Large Crowd At Annual Reunion Of County Pioneers

The Lynn County Pioneer Association Reunion, held last Friday in the City Park here, drew possibly the largest crowd of early day settlers of any held is the 12 years of the organization. Possibly 600 or more were present when the barbecue lunch was served at noon.

Mrs. Jack Fenton (Frankie Wells), secretary, supervised registration of 300 guests, but there are known to have been at least twice that number present.

President Truett Smith, who presided throughout the day, called the meeting to order at 11:15 a. m., and Rev. Ben Hardy pronounced the invocation. On behalf of the city, Bill Strange Jr., gave the welcome address, and Judge C. H. Cain the response. The program for the day was arranged under the direction of Oscar Roberts. Mrs. Clay Bennett presided at the piano.

Dr. Sam Dunn of Lubbock, who graduated from high school here while his father was pastor of the Tahoka Methodist Church, was the principal morning speaker His reminiscences were greatly enjoyed by the audience.

Following the barbecue, Jake Leedy appeared in comic Mexican dress and proceeded to entertain the crowd for some time.

Possibly the highlights of the program were the impromptu talks made by a number of oldtimers.

Mrs. Bonna Stokes of Bangs told of coming here in 1907 and seeing her first automobile. Sadie Dyer of San Angelo related interesting experiences. Bill Thompson told how he started killing coyotes to save his chickens and ended up as a coyote hunter with 500 to his credit. I. M. Draper told of his arrival here. Mrs. Doak of Lubbock told of

N. C. Crutcher, 47, Drowns In Lake

Nolan Carter Crutcher, 47, of Newmoore in this county, was drowned in Fort Phantom Hill lake about ten miles northwest of Abilene at about 7:30 p. m. Saturday evening while he and others from Newmoore were preparing to do some fishing in the lake. The others in the party were his step-son, Donzell Crutcher, 20, and Jack and Hubert L. Webb. Newmoore is situated about 15 miles west of O'Donnell.

Crutcher had waded out into the water chest deep some distance from the others in the party. They heard him scream for help and then saw him go down under water. The step-son, Donzell Crutcher, tried to reach him but was unable to stay afloat long enough to locate the elder Crutcher.

Abilene firemen went to the rescue but were unable to find and recover the body until about 6:40 o'clock Sunday morning. The body was taken to the Laughter-North Funeral Home in Abilene and was brought to Tahoka Sunday night. Funeral and burial orrangements were under the direction of the Stanley Funeral Home of Tahoka, the services being held in the O'Donnell Methodist Church at four o'clock Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Elder V. J. Lowrance of the Primitive Baptist Church. The cemetery.

Tahoka Will Be Closed July 4th

As has been the custom for many years, practically all Tahoka business institutions will be closed all day next Monday, July 4th, according to an agreement among members of the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce.

There will be no special holiday events in Tahoka, and most of the citizens will spend the day resting, while others will visit kinfolks, go to the mountains, or attend special entertainment events elsewhere.

Dr. Prohl Reports On Rotary Meet

President-elect Dr. Emn Prohl of the Tahoka Rotary Club and his wife returned last week end from New York City, where they attended the annual convention of Rotary International. He made a report on his trip at the meeting of the Club Thursday at noon. Dr. Prohl succeeds School Superintendent Vernon Brewer, who has served efficiently as president of the service organization the past twelve months

Dr. and Mrs. Prohl report a great trip. From Fort Worth they rode one of the five special trains which went from this state to the convention city. They stopped over briefly to see the sights and to attend Rotary meetings in Chicago, Toronto, Canada, and Niagara Falls.

There were 16,000 in attendance at the convention, held in Madison Ssuare Garden representing 64 of the 80 nations of the world in which there are Rotary Clubs.

He declares the fellowship of these various delegates from all over the world impressed him greatly, and he was surprised at how nearly the thinking on world problems on the part of the people they met from various nations corresponds with the thinking of the people right here on the South Plains.

They attended all the sessions of the convention humanly possible, and took a taxicab trip to interesting places over the City.

While at the convention, Dr. and Mrs. Prohl met another Doctor and his wife who live in Boston, and the latter couple invited and escorted the Prohls to their home in the Massachusetts city after the convention. This trip and visit they likewise enjoyed greatly.

Will Pave Street To Compress

Paving will be laid from Lockwood Street at the Burleson Grain corner north on Randall Street about eight blocks to the Union Compress, according to E. R. Edwards, ompress manager, who engineered the deal.

Mr. Edwards has signed up property owners along the route, and the Compress will bear a large portion of the expense. The paving will be an asphalt topping on an eight inch caliche base and 20 feet wide. Driveways on the compress grounds, a large parking area, and the interior of one warehouse will also be paved.

The paving work will be done by Pete Zohn, Lubbork contractor,, who is erecting the big, new 160 by 145 foot cotton warehouse on the compress grounds. The paving is strictly an independent project, and has no connection with the proposed City of Tahoka paving program.

The new warehouse building is an extension to the south of the main warehouse, making the building a total of 440 feet in length from north to south.

Bootleggers Fined Total of $2,340.00 In Court Here

Thursday of last week was a dark day for the boot-leggers of Lynn county, especially for those who operate in O'Donnell.

State liquor enforcement officers swooped down on the town, spread their nets, and caught one white man and six negroes who confessed in court to violations of the state liquor laws. Total fines and costs assessed amounted to $2,340.10, jail sentences, 150 days.

