Iran Expected To Accept New Oil Note

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — A highly placed government source predicted today that Premier Mohammed Mossadegh would not reject the new British and American notes on the British-Iranian oil dispute but would insist again on payment of $37,200,000 in disputed oil royalties as a preliminary condition to a settlement.

The source said Mossadegh had talked over all aspects of the oil question for three hours today with Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi and the ruler had urged the premier against any "drastic" action at this time.

This apparently referred to Mossadegh's threat to break diplomatic relations with Britain or withdraw his envoys from London unless the British accepted his last demands unconditionally.

Eden and Acheson in their reply had ignored these last conditions, chief among which was the royalty demand, and stood on the previous offer by Prime Minister Churchill and President Truman.

The two foreign ministers spelled out, however, their agreement to several long standing Iranian demands which were regarded here as concessions to Mossadegh. These included recognition of Iran's oil nationalization and acknowledgement of Iran's freedom to sell oil anywhere and operate her oil industry with whatever personnel she wished.

Miners May Favor Adlai

CINCINNATI (AP) — John L. Lewis is liable to make it a grand slam today for labor organizations favoring Democrat Adlai Stevenson over Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Lewis opened the 41st convention of his United Mine Workers but held his own counsel on his 1952 presidential choice.

It was expected, however, he will either go along with the AFL and CIO in endorsing Stevenson, or take a neutral position. The miners union chief has blasted Eisenhower as representing "the specially privileged group of oppressive exploiters."

Lewis was suffering from a bad cold on his arrival but this wasn't considered enough of an obstacle to cause the old warrior of labor battles to hide his political leanings in a keynote speech to nearly 3,000 miners' convention delegates.

It must be said in connection with a possible Lewis endorsement for Democrat Stevenson that the miners haven't always taken his political gospel too seriously. And Lewis - favored candidates haven't fared too well. Lewis was for Willkie in 1940 and against the Democrats in 1944 and 1948, but they all proved to be Democratic years.

Minimum Age For Draft Exams Off

AUSTIN (AP) — The minimum age for draft physical examinations in Texas was lowered today by one month.

State Selective Service Headquarters authorized local boards to order examinations for men 19 years and 11 months old. The former minimum was 20 years.

"We are lowering the minimum age level just as a safety measure," Lt. Col. Morris S. Schwartz, deputy state director, said.

"The manpower situation is getting tight enough that we are afraid some local boards might not have enough men if we held to the 20 - year minimum."

Local boards are required to send all those 21 and over first, then dip into the 20-year-old group, then below 20 if necessary.

The order will be effective with the November physical examination call. Examination of 7,655 Texas men has been ordered for that month. The November induction quota is 2,802.

Chief Insists Fires Can Be Prevented

Fire is often preventable — but how often can it be afforded?

That is the question that Pampa Fire Chief Ernest Winborne asks during Fire Prevention Week Oct. 5-11.

Fire can strike anywhere — home, office, school, church. But, with precautions, it can happen far more seldom.

Winborne lists five axioms to remember. Remain calm. Call fire department at once. Clear home of building of all persons. Use available fire-fighting equipment till fire department arrives. To prevent fire is to safeguard against death or injury by fire.

If it comes from a hardware store we have it. Lewis Hardware.

TIGHT SQUEEZE — Les Kreis, driver of the truck moving the Cabot hangar from the municipal airport to Perry LeFors Field, the new county airport, is having a hard time squeezing the hangar between fences on either side of Allen Street. After Kreis made it through Allen as far as Doucette, he was to go from there across the creek bed east of the municipal swimming pool, out past Fairview Cemetery and on to 21st Street and the airport. The hangar is 50 feet wide and Allen Street measures about 20 feet. (News Photo)

Stevenson Accuses General Of Giving Comfort To Russ

By The Associated Press

Gov. Adlai Stevenson, taking off on the first leg of a five-day, seven-state campaign swing, today accused Gen. Dwight Eisenhower of giving "comfort" to Russia by labelling American prosperity a war prosperity.

The Democratic candidate teed off on Eisenhower, his Republican opponent, as the general moved through the Pacific Northwest engaged in a long-range verbal duel with President Truman over public power.

"When the general speaks of our prosperity as being war-born, who can gain comfort except the Soviets, who shout to the world that we have undertaken our defense program, not to insure peace, but to prevent a depression at home by waging war abroad?" Stevenson said in a speech prepared for delivery at Saginaw, Mich.

Instead, he said our "high standard of living has been mainbreak, not beacuse of the defense break, not because of the defens program but in spit of it."

Major Speech Set

With election day exactly four weeks away, all candidates and their major supporters were on the move. Sen. John Sparkman, Democratic vice paresidential nominee, campaigned in West Virginia, planning a major address Tuesday night at Huntington Vir- Richard Nixon, his GOP opposite number, toured by train throuh Ohio. Sen. Robert Taft stumped for the GOP ticket in Illinois and Sen. Estes Kefauver addressed Democratic campaign rallies at San Bernardino and San Diego, Calif.

Eisenhower, in recent days concentrating on a feud with Truman over which party would do the most for the Pacific Northwest in water power development, campaigned in Oregon and Washington. Truman was in Colorado.

Monday night in Seattle, Eisenhower turned thumbs down on federally controlled Columbia be something like the Tennessee Valley Authority. He called instead for more local control of western reclamation and power projects.

The President, in Glenwood Springs, Colo., said a proposed Colorado River storage project would do much for the area, but before it is approved it must have a White House okay. He said Stevenson's decision "won't be dictated by the private power lobby," but added: "That's a lot more than I can say for the Republican candidate."

Eisenhower said the Republicans originatel the reclamation program 50 years ago and came out for more development of the Pacific Northwest — "by sharing of effort, rather than by its concentration in Washington."

Truman also single out three new GOP targets—Sen. Joesph R. McCarthy, Wisconsin, William Jenner, Indiana, and James P. Kem, Missouri, as men who along with Taft, have taken over

CANDIDATES FOR MISS GRAY COUNTY—As final judging time for Miss Gray County Queen Contest of the county's 50th birthday celebration nears, two more contestants have been announced. Miss Jan Allen of Quail will be sponsored by the Wellington Chamber of Commerce and Miss Joan Stephens of Shamrock will represent the St. Patrick's Day Association of that city. The queen will be selected from a group of 37 girls to appear on the Chamber of Commerce float in the parade at 2:30 p.m. next Monday and in formal evening dresses on the stage of the junior high school auditorium at 7 p.m. the same day. The winner will be awarded an all-expense trip to the Dallas State Fair the week end following the contest. No admission will be charged for the presentation of the candidates.

Court Throws Out Lefors Coach Case

Frank Sonntag ousted Lefors football coach, is still out a job again and is entitled to no damages so far as the courts of Texas are concerned.

The Court of Civil Appeals in Amarillo Monday upheld the decision of Judge Lewis M. Goodrich in throwing the case out of court because Sonntag failed to appeal the Lefors School Board action through the proper school authorities.

The court said in its decision the school board had a right to terminate his contract and none of its members is subject to suit for damages.

Sonntag was dismissed late in 1951 following difficulties with other schools over his alleged actions at football games. A protest over eligibility of two Canadian players brought matters to a head in Lefors; school authorities

Chest X-Ray Unit To Set Up Sunday

A mass chest X-ray unit will be set up Sunday in the local J. C. Penney store for free service to area residents next Monday through Saturday.

To be here at the invitation of the Gray County Medical Association, the unit and technical operators are in Lefors and McLean this week.

A steering committee, composed of members of the Gray County T-B Association, will meet at 1:30 p.m. Friday to complete the plans for the X-ray service.

Dr. J. Foster Elder is chairman of the committee and Rusty Ward is co-chairman. The meeting is to be held in the courthouse office of Mrs. Ethel Anderson, committee member.

Texas Joins Political Battles

By The Associated Press

Veteran Texas Congressman Wright Patman, Texarkana, joined the drive to carry Texas for the Democratic Party's ticket Tuesday.

At the same time both Republicans and Democrats hurried preparations for campaign swings through Texas of both the nominees — Dwight Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson.

Rep. Patman opened his attack with a blast at Gen. Eisenhower's foreign policy and branded the tidelands question a "fake issue."

"Eisenhower wants to extend the Korean War into China," Patman said. "Everyone knows that China and Russia have a mutual assistance pact and if we bomb China it means we'll try to end the Korean War with World War III.

"Even if Eisenhower follows the isolationist viewpoint of Ohio Senator Robert aft. . he will still be inviting World War III because isolationism will invite attack."

Then the lawmaker added:

"I don't say that everyone who is for Eisenhower wants a depression, but I do say that all the people who want a depression are for Eisenhower. Some persons probably are honest in their views that the country should go through the wringer and that unemployment and depression is a good thing."

Patman said of the tidelands: "Trying to disturb teachers, school children and their parents is strictly a fake issue. . ."

Panhandle Has Earliest Frost In 43 Years

Pampa got cold—in a hurry.

Early this morning the mercury had dipped to the 31-degree mark.

Not only was it the first freezing weather of the season, but it also brought the earliest frost in the Panhandle since Oct. 12, 1909—when the temperature was recorded at 29 degrees. And that was the exact temperature in Amarillo at 6 a. m. today.

The earliest killing frost came Oct. 16, 1903. But the one today was too dry to be of the lethal variety.

The Top o' Texas area was not of chilling weather. Part of the the only place to feel the bite too.

South Plains got a taste of it.

Heavy clouds that came with the fall's first norther were disappearing. The Associated Press reported. However, they did bring one good South Texas rain -1.78 inches at Brownsville—and a collection of feeble showers in North-Texas.

But there was nary a spot of rain the Panhandle. Last rain recorded in the Pampa area was more than two weeks ago. Light scattered rains, though, were occuring in South Central Texas early today as clouds broke up.

Coldest overnight temperature reading, apparently, was 30 degrees at both Amarillo and Dalhart. Lubbock boasted the exact freezing mark.

Pampa had one of the lowest high temperatures in the state Monday with a 49. Others throughout the state included 89 at Laredo, 88 at Brownsville, 77 at Houston, 74 at San Antonio, 70 at Austin, 68 at Lufkin, 57 at Ft. Wort Worth, 55 at Tyler and Texarkana and an even 50 at Amarillo.

At 11 a.m. today the Pampa mercury stood at the 54-degree mark, already five degrees above Monday's high of 49.

The weather bureau sent out a general forecast of continued cold and partly cloudy—both for today and Wednesday.

New Potato Shortage Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) There may be another potato shortage next spring, the Agriculture Department said today.

Basing its outlook on the Sept. 1 crop report, the department said for 1953 as a whole, however, farmers probably will produce more potatoes and other fresh market crops than in 1952 if the weather is average or better.

It added that supply and demand prospects indicate prices will average slightly below this year's levels.

A seasonal drop in potato prices is expected when the 1952 late crop begins to move in volume, the report added.

Next year's production of truck crops may be larger than this year when unfavorable weather in some areas reduced the yields, causing alternate periods of glut and scarcity and sharp price variations, the department said.

County Polio Board Postpones Meeting

Regular meeting of the Gray County Polio Board has been postponed until Oct. 17, according to announcement today.

Previously scheduled at 5 p.m. Friday in the chamber of commerce office the meeting was postponed to enable members to attend the Amarillo - Pampa football game in Amarillo.

Routine business is on schedule for the board when it convenes.

Await Indictments In Alice Slaying

ALICE, (AP) — A grand jury investigating the slaying of Jacob S. (Buddy) Floyd, Jr., killed in what is believed to have been a bungled political assassination plot, was believed near reporting indictments today.

The jury began its probing yesterday. It also was charged by Dist. Judge Arthur A. Klein of Brownsville to look into any election irregularities that might have a bearing on the Floyd murder case.

Judge Klein yesterday turned down a motion that the grand jury be dismissed.

Young Floyd was shot to death the night of Sept. 8 in the garage of his home. Officers and his father, prominent attorney and political leader Jake Floyd Sr. called the fatal shooting of the elder Floyd.

Nago Alaniz, Alice attorney, and Mario El Turko Sapet, San Antonio bar owner, have ben charged with murder. Neither is accused of actually firing the shots.

In supporting his motion that the grand jurors be dismissed, defense Attorney Percy Foreman, Houston tried to get the jurors to say whetner they were for or against political kingpin George Parr.

No witness admitted that he was against Parr, but none would say he had ever backed Parr-backed candidates. One juror testified he once gave money to the anti-Parr faction.

Foreman, attorney for Alaniz, also filed a motion that Dist. Judge Sam Reams disqualify himself in any remaining action on the case. Earlier yesterday, Reams

County Offices Will Close During 50th Celebration

County offices will be closed next Monday and Tuesday for Gray County's 50th Birthday Celebration, County Judge Bruce Parker announced today.

