

The Spirit Of Christmas

Early in December, year after year, there begins to come over the entire Western world, and in many places in the Orient where there are groups of Christian believers, a spirit of joy, wonder, expectation, a remembrance of friends and loved ones and a deep sense of awe in the contemplation of the events which will be celebrated on Christmas day. It is significant that while we do not hear or sing songs of the Resurrection of Christ until Easter Sunday itself, we begin to hear Christmas carols and Advent hymns four weeks before Christmas Day occurs. The observance of no other event in history bestows such a spirit of wonder, generosity, joy and love, as does the annual celebration of the birth of Jesus at Bethlehem.

This sense of wonder was notably present even at the time when this great event and its related episodes were occurring. When the people waited long for Zacharias to come forth out of the temple, where he was serving as priest, we are told that the people wondered (Luke 1:21). The family of Zacharias wondered when the aged father insisted that his newborn son should be called John (Luke 1:63). It is said that all who heard the shepherds tell of what they had seen in Bethlehem were compelled to wonder (Luke 2:18), and when Joseph and Mary went up to the temple in Jerusalem for the presentation of the Baby, they could not help but wonder at the prophetic words of Simeon (Luke 2:33). So also did a joyful mood overshadow all who approvingly participated in these events--indeed it was the theme of the heaven-sent messengers themselves. The angel declared to Zacharias, "Thou shalt have gladness and many shall rejoice at his birth" (Luke 1:14). Elizabeth, when greeting Mary, said, "the babe leaped in my womb for joy" (Luke 1:44). To the shepherds the angel announced, "I bring you good tidings of great joy" (Luke 2:10). So likewise, when the Magi "saw the star they rejoiced with exceeding great joy" (Matthew 2:10). In three out of four cases here, the joy springs from some supernatural revelation, either through angels or because of the star. And this sense of wonder and joy still abides, not only upon all those who have accepted God's great Gift, but in a mysterious way it becomes contagious even among those for whom Christ is not yet their Saviour.

The origin of Christmas as an annual observance in the Christian church remains in considerable obscurity. In fact, Christmas was about the last of the festivals to be generally accepted in the church. First of all, of course, there was Sunday, a day of universal obligation from Apostolic times. Early in the church, Good Friday was celebrated, then gradually the Pentecostal and Lenten seasons were introduced. But it was not until well into the fourth century that Christmas was recognized as a church festival. It was being observed in Rome not much earlier than A.D. 354, but had not yet been accepted in Jerusalem as late as A.D. 385. By the beginning of the fifth century, it was observed throughout the Western church on the 25th of December, but, due to its refusal to accept the Gregorian calendar, the Greek, or Eastern church, has always celebrated this great day twelve days later, that is, January 6. It is true that in the Roman empire, the 25th of December was a day for the pagan celebration of the power of the sun, which Chrysostom refers to when he says, "On this day also the Birthday of Christ was lately fixed at Rome in order that while the heathen were busy with their profane ceremonies the Christians might perform their sacred rites undisturbed. They call this (Dec. 25), the Birthday of the Invincible One (Mithras); but who is so invincible as the Lord? They call it the Birthday of the Solar Disc; but Christ is the Sun of Righteousness." Once established throughout the Western church, it soon assumed a dominant place in the Christian calendar, and from the 5th to the 10th century, it marked the beginning of the ecclesiastical year.

Christmas has always been a time of joyful celebration on the part of Roman Catholic churches, the Lutherans, the Dutch Reformed, the Anglican Church, and in general, Protestants and Catholics throughout Christendom. However, during the English Reformation, not only the Puritans, but the Baptists, Presbyterians, and Quakers, strongly opposing all religious observances of a calendar nature, declared that the observance of Christmas smacked of Romanism and idolatry, and were even able in 1647 to get through an act of Parliament, abolishing the observance of Christmas and Pentecost. This opposition to Christmas was participated in by the American colonists, and in Massachusetts especially, it was considered a breach of law, making one liable to a fine if one kept Christmas as a holiday free from labor.

