CATCHES A WARY PAIR

Marshal Has Experience in His Efforts to Bring Them to Taw

A woman came in from Oklahoma on Friday of last week and passed as the wife of a man by the name of Shields who is engaged in construction work on the new church building here. The suspicions of City Marshal Gillespie were arroused and he began an investigation and was right at the point of taking the pair into custody Sunday night shortly after dark when they scented a mouse, upon which the pair hit a quick "two-step" about town, ordered a buggy to take them away, but became impatient, so struck a "lively march" for the suburbs and then a long "cake walk" for Dodsonville. The city marshal evidently figured them a swift pair for he ordered an auto to go in pursuit, and well that he did for when he overtook them at 2 a. m. they were just three miles this side of Dodsonville on a long "turkey-trot." The said marshal took them a joy ride then, back to town where they "waltzed" up to the city court and each paid over the sum $14.30 of the filthy lucre. Then on advice of the self same marshal the woman made a "tango" for the train and skip-ta-ma-loo. The companion in these trepsichorean stunts we understand has a wife and several children, and he possibly returned to his work as well respected by his fellowmen as ever.

The shame of it all!

When the time arrives when the world will discountenance the men for their part in such things as these as much so as it does the women, then this social evil will in a large measure be abated.

Hasten the day!

SINGING AT BUCK CREEK

Sscond Sunday in October, All Day, With Dinner on the Ground

On the Second Sunday in October there will be an all-day's singing at the Buck Creek school house, and a large attendance and a good time expected. Dinner on the ground. The Leader is authorized to extend an invitation to everybody to attend, and Sacred Harp singers especially are urged to come.

J. O. Wells returned last Friday from Stephensville, Texas, where he has been the past two years. He will again make Collingsworth his home.

Ed. C. Myers, who recently returned from California, where he had been for about a year, was in the city one day this week. He says he and family are glad to get back to good old Collingsworth, and we, with his many friends, welcome them back.

SWEETEN UP! SWEETEN UP! We don't "keep" good candy; ours is too good to keep—we sell it.

Take some home to the little folks, or take a box to your best girl, unless you are the best girl yourself. If you are, come, try our candies and you will buy them always.

When you eat our candies, you eat pure, norishing FOOD.

Come to OUR Drug Store.

2-CENT RATE TO BE TRIED

Wichita Falls & Northwestern Ordered to Make Such Rate Beginning Oct. 15

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 26—An order was made by the corporation commission directing the Wichita Falls & Northwestern Railroad Company to place the 2c passenger fare into effect by Oct. 15 for a four months' test.

At a hearing before the commission Thursday the company raised the issue that the 2c rate would not yield a compensatory revenue, but it is understood the tryout will be made and the result laid before the commission about March 1 of next year.

An angle to the hearing was whether the Wichita Falls road, the stock of which is held in trust for the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad Company, should not be regarded as a part of the Katy system, thus making both roads one line for rate-making purposes. C. C. Huff of Wichita Falls, general attorney for the company, rec t d the road's history from its inception and explained how the Katy came to be connected with it.

He said that several years ago Frank Kell and J. A. Kemp, both of Wichita Falls, promoting

City Building Notes.

Rest means rust.

Get right with your community.

Tell the truth about your city.

There is no lethargy in city building.

Consequential citizens construct cities.

Capital follows the lines of least resistance.

There are no growing pains in the growth of a city.

The key to success fits the front door of the commercial club.

In city building a little optimism is worth more than all the pessimism in the world.

Human energy, intelligent activity and breadth of vision are the most necessary essentials in city building.

Untie the strings that bind the money bags at home before you go forth looking for foreign capital.

The proper education of the boys and girls should have as much place in the activities of a commercial organization as the securing of a factory.

A commercial organization, to attain the highest degree of efficiency, must fix its visions on the future and engage in constructive activities.

The home merchant is entitled to your patronage. He bears the larger part of the local taxes, furnishes labor for the citizens, improves his property and is usually a good neighbor and a credit to the city.—(By L. M. Ward, President Texas Commercial Executives' Association.)

My Purpose

Is to handle a good line of FEED at a reasonable profit, and in such a fair and liberal manner as to make the custumer's dealings pleasant and satisfactory. Give me a trial.

COTTON MILLS USE LESS THAN ONE PER CENT OF PRODUCTION

Fifteen Hundred More Cotton Mills Needed.

Cotton Mill and Farmer Inseparable Comrades.

There is no industry more important to our progress than that of the cotton mills and none more in need of the patronage of our merchants and of the friendship of the people. Texas is on the frontier of the factory zone and the cotton mill is now a pioneer industry. It can thrive only where business conditions are reliable, a public sentiment stable, and the consuming public friendly to its output. The product is a staple one and when it enters the market must meet the competition of the eastern and southern mills where there is an abundance of waste labor, cheap fuel, cheap money, and where conditions are more settled.

