Three Die In Flaming Home Near Spur

Nine Persons Killed As Tornadoes Strike Midwest

THEIR FIRST REAL CHRISTMAS — Goggle-eyed with wonder, German children are fascinated by the window display of a toy shop in Frankfurt, Germany. Members of a generation that has known nothing but war and its aftermath of privation, these youngsters and thousands of German children like them are seeing mechanical toys for the first time in their lives. Germany, once one of the world's biggest producers of such toys, has been exporting all postwar production up to this year. (AP Wirephoto.)

Storms Take Heavy Toll

(By The Associated Press)

TORNADOES killed nine persons in Missouri and Arkansas Sunday, jumping to 39 the number of lives lost through violent weekend weather.

An extensive blizzard, icy roads, high winds, rain, fog and snow plagued parts of the nation and took their toll in lives, property damage and blocked traffic.

Six persons were killed and about 15 injured in a late afternoon tornado around Popular Bluff, Mo. Four were members of one family, caught in the burning wreckage of their demolished home. No serious damage was reported in Poplar Bluff, but telephone lines were blown down and some streets flooded by heavy rain which followed the storm.

Tornadoes Rip Towns

In northern Arkansas, three or more communities were hit by tornadoes which killed three persons and injured at least 10 others. The storm caused property damage of at least $50,000.

The twisters began at Clinton, Ark., about 70 miles northwest of Bald Knob. They destroyed four homes there and damaged several others.

An hour or so later, a small tornado hit the communities of Cross Roads and Providence, about 10 miles north of Bald Knob. Two persons were killed at Cross Roads and another at Providence.

Damage Is Heavy

Seventeen buildings in Providence were destroyed or damaged, and state police estimated damage there at between $50,000 and $60,000. Two houses at Cross Roads were destroyed.

In addition to the tornado deaths, 30 lives were lost over the weekend in accidents brought on by weather conditions.

Seventeen persons died Saturday in highway crashes caused by bad weather. In addition, traffic took 15 lives in Texas, during a period of short visibility. A flyer crashed in Texas fog, a Montana man froze to death, three persons were killed on icy Minnesota roads and one on a wet Indiana pavement. Fog in Michigan and a rainstorm in Kansas City caused five traffic deaths, and a child was struck by light-

FRIGID COLD WAVE LOSES FORCE

Mercury Expected To Hit New Season Low Here Early Today

By ROGER SOUTHALL
Avalanche Staff Writer

THE rip-snorting cold wave which late Saturday was racing toward the South Plains and Panhandle area, calmed down somewhere along the way and did not arrive as scheduled Sunday morning.

To be sure it was cold over the South Plains Sunday, with temperatures dropping from 49 at 1:30 a.m. to 43 by shortly before noon, and then after a brief rise, dropping to 27 by 11:30 o'clock last night, and were expected to hit the middle 'teens early today.

The high temperature for the day was 49 at 1:30 a.m. However, temperatures climbed to 47 early Sunday afternoon before beginning their downward plunge once more.

But the snow-bearing mass of Arctic air which was scheduled to move into this area last night seemed stalled north of Amarillo, and it was

Sweetwater Woman Killed In Highway Accident Here

MRS. P. M. Hutchins, 49, of Sweetwater, was killed in a two-car collision about 7:50 a. m. Sunday at the intersection of Ave. A and the Slaton highway in Southeast Lubbock.

Her death was the 100th traffic fatality in the South Plains area this year, and the 43rd in the past 43 days.

The dead woman was a passenger in a 1941 Ford sedan driven by her husband, 61, a Sweetwater salesman. He was not injured.

Mrs. Hutchins died of head injuries shortly after she was taken to Lubbock Memorial hospital by a Rix Funeral home ambulance. She apparently had been thrown against the windshield or dashboard.

Driver of the other car, Mrs. Mada L. S. Watson, 29, of 518 Fortieth street, was not injured.

Came To Visit Son

Mr. and Mrs. Hutchins had come to Lubbock for a Sunday visit with their son, Wayne Hutchins, of 2510 Thirty-sixth street.

Investigating Texas Highway patrolmen said Mrs. Watson was driving north on Ave. A, and was in the center of the intersection when the collision came. Patrolmen said Mrs. Watson was crossing the intersection on a green light.

The Hutchins car, heading west, collided with the center of the right side of the 1946 Buick sedan being driven by Mrs. Watson.

The body of Mrs. Hutchins was taken to McDonald Funeral home after her death and later was taken overland to Sweetwater for funeral services and burial there.

McDonald Funeral home reported only survivors learned here were the husband and the son, Wayne.

Only one other person was injured in accidents during the day.

Mrs. Ruth Robinson, 46, of Monahans, suffered a fractured pelvis and a slight head injury in an accident at 9:10 a. m., Sunday, at the intersection of Twenty-third and Ave. G. She was not in serious condition in Lubbock Memorial hospital where she was taken.

The accident happened when a car driven by Rado Shelton, 22, of 606 East Main place, struck the left front of Mrs. Robinson's car. Police issued a traffic summons to Shelton for negligent collision.

Members of Carpenters Local union No. [illegible] retained their perfect record of support for the Lubbock Goodfellows.

The Lubbock Goodfellows first were organized 15 years ago to play Santa Claus to the needy children of Lubbock on Christmas day. Fifteen times, during bad years and good, the carpenters' union has sent in a generous check. The $50 contribution acknowledged today is as large as any received this year.

The donation was appreciated all the more because the campaign is moving more slowly than in most past years. The Goodfellows still need

Mother, Two Small Children Are Victims

Mrs. John Phillips Claimed In Futile Rescue Attempt; Husband In Hospital

(Special To The Avalanche)

SPUR, Dec. 11—Three persons—a 24-year-old mother and two of her three children—died about 7:30 a. m. today in a fire that destroyed a two-room house shared by two families seven miles northwest of here.

Dead were Mrs. John D. Phillips, Barbara Ann, six months, and Ronald Eugene, 2.

The husband and father of the family was in Nichols General hospital here late tonight with third degree burns on his face, neck and forearms. Phillips, 20, was described by attendants as in "fair" condition.

One Child Unhurt

The third child, Janice Marie, 3, was not hurt. Phillips had shoved her out the door of the room.