In all of Spearman's churches, you will hear the Christmas gospel preached at all services on Sunday, December 23.

First Presbyterian Church will have their children's Christmas program as part of the morning church worship service on Sunday, December 23 at 11:00 a.m. The children will have a Birthday Party for Jesus following the service. The children will also go carolling on Sunday, December 23, leaving from the church at 5:00 p.m. After carolling there will be refreshments at the manse.

Christmas Eve Candlelight Communion Service will be observed at First Presbyterian Church, December 24 at 7 p.m.

First Christian Church will have a "come and go" communion on Christmas Eve from 7 p.m. to midnight.

Faith Lutheran Church will have a Christmas Eve Candlelight Communion Service on December 24 at 8 p.m.

Sacred Heart Catholic Church will have midnight mass at 12 midnight December 24, and the mass of Christmas Day, December 25, at 8 a.m.

United Methodist Youth will serve a Christmas Dinner on Christmas Sunday, December 30, at noon.

Everyone is invited to participate in any of these Christmas celebrations.

County Agent News

1980 CROP FERTILIZER PRACTICES NEED REEVALUATION

"Fertilizer prices have increased and this situation requires the producer to reevaluate their 1980 fertilizer practices" says Layton Barton, County Extension Agent. Reports are that fertilizer cost will be from 20 to 30 dollars per ton higher for 1980. Increased energy costs and transportation costs are responsible for this new price schedule. With this information on hand, the producer must become more keenly aware of their crop fertility needs and the residual soil fertility levels.

Soil testing, reports Barton, offers two methods to manage their fertility inputs for 1980. Having a good understanding of what fertilizers are required allows the producer to apply only what is needed. This knowledge prevents unneeded production inputs. Secondly, a good soil testing program provides the farmer information on residual or carryover fertility levels in their soils. Taking advantage of residual nitrogen or accumulated phosphorus often allows the producer to reduce fertility inputs during a given year allows Barton.

Anyone interested in soil test can obtain information sheets, instructions for sampling and mailing cartons at the County Extension office adds Barton.

Dear Santa,

I am really excited about Christmas this year. I am four years old and I have been pretty good this year.

Thank you,
Kevin Williams

Dear Santa,

I am 3 years old and my name is Jason. I have a baby brother. His name is Eric. I have tried real hard to be a good boy. Eric does lots of "no-no's," but he has been a pretty good boy, too.

I would like to have a tractor to ride for Christmas and Eric wants a toy box. Please bring Mommy some clothes & Daddy some tools. We will leave you some goodies to eat.

I love you,

Jason Varnon

A Firefighter's Wife

By Foley

A special kind of woman; a cut above the rest,
That's A FIREFIGHTER'S WIFE, rating her among the best.

How many good byes are shouted, without a fond embrace.
As duty steals her man, for the danger he must face.

How many meals are ruined - or, tender moments disturbed,
By the wail of a distant signal, sparking loyalty answered.

It's a devil of a job, for an angel like this,
Who... for the love her man, must forsake that kiss.

She can run a garden tractor; even paint a room in need,
How she can stretch a dollar is a miracle indeed.

She's mother, lover, chauffeur and nurse,
A living symbol of: "for better or for worse."

Rich is the man, reaping his rewards in life,
Who choose to be the other half of a FIREFIGHTER'S WIFE.

Ladies Auxiliary Prayer

by R. Lewis

The ladies wait, while their men respond, united as one in a common bond.
The bond of serving, each in their own way,
the needs that arise, be what they may.
The reheated meals, the unsipped drink, are a common occurrence, much more than you think.
It's mostly routine and done without flair,
the men return, their ladies are there.
But then comes the call, the tough one to fight,
a working fire that may last through the night.
The ladies again wait, but this time they know, that sooner or later, they too will go.
As they wait for the signal, the time draws near,
for that sooner or later to be suddenly here.
The men are all weary, some of them spent,
the refreshments that arrive are like heaven sent.
The auxiliary, in fact, is more than a name,
its a dedicated arm of the volunteer game.
So God when we pray, for the firemen's care, include the ladies, who were also there.