We have fifteen cotton mills in Texas representing an investment of $2,229,000, running 112,404 spindles and having a capacity of 40,000 bales, a yearly output valued at approximately $2,250,000 and giving employment to 1,000 people.

Our cotton mills use less than one per cent of our cotton production; the remaining ninety-nine per cent seeks the foreign factory. The people of Texas consume approximately 220,000 bales of cotton per annum and yet out of the 40,000 bales manufactured in Texas, at least seventy per cent of it must find a market outside of the State, due to our failure to patronize home industry. It would require 1,500 cotton mills of the capacity of our present factories to consume the product of our farms, call for an investment of $250,000,000, give employment to 150,000 people and add approximately a quarter of a billion dollars in value to our cotton crop.

These desirable conditions can only be obtained through co-operation and by fostering and encouraging this important industry.

The cotton mill and the cotton farm are inseparable comrades and in promoting the prosperity of the former we build up the latter.

WHEN A MAN FAILS.

When he has no confidence in himself nor his fellow men.

When he values success more than character and self respect.

When he loves his own plans and interests more than humanity.

When he does not try to make his work a little better each day.

When his friends like him for what he has more than for what he is.

When he knows that he is in the wrong, but is afraid to admit it.

When he is so busy doing that he has no time for smiles and cheering words.

When he is so burdened by his business that he finds no time for rest or recreation.

When he envies others because they have more ability, talent or wealth than he has.

When he lets a day go by without making some one happier and more comfortable.

When he values wealth above health, self respect and the good opinion of others.

When he becomes so absorbed in his work that he cannot say that life is greater than work.

When he does not care what happens to his neighbor or to his friend so long as he is prosperous.

HOW TO GET THERE

It pays to be liked and one likes to be paid.

Pity that man who believes we work to live!

Today it's the man that counts most, not the experience.

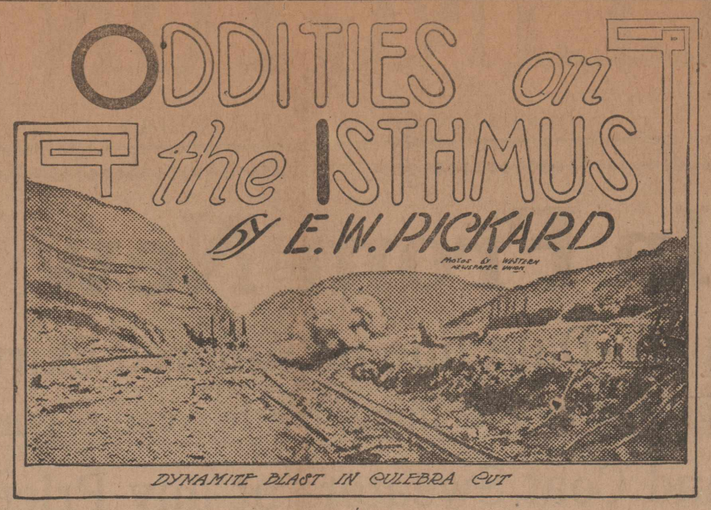

Success in business depends upon the man seeking success.

Like the work you have to do or have the work you'd like to do!

The laws of nature will all work man's advancement if he will work with the laws.

The business world is a glorious place in which to live; and work is joy if we will have it so.

The more successful one is, the more one is glad to work; the more one works, the more successful one

DYNAMITE BLAST IN CULEBRA CUT

Colon, C. Z.—Frequently the officials of the Republic of Panama—the minor ones—have been ridiculed for the combination of stupidity and pomposity that governs their conduct. Sometimes the ridicule is not deserved, but often it is. Some months ago an American resident of the city of Panama imported a pair of riding boots from the states, and in his manifest submitted to the native customs authorities he so listed them, with the price, $9.50. The paper was returned to him with curt instructions to correct it. Not knowing how he had erred, he consulted the customs man and was told the boots must be listed as two separate articles, thus: "One riding boot, value $4.75; one riding boot, value $4.75." Mr. American complied silently, and received his boots.

The Isthmus of Panama does not belong to the English, never did, and there are not many real Englishmen there. Yet the presence of a large number of British subjects—the Jamaican negroes—has forced on the inhabitants an English custom, that of vehicles taking the left side of the road. Probably this is due to the fact that most of the cab drivers are Jamaicans. All the people of that island are intensely proud of being subjects of King George, and they are tenacious of such British customs as they know. Every cabby in Panama and Colon—and their number is legion—carries either a bicycle gong or an automobile horn with, which to warn other vehicles and pedestrians of his approach, and on a busy day the noise is more unpleasant than that of the blasting in the Culebra cut.

Speaking of the blasting reminds me that one of the very high up engineers on the canal job is exceedingly afraid of dynamite. He is also a strict disciplinarian and does not allow the workmen to loaf. Whenever one of the frequent "doby shots" or small blasts is to be fired, the nearest steam shovel emits a series of short, quick toots and the men scurry to cover. As soon as Mr. Engineer appears in the cut to see that the laborers are losing no time, the warning whistles are heard from steam shovels all along the way and he speedily returns to his office on the hill, leaving the unprodded workmen to resume their leisurely gait.

