In appreciation of the reception tendered the Fort Worth delegation here by Midland Fair enthusiasts an offer to name a day at the Arlington Downs Fall Race Meet "Midland Day" was sent here today by Charles G. Cotten, manager of the Trade Extension Department of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce. "It would be greatly appreciated," Cotten said, "if a date—with the exception of Wednesdays and Saturdays between Oct. 28 and Nov. 20—be selected to be especially observed as Midland Day at Arlington Downs."

Plenty of publicity, through local newspapers and Fort Worth organizations is pledged.

"We will be glad to assist you in lending the friendliest observance possible to the fullest observance of Midland Day," Cotten continued. "Many of your citizens have attended the races at Arlington Downs and no doubt the recent meet at the Midland Fair will mark the beginning of interest in racing on the part of many more of your citizens who will probably welcome the opportunity to attend the races at Arlington Downs."

"Arlington Downs is the only track which I have seen in Texas that has the earmarks of permanence comparable to your own existing buildings, cattle pens, fences and grandstands."

Cotten sent the congratulations of the entire organization for the heartiness with which his group was received here.

Weather Likely To Be Fine For Saturday Races

Broken clouds and lighter skies this afternoon foretold warmer weather for Midland, shivering for the past few days in chilly rains and damp cold winds.

Southern Ice Company reported a minimum of 44 degrees at 7 o'clock this morning and 49 degrees at one o'clock.

The company's gauge showed .06 inch rainfall from 7 a. m. yesterday until 7 a. m. today.

At Sloan field, the temperature range was lower with a minimum of 42 degrees at one o'clock this morning and a maximum of 48 degrees early in the afternoon.

Precipitation was heavier there than in town, the report showing .15 inch rainfall all day yesterday, .06 of which fell in the evening.

Little Precipitation

Following rains yesterday in many places, this region of West Texas in general reported cloudy weather for today but little moisture.

Reports to Southwestern Bell Telephone company stated that Big Spring had rain last night and all yesterday but clouds were lightening early this afternoon.

Fort Stockton was cloudy but reported no rain, while Marfa witnessed a drizzle yesterday and cloudy weather today.

The only ice in this region was reported by Marfa at Fort Davis where there had been little rain, just cold weather.

Seminole reported a drizzle today lasting up until early afternoon when skies began to clear. Rain was reported there yesterday.

McMurry was cloudy with light rains yesterday but none today.

Pecos had heavy rain yesterday and skies were still cloudy there today, although no rain had fallen.

Clearing at Lubbock

Skies were clearing at Lubbock at noon today, and while the north-east wind continued slightly, skies were brighter.

Reports to the West Texas Gas company here said that the weather was clearing at Lubbock and turning warmer just before noon with skies just about clear after noon.

The meteorological bureau at the Midland airport reported rains east of Abilene and at Abilene.

Weather was fair at El Paso but the Guadalupe pass was closed by a dense fog which had not lifted early in the afternoon.

The Marfa and Dryden region reported low ceilings but no rain.

'Dutch Schultz', Gangster, Beer Baron, of Prohibition Era, Dies after Massacre

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 25. (P) — Police held Dutch Schultz' widow here today, hoping that she might supply some clue in the sweeping search for the gangland chieftain and three assassins who killed her husband yesterday.

Frances Fliegenheimer was booked as a material witness shortly after Schultz died last night. Bernard Rosenkrantz, Schultz' chauffeur, died today.

FLOOD CONTROL ON BRAZOS TO BEGIN PROMPTLY

AUSTIN, Oct. 25. (P) — State and federal officials today gave the "go ahead" signal for construction of the first unit in a planned $30,500,000 flood control and power project on the Brazos river.

H. P. Drought, Texas Works Progress administrator, advised that General McCraw funds were definitely allotted for completion of one or more units in the 13-dam project. McCraw immediately certified an opinion releasing to the Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation district sufficient amounts of diverted state taxes to purchase lands.

John A. Norris, chairman of the board of water engineers, said picks and shovels may be busy within 10 sum Kingdom Dam, renamed the "Morris Sheppard" in honor of the days on the first project, the Post-Texas United States Senator who sponsored the WPA project in Washington.

Leave U. S. to Fight for Italy

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 25. (P) — Arthur Flengenheimer, the "Dutch Schultz" of prohibition racketeering fame, died tonight in Newark City hospital from the bullet wound he received in the raking gunfire of rival mobsters who shot and killed two of his henchmen and wounded another in a raid on a downtown tavern last night.

Whining in delirium against approaching death, Schultz ran a temperature of 107 degrees early tonight. Attending physicians described it as "a dying fever."

Two Transfusions

The sharp rise in temperature followed a second blood transfusion for the wounded racketeer who with three of his associates fell under a raking submachine gun fire in a tavern last night.

In New York, two other men, one of them a henchman of the former beer baron, lay wounded in a hospital after one of the worst outbreaks of underworld vengeance in recent years.

Hope for Schultz and his chauffeur, Bernard Rosenkrantz, was virtually abandoned early in the day. In one of Schultz' sane intervals he called for a Catholic priest, Rev. Cornelius J. McInerney of Livingston.

Priest Is Called

Father McInerney, who has known Schultz for 15 years, came to the hospital shortly before the transfusion — the second for the wounded man. The priest baptized him and heard his confession.

Schultz' mother and sister, Helen Fliegenheimer — his real name is Arthur Fliegenheimer — and his wife visited the hospital shortly before a transfusion.

The other two gangsters killed in the Newark gunfire were identified as Otto Biederman and Abraham Landau. The former known also as Herman, was 48 and acted as a track handicapper. Landau, 40, first gave the name of Leo Frank. After his death police identified him from fingerprints as Landau and said he was a power in the numbers racket in New York.

