Postal Service Seeks Bids

The U.S. Postal Service is asking for construction bids to build to lease a new main post office building for the City of Hart, according to postmaster Betty Sanders.

Bids are to be submitted to Richard L. Heiligman, realty management and acquisition specialist.

Bids will be opened at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 6, 1981, Room 523, Downtown Station Bryan and Ervay Streets, Dallas.

The proposed building will include 2875 square feet, inner floor space. It is to be built with private funds and leased to the Postal Service for a basic period of ten years, with renewal option for an additional 20 years.

The postal service has acquired an option to buy site for the new Post Office which will be offered to the successful bidder.

The site in question is 17,500 square feet of land located at the corner of Broadway and Ave. F.

Longhorns Win Opener

The 1981 football season got underway for most Texas High Schools this past Friday evening. The Hart Longhorns traveled to Anton to battle the much improved Bulldogs. This rivalry dates back to the early '60's, and it had been some 13 years since Anton had recorded a victory. When the final seconds had ticked off the clock the scrappy Longhorns had come away with a thrilling 16 to 8 triumph to run their string to 14 in a row.

As usual, both teams had the first game jitters and committed their share of turnovers. However, it was the Hart kicking that sealed the victory for the Longhorns.

Hart got on the scoreboard first, following a blocked punt by Clay Barnes. The Longhorns pushed the ball some 30 yards after the Bulldog miscue with halfback Coy Myrick going the final one yard for the touchdown. Derek Rich passed to Jorge Barretero for the two points and with 6:50 remaining in the first quarter, the Longhorns led 8-0.

Midway through the second period, Hart's kicking game shined again. Linebacker, Robert Martinez broke through and blocked another Anton punt. Robert Gonzales alertly scooped up the loose ball and scampered the final 15 yards for another Longhorn touchdown. Derek Rich ran for the two points and with 7:41 still left in the second quarter Hart now led 16-0.

The Longhorns threatened two more times during the first half, but no score could be made. At the half it was still Hart 16 - Anton 0.

After doing several Longhorn threats during the first half, Anton came out with new life and enthusiasm. Hart could not mount much offense in the third quarter and the Bulldogs took advantage. Steve Decker capped a 61 yard drive by the Bulldogs with a 25 yard run around right end for the touchdown. He then swept around left end for the two-points conversion, cutting the Hart lead to 16-8 with 7:41 remaining in the third period.

This score must have awakened the Longhorns because they played much tougher defense throughout the remaining quarter and a half. Hart's

Chad Black Wins Beginning Football Guessing Game

Chad Black proved his pigskin "predictability" last week, missing just three games in a contest which proved "upsetting" to most entrants.

The former Longhorn was counted wrong on the tie game between Crosbyton and Valley, missed Denver and Oakland, was upset with a host of other contestants selecting Vega to beat Memphis. He wins $5 for the finish.

Tied with five misses each, Jerry Mathis and Bobby Allensworth finished second and third with the tie-breaker determining their finish. Mathis was three points off the actual score of the Horns game with a 14-7 prediction. Allensworth missed by eight points with 20-6. They claim $3 and $2, respectively.

Black assumes the season lead in the race for $50. Contestant with the most correct predictions for the season will claim that prize.

Contestants with nine or more points are listed elsewhere in this issue.

With just one contest graded, it is still anybody's contest to win. It is very possible to miss one week's competition and still become the big winner. Enter today and join in the fun competition.

Anyone, too, can be a weekly winner. Lady Luck plays a big part, it does not require football expertise. It's easy to enter. Select a winner in each of the games appearing in ads of sponsoring merchants on the contest pages of The Hart Beat. Circle the corresponding number on the entry blank provided there. Predict a score in the Hart game which not only counts as the tie-breaker in event of ties but also counts as a game. Fill in entry blank with name and address and deposit with any sponsoring merchant before noon Friday.

Only one entry allowed per person.

