SERIOUS INJURIES — Two brothers from McCaulley, Jeff and Walter Willis, received serious injuries at 7:25 a.m. Sunday when their 1955 Model Ford was involved in a collision with a big truck in front of Rip Griffin's truck stop on U.S. 180 east of town. Both men were taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Snyder ambulance service.

Holiday Traffic Deaths Set Grisly New Record

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A record holiday traffic death toll was set when 728 persons were killed in highway accidents during the four-day Thanksgiving weekend. Victims under 18 years of age numbered 125.

This compared with a non-holiday weekend two weeks ago when 546 died in traffic. Eighty-one were under 18.

Both 102-hour periods covered the span from 6 p.m. (local time) Wednesday, to midnight Sunday.

The record toll outstripped the former Thanksgiving holiday death record of 615 set during the four-day period last year, and the all-time traffic death record for a holiday, set during the 1965 Christmas period when 720 died in a 78-hour count.

Many accidents resulted in multiple fatalities, with two to five persons killed in a single crash. Five persons including two married couples died in one head-on collision near Dryden, N. Y., Saturday. Several four-death smashups were reported.

Sunday was by far the deadliest day with nearly 250 deaths.

Apparently, the unusually mild, pleasant weather over most of the nation during the holiday lured unprecedented numbers of persons onto the highways. Millions crowded the roads going home on the last day of the weekend, many running into unfavorable weather conditions posed by widespread rain in the central section of the country, and some snow and freezing in the northern states.

The National Safety Council reports that 49,000 persons died in traffic accidents last year. The count through September of this year reached 38,190 — about 20 per cent more than for the first nine months of 1965.

This year the nation has about 95 million drivers, and they are expected to travel considerably more than the 880 billion traffic miles estimated last year.

The safety council says the Thanksgiving period is not usually regarded as a heavy traffic period. But it pointed out that at the beginning of the Thanksgiving weekend roads were dry and temperatures mild through much of the nation.

3 Persons Injured In Area Mishaps

Three persons were injured in two separate motor vehicle accidents on area highways Sunday.

Jeff Davis Willis and his brother, Walter R. Willis, both of McCaulley, remained in Cogdell Memorial Hospital this morning receiving treatment for serious injuries.

Jeff, 23, sustained a fractured right leg, facial lacerations and chest injuries. He also lost his teeth. Walter, 28, had a fractured wrist, facial lacerations and chest injuries. The condition of both men was described as good.

Their 1955 Model Ford was in collision with the right rear dual wheels of a big 1962 Model Kenworth truck in front of Rip Griffin's truck stop on U.S. 180 at 7:25 a.m. Sunday.

Highway Patrolmen said the car was traveling north across the highway from a parking lot under construction when the mishap occurred. Damage to the car was total, and damage to the truck was estimated at $200.

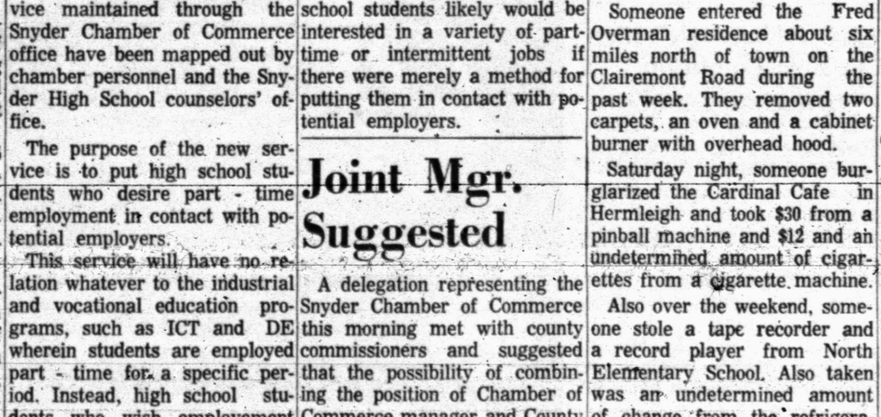
Driver of the truck, Robert L. Wood of Boise, Idaho, was not injured. The Willis brothers were taken to the hospital by Snyder Ambulance Service

Judy Wood, 5-year-old daughter of Jerry Marvin Wood of Austin, was burned by leaking gasoline when their 1966 Model Volkswagen bus turned over at the North City Limits on U.S. 84 near Huffman Street at 11:25 a.m. Sunday. She also was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Snyder Ambulance Service and was released after receiving treatment.

Officers said Wood "took evasive action" to avoid hitting a pickup that turned in front of him. His bus went through a crossroads intersection, rolled, and came to rest on the right-of-way on the east side of the highway several feet from the intersection.

The pickup and bus both were going south on U.S. 84 prior to the accident, according to investigators, who said the pickup apparently turned in front of the bus from the right lane. Driver of the pickup was identified as Ira Ray Wellborn, Box 23, Bovina. He was pulling a cotton trailer behind the pickup. Damage to the bus was total.

Judy's mother also was a passenger in the Volkswagen, but she was not injured nor was her husband.



NARROW ESCAPE — Jerry Wood of Austin swerved his Volkswagen bus at the North City limits on U.S. 84 at 11:25 a.m. Sunday to avoid hitting a pickup that apparently pulled in front of him. The bus was a total loss. Wood's 5-year-old daughter, Judy, was burned from leaking gasoline, but the family escaped serious injuries.

Big Bombers Pound Cong Headquarters

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) U.S. Air Force B52 bombers pounded the suspected central headquarters of the Viet Cong northwest of Saigon today and North Vietnamese army regulars staged a mortar attack on U.S. 4th Division troops in the central highlands. Few shots were fired on the ground elsewhere in the war.

There was no report on the effectiveness of the B52 strike. A U.S. spokesman said the North Vietnamese mortar attack, 18 miles from the Plei Djereng Green Beret camp, caused no U. S. casualties. He said all 25 enemy rounds fell outside the American perimeter.

Earlier in the day Premier Nguyen Cao Ky visited the Plei Djereng Special Forces camp to decorate Maj. Gen. Arthur S. Collins, the 4th Division commander; Brig. Gen. David O. Byars, assistant commander; and 30 other U.S. officers.

The U.S. military command reported only three small skirmishes in various sectors and said 18 Viet Cong were killed.

The U.S. Navy had a busy day Sunday, reporting that 7th Fleet destroyers and rocket ships fired more than 1,300 five-inch shells and rockets at targets in South Viet Nam. The targets included supply routes, storage areas and fortified positions, the Navy said.

There was still no word from the U.S. and South Vietnamese commands whether they would order a truce at Christmas and New Year's. The Viet Cong announced Saturday it would stop fighting for 48 hours on the Christmas weekend and for 48 hours over the New Year.

The giant B52s flew in from Guam and bombed the suspected site of the Viet Cong's Central Office of South Viet Nam in jungles of Tay Ninh Province near the Cambodian border. The province, northwest of Saigon, was the scene of the massive U.S. Operation Attleboro, a 43-day sweep which ended Saturday.

In the scattered ground actions today, a unit of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division reported killing six Viet Cong and capturing two in a 15-minute firefight 19 miles northwest of Tuy Hoa, on the coast.

A unit of the 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division reported killing six Viet Cong and capturing two in an hour-long skirmish 22 miles northwest of coastal Qui Nhon.

Frost Dips Deep Into S. Texas

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Scattered frost reached as far as the Lower Rio Grande Valley in far South Texas today as crisp temperatures and fair skies ruled most of Texas.

The frost was at Mission, which reported 37 degrees, while Rio Grande City reported 29 degrees but no frost.

The local Weather Bureau office forecast patches of frost again tonight in the mid-Valley.

Low Valley temperatures included Harlingen 38, Raymondville 38, San Manuel 36 and McAllen 42.

Minimum temperatures ranged down to 22 degrees at Dalhart in the Upper Panhandle and Alpine in far West Texas as a Canadian cold front kept most of Texas cold to cool.

Situation Eases In West Jordan

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Prime Minister Wasfi Tell charged today that the violent antigovernment demonstrations in Jordan were subsidized with considerable amounts of money from the two hostile Arab nations.

Tell declined to identify them, but the United Arab Republic and Syria, both antimonarchist, have been waging a vehement propaganda campaign against King Hussein's regime.

The situation in West Jordan, center of the disorders, is returning to normal, Tell said, and most curfews have been lifted.

Armored squads of Jordan's Arab Legion checked new demonstrations Sunday in towns along the border. The demonstrations followed an Israeli army raid on three Jordanian frontier villages earlier this month. When Jordan did not retaliate, the demonstrations took on an antigovernment tone.

Tell said four civilians and a soldier were killed in the West Jordan demonstrations last week.

He told a news conference the riotous demonstrations began as a "genuine expression of indignation and anger against Israel and a demand for arms and the strengthening of border forces against Israel."