The defendant who received the heaviest penalties was a white man, Jimmy Nowlin, whom the officers charged with two sales of liquor. He entered a plea of guilty to each charge in the county court. In the first case he was fined $500.00, and in the second case $250.00 with a jail sentence of 30 days.

Rose Moore, an O'Donnell negro woman, was charged in two cases with the sale of whiskey and was fined $150.00 in each case.

Lillie Belle Brown, also a negro woman of O'Donnell, was likewise charged in two cases with the sale of whiskey, and upon pleading guilty, she was also fined $150.00 in each case.

Lonzo Cole, a negro man, O'Donnell, was charged in two cases with the sale of whiskey, pleaded guilty, and was fined $150.00 and sentenced to jail for 30 days in each case.

Archie White of O'Donnell, colored, was charged with the unlawful possession of intoxicating liquor for the purpose of sale, pleaded guilty, and his punishment was fixed at a fine of $150.00 and 30 days in jail.

Louise Wigfall, a negro woman, was charged with the unlawful possession of liquor for the purpose of sale, entered her plea of guilty, and was fined $100.00.

Lillie Belle Brown, in a third case of sale filed against her, pleaded guilty, and in that case the punishment was assessed at a fine of $150.00 and 30 days in jail.

The state liquor enforcement officers had received some help, the News is informed, from some of the local officers in unearthing the evidence.

Grassland Man's Troubles Almost Equal Those of Job

"It not only poured out rain when it rained on the J. R. Mathis family but it poured out hard luck too."

That is the way an account of the Mathis family's troubles, as reported to the News, began. Then the writer goes into detail, and from his story it seems that Mr. Mathis had a flock of troubles, almost equal to Job's.

"Because Mr. Mathis suffered from heart trouble and arthritis," the story continued, "he hired most of his crop planted twice, and it was washed away both times. He then set in to plant it himself the third time. Not being able, he re-broke some ribs that had been broken before and had to finish in this condition.

"Their daughter, Mrs R. V. Burnes, had fallen and injured herself and after leaving the hospital stayed at her parents' a week.

"Mr. Mathis had two good milk cows he had turned down $200.00 apiece for. One got down with the milk fever. Water was over their road and they couldn't get help. Then last Thursday, while grazing their cows, the other one ran across the cess pool, caving it in and falling in herself. Mr. Mathis reinjured himself again from pulling her out. They finally pulled her out with the tractor, but don't think she will ever get up.

Mr. Mathis is unable to work, so his son got off one day and is helping clean out his crop, and the son-in-law will work one day."

Mr. Mathis and family live in the Grassland community.

Russians Claim Capture of First 'Baby' Whale

MOSCOW.—The crew of the Russian whaling ship Slava reported from Odessa that they made the first catch on record of a live baby sperm whale during a hunt in the Antarctic.

Unfortunately, the crew members said, they had no proof since the ship's biologist ordered the whale set free because he required more than a ton of condensed milk daily to stay alive. The crew's report said:

The whale, which was as long as a Moscow trolleybus, at first resisted all attempts by the huskiest members of the crew to catch it. Finally, with the aid of a winch and rope, the whale was brought under control. When an extra heavy rope broke when they tried to pull the baby whale aboard it was decided to tow it back to Odessa alive. But the ship's biologist ordered the whale's liberation because it required daily more than a ton of condensed milk.

Difficult Problem

Catching a baby whale is more or less like taking a fingerling trout, in that it violates sound conservation practices, Dr. Harold Anthony, chairman of the Department of Mammals of the New York Museum of Natural History, said.

Declaring that the capture of a whale calf is also extremely difficult, he suggested that the baby caught by the Russian whalers had probably been turned loose on that account. The young whale could not have been kept alive in any event, Dr. Anthony said. Even had the Russian factory ship been prepared to furnish the estimated ton of condensed milk a day, and to devise a formula and to induce the infant cetacean to take it, the baby would have suffered most probably from over-feeding, he indicated.

Explaining that there are gaps in scientific knowledge of whales, because their submarine habits make observation difficult, he said:

"A young whale would require several hundred pounds of milk a day, but I doubt that it would require a ton."

Has Collection

The Museum of Natural History has a collection of young whale specimens, including a cast of an infant sperm whale that found its way into the Gowanus canal in Brooklyn about 15 years ago, presumably by following a ship after becoming separated from its mother. Whaling literature lists calves 40 to 50 feet in length found following their mothers and presumably subsisting on milk.

The conservation of whales, made necessary by the great efficiency of modern methods of killing them, is the subject of an international convention signed at London in 1937 and revised in 1938. This agreement provides for an observer on factory ships to see that the conservation provisions, including non-molestation of calves and their mothers, are carried out.

Russian ships, however, are presumably not bound by the convention, since the Soviet Union is listed among the nations that abstained from signing in 1938.

Tides Said Slowing Up Planet, Extending Day

WASHINGTON.—Tides raised by the moon in the earth's liquid core are slowing the planet's revolution and increasing the length of the day. This thesis is advanced in a report prepared for the official organ of the British association for the advancement of science by Dr. W. M. Elsasser of the University of Pennsylvania.

It long has been known that the length of the day is increasing by a minute fraction of a second each year. This generally has been attributed to the frictional drag of tides in shallow seas, the Bering sea alone accounting for almost half the effect.