John Maxson reports

Hansford Co. Results

Again this year Pioneer® brand seeds are delivering outstanding yields in field after field. But we know it takes more than one year's performance to tell the whole story. Look at these results, then ask your Pioneer dealer to show you records from several years. You'll see for yourself why Pioneer brand seeds have become famous for their consistency.

This tall, semi-upright leafed hybrid has demonstrated better standability than most popular competitive upright leafed hybrids. And that made an important difference to Hansford County farmers this year. V. B. Morris of Gruver reported a yield of 158.7 bu./A. with 3360 in a comparison field where lodging was a problem with other hybrids in the test. 3360 has outstanding head smut tolerance, excellent MDMV tolerance and good early season vigor to get off to a good start. In 27 comparisons on the Northern High Plains, 3360 averaged 8.7 bu./A. more than competitive hybrids. And it offers the same kind of outstanding performance potential again next year.

One of the most popular hybrids on the Northern High Plains, 3184 proved its reputation in 32 comparisons again this year. It averaged 14.9 bu./A. more than competitive hybrids and demonstrated the consistency of performance that's made it so popular. Strong stalks and roots provide excellent standability, and it holds ears well to minimize field losses.

In nearby Sherman County, Joe Morris recorded a yield of 162.9 bu./A. with this outstanding hybrid. Although it's relatively new to many High Plains farmers, 3183 is an established favorite across the U.S. And this year's averages prove why. In 34 comparisons it yielded 12 bu./A. more than competitive hybrids. Excellent drought tolerance and very good seedling vigor give it extra appeal in this area, too.

4-H

4-H Teen Leaders are very special youth because they help adult volunteer leaders plan and conduct 4-H project and club meetings, events, and activities throughout the year. In recognition of their significant contributions to 4-H work, a unique "Teen Leader Retreat" will be held at the Texas 4-H Center near Brownwood on Friday night through Sunday noon, January 11-13, 1980. This outstanding training opportunity will be the first event held at the Center in the 80's and teen leaders from Hansford County are invited to participate according to County Extension Agent Peggy Winegarner. Individual workshops offered that weekend will include practical help on how to improve 4-H member interest and fun through exhibits, clowning, newspaper, public speaking, puppets, radio, T.V., slide presentations, and skits. It will be a great weekend for 4-H teen leaders from around the state to sharpen their leadership skills with old and new friends. For further information and registration details, interested persons may call 659-2030 or 733-2901 or come by the County Extension office located in the Courthouse.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

We wish for you
a happy holiday.
May Christmas
bring all good things to you.

Class of '64 Plans Get-Together

The Spearman High School graduating class of 1964 will be having a class get-together Saturday, Dec. 22 from 9 until 11 at the B&B Farm Industries Friendship Room.

They welcome all graduates of 1962 thru 1966 to come and visit and renew acquaintances. Any other graduates are also welcome to come.

By the time a man acquires the thankful spirit, he's overwhelmed by the demands of the Christmas season.

Intelligence tells us that things change, and wisdom indicates that the change is often for the better.

Tolerance is the key to peace of mind.

Historical Committee Meets

The Hansford County Historical Survey Commission, Inc. met in regular session Dec. 14 at the library. In the absence of the president Fred Groves, Secretary Juanita Pierce acting as president opened the meeting with Clementene Renner giving the treasurer's report. She reported that the City of Spearman gave the Commission $1500.00 in Revenue Sharing funds to help pay utilities and help run the museum. The Treasurer report was approved as read. The minutes were read by Juanita Pierce and were approved as read.

Ruby Saltness reported the museum needs some work done as there are leaks in the roof. This will be checked.

Plans were also made to enclose the 1917 wedding dress and shoes for safer keeping.

The Commission discussed plans of building a fence and landscaping some time next year. It was brought up that we might use railroad ties for the fence. If anyone has any to sell or donate please call the museum at 3008.

Ruby Saltness gave a history book report. She said that more letters will be mailed after the first of the year, giving everyone who has not entered their stories a chance to do so.