His association with Schultz strengthened the police theory that Schultz and his aids were attacked in a continuation of the warfare over control of the policy racket in New York.

Los Angeles, Oct. 25. (P) — Apparently leaving Malibu Beach film colony safely behind, a roaring brush fire that has already caused $8,000,000 damage threatened to sweep down the coastline into the heavily wooded mountainous strip regarded as the most dangerous fire menace of Southern California.

Homegoing Solons Hurry Work After Popular Criticism

AUSTIN, Oct. 25. (P) — Legislators are "in bad" with the voters for going home between first and second called sessions in disregard of Governor James V. Allred's admonition to get busy.

The second session's progress likely will be hastened as a result of the delay in starting. It gave home-going members an opportunity to get first hand information on what the folks back home want.

Editorial criticism also may spur them, although its effect is offset by the inaccuracy of some of the comments. A prominent South Texas paper in the front page editorial castigated the senate for having pension bills without tax provision in them. It disregarded the ruling that tax must originate in the house.

Speaker Coke Stevenson overruled the point of order that the omnibus tax bill for old-age pensions, turned back to its efforts to increase the proposed levies on gross receipts of utilities.

The bill would increase the tax 50 per cent.

Amendments to increase the tax as much as 400 per cent were offered.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25. (P) — The President sought to point the farm program away from "emergency" application to a "long term" plan, today. He asserted the latter was "developing naturally out of the present adjustment efforts."

He said it was not the intention of congressional framers of the AAA or administrators to let the AAA be "either a mere emergency operation or a static agency."

Roosevelt said the program had two principal objectives: to maintain the increase in gains thus far made, and to broaden the present operations so as to give farmers increasing incentives for conservation and for the efficient use of soil resources.

Confers With Hull
Triple conferences upon foreign affairs, close upon his emphasis of a "free and unentangled" foreign policy, keynoteed President Roosevelt's return from a travel-filled month's absence from the White House.

Three talks with Secretary Hull gave credence to indications that a reply would go forward shortly to the League of Nations invitation to comment upon its sanctions program against Italy. Such a communication would give opportunity for a restatement of America's neutrality stand.

Assesses Invitation
In talks with Hull, and with Admiral William H. Standley, chief of naval operations, the President then discussed United States acceptance of Great Britain's invitation to a December naval parity. Standley already has been pushed forward as a delegate.

These problems, and others of a more domestic nature, were scheduled for further discussion when Roosevelt sits tomorrow with his full cabinet, for the first time since he set out across the Nation last month.

Other conferees followed the Secretary of State, including Frank C. Walker, director of the National Emergency Council, who has had a hand in the work relief undertaking, reported on the general domestic situation. His sole comment to waiting newspaper men was that "everything is O. K."

Secretary Wallace, Chester Davis, the AAA administrator, later discussed the general agriculture situation, presumably mentioning among other things Saturday's corn-hog referendum.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 25. — Walter Liggett, weekly newspaper publisher, was taken to a hospital today with injuries, which he told police, were inflicted on him in a brutal attack after a woman called Liggett to a south Minneapolis address, saying that she had some "information" which he wanted.

The reason for the attack was unknown.

Government Sends Oats Here to Sell

The federal government has shipped to Midland two cars of heavy to extra heavy oats for sale at 40 cents per bushel, according to Colonel Sparkman.

State Launches Attack On Pierson's Defense

AUSTIN, Oct. 25. — The state pitted the testimony of fellow workers of Howard Pierson in the East Texas oil fields and Austin acquaintances against that of medical experts who testified he is insane, today.

Miss Florence Butler, former University of Texas student who roomed at Judge Pierson's home at the time of the slayings, and G. N. Stovall, oil company warehouseman, said they believed Pierson sane.

Deputy Sheriff Sam Rogers testified that Pierson confessed that he slew his parents because of a "curse" against them. He testified that from his observation, he believed the youth sane.

Pierson's first story that robbers had killed his father and mother and wounded himself, which later he confessed was not true, was reviewed by Martin Anderson, a motorcycle policeman, the first peace officer to reach the youth after slaying.

The last witness for the defense before it rested was Dr. W. J. Johnson, superintendent of the San Antonio State Hospital, who testified Pierson unquestionably was insane. Dr. C. H. Standiford, superintendent of the Austin State Hospital, had given similar testimony.

Dr. Johnson said that of 2,550 clients in the San Antonio institution approximately 60 per cent are dementia praecox patients and the type was highly recognizable. Pierson had delusions that he is a very superior person, he said, that "was destined to be a monarch of the world" and he could conquer his scientific studies, and that his parents had discriminated against him. He also testified the youth had abnormal sexual tendencies.

"He is wholly incapable of a rational defense," Dr. Johnson said, "and can not realize the jeopardy he is in."

Saturday Races Are Moved Up to
1:30 P. M.

Post time for Saturday's races was moved up to 1:30 p. m. it was announced today by Midland Fair officials, with eight races carded for the sixth and final day.

Substantial support of the past three days' races, in spite of wet weather, caused the officials to give a "free gate" today. The decision was made just before noon and announcers were on the streets evening the information to the public.

Appreciation was expressed by owners of horses for the action of Midland Fair officials in continuing the meet through the wet weather. Although crowds were smaller Wednesday and Thursday, the mutuels paid well and the final two days of the meet were expected to be well attended.

Good Times Recorded
The three-quarter mile oval was heavy but not slippery and the horses ran without necessity of taking up at the turns, jockeys giving them hard rides and using the bat when necessary. Horses of sufficient breeding and weight to go the route had little difficulty in turning in good performances for their owners and backers.

The small crowd at the races Thursday more than got their money's worth in thrilling races and large pay-offs at the wagering windows as one favorite after another went down to defeat on a track that was exceedingly heavy from the recent rains.