However, it also is known that the core of the earth is liquid in a strange form—iron at an enormously high temperature but under tremendous pressure. But it would respond like water to the pull of the moon, Dr. Elsasser says.

These internal tides act like brakes on the earth's rotation, he explains. This theory, he says, satisfies the observed rates better than if the retardation were ascribed to the drag of sea tides alone. The theory assumes that the core of the earth is rotating somewhat more slowly than the shell and that there are areas of tidal turbulence, essentially storms inside the earth.

The idea of drag due to internal tides receives support from long-time records of changes in the earth's magnetism in local areas, recently published by the terrestrial magnetism department of the Carnegie Institution of Washington. These indicate a different rotation rate for the core and the crust and a gradual displacement of the latter from East to West. It is almost as if there were two rotating planets, one inside the other.

Mrs. G. E. Hogan Buried At McAllen

The News received a telegram Thursday afternoon, June 23, from George Hogan III, stating that his grandmother, Mrs. G. E. Hogan, 79, had died that day in a Corpus Christi hospital and that funeral services would be conducted Saturday in McAllen, where she had lived for nine years after leaving Tahoka. A later message from a funeral home stated that Rev. W. N. Clark, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Pharr, would officiate and that interment would be in Rose Lawn Cemetery, McAllen.

Mrs. Hogan, together with her husband and other members of the family resided in Tohoka for about twelve years, coming to Tahoka from Archer City in 1927 and moving away in 1939. Mrs. Hogan had lived in McAllen practically ever since, until moving to Corpus Christi recently. Mr. Hogan died at McAllen a few years ago.

Mr. Hogan was engaged in the mercantile business here, selling dry goods and clothing, in the building now occupied by the Clay Bennett Variety store, from the time he came in 1927 until he was incapacitated by bad healh shortly before moving away in 1939. Both he and Mrs. Hogan were active members of the First Baptist Church, and he taught a men's down-town Bible Class in a theatre nearly all the time he resided here.

He was generally regarded as probably the best Sunday School teacher and one of the best Bible scholars that had ever lived in Tahoka, preachers included. He and Mrs. Hogan left an indelible impress upon this town.

Survivors include two sons, Geo. Hogan Jr. of Corpus Christi, and Col. E. L. Hogan, U. S. Army, retired, El Paso; one daughter, Mrs. Bryce Ferguson of Pharr; two sisters and one brother residing in Arkansas; and eight grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Hogan had been a memper of the Baptist Church from childhood.

Veteran of War Buried Sunday

Funeral services for Walter Lewis Eaker, 20, who died Thursday, June 23, in the McKinney Veterans Hospital, were conducted at four o'clock Sunday afternoon in the O'Donnell Baptist Church by Rev. John Johns, the pastor. The young man had been paralyzed for eight months.

Burial was in the O'Donnell cemetery under the direction of the Stanley Funeral Home of Tahoka. Military honors were accorded the deceased in graveside rites conducted by the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars organizations of O'Donnell.

The youth is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arch Eaker of O'Donnell; two brothers, Daniel L. Eaker of Chicago, Ill., and Ivan Eaker of O'Donnell; and three sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Emmons of Houston, Mrs. Ruth Fair of San Antonio, and Miss Louise Eaker of O'Donnell.

Young Eaker was born on October 10, 1928, in Montague county. The family removed to Lynn county in 1929, and the child grew up into young manhood in this county.

He had been in the McKinney Veterans Hospital scarcely a week when death came.

He was a member of the O'Donnell Baptist Church and was highly esteemed by all who knew him.

But when the height is won, then is there ease,
Though grievously hard in the winning. —Hesiod.

D. E. Jester, 82, Died Sunday

David Ed Jester, 82, who had resided in Lynn county most of the time since 1927, died Sunday afternoon at about 1:30 o'clock in the Mercy Hospital in Slaton. The deceased had been suffering for some time from recurring attacks of heart trouble and death is attributed to a sudden attack of that disease.

Funeral services were conducted in the First Baptist Church in Tahoka at 3:00 o'clock Monday afternoon with burial in the Tahoka cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. C. T. Aly, the pastor.

For the past several years, Mr Jester had been living around among his children. Recently he accompanied his son A. D. Jester of Ney Lynn to Tahoka and while here had a check-up of his condition at the Seale Clinic. His condition seemed to be better than usual at that time, and he is said to have eaten heartily that night. He then went to the home of a daughter, Mrs. C. H. Jackson of Slaton. He spent the night there, ate breakfast, and was sitting in a chair conversing casually with his daughter. Suddenly she noticed that he had slumped over in his chair. That was on Wednesday. He was taken to the Slaton hospital, where he failed to rally but lived on until Sunday afternoon.

Surviving him are two sons, A. D. Jester of Tahoka, and Farley Jester of Sudan; and two daughters, Mrs. E. D. Crouch of Lubbock, formerly of Tahoka, and Mrs. C. H. Jackson of Slaton. His wife, three sons, and one daughter preceded him in death.

Survivors also include 22 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren.

Mr. Jester was a native of Mississippi, having been born in that state on January 20, 1867. He spent a great portion of his life in Texas, however, and came from Clarkesville, Texas, to Lynn county in 1927. He had resided here most of the time since.