The celebration is scheduled to get underway Sunday with a style revue in the afternoon and a pioneer memorial program at 8:30 p.m. in the senior high field house and will continue through Tuesday.

Judge Parker stated that a skeleton force would remain in the sheriff's office during the two days and that he and Bill Waters, county attorney, would be on hand for any emergency cases.

As final preparations for the celebration draw to a close, officials have pointed out to the public that all events of the celebration except the dance with Hal McIntyre's Orchestra and the style show sponsored by the local Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority will be free.

No admission will be charged for the memorial program Sunday evening, for the parade or the presentation of beauty queen constestants in the Miss Gray County Contest, both scheduled for Monday. The Perry LeFors dedication Tuesday morning, unveiling of the Gray County memorial at the court house and a fireworks extravaganza at the high school football stadium at 7 p.m. Tuesday will also be free.

Residents of the county or the Panhandle area of 35 or more years will be admitted to the old-timer's barbecue at noon Tuesday by badge received at registration headquarters in the American Legion hall. All entertainment features in the line-up will also be presented without charge.

Vote Canvass Is Held Up

A legal technicality in Saturday's city charter amendment election delayed a canvass by the city commission this morning.

The commission found, in checking tally sheets that some were only partially signed by election officials and one return was not signed at all.

City Atty. Bob Gordon advised the commission to continue the canvass at the next official city commission meeting when either the return sheets can be properly signed or some loop hole in the election law can be found to allow the returns to stand as is. The former is expected to happen.

Late this morning the commission passed the third reading of the ordinance excluding the eastern approaches to the city from city telephone rates. The ordin-

Charge Across Field Littered By Own Dead

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Fanatical Chinese Reds tonight charged across a battlefield littered with their own dead in a renewed assault against two vital heights on Korea's Western Front.

The peaks — White Horse Mountain and Arrowhead Ridge — were the main targets of the biggest Red attack in a year. Valiant Allied infantrymen stood their ground against 15,000 screaming Chinese yesterday.

AP Correspondent Milo Farneti reported from the front that a roaring artillery barrage powered today's assault. The Reds pumped 1,200 rounds an hour at each of the heights before the infantry took charge.

Fighting was brutal. The Reds threw men, tanks and artillery into the battle, spread over two-thirds of the 155-mile battlefront.

But the Allies had known for three days of the attack and were ready for the assault.

The U. S. Eighth Army said the massive Red assault captured seven hill positions. But the Allied defenders stood their ground at most places. The Army added that many hundreds of Reds were killed.

Allied warplanes roared over the front today, hitting the Red lines. Pilots said they destroyed two Red tanks and about 80 bunkers.

One Allied outfit fought and died to the last man in defending a vital hill. The number of men, presumably not large, was withheld.

A front - line Allied officer indicated the Reds may have been seeking a weak point where their troops and tanks could pour through to the south. Had they succeded, he said, they might have cut off the entire Seoul area.

Wave after wave of fanatical Chinese began hitting the Western and Central Fronts last night. The biggest force, nearly 6,000 men, ran straight into an Allied trap and was badly mauled.

The main Red blow hit White Horse Mountain and Arrowhead Ridge, two Allied - held hills near Chorwon. The Reds opened the floodgates of a reservoirs in an unsuccessful effort to cut off Allied reinforcement.

Lt. William D. Lansford of Los Angeles said the Allies knew the attack was imminent when the Yokkok River, which circles both hills, began to rise.

That meant the Reds had opened the floodgates of Pongnae Reservoir. But the Allies had prepared for that by fixing rock

Woman Crippled By Assault Saves Attacker From Death

DALLAS (AP) — A woman victim of rape, robbery and shooting paralyzed as a result of the brutal attack, yesterday saved her attacker from possible death in the electric chair.

As a result, a Carswell Air Force Base airman, 23, Obie Lee Belcher, drew life imprisonment after pleading guilty to the attack on Mrs. Margaret Lister Gay, 33 Fort Worth taxi driver.

Mrs. Gay, paralyzed from the waist down by one of two .32 caliber bullets fired into her body relating her story from a stretcher, concluded by saying, "I don't want the boy to be electrocuted."

The jury told before its selection that state and defense attorneys had agreed to a guilty plea from Belcher and a life sentence with Mrs. Gay's consent, took 40 minutes to return its verdict.

While the jury considered the rape plea, Belcher pleaded guilty before Judge Henry King and drew a life sentence in the robbery case and a maximum 15-year term in the assault-to-murder case.

Mrs. Gay, mother of a 20-month-old baby, said Belcher entered her car about 6 p.m. May 5 and told her he wanted to go to Fort Worth from Carswell Air Force Base.

Soon after, she told the jury he pulled a pistol and told her he wanted to go to Dallas.

Once in Dallas, the woman testified tearfully, Belcher told her to drive down a little-used road and back into a lane off the road. Then he ordered her into the back seat.

"I thought he was going to kill me then," Mrs. Gay testified. But he raped her at gunpoint.

Then after he had been walking up and down," Mrs. Gay said, "I looked up and he had the pistol in my face.

Soldiers In Korea Singing Praises Of Pre-Fab Bunker

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA (AP) — The necessity is a great improver. The defenders of "Old Baldy" and "Abe Lincoln" are singing the praises of prefabricated bunkers of logs with a new light all - metal pre-fabricated bunker which made their appearance on the front only a short time ago.

This bunker born of grim necessity is a great improvement over the "Abe Lincoln" log bunkers. It generally takes two men to carry each log, and 30 to 40 logs are used for one bunker, the Second Division said. The metal bunker has openings for firing on all four sides. When complete, it is 5 feet square and 3 1-2 feet high.

Troops of the 38th Regiment, U. S. Second Division, vow they can put together the metal bunkers and make a protective roof in less than 30 minutes. Time is a matter of life and death when troops storm up a hill and need quick cover from thunderous Communist shelling.

Engineers of the Second Division designed the shelters. They are constructed with barbed wire pickets and welded into four sections. Each section weighs about 75 pounds. One man can carry a section. This allows a sharp speed - up in the construction of bunkers. It were used by the division for the first time in the furious Old Baldy fighting on Korea's Western Front. They made a big hit with the soldiers.

"There isn't much room on the inside, but for a fighting bunker they are number one," commented an Old Baldy veteran, Pfc Orval Dietz of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

The Second Division said 20 pounds of explosives were set off on the roof of a metal bunker without demolishing it. In tests, mortars exploded three to five feet from the bunkers without causing any visible damage.

The new metal structures

"There isn't much room on the inside, but for a fighting bunker they are number one," commented an Old Baldy veteran, Pfc Orval Dietz of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

"We were able to get these new bunkers up to our positions much quicker, and this very definitely saved us many casualties," remarked 1st Lt. Lucas Floyd of Somerset, Ky., pioneer and ammunition platoon leader. "It's right after you take a hill that you need overhead cover the most."

Use Old Initiative; Win Many Hands

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

The bidding of the hand shown today is almost as interesting as the play. North's response of three clubs was an artificial bid, asking South to show a four-card major suit if he happened to hold one.

South obediently showed the spades, and North extended a slam spades. South probably should have passed, since he could not have opened with two no trumps with a hair less than he actually held. In other words, he had already bid his full strength and could not afford to accept any invitations.

South actually went on to slam hoping that a kindly providence would come to his help. It did, but perhaps largely because South took the trouble to help himself.

West opened the ten of clubs, and South won with the king. Declarer drew two rounds of trumps, cashed the ace of clubs, and ruffed his remaining clubs in dummy. He then laid down the ace and king of hearts and gave up the third round of hearts hopefully.

As it happened, West had given up the queen of hearts in the second round of that suit, so that East won the third heart with the jack. East then returned a low diamond, and it was up to South to guess whether this was led from the king or from the jack of diamonds.

The guess wasn't a difficult one. West had obviously thrown away the queen of hearts to avoid being forced to lead a diamond; and West would have had no reason to do so unless he held the king of diamonds.

South therefore played a low diamond, and West had to play the king of diamonds to force out dummy's ace. The rest was, of course, very easy.

Government Faces Tough Task In Deporting Crime Big Shots

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most of us take our U. S. citizenship pretty much for granted.

We were born in this country, or possibly born abroad of U.S. parents. Our citizenship was none of our doing. And no matter how ornery or worthless we may be, no one can take our citizenship away.

To be sure, we can take to violent crime and maybe lose our citizenship rights, such as the right to vote.

Or we can decide to become citizens of another country. But that's something we decide to do, not something the government decides to do to us.

Atty. Gen. McGranery had in mind another type of citizen—the naturalized citizen—when he said last week he wanted to rid this country of about 100 foreign-born racketeers.

"Ungrateful recipients of American hospitality," McGranery called them.

He hopes to have their naturalization papers revoked and then deport them. And, he said, he has similar plans for some Communists.

McGranery didn't discuss details, but any attempt to carry out such a program would be a long, tedious legal operation.

In the first place, a naturalized citizen who got his papers legally and honestly can't be deported. This country can't kick him out even though he later becomes criminal No. 1 on the FBI list.

To denaturalize a foreign-born citizen the government must prove in court that he obtained his papers illegally, or through fraud.

It is here, obviously, that McGranery expects the Justice Department to make its case. Many of those he calls "unsavory characters" were unsavory to begin with, and possibly lied in getting their citizenship papers.

But let's suppose the case finally is proved. Is the unsavory character on his way back to wherever he came from?

No, he merely has reverted back to his former state. He's an alien again, one of the three million or so in this country.

Sen. Taft tied into Truman calling him a "dangerous demagogue." He said in a Cincinnati address that the President makes political speeches regardless of truth.

Demos Need Men!

James A. Farley, one-time Democratic national chairman and former postmaster general, said Nixon has not made a complete disclosure of his finances and should be asked to do so by the nation's newspapers. "I don't think he can get away with it," Farley said in New York over a radio network.

And Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell said in Washington that the Democrats' biggest problem is money. "The Republicans seem to have all they can find ways to spend. We don't," he said in a speech prepared for the National Press Club.

Sen. William Fullbright, Arkansas Democrat, predicted in Springfield, Ill., that Stevenson will carry the South but there is "trouble," in Texas and Florida.

Schoolmen Go To State Meet

Three area school administrators tors attended a state meeting of school administrators in Austin this past week end.

B. R. Nuckols, county superintendent of schools, R. C. Wilson, superintendent at Lefors, and Knox Kinard, superintendent in Pampa, were there.

Frank Monroe, formerly associated with Pampa schools, now superintendent of schools in Midland, was among the speakers for the two day, program.

Another notable speaker, according to Nuckols, back in Pampa today, was Dr. Kenneth McFarland, education consultant and lecturer for General Motors in Topeka, Kan. Kinard is due back in Pampa Thursday.

Knowing the attack was coming, the Allies brought up fresh troops, tanks and big guns.

When the Chinese attacked they were met with a blistering barrage of fire.

Between 800 and 900 Reds were killed at White Horse alone. Another 250 died at Arrowhead Ridge.

The fighting produced the first tank battle since the early days of the war. One Russian - built T34 tank was knocked out.

White Horse Mountain and Arrowhead Ridge dominate the flat Chorwon Valley, at the Western end of the Iron Triangle. If the Reds had taken them, an Allied front-line officer said, they would have controlled the town of Chorwon and the road network in the valley.

He said this would have let the Reds push south and isolate the Seoul area.

Lanford related:

"About 3 p.m. five Chinese tanks came out and started shelling our bunkers. They drew artillery fire and we never saw them again.

"Between 4 and 7 p.m. the Chinese really started pouring artillery in at us. They were even shelling the town of Chorwon.

"Between five and six thousand rounds came in during that one hour. At 7 p.m the enemy infantry began to attack.

They were using human sea tactics. They threw themselves at us repeatedly—running, shooting and screaming. They were thrown back."

Shortly before 10 p.m. the Reds rallied and attacked from three sides in an enveloping movement.

"They were yelling and shouting," Lansford said. "We laid down a tremendous barrage and mowed them down.

On White Horse the Reds killed the last U. N. defender at the Eastern nose of the mountain and occupied the position. A fresh Allied unit counterattacked and threw them off.

"Our troops stayed there until they were killed," Lansford related. "They wouldn't run."

The Allied commander had ordered his men to stayandfight, dered his men to stay and fight, not to yield the hill under any circumstances.

Arrowhead Ridge was raked by 11,000 rounds of Red artillery and mortar fire.

Elsewhere, the Reds wrested control of one hill north of Korangpo on the Western Front from U. S. Marines and gained a foothold on Finger Ridge on the Central Front.

Commies Told Ike Imperialist

MOSCOW (AP) — Delegates to the 19th Congress of the Soviet Communist party have been told that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is an "imperialist" and warned that the American troops are close to Russia's Far Eastern frontiers.