William V Pays Off
Not more than 200 persons attended the last races of the day when "William V", H. Wells' three year old chestnut gelding, put on a burst of speed in the stretch that would not be denied and won out over, Chester B, overwhelming favorite to win the race. William V paid out $155 on a $2 ticket to those lucky enough to have a ticket on him.

Several combination tickets were held on the gallant racer and owners of them were rewarded with $75.

Only two winners yesterday paid less than nine dollars on the tickets and those who had been winning by betting on the favorites were taken for a ride in a large way.

In the first race Bill Wade, Barker entry with Fulcher up, came forward to defeat the favorites and paid off $10.30. Horace Wilson was second and Fast Time was third in this one, a quarter mile event, with even money favorite finished fourth and out of the money.

THE BEST FOR CENTURIES

Whenever publishers sit down to make up lists of all-time "best sellers," they never have the least trouble in figuring out what book should go in first place. That spot invariably is reserved for the Bible, which for generation after generation continues to outsell all other books.

What makes this worthy of remark at the present moment is the fact that this year marks the 400th anniversary of the publication of the first English translation of the Bible. Myles Coverdale, an Englishman, brought out a complete text of the Bible in 1535—the first full English text to be printed, although Wycliff had circulated a translation in manuscript form a century and a half earlier, and Tyndale had printed the New Testament in 1525.

A nation-wide committee is pushing plans for suitable commemoration of the anniversary. Certainly the occasion is one of the most noteworthy in all the history of the English-speaking peoples.

Americans are said to be buying 11 times as many things on the installment plan as they did a year ago, despite the fact that they're still paying on the last war.

Presidential Secretary Howe is recuperating. Pro-Roosevelt Democrats seeking a snappy 1936 slogan might consider him for the vice presidency.

WE DRIVERS

A Series of Brief Discussions on Driving, Dedicated to the Safety, Comfort and Pleasure of the Motoring Public, Prepared by General Motors

No. 6—POWER AND SPEED

Most of our motor cars will go so much faster than we ever care to drive them, that no doubt people often wonder why so much speed is built into them in the first place. Of course, automobiles aren't built with the idea of pleasing the manufacturer or the engineer or the salesman. They're built to suit the men and women who are going to own and drive them. And there are certain things that people do insist on in their cars. It happens that some of those things are of such a nature that when the engineers provide them, an ability to go fast just naturally results.

For instance, nearly everybody likes to get going as promptly as possible. Now that's just a matter of the power we have in our engine and how our car is geared.

Then there's the business of hill-climbing. That may not mean as much in some localities as in others, but cars have to be built to suit us whether we live in Maine or Florida, Iowa or California—wherever we may live and wherever we may want to go.

Engineers tell us that they could build a fairly low-powered car that would pull us up the steepest hill. But if they did, they would have to gear it so low that when we got over the top and onto a level stretch, we could only go crawling along at a rate that wouldn't satisfy even the most conservative drivers.

But perhaps the most important reason for having our power what it is in modern cars, is a matter that many of us have never considered. We all know what happens to us, when we, ourselves, are going at high pressure all the time, either physically or mentally. A person can work 12, 14 or 16 hours a day, but we know we get along best when we don't tax our last reserves of energy all the time.

In the same way, anybody who has ever run machinery knows that if you keep it going at full capacity and full speed day-in-and-day-out, you're just multiplying the chances of a breakdown, sooner or later.

And that's how it is with a car. By building in the ability to run at high speed, engineers make it practical to run at reasonable speed. If our car can go seventy, eighty or maybe even more miles an hour, then it won't have to strain to go thirty-five, forty, or somewhat faster if circumstances demand. So we can drive it along at sensible speeds hour after hour, day after day, without over-working it.

When we stop to think about it, lots of things are built with that added safety margin. Elevators in our office buildings could carry far heavier loads than the weight of all the people they can hold. So could modern bridges. The steel girders of our buildings, the rails under our trains—in fact, any number of things we depend on day-by-day—are much stronger than they really have to be. They all have that extra margin of protection.

So with our cars, what we have to remember is that speed is simply a by-product of power. We can use that power unwisely, or we can use it sensibly and get better performance and dependability as the result. Manufacturers can't decide that. It's all up to us.

Our Modern Homes

Last week the story of the house needing repairs was in the act of getting started on the badly needed repairs and was promised by Mr. Owner that work would begin at once. Then he left for a week's work out of town. We find him back home again now, and he is surprised? Now go on with the story.

(Mr. Owner): Well, home sweet home, I passed by my own home and after driving two blocks on down the street discovered I had gone too far down and after turning around and coming back, I still couldn't believe my own eyes. Hello, House, here you are with a brand new dress and all the new trimmings, and boy, did that Neill fix your bathroom? I'll say he did, and who would have ever believed there could have been so much difference in one room? Tell me, House, why did you want to look your best? (House): Well, haven't you heard about Midland's first big Annual Fair and Anniversary Celebration? Well, of all things! Always an hour late and a dollar short. Why everybody is fair-minded and you should be. Now run along down town and get yourself some new duds and be ready to attend the Fair.

So Mr. Owner leaves the house headed for town. As he goes along he sings the good old song, "Home, Sweet Home."

Folks that is what we are all interested in—our own little Home, Sweet Home, and that goes for our Home Fair. We are dressed up now and, believe you me, with some place to go.

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.)

The way these boys have gone right along with their races, paying the purses whether the crowds are there or not, guarantees all Midland Fair race meets in the future. When the race horse men are taken care of they will advertise Midland everywhere they go, and when the next meet is held the best horses in the south will be here early for stables.