FARMERS SHOULD APPLY FOR COTTON BENEFITS

Mr. W. B. Griffin, Lynn County Agent, announced that according to Mr. L. O. Buchanan, who is in charge of the Lubbock Cotton Branch Office, Production and Marketing Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture, this week marks the beginning of the eleventh season of operation of the Lubbock Cotton Classing Office.

The Lubbock office serves cotton farmers in Lynn county.

Last year 99.4 per cent of the cotton ginned in this county was classed by the Lubbock office. Mr. Griffin said. This amounted to 51,227 bales.

Farmers belonging to organized cotton improvement groups under the Smith-Doxey Act can get their cotton classed without cost. Also they can get free market news service.

Applications for these Smith-Doxey Act benefits should be filed immediately after the group members have planted their cotton with your ginner 1701 Avenue H, Lubbock, Texas, or with the the office of the County Agent. Applications can be secured from county P M A Office, ginner, Lubbock Cotton Office, or the office of County Clerk.

To date no applications have been filed with the Lubbock Office. "To make sure farmers secure all the benefits due them under this program, their group application should reach the Lubbock Office by July 15," Mr. Griffin said. However, applications will be accepted by the Lubbock Office until August 15.

BAPTIST PASTOR HAS BUSY WEEK

Returning last Friday from a two-week vacation spent by himself Mrs. Aly and daughter Jo Helen in northeast Texas, Rev. C. T. Aly was in his own pulpit again last Sunday morning, but hastened to San Angelo following the morning services to preach the sermon in an ordination service at 3:30 in the afternoon held in Park Heights Church, his former pastorate, in which a young man was ordained into the Baptist Ministry. The young man, Robert Fike, was one of fourteen youthful members of that church who had surrendeded to preach during Rev. Aly's pastorate there. He was the fourth one of the number to be ordained.

On Tuesday, the pastor, Mrs. Aly, Jo Helen, Miss Lydia Bravo, and Mrs. W. P. Hutchison attended the Baptist Assembly in session on the assembly grounds near Floydada.

Returning home in the afternoon, he was the inspirational speaker for the Brotherhood in the O'Donnell Church that night. The Brotherhood was recently reorganized there, under the leadership of the new pastor, Rev. John Henry Johns. While the membership is small it is very active. Among its activities is its placing of a neon sign at the front of the Church building and its decision to place a couple of drinking fountains on the premises.

The Tahoka pastor will be in his own pulpit again next Sunday. He has announced his sermon subjects for the day as follows:

Morning: "The Compulsion of Compassion."

Evening: "The Perseverence of the Saints.

Everybody cordially invited.

Slaton Is Victor Over Tahoka

Tahoka lost to Slaton on the local diamond Sunday 8 to 10.

Tahoka was playing Slaton at Slaton Thursday night. They will play a double-header at Denver City Sunday, beginning at 2 o'clock. The next home game will be on July 10th

Tahoka outhit Slaton 17 to 11, committed fewer errors and struck out fewer times. However, Slaton bunched all their hits but one in two innings, the fourth and seventh, for their ten runs. Also, they were aided by two double plays. In the fourth, Slaton's scoring drive was furthered by two walks issued by the Tahoka pitcher, and the fact that the Tahoka second baseman overran second base on a double play ball. The scoring in the seventh was aided by two fielded bunts that went for hits when the Tahoka players got mixed up and no one covered first base. Tahoka left eleven renners on base to five for Slaton.

Doyle Lane continued his hitting streak by getting four hits including a triple. Thuren and Harvick each collected three hits, while Holcomb, Jacobs, and Bob Rogers hit safely twice.

Holcomb for Tahoka allowed 11 hits, struck out 11 batters, and walked three. Tahoka collected 17 hits, two walks, two hit batsmen, and struck out eight times against three Slaton pitchers.

1924 Senior Class Holds Reunion

In the evening of June 23, Thursday of last week, nineteen members of the High School Class of '24 gathered in the banquet room of the new R. E. A. building and proceeded to stage a celebration commemorating their 25th anniversary.

For some time, Mrs. Jack Fenton had been talking of such a celebration, and with the help of the other local members of the class, this was the culmination of their plans.

With few exceptions, each class member had brought his wife or husband respectively. Robert Noble of Brownfield presided as master of ceremonies. A reception committee met guests at the door and pinned on them carnation corsages of white and gold. After registration, the group enjoyed a very informal visitation. Many had not seen each other since 1924.

At eight o'clock the group went into the beautifully decorated dining room, where the Class colors of whie and gold had been used. Shasta daisies were on the table, and on the head table there were figures of '24" and "49" in gold and plastic foam. Programs carried the Class roll of '24 and were tied in gold. Place cards also carried gold stickers of spring flowers.

Children of Class members served at the tables and furnished several numbers on the program, namely, Mary Louise Fenton, Marjorie Clinton, Dottie and Shirley Floyd, and Beth Nelms. A quartet of local girls, Bobbie Cowan, Savannah Tunnell, Joretta Tippit, and Frances Haney, gave several interesting numbers. Robert Noble, presiding, brought many interesting and comical adventures of school days back to mind and introduced Jessibelle Clinton, who brought a paper on reminiscenses of each member of the Class. The paper closed by saying that even though few had become great philosophers or millionaries at least no one had spent a night in jail.

A candle-lighting service commemorating the progress and spirit of the Class, and in memory of the three, Jess Lockhart, Lee Baldridge, and Ovid Donaldson, who had passed away, was led by Mary Wilhoit.

