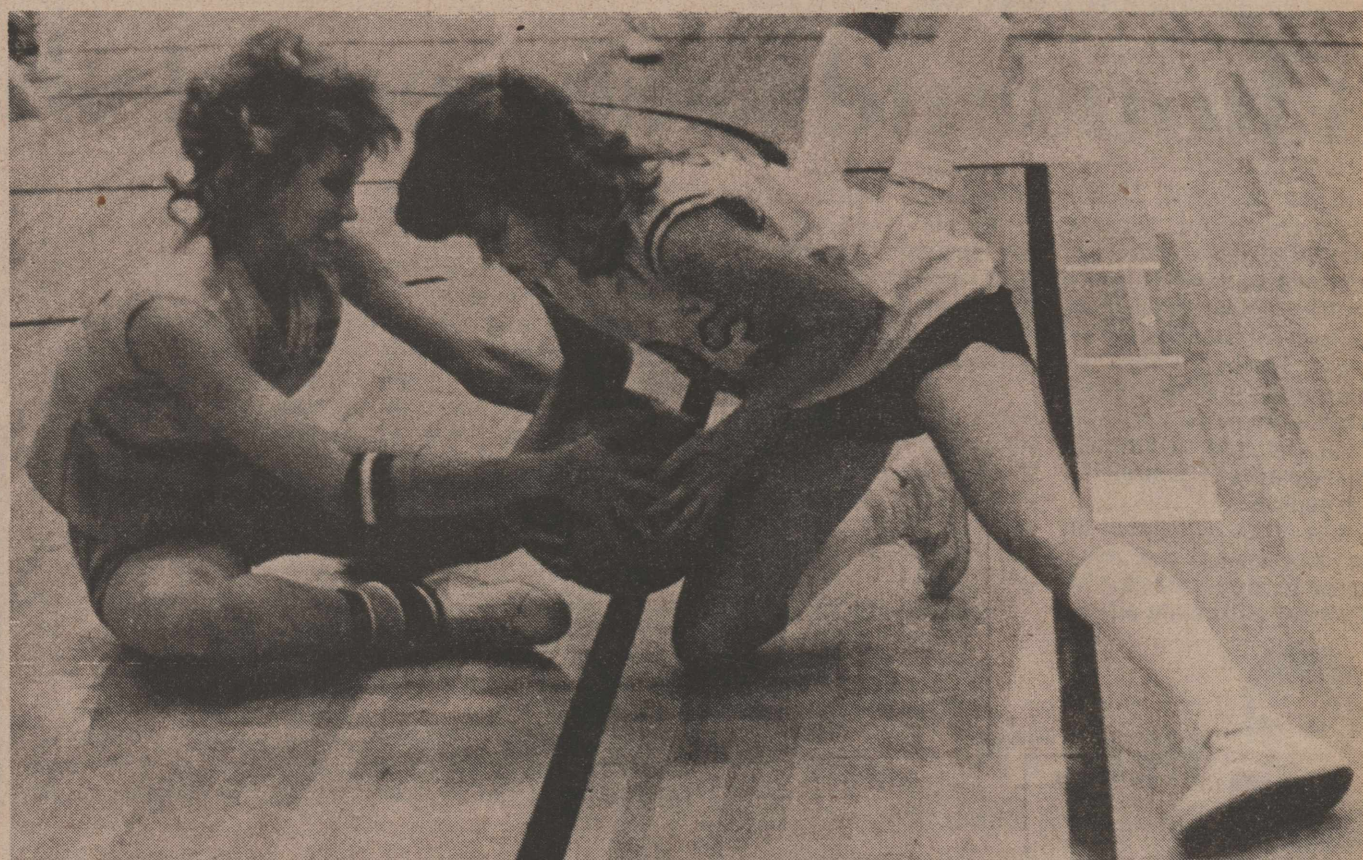

Houston started the day tied for the team lead with Lamar, but picked up five strokes on the Cardinals Tuesday.