"There is no doubt the anger was genuine," the prime minister said. "It was a perfectly healthy phenomenon. I would join such demonstrations myself if I were not prime minister."

However, he said, the demonstrations were exploited by subversive elements "and when the situation got out of hand the police intervened." He added that the Jordanian army moved into the trouble areas "only on the request of the citizens themselves."

35 Killed On Texas Highways

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic accidents claimed the lives of at least 35 persons on Texas streets and highways over the four-day Thanksgiving holiday period.

Wet highways and gusty winds were blamed for some of the wrecks Saturday but the weather was generally fair Sunday.

The Associated Press tabulation began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and went through midnight Sunday.

The latest accidents included:

A two-car wreck south of Fort Worth on U.S. 81 Sunday night killed John H. Doty, 53, of Fort Worth. Five other persons were hurt, one critically.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Lindberg, 27, of Pasadena, Tex., were killed Sunday in a car-truck collision on Farm Road 1462 seven miles west of Alvin.

Plans For Student Employment Set

Plans for a student division of the regular employment service maintained through the Snyder Chamber of Commerce office have been mapped out by chamber personnel and the Snyder High School counselors' office.

The purpose of the new service is to put high school students who desire part - time employment in contact with potential employers.

This service will have no relation whatever to the industrial and vocational education programs, such as ICT and DE wherein students are employed part - time for a specific period. Instead, high school students who wish employement for a variety of jobs and for no specificed length of time will be listed. Many times jobs may even be for only a day or part of a day, it was pointed out.

Such job categories as clerical workers, gift wrapping, baby sitting, yard work, etc. will be included in the files.

Student applications and referrals will be handled through the office of V. V. Shearburn, High School Counselor, who in turn will keep the Chamber of Commerce office informed about the availability of students for employment.

Merchants, homeowners, etc., who wish to employ students are asked to make their contacts through the Chamber of Commerce office.

The Chamber of Commerce has kept a file of potential workers at the adult level for a number of years. The student service will be an addition to the service maintained in the past.

Plans for the new service were made after Shearburn reported that it had come to his attention that a number of high school students likely would be interested in a variety of part-time or intermittent jobs if there were merely a method for putting them in contact with potential employers.

Joint Mgr. Suggested

A delegation representing the Snyder Chamber of Commerce this morning met with county commissioners and suggested that the possibility of combining the position of Chamber of Commerce manager and County Coliseum Manager be explored.

It was noted that both positions would have a common interest in many phases of routine work and that possibly an arrangement whereby the county and chamber could share a manager would work to the advantage of both.

John Boren, Bentley Baize and Ernest Sears represented the chamber in the discussion. No conclusions were reached, but indications were that both groups would study the proposal seriously before any action is taken.

Burglaries Are Probed

Sheriff's authorities are investigating a couple of burglaries that occurred outside the city limits.

Someone entered the Fred Overman residence about six miles north of town on the Clairemont Road during the past week. They removed two carpets, an oven and a cabinet burner with overhead hood.

Saturday night, someone burglarized the Cardinal Cafe in Hermleigh and took $30 from a pinball machine and $12 and an undetermined amount of cigarettes from a cigarette machine.

Also over the weekend, someone stole a tape recorder and a record player from North Elementary School. Also taken was an undetermined amount of change from the refrigerator in the teacher's lounge and from the desk in the physical education director's office.

City Police also are investigating the breakin at the school

One Of 5 Girls Lives

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Another of the Aranson quintuplets died today, leaving only one of the tiny girls still struggling to survive.

The same lung ailment that killed three of her sisters claimed the life of Marci Jill, last-born of the quints delivered 2½ months prematurely Saturday to Mrs. Michael Aranson, 22 one-time kindergaten teacher.

The surviving child, Roni Sue, was reported in good condition.

"She is kicking and crying and we are very hopeful," said one physician.

Rep. Boggs Sees Hike In Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Hale Boggs, the third-ranking Democratic leader in the House predicts President Johnson will ask the new Congress for a $10-billion to $15-billion increase in the income tax.

But the Louisianan says Johnson "hasn't told me so."

Boggs, back from talks with Johnson in Texas last week, said Sunday on the CBS radio-television program "Face the Nation" that projected expenditures of $125 billion will bring "a deficit of a considerable magnitude" over revenues pegged at between $115 billion and $118 billion.

Boggs added: "I would think that both parties, having committed themselves to fiscal responsibility, will face up to such an issue. I just don't believe that we would want a deficit of that proportion, particularly where the deficit is called for as a result of national defense commitments."

Dr. Walter W. Heller, former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers under John F. Kennedy and Johnson, again urged a 5 per cent across-the-board income tax boost as a device to slow the economy.

On the NBC program "Meet the Press," Heller said Sunday a tax increase should be coupled with an easing of interest rates. He said this would not bring on a recession.

Heller, now a University of Minnesota economics professor, based his tax increase advocacy on a $20-billion increase in government spending, 4 to 5 per cent boost in plant spending and an increase in war costs of $10 billion to $12 billion.

State-Wide Reduction In Telephone Rates Announced

A state - wide reduction in telephone rates totaling $6 million annually was announced today by C. H. Fowler, manager of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

This is the second such voluntary rate decrease made by the company during the past two years.

Largest item in the forthcoming reduction is a further lowering of intrastate (calls within Texas) Long Distance rates, efefective Jan. 1, 1967.

With the reduction, most station - to - station calls over 56 miles in distance in Texas will have lower rates, varying from 5 to 15 cents less for three minutes depending on distance. Reductions are even greater for calls over three minutes.

For example, here is how the reductions will lower rates for station - to - station calls made during the "day" period:

For a three - minute call:	Present	New
Snyder-Forf Worth	$ .95	$ .90
Snyder-Wichita Falls	.85	.80
Snyder-Tyler	1.15	1.05
For a five - minute call:
Snyder-Fort Worth	$1.30	$1.20
Snyder-Wichita Falls	1.41	1.34
Snyder-Tyler	1.91	1.75

Along with these reductions, all intrastate station - to - station calls which are made after 8 p.m. and all-day Sunday will get the lowest night rate. At present, only station-to-station calls which are prepaid (charged to the number placing the call) and credit card calls are charged at this low rate.

This is the 10th reduction in Long Distance rates for Texas telephone users since the end of World War II.

"Although technological development continues to play a major role in keeping the cost of telephone service at a reasonable level, this reduction in Long Distance rates is due in no small part to the telephone

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband, who admits to being 70, thinks he is quite the Romeo about town. He is always running after some woman. It's harmless to be sure. It couldn't be anything but. Yet, it annoys me.

I am 61, slim, and not bad looking. My husband keeps asking me to touch up his hair. He has lots of it, but it's all white. Would you if you were me? I have enough trouble with him as it is.

SHIRLEY

DEAR SHIRLEY: Tell him he may as well leave the snow on the roof as long as there's no fire in the furnace.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am an only "child" — if you can call an 18-year-old girl a child. I am also a college freshman, living away from home for the first time. Before I went to college, my parents and I agreed that I should have a certain monthly allowance. I have been living on that allowance and haven't asked for any extra money.

Now I get this letter from my father asking me for an accounting of how I have been spending my money. If I am supposed to be on my own, what's all this bookkeeping jazz about?

ON MY OWN

DEAR ON: The "bookkeeping jazz" is probably the tune your father knows best. It's a parental habit to ask children for an accounting of how their time and money are spent. But you should not have to itemize your expenditures as long as you are living within your budget.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: One evening last week my best girl friend's husband, Mac, asked my husband, Sam, to drive him to a used car lot. When they got there, Mac talked the man into letting him drive a car out without a salesman. Then he asked Sam to follow him.

Mac drove to his home where he proceeded to quickly remove several parts of the car and "trade" them with parts from his old second-hand car. When Mac's wife came out and asked what was going on, he said the car belonged to a friend who agreed to trade parts. Then Mac drove back to the lot, and no one was any the wiser—except him and Sam.

I am terribly upset over this, Abby. Should I tell my girl friend what her husband is up to? If I don't and he gets caught, he could go to prison. If Mac knows my husband told me, it would be the end of THEIR friendship. I really don't know what to do. The story is true, the names are false.

NEW ENGLANDER

DEAR NEW ENGLANDER: Tell your husband that he is an accessory to Mac's crime, and if the latter is caught, he will be subject to prosecution himself. If Mac cannot (or will not) undo his theft by returning the stolen parts, then Sam had better lose him and pray that he stays lost.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TIRED OF ARGUING: Many 15-year-old girls prefer continuing with their pediatricians. But if your daughter positively HATES hers and becomes upset when you force her to go to him, let her go to another doctor.

Panicky Passengers Floored As Pilot Drags Treetops

By KENNETH L. WHITING

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. Air Force captain told today how he slammed his crippled transport into treetops to knock down passengers who panicked when liquid flames poured from the plane's ceiling.