Tourists flocked to the canal zone in such increasing numbers that the Panama Railway company—which means the United States government—decided to erect a new Washington hotel in Colon to supplant the old hostelry of that name. The architect designed a handsome four-story structure of concrete and, to take full advantage of the cool breezes from the Atlantic, provided in his plans for a large roof garden and two dumb waiters running up to it. The builders made the roof all right, and put in the dumb waiters, but when the hotel was nearing completion some one discovered there was no opening in the roof for the aforesaid dumb waiters. The necessary changes would cost several hundred dollars, and the government official who passed upon the expenditures decided against making them as the hotel already had cost more than had been expected. Consequently those two dumb waiters run up to the ceiling of the fourth story and there stop, while the roof garden, having no service, remains unopened.

Charlie Ying, a moon-faced celestial, had prospered on the isthmus and decided not long ago to open an "American bar." He knew some English for he used to work on the docks at Canton, but when it came to the important matter of wording his sign he thought best to consult another Chinaman, who formerly lived in Chicago. This was the result of their joint effort:

AMERICAN BAR

AND GIN RICKTAILS.

Close to the shore of Taboga island, so close, in fact, that they are connected at low tide, lies a little, rocky, wooded islet known as Morro. For many, many years it was owned by a Spanish family, the present representative of which is a widow of small means. On Morro is a flowing spring of excellent water, and one of the Pacific navigation companies desired to acquire the islet as a watering station for its vessels. The widow was paid a fair price, and as a bonus was given life passes for herself and her children on the boats of the company. No sooner had the deal been consummated than the estimable lady packed up her duds, stored her household belongings and with her family boarded one of the steamships for a trip. The journey was so pleasant that they have been traveling continually on the company's ships ever since, and the man who engineered the purchase of Morro is wondering who got the best of it.

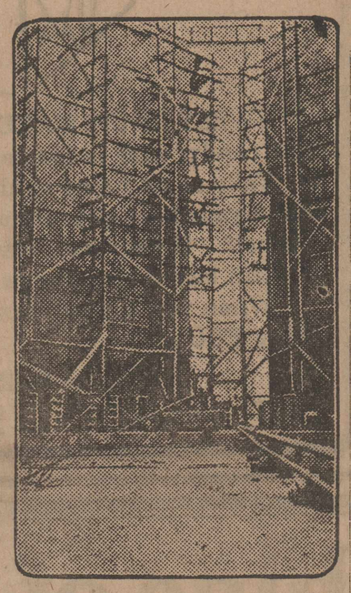

Panama City's water supply is derived from the Rio Grande reservoir, a little lake quite close to the canal. For obvious reasons bathing or wading in it is forbidden, and all around it are signs stating that fact. Recently the wife of a member of the canal commission was entertaining friends from the states, and in the course of their wanderings one day they came upon the reservoir. They were tired and dusty and the cool water looked so inviting that they all took off their shoes and stockings and went in wading. Unfortunately for them, one of the efficient zone policemen came upon them and arrested the whole party. They were taken before the nearest magistrate, and despite the pleading of the commissioner, who had been hastily called to the rescue, each one was compelled to pay a fine and listen to a sharp lecture on law-breaking and sanitation.

In one respect at least, Panama is like no other Latin-American city that I have seen. It has no distinctively residence quarter. "Now that we have seen where the people do business, let's see where they live," said I to my amateur guide.

"You have been seeing that too," was the reply. "The people live over the shops in all parts of the city—all the people, including the wealthy ones. The latter, however, also have beautiful country places in the savanna lands a few miles away, and spend much of the year there."

The asylum for the insane on Ancon Hill is inhabited mainly by negroes from Jamaica and Barbados. These colored folk seem to go crazy in large numbers, and I asked a doctor there the reason. "Rum and religion" was his terse reply. "They use a lot of both, and not much is needed to throw them off their mental balance."

One of the Jamaicans in the asylum spends every evening sending vocal "wireless messages" to the governor of his home island, telling him how badly his compatriots are being treated on the isthmus. He utters the words of the messages with a sputtering explosiveness that is curiously like the sound of the wireless sender.

Visits of congressional investigating committees are no novelty to the people who are making the canal. Neither are they any pleasure. It is the general belief down there that these are mere junkets, and it must be admitted that the visitors often show a colossal ignorance concerning the canal. Colonel Sibert, engineer in charge of the Atlantic division, one day spent hours showing a congressman over the Gatun locks and explaining it all to him. When the colonel concluded his little lecture the lawmaker clasped his hands behind him, gazed about and remarked ponderously: "Well! So this is the famous Culebra cut! I'm glad I've seen it and learned more about it."