The Cougars had a team total of 699 through 36 holes, followed by Texas at 702, and Lamar at 704. It was eight shots to the next closest teams, Florida and Houston Baptist, which were at 712.

HOUSTON (AP) - Running back Earl Campbell, who said after he was benched Sunday that he has no future with the Houston Oilers, says he hasn't changed his mind and has asked the team to trade him.

Campbell said during the Tuesday morning filming of "The Earl Campbell Show," which airs Saturday on KPRC-TV, that he wants to play the last year of his National Football League contract with another team.

"It was pretty obvious what I said over the weekend, that I think the best thing would be for me to be out of here as far as playing football with the Houston Oilers," Campbell said. "Even this morning I still feel that way."

"The writing was on the wall a long time ago," Campbell said. "I hope the Houston Oiler organization will follow up on it. That would be best for all of us."

Campbell complained bitterly when he was benched Sunday during a 55-14 loss to the Bengals.

"I guess my future with this team is no place," he said. "I wouldn't treat a dog the way they treated me today."

Campbell was pulled from the game late in the third quarter with Houston trailing 41-0. The loss was the Oilers' 17th in a row and made the team 0-10 this season.

Head Coach Chuck Studley said he made the move to protect Campbell from injury.

Campbell said he respects Studley and thinks he is doing a good job.

"I'm just one of those individuals in America, that it's time they get a new address," he said.

Studley took over the head coaching job midway through the season, when Ed Biles resigned the post.

Campbell, who won the Heisman Trophy in 1977 at the University of Texas, was the first pick in the NFL draft the next year. He led the league in rushing each of his first three seasons, gaining 1,934 yards in 1980.

Springs now 'brightest spot'

DALLAS (AP) - Last year running back Ron Springs was a moody, inconsistent performer who was criticized by Coach Tom Landry for a lack of blocking prowess.

This year Springs, relaxed by a new contract and more responsibility, has turned into the Dallas Cowboys' top offensive player.

Landry made it official Tuesday.

"Springs has been the brightest spot on the team," Landry said. "He has confidence in what he can do. He's our most consistent performer."

Springs has a team-high 47 pass receptions, has rushed 106 times for 414 yards, has thrown a 15-yard touchdown pass to quarterback Danny White and has blocked well for Tony Dorsett.

"Ron was determined to prove himself this year," Landry said. "There was some negative feedback about his blocking last year but he has overcome that."

"He is an excellent pass receiver and runner and has developed into a good blocker."

The Cowboys take their come-from-behind act to San Diego Sunday. Dallas has rallied to win all nine games.

"This team has a lot of confidence it can do the job," Landry said.

Dallas trailed its opponents 71-41 in the first quarter but has outscored them 105-41 in the final period.

Thousands see newest shuttle arrive at base

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Low clouds prevented the crew of America's newest space shuttle, Discovery, from making a scheduled swing over Dallas, but an estimated 100,000 people were able to see the arrival of the mammoth spacecraft at Carswell Air Force Base.

The craft, scheduled for its first mission next May, came in atop a Boeing 747 Tuesday afternoon after a piggyback flight from California. Carswell was the second stop for the Discovery, which is being transported to Kennedy Space Center at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

"The shuttles each cost about a billion dollars, all taxpayers' money. So we want to let people take a look at what they bought," said Dr. John Lawrence, of the Johnson Space Center in Houston.

"Besides, this is an extraordinary machine, a huge piece of architecture, on the forefront of technology and we're very proud of it," he said.

"If Apollo and Gemini were the Lewis and Clark expedition of space, then the shuttles are our Conestoga wagons, designed to make space habitable and industrialized," Lawrence said.

Carswell officials estimated that as many as 100,000 had the chance to view the shuttle as it flew in, many from vantage points on the city's hilly west side.