The attack on the U.S. Republican presidential candidate was made yesterday by A. N. Snechkus, secretary - general of the Lithuanian Communist party, who took issue with Eisenhower's recent remarks about liberating the people of the Baltic States.

Eisenhower, speaking to the American Legion Convention on Aug. 25, listed the Baltic States and other Soviet satellites as once independent but "now suffocating under this Russian pall." He said that never shall we desist in our aid to every man and woman of those shackled lands who seek refuge with us, any man who keeps burning among his own people the flame of freedom or who is dedicated to the liberation of his fellows."

Snechkus told the Communist Congress "it is in vain that the imperialist Eisenhower barks at the Lithuanian people in the hope of enslaving Lithuania."

One Injured In Accident

One person was injured — not seriously — about 7:15 a.m. today in an automobile accident at Campbell and Finley and the car in which she was riding was damaged an estimated $650 worth.

It was the 275th city car collision of the year.

Mrs. R. M. Wilkerson, 832 Murphy, was taken to a local hospital with a bruised forehead, a skinned knee and contusions. Dr. J. F. Elder reported that she was "doing fine."

Cause of the mishap was a collision between vehicles driven by Elvis O. Wilkerson, 26, of 832 Murphy, and Robert G. Armstrong, 21, of 1021 E. Campbell. Armstrong was headed west on Campbell, officers reported, when he was involved in the collision with the Wilkerson car which was going north on Finley.

Armstrong failed to stop at the intersection's stop sign, police said, and Wilkerson was unable to stop in time to avoid hitting him. Armstrong was cited on a charge of failure to grant the right of way. Damage to the Armstrong car was calculated at $150.

Three other city accidents have also been reported by police.

A three - car collision at Alcock and Banks about 5:15 p.m. Monday resulted in an estimated total damage of $625. One person was cited.

Gordon F. Mitchell, 47, of 204 N. Faulkner, police reported, had stopped in the traffic lane. Harold Gregory, 35, of 700 N. Nelson, was in the process of stopping and Morris H. Taylor, 36, of 1033 S. Dwight, had started to hit his brakes. But, officers figure, Taylor's foot missed the brake pedal and hit the accelerator instead.

The result was a three - car accordion — the Mitchell, Gregory and Taylor cars lined up 1-2-3. Taylor has been cited for following too closely.

Ernest C. Hart, 52, of 1012 Twiford, and Cassie T. McPherson, 55, of 1032 E. Twiford, were involved in a collision at about 10 a.m. Sunday near Browning and Gillespie. According to police, Hart had stopped behind another car which was trying to make a left turn when the McPherson car collided with his car. There were no citations.

About 4:50 p.m. Saturday Jerrell L. White, 18,, of 733 N. Nelson, and Coleta H. Bretthauer, 26, of 704 Bradley Drive, were involved in a collision at Alcock and N. Nelson. The White car had stopped in the line of traffic, office reported, when the Bretthauer vehicle collided with it in the rear. No citations were reported.

Farley Says Nixon Must Disclose All

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Postmaster General James A. Farley says Sen. Richard Nixon has not made a complete disclosure of his finances and should be asked to do so by the nation's newspapers.

Farley, one-time Democratic national chairman, spoke of the Republican vice presiddential candidate Monday night on the Mutual Broadcasting System's recorded "Reporters Roundup" program. "A great many people are aware that he hasn't told the whole story. The American people will they are entitled to it."

want the complete story and blamed Sonntag and Sonntag blamed the Lefors superintendent of schools.

The deposed coach brought suit against the school district and sued each of the board members individually, seeking a total of $29,000 damages.

Attorneys for the school board contended Sonntag failed to carry his case to the county superintendent, the county school board and on through the State Board of Education.

Judge Goodrich in a preliminary hearing on the case found Sonntag had failed to go through the proper channels and threw the case out of court for lack of jurisdiction. Attorneys for the coach appealed the decision, and lost Monday morning when the Civil Appeals Court upheld the decision of Judge Groodrich.

Texans Don't Like Socialist Housing

News reports of public housing projects in Texas indicate the federally-sponsored project is meeting with little support.

Less than 30 units of a 160-family project in San Antonio, Meadowbrook Homes, had occupants early this month. The manager of the Austin Housing Authority, W. W. Stewart, was reportedly surprised.

He found that most people make too much money to qualify. (The annual income of a family of three or four must not exceed $2,400.)

It is the same story in Houston where the 364-unit Susan Clayton Homes project is only about half full. Directly across the tracks there are slums full of people. Relatively few slums are torn down in any city with Federal Housing.

It is to the credit of Houston that city voters defeated in 1950 a proposal for 2,500 additional units. But for this vote, the socialist Federal Housing Authority would have built extra units. And the tax-payers would have been left with the bill.

The theory of adequate housing for all is a fine one. Nobody wants to be poorly housed. And few want to see even the poor living in slums or other sub-standard structures. But this is a matter of theory.

In practice, public housing, like public anything else, tends to provide facilities not for the needy but for those with connections or with flimsy standards of right and wrong.

And the opportunities for corruption are unlimited with cases already on record of housing officials side-tracking public funds into private pockets.

Like so many other projects of the socialists, public housing is publicized as a means of getting the poor out of the slums. In this light it is difficult for many conscientious layment to vote against such a proposal for fear of seeming un-Christian or selfish.

Instead, the voter who opposes public housing or any similar scheme of the "big" government boys is helping steady America's keel as she rides a course dangerously near complete socialism.

Salesman Of Freedom

During this election year, most Americans are doing a lot of thinking about what freedom means to them.

That's one reason why an idea proposed the other day by the president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, Laurence F. Lee, takes on special interest. Speaking to the National Association of Life Underwriters, Lee suggested that life insurance agents can do a tremendous job of selling America.

There are 180,000 life insurance agents in this country. If each makes five calls per day, five days per week, 900,000 Americans would be contacted every day.

During the past 50 years, 80 million insurance policies were sold. Just suppose, Lee said, that a new belief in American freedom had been sold along with those policies. Then no amount of sales talk by government planners could make socialism attractive to Americans.

As it is, these freedoms about which everyone talks so glibly, are fast slipping away, Lee said.

A worker's right to negotiate with his employer is threatened by union monopolies, helped along by political forces in Washington. When an employer is forced to agree to contract terms; when an employee must go along with his union leaders — or lose the right to work — then freedom becomes a myth. A man ceases to be a man and becomes a cipher, Lee asserted.

Another threat to freedom is government price control, according to Lee. While wages and taxes are increased, prices are fixed. And so production goes down because the profit incentive is weakened. The controllers forget that it is free competition that inspires production.

Lee said the electric power industry is another example of threatened freedom. When State utility commissions keep rates below or only a little above costs, returns to investors are low. That means the utilities cannot attract new capital and so cannot expand. Then government goes into the power business, rates are increased and taxes lost.

Railroads and other companies may be next. If so, Lee said, that is the end of abundance in America. The proof is right before our eyes — in Britain and Western Europe.

We have been careless in telling our younger people about the danger of losing our freedoms to centralized government, Lee said. But, he added, tomorrow is another day for every one of the 180,000 life insurance agents to make five calls — to plant five seeds of thought in five individual minds.

Better Jobs

By R. C. HOILES

I was rather surprised to read a folder sent out by the General Electric Co. under the heading of "What to do about Communism in Unions." It reported the testimony of some of the agents of the General Electric Co. before the Senate Subcommittee on Labor and Labor - Management Relations.

The part that surprised me was the repeated statement by the agents of the General Elctric Co. that the government should have what they call an "impartial and authoritive government agency to expel communists from the leadership of labor unions." Of course, Mr. L. R. Boulware, representing General Electric, never tells how the government could select an impartial and authoritative agency that wasn't colored by the person who made the appointment. He never explains how a government agent, selected by majority rule, could make an impartial appointment that didn't favor the majority.

When I read how the General Electric Co. is running to the federal government to solve problems that General Electric, and every individual, ought to solve for itself, I thought how similar the General Electric leadership now is to that of Fred Thyssen, the big German steel industrialist who helped destroy Germany by lining up with Hitler. Remember Thyssen said: "Wild competition has no place in the new professional order." He believed in government interference with human initiative.

What the heads of the General Electric Co. do not seem to understand is that we should repeal the laws that compel employers to attempt to make bargains with unions, no matter what the unions stand for — no matter how un-American the union may be — no matter how socialistic and communistic the union may be. Of course, The Wagner Law should be repealed and the Taft-Hartley Law, that compels employers to try to bargain with labor groups. We should let any employer who wants to, make a contract with communistic unions. Then let the public decide which employer can serve them the best. Self interest of the customers would solve the communistic problem.

It seems absurd to talk about throwing communism out of unionism because both labor unionism and communism are based on the error that might makes right, that the end justifies the means, that the individual has no inherent rights that the majority must respect. They both believe in class legislation and it doesn't make a particle of difference whether this class legislation is brought about directly by the overthrow of the government by force or brought about indirectly by the majority voting to rob A to take care of B. In either case production is thwarted and in the long run everyone suffers.

Neither those who believe in communism nor those who believe in labor unions can set down any impersonal rule by which to tell how what produced should be distributed. Both of them believe in involuntary methods of distributing wealth rather than a voluntary basis.

Undoubtedly the chairman of the Board of General Electric, P.D. Reed, and its president, R. J. Cordinger, are obsessed with the idea that getting a law passed that would give some bureaucrat communist and who was not the authority to tell who was a would be a good thing. That is giving any human being too much power. Every human being should have the right to use his own judgment as to whether or not he wants to be an associate and be in partnership with this or that person. And if an individual associates with men with communistic or labor union ideas and tries to make a customer pay for things that are produced on a believe in getting things on a non - competitive basis, these who voluntary basis will tell these people who associate with communism, and who thus run up their costs, that they prefer to buy where they can get the most for their labor on a free market basis. That will tke care of the people who are foolish enough to line up with some form of communism, fascism or labor unionism — that are all based on involuntary human relations.

It would be interesting indeed to have these agents of General Electric point out the difference between the practics of communism and unionism other than degrees. Our danger is not from communism of from those who believe in communism, but our danger is from people who think they believe in free enterprise but believe in some degrees of initiating force. We need to fear those who believe they are humanitarians by attempting to eliminate competition and adopting a planned economy instead of a free market economy, as do labor unions and communists.

Union Stooges Get Away With Political Meddling In Europe

By WESTBROOK PEGLER
(Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

I think it important that our people should know the nature of the revolutionary Marxian movement which David Dubinsky is promoting in Europe through the agency of Jay Lovestone, a mysterious figure, formerly head of the American Communist Party, and Lovestone's stooge, Irving Brown, an advocate of violent seizure of power in the United States by a system of Soviets.

Brown has been put forward as a heroic fighter against Kremlin Communism iin Europe. Actually, he is a flabby, sedentary argumentarian and plotter with a fake reputation for rough-and-tumble pugnacity in tangles with European Communists.

Thanks to Dubinsky's political power in this country his agents get away with political meddling in European affairs which would be ground for the revocation of the passport of any citizen of normal standing. In a pathetic appeal for political favor at the recent New York convention of the A.F. of L., General Eisenhower gave Brown credit for "valuable cooperation" in Europe. Ike's knowledge of union racketeering is barely a smatter, but he hoped this false compliment to a political agent of the Great Master Racket would ingratiate him with the mob.

The Reader's Digest recently published a laudation of Brown which was, on the whole, a disgraceful deception practiced on a trusting clientele. Confronted with the truth about Brown, De Witt Wallace, the editor of the Digest, sent letters to protesting readers further distorting the situation.

I shall now quote from the appeal of the Revolutionary Socialist Review, published in 1934 by the Lovestone branch of the American Socialist party, of which Irving Brown was a leading member. This declaration is 18 years old but remember that Brown even then was an instructor in "workers' education classes" of Dubinsky's union. Lovestone, the old outright Communist, was and still is an employee nd political agent of Dubinsky's union. He has been glowingly described by pro-union writers as Brown's immediate chief in the promotion of Dubinsky's Socialist empire in Europe under the auspices of the U.S. State Department.

These are excerpts from the Lovestone - Brown challenge to the government of the United States entitled "The Road to Power":

"The aim of Socialism is to establish a workers' republic. In the achievement of this aim it is necessary to acquire possession of the State power so as to transform capitalist society into socialist society by means of the dictatorship of the proletariat.

"Civil liberties are of the utmost importance for the immediate welfare of the workers. However, the responsibility for the destruction of the civil liberties of the burgeois democratic statelies solely at the door of the ruling capitalist state. That class has shown that when the decisive hour approaches, the conflict between the classes assumes a violent character. To the degree that the revolutionary party of the working class has rallied the working masses and perfected its organization, will the violence which accompanies the transference of power be reduced.