Juanita Gordino Services Held

Last rites were conducted Monday afternoon in St. John's Catholic Church for Mrs. Juanita Godino, 53, longtime resident.

Mrs. Godino died Saturday following a long illness. She had been a resident of Hart 22 years. She married Marcellino Godino in 1946 in Reynosa, Mexico.

Survivors include her husband; three daughters, Irma Nunoz of Booker and Gloria and Juanita of Hart; six sons, Ignacio and Felipe of Plainview, Marcellino Jr. of Booker, Gilbert, Robert and Ricky of Hart; nine grandchildren; one sister, Martha of Monterrey, Mexico; and two brothers, Abraham Camarillo of Laredo and Gregory Camarillo of Monterrey, Mexico.

Pallbearers were Butch Martinez, Santos Niabes, Robert Gonzales, Augustin Perez, Juan Martinez and Tiodoro Guterrez.

Immunization Clinic Slated

Vaccines for protection from childhood diseases including polio, diphtheria, lock jaw, whooping cough, measles, rubella and mumps will be available Wednesday, Sept. 23 in Hart Elementary School.

Sponsored by the Texas Department of Health, the free clinic will be held from 9 to 11 a.m.

Sunday, Holiday Service Stops

Effective Sunday, Sept. 13, Sunday and holiday mail service is being discontinued by the U.S. Postal Service. The change is being made as an energy conservation measure and because of small quantities of mail currently received and dispatched on Sundays and holidays.

Guest Editorial

Labor Day has come and gone, and this national holiday which was set up to honor the working man or woman has actually deteriorated into just another day to stretch a weekend for recreation or loafing, neither pursuit having very much to do with work.

The labor unions would have you think that they have a corner on Labor Day and actually do stage some parades to call attention to those who work.

But work belongs to all of us.

It is unfortunate that some people don't know the joy of work.

There are a great many people who have worked like a dog to accumulate enough money so that their children do not have to work, being handed out all the things that their parents were denied because they didn't have money.

Then they can't understand why children have so little regard for these things. The kid who tears up his new bicycle without a second thought can't be given all the blame. It came so easily to him that it can be disposed of without a second thought. His dad may have wished mightily for a bicycle when he was that age but there is a difference in how they look at actual possession of one.

There is a great wailing and gnashing of teeth over the decline of productivity in America these days. It is a matter of general knowledge that the automotive workers are apt to produce cars with more flaws in them when they come off the line on Monday or Friday, simply due to poorer workmanship on these two days when a worker is either recovering from a weekend or looking forward to one.

Despite the unemployment figures, there are plenty of jobs to be had for those willing to work and the hard worker who lands a job can be sure his employer will do everything possible to keep him because there are not all that many hard and willing workers any more.

While it is no doubt true that people don't work as hard as they once did, let's not assume that everybody is taking it easy.

Right here in the Perryton Community, there are hundreds of people who go to work early, do their work well, and have the satisfaction that comes with having performed a task to the best of their ability.

The wheels of commerce turn in our community because of those who wait tables, serve customers in stores, handle paper work that offices demand, that till the soil and drill the wells and drive the trucks.

If more Americans would honor a job well done, reward those who do it, then we would have no worries about increased productivity and higher standards of living.

The greatest lesson a parent can teach a child is how to savor the rewards of honest labor.

Editor's Note: The preceding editorial was printed in the Perryton Herald last year.

Gold can be beaten so thin that a gram will cover 56 square inches.

Salt used in its pure form and in the many chemicals derived from it, directly affects almost all major industries. There's salt in shoe leather, in the dye of a hat and tons go into the production of paper.

FIRST AID FACTS

Most homemakers keep their pantries and freezers well stocked so that they can serve nutritious meals to their families. Ask yourself if you have given the same time and consideration to your first aid kit or medicine cabinet, so that you can be prepared to meet minor emergencies.