If anyone would like to give a history book gift certificate for Christmas they may get one at the museum. They make very presents

Those attending the meeting were: Clementene Renner, Helen Boyd, Nell Evans, Frances Kilgore, R. L. McClellan, Ruby Saltness, Jennie Blankenship and Juanita Pierce.

Celebrating

At Christmas, some feel the urge to celebrate with gusto, and this sometimes means imbibing cheer in the form of alcoholic beverages.

Thus a word of caution is in order at this time. It could prevent tragic results during the major holiday season of the year. Each Christmas holiday period claims the lives of hundreds of Americans in automobile accidents, and many of them result from the mistakes of intoxicated or partly intoxicated drivers. How tragic it is when these accidents take the lives of dear ones.

If one must celebrate in this way, he or she should resolve to stay at home or to refrain from driving. This should be his earliest new year resolution; it could save his life, or someone else's.

Home for Christmas

Around this great holiday we build traditions — of peace, love and togetherness. May these be but part of your fair share this joyous season.

Holiday Hints

GIFTS TO PLEASE A HOST'S PALATE

An assortment of delicacies from supermarket and specialty stores is a delightful gift for a host or hostess.

By selecting a gift for a host or hostess from the array of food suggestions at the supermarket, cheese shop, health food store or delicatessen, you can make a food-shopping trip do double duty this year and save both time and money.

Select items from the gourmet shelves and display them in a basket you decorate yourself with ribbons and colorful see-through wrappings.

Be sure to pick a present that suits your recipient: a romantic host or hostess might enjoy exotic fruit, imported cheese and a bottle of wine. A cheese knife and quality Chinet plates should complete the package.

Give an "instant party" to a sociable friend. Choose several tins of seafood delicacies, a miniature loaf of bread or biscuits, festive napkins and Chinet disposable tableware along with a favored wine.

For your own kitchen, stock up on seasonal fruits like cranberries and bake this tempting bread to present to a delightful hostess.

CRANBERRY BREAD

- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 1 1/4 cups milk
- 2 tablespoons butter, melted
- 3 cups unbleached flour
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 4 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 1/4 cups fresh cranberries
- 1/2 cup walnuts, chopped
- 2 teaspoons vanilla

Mix the eggs with the milk and butter. Stir the flour, 1/4 cup of brown sugar, salt and baking powder. Add the egg mixture to the sifted mixture and blend. Chop the cranberries and add the remaining 1/4 cup of brown sugar to them. Fold the cranberries, walnuts and vanilla into batter. Pour into greased loaf pan and bake at 350° F. for one hour. The bread is done when a toothpick is inserted and comes out clean.

To keep cauliflower from discoloring when it's cooked, boil it in water to which a teaspoon of vinegar has been added.

Colorful Punches For The Holidays

Christmas cheer is coming to town, but this year there's a change in the holiday toasting habits of many Americans.

What's bringing about the change? Midori Melon Liqueur and Aki Plum Liqueur, two popular new cordials from Japan, imported by Suntory International.

Holiday punches in green and red make this Christmas season more colorful.

Start A New Holiday Tradition

The holidays—a time of joy and merrymaking for all—also brings with it a dilemma for the cook: wanting to try new and different recipes, yet not wanting to break tradition. This year, the choice is made easier with "Pumpkin Ribbon Pie." Prepared with unflavored gelatin, it's a combination of two well-loved holiday desserts in one—two layers of spicy pumpkin pie with a "cheese-cake" layer in the middle. And, the unflavored gelatin means that except for baking the pastry shell, you don't need to use precious oven space—usually reserved for the turkey. You and your family will all agree, a new tradition has begun!

PUMPKIN RIBBON PIE

- 1 envelope Knox® Unflavored Gelatin
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 2 eggs, separated
- 1 cup milk
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 2 packages (3 oz. ea.) cream cheese, softened
- 3/4 cup canned pumpkin
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
- 9-inch baked pastry shell

In medium saucepan, mix unflavored gelatin with 1/2 cup sugar; blend in egg yolks beaten with milk. Let stand 1 minute. Stir over low heat until gelatin is completely dissolved, about 5 minutes; add vanilla.