The Discovery, 122.2 feet long with a wingspan of 78 feet, is the third of four space shuttle orbiters to join the NASA fleet of reusable manned spacecraft. The other operational orbiters are Columbia and Challenger.

"It's a lot bigger than I thought," said Scott Montgomery, 13. I'd really like to see it again some time, and I'm going to Florida this spring to watch it take off."

On board the 747 that carried the shuttle was a crew of five that included research pilot A.J. Roy, who flew the 747, and Astronaut Richard Scobee, the pilot for today's leg to the Kennedy Space Center and a member of the crew for shuttle Mission 13 late in 1984.

Also on board was Astronaut Gordon Fullerton, 47, who was flying as an observer, and flight engineers, Ken Haugen, 53, Skip Guidry, 42, Victor Horton, 53.

Roy described the flight as "smooth" but said low clouds prevented the crew from making a scheduled swing over Dallas.

Fullerton, training at the American Airlines flight school to qualify on 747s, said he "got a little stick-time" Tuesday when Roy allowed him to take the controls of the 747 during a smooth leg of the trip.

The 14-year NASA veteran piloted the March 1982 Columbia shuttle mission. He said, "The challenge for the shuttle program now is to refine the operation so that we can turn an orbiter around and meet a schedule whenever a customer wants us."

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Retiring from life

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband is 65 years old and he retired this past year. He didn't just retire from his job, he retired from life.

He has no inclination to do anything but sit or lie around and watch TV. He won't even stir to get a snack if he can get me to bring it to him. I think he is getting progressively weaker and out of shape. He is getting old before his time. I'd like to see him take daily walks and use his time to improve his level of fitness.

I've tried to tell him that inactivity is bad for your health. That doesn't impress him. I've read in your column that bed rest is bad for a person. Well, how about "couch rest?" Since I can't seem to enlighten him, maybe you can.

DEAR READER — There may be more than one thing affecting your husband. He may be depressed. That sometimes occurs when a person retires. The depression saps his will to do anything.

But to answer your question: Yes, inactivity can lead to health problems. It is true that "if you don't use it, you lose it." If you lie down all the time, your body loses its normal water content and you are more prone to fainting when you stand up. That is exactly why doctors try to get their patients out of bed as soon as possible, if their condition permits, and to keep them active.

Prolonged rest will lead to loss of calcium from the bones as well. It all seems like a vicious cycle: The less active you are, the more inactive you become. You have to break the lethargy cycle and get moving.

I'm sending you The Health Letter 6-6, Effects of Inactivity, Including Bed Rest, which your husband should read. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Jobs that don't provide much physical activity also lead to deconditioning of the body and loss of energy. The problem is not just in patients or older people. It applies to many office workers and professionals or executives. A daily walk is a good place to start, and from there, one's level of regular physical activity can be increased.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I contracted herpes a year ago. The first time I had blisters and they took about a month to go away. It was very painful.

Six weeks ago I had my second attack. But I do not have sores — rather, they look like hanging growths. There are no blisters, no sores, and they are not painful or bothersome at all.

I have met a man I would like to marry, but I cannot marry him knowing these attacks will last six weeks or longer. He does not have herpes and I'd like to keep it that way.

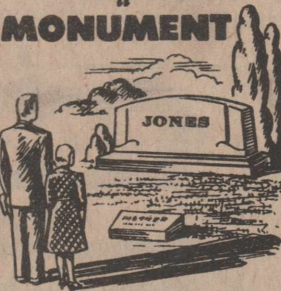

DEAR READER — Perhaps your diagnosis is wrong. Your present condition may not be herpes at all. Your description sounds much more like venereal warts. That is a poor term for them, because they are not always contracted from sexual contact.

Before making any decisions, why don't you find out what you really have? Go see your family physician or your gynecologist. Venereal warts are often difficult to treat but they are not the same problem as herpes.

And remember that since you have had herpes, you can have another attack and can be contagious, particularly at that time.