Before answering, check your supplies against the list below. Do you have:

- First-Aid cream or topical antibiotic for treating wounds and preventing infections

- Band-Aids in assorted sizes for minor cuts, abrasions and puncture wounds

- Butterfly closures, special bandages that hold wound edges firmly together to facilitate proper healing

- Sterile gauze pads, both non-stick and regular, for larger wounds which require custom bandaging. Non-stick pads are needed for burns, infections or wounds that tend to ooze.

- Large adhesive pads (over sized Band-Aid type dressings) to cover large areas of the body

- First aid tape, both narrow and wide, to secure dressings

- Rolled gauze to secure sterile dressings, especially for those areas of the body which are difficult to bandage, i.e. knees or elbows

In addition you should

Keep first aid kit well stocked.

have these items handy: rubbing alcohol, witch hazel, a non-prescriptive pain killer such as aspirin or its equivalent, an ice-pack, enema bag, mild soap, sterile eye-wash and an eye-wash cup, thermometer, tweezers for removing splinters and a pair of scissors which should always be kept with your first aid supplies.

In order to be prepared for poison accidents you should also have on hand activated charcoal, which soaks up ingested poisons and syrup of ipecac to induce vomiting.

First aid experts and doctors agree that you'll be prepared for most home emergencies if you have these items readily available when accidents occur. They also suggest that all members of the family should know where first aid supplies are kept in each home so that they may respond quickly when there is no time to spare.

Gas heating saves $226 per year!

Compared to the heat pump, gas heating can save you $226 per year on your utility bills. So if you hear that a heat pump is "more economical", remember, that is comparing it to other electric heating . . . not to gas! No other heating system even comes close to gas for economy. At Energas, we are committed to help you get the most for your heating dollar. Gas heating, combined with good conservation practices, saves energy, too.

punting game, led by Derek Rich, kept the Bulldogs bottled up in their own territory during the final minutes of the game.

When the final horn had sounded, the Longhorns had victory number one under their belts with a very hard fought 16 to 8 score. The entire Longhorn team should be commended for their great desire and determination against a much bigger Bulldog team.

If you missed the game, you missed a very exciting contest. Come out this Friday, Sept. 11, and support your FIGHTING LONGHORNS as they entertain the always tough Shallowater Mustangs at 8 p.m.

Spotlight on HEALTH

PARENTS VITAL IN CONTROL OF LICE

When school opens this Fall, school administrators will be alert to the possibility of head lice (known medically as pediculosis) returning to school along with the children.

In recent years, both public and private schools have reported outbreaks of head lice. According to a spokesman for the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, the problem may actually start during summer vacations when children are in close contact during recreation.

To prevent epidemics from spreading from affected children to their schoolmates, families, and to the community at large, a cooperative community approach has been found to be most effective with school personnel, local health department and parents all working together.

Parents play an important role in the control of head lice and experts urge that they learn how to check for head lice and to suspect their presence when a child persistently scratches his head.

The approach that has proved successful begins with a meeting to which parents, teacher and school health personnel are invited by a letter from the principal. The school nurse often serves as moderator. Parents are provided with literature, and a film may be shown. Those who cannot attend are sent copies of the literature.

Several methods of treatment are available, but most physicians prescribe Kwell Shampoo, which should be used according to instructions. Perhaps because of both parents' and children's apprehension about lice, there is sometimes a tendency to overuse a treatment. A four-minute single shampoo with Kwell has been found to be nearly 100% effective. In severe cases, or when reinfestation has occurred, a physician may prescribe a second application after one week. (Physicians often recommend that other family members also use the shampoo as a prophylactic measure.)

Remaining nits (eggs) or their shells may be removed, when the hair is dry, using a fine-tooth metal comb or tweezers, or by slipping the nits down the entire hair shaft, one by one.

To prevent reinfestation, contaminated clothing should be laundered or dry cleaned. Contaminated surfaces, such as upholstery, rugs and bedding, can be sprayed with R&C Spray Insecticide which was especially developed to kill lice and nits on anything in the home that cannot be laundered or dry cleaned.