The fire began when a kerosene cook stove exploded as Mrs. Phillips was cooking breakfast for her family. A second explosion came seconds later when a five-gallon can of kerosene blew up, showering the room with flaming oil.

Less than two hours later, the frame building had burned to the ground and the three bodies were removed.

"Puff" Is Heard

Another Phillips family occupied the other room of the house, located on the Bill Calvert farm. Spur is 70 miles east of Lubbock. Jesse Phillips, 40, uncle of John Phillips, said he was just getting out of bed when he "heard a puff," apparently from the cook stove.

"Then I heard an explosion right after that," Jesse Phillips said. In the room with him were his wife, 29, and their two children, Ada LaVerne, 15 months, and James Amos, 5.

"We all ran outside," Jesse said. "I tried to go in to get some of them but I couldn't get in the door because of the flames. The whole room was burning."

Treated For Burns

Jesse Phillips later was treated for facial burns ranging from first to third degree. "I didn't know I had been burned until later," he said.

He told his account of the fire to The Morning Avalanche by telephone, although his burned ears and lips made talking difficult.

"As I reached the door, John came running out. His clothes were not on fire. His wife had started out the door with him, but she wheeled and ran back into the flames. John grabbed at her, but she pulled away. He called for her to come back.

Water Is Dumped

"I picked up a tub of water on the front porch and threw it in the front door, thinking it would cut the fire down enough to let me in. It didn't do any good at all.

"John was running around outside and yelling. He tried to get back in the house a couple of

Worker Slain At Levelland

By TOM DAVIS
Avalanche Staff Writer

SUNDAY shootings in Lubbock and Levelland left one person dead and two others in hospitals to give the South Plains a total of four deaths by gunshot wounds in the past week.

Henaro Gonzales, 28, transient farm laborer from Brady, died in a Levelland street shortly before 11 a.m. Sunday after being shot once in the chest with a .22 rifle.

In Lubbock Memorial hospital last night was Charles B. Sims, 40, negro of 2304 East Ave. D, who was shot in the stomach, lower chest and right arm with a .22 rifle about 2 a.m. Sunday in a Queen City cafe. Attendants said he was in "fair" condition.

Also at Lubbock Memorial hospital was Henio Pedillo, 48, of 210 Ave. M, who was shot in the calf of the left leg with a pistol shortly before 8 p.m. Sunday at 124 Ave. K.

Saturday morning, Mrs. Margaret Rogers, 56, was shot to death with a shotgun in the kitchen of a rooming house at 2105 Main. Her husband, Walter T. Rogers, 65, remained in Lubbock county jail in denial of bail last night on a charge of murder with malice.

A week ago, on Sunday, Dec. 4, Roy Aldrich, 30, shot and killed his estranged wife, Velma Louise Aldrich, 23, in a cafe in the 100 block E. Broadway, and then took his own life by firing a bullet into his head.

In the Levelland shooting, Albert Herrera, 28, was lodged in the Hockley county jail on a charge of murder with malice in connection with the death of Gonzales. Herrera, a farm laborer, has lived in the Levelland area

Sawyer May Ask Tax Cut

By ROSE McKEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Commerce Secretary Sawyer indicated today he will urge President Truman to favor repeal of wartime excise taxes in the Chief Executive's forthcoming message to Congress.

The cabinet member said that on his recent tour of the nation the suggestion he heard "most frequently" was for a reduction or repeal of excise taxes.

Sawyer said he will report to the White House on his tour and make "certain suggestions" of his own to the president. Asked if he would recommend repeal of the excise taxes, Sawyer replied:

Would Be Incentive

"I don't care to anticipate my own report specifically. However, there is no doubt that repeal of excise taxes—as would be true of any tax relief—would be an incentive to business."

Mr. Truman was joined at Key West today by Treasury Secretary Snyder for a conference on government money policies. Snyder was the latest top government official to discuss high policy concerning the 1951 budget with Mr. Truman during the President's working vacation.

Budget Director Frank Pace sat in on the day's discussion, which presumably included the tax position the President will outline to Congress. Snyder is to fly back to Washington tomorrow.

Four Picnickers Die Under Falling Rock

VICTORVILLE, Calif., Dec. 11. (AP)—A 70-ton slab of rock broke off from Dead Man's point and crashed into Lucerne valley today, killing four picnickers and seriously injuring two others.

The sudden tragedy horrified the dozen survivors, who scrambled to safety as the huge chunk of granite roared down upon them.

The 18 persons, all friends, had driven their cars to Lucerne valley on the edge of the Mojave desert. The prominence is known as Dead Man's point.

A big fire was started. Apparently loosened by the heat and recent rains, the big chunk of rock cracked off and fell.

Frantic efforts to dig out the victims proved futile.

With the aid of railroad timbers and the jacks, rescuers lifted the rock so that the victims could be removed.

One of the picnickers, Wilburn Herschman, Pomona, Calif., identified the dead as Robert Asper, 35, and Mrs. Jessie Isom, 45, both of Upland, Calif., Harold Bovette, 40, Ventura, Calif., and Mrs. Frances Morris, 38, Pomona.

Envoy Reports 'Hellish Treatment'

U.S. Diplomat, Staff Freed By China Reds

By TOM LAMBERT
Associated Press Staff Writer

ABOARD LAKELAND VICTORY, off Tientsin, Monday, Dec. 12.—Angus Ward and his staff of 19 U. S. consulate members were freed from Red China to this ship of haven today.

Ward first boarded the Lakeland Victory alone. He said the Chinese Reds refused to let the other 19 aboard until he signed a statement that they boarded "safely and without molestation."

Ward refused. Lengthy argument with the Chinese Communist officials followed.

The party already had been held by the Reds in Manchuria more than a year. For 28 days of that time, Ward was jailed—with little or no heat in freezing temperatures.

Ward Signs Statement

Finally, Ward signed a statement for the Tientsin municipal people's government public safety bureau saying he and his group "safely and without molestation" were aboard the Lakeland.

The balance of the party then came aboard.

Ward told newsmen he had suffered "hellish treatment" from the Chinese Communists in Mukden.

He said he plans to go to Kobe, Japan, on the Lakeland.

Then he will depart Jan. 3 on the President Wilson for San Francisco. He will go on to Washington to report to the State department.

Plans Vacation

After that he plans a vacation with his brother, Teffell R. Ward of Allegan, Mich.