"We make no fetish of legality. The law in a bourgeois democracy is largely the law of property rights, laid down by those who have 'rights' because they are owners. No institution set up by the capitalist class can be depended upon to establish the workers' republic. Therefore the working class state will be an entirely new type of state, based on workers' councils. They will constitute the basic organ by which the working class can carry through an armed insurrection. These councils constitute the basic revolutionary idea of the state as opposed to the bourgeois, democratic parliament.

"Once the Socialists are in possession of the state machinery by the mandate of the workers, their task is to secure the governmental power by arming the workers against all possibility of counter-revolutionary resistance.

"As long as capitalism exists, war in inevitable. We fight against imperialist wars through demonstrations, organizations and strikes in key war industries including forcible stopping of munitions shipments and united fronts wth all anti - war groups regardless of political beliefs. Anti-war activity must be carried on intensively among the workers with the ultimate aim of preparing the working class to turn imperialist war into civil war."

Donald Robinson, who wrote a ballyhoo story in the Reader's Digest lauding Brown as a brave, "democratic" American fighter against Communism in Europe under Dubinsky's high command, denied my statement that Americans are forbidden by the State Department to engage in political activities in foreign lands.

Mr. Robinson is an unlistinguished writer and is a mere clay pigeon in this controversy. He just can't make his statements stand up for him.

The State Department booklet of official instructions which accompanies every passport contains this paragraph: "The Department has always considered that it is improper for American citizens to interfere in the political affairs of foreign countries and, in general, has taken such action as grounds for refusing passport facilities or extending protection to them."

Violent, bumptious, arrogant interference by Brown in the political affairs of France, Germany, Italy, Belgium and Greece is the sole basis for the praises published in the Reader's Digest, Time and the American Mercury and for Eisenhower's wheedling tribute to Brown at the annual Highlanders' Old Home Week of the A.F. of L. in New York.

WHAT ARE THE ISSUES?
STEVENSON AVOIDS FACTUAL DISCUSSION
The San Diego Union

Gov. Stevenson has devoted considerable time of late to declaring that everything is "milk and honey" in the United States. But somehow, he has failed to discuss key campaign issues.

We of The Union would like to ask the governor just what he believes the issues are in this election. How does Gov. Stevenson believe we should go about selecting a President?

The governor apparently believes that humor is an issue. He has spent more time making meaningless wisecracks than he has discussing facts of importance. Perhaps we are unusual, but when we want humor, we want the best. And we prefer that the humor come from places other than the White House. We've had too many practical jokes perpetrated on us already.

In San Francisco, the governor indicated that the loss of China was not an issue. Let's forget the mistakes there and start spending money in India, he said. Korea? The governor's only answer was for the public to be patient. But somehow it must be difficult to be patient when you are a soldier or marine with communnist bullets flying your way. And mothers and wives get tired of being patient, too.

Gov. Stevenson told a Bakersfield audience he was tired of talk about corruption. And well he should be. The American people too are tired of just talk about the mess fostered by his party leaders. We want a change. But the governor says, "Surely there must be something more important for us to talk about . . ."

The governor told a Los Angeles audience that Communists have been "driven out of any place of responsibility." That would eliminate Red infiltration as an issue. He has done little to show himself a good judge of character. He even gave a character deposition for Alger Hiss.

In discussing his rival, Dwight Eisenhower, Gov. Stevenson has shown ability to twist the truth to fit his purposes. But he has not answered the general's challenges.

Perhaps in its place, humor is all right. And talk about the great future is pleasant. But these things do not fit a campaign for the President of the United States.

What about the issues, Gov. Stevenson? Let's quit clowning and get down to cases.

Failure Of Western Powers In Asia Dramatized By Meeting

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — A three-nation war council now in secret session at Washington, dramatizes the reasons behind the Western powers' many failures in the powder keg area of the Far East, the Middle East and Asia, and for Moscow's successes in this strategic sphere.

It is a situation which the next Administration will undoubtedly try to correct, although the two presdential candidates show no awareness of its dangers.

It has been neglected, if not aggravated, by President Truman and his various secretaries of state in all their diplomatic dealings with China, Asia and adjacent countries.

It could make a major campaign issue, if the Republican strategists and press agents at New York and on the Eisenhower train ever wake up the the fact.

TOP BRASS MEET — The Washington conference in question has brought to the Pentagon the top military brass of the United States, Britain and France for discussion of the future defense of Indo - China and Southeast Asia against possible, large-scale invasion by Chinese Communists. This problem dwarfs the "police action" in Korea.

The French government has notified Washington and London that it cannot resist successfully the 200,000 force which Mao Tse-tung is reported to have mobilized on the northern border. Another diversionary move here is said to have been discussed when the Chinese delegation conferred with Stalin a few weeks ago.

As military and diplomatic experts realize and fear, the fall of Indo - China would give the Communists a position flanking all Asia, Japan, the Philippines, Indonesia, Australia and New Zealand. It would imperil our access to sources of tin, oil, rubber, and enrich Russia with these war materials. It would hand Burma, "the rice bowl of India," to the hungry Red satellites.

Meanwhile, our only trained, equipped and experienced fighting force is pinned down and stalemated in Korea.

BLUNDER — The major blunder now being perpetrated at Washington, in spite of specific warnings and the lessons of recent history, is that not a representative of all the Asiatic nations so vitally concerned has been invited to attend. The Western powers still treat these governments and their 500,000,000 population in accord with the master - servant relationship which has embittered them for so many years.

This neglect, generally defined as "colonialism," accounts for the loss of China, nationalization of Iran's oil industry, Nehru's "neutralism" in the "cold war," French difficulties in North Africa and the demand that England get out of Egypt and Sudan.

It is an issue on which Moscow expects to cash in when Stalin decides on the day for infiltrating or conquering these countries.

WARNING — Ironically, a prominent and friendly Asiatic statesman gave clear warning of the dangerous effect of this one-sided policy only a few days before the military experts began their talks at the Pentagon. He is J. J. Singh, president of the India League of America, and extremely pro-United States.

"One of the main causes of resentment against the western powers," he wrote in a New York Times article, "is their arrogant assumption that the 'white fathers' know what is good for the backward Asian peoples, and that the decisions of the western powers should be liked and, if not liked, lumped by the Asians."

Singh listed other meetings like that now under way here as an insult and offense to the Asiatics. He noted that John Foster Dulles concluded a peace treaty with Japan without consulting India, which was why Nehru refused to sign the document.

He criticized the recent ANZUS Pacific Council at Honolulu, where Acheson conferred only with Australian and New Zealand foreign ministers. Then he relayed a remark he has frequently heard throughout the Far East:

"How is it that Secretary Acheson makes frequent visits to Europe and other parts of western hemisphere, but he has never visited a single Asian country?"

PROBLEM — This general problem assumes current significance because Governor Dewey, an Eisenhower advisor on foreign matters, has urged Ike to advocate a Pacific defense organization patterned after NATO. It would enable the GOP candidate to enlarge on the issue of the Russian menace in Korea, China and Asia.

But the unpleasant fact is that no Pacific nation wants an alliance that includes such colonial powers as Britain, France and The Netherlands. They insist that any defensive - offensive organization be built around the United States, which would add enormously to our military, financial and diplomatic obligations.

Under these circumstances, it might be embarrassing for Eisenhower to follow Dewey's advice at this particular moment.

BITTERNESS — The Asiatics' bitterness toward their erstwhile European "masters" is almost unbelievable, according to confidential State Department advices. Even Australia and New Zealand, former dominions, protested when Britian, as a nation with vast interests in Asia, asked for membership in ANZUS. Acheson had a hard time in placating Churchill.

Unfortunately, our close association with London and Paris in their policies toward the "backward" peoples has begun to transfer their resentment to us. And the current conference of "white fathers" at the Pentagon may inflame that growing anti-American prejudice.

The American Way

THE AWFUL PRICE
By DR. ALFRED P. HAAKE

The political campaign now getting under way already reveals the awful danger hanging over the American people.

The threat of Russia is real. Four years ago we had exclusive knowledge of the atom bomb. Today Russia has the bomb and may even have a larger stock pile than our own. There are those who believe that she is closer to having the more frightful H bomb than are we.

Yet Russia need not spend any soldiers or equipment in direct war on the United States. Russia is doing very well for herself with the resources of other peoples, thanks to their stupidity. She appears to be succeeding in her program of inducing the United States to spend herself to death or suffocate in a demoralized currency.

There is danger from a Fifth Column, made up largely of American citizens who follow the communist line or who serve the communist cause through their misguided idealisms. There is reason to believe that some of them are in strategic places in government, very close to the top, protected under the wings of the same authority that turned China over to the Communists and made a mess of Europe.

With the transfer of responsibility for individual welfare shifting increasingly from the individuals themselves and local communities, to the federal government, has come the enormous national debt and a budget so huge that the mere contemplation of it stuns the very apprehensions of the people.

Only twelve years ago our federal tax bill was slightly over 5 billion dollars. This is a huge amount, several times what it had been during previous administrations, even in war time. But by 1945 it had risen to almost 45 billions and in 1952 is more than 62 billion dollars. And this, mind you, is not the total spending. This is what you pay in actual taxes, hidden and seen. On top of that comes the inflationary borrowing and debt which babies not yet born must pay in addition to their own costs of living.

To bring this down to where you live, it means a tax burden of $152 per family in 1940 has gone up to almost $1,400 a family in 1952. And that means for EVERY family!

But even that is not the real disaster. Long ago Rome rose to be the greatest empire of all time, and fell and disappeared. The people were ruined by the paternalism of government, free bread and circuses, inclusive social security that finally sapped their vitality of character. Even when the barbarians broke through the gates of Rome the people still clung to the enervating paternalisms, free bread, circuses and the rest. They had lost the capacity of self-reliance.

The terrible crime of the New Deal and Fair Deal is that both take away from our people the DESIRE to be self-reliant and demoralize the very virtues on which we built this country.

Politicians singing the song of how well off we are, hide the frightful dangers we face, internally more than externally.

The issues of a campaign are being drawn so as to further obscure the vital truths and keep the pertinent facts from the people.

Meantime, the debilitating processes of stamina destruction go on, and, unless they are stopped soon, will carry the people beyond the point of even wanting to come back. Individual freedom and responsibility slowly disintegrate almost before our eyes.

That is the awful price we pay for the dubious benefits of the welfare state.

Political Orator—And now, is there anyone in the audience who would like to ask a question?

Voice—Yes, sir. How soon is the band going to play?

A pedestrian stopped and watched a laborer digging in the ground, and after a while he asked:

Pedestrain —What're you digging for, buddy?

Worker—Money.

Pedestrian—Money! When do you expect to strike it?

Worker—Saturday.

Teeth Are Expensive Items Today

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP)—You do your chewing on $32,000 worth of teeth.

Each tooth is worth $1,000, dental experts estimate, and nature gives you 32. Courts have settled cases on this basis.

But loss of one tooth can cost you more than $1,000. If it's not replaced, one missing tooth can lead to loss of still other teeth. Lose several on one side, and you start chewing on the other side. Result, over-development on that side and a lop-sided face.

Dentists now can promise you life without a toothache, or perhaps even without the loss of a single tooth.

What it takes is stress on prevention, in three ways: prevention of tooth decay, or gum diseases, and of trouble coming from a faulty bite or faulting meshing of the teeth.

The best time to start is childhood. But it's never too late to get some benefits.

The possibilities for happy tooth life are made clear in reports to and tips from the American Dental Association.

1. Decay: Early, frequent check-ups can spot decay early and fix cavities while they're still small.

Careful brushing helps keep teeth clean and aids gum health, right after meals is the best time, tooth decay seems to start within five minutes after you eat.

Sodium fluoride, in drinking water or direct application to children's teeth definitely cuts down decay. Good diets promote dental health.

2. Gum diseases: Decay is the main threat to teeth up to the age of 30. After that, gum diseases cause more loss of teeth. The gum ailments can be caught early and controlled by periodic treatments.

3. Faults in bite: Each time you bite, you hit each tooth with pressures ranging up to 350 pounds.

If teeth or jaws are out of ballance, even slightly, the pressures are uneven. Unbalanced teeth rock and jar each other, loosen rather than exercise each other. Gums and jawbone also are affected.

Faulty meshing of teeth, or malaclusion, is common. One survey found that nearly 80 per cent of high school youngsters had some degree of malocclusion or crooked teeth. Most can be corrected by simple measures. If one jaw is slightly out of position, muscle training sometimes can make them meet evenly, evenly.