Some schools schedule routine examination of children's heads during the year. It is now an established fact that clean children from families in every economic bracket may become infested with head lice, but that the problem can be solved fairly quickly and simply with the help of everyone concerned.

THE NEW ENERGY FRONTIER: Coal. America's new energy frontier. Black Thunder Coal Mine near Gillette, Wyoming, sits on part of 50 billion tons. Tapping this huge new reserve of raw energy is a job that takes a combination of resources and pioneering spirit. The kind that fuels booms of opportunity. And we're here helping.

Last year, 3 million tons of this coal was used as fuel to make electricity at Southwestern Public Service power plants. Coal is being used more now because other fuels cost too much.

In Wyoming alone, there's enough coal that some areas of Black Thunder won't be mined until the year 2013. That's a lot of electricity. Coal. It's good to know there are some things you can depend on.

Nation's Number One Problem

Excessive labor costs constitute the No. 1 problem for the nation as it seeks to restore lost productivity and regain markets for its goods, both domestic and foreign.

Over the years, wages in many industries and public organizations have been pushed up to artificial levels. Featherbedding has become a way of life.

The railroads are a classic case of an industry where union featherbedding has done terrible damage.

Currently, Americans are concerned about the high cost of transportation. Airline fares have shot up in the last year or so. The Air Line Pilots Association is waging a furious battle, however, against new airlines that pay pilots less than $50,000 a year.

AMTRAK, which provides an important alternative transportation system, can't maintain existing routes because it is compelled by the rail unions to hire more people than it needs. The Passenger Train Journal recently reported that AMTRAK has to hire three complete train crews for the seven-hour run between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. One may say: What a way to run a railroad! But the rail management isn't at fault. To date, Congress has declined to break up the union monopoly that imposes unreasonable costs on the industry and the country as a whole.

In recent weeks, the public has heard a great deal about the near-collapse of the public transit system in the Chicago area. Unfortunately, the American people hear few of the details about excessive wages in the Chicago Transit Authority.

Jack Mabley, a columnist for the Chicago Tribune, recently reported some of the shocking details in an interview with Dr. Henry Lowenstein, a University of Illinois professor who specializes in transit problems.

Dr. Lowenstein reported that the CTA is loaded with patronage jobs, saying that "The CTA has 14 persons listed as management interns." They average $28,000 a year. When you think of an intern, you think of a student with a low-pay summer job who is getting experience. At the CTA, Dr. Lowenstein said, one "intern" has been there since 1964. He adds that one of the chauffeurs makes between $40,000 and $50,000 a year."

All sorts of public and quasi-public organizations have a featherbedding problem and a problem with excessive pay for employees. The federal government long has paid wages above those paid by private industry. Excessive wages paid postal workers, who haven't increased their productivity in years, are a case in point.

Once excessive wages are built into an organization, it is hard to bring them down to reasonable levels without considerable disruption and agitation. One way to move, therefore, is to dismantle as many publicly-financed organizations as possible. This is the recommendation of Dr. Lowenstein with respect to the Chicago Transit Authority.

"If the government can't operate mass transit any more efficiently than the private sector can," he said, "it should get out of the business. Maybe we should go to contracting out for mass transportation."

With funds in short supply, there's pressure on to squeeze waste out of all sorts of systems, both public and private. The recent actions of the Congress on budget issues show that support for cutbacks can be mobilized and become effective. The effort must be made at the state and local levels as well.

Sorghum, Corn Producers Offer Secretary New Plan

Southwest sorghum and corn producers have recommended to Agriculture Secretary John Block that corn shipped into the Texas High Plains from the upper Midwest be restricted to export sales only.

Officials of Grain Sorghum Producers Association (GSPA) and Texas Corn Growers Association (TCGA) and their legal counsel met with Block and other USDA officials to discuss the effect of sales of the corn by Commodity Credit Corporation.