In large bowl, using electric mixer, beat cream cheese until smooth; gradually beat in gelatin mixture. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from spoon.

In medium bowl, beat egg whites until soft peaks form; gradually add remaining 1/4 cup sugar and beat until stiff. Fold into cheese mixture. Reserve 1 cup cheese mixture. To remaining mixture, fold in pumpkin mixed with spices. Turn 1/2 pumpkin mixture into pastry shell; spread on reserved cheese mixture and top with remaining pumpkin mixture. Chill until firm. Makes about 8 servings.

The median income of U.S. households grew from around $10,000 in 1970 to some $16,000 in 1977. After inflation and taxes, actual purchasing power remained about the same.

The Tea Party

One of the fateful days in the country's history was December 16, 1773, two hundred and six years ago. On that day sixteen colonialists, disguised as Indians, boarded a ship in Boston Harbor and threw its cargo of tea into the water.

It's difficult to completely justify this illegal behavior, and it must be recognized that some of the incentive for it stemmed from anti-British sentiments and earlier actions. The colonies weren't represented in Parliament.

London had sought to impose stamp taxes in the colonies, but the reaction had been so strong Parliament removed most of them, leaving only a tax on tea.

The East India Company had then arranged to lower the price on tea so that it was about the same as if there had been no tax. But that didn't satisfy the revolutionaries. They refused to accept the tax in principle and dumped the tea overboard anyhow.

Parliament responded by moving the capital of Massachusetts from Boston to Salem and closed Boston Harbor to all commerce. The bitterness which resulted from these actions was a contributing factor to the revolt of the colonies a few years later.

The 17th

Man had dreamed of flying like birds for centuries, but it wasn't until two Ohio brothers named Wright, at Kitty Hawk, North Carolina, made a successful flight in a heavier-than-air machine on December 17, in 1903, that the air age began.

Americans can be proud the first flight took place in this country. Englishmen, Germans, Frenchmen, and others had been working toward the exciting goal. Orville and Wilbur Wright of Dayton had been experimenting with gliding craft for years. On one they finally mounted a sixteen horsepower motor. On the 17th, it flew more than 800 feet, for 59 seconds.

S.P. Langley of the United States was also on the verge of success with his aircraft (equipped with a steam engine) and Octave Chanute, also an American, was flying a craft without a motor at this time. Sir Hiram Maxim of England and Otto Lilienthal of Germany were close to success.

The flying machine presented to the world in 1903 developed slowly until World War I, but from that time on there was no doubt the 20th century would be the air-age century. And from 1903 until this day, Dayton (special events there take place this month), with its air museum, air base and other air and space facilities, has been recognized as the historical custodian of powered flight.

Males In America

The current jest among many European, South American and Asian men is that American males are spineless, almost ashamed of being the stronger sex. To some degree, that charge makes sense.

The modern kick in this country is for females to do everything males do—as a matter of moral principle. Whether it be boxing, football or military combat, aggressive lib spokesmen in this country intimidate politicians into acquiescence to that theme. In some cases, it makes no sense. The sexes are different and that should be acknowledged and appreciated. Females should enjoy being feminine, not masculine, and vice versa.

The latest fad among many is to call men who find women attractive womanizers. They are said to take advantage of women, exploit women, etc. Is that a valid charge?

Women who like men can often exploit men even more effectively. And our society and tradition has established that women dress alluringly, or half-dress alluringly, or dress hardly at all, alluringly.

All clothes styles emphasize the female figure. All cosmetics, health spa and perfume direction is toward making women alluring. That's the historical game of life as generations have known it. That being the case, what those who loosely throw the charge of womanizer about are saying, in effect, is that when females are successful in turning on the male, they are innocent and the male is a beast.

Actually, the whole female game is to encourage the male's attention and aggressiveness. When the poor devil succumbs to the charms, finery and view, that should make the normal female feel victorious, or desirable, not the reverse! Neither is necessarily being exploited.