Capt. Richard A. Nagel Jr., 34, of Kenmore, N.Y., managed to crash land the plane despite a smoke-filled cockpit and fire raging out of control in the cabin.

All but one of the 37 persons on board escaped serious injury in the crash at Dau Tieng Saturday. One U.S. soldier-passenger reportedly has serious internal injuries.

Nagel was making his fifth takeoff of the day ferrying soldiers at the end of Operation Attleboro, the biggest U.S. operation of the war. His twin-engine C123 Provider was hit by intense ground fire just after lifting from the airstrip.

"We had been warned of possible ground fire," said Nagel. "We fly with our windows open so we can hear it. This sounded like it was coming from four locations Then we heard the slugs ripping into the plane about midway along the fuselage. Immediately a fire broke out above the left wheel well."

Nagel was sitting in the copilot's seat checking out a Thai air force officer as aircraft commander. The American took command of the damaged craft and swung back toward the field.

Panic swept the passengers when liquid fire dripped from ruptured hydraulic lines in the ceiling. They grabbed the few available parachutes and tried to pry open emergency windows, Nagel said.

Airman 1.C. Ray A. Houck, 20, of Cement City, Mich., was fighting the flames with a fire extinguisher and pushed passengers away from windows. Nagel and Houck tried to keep all windows closed to slow the spread of flames.

Some, in their panic, burst into the cockpit and tried to climb out a side window. From it they would have dropped into the spinning propeller. Nagel said that five persons were scrambling around the cockpit with the two pilots.

"We had to get the bird down in a hurry and the first thing I saw was a road. We'd just about decided to put it down there when an Army Caribou overhead called and told us to keep turning. We did and then he said the runway was right on our nose. I saw it"

The Dau Tieng airstrip was carved out of a rubber plantation. A Provider should have a 40-foot-wide runway, Nagel said. The Dau Tieng runway is less than 30 feet wide and lined on both sides by mine fields

Nagel said the airplane was put "badly out of trim" by the passengers running about.

"If we hit with them still standing they would have been thrown all over the aircraft. Intentionally, I nosed it down and dragged it through the tree tops. The first jolt put everybody, including Houck, on the floor.

"We scraped over a rice paddy approaching the strip and I just kept flying it until we ran out of air speed. We hit right on the edge of the runway, the nose gear collapsed and we skidded to a stop about 300 feet down the blacktop.

"It wasn't until we stopped and I started climbing out of my side window exit that I realized I had a passenger sprawled across my lap the whole time we were landing."

Nagel's wife is living in Chandler, Ariz. Houck has been in Viet Nam less than two months but was on his 199th combat sortie.

Teachers Go Back To Job

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Youngstown teachers return to work today with an agreement for a collective bargaining election in 1968 — the main issue in their week-long strike.

The election, to be conducted by the American Arbitration Association, will determine who represents classroom teachers — the Youngstown Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, or the Youngstown Education Association.

The education association was appointed bargaining agent for the teachers last October. Its contract expires in 1968.

Both the federation and the association ratified Sunday night an agreement reached Saturday with school Supt. J. .H Wannamaker. The federation vote was 275-2.

A key point won by the federation, which struck last Monday, was that administrative personnel are not to vote in the election, only classroom teachers. Administrators will vote separately.

The strike affected 28,000 students in the city's 46 schools who will have to make up three days of classes missed last week. Thanksgiving Day and Friday were regular holidays.

The Youngstown Education Association claims to represent 950 teachers, including supervisory personnel. The federation says it represents the rest of the about 1,400 teachers.

Boston Recalls Tragic Fire

By PETER BREWER

BOSTON (AP) — The site is now a parking lot. No marker is there to tell the tragic story. But some visitors to Boston still want to see the place where the Cocoanut Grove fire claimed 493 lives.

It was a wartime Saturday night 24 years ago today when the fire blazed up at 17 Piedmont St.

The Cocoanut Grove night club near Boston's theater district was jammed with more than 1,000 persons, in a space for about 600. It was a noisy, fun-seeking crowd.

No one is quite sure how the fire started. Something started a chain of fire streaking across the room through decorations.

It took just 13 minutes more to end the lives of hundreds in a chamber seething with fire and lethal gases.

Lights went out as the crowd panicked, stumbling and groping for exits. People jammed both sides of a revolving door so it could not move either way. Others rushed to an exit on the other side of the building and piled up against the door. It swung inward and couldn't be opened against the crush.

Alarms brought 14 fire engine companies, plus ladder trucks, rescue squads, civilian defense men, Red Cross plus 400 sailors and Coast Guard men from Boston bases.

Some survivors got out through one side of a double door tugged open by an employe. A few got out through small windows in toilet rooms. Several got out through dressing room windows to an adjoining roof. One group found safety in the club refrigerator.

Out of the deadly fire came some useful changes.

Doctors learned much in techniques of treating burns.

Boston's building code came under sharp study and became one of the most stringent in the country.

It brought outward swinging doors with panic bars. It brought more awareness of fire hazards.

It produced rules limiting the number of persons in public places.

The investigation that followed the disaster brought indictment to 10 men. Only the owner — Barnett Welansky, an attorney — ever went to prison.

Welansky was convicted of conspiring to violate the building laws and was sentenced to 12 to 15 years. He was ill with cancer when he was released after serving 4 years, and died Jan. 27, 1947.

users themselves," the company spokesman said.

"Without the cooperation of our customers in placing their calls by number, using Area Codes, and the overwhelming acceptance of Direct Distance Dialing, it would not have been possible to achieve the operating economies that have made possible the series of reductions in rates," he added.

In addition to the lower Long Distance rates, there will be reductions in some miscellaneous telephone charges, effective Dec. 1 this year.

These include:

— A reduction in the one-time charge for a color telephone from $7.50 to $5.

— A reduction in the monthly rate for amplifier telephones to $1. The rates now vary from $1.25 to $2. (This type telephone is most often used by persons with hearing impairments and at noisy locations.)

— Introduction of a flat - rate charge for installing residence service, ranging from $6 down to $3.50, depending on the size of the town.

This flat - rate, one - time Residence Service Charge will replace the service connection charges now in effect and will enable residence customers to have several telephones installed or changed at one time for the single service charge.

Decision Near On Red China

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly today neared its annual decision on the admission of Red China to the world organization. Diplomats predicted a close vote on an Italian resolution referring the issue to a special committee for a year's study.

The assembly was expected to vote late tonight on the Italian resolution and two others one, the annual Communist proposal to oust Nationalist China and seat the Communists, was believed certain of defeat. The other, the annual U.S. resolution calling for a two-thirds vote to change China's representation, appeared likely to be approved.

Some sponsors of the Italian resolution predicted the 121-nation assembly would adopt it by a vote of about 45-40, with some 35 abstentions. But some of its opponents guessed it would be defeated by a margin of one or two votes.

The Italian resolution hints that both Chinas should be in the United Nations. It speaks of the need to promote universality in the organization and "pave the way to an appropriate solution, taking into account the existing situation and the political realities of the area."

It would have the assembly name a committee of U.N. member countries to study the situation and recommend an "equitable and practical solution" to the assembly's 1967 session which begins next September. Without mentioning the rival Chinese regimes, it "appeals to all governments concerned to give assistance to the committee."

Both Chinese governments rejected the Italian proposal and the two-China solution that it appeared to be a prelude to.

Elk Tranquilized, Then Untangled

STONEWALL, Tex. (AP)— Fritz, a six-point elk, was tangled up in a problem he couldn't seem to shake today.

A veterinarian was to be called in to administer a tranquilizer so Fritz' owner, Simon Burg, could help the frustrated animal.

Burg has Fritz and a female elk in a large enclosure.

Jayne Mansfield's Son In Fair Condition

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Actress Jayne Mansfield says she will stay at Conejo Valley Hospital until her 6-year-old son — mauled by a lion Saturday — is out of danger.

"He asked me for a snake and a kangaroo rat," Miss Mansfield, 32, said Sunday. "That shows that he can get his mind off his injuries."

Zoltan, her son by her former husband, Mickey Hargitay, a movie strongman, was bitten in the neck and back of the head when he tried to pet a chained lion.

What'd you expect us to put our Overhead Cam Six in?

An ordinary car?

Our revolutionary 165-hp OHC 6 is so revolutionary we had to do something special with it. So we made it standard in all Tempests and LeMans.

You see, it was inspired by those famous overhead cam engines in expensive European sports cars. With a few Pontiac refinements, of course. And with a power reserve for expressway passing you'd normally expect from a V-8.

We even offer a 215-hp version that makes a lot of big V-8s seem awfully extravagant. Which is why we say, with a six like this who needs an eight?

Incidentally, a four-way hazard warning flasher, backup lights, and GM's energy absorbing steering column are some of the safety features also standard in Tempests and LeMans. How can you resist seeing your Pontiac dealer today?

A Possible Release From Bonds

A JEST OF GOD. By Margaret Laurence.