Loss of one tooth, from neglect or accident, can throw the bite out of kilter. Teeth on either side of the missing one tend to move together to close the gap. The opposing tooth tends to move out of the jaw toward the missing tooth. Teeth get out of alignment and are exposed to decay or shock.

Children who lose baby teeth prematurely often need devices to keep the space open for permanent teeth to come into proper positon. For adults, dental plates or bridges are the only remedy for lost teeth.

Hank Tosses A Few Bricks At HST For 'Give-'Em-Hell' Tour

By HENRY McLEMORE

"Give 'em hell, Harry!"

Truman heard it in 1948 on his whistle-stop tour, and he is hearing it again, in 1952, as he beats the highways, byways, and bushes for Adlai Stevenson.

That "Give 'em hell, Harry!" chant scares me.

Why should Harry give anyone hell?

After all, he is President of the United States and his most sacred trust is the protection of us all, whether we be Democrats, Republicans, Whigs or Tories.

His talks give me the impression that anyone who isn't a Democrat, anyone who doesn't feel the same about things as he does, is a bad citizen.

He (or so it seems to me) completely ignores the fact that this is a country of 48 states, and every state is as different from the other as night is from day.

As a man who travels quite a bit I always marvel hat Texas and Maine, say, are in the same union. Or Alabama and North Dakota. The men and women of these states are as different as Greeks and Hindus, but when the time comes for dead level pitching you'll find them all with one common aim — the United States.

Truman seems to want to split us wide open again. He talks as if this country of ours was made up of men and women who didn't know that our country is the best country in the world because we decided after the Civil War to work together.

I daresay he won't split us.

This is no argument either for Adlai or Ike.

They are fine men.

I think all of us respect them.

All except one man — Truman.

He has made it clear that he despises Eisenhower — considers him a stooge, a tool, and a failure in World War II.

He seems to forget that the man he once called the "greatest living American," General Marshall, was the man who had enough faith in Ike to give him the job of Supreme Commander of the Europen Theater.

For Truman to speak ill of Ike would be no more important than a fly attacking an eagle if it weren't for one thing, and the one thing is that too many Americans have no idea of the score, and can be swayed by the very fact that the President of the United States told them what to do.

They saw him, by gum.

They saw Margaret.

Stood right by his train, by golly, and could have reached out and touched him.

They never stop to think that when they wend their way home on mules, by horseback, by buggy, and unpaid-for car, he'll be heading down the rails in a private car — paid for by them.

I would like to hear Mr. Truman speak to an audience made up of intelligent men and women. Men and women who know the score when he was still a judge in Missouri. Writers. Lawyers. Geologists. Philosophers. Bankers. I'd like that speech to be cut off the cuff. Just the words he knows and the wit at his command.

He would be listened to with all the respect that is due his office and mind.

Meaning 99 per cent office. "Give 'em hell, Harry!"

Raider Outfit Looks Best When Life Is At Its Worst

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA (AP)—They call it an outfit that doesn't look its best until life is at its worst.

It's a raider platoon, specializing in night patrols. When it is in action it does more than half the patrolling of no man's land for the 1st battalion of the U.S. 38th Regiment, 2nd Division.

In one 14-day period, men of the raiders made 30 patrols. Only three were wounded. Two were shot in the legs. Another was creased by a slug from a Red burp gun.

"They do it mainly by agressive action," says the battalion executive officer, May. Jack Dunlap of Charleston, S. C. He organized the riadiers.

Here's how they work:

One dark night recently a patrol from the raiders went through a Chinese position with all guns firing. The surprised Res lost about 12 men. The Patrol went on to its objective, then came back unharmed.

"They just barreled through," said Dunlap.

The big reason the platoon gets through is because of the men themselves. All are volunteers.

It has men like Pfc. Dale Hunter, a 19-year-old re-haired kid from Los Angeles who is on his second Korean combat tour. He was wounded in the Chinese Red offensive of May, 1951. After six months in a hospital at home, he volunteered to come back.

There is Pvt. George Henderson of Brooklyn, N.Y. He says he doesn't want to be anything but a private. When he comes off patrol he returns to the front to take pot shots at the Chinese.

The platoon leader, Lt. George A. Hoyem, Missoula, Mont., was selected because the battalion executive officer "liked his attitude." Despite a blonde mustache, he's sometimes known as "baby face."

"He knows what he's doing," said the executive officer. Hoyem had never been in combat before he took the platoon.

When the outfit was formed, the men had only one weeks' trining together. Fromthen on it was experience that did the teaching.

"We buddy up," explained Sgt. Thomas Briggs of Lobo, Kan. "When we go out in small groups each group does a good job."

The men choose a partner on patrols. It makes for teamwork that has brought patrols out of tight spots.

The raiders were called out in a hurry shortly after midnight recently to rsecue another patrol that had run into trouble, and had one killed and several wounded.

The radiers found the wounded and brought them back through bursting mortar shells and a stream of machine-gun fire, shooting all the way.

"The old boy upstairs had a lot to do with that," said Cpl. Ronald Pike of Beloit, Wis.

"The guys used their heads," said Pfc. Jesse Owens, a flat Rover, Mo., raider.

The wounded all had to be helped back. The Chinese had moved behind the patrol. In the darkness and confusion the trained raiders kept the group of wounded together, slipped by the Chinese who had cut them off and came out without having a raider hurt.

The raiders travel light when they move at night. Some don't even carry canteens. But they all wear the new armored vests issued to patrol units.

"Wouldn't go without 'em," Pike said.

Eight-Column Ballot Slated For Texans

AUSTIN (AP) The ballot Texas voters will mark Nov. 4 will be an eight column affair with six candidates for President.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur is the presidential candidate of both the Christian Nationalist Party and the Constitution Party.

There will be the usual Democratic and Republican columns, headed by Adlai Stevenson and Dwight Eisenhower. The Prohibition Party candidate for President is Stuart Hambel and the Progressive Party's choice is Vincent Hallinan.

One column, for Independents will be blank. So wil the column for write-ins.

All candidates for statewide office, except John White, will appear both as Democratic and Republican candidates. The Democrats have until Oct. 15 to have their names erased as Republicans if they want to.

Badgers Named Top Collegiate Squad

NEW YORK (AP) — The powerladen Badgers of the University of Wisconsin took over first place in the weekly Associated Press football poll today by the simple expedient of beating the favorite in the Big Ten Conference.

The favorite in this age was the University of Illinois, which won the Big Ten championship last year and whipped Stanford in the Rose Bowl. The Illini were rated the choice to go on to another title this time around. But the Badgers' 20-6 triumph over the Illini last Saturday made the 138 sports writers and sports casters, who voted in the second poll, sit up and take notice.

They gave Wisconsin 27 first-place ballots and 1,128 points. The Badgers now are big favorit to win the Big Ten championship and make the trip to the Rose Bowl this year.

The first-week leader, Michigan State, was ranked second with 980 points and 24 firsts. California was third with 961 points and 23 firsts. Maryland polled 834 points with 22 firsts and Georgia Tech rounded out the top five with 734 points and 12 firsts.

Its defeat caused Illinois to be bounced right out of the top 10. The Illini ranked No. 2 a week ago. The same fate befell Texas, fifth last week, only in this case it was worse, the Longhorns, beaten by Notre Dame, 14-3, couldn't even make the first 20.

The remainder of the top 10 included Duke 6, Southern California 7, Notre Dame 8, Kansas 9 and Princeton 10.

Georgia Tech, California and Duke all improved in their position from last week, while the two newcomers, who replaced Illinois and Texas, were Notre Dame and Princeton.

The votes were tabulated on a basis of 10 for first, 9 for second, 8 for third and so on.

Wrestling Tickets On Sale Wednesday

The No. 6 light heavyweight wrestling champion in the nation, Ivan "The Terrible" Kalmikoff, pairs up tomorrow night with strongman Art Nelson to try and suppress the Nipponese duo of Sesue Oyama and Kinju Shibuya in an Australian tag team match.

The one hour, best two out of three fall battle is slated for the final half of a double main event on the weekly wrestling card at the Southern Club.

In the other event, also one hour or the best two out of three falls, muscular Tommy Martindale of Amarillo goes up against Australian Jack O'Reilly, the seemingly ever - smiling roughian from the land down under.

The latest edition of Ring Magazine names Kalmikoff as the No. 6 junior heavy with Danny McShain, who appeared in Pampa several weeks ago, still No. 1.

Tickets for the double main event will be on sale all day tomorrow at the Sportsman's Store and at the Southern Club at 7 p.m. Reservations may also be made by telephoning 2035.

McKown Dominates Offense In SWC

DALLAS (AP) — Ray McKown, Texas Christian's do-every thing man, dominates Southwest Conference offense and the way he's going he'll take over all of the departments.

When McKown passed for a mighty 266 yards against Arkansas Saturday he went far ahead in the aerial show. And when he rolled up 70 yards on the ground he moved into the top 10 ball-carriers.

McKown leads in total offense with 857 yards on 139 plays 162 yards better than Ray Graves of Texas A&M, the second-place man. Graves got 176 yards passing against Kentucky but he was held to only 45 yards rushing.

McKown leads the passers by 189 yards. He has completed 40 in 75 throws for 547 yards. Graves is second with 34 connections with 53 attempts for 358.

Ochoa Tops Carriers

Dick Ochoa of Texas gained 45 yards against Notre Dame and held his ball-carrying lead. He has Graves is second with 146 on 34 made 205 yards on 53-runs, tries. McKown ranks tenth with 110 yards on 64 runs.

Jerry Norton of Southern Methodist tops the punters with an average of 43.8 yards on seven kicks. Bob Raley of Texas is second with 40.4 on 20.

Joe Boring of Texas A&M is the leading punt returner, averaging 17.5 yards on four runs. Joe Achere of the Aggies and Dean Dyer of Arkansas are tied for second with 11.8 yards on four returns.

Bob Blair of Texas Christian snared seven throws for 150 yards against Arkansas to move into first place on pas-receiving. He now has taken 10 passes for 220 yards. Tom Stelhandske of Texas is second with 10 for 217.

Texas A&M leads in total offense with 997 yards in three games, but Baylor has the best average. The Bears have rolled up 396.5 yards per game. Rice is second with 372.

Defensively, Baylor has been the toughest, allowing only 193.5 yards per game—the only team under 200.

Still 34 Unbeaten In Class AA Ranks

By the Associated Press

Dumas meets Littlefield and Mexia clashes with Huntsville in the headline games of Class AA schoolboy football this week.

They match undefeated, untied teams and mean the list will be cut to 30 at the most.

Conference jousts dot the 92-game schedule in this division in which Pecos continues to be the top favorite for the championship. Pecos is undefeated and untied and has impressive record including a 27-26 victory over a Class AAAA team Bowie of El Paso.

Pecos plays Ozona this week. Ozona is a Class A team that hasn't been doing any good this season.

Championship warfare flames in six of the 32 districts but none of these games is of immediate importance.

Another feature sees Floydada stepping down to play Lockney of Class A. Lockney is undefeated and untied for the season.

Teams with perfect records in Class AA as the campaign pushes into its second month are: Dumas, Phillips, Floydada, Burkburnett, Quanah, Anson, Stamford, Littlefield, Seminole, Pecos Comanche, Arlington, Diamond Hill, Fort Worth, Jacksboro, Nocona, Mesquite, Terrell, Mt. Pleasant, Paul Pewitt, Center, Cleveland, Mexia, Humble, Killeen, Caldwell, Alvin, Uvalde, Refugio and Donna.

Texas-Oklahoma, Texas A&M Against Spartans Top SWC

By CLAYTON HICKERSON
Associated Press Staff

Southwest Conference football teams prepared for another round of games Tuesday after a disastrous week end in which they lost five of six intersectional contests.

Coaches stressed mistakes of last week as Texas, victims of Notre Dame, prepared for Oklahoma's Sooners and Texas A&M, victims of Kentucky, prepared for Michigan State. Coach Jess Neely of Rice figured the Owls' loss to LSU might act as a tonic, while Rusty Russell, Southern Methodist mentor, worried over injuries left by the loss to Georgia Tech's Rambling Wreck.

Coach Ray George put his Texas Aggies through light drills at College Station in 60-degree weather. There were no injuries after the Cadets' 10-7 loss to Kentucky and little remorse. The Aggies felt like they played a good team a good game and just faced a better team, Michigan State's great outfit, this week end at East Lansing.

Oklahoma Next

Ed Price's Texas Longhorns, 14-3 losers to Notre Dame last week, looked toward Oklahoma and their game in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas Saturday. The Longhorns skipped workouts Monday and looked at the movies of their loss to the Fighting Irish. Full-scale workouts were on tap Tuesday.

Rice also had a full-scale scrimmage on the schedule Tuesday and Wednesday after taking it easy on Monday. Concentration will be on blocking, woefully lacking against LSU.