Tom Nance's lead horse is going to feel like he has been let down when he goes back to the ranch and carries a cowpuncher from windmill to windmill. He's been up in style with that "red coat" up on him.

Heard at the races: "Who you on?"
"Flapper Jane, and if she don't win I'll be on County Relief."

Pasture Should Be Mowed

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 24.—(Spt.)—Pastures are an asset to any farm in Texas and the most important step in making these pastures productive is to mow the weeds, according to E. R. Lancaster, extension pasture specialist.

"Pastures should be mowed at least once a year," he said, "but to really get rid of all the weeds a pasture needs mowing at least twice a year over a period of a couple of years. The reason for mowing weeds is to allow the necessary sunlight and moisture to get to the grasses."

The extension pasture specialist was emphatic in explaining that grass is the cheapest, best and most convenient feed a farmer can raise. He pointed out that keeping a pasture in good condition will pay back dividends each year.

"Upland pastures that water will run off of, that are thinly sodded," he said, "should be terraced with a couple of plow furrows before seeding. If this is done while the ground is moist, the grasses will likely continue to grow on these furrows."

Lancaster said that the importance of dividing a large pasture into smaller divisions and rotating the livestock from one division to the other has been proven worth-while many times. He explained that this method will enable a pasture to carry more stock than if the large pasture was grazed as one division. Livestock will pick out the most choice grasses in a large pasture and leave the other grasses, thus retarding the growth of the best grasses.

"Grass must not be grazed too close without a rest period," Lancaster stated, "or the growth of the grass will be greatly stunted. Regrowth will take place on heavily grazed pastures if a rest period is observed."

He concluded by again saying that once Texas farmers find out the real cash value pastures have, they will eventually all have one or two pastures on their farms.

HAPSBURGS AGAIN SUFFER SETBACK

Memoirs of Princess Shades Death of the Former Royal Prince

VIENNA, Austria, Oct. 25. (AP)—Monarchists saw their cause weakened Monday for the second time in a week with publication in Germany of the memoirs of a former Hapsburg Princess in which she recounted her version of the death of her royal husband and his alleged sweetheart—a scandal of 1889 never fully explained.

Former Princess Stephanie asserted her husband, Crown Prince Rudolph, and the beautiful Baroness Marie Vetsera, whose bullet-pierced bodies were found in the royal hunting lodge at Mayerling, died as the result of a suicide pact.

Monarchists considered that publication of the memoirs, which they felt cast a bad reflection on the Hapsburg family, was a blow to their hopes of restoration of the Hapsburgs, coming as it did on the heels of removal from the Austrian cabinet of ministers, Emil Fey and Josef Reither, both pro-Hapsburgs. Stephanie, 73, former Belgian princess, who now is the wife of Prince Longjumeau of Hungary, related that Rudolph, heir to the throne, associated with many women, plotted political moves and threatened suicide.

"He didn't want to die alone," she wrote, "and Vetsera loved him so blindly she went with him."

She said he had requested Emperor Franz Josef, father of Rudolph, to intercede, but he refused.

Amarillo Police To Get Day Off

AMARILLO, Oct. 25. (UP)—Police will be given one day off per week in compliance with the recently enacted six-day statute passed by the Texas legislature.

Reorganization of the police force was completed last week to allow for the change. The move has been pending, city officials said, for several months, and has been held up only because of financial difficulties. A state labor commissioner was recently called to investigate.

Assembly Room Is Scene of Halloween Party for Naomis

Horrors, thrills, and ghostly apparitions made headquarters in the assembly room at the courthouse Thursday evening for the Halloween party given by the Naomis class.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. S. M. Warren and Mrs. A. E. Horst.

A chamber of spooks, conducted by Mrs. Jack Cash and Mrs. W. C. Maxwell, called forth the usual quota of shrieks, jumps, and jitters by its collection of uncouth and terrifying objects.

Mrs. L. H. Tiffin was proclaimed premier "ducker" in the ducking-for-apples contest.

The assembly room was lighted by Halloween lamps and decorated with yellow chrysanthemums. Some of those present were in costume.

A fortune teller foretold amazing futures for the guests.

Miss Juanita Cox entertained with musical numbers.

Halloween refreshments were served.

A committee, consisting of Mmes. H. C. Hannaford, E. P. Eubanks, R. T. McAden, and Ed Darnell, was in charge of arrangements for the evening, in addition to Mmes. Horst, Warren, Cash, and Maxwell.

A small crowd was in attendance. The Naomis class will meet with the Men's class as guests, at the Hotel Scharbauer Sunday with Mrs. J. Howard Hodge teaching the lesson.

Hereafter the regular meeting place of the class will be the private dining room of the Hotel Scharbauer as the space occupied in the Petroleum building has been rented.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

Joan Crawford and Franchot Tone report that they are "mighty happy". We hate to seem skeptic or nasty, but we are inclined to "hope" that their marriage will continue in that beautiful state.

A certain Miss Lena Madelin Phillips has the courage to say right out that there will be no such thing as a woman president for many a year to come. Not that she thinks there are not women qualified for the office (while in France recently she named 12 that she thought capable of holding the job) but she says women scatter their energies too much to carry any one big job to completion.

Says Miss Phillips: "They start out on a project, or rather on dozens of projects all at once, and make a noble gesture toward what is supposed to be the end they have in view. Or rather the ends, for that is the worst of it. They undertake too much—peace, crime prevention, smoke abatement, everything—and so nothing really gets finished. They don't even count on reaching their goal."

If her last statement is true, we hold that it is partly because women accept the theory of men that they can't accomplish the big things. They take for truth that paternal, indulgent, "Of course, little girl, go on and try if it will do your little heart any good" attitude that most men display toward their women-folk's groping toward bigger things. Men are so sure that women can't stand the buffets of the hard old world and will come back to them for comfort and petting and direction.