His tale of his Mukden experiences was one of constant, unrelenting restrictions.

"I haven't moved, except under cover of armed guard, since Nov. 20, 1948," he declared.

During his stay in Mukden, he was permitted to go, under escort, to the consulate building and the Standard Oil company compound, where other consulate employes lived.

The newly freed U. S. consul general told reporters he had been kept 28 days in jail, 24 days in solitary confinement. That, he added, was in an often unheated sometimes underheated jail in Mukden.

Ward, his wife and staff had been detained in Mukden, Manchuria, his post, by the Reds since they captured that North China metropolis late last year.

After 10 months of unexplained detention, (even the U. S. State department couldn't free the staff

Key Atomic Spy Believed In USSR

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. (INS)—A Capitol Hill investigator said today that the man who could— but doubtless wouldn't—give all answers to the uranium-to-Russia mystery slipped away from the U. S. early in 1945.

He was Arthur Alexandrovich Adams, alleged to have been the "atomic specialist" in Russia's wartime spying on her ally.

Adams reportedly eluded his Federal Bureau of Investigation watchers in Portland, Ore., early in 1945 and presumably escaped to the Soviet Union.

Arrest Forbidden

Former FBI agent Larry Kerley testified last September that under State department orders the FBI could not arrest Adams but G-men sought unsuccessfully to prevent him from leaving the U. S. because he once was found to have atomic secrets in his possession.

Kerley, a member of the editorial staff of the New York Journal-American, and Miss Elizabeth Bentley, confessed former spy queen for the Reds in the U. S., both identified Adams on Capitol Hill as the Soviet espionage ring's atomic expert.

It was learned that probers other than the house un-American Activities committeemen were reviewing the Kerley and Bentley

Officers Alerted For Holdup Pair

Lubbock and South Plains officers were alerted Sunday for a man and woman who held up and robbed a Slaton service station attendant of $35 early Sunday morning.

Pete Phillips told J. E. Morris, night patrolman of Slaton, that the couple took the money at gunpoint about 1:30 a. m. near a drive-in cafe in the south part of Slaton. Phillips was off-duty at the time of the robbery.

Phillips said the woman took the money out of his wallet while the man held a "nickel-plated or chrome-plated" gun on him. She then tossed the empty billfold at his feet and the couple disappeared down an alley, he told Morris.

Woman Described

He described the woman as 5 feet 6 inches in height with dark brown hair, about 18 or 19 years of age and wearing blue jeans and a light-colored blouse.

The man, Phillips said, was about 22 or 23, about 6 feet tall, 160 pounds and with a light complexion and sandy hair.

Another Slaton robbery case came to the attention of officers in Lubbock when two negro brothers charged with taking $212 from a Slaton negro were returned here late Saturday night after their arrests in New Mexico.

C. B. Searcy, 49, remained in county jail here last night on the Woman Killed, Five Others Missing In Michigan Blast

BIRMINGHAM, Mich., Dec. 11 (AP)—A terrific gas explosion razed an antique shop here tonight, killing at least one person. Five persons believed to have been in the building were missing.

The body of a woman, burned beyond recognition, was recovered from the debris several hours after the explosion. Four persons, including two police officers, were injured.

The blast rocked this fashionable suburban community north of Detroit. Police said leaking gas had accumulated in the antique shop in a two-story frame building.

Man Slays Family Of Four, Shoots Self

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Dec. 11. (AP)—An interior decorator and upholsterer wiped out his family including his wife, three small children and himself with a German luger pistol early today, police Det. Carl Locklar reported.

Locklar identified the dead as:

Carl Amarella, 34; Mrs. Millie Amarella, 33; Sandra, 6; Larry, 4; and Janet, one year old.

Amarella wrote a three-page note, Locklar said, after which he put single bullets into the heads of his wife, the children and himself.

Neighbors found the bodies.

Locklar said the killings apparently occrred between 3 and 4 a. m. today.

Hidden away in closets were unopened Christmas packages, apparently intended for the children. Christmas cards, some of them addressed to relatives, were lying on a table.

The note Amarella left rambled over three pages and was addressed to his attorney, G. H. Martin. It provided for disposal of the property and asked that as much as possible of the tragedy be kept out of the newspapers. The note concluded: "I guess that is all."

TEXAN IS CRASH VICTIM

ELECTRA, Dec. 11. (AP)—Waldo E. Bird, 60, was killed yesterday in a railroad crossing accident at Ashley, Ill., relatives here were informed. The body is being returned here for burial Wednesday. Waldo was employed by the Magnolia Petroleum Co.

Four Soldiers Found Suffocated To Death

TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 11. (AP)—Four soldiers, recently transferred from Fort Bliss, Tex., suffocated early today in a tourist cabin filled with smoke from a smoldering couch.

All apparently died in their sleep. They were preparing the tiny cabin for the arrival of the wife of one of the men.

Fort Lewis, where the men were stationed, listed the dead as:

Cpl. Bill Bond, 31, Abbeville, Miss.; Sgt. Bill Pendleton, 32, Ashland, Ky.; Pfc. Dennis Phelps, 22, Creswell, N. C.; and Cpl. James R. Elliott, 28, Seymour, Ind.

A neighbor, aroused by the smell of smoke, broke into the cabin and found two of the men on the bed, one on the floor and the fourth sprawled on one end of the smoking couch.

35 Persons Claimed By Violence In Texas

(By The Associated Press)

THIRTY-FIVE persons died of violence in Texas during the weekend. The weather was partly to blame for the high toll.

Traffc accidents killed 17 persons, 15 of them in mishaps Saturday when visibility was poor and roads slippery from fog and rain.

Ten persons were shot to death. Three died in a fire. Three died in two plane crashes. A man hanged himself. An oil worker was crushed to death.

These deaths occurred Sunday: George F. Griffith, 26, of Brownwood and his wife, 23, were killed when their light plane crashed and burned about 400 yards from the farm home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bristow. Griffith was circling the house about six miles west of Lometa, Sheriff Fred Mason said.

Carlos Z. Paredes, 20, died Sunday in San Antonio of a bullet wound in the throat. Paredes, who was shot Saturday night, died a few hours after his wife gave birth to a baby daughter. Police said Mrs. Paredes gave them names of several persons with whom her husband had had trouble.