The Arkansas Razorbacks, losers to defending champion Texas Christian in the conference opener last week, stressed defensive blocking. Coach Otis Douglas switched Lewis Carpenter from fullback to right end for the Hogs' new deep split T formation. Quarterback Lamar McHan will move into fullback while Bob St. Pierre plays quarter.

The Razorbacks play Baylor, 31-7 victors over Washington State, in the second conference game of the season Saturday. Baylor's Coach George Sauer prepped his Bears for the Little Rock tussle Monday with a detailed scout report on the Hogs, tuesday the Bears get in contact work.

TCU's Frogs, with a breather scheduled against Trinity University, head Coach Dutch Meyer say they made more mistakes against WU, than "I've ever seen a team make in a game." The Froggies were due some hard work Tuesday.

Southern Methodist's young Mustangs, completely bewildered by Georgia Tech last week, got a good schooling in their mistakes Monday from Coach Russell plus a 45-minute scrimmage. More hard work was set Tuesday as the Ponies looked toward their game with Missouri at Columbia Saturday afternoon.

Arizona Bids For Top Spot In Border Conference Play

By CURTIS P. DONNELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Passes and fumbles played a big part in Border Conference football games Saturday night.

As none of the eight teams played each other, there was no change in conference standings, but the University of Arizona, with a smashing 27-0 victory over the University of Utah at Salt Lake City, proved its right to be among the three leaders.

Arizona, Arizona State at Tempe and Texas Tech have each won one conference game and have no losses. Arizona was the only one of the leaders to win its non-conference tilt Saturday. ASC Tempe fell at home before San Jose State, 21-14, and Texas Tech absorbed a 42-21 wimming by College of Pacific at Stockton.

Fumbleitis

At Tempe, the story was reversed. The Sun Devils suffered severely from fumbleitis, while San Jose's brilliant passing attack kept the Devils off balance. ASC Temp scored first in the first quarer when Halback Marvin Wahlin capped a 29-yard drive by a plunge from the one-yard line.

San Jose evened matters when End Stan Wacholz took a 61-yard pass from Quarterback Lynn Aplanalp and outran ASC's touted back, John Henry Johnson, former St. Mary's star, to score. Halfback Tommy McCormick led College of Pacific's Tigers their victory over Texas Tech.

Hardin - Simmons, with Sophomore Halfback Rodney Williams scoring two of the touchdowns trounced trinity University, 33-7.

Texas Western rolled over the touring University of Hawaii at El Peso for a 42-26 victory.

At Albuquerque, N. M., the Mexico Aggies fell before the Skyline Conference University of New Mexico, 23-0, all the scoring being in the second half.

This week Arizona meets University of Colorado in Tucson and ASC Tempe will be idle. New Mexico Aggies meet West Texas State which was idle last week in a day game at Canyon; Texas Western plays at Texas Tech, in a night contest; Hardin-Simmons will be at Midwestern University, Wichita Falls; and La Verne plays ASC Flagstaff at Flagstaff. Flagstaff was idle last week.

The greatest firmness is the greatest mercy.

Harvesters Aim For Second Win On Amarillo Soil Friday

Only one time in the last 22 years have the Pampa Harvesters been able to defeat th Amarillo Sandies on Sandie soil in Amarillo. That was in 1950, when they snowed the Black Gold under a 28-0 shellacking.

That victory was the middle one of a string of wins over Amarillo that has now reached three straight. Pampa fans are hopeful and Amarillo fans are fearful, that the Harvesters are going to stretch it to four straight next Friday night. If the Pampans do come off the beautiful green turf of Sandie stadium victorious Friday, it will be the seventh time since 1930. Here's the record:

AT PAMPA
1931 — Pampa 13, Amarillo 6
1933 — Amarillo 9, Pampa 6
1935 — Amarillo 13, Pampa 0
1937 — Amarillo 6, Pampa 0
1941 — Pampa 16, Amarillo 12
1943 — Pampa 7, Amarillo 0
1945 — Amarillo 24, Pampa 10
1947 — Amarillo 21 Pampa 6
1949 — Pampa 20, Amarillo 12
1951 — Pampa 26, Amarillo 14

AT AMARILLO
1930 — Amarillo 2, Pampa 0
1932 — Amarillo 7, Pampa 2
1934 — Amarillo 13, Pampa 6
1936 — Amarillo 21, Pampa 6
1938 — Amarillo 14, Pampa 0
1940 — Amarillo 27,. Pampa 0
1942 — Amarillo 39, Pampa 7
1944 — Amarillo 13,, Pampa 0
1946 — Amarillo 27, Pampa 0
1948 — Amarillo 32, Pampa 6
1950 — Pampa 28, Amarillo 0

Tickets for Friday night's game are now on sale at the School Business Office in the City Hall. About 1,400 adult tickets, all supposedly between the 40-yard lines, have been allotted to Pampa at $1.50 per ticket.

Thus far this year the Harvesters have racked up three straight wins while the Sandstorm finally gained its first victory of the year last Friday night over Plainview. But past records mean nothing when these two bitter rivals tangle each year. And nobody appreciates that fact any better than the coaches and the players who are looking forward to a battle-royal Friday night. On the basis of past performances this year, the Harvesters will go into the conest as favorites, something that has been a rarity in past seasons. Last year they entered the game the same way, and trailed at halftime, 14 - 12. But a strong second half rally pulled the game away from the Sandstorm.

The Harvesters went through a snappy, three-hour workout yesterday in perfect football weather as a norther blew into the Panhandle. The drill was devoted to special offenses and defenses for the Sandies. And they ended on one sour note as senior fullback David Enloe came out of a skirmish with what was thought to be a broken hand. But thorough examination by the team physician brought out a diagnosis of a severe sprain. He is expected to be ready to go Friday night.

The only other serious casualty is junior end James Pippen who received a pulled groin muscle in the Vernon game and saw no action last week. He will be used sparingly throughout the week and will be ready if needed Friday.

I know no real worth but that tranquil firmness which meets dangers by duty, and braves them without rashness.

Baylor, Only Unbeaten SWC Eleven, Thrives On Speed

WACO (AP) — George Sauer was accused of coaching track instead of football when he talked about how much speed he would have on his team. But everybody now realizes why Sauer stressed the speed angle.

His dashing sophomores who run like the wind have made Baylor the only undefeated Southwest Conference team. It has been surprising to everybody except Sauer.

He told the sports writers a month ago they were rating his team too low when they relegated Baylor to sixth place in the seven-member conference.

"Speed has been one of the vital factors in our team winning both of its games," said Sauer as he prepared the young Bears for a tough conference test at Little Rock Saturday night against Arkansas. "Speed and the steadying influence of such veteran players as Center Jack Sisco and Johnny Davis and Pete Erbian at guard. Sisco is the best offensive center in the conference, a great blocker."

One-Two Punch

Sophomore backs L. G. Dupre and Allen Jones have been the one-two punch of a Bear backfield that strikes like lightning, but at times there's almost a full team of second year men on the field, including Billy Hooper at quarterback.

If Baylor doesn't run out of the Joneses and Smiths and Robinsons and Davies it may just keep right on winning. There are four Jones boys on the squad—Allen, Glenn, Charley and Buddy, all backs. Buddy hasn't played any this year because of a leg injury but Sauer says he'll be right in there when he comes around. Then there are two Smiths — Charley, a halfback, and James Ray, a tackle. And two Robinsons—Bob and Joe, both tackles. And two Davies — Johnny and Starkey, guard and fullback respectively. Strangely none of those fellows are related.

Loss of Larry Isbell, All-America quarterback, was supposed to make Baylor a most ordinary team. But a fellow named Francis Cotton Davidson has stepped in to handle the ball like a magician and pass almost like Isbell.

Sauer doesn't tell his boys they are expected to make mistakes because they are sophomores. "Sophomores don't have to make mistakes," he says. "That is what practice is for—to learn what to do."

And the Baylor sophomores are not making many mistakes. Speed, and Joneses, Smith, Robinsons, et al, and a smattering of veterans like Sisco and the great Bill Athey, one of the finest guards in the University's history, could land the Bears up around the top again in the Southwest Conference.

Beaumont Backs Loan

BEAUMONT (AP) — Beaumont citizens have agreed to arrange a $50,000 loan to Allen H. Russell of Houston to help him buy the Beaumont Texas League baseball club for a reported $150,000.

Russell, president of the Houston Texas League club, has a five-day option to purchase the franchise and physical properties of the local club which expires tonight at midnight.

Russell has said he would sever his connections with the Houston club if he obtains the Beaumont outift.

Frances Ward Elected 1952 BSP Valentine Girl

MRS. FRANCES WARD
. . . BSP Valentine girl

Mrs. Frances Ward was selected 1952 Beta Sigma Phi "Valentine Girl at a sorority meeting held Monday night in the City Club room. Mrs. Ward, a fall pledge, is to be entered in a national contest, and is to compete with other "Valentine Girl" entries from all over the country.

Contestants are to be judged by a Hollywood film personality, and the winner is to be featured on the February cover of "The Torch," official publication of Beta Sigma Phi. The winner's sorority will receive a cash prize.

During the business session, Mrs. Elmer D. Young was announced as new club treasurer, and the formal pledge ritual date was set for the next meeting. A Halloween costume party for members and escorts is to be held Oct. 27.

Mrs. Bill Bridges and Mrs. Bob Fugate, hostesses for the evening, served refreshments from a table covered with a green clothe and centered with an autumn floral arrangement.

What parents need today is a little more old-fashioned assurance that they really do "know best."

Here is a letter typical of the uncertainty of the great majority of parents today.

A mother writes: "In an attempt at fairness to our eleven-year-old daughter, we'd like advice on a subject which is causing considerable controversy in our household.

"It seems to be the fad now for sixth graders to imitate their older sisters and have slumber parties, where four hours seems to be the maximum amount of sleep they get.

"Both my husband and I can't quite see our daughter's viewpoint in the matter and have thus far tabooed these parties. Ordinarily we'd 'stick to our guns' but her lament is 'ou treat me like a baby' and 'Im the only one who isn't allowed to go.'

"Truthfully, these psychologists have me so confused I don't know whether we're being too strick and old-fashioned with our children or just different from the modern, 'follow the mob' parents.

"If it weren't for the fact that she seems resentful, we'd go along with our instincts but we do want her love and faith, and we do want her to be socially acceptable. She claims the girls aren't as friendly since she has had to decline their invitations."

It is that kind of uncertainty that so often today ends up with parents of sound judgment finally giving in to their children on first one stand and then another.

In their hearts they are pretty sure they do "know best." But there is that nagging doubt that maybe they are being old-fashioned, that perhaps they are making their children "different," that they may be building up deep-rooted resentments within their children. And often the doubt wins out over their sound judgment.

Children and teen - agers take full advantage of this uncertainty among parents and push it all that it is worth.

We parents wouldn't be in that kind of spot if we were just a little more confident that mother and dad know best.

Entre Nous Club Has Program On Canadian Tour

Highlights of trips to Canada and the western section of the United States provided the program at a recent Entre Nous meeting in the home of Mrs. Joe Lewis.

Mrs. Guy Farrington told of a trip to Canada this summer and described the numerous parks and fishing resorts, and beautiful flowers. The two most interesting stores visited were the Hudson Bay and the T. Eaton Co. Returning through the Black Hills of South Dakota, they visited the Shrine of Democracy, Rushmore Monument, and witnessed the Black Hills passion play.

Mrs. W. D. Benton, who visited in Canada this summer, also gave impressions of visits in other states. In Nebraska, they were impressed with the beautiful corn and large hay fields, and the oversize barns in that section that are used to house stock when the temperature gets as low as 60 below zero. She also visited the Lake of the Woods and Three Thousand Islands and the state park in Itaska, Minn. On another trip, Mrs. Benton visited California, and described outstanding features of a visit to the Los Angeles area.

Mrs. Ruth Spearman presented a current evert, Could Your Vote Change the Election, following the travel talks and Mrs. C. A. Tignor reviewed an editorial from The Pampa Daily News.

Chicken sandwiches, frozen custard and coffee was served to Mmes. C. L. Carruth, Farrington, Harold Tarr, Maye Skaggs, Venice Farrington, C. C. Stockstill, Flossie Bowers, Benton, W. D. Walberg, Tignor, Holley Gray, L. H. Ingrum, Boyd Brown, and Spearman.

Local Girls Enrolled At TSCW In Denton

DENTON (Special) — Three girls from Gray County are attending the 50th session of the Texas State College for Women.

They are: Mariola Duvall, Jean Ryan, and Peggy Lou Schaffer from Pampa.

Established in 1903, Texas' university for women this year looks optimistically to the future as it celebrates its Golden Anniversary with more than 800 classes especially designed for women.