The disconcerting thing is that so many women do.

Retail Sales Show Increase Over Last Year

AUSTIN, Tex. (Sp.)—Retail sales in Texas during September compared favorably with the previous month and also with September last year, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Reports from 88 representative Texas establishments showed average dollar sales 3.7 per cent above those of September a year ago and 40.3 per cent over the previous month. The usual seasonal increase from August to September is 35.8 per cent.

Aggregate dollar sales for the first nine months were 4.8 per cent greater than for the corresponding period last year. The increase in sales over September and the year to date was above the average for the States in the following cities: Austin, Beaumont, Dallas, and San Antonio.

Of the different types of stores the best relative showing was made by women's specialty shops, followed in order by large department stores, men's clothing stores, small department stores, and dry goods and apparel.

The ratio of credit sales to total sales was 4.2 per cent above a year ago, and the ratio of collections to outstanding accounts was about 1 per cent better than last year.

Spirit of Halloween Dominates in Appointments for Ten Table Affair At Prickett Home Thursday Afternoon

Most important of the parties which have been ushering in the Halloween season was the afternoon bridge given by Mrs. Harry B. Prickett and Mrs. Walter K. Wilson at the former's home, 511 San Angelo, Thursday.

Orange and yellow predominated in the floral decorations of the entertaining suite, featuring chrysanthemums and other blossoms. The chrysanthemum motif and the same color note were repeated in covers for the ten tables of bridge, while tallies displayed pumpkins and other Halloween motifs.

Prizes were in white, tied with yellow, and adorned with black stickers.

In games for the afternoon, Mrs. John Cornwall held high score and was rewarded with a cut-work bridge set. Floating prize for a grand slam went to Mrs. Wade Heath. It was a set of stationery with telephone pad and shopping list. High cut prize, a pair of ivory vases, was won by Mrs. Paul Schlosser.

At the tea hour refreshments followed the seasonal trend including a frothed salad and orange-colored mints.

The guest list included: Mmes. William Simson, J. R. Norris, W. J. Coleman, L. G. Lewis, J. W. Pryor, John Cornwall, Henry Shaw, J. M. Armstrong, John West, Russell Conkling, Butler Hurley, O. L. Wood, E. Hazen Woods, Joe Leonard, Harris Eastham, Jr., John Perkins, Bob Hamilton, H. Accessories Lighten Strain on Budget

For luncheon, a simple black woolen dress (center) with satin yoke is worn with oxford sandals, gloves and bag, garnet necklace, a black felt hat with tassel. The brown alligator and suede shoes (left), alligator bag and brown fabric gloves with lace palms, and the brown fabric hat with ripple brim are correct accessories for morning shopping. The other group (right), including black suede, T-strap slippers, suede gloves with lace kid ruffles and a pointed cape of black velvet, give it a formal afternoon tea air. Shoes by Palter-DeLisa, bags from Koret, New York.

By MARIAN YOUNG

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK.—Correct accessories minimize the clothes budget these days. Give a smart shopper, one dress or one suit, and she'll come out with an entire wardrobe.

If she had a black woolen or silk crepe dress as nucleus, she may step forth with a set of brown accessories to wear with it in the morning. This is a splendid idea, especially if her black fall or winter coat has a brown fur collar.

Ox Blood Is Smart Color

To dress up the frock for luncheon and to give it a festive but not too formal air, she probably will select the new and smart ex-blood accessories. Flat sandals in oxford suede with kid trimming, suede bag and gloves to match and perhaps a black felt hat with an oxford feather or ornament perched at the front are correct fashion.

For afternoon she can get accessories that turn the dress which is good for shopping in the morning and equally chic for luncheon at noon into something fit for the highest of high teas. She'll achieve this by choosing all black accessories. The T-strap slippers will be black suede with patent leather trimming and an envelope bag will match. With these there'll be long black suede gloves, a pointed cap of black velvet and nice costume clips of heavy gold.

Buy For Quality to Stretch Budget

Of course, anyone who intends to choose accessories to make one dress do the work of three ought to take the trouble to learn something about shoes, gloves and bags. The first rule (it's an old one, but particularly important in this case) is to remember that quality is a foremost consideration.

Make sure that the gloves are carefully stitched, perfect fitting ones that will hold their shape and retain their color all winter. The same applies to shoes, of course. There's no economy in cheap ones if the cheapness means poor workmanship.

If you have several dresses you may be able to get by with novelty accessories, but if you are trying to build a wardrobe around one frock, your success depends on the quality of the items to wear with it. Generally speaking, those of classic design are best.

TWO SOUTHWEST GAMES BROADCAST NEXT SATURDAY

Radio gridiron fans will be able to trace the progress of the Southwest Conference championship race next Saturday afternoon when Rice Institute, which was defeated by Southern Methodist University last Saturday, meets the University of Texas at Austin in the latter's first conference game, and Baylor's undefeated Bears play Texas A. & M. at the Aggie homecoming at College Station. The first game will be broadcast over stations of the Southwest Broadcasting system, the second over the Texas Quality Network. Both games are sponsored by the Humble Oil & Refining company.

At both Austin and College Station the games are certain to be colorful spectacles. They represent a renewal of ancient rivalries, which annually draw thousands of spectators. Arrangements have been perfected whereby cheers of the student bodies, hand music and other background noises which help to make football the most colorful of fall sports will be picked up by parabolic microphones and brought to radio listeners.