It was the final round of the 1952 National Men's Team Championships of the ACBL.

West was one of the great all-time players. His team led going into this final session. This particular event was played at board-a-match scoring. A plus score for a board wins one point, a minus score gets a zero and a tie gets half a point.

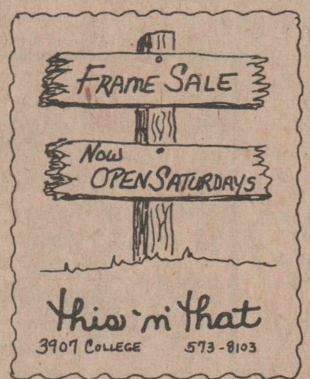

South found himself in a slightly optimistic slam. East won the first trick with the ace of hearts and led back a heart to South's king. Now South called for the queen of spades from dummy.

We'll let world class expert West describe what happened at this point.

"I heard a voice say, 'The lead's in your own hand.' I looked around to see who had said it and suddenly realized that the voice was mine."

The rule is that declarer must lead the same suit from his own hand, so naturally enough he played his ace, dropped the expert's singleton king and was the only declarer to make that spade slam. The slam was not bid at the other table in the match so it was a swing of one full board, but to show that justice doesn't always triumph, the team that lost the board still won the event.

Black-eye peas stir-fried with vegetables

By Cecily Brownstone
AP Food Editor

In the past dozen years or so, the Chinese stir-fry technique has greatly influenced American cooks.

This comment is occasioned by the following recipe for Black-eye Peas and Stir-fry Vegetables, to which we were recently introduced.

Up to now, dry black-eye peas were most often used in a traditional way — cooked with rice and pork to make a delicious Southern dish that goes far back in American culinary history. In recent years the peas have been given wider use — in fritters and croquettes; as stuffing for tortillas; in casseroles; and in salads.

But now an enterprising cook has added them to a stir-fry dish of onion, sweet red or green peppers, zucchini and fresh tomato wedges. The combination makes a good vegetarian main dish or a side dish to accompany poultry, fish or meat.

BLACK-EYE PEAS
STIR-FRY

VEGETABLES
2 tablespoons full-flavored olive oil
¼ cup parsley leaves, finely chopped
1 clove garlic, finely chopped

1 medium (4 ounces) onion, thinly sliced (1 loosely packed scant cup)
1 medium (4 ounces) sweet red or green pepper, seeded and thinly sliced (1 loosely packed scant cup)
Two 7-inch long zucchini (each 4 ounces), thinly sliced (1½ to 2 loosely packed cups)

1 large (8 ounces) red-ripe tomato, cored and cut into 16 wedges
¼ teaspoon crushed dry thyme

16-ounce can cooked dry black-eye peas, drained (1 and 2-3rds cups), see Note

Salt and pepper to taste
In a 10-inch skillet over moderate heat, heat the oil. Add the parsley, garlic, onion, red pepper and zucchini. Cook, stirring often, until the zucchini is crisp-tender — a matter of minutes.

Stir in tomatoes and thyme and heat, stirring often.

Fold in the black-eye peas and the salt and pepper; heat, stirring carefully once or twice, so as not to break up the peas. Serve at once.

Makes 6 servings.

Note: You may want to cook a batch of dry black-eye peas and use 1 and 2-3rd cups of them for this stir-fry dish — they should be tender but not mushy. One cup of the dry black-eye peas will yield 2 to 2½ cups of cooked peas. The leftover peas not used in this dish will taste good added to rice and such cooked vegetables as spinach or collard greens.

Mondale-Bentsen are top choices

AUSTIN (AP) — A Democratic ticket of former Vice President Walter Mondale and Sen. Lloyd Bentsen is favored by four of Texas' top officials, the Bryan-College Station Eagle said Tuesday.

The newspaper said a survey showed Attorney General Jim Mattox, Comptroller Bob Bullock and Land Commissioner Garry Mauro support Mondale.

Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower refused to make a public statement on the campaign but indicated privately he is a strong backer of former Vice President Mondale, the Eagles said.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby actively supports Sen. John Glenn as his state chairman.

Gov. Mark White and State Treasurer Ann Richards are uncommitted.

"All of the statewide officeholders said Bentsen, who is considered high on Mondale's list of prospective vice presidential nominees, would make an excellent running mate to the party's nominee," the Eagle said.

"Other elected officials in Texas, congressmen and state legislators who are leaning toward or already supporting a candidate are divided between Mondale and Glenn," the newspaper said.

The story said virtually all elected Republican officials are expected to support President Ronald Reagan should he decide to seek re-election. Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, the only Republican holding a statewide position is chairman of the Reagan campaign in Texas.

The Eagle said that although White says he will be uncommitted until after the May primaries "he is already pointing out the differences between Reagan and the two leading Democrats."

teams to the out-of-county competition.

Due to the difficulty of finding other AAAA competition near Snyder other than Sweetwater or Big Spring, it was noted that the schedule problems entail "cutting back on games or traveling a long way."

Regarding "too many" games at the 8th and 9th grade level, trustees directed Hood to address this since board regulations already specify "number of games."

The board also indicated they felt travel distance for 7th grade games should when possible be kept to shorter distances.

Concerning game passes, the board approved a recommendation that school district staff — professional and non-professional — be given free passes to all athletic events with the exception of varsity football games.

Varsity football was omitted, it was noted, since such passes might interfere with reserved seating as well as the conflict of a UIL rule specifying that gate money receipts for such games must be shared with the visiting school.

Free passes will be given for varsity basketball games and other athletic events where admission is charged, however.

Cash taken from vehicle

Scurry County sheriff's office personnel are investigating a misdemeanor theft reported Saturday at the Oasis Trailer Park.

According to reports, a cigar box containing an undetermined amount of change was taken from a car owned by David Ryan. The vehicle was parked beside the Ryan residence in the trailer park.

The change is seen as a way to allow the faculty and staff "to show support for the student athletes." The change was recommended by the Athletic Review Committee.

The school board also went into executive session around 9:30 p.m. Tuesday after regular business was concluded. They came back into open session shortly after 10:30 p.m. with no action taken following the closed meeting.

In other school business Tuesday, trustees voted to:

—Accept the resignation of Collye Hickman, MR aide at West Elementary.

—Authorize the hiring of Phyllis Johnston for the aide post at West.

—Change the meeting dates during December, January and February to the second Monday of the month to avoid a conflict with Tuesday night SHS basketball games.

—Meet in special session at noon Dec. 12 for the annual evaluation of the school superintendent.

Two collisions end local chase

A local driver was involved in two minor traffic mishaps before being stopped by pursuing police after a brief chase here Tuesday night.

According to police accounts, local officers first attempted to stop Robert Paul Stiles, 3111 Ave. T, around 11:15 p.m. on West 25th St. Stiles, driving a 1981 Oldsmobile, led officers on a chase east to the 600 Block of the East Highway and then back west on 26th St.

The pursuit ended at 11:17 p.m. when the Stiles vehicle struck a tree and fence in the yard of the Sterling Williams residence in the 2800 Block of 26th St.

During the course of the chase, Stiles was also involved in a collision in the 600 Block of the East Highway with a 1984 Chevrolet pickup driven by Billy Joe Brown of 2008 Ave. O.

referendum on the prison reform question. We are entering a new era of criminal justice in this state. I'm surprised at the overwhelming support it got," said Sullivan, director of the Citizens United for the Rehabilitation of Errants, a prison reform group.

Rep. Bill Hollowell, D-Grand Saline, said Texans made an "enlightened decision" in approving his amendment to keep the Legislature intact in case of enemy attack. It also gives the governor the power to move the Legislature's meeting place away from Austin if war makes it necessary. Hollowell said the site was unspecified, by design.