"Vast new responsibilities will accompny our growth in the second half century," President John A. Guinn reports to the people of Texas. "The Texas College for Women still regards itself as indespensable as pace - setter, pioneer and model in career opportunities for women, with the clear understanding however that all careers revolve around the home, that the whole woman nobly trained is the product of the liberal as well as th technical arts."

TSCW now has nearly 70 degree groups, many of which opened new horizons in education for women, and students in all of them will have part in the Golden Jubilee. The College of Household Arts and Sciences, which developed from its home economics work of the last 50 years, is outstanding in the nation in both instruction and research. And all other courses are highly accredited, providing an enrichment program benefitting every county in Texas.

Miss Duvall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Duvall, 431 N. Hazel, is a sophomore speech major. She took part in the Children's Theatre last year.

Miss Ryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Grey Ryan, 1216 Duncan, is a sophomore occupational therapy major. Her special interest is art.

Miss Schaffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Schaffer, is a freshman business major. In high school she was a member of the basketball club and F.H.A.

Serve Something Different At Dinner Party

By DOROTHY ROE
Al' Woinen's Editor

Want to serve something different at your next dinner party?

What about shee-fish soup, bear feet, pussy willow greens and, for dessert, lingcod fish ice cream?

The ingredients may be a little difficult to find since they include a great deal of blubber and seal oil but you may be sure the meal will be sensational.

Elsa Shannon is planning to invite her friends to such a repast when she and her husband Jack get back from their current trip to Newfoundland, Labrador, Greenland and Iceland, where they are singing for American soldiers with a USO-camp show unit.

Elsa and Jack recently made an extensive tour of U.S. Army bases in Alaska and the Aleutians and brought back with them the only Eskimo cook book ever printed. It was prepared by students of the Shishmaref Day School, Shishmaref, Alaska, with the help and encouragement of their teacher, Isabelle B. Bingham.

Elsa, who was reared in Little Rock, Ark., says she thinks such dishes as oogruk flippers and tom-cod liver with salmonberries should add an interesting note to her repertoire of Southern cooking. Says she.

"Right now we like Southern fried chicken better than anything, but travel does broaden one's tastes. Who knows? Blubber ice cream may be delicious."

"First cook and boil the lingcod fish with water in the pot and no salt. Remove all the bones from the fish and break the fish into small pieces. Dry the pieces for a while and mix these with Eskimo ice cream. Add seal oil once in a while and as much water as you need."

The Eskimo ice cream is made thus:

"Grate reindeer tallow into small pieces. Add seal oil slowly while beating with hand. After some seal oil has been used, then add a little water while whipping. Continue adding seal oil and water until white and fluffy. Any berries can be added to it."

A special delicacy described in the Eskimo cook book is soured seal liver. This obviously is an acquired taste, like ripe olives, as is made plain by Agnes Kiyutelluk, the girl student who submitted the recipe:

"Soured seal liver is made in the summer time. Place liver in enamel pot or dish and cover with blubber. Put in warm place for a few days until sour. Most of the boys and girls don't like it, except the grown - ups and old people. I don't like it either."

Eskimo desserts include such things as dried salmon eggs and blackberries with seal oil, tomcod liver with salmonberries and willow meat with sugar and seal oil.

THE ROARIN' TWENTIES suggest laughter and gaiety with just a hint o' Clara Bow in all the women's costumes. Above, Mrs. George Cree, Jr. models a dress worn by Mrs. A. H. Doucette to a 1927 dinner-dance at the Schneider Hotel. The dress was of peach georgette with lace and ostrich feather trim. The shawl, grandmother of the modern stole, was the 'nth degree of fashion at that time. Mrs. Doucette's embroidered shawl from Mexico was outlined with dangling silk tassles. It is one of the period costumes to be modeled in the annual ESA style show Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in the Pampa Junior High School auditorium.

ESA Fashion Models To Rehearse Wednesday In Jr. High Auditorium

Epsilon Sigma Alpha members met Monday night in the home of Mrs. Guy LeMond to make final plans for the annual fashion show to be held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in the junior high school auditorium in connection with the county birthday observance.

Mrs. John Nutting, general chairman, announced that models are to meet Wednesday evening in the auditorium for rehearsal. Models for local stores with current fashions are to meet at 7:30 p.m. and those wearing "old fashions" are to meet at 8:15.

The show, featuring fashions from the last 50 years in Pampa, is to be commentated by Mrs. Bob Vail. Many ensembles will be worn by descendants of the original owners, and men, as well as women, will be presented in the showing.

The public is invited to the style preview; proceeds are to purchase a sight screen for testing eyesight of Pampa public school children.

Attending last night's meeting were following committee members: Mmes. Nutting, Bert Arney, Bill Ragsdale, Margaret Dial, Dorothy Nelson, and O. J. Payne, general arrangement committee; Mrs. Ragsdale, Mrs. Bruce Parker and Mrs. Nelson, contact committee; Mrs. Charles Robison, Mrs. Harold Payne, and Mrs. John Gannon, tickets and programs; Mrs. LeMond, Mrs. Bud Boyle and Mrs. Walter Reek, stage sets; Mrs. Joe Mitchell, Mrs. Dial, Mrs. Tom Lindsay and Mrs. Al Doucette, models and costumes; Mrs. Farks Brumley, Mrs. Burton Doucette, Mrs. Arney and Mrs. Bill Dingus, script and commentator.

Miss Cora Orrick Honored With Tea

SHAMROCK (Special) — Miss Cora Orrick, bride - elect of W.N. Hood of White Deer, was honored at a tea and miscellaneous shower recently in the home of Mrs. Albert Cooper.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Cooper were Mrs. Bit Mayfield, Mrs. Joe Jernigan, Miss Willie Massey, Mrs. Mary Pace and Mrs. Chester Tindall.

Autumn tones were emphasized in decoration. The tea table was laid with a handmade cutwork cloth centered with a low crystal bowl of yellow daisies on a base of brown net. Yellow tapers in crystal candlesticks flanked the central arrangement.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Cooper, the honoree and her mother, Mrs. W. L. Orrick. Miss Massey registered guests, Mrs. R. L. Orrick and Mrs. George Orrick of McLean, sister - in - law of the honor guest, poured. They were assisted with the serving by Mrs. Tindall and Mrs. Mayfield. Mrs. Jernigan and Mrs. Pace presided in the gift rooms. Recorded music was played during the receiving hours.

Art Club Studies History Of National Art Gallery

"The National Art Gallery in Washington, celebrating its tenth anniversary this year, is an affirmation that in these troubled times when our nation is in a struggle for survival that we have not lost faith in the ultimate victory of humane and Christian values," Mrs. A. D. Hills told the Pampa Art Club at a meeting Monday in the home of Mrs. Harold Wright.

"Art can strengthen these values," Mrs. Hills said. "For instance, a serviceman visited the gallery during the war and wrote in the guest book, 'Through an understanding of what this building holds, our lives will have more meaning.'

"The idea for the gallery was conceived by Andrew W. Mellon, who realized the importance of art in human lives. For the location of the building of his dreams, one with outstanding architectural beauty and near the capitol, Mellon chose a site on Constitution Avenue on the spot the old Baltimore and Potomac Railroad depot once stood. Eminent architects of this and other countries submitted sketches for the building and finally plans were made with the help of Mellon's friend, John Russell Pope.

"Congress approved the site in March, 1837, and passed a bill accepting from Mellon the five and one-half acre plot, money for the construction of the building, and his fabulous collection of 113 masterpieces which formed the nucleus of the gallery. The only condition imposed on Congress was that the gallery was not to bear the Mellon name, but should be known as the National Art Gallery.

"Construction began in June, 1937, but the following August 26 er of the building died one day later. They lived only to see their plans undertaken.

"The building was built to last a thousand years," Mrs. Hills explained. "There is a floor space of a half-million square feet, and the building is 785 feet long. More than 800 carloads of Tennessee marble went into the exterior wall which is 90 feet high, and is rose-pink marble at the bottom, blending into almost a pure white at the top.

"The main floor has an imposing rotunda, 100 feet in diameter, beneath a dome supported by 24 Ionic columns of dark green marble. In its center there is a marble fountain surmounted by the famous bronze statue of Mercury made by Giovanni da Bologna about 1560 in Florence. There are over 100 separate galleries, proof that Andrew Mellow had faith that more art treasures would be added to his contribution.

"The original Mellon collection consisted of 111 paintings and 22 pieces of sculpture. Among the paintings were 21 paintings purchased from the government at Moscow. They were from the collection of the Hermitage, formerly the Imperial Gallery of the Russian Czars. The sum paid for these 21 paintings is said to be between six and seven million dollars. Mellon is reported to have phael's "Alba Madonna." Raphael one million dollars for Raphael was noted for his madonnas and an artist's highest praise is still 'as beautiful as a Raphael Madonna.'

"Another painting procured in this group was Jan Van Eyck's "Annunciation." Van Eyck, the father of oil painting, was using egg yolk as a medium when one day he tried to find another medium. He used oil of various nuts and finally discovered that linseed oil dried more rapidly and blended more perfectly than any other.

"The oldest work in the Mellon collection is by an unknown master of Istanbul, and was painted about 1200. It is a picture of the Virgin holding the Child.

"In 1939, Samuel H. Kress, nationally known stationer, gave his collection of 375 paintings and 18 sculptures to the National Gallery. Among the masterpieces in the Kress collection is a Benozzo Gozzoli masterpiece, "Dance of Salome and Beheading of St. John the Baptist." Medieval and Renaissance artists refused to be limited in a picture to only one moment in time, Mrs. Hills explained, "and this picture is a classic example, done in the middle of the 15th century.

"The Urdenec collection, one of the finest ever formed in America, was the next donation to the gallery. Later, Mr. Chester Dale presented his brilliantly chosen paintings principally of the 19th Century French School. Others have given until now the paintings number about 10 times the first contribution. In the ten-year period, over 18 million people have visited the gallery."

To conclude her discussion, Mrs. Hills pointed out that all over the country the desire to see work of art has increased. People today are beginning to get as much pleasure from looking at masterpieces as generations have received from listening to fine music, she said. Quoting Mr. John Walker, chief curator of the national gallery, Mrs. Hills stated "We are learning that all art is a stirring witness to human creativity, a witness that fortifies our faith in the dignity of man and our belief in the final triumph of Christian ideals."

Mrs. E. J. Haslam, Mrs. O. W. Applebay, Mrs. Roy Chisum and Mrs. A. C. Cox presented discussions of various painters mentioned during the speech.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. Lyle Albright, Applybay, Chisum, Cox, Haslam, Hills and one guest, Kate Stuart.

Patzig To Speak At Sam Houston PTA Meeting Thursday

Cook's Nook

Breakfasts on the weekend are generally more leisurely and menus may well include items which take more time in preparation. Homemade coffee cake, warm from the oven, is especially savored on those occasions when it is possible to linger over that second cup of fragrant coffee.

A splendid coffee cake which can be made easily and quickly, is this one. The batter before baking is generously covered with a rich buttery cinnamon topping which lends a tempting spicy crunchiness to the so-good cake.

CRUNCHY COFFEE CAKE
1 1-2 cups sifted flour
1-2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-2 cup shortening
1-3 cup evaporated milk
1-3 cup water
1 egg
1-4 cup flour
1-3 cup sugar
1-2 teaspoon cinnamon
3 tablespoons butter

Sift the 1 1-2 cups flour, the 12 cup sugar, baking powder and salt together. Cut in shortening until appearance is like coarse meal. Mix milk and water. Beat into flour mixture with egg until well blended. Pour into a well greased baking pan 8x8x2 inches.

Mix the 1-4 cup flour, the 1-3 cup sugar and the cinnamon. Cut in butter until mixture is fine and crumbly. Spread on top of unbaked coffee cake. Bake in hot over (400 degrees F.) until done, about 30 minutes. Makes 1 8-inch square.

Mrs. Chapin Honored

Mrs. Edna Chapin was honored at a surprise birthday party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Powell, in the Skelly Schafer Camp.

Canasta and Hearts were played as the entertainment.

Gifts were presented to Mrs. Chapin and cake and coffee served to: Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hanna and children, Mr. and Mrs. George Porter and children, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. McAllister and children, Mr. and Mrs. Chapin and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Powell and children.

Shell-Shaped Set

Here is a new, exciting shape that you will want to crochet for use as a chair or buffet set. It is equally attractive when used as an individual doily.

Rogers Decries Claim That Country 'Going To The Dogs'

Rep. Walter Rogers decried the claims of many people that "the country is going to the dogs", after sampling voters' attitudes across the nation on his journey back to the 18th Congressional District.