Karl Wallace, 57, of Harlingen, was killed when the panel truck he was driving and a truck loaded with cotton pickers collided 15 miles north of George west. Four persons were slightly injured.

Jessie Lee Bowen, 31, Waxahachie construction foreman, was shot to death early Sunday following an argument outside a Dallas tavern. The tavern keeper told police he fired after trying to stop a fight between Bowen and two other men. He was released on

SOLON FEARS 'SURE DEFEAT'

GOP-Southern Democrat Unity Plan Is Scored By Republican

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. —Senator Aiken (R-Vt) said today a proposed coalition between northern Republicans and conservative Southern Democrats "would knock out all hopes for a Republican victory in future presidential or national elections."

He told a reporter he is completely opposed to the suggestion by Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) for the "realignment so the voters may have a chance to decide" issues that now cut across party lines.

"It simply would not work," Aiken said. "It would cost the Republicans the industrial northeast, now their stronghold. I know of no Republicans in that area who want to line up with politax Dixiecrats."

Aiken frequently votes with the so-called liberal or progressive wing of the Republicans.

Bricker proposed that leaders of the two groups enter discussions with the aim of forming "a real party of opposition." He felt the new party could break up Democratic control of Congress where southern Democrats and conservative Republicans often are found

Physicians Favor Approval Of Proposed $1,075,000 Bond Issue

AMONG those who will vote practically 100 percent for both bond issues in tomorrow's city election will be the doctors and others whose work is connected in any way with the public health.

A poll of representative physicians found them unanimously in favor not only of the $550,000 bond issue for enlargement of the sewage disposal plant but also of the $525,000 to buy rights-of-way for the completion of the City Highway Dispersal system.

Their greater interest, naturally, is in the approval of the disposal plant bonds. The expression voiced by Dr. William H. Gordon, whose civic activities are extensive, was typical.

"I cannot exaggerate the dangers of inadequate sewage removal and treatment facilities," he declared.

"Every day such a condition continues is a menace to the health of the community. Lubbock can consider itself fortunate that serious epidemics have not resulted already from the inadequacies of a sewage plant much too small for the city's requirements.

All Cynthia Lowry Wants For Christmas Is Diary

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALL I want in my Christmas stocking is a diary.

Not just any diary, but a one-year, big one, leather-bound and designed to endure through the years.

After considerable reading of biographies and autobiographies, I have decided to become what I believe is known as a diarist.

It is pretty apparent that all people who are walking toward greatness or even success manage somehow in their busy lives to keep a journal of their doings. Obviously most people don't know they are going to be fascinating enough to rate a book, so millions of people must scribble down their doings, thoughts and perceptions just on a long chance.

Take Mrs. Roosevelt, for instance. She undoubtedly has been keeping diaries and letters since girlhood. If she hadn't managed to note down her activities day-by-day she could never have written any of her books.

Mr. Churchill kept a meticulous journal and it's been money in the bank. Even military men, such as General Eisenhower, have some sort of a diary system which can be turned into volumes and royalties.

I read the other day that Zaharoff, the mystery man of Monaco, kept a journal of impressions for years—and that they were burned without anyone else ever reading them. This is the one kind of diary which I do not propose to keep.

An elderly relative of my family, never a writing man, turned up a diary he had written some 60 years ago. He spent days pouring over his young manhood. He was proud and punch of it, but as far as I could tell it gave a day-by-day report on the weather, the number of head colds current in the family and the number of miles he had walked each day to undisclosed destinations. Anyway it was fun for him to read in his twilight years.

ABOUT a year ago I decided I'd note down some day-to-day impressions myself, and set aside a dime notebook for the express purpose. Now, only a few months later, I find four entries in it, mostly concerned with climate, clothes I wore and confusing initials, obviously referring to people, but I don't know who. The rest of the notebook is filled with numbers, scratched in the course of balancing a bank book, and doodles which a psychiatrist would find more interesting than a historian.

I'm going to give diary-keeping one more chance by getting a journal that will give me a chance to expand. I shall note down all amusing remarks I hear, mention all the famous people I see or hear about and keep away from items like "m st buy stockings.' But I shan't run afoul of the old diarist's trick of confiding my heart's desire, complete with initials. That's gotten too many people into trouble already.

Becoming a diarist is my one bid for posterity. Who knows? If I copy enough gossip columns, some day I may be able to write my memoirs.

Lining Of Skirt Will Stop That Ungainly Sag

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Even though the tweed suit is fashion's newest pet, the tendency of the skirt to "sit out" may need to be curbed.

Almost any kind of soft woolen is apt to give in to the strain of a lot of sitting.

The way to solve the problem, however, of keeping the bulge out of the back of a new skirt is simple. Line the sitting area of the skirt with a piece of rayon lining material. Tack it inside of the skirt from seam to seam.

Since a new suit is a good investment and often must be used for several seasons, taking this precaution against skirt bulges is a good idea to put to work even before a skirt is worn.

Because the protective piece of fabric is tacked to the skirt lightly but firmly, the lining can be easily removed before your suit goes to the cleaners.

If the entire back of the skirt is lined—this should be put in from waistband to hem—a sitting-down spread is not only prevented, but a girl can for all purposes of shadow-proofing dispense with a slip or a petticoat.

Organized Reserve Units Are Offered Research Activities

New Army regulations provide peacetime training to insure maximum use in wartime of Organized Reserve corps officers qualified to engage in research and development activities, Major James R. Samsel, Lubbock ORC instructor has announced.

In areas of Texas where at least 10 Reserve officers, professionally qualified to work, desire establishment of a research and development unit, Texas Military district will recommend such a move to the Army. Wherever a unit already is established, applications will be made to the unit's commander. In all cases, the Department of the Army in Washington will give final approval.

Qualifications include at least a bachelor's degree from a credited institution and qualification to engage in a professional capacity in research and/or development. The Army can waive requirements if background and experience warrant.

Anyone interested in this program may obtain full details from Major Samsel, whose offices are in the Lubbock Cotton Exchange building.

British Conservatives Jubilant Of Australian Socialists Loss

LONDON, Dec. 11 (AP)—"It's Britain's turn now!"

That was the jubilant cry today of many British Conservatives, mulling happily over the defeat of Labor governments in Australia and New Zealand within the past two weeks.