Poor Colonel Sibert collapsed.

Nobody now lives where once stood the proud city of Old Panama—that is, nobody except one old native woman who has a little shack by the beach and sells liquid refreshment to the thirsty tourist. Her stock includes various soft drinks, beer and, hanging from the walls by strings, bottles of imported champagne. These last look as though they had been hanging there since the day when Morgan and his buccaneers departed from the ruined city.

The school bonds having been sold Wellington now really has prospects of getting a new school building.

"Right living is good, but right thinking is better. No one who thinks right can live wrong," is the Gospel truth.

Fill up your coal bins while the weather is favorable, and the first norther will not send you scurrying for fuel.

Are you showing the proper interest in school matters and encouraging the teachers and students in their work?

This is October, the month of the great Dallas Fair. It opens on the 18th of this month and closes on November 2nd.

Oftentimes when we think we are doing a very smart thing, we wake up to the fact that we only made a fool of ourselves.

The new Methodist Church is assuming dignified proportions; is beautiful and artistic, and within a week now will be finished.

A large acreage of wheat has been planted in Collingsworth county and in many places it is coming up now and looking fine and will soon make good grazing.

Following our season of abnormal rainfall we are now having some of the prettiest weather of the year. There is no climate in the whole world more delightful than the fall months in the Panhandle.

It takes Missouri to "see" a nuisance; one of her towns has passed a law against "telephone-borrowing. "How about the local paper—"after you have finished with it," of course.

Wellington continues to grow and prosper despite the fact that we have no commercial club. Should we have an active commercial club with the citizenship pulling together harmoniously how great would be our growth!

The Louisville Courier-Journal asks: "When women get their rights will the Mann law be so amended that a Lola Norris or a Marsha Warrington will go to the penitentiary for crossing a State line with a Caminetti or a Diggs?" What's the answer?

Soon will be time to put up your heating stoves. Now, while it is warm and comfortable, better examine your flues and see if they are safe and take this precaution against losing your home by fire from a defective flue.

Elbert Hubbard, one of the master minds of the nation, gives an addres in fulsome praise of President Wilson. Hubbard, though a Republican, believes in giving praise where praise is due, and asserts that Woodrow Wilson without question is one of the greatest Presidents the United States has ever had.

A proper punishment for those who send to the mail order houses for things when they have the ready money, and at other times expect the home merchants to carry them on credit, would be for the home merchants to deny them accomodations and compel them to buy of the mail order houses at all times.

A London newspaper records the fact that the parcel post system has been in operation in Germany since 1782; and that packages weighing up to 110 pounds are carried. As the United States only adopted the system this year, and as Canada is only considering it, it seems that old Europe, which is often looked upon as slow by fast Americans, really leads the continent in some important matters.

The New York World has offered Bryan $8.000 per year if he only would devote his spare time to state affairs instead of Chautauqua lectures. It would have been a joke on the World, should W. J. have accepted its offer. If Bryan had given his spare time to junketing, nothing would have been said about it, but the fact that he continued to work and do great good, was something his enemies claim is inexcusable.—Tribune Chief.

We learn that the Money Order business at Wellington shows a considerable falling off as compared with that of a year ago, which is accounted for by crops being a little short. Many persons that have been in the habit of sending off to the mail order houses after things when they had the cash will now doubtless expect the home merchants to carry them, give them credit, and tide them over a brief season until fortune favors them with some more money. A person with the proper sense of justice can see the injustice of such a practice, and with this lesson should mend their ways.

One of The Leader's best advertisers encouraged us this week by making a statement in substance as follows: "No one can tell me that advertising don't pay, my business the past week plainly shows that it does; not only the past week but from time to time I can see increased trade brought to the store from advertising along a certain line." The Leader has the circulation, it covers its field thoroughly, and makes every effort to produce a newspaper of such merit that it will be interesting and appreciated in the homes; and in connection with this we only solicit the advertising of honest and reliable firms. Then the advertising in the Leader is set up in the very neatest and attractive styles of the printer's art. There is no paper in the Panhandle that surpasses it in this respect. It is truly our desire to give value received for all money expended with us, and we always appreciate such testimony as given by this business man.

When you want protection first get the right man to write you a policy in the right company then you will be all right should your property be destroyed by fire.—T. O. Hill.

Good Roads Improve Values.

Tarrant county is expending over a million dollars on its highways. There will be over a hundred miles of cardinal roads and the intersection highways will make a total of over three hundred miles of improved thoroughfares. As a result of the movement for good roads in the country, property in all sections has increased in value and the farmers are reluctant about selling at any price. They realize t at good roads will reduce the expense of marketing their products and will bring them nearer the commercial centers of the county. No longer will distance figure in the calculations of the traveler and the merchants in the towns and cities will be brought in closer touch with their country trade. The country will profit by having good roads, not alone by the increase in property values, but throught the sale of additional land which will be in demand by homeseekers from the North and East who have lived for years on improved highways and seldom migrate to a section where the mudhole predominates.—(By Homer D. Wade, Secretary Texas Good Roads Association.)

Citation By Publication.

The State of Texas: To the Sheriff or any Constable of Collingsworth County—Greeting: You are hereby commanded to summon Ida B. Thompson and her husband, Homer Thompson, by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the 46th Judicial District; but if there be no newspaper published in said Judicial District, then in a newspaper published in the nearest District to said 46th Judicial District, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Collingsworth County, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Wellington, Texas, on the 2nd Monday in November A. D. 1913, the same being the 10th day of November A. D. 1913, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 19th day of September A. D. 1912, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 290, wherein C. B. Boverie is Plaintiff, and Ida B. Thompson and Homer Thompson are Defendants, and said petition alleging that plaintiff, C. B. Boverie and Ida B. Thompscn are the joined and sole owners of Lots No. 9 and 10 in Block No. 182; Lots Nos. 21-22 in Block No. 189, and Lot No. 14 in Block No. 229, in the town of Wellington, Collingsworth County, Texas, according to the original map of said town, and alleging further that C. B. Boverie is the owner of 5-6 undivided equal part or interest in said lots and that Ida B. Thompson is the owner of 1-6 undivided equal interest in said lots and that the said C. B. Boverie and Ida B. Thompson are the sole owners of said property as far as plaintiff knows, and that Ida B. Thompson is married and her husband's name is Homer Thompson, and that said defendants are supposed to reside somewhere in the state of Montana; that the property is worth about the sum of $200, and consisted of resident lots in Wellington, and that they are not susceptible of partition, and that it will be more equitable and fair to sell said lots and divide the proceeds, and that said lots be sold and the proceeds divided according to the interest found.

Herein Fail Not, but have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Wellington, this the 22nd day of September A. D. 1913.

Fort Worth Upheaval.

The saloons have had the whip hand in official circles in Ft. Worth for years and years, and will have until their political power is broken. There are thousands of as good people in Fort Worth as live anywhere, but so far as law and order are concerned, they are throttled by the conscienceless and remorseless political liquor machine, in alliance with every other known evil, seeking to profit by the debauchery of humanity. And this is not all of it. The virus of moral death created in Fort Worth, diffuses itself scores and scores of miles around the city, while the people living outside the city limits have no right of protest except in a statewide movement that will clean up the bacchanalian conditions that exist there. Conditions in Fort Worth are true of other saloon cities, only less aggravating. Every state that has gone to the bad politically owes its disgrace to the maudlin and debauched conditions they obtain in their cities. It is the concern of every citizen of Texas what conditions in Texas are. That saloons and allied evils are barricaded in these cities now, is no reason why they should continue so, and citizens throughout the state pay the expenses.—Star Telegram.

OKLAHOMA'S INTERNATIONAL SOIL PRODUCTS EXPOSITION

EVERY CONTINENT OF THE GLOBE TO BE ADEQUATELY REPRESENTED AT TULSA, OKLAHOMA, WHEN THE GATES OPEN OCTOBER 22, 1913

The International Soil Products Exposition, to be held at Tulsa, Oklahoma, in October in connection with the International Dry-Farming Congress, will be a veritable world's fair for farmers.

When the gates are opened on October 22 there will be on show good crops from practically every continent on the globe, as well as from eighteen western states and four western provinces of Canada. Never before in the history of this country have so many states and nations taken part in an exclusively agricultural fair and exposition.

Chinese farmers will bring an exhibit nearly 15,000 miles to Tulsa to compete with the farmers of Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas on the same crops as are grown in the states named. The exhibit from China will consist largely of cotton, corn, kafir corn, milo maize, millet, kaoliang, wheat, rye and barley

Wheat from a number of foreign countries will compete with the wheat of the United States and Canada for world supremacy and for the $1,250 threshing machine given by the Rumely company for the best bushel shown. Cotton from California will fight for prizes with the cotton of Oklahoma and Texas. Corn from Mexico, where the stalks grow 16 feet high and two crops are raised in a season, will be shown in competition with other corn from the best farms in the south and southwest. Oats from Russia, Australia, Saskatchewan, Oregon, and Utah will contest for world's prizes with the oats of Kansas and Oklahoma. Every conceivable farm product grown in western America will be exhibited.

The United States government is spending $20,000 on an enormous exhimit of the work which is being done by the department of agriculture. The people of Saskatchewan, Canada, are spending as much, and the province itself has asked the exposition management to furnish a building 60 by 240 feet in size for the Saskatchewan exhibit alone. The Canadian show will be the finest and most elaborate ever given on the south side of the international line. Kansas, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, Nevada, Idaho and California are expected to have official state exhibits.

The Exposition buildings and grounds will occupy 120 acres, seventy acres of which will be given over to a complete farm machine show and tillage and power demonstration. Every farm implement used in the west and southwest will not only be shown, but will be operated by skilled men. Up-to-date methods and machines for cultivating, planting and harvesting will be shown daily in actual operation just as on the farm and in the hands of the farmer himself.

PILLAR OF FIRE 600 FEET HIGH

MOSES' AND AARON'S NIGHTLY GUIDE POST TO BE IMITATED AT TULSA DRY-FARMING CONGRESS

"And there went before them by night a pillar of fire to give them light."—Ex. XIII, 21.

For the first time in history, since that marvelous light brought the people of Israel out of bondage, another pillar of fire will be used to call the people of the world from labor to refreshment at Tulsa.

The largest gas well in the world is located within a few miles of Tulsa. It is being piped into the middle of the exposition grounds used by the International Dry-Farming Congress. It flows thirty million cubic feet of natural gas daily and when it is turned loose and lighted on the night of October 22 the visitors and delegates to the Congress will witness a sight that for awe-inspiring magnificence has never been equalled.

Six hundred feet straight into the air the gas is shot by nature's force below. Its noise is like that of an avalanche; its power that of the cyclone. It will be controlled and ignited by electricity from a distance of two hundred yards or more on account of the heat it creates.

No flame can be seen until the gas reaches the height of a ten-story building. Above that a solid pillar of fire five hundred feet in height and a hundred feet thick will illumine the exposition grounds and the city of Tulsa as no city was ever lighted in the history of the world. Shadows will be cast of people and things five miles away. The flame itself may be seen for a hundred miles.

Gas is cheap in Oklahoma. The average gas light in the average home uses but few cubic feet of gas in an hour. The great gas light at Tulsa will burn fifteen million feet a night. Nothing like it has ever been seen since Moses led his people out of Egypt and into the promised land.

The Tulsa light will serve a similar purpose, for it will give to the world a message of agricultural hope and will point the way to farm prosperity in all states and nations through the teachings of the International Dry-Farming Congress, for whose meeting it is burned.

Citation By Publication.

The State of Texas: To the Sheriff or any Constable of Collingsworth County—Greeting: You are hereby commanded to summon George Schmidth by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the 46th Judicial District; but if there be no newspaper published in said Judicial District, then in a newspaper published in the nearest District to said 46th Judicial District, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Collingsworth County, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Wellington Texas, on the Second Monday in November A. EVERY COMFORT BEING PROVIDED FOR VISITORS

Tulsa Committee Working Out All Details For Entertainment of 100,000 People

Tulsa, Oklahoma, will entertain the largest crowd in its history next October. With an experience of eight years behind them, the officers of the International Dry-Farming Congress and Exposition are making most complete arrangements for the reception and accommodation of visitors and delegates to the big meeting which begins October 22.

A special canvass is being made of every house in the city and every available room will be listed in such a way that information concerning it will be instantly at hand at the time of the Congress. More than a score of special trains from the states of the far north and west, as well as from Canada, will arrive in Tulsa about October 22. These trains will be parked on the exposition grounds and the delegates will live in them during the ten days' meeting. Special wigwams will be built to accommodate any possible overflow of unattached men. Twenty acres have been set aside as camp sites for families who wish to bring their own camp equipment and live in tents during the time of the great international meeting.

Added to these special accommodations will be the scores of good hotels and rooming houses now doing business in Tulsa. Two new hotels, with a combined capacity of 160 rooms, will be finished in time for the Congress. Altogether, it is certain that more than 20,000 visitors can be accommodated nightly in convenience and comfort.

LOW RATES ON ALL RAILROADS

VERY LIBERAL FARES GRANTED FOR DRY-FARMING CONGRESS AT TULSA, OCTOBER 22

People from practically every state in the Union will travel to Tulsa, Oklahoma, next month on special railroad rates which have been given on account of the International Dry-Farming Congress. Never before have rates been granted from so large a territory for any Oklahoma meeting. Special fares have already been given by the Southwestern, Southeastern and Montana passenger associations and others are falling into line as rapidly as their meetings are held. More than 100 railroads in the south and west are now advertising the Tulsa meeting and offering low fares because of it. A flat rate of two cents per mile in each direction has been given on all railroads in the District of Columbia, Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas, New Mexico and Arizona.

Special tourist rates will also be in effect from all points northwest and east of Chicago and St. Louis, the selling date in most instances being October 21.

Do your baking with, Belle of Wichita, and you will be satisfied in a flour way. Buy it at a low figure from The Leader Grocery.

THE INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS OF FARM WOMEN

WIVES OF DRY-FARMERS WILL ALSO HAVE MEETING AT TULSA NEXT OCTOBER

Every farmer in the United States is invited to come to Tulsa for the International Dry-Farming Congress and Exposition from October 22 to November 1. Every farmer's wife is invited to come along.

The only organization in the world devoted exclusively to farmers' wives will hold a five-day session in Tulsa from October 27 to 31. It is known as the International Congress of Farm Women. It was organized as a branch of the Dry-Farming Conguess three years ago. Thousands of women eagerly joined it because of their need for an organization of their own which would help them in their home, social and religious life.

Farm women from twenty-two states met at Colorado Springs in 1911 at the first meeting of the Women's Congress. The movement spread like lightning. South African women took it up and organized a branch Congress. European women from twelve nations to the number of 5,000 met in Ghent, Belgium, last June to attend the meeting of the European branch. The third annual meeting of the International Women's Congress will be held in Tulsa.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' COMPETITIONS.

One Thousand Dollars Offered In Premiums at Tulsa.

More than six thousand boys and girls in Oklahoma alone have their eyes turned on Tulsa. All members of the Oklahoma Agricultural College boys' and girls' clubs, all members of the U. S. Department of Agriculture boys' and girls' demonstration clubs, as well as children generally throughout the United States and Canada, are privileged to compete in the great thousand dollar contest at the International Soil Products Exposition in October.

Twenty-two classes of entries have been prepared for the boys and girls of the world, covering all of the common varieties of crops. Special attention is being paid to the work of the juvenile corn, cotton, kafir and canning clubs, as well as to collective exhibits of every crop. The prizes in the aggregate will total $1,000.

Going To Extremes.

Many of the editors of Texas are very harsh in their criticism of the modern styles for women, going very far in their denunciation of slashed and x-ray skirts. Nothing, in our opinion, will be accomplished by such criticism. No woman ever takes a dare or submits to dictation. Molasses catches more vinegar than flies; kind words are more than coronets, or something of that sort, and blarney is more effective than bluster with a woman. The following item clipped from an exchange illustrates how pessimism is carried to extremes:

The Musket Ridge correspondent for the Dalton, Ga., Citizen writes: "Musket Ridge has voted on saloons. A prominent citizen expressed himself to me this way, "If we are going to stand for our women folks to wear shadow and slit skirts and tight, form-fitting dresses and vulgar hobble skirts, and our younger women learning to dance the boll weevil wiggle, Texas Tommy, Tango, the bunny hug, the bear dance, the calf canter, the kangaroo kick, the buzzard lope, and so on down the line, the men folks had just as well have their saloons, and the whole push go to hell together."

Perhaps some of this criticism against woman's hobbles and hobbies is merely an excuse for boozing.—State Press.

From New Mexico

DesMoines, New Mexico.
September 29, 1913.
The Wellington Leader,
Wellington, Texas.

Dear Friends I will attempt to address you once more, since I last wrote we have had quite a change in the weather, on the 8, 9, and 10 inst., we received a good rain on each day. Then the next incident that happened was that W. D. Worley and bride arrived here the 16th inst and on the 23rd there came the heaviest hail storm that I have seen here followed by a heavy rain and snow, which continued for four days and nights with slight intermisions which if it had not melted as it fell would have given us a 6 or 8 inch snow, but after all the cold has not been intence enough to kill melon or tomato vines yet.

Mr. Ed Morgan of Plymouth, Texas, arrived here the 20th inst. with his family O. K. to begin settlement on his splendid 320 acre homestead that he located some time back.

Wishing all well, I remain as ever,

Your friend,
J. C. Worley.

H. T. Kimbell, Ginner and Cotton Buyer.

I have purchased Davis' New Gin and have it well equipped with all modern machinery. We solicit your patronage and will do our best to please you. Special care taken with planting seed. Remember our prices on cotton are always the top. We save you all the trouble we can give us a trial.

Yours truly,
H. T. Kimbell, Ginner.

PEOPLE SHOULD GUARD AGAINST APPENDICITIS

Wellington people who have stomache and bowel trouble should guard against appendicitis by taking simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as compounded in Adler i-ka, the German remedy which became famous by curing appendicitis. JUST ONE DOSE relieves sour stomach, gas on the stomach and constipation INSTANTLY because this simple mixture draws off such a surprising amount of old foul matter from the body.

J. B. Curtner, Druggist.

More Families and Bigger Families

Texas needs more families and larger families. The Census reports for 1900 gave the Texas stork the blue ribbon, but the size of our families reduced in 1910 from 5.2 to 4.9 persons, and the Minnesota stork now wears the pennant with an average family circle of 5.

We now have 798,426 families in the State, but the last census report shows we had 763,000 unmarried persons of marriageable age and the men in this class outnumber the women 170,000.

We have almost 100,000 men capable of assuming the responsibilities of married life that are successfully dodging the shafts of cupid.

Diversification Needed.

Build a wall around Texas and we would starve to death. This statement is made in defiance of gilded phrases used by orators and stock expressions employed by sensational writers in picturing the glories and achievements of Grand Old Texas. The idea that Texas is now an independent industrial empire is a phantom thought that should be driven from the life of the State. While the Texas farmer is plowing his field, he boards in Europe or takes his meals with his neighbors a thousand miles away. We should diversify our products so we can dine at home and enjoy the comforts and luxuries of home life.

You Want Money?

Boverie and Walker are now prepared to loan money. on all good Farm Lands, also Ranch Lands, limits ranging from $500 up to $5000. Time of loan not exceeding seven years. Interest at 10 per cent. So come to see us at once if you need money.

To Cotton Raisers.

The report to the effect that we have sold out to or in any way have any connection with any oil mill is absolutely unfounded and positively false. No oil mill people or any one else outside of the firm name have any connection whatever with the Hall & Harrison Gin. Anyone having any idea that we have any such connections are invited to inspect our partnership papers at the First National Bank.

The business is being, and will continue to be, conducted as it always has been. We truly appreciate the patronage of the cotton farmers and at all times endeavor to give the very best service. Bring us your cotton to gin. 7-4t.

I. N. Harrison.

Don't Neglect Your Eyes.

If you have to hold your reading farther away than fourteen inches, or closer than this distance, you had better have your eyes examined for you are in need of glasses. Come in and let us show you what we can do for you. Examination free

Our Decay in Courtesy.

A week ago Miss Jessie Wilson, daughter of the president, accompanied by her cousin, Mrs. Howe, made the night journey from New York to Cornish, N. H. The Pullman was crowded and she could only obtain an upper berth. Miss Wilson was indisposed and hoped that she would find some friend or acquaintance on the sleeper who would exchange berths with her.

As it happened, every lower berth was reserved by men and, stranger still, not one of them would relinquish his lower for the upper berth which Miss Wilson was forced to occupy.

Several appeals were made by the conductor and by others who knew that she was the daugnter of the nation's chief executive, but these appeals fell on deaf ears.

Finally Mrs. Howe was heard to exclaim: "Is there not a gentleman on this train?"

It is a natural question and the exclamation was justified under the circumstances. There was a day when every man who held a lower berth would have eagerly asked permission to exchange with Miss Wilson.

It is different today. The time when courtesy was common is over. It is noticed in all walks of life. In the crowded street cars men serenely retain their seats while ladies are forced to swing to the straps and are politely ignored, if politely is a word that can be used under the circumstances.

The beautiful days of the old south were days of gallantry, of chivalrous conduct and of almost poetic politeness. Today in the mad rush of business the average man has no time for politeness. Courtesy is crushed by the impending labors of the day or is entirely forgotten in the crowding events of business.

Women are taking their place in the world with men. They are meeting on common ground. They are demanding to be recognized as equals at the polls and to have the right to vote, to hold office and to exercise the other prepogatives of the strong er sex. This may in a measure account for the decline of courtesy.

It must be admitted with regret that the old days of chivalry will probably never come again. This is a condition of the present day and time.

Miss Wilson probably keenly felt the lack of politeness on the part of the male passengers on the Pullman with her. She had a right to feel disappointed. The fact that her father is president of the United States is not so much the reason why her simple request should have been considered, but the fact that she was a woman, ill and uncomfortable should have aroused the spark of manhood even in a prosaic man of the business world.—Commercial Appeal.

the new line in Texas, built to Henrietta, then a western terminus of the Katy and in order to give Wichita Falls another railroad, induced the Katy to take a trackage lease upon the property. The property was bonded, and the lease approved by the Texas Railroad Commission. Kell and Kemp then built to Red River and ultimately crossed into Oklahoma and extended the property by easy stages and with the aid of various financial interests to Hammon, Roger Mills county. The Oklahoma construction was under an Oklahoma charter.

In order to extend from Hammon to Forgan, the present northern terminus, Mr, Huff related, its promoters interested the Katy management and the entire Oklahoma mileage was rebonded under a refunding issue. This was placed with the Union Trust Co., of New York and to pledge payment of and interest on the bonds, the stock of the Wichita Falls & Northwestern Company, applying to the Oklahoma end of the line, was surrendered in trust for the Katy to the Union Trust Company Ultimately, Mr. Huff told the commission, the Katy will come into physical ownership of the property.

What Is A Suffragette, Anyhow?

Recently a street car advertising agency, in order to stimulate interest in their cards displayed in the cars, offered cash prizes for the best epigrammatic definitions of a suffragette.

Here are some of the results:

A suffragette is a woman who thinks she has been de-voted long enough.

Not satisfied with the last word she also wants the first.

She is the corset needed to reduce the Government waste.

She is a woman who needs the "poll" for her vaulting ambition.

A suffragette is a sting of beauty and a jawer forever.

A woman who would rather break windows than clean them.

A woman whose troubles are certainly not "little ones."

One who spends more time airing her views than viewing her heirs.

A woman who will spare no panes to get her rights.

A woman who would rather rock the country than the cradle.

A female creature, queer and quaint
Who longs to be just what she ain't.
The hen that would cackle and never set
Is the woman known as a suffragette.
We can't efface, we can't forget her,
We love her still—the stiller the better!