Highlight of the evening came when each member was called on to introduce his wife or husband and to account for his past 25 years. Many interesting things were brought out and many school days re-lived.

Three teachers of the Class were present, Mrs. Lenore Tunnell, Mr. H. P. Caveness, and C. O. Carmack. Each in turn gave interesting accounts of their impressions of the Class. The singing of Old Lang Syne closed the program, and the group again gathered in the reception room for another period of visitation.

Those taking part in the celebration were:

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Taylor (Cricket Baldridge) Clovis, New Mexico; Mrs. N. E. Wood (Iola Nowlin), Tahoka; Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wilhoit (Mary Link, Tahoka; Mrs. J. B. Bedfearn (Berta Walker), Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs Sam Floyd (Sam Floyd and Marthie Slover), Lamesa; Mr and Mrs. James Clinton (Jessie Sargent) Tahoka; Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Nelms (Charles), Tahoka; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Price (Pearl Ketner), Tahoka; Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Noble (Robert), Brownfield; Mrs. Elbert E. King (Wilma Brashear) Seymour; C. O. Carmack (principal), Tahoka; Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Larkin (Frank), Tahoka; Fred M. Smith (Fred), Ingram, Texas; Lenore M. Tunnell (English Teacher). Tahoka; Addie Mae Wileman (Addie Mae Carmack), Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. Borden C. Davis (Minnie Curry), Tahoka; Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Ellis (Elva Sikes), Brownfield; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Bovell (W. T.), Muleshoe; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wiginton (Faye George), Lubbock; Mr and Mrs. Jack Fenton (Frankie Wells), Tahoka; Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Caveness (Superintendent), Tahoka.

Other members of the class who were not present were:

Wayne Burkhart of Houston; Agnes Duffy of Decatur; Thelma Taylor of California; A P. Edwards of Springer, New Mexico; J. B. Walker of Seminole, Texas; and Tom Short of Port Arthur.

March of Dimes Aids Polio Fight

A record total of $25,728,000 was raised in the 1949 March of Dimes to continue the fight on polio, it was announced today by Clint Walker, chairman of the Lynn County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The comparable figures for last year was $21,600,000.

Mr. Walker disclosed results of the 1949 March of Dimes appeal following receipt of a letter from Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation, who expressed his thanks to the American people and the thousands of volunteers throughout the country who made the drive the most outstanding in the organization's history.

Half the sum raised after expenses will be used by national headquarters to support its research, professional education and training programs, and to supplement resources of its local chapters in epidemic emergencies. Chapters retain the other half to pay for care and treatment of polio patients and epidemic aid.

Mr. O'Conner's letter to the local chapter chairman declared that, despite the record breaking drive "the need for funds to fight polio still remains extremely critical" because of the unusually severe epidemics experienced in recent years.

"Last year's epidemic, the worst in 32 years, exhausted reserves of the National Foundation," Mr. O'Conner disclosed in his letter. "In the five-year period ended in 1948, the 96,974 cases of infantile paralysis recorded in the nation were more than double the 42,738 cases reported in the preceding five-year period. At the same time, per patient costs of hospitalization and medical care also have more than doubled in the last decade.

"The doubled case-load, multiplied by doubled hospitalization costs, has meant a burden in medical care alone for the National Foundation that has increased more than fourfold in recent years.

At the same time, research, to find a cure or preventive for the disease has been stepped up to the limit of our resources. Now that many hopeful signs are beginning to appear on the research horizon, we cannot relax our effort in this direction.

"With epidemic reserves accumulated by national headquarters from previous years wiped out at the end of 1948, we were enabled to carry on our medical care program only because many of our chapters came to the rescue. These chapters, in areas unaffected by epidemics in recent years, made substantial contributions to the national emergency epidemic aid fund helping us to carry on until receipts from the 1949 March of Dimes started coming in. Total reserve funds of chapters, therefore, have also been depleted appreciably.

"Unfortunately, 1949 incidence figures to date show no sign that any relief from the heavy toll of the disease experienced in recent years is in sight. Besides the heavy burden of care for cases carried over from previous epidemic years, we are again faced with a possible new heavy case-load this summer.

"While it is impossible at this time to predict how heavy this year's case-load will be, there is grave doubt that tven the record sum raised in the 1949 March of Dimes will prove adequate to carry on our full medical care and research program in the current year."

Opera Singers Aided By Hearty Appetites, Caruso Chef Claims

NEW YORK.—The news that the Hollywood tenor Mario Lanza had reduced from 220 pounds to a sylphlike 185 filled John Tirassa with horror.

It makes him think of the days Enrico Caruso would storm into his kitchen in artistic distress because he thought he detected that one of his chins was disappearing.

"John," the great tenor would moan, "you must think of something more fattening. I must have resonance. Resonance must have bulk. Do you want me to sing only to the first rows of the orchestra? Remember there are five balconies at the Metropolitan opera house."

Caruso was a good eater, he ate what he liked and let the calories fall where they might. And Tirassa thinks it was something more than a coincidence that he was also the greatest tenor who ever lived. Similarly he wants to know where there is today a basso like Feodor Chaliapin, a man of gargantuan appetite.

"As Caruso's chef I cooked for Chaliapin and for many other great stars of opera like Mme. Schumann-Heink, Luisa Tetrazzini, Mary Garden, Jean De Reszke, Alma Gluck, Antonio Scotti and Nellie Melba," he recalled. "There wasn't a reducing diet among them. And how they sang! These emaciated singers of today couldn't stand on the same stage with them."