The CCC purchased more than 200 million bushels of corn last year after President Jimmy Carter announced the embargo of grain to the Soviet Union. More than 45 million bushels of the corn was shipped from the northern corn belt to the Texas High Plains for storage, where it is now being offered for sale on a bid basis.

Noting that very little of the corn has been sold in recent weeks because CCC has refused most bids, GSPA-TCGA spokesman Elbert Harp said, "CCC's self-imposed limits offer farmers little assurance as long as the official policy is to sell the corn for unrestricted use. The threat of sales," Harp observed, "depresses prices just as much as actual sales."

The plan which GSPA-TCGA proposed to USDA was endorsed by 15 state and national farm organizations which represent grain farmers in the Southwest. Their recommendation was that the corn which CCC shipped to the High Plains from the northern corn belt and has now marked for sale be restricted to the export market. If USDA must sell any of the CCC corn because it is out of condition, it should be replaced with purchases of corn in the area of sales.

The GSPA-TCGA plan was endorsed by the National Association of Wheat Growers and the Texas Wheat Producers Association. The state Grain Sorghum Producers Associations in Nebraska, Kansas and New Mexico, Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board, South Texas Cotton and Grain Producers Association and the Cotton and Grain Producers of the Lower Rio Grande Valley also were co-signers of the proposal.

The commodity organizations were joined by general farm organizations of the area: Texas Farmers Union, New Mexico Farmers Union, National Women Involved in Farm Economics, the state W.I.F.E. organizations in Texas and New Mexico, the National American Agriculture Movement and the New Mexico A.A.M.

Harp said USDA made no commitments but agreed to study the proposal and would give the group an answer soon.

Directors Elected

Four directors will be elected to the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board in an election which is currently underway. Ballots have been mailed to grain sorghum producers throughout the 29-county TGSPB area of the Texas High Plains.

Every two years, the terms of four members of the Board expire. Current members whose terms end this year are: Ralph Mabry of Lubbock; K.B. Parish, Springlake; C.P. Smith, Hale Center and Larry Witten, Olton. All are incumbent candidates. A fifth nominee on the ballot is Bob Gilispie of Gruver in Hansford County.

All grain sorghum producers within the 29-county area of the Texas High Plains (served by the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board) are eligible to vote. Any producer who does not receive a ballot through the mail may obtain one at his county agent's office.

The biennial election deadline is Sept. 15, 1981. Any ballot that is postmarked after that date will not be valid. In addition to the five candidates listed on the ballot, a producer may also vote for any grain sorghum producer who has agreed to serve on the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board by writing his name in the space provided for write-in candidates.

PUBLIC NOTICE BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS SPECIAL ELECTION NOVEMBER 3, 1981

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 8 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the legislature to authorize cities, towns and other taxing units to grant exemptions from ad valorem taxes on an unproductive, underdeveloped or blighted area in order to encourage its development. The amendment would also allow the legislature to authorize a city or town to issue bonds or notes to finance this development and to pledge future increases in ad valorem tax revenues from the property in such areas to repay these bonds or notes.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment to authorize cities, towns, and other taxing units to encourage the improvement, development, or redevelopment of certain areas through property tax relief and the issuance of bonds and notes."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 117 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize a person to receive a patent to land from the Commissioner of the General Land Office under certain conditions. Application for the patent must be made within five years from approval of the amendment. The land must be surveyed, public free school land not previously patentable. The person must have a properly recorded deed to the land, which he acquired without knowledge of the patent defect and which title he and his predecessors in interest have held for at least 50 years. The person and his predecessors in interest must have continuously claimed the land and paid the taxes for at least 50 years.

This amendment does not apply to beach land, submerged land, or islands. An applicant may not use this provision to resolve a boundary dispute. This amendment will not apply to land which has been determined to be state-owned by a court of competent jurisdiction or that has a productive state mineral lease on the effective date of the amendment.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the commissioner of the General Land Office to issue patents for certain public free school fund land held in good faith under color of title for at least 50 years as of November 15, 1981."