A novel of psychological escape, this is the story of a woman on the edge of freedom or failure.

Rachel Cameron is 34; a tall, thin schoolteacher in a small town. Fourteen years earlier she had left college upon the death of her father, to support her mother.

Those 14 years have magnified her bondage. Her mother, who conveniently sports a bad heart, has developed a sweetly deceptive technique for always putting Rachel under obligation. She is the epitome of the "bravely" suffering mother who deftly makes the daughter pour out apologies for not having done more for her.

In Rachel's relations with another teacher, and with an insufferably pompous principal, she has grown further and further into a shell of too-sensitive defensiveness. She is continually imagining large embarassments in order to evade small, trivial and imagined embarrassments.

She has become the sort of neurotic female you would want to shake for being such a scared ninny. She is about ready to drift off into the jittery depths of frustrated spinsterhood.

Then comes a break. A man of her own age comes back for a summer visit to this small town. The poor, captive Rachel falls into an affair with him — an uncommitted, undemanding, casual affair that cannot last. But it gives Rachel a release from her bondage.

The story is told with skill. It presents a heroine of cringing weakness, who may arouse the reader's pity and compassion. It has an emotional resolution at the end, which may satisfy the diligent reader.

1½ cups sugar
1 egg yolk
¼ teaspoon salt
2½ cups sifted regular flour
1 cup cranberry-orange relish (from a 14-ounce jar)
4 egg whites
¾ cup rotary-grated walnuts

Cream the butter and ½ cup sugar; thoroughly beat in the egg yolk and salt. With a wooden spoon gradually work in the flour mixing well. Turn into an ungreased baking pan (13 by 9 by 2 inches). Spread cranberry-orange relish over dough. Beat egg whites until they hold soft peaks; gradually beat in remaining 1 cup sugar, continuing to beat if necessary until meringue holds stiff straight peaks. Fold in grated walnuts. Spread over cranberry-orange relish. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until topping is lightly browned—40 to 50 minutes. Cool in pan. Cut into medium size squares and remove with wide spatula. Serve on dessert plates with forks; meringue will crack.

For a "different" sandwich, spread the bread with deviled ham, then add a filling of crabmeat salad.

Bake Cookies For Your Santa On Christmas

Cookies are a delicious part of the holiday celebration throughout the land! Traditional, regional and new cookies are lovingly prepared each year for entertaining, for giving, for filling children's stockings and even for Santa. Cookies are responsible for many happy childhood memories of the season.

This year's offering to Santa might be a very rich, short cookie, crunchy with roasted almonds, similar to a Tea Cake but with cocoa added to make it even better. These delicious balls of good eating, rolled in powdered sugar, are called Festive Snow Balls. If you would like to offer Santa a choice, you might include Almond Bubbles, too!

Festive Snow Balls

¾ cup soft butter or margarine
1-3 cup confectioners' sugar
1 cup all-purpose flour (regular or instantized)
½ cup instant cocoa
1 can (5 ounces) roasted diced almonds

Combine all ingredients in large mixer bowl. Mix on lowest speed of mixer or by hand until dough forms. Chill until firm enough to handle.

Heat oven to 325 degrees. Roll dough into 1-inch balls. Place 2 inches apart on ungreased baking sheet. Bake 20 minutes or until firm. Cool 2 minutes; remove carefully from baking sheet. While warm, dip tops in additional confectioners' sugar. Cool completely on wire racks. Dip in sugar again. Makes about 4 dozen cookies.

ALMOND BUBBLES

½ cup soft butter
2-3 cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
2-3 cup all-purpose flour (regular of instantized)
½ teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 cup (4½-oz can) almonds, chopped
½ teaspoon vanilla
Confectioners' Sugar Icing (below)

Combine all ingredients except icing in large mixer bowl. Mix on lowest speed or by hand until dough forms. Chill until firm enough to handle.

Heat oven to 375 degrees. Roll dough into 1-inch balls. Place 2 inches apart on ungreased baking sheet. Bake 8 to 10 minutes or until flat, light tan and bubbly. Cool slightly; remove carefully from baking sheet. While warm, drizzle with Confectioner's Sugar Icing. Makes about 3½ dozen.

CONFESTIONER'S SUGAR ICING: Combine 1 cup confectioners' sugar, 4 teaspoons water and ½ teaspoon almond extract. Add small amount of water, if necessary.

When using Self-Rising Flour, omit salt.

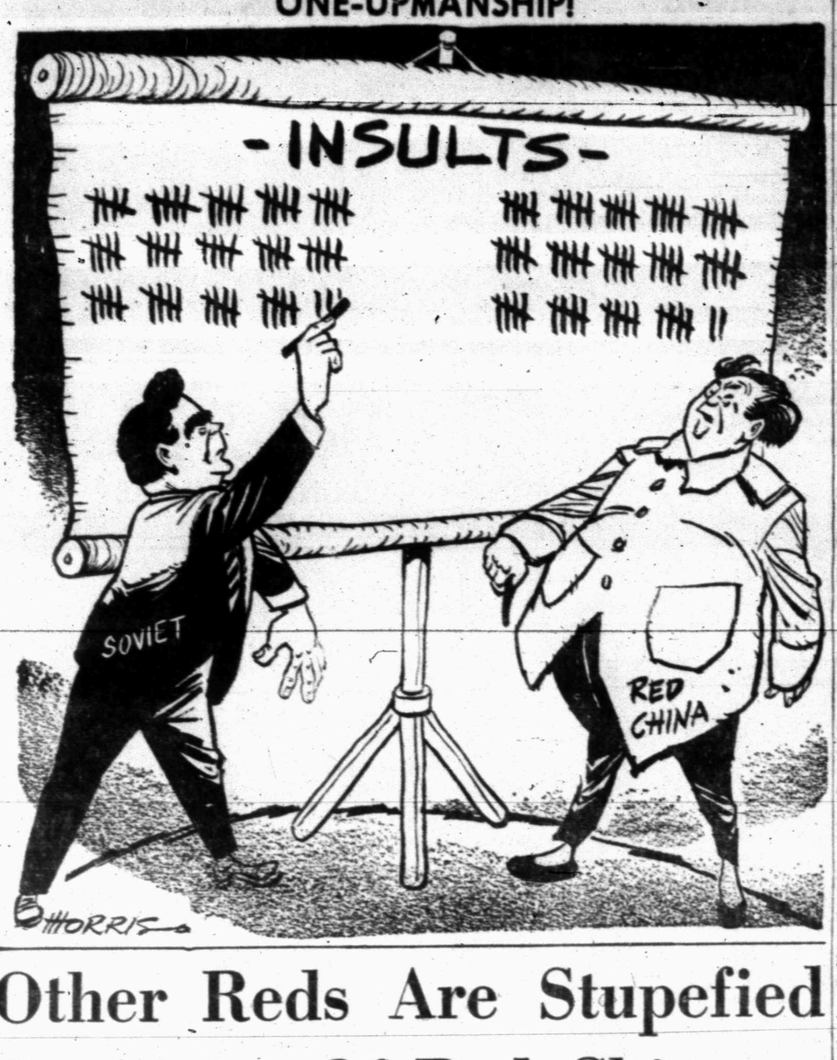
ONE-UPMANSHIP!



Other Reds Are Stupefied By Antics Of Red Chinese

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — In less than 35 years mainland China has moved from a dilapidated, medieval condition, complete with war lords, to one of the great powers of the earth, but with a difference.

It is unified but only to the extent that it is controlled by one organization, the Communist party, and one group of chieftains, the party leaders under the thumb of the father of it all, Mao Tse-tung.

But it is so ripped by internal dissension that it looks like a nation on the fringe of lunacy, acting out a fantasy.

Despite all the interpretations of Red China's troubles, much if not most are basically guesswork which tries to patch fragments of information together about a nation where few outsiders are privy to Red China's insiders.

But even the rest of the Communist world seems stupefied by the antics of the Red Chinese leadership and over the weekend the Soviet Union called on the Chinese to put a curb on Mao.

Under him China has had one disaster after another in foreign relations, climaxed by their break with the Soviet Union, one-time partner and biggest neighbor.

What seems to have happened is this: Mao failed to rivet control; or at 72 he got careless about it; or some of his top lieutenants, anxious about the future of the country or hungry for power of their own, began to plot or disagree among themselves on the succession to Mao when he dies or fades; or Mao, inflexible to change, sticks to a vision of China which seems outdated to his underlings.

Whatever the cause of what's happening now, the result is chaos: He has mustered to his support millions of Chinese youths who, under the badge of the "Red Guard," have tried by violence and numbers to terrorize the nation into a docile obedience to Mao.

Since the army has not interfered yet, it can be assumed that, whatever his reason for what has happened, Mao still has the backing of the military. But that can change fast. Meanwhile, so the youths could perform, schools have been closed, factories idled, railroads tied in knots.