The Southwest's two outstanding sports announcers will handle the games. Byron Saam, assisted by Guy Savage, will be at the microphone at Austin, and Kern Tips with Cy Leland, ex-football and track star at Texas Christian University, to handle color and statistics. They will give the play-by-play description of the Aggie-Baylor game. Kick-off time is 2:30 p. m. at both games, and the broadcasts start at 2:25. Specific stations to carry the Rice-Texas game are KTRH, Houston; KNOX, Austin; KRLD, Dallas; and KATL, Fort Worth. The Aggie-Baylor game can be heard over WOI, San Antonio; WBAP, WFAA, Fort Worth, Dallas; KPRC, Houston; and KRGV, Waco.

FLUBDUBS

By JESS RODGERS

In just a few hours we will know whether we are to have a possible district championship team in Midland this year or just another also-ran.

To have a championship team here this year the Bulldogs had to defeat the up and coming Wink team tonight and win all the rest of their games and also have some one defeat Pecos. If the latter is done it will have to be done by Odesa or Wink as Midland was not capable of it and neither was Monahans. Everyone knows that neither Crane or Stanton can do so.

All of which may sound complicated but that is the way the situation is and there is nothing we can do about it. There is no doubt in our mind that the Bulldogs had a better team than Pecos when the two teams clashed but they payed off on points and the Eagles were the victors.

Reports coming in all season have indicated that the Wink team was weaker than in several seasons but their record for the last two weeks would seem to indicate otherwise. At last Coach Johnson seems to have his team clicking on all cylinders and anyone desiring to bet on the Midland team tonight would not be considered dumb if he asked for a few points—12 at least.

The Bulldogs will need the support of as many fans as can possibly attend the game tonight and school officials are desirous of seeing a large delegation of Midland fans as can possibly attend the game tonight in attendance at the game.

One of the largest delegations ever to follow the team made the trip to Pecos to see them play and as Wink is nearer than the Reeves county capital there is no reason why as many or more persons should not make the trip.

Without bragging, it is doubtful if any of the so-called experts had a better average last week than we did, so we'll try picking them again this week—we can't miss the winners of the games any further than we have been missing the winning horses.

Chicago vs. Wisconsin. The Badgers will be turned in their hides by the Chicago Maroons.

Illinois vs. Iowa. One negro—unless it would be Joe Louis—cannot whip 11 Illinois warriors, therefore we'll stick along with Illinois.

Indiana vs. Ohio State. It will be a sad homecoming for the Hoosiers.

Columbia vs. Michigan. Neither team is very strong but Columbia looks like the best bet.

Minnesota vs. Northwestern. The big Swedes of Minnesota by several points.

Purdue vs. Carnegie Tech. If Purdue does not win it will be a big upset.

Pittsburgh vs. Penn. State. Pitt will not lose this one.

Navy vs. Notre Dame. The Ramblers ramblers ramble some more.

Iowa State vs. Missouri. The show me lads are shown how the game should be played.

Kansas vs. Kansas State. The state boys held Nebraska to a tie so take them if you have to give 12 points.

Nebraska vs. Oklahoma. Captain Bill's Buffers.

Florida vs. Maryland. A shot in the dark—Maryland.

Yale, Holy Cross Rank With Best

BOSS BULLDOG

Captain Kim Whitehead leads a Yale team that roars on to the eastern championship.

Both May Finish Undefeated, McLaughry Believes; Forward, Not Lateral, Big Threat 'Way Down East

By TUSS McLAUGHRY
Head Coach, Brown University
PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 25. — New England has two games in Yale and Holy Cross that are just as good as anything in the country. Judging by performance to date, the end of the season is very likely to see them both undefeated.

Holy Cross did not run up a large score against Harvard, but in addition to the two touchdowns scored, the Crusaders were within scoring distance six other times, rolled up 361 yards on the ground and through the air, made 18 first downs to Harvard's two, and while doing this they looked as impressive as any great team can.

The Purple attack teams with deception and power. The kicking and passing game, Harvard's defense was stubborn, but her offense was of little avail against the gigantic and fast-charging Holy Cross defense.

Yale's comeback at Penn to overcome a three-touchdown lead and score 31 points gives the 1935 Bulldogs the earmarks of a super team in the kind of club that blazes in football history only at infrequent intervals.

Several weeks ago, Clarence Schaubert, Claude Duffey, Sheriff Audie Francis, Ray Turner and several others decided to organize a Midland fair, which would provide a suitable annual market for Midland cattle. They raised $45,000 in one week, bought 110-acre tract, and are building a grandstand seating 5,500 people, a rodeo arena, and a race track and show pens for the fair.

The fair was formally opened by Col. E. O. Thompson, railroad commissioner, chairman, last Saturday, and a rodeo performance featuring many West Texas stars who are called all over the nation to show their skills, was staged. The performance was a success, and the spectators here in this cattle country, and boots and spurs were as common in the grandstand as in the arena.

James H. Goodman, Midland lawyer now, but football star and coach of other days, is an enthusiastic supporter of the fair. He has been permitted, under the railroad commission's policy, to live on the fair grounds, and he has been in the best shape in years.

T. Paul Barron, Midland's newspaper publisher, echoed the same sentiment. He has been too busy "covering" the fair opening to talk long. His brother, the county judge, talked optimistically, and visitors from many towns around, who came to enjoy the fair, were in the best shape in years.

The state highway commission this week put in another tick for property and employment, totaling $2,500,000 worth of highway contracts on Tuesday. The engineering staff is rapidly shaping up plans for additional projects, so that a continuous program of letting may be carried out throughout the fall and winter, putting workers on payrolls as the relief program ends.

Already, rumors of a third special session are heard among members of both houses. The fee officers salary and employment, which cannot be passed at the current second session, it is a fact that this measure is subjecting the legislators to a terrific amount of "heat" from the public. The governor has done his part, and the blame for continued inaction and waste lies squarely upon the legislators.