"If we were subject to a missile attack, you wouldn't want to broadcast where you're moving your seat of government," he said.

Veterans who have been able to borrow up to $20,000 to buy rural land can now apply the money instead toward purchase of their first home if they choose, as a result of Tuesday's election. It was a pet project of Land Commissioner Garry Mauro.

"Texans have shown they are willing to help our Texas veterans help themselves," he said.

Here are the other proposed amendments, with the percentage of votes they received:

—No. 4, to establish a system that would keep the Legislature intact after an enemy attack, 61.5 percent approval.

—No. 11, giving the Board of Pardons and Paroles the exclusive right to determine which inmates should be paroled and taking the final authority away from the governor, 68 percent.

—No. 7, allowing the Veterans' Land Board to issue $500 million in state bonds to establish a Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund for mortgages, 70.5 percent.

—No. 5, to permit the Legislature to take money from the Available School Fund (which is the interest earned on the Permanent School Fund) to guarantee local school bonds, 63 percent.

—No. 2, replacing the $10,000 limit on urban homestead exemptions with a one-acre limit, 61.7 percent.

—No. 1, to allow counties with less than 30,000 population to have fewer than the four justices of the peace now required, 77.8 percent.

—No. 3, authorizing the Legislature to allow commodity boards to collect product assessments to help promote the commodity, 65.2 percent.

—No. 9, authorizing the Legislature to allow probate court judges to substitute for county judges in probate matters, 68.7 percent.

probate matters: 359 for; 173 against.

—No. 10, which would authorize cities to relocate or replace sewers on private property, collecting the money from the property owner over a period of years: 261 for; 282 against.

—No. 11, giving the Board of Pardons and Paroles the exclusive right to determine which inmates should be paroled and taking the final authority away from the governor: 345 for; 197 against.

Hermleigh adds tax district vote

Hermleigh school board members Tuesday approved a resolution to cast all of its 70 votes for Scurry County Appraisal District board nominee Bill Hairston.

The rural school district became the third of five member entities to complete voting. Monday, the Ira school board cast 185 votes for nominee Pete Hester, an incumbent board member, and the City of Snyder split its 259 votes with 129½ each for nominees Hairston and John Reed.

The Snyder school board voted Tuesday to postpone its final voting decision until a special 4 p.m. meeting next Monday. The Scurry County commissioners court is still to vote also.

The school district has 2,918 votes and the county 1,568 based upon their respective tax rolls in 1982. Voting must be completed before next Tuesday, Nov. 15.

Other nominees to the board include three remaining incumbents to include Ross Blanchard, Billy Huddleston and Kenneth Wilson.

Dear Abby

Twinkle-Toed Husband Steps All Over Wife

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1983 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are 70 and retired. Our hobby is dancing. So many of our contemporaries have taken to their rocking chairs that we are thrown together with younger people at our favorite club—where we dine and dance several nights a week.

It seems my husband has become infatuated with a young (to us), 40-year-old, married, sexy, uninhibited psychologist with whom he loves to dance. When they end a dance together, she clasps her hands around his neck and looks adoringly into his eyes as he holds her close for a very long time. Meanwhile everyone sees this.

When these two say good night, there are long, lingering hugs and kisses. In spite of my tears and pleading, my husband continues to carry on this way with her. Her husband just laughs and doesn't seem to care.

Well, I care. How can I cope with this situation, which has depressed me for over a year? My husband is a wonderful man and he doesn't lack for affection at home, but I can't handle this. I've been to two marriage counselors without success. Now what?

HURTING IN N.Y.

DEAR HURTING: You say you have been to two marriage counselors without success? What about your "wonderful" husband? If he hasn't gone, he should wait over to a family therapist. He needs to hear from a professional that his inappropriate public behavior is humiliating his wife and undermining her health. And don't rule out the possibility that his cruelty could be due to a physical or mental abnormality, in which case he needs to see his physician.