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 38 proposes a constitutional amendment that would enable the legislature to grant to a state finance management committee the authority to manage state funds. Funds constitutionally dedicated to specific purposes would not be subject to committee management. The committee would be composed of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Speaker of the House of Representatives, Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, Chairman of the Senate State Affairs Committee, and the Chairman of the House of Representatives Ways and Means Committee.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment to allow the legislature to grant to a state finance management committee the power to manage the expenditure of certain appropriated funds."

PROPOSITION NO. 4 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 6 proposes a constitutional amendment that would provide that one-half of the surplus tax revenues above the spending limit provided by Article VIII, Section 22, of the Texas Constitution would be placed in a Water Assistance Fund to be used as provided by law, including projects for water development and conservation, water quality enhancement, and flood control purposes or any combination of these purposes.

The amendment also provides $500,000,000 of the general credit of the state to guarantee bonds issued in commercial markets by local political subdivisions, including cities, counties, and special districts. The amendment allows amounts to be established to decrease or retire state debt, which is defined as that debt secured by the full faith and credit of the state. The amendment would raise the interest that could be paid on authorized, but unissued, bonds guaranteed by the full faith and credit of the state from 6% to 12%.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the use of a portion of the excess revenues of the state for water development, water conservation, water quality enhancement, and flood control purposes; authorizing the use of the state's credit, not to exceed five hundred million dollars, to guarantee the bonds of cities, counties, towns, and other units of local government in the financing of projects for such purposes; increasing the interest rate that may be paid on previously approved, but unissued, state bonds; and authorizing a program to retire state bonds."

PROPOSITION NO. 5 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 49 proposes a constitutional amendment that would exempt livestock and poultry from taxation. Currently, farm products in the hands of the producer and family supplies for home and farm use are exempt.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment to provide for the inclusion of livestock and poultry with farm products as exempt from taxation."

PROPOSITION NO. 6 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 81 authorizes the governing body of a county, city, school district or other political subdivisions to exempt from taxation a portion of the market value of a residence homestead. The portion exempted may be as much as 40% for 1982-1984; 30% for 1985-1987; and 20% for 1988 and after. The amount of an exemption may not be less than $5,000 unless the legislature by general law prescribes other monetary restrictions on the amount of the exemption. An eligible adult is allowed to receive other applicable exemptions provided by law. An exception is made where ad valorem tax has previously been pledged for the payment of debt.

The amendment further directs the legislature to require that notice be given to property owners of a reasonable estimate of tax on their property in certain situations.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing a political subdivision to provide property tax relief for owners of residence homesteads and changing certain property tax administrative procedures."

PROPOSITION NO. 7 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 4 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the Veterans' Land Board to issue and sell an additional $250,000,000 in bonds increasing the Veterans' Land Fund's total bond issuance authorization from $700,000,000 to $950,000,000. The amendment would increase the maximum interest payable by the state on these bonds from 6% to 10%, and permit an even higher rate, if specified by the legislature.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of additional bonds to finance the veterans' land program and to increase the maximum interest rate allowable on veterans' land fund bonds."

Offers Bonus Army Reserve

The U.S. Army Reserve now offers a $1500 cash bonus and up to $4,000 in educational assistance for enlisting in selected career fields and joining certain Army Reserve units.

Students may continue their education and help defray college costs by taking advantage of various Army Reserve enlistment options.

All new Army Reserve soldiers must attend eight weeks of basic training and six or more weeks of advanced training in a career oriented field. Students can split this training into two summers so that their school schedules are not disrupted. They get full pay for training so it's like having a summer job.

Between the summers of training, they serve 16 hours a month, usually a weekend, with a local Reserve unit and earn a good second income.

After their training is completed, they continue to use their skill in their local unit during monthly meetings and attend two weeks of annual training during the summer.

For college students, the Army Reserve is a good way to earn extra income while they get practical on-the-job experience.