This correspondent took advantage of the weekend inaction to visit the opening of the Midland county fair, in the heart of the West Texas cattle and oil country. Here is a progressive little city rapidly developing into an oil center with 3,100 producing wells, and numerous tank farms, pipelines and refineries within its trade area.

Long before Midland was an oil town, it was famed throughout the middle west as the source of fine stock and feeder cattle. It shipped each year thousands of head of fine Herefords to Illinois, Iowa and Kansas feedlots.

Passing Combination Clicks
Yale is blessed with two great passers in Rescoe and Ewart, and probably the season's best receiver in Kelley. It was this combination that put Yale in front after Al Hession and Clinton Frank, two sophomores, had scored three times through long runs from near midfield.

One thing I have noticed in New England football this season is that the forward passing game has been vastly improved. In nearly every game of importance, excellent passing has been the determining factor. It seems as if this offensive weapon, when well executed, is beyond the control of an equal defense.

Hand passing, on the other hand, has not developed as many predicted, and has had no material part in games to date. Fundamental, the lateral is not a part of football, and coaches realize the danger that exists in losing control of the ball by extended use of this play.

One of the best small college teams in New England made its mark last Saturday, when little and football teams. His Detroit track team won the distance medley at the Drake Relays this year. He coaches a remarkable young miler in Bill Daly, who will be a junior next spring.

When Dorais came to Detroit from Gonzaga in 1925, he immediately went to work to persuade Butler to follow him and in 1927 the veteran trainer joined forces with the Titans, with the result that they immediately began to achieve fame as iron men.

It is more than a trainer to the Detroit football and track men. Because they all are so fond of him, he obtains results that would not be possible without this affection. Butler is more than a trainer to the Detroit football and track men. Because they all are so fond of him, he obtains results that would not be possible without this affection.

Butler considers three times a season enough for an athlete to dash out on the gridiron, and when "Dad" does rush out, he sees no reason for waving a towel.

23 Inning Soft Ball Game Sets New High Mark
MADISONVILLE, Oct. 25. (AP)—Probably the longest softball game on record was recorded when it took the Trinity CCC camp team 23 innings to beat Madisonville's CCC team 1 to 0 in the second round of the Lufkin CCC District tournament.

The game lasted three hours. Madisonville's pitcher allowed but 8 hits and Trinity's pitcher hit 7. Of the many obelisks built by the ancient Egyptians, only 36 are accounted for today.

WILDCATS WILL BE FAVORED TO BEAT THE LOCALS
Coach Baumgarten and all members of the Bulldog squad took off at one o'clock for Wink where they will play the strong Wildcats tonight.

With all members of the team in good condition physically Baumgarten is confident that the team will have a good account of itself but is rather pessimistic over the chances of winning.

The Wink team has not lost but one game on its field in the last three or four years and that was early this season to a strong Class A team. Since that time the Wildcats have come along fast and today are given an equal chance with Pecos to win the district championship this season.

Without doubt the Wink club would rather defeat the Midland 11 than any other team in the district because it was the Bulldogs that brought to a close one of the most successful winning streaks a school can enjoy when they stopped the Wink 11 here last season.

The Wink win streak had reached into the thirties before they bumped into the inspired Bulldogs and without doubt the Wildcats will be out for revenge tonight and will make as many points as possible before the game is over.

The Midland team has been handicapped all week by cold and rain, and the coach has not been able to get near as much done as he would like to have but he is hopeful that they will be able to hold the score down.

It was the intention of the coach to work a lot this week on the Cowden-Rettig passing attack in an effort to have these boys ready to go into the game and really toss the ball around but the weather all week has precluded any chances to get the two lightweights into anything resembling real form.

The Midland starting backfield, will be, Mickiff, Worford, Buffington and Collins but Cowden and Rettig are liable to see service in place of Buffington and Collins if the Bulldogs get behind.

The Bulldogs line is believed to be in shape to stop the ground game of the Wildcats but the mid and pass defense has been weak all season and this alone is expected to make the Bulldogs the underdogs in the betting as the Wildcats boast one of the best passing attacks in the district.

A large delegation of Midland fans is expected to accompany the team, 50 members of the pep squad having already left and many other supporters of the team supposed to leave around five or six o'clock. The game will start at eight o'clock.

he would like to have at least two of the contemplated 13 reservoirs and dams built.

Notifying Drought and Harry Hopkins, WPA administrator, that the president hoped there would be no further delay, Sheppard said:

"Construction of two dams would meet the president's wishes that at least 25 per cent of each big project be completed."

The Legislature diverted to the district $309,000 annually of general fund taxes in 10 counties of the Brazos watershed for 20 years to help finance the project. Upon that aid and anticipated revenues, the district authorized issuance of up to $10,000,000 bonds.

State Funds Available

State funds would be used for purchase of lands, power machinery and certain other lands.

Norris said the Sheppard Dam would cost more than $3,500,000, of which the Works Progress Administration would contribute more than $3,000,000. The dam and reservoir, in Palo Pinto and Young counties, would impound approximately 1,000,000 acre-feet of water and spread over 26,000 acres.

Norris said local committees in Young and Palo Pinto Counties, at work arranging for land purchases, probably had obtained options which would speed the initiation of construction.

Explorations on the dam site, he said, would be the first actual work along with determination of lines marking high water points, for which WPA crews were being set-up by the state office.

Drought's statement to McCraw certifying the WPA allotment said, "These funds are now available and construction work will be started on at least one of the units as soon as the sponsor has furnished the necessary lands and the engineering plans needed for beginning the work and as soon as the sponsor (the district) is ready for the work to start."

tains who accompanied the President on his long trip, went immediately from the special train to their desks this morning, but had access to Roosevelt by telephone.