Marshmallow Treats Holiday House

Create a bit of holiday magic for your home with a gaily decorated Marshmallow Treats House. Just make two pans of everyone's favorite Marshmallow Treats, cut out and assemble the house, and add miniature decorations—peppermint shrubs, gum drop door knob, licorice windows. The result is a holiday treat for everyone.

Preparing the Treats

Prepare one 13 x 9 x 2-inch pan of Marshmallow Treats using the following:

- 1/2 cup margarine or butter
- 1 package (10 oz., about 40) regular marshmallows
- 5 cups Kellogg's® Rice Krispies® cereal

Prepare one 15 1/2 x 10 1/2 x 1-inch pan of Marshmallow Treats using the following:

- 1/2 cup margarine or butter
- 1 package (16 oz., about 60) regular marshmallows
- 10 cups Kellogg's Rice Krispies cereal

Melt margarine in large saucepan over low heat. Add marshmallows and stir until completely melted. Cook over low heat 3 minutes longer, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add cereal. Stir until well coated. Using buttered spatula or waxed paper, press mixture evenly into buttered pan. Cool completely. Let stand 8 hours or overnight.

NOTE: Remember that 1 cup of Rice Krispies cereal weighs about 1 ounce. So a 6-oz. package of Rice Krispies cereal will contain about 6 cups. Best results are obtained when using fresh marshmallows.

Cutting Out The House

Using the measurements shown in Fig. 1, cut out patterns from paper or cardboard for each piece of the house. Then lay the patterns over the 15 1/2 x 10 1/2 x 1-inch pan of Treats and cut around them. Remove pieces from the pan and place on waxed paper.

Decorating The House

Prepare Icing:

- 2 egg whites
- 2 1/2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar

In small bowl of electric mixer, beat egg whites until foamy and slightly thickened. Add sugar, 1/2 cup at a time, beating after each addition. Beat on medium speed for 5 minutes until a stiff icing is formed. Using the icing as "glue," decorate the front, back and sides of the house with assorted candies. Allow to dry completely.

Fig. 3

Assembling The House

Remove, in one piece, the Marshmallow Treats from the 13 x 9 x 2-inch pan. This will serve as the base for the house. Set on heavy cardboard or a tray.

Assemble the house, using icing to cement the decorated walls together. (See Figs. 2 and 3) Prepare more of the above icing if needed.

Ice peaks of both end walls. Fold an 8 1/2 x 11-inch piece of colored cardboard in half crosswise. Place the cardboard over the peaks to form roof. Hold in place until icing sets.

Ice the chimney sections together. Place in position on roof using icing to anchor it. Hold in place until icing sets.

Cover roof with icing using a spatula or pastry bag. Swirl surface to look like snow. With leftover icing, add "snowdrifts" around base of house. Add angel hair or evergreen boughs to complete the holiday scene.

Time-Saving Turkey Stuffing . . .

"Special Recipe" Holiday Stuffing

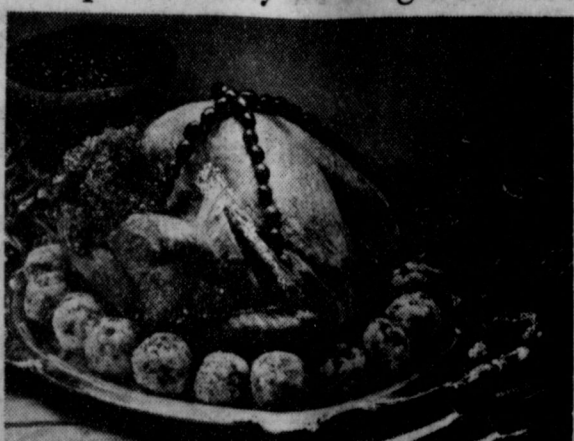

For most Americans, the holiday season means getting together to share special traditions. And undoubtedly, the holiday feast accounts for some of the most eagerly awaited pleasures—such as baking the annual fruitcake and concocting your favorite eggnog.