Teen charged in grisly slaying

BELLEVUE, Ky. (AP) — A teen-ager who wanted "to know what it felt like to kill" after a romance went sour slashed a 68-year-old man's throat, poured acid on the body and left the blood-smeared words "helter skelter" on the victim's bedroom mirror, police say.

William Thompson, 19, of Dayton, Ky., faced arraignment today on a murder charge. Thompson told police that he killed Cecil Brown, a retired shoe repairman, because Thompson was angry with his girlfriend for leaving him, Police Chief Elmer Corbin said.

"He vented his anger and frustration on the old man, is what it amounted to," Corbin said.

Police said Thompson wrote the words "helter skelter" — misspelling the word "skelter" — on a bathroom mirror, using lipstick he found in the apartment. Then he wrote the words again on a bedroom mirror, this time using the victim's blood, Corbin said.

Police said they also found a teddy bear stuck to the wall with a steak knife. Corbin said the assailant walked into Brown's apartment and picked up a butcher knife, held Brown by the hair and slashed his throat three times.

He then dragged Brown down the hall to the apartment of Thompson's former girlfriend's sister while he was still alive, Corbin said. However, no one was home at the time.

"He stabbed him several more times and left the knife in the body," Corbin said. Two bottles of sulfuric acid were poured over Brown's body.

Paul Scarberry, a friend, said he persuaded Thompson to surrender after Thompson confided to him about the murder Sunday night.

Auto damage is reported

Police were notified of a felony criminal mischief incident at 9:42 a.m. Monday involving a local woman's auto. The vehicle, owned by Jackie Moody of Snyder, sustained damages in excess of $750.

Detectives arrested 48-year-old Bobby Dale Payne of Odessa in connection with the case and he was later indicted by the November session of the Scurry County Grand Jury.

Bomb aftermath...

U.S. Capitol not so open now

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Capitol will remain open to visitors despite a bomb blast that ripped through a Senate corridor, but a top security official says tourists face strict new security measures because "times are different now."

Senate Sergeant-at-Arms Larry E. Smith said Tuesday the public immediately will discover fewer open entrances, more metal detectors and once-public areas declared off-limits. Eventually, tourists will be issued identification badges.

While Smith and congressional leaders worked on the new measures, senators debated a military spending bill over the whine of electric saws and the scraping of shovels sweeping up broken glass.

And throughout the day, Capitol Police special squads dashed through the building checking out phony bomb threats, "most of them crank calls," Smith said.

The bomb exploded late Monday night on the second floor, causing no injuries or structural damage, but nearly wiping out a large section of a corridor just outside the Senate chamber.

The "Armed Resistance Unit," the group claiming responsibility for the blast, sent National Public Radio's Washington Bureau a "communique" condemning U.S. policies.

"We attacked the U.S. government to retaliate against imperialist aggression that has sent the Marines, the CIA and the Army to invade sovereign nations, to trample and lay waste to the lives and rights of the peoples of Grenada, Lebanon, El Salvador and Nicaragua," said the message, which arrived Tuesday.

"We purposely aimed our attack at the institutions of imperialist rule rather than at individual members of the ruling class and government. We did not choose to kill any of them at this time. But their lives are not sacred...."

Despite the group's contention that it did not wish to kill anyone, the Senate had initially expected to be in session at about 11 p.m. Monday night — when the blast sent debris flying through the Republicans' inner sanctum meeting room in back of the chamber.

"It could have been crowded with people watching the Monday night football game between votes," said Sen. Jeremiah Denton, R-Ala.

Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker Jr., R-Tenn., said there would have been "grave injury ...

and, perhaps, loss of life to senators and staff."

Theodore M. Gardner, the special agent in charge of the FBI's Washington Field Office, said the blast was caused by a "high explosive device with a delayed timing." Baker press spokesman Tom Griscom said "it was a wristwatch timer."