Those Socialist reverses, the Conservatives theorize, demonstrate a definite trend to the right throughout the commonwealth. Labor partisans in Britain do not agree. They contend election results "down under" have no significance in Britain.

Labor leaders, including Prime Minister Clement Attlee, who must fix the date of Britain's general election soon, before next July, had nothing to say about Australia.

Labor party headquarters said there would be no statement. Individual leaders refused to comment.

Conservative jubilation was tempered by the Labor victory in a by-election at South Bradford last week. It was the 35th successive by-election Labor had won since it came to power in 1945, and, while in most instances Labor majorities were reduced, the Attlee government lost nothing in parliament.

JAPS TAUGHT U. S. FOOTBALL

Missionary Uses Unique Plan To Fight Communism In Japan

By CHARLES EINSTEIN
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—A bouncing, balding Kentuckian with eyes like bright gems told today how he is fighting Communism in Japan—with football, pharmaceuticals and community-type Democracy.

Paul Rusch, founder and overseer of the unusual village of Kiyosato, 100 miles from Tokyo, is spreading the gospel of hope and achievement on a 36-state speaking tour of the U. S. This is preparatory to returning to Japan and expanding the foothold of grass-roots democracy in the Far East.

Offers Varied Program

In the name of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, lay branch of the Episcopal church, Rusch founded Kiyosato 15 years ago. From a mountainous terrain dotted with 39 Japanese towns, 40,000 people can come to the village for medical treatment, recreation, books, spiritual guidance or down-to-earth lessons in American farming methods.

Also football. In the old days, as a professor of English at Tokyo's St. Paul's university, Rusch was best known as the man who introduced football to Japan.

There's a league of ten Japanese universities now, playing everything up and likely including the two-platoon system, and they don't do too badly.

It's part of Rusch's idea that the best way to boost American democracy is to take its component parts and put them to work.

Fights Communism

"You have to do that," he says. "The way to turn the people from Communism is to show them something better. There was someone who said, 'give every person a full cup of rice and you can wipe out Communism in the Far East,' and he was absolutely right."

Rusch himself, a compact 50-year-old who estimates he has "ten or 15 years of usefulness in me yet," has seen Kiyosato expand from 13 to 350 acres in the postwar years alone. At the same time, he has seen Communism expand from four seats in the Japanese diet to 35. The sum total does not overjoy him.

He is raising funds now for the organization of four more "Kiyosato's" at key points in Japan; and counts his stay in America a chance "to end a lot of confusion."

Was Arrested During War

Not a little of the confusion he mentions stemmed from World War II, whose outbreak found Rusch in Japan, where he went originally in 1925 as a missionary teacher in the Episcopal church.

"The first thing they did was to arrest me," he remembers, "and the next thing they did was to seize the football field at Kiyosato. Thought the Americans might be figuring on it for a landing strip."

Repatriated in the first exchange of wartime hostages, Rusch enlisted immediately in the U. S. Army, and, as a lieutenant colonel, was put to work teaching Japanese to 6,000 Americans troops at Camp Savage and Fort Snelling in Minnesota.

Returned to Enter Tokyo

In mid-1945 he was flown to Manila to enter Japan with General Douglas MacArthur's staff, and served in the civil intelligence section of the Tokyo occupation headquarters until returning to the U. S. for his discharge this year.

"Kiyosato was in pretty sad shape after the war," he says, "but we went to work. Some of the funds for rebuilding and expansion came from America. A great deal of money came from Japan."

One Japanese business investigated Kiyosato, liked it, and contributed a few million yen. Some money also came out of Paul Rusch's Army pay check.

Rusch's special pride is the ultra-modern medical center now nearing completion at Kiyosato. A branch of St. Luke's international hospital in Tokyo, it has 20 beds and a complete staff of doctors and nurses operating on a rotation scheme out of St. Luke's.

The public health program is on a pay-as-you-can basis.

U. S. Seed Used In Garden

All personnel at the hospital, like all of Kiyosato's personnel with the exception of technical advisers, is Japanese.

In addition to the 25-acre farm planted exclusively with American seeds, Kiyosato soon will have its own dairy. Among the things Rusch plans to take with him when he returns to Japan next spring are a few head of Hereford cattle.

"If we can get the Japanese to use milk," he says, "we can fight their worst disease—tuberculosis."

He says, too, that Democracy can spring to life "only when brought to the remotest mountain village."

He's looking into some new football equipment.

"LINDY" HONORED—Charles A. Lindbergh, above, the famed "Lone Eagle," will receive the 1949 Wright brothers memorial trophy for outstanding public service in aviation over the past 22 years. The award will be made at the annual Wright brothers memorial dinner in Washington, Dec. 17. Lindbergh became a national hero overnight in 1927, when he made the first non-stop solo flight across the Atlantic.

Shooting Trial Starts Monday

BELTON, Dec. 11 (AP) — Sam Smithwick will trudge up the steps of Belton's old stone courthouse again Monday to be tried for the slaying of an Alice, Tex., radio broadcaster.

He sat in the courtroom all through a dreary, rainy morning last Oct. 24 until the judge granted a postponement of his trial until Dec. 12.

A former deputy sheriff, he is charged with the murder of W. H. (Bill) Mason, 51, a veteran newspaperman who turned to broadcasting in the South Texas town. Mason was shot to death on an Alice street July 29.

Defense Witnesses Absent

"We don't know what will happen Monday until we get in the courtroom and see how many of our witnesses are there," Myron Skelton of Temple, one of Smithwick's three attorneys, said today.

Defense attorneys won delay of the trial when only two of 13 witnesses they had called answered present in October.

Sixteen state witnesses were present then and the state declared itself ready. James K. Evetts, district attorney for Bell county, declared that "the state would show in the matter of some witnesses that diligence has not been used."

District Attorney Sam Reams of Alice, who has been working with Evetts on the prosecution, has been named a judge since the October trial. County Attorney Homer Dean, jr., of Alice, had been working with teams on the case since the beginning and will take over in Ream's place.

Less than two weeks ago Smithwick's attorneys failed in their appeal before the Court of Criminal appeals in Austin to get Smithwick released on bond.

Henry Taylor, sr., of Temple, told the appeals court that testimony of a state witness, Avelin. Saenz, at the habeas corpus hearing injected the issue of self-defense on Smithwick's part in the shooting.

Reams replied that Saenz was getting out of Mason's car when the shot that killed Mason was fired. Reams said Mason was still behind the wheel of his car when shot.

In the Belton courtroom Oct. 24 Taylor said there were witnesses absent who would testify that Mason's remarks over the radio concerning Smithwick "were such as to arouse and disturb his state of mind."

In his last broadcasts, Mason had charged Smithwick owned property on the edge of Alice on which a tavern was located, and where prostitutes plied their trade.

Smithwick is 61 years old. He was a Jim Wells county deputy sheriff at the time of the shooting and had been a peace officer in the county for 24 years.

He was brought to the Belton jail Sept. 13 after his case was transferred from Jim Wells county.

Man In Street Gives Opinions On Progress Of The Human Race

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute Of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 11—The human race is getting better from the standpoint of health and knowledge in the opinion of the average American. But it is showing no improvement in moral conduct, peace of mind, religious faith, or inner happiness.

That, in brief, is the way the typical American, the man in the street, sizes up his fellow human beings when he is asked to sit back and philosophize about the present state of the human race.

With all the advance in science and in education, with all the time saving improvements that make modern civilized life more comfortable and pleasant, happiness is not increasing—at least not in the eyes of the average American.

In three weeks, half of the Twentieth Century will be over. To see whether people think things are getting better or worse as history marches on, the Institute had its interviewers put this question to a properly balanced cross-section of U. S. voters:

"Do you think the human race is getting better or worse from the standpoint of health? Knowledge? Moral conduct? Faith in religion? Peace of Mind? Inner happiness?"

Here is the way they voted:

	Better	Worse	No Diff.	No Opin.
Health	73%	18%	6%	3%
Knowledge	82	7	7	4
Moral conduct	20	52	22	6
Faith in religion	33	42	18	7
Peace of mind	17	62	11	10
Inner happiness	21	51	18	10

These views, of course, are those of typical citizens and may be challenged by historians and philosophers. However, the fact that a high percentage of the public is in substantial agreement that "inner happiness" and "peace of mind" are not improving with the passage of time, may be extremely revealing about the state of mind of people in this country today.

One interesting sidelight of the survey is that people who have had the most education are the most pessimistic about any improvement in "inner happiness," "peace of mind" or "faith in religion."

However, the best educated think the human race is definitely better from the standpoint of knowledge and of health.

As will be noted from the table below in respect to "peace of mind," 74 per cent of the persons who went to college believe that the human race is getting worse whereas only 57 per cent of those who went only to grade school hold this opinion.

'Peace Of Mind'

	Better	Worse	No Diff.	No Opin.
College	16%	74%	6%	4%
High School	18	63	11	8
Grade School	17	57	13	13

Another interesting sidelight of this survey appears in the analysis of the views of younger people versus older people. Although the younger people might be expected to hold more optimistic views than their parents, actually they are just about as pessimistic about progress in respect to "moral conduct" and "peace of mind" as those who are a generation older.

Roasting meats at a low temperature helps keep shrinkage down. A roast that is cooked slowly from the very beginning will provide extra servings, the meat will be more juicy and tender, and the food value will be higher.

New Cold Remedies Get Nationwide Test

NEW YORK, Dec. 11. (AP)—You can be one of ten mililon guinea pigs testing the latest common cold remedy, the antihistamines.

There are 20 on the market. Four you can buy from drug stores, and 16 must be prescribed by doctors. Others for over-the-counter sale are expected.

These antihistamines have passed all routine common cold tests. Those include trials on hundreds of human beings.

High Cure Percentage Claimed

The results have not differed greatly from numerous, previously discovered common cold remedies. Those others in small groups also gave high cure percentages, although none reached antihistamine's highest present claim—90 percent for one-hour-old-colds.

The final test for antihistamines is its use by millions. That is the same test that all others have taken.

An antihistamine is something that counteracts the effects of histamine, one of nature's more powerful chemical compounds Histamine in minute amounts is a natural product of your tissues, and it comes from the proteins you eat. Histamine stimulates visceral muscles, dilates small blood vessels, stimulates stomach juices and is a good medicine in its own right for diseases.

Blamed For Allergy

Histamine is also blamed for the entire host of human allergies. Too much histamine! Many common colds were known to be either allergies, or to start with allergic attacks on the nose.

So doctors have been using antihistamines on colds for several years. How many of us have the allergic type isn't known.

Until this fall, all antihistamines were considered too powerful to be safe without a doctor's prescription. This year a number of milder antihistamines have been produced, and these account for the sudden outburst of interest and sales.

Class AA Semifinals Set For Port Arthur, Wichita Falls

Littlefield Engages Garland At Vernon Friday Afternoon

By WILBUR MARTIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

Texas schoolboy football this week reaches the last way-stops on the road to state championships.

Four always tough teams make up the semi-final round of Class AA—Austin, Port Arthur, Wichita Falls and Highland Park (Dallas).

Four teams with surprising records make up the semi-final round of Class A—Littlefield, Garland, Mexia and Uvalde.

These two divisions come up to the next to last round of the state playoff minus teams that before the season were tabbed probable champions. Lubbock tumbled in bi-district play in Class AA. Last week Mexia upset New Braunfels, the Class A favorite, 26-6.

City Champ Decided

Thomas Jefferson of San Antonio became the first division winner in the interscholastic league football program, rolling to a 31-13 victory over Sunset of Dallas last week to cop the City Conference crown.

Port Arthur and Austin tangle Friday afternoon at Port Arthur.

Highland Park and Wichita Falls play at Wichita Falls Saturday afternoon.

Uvalde and Mexia meet Friday afternoon at Austin and Littlefield and Garland get together the same day at Vernon.

Garland stayed in the Class A race with another victory on penetrations. The Owls tied Mineola last week, 7-7, but won on penetrations, four to one. They won their district title and their first round playoff game this way.

Littlefield Won

Littlefield crushed Ballinger, 34-6, and Uvalde dumped El Campo 33-13.

Wichita Falls, undefeated and untied, swamped Austin of El Paso, 58-6, last week in its quarter-final game. The Coyotes gained nearly 500 yards rushing.

This week they face a team they have already beaten once this season. A 14-7 loss to Wichita Falls is the only blot on Highland Park's record.

Highland Park whipped Abilene, 20-6 to advance; Austin downed Alice, 28-7, and Port Arthur blanked Marshall, 13-0. Port Arthur is the only other undefeated, untied team in Class AA.

Mexia Unbeaten

Mexia is the only team in Class A now with a perfect record. Uvalde is unbeaten but has been tied.

All teams in the semi-finals of Class AA have won or shared state championships.

No team in the Class A semi-finals got this far last year—the first time this division played to a state championship.

Class B teams, the smallest schools in the football program, wound up their season with regional games last week.

Spade Is Winner At Petersburg

PETERSBURG, Dec. 11. (Special)—Spade basketball teams took top honors in the tournament which ended here Saturday night, with both boys and girls teams winning first place in the tourney and placing two players on each of the all-tournament teams.

The all-tourney boys team is composed of Jerry Johnson, Hale Center; J. Smith, Springlake; Sawyer, Idalou; Neinest, Spade; and Streely, Spade. David Riddell of Idalou took sportsmanship honors.

Named to the girls team were C. Myers, Springlake; Clearwof, Springlake; Barton, McAdoo, Colleen Williams, Petersburg; and Sullivan and Inklebargor, both of Spade. Royce Case of Petersburg was chosen for her sportsmanship.

Springlake Cops Second

Runner-up in each of the divisions was Springlake, losing out in the finals to Spade.

The Spade boys took the championship with a 32-25 victory over Springlake, with Trell bucketing 12 points. J. Smith was high for the losers with 10.

In the girls game Spade won, 32-29, with Sullivan taking scoring honors with 18 points, compared to Clearwof's 14 for the Springlake sextet.

Consolation winner was Idalou with a 45-20 victory over Petersburg.

In Saturday morning games Petersburg defeated Abernathy, 19-16; Spade girls dropped Hale Center, 23-17; and Spade boys edged Hale Center, 31-30.

Bulldogs Lose Again; Ewart Quits As Coach

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (INS)—The New York Bulldogs made their Polo Grounds exit today by absorbing a 27 to 0 shellacking at the hands of the Pittsburgh Steelers and immediately after the game Bulldog Coach Charley Ewart announced his resignation.

A small crowd of 4,028 fans watched the National football league encounter.

As soon as the game was over, Ewart told newsmen that he was through with pro football and that "the events of the last three days have no bearing on" his decision.

The former Yale star was referring to the merger of the AAC and the NFL which will move Ted Collins' franchise over to the Yankee Stadium next year when the Bulldogs and Yankees combine.

The Bulldogs finished the season with one win, one tie, and ten losses.

Pittsburgh's victory today gave the Steelers second place in the Eastern division as the Giants dropped a 17-3 decision to the Champion Eagles.

American Polo Team Bows to Argentines

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 11. (AP)—Argentina claimed the world polo championship today after defeating the Meadow Brook team from the United States, 11-5, in the final of an international tournament.

Forty thousand spectators, including President Peron, jammed Palermo stadium to see Argentina's perennial champion, Venado Tuerto, grab a first chukker lead and never lose it.

Mexico had been eliminated earlier in the tournament, bowing to both of today's finalists.

Venado Tuerto, scoring in every period, justified its role of favorite. Juan Cavanagh and cousin Roberto Cavanagh each scored four goals for the victors, aided by the long hitting of the Alberdi brothers, Enrique and Juan Carlos.

Little Pete Bostwick was high scorer for Meadow Brook with three goals but he missed four shots in front of the goal posts.

Robert Skene, Australian star who played No. 3 for Meadow Brook, was thrown by his pony making a sharp turn in the fifth chukker but escaped injury. Alan Corey starred on defense for the visitors. Peter Perkins, at back, completed the losers' lineup.

Former ACC Football Star Sets New Pro Punt Return Record

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11. (AP)—Halfback V. T. Smith of the Los Angles pro football team, lately of Abilene Christian College, set a new league record for punt returns, tabulations showed today.

He returned punts for the season 427 yards. The previous National league's record was 417 yards by George McAfee, Chicago Bears, in 1948.

New Zealand State Railways lost $4,400,000 in 1948.

Each Shoots 65 On Final Round

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 11. (AP)—Bob Hamilton and Fred Haas, jr., tied at the end of Miami's $10,000 Open Golf tournament today with record-shattering 264's. They will meet in an 18-hole playoff Monday.

They were 16 under par for the 72-hole tournament and broke the tournament record of 267 set by Sam Snead in 1937.

Haas, 33-year-old New Orleans professional, fired a five under par 31-34—65 in a final round today to couple with his 199 after 54 holes.

Hamilton, veteran pro from Landover, Md., carded a 32-33—65 on the final round.

Tied After 54

They were tied at the end of 54 holes yesterday with 199's.

Hamilton squared the match on the 18th when he laid a spectacular 130-yard chip shot from a sand trap 10 feet from the pin. His curving putt for a birdie three deadlocked the match.

Johnny Palmer, Badin, N. C., was two strokes behind despite his amazing 63-round—best of the tournament—for a 72 hole total of 266. Palmer, who also broke the tournament record, carded a three under par 32 going out and four under par 31 coming in.

A stroke behind, even with the old tournament record, was Tommy Bolt of Houston. The 30-year-old pro, playing his first tournament since 1946, fired a four under par 66 over the 6,310-yard Miami Springs Country club course to couple with his 201 after three rounds.

Best In 26 Years

The Hamilton-Haas duel was the most amazing exhibition of precision golf ever displayed during the 26-year history of the tournament.

Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., stroked a 68 for a tournament total of 269. Claude Harmon of Mamaroneck, N. Y., was a stroke behind with 270 and Pete Cooper, Ponte Verda, Fla., tallied a 273.

Palmer picked up $1,000 third money, Bolt, $800, Snead, $700, and Harmon $600.

Skee Reigel, Tulsa, Okla., was low-scoring amateur with 138-67—275 and received a silver service.

Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va., and Otey Crisman, Selma, Ala., each received $365 with their 274's.

Jimmy Demaret, Ojai, Calif., received $300 for his 276 and bunched at 277 for which they received $225 each, were Wally Ulrich, Minneapolis, Minn., Skip Alexander, Lexington, N. C.; and Ed Furgol, Royal Oak, Mich.

Haas and Hamilton will share half the gate in the playoff tomorrow in which first money is $2,000 and second is $1,400.