Mail Accumulated

Part of the afternoon Roosevelt set aside for a start on the stack of mail which has accumulated during his absence. Included in the mail which piled into the White House were 8,000 replies from the inquiries submitted by the President to the clergy of the country on social conditions. Many have been critical, but the proportion has not yet been determined.

Finding the White House still under repairs, the President has arranged to leave some time next week for the family home at Hyde Park, New York, where he will remain over the state election day the following Tuesday to cast his vote. It is his plan also to attend the dedication on Saturday of a new bridge at Cambridge, Md.

The latter part of the month the President will make his annual pilgrimage to his Warm Springs, Ga., home to spend Thanksgiving Day.

Noted Trick Shot Artist To Appear At Country Club

Art Ashton, noted trick shot artist, until recently at Cloudford, N. M., will give an exhibition of his prowess at the Midland Country club Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Ashton, who has played on most of the golf links over the nation, has a bag full of tricks, some of them literally "up his sleeve". He does a golf ball juggling act, hits a ball from a chair, and one swinging on a string, drives for 200 yards with one hand and foot out of the action. His two balls with control at the same time for 200 yards, and performs various other feats of golfing skill that should be of interest to local sporting enthusiasts.

There will be a playing match afterwards, to be composed of local members of the club.

One dollar admission to the exhibition will be charged.

SEVERAL WELLS AT NEW DEPTHS GET ATTENTION

Round-up Shows Five Gulf Operations In Spotlight

By PAUL OSBORNE

Weekly reports of drilling activity in the Permian Basin indicated relative quietness as compared with the past several weeks but with several wells still being closely watched for developments as they seek horizons at unknown depths.

In far northern Cochran county, Humble No. 1 Slaughter, wildcat located in League 135, Armstrong county school land, is drilling wildcat 3,590 feet in red sandy shale. Farther south in Yoakum county, Davidson and Honolulu No. 1 Mrs. Bennett is shut down waiting for cement.

Gaines Well Tops Anhydrite

Walsh and Harry Adams Corporation No. 1 Abernethy, testing wildcat territory northwest of Seminole, Gaines county, is reported to have topped anhydrite at 1,969 feet and salt at 2,030 feet, and is now drilling salt and anhydrite below 2,249 feet. With Slogner et al. No. 1 Mrs. George shut down for orders, Andrews county is without a strictly wildcat test.

A North Cowden Field north outpost, Sun and Atlantic No. 1 Holt, northern Ector county, is at total depth of 4,080 feet in limestone casing. Farther south, just north of the town of Odessa, York and Harper No. 1 Foster is still at total depth of 900 feet, cleaning out. Dunning et al. No. 1 Mrs. Scharbauer, wildcat test northwest of the Goldsmith area of Ector county, is waiting on cement to set around where the formation is anhydrite; and in the southern part of the county Sun No. 1 Edwards is drilling salt at 2,115 feet.

Five Gulf Operations Reported

The Keystone area of northeastern Winkler county still has five Gulf operations reported. No. 3 has plugged back to 3,415 feet, preparing to shoot and showing some oil. No. 4 is temporarily abandoned after failing to show after shot. No. 7 reached total depth of 3,715 feet, showing three ballers of water per hour for the last three feet, and so has plugged back to 3,707 feet and is preparing to shoot. No. 8 has had trouble with shot, total depth being 4,463 feet; and No. 9 is still shut down at 4,126 feet. Richardson No. 1 Jenkins, close by, is drilling below 3,404 feet in lime, having had several shows of gas and some saturation, and the same operator's No. 2 Walton is drilling below 3,504 feet in limestone and spraying a little oil. Sun Walton No. 1, to the west, is drilling plug at total depth of 2,398 feet.

Winkler County Wells Show Oil
South of the town of Kermitt, Winkler county, Westbrook No. 1 Brown-Altman is drilling in with oil at 2,915 feet in limestone, while still farther south, a mile southeast of the Brown-Altman pool, Cree and Hoover No. 1 Crow is drilling at 3,112 feet with the hole loaded with oil and no shows logged. Of the deep tests, Humble No. 1 Pollok in eastern Upton county leads in depth, being down to 10,771 feet in limestone and chert and is coring. Gulf No. 1 Waddell et al. Crane county, is reported coring at 6,241 feet in dolomite.

Thrills of West In Zane Grey Film Booked for Ritz

The excitement of a gold rush, the primitive justice of the lawless West, the romance of a strong man and a lovely woman are the entertainment elements offered in Fox Film's grand new film of outdoor adventure, "Thunder Mountain," showing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Ritz Theatre.

Adapted from the new novel by Zane Grey, famous writer of Western stories, "Thunder Mountain" stars George O'Brien with Barbara Fritchie and Frances Grant in the principal romantic roles.

The Idaho gold rush of the 1890's is the scene of the film. The plot deals with a man who staked his all on a false woman's love, lost and fought desperately to regain his fortune and to give his love to a loyal girl.

Edward LeSaint and Dean Benton are prominently featured in the picture which was directed by David Howard.

"Way Down East" Powerful Drama Coming to Yucca

Fox Film's "Way Down East," showing preview Saturday night, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Yucca Theatre, is a moving and revealing picture of the elemental drama of a woman's love.

With a setting in bleak New England of the 1850's, the film unfolds a tale of a young girl who had loved well, but not wisely. When the young girl's past is uncovered by gossip she finds herself struggling against the self-righteous and prideful society of New England.

The defenseless girl fights for the right to love and be loved again, and finally wins out when an understanding youth offers her the love she rightfully deserves.

"Way Down East," which was produced by Winfield Sheehan and directed by Henry King, presents Rochelle Hudson and Henry Fonda in the leading romantic roles. In the supporting cast are Slim Summerville, Andy Devine, Edward Trevor and Margaret Hamilton.