In his weekly newsletter, Rogers — who is apparently driving from Washington — said most people he has talked to are listening to and reading every possible word they can get on both presidential candidates and seem "to be doing their own thinking, sifting the facts and show concern over the election."

He said most people believe in some foreign aid, out think it should be given on the basis that the "helped to everything humanly possible to help themselves."

". . . Folks in all sections are primarily interested in the United States and what it stands for. They realize the responsibility that we hold in the world today and are willing to meet all requirements, but they are not willing to exhaust our resources by trying to keep up the whole world."

He said, "it is interesting to read the national polls and estimates made on a nation-wide scale, and go out into the different communities and talk to the people. The nation-wide picture is a great deal different from the single community picture, but the two together make a wonderful view of the Amrican scene.

The Pampa congressman said a great deal of interest is being shown by voters in every section on the presidential preferential primaries and the electoral college.

Some, he reported, feel party nominations should be made by a primary, but retain the electoral college. Others feel the president and vice - president should be elected by popular vote; still others think each candidate should get a percentage of the electoral vote based on the popular vote received in each state.

In conclusion, Rogers said: "If you ever get to feeling that the country is going to the dogs and can't be saved, just start out across the country and stop every chance you get and visit with the folks. America will never go to the dogs as long as we have the kind of Americans that I have been talking to for the past several days, and most of them look pretty healthy and good for many years to come."

Ivy-Forest, History-Base Running For U. S. Presidency

By FRED HAMPSON

HONG KONG (AP) — It may astound Republicans to learn that they nominated Ivy-Forest-Hero Heroic Appearance-You for the presidency.

And what will the Democrats say when they find they have on their hands a candidate named History-Base of Flower-Scholarly-Forest?

Well that's the way Chinese editors here thansliterate their names into the Mandarin dialect with which they get out their papers.

In transliteration, the name sounds approximately—but only approximately—the same in Chinese as in English.

Chinese wrestled long with the problem, and it was a problem, since both the names of Eisenhower and Stevenson produce certain sounds strange to China.

The nearest they can come to Eisenhower sounds about like this: Eye-Sen-How-Way-Erh. Stevenson comes out: Sh-Ti-Wen-Sen.

It takes five characters to write the Chinese equivalent of Eisenhower and four for Stevenson.

In the case of Eisenhower, the first character is a (literal meaning—ivy). The second is sen (forest), the third how (hero), the fourth wei (heroic appearance) and the fifth erh (you).

Stevenson comes out like this: sh (history), ti (base of a flower where the petals attach to the stem), wen (literary or scholarly) and seh (forest).

The Chinese editors are baffled by Adlai and none has tried to transliterate it.

Some editors however, use Ike for the Republican nominee and the transliteration has an astonishingly appropriate flavor in its literal meaning.

It's Almost Impossible To Beat Bell's Tick-Tack-Toe Machine

You can't beat it.

"Except by fooling it," George western Bell Telephone Company here, said as he described the miraculous gadget his company will have on display at the State Fair oth Texas Oct. 4 through 19.

The gadget is a "Tick-Tack-Toe Machine" which actually competes with human beings in the games so familiar to all. he machine was designed to demonstate how accurately and efficiently the electronic switching tion of he tlephone system works It is made of actual telephone relays, or swtiches.

"It's amazing how intelligently this adget plays the game. Just like a man, onhly better. You push a button which lights up an "X" in one of the squares. The machine automatically lights up an "O" in another square," Newberry said.

"Then no hmatter whereyou place your next "X" the machine will outguess you and either force you nto a tie, or perhaps beat you."

The Tick-Tack-Toeh machine will be a part of Southwestern Bell's exhibit in the Generl Exhiits Building at the annual Sate Fair.

Also on display at the tlephone company exhibit will be a working model of the famous radiohrelay, or microwave, system whi is being used to bring live television programs andihong distant telephone calls to somhe of Texas' largest cities.

"A crew of specialy trained instructors will e on hand at the tlephone exhibit at all times during the Fair to show you how the microwave system, and other telephonic equipment operates," Newberry said.

"A crew of specially trained instructorhs will be on hand at the telephone exhibit at all times during the Fair to show you how the microwhave system, and other telephonic equipment operates,

One of the most ineresting portions of this telephonhe exhibit will be a demonstration of operator toll dialing in which long distance telephone calls will be placed direct from the exhibit at the State Fair to any of the 15,000,000 dial telephones from coast-to-coahst that are cennecoast-to-coahst that are cennected to the system.

Other features of the telephone company exhibit will be devices enabling fiar goers to test the quality of their hearing, and hear how they sohund over the telephone, they wil also observe cable splicers at work onh huge telephone cables demonhstrating the exacting task of splicing hundred of pairs of iney wires together.

The TickTack-Toe Machine?Ho can you beat it? The telephone company manager laughed. "Oh, it's just like trying to get a mathmatician to give the wrong answer to a quqestion like 'how mush is 2 and h2.' he only way to beat this machine is by getting it cofused.

CLYDE JONAS Says

This touch of cold weather is a warning of trouble ahead for your old car. Hard starting is hard on old batteries. Antifreeze is hard to hold in old radiators and radiator hose. The old car can't be depended upon when you are ready.

A mighty good way to get ready for the cold weather ahead is to check with Tex Evans Buick Co. and get a better car. You choose from a good selection of late model, first class cars at Tex Evans.

For example: 1950 Ford V-8 Custom 4 door sedan, 1950 Buick Special 4 door sedan, 1949 Chevrolet 4 door sedan, 1949 Chrysler 4 door sedan, or 1948 Buick Super 4 door sedan.

Come in today and see for yourself. Get ready for winter with a better car from—

Hank Says A Bathroom Scale, Not Dog, Is His Best Friend

By HENRY McLEMORE

Man's best friend is not the dog.

Don't let anyone ever tell you a dog is.

A dog is a good friend, a very good friend, who always greets you with yaps and yaps of happiness, but for pure friendship he can't touch an inanimate object I'm about to name.

Man's dearest friend is a bathroom scale.

There has never been a bathroom scale that bit its master. It needs no feeding. It doesn't have to be brushed or combed. It does not have to be de-fleaed. It does not bark and disturb the neighbors. The bathroom scale does not have to have shots for distemper, specks before its eyes, or drooping tail.

A man never has to walk a bathroom scale at night. It is completely independent, asking nothing more than a comfortable resting place between the tub and the wash basin.

Still, without asking anything and not getting anything, it stands staunchly in defense of its master's growing weight. It never lets its master down, or up, which is the thing its master fears most of all.

When I came back home from Mexico a few days ago, the first "person" I wanted to see was my bathroom scale. I got out of the cab in front of my apartment house, scampered upstairs, and jumped on the scales. Tears came to my eyes when I read the magnified number. I choked up when I thought of how this scale, not having seen me in months, had stood steadfast in its trust.

I weighed exactly what I had weighed when I bought the scales ten years ago. I weighed 157 pounds. I stood on one foot to see if there would be as much as an ounce change. There wasn't. I stood on both feet and bent my knees to see if the scale would register the weight I knew I had picked up in Mexico, eating tortillas and frijoles and good, solid, heavy bread.

Here was a friend indeed, this scale. No matter how badly I behaved it remained faithful to me I am probably the first man in the world who ever bent down and kissed a bathroom scale.

I know quite well that I weigh more than 157 pounds. You don't have to buy as long a belt as I do if you're fighting in the middleweight class. My belt is not much shorter than the hawser which the Queen Mary throws to the dock when landing. When I put on my shirts I suffer a slight case of garroting, and I can't fasten the two top snaps on my sorts. Also, when I eat in a place with a long tablecloth on the table I use it like a coverlet in order to let my belt out a notch or two.

Well, you'd be surprised how much a faithful, dishonest scale does for a man's morale. Your wife says you're overweight and you can't wait to drag her into the bathroom so you can weigh in front of her.

"At my age and height," you say to her, I'll bet you I'm not two pounds off." All the time you know you're coming up with 157.

You comeup with 157 and oh, the sweetness you get. She says you have not been having enough of the things you like to eat and vows to get them for you. She says "You poor, thin boy," and kisses you. A kiss of love and sympathy.

In my will I have set aside a substantial amount, for my bathroom scale. Like the little tin soldier covered with dust, it has kept watch over me.

"I dropped in to give you an idea, George! All the girls in my club would be grand insurance prospects for you—they're always banging up their fenders!"

Army Chaplain Dreams Up Answer To Soldier Gripes

FORT HOOD (AP) — They tell gripers in the Army: "See the chaplain and get your card punched." that's wry-type of humor, son.

But Maj. A. J. Turner, Fort Hood chaplain, gave the old saw new teeth and not only mollifies disgruntled soldiers sometimes but also gets them to read the Bible.

Back in 1952, Maj. Turner says, "I got to thinking about the complaints of servicemen and the joking comeback their buddies would make of 'tell it to the chaplain."

He listed 20 complaints common in the Army—like "No Furlough," "K.P. Duty," "Overworked," "Restricted" and "Outranked." He had these printed on pocket-sized cards with matching Biblical references. Since then he has distribued more than 100,000 cards.

A soldier who is low on mail can check his card, turn to Proverbs 25:25, and read:

"As cold waters to a thirsty soul so is good news from a far country."

The anwer to "Overworked" is in John 9:4:

"I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: The night cometh when no man can work."

And in case reading the scriptures isn't enough, Maj. Turner has this invitation printed in the center of the cards:

"This is to certify that you are entitled to consult with me for any, or all, of the complaints contained on this card."

Nation's Income Tax Law Breeds Class Distinction

By SYLVIA PORTER

Today's income tax law breeds class discrimination.

Particularly in its previsions for deductions, it discriminates against the wage earner, favors the individual getting an income from a business or from investments.

Our Congresional tax - writers' compiaints about the income tax are actually asking us to list our (Man bites dog!) As I reported earlier, a joint House - Senate committee is inviting us to submit specific suggestions for improvements and it plans to make these the basis for an overhaul of our entire tax system.

O. K., here's backing for the strong statements above.

Any profit - seeking venture — from the giant industrial corporation to the small corner store — is entitled under the law to a deduction on its income tax for every expense, ordinary or necessary in the production of its income.

And any property owner can deduct all the expenses involved in the production or collection of his income.

That makes sense. It's proper to allow the corporation, the investor or the property owner to deduct what it costs to get an income even though the income may never materialize.

BUT to the wage - earner, the law denies deductions for expenses he must incur if he is to earn the income on which he pays the taxes.

For instance:

The law doesn't allow any deductions for what a wage-earner may spend on books, coaching, formal education, business magazines, etc., to improve himself and thus earn more taxable income. He can deduct these costs only if his employer requires them.

The law refuses to allow millions of working wives and mothers to deduct the costs of household help — even though they couldn't leave their homes to earn their taxable incomes unless they had this domestic assistance.

The law prohibits deductions for money spent on transportation to and from work — even though the worker may not be able to earn his paycheck without excessive traveling expenses. Not even a disabled worker can get any tax consideration.

The law scoffs at deductions for work clothes and many forms of uniforms customarily adopted by trades — despite the fact that the clothes are required by the job.

The law denies deductions for medical and dental costs except when they top 5 per cent of adjusted gross income. A business can deduct anything spent to keep the income healthy, but a wage - earner's spending to keep himself (his income) healthy is shrugged off.

The law refuses to consider personal expenses that distort home budgets — such as home entertaining costs — unless they're specifically required by the employer. Yet many wage - earners spend many dollars on entertainment just because of their jobs.

The law won't permit deductions for money spent to get a job and the taxable paycheck — expenses to move to another locality to get a position, employment agency fees, special training.

The law accepts the absurd theory that all wage earners live close to their jobs, and thus it denies deductions for expenses when the wage - earner is away from home for meals.

And this is just a sample of unreasonable discrimination in deductions, of class distinction. I have dozens of other illustrations of injustices, and probably so have you. Send them in.

NURSE'S NEW CAREER—Christine Palmer, who has been a registered nurse at Doctors Hospital in New York City for the past five years, has just made her operatic debut with the New York City Opera Co. She's pictured rehearsing the part of Musette, the coquette in Puccini's "La Boheme."

Believes Rayburn Threatening Oilmen

AUSTIN (AP) — Speaker Sam Rayburn "appeared to be threatening Texas oil men" in a Dallas speech Thursday, Chairman Claud Gilmer of Texas Democrats for Eisenhower said Saturday.

If Rayburn did not mean his statement as a threat to oil men to fall into line behind Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee for President, Gilmer said, "perhaps he will clarify it to say what he did mean."

Gilmer's statement added:

"He gave the Democratic administration credit for protecting the 27 1-2 per cent depletion allowance' which means a great deal to the oil industry. I am not criticizing that, but I am wondering about Mr. Rayburn's further remarks, which were quoted in the press as follows:
