Food Shortage Adds to Distress in Hurricane Torn Area

FUNERAL PYRES LIGHTED TO WARD OFF DISEASE MENACE AS DEATH TOLL MOUNTS TO 1,000

By PHILIP WOODS

BELIZE, British Honduras, Sept. 12. (AP)—More than 1,000 of the 16,000 inhabitants of Belize perished in Thursday's hurricane, it was estimated tonight after a survey.

Authorities tonight were considering abandoning the town in which almost every house was damaged by the storm, and moving the site to the high plains along the pine ridge.

Unable to keep up with the rising death toll, the government applied the torch tonight to burn areas where the destruction and death took the highest toll.

The funeral pyres were lighted to ward off the menace of disease, made more threatening by the broiling sun which beat down upon the ruined city.

Fire lanes were then cut around the grimly burning area to protect the rest of the city.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (AP)—The weather bureau tonight issued the following storm warning:

"Advisory 9 p. m. tropical disturbance moving westward about 16 miles per hour and again increasing in intensity. Center passed near Kingston this afternoon and now near western end of Jamaica. It will likely move west northwestward next 24 hours with slowly increasing intensity. Caution advised vessels near its path."

Relief kitchens have been set up and it was announced they will be open day and night.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (AP)—The imminent possibility of a food shortage was coupled in Belize dispatches to the navy late today with an assurance there were enough medical supplies on hand or en route to take care of the homeless and injured hurricane survivors.

This word came to the navy over commercial lines from Capt. F. P. Mulcahy who piloted one of the marine corps amphibian planes, dispatched to British Honduras from Nicaragua. His message, addressed to Rear Admiral W. R. Sexton, acting chief of naval operations, said: "Have interviewed American consul and local colonial secretary. Be-

COURT BUYS AND CASE DISMISSED

ESCANABA, Mich., Sept. 12. (UP)—Selling electric ice boxes to Eskimos ought to be easy for Frank Aley.

"Yes, I'm guilty," he admitted in court yesterday. "I was driving too fast. But here is how it was. I put a new dingus on my automobile that makes it go like lightning. It's a special cam that goes on the distributor. Why—"

The sheriff, the under-sheriff and deputies each bought one.

MAD ENOUGH TO BITE NAILS BUT TEETH GONE

HAWTHORNE, Calif., Sept. 12. (US)—Mrs. Grace Van Der Oes was mad enough today to bite the head off a 10-penny nail with her $300 set of gold teeth. Except that she did not have the teeth.

She left the set with a dentist. He moved. He did not leave a forwarding address. And so all 10-penny nails are safe from harm.

Italian Flier Attains Speed of 455 Miles an Hour Before Crashing to Death in Seaplane at Lake Garda

ROME, Sept. 12. (INS)—A speed of 455 miles an hour, far exceeding all previous records, was attained by Flight Lieutenant Bellini of the Italian air corps shortly before he crashed to his death on the shores of Lake Garda, it was learned here today.

The speed mark was official, but whether it would be accepted by international authorities was questioned as it was not believed the necessary conditions for attempts upon the record had been fulfilled.

Lieutenant Bellini, flying a twin-engined Fiat seaplane, covered the first measure mile at a speed of almost eight miles a minute, and was turning to negotiate the second lap of his attempt when his machine suddenly lost speed. The craft crashed in an olive grove on the shore of the lake and was completely destroyed. Bellini's body was crushed beyond recognition.

An official investigation was begun in an effort to determine the cause of the accident. Airmen were inclined to blame the failing light, the attempt being carried out in the late afternoon.

In an earlier attempt yesterday, another Italian airman was reported to have attained a speed of 394½ miles an hour.

MAY CLOSE GINS UNTIL SEED PRICE ADVANCES

Wright Patman Charges Trust Fixes Price In Texas

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 12. (AP)—Gov. Theodore Bilbo today confirmed a report he was "seriously considering" calling out the Mississippi national guard to close down cotton gins and cottonseed oil mills until "they give the Mississippi farmers a decent price for cottonseed."

Bilbo said he found precedent for the contemplated move in recent actions of other governors.

"If Wild Bill Murray of Oklahoma and Ross Sterling of Texas can call out the national guard to shut down oil fields, until prices went up, then why shouldn't I call out the national guard to close down the cotton gins and cottonseed oil mills until cottonseed price ago up."

Bilbo called present cotton and cottonseed prices "highway robbery and the crime of the age."

He would go no further than saying that he was "seriously considering" the matter.

Chances for adoption of the Long plan for making the planting of cotton in 1932 punishable appeared remote under the present administration, as Governor Bilbo again attacked the plan.

Murray Dubious

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 12. (AP)—Governor Murray said tonight that while he has no desire to criticise the contemplated action of Mississippi's governor Bilbo for

HASKELL COUNTY COTTON DETERIORATES RAPIDLY ONLY 300 BALES GINNED

RULE, Texas, Sept. 12.—There had been around 300 bales of cotton ginned by the four gins of Rule this season. The continued dry weather is causing cotton to open rapidly, and within a few days cotton picking will be in full swing. Cotton has deteriorated about 50 per cent due to the continued dry weather in the last month. The amount of cotton ginned in Haskell county last year was around 27,000 bales. Unless the fall rains set in and cotton takes another growth the amount of cotton raised in Haskell county will not exceed that of last year.

VICTIM OF 'PIRATE'S' VIOLENCE

Mrs. Lillian Chelius Collings, above, 28, told authorities that her husband, Benjamin P. Collings, 38, wealthy yachtsman of Stamford, Conn., was thrown overboard or set adrift in a skiff from their yacht "Penguin" in Long Island sound by two men who boarded the yacht at night. She said that she was taken from the yacht in a small boat, and her 5-year-old daughter, Barbara, was left alone aboard the drifting "Penguin." Hysterical, she was found later at Cove Neck, L. I., and the child was found aboard the yacht drifting at Lloyd's Point. Collings is still missing. Mrs. Collings was formerly of Boston and is a Smith college graduate.

Definite Clues Lead To Hope for Solution Yacht Pirate Mystery

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (US)—Definite clues developed today in the mystery of the disappearance of Benjamin Collings, who vanished from his yacht in Long Island Sound four days ago.

None of the clues had been followed to its full length tonight, but officials directing the inquiry asserted that the prospect for a solution of the mystery was brightening.

As though to make the intricate problem even more complicated, the developments today tended to strengthen the fantastic story of Mrs. Lillian Collings of piracy violence, but at the same time supported the police theory that the missing engineer vanished voluntarily or was kidnaped for ransom.

Most important of the new evidence discovered concerned the canoe in which Mrs. Collings was found and the blankets thrown over her.

A green canoe found drifting in Oyster bay, near where the young wife was discovered screaming in a motorboat, was partly identified by her as the pirates' craft in which, she said, she was paddled from the yacht by the piratical pair.

It was learned that one of the blankets, marked with the words "Hotel Charles," may have come from the Hotel Charles, Springfield, Mass., the only Hotel Charles in the country which uses blankets stamped with is name.

Emphasizing the importance of this discovery, reporters, examining the register of the hotel, discovered that "Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Collingbourne, of Stamford, Conn.," were guests of the hotel on Aug. 2, 1930.

Mrs. Lillian Collings today denied she knew any "Collingsbourne," and denied stopping at the Hotel Charles.

BITTER FIGHT EXPECTED OVER COTTON CONTROL LEGISLATION AS FACTIONS LINE UP FORCES

AUSTIN, Sept. 12. (AP)—Two southern governors—Ross Shaw Sterling of Texas and Huey J. Long of Louisiana—antagonists in a bitter fight over cotton relief legislation, counted strength tonight for a final contest Monday on the floor of both houses in the Texas legislature. The South as a whole awaited the outcome, because of Texas' dominance as a cotton producer.

The Texas senate agricultural committee remained aloof from both factions today by reporting favorably upon two bills, one providing for the acreage reduction program advocated by Governor Sterling and the other for the cotton prohibition plan for 1932 championed by Governor Long.

Followers of the Louisiana governor saw a gain in this, as the house committee considering cotton bills was ready to report favorably Monday a bill providing for reduction of cotton acreage to not more than one-third of the cultivated area. Proponents estimated this would result in a reduction of 50 to 60 per cent. In addition to the reduction for 1932 the bill provides for crop rotation thereafter.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 12. (UP)—Gov. Harvey Parnell, for the first time since Louisiana adopted the "no cotton" bill, has openly expressed his support of the plan in a wire to Gov. Ross Sterling of Texas urging speedy enactment by the Texas legislature of the Long plan.

The wire was in response to a request of the Texas executive that Governor Parnell outline attitude of Arkansas farmers on the cotton holiday proposal.

FATAL CRASH HALTS FLIGHT FRENCH ACES

MOSCOW, Sept. 12. (AP)—Joseph Lebrix, noted French aviator, and his mechanic, Rene Mermin, were killed when their airplane Hyphen II, in which they were attempting a record non-stop flight from Le Bourget to Tokyo, crashed in a field near the mouth of the river Tanit, in the vicinity of Ufa, at 8 a. m. today.

Marcel Doret, co-pilot of the plane and its third occupant, saved himself by a parachute jump.

Delay in identifying the two airmen who were killed was caused by the fact that none of the populace of Nfa could understand French. A dispatch received here said, however, that all assistance would be provided for Doret by an official of the Bashkir republic who went to the scene with a doctor.

Fighting heavy fogs, clouds and rain from the moment they crossed the Soviet frontiers, the aviators passed Moscow last night and faced a continuation of bad flying conditions for several hundred miles. They were unreported after flying here until word came of the catastrophe which befell them approximately 750 miles further on.

Two months ago lacking one day the same trio barely escaped death when their motor failed because of carburetor trouble while they flew through a midnight storm in mid-Siberia on their first attempt to set a new distance record.

Soldier at Fort Sill Charged With Murder Companion Whose Body Was Found Hidden in Weeds Near Lawton

LAWTON, Okla., Sept. 12.—John Westbury, Fort Sill soldier, signed a confession today that he killed Homer McFarland, another soldier, on a road near here Thursday, police said.

First degree murder charges were filed against Westbury today several hours after McFarland's body was found in a clump of weeds near the city. The confession stated Westbury killed McFarland during an argument over target practice with pistols.

Westbury, a 23-year-old private in the 88th observation squadron at Post field, unfolded his story of the slaying of his friend, in the basement at the Lawton police department at 4 o'clock Saturday mornng after more than 12 hours of questioning.

Officers said the accused man revealed how he had shot his 23-year-old companion after McFarland had given him a ride on a motorcycle. He was arrested when officers found him in possession of McFarland's motorcycle and McFarland was reported missing. He told officers that McFarland had "gone over the hill," a deserter, and he was released only to be re-arrested Friday.

McFarland's body with a bullet hole through his head was found on the banks of Blue Beaver creek, 10 miles west of Lawton, hidden in weeds and brush. The body was removed to the Fort Sill morgue and later brought to an undertaking establishment here.

The slain man was a private in the First Balloon company at Post field, rated as a good soldier, and unusually popular among the men in his organization. Funeral services for McFarland have not been arranged.

GANDHI TO FIGHT BATTLES OF BOTH HINDU AND MOSLEM

Arrives in London Looking Like American Indian Instead of Saint

NO OFFICIALS PRESENT AT WELCOMING PARTY

Police Surround Building to Protect Leader From Indian Students

LONDON, Sept. 12. (US)—Prepared to fight alike for Hindu and Moslem in his quest for Indian independence, "prisoner" Mahatma M. K. Gandhi came to London today, looking more like an American Indian chieftain than India's living "saint."

As Gandhi came off the channel boat Maid of Orleans at Folkestone, he was swathed in three warm blankets. The little brown man who has come to the second Indian round-table conference to persuade Britain to grant freedom to India was greeted by a typical English cold rain and an indifferent public.

He was welcomed by Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru and officials of the India office, and greeted G. F. W. Vincent, former police commissioner of Bombay as "my new jailer." Vincent has been assigned as Gandhi's aide.

When asked if he were negotiating for both Moslems and Hindus, Gandhi replied with an idiom calculated to widen the breach between the two. He said:

"I am prepared to go the whole hog. I am prepared to give the Mohammedans a blank paper, let them fill in their demands, and I will sign the paper and fight for them."

Sits With Chauffeur

While Miss Madeleine Slade and Mrs. Sarojini Naidu traveled to London by train, Gandhi yielded to the government's wishes and came by motor. He insisted, however, in riding outside the enclosed portion, and sat beside the chauffeur.

Two hundred police surrounded Friends house, the Quaker institution where Gandhi was received here, for 1,800 Indian students, many of them Communistic, have threatened him violence.

Friends house, with a capacity of 1,400, was but half filled, and no government officials were present, although Premier MacDonald and his daughter Ishbel, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Henderson, Sir Samuel Hoare and others had sent their regrets.

Following the reception, Gandhi was taken to Kingsley hall settlement house, where Gandhi is to be the week-end guest of Miss Muriel Lester, the superintendent.

BONDS GIVEN 50-YEAR SENTENCE FOR MURDER BROWNFIELD GROCER

BROWNFIELD, Texas, Sept. 12. (AP)—J. A. Bonds was convicted here today on a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of J. C. White, a grocer, and sentenced to 50 years in the penitentiary.

White was shot to death in a Brownfield cafe last April.

At his trial Bonds testified to shooting White because he believed his life was endangered.

Testimony was introduced to show ill feeling existed between the men over Bonds losing his job with the state highway department.

It was also indicated they had become estranged because of marital differences between Bonds' son and White's daughter.

JEWELS CHIEF HOPE AS CLUES

The engagement ring, set with a quarter carat diamond and with chip diamonds on each side, and the 15-jewel, oblong, Gruen wrist watch were taken from the girl. The pocket book belonged to Mr. Nodurft. The engagement ring had been his gift to her the Saturday night before the shooting.

While it is not improbable, officers said, that the negroes may have disposed of the tangible evidences of their connection with the crime, they were hopeful that the property might appear and put authorities on the trail of the fugitives. Officers here believed it entirely possible that the jewelry might be offered for sale.

Many Rumors

Both city and county authorities devoted the whole of Saturday to a continuation of their investigations of rumors and "tips" of various kinds. One of the most persistent of the rumors, to the effect that two negroes had been arrested in Dallas and that one had confessed, caused scores of telephone calls to the police and sheriff's departments and to The Times. The rumor was said by authorities to be entirely without foundation.

Numbers of negroes were arrested here and elsewhere. One was taken into custody under suspicious circumstances at Olney, but Wichita Falls officers, after a trip there to question him were convinced that he could have had no connection with the crime. Another arrested at the edge of the Country Club estates when he was reported to have been seen loitering in that section of the city on various occasions for several days, also was released after a thorough investigation. The number of negroes who have been questioned by authorities in Wichita Falls and various other cities and towns in Texas and Oklahoma undoubtedly totals in the hundreds, Mr. Spence said.

"Authorities appreciate the 'tips' they receive from well meaning citizens," Mr. Spence declared further. "No citizen should hesitate to supply us with information which he thinks might be helpful because of his fear that it will lead to nothing. It has been my experience during several years as a law enforcement official that information, seemingly trivial at the time and coming from the most unexpected sources often supplies the clue which leads to the solution of crime."

Mr. Spence was joined in the statement by Dick Morris, chief of police, and Perry Browning, sheriff, who have devoted practically the entire time of their department to seeking the fugitives.

Washington Policeman Slain as Officers Picket Entrance Noted Speakeasies in National Capital

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (INS)—Capital police were confronted, with another mysterious killing today upon the discovery of the body of Policeman Raymond W. Morrow, 28, beneath the 16th street bridge. There was a wound in the head and he appeared to have been beaten.

The police announced it was impossible for the officer to have leaped from the bridge, and expressed the theory that he had been slain elsewhere and thrown under the bridge from a passing automobile. When found, the hands were folded across the breast, and a wrist watch was still ticking away the correct time. He was in civilian dress.

Patrol Entrance Speakeasies

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (AP)—Reviving an old-tme practice of passive resistance, uniformed policemen now are picketing the entrances of certain reputed speakeasies in the national capital.

Sometimes a single patrolman, sometimes a group of two or three stroll before or lean beside the chosen entrance. Such prospectve customers as care to venture through the picket line are not molested.

Inspector Thaddeus Beane, one of the police officials especially chosen to help enforce prohibition in the capital, explained today the picketing practice had been adopted only against those resorts to which dry agents could not gain admittance to obtain evidence.

Patrol Entrance

"When we find a place where the doorkeeper will pass no one except those he knows personally," Beane said, "we merely patrol the entrance to see that no liquor is carried in. When the supply inside is exhausted, or when the customers drop off, the place must close."

Acting Director Howard T. Jones of the federal prohibition bureau spoke of the practice as an old one, highly effective but sometimes expensive.

He recalled that many years ago a nationally known gambler opened a resort in New York state which became the gathering place of many of the wealthy and socially prominent. Desiring the place closed, he said, the authorities placed a picket before the door. Each entrant was asked his name. Fearing unwelcome publicity for his wealthy clients, the gambler eventually closed his doors.

One of the most recent spots to draw police picket in the capital is within the shadow of the center of the downtown district, and almost within the shadow of the big greystone post office department building. One or more policemen have strolled before its doorway for several days and nights.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 12. (US)—President Ortiz Rubio today declared that Mexico has gone Nationalistic, no longer seeking its inspiration from abroad. In a message read at the opening of the annual Chihuahua fair, he said:

"Mexico no longer seeks her fundamental inspirations about life from foreign sources. Within herself she possesses the material and spiritual energy for working out her national destiny."

HE IS NOT READY TO ANSWER HIS FRIENDS YET

I am not ready to answer my couple of friends who criticized me for selling so cheap and assuring them of saving $99 a year but I am ready to answer my friend whoever he may be, who inscribed this message on the other side of his ticket the first day, "Nathan Marantz, your food is fine, your coffee is excellent but your checking system is slow, a friend." Not knowing who you are, as you did not sign your name, I am compelled to answer you through the paper, that the checking system was changed the next day and I want you to come back and give me more constructive criticism and I will be glad to shake hands with you. BILBO THREATENS TO CALL MILITIA military shutdown of cotton gins and cottonseed oil mills, he doesn't see just how it's to be done.

Bilbo said he was seriously considering calling out the national guard in such a move and cited the military oil field shutdowns here and in Texas as precedent. His reason is low prices for cottonseed and cotton.

"The governor cannot issue executive orders and especially military orders to fix prices, but must issue such orders in obedience to the law or to carry out the intent of the law," said Murray. "In the absence of the law or constitutional authority he cannot issue such orders. In my case, there was law which said oil could not be wasted and the oil field shutdown order was based upon conservation. Governor Sterling did not call out his guard until the Texas conservation law was passed.

"I have been asked by many people to issue an executive order designed to raise the price of wheat and cotton. I cannot do it. If you have no law you have no authority.

"I would not want to be put in the light of criticising Governor Bilbo, however, because I do not know what law he has."

About 200 farmers, meeting here today, endorsed the plan of Gov. Huey P. Long of Louisiana for a cotton holiday.

Patman Protests

TEXARKANA, Texas, Sept. 12. (AP)—Congressman Wright Patman today requested state and federal officials to take action against persons responsible for the recent slump in the price of cottonseed.

In messages to the department of justice at Washington, and Atty. Gen. James V. Allred of Texas, he claimed the price drop was caused by a cottonseed trust. He asserted the trust fixed prices in restraint of trade and openly defied state and federal regulations.

TWO FILIPINOS RUSHED TO PRISON TO PREVENT LYNCHING IN ARIZONA

YUMA, Ariz., Sept. 12. (AP)—Two Filipinos, sentenced to prison two hours after they had confessed attacking two young girls of prominent families here, were spirited away from a mob today to the state penitentiary at Florence.

A threatening crowd began gathering about the courthouse soon after it was learned that Alex R Torres, 32, and Joe Venzuela, 19, had confessed. Sheriff J. C. Hunter and Chief of Police Benjamin Levy placed the two in automobiles and drove to Florence.

Torres was sentenced to life imprisonment and Venzuela to from 15 to 30 years.

JUDGE C. F. SPENCER DIES IN FORT WORTH

defeated by the late Lucian Parrish of Henrietta.

In 1918 Judge Spencer moved to Wichita Falls and entered the oil business, in which he was unusually successful. At the time of his death he owned considerable property here.

He drilled the discovery well in the famous Muenster pool in Cooke county. He was named receiver of the Oil Operators trust after the death of Marshall Spoonts of Fort Worth.

Later he was associated with J. E. Strong and Walter Scott in the wholesale automobile supply business here. He moved three or four years ago to Fort Worth, where he was engaged in the oil business.

Survivors include his wife and a son, Jack 16, of Fort Worth; two brothers, Bud Spencer, a lawyer in San Antonio, and Forrest Spencer, a lawyer in Montague; and three sisters, Misses Maggie and Agnes Spencer, both well known teachers in the Dallas public schools, and Mrs. Dan Schultz of Decatur.

ARREST MAN ACCUSED OF POSTING WARNINGS THREATENING NEGROES

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 12. (INS)—One man has been arrested and several others are being sought in connection with the posting of warnings in cotton fields in several Arkansas counties, threatening negro cotton pickers with death if they pick cotton for wages as low as 35 cents a hundred pounds.

T. H. Davis, of England, Ark., who was at liberty on a suspended sentence and $300 fine for alleged radical activities, was arrested late yesterday by sheriff's deputies in connection with the intimidation of the negroes.

Rewards are being posted by planters for information leading to the arrest of persons responsible for the posting of the signs.

The agitators, authorities say, nave been most active in Pulaska, Miller and Prairie counties, heart of the state cotton region.

REPORT MORE THAN 50 LEADERS CHILEAN REVOLT ALREADY BEEN EXECUTED

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 12. (US)—Unconfirmed reports received here through a rigid Chilean censorship today declared that more than 50 leaders in the Chilean navy's recent abortive rebellion have already been executed. The executions are alleged to have taken place at lonely mountain military posts.

STAGE GUERILLA WARFARE IN STREETS OF BILBAO

BILBAO, Spain, Sept. 12. (US)—Basque Autonomists and Republicans staged guerilla warfare in the streets of Bilbao today. At least one person was killed and a number gravely wounded, one probably mortally.

A leaflet distributed by the Basques yesterday precipitated the disorders. The leaflet stated:

"We shall never tolerate government oppression of Basque Nationalists and Catholics. We are ready to die, but will kill before we die."

Partizans of the two political groups opened the day with a number of bitter street clashes and sniping at each other from roofs. Civil guards and police intervened, storming the headquarters of the powerful Basque Young Men's association under a drilling fire.

BAPTIST MEET HERE CLOSES FOLLOWING PROGRAM ON FRIDAY

Meetings of the Wichita-Archer Baptist association, which convened Wednesday for the annual session, continued through Friday evening. At the first regular session held Thursday morning, Dr. J. Howard Williams of Dallas, newly elected secretary of the Texas Baptist assembly, addressed the group at 11 o'clock.

The afternoon session was given over to the women's missionary union, at which time missions, stewardship, benevolences, and religious education were discussed. Mrs. J. E. Leigh of Dallas, state W. M. U. secretary, gave a talk following the program.

Interesting speakers provided addresses during the first day. They included Dr. J. Howard Williams, C. V. Edwards, McKinley Norman, W. H. Pool, Mrs. W. D. Howell and Rev. W. R. Deer.

Friday morning a talk on African missions was given by Rev. C. T. George, negro minister who had just returned from Africa. A very interesting report was given Friday by the Rev. Harrold Diggs, pastor of the North Side Baptist church of Wichita Falls on the Buckner orphans home. A free will offering was taken following the talk.

Friday evening was given over to the young people, and the Rev. S. F. Martin of the Lamar Avenue Baptist church of Wichita Falls gave the closing address.

The association will meet with the First Baptist church of Electra, Sept. 10, 11 and 12 of next year. Visiting delegates were Dr. J. Howard Williams, Mrs. J. E. Leigh, Mrs. W. D. Howell, J. P. Reynolds, all of Dallas; Mrs. S. J. Marcell, Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Townsend, of Olney; Rev. C. T. Aly, Brownwood; Rev. R. J. Fletcher, Petrolia; Rev. James L. Stewart, Rev. H. D. Blair, Cisco; Rev. M. PROPOSED COUNTY LEASE TOLL BRIDGE NEAR GAINESVILLE

AUSTIN, Sept. 12. (UP)—Efforts were being made today to lease the toll bridge across Red river near Gainesville in order that the span might be used in cases of emergency. Such a lease would be held by Cooke county, under the proposal made by State Highway Engineer Gibb Gilchrist.

The toll bridge company last night offered the use of its span provided the state would protect them from possible lawsuits resulting from any accidents that might occur. The dirt road leading to the free bridge had been washed out. The highway department, however, has no authority to assume responsibility for possible accidents on private spans, and rejected the offer.

No effort was made to prevent the toll bridge from opening, Gilchrist said. Traffic over the free bridge was resumed today after repairs were made.

Highway Approach Impassable

GAINESVILLE, Texas, Sept. 12. (UP)—Autos were still plowing through three miles of mud road here today after hundreds had been stalled last night when they attempted to cross the free bridge over the Red river after a downpour of rain.

More than a hundred autos crossed the toll bridge last night after they had torn down barriers erected by the toll bridge officials after state authorities had refused to accept the use of the bridge for the emergency.

State highway maintenance men estimated more than 200 autos were stuck in the mud at one time, while attempting to cross the bridge.

Scores of others detoured via Denison en route to Oklahoma points, while others almost filled the Gainesville hotels over the night.

Road maintenance men said today that extra gravel trucks would be put on the road Monday in an effort to get enough gravel on the road to take care of it during the next rain.

Professor Says Modern Woman Hard to Please

CLEVELAND, Sept. 12. (AP)—You just can't please the modern young business woman these days.

Marry her, and she will wish she were single again. Pass her by—matrimonially speaking—and she will tell you how glad she would be to trade her typewriter for a dustpan.

That is the conclusion arrived at by Frank A. Redmond of the Cleveland public schools research department, after studying answers to questionnaires submitted young women enrolled in adult school classes.

Eighty-five per cent of the married women were convinced they made a mistake in giving up their work for a husband. On the other hand, an equal percentage of young ladies engaged in a career were ready to jump at the opportunity to marry.

BAR ASSOCIATION TO URGE FEDERAL MOTOR CAR LAW

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (AP)—Federal legislation to regulate motor vehicles in interstate commerce, as railroads now are regulated, will be urged on the American Bar association at its annual convention in Atlantic City next week.

A resolution will be submitted by the standing committee on commerce, which also urges that the federal trade commission be given statutory authority to pass in advance on the application of the anti-trust laws to prospective mergers.

These two matters are considered important because the railroads have complained that buses and other motor carriers are able to compete on an unfair basis since they are not subject to interstate regulation. Likewise, trade associations seeking to regulate the businesses of their industries have complained they are held back by fear of prosecution under the anti-trust acts.

The committee on the conservation of mineral resources will recommend that the committee be authorized to cooperate in a thorough investigation of the anti-trust laws and in obtaining such changes in these laws as may be helpful to industry. The committee seeks to cooperate particularly with the oil and coal industries, which are concerned with huge overproduction and the legal difficulties of making cooperative efforts to restrain production.

Other committee reports urge changes in the radio laws, various projects for uniform state legislation, uniform judicial procedure and federal taxation.

The association meeting proper will begin Sept. 17, but associate and other legal bodies will commence work Monday.

Rule Landmark Burns

RULE, Texas, Sept. 12.—Early Friday morning fire destroyed the old H. V. McElreath home in this city which was a landmark. The home was one of the first to be built in Rule some 25 years ago. The home was owned by Joe Helton, who was living in the house at the time of the fire. The flames spread over the large frame building before the fire department had reached the scene and it was not possible to save the building, which was completely destroyed.

NEW PEAK FOR WORKING FORCE AT PLANT HERE

NEW OWNERS REOPEN CLOTHING FACTORY

Wide Distribution Quickly Developed for Products

The Great West Garment company is now giving regular employment to more than 40 persons, the number representing a peak reached by steady increase since the property was acquired recently by Shem P. Cunningham and Ralph L. De Shong, according to information given Saturday.

Prospects are extremely bright, it was declared further, that the pay roll will be increased to more than 100 persons before many weeks have elapsed. The plant is located at Travis and Fifth.

The property was purchased from the Western Garment Manufacturing company recently by Mr. Cunningham and Mr. De Shong and was reincorporated by them under its present name with a paid in capital of $50,000. The plant had been shut down for a period of about four months when it was again put in operation by the new owners. Mr. Cunningham is president and Mr. De Shong secretary-treasurer of the company.

Up to the present time, Mr. De Shong explained, the pants and the overall manufacturing departments are in operation, each employing about 20 persons. It is planned to reopen the shirt and play suit manufacturing departments during the next week, it was added.

The company will continue to follow the policy of giving preference in employment to the former employes of the company. They are notified as they are needed, it was explained.

Market Developed

The market for the products of the company has been developed even more rapidly than had been hoped for, officials of the company declared. Three traveling salesmen represent the plant, their territory being in Southwestern states.

Cited as typical of the territory in which the products of the company are already being distributed, Mr. De Shong displayed a batch of orders which came in on one mail Saturday afternoon. Four states—Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and New Mexico—were represented among them.

The plant is now engaged in the manufacture of three types of trousers and three types of overalls. The company is making blue and gray work pants as well as blue and striped semi-dress pants. The semi-dress pants are of a style which has proved popular among youths and an unusual demand for their use for school wear has grown up, it was declared. The overalls are of striped, dark blue and light blue material. The shirts to be manufactured will be of blue and gray material. Lines of merchandise manufactured at the plant will be greatly enlarged as time elapses, according to the present plans.

Buy in Texas

Practically all of the materials used in the manufacture of the garments is made in Texas of Texas grown raw materials. One of the policies of the company was explained as being the effort to keep as much of its business as possible within the territory it serves.

Both Mr. Cunningham and Mr. De Shong have been qualified by long experience for their present undertaking, friends declared. For a number of years, Mr. Cunningham was connected in an important executive capacity with a large plant of similar type at Sherman. For the last seven years, Mr. De Shong has been president and general manager of Saul's stores.

The reopening of the plant, Mr. De Shong related, has involved the bringing of only three new families to Wichita Falls, the remainder of the newly created work going almost entirely to persons then unemployed.

Those brought here from other cities in connection with the opening of the plant are Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham and their child, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Fields of Fort Worth, who are employed, respectively, as plant superintendent and head floor woman, and W. C. Palmer from Dallas as machinist. Mr. Palmer formerly was an employe of the plant.

COLLEGE REGISTRATIONS WILL CONTINUE MONDAY

Registration at the Wichita Falls Junior college will continue through Monday, after which time all entrants will be subject to late classification regulations, according to A. K. Presson, registrar.

An unusually large number of students have already signed up for college class work for the following term, reports from school officials indicate.

Mayor Jimmy Walker Has Eyes on Seat in Senate of United States; Not Running Just Yet but Willing

By RALPH HEINZEN
United Press Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1931, by United Press)

PARIS, Sept. 12.—When Mayor James J. Walker, now on his way here from Cannes, quits as chief executive of New York he hopes to retire to the political calm of Washington as a United States senator, he said today.

His ambitions turn south rather than north toward the governorship, he revealed in an exclusive interview with The United Press prior to departing from the Riviera a few days ago, admitting that he would be willing to turn toward Washington and a senator's toga.

"I am not running for any office, nor am I running away from any," Mayor Walker said. "I will say I will not be a candidate for mayor, governor or senator—but I can say that if I am not mayor I would like to be senator.

Mayor Time Being

"However, for the time being I am mayor of New York, and that is a job which does not give you much chance to wonder about what you will be doing in two more years."

Mayor Walker insisted that investigations and violent criticisms of political opponents, have not left their imprint on his party or Tammany Hall.

"If I was elected by a majority of 500,000 last time," he remarked, "I am sure I could go out today and get 600,000 majority."

He flayed the "constant criticism of the opposition press," and decried "professional or ambitious critics."

European System

"In Europe," he said, "wherever I went I had to write my name and tell what I was doing in town, on slips which were furnished by the police in every hotel in which I went.

"That is the European system. The police know all about you, but that system is against our American ideas of individual liberties.

"In America, and in New York in particular, the police have the responsibility of preserving order but the federal authorities have the power. New York police are powerless to deport a criminal. The constitution steps in and the department of labor alone has that authority.

Courts Free Criminals

"Our polce arrest criminals, yet the courts free them an hour later on a writ of habeas corpus. The real big criminals laugh at the police because they know a clever lawyer can get them out of much trouble.

"New York has seen strange things come over public opinion. The gangster has become a hero in many people's eyes, through the films. That is an unhealthy situation we have to combat, for the public has to be convinced before crime can be defeated.

"It was only when 'big gang finance' got hold of gang wars that they became dangerous to the public. It will take the collaboration of the public, the federal government and the municipal police to beat the threat of gang domination."

MEETING WILL DEVISE PLANS BOOST VALLEY

An effort to formulate definite plans for increasing the usefulness of the Wichita valley irrigation project will be the object of a meeting to be held Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Kemp hotel, according to B. B. Greever, chairman of arrangements.

Drainage, marketing and products, colonization and concerted organization for developing the valley to an agricultural area of foremost rank will be discussed at the session, it was announced. Talks by Wichita Falls men will be made, and opportunity will be given for each one present to join in on discussions, Mr. Greever said.

The valley tour held here in July, taken by 200 local citizens, revealed to those who made the trip the possibility of the section's development, and it is hoped that specific plans can be made from suggestions obtained at the meeting Thursday.

All business men and farmers are invited to attend the meeting, it was announced.

TRUCK DRIVERS WORKING ON HIGHWAY AT QUANAH FORCED TO BUY LICENSES

QUANAH, Texas, Sept. 12.—Thirty-three truck drivers who have been working on paving highway No. 51 south of Quanah were required to buy chauffeur licenses last week. The cost of the license amounted to about $3.00 per driver.

Nine were required to buy additional tonnage licenses.

State highway patrolmen checking up on truck men on this road work made this necessary.

The ruling was made that a farmer who owned his truck and used it part time in hauling his products would not be forced to buy the chauffuer license, as this only applied to professional truckers.

Former Newspaper Man in Vernon to Wed in Shanghai

VERNON, Texas, Sept. 12.—Sutton Christian, former Vernon newspaper man and now city editor of the China Press in Shanghai, China, is to be married Sept. 17 to Miss Nevada Semenza, according to a letter received in Vernon Saturday.

Mr. Christian and Allen Carney of Vernon left Texas in July, 1930, for a trip around the world. After visiting Europe and Africa the young men landed in Shanghai where both worked on the China Press. Mr. Carney recently returned to the United States.

Miss Semenza is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Semenza of Reno, Nev. She was graduated from the University of Nevada in 1928 and went to China as advertising representative of a directory firm. March 1 she was made woman's editor of the China News and from the association in the office a romance started which will terminate in the wedding next Thursday.

MAN EXTRADITED FROM DALLAS FACES CHARGE MURDER AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Sept. 12. (INS)—Ben Norfingle, extradited from Dallas, Texas, was held here today, charged wtih the murder last month of John Martin. He implicated John Reed of Chicago, according to police. Reed was taken into custody. Both men will go before the grand jury Monday. Martin, manager of a grocery, was slain during a holdup.

HEAT WAVE CLINGS TO SECTION FROM ROCKIES EASTWARD

CHICAGO, Sept. 12. (US)—The heat wave clung doggedly to the country today. In Chicago the temperature reached 91.

A gigantic blanket of simmering heat covers the whole country from the Rocky mountains eastward to the Atlantic seaboard. All September heat records have been broken in many places, especially in the New England states and New York where readings have ranged about 90.

In portions of the west 100 degrees prevailed with lack of moisture adding to the discomfort. But the lateness of the season caused little crop damage, save that pastures were being burned brown.

Forest fires became menacing in Michigan. In northern Michigan timber lands and in Wisconsin forest rangers were combating more than 100 fires that grew more threatening each hour.

Chicago was swept by a hot southwest wind throughout the day. The lowest temperature last night was 72 and the thermometer jumped up to 91 at 3 in the afternoon. Bathing beaches, usually closed by Sept. 1, were crowded as in midsummer.

No relief from the heat was in sight tonight and tomorrow will see 90 degree temperature unless clouds should drift across the sky.

By ALFRED E. SMITH

Al E. Smith

For as long back as I am able to remember I have heard of gangs and gangland. What there was of them in old New York 40 years ago mainly existed in the neighborhood in which I was born. The Whyo gang inhabitated the Sixth ward and made their headquarters around near the Five Points on Worth street. The Police Gazette gang inhabitated Franklin Square, and there were others with all sorts of names more or less well known. But as I remember them they were not necessarily of criminal intent. Whatever form of organization they maintained was more for their own protection when some invading gang sought supremacy. Their line of business was not any racket as we understand it today, but the empty honor of being the most formidable in their ability to fight.

Most of the gang leaders I heard or knew of were fairly harmless and in the old days had no thought of interfering with legitimate business. Their gangs were not commercially organized for personal profit. They were all intimately known to the police because invariably they had a meeting place that was constantly under police observation. It was not until recent years that so-called gangs became menacing by perfection of organization financed to a high degree by their operations in violation of the so-called dry law.

Took to Bootlegging

Gangland naturally took to bootlegging. It was an easy, adventurous and highly profitable business. Then there came jealousy within the ranks of gangland as the territory in which they were to operate and most of the public battling and shooting on the streets between gangsters seems to occur out of resentment of one gang when the territory allotted to them in the pursuit of their illegal calling is invaded by some other gang. We are told that the pursuit of a violation of some such code of their own is the direct cause of the shooting affray in Harlem which brought about the death of innocent children while the gangsters were asserting their authority over what they were pleased to call their particular domain.

Gangs or so-called gangsters engaged in violation of any law that has public support and approval cannot last very long. But the total disregard of the prohibition laws on the part of people in responsible places makes the business of beer and rum-running comparatively easy and certainly very profitable. The profits from it have financed the underworld as it has never been financed before in the history of the country. Upon arrest, bail is readily obtainable. The best legal advice can be purchased and everything that money can buy is produced for the protein of those engaged in the business.

Government regulation of the manufacture, sale and distribution of intoxicating liquors would put the authorities, particularly the police, in possession of a weapon that could be used against the chief sources of profit for the gangsters of today. Liquor illicitly distilled and illegally distributed and sold leaves the gangster in control and the power of government as exercised through the police department, crippled and handicapped.

Hard-Working Police

I am not in sympathy with any outcry against the police as a body. I believe that, taken as a whole, they are hard-working and conscientious and I am not unmindful of the obstacles that are put in front of them when it comes to the solution of the perpetration of many of the crimes that are reported daily in the newspapers. We have in the New York police force 19,333 people, 2,260 of whom are engaged almost entirely in the regulation of traffic. Without them the business of New York could not be conducted. Only a certain number of them can be on duty at a time. With allowance for time off for necessary rest and recreation there remains available for active police duty at a given time only a percentage of the whole force. It may well be that in the present situation we need an increased police force until we can secure control over these organized groups of the underworld.

When you consider the problem of policing a city as large in territory as New York or other large cities of the country, dense in population, it must be said by all fair-minded people that in the absence of definite proof to the contrary, the police are exerting their best efforts. The rank and file of the police should be encouraged and there is no solution of this problem that can grow out of fault-finding with them.

There will always be unsolved crimes. There always have been. But when, by the operation of law, a certain line of endeavor becomes highly profitable it is reasonable to expect that there will be a warfare over the spoils of an illegitimate business undertaking. The old-time drama depicts it in full and the title of the play was "Cheating Cheaters."

Pistol-Toting Evil

Since the world war the carrying of weapons has become more general. It should be supervised by police authorities who always have a closer knowledge of the habits and associations of residents of their precincts, than any other agency can possibly have. Every unlicensed carrier of weapons should promptly be sought out and prosecuted and licenses should be granted with the exercise of the greatest caution.

According to the newspaper stories gang warfare breaks out when one group invades the territory of another to carry on business which was against the law in the first place. That amounts to a pronouncement on the part of a given gang that the pickings in certain sections that grow out of the illegitimate traffic in liquor or any other so-called racket are theirs and their territory is not to be invaded.

The word 'racketeering' is a new one. A racket used to mean a good time, a dance or a social gathering. When you had three or four days' vacation you went off on a racket. The application of the word racket to a new activity on the part of gangland indicates there is in existence a good time with a large number of industries and business.

The recent report of Judge Seabury, investigating the charges against the district attorney of New York county, contains a list of the various industries that have been the object of what is called "shakedown" or the exaction of tribute by gangsters. The list comprehends a good part of our business in New York. That is the natural outgrowth of organization on the part of gangsters for the definite purpose of coercing industry into paying tribute. The surprising part of it is that all of these people submit so readily and the sin of it all to me seems to be that a part of it is conducted under the guise of regulating union labor. That should and will be wiped out. In this day of material progress and advanced business methods and intelligent handling of business affairs, no industry should be subjected to any form of blackmail, nor should tributes go to the support of men or gangs who are parasites on a community and live at the expense of everybody else.

What is required is full and complete cooperation between business men, the police and the prosecuting authorities. No one or two should rely entirely on the other. They should work together under the firm resolution that no large community in the country should remain the prey of gangsters or racketeers. No real progress will be made, however, until those who are victimized are willing to pull together with the responsible elements of the community for the suppression of these illegitimate practices and to force these able-bodied birds of prey to work for an honest living.

PROTESTS PLAN OF PIPE LINE DEFEATS PRICE BOOST MOVE

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 12. (AP)—Gov. Harry H. Woodring was informed today by Thurman Hill, member of the public service commission, that the Interstate Commerce commission had authorized a new pipe line tariff between Oklahoma points and Coffeyville and Kansas City which "will help defeat our efforts to obtain crude oil price increase."

Commissioner Hill in a telegram from Oklahoma City, where he attended an oil conference yesterday, informed the governor the commission had granted on five-day notice, effective Monday, a 15-cent pipe line rate from Oklahoma points to Coffeyville and 30-cent rate to Kansas City.

"This will enable Sinclair to ship East Texas oil to Kansas at a preferential rate and will help defeat our efforts to obtain crude oil price increase, also injure Kansas oil industries," Hill stated.

The commissioner asked the governor to request the commission to hold up the order for further hearing. Governor Woodring said he was undecided whether to file a protest, adding "it probably wouldn't do much good."

Cleveland Plant Plans Test Steam Power for Planes

CLEVELAND, Sept. 12. (AP)—Adaptation of steam power, oldest of modern sources of power, to the airplane, newest form of transportation, is to be put to practical test here soon.

The power which Stephenson first used to propel the locomotive, and Robert Fulton applied to the steamboat, is being developed in the airplane by the Great Lakes Aircraft corporation of Cleveland.

Engineers of Great Lakes Aircraft declare that development of the steam plant for planes has been made possible only because new metals have been developed in the past five years which furnish the required tensile strength, lightness in weight and metallic hardness.

The plant would work up 2,350 horsepower, especially desirable for large transport and commercial planes and military craft.

While revolutionary in the modern concept of aviation, the steam engine was used as power in the machine of Prof. S. P. Langley, which he flew on May 6, 1896.

But various new allow steels, now able to be used, were unknown when Langley invented his machine, and have prevented the perfection of a workable aircraft steam plant until now, engineers claim.

AL SMITH AND THE RUMOR CROP

Al Smith had a fine opportunity Wednesday night to clear up a set of rumors regarding his own political intentions and his attitude toward Governor Roosevelt. Instead of doing so, he said some things that will probably increase the speculation and multiply the rumors.

It has been reported that Smith and Roosevelt had broken; that Smith really favored Owen Young for the Democratic nomination; that he was displeased with Roosevelt's attitude toward prohibition; that he had hopes of getting the nomination himself; that he was about to make peace with Tammany hall in order to fight Roosevelt's nomination more effectively; and so on. The New York Evening Post, in a copyrighted story, said Wednesday that "persons so close to Mr. Smith as to permit no doubt" had said he would not permit his name to go before the convention. The opportunity thus afforded to lay all the rumors was ignored by Smith. He said he had no statement and that one one was authorized to speak for him.

We can keep in mind this one unchallenged fact: Smith is no tyro in politics. That fact may simplify the situation.

Just suppose that Smith is enthusiastically for Roosevelt's nomination, as, indeed, he may be. He is shrewd enough to see that a clean-cut declaration of his preference could not possibly aid Roosevelt's candidacy and that it might injure it. It would align against Roosevelt all of the forces that opposed Smith in 1928. It would tend to make Roosevelt merely the tail to a Smith kite. On the other hand, it would add practically nothing to Roosevelt's strength; most of those who are active in Roosevelt's behalf were supporters of Smith three years ago.

Suppose, again, that Smith is bitterly opposed to Roosevelt as the nominee, as, after all, he may be. What would be the effect of an unequivocal statement to that effect? It would help Roosevelt fully as much as it would hurt him; perhaps it would help more than it would hurt. Those who opposed Smith in 1928 but who have been complacent toward Roosevelt, would view the latter's candidacy more favorably than ever. Their antipathy toward Smith would turn them toward Roosevelt. While it would bring Smith's personal following into line against Roosevelt, that following is mainly in the states where Roosevelt sentiment is already too strong to be successfully combatted.

If Smith is viewing the situation in a wholly unselfish spirit—as he may be, but probably isn't—he still has no incentive to declare himself. As long as there is a possibility of his gaining the nomination for himself, there will be those who will prefer Roosevelt as the lesser of two evils. These might not want to see Roosevelt nominated, but they would flock to his band wagon in a hurry to head off Smith's nomination.

From the point of view of practical politics, there is no reason whatever why Smith should make his attitude known. Whatever his hopes or his plans, he can serve them best by permitting the aura of mystery to continue to encompass him. He is smart enough to realize it.

THE FARMER FACES THE WINTER

There is an item on the farm page this morning that deserves thoughtful reading. It is an interview with J. N. Sherrill, a Wichitan whose business interests keep him fully conversant with agricultural conditions, and who is entitled to speak with authority. Mr. Sherrill cites a number of reasons why the farmers of this county and section are much better off than they were a year ago. They will not get much for their cotton, he concedes, but a bigger part of what they do get will be theirs to spend; a smaller proportion than usual will go to the bank for money borrowed and to the stores for goods bought on credit. Most of the farmers have substantial supplies of canned foods, raised at home and put up at home, to feed their families this winter. Most of them have ample quantities of feed.

No one can assume, from the facts noted by Mr. Sherrill, that there is prosperity, or anything remotely resembling it, on the farms. When there is as little cash in the farmer's pocket as there now is, when the average farmer has no thought of buying more than the merest necessities for his family in the way of clothing, and has no plans for buying new equipment, prosperity is still very far away. But it may be assumed, from the facts that Mr. Sherrill offers, that the basis is being established for a future prosperity that will be firmly established when it does come.

If the farmers of Wichita county, or of Northwest Texas, or of Texas, or of the South, have found that they can keep going, can, in the vernacular, "get by" without looking to cotton to pay all the bills, it may not be prosperity, but it is a wholesome and hopeful sign. It is a more hopeful sign for the cotton country than anything that is happening at Austin.

MEDICAL SCIENCE SCORES AGAIN

The efforts, described in recent dispatches, to obtain a supply of cortin extract for a woman suffering from Addison's disease, gave a dramatic tinge to the contest between medical science and this dread affliction. Just a few days ago, before the American Chemical society, Dr. Frank A. Hartman described the long and victorious effort to find a specific means of treatment. The fact that it has been found means that another triumph has been scored over disease.

The disease, named for the physician who discovered it in 1849, involves the small glands which are located just above the kidneys. The ailment slows up various bodily processes and causes death, usually after a prolonged illness. The search for something that would check the progress of the disease has been a long one, attended by many failures. Dr. Hartman told of the success which attended the work of physicians, who discovered that an extract from the cortex, or "bark" of the adrenal glands of cattle, would counteract the effects of the disease.

It requires 150 cattle to provide enough of the substance to treat one patient for one day. It is not a "cure." It must be administered again and again, as insulin must be in diabetes. The stories of its helpful effects are almost unbelievable. The New York Times tells of a woman sufferer, apparently at the point of death, who was able to run up and down the hospital corridor after five days of the treatment; of a man patient who had reached the stage where he could retain no food whatever, eating a big beefsteak after two treatments.

The difficulty in obtaining the cortin may bar many sufferers from the treatment. But results so far recorded show that medical science has won another great victory.

THE NEGROES' RESOLUTION

The resolution adopted by Wichita Falls negroes, deploring the recent tragedy here and pledging their support of efforts to bring the guilty men to justice, does credit to the members of that race. In a situation that might easily produce grave trouble, the negroes show a state of mind that is altogether commendable. The thoughtful white citizenship appreciate the attitude the negroes are showing.

A Socialized Education

By GLENN FRANK
President of University of Wisconsin and Former Editor of the Century Magazine
(Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

We must rectify the miseducation that has made us muddlers in the fields of social creation and social control while making us expert in the technical execution of limited enterprises.

And the begining of this rectification must be our clear realization that specialization has given us an educational system organized, in the main, to train professional scholars rather than to educate men to create, comprehend, and control their civilization.

The training of professional scholars is a crucially important matter for which a rational society will always make adequate provision, but, in basic method and objective, it is an enterprise quite distinct from educating men for leadership and followership in making and mastering their social order.

The underlying pattern of our educational system, with its endless and exclusive separatisms of subject-matters and its insistence upon the sanctity of sequence in the study of these subject-matters, is a pattern dictated by the convenience of professional scholars rather than by the social needs of mankind.

It is a pattern that fosters scholarship but frustrates education.

And little headway can be made in equipping our educational system for its social function until its ground-plan reflects a recognition of the deep-going difference between specialized scholarship and education.

Scholarship is the quest of scientific facts.

Education is the quest of social understanding.

The educated man is a man at home in his world of social forces.

The scholar may be an educated man and the educated man may be a scholar, but the two are not of necessity identical.

The progress of science depends upon the scholar.

The progress of society depends upon the educated man.

We are seeking to execute these essentially distinct enterprises in the same institutions, in terms of the same curricula, and under leadership of the same faculties. It cannot, in my judgment, be done. We must separate these two enterprises far enough to prevent each from hamstringing the other as now.

Tough

The British know that times are tough,
They see no cause to cheer,
For, as if they weren't being taxed enough,
The tax has been raised on beer.

The third degree is a reprehensible and uncivilized practice, but every husband knows . . . alas! . . . that it cannot be abolished.

At an athletic contest in Sing Sing prison, some of the competitors were caught cheating. Can it be that there are some dishonest men in Sing Sing?

The little boy who is called a hypocrite because he pretends to like to go to school will probably grow up to be a legislator who votes for a cotton acreage bill, pretending it's for conservation.

What with oil and cotton, these days, conservation has to cover a multitude of sins.

Birthday

Another milestone to be passed,
Another year unrolled,
What makes them come so thick and fast?
I must be getting old.

The recently published announcement that one of this winter's new dances is to be the moochi, prompts us to wonder what ever become of that other imported dance, the hoochee-koochee. It's been a long time since we heard of it. When the circus comes to town, we hang around the side-show, thinking maybe we can renew old acquaintance, but not so. The disappearance of the hoochee is probably due to too much competition. It used to cost a quarter to see the hoochee, while the dancing exhibitions that have displaced it cost $3.30 and up. That is one difference. Another is that the hoochee dancers wore some clothes.

The children who start to school tomorrow must be careful about their geography lessons. It isn't quite clear, as this is written, whether Austin or Baton Rouge is the capital of Texas.

And some things that are happening may cause them to wonder if Moscow isn't.

An Open Letter to the Mayor

Dear Walter: I hate to trouble you with a matter of this kind at a time when you already have so much on your mind, but I feel that I owe some sort of an explanation.

You got out a proclamation the other day, declaring this Sunday to be New Fall Hat day, calling upon us citizens to shed the old straw hats and put on some new millinery. I would like very much to comply with this request, for I always try to get along with mayors, but there are circumstances that preclude my doing so in this instance. I am writing this to make it plain that I mean no disrespect, and to ask you not to feel hurt when you see the hat I'm wearing.

I can quit wearing the old straw hat, all right; the fact is, it has just about played out, anyhow. I have had it since June and I've learned that it's easy to waste money on straw hats. I paid 98 cents for this one and it didn't give me any better service than a cheap one. All this is beside the point, of course, but I wanted you to fully understand the situation.

I'll quit wearing the straw, but I'll have to beg off when it comes to getting a new fall lid. I took the old Stetson around to Nick's the other day and asked him if he could do anything with it. He said he guessed so; that he had fixed it up for me last year, and the year before, and there wasn't any reason why he couldn't do so again. And he got pretty fair results. Unless you look at it real close, say 25 to 30 yards, you can't tell it from a brand-new hat. Probably I could step out with it and folks would think it really was a new hat, and that I was obeying your proclamation. But I wouldn't be that deceitful.

With me, it's a matter of both economy and sentiment. I've become sort of attached to that old hat, ever since it was given to me, several years ago, by a prominent citizen who was grateful for a little favor I'd done for him. Oh, it wasn't anything very much, just a little plain suppressing, but he appreciated it and so I got this hat. And after you've worn a hat three or four years, it isn't easy to lay it aside. That, coupled with the fact that I can't finance a new one, anyhow, makes it necessary for me to disregard your proclamation. I want you to know that I don't mean any disrespect at all. It isn't that, Walter. I'm a law-abiding citizen and when a mayor proclaims anything, I'm inclined to obey it. Day in and day out, there's no one who follows your proclamations more faithfully than myself. Oh, maybe sometime when I'm out of the city, or sick, I may fall down on one of them, but not when it can be helped. And that doesn't happen very often. The only other one I definitely remember disregarding was No. 486, Series D, and that was just plain unavoidable.

And so I know you'll understand the spirit in which this letter is written and not be angry with me when you see me wearing the old hat. You'll just have to overlook it, this one tme. Maybe, after all, I can get a new one later on. Perhaps some other prominent citizen will want his divorce suppressed.

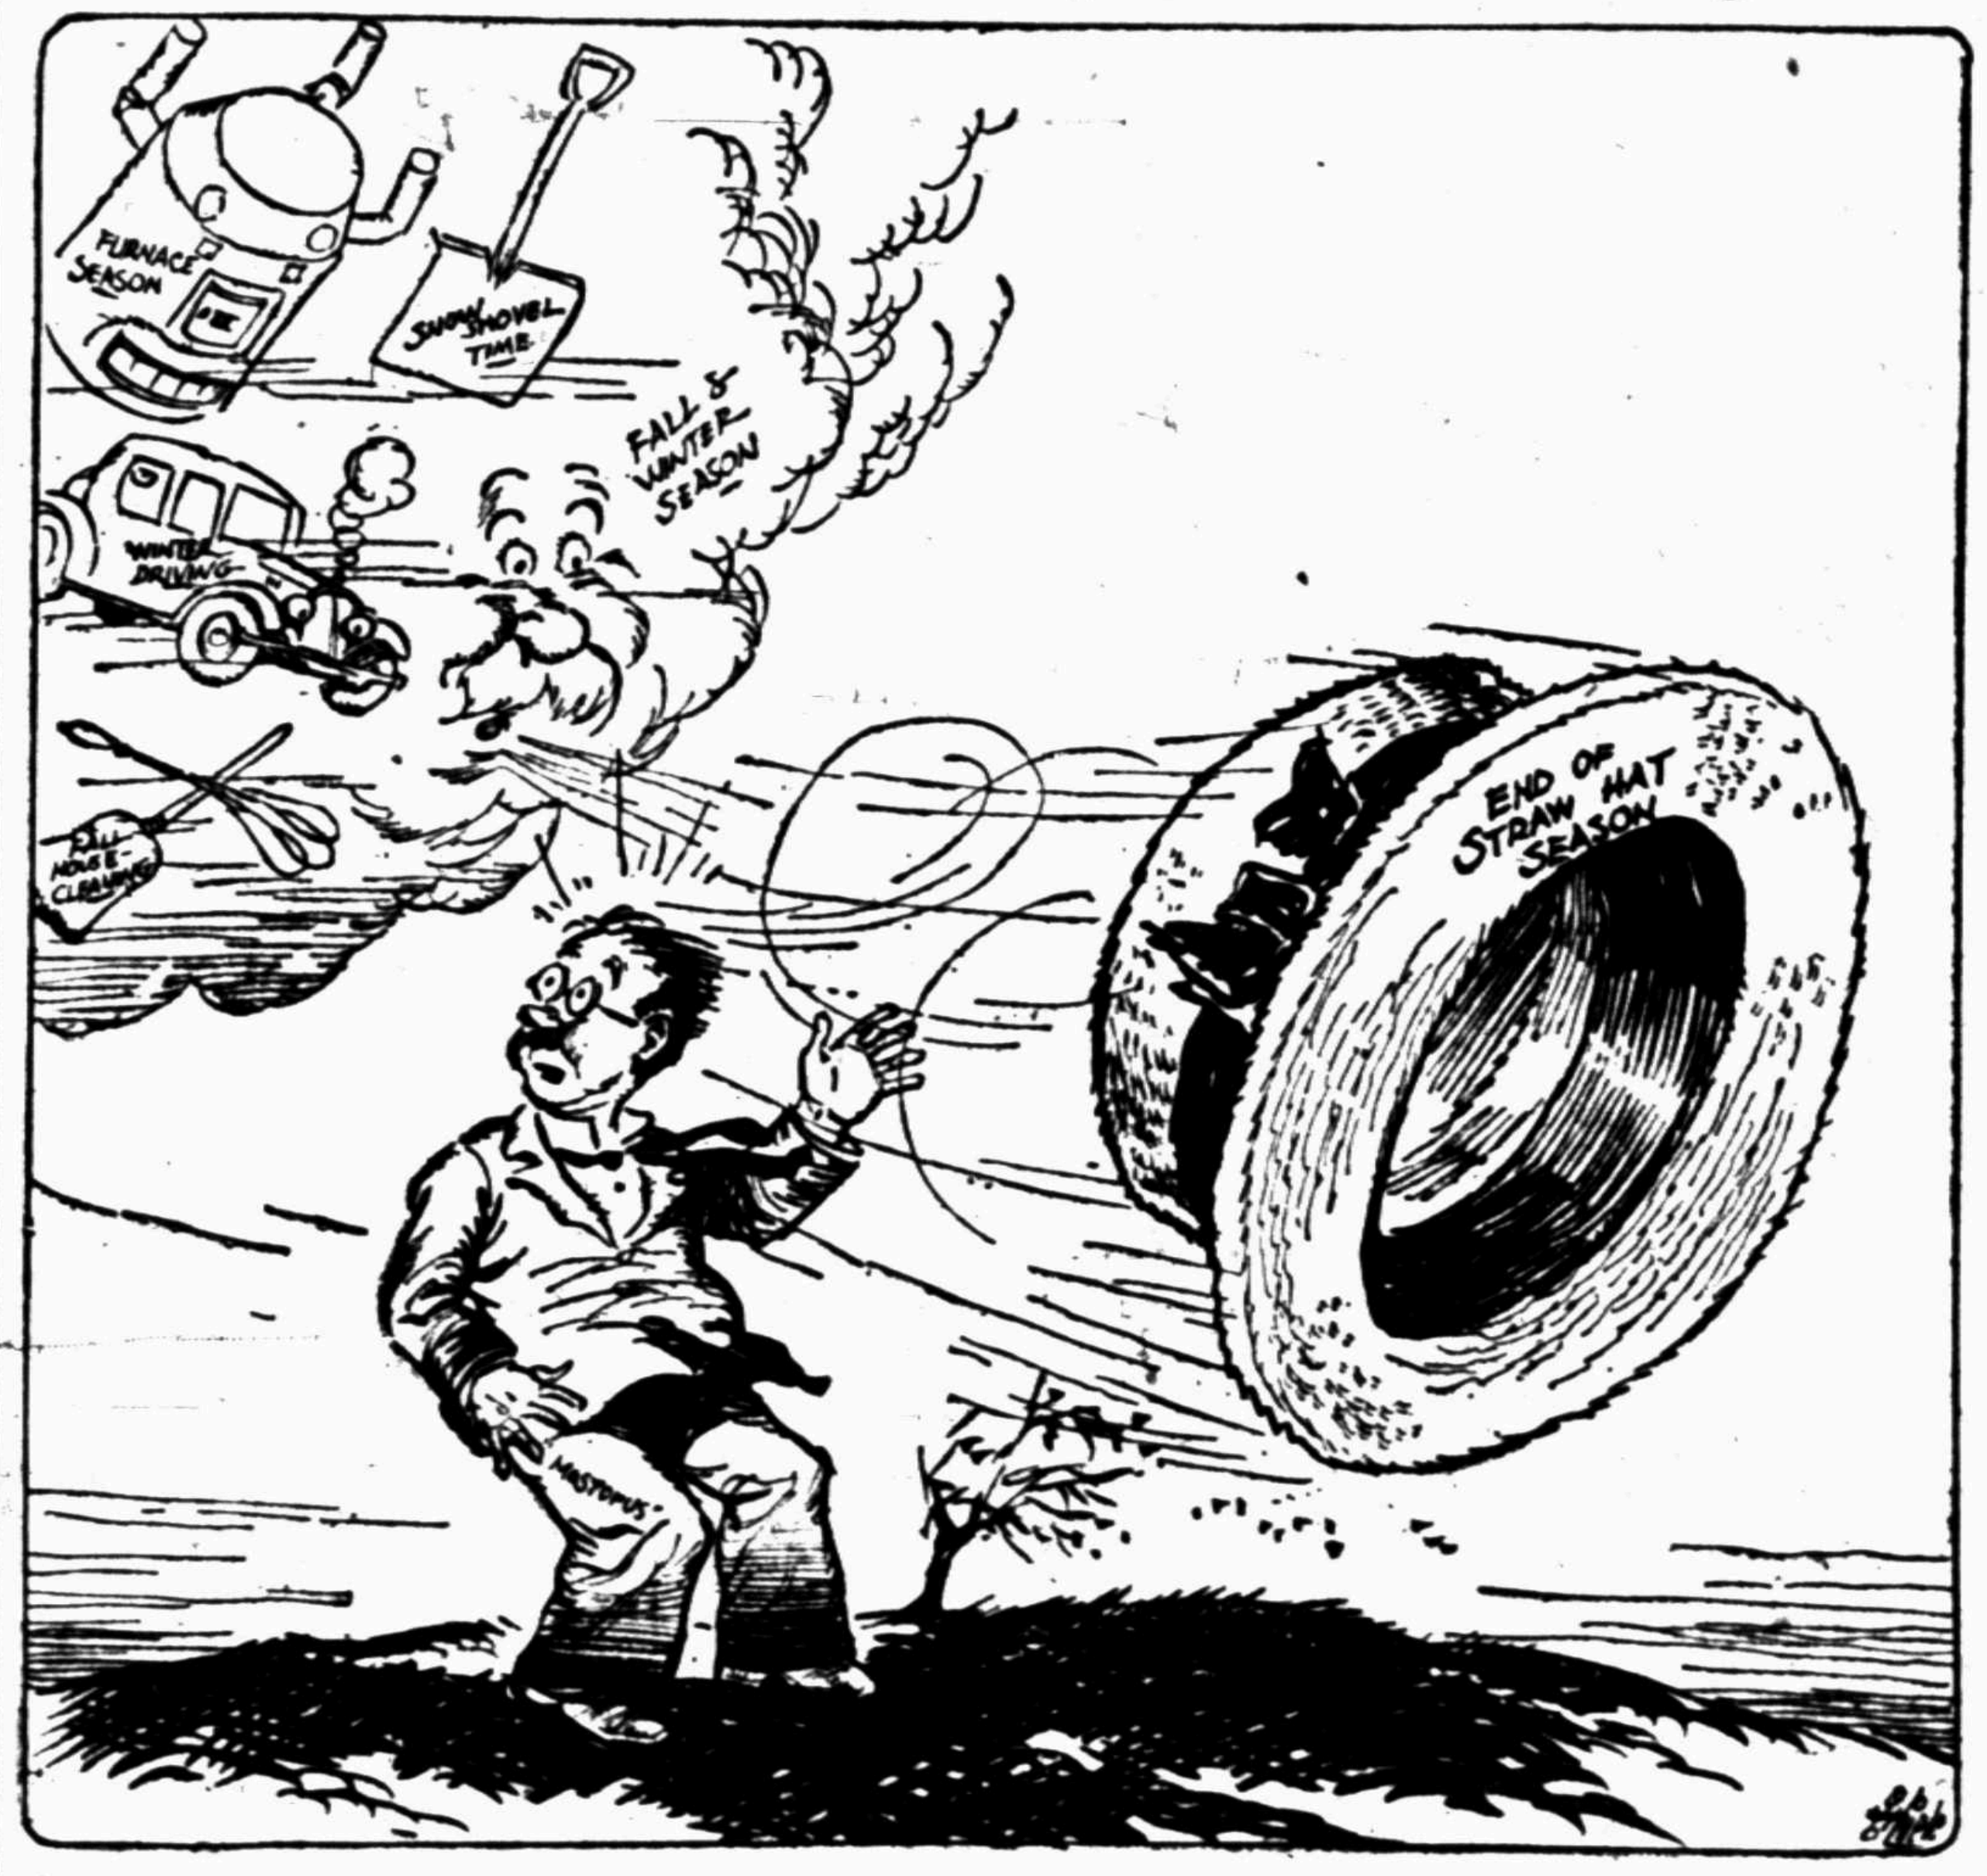
Sincerely.

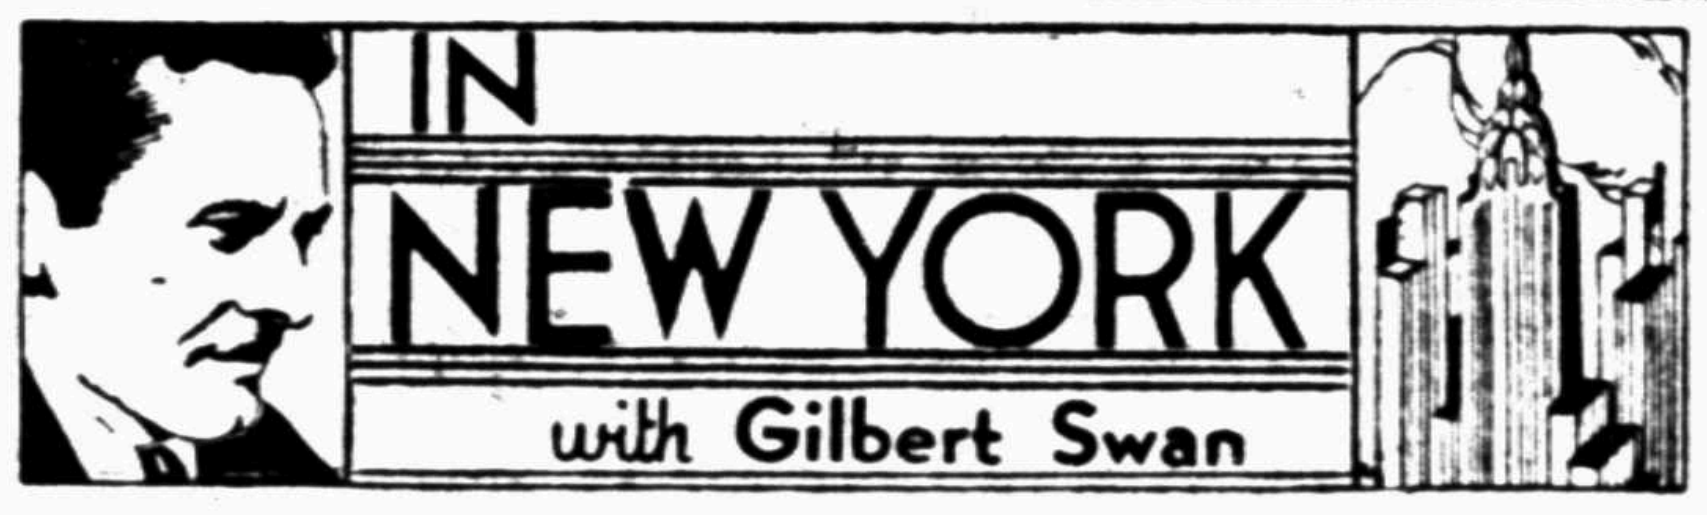
We aren't very smart about lots of things and that's why we don't understand why it is necessary for the farmers to raise so much hell in order to raise less cotton.

The government reports that the average amount of money n circulation, per capita, is $40.31, but doesn't undertake to say who has the $40.01 that most of us lack to make up that amount.

Little by little, we are getting back to basic values in this country. Some of the legislators have agreed to serve without pay.

A Straw That Tells Which Way the Wind Is Blowing!





NEW YORK.—New York's horde of blind street musicians provides an interesting study in changing times.

They have gone to the night clubs, the stage and the music-with-your-drinks resorts. Many costume themselves after the fashion of floor-show entertainers. Rarely do the newcomers to the sidewalks appear alone; they have worked up acts in which two, three and more instruments are used. Several three-person blind acts use an attractive blind girl.

Furthermore, they have figured out crowd centers and arrange to be at the congested centers at certain times. They do not fiddle on a corner for hours on end. Rather they show up at given points with the regularity of a vaudeville or radio performer "catching his time."

Not infrequently, the more prosperous may be seen arriving by taxicab. While some of them still use the dear-old-fiddle identified with wandering street singers for many a day, most of them keep their music up to the minute. They have shiny-looking accordions, well-polished saxophones, guitars and banjos. Their tunes are right out of the music show hits. Their pace through the crowd is measured, patterned after the various Hawaiian groups or the Italian street singer aggregations.

I am told that they keep in constant rehearsal, changing their instruments as the public taste changes. In summer season, they appear in the streets in trim white linen suits, with gay summer ties and jaunty panamas. One group wears white flannel trousers and natty blue, double-breasted coats.

Then, too, there are tales of smart theatrical entrepreneurs who are said to get the blind players together and teach them their act. Even as the street minstrels would wander into the barrooms in older times, the modern version finds its way into the many Manhattan speakeasies and picks up many a stray quarter and dollar.

Little "German bands" are back in the New York streets as never before. The size of these vary, usually containing four or five players. There are scores scattered over the city, arriving in the neighborhood sections about breakfast time and tooting away until somewhere near the noon hour.

Most of these lack the oom-pah, oom-pah professionalism of yesteryear's German bands. They seem annoyingly amateur at times—particularly a group that visits the block on which I live and which fairly murders "The Blue Danube." It does slightly better with "Rosy O'Grady" and "My Wild Irish Rose," however. I'm afraid I never will get used to the old German band tunes played to a saxophone lead.

These bands, I am told, are recruited from those jobless gents who have learned to toot a horn in the old home-town band and who do not wish to resort to downright begging during hard times.

Memory Training

If one wishes to have a good memory, he must be sure that the incidents are strongly impressed upon the brain in a clear manner. Memory is not the recording of facts, but is the ability to recall or recollect these impressions from the brain at some future time. Not only must these impressions be within our brain, but we must develop a mental force or strength to search these records and uncover the one which we need.

First, we must form a clear cut record in our brain, and secondly, we must be able to search it out from among the numerous other records at just the time that we are in need of the information. One can improve the depth of the impressions in the brain by cultivating a keen interest in everything that happens. One should practice observing clearly and distinctly until it becomes an unconscious habit. Concentrate upon those things which you wish to remember, and it is well to associate these with many other ideas and things so that in searching for a thought, we may discover it through several different paths.

The brain associates one idea with another, and most systems of memory training make use of this fact by teaching a visualizing process. As you look at a thing, compare it with another. Look at its points of difference. Consider its possibilities of difference and juggle it about in your brain until you realize its details clearly. If you do this, you will find that in this particular instance, you will have a good memory and be able to recall the incident years after it has occurred.

You can use special exercises for developing your memory, but if you make an effort to thoroughly understand every detail of the thing you are trying to memorize, you will find that your memory will improve by this practice alone. A very good plan is to try to recall the instances of the day just before you are retiring. In this way you will be able to remember and describe the persons and things which you have contacted. You will also find that these exercises develop mental faculties which you probably did not know existed in yourself. You will take a new interest in life as you discover that comparatively simple things may release wonderful thoughts which have been stored away in forgotten corners of your brain.

A few people are born with the happy faculty of memorizing readily, but the vast majority of people must pay special attention to developing this part of their mental faculties.

A brain should certainly be kept as neatly and orderly as a business file. The impressions and records stored in the cells of the brain should be so clear and distinct that the mind will have no difficulty in locating them and their related ideas.

If one develops an enjoyment and interest in the things which he tries to memorize, he will find that the impressions remain much stronger. One trouble with most people is that they hate to memorize certain things and they actually develop a faculty in their minds for forgetting the things which they do not wish to remember. If you have an appointment which you do not wish to keep, you will, in all probability, forget about it.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question—W. A. L. inquires: "Are peas, beans, lentils and cereals protein foods? Could they be used in place of cheese, eggs, etc., to supply one's protein at the evening meal? Would they be classed as proteins in arranging a properly combined meal? How is this for an ideal menu for two girls, 4 and 7 years old, and in fact for the whole family?

Breakfast—One kind of raw fruit and milk (as much of both as desired).

Lunch—Several raw vegetables, milk (as much as desired), two thin slices of well toasted whole-wheat bread and butter.

Dinner (three days a week)—One protein (cheese, eggs, nuts, etc.), one cooked non-starchy vegetable, and several raw non-starchy vegetables. One kind of fruit either stewed or raw, and two slices of well-toasted wholewheat bread with butter or peanut butter.

Dinner (the other days)—One starch (rice, potatoes, etc), one cooked non-starchy vegetable, and several raw non-starchy vegetables.

Answer—While peas, beans, lentils and whole cereals contain a large amount of protein, they also contain starch, for which reason I have found it convenient to place them in the starchy list when it comes to food combinations. Beans, especially the navy beans, are such a poor combination of starch and protein in themselves, as to cause a large amount of flatulence when eaten. I have found it better to use starch-free proteins, such as meat and eggs, for protein combinations. The menus outlined for your little girls seem to be quite satisfactory, but I wonder why you are not including any meat. It is well to remember that there are many different kinds of proteins and some are not as complete in the particular amino acids, which produce growth, as the protein of meat and milk.

Democrats Solidly Behind Garner For Speaker Next House Congress Republicans Torn by Dissension

By ARTHUR HACHTEN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (US)—While the Republicans are torn by dissension over their ticket for speaker of the house, the Democrats are solidly behind Representative John N. Garner of Texas for the office.

Garner is at his home in Uvalde, Texas, saying nothing. He knows that if the Democrats organize the house, he will be its speaker, succeeding his close friend, but political adversary, the late Nicholas Longworth.

The Democratic rank and file has been polled. Not one will vote against "Fighting Jack," it was indicated. Before the last session of congress adjourned he was assured by state delegations that he will have their support.

Tammany Behind Garner

Tammany Democrats will throw their block of votes behind Garner. Though the New Yorkers may differ with the South on prohibition and other issues, they admire Garner, veteran of 13 congresses. Next December he will begin his 14th term and 27th year in the national legislature.

The Republicans will have a majority of only one in the house assuming that all present and possible future vacancies are filled by candidates of the party of the deceased. The Republicans will have two more votes than the Democrats, but there is also the one Farmer-Laborite to be considered. He has not indicated for whom he will vote.

Should the Democrats capture the vacancy in the first Ohio congressional district caused by the death of Longworth, they will have the same number of votes as the Republicans.

Republicans Divided

The Republicans are divided on the speakership between Tilson of Connecticut and Snell of New York. Already talk of a compromise candidate is being heard. But it is known that there are several dissatisfied Republicans, who may be absent themselves from the chamber on election day to enable the Democrats to elect Garner.

Absentees, either through choice or illness may turn the scale in favor of the Democrats, it is thought by some.

Garner pushed his way to the top of the Democratic heap through years of toil. Ranking Democrat on the ways and means committee, which originates all revenue and tariff legislation, he is accepted as an authority on economic issues.

As floor leader for the Democrats in the last congress, Garner managed to harmonize all factions of his party.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—The unemployment relief issue is the biggest story in the country today and every one in touch with the situation agrees that it is going to get bigger.

Seldom in peacetime has thought been so generally directed at any problem. The president, governors, politicians of all sorts, labor leaders, business men and, goodness knows, several million jobless persons, are intensely concerned and will become more intensely concerned as cold weather approaches, as drives are launched for unprecedented sums and as congress prepares to assemble.

It is no secret that many substantial persons, especially those who have a great deal of money, are nervous. It is axiomatic that almost any one who accumulates money or inherits it soon begins to worry about the possibility, however remote, of losing it. So the specters of Communist riots and "socialistic" legislation bother a select few whereas they do not worry the great majority of us who realize that there will be no Communist uprising and that the country isn't going to turn Socialist overnight.

Nevertheless, the aforesaid nervousness is perhaps the best bet President Hoover and Walter S. Gifford, head of the national unemployment relief organization, have as they try to raise big enough subscriptions to local relief funds to take the steam out of the movement for federal relief appropriations. Figures are available to indicate that in last winter's relief drives the very wealthy citizens bore a proportionately puny share of the burden.

At the same time, however, the agitation for direct federal relief is becoming steadily stronger. There is now even a respectable body of opinion which holds that President Hoover himself, stout defender of rugged individualism and proponent of the theory that there must be community and state "doles" but no federal "dole," is getting ready to jump in case popular and political pressure becomes too heavy.

It is no great comfort for the administration to hear William Green, the conservative president of the American Federation of Labor who says there will be 7,000,000 jobless persons this winter, predict that federal appropriations will be necessary.

Green apparently is not primarily bent on pleasing the administration because he also asserts that wage reductions already "have served to extend the distressing period of unemployment." The capital anticipates with interest the annual A. F. of L. convention early in October. The federation may not demand federal relief, but if not there probably will be some real fireworks.

Governors of the two most populous states, Pinchot of Pennsylvania and Roosevelt of New York, after looking over their situations, respectively have demanded an extra session of congress to grant federal relief and asked the New York legislature for a $20,000,000 relief fund to be raised by increasing income taxes. Mr. Hoover, according to his spokesmen, sees a Pinchot-Roosevelt plot to embarrass him and force him to act. At any rate, the two governors have added to the strength of the movement for federal aid.

The current idea that the president may yet back down from his vigorous opposition to federal relief is not supported in any way by his favorite journalistic protagonists, who insist there is nothing more certain than a presidential veto for any such legislation.

Nevertheless, others are pointing out that Mr. Hoover is now in a position to pass the buck to the commission of 60 or more prominent Americans whom he chose as an advisory commission to back Gifford. If he should put the matter up to the commission and it decided in favor of federal help, the president could act gracefully. Perhaps the chief factor in encouraging this view has been Gifford's refusal to express himself either for or against the proposal for federal appropriations.

Twenty Years Ago Today

From Files Wichita Times

Sept. 13, 1911

The twenty-ninth anniversary of the founding of Wichita Falls will be celebrated by the ladies of the Civic league with an entertainment at the Wichita theater on the night of Sept. 27.

The program has not been completed, but it will include music under the direction of Professor Dunaeveski, of the Wichita Falls Conservatory of Music, addresses by some of the founders of the city, and some other features. An effort will be made to depict Wichita Falls at the town site sale on Sept. 27, 1882, and also represent Wichita Falls of today.

It is expected that several who were present at the sale of the town site will take part in the entertainment.

The announcement of the entertainment has met with an enthusiastic reception and a very successful celebration is looked forward to. In former days when the anniversary was celebrated a band of Comanche Indians would have a war dance on the hill top adjoining the city. It is probable that a war dance staged by make-believe Indians will be staged at the entertainment. Sketches of Wichita Falls as the town site appeared in 1882, and several different stages in the city history together with sketches of some of the pioneers will be thrown on a curtain with a stereopticon.

Among those now living here who were here when the town site was sold in 1882 are Judge J. H. Barwise, Mrs. A. H. Carrigan, W. E. Brothers, Alonzo Dickinson, W. J. Howard, Ed Wilson, M. H. Barwise, J. C. Ward and R. E. Huff.

PLEASANT VALLEY P.-T. A. ELECTS NEW HEAD

At a recent meeting of the Pleasant Valley P.-T. A. Mrs. M. E. Henry was appointed, by the executive board to fill the vacancy left by Mrs. R. H. Thurston, president of the club. Mrs. Henry served the organization in this capacity two years ago and the club is sure of a successful year under her leadership.

At this meeting plans were discussed for the year's work. Mrs. C. E. Russell stressed the importance of the members subscribing for the Parent-Teacher and Child Welfare magazines. The program committee submitted a complete program for the year based on the seven objectives and in order to carry out this program successfully every member is urged to study these two publications.

PEGGY PIEDMONT Says

THESE early September days are fairly teeming with excitement and bustle, and the school and college crowds are all in a flutter with their shopping and last day preparations to return to study. The last few days are also being rushed with parties and showers for the departing students. One who is leaving to take up her studies and in whom a large group of friends are interested is Mrs. A. L. Lane, widow of the late Dr. Lane, who has decided to specialize in foods. Mrs. Lane will study at C. I. A. and will prepare herself for an expert dietician. Being unusually talented along these lines, friends of Mrs. Lane predict that she will meet with great success in her chosen profession. She has endeared herself to a group of young matrons in the Floral Heights Methodist church, where she has been a teacher of their Sunday school class for some time, and was especially honored by them at their first autumn meeting the past week when they presented her with an exquisite farewell gift.

MUCH talk is also being heard at present about "rush" week at the universities, and friends of the students are planning to visit in numerous sorority houses which will open Monday for the big annual gathering. Mary Agnes Riley has already gone to Norman, Okla., to assist the Kappa hostess in opening that Kappa house there, and friends as well as students are expected to be entertained at this gala event.

AND talking about girls, schools and sorority houses, I am reminded of a letter that I received from Hollywood, Calif., containing interesting information concerning two Wichita Falls girls, Mabel Edmonds, who was formerly Mrs. Paul Hines, and Roberta Shaw, who are studying with Miss Dorothy Greathouse, also of this city, who has vocal studios in Hollywood. Through an audition arranged by Miss Greathouse, the let-

A simple and beautiful wedding that will interest many friends of the bride in Wichita Falls was that of Miss Glieth Henderson whose marriage to Bonneau P. Murphy was solemnized Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the Methodist church in Jasper, Texas, Rev. C. W. Hall of S. M. U., Dallas, reading the impressive ceremony in the presence of relatives and many friends.

Miss Ruth Eaves of Lake Charles, La., presided at the pipe organ and pre-nuptial music included "Meditation" from Thais, and a vocal number, "All for You," by Mrs. David Henderson. The bridal party entered to the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin and during the ceremony, Miss Eaves played softly Liszt's "Love Dream." Mendelssohn's wedding march was played as the recessional.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Rev. J. A. Henderson, was charming in her gown of blue crepe romaine with white trimmings and black and white accessories and carried an arm bouquet of sweetheart roses. Miss Olive Scales of Shreveport, La., her maid of honor, wore a frock of wine red crepe with harmonizing accessories and carried Talisman roses.

R. W. Henderson the brother of the bride, was Mr. Murphy's best man.

Reception Follows

Directly following the ceremony, a reception was given at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Richardson after which Mr. and Mrs. Murphy left immediately for a short wedding trip. Mrs. Murphy wore a handsome blue tweed suit with navy accessories.

From Galveston, they sail on the Mohawk for New York City and will go to New Haven, Conn., where Mr. Murphy will be in Yale.

The marriage united members of pioneer families in Yale and is the culmination of a pretty romance. Both Mr. and Mrs. Murphy were graduates of S. M. U. Mrs. Murphy was librarian at junior college for two years and was a member of the American Association of University Women, acting as treasurer for that group of college women.

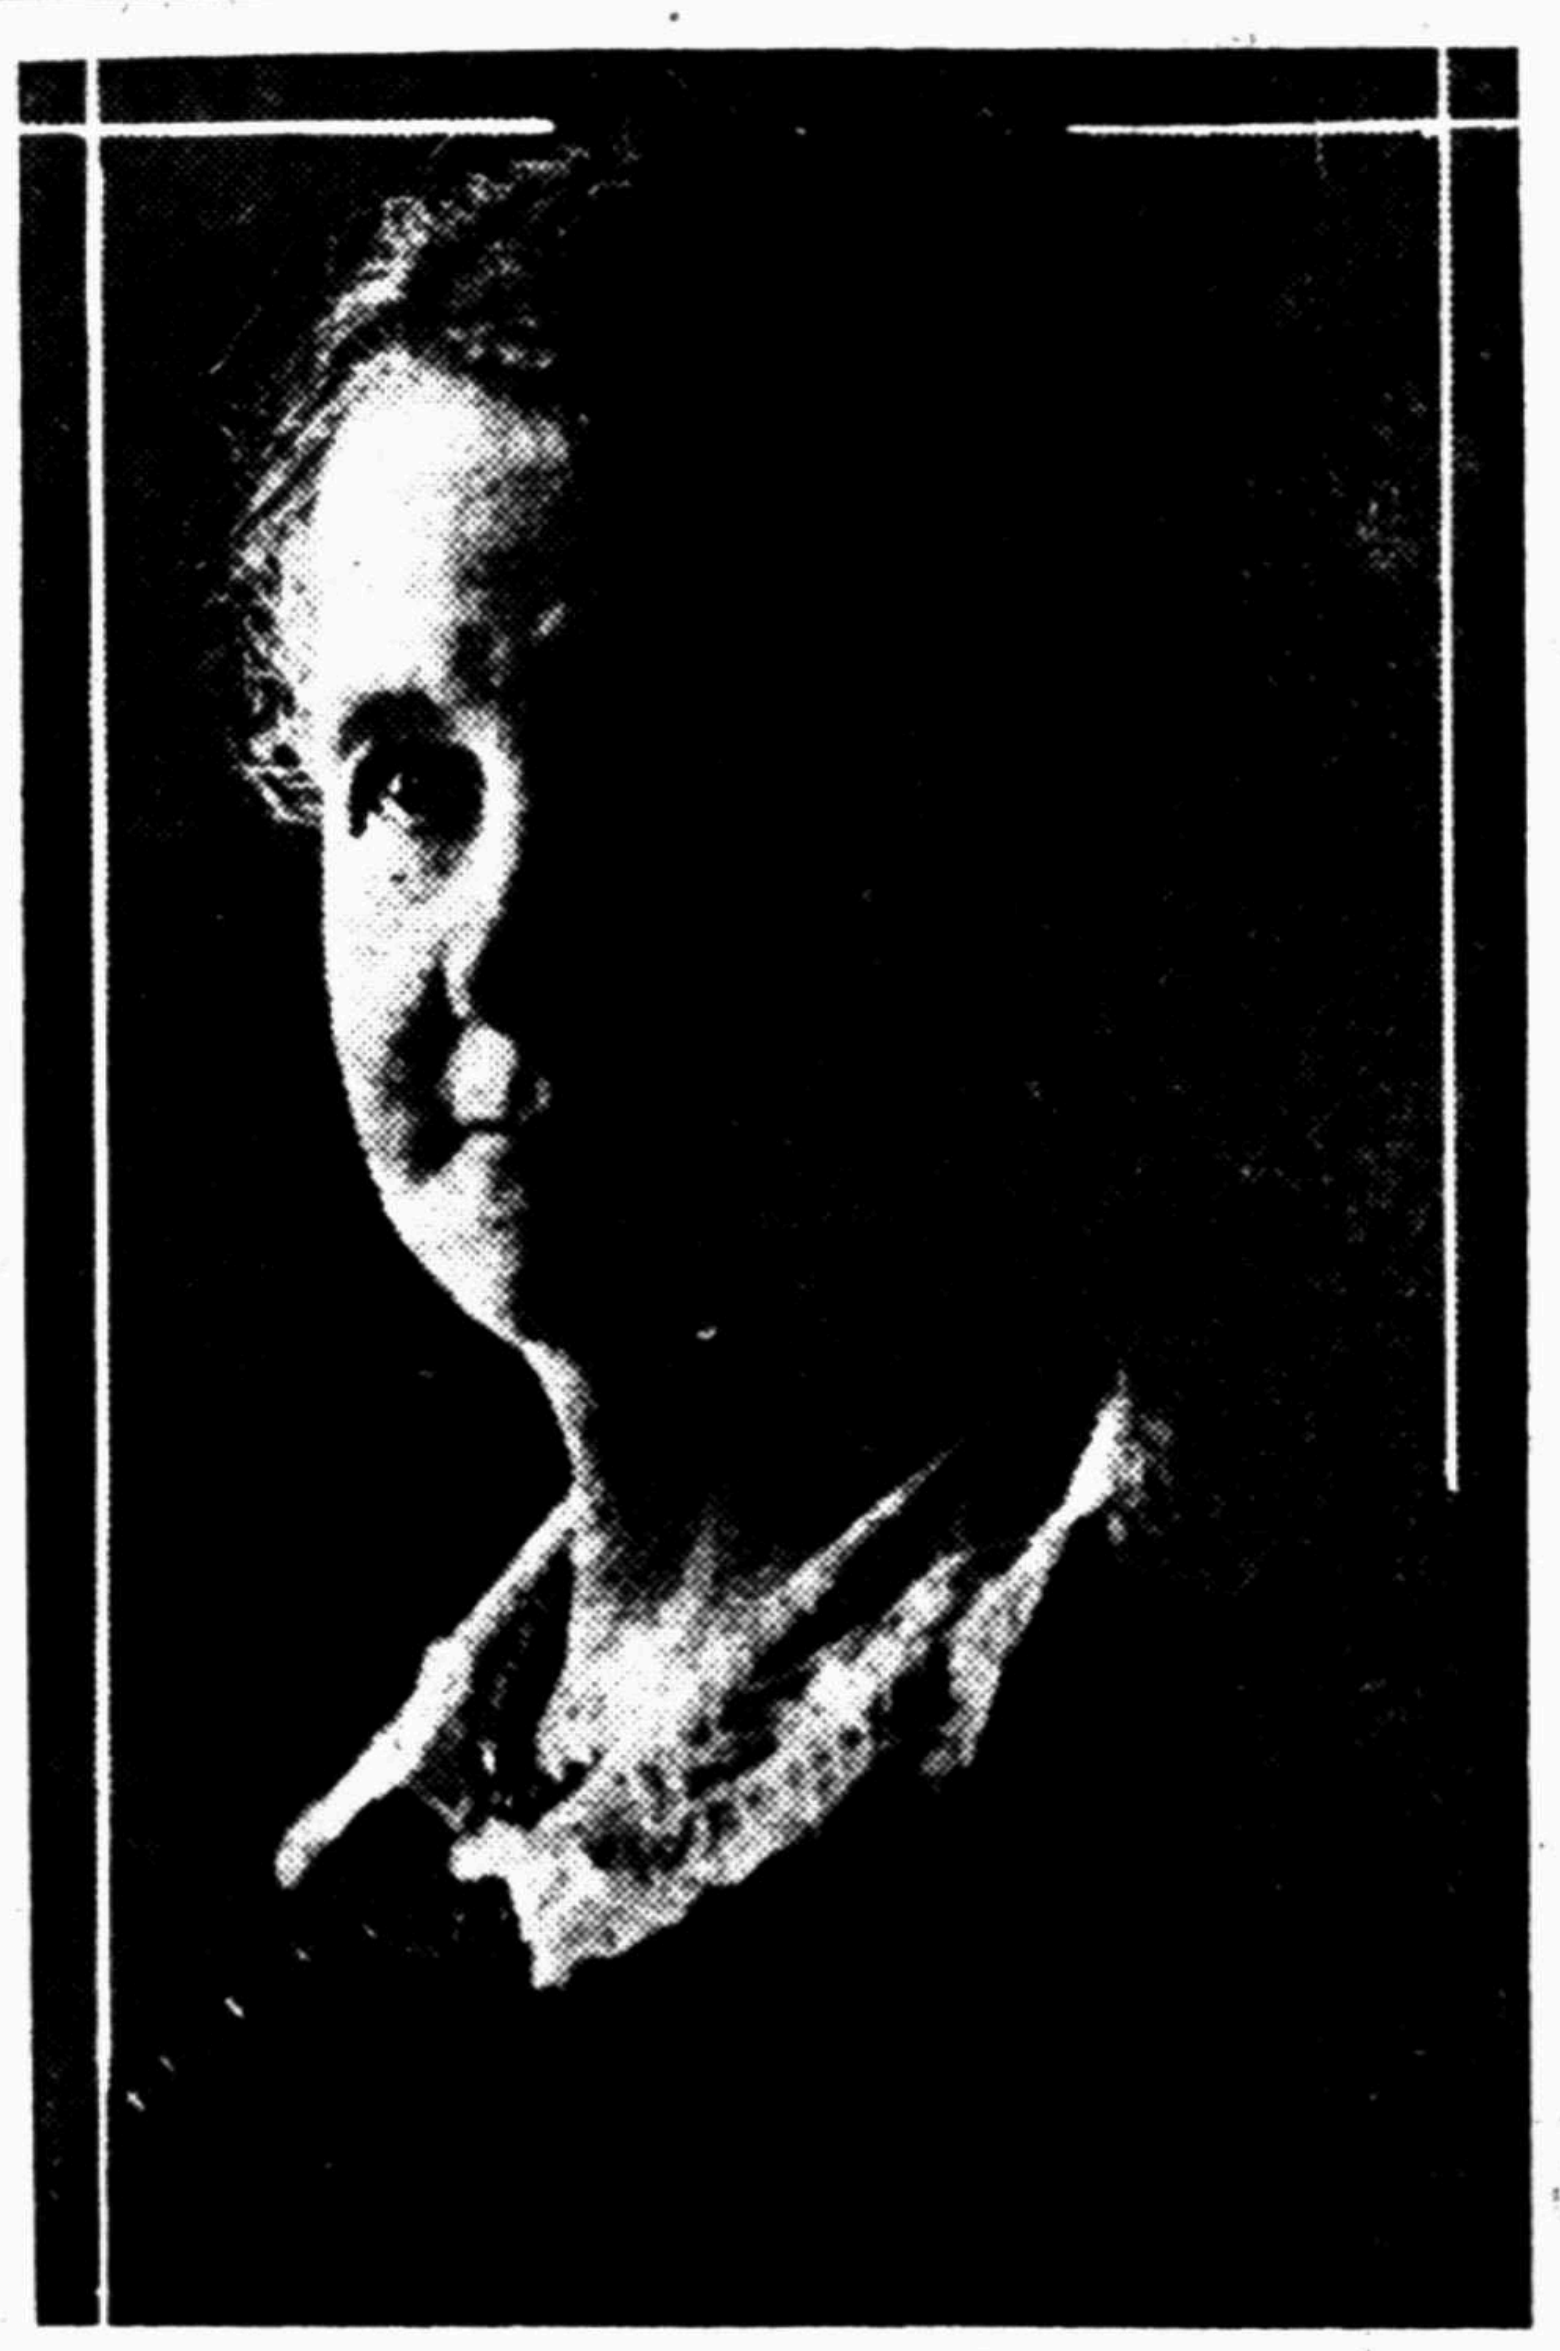
CITY HOSTESS TO GOLD STAR MOTHERS



By MRS. L. N. CASON

Mrs. Alice E. Cryder of Philadelphia, Pa., who is in Wichita Falls, Texas, en route to the national convention of war mothers in Long Beach, Calif., wears her gold cross bravely. She remembers the day when her boy started on that last journey which was ended in Wichita Falls and how, when she asked, "May I go to the depot with you?" he answered tenderly, if in a quizzical tone, "If you don't bawl, mom." "Mom" was her son's pet diminutive in private and she answered it with "I haven't bawled yet, have I?" to which he replied, "You've been a pretty good sport." She is still being a pretty good sport.

Her son arrived in Wichita Falls with the first squadron at Call field. He died in an accident, the cause of which was reported not determined, and two girls who had made candy with him on the Saturday night before his death on Tuesday, Maurine Whorton, now Mrs John E Butts, and Celia Stayton, now Mrs Alvah Conner, sent wreaths with the body that went back to his mother and wrote letters of sympathy to her. The correspondence has been kept up all these years, but not until Mrs. Cryder's arrival on this visit, did the three meet.

Mrs. Cryder has a son making his home in Houston now and she went there to visit him when she started on the trip to Long Beach, where, as corresponding secretary of her chapter in Philadelphia, she is going to arrange headquarters for he members who will attend. Being in Texas, she felt she must see Wichita Falls and meet the friends there. So she wrote a letter and as the one posted on Tuesday received answers from Mrs. Butts and Mrs. Conner Thursday and Friday mornings, she decided they really wanted to see her and planned the visit.

How they have reminisced. Mrs. Butts told of that last party where Edwin Dunvan Cryder, the handsome, gallant son of the little woman, tied a checked gingham apron round his waist and announced himself master of ceremonies in candy making, and of the fun they had. Of course Mrs. Cryder wanted to see Call field, where her son had spent some happy days; Mr. Conner had made pictures during the war of all the buildings there, so instead of the rutted roads and the half wrecked buildings, she has had a vision of the orderly camp.

Mrs. Cryder took her son's death like a soldier. She said that something seemed to have died in her and that although she cries with other gold star mothers and feels the tragedies of broken lives of war veterans, she cannot cry over the passing of her son.

A Consecrated Life

Since he died, Mrs. Cryder has given her life to the cause of war mothers. And turning the pages of her memory, she told of sad incidents and of humorous ones.

The period of the sesquicentennial in Philadelphia is one she remembers with pleasure. Her chapter, the second largest in the United States, which has sent out six child chapters, had a president at the time of the sesquicentennial who believed in getting what she wanted. When the federated clubs and the D. A. R. and the U. D. C. and other women's organizations were given houses, she told Mayor Kenwick the war mothers must be represented. There was built for them a replica of the little wooden houses used in Philadelphia during the yellow fever epidemic, just one of which is left standing in the city, and back of it, an old fashioned door led into an old fashioned garden where old fashioned flowers bloomed. The hostesses presiding in the war mothers' hut wore colonial costumes, as quaint and beautiful as the old fashioned garden. There every day for six months except for Sundays (Mrs. Cryder does not believe in keeping things open on Sunday) and for six other days, she spent her time. They are rich in memory.

There were 40 couples who registered at the sesquicentennial war mothers' hut who had come back to celebrate a golden anniversary of the wedding solemnized in the centennial. There were the old man and woman who came from Oregon; the man tall and awkward, on the Lincoln type with whiskers growing under his chin. His wife, a dainty little woman who could walk under his arm, wearing a dress of fine quality and a little bonnet tied under her chin with two curls hanging down in front of each ear. Their children had given them the money to come back as a celebration of the wedding. They told of the long trip they made by train after their wedding to the Mississippi and how they went by wagon after that to the place where they finally settled. Mrs. Cryder said she looked at the tiny little woman and asked "Weren't you frightened?" and the reply was "Oh, no, pap always took care of me."

From New Zealand

Two men came in who had a faint accent; they registered in the war mothers' hut and told Mrs. Cryder they were sons of a father and mother who had married during the centennial and gone to New Zealand. "We heard about the Philadelphia centennial for our bedtime stories," they said. "Where other children had fairy stories, we listened to the wonders of that time and it has been the dream of our lives to come back to this one." "Well don't you know," she asked them, "that you can see some of the buildings that were in that centennial?" They told her their ship left New York at midnight and they must be there. "You can take a taxi," she told them, and then enumerated the buildings that were left which they might see and still get to New York in plenty of time for their ship. How thankful they were! It was like a fairy story come true.

Then there was a story that had no romance attached. One warm day, she said, a large man came in, nicely dressed. She remembered his light trousers and brown mohair coat over his arm and the handsome Panama hat with which he fanned himself. He sat on a settee on one side of the room and the three hostesses, Mrs. Cryder, a little woman who took care of their pictures and a large War Mother who must have weighed 200 pounds were interested in his conversation. As he went out the door, the little woman turned to Mrs. Cryder with a shocked face. "Oh," she gasped, "we can't let him go this way; he has torn his trousers dreadfully.' "Call him back," Mrs. Cryder said, and she went behind the door into the garden and the large woman disappeared into a tiny closet leaving explanations to the small woman who had called the guest back. "You have torn your trousers," she said and he put his hand back and ejaculated "Oh My God!" whereupon the little woman said, "If you will take them off I will seam them up for you." He looked around the room with no place to go, smiled and said, "I do not believe it would be seemly to do so," put on his coat, called a taxi and disappeared. The two hidden hostesses still laugh at the mystified face of the good Samaritan.

A Mental Case

Mrs. Cryder told of one trip to Perry Point, Md., when she and another War Mother went with fruits to the hosptia' maintained for mental cases. They were taken into a room that was kept locked, with a guard on each side of them. As they entered, Mrs. Cryder saw a young man in a rolling chair with a blanket thrown over his lap—whether or not he had legs, she did not know. He saw her and looked up quickly, saying, "Why mother, you have been such a long time coming." Immediately she went to his chair and patting him on his shoulder said, "I've been busy, son. I came as quickly as I could." Then she talked to him a bit and at last said, "We must divide this fruit with the others," and as she started to leave him, he said, "Come back." She told him she would, talked to some of the other cases and came back to the chair; "I will come back to see you," she told him, "I wanted to tell you goodbye." He looked up and said, "Mother, haven't you forgotten something?" "Why, what have I forgotten?" she asked. "Why mother," he said, "you know you always kiss me goodbye." So he leaned over to kiss him and the guard with her said that for an instant, sanity came back to the boy's face. Before they reached the door, it was blank again. He was a violent case, strapped to the chair where he sat.

Wichita Entertains

War mothers and others of Wichita Falls have made Mrs. Cryder like a sorority rushee during her visit in the city. There has been one entertainment after another in her honor. So far as that goes, there was an enormous one given in Philadelphia before she left. Every member of the chapter to which she belongs was invited to the palatial home of the vice president on July 25, a date Mrs. Cryder had been asked to save for a simple luncheon, and there they paid the little corresponding secretary honor. After the luncheon, they told her that because she had never refused a duty in the chapter, they had a gift for her. She wears it proudly—a handsome platinum bar pin with a diamond centering it that was worn by an ancestor of the vice president.

She will be on her way soon to Long Beach. She has duties ahead. And never think she is not equal to them. She has traveled in Europe, though not as a gold star mother. Before coming to Wichita Falls, she wrote her friends so that they would know her, she would be dressed in a blue and white print and wear a little black hat with a long feather dangling over her shoulder. She sounded exactly like the second empire, but so that she would not look extreme, she cut part of the feather off. There are none but sweet character lines in Mrs. Cryder's face and her eyes are as bright as when she told her son she would not cry as she said goodbye. On that trip to Europe when she visited the soldiers' graves and on her visits to hospitals where she has seen broken men, she has learned to be thankful that her son was spared some suffering she has come to know.

Alexander Livesey, last of Scotland's itinerant booksellers, has died at Ayr. Pushing his barrow of books before him, Livesey toured all parts of the country and was well known in many out-of-the-way villages as well as large cities. He was an expert in rare books.

Prize Offered for Best Program Given in Constitution Week

"Constitution week," the week in which Thursday, Sept. 17, stands out, is to be one of real patriotism if the efforts of D. A. R. members bear fruit. Mrs. Carrie Joline has been appointed vice chairman of the northwest district of Texas D. A. R., following an appeal by Mrs. W. P. H. McFaddin, of Beaumont, state regent of N. S. D. A. R., urging the educational value of proper programs in this week. She has stated that they will inspire patriotism, and appeals to each chapter for cooperation in making "constitution week" a success.

Mrs. Joline has written letters to all her district and is making an appeal to every school in Wichita county to have a program during the week of Sept. 17, stressing the importance of loyalty to our state constitution and law observance and also to each luncheon club, the Woman's Forum and the different women's organizations, urging the same sort of program.

Mrs. McFaddin has a background of work she has accomplished for the D. A. R. The 136-acre pine forest given by Mr. and Mrs. McFaddin as a D. A. R. Memorial park on the highway between Nacogdoches and Dallas stands as a living reminder of a patriotism that works for the future. For the most effective program that is given in the state in Constitution week, she is offering a cash prize of $25, which will be awarded at the state conference in Houston in November. Mrs. C. E. Deaton, program chairman of Maj. Francis Grice D. A. R., is arranging a splendid local program.

D. A. R. Work

The National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution do real patriotic work. They support two schools, one is in the mountains of Alabama and one in South Carolina and assist and endorse 18 others. They have a room at Angel Island, Calif., where immigrants are taught Americanism. They have two rooms and an attendant for both men and women at Ellis Island and distribute manuals in 17 languages containing the constitution of the United States and information of patriotic value.

Major Francis Grice

The local Major Francis Grice D. A. R. chapter has placed flags and standards in every school in Wichita Falls and in the day nurseries and has also placed them in several rural schools. They have given instruction in the proper use of the flag and are now placing the framed flag code to be used with the flag.

Believing education one of the finest accomplishments and privileges of American patriotism, Major Francis Grice has given three scholarships to girls who have graduated in junior college and who are now teaching and to one other girl who is now married.

The national organization supports five real American daughters, pensioning them and pensioning nurses of the Spanish American war. The interest from a $100,000 fund is being used for this purpose.

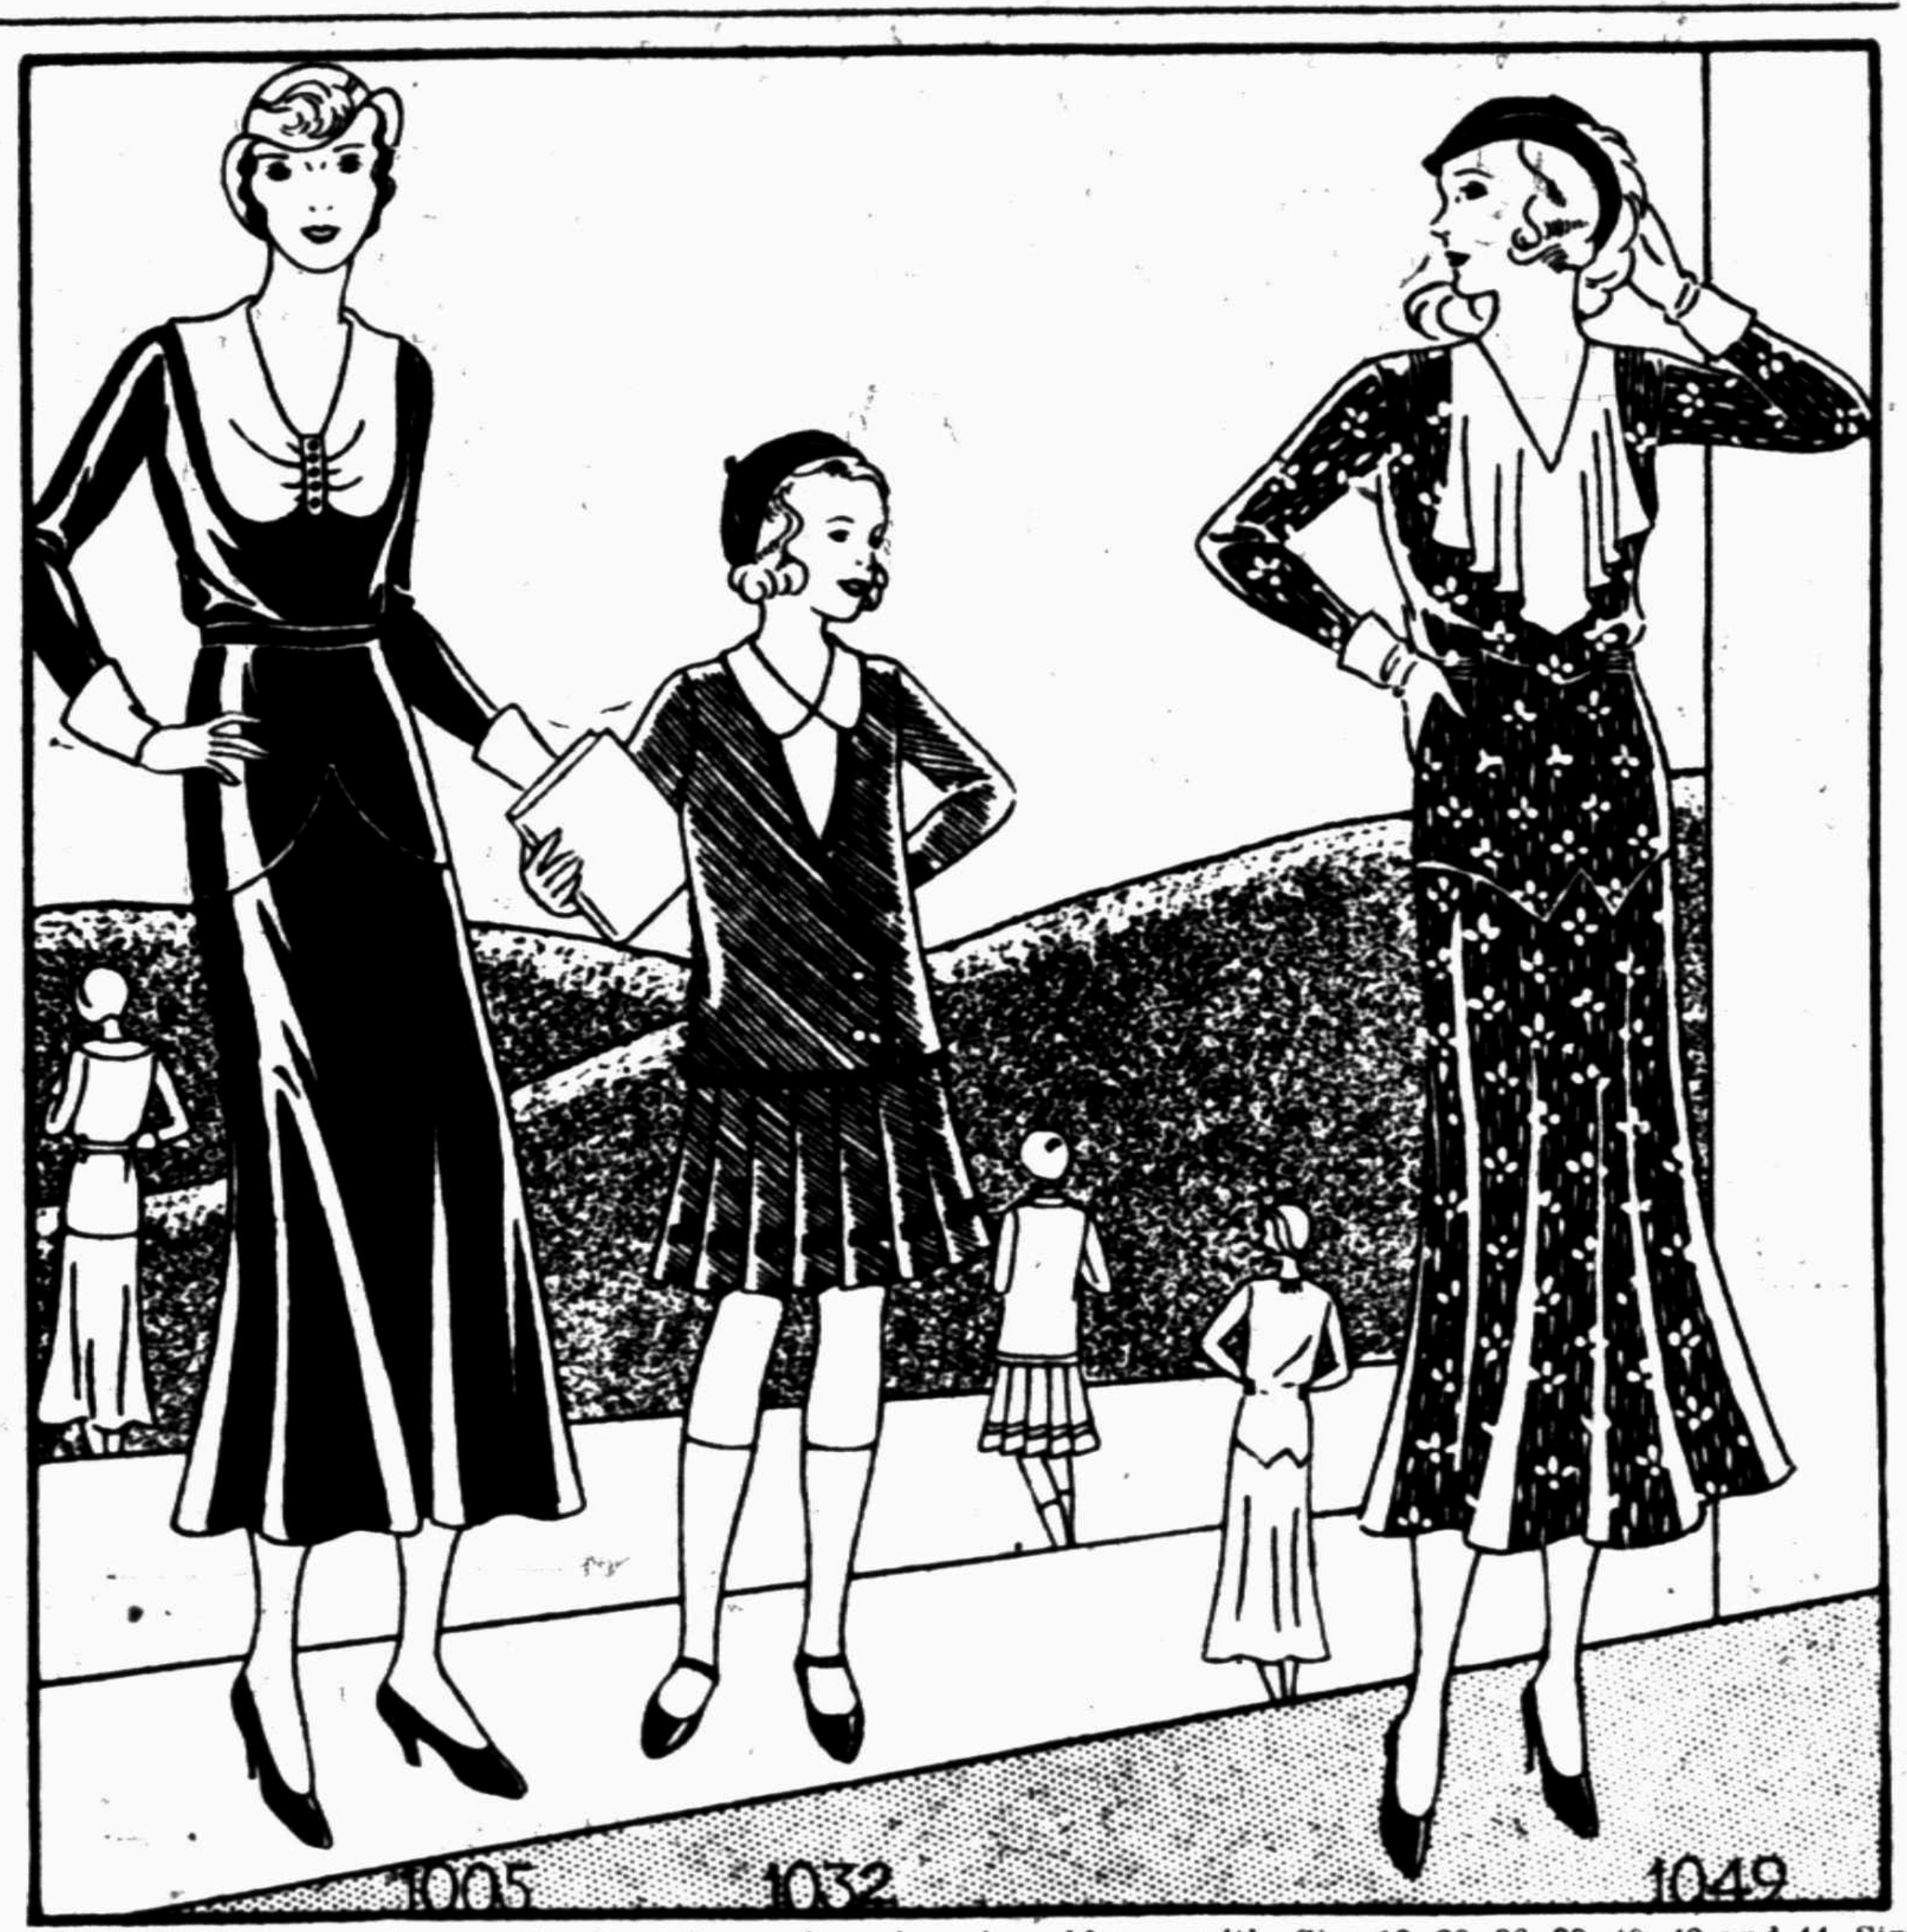
WICHITA FALLS RECORD NEWS PATTERNS



Each new season brings forth new styles, new colors and new fabrics that are exciting to us and extremely important in the mode. Our job is to weed out the good from the bad and give to our readers the smartest fashions in the simplest and most understandable manner. Take for example the matter of color and contrast. Some of the weirdest things, that we wouldn't dream of wearing, are being shown, yet we have chosen the fine, more conservative combinations of black with white or green, brown with golden yellow or grayed green, wine red with a dull pink and blue with a paler shade of blue as being the loveliest. We know you might choose any one of these color schemes for your new fall frock, and be "up-to-the-minute." Your touch of contrast is most welcome at the neck where its becomingness is determined by the softness it gives the face.

Pattern 1005

Could anything be more attractive than the frock at the left of the group? The collar, softly held by a strap of the dress fabric, and the deep cuffs were made in the original model of white satin; the frock was black satin, the four tiny buttons trimming the strap were silver and the effect was stunning. It would be equally chic in velvet, canton crepe or a sheer novelty woolen. Sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 4¼ yards of 40-inch material and ⅝ yard trimming.

Pattern 1032

Small girls are style conscious these days and demand the same amount of chic their elders desire. Here is an adorable little rig consisting of a sleeveless blouse with pleated skirt, and a cardigan jacket smartly trimmed with braid. The coat and skirt would be serviceable made of jersey, challis, serge, linen or pique. The blouse in like fabric but in contrasting color. Brown and tan, navy and white, red and beige are practical colors for active tots. Sizes 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 4 requires 2 yards of 36 inch material and ⅞ yard contrasting.

Pattern 1049

Another exponent of the mode especially good for the "not-too-slim" silhouette is fashioned of brown canton crepe with a tiny print of egg-shell. The graceful jabot is cut from eggshell crepe Roma. The unbroken bodice line lengthens and slenderizes and the pointed skirt seaming helps to narrow the figure. Horizontal tucks mould the bodice slightly, at a becoming waistline. Size 18, 20, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 36 requires 4⅛ yards 39-inch material and ⅝ yard contrasting.

These models are very easy to make as each pattern comes to you with simple and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern ordered.

Send for our new fall fashion catalog. It offers an opportunity to select smart fall and winter styles for afternoon frocks, sport models, house dresses, lingerie, pajamas, clothes for the kiddies, and accessory patterns. This catalog is 15 cents when ordered alone. Catalog and pattern together, 25 cents. Address all mail and orders to Record News Pattern department, 243 West 17th street, New York City.

Zoe Beckley's Corner

How Girls Love Love!

"Dear Zoe: I have gone with her six months and fallen in love. Took her everywhere, did her bidding, sent her corsages whenever we went places . . . Never told her in exact words I loved her but showed it and supposed she loved me. She went to her hometown and when she came back I saw something was wrong. She said she cared for the old sweetheart she knew there and had resolved never to love again. I started to leave. Then she said she was sorry and that maybe she could break her resolution. What ought I do?—P. H. B."

I have a hunch that she merely came home from the visit in a sentimental mood over the old sweetheart. Most of us like to throw a mantel of romance about ourselves; it's natural, especially in a young girl. Unconsciously she felt you might care for her all the more. But, oh, migosh, when you took it so seriously and were about to prance off and leave her, she grabbed you back good and hard! She didn't mean it as tragically as all that.

ZOE BECKLEY

Try and stay a little teeny bit independent. Try and like her lots without actually going looney over her. Be able to "take her or leave her alone," as convivial gentlemen say. Go on being nice to her, taking her places and sending her corsages (when you can afford it—with orchids at the price they are!), but keep your hair on. And realize that you will probably have several halfway romances that will wax and wane before you meet the girl you really want to marry. Keep your brakes on.

Spur to Ambition

"Dear Zoe: I presume everybody reads your letters, consequently, may I suggest to parents who have trouble with children who won't work (letting themselves get 'fired,' etc.), just this: Make their home so miserable that they'll be tickled to death to leave it nine hours each day. It worked fine in our house. Please print this for the parents who deserve my scorn.

—V. D."

Well, V. D. isn't so far wrong at that. It worked pretty well in my case, too. As I look back over a long and checkered career of toil, I find that leaving a none-too-happy home every morning at 8:30 and returning at 6, was a pretty good escape. It let me out of lots of things less pleasant than working in an office.

Of course this is not the normal way to put ambition into a youngster. Neither is spanking the best way to correct a naughty kid. But it happens to be one of the ways that work—when other methods fail!

Body—Or Soul?

"Dear Zoe: Recently one of my very close girl friends began taking the wrong road. First smoking, then drinking, and now I don't know what will become of her. How can I show her she's wrong and bring her back?

—MARY."

There is only one way—by convincing her of this simple truth: That soul is more important than body and that if we silence our conscience and give way entirely to the thrills and sensations of the body, we must surely repent of it afterward—when we want to enjoy our emotions in a pure, keen way, and find them dulled and sullied.

Love is the highest emotion a human being can feel. It comes near being something divine. Guard it. Guard the sensitive qualities that make love possible. Hang onto self-control and keep the spirit clean, for once the character is muddied, it's impossible to put it back!

Indispensable?

"Dear Zoe: How can one make one's self indispensable?—B. F."

It is said that no one is indispensable. The nearest you can come to being so is to weave yourself into someone's heart and someone's life until that some one needs you and depends on you and almost cannot do without you. To love that some one with a devotion that studies his or her every wish and strives to meet it as nearly as possible. That's the surest way I know.

ter stated, Mabel Edmonds was selected by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to sing in their new production now being made, called "Flying High." She has been signed up to sing in other productions as well and will continue to reside in Hollywood and continue her studies with Miss Greathouse. The letter also said that Roberta Shaw was also highly praised by the director of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, but was not signed up as yet. She was considered by them as being too young for what they term the senior singers, but will have an opportunity to sing in productions later with the younger artists.

MISS SHAW will remain in Hollywood this coming year, the letter stated, and continue her studies with Miss Greathouse and her dramatic studies with Neely Dickson's Hollywood school.

These two young artists, from all indications, have an exceedingly bright future before them, and their friends here will be much interested in their coming careers.

TALKING about girls brings up the subject of dolls, for girls and dolls (that is small girls) are just about as inseparable as boys and dogs. And while it seems a little early to begin thinking about Christmas time, one Wichita Falls woman will be making dolls of all kinds and styles pretty soon for the Yuletide season. This woman is Mrs. C. C. Hagmann. Most of her friends know about the exquisite quilts and other beautiful needlework that she does, but many do not know about these cunning little gifts for the kiddies And these dolls, some dressed in rompers, and others in picture hats and party costumes, some standing in miniature wooden walkers, painted in pink and blue, and others as tiny babies, thrill the hearts of many small mothers and at the same time furnish a neat sum for charity work done by Mrs. Hagmann.

NOW I know you are curious to know why I thought of dolls and Christmas time right now while the temperature is still soaring around the 100 mark. That is easy to explain when I tell you that I saw a picture of some made in the work shop of Etta D. Kidd of New York. The history of this shop, which is now of world renown, reads like a modern fairy tale. It is described by Helen Welshimer, NEA writer, something like this:

Ett D. Kidd never outgrew her love of dolls. And because she didn't she now has a doll firm which turns out hundreds and hundreds of dolls and mannequins every year.

Dolls that are just plump enough to fit into the crook of a little girl's arm. Dolls that are audaciously dressed in the newest pajamas with a touch of very real sophistication. Life-sized dolls that show what the new styles for children and girls' clothing are and exactly how they should be worn.

BUYERS come flocking to buy. When window displays are being planned Miss Kidd is called into consultation. She decides what dolls will help put over the picture. Sometimes it is a play scene that is needed. Once it was a complete wedding. She made dolls, and dressed dolls, and told the story.

MISS KIDD is president of her own company and her sister, Mrs. A. K. Richardson, who has had artistic training, assists her. But once upon a time, not so long ago, they were just two girls who had an idea about dolls and didn't know what to do with it.

"We decided that we might as well try to market it," Mrs. Richardson says now. "The long-legged, smart, sophisticated types of dolls were appearing. Etta had lots of ideas of her own for such dolls. We got busy. My mother, Etta and I made 25 dolls. We stuffed them with cotton, littered up the living room, and wondered if anybody would buy.

"ETTA had always made dolls. First for herself, then for any child that wanted one. She had designed clothes, too, and the party dresses that she fashioned were always unusually lovely.

"When the 25 were ready we put them in sample cases and started out to see some buyers. We were both graduates of a finishing school, but we didn't know very much about the business world."

BUT the world fell in love with their dolls. Buyers came out to see the whole group. They used all the superlatives they knew. And they ordered and ordered.

The two girls rented a display room them. The painters and workmen were getting it ready. Among the ladders and debris the doll-makers sat watching more orders come in.

The business grew. Then one day they were asked to make a mannequin. They did. They were off at a new angle.

"NOW our mannequine range all the way from six months to 16 years," Miss Kidd says.

No real hair is ever used. Everything else, though. Patent leather, rope, silk, straw.

The dolls stand everywhere in the display room, like a regular story book shop. Those that are mannequins and those that are genuine dolls.

Their cheeks are tinted the colors which the particular type needs. Their clothes are the very latest styles. They are gay and colorful, sophisticated, beguiling—anything you want.

For Etta Kidd designs them, one after another, with all the eagerness that she showed when she used to make rag dolls to please the neighborhood children.

BUT going back to girls again, our girls opened their autumn social season at the Forum clubhouse Saturday when the Junior Forum entertained in honor of the members who are leaving for schools and colleges. The brides have claimed much of our attention the past week, and as soon as we get the college set located for the winter, club life and P.-T. A units will hold stellar positions on the social stage. Then you will be lucky if you hear many words from your busy friend.

GEM

Wednesday and Thursday—"Danger Lights," with Louis Wolheim, Jean Arthur and Robert Armstrong and "The Cow-Catcher's daughter," comedy.

Friday and Saturday—Wally Wales in "Flying Lariats"; also chapter nine of "Heroes of the Flames," and "Spring Time," Silly Symphony cartoon.

Maybe an old dog cannot be taught new tricks, but there is no law that prevents from adopting them.

This was convincingly demonstrated by Will Rogers during the filming "Young as You Feel," his latest starring picture, which opened at the Majestic Saturday, and in which the popular comedian portrays a modern, well-dressed man. For the first time in his long stage or screen career, Rogers was called upon to wear his hair nicely combed.

After the first sequences of the film were made, with Rogers in the role of an old-fashioned, crochety, set-in-his-ways widower, Frank Borzage, the director, notified his star that filming of the dressed-up scenes would begin next day.

The following morning Rogers appeared on the set in a neatly tailored dress suit, with pearl-headed cane, silk hat, and all the usual accessories.

"You'll have to dress your hair, Will," Borzage told the famous comedian.

"What, me slick my hair all up? Not on your life," Rogers relied. "I've got by all my life with my bangs hanging natural, and I don't see why this is any occasion to change my ways." Then after a moment of thought, he added with a shrug, "But if you insist, I'll try it. Bring on the pomade!"

"Why, Mees-tair Rogers!" Fifi Dorsay exclaimed after she saw the effect, "you look like Maurice Chevalier."

Fifi and Will are again united in a hilarious sequence of events in "Young as You Feel" that makes their famous escapades of "They Had to See Paris" appear tame. Their so-called wild parties are staged entirely as an object lesson to Will's sons, and in the end prove to be just the "cure" necessary to make them marry happily and settle down to business.

Prominent in Rogers' supporting cast is Lucien Littelfield, eminent character actor, who portrays the role of Rogers' old-fashioned and crabbed office manager and who, like his employer, becomes rejuvenated just previous to the final fadeout. Other players include Rosalie Roy, Lucile Browne, C. Henry Gordon, John Murray, Brandon Hurst and Gregory Gaye.

In addition the Majestic presents "Her First Egg," Terrytoon, "Strange as It May Seem," "Bridges the World Over," scenic, and Majestic talking news.

"This Modern Age"

"This Modern Age," with Joan Crawford in the starring role and a cast which includes Pauline Frederick, Neil Hamilton, Monroe Owsley and Hobart Bosworth, will be the feature attraction at the Majestic theater starting next Saturday.

"BAD GIRL" FEATURED AT STATE FIRST OF WEEK

Sunday through Wednesday the State presents Vina Delmar's sensational novel, "Bad Girl." This has often been called "an honest record, uncolored and unashamed, of the coming of a baby."

As such it was read eagerly by hundreds of thousands who thrilled to the primitive vigor of the book, its gusto, and the racy narrative tang of the tale that read like a personal account of the young couple next door. As climax to their reading, they found to their surprise that the heroine was not a "Bad Girl" in any sense, but was in reality the antithesis of the term.

Sally Eilers and James Dunn carry the featured leads. Frank Borzage directed the picture. "We adhered strictly to the book in our treatment of Miss Delmar's story," Borzage said, "while filming the novel with one exception. We stressed the importance of presenting our heroine as a normal girl, yearning only for the joys of wifehood and motherhood that were rightfully hers."

"Bad Girl" surpasses "7th Heaven" in dramatic content, for it's underlaid with a theme even more human, more touching and tender in its sweep. Naturalness is one of its outstanding points. Paramount News, comedy, Johnny Farrell golf talk and a cartoon complete the program.

"Star Witness"

Starting Thursday at the State two of the stage and screen's most noted personalities will be seen in "Star Witness," a grim theme of the dangers which many incur of innocently falling prey to the evil characters who lurk in every town. Its theme, however, is made less grim by Chic Sales and Walter Huston.

In "Star Witness" theater patrons will see a story that is entirely unlike anything that has yet been brought to the screen. It combines the pathetic but comic antics of an old man, the dramatic forces of law, and last but not least, a beautiful and thrilling romance.

Supporting Chic Sale and Walter Huston in "Star Witness" are Sally Blane, Francis Starr, Ralph Ince and a lovable little 7-year-old boy, Dickey Moore.

Sally Eilers and James Dunn in a scene from "Bad Girl," featured at the State theater Sunday through Wednesday.

'The Vice Squad' At Gem Theater Starting Sunday

"The Vice Squad," sensational expose of the secret operations of big city authorities in combatting rackets, comes to the Gem Sunday for three days. The featured leads are Paul Lukas, Kay Francis and Helen Johnson.

"The Vice Squad" treats of a phase of American big city life which is as modern as this morning's newspaper. Lukas is seen as an outlawed member of Washington's diplomatic set who becomes ensnared in the life of the underworld of a big metropolitan center. Because of the lapse of his fortunes he is compelled to gain a livelihood as a "stool pigeon."

Miss Francis is cast as the sister of a city magistrate in whose court many of the cases brought to justice by Lukas are hailed for trial. Lukas tries to carry on his love affair with her by hiding his real occupation and posing as a man of higher social position. In the meantime he meets Miss Johnson, a beautiful young writer. She becomes hopelessly involved in a misdirected police raid, and Lukas is forced to sacrifice his love for Miss Francis in order to save her.

When John Charles Thomas sings "Auf Wiedersehen" over the NBC-WJZ network, Thursday, Sept. 17, he will be ringing down the curtain on an experiment in summer radio entertainment which has been hailed as a success.

Previously Thomas limited his radio engagements to a few single performances each season.

In his final program of the series, Thomas will sing two songs of the West, "All Day on the Prairie" and "Home of the Range." He will also sing "Cansonetta," "Annie Laurie" and his final song, "Auf Wiedersehen." In two of his songs he will sing with a vocal chorus.

The orchestra, directed by Don Voorhees, will play some of the most popular of the current tunes, including "Come to Me" and "This Is the Missus," from the newest edition of George White's "Scandals." The announcer will be Edmund Ruffner.

MASSENET HERO OF DRAMATIC MUSICALE THURSDAY EVENING

Massenet, most melodious of the grand opera composers, is the hero of the dramatic musicale to be broadcast Thursday evening, Sept. 17.

A poet in music, this French composer wrote most of his operas around famous women in story and legend; exotic, passionate creatures such as "Thais," "Manon," "Sappho" and "Salome." If he met a very beautiful singer, it was his habit to immediately sit down and compose an opera for her. Of his 21 operas, one was military in theme, ("La Navarraise"), another was built around men ("The Juggler of Notre Dame") and all the others were of women.

The dramatic musicale will present him both in drama and music. Artists include Rachel Morton, soprano; Harald Hansen, tenor; Sigurd Nilssen, basso; the Rondoliers quartet, and the Symphony orchestra, conducted by Jaffrey Harris. Musical details follow:

Elegie .... Massenet
Rondoliers Quartet
Prelude from La Navarraise ... Massenet

PLYMOUTH STILL LEADS DETROIT REGISTRATIONS

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 12.—For the second successive month registrations of the new Plymouth in Wayne county (Detroit) Michigan have exceeded those of all other makes. Keeping up the record-breaking pace which this sensation of the motor industry set in July, the month of its announcement, with 1,249 registrations to 1,063 for Ford and 850 for Chevrolet, the final Wayne county figures for August show Plymouth 847, Ford 550, and Chevrolet 507.

Commenting on these figures, H. G. Moock, Plymouth sales manager, said, "A comparison of the July and August figures with those of its competitors shows that Plymouth in August surpassed its splendid July record. Thus, for the second successive month since registration figures have been kept, we believe, Ford and Chevrolet have been surpassed in the home city and county of the motor world.

"The impressive fashion in which Plymouth has continued its leadership is pretty conclusive that the Wayne county public, probably the most exacting in the world, has not simply been carried away by a fad, but has responded with genuine enthusiasm to the first vibrationless four-cylinder car.

"Records of sales and registrations all over the country show the importance of the accomplishment of our engineers in solving the problem of vibration.

"Since the day of announcement July 6, the plant has been working overtime to produce the limit of its capacity, an unusual condition in itself for the summer of 1931. As a result all production records have been broken. We have had several thousand unfilled orders on hand practically all the time and dealers have been driving our production forces for more cars."

GERMANY ASKS FOR NEW DEAL WARNS EUROPE

Demands New Reparations Settlement and Parity In Armaments

CALLS UPON LEAGUE TO JUSTIFY ITS EXISTENCE

Speech One of Most Notable in Career of German Statesman

GENEVA, Sept. 12. (UP)—Germany demanded a new reparations settlement and parity in armaments through the voice of her foreign minister, Dr. Julius Curtius, in an impassioned speech before the League of Nations assembly today.

Curtius called upon the league "to justify its existence," and asserted that the world-organization's fate depends upon the vigor and ability with which it will cope with the world economic dilemna, and its achievement of real reduction in armaments.

The speech was one of the most notable in the German statesman's career.

While putting the league on trial, Curtius was fully aware that he also was on trial before the forum of German public opinion. He obviously intended to obliterate recollection of Germany's defeat through abandonment of the proposed customs union with Austria by implicitly condemning Aristide Briand's attempt to revive the Geneva protocol.

Note of Warning

Before approving the suggestion of Italian Foreign Minister Dino Grandi, for an immediate armament truce, by all nations, Curtius warned that in view of present vast differences in armaments, mere limitation at the present status quo would signify recognition of existing inequalities and be tantamount to the collapse of the world disarmament conference.

"When the conference convenes, Germany cannot be expected to reconcile herself to legalization of the present comparative armaments," he said. "The conference must assure that limitation will not be based on two-fold international law for victors and vanquished in the world war."

Curtius warned against attempting to revive German reparations payments after the Hoover moratorium which ends next July, and demanded a swift readjustment of reparations.

Man Dies While Calling Aid When Bitten by Snake

LEWISTON, Idaho, Sept. 12. (AP)—A ranchman's unsuccessful attempt to summon help after a rattlesnake had struck him twice has been revealed with the finding of the body of Herman Rhodes, 26, in his cabin in the mountains south of this city.

Frank Hastings, a miner, found the body. In one hand was a telephone receiver to explain a call and a faint voice over the wire that mystified Mrs. James Madden, a mile away last Saturday night.

Mrs. Madden said she had hung up after the caller uttered a few unintelligible words and then stopped. Fang wounds in the forehead and side testified to the cause of her neighbor's death.

Friends said they believed Rhodes had been rounding up cattle when the rattler struck him, but he reached the telephone before collapsing. His saddled horse was near the cabin.

NEW YORK GIRL FOUND IN SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF. FOLLOWING ELOPEMENT

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12. (INS)—Dazed and ill, Lillian E. Ott, beautiful 21-year-old New York girl, who vanished in Los Angeles 12 days ago, was found here today by her father, Maj. Frank E. Ott, U. S. A., retired, of Flushing, N. Y.

The girl told her father she had eloped from Hermosa Beach with a man she knew as Raymond Richards.

They came to San Francisco, expecting to be married, but she said she learned that the man already had a wife.

As a result of her story, Major Ott applied to the district attorney's office for a warrant for the arrest of Richards, whose true name he gave as Ramon Richard Metlock.

Around Town

Dean Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Harrison, 907 Bluff, left for Fort Worth last week to resume his studies in Texas Christian university. Dean is preparing for the ministry, and is well known among the young people and religious organizations of the city. His sermon on "Love" was one of the outstanding features of the First Christian church's summer program.

Mat Wicker, of Cloud Chief, Okla., one of the five remaining Confederate veterans who recently held a runion at their encampment near Holliday, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Shumake, 1607 Tenth street. Mr. Wicker is one of this section's oldest settlers.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Sherman and niece, Miss Ollie Mae Sikes, 2305 Yale, have returned from a visit to San Antonio, Houston and Galveston.

Mrs. S. H. Minnick, who has been visiting Mrs. R. A. Findley, 2404 Tenth, has returned to her home in Eldorado, Okla.

ABILENE WANTS COTTON PICKERS

ABILENE, Texas, Sept. 12. (AP)—Besieged with appeals from farmers, and unable to meet the demand with local labor, the employment bureau of the chamber of commerce today announced Taylor county needs at least 1,000 cotton pickers at once.

Farmers offer to furnish crews with houses and water, and, in most instances, fuel. The price offered is 40 cents for picking, and 30 cents for pulling.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS OKLAHOMA ENDORSE GOVERNOR MURRAY

MEDICINE PARK, Okla., Sept. 12. (AP)—Members of the League of Young Democrats of the sixth Oklahoma district, in a resolution, endorsed Gov. William H. Murray of Oklahoma as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination at their meeting here late today.

Governor Murray has not admitted he has presidential aspirations, but his friends have discussed the possibility often in recent weeks.

The Democrats, who attended a banquet tonight at which Senator Tom Connally, Texas, was the principal speaker, also passed resolutions urging state and national authorities to inaugurate a public road construction program as an unemployment aid; urged revision of taxes with the burden shifted from "American homes and farms" and recommended repeal of the Hawley-Smoot tariff act.

Senator Conally advocated the debenture form of farm relief as "the only plan which will give the agriculture tariff benefits enjoyed by industry."

Asserting that the country was "weary of the miserable blunders and failures of the Republicans; of their selfish and reckless politics," Senator Connally said the Democrats must go before the people in 1932 with a definite and clearcut program.

In addition to debenture farm relief, the Texas seantor advocated downward revision of the tariff, currency and coinage legislation, an international conference to stabilize silver and creation of an economic democracy.

FOOD SHORTAGE ADDS TO DISTRESS

lieve medical assistance now here and en route sufficient to take care conditions. Only problem seems be possible food shortage. Not more than three days food supply on hand."

Captain Mulcahy did not mention the other plane which left Nicaragua with his, so naval officials said they assumed it, too, had arrived safely. Besides medical supplies, the planes carried Lieut. Com. T. L. Moore, marine corps medical officer.

At the same time the navy learned the minesweeper Swan with its store of relief supplies had reached Belize at 12:15 p. m. central standard time. The navy had no information as to what hour the marine planes landed.

Likewise, the navy said Capt. B. F. Johnson took off from Managua at 11:11 a. m., central standard time, in a third marine corps plane.

Red Cross officials received reassuring reports from Porto Rico's hurricane area and at the same time were advised at headquarters here that the gunboat Sacramento was en route to Belize from Puerto Cabezas, Nicaragua.

Appeal for Supplies

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 12. (AP)—Appeals for relief were received here today from the stricken residents of Belize, British Honduras, where a devastating hurricane swept a path of death and injury Thursday.

A radio report to Pan-American Airways today said estimated deaths were increased to 700.

Pan-American Airways radio carried a plea for an additional 500 pounds of medicated cotton, 20 pounds of iodine and 1,000 rolls of two-inch bandage for use in treatment of the several hundred persons injured by the storm and its subsequent tidal wave. The request was turned over to Red Cross headquarters in Washington.

Ellis McLane, amateur wireless operator, contacted amateur station V2BA, and heard a call for "all possible help." His informant said martial law was established through the city by the colonial government, to prevent looting of bodies and property.

City in Ruin

The report said every building in the city and boat in the harbor was damaged and that in some instances vessels in the harbor and their crews disappeared during the height of the storm.

Pan-American Airways radio continued today to clear commercial traffic from the stricken city, the only agency handling this kind of information from there.

Two planes, held ready here for a relief expedition, were rolled back into their hangars today when word was received from Washington they would not be needed.

Meantime, Richard W. Gray, government meteorologist here, kept close watch on a second West Indian hurricane which whipped San Juan Thursday night, sweeping by Santo Domingo and Port-au-Prince yesterday.

The storm was reported today as being near Navassa island, off the Cuban course, with indications that it will pass north of Jamaica if it continues its present course.

Death Toll Mounts

BELIZE, British Honduras, Sept. 12. (By Pan-American Airways to its New York office and the Associated Press; wireless)—Pan-American Airways, Inc., announced today unofficial estimates now place the total dead in the hurricane disaster at 700.

Eleven weather and radio stations of the Pan-American system, which have been standing 24-hour watches in the hurricane belt from Mexico to the Virgin islands, report moderate weather conditions in the Caribbean territory today.

The eastern hurricane, which swept from Porto Rico along the coast of Santo Domingo yesterday, after passing near San Juan Thursday night, is believed to have lessened in intensity and still is some distance south and east of the island of Jamaica, moving slowly westward.

A complete emergency system is operating in British Honduras for the organization of relief work. The company's private radio station, which has been the only means of communication to the outside world from Belize, is remaining open day and night to coordinate relief work, serve the colonial government and handle press reports to American newspapers.

Reveals Identity

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 12. (AP)—The mystery man of Belize, who poured radio calls for help to the outside world over a sending set the power of which was hand-generated, tonight revealed himself as Elmer Smith, formerly of Montclair, N. J., as he tapped out over the ether his estimate that 1,000 persons lost their lives in the hurricane that nearly devastated Belize. His station, V2BA, was picked up by prearrangement by Ellis McLane, Miami amateur radio operator.

In addition to Smith's estimate of 1,000 dead, he stated that many more were injured in the death-dealing wind that virtually flattened the capital city of British Honduras. "Our water is about all gone," the message said. "Our food is low. The government bonded warehouses were wrecked by the wind."

Earlier today Smith, who placed his identity in the background as he used all his energies toward making Belize's plight known to the world, told McCane by radio that all kinds of help was needed in the tiny coastal city.

Apparently aided by a companion who turned the wheel of his power generator, Smith sent rapidly to McLane until his power died down. Then he shut off his apparatus until tomorrow when McLane said he again hopes to contact the Belize set.

GAS COMPANY EMPLOYE AT HOUSTON ELECTROCUTED

HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 12. (AP)—George Zweck, 23, gas company employe, was electrocuted there today when his head touched an electric wire as he was working under a house.

Zweck and a helper went to the home, the helper reported, and Zweck sent the helper into the house to hand down a piece of pipe. The helper said that when Zweck failed to answer his call he investigated and found the man on the ground with his head touching a wire.

COTTON PLAN TUG OF WAR ON MONDAY

nor Long and held the more strategic position by threatening to veto any measure which embodied the cotton prohibition plan of Louisiana's executive. He declared he would not be swept off his feet by "any hysteria," advocating acreage reduction as a more sensible program.

Governor Long, meanwhile, kept up an almost nightly barrage of radio addresses from his own state, directed at Governor Sterling and Texas legislators and farmers.

The Texas executive declared today he did not expect a great increase in the price of cotton to result from any acreage curtailment legislation which Southern states might enact. The farmer's plight, he said, would not be entirely solved by cotton acreage reduction, pointing to the surplus of corn, wheat and other products. "What is he going to raise?" the governor asked.

He declared he would not "submit another frazzling thing to the legislature. I want the legislators to pass cotton relief legislation, then go home and tend to their knitting."

Debate Expected Monday

Debate on cotton bills was expected to begin on the floor in both houses Monday.

Members of the senate agricultural committee apparently wished to give the upper house a chance to vote on both proposals. The cotton prohibition bill reported favorably was by Senators Margie Neal of Carthage and W. E. Thomason of Nacogdoches. The acreage limitation bill was a coalition agreement between Senators Woodward of Coleman, Clint Small of Amarillo and Oliver Cunningham of Abilene. It would restrict acreage in 1932 and 1933 to one-third of the cultivated area in 1931. It also provided for crop rotation after 1933, prohibiting planting of cotton on the same land in successive years.

In the house, the Long plan bloc planned an attempt to split support for the acreage reduction bill by Representative J. J. Olsen, which the special committee was ready to recommend. The cotton prohibitionists hoped to substitute first the Long plan, and failing in that, a combination measure providing for a cotton "holiday" in 1932 and acreage reduction in 1933 and 1934.

Adherents of the Long plan admitted that the attitude of Governor Sterling, in which he indicated he doubted seriously the advisability of the Louisiana governor's program, would cause some of the cotton prohibitionists to waver and probably enter the camp of the reductionists.

Long Assails Sterling

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 12. (AP)—Gov. Huey Long tonight told the Texas legislature in a radio address that he coud show them how to keep Gov. Ross Sterling from vetoing a bill they passed for cotton prohibition, and urged the Lone Star lawmakers to enact his cotton holiday measure or nothing at all.

In another broadcasted address in support of his no-crop proposal to aid the cotton industry, Long again assailed Governor Sterling of Texas for the latter's antagonism against the plan.

"You legislators pass a law prohibiting the growing of cotton," he asserted, "and I'll show you how to make Governor Sterling sign it. Just stay in session. Refuse to adjourn. He'll sign that bill faster than a duck ever went to water.

"I know a little about that. I have been through that sort of thing myself."

He criticized Governor Sterling for advocating a cotton reduction measure, and then as he described it, admitting that neither cotton prohibition nor reduction would result in any immediate rise in the price of cotton.

"He has talked himself into a fine fix," Governor Long said. "He said the mills won't buy feverishly if either law is passed because of the present surplus. Yet he wants to increase that surplus. He is a dog in the manger. He won't let any one else bring forward a plan, but admits his own plan won't do any good."

Governor Long said he "was no dictator and didn't wish to cross state lines," but that he was preparing to make a list of all members of the Texas legislature who voted against the cotton prohibition bill.

The Louisiana executive accused the Texas governor of not wanting any law passed that would hurt the cotton speculators.

No Great Increase Expected

AUSTIN, Sept. 12. (AP)—Gov. Ross S. Sterling said today that he did not expect a great increase in the price of cotton to result soon from any acreage curtailment legislation which the southern states might enact.

He stated the depression had affected the mills which bought cotton and they were not going to start feverish buying, particularly when they saw the large surplus already on hand.

"An acreage reduction law will teach the farmers to diversify, raise their own food and not depend so much on one crop," the chief executive said.

He mentioned that the farmer's plight would not be entirely solved by cotton acreage reduction, pointing to the surplus in corn and other products. "What is he going to raise?" the governor asked.

The governor said that he and friends had contacted governors of most of the other cotton states and they had indicated their states would follow Texas in acreage reduction. He stated he had found only one other governor in favor of the Long plan of cotton prohibition.

"I have received several commendations for 'keeping my feet on the ground,'" the governor said. He stated yesterday that he was not going to be swept off his feet by any hysteria during this crisis.

Picturing the depression in all lines, the governor stated that he did not see how the unemployment problem could be solved until a shorter working day and week had been instituted, perhaps a five hour day.

Accepts $1,000 Wager

DALLAS, Sept. 12. (AP)—E. H. Hulsey, Dallas capitalist, today accepted the $1,000 wager made by Gov. Huey Long of Louisiana to Gov. Ross Sterling on the proposition of whether the cotton market would respond appreciably to legislation at Austin.

"Governor Sterling naturally can't accept the wager. It is beneath the dignity of the governor of Texas. As a private citizen I can, however, and I challenge Governor Long to put up or shut up," Hulsey said.

"I am convinced the price of cotton is in no wise related to what may or may not be done at Austin," he continued.

"Governor Long thinks that if Texas passes a 'no cotton' bill the price will double in 30 days and triple in 60," Hulsey said.

He said he would immediately post $1,000 with a Dallas bank upon receipt of word from Governor Long that he had likewise posted $1,000 in some Louisiana bank.

Hulsey said he did not want "any of his money" for himself, but the Dallas Community Chest "does need it."

Grand Rapids Solves Problem of Unemployment and in Connection Contributes to Beauty of That City

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 12. (AP)—The unemployment problem is making Grand Rapids a safer and more beautiful city for its residents, including some 2,000 men who are beneficiaries of a "save self-respect" policy toward the jobless.

Like the rest of the country, this city of 165,000 people faced the problem during the last two years of caring for an abnormal number of unemployed workers. It rejected the idea of a dole, either from the public treasury or from private charity, and chose instead to use the surplus labor to realize some of the dreams of many years for public improvements.

Forty projects altogether have been undertaken. They include creation of a new park, widening streets, rebuilding sidewalks, making intersections safer, putting in new sewers, painting buildings, filling vacant lots, cleaning up the river banks and park forestry work.

Neglected for Years

These projects had been neglected for years because the city lacked money for them. But money was found, partly through issuance of $650,000 in "calamity bonds," under a ruling of the Michigan supreme court that unemployment is a public calamity for which emergency loans may [illegible] made.

The pl[illegible] put into effect in December, [illegible] back of it was City Manager George E. Welsh, who started life as a newsboy. He insisted the self-respect of the unemployed must be saved.

The 2,000 men who otherwise would be jobless, work for the city for 40 cents an hour. They are paid in script, which is redeemable only at the community provisions station where food, clothing and fuel is provided at low prices.

The fuel comes from the municipal woodpile, which is kept replenished by one group of the 40-cent-an-hour workers. They cut the wood from city property which is being "beautified."

When an unemployed man reports to the city, he is given a physical examination and other tests to determine what he can do. The applicants are classified as to their experience and skill before they are assigned to various tasks. So far, only three per cent have been found unable to do any work at all. They have been given financial assistance.

Work Half Each Day

No man works more than half of each day. Those with the most dependents work six half days a week. The number of half-days decreases with the number of dependents. No city worker loses his status because he finds odd jobs when he is off duty. Rather, such ambitious men are encouraged.

Economy is the watchword of those in charge of the workers. One of the projects under way is the razing of structures to make way for a municipal auditorium. Hundreds of men have been employed in a scrap yard where material from the razed buildings is salvaged for use elsewhere.

A 30-acre tract of land was set aside for the men to make gardens for themselves.

Of those who have taken advantage of what Grand Rapids offers the unemployed, City Manager Welsh said: "They are fine men. They want nothing for nothing. Just God's greatest gift, independence."

Welsh claims for Grand Rapids that it was the first city to use the system of putting the unemployed to work on a systematic basis.

Incidentally, of the $650,000 bonds issued, $100,000 already has been retired.

School Officials, Faculties and Parent-Teacher Associations Busy On Plans for Session of 1931-32

By HELEN BROODO

All public schools in Wichita Falls will open the 1931-1932 session Monday, and the administrative staff, the board of education, the faculties, the Parent-Teacher associations, and all other cooperating bodies have been planning solutions of many economic and social problems in regard to the welfare of the different student bodies this year.

One of the most difficult problems arising in the schools this year in regard to the welfare of the students is the work of furnishing lunches at a minimum cost and feeding those children who cannot afford to buy lunches, because of financial difficulties, H. D. Fillers, superintendent of Wichita Falls public schools, said Saturday.

The school cafeterias have reduced the cost of food under a new, centralized system of buying, and this year the children will probably be able to buy better food and more of it at a lower cost here than ever before. The school cafeterias will be open and operated Monday, as school will be in full session the first day.

Mr. Fillers predicted that the P.-T. A. organizations would lend a hand in assuring the needy children regular lunches and nourishing food, as an underfed and undernourished child cannot meet the requirements of school work, and conditions are such that many children especially those of large families, may otherwise be obliged to go without lunch.

The superintendent declared that to avoid unsatisfactory conduct at eating "joints" and the serving of meals that parents do not approve of, every student in the ward schools, junior high schools, and senior high school must either eat lunch in the school cafeteria or obtain a lunch card with special permission to go home for lunch. This rule will also be strictly enforced among the students to avoid all trouble during the lunch hours.

Problem of Expense

Another great problem confronting the education department is that of eliminating all avoidable expense of the students this year because of economic conditions resulting in scarcity of money to pay for the supplies.

Mr. Fillers has issued a list of supplies that the children in the first six grades will need this year, and he has advised the principals that they must get his consent before requiring students to purchase any article not on the list. He has estimated the cost of supplies to be bought by the children in the ward schools to be from 70 cents in the first grade to 90 cents in the sixth grade.

Many valuable aids to instruction have been eliminated to cut down expense of keeping a child in school, Mr. Fillers said, but, of course, the list of required supplies would be much more liberal if business conditions here were not in a depressed state at this time.

This year the schools must furnish book covers because no advertiser would take the contract. Three covers may be procured for five cents, but children who insist in covering their books with brown wrapping paper should be permitted to do so, Mr. Fillers told the principals of all the schools.

The approved list of supplies which children of the elementary schools may be asked to buy is as follows, according to grades:

First grade: primary paper, pictures for art, an eight-color box of crayolas, a bottle of paste, pencils, scissors, and three book covers.

Other Grades

Second grade: Same as for the first grade, except six book covers instead of three.

Third grade: Primary paper, music book rental, pictures for art, pencils, bottle of paste, eight-color box of crayolas, four-color box of water colors, 12-inch ruler, water pan, eraser, scissors, and six book covers.

Fourth grade: Music book rental, three composition books, pictures for art, pencils, bottle of paste, crayolas, water colors, scissors, ruler, water pan, eraser, and nine book covers.

Fifth grade: Same as for fourth grade.

Sixth grade: Sam as for fourth and fifth grades.

To illustrate further how the smallest details of economy have been considered, Mr. Fillers added that instead of collecting 30 cents semi-annually for primary paper, this year the collection should be 15 cents quarterly. Although this is more trouble to the schools, it will be of great service to an unusually number of the patrons.

In regard to the supplies needed by students in the junior and the senior high schools, Mr. Fillers stated that the programs of students attending those schools are too varied to enable the officials to compile a list, but he declared that teachers are not to require or request the purchase of work books and other supplementary materials which, though having instructional value, should be omitted this year.

Incidentally, he said that although some of the work will require the use of pen and ink, fountain pens should not be urged. Furthermore, one notebook may meet the requirements of three or four subjects.

If the economy program is efficiently operated with the cooperation of all instructors, school authorities believe that many unpleasant difficulties caused by lack of money will be eliminated, and the general welfare of the students will be served.

The Story of Sue

© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC

"Gone? Lois gone!" That was Lois' husband.

"Lois. That's the girl that put me up to the trick. Cocksure of herself." The man named Blarney laughed.

"You know about this. You had her taken away!" There was a dangerous light in Alan Andrews' eyes. "Come clear now. Tell us and make it snappy. Where is she?"

"How should I know? Ask that old bird who just ca[illegible] back. Maybe he hid her."

"If you were [illegible] and [illegible]cuffed I'd . . . I'd . . ."

"Steady, old man," Dr. Barnes spoke. "We'll get to the bottom of this."

"Let's do something." Alan was unnerved, panicky. The crude suggestion that his wife had been seen so frequently with his brother, followed by her disappearance, had taken away his poise. Left him upset. Now he turned to Dr. Barnes. "You were in love with her, too. You know you were! Come on, help me. We've got to find her."

The police intervened.

"We'll get her if they've taken her. But she might just have got tired and wandered off."

Sue knew better. She was as sure, as though she had seen the girl leave the car, that Lois had fled as soon as the others were out of sight.

The group moved on to the police station. A search for Lois was started. Sue realized that until Lois was found she herself could not be cleared. Or receive her ring.

An hour passed. Two hours. Almost three. No sign of Lois. She hadn't been home. She hadn't been seen.

And as Sue realized the plight she was in suddenly she grew nervous. With the nervousness came a sweeping fury that left her spent. She was innocent! In order to save herself and Jack and her family from publicity, she had tried to keep her identity hidden. Now she would talk. But what about Dr. Barnes? She would be giving him away.

There was a sound of the grating brakes on wheels outside. Voices. Swift steps.

An eager look swept across the faces.

"Did they find her?" Sue asked.

The two conspirators in the hold-up had been taken to cells. The others were waiting, with the exception of Alan Andrews, who had taken his roadster and was driving furiously, anywhere, everywhere.

The door opened. The blue-coated figure stepped aside to let a woman pass. The mad red hair was tumbled rebelliously. The long green eyes were smoldering. It was Lois Andrews.

But she had changed her dress. There was a nun-like simplicity in the folds of mauve chiffon, and the round white collar that framed her face was very feminine. She was intriguing, sweet, appealing now.

"She knew that she would need to be," Sue summed up.

"But why didn't you let me alone?" she appealed to the group. "I got lost . . . I was frightened in that awful street . . . I walked and walked for hours . . . I didn't have any money . . . and just when I got home and was quiet, they made me come here!"

"Get Blarney and his accomplice," some one told a deputy.

"No!" Lois said it sharply. "I can't stand to see them tonight."

HOWDY QUEENIE!
NO! NO! NO!
WILL
McNaught Syndicate, Inc., N. Y.

The prince like to have had a fit.

We had a kinder funny experiance the other day over at the Studio. I was working on a Picture that is supposed to take place over in Europe. I am Ambassador to some mythical Kingdom. Its kinder the story of Roumania, with the young King and Queen seperated, and a Kid who is King, and I drop in as Ambassador A la Aleck Moore, who incidentally made us a dandy Ambassador to Spain.

Well, we was shooting the big Reception scene, where the young King and the Queen was receiving all the diplomats and we had the real Nationalities. You know that is one thing about Hollywood, you don't have to fake any Nationality, just issue a call and there will be dozens of any breed under the Sun. In our last Picture before this we wanted some Arabs on the desert. We had a hundred that come right from Arabia. All lived here in Hollywood, Greeks, Armenians, Indians from India, and everything. Well this day we had a great many Russians, Russians that really were somebody before the Country went Bernard Shaw. Every one of them spoke four or five languages, Germans, Poles, Checko-Slovakians. Well all these different races were in full court dress, with all the decorations. Well who should come out on the set but the Siamese party. Not the King and his wife that are visiting over here, they went home through Canada, but it was his own Uncle, (he said you spelled it just like our Indian word for the Indian cross, "Swastica," only with the C out). He and his wife and his two sons.

One of the Sons goes to Georgetown University, and the other to Yale. They are a couple of mighty fine Boys, little in statue like all the Siamese, but pleasant and a good sense of humor. But its of this King's Uncle that I got to tell you about. He is a Bear, you would be crazy about him. He speaks English with no trace of an accent. He is an Oxford Man. Of course we went over old times when he and I and Brisbane were there. Well it seemed kinder odd to be making a picture of a Royal Court, and here was some real Royalty sitting there watching us. We wanted him to replace Mr. Sam Taylor who was directing the scene, and let the Prince direct it himself as that scene should be right up his alley. He had served his Country on every important mission to every important Country on the Globe. A Russian was standing near us with all the old Czar decorations on. The old Gentleman called him over and said, "I have all five of those decorations. That's the White Eagle. That's the St. Andrews," and he reeled off each one and then he pointed to one that the imitation decoration was not just correct. "That Insignia is not that way, its this way."

Will as Ambassador

He had made five trips to Russia on important missions, and making of new Treaties. So we kiddingly wanted him to direct the scene. He said, no, we wouldent pay him the big money that Movie Directors got, and he wouldent be a cheap Director. So we started taking the scene. I was announced and come in, walked the length of this great room with all the beautiful Ladies in sparkling Gowns, and men in bright colored Uniforms. When I reached the Queen and was announced as the new Ambassador from the U. S. the Queen put out her hand, and instead of me kissing it I just grabbed it and shook it. Well the old Prince let out a snort and said "No, no." He liked to have had a fit. He dident know that we purposely took it that way for the comedy effect.

Then when I told the Queen that I was a single man and had no children but would like to adopt her Boy (the King) why the royal party did like to have a fit sure enough. But he soon got on that we were playing it for comedy, (about the only way to take a Court). He had the most pleasant little wife, and the jewels she had on, these Movie folks that were there had on a lot of fake jewelry in the scene with their Court costumes, but she made a sucker even out of their Junk. She was dressed awful plain, but the bracelets and rings mostly of Rubies, they had us all gapping so we couldent act. He was on his way up to Vancouver to join the King and Queen of Siam and go back home with them. I told him I was coming over there in about a year and visit his country as I was going to make a trip around the world. I asked him how I could find out who or where he was over there. He dident get me for a minute and said, "Oh you can find me, I am chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Siam, I am Royal Prince of ....," and then he got it that I was kidding when I asked him.

But he asked me to come see him. Course that's what everybody does when they are away from home, then you go and try and get in. But you know they must have a mighty fine little Country over there, and their Royalty seem to get on fine with their subjects. But a kind of a sad part of the scene was that here were a lot of Russians in the picture, playing just extras and small parts, yet they had all occupied more or less important positions in their home Country.

Whether you were for the Czar or not, they were born and raised under them, and it wasent their fault. One had been a great Actor in Russia, played at the royal Theater in leading parts. Several High Military officers, and the stories they all can tell of how they got out of there, and the struggles they have had since, each one is a novel in itself. There is no more interesting place in the world to meet characters than a Movie set. If you have lost anybody anywhere in the World and don't know where they are, they are in Hollywood trying to get in the Movies.

Automobile Industry Optimistic as Market Shows Increased Sales With Probable Gain Over 1930 Predicted

By ROBERT M. ROSS
Universal Service Automobile Editor

DETROIT, Sept. 12.—Prospects of the automobile business for the last six months of this year bettering the figures of 1930 brighten as current sales and production reports are made public.

The margin between sales of the two periods has narrowed through June, July and August. Most executives now feel that the totals will be running above last year by October and finish 1931 with a substantial lead. If they are right, it is entirely probable that the low point for the industry has been passed.

Production already reflects an improved market tone. Factory members of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, which excludes only one important builder, reported their first comparative gain of the year when June topped June of 1930 by approximately one per cent. In July the figure rose to 15 per cent. Unofficial estimates for August place the increase at 20 per cent.

From a general sales decrease of 28.6 per cent over the first six months of the year, the percentage has been cut to 15 and 12.5 per cent. At least half of the companies report their August sales ahead of last year.

While General Motors has perhaps strengthened its position at the expense of the field this year, the experience of this largest producer in the industry affords testimony on the climbing sales trend.

Gain in Truck Sales

In January, retail sales of cars of the corporation were 13,000 under the similar month of 1930. In February the difference rose to 20,000, climbed to 22,000 in March, dropped to 7,000 in April and then 9,000 in May. The decrease was supplanted by an increase of 6,000 in June and in July the gain stood at 5,000, despite the fact that July, 1930, was aided by introduction of a new model by one of the units.

One of the most encouraging features of the present automobile market is the rise of truck sales. The R. L. Polk & Co. registrations show 30,102 commercial vehicles sold in the United States in July in comparison with 28,496 in June. The manufacturer takes this to indicate that replacements have begun to make themselves felt in this field. The trend of passenger car replacements usually follows the trucks.

August production and sales reports from the companies reveal varied records, but for the most part they are favorable to a prediction of better times.

Oakland-Pontiac's statement was one of the high lights. It showed that in bettering its August, 1930, record by 35 per cent, the company swelled its total sales to more than the entire period of last year. Considering the general business decline, this is held one of the most thrilling showings on the books of the industry.

Plymouth continued to new high production records. The best previous mark of 24,000 cars set in August was bettered by 4,000 units, according to a source close to the company.

Some Excess 1930 Sales

Oldsmobile retail deliveries were placed 18 per cent ahead of August of last year. The company business for the first eight months has outstripped the comparative period of 1930.

Dodge, another builder in the middle range, also reported sales surpassing last year. Increased business in this price area is considered vital to the recovery of the industry.

August was the fourth consecutive month to show a gain for Chevrolet. Output of the company totaled 54,958 units compared with 51,622 in August of last year.

Resumption of operations at the Ford River Rouge plant this week also enhances future prospects. Although the company was partially shutdown during most of August it is unofficially estimated that assembly lines moved 48,000 units during the month.

PERMIT TO REPAIR HOME ISSUED TO MRS. HAMMOND

One building permit was issued by the city engineering department last week for residence repairs. The permit was valued at $1,500, which raised the month's total to $3,655.

The total for the year is now $136,710.

The Child Feeding Problem

No Longer Do You Have To Coax

Now a Food Creation Which Actually Helps Produce the Sensation of Hunger and Stimulate Appetite . . .

Adds a Pound Per Week to a Child's Weight, Corrects Nervousness, and Doubles the Amount of Milk a Child Will Drink.

Our little three-year-old daughter was seriously ill with the flu. After the worst was over and she began to feel better, she would not eat, was cross, irritable and nervous and weighed only 25 pounds. Now, on Ovaltine, she drinks one and one-half quarts of milk daily, has gained 7 pounds, eats heartily, sleeps soundly, plays all day and is not nearly as nervous.
MRS. DONALD MORGAN, Onarga, Ill.

(THIS LETTER IS TYPICAL OF THOUSANDS RECEIVED)

THIRTY-EIGHT years ago a young food chemist in Switzerland gave a rare discovery to the world. He invented a method of processing certain foods in a way that brought remarkable results. Results that none of these foods could give when taken alone, or when put together in an ordinary mixture.

This discovery was first used in feeding invalids. Results were astonishing. Today it is also being accepted everywhere as a means of solving the problem of the nervous, underweight child—and the problem of getting children to eat without coaxing.

This processed food creation is called Ovaltine. You buy it in a tin at your drug or grocery store and mix it with milk. You give it at meals and between meals. It usually adds a pound or more per week to a child's weight. It has a very definite tendency to curb nervousness. A child usually will drink twice the amount of milk when Ovaltine is added.

And it also has the remarkable power to actually make a child hungry and thus stimulate its appetite.

In view of the remarkable things which Ovaltine does, we believe all mothers will be interested in reading about what Ovaltine is and how it acts.

Ovaltine is a food concentrate, prepared by a special method of processing. First, it is prepared under vacuum, thus preserving all vitamins and enzymes. It is processed in such a way that it digests almost at once, even at times when nothing else will agree—and constitutes in itself a complete food.

It contains a product taken from eggs called "lecithin," a nerve restorative. Regular use of Ovaltine shows noticeable results in curbing nervousness, frequently in a few days.

Ovaltine, when mixed with milk, will also break down the curds in the milk and make it twice as easy to digest. (Milk alone, as you know, turns to solid curds in the stomach.) You will find also that children drink twice the milk when Ovaltine is used because they like the taste.

Ovaltine has a high content of the appetite-producing Vitamin B. It also contains in high percentage a remarkable property known as "diastase." Diastase is a property in one food which gives it the power to digest starches in other foods. For example, a glass of Ovaltine with a meal will digest the major portion of all the starch content of an average meal.

And this is how Ovaltine stimulates the appetite. For by breaking down the curds in the milk, by digesting the starches in the stomach, it speeds up digestion and empties the stomach sooner. This makes a child hungry. For the sensation of hunger is caused by the walls of an empty stomach pressing together, and hunger is the basis of appetite. Child specialists will tell you that usually when a child refuses to eat, it is because he hasn't fully digested his previous meal—"poor eaters" usually have slow digestion.

Not New

Ovaltine can be given your child in perfect safety. For it has stood the test of time. It is used today in 54 nations. Over 20,000 doctors endorse it. It has been used in hospitals as a food for invalids and convalescents for over 35 years. During the World War it was used as a standard ration for rebuilding nerve-shattered, shell-shocked soldiers.

It is recognized the world over not only for its food content, but for the remarkable method of processing which enables it to accomplish such unusual results in the human body.

For the sake of your child we urge you to try it. Results will surprise you. Note the almost immediate difference in your child's weight and nerve poise, and in greater strength, energy, and appetite.

Give it at breakfast always. At meals and between meals. You can get Ovaltine at any drug or grocery store. Or, if you like, send the coupon for a 3-day test.

(Note) Thousands of nervous people, men and women, are using Ovaltine to restore vitality when fatigued. It is also widely prescribed for sleeplessness, nursing mothers, convalescents and the aged.

SPUDDERS SPREE IN TWO BIG INNINGS TO BEAT STEERS, 7-4

THE LOOKOUT
BY AL PARKER

Sunday's double-header with the Dallas club marks the close of another season for the Spudders. And that it is about to close is one of the best things that can be said for it. The year 1931 is one that long will be remembered by everyone fortunate enough to live through it, and the baseball fans hereabouts will remember it not because they want to, but just because disagreeable things often make deeper impressions than the enjoyable. The Spudders are finishing in fifth place for the season as a whole, and on the face of it that doesn't seem half bad. There are many cities in organized baseball that would be tickled pink with a club good enough to finish as high as fifth. For instance, the St. Louis Browns were being acclaimed on all sides as a huge success when they were in fifth position. In this league the San Antonio club probably could rejoice in a fifth place landing.

Wichita Falls' baseball for 10 years was so good that we fear our tastes have been all but ruined. Four successive years of first and second place clubs have made it difficult to rejoice in this fifth place team of 1931. But if the fans are rejoicing in the close of the season, they probably have nothing on the clubowners. If the fans have been disappointed in the club produced this season, they have nothing on the clubowners, who surely have every right to believe their product was well up to the measure of support it received from the cash customers. In the matter of winning and losing ball games, Wichita Falls has experienced worse seasons than 1931. But never one quite so poor in attendance.

Failure of the populace to become interested in the Spudders makes Wichita Falls' baseball future at this time very much an uncertainty. The burning question right now is not whether the Wichita Falls team of 1932 will be an improvement over that of this year, but whether Wichita Falls will have a Texas league club next year. To one on the outside looking in, it appears that Wichita Falls' baseball future is a matter over which to become alarmed. If the league so desires, it can move the franchise out of Wichita Falls without so much as consulting the ownership. A league rule permits cancellation of a franchise that does not draw 50,000 paid admissions during a season. Wichita Falls will not show that many paid customers for 1931, even with the bargain days that brought ticket prices down to 50 cents and 25 cents, the latter prevailing on two occasions.

We do not believe the league will invoke its prerogative and oust the Spudders from the league, though such a move is possible. The St. Louis American league club, owner of the controlling interest in the club, however might desire to transfer the franchise, and so long as the move meets the approval of the league no power can prevent it. We believe the situation rests entirely with the Browns. Last year they dropped two of their string of clubs, Tulsa in the Western league and Springfield in the Western association. They did not move these clubs. They simply handed the franchise to the leagues and pulled out stakes. They can do the same here if they so desire. Or they can shift the franchise to some other city, with the permission of the league.

If there happened to be a logical place to move the Wichita Falls club, it would be better than an even bet that our Texas league baseball would go before next April. The possibilities are Tulsa in Oklahoma, El Paso, Waco and Tyler in Texas. Tulsa at present is open territory and the Texas league is free to move in there any time it may see fit. However, the Browns abandoned one club there, and it is not to be expected they will move the club to the Oklahoma oil metropolis. Other interests might move it there, if the Browns should abandon the club. El Paso has the population and probably the ambition to attempt a Texas league club after the interest stimulated out there by a club in the Arizona-Texas league, but it is at a great disadvantage geographically. Waco failed to hold the club it had and there's no good reason to believe the Brazos village has improved as a baseball town. Waco's advantage is that it has a park ready for occupancy—such as it is. We don't believe that sufficient inducement, though, to lure a club back to Waco. Tyler may be a choice spot for a Texas league club a few years hence, but it hasn't the population at present to hope to support a class A franchise. This town fell down badly this spring in its effort to support class D baseball.

Not much remains of the present club following the sale of two of its leading lights and recalling of a flock of others by the Browns and Brewers. Stanton was recalled by the Browns. Cooney was sold to the American league club. Hillin has been sold to Milwaukee and the Brewers have exercised their options on Gerken, Ferrell, Hungling and Euller. These transactions leave only Allday and Scharein of the infield, Badgro, Garms and Fuss of the outfield, Bradbury of the catching staff and Vincent, White, Florrid and Pressnell of the mound staff. If we have a club in the race next year, it's a good bet it will be radically different from that which closes the season Sunday.

Some young pitchers in Ash Hillin's shoes might have been disappointed in not getting a trial in the big show after as fine a season as he has had. But Hillin is very much elated over his promotion to the Milwaukee club, and when informed of the deal he declared he'd much prefer going to the Brewers next season. Possibly the pay check will not be quite as big as it would be if he had been taken by the Browns, but Ash believes he can win in the American association and learn enough in another year or two to make the grade in the majors, whereas he'd probably be relegated to the bench for the greater part of the time if he did manage to stick with the Browns next season. Riggs [illegible] is a sensible view the big boy from Aggieland is taking, and that sort of level-headed thinking is that much more evidence that he is on his way to big things in this business of baseball.

Florrid Maroons Fourteen Foemen To Gain Decision

Season Closes With Sunday Double-Header With Dallas Club

Two large, juicy innings at the expense of two Dallas veteran pitchers, George Murray and Oscar Fuhr, netted the Spudders seven runs Saturday and they were aplenty for wee Dck Florrid, who bore down in the pinches to leave 14 Steers on the bases and win a 7 to 4 decision in the opening game of the season's final series at Athletic park. The boys apparently thought in the first and fourth innings they still were in the field meet that preceded the game, and scored all their runs in these two productive rounds. Florrid himself was an important factor in the big four-run splurge in the fourth, slapping out a double that helped mightily.

In nine innings eight Steers reached first by walking or being hit and 10 others got there on safe blows, but only four scored. Wee Richard was so good in the pinches. To offset the half-dozen walks he whiffed exactly as many Steers and most of the strikeouts came in times of dire need.

Two Games Sunday

The Spudder brigade rings down the curtain on the 1931 race with a Sunday double-header at Athletic park starting at 3 o'clock. The ranking veterans of the staff, Les White and Ash Hillin, are likely to draw the mound assignments.

Murray, ace of the Steer staff, was in trouble early when Garms opened with a single, and before it was over the Spudders had three runs and Fuhr was pitching. Garms stole as Allday fanned. Gergen's single and his extra base on the throw in prompted the foe to pass Fuss after Bradbury had flied to short center. Scharein expressed his approval by slapping the first pitch for a single, scoring Garms and Gerken. Fuhr came on and retired Euller on the first pitch.

It was not until the third the Steers broke through and then they shoved over one each in three successive innings. In the third Todd was hit by a pitched ball and took third on Florrid's wild chunk to first, scoring a moment later on Benes' out. In the fourth James' single and Holman's double after two were out counted one. Loepp socked one out of the park in the next, but it brought the count only to 7 to 3, as the Spudders in the fourth had ganged Fuhr for five hits and four runs.

Second Big Inning

A walk to Scharein was the start of Fuhr's troubles. Euller shot Scharein to third with a single and Florrid doubled to right to score both. The latter took an extra base on Morse's error on the throw-in and counted on Allday's double to center. Bradbury's single produced the final run.

The Steers kept up the continuity of one per inning with another in the sixth after Fuhr had stopped the Spudders in the fifth. Dallas loaded the bases with none out on James' infield hit, a pass to Holman and Todd's Texas leaguer. Fuhr forced James at the plate, but Benes counted Holman with a single. Florrid pulled out by whiffing Cotter and Loepp.

Florrid finally stopped the foe without a run in the seventh, though a pass and Holman's single put runners on third and first after two were out. Fuss' single and Scharein's double failed to help the home cause when Euller was walked and Florrid and Garms popped out.

A walk and a hit batsman put two Steers on in the eighth after two were out, but Fuss gathered in Langford's fly to retire the side. Badgro's infield hit was the only Spudder riffle. Florrid put the Steers away in the ninth but only after a walk and Todd's third single had put two on. The score:

A'S RECEIVE 90,000 REQUESTS FOR WORLD SERIES RESERVATIONS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12. (AP)—A deluge of mail Saturday struck Shibe park, home of the world champion Athletics. It was the first response to the call of the management for applications for world series tickets.

It was estimated that 90,000 letters were received Saturday under the rules set down by the management no applications would be considered with post marks prior to Saturday. Applicants are limited to two tickets for each game and each applicant must take tickets for three games scheduled to be played at Shibe park. If the third game is not played, the tickets for that game will be redeemed.

Shibe park seats approximately 33,000 persons, therefore the management already has received more applications than there are seats.

Coaches to Make Rules Gathering Here Permanent

Heinie Weir of Vernon Elected President of Football Group

Thirteen coaches, representing nine schools in the immediate vicinity of Wichita Falls, gathered in the auditorium of the high school Saturday for the purpose of interpreting the football rules for the coming season. The session was the first of its kind to be called in this section. J. T. Duncan, former coach at Bowie High school and present superintendent of schools at Goodlet, Texas, called the meeting and presided over the discussion.

Plans were formulated whereby the mentors would gather at Wichita Falls each year to thresh out their problems and interpret the rules. The next confab will be conducted under the leadership of the newly elected president, W. C. "Heinie" Weir of Vernon High school. Assisting the leader will be Albert Acker, Olney High school, vice president, and Superintendent Duncan of Goodlet, secretary. The time of the next meeting will be the first Saturday after the date of the state interpretation of rules.

"What is a free ball" was the main topic of discussion during the session. Indirectly connected with the main issue was the subject of fumbles, dead ball, and lateral passes. Clipping and crawling also drew the fire of the mentors during the discussion. The new rule concerning the try for extra point was given special attention. Many problems that confronted each coach were discussed.

The schools represented at the meeting along with the representatives were Vernon, Heinie Weir, Ralph Binnion, and Bruce Reed; Bellevue, W. G. Miller and C. A. Jolly; Temple, Okla., J. C. Spudders Uncover Speed Merchant As White Steals Show in Field Events

Lester White put in his bid for Olympics recognition as a member of the pentathion or decathlon teams Saturday when he won three first places in the field meet held at Athletic park before the Spudder-Steer game.

There was nothing surprising in Les' feat of tying Grady Adkins for first honors in the pitchers' control contest—he long has been famous for that quality. Weaker hitters have been known, but it was not exactly according to the dope chart when he walked off with the distance fungo hitting contest. But when he outdistanced a field of about half the pitchers of each club in the 70-yard dash by so wide a margin it was hardly a race, hundreds in the stands swooned into unconsciousness—it was the discovery of a brand new virtue.

As a team proposition, the Spudders scored by an even wider margin than in the ball game. Dallas' only first places were won in the bunt and run to first base and the catchers' 70-yard dash. Benes got down to first in 3.4 seconds, one tenth faster than Garms and Allday, who tied for second. Bradbury gave Al Todd a real battle in the catchers' race, but the steer won in 10 seconds. White's winning time in the pitchers' race was 8.5 seconds and Pressnell was the runnerup.

The Spudders contributed the only two entries in circling the bases, Scharein making the circuit in 14.2 seconds, nine-tenths speedier than Gerken. Home players also dominated the open 70-yard dash, Garms winning in 7.8 seconds, half a nose ahead of Allday, Gerken and Scharein.

Probably the outstanding upset of the meet was Badgro's heave of 339 feet to outdistance Fuss in the "power" throw. Bob was a few feet behind the big red-head with both tosses.

J. N. Hall, Wichita Falls High school track coach, and Marvin Robertson of the Wichita Falls Boys' club served as officials.

California Youngster Wins Great Battle From Lott in Final

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 12. (US)—Ellsworth Vines, a 19-year-old boy within whom burned brightly the unquenchable spirit of courage, attained the national tennis championship Saturday after as searing a contest as has ever graced the West Side stadium.

To defeat George Lott of Philadelphia, 7-9, 6-3, 9-7, 7-5, the Pasadena youth needed to summon everything he possessed and it took a lion's heart to conquer after approximately two and one-half hours of competition.

It was a phenomenal Lott who was facing Vines, a gifted antagonist, determined to replace John Hope Doeg as the American leader, and one who was in no mood to succumb. Vines, however, had within him the fire of the McLoughlins and the Johnstons and out of the crucible of the most terrific offensive game in the world Saturday launched his way to triumph before 10,000 spectators.

PASADENA GIRL WINNER NATIONAL NET TOURNEY

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12. (AP)—Ruby Bishop, 18-year-old Pasadena star, Saturday won the girls' national lawn tennis championship by defeating Alice Marble, San Francisco, 6-1, 6-4.

Rip Radcliff Assured Of Texas Hitting Lead

Bringing his total of base hits to even terms with the departed Stanton of Wichita Falls, Raynard Radcliff of Shreveport had a lead of eight points to hold in Shreveport's last three games to win the Texas league batting championship for 1931. His average of .355 could stand 13 official times at bat without a safe hit and still tie Stanton's stationary .347, a fact that made it look as the week-end games opened that Radcliff would certainly top the loop to the close. Homer Peel in third place was hopelessly out of it. Other Texas league leaders: Runs, Selph of Houston 113, Schuble of Beaumont 110, Hock of Houston 109; hits, Radcliff of Shreveport and Stanton of Wichita Falls 207, Brown of Fort Worth 193, Stebbins of San Antonio 192; doubles, Stanton of Wichita Falls 54, Medwick of Houston 44, Radcliff of Shreveport and Langford of Dallas 38; triples, White of Beaumont 21, Fritz of Beaumont 17, Flaskamper of San Antonio 15; home runs, Medwick of Houston 19, Gullic of Wichita Falls 17, Solters of Shreveport 15; runs batted in, Medwick of Houston 122, Brown of Fort Worth 105, Stanton of Wichita Falls 98; stolen bases, White of Beaumont 52, Hock of Houston 33, Flaskamper of San Antonio 29.

In pitching averages, Payne of Houston leads in games pitched with 50 and innings pitched with 319. McCabe of Fort Worth, Dean of Houston and Carson of San Antonio have all worked 27 complete games. McCabe has regained the lead in control with only 36 passes in 301 innings to Payne's 40 in 319. Dean of Houston is the strikeout king with 296 and leads in victories with 26. Bill Harris of Fort Worth had the most defeats, 21, when he went to the big show. Whitlow Wyatt of Beaumont is back again at the top of the pitching percentage with .786.

Wichita Falls continues to lead in club batting, hits, doubles and runs batted in, Beaumont in runs, triples, home runs and stolen bases. Club batting, individual batting and pitchers records for players still in the league Sept. 1 follow, figured through the day games of Thursday, Sept. 10:

CARDINALS NEED ONLY SEVEN MORE VICTORIES

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12. (AP)—Hurling his second consecutive shutout victory, Sylvester Johnson defeated Boston, 5 to 0, here Saturday to shorten the gap between the St. Louis Cardinals and their second straight National league championship.

With the Giants losing to Pittsburgh again, the Red Birds increased their lead to eight games and now need only seven more victories in 15 games to be assured of at least a tie, even if New York wins all of its 13 remaining contests. Score:

Eagles Put Over Pair Touchdowns Late in Contest

ELECTRA, Texas, Sept. 12.—It was a gala occasion for the Chillicothe High school Eagles when they avenged their defeat of 1930 by whipping the Electra Tigers here Saturday afternoon by the score of 12 to 0.

This was the initial engagement of both elevens, as was shown in the awkwardness of play that put a kink in both machines.

The Tigers started the tilt in grand style, carrying the ball to within six yards of the goal line with criss-cross plays built around the elusive Boutwell, but the Eagles caught the style of play and halted them without any gain at the six yard line.

Again in the first half, the Tigers uncorked an aerial attack that fell only 12 yards short of the final chalk line.

Tigers Halted

Boutwell was practically the only Electra man who could gain to any great advantage and his style was cramped after the first half of the game. Parnell, E. White, Sandefer and Cloninger ripped off several nice gains at different intervals of the affray, but did not display any sensational offensive work.

Monty McDannald was the main cog in the forward wall, figuring in practically every play. Arthur White, end, and Clarence Koerth, tackle were offensively impressive.

Eagles Get Loose

The Eagles' offensive game was practically smothered until the final five minutes of the game when they found the Electra guards weakening and aimed a volley of power plays at them that did not cease until they landed the pigskin across the goal, Ramsay taking it over for the counter. His pass to Cook for the extra point fell short.

The lineups:

BILL HARRIS PITCHES SECOND WIN FOR BUCS

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 12. (AP)—The Pirates halted the victory march of Jim Mooney, the New York Giants' brilliant recruit southpaw, today when they clouted him for 12 hits in seven innings to win 5 to 1. Bill Harris, who has been in the league an even shorter time than Mooney, held the Giants to four hits. Score:

COYOTES TO GO INTO FIRST SCHEDULED SCRAP THIS WEEK

Four Days Remaining to Polish Off Rough Spots of Attack

Only four practice days remain before the Wichita Falls High school squad sails into its first scheduled game of the 1931 campaign. The Temple, Okla., High school Tigers invade the Coyote grid Friday afternoon, and though final details of the game have not been arranged, Coach Barry Holton announced Saturday it probably would be played on the practice field immediately south of the school building.

Actually the Temple game comes as the second of the season, for the informal scrimmage originally planned last Friday developed into a regulation contest, with the Pack and the Olney Cubs scrapping to a scoreless tie. The Olney game, however, being an impromptu affair and not appearing on the schedule of either team, hardly can be rated as an official opening of the new campaign. The contest gave the coaches of both outfits the first chance to watch their men under the fire of tough competition, and at least in that respect served its purpose fully.

Holton Pleased

While Coach Holton was not exactly bubbling over with enthusiasm as the result of the scoreless tie, he did express optimism over the spirit his men put into the battle, and congratulated the squad at the finish on making a game stand.

"Of course there were the usual number of mistakes that may be expected from an inexperienced team this early in the season," he declared Saturday, "but all in all I am well pleased with prospects reflected in that game. I learned that several men who have been counted on heavily for regular duty will have to be supplanted before long, and that we have the men with which to make the needed substitutions. Several of the team that went into the game as substitutes in the fourth period did so well that it will be difficult to keep them off the first eleven in this week's practice.

"A scoreless tie against a class B team cannot be ranked as an astounding feat, and we undoubtedly have much to do before the start of the championship season, but champions are champions, whether the game is polo or checkers. Olney is accustomed to winning games and championships and the Coyotes had to show plenty of fight to hold their own Friday."

Reserve Outlook Bright

Probably the brightest feature of Friday's scrimmage with the Cubs was the ability of the team of reserves to hold the visiting team just as well as the team that was removed at the start of the fourth period. J. R. Holton at center was the only starting player to remain the entire game and that the second team put into the scrap proved fully as effective as the first speaks well for the reserve material at the disposal of the mentors.

Another encouraging feature of the Coyotes' game was the apparently fine condition of the men individually. It was not necessary to call a time-out for injury at any stage of the game, though the temperature was well above football standard. With almost two weeks of training at their backs the Coyotes have been fortunate in evading the injury jinx. Emmett Skeen, reserve back, is out for awhile with a light ankle sprain and Harold Reeves, a candidate for end, is nursing a shoulder injury. Otherwise, the entire personnel is in good physical condition. Both these injuries were sustained in practice before the Olney game, and the heavy scrimmage with the Cubs failed to add to the brief hospital list.

Attack Lacks Polish

The Wichita Falls coaches are likely to concentrate in the four days of practice remaining before the Temple game on polishing up the rough spots in the attack. The backfield composed of Captain Withrow and Creecy at halfbacks, Powell at quarter and Daugherty at fullback, registered but one first down against the Cub defense Friday, but the team was instructed to use only a minimum number of plays, and these were limited to simple off-tackle and center of the line thrusts. Additional plays will be at the disposal of the backs in their game this week, and the attack is expected to take on a brighter hue.

Little fault could be found with the defense that beat back the Cubs' aerial attack and repulsed three charges inside the 20-yard line. The Cubs often brought their passing game into action, but had little success with it, and their running plays could gain only three first downs. However, the Cubs probably were handicapped as were the Coyotes in being limited to a few simple plays, and too much importance cannot be placed in the Pack's ability to hold its first foe of the season.

Friday's game probably will start at 3:45 o'clock, though the time has not been definitely set.

Wichita Falls to Enter Big List in Country Club Invitation

EMPLOYERS URGED TO COOPERATE IN MAKING TOURNAMENT SUCCESS

Pointing to the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club's annual invitation tournament, scheduled next week, as a worthy civic enterprise, President J. H. S. Bonner Saturday issued an appeal to Wichita Falls business establishments to permit their golf playing employes time off to participate in the event.

"The tournament will attract visiting players from many towns throughout the territory and these men will receive their impressions of Wichita Falls from those with whom they come in contact during the event," Bonner asserted, "and it remains for this city's golfers to see that these impressions are favorable. To accomplish the full purpose of the tournament it is necessary that Wichita Falls is well represented, and the country club wishes to make a special appeal to merchants and business establishments in general to allow their playing employes the few hours necessary for participating in the tournament."

DANIEL-LANDES MATCH PROMISES THRILLS IN ALL-CITY TOURNAMENT

Three quarterfinals matches and one in the first round are scheduled to be played early this week in the all-city golf championship tournament, in progress on the Weeks park course. Probably the feature match of the championship flight brings together Orion Daniel, conqueror Friday of Morris Norton, and Paul Landes, 1929 champion. Pat Lambert plays the winner of the delayed L. T. Burns-George Putty match. Ed Fizer is paired against Fred Couper and James Bridges meets R. C. Maples.

Two matches were played Saturday in the second flight. W. D. Kennedy defeated W. B. Nicholson, 4 and 2, and H. J. Hughey Jr. beat G. C. Biggs, 1 up.

In the third flight F. J. Johnson won from J. G. Dixon, 6 and 5.

ARGENTINE POLO TEAM BEATS ROSLYN ENTRY

WESTBURY, N. Y., Sept. 12. (AP)—The Santa Paula four, champions of Argentina, rallied Saturday to conquer Harold E. Talbott's Roslyn team after an accident to their captain and star, Manuel Andrada, nearly resulted in their elimination from the United States open championship.

The South Americans won by the narrow margin of 8 to 7 in an exciting, hard-fought battle. The crack No. 2 of the invaders, Juan Reynal, tied the score at 7-7 in the seventh chukker on a beautiful run and then put through the winning goal in the final period, from a sharp angle, with barely a minute to go.

DALLAS SANDLOTTERS TAKE SERIES OPENER

HOUSTON, Sept. 12. (AP)—The Sure Best bakery team of Dallas went one up on the Admiration Coffee tossers of Houston here Saturday in the first of a three-game series for the state amateur championship as they defeated the locals, 3 to 1, in a mound duel between Horace Caldwell and Izzy Glenn.

Two doubles in the first inning gave Admiration its only score. Dallas tied it in the fourth on a base hit and two errors by Glenn, and won in the eighth on Caldwell's single, Holcomb's long double and Williamson's wild throw.

Annual Event Is Slated to Start Wednesday Week

Tournament Officials Extend Special Invitation To City's Golfers

An invitation to all Wichita Falls Golf and Country club invitation tournament Sept. 23, 24, 25 and 26 was issued this week by the tournament committee. While the tourney seems assured of a representative field of Northwest Texas stars, the event has been planned to appeal to the average golfer as well as the par shooter, and the committee is particularly anxious to spread the news that all Wichita Falls amateur players, regardless of club affiliations, are invited to participate in the annual competition.

Probably the most attractive feature of this event is the fact that all entries qualify for match play. Flights will be provided for all entries, and every player has a chance to figure in the division of spoils that will go to winners and runnersup in all flights, including the consolations.

Opens on Wednesday

This plan assures every entry of two matches after the qualifying round. If defeated in the first round the player starts all over again in the consolations.

Golf this summer has enjoyed one of its most popular seasons, and the two Wichita Falls clubs boast at least 150 active players. The tournament committee hopes to attract at least 75 Wichita Falls entries, and if this number is realized the event is likely to be the biggest in its history.

Reports from clubs throughout the state indicate an unusually large attendance from out-of-town points. The event this year comes as the closing feature of Texas' summer and fall program, and those in charge believe this fact will add materially to the entry list. It offers one final fling at the game in a competitive way before the woods and irons are stowed away for the winter. As well, it does not conflict with any tournament of consequence, as it always has in the past.

Moreland May Play

Probably the outstanding individual of the tournament will be Gus Moreland, Dallas' youthful wizard who has made almost a clean sweep of Texas' most important tournaments during the season. After winning the Texas amateur championship and a handsome collection of invitation meets, the Dallas youngster jumped into the national spotlight in the national amateur tournament two weeks ago at Beverly Country club, Chicago. Through two 18-hole qualifying rounds he stuck within one stroke of the winning medal score, being defeated in the first round of match play in one of the tournament's earliest upsets.

While Moreland's entry has not been officially received, he promised several weeks ago to return for another try at the championship he won two years ago. Moreland won the event in 1929, after Ed Stewart of Fort Worth had captured the opening tournament in 1928.

Wichita Falls Contenders

Wichita Falls has kept the title at home but once, that last year when Morris Norton battled his way through a classy field to gain top honors. Morris has tuned up his game this week with participation in the all-city championship and plans to keep steadily at it until the invitation opens. That he is to be considered a serious factor in the coming event is indicated in his ability to win medal honors in the all-city.

Others who may be considered serious threats among the Wichita Falls delegation are L. T. "Bobby" Burns, who has put in a profitable summer collecting trophies in several tournaments, including the runnerup prize in the West Texas Golf association's annual get-together; J. H. S. Bonner, former all-city and country club champion; Bob Peck, winner of the Electra Country club invitation; Paul Landes, former all-city titleholder; and Orion Daniel, last year's all-city medalist.

32 in Each Flight

The tournament opens on Wednesday, Sept. 23, with an 18-hole qualifying round. The 32 low scorers will start Thursday morning in the first round of match play for the championship. The second round, as well as the first round in the consolation flights, is scheduled for the afternoon. The quarterfinals will be played Friday morning and the semifinals in the afternoon, bringing the event down to the finals for Saturday. The titular match will be over the 36-hole route, the remainder 18 holes.

The tournament will be in charge of Phil Hesler, country club professional, as official starter and referee, aided by Ed Hesler, assistant pro at the club.

The chief entertainment feature will be a stag dinner and smoker the evening of the tournament's opening.

TWILIGHT TEAMS OPEN PLAYOFF FOR BENEFIT OF MILK AND ICE FUND

The Meyers Grocery-Four Way Filling station playoff double-header carded for Katy park Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for the benefit of the Times-Record News milk and ice fund and the Twilight league championship is expected to draw a good crowd of spectators and give the milk and ice fund a nice boost with the admission charge of ten cents. It was announced Saturday by Lester Jones, treasurer of the milk and ice fund, that representatives would be at the gates to collect the money as the customers arrived.

Just who will pitch the two games is unknown. Willard Hillin and Charley Huggins loom as the likely starters for Meyers grocery with Scott and Carl Prince the likely hurlers for Four Way Filling station. In case a third game is necessary it will be played Tuesday at Katy park.

Two New Skippers in Coming Dixie Series

HOUSTON, Sept. 12.—This year's Dixie series competition starting Wednesday at Birmingham will bring face-to-face and hand-to-hand two club managers who will be in such a series for the first time, Joe Schultz of the Houston Buffs and Clyde Milam of the Birmingham Barons. Time was when much of the Dixie series battling was being conducted under the bossing of Larry Gilbert of the New Orleans Pels and Jacob Atz of the Fort Worth Cats, but the spell of this able pair has been broken. Jake has not been a party to such a series since 1925, nor Gilbert since Carl Williams' Wichita Falls Spudders took his Pels to a four-straight trimming in 1927. That, by the way, is the only time the series has been limited to four engagements.

In all, Texas league and Southern association pennant winners have battled to decisions in 66 Dixie series games in addition to spinning out four unproductive ties. Of these games Texas clubs have won 40 and lost 26 for a percentage in advance of .600.

This will be Houston's second Dixie series with the Barons whom they toppled off the slag pile in 1928 when Frank Snyder was Houston boss and John Dobbs the Baron leader.

To Open Wednesday

The series opens with two games at Birmingham Wednesday and Thursday. Friday will be spent in traveling to Houston, and Saturday finds the series looking on its first night game at Buffalo stadium. Sunday the teams will battle under the rays of Old Sol at Houston. The fifth game, if neither team is successful in winning four straight, will be played Monday night at Houston. The sixth goes back to Birmingham, and if still another is necessary the site will be determined by the flip of a coin.

Houston goes into the series without the services of one of its leading pitchers, Tex Carleton, and the Barons will be minus an outfield stalwart. But by mutual agreement both have done good jobs of replacing the injured regulars. The Barons have added Walter French from Little Rock and the Buffs have taken on Dick McCabe from Fort Worth.

An interesting sidelight in the series will be the appearance of Jimmy Walkup, veteran of many Texas league campaigns, on the pitching mound for the Southern association champs. Walkup has been the leading tosser in the Southern since the start of the season.

GRAHAM HIGH HOPEFULS GET FIRST CLASH THIS WEEK AGAINST SEYMOUR

GRAHAM, Texas, Sept. 12.—The Graham High school Steers open their football season Friday against the fast Seymour team on the local field. This will not be a conference game but promises to be a good test for the new men. Soon after this game Graham will dive into its conference schedule.

This year's edition of the Steers promises to give Graham one of the best balanced and most powerful teams in the history of the school. The line is made up of big-fast men who are willing to fight for their places. Present indications are that the line will average about 175 or 180 pounds, if some of the smaller men do not break in and win places. The backfeild will offer a combined running, passing and plunging attack.

Coaches "Pat" Knieff and Floyd Deacon as well as Quarterbacks Dempsey Parsley and "Cotton" Starbuck, attended the football rules interpretation meeting in Fort Worth Wednesday night.

It seems that Parsley and Starbuck will battle for the starting post at quarter. The fullback's job, it seems, will be decided between McCluskey and Kennedy. However, Bigham, a letter man from last year's team, may be shifted to full. There are a number of promising men for the half positions and no one has a cinch for his place. Two new men, Hughes, and Elliott, who have recently joined the team, are making a good showing. Hughes is an end and Elliott a tackle.

Quanah Looks to Strong Entry in District Battle

Speedy Backfield and Heavy Line to Start Season for Indians

QUANAH, Texas, Sept. 12.—The Quanah High school Indians under direction of Coach Dan Stallworth and Assistant Coach Joe Forrester have closed their third week of practice with the prospects brightest of any year. The squad is heavy and the backfield speedy, with the team entering the season with 40 candidates bidding for jobs. Heavy practice twice daily in the field, with "skull practice" in between is rapidly working the men into condition.

J. D. Rogers played center last year and is shifted to fullback this season.

Hefty Forwards

Eugene Jones, injured early last season in the Amarillo game will be at end.

Glen Smith, substitute center, is being used at center and guard.

Bod Barnett and Jarrell Bolton, both ineligible last year. Barnett will fill the center position and probably will divide time with Smith. Bolton, 180-pounder is at guard.

A. W. Hall, brother of Rudy Hall, 1930 captain, substitute halfback last year, is likely to see much service in the backfield.

Other backfield men are Price, Wheat, Edwards, Dansby, Fulsom and Allen.

First Game Friday

"Prospects look might good for a heavy line, and fast backfield," Coach Stalworth says. "Cox, Faircloth, Marsalis and Rogers all are fast." "All conference games will be played away from home on account of the divison of the district last spring. This is a disadvantage to the team, but cannot be helped."

Four non-conference games will be played on the Quanah field before the start of championship warfare.

The first of the non-conference games will be played here with Eldorado, Okla., next Friday. Following are games with Olustee, Okla., Sept. 25; Gould, Okla., Oct. 2 and Duke, Okla., Oct. 9.

The first conference game will be played with Electra at Electra Oct. 17; followed by games at Wichita Falls, Oct. 24; at Vernon, Nov. 11; at Childress Thanksgiving day.

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Sept. 12. (AP)—L. T. "Bobby" Burns of Wichita Falls and Edgar O'Quinn of San Antonio will play 36 holes here Sunday for the championship of the San Angelo Country club's third annual invitation golf tournament. Burns advanced to the finals Saturday by defeating W. R. Long of Austin and Russell Crownover of Abilene, each 5 and 4, while O'Quinn beat John Marston of San Angelo and Dick Willetts of Fort Worth, each 2 and 1.

One hundred and forty-five golfers, representing all sections of Texas, qualified in the tournament. All matches Sunday save the championship contest will be over 18 holes.

Contestants in other finals will be: first flight, Jack Satterwhite, Big Spring vs. S. J. Barnett, Eastland; second flight, Robert Battle, Cleburne vs. Gentry Kidd, San Angelo; third flight, B. B. Williams, Fort Worth vs. W. W. Nelson, Brownwood; fourth flight, W. C. Montgomery, San Angelo vs. Bob Brown, San Angelo; consolation flight, Lorrain Young, San Antonio vs. E. W. Robison, Austin.

GOREE DEFEATS KNOX CITY, 3 TO 0, TO WIN BRAZOS VALLEY TITLE

GOREE, Texas, Sept. 12.—Goree won the championship of the Brazos Valley league by defeating Knox City, 3 to 0, in the deciding game of the titular playoff series here. Goree had captured the opener at Knox City, 3 to 2, in one of the thrillers of the entire league season, and a third game was unnecessary. Goree won first half honors and Knox City finished on top in the second half of the regular season.

The final game produced a well pitched duel between Peek for the winners and Edwards and Lowery for the losers. Peek let down the Knox City crew with only three hits, while his mates were ringing up nine. The shutout was the first sustained by Knox City during the season.

Your Car Will Be Better Lubricated and Serviced by the Dealer Who Sells That Car

We're Selfish But That Benefits YOU!

The most selfish thing we can do is to keep your car running fine always—at the lowest reasonable cost to you!

To an outside repair shop, it doesn't matter whether you like your present car or not. You're going to drive some make of car—and he attempts to work on any make.

The car dealer can profit only through your satisfaction with his make of car. He cannot service any other make of car you might buy—he admits he knows only his own car. To service his own make of car the car dealer has special tools and equipment, special instruction, and specialized experience. The car dealer profits only by your liking your present make of car.

Each dealer's selfish interest in his own make of car couldn't help but make him service your car better than anybody else can.

Take your car always to the dealer who sells that car. For lubrication, adjustments, repairs, everything. You'll save money because your car will perform better and run longer.

BRAKES are easy for the one who knows. But nobody can know all brakes! Each car has different brakes, and changes are even made in different year models.

A car dealer doesn't pretend to know all brakes—just the brakes on his car better. If you want the most certain brakes, take them only to the dealer who sells your car.

THE WICHITA VALLEY FARMER

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE FARMER, DAIRYMAN, POULTRY RAISER AND FRUIT AND TRUCK GROWER

This County Can Now Produce Its Own Long Sweetening—Red Top Cane And Watermelons Used for Syrup

C. C. BAILEY with two jars of the home-made syrup.

Wichita county is learning a lot of things about living at home these days. The newest home-made product is sorghum syrup, made from red top cane, a sorghum that does especially well in this county.

Vying with this syrup is watermelon syrup. It has been discovered that watermelon juice, boiled down to the consistency of syrup, isn't either hard to make or hard to eat.

C. C. Bailey of Allendale is one of the successful makers and marketers of the sorghum syrup. On an average, an acre of cane will make around 60 gallons of the syrup, and of course the heads can be saved for feed. Mr. Bailey crushes the juice from the cane in a syrup mill, and then cooks it down in a vat, over an out-door brick furnace. The syrup sells at 50 to 75 cents a gallon. The farm page editor can testify to its excellence.

Alex Warren, living southeast of Iowa Park, is another who has been converting his red-top cane into syrup.

Watermelon syrup is very simply made. The juice is pressed from the red meat and then boiled down to one-tenth of its original volume. The result is a very tasty product. Watermelon syrup is being made by farmers in Wise and Montague counties, who raised more watermelons than they could sell. Some of them boil the juice down to one-fourth, claiming this makes a better syrup. Mrs. H. L. Jinks of Valley View, this county, uses the ten-to-one process.

Heretofore, Wichita county has had to send elsewhere for its "long sweetening." But when excellent syrup can be made from either red-top cane or watermelons, and when Wichita county can produce plenty of both of these syrup sources, it does not need to go outside its own borders for something good to spread on its biscuits.

PURCHASERS OF LAND FROM HUGHES ESTATE GET BONUS ON COTTON

WELLINGTON, Texas, Sept. 12.—One hundred and fifty-two farmers who bought land from the Hughes estate will receive a bonus on their cotton money when it is applied on their land notes, according to Judge E. H. Small, who represents the Hughes estate here. Ten dollars per bale bonus will be credited upon the first fourth of the crop and a bonus of $20 per bale will be credited upon the rest of the crop. The farmers may sell their cotton wherever they desire. This decision upon the part of Lafayette Hughes will enable each of the 152 farmers to realize from $100 to $1,000 more from their crop this year than they otherwise would have done.

CATTLE AND MEAT SHOW IS PLANNED HERE NEXT SPRING

Plans for a spring fat stock exhibition and meat show were given impetus at a recent meeting of the chamber of commerce agricultural committee, which recommended to the directors that the show be held here next March or April.

County Agent G. C. McGown, who has been doing some work in the matter, believes that neighboring counties would join in the undertaking.

It is planned to have entries of beef cattle, calves, hogs and sheep, and perhaps poultry, and also to have a meat show, in which there would be exhibits of home-cured pork, home-canned beef and other meat products.

If it is found possible to finance the prizes which would be offered, the first show will be held next spring.

Among the features of the show would be the display of young beeves fed by members of the Boys Feed club, organized this year. About 60 boys entered the feed club contest, in which prizes of $300 will be awarded later this fall. It is expected that 25 or 30 of the boys will take calves to feed out this winter.

FIRST CONDEMNATION SUIT ON RIGHT OF WAY HEARD AT CHILDRESS

CHILDRESS, Texas, Sept. 12.—The first condemnation suit brought by the Denver Northern Railway company for right of way in Childress county was heard Thursday by the jury recently appointed by the county judge. The jury is composed of Joe Rhea, Charley Scott and A. T. Fox, prominent farmers of the county.

The case was against J. E. Greer who owns lands in the north part of Childress county. Greer had asked $100 per acre for 27.41 acres required, also $4,000 damages. After hearing the evidence the jury Friday morning reported to the county judge, allowing Greer $45 per acre for the land and physical damages to growing crops, with the costs of the hearing assessed against Greer.

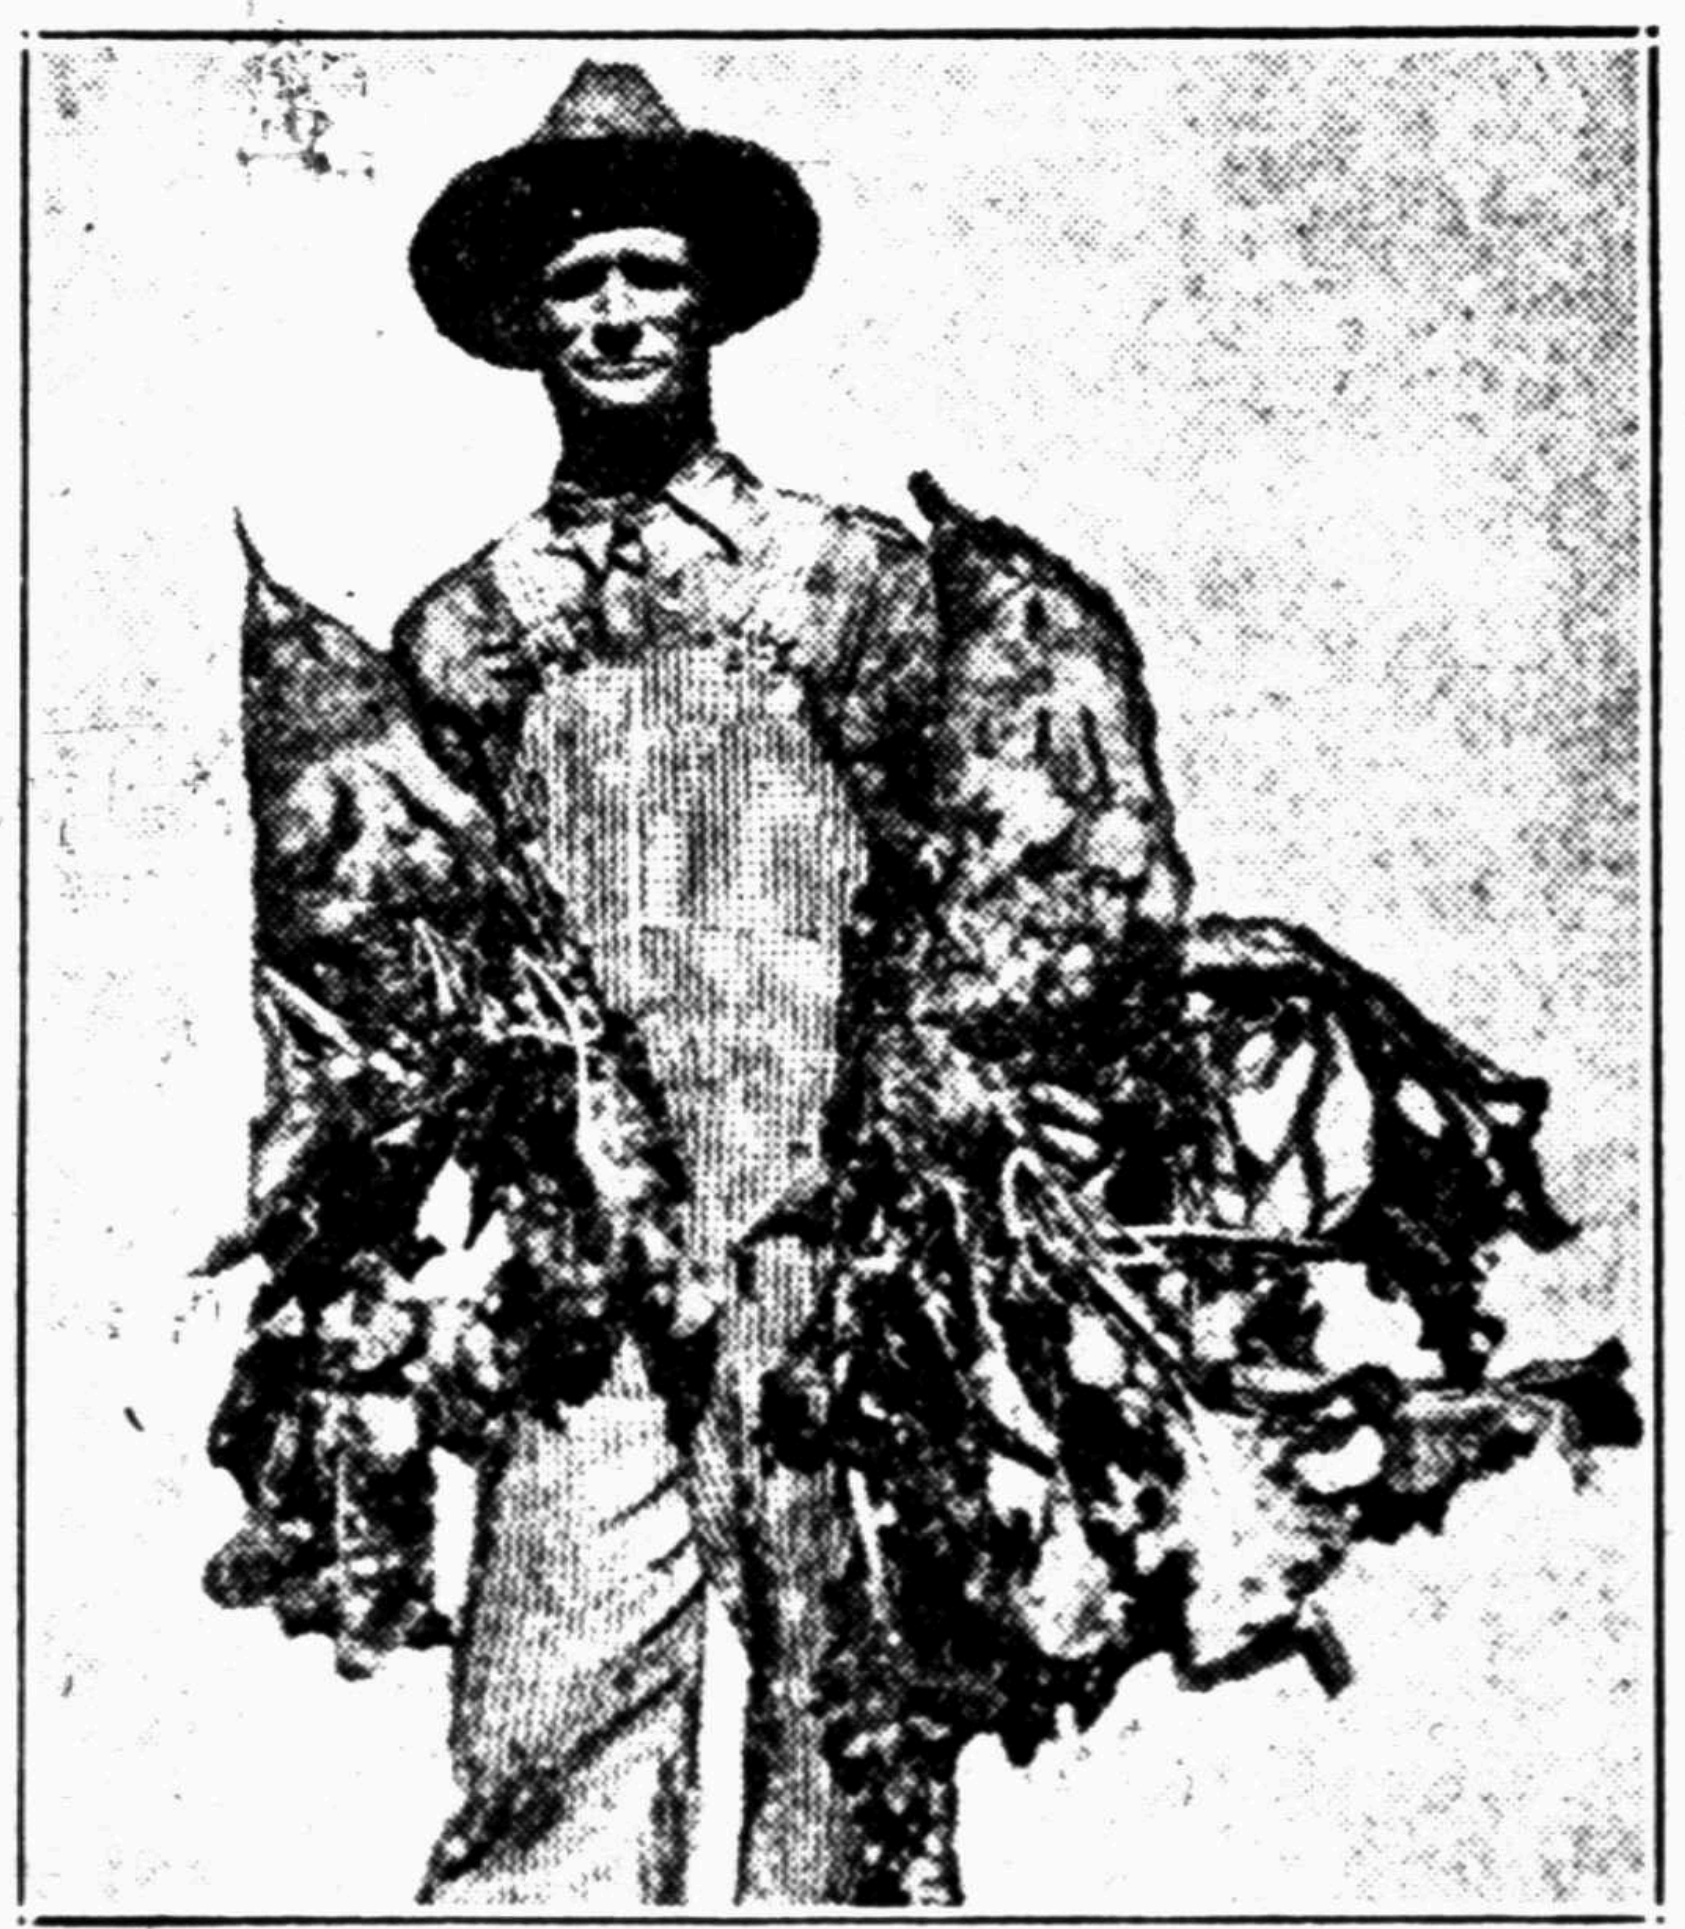
The Denver Northern Railway company will be permitted to file bond for that sum and proceed with grading the road along the right of way necessary. This will be done provided Greer takes the case to the county court and thence to the court of civil appeals.

Contractors are awaiting action on three or four condemnation suits in that section of the county and will begin work as soon as the cases are heard, it is stated.

PART OF THE CROWD AT BURKBURNETT'S 'FIRST SATURDAY'

Several thousand people attended this month's "First Saturday" sales, trade and rodeo program at Burkburnett. "First Saturday" has been observed as a trades day at Burkburnett for some time, but is now being developed into a more important occasion than formerly. The picture shows the crowd watching the free rodeo.

IT BEATS ALL HOW BEETS GROW HERE



L. B. Anderson, whose place is on the Petrolia road, is here shown with two of the enormous stock beets he has raised. The larger of the two weighs 28½ pounds. Mr. Anderson, who has been experimenting with the beets, believes that local conditions favor the raising of sugar beets.

WICHITA COUNTY HEN AIR-MINDED

Even the hens are getting air-minded these days, if one may judge by an egg found by I. Knight on his farm on the Burkburnett road.

The egg is shaped like a dirigible airship, being long and narrow, with a bulge at one end to correspond to the aircraft's control room. Mr. Knight thinks maybe the hen that laid it had been reading about the launching of the Akron.

GREER COUNTY SCHOOLS VISITED BY OFFICIALS

MANGUM, Okla., Sept. 12.—Clay W. Kerr, assistant state superintendent of schools, and E. A. Duke, state rural school inspector, who was principal of Mangum High school in 1901, were here from Oklahoma City Friday to confer with Mansur Stewart, county superintendent, and other school heads concerning county estimates for state aid.

To be eligible for state aid, each school must be operating on a 15 mill tax levy and holding at least an eight-month term. The aid will be reduced this year because of the shutdown in oil activities and by reason of lowered taxes.

DAIRY SCHOOL TO BE HELD TUESDAY AT WINDTHORST

A one-day dairy school will be held Tuesday, starting at 1 p. m., at Windthorst.

D. T. Simons, field agent of the American Jersey Cattle club, will be the principal speaker on the night program. In the afternoon the farms of Frank Koetter, T. A. Schreiber, E. F. Berend, Felix Ordner, Bill Weinzapfel and John Schenk will be visited.

A feature of the school will be a study of the production records kept by dairy farmers of that section, and of the records made by the bulls in the bull circles.

Poultry Department at County Fair Promises to Be Outstanding Feature, With Large Number Entries Coming

By F. A. FOSTER

Much interest is being manifested in the poultry department of the county fair, even at this early date. A number of poultry raisers in different parts of the county have already indicated that they expect to make good-sized entries. It seems almost assured that the number of fine birds on display will be more than twice the number on exhibit last year. One of the principal reasons for expecting the greatly increased entry is the low entry fee this year, being only half the cost to enter which was charged on previous years. Another feature which will draw a large number of birds is the new provision for exhibiting trios, or a cock and two hens, instead of a cock and four hens as was the former rule. This new rule was passed by the American Poultry association at its convention this summer, and will make trios legal pens at all A. P. A. shows hereafter. This will prove to be a popular innovation since it makes it possible for more small flock breeders to make entries in the pen classes, and will greatly increase the entries at the poultry shows.

The new low entry fee of 25 cents for singles and 75 cents for trios is being received with much enthusiasm among poultrymen, since it will enable them to enter a much larger number at the some cost. As is usual the Rhode Island Reds seem to be going to have a heavy entry. It is becoming a well known fact that some of the best flocks of Rhode Island Reds in the state are found in Wichita county. Several new flocks of Reds have been established the last year or so, and it seems assured that hot comeptition will be the rule this year. Other classes which will be well filled will be Rhode Island Whites, Brown and Red Leghorns, Barred Rocks and Black Minorcas. Of especial interest will be the exhibit of Red Leghorns. This is a new breed and is creating much interest wherever shown. Several breeders are raising them in the county and have promised to enter nice exhibits of them at the fair this year.

The turkey department bids fair to be one of the best attractions in the poultry building this year. The Perfection farm on the Seymour road expects to make a fine shwing of their Mammoth Bronze turkeys. Their stock is among the best of its kind in the state. Mr. Winfrey will exhibit his Narraganset turkeys, which breed is rapidly coming into popularity and furnishing competition for the Bronze variety. Ducks and gees will also be a feature this year, as well as bantams and ornamental fowl.

Sam Williams, the new poultry director this year, has worked hard to fill the building this time and is receiving the enthusiastic cooperation of most of the poultry breeders of the county. He announces that N. B. Spearman of Fort Worth will judge the poultry.

Farmers Face Winter in Far Better Condition Than Year Ago in Spite of Low Prices—'Live at Home' Is Factor

In spite of unfavorable weather and abnormally low prices for farm products, the farmers of Wichita county and of Northwest Texas as a whole are in far better circumstances than they were a year ago, according to J. N. Sherrill, chairman of the agricultural committee of the chamber of commerce. Mr. Sherrill, whose work keeps him in close touch with agricultural conditions, believes that farmers in this region can face the winter far more cheerfully and far more hopefully than they could the winter of 1930-1391.

"While it is true that prices for farm commodities are very low," said Mr. Sherrill, "the crops have been produced at unusually small expense. Farmers have employed as little labor as possible. They have gotten by with a minimum of credit. I know of some who are able to apply the proceeds of this season's crops on their old debts.

"Most farmers have good supplies of feed on hand and will be at no additional expense to maintain their stock. Many still have their wheat, and are planning to keep it off the market. It will go for feed, or will be ground at the custom mills and eaten by the family.

"A record-breaking amount of food had been canned this summer. One hardware merchant says that he sold more canning equipment this year than he had in 12 years previous. While some farmers have neglected the opportunity to put up a big supply of canned goods for the winter, they are few in number. I know of a number of families that have 500 containers of food put up.

"I do not mean to say that there is prosperity among the farmers, in the sense that most of us like to think of prosperity. But I believe it is true that the farmers, as a class, are better off just now than their cousins in the city.

"Some farmers made the mistake this year, of reducing their dairy herds and their flocks of chickens. There is every reason to believe that prices for cream and for chickens and eggs will be higher this winter. Probably we will not have as mild a winter as we did last year, so that the farmer who will have cream and eggs to sell ought to find a better market. The fact that feed is cheaper than in many years should be a big help to those ho have kept their cows and hens."

SCHOOLS AT SHAMROCK BEGIN WINTER TERM

SHAMROCK, Texas, Sept. 12.—Shamrock public schools began work Tuesday when classes met for the first time in regular session after registration of students Monday.

Three new members of the faculty, John Stevens, athletic mentor; Catherine Clements, history, and C. B. Harrison, recently elected principal of high schools, were introduced at an assembly held Monday morning at the high school before a large number of students and parents.

According to Principal Harrison there were 276 students enrolled in high school Wednesday and 170 enrolled in junior high, with registration almost completed.

M. S. Kavanaugh is principal of junior high, and Henry Hise is principal of North ward, both schools having practically the same staff of teachers who taught last year.

Wellington Home Burns

WELLINGTON, Texas, Sept. 12.—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the home of Efton Wilks Monday morning, resulting in heavy damage to the five-room stucco house and with a total loss of furniture. The family was away from home at the time and the blaze had gained great headway before it was discovered. The dwelling was owned by Henry West. The loss will be partially restored by insurance.

DEEP TESTS IN ARCHER HOLD SPOTLIGHT DURING PAST WEEK

Several Wells Progress Rapidly to 2200-Foot Sand to Give Promise of Major Developments in Near Future

By JIMMIE MAXWELL

Although a number of interesting tests are drilling in the adjoining counties, operators and others during the past week were interested in the outcome of a number of deep tests in the Archer county pool. Several deep tests located in the immediate territory of the deep sand in Chalk Hill are progressing rapidly to the 2200-foot sand, and some interesting news from that quarter is looked for by the end of the week.

Development to the northwest of the pool proper received a setback by the failure of George W. Cooper and associates to make a well out of their No. 1 J. S. Bridwell, in block 122, Aldredge survey. The well, which is located one mile northwest of production, picked up the sand at about 2190 feet but failed to show any oil. Drilling continued to 2321 feet, when the hole was abandoned.

Paul Trahan and others' No. 1 Coleman, located in the southwest part of section 74, A. T. N. C. L. survey, will drill out the plug from the sand at 2198-2208 feet some time Monday. This test is a wildcat, three miles northeast of Chalk Hill deep production, and in the event of a well, opens up a vast stretch of new land in that section of northeast Archer.

Five new locations were staked out, Cooke, Wilbarger, Archer and Young pools being favored by the operators. Two producers were finished, both in Young. The same area furnished a number of failures.

Activities in the Wichita county pools were at a standstill. A little work was done, such as deepening a few of the shallower wells in the Electra field, but outside of the drilling of two deep tests in the K. M. A. area, the county was devoid of all kinds of drilling.

Pipe line runs from the pools of the district averaged 53,406 barrels per day, a small loss of 34 barrels daily as compared with the previous seven-day run.

SEVERAL THOUSAND ATTEND IOWA PARK MERCHANTS' PARTY

IOWA PARK, Texas, Sept. 12.—Several thousand persons crowded the downtown section of Iowa Park, Saturday afternoon and evening to enjoy the festivities provided by merchants here at the first of a series of "rural entertainment days."

The afternoon program was devoted to races and field events, band concerts, and contests of various kinds. T. L. Loftland won the potato race for men; Mrs. Ruth McNeely won the egg race for women; Eugene Wigley was the winner of the free-for-all sack race, and Virgil Green caught the greased pig.

C. A. Heaton, farmer living two miles northwest of Iowa Park carried off the honors for bringing the largest family to the celebration. Mr. and Mrs. Heaton were present with their 10 children ranging in age from 2½ to 24 years of age. All of the children live at home.

Prizes in the various races and contests were awarded by Herman Mitchell. A water fight on Cash street with teams of Iowa Park firemen competing was staged before the street was roped off for a street dance in the evening. Barton Dunning's orchestra furnished music for the dancing.

FUNERAL RITES FOR ERNEST ROYAL HUNT TO BE HELD SUNDAY

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Sept. 12.—Funeral services for Ernest Royal Hunt, who died at his home on Taylor street in Wichita Falls, Thursday, are to be at the First Baptist church here Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The services will be in charge of Thomas Funeral home and will be conducted by the Rev. Miles C. Hayes, pastor of the Baptist church, assisted by the Rev. J. R. Dennis, pastor of the Methodist church.

Mr. Hunt was the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Hunt and lived in Burkburnett for a number of years prior to his removal to Wichita Falls. Besides his parents he is survived by his widow, two brothers, Marion R. and Frank J. Hunt and two sisters, Effie Leona and Ruby Lee Hunt, all of Burkburnett.

ROBBERY OF TWO IN SAME CAR CONSTITUTES DISTINCT OFFENSES

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 11. (UP)—Robbery of two persons riding in the same automobile constitutes a distinct offense against each individual, the criminal court of appeals ruled today.

The ruling was made when the court affirmed Earl Orcutt's 10-year sentence on a robbery with firearms conviction in Tulsa county.

Orcutt was convicted on a charge of robbing W. E. Sturdevant but was acquitted on a charge of robbing W. K. Cottrell. Cottrell and Sturdevant were robbed while riding together.

The court ruled that Orcutt could be tried for the robbery of one although he had been acquitted in the robbery of the other.

MATERIALS READY FOR CARBON DIOXIDE TEST

MIDLAND, Texas, Sept. 12.—Material is on the ground for a second carbon dioxide test in Torrance county on section 12.7-7 near the discovery well which is making 400,000 cubic feet of the non-flammable gas from a depth of 1300 feet. The new well will be drilled by the Estancia Valley Carbon Dioxide company, a subsidiary of the J. B. Witt Oil and Gas company, which drilled the first well.

ALIENS VICTIM OF BLACKMAIL

Condition Revealed by Secretary of Labor

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (US)—The extent to which aliens are being brought into the United States illegally and then blackmailed was revealed by Secretary of Labor Doak tonight in a radio address.

He told of the investigation he has made and of uncovering a gigantic ring of racketeers who prey on the foreign-born and of how 19 arrests have been made in the case so far.

Doak recited a number of specific heart-rending cases in which the victims were blackmailed week after week by the blackmailers who took every cent above living expenses that the foreigners could make.

In concluding his address, the secretary urged all foreigners in the United States to take up their immigration problems with his department and promised justice would be done.

AFFIRM LIFE SENTENCE TWO CONVICTED SLAYING SHERIFF IN OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 12. (UP) Life imprisonment sentences imposed on two men convicted on murder charges in the assassination of Sheriff C. H. Phillips of Beckham county were affirmed by the criminal court of appeals today.

In his opinion upholding the conviction, Judge Will H. Chappell described the slaying as "one of the most diabolical crimes in the history of the state."

Jess Brown and Frank Griffin, on separate appeals to the court, contended they had no motive in the slaying and declared that Joe Pounds, also convicted and under life imprisonment sentence in the case, gave testimony which was not corroborated.

Sheriff Phillips was slain several months ago on a Saturday night as he sat in his office at Sayre. His body, slumped in his chair, was found by his wife who heard a shot. The crime baffled authorities for several hours. Feeling was tense and precautions were taken against mob violence although it was considerable time before a clue was uncovered.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (US)—Capital and labor's spokesmen will gather here Monday to thresh out proposals for relieving the unemployment situation.

Governors or their representatives from a score of states today accepted the American Legion's invitation to join in such a round table conference.

The meeting, to be held under auspices of the legion, already has brought forth many suggestions.

PLANS RELATED FOR NEW TEXAS OIL-GAS GROUP

Conservation Association to Open Membership Drive

PROTECTION AGAINST WASTAGE OBJECTIVE

Head of Organization Says Drastic Steps Necessary

FORT WORTH, Sept. 12.—Chas. F. Roeser, acting president of the new Texas Oil and Gas Conservation association, today announced plans for a statewide membership drive designed to affiliate every oil and gas producer in the state with the organization.

Roeser made it clear, however, that membership in the association is not to be confined to producers of those commodities. "The organization is open," he said, "to every business man in Texas who favors conservation of the state's natural resources. We hope that we will receive widespread cooperation from many lines of business in our endeavors."

The Texas Oil and Gas Conservation association was organized through the efforts of five organizations, representative of every part of Texas. They are the East Texas Home and Land Owners association: the San Antonio Independent Producers; North Texas Oil and Gas association; the oil emergency committee and the East Texas steering committee.

"The sole purpose of the association," Roeser said, "is to conduct a concerted, determined and permanent campaign designed to lead to the most feasible means of conserving Texas resources, whether they be oil, gas or other commodities.

"Recent events have proven that, in the oil industry particularly, the time has come when the conservation forces must line themselves up solidly as opposed to those which allow the continued wastage and dissipation of the great natural wealth of the state.

"The battle line between these two forces, the conservationists and the 'wide opens,' has been drawn. Nothing but concerted, definite and cooperative action on the part of every unselfish Texan desirous of saving this great wealth to the people of his state will save the situation.

"Deeply concerned with the useless and flagrant wastage of these resources and the consequent result of forcing down the price of these commodities to rock bottom, these groups representative of all Texas have combined their forces and will seek a solution of the problem."

Roeser said that 18 vice presidents, named by the organization committee as representative of every part of the state, would have charge of the membership drive in their respective areas.

In the meantime, he also said that permanent headquarters of the association would be opened shortly, and that a concerted educational campaign to advise the people of Texas as to the true situation regarding the oil and gas industry would get under way from there.

A total of 1,235 memberships in the association were pledged at the organization meeting in Dallas. Since that time scores of telegrams of endorsement and pledges of support have been received from business men throughout the state.

BORAH URGES NAVY HOLIDAY

Appeals to World Powers To Stop Building

BOISE, Idaho, Sept. 12. (AP)—An appeal for the five leading world powers to bring about a five-year holiday in naval building was made today by Senator William E. Borah, chairman of the senate committee on foreign affairs.

In a brief statement, Senator Borah said such a holiday "will be about the only advance we are going to make soon in the matter of lifting a part of the burden of armaments."

"I should like to see an effort made to secure a naval holiday covering all construction upon the part of the United States, Britain, Japan, France and Italy for the term of five years or as long as could be secured," he said.

"England has a crisis over the matter of reducing the allowance to the unemployed. It seems to me it might be possible to reduce instead the budget for armaments.

"The United States is passing her deficit, her current expenses, on to posterity, a thing almost unheard of in this country.

"The people in both countries by the millions are in financial distress and unable to pay their taxes. It seems to me we might boldly move in the matter of lifting a part of the armament burden. And if we can bring this about, it will be about the only advance we are going to make soon in the matter of lifting a part of the burden of armaments."

ASSESS FINES RESULT CLASH CHURCH GROUP

Father and Son Arrested Saturday and Former Fined $10

KNOCK DOWN BOTH MAYOR AND CHIEF OF POLICE

Evangelist Continues Services and Attack Despite Warning

—ASSESS FINES—42-8 .. ..

JONESBORO, Ark., Sept. 12. (AP)—Two additional arrests were made today as a result of clashes growing out of a controversy between opposing factions of the First Baptist church of Jonesboro.

Guy and Ray Chambers, father and son, were taken into custody and ordered tried on charges of attacking H. J. Bosler and Chief of Police Craig during an attempt by Rev. Joe Jeffers, an evangelist, to hold a prayer meeting on the city hall lawn Thursday.

Guy Chambers was fined $10 on a charge of assault and battery and $5 on a charge of resisting an officer. His son, Ray Chambers, was acquitted of a charge of resisting an officer.

Chambers and his son were alleged to have knocked down both the mayor and chief of police after the latter refused to grant Jeffers permission to hold a prayer meeting on the city hall grounds.

Guy Freeling, Governor Parnell's secretary and Lieutenant Colonel Garrett, assistant state adjutant general, left at noon, saying they considered the situation was being well handled by civil authorities with the assistance of guardsmen.

Freeling said he saw no reason for asking for martial law under present conditions. The men were the governor's representatives.

Dr. Hugh Lile, dentist and adherent of the Rev. D. H. Heard, pastor of the First Baptist church, and George Cox Jr., a supporter of Evangelist Jeffers, were fined $5 on simple assault charges today in a courtroom guarded by soldiers with machine guns. Charges against Cox's father were dismissed.

Denunciation of Dr. Heard by the evangelist was the forerunner of difficulties between the church factions which led to requests for martial law.

While court was in progress, Evangelist Jeffers spoke to a gathering of followers assembled for prayer meeting, and continued to denounce Dr. Heard and members of his faction, despite warnings of officials. Officers said they consider that the personal attacks of the evangelist on the minister the root of the trouble.

Coming here to conduct a revival, he accused Dr. Heard of improprieties while the latter was pastor of a church at Big Spring, Texas.

LITTLE CHANGE SHOWN IN BUSINESS SITUATION PAST WEEK

ROAD OFFICIALS DUE SUNDAY TO ATTEND PARLEY

Texas and Oklahoma Chiefs To Hold Conference Here

AGREEMENT SOUGHT ON ROUTING OF HIGHWAY

Expect to Clear Obstacles To Designation of Route

Heads of the Oklahoma and Texas highway commissions were scheduled to arrive in Wichita Falls about noon Sunday for a conference which was expected to clear the last technical obstacles interfering with the securing of a federal designation of a highway extending from the Canadian to the Mexican border.

Word was received at the chamber of commerce here late Saturday that Sam Hawks, chairman of the Oklahoma commission, expected to leave Oklahoma City by automobile early Sunday. D. K. Martin, chairman of the Texas commission, was to drive here from Fort Worth.

The visitors will be greeted and entertained by members of the highway committee of the chamber of commerce. Members are J. S. Bridwell, chairman; J. L. Jackson Jr., president of the chamber; W. B. Hamilton, Orville Bullington, J. H. Allison, R. E. Shepherd, Burton Stayton, M. A. Bundy, W. M. McGregor, Ben G. Oneal and C. C. McDonald.

To secure a federal designation of a highway, it was explained, it is necessary that states through which it passes must make certain that their respective links connect so as to form a reasonably direct interstate route. North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma highway officials already have agreed as to their connections. All that now remains to be done, it was added, is an agreement between Texas and Oklahoma as to the connection of their highways between Wichita Falls and Frederick. Federal designations are secured through the National Association of State Highway Officers, of which Mr. Martin and Mr. Hawks are members, and which meets next Sept. 29 at Salt Lake City, Utah.

Chief advantages of a federal highway, it was said, are that it secures identical markers along the entire route and thus is more easily followed, and that ordinarily appropriations for needed construction work are more readily forthcoming.

Slight Improvement in Business Looked for This Month and Next By Leaders in Several Industries

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (UP)—Little change occurred in the general business situation during the past week. Aside from natural seasonal activity in retail trade, conditions in the basic industries were about the same as before Labor day. Slight improvement is looked for this month and next.

Meanwhile, plans of all kinds were put forward to alleviate suffering from unemployment in the coming winter.

Abroad, the seriousness of the European financial situation was indicated by the drastic measures contained in the British chancellor of the exchequer's plans to balance the budget. Together with several important domestic dividend reductions by prominent railroads and industrial concerns, the outlook did not appear particularly bright, although in some quarters there was a tendency to view the situation more optimistically.

This was true of the steel industry, where, in the face of another drop in output, leaders expressed some hope of a moderate upturn shortly. Structural steel continued in most demand, but it was to the automobile industry that steel people looked for some improvement.

Ford Reaches Peak

With Ford expected to reach the peak of his employment by the middle of the current month and increases taking place in workers in other plants, there were indications that automobile output this month would be well in excess of the small number of cars and trucks turned out in August.

The situation in the petroleum industry was somewhat confusing. Martial law was lifted from the East Texas fields and production went ahead on a proration schedule. Leaders looked for the future trend of prices, which this week remained firm. Oil fields in Oklahoma still were under control of the military.

The coal industry felt some seasonal improvement, wholesale coal being firm and active. Wholesale and jobbing lines were fairly active as were manufacturers of shoes and clothing. Business failures for the week, as reported by Bradstreet's, showed an increase.

A better tone in the grain markets was in evidence, particularly in the wheat pit, where prices moved forward narrowly but steadily as a result of the change in sentiment. Cotton dropped to new lows for the year on the government crop report, but subsequently rallied. Rubber and other commodities were relatively steady.

Stocks and bonds were weak, leading issues on the New York stock exchange breaking through their June bear market lows, but there was some recovery near the end of the week.

Southwest Review

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 12. (UP)—General business conditions in the Southwest this week showed the same trend as during the preceding seven days.

Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma will harvest better than average corn crops, while Nebraska and Colorado will run under the yield of last year. Wheat futures continued depressed.

Grain men in the district were mostly optimistic regarding the wheat situation. Many anticipate a technical rally in the near future, a local authority reported.

In the petroleum industry the week showed little change. The East Texas wells were open, producing 400,000 barrels daily under proration orders of the state railroad commission. The Oklahoma field continued closed under martial law awaiting the $1 price per barrel demanded by Gov. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray over a month ago.

Large shipments of stocker and feeder cattle to southwestern markets were predicted for September and October. Less livestock was reported on feed than for the corresponding period of last year. Otherwise no noticeable change occurred in the industry.

Trade, both wholesale and retail, was seasonally dull. Stocks on hand at department stores were under those of a year ago.

Demand for lead and zinc last week was good. Buyers took all contracts offered. Prices remained unchanged, and zinc sales were the largest reported for the past five weeks, numbering 3,650 dry tons.

Debits continued to run about 20 per cent under a year ago. There was no demand for credit or money. Collections were slow and under the like period of last year.

Fruit conditions were unusually good, reported the federal reserve research department. Prices, however, were poor, especially in peaches and apples.

Flour sales ran below last week's totals. Southwest mills sold 72 per cent of capacity, compared to 83 per cent a week ago and 86 per cent a year ago, according to the Northwestern Miller. Bookings with few exceptions involved comparatively small orders, over 5,000 barrels being rarely seen.

STOCKS CONTINUE FORTNIGHT RECORD DECLINING PRICES

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (AP)—Stocks were limping badly as they concluded a fortnight of declining prices today.

Instead of following the Friday rally the market turned decisively downward after a moment's hesitation at the opening and when trading closed the Standard Statistics—Associated Press weighted index of 90 issues was down 2.6 points to 96.2, only 1.3 points above the June 2 low of the bear market.

Sales totaled 756,645 shares, a fairly large Saturday turnover for these days. About half of the volume came in the last half hour when the lowest quotations were made.

Traders Disappointed

Traders were obviously disappointed that none of their rumors had come true.

These reports had concerned some rather nebulous "constructive news" expected out of Washington.

American Telephone was pounded down nearly 5 points, presumably because of uncertainty in brokerage circles over Western Electric's payment. A. T. & T. touched 159¾ and closed at 160, off 4⅛. Telephone's manufacturing subsidiary, virtually wholly owned, cut its payment earlier in the summer and the fact that this quarter's meetings, scheduled for last week, had been postponed until next Tuesday, received a bearish interpretation.

Westinghouse flopped 4 points to a new low. Its $4 annual rate is regarded in Wall street as vulnerable in view of reports that new business has been falling off. Rails affected by similar considerations included Delaware & Hudson, Reading and Baltimore & Ohio.

U. S. Steel Declines

U. S. Steel made a stand against the trend but finally gave up the fight and dropped 2 points. Allied Chemical, American Can, American Tobacco "B," Goodyear, Johns-Manville, Eastman Kodak, Western Union, Consolidated Gas, North American, Coca-Cola, Du Pont and Case lost 2 to more than 4 net. General Electric retreated to another new minimum.

Statistical information at the week-end reflected the difficulties confronting some major industries. Refiner copper stocks rose in August for the fifth successive month, thus strengthening the case of those producers who favor curtailment of output.

Although the expected advance in steel operations, following Labor day dullness, is being experienced, there seemed to be some doubt that the recovery could be maintained beyond the middle of next week. Youngstown plants will start the week at 39 per cent, a rise of 11 points from the holiday low.

COTTON UNABLE TO HOLD EARLY RISE IN LATE TRADING

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (AP)—After a steady opening on overnight buying orders, cotton turned easier today. December contracts sold off from 6.94 to 6.81, and closed at that figure, with the general market barely steady at net declines of 7 to 11 points.

The opening was steady unchanged to an advance of 4 points on the overnight buying. October sold up to 6.75 and March to 7.22 on the initial demand. October later declined to 6.60 and March to 7.10, and closing quotations were at practically the lowest.

A good part of the day's trading was attributed to the usual week-end evening up and business was generally quiet with the market sensitive to comparatively small orders.

Liverpool cables reported that covering, and trade calling in the market there had been supplied by hedging and prices were just about as due to a shade lower than expected on the New York close of Friday. The amount of cotton on shipboard at the close of business awaiting clearance yesterday was estimated at 66,000 bales against 104,000 last year.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 12. (AP)—Cotton was moderately active and prices fluctuated narrowly and somewhat nervously today.

As cables were better than due, the market opened unchanged to 2 points up but prices soon turned easier owing to hedge selling, an easier stock market and to delay in the action of the Texas legislature in handling the cotton problem. By the end of the first hour, the market had declined 8 points. The market continued to ease off to the very end making lows for the day at the close.

Weakness in stocks, considerable hedge selling and liquidation by recent buyers were causes of the late decline. The market closed steady at the start, showing net declines for the day of 10 to 12 points. Liverpool is due Monday 4 to 5 penny points down on New Orleans.

Port receipts 29,794, for season 497,448, last season 1,257,239; exports 25,563, for season 388,171, last season 630,795; port stocks 2,809,197, last year 2,163,579; combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 55,154; last year 91,502; spot sales at southern markets 29,178, last year 42,277.

Liverpool Cotton

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 12. (INS)—There was a moderate business done in opening spots cotton today with prices steady. Sales amounted to 4,000 bales.

At midday, middling fair sold at 4.39, strictly good middling at 4.48d, good middling at 4.13d, strictly middling at 3.88d, middling at 3.73d, strictly low middling at 3.58d, low middling at 3.38d, strictly good ordinary at 3.18d, and good ordinary at 2.88d.

Futures were steady with October at 3.59d, December at 3.64d, January at 3.65d, March at 3.72d, and May at 3.81d.

MODERATE LOSSES FOR CURB MARKET SATURDAY TRADING

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (AP)—The curb market was unable to throw off its recent habit of declining today, despite the brief effort toward higher levels late yesterday.

Losses were largely of moderate proportions, but trading maintained the somewhat more active pace initiated at the start of the week. The turnover of 130,000 for the two-hour session was but slight under yesterday's hourly rate.

It was notable, however, that the market seemed to meet support around the low levels established in yesterday's early trading. Electric Bond and Share sagged more than a point to 29⅝, the bear market low established yesterday, and held at the level.

American Gas and Electric lost 2 points, and American and Foreign Power Warrants 1. Middle West Utilities held about steady Mid West states, which has no connection with Middle West Utilities, sagged a fraction to a new low at 6.

Alls eased in spots, but were lightly traded.

Cotton Seed Oil

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (AP)—Bleachable cottonseed oil closed easy today, 5 to 15 points net lower. Easiness of cotton and the bearish August consumption estimate of 193,797 barrels, against July consumption of 216,950 barrels and August last year of 319,997 barrels upset sentiment. Sales were only two contracts. Crude oil was barely steady, at 3⅞ to 4 in the southeast and valley and 3⅝ to 3¾ in Texas.

Bleachable spot closed 4.50, Sept. 4.90; Dec. 4.80; Jan. 4.91; March 4.95. There were sales of two contracts of March at 4.82 in the prime summer yellow contract with closing prices as follows: Spot 4.25; Sept. 4.60; Dec. 4.60; Jan. 4.75; March 4.80.

NUMBER OF BOND ISSUES DROP TO NEW LOW LEVELS

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (AP)—The bond market declined irregularly today, although trading was not particularly heavy, and a number of issues reached new bottom levels for this year and in some instances for several years.

The average price of 60 corporate bonds, composed of equal numbers of public utility, rail and industrial issues, hit a new low at 90.4, a net loss of three-tenths of a point. The average for 20 industrial bonds touched a new minimum level also at 81. Railroad issues were generally lower and public utility loans fluctuated narrowly without a definite trend. Such trading as developed was concentrated in a new leading issue of the various groups. No sales of any sort were reported in a number of bonds.

Dullness in United States treasury and liberty bonds and narrow mixed changes contrasted with the strength and activity in them yesterday.

The slump in domestic corporate bonds plainly reflected a lack of bids rather than heavy selling pressure. Erie series B 4's dropped 3⅝ points to a new low at 60⅛ on a single minimum transaction. This bond is picked at random and many other similar instances could be chosen out of the rails and industrials to demonstrate the thin nature of the market.

Wool Market

BOSTON, Sept. 12. (AP)—A slight decline in prices on 64's and finer territory wools became evident this week. Uneasiness over the price outlook on fine territory wools developed, as a result of slow trading, the unsettled goods market, the decline in prices at the opening of the season in Australia, and a fairly liberal supply of fine territory wools on the Boston market. Prices were fairly steady to strong on grades below 64's and on choice combing 64's and finer fleeces of which the supplies are more restricted than in the case of territory fine wools.

GRAINS FOLLOW IN DOWNWARD WAKE OF SECURITIES PRICES

CHICAGO, Sept. 12. (AP)—It was a case of Jack and Jill in the markets of grain and stocks today. Securities fell down, and cereals came tumbling after. Final quotations both on wheat and corn were at almost the day's bottom level.

Wheat closed heavy, ⅝@1c lower, corn 1¼@1⅝c off, oats showing ¼@⅜c decline, and provisions varying from 5c setback to 10c advance.

Wheat bulls received a black eye at the start. Liverpool quotations showing less advance than expected in view of yesterday's sharp gains on this side of the Atlantic.

Decided downward impetus developed to wheat prices here only after stock market weakness became somewhat acute. Meanwhile, predictions of frost in Argentina more than offset any bullish effect from earlier reports of rust.

Fears were expressed in some quarters that the federal farm board's recent wheat export operations might be construed as "dumping," and would lead to retaliation. Mageness of new export business in North American wheat today had a further bearish influence.

Provisions held about steady, responsive to scattered buying.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—Sept. 47⅛c; Dec 49⅝@⅝c, 50⅛c; May 54⅛c, 55⅛c. Corn—Sept. 40⅛c, 32⅝c; Dec. 37c, 38⅛c; May 41⅛c, to 42⅛c.

Allison of the Boy Scout executive board, when he addressed the scoutmasters in regard to continuing scout work with the reduced budgets. Frank Creighton, city scout executive, offered some suggestions as to how the scoutmasters could lend their assistance.

The swimming roundup for all the scouts desiring badges was set for Sunday, Sept. 20, at 3 p. m.

COL. H. J. WEILER APPOINTED TO MILITARY POST

Lieut. Col. Herold J. Weiler

Formal announcement that Lieut. Col. Herold J. Weiler, oil operator here for more than 10 years, has been detailed for duty in the operations section of the war department in Washington, D. C., effective Dec 1 was made here Saturday.

The appointment will necessitate the removal of Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Weiler and their two children, Miss Eleanor and Herold Jr., to the national capital.

Colonel Weiler is the senior national guard officer in Wichita Falls. He has been in the national guard continuously for more than 25 years, having held every rank from that of private to lieutenant colonel. He saw service on the Mexican border during the trouble there in 1916 and served through the world war. He went to France with the 36th division, but later was transferred to the headquarters of the seventh army corps. He also was with the army of occupation in Germany following the war.

Colonel Weiler is a native of Illinois, but has spent most of his life in Texas. He located in Wichita Falls immediately after his discharge from the army following his return from Germany.

He is a graduate of the field artillery school at Fort Sill and of the command and general staff school at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

WILLIAMS SENDING SCHOOLS PORTRAIT COUNTRY'S FATHER

Announcement was made Saturday by Congressman Guinn Williams that every schoolroom of every school in his district will, within a few weeks after the opening of the new school term, receive a beautiful portrait-poster of George Washington, executed in colors.

The portrait to be used in these posters is a reproduction of the famous Gilbert Stuart Athenaeum painting and will be 22 inches by 28 inches in size. This poster was selected after a good deal of study, and is considered the finest example of poster making available.

The poster-pictures featuring George Washington are being distributed by Congressman Williams in cooperation with the United States George Washington Bicentennial commission of Washington, D. C., in order to stimulate interest among the thousands of school children of his district in the coming nine-month celebration of the 200th anniversary of the birth of the father of our country.

Congressman Williams is in constant touch with the activities of the United States George Washington Bicentennial commission which was created by congress to formulate and execute plans for the great celebration in 1932.

The United States commission is placing a good deal of emphasis on the cooperation of the school children of America in this historic event. This poster-picture is just one feature of its work.

Congressman Williams announced that he will see to it that the schools, clubs, churches and fraternal and patriotic organizations in his district will be adequately supplied with literature to be issued by the United States George Washington Bicentennial commission.

Aid Secretary Seeks Homes for School Children

Several children without homes are being kept in local charity boarding homes, but a limit of funds with which to maintain the children makes necessary an urgent plea for aid from individuals, according to Mrs. Harley Snyder, executive secretary of the Children's Aid society.

Mrs. Snyder stated that the children, most of whom are large, willing, and intelligent enough to help in home chores, must go to school. They must have food, clothing, and a few school supplies, but, due to reductions in the budgets of the various departments of the community chest, great difficulties arise now in supporting all the unfortunate children who must go to school.

Furthermore, Mrs. Snyder said, the children certainly need the touch of a home, which they can never fully receive in an orphan's boarding home or any similar institution. The children are charming youngsters, wide-awake and willing. They will make any foster parent or temporary mother or daddy very proud, Mrs. Snyder stated, speaking from experience.

"The older children realize to some extent their circumstances, and most of them do not want to be a burden. They are eager to make good, if only they had a chance."

If the individual cannot keep a child in his own home, when he has the money he could give the Children's Aid society a sum sufficient to take care of at least one child. The secretary would keep in touch with the donor, showing him the development of the child whose young life he is sponsoring, Mrs. Snyder explained.

Mrs. Snyder may be interviewed by calling 2-2183.

OPEN NEW ROAD FROM HERE TO ARCHER COUNTY

Grading of the Wichita county portion of highway No. 66 along the right of way approved by the state highway department from the south end of Holliday street southward to the Archer county line was completed Saturday and the road opened, according to the announcement of M. A. Bundy, county commissioner from precinct No. 1.

All of the work was done with county employes and materials, Mr. Bundy said. The road forms a link in the recently designated state highway extending from Oklahoma to the Mexican border and touching Burkburnett, Wichita Falls, Windthorst, Jacksboro, Mineral Wells, Hico, Hamilton, San Antonio and Hidalgo, among other points.

The new opened portion of the highway in Wichita county eliminates a number of curves and somewhat shortens the distance of the road it replaces. It is about two and a half miles long. The right of way is 100 feet in width.

The Archer county portion of the road also has been graded, although it is showing signs of wear, it was said.

Long Life and Happiness — from Dad

HER father's wedding present to her twenty-five years ago was a check for a handsome amount. : : : Life looked rosy to her and her young inventor-husband. It seemed right and proper to them both that the wedding gift should be used to finance his "great invention". But years of hard work failed to make his machine work. The inventor died suddenly, his dream unrealized. His wife, alone in the world, is forced to "look for a position" at a time of wide business depression.

In discussing her difficulties, she said, "How I wish I'd taken Father's check and made sure of it by putting it in a Trust Fund. In the long run my husband would have been better off, and certainly I would, too."