Child Returning $53,000 Presented With $5 Reward

MONROE, WIS.—Because the "pencil case" she found on the sidewalk was really a bank deposit folder containing $53,000, seven-year-old Sharon Broge got some new shoes.

Sharon took the case home and opened it with the assistance of her five-year-old sister, Diane, and her nine-year-old brother, Gary. Instead of pencils they found currency and papers. They were disappointed.

An older sister, Lavon, 16, saw what the children had found, and she and her mother, Mrs. Helen Broge, notified the police. The money and negotiable securities were turned over to a cheese company whose clerk had dropped the folder en route to the bank. Police did not disclose the identity of the company or the clerk.

The cheese company presented Sharon with a $5 bill. When Sharon finished showing it around the neighborhood, she bought some new shoes.

American 'Jayeees' Lavish Gifts on Brussels Mayor

BRUSSELS.—Americans bearing gifts crowded into the ancient town hall and presented Burgomaster Joseph Van de Muelebroeck with offerings ranging from a sack of oranges to a plastic tablecloth.

In a happy-go-lucky ceremony, members of the United States delegation to the fourth world congress of the International Junior Chamber of Commerce named the burgomaster "official salesman of democracy." Delegates from 14 nations were present.

Joseph H. Saunders of Alexandria, Va. vice-president of the American delegation, gave Van de Muelebroeck a leather bound volume of "Documents of Freedom" and a bound copy of George Washington's will, the latter on behalf of the city of Alexandria.

West Virginia's Arthur Belton produced pamphlets illustrating his state's industrial accomplishments and a special passport to permit the burgomaster to "tour our little Switzerland of America."

Minnesota's Coope Hamon of Minneapolis offered a canvas and leather gun case to remind the burgomaster that Hamon's home state is a "hunter's paradise."

With all his gifts stacked up beside him the mayor thanked the Americans for their generosity and good wishes and then gestured toward a table laden with wine bottles.

"The drinks," he said in good Americanese, "are on the house."

Ex-Merchant Prince Dies With Only $6,176

LONDON.—Harry Gordon Selfridge, American-born merchant prince of London who once entertained Kings, died with only 1,544 pounds ($6,176) to his name.

The size of his estate was disclosed when his will was filed for probate. Selfridge died in May, 1947.

Selfridge made and lost two fortunes. At the height of his career he was a confidant of European royalty and nobility and entertained lavishly on his English estates.

He founded the London store that still bears his name after he had worked in Chicago with Marshall Field, who taught him department-store operation. The London store encountered financial troubles during the depression. Selfridge retired in 1939 with a continuing salary of 2,000 pounds ($8,000) a year.

He was born in Ripon, Wis., and spent his boyhood in Jackson, Mich.

Dearborn Company Builds New Plant

Dearborn Motors Corporation, the national marketing organization for the Ford Tractor and Dearborn farm equipment, has just made public the announcement of their very important construction program. This will include the building of a $2½ million general office building, laboratory, and warehouse and the establishment of a multi-million dollar research program.

The new building will be located on a 45-acre site on 15-Mile Road near Coolidge Road east of Birmingham, Michigan. This has been selected to give sufficient area for present plans as well as room for possible expansion. Construction will begin shortly, and Dearborn Motors believe they will occupy the new facilities early in 1950.

The main unit will be a three-story office building with approximately 85,000 square feet of office space. The laboratory and warehouse will be in another building of 165,000 square feet. The laboratory will house the expanded product research development and testing activities of Dearborn Motors Corporation. This expansion includes a substantial increase in man-power to continue basic research in new methods of agriculture mechanization and to improve present methods.

The Deer Lake Hills Farm, near Clarkston, Michigan, will continue to play an important part in products field operations. Also, Dearborn Motors Testing Corporation will continue to use testing areas in various sections of the country.

Their decision to go ahead with these projects involving several millions of dollors reflects the confidence Dearborn Motors has in the long term future of their business as well as the soundness of the farm equipment industry.

The Stewart Company of Dallas and San Antonio are the Texas distributors of the Ford Tractor and Dearborn farm equipment, and the local Ford Tractor dealer is Lynn County Tractor Co. adv.

an additional half-section and drilled the first irrigation well on his land. Since then Mr. Morrow has drilled two other wells, the supervisors reported.

The first well has a capacity of 1200 gallons per minute. The other two are 1000 and 1100-gallon wells.

The original half-section, the south half where there is a large lake, of Mr. Morrow's farm was terraced in 1940.

In the fall of 1943, following drilling of the first irrigation well on the north half of the section, approximately 20 acres were planted to alfalfa. Mr. Morrow used this alfalfa for grazing and also cut enough hay from it for his own use. In 1946 he terraced the northwest quarter of the section, where there is also a large lake.

Now good crops of wheat are growing in both lake areas.

In 1948 Mr. Morrow drilled the second irrigation well—this one on the south half-section. It turned out to be the 1000-gallon well, from which the Lynn district farmer irrigates down to the beginning of his terrace system.

With the assistance of technicians of the Soil Conservation Service, who work in cooperation with the Lynn County SCD, approximately 18 acres of land joining his farmstead were bench levelled in the fall of 1948. Eight acres of this the farmer planted to straight alfalfa for hogs, cattle and hay. The remaining 10 acres were planted to permanent pasture, using a grass mixture of Perennial ryegrass, orchard grass, home grass, and a small amount of alfalfa.

This spring three additional acres near the Morrow farmstead were bench levelled and planted to Sudan grass. However, Mr. Morrow will plant this three acres to alfalfa or birdsfoot trefoil this fall, he said.

Plans for additional bench levelling on his farm this summer include 10 more acres near the farmstead. This acreage will also be planted to alfalfa and used for hay late this year.

Mr. Morrow completed his terrace system on the entire farm in the spring of 1949. He has one spiral terrace, around the lake on the north section, that is approximately six miles in length.

The third irrigation well which is an 1100-gallon well, was drilled on the Morrow farmland early this year. Water from this well will be used on cropland, alfalfa, permanent pasture, orchard, and home garden.

The Morrows have a modern, attractive home, which has recently been enlarged by addition of three rooms. There are also a garden plot, young orchard that is planted to clover and birdsfood trefoil and a grape vineyard. Peach, plum, pear, apple, and pecan trees all are growing in the orchard.

Mr. Morrow keeps 150 hogs, 25 head of cattle, and four horses on his permanent pasture and alfalfa.

Mrs. Stanley Attends Grandfather's Funeral

Mrs. Joyce (Neal) Stanley left Tuesday morning for Big Spring and thence Bangs, Brown county, to attend funeral services at the later place for her grandfather, John H. Sheffield, 77, who died Monday in a Big Spring hospital and who was to be buried Wednesday afternoon at Bangs.

Funeral services were to be conducted at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the Methodist Church in Bangs. Death resulted from a stroke.

Mr. Sheffield had formerly lived at Bangs but since the death of his wife several years ago he had been living with his daughter, Mrs. Jim Terry, in Big Spring. He had gone back to Bangs for a visit a few days ago and while there he suffered a stroke. He was then brought to the Big Spring hospital for treatment but lived only a day or two. O'Donnell Juniors Defeat Tahoka

O'Donnell defeated Tahoka 15 to 6 in the Junior American Legion baseball competition, the game having been played here Monday afternoon of this week.

The Tahoka boys got away to a good start with four runs in the first inning and played excellent baseball for four or five innings, but then their youth and inexperience caught up with them and the visitors, somewhat older and larger on the average, started hitting and capitalizing on Tahoka miscues.

This afternoon, Friday, the boys play at Brownfield, on Tuesday they play at O'Donnell, and on Wednesday, Brownfield comes to Tahoka for a game. All games are played at 4:00 o'clock p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Walker have recently moved to Cross Plains, Texas.

Dr. Prohl . . .

(Con'd. On Back Page)

To advertise Tahoka and the South Plains, Dr. Prohl took with him 250 packets of Tahoka Daisy seed, which he gave to Rotarians from all over the world. Incidentally, he also initiated a lot of men into the "Yellow Dog" organization, for which Tahoka is becoming famous far and near.

They returned to Tahoka last Friday, but went on to the Foster Ranch in Culberson county, near Van Horn for their children, Karl and Martha Ann, who had been visiting their aunt, Mrs. Bill Hale and husband. The family returned home Monday.

Montie Ray Keltner and family of Oxnard, California, are here visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Keltner, but will leave early next week for Cherry Point, North Carolina, to visit Mrs. Keltner's relatives.

(By E. I. The Elder

At the Old Settlers' Reunion here last Friday "Aunt Bonna" Stokes, a resident of Tahoka for more than thirty years, who now lives at Bangs in Brown county, told about seeing her first automobile. It was in 1907, at night. She had no advance notice of its approach. She received her first intimation that something unusual was about to happen when two glaring lights burst upon her vision in the south as the machine came puffing up the road across the prairie into the confines of the little town of Tahoka that had not yet doffed its infant clothing. The strange lights scared her. She was still wondering what it was all about when it suddenly dawned upon her that the strange contraption which had just arrived was an automobile.

Well, possibly nearly every person present over fifty years of age could remember the first time he, or she, ever saw an automobile.

The first one I ever saw was in Temple, Texas, along about 1903, possibly, where I then lived. It was a buggy-wheel, rubber-tired, and buggy-top contraption, with the motor and the rear wheels connected with a chain, the motor being cranked from the side. A blacksmith named Knight owned it. Pretty soon Dr. McKelvey bought one, and in three or four years there were as many as seven or eight in the county, owned mostly by the wealthy. Of course, by that time, 1907, the models had been improved somewhat—and the buggy-style wheels outmoded.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

This is a secular newspaper and it does not presume to discuss in its editorial columns religious doctrines or practices except as they may pertain to government and politics, but when any great ecclesiastical organization undertakes to overthrow or to ignore any of the great fundamental principles on which this government is founded then it becomes the legitimate object of discussion and criticism by the secular press. One of the most vital principles upon which our government is founded is the principle of Separation of Church and State. This was regarded so important by our forefathers that they wrote it into the Constitution of our country, and we believe that it has also been written into the Constiution of every state in this union. Now there is one great and influential religious body in this country which has flagrantly ignored this fundamental principle of our government. Out here in New Mexico the Roman Catholic Church virtually took charge of many of the public schools of the state. They openly taught their doctrines in the class rooms. The insignia of this so-called church was displayed indischiminately in the schools and on the school property. Public money was used to pay the Salaries of these Roman Catholic teachers. Finally, these violations of our Federal Constitution became so flagrant that tax-paying citizens filed suit to put a stop to these infractions. They produced the evidence and won the suit. Judgment was rendered by the Court inhibiting such use of public funds and usch prostitution of the public schools to the service of the Roman Catholic Church. But New Mexico is not the only state in which this organization seeks to use the public schools to its own ends. That is being done in Texas in a measure this very day. It is seeking to induce the State to pay for the text books used in the Parochial schools; and it is seeking to induce the State to furnish transportation of children to the parochial schools. Under the guise of a magnanimous desire to promote education and democracy, it is undertaking to annul this great fundamental principle of Separation of Church and State which has been written into every Constitution, state and federal, in our country. Americans should be ever on guard.

Odds & Ends . . .

When I moved out to Roscoe about the first of December, 1908, there were two or three of the machines in the town, or, if not then, two or three were purchased soon afterwards. They were continually breaking down, however, and most people still preferred the horse-and-buggy method of getting about.

It must have been about 1910 or 1912 when they began to come into fairly general use. But they were still regarded as a kind of nuisance out on the public roads, for horses almost invariably took fright at the approach of one of the machines. To protect the public, there was a law requiring the driver of an automobile to stop his machine upon being given a signal by any person on the road to do so and to remain stopped until the person had passed the automobile.

* * * * *

I remember one lawsuit down at Roscoe that grew out of a car driver's alleged failure to stop when so signaled.

A young man who lived out two or three miles west of Roscoe was riding into town one morning on a spirited young saddle horse, when he saw and heard an automobile coming meeting him at the terrific speed of perhaps fifteen or twenty miles per hour, puffing and snorting loud enough to be heard several hundred yards. The rider of the horse lifted his hand signaling the driver of the car to stop, he claimed, but the driver kept coming. The horse, frightened, reared up and fell backward. Luckily the rider was not seriously hurt but the horse was killed by the fall. The rider brought suit for the value of the horse and was awarded a judgment for $100.00 in the justice court, but the car driver appealed the case to the county court at Sweetwater, where a jury rendered a verdict in his favor. Cars were then becoming more and more numerous and the prejudice against them was steadily abating.

* * * * *

Automobiles were not the only revolutionary vehicles of transportation that made their advent in the first years of the present century. I can remember very distinctly when the Wright Brothers, Orville and Wilbur, had made their first really successful airplane flights in December, 1903, at Kitty Hawk, North Carolina, although their flights had been of short duration and they had flown only short distances. That navigation of the air had been proved practicable however, had been demonstrated to the satisfaction of inventors and scientists, and that was the real beginning of the marvelous system of air navigation that we have today.

* * * * *

It was along about that time also, or a little later, that I saw my first motion picture. Motion is right, too. The picture on the screen flickered and fluttered so that it actually hurt one's eyes to look at it long at a time. The first one I ever saw was in Belton. It must have been along about 1905 or 1906.

The talking picture, as most people know, did not arrive until little more than twenty years ago.

The motion picture supplanted the Magic Lantern shows, which came at infrequent intervals to the various school communities for either—who could not find ways to night exhibitions during the last quarter of the last century.

Many of us can remember when Marconi invented or developed wireless telegraphy back in the "gay nineties." This development was followed later by "wireless telephony," which made possible the present-day radio. The radio has virtually outmoded and retired from the homes of America the Edison Phonograph, which was so popular for a quarter of a century. Many of us can remember when the primitive phonograph or talking machine could be heard by only one person at a time, listening through tubes placed to the ears.

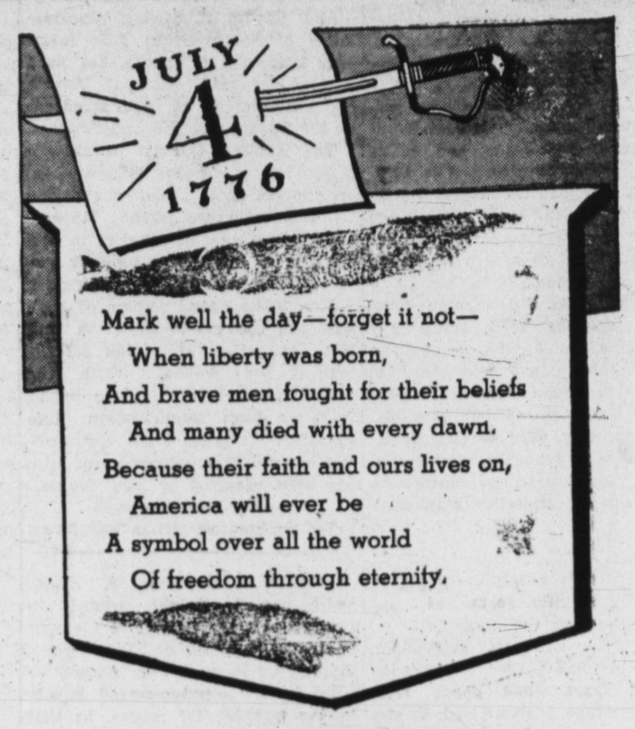

* * * * *

Yes, and even telephones in our childhood days were a rarity.

Without telephones, phonographs, radios, picture shows, automobiles, and airplanes, this must have been a dull old world, you kids will think. Well, we have never seen a bunch of kids yet—or young people entertain themselves. Guess the world was just about as happy in the "gay nineties" as it is in these furious forties.