It would not be a holiday feast without turkey, and Jimmy Dean has created his own recipe for that all-time favorite stuffing. Everyone has their specialties, and Jimmy's is making pure, fresh country style pork sausage. Naturally good, and naturally, that's a key ingredient for his holiday favorite.

Jimmy's "Special Recipe" sausage in the silver package is delicately flavored with the meat-enhancer, aromatic sage. The sage flavoring of "Special Recipe" has the country style taste. Taste that is nutritious and so deliciously nostalgic that it's downright festive!

In addition to its fantastic flavor, "Special Recipe" makes footproof stuffing both delicious and economical. Because the sage is in the sausage, there's no money wasted on special holiday seasonings. No more concern for seasoning quality and freshness; no more tedious condiment measuring as you cook.

Remember the great tantalizing aroma which finally signals dinner time? When your feast is complete—instead of being frazzled—you will be ready to celebrate—and to accept praising compliments from your friends and family when they taste your "Special Recipe" stuffing. It may just be the beginning of a new holiday tradition.

NEW TRADITION "SPECIAL RECIPE" HOLIDAY STUFFING

- 1 lb. Jimmy Dean "Special Recipe" Sausage with SAGE®
- 1 finely chopped onion
- Salt, pepper and seasoning salt to taste
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 1 cup chopped apple

Cook onions, celery, and apples in bouillon for 4 to 5 minutes. Lightly brown "Special Recipe" Sausage WITH SAGE in a heavy skillet. Drain off drippings. Combine with bread crumbs and then add bouillon. Mix lightly. More liquid may be added if stuffing needs more moisture. Place in a greased casserole dish.

Bake at 350 degrees Fahrenheit for 45 minutes or use as stuffing for turkey, chicken, or chops.

Billy Kidd On Safe Skiing

Billy Kidd, former Olympic medalist and World Pro Skiing Champion, shares his thoughts on ski equipment.

When skiers ask me about equipment, I recommend gear suited to their ability and skiing style. But whatever the equipment, I emphasize the importance of keeping it in good shape, especially bindings.

Bindings, because they function mechanically, are your most important piece of ski equipment. They must be properly maintained on a periodic basis to ensure good performance and function. Binding maintenance is simple and now is the perfect time to get your gear in shape, before snow falls and shops become busy.

Have your equipment tuned and checked at a reputable ski shop. Talk with the shop's technician about your bindings. Discuss how long you've owned them, how many days you've skied them, and whether they need to be replaced.

In the last decade, bindings have undergone considerable changes. Salomon, for example, the world's leading manufacturer of ski bindings, takes five years to research and develop new models. The binding you purchased five years ago, no matter what brand or how much it's been skied, was on the drawing board several years before then. It is not up to current "state-of-the-art" technology, which makes today's bindings the safest, best performing ever.

While this commitment to research and development has added to the cost of bindings, you are getting more safety for your money. Since 1972, the injury rate for serious lower leg injuries has dropped by more than 60 percent, and more than 75 percent for tibial fractures, the injury most commonly associated with skiing. Today, when you invest in a binding, you're getting four times as much safety, combined with excellent performance, convenience and durability.

"Boots are an important part of the ski/boot/binding system. Make sure your boots are free of snow before you get into your bindings."

Once your equipment has been checked and tuned by the shop, follow these steps throughout the season to ensure your gear stays in good condition.

To keep bindings clean and free of road salt and grit, cover them while traveling. For ski brakes, check the function of the arms to make sure they don't interfere with the binding. For retention straps, look for frayed ends or broken hardware.

Inspect the toe and heel visual indicators daily to ensure the release settings are correct for your weight and ability. If you're not sure of the proper settings, ask your shop technician. Also check mounting screws.

Remember that bindings are a part of the total ski/boot/binding system. For optimum performance, fill in gouges on the ski bases and keep the edges sharp. Make sure boot soles are clean and not worn.

Following these easy steps will lead to a safer, more pleasurable skiing experience. Have your equipment checked at a reputable ski shop now and have a great season!