When a dictator has to depend on youngsters by the millions to chant his slogans as a symbol of unity, the picture is one of revolution by irresponsibility, even of childishness. This isn't the way he won his power. He didn't conquer China with children.

With this spectacle in front of them, the members of the United Nations in New York are busy wrestling with proposals about letting Red China have a U.N. membership which the United States has managed to frustrate for 16 years and seems most likely able to frustrate this year again.

The General Assembly is to vote on a proposal for a year's study of what to do with China's U.N. seat, still occupied by Cniang Kai-shek's Nationalist Chinese on Formosa.

There have been proposals to replace Nationalist China with Red China in the United Nations. One of the proposals lost in a close vote last year. The idea is expected to lose again this year.

On the other hand the assembly will probably approve a move — sponsored by the United States successfully last year and now once again — to require a two-thirds vote to change China's representation in the United Nations.

Such a two-thirds vote, of course, is harder to get than a simple majority vote, which is the obvious reason why the United States supports it. If the world had to vote on the biggest mess of 1966 it would have to be Red China.

Boyle's Mail Is Rich In Info

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

One of every three babies born today will live to be 80. But science doesn't seem to be speeding us very quickly to the time when nearly everyone will achieve a longevity of 100 to 150 years.

Is your front door becoming obsolete? Studies show that in suburban homes 90 per cent of the traffic is between the garage and a side or back door.

Leprosy, one of the oldest of man's ailments, still remains something of a mystery. Now generally known as Hansen's disease, it affects some 12 million victims throughout the world.

Medical researchers are still uncertain how the disease enters the bodies of those it strikes.

Are you keeping in a drawer as family heirlooms or good luck pieces any old U.S. silver dollars? Well, look for one dated 1804. A coin dealer may pay you several thousand dollars for it.

Liabilities from business failures in 1946 totaled $67,349,000. The total for last year was more than $1.3 billion. The rule of prosperity seems to be, "The more some make, the more others lose"

Quotable notables: "You must learn day by day, year by year, to broaden your horizon. The more things you love, the more you are interested in, the more you enjoy, the more you are indignant about — the more you have left when anything happens."—Ethel Barrymore.

Did you ever hear of Crab Orchard, Petticoat Lane, Bug Tussle, Gobblers Knob, Rabbit Hash, and just plain Ordinary? Well, they are all place names in Kentucky.

Nature notes: The sluggish opossum, which rarely lives beyond its second birthday, doesn't even open its eyes until it is about 60 days old. The Vinegar River in Colombia is so sour because of seepings from a nearby volcano that fish can't live in it. It's unfair to call amorous middle-aged men wolves — unfair to the wolves, that is. Most wolves are probably more monogamous than most men.

Worth remembering: "The average person probably hasn't stored up enough treasure in heaven to make the down payment on a harp."

The longer the trip, the faster you are likely to drive. A traffic study found that drivers going more than 400 miles travel 7.6 miles an hour faster than those going less than 20 miles.

Folklore: A sore on the tongue tip is a tipoff that you told a lie. Stubbing the left big toe is bad luck, stubbing the right, good luck. If your thumb itches, someone is coming to visit you.

It was the French writer La Rochefoucauld who observed, "Old men are fond of giving good advice to console themselves for their inability to set bad examples."

Junior Editors Quiz on RUBBER

QUESTION: Why doesn't electricity pass through rubber?

• • •

ANSWER: The little men in the upper left are symbols drawn to represent the tiny atoms in a metal such as the copper of an electric wire. Still smaller electrons circulate around the central nucleus of such atoms. But some of the outer ones are loosely attached and may jump to another atom. A flow or stream of loose electrons may be created by a magnetic field. This is an electric current. But when such a current comes against the molecules of a material like rubber, it has to stop flowing. The atoms in the rubber molecules (top right) hang tightly to their electrons. With no loose electrons, the current can't get through; the rubber is acting as an insulator. Other materials also act as insulators and are often combined with rubber. Think of all the electric appliances in a modern house and you can see why rubber insulation is so important. Some materials will resist electricity, but not enough to keep it from fighting its way through, creating heat as it does so. This is what is happening when electricity passes through the heating wires of your electric stove.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Help prevent fires by checking wires from your electric appliances now and then. If you find any wires which look broken or worn, tell your parents. 11-28

(Richard Chamberland of Cumberland, R. I., wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper.)

Bengals Host Wolves; Blue Devils Visit Sweetwater

The Snyder Tigers open their basketball season for 1966-67 tonight in Tiger gym with Colorado City's talented Wolves providing the opposition.

The program begins at 6:15 p.m. with the "B" teams of both schools clashing. It will be followed by the varsity battle.

Coach Ned Underwood's crew has several boys returning from last year's squad, and they hope to imporve on a 7-14 record. Probable starters for tonight's varsity tussle include guards Tommy Bullard, Langston Powell and Sandy Wellborn and post men M.C. Powell and Eldon Woodward.

Colorado City gave the Tigers two close battles last season and should be greatly improved this year the Snyder "B" team tournament will be held here Friday and Saturday. First round pairings find Monterey of Lubbock meeting Abilene Cooper at 3:30 p.m. and Lubbock High tangling with Brownfield at 5 p.m. in the upper bracket.

Snyder begins its road trip Tuesday with two games slated at Andrews in a program that begins at 6:15 p.m.

Lower bracket foes are Seminole and Midland Lee at 6:30 p.m. and Big Spring and Snyder at 8 p.m. All first round tilts are slated Friday. The tourney will conclude Saturday with a championship tussle at 8 p.m.

Also beginning its basketball schedule tonight will be Travis Junior High School. The Blue Devils tangle with Sweetwater there with the 8th grade game on tap for 5 p.m. today followed by the 9th grade game at 6:30 p.m.

Lamar originally had been scheduled to open its season tonight, but the schedule has been changed.

Kathy Plays It Safe

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) Kathy Whitworth plays it safe at the Titleholders Golf Tournament, and her caution has paid off with back-to-back championships.

The Jal, N.M., golfer successfully defended her title Sunday with a 73 on the final round for a 72-hole total of 291, two strokes in front of her nearest challengers.

"You can't afford to get off the fairways on this course," Miss Whitworth said. "So I try to steer the ball even if it costs me distance."

Miss Whitworth started a stroke back of Mary Mills of Ocean City, Miss., in the final round.

Cokes Is 7-5 Favorite

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) Curtis Cokes, the World Boxing Association welterweight champion, tonight meets the man indirectly responsible, at least, for Cokes being in the position of defending his title.

Jean Josselin, the stubby Frenchman, was the fighter who beat Brian Curvis, the Welshman, and knocked him out of an elimination to decide the champion.

Cokes got Curvis' place and beat Luis Rodriguez and Manny Gonzalez to become recognized as champion.

And so, tonight at approximately 10 p.m. (CST), Cokes gives Josselin a chance to take the title away from him. They meet at 15 rounds in Memorial Auditorium, which seats 10,500.

Cokes is a 7-5 favorite.

Barney Ross In Another Big Fight

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—A prizefighter has to be a battler, but for Barney Ross fate cruelly never let him put down his dukes or fighting heart.

Ross, 57, was a ring terror as world lightweight and welterweight champion in the mid 1930s'

However, boxing retirement in 1938 marked only the beginning of a fantastically grim struggle in the life and times of a little iron man born in New York City as Barnet David Rosofsky.

"Don't worry, I'm still in there swinging and I'll lick this thing, too," rasped Ross, who has throat cancer.

"I've had 10 weeks of cobalt treatments and the doctors have arrested its spread."

Ross is a man who wouldn't tell you about a nightmare if his life was full of them. And it has been.

There was the hellish night, in 1942, when Marine Corp. Ross killed 22 Japanese soldiers while standing guard over three wounded buddies in a Guadalcanal foxhole.

In 1946, there were four torturous months in a government hospital when Ross conquered the narcotics habit which "slipped up" on him, the aftermath of malaria contracted in the South Pacific jungles.

And now it's still another lonely, desperate battle — with no referee, no gloves and no rules — for the lion-hearted little guy who hard the roar of thousands:

When he won the lightweight title from Tony Canzoneri in 1933 at Chicago and the same year outlasted Canzoneri in a fierce rematch before 35,000 in New York's Polo Grounds.

When he had an epic three fight series with Jimmy McLarnin, winning the welter crown from McLarnin in 1934, losing a rematch and then whipping McLarnin in their third bristling tangle.

And when Barney was battered into retirement in losing the welter title to Hammering Henry Armstrong on May 31, 1938.

Barney's ring earnings are gone, but not his friends.

In New York, a testimonial to Ross will be held Wednesday night at a Sunnyside Garden fight show aimed at raising $10,000 for the stricken ex-champ.

On Dec. 12, Barney's Chicago friends will pay $50 each to attend a downtown theater at which film clips of Barney's old fights will be shown.

Redskins Set 1-Game NFL Scoring Record

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

This was the National Football League on a whacky Sunday afternoon:

The Washington Redskins walloped the New York Giants, 72-41, in a record-setting romp.

Then there was St. Louis' 6-3 field goal victory over Pitts-

Washington Coach Otto Graham pushed his Redskins into the NFL record book with three seconds left when he sent in Charlie Gogolak for a 29-yard field goal that erased Los Angeles' 16-year record of 70 points in a single game.

"In a crazy game like this," shrugged Graham, "what's another three points?"

For the Cardinals, three more points can mean the difference between a victory and a defeat. St. Louis moved into a tie for first place in the Eastern Conference despite the fact that they went without a touchdown for the second straight week.

In other games Sunday, Green Bay opened a two-game lead in the Western Conference with only three games to play by beating Minnesota 28-16 while Los Angeles was stunning Baltimore 23-7. Chicago defeated Atlanta 23-6.

Defensive back Brig Owens scored two touchdowns and set up two others as the Redskins took the Giants apart. Washington's A. D. Whitfield scored three times and Charlie Taylor twice as the two teams combined for a record-smashing 16 touchdowns and 113 points. New York's Gary Wood threw for three TDs and ran for a fourth.

Jim Bakken kicked field goals from 26 and 15 yards out for the Cardinals, who have won three of their last four games by a total of 13 points. Mike Clark booted one from 47 yards for the Steelers.

Defensive back Herb Adderley was the hero for the Packers, partially blocking a punt to set up one touchdown and then intercepting a Fran Tarkenton pass to choke off a late Minnesota comeback.

Green Bay was protecting a 21-16 lead with two minutes left when Adderley picked off Tarkenton's pass after the Vikings had moved to midfield. Moments later, rookie Jim Grabowski raced 36 yards with the wrapup touchdown.

Los Angeles gave the Packers a boost by knocking off Baltimore — the Colts' second loss in as many weeks. The Rams limited Gary Cuozzo and a sub-par Johnny Unitas to only nine completed passes. Unitas, who injured his right shoulder two weeks ago and suffered five interceptions last Sunday, played only briefly in the second half and lost 20 yards passing.

Dick Bass jolted the Colts for 126 yards in 30 carries while Baltimore's running game managed only 33 yards in 18 attempts against Los Angeles' front wall.

Gale Sayers, running over a mud-soaked field, shredded Atlanta defenses for 172 yards in 19 carries as the Bears defeated the Falcons. Sayers also gained 63 yards on five passes.

Mustangs Win SWC Grid Title

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Southwest Conference football campaign is at an end with several things setting it apart from past races:

1. Southern Methodist upset the Texas-Arkansas dynasty that had existed for seven years (one or the other won or tied for the title) by taking the championship.

2. The greatest attendance in history—1,585,043 for 41 games, an average of 38,661. There were 31,250 more fans and the average was up 1,665 per game over the highest of the past.

3. Texas staggered under the burden of the most injuries ever and still managed to close out in a blaze of glory by capturing four of its last five games to earn a spot in the Blubonnet Bowl.

4. Texas Tech pulled one of the big upsets of all time when it beat Arkansas 21-16 to knock the Razorbacks out of at least a championship share. Arkansas had beaten Southern Methodist decisively after Southern Methodist beat Texas Tech.

5. There wasn't a single tie game all season, something unusual in the Southwest Conference.

The conference race came to a close last week with first Texas beating Texas A&M to finish in a tie for second in the standings and get into the Bluebonnet Bowl against Mississippi Dec. 17.

Then Saturday Southern Methodist worked over Texas Christian 21-0 to not only win the conference title by a full game but to become host team in the Cotton Bowl Dec. 31 where it will meet Georgia.

Baylor beat out Rice 21-14 and finished fifth behind Texas A&M.

Rift Fails To Delay Passion Play

By GODFREY ANDERSON

LONDON (AP) — Britain will get a chance to see an English-language version of the famed Oberammergau passion play next year despite a row over the fact that a Jewish impresario is presenting it.

Philip Solomon, of Dunedin Theatrical Productions Ltd., who also is executive director of the pirate radio station, Radio Caroline, obtained rights for presenting a shortened version of the play in Britain, Ireland and the United States, along with Vic Lewis and Brian Epstein of Nem Enterprises. All three are Jews. The firm manages Britain's famed pop singing group, the Beatles.

Immediately upon learning of the deal, the Board of Deputies of British Jews strongly condemned any Jew for taking part in such a promotion. The board thus echoed the condemnation of Jews in Germany who had assailed the passion play on the ground it has an anti-Semitic tone.

Lewis and Epstein promptly withdrew. Epstein said. "I have withdrawn because I will not give offense to Jewish communities here or anywhere else."

Solomon said he would go ahead with plans to bring the play to England but intended to see there was nothing anti-Jewish in it. There is a clause in his contract with the Germans, he pointed out, "completely ruling out anything anti-Semitic."

Levias Is Top Lineman

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Jerry Levias, Southern Methodist's great split end whose personal achievements won a half-dozen games for his team, has received still another honor.

He has been voted most valuable lineman in the Southwest Conference by sports writers in the annual Houston Post poll.

Levias, a sophomore, got eight votes from the 11-man committee. Teammate John LaGrone, Southern Methodist Guard, polled two and Loyd Phillips, Arkansas' All-America tackle, received the other one.

Mac White, Southern Methodist quarterback, and Chris Gilbert, Texas' great running back, tied for most valuable back, with four votes each. Jon Brittenum, Arkansas quarterback, received the other four. They will get duplicate trophies.

The trophies will be awarded Thursday at an awards banquet of the Touchdown Club of Houston.

White Deer, Sonora Vie This Saturday

Tiger Stadium will be the site of an important Class A football quarterfinals playoff game this week. White Deer collides with Sonora at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Officials of the two schools met here Sunday morning with local school officials and representatives of the Chamber of Commerce to work out details of the game. White Deer and Sonora officials already had decided that Snyder would be the site for their quarterfinals battle. Earlier, they had received invitations from local Chamber officials.

Both teams are undefeated. Sonora has racked up 381 points against its foes while White Deer's vaunted offense has clalked up 410 points in the same number of games.

White Deer's Bucks tangled with Keller here last season in a state semifinals clash. The Bucks, led by All-state fullback Vernon Marlar, went on to the finals game before losing, 14-0, to Wills Point. Marlar is back again to spark the Buck attack. For that reason, White Deer should be considered a 6-point favorite over the tough Broncos.

The Texas schoolboy football race hits its quarter-finals this week and Amarillo Tascosa, the big favorite in Class AAAA, may be facing its greatest test of the campaign.

Saturday at Amarillo, Tascosa mets San Angelo, considered the top contender for the title most of the season and now fighting back to its erstwhile prominence.

Tascosa removed one former champion last week when it trapped Wichita Falls 20-7. San Angelo is another ex-champion although this goes back to 1943.

Bryan Adams faces Carrollton Turner, Spring Branch clashes with Port Arthur and Alice meets San Antonio MacArthur in other Class AAAA quarterfinals. There are comparisons in three instances.

Port Arthur beat Spring Branch 12-7 during the regular season to offer a direct comparison but what happens to teams in such instances usually is the opposite, as illustrated last week by defending champion Plano of Class AA, which beat Decatur 14-6 after losing to that team early in the season.

Tascosa beat Odessa Permian 6-0 and Permian beat San Angelo 12-6.

Carrollton Turner whipped Garland 20-8 and Mesquite 28-20 but Bryan Adams was held to a 6-6 tie by Garland and lost to Mesquite 34-28.

There is no comparison between Alice and MacArthur, both undefeated, untied teams.

There is no comparison of any kind among the Class AAA teams left in the race—Monahans vs. Vernon, McKinney vs. Ennis, Bridge City vs. Clear Creek and San Marcos vs. Fredericksburg. But Vernon, McKinney, Bridge City and San Marcos will be favored anyway.

There also are no measuring sticks in Class AA where Iowa Park clashes with Granbury, Plano meets Daingerfield, Bastrop takes on Hardin-Jefferson and Sweeny tangles with San Antonio Randolph.

In Class A where Keller tackles favorite Forney in a battle of the unbeaten and untied, there is a comparison that tells little. Keller beat Cedar Hill 20-6 and Forney beat Cedar Hill 28-6.

In other Class A quarter-final games, White Deer plays Sonora, Pewitt takes on Rosebud and Schulenburg engages George West.

Chiefs Grab Crown In Western Division

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Bell tolled, the Bull charged, the Chiefs whooped it up and San Diego sank in the West.

And that, football fans, is how Kansas City became the new Chiefs of the Western Division of the American League.

The story began Sunday when Bobby Bell, Kansas City's premier linebacker, clanged into the New York Jets' backfield in the second quarter and blocked a field goal attempt from the 29 yard line. Bell retrieved the ball and raced to the New York 45.

Mike Mercer then kicked a 47-yard field goal and Kansas City had a 16-10 lead, instead of a 13-13 tie, and the Chiefs went on to a 32-24 victory.

Several chapters and time zones later, another linebacker, John (the Bull) Bramlett of Denver, stampeded into the San Diego backfield and blocked a Charger field goal attempt, picked up the ball and stormed 72 yards for a touchdown.

That score put Denver ahead to stay, 13-10, and the Broncos raced on to a 20-17 upset that buried the Chargers and gave Kansas City the decision title.

This conclusion that ended San Diego's three-year hold on the division title provided an extra measure of satisfaction.

With players like Bell, people have been saying for years the Chiefs had the best material in the league.

"I don't worry about what other people say," said Kansas City Coach Hank Stram about his new Chiefs. "We have had a fairly good football team for years but we needed important help. Now we have it in fellows like Otis Taylor and Mike Garrett. These two plus a healthy Len Dawson, Chris Burford Gil Coan make the difference."

Dawson's passes to Taylor set up two other Mercer field goals, his tosses to Garrett and Taylor led to a 19-yard scoring heave to Burford and Garrett's running and catching set up the former Heisman Trophy winner's plunge for a TD.

Pete Beathard, taking over when Dawson ruptured a blood vessel in his left hand, directed the Chiefs on long drives that produced a TD and Mercer's fourth field goal, enough to overcome two last quarter scoring passes by Joe Namath that tightened the score.

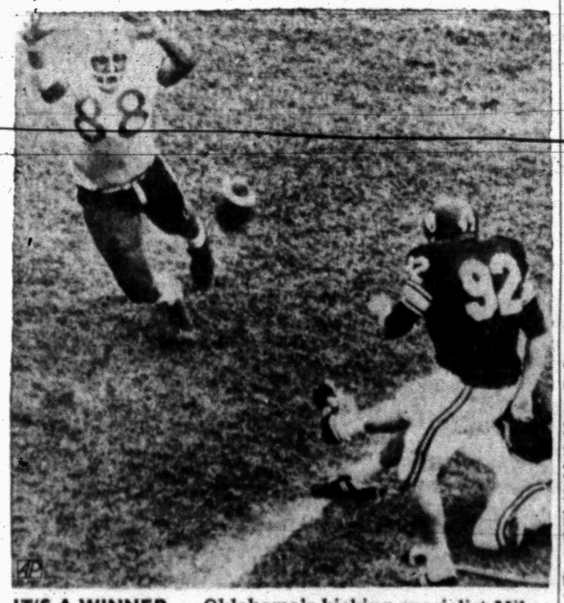
The victory gave Kansas City an uncatchable 9-2-1 record while San Diego fell to 5-5-1. Bramlett's charge came with 7:24 to play and Wendell Hayes later broke for 56 yards and a score.

In the only other AFL game, Boston kept pace with Buffalo in the Eastern Division by holding off Miami 20-14 as Jim Nance broke the league rushing record for a season.

Babe Parilli hit Art Graham on a 22-yard scoring pass and Gino Cappelletti kicked two field goals, but it was Nance's 27-yard TD run that provided the difference. It gave the Pats a 20-0 lead in the third period before Dick Wood carried the Dolphins back with two scoring tosses.

Nance gained 133 yards for the day, bringing his total to 1,125, four more than Paul Lowe last year.

Buffalo beat Oakland Thursday for a 8-3-1 record and Boston stands at 6-3-2, setting up their showdown clash next Sunday. But that's another story.



IT'S A WINNER — Oklahoma's kicking specialist Mike Vachon (92) gets off the kick that gave the Sooners a 10-9 victory over Nebraska at Norman, Okla. The ball sailed between the uprights for a field goal in the final minute of play. Trying unsuccessfully to block the ball is Nebraska's Jerry Patton. (AP Wirephoto)

Books To Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Four American congressmen today gave a collection of books to Lebanon's Parliament, visited an Arab palace in the mountains and prepared to dine in the biggest gambling casino in the Middle East.

Visiting Beirut as part of a Near Eastern study mission were Reps. Edward R. Roybal, D-Calif.; E. Ross Adair, R-Ind.; J. Irving Whalley, R-Pa., and E.Y. Berry, R-S.D.

After a morning at Parliament and an afternoon at the Lebanese show palace of Beit Eddine, they were to be dinner guests of the speaker of the Lebanese House at the Casino du Liban.

Robber Reluctant— But Takes Cash

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — A polite, youthful bandit held up the Ft. Ligonier Motor Lodge Friday and walked off with $75, expressing hope "I can some day pay it back."

The manager, Bernice Stranahan, quoted the youth as saying, "I'm sorry I have to do this, but I have to have it. Maybe someday I can pay it back.

He was armed, police said.

WINTER FOOD — Alvis Minton, manager of the Ezell-Key feed store, 1615 Twenty-sixth Street, looks over the many types of Purina products carried by the firm. At this time of year, many ranchers and farmers are buying range cubes, and Purina protein blocks for the cattle and sheep. The Purina cattle and sheep wormer cubes also are popular.

Quality Purina Products Are Featured At Ezell-Key

Did you know that cattle frequently are better fed than humans?

It's easy to explain. People usually eat only what they want to eat rather than always what is best for them. However, cattle that eat feed from Ezell-Key Feed store, 1615 Twenty-sixth Street, eat food that was especially designed and prepared for them.

Many animals that were fed quality Purina products from Ezell-Key have won blue ribbon prizes at Snyder and area stock shows. And much of the credit for their success must be due to the wholesome food prepared by the Purina Company.

Of course, Ezell-Key also has plenty of delicious, nourishing foods for people--such as pork chops, ribs, bacon and liver. This is especially nourishing food because it comes from animals that were fed on Purina products. The company recently received a shipment of pecans from Mineral Wells.

Ezell-Key is more than just a store for farmers and ranchers. Many city dwellers have discovered that Ezell- Key is the place to go for their pet's needs.

Dog owners know that at Ezell-Key they can get the famous Purina "Dog Chow" either in pellet or meal form. They also have an abundance of good food for cats, rabbits and birds of all varieties.

And with cold weather coming on, many ranchers are beginning to stock up on range cubes and Purina protein blocks for their cattle and sheep. Purina cattle and sheep wormer cubes also prevent many animals from developing disease.

Owners of the store are Com Ezell and Marvin Key. Alvis Minton is the manager. The feed and seed store has been in its present location for about seven years. There are ample parking facilities around the store for the convenience of customers.

Everything the farmer, stockman or gardener could want can be found at Ezell-Key. The wide variety of products includes fertilizers, insecticides, disinfectants, sprays and sanitation and garden supplies.

And the firm has just about any kind of feed or seed that is produced. They also have the experience to prepare it in formulas that produce the best results.

Do you have a stock, poultry or gardening problem? Just dial HI-3-6691 and the friendly people at Egell-Key will do their best to help find what you want.

Named Assistant To Comptroller

WASHINGTON (AP) —Wayne G. Weachman, former Houston, Tex., bank officer, was named special assistant to the comptroller of the currency.

The announcement made Sunday night said Weachman was assistant vice president in charge of business development for the Southern National Bank of Houston before joining the Treasury Department last year.

Dry Weather Beginning To Cause Concern In Texas

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Concern for rain is growing in Texas.

The dry weather has been fine for harvesting but has increased the need for feeding of livestock, delayed planting and the growth of grains for pasture, John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, reports.

Feeding is increasing to supplement grazing and dry soil has delayed the completion of oat and flax planting and kept dryland grains in all parts of the state at a standstill, he said.

Harvesting made excellent progress and an early total completion is in prospect if the weather holds for a few more days.

The situation at midweek was summed up by district agents this way:

Moisture is short over the Panhandle; the grain sorghum harvest is about over; and cotton harvest is continuing with the damage from the early freeze becoming more noticeable. Livestock and range conditions generally are good. The sugar beet harvest has reached the halfway mark.

The South Plains cotton harvest has passed the peak and will be completed shortly if the good weather continues. The soybean harvest is complete. Irrigated wheat made good growth, but the dryland crops need rain. Cattle and range conditions were excellent.

Moisture is needed for grains throughout the Rolling Plains (Vernon). The cotton harvest made fast progress. From 50 to 60 per cent of the crop was out in most counties. Grain growth was slow. Grazing was limited in some counties. The guar harvest had started.

Moisture in North Central Texas is short in all counties and early grain is providing little grazing. Late fields are making poor stands. Livestock are in good condition but some feeding was noted. The pecan crop is short.

Moisture is needed in Northeast Texas to help clovers and grains, and to reduce the danger of grass fires. The open weather helped harvesting. A short pecan crop is now a surety.

Ranges in far West Texas need rain but the weather has been ideal for harvesting cotton, sorghum and cabbage. Ranges and livestock still are in excellent condition. Labor is short.

Dry weather has been fine for harvesting cotton and peanuts but hard on grains and winter grass in West Central Texas. The area still has lots of dry grass but some feeding is underway due to the lack of green grazing. Livestock are in good condition but stock tanks are low or dry in many areas.

The weather has been beautiful in Central Texas and 70 to 85 per cent of the peanuts are now out of the fields. Other major crops have been harvested. A very light pecan harvest is certain. Ranges are being grazed off swiftly with little grain grazing available.

Moisture is short to very short in East Texas except in Jasper, Newton, Sabine and Shelby counties. Over 98 per cent of the cotton and corn has been harvested. More than 90 per cent of the oats are planted but growth is slow due to drought. Livestock generally are in good condition but weight losses are reported. Labor is short.

Moisture in Southeast Texas ranges from very short to adequate with most pastures needing rain. Some livestock herds in Matagorda County were infested with lice but generally livestock are in good condition. A few counties are reporting a labor shortage.

South Central Texas is very short on moisture and it is needed for flax and oat planting, and to keep grains alive. Some grain stands are disappearing in the drought. Range grazing is getting short in some areas. Livestock are beginning to show the effects of the drought and some feeding has started. Carrots and onions are being harvested.

Moisture is short in South Texas and flax planting is being delayed by the dry weather. Cabbage, carrots, eggplants, peas, peppers, sweet corn and tomatoes are being harvested. The citrus harvest is also increasing. Ranges and livestock are in good condition but rain would help. Labor is short to surplus.

Tiny Village Is Booming

ROME (AP) — A village in a central Sardinian mountainland so bleak it doesn't even have bandits has become a modern small town — thanks to modern rocketry and missiles.

The village's improbable name of Perdasdefogu may have been an omen. In Sard dialect it means "lost fire."

Ten years after the remote hamlet was chosen as the site for Italy's missile study center, with test launching pads at nearby Alto di Quirra, its 2,000 oldtime residents can hardly recognize the place. Its population has doubled.

The influx of new residents working at the center has made the old water system inadequate. A new aqueduct is planned and a new road will link the growing village to Cagliari in the south and Nuoro to the north.

The town is fast growing away from one of the main reasons it was selected. The region was so remote that there were almost no dwellings in the barren hills nearby that might be endangered if missiles misfired or went out of control. Now building is booming.

Judge Convicts New Mexico Parents

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Twelve parents from a remote section of Rio Arriba County in northern New Mexico have been convicted of keeping their children out of school to protest what they claimed was the dangerous condition of roads over which their children had to travel.

In a nonjury trial, Dist. Judge Samuel Z Montoya said Saturday he sympathized with the parents' desire for a better road but "if you want your children to get the opportunities they deserve, you should do everything humanly possible to see that they get an education."

Sentencing was set for Wednesday on the misdemeanor charge which carries a fine of $5 to $100 or imprisonment for 5 to 90 days.

Prices Not Only Concern Of Today's Stock Market

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Some big problems hang over the stock market today that have little to do with prices. They involve, instead, the administration of the marketplace itself.

A measure of their size is reflected in the talk of Wall Street, which frequently these days is not about prices and investments but, instead, about matters such as these:

1. The accounting profession's responsibility, and sometimes its failure, to provide shareowners with accurate information.

2. The growing role, perhaps even danger, of increasing institutional ownership and trading of stock.

3. The distribution of information — or the failure to distribute it — so stockholders will have an equal chance of evaluating the worth of a stock.

Viewing these problems in a little more detail:

Accounting — Lawsuits by shareowners are becoming more common, and one large firm has been indicted for fraud in preparing a stockholder report. But there are varying degrees of misrepresentation or confusion short of fraud.

Some certified public accountants have been accused recently of succumbing to corporate pressure to make an annual report look better than it is.

Another problem is the variety of alternatives that can be used in reporting results. Companies with very similar experiences may report figures that vary widely. This, of course, confuses even the experts.

Institutional ownership — billions of dollars that institutions — funds, insurance companies, trusts, etc. — invest in the market sometimes causes wide price fluctuations and wide concern also.

How many of the 20 million people who are now shareowners can afford the wide price swings that result from institutional buying or selling? The question is getting some serious examination at the highest levels of the financial community.

Institutional ownership creates another big problem. Since funds often concentrate so much money in the stock of a company they may acquire a dominant financial position. Should they then tell management how to run the company?

Information distribution — This is a subject that increasingly occupies the time of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Large investors, it seems, can receive trading information well ahead of small investors, thus permitting them to act faster. Or, by the very nature of their position, professional investors seek out and obtain information not available to small investors.

The big question here is what constitutes "inside" information; that is, information that should be available only to the officers of a company until the time it is released simultaneously and impartially to the public?

Romans Brought Religion, And Pair Of Crooked Dice

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Friends, Romans, countrymen, lend me your ears, for the Romans, who brought Christianity to England, also seem to have brought along several pairs of crooked dice.

"The evidence is inescapable, I'm afraid," said director Norman Cook of the City of London's Guildhall Museum. "Here, see for yourself."

He held forth several pairs of dice dredged up from the Roman ruins on which the city of London stands. The biggest die — which the dictionary says is singular for dice — had a neat hole in one side.

"Definitely a case of plugging," said the director.

In Roman London as now, plugging is one of the easiest ways of doctoring a pair of dice. You ream out a section of the die, insert a small slug of something heavy, like lead, then replace the section.

As one side of the die is now weighted, the lighter side — when the dice are rolled — should come up more often than the heavier side. Gravity sees to that.

"Now, examine this pair," said the museum director.

The second pair, though smaller than the plugged pair, were crooked too. Instead of the sides being of equal size, they definitely were not. The sides with the 6 and the 1 were longer than the other sides.

"Very interesting," said this reporter who, in the back alleys of a small Southern town years ago, learned the rudiments of crap shooting, or rolling the bones.

"Watch," said I. Given a conventional shake and roll, the 6 and the 1 came up.

I rolled this pair of Roman dice 14 times. On a smooth piece of Guildhall museum paper, 6 and 1 came up 11 times.

"Extraordinary," said the director. "Elementary," was the reply.

But — were they really Roman dice?

"The big one was found on the site of the temple of Mithras which was discovered about 10 years ago," said director Cook. "That's just across the road from here.

"This particular pair of dice was found in a deposit which dates between 100 A.D. and 200 A.D., so that's a pair we can tie down absolutely to a date," he explained.

The others?

"Well, one pair was found in little Bell Abbey in Roman deposits The others we found in London Wall. They're all in excellent condition."

He continued: "These dice were definitely being used throughout the period when Britain was one of the parts of the Roman empire, and that's from 55 B.C. to 410 A.D.

"You see, if you dig a hole anywhere in the City of London, the chances are 10 to 1 that you're going to find some Roman stuff. People have been living and working in the City of London for something like 2,000 years."

The City of London — now the financial section of Greater London — is the real old part, the Roman and pre-Roman part.

He said that when the Royal Exchange, which houses the Guildhall Museum, was built, thousands of Roman objects were found when the builders dug down to make the foundations.

Rush On Yule Stamp Expected

By STEPHEN M. AUG

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office is bracing itself for an expected onrush of customers eager to purchase what may be its best-selling, most controversial and certainly most colorful Christmas stamp.

The five-color stamp, a reproduction of Flemish Renaissance painter Hans Memling's "Madonna and Child with Angels," went on sale Nov. 1 at Christmas, Mich.

It is its religious theme that has brought the stamp both praise and complaints. In 1962, 1963 and 1964, the Post Office's Christmas stamps depicted nothing more religious than candles, wreaths and Christmas trees. Last year's stamp pictured a winged angel with a trumpet.

Some of those opposed to issuance of a Christmas stamp felt this year's venture went too far.

A spokesman for the American Civil Liberties Union said, "The stamp has a religious motif — a Christian motif — and it therefore is a governmental means of showing preference for a single religion. . .clearly a preferential governmental aid in propagating a religious faith."

The Post Office official line is that the stamp celebrates a famed work of art. And, as with any Christmas stamp, its real purpose is to have Christmas card mailers pay five cents per card — the Christmas stamp costs five cents — rather than send them under a four-cent rate.

But Postmaster Gen. Lawrence F. O'Brien is known to have told representatives of seven influential Jewish organizations at a hitherto unreported meeting that — as a spokesman said — "he was not going to be a hypocrite in issuing a Christmas stamp.

"He was not going to issue a Christmas stamp and claim it was divorced from religion — from the true meaning of Christmas."

The department has printed 1.2 billion of the stamps at a cost of $504,000 — or 4.2 cents per sheet of 100 — and expects to sell them for $60 million. The average one-color stamp costs 2 cents per sheet of 100, or about $240,000 for 1.2 billion.

Fisherman's Body Finally Located

DENISON Tex. (AP) — The body of John C. Robertson, 65, of Gainesville, missing since Nov. 18, was found Sunday in Lake Texoma.

Robertson, an avid fisherman, was sought since his boat was discovered on the lake and he was missing.