Rams Best Washington, 53-27, To Gain NFL Playoff Berth

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11 (INS)—The Los Angeles Rams proved conclusively to 44,899 fans that they are the best football team in the Western division in the National league today as they trounced the Washington Redskins, 53-27, at Memorial coliseum.

The win gave the Los Angeles gridders their first division crown since 1945 and gained them the right to enter next Sunday's playoff battle with the Philadelphia Eagles at Los Angeles.

Ram End Tom Fears, who needed seven pass completions to tie Don Hutson's league record of 74 established in 1942, made it easily by connecting with 10 tosses, two of which he carried over for touchdowns.

Fears' running mate at end, Bob Shaw, also got into the record parade, snagging four touchdown passes to tie the National league mark for scoring passes caught in one game.

Rams Score Early

The Rams wasted little time sewing up the contest as they roared to three touchdowns in the first quarter and added two more in the second period to grab a 34-14 intermission lead.

They kept it up in the last half with six points in the third period and two more touchdowns in the final frame.

Washington fumbled away three scoring opportunities in the first half and finally got going after the second half kickoff. Ageless Sammy Baugh engineered a Washington touchdown drive that ate up 81 yards in eight plays.

He sparked two more drives late in the fourth quarter, scoring the last Redskin touchdown himself on a one-yard plunge.

Detroit Lions Thump Green Bay By 21-7

DETROIT, Dec. 11 (INS)The Detroit Lions pushed the Green Bay Packers deeper into the National football league cellar by giving them a 21-7 whipping at the Briggs stadium today.

A crowd of 12,576 fans saw the Lions end the season by climbing ont of the Western division cellar for the first time in three years.

Detroit's play was highlighted by record-breaking scoring on the part of halfback Bill Dudley. Three conversions and a touchdown moved Dudley ahead of the Lions scoring record set by Dutch Clark in 1934.

Dudley ran 67 yards in the fourth quarter for the Lions third touchdown. The other two markers were staged by Frank Tripucka and Bob Mann.

The lone Packer talley came in the second quarter. Glen Johnson recovered a punt in the end zone and went over. Ted Fritsch converted.

San Antonian, Feille, Is Named Softball "Commissioner Of Year"

NEW YORK, Dec. 11. (AP)—Jerry Feille of San Antonio, who directed the Texas Sandlot baseball program this season, today was named "commissioner of the year" by the National Baseball Congress. President Ray Dumont made the announcement.

Feille will be awarded a plaque by the NBC at the 16th annual national tournament at Wichita next August.

The San Antonian was honored for having developed the largest increase in activity of America's sandlots in any one state during 1949. He directed the Texas program in which a series of district tournaments and leagues produced winners for the successful 15th annual [illegible] Star state meet at San Antonio.

Stephen F. Austin Is Thrice Defeated In Current Cage Race

(By The Associated Press)

Stephen F. Austin, the defending champion, is off to a dismal start in the Lone Star conference basketball campaign, dropping three games out of four.

However, the Austins have been playing some tough outside foes—Centenary and Baylor.

Southwest Texas State paces the field through the first two weeks of the campaign with three wins and one loss.

There isn't an undefeated team left.

Lujack Leads Bears To Win

By BILL PADDOCK
INS Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—Quarterback Johnny Lujack of the Chicago Bears passed the cross-town rival Chicago Cardinals dizzy today, hurling six touchdowns in a one-sided 52-21 victory on a muddy gridiron.

The former Notre Dame star mixed his aerial bombs with a cagey running game in the second half before 50,105 fans. It was the second highest score the Bears have recorded over the Cardinals.

Breaks Baugh's Record

The Bear's quarterback tossed 39 passes and connected with 24 to total 468 yards for a new record. Lujack's new mark topped that of 446 yards set by Sammy Baugh of the Redskins against Boston last season. Baugh, however, gained his yardage on only 17 passes completed.

Lujack got the Bears off to a 7-0 lead in the first three minutes of the game and they never were headed. They rolled up a 31-7 halftime lead over the Cardinals.

The Cards pierced Bear territory only once in the first half. That was midway in the opening period when the Cardinal's lone first half scoring drive was climaxed by Paul Christman's eight yard pass to Charley Trippi.

Bears Score Early

Lujack pitched two touchdown passes each to Ken Kavanaugh and John Hoffman and then hit George McAfee and J. R. Boone with one each.

The Bears scored the first two times they had the ball. They ran their lead to 14-0 on Lujack's conversions and then drove 80 yards in 14 plays to start the second half. Then Gulyanics went through the line for another touchdown.

It was strictly an aerial offense by the Bears. Lujack called only five ground plays during the first half. The Bears held the Cards to 48 yards gained on the ground while the Bears totaled 128.

Christman also had a fairly good day in the air. The ex-Missouri star hit Trippi twice and Mal Kutner once for touchdowns, completing 19 tosses out of 31 tries for 280 yards.

The Westerners engage Borger in Borger Wednesday with a brace of games, the Cowhands playing at 6:30 p. m. and the varsity at 8 p. m.

The tilt will be the sixth for Lubbock High, which has won five straight thus far.

In 24 seasons, Ty Cobb compiled a lifetime batting average of .367.

Colorful Little Rock Coach Gets Offer From St. Mary's College

PASADENA, Dec. 11. (AP)—Jimmy Karam, picturesque mentor of the Little Rock, Ark., football team disclosed today that St. Mary's college has offered him a job as backfield coach.

Karam's Trojans whipped Santa Ana JC, 25-19, in yesterday's Little Rose Bowl game. Although he didn't commit himself on the reported St. Mary's offer, he said this much:

"Frankly, I want a job coaching a four year school. Naturally, I've got to be the head coach."

The Arkansas team celebrated victory last night as guests of actor Dick Powell at a Hollywood night spot. Today, Karam appeared with Notre Dame's Frank Leahy on Jack Benny's radio show.

The squad is due to head back home tomorrow.

Asked about plans for another post season game with Tyler, Tex., Junior college, possibly on Dec. 26, Karam replied:

"I think it would be wonderful. But since we've just completed a mighty tough schedule, I'd have to leave the decision up to the boys. It depends on how they feel when they get home.

QUIET DAY AT GUN CLUB

Sunday was a quiet day at Lubbock gun club, with only four shooters. E. T. Daniels and Joe Fulton carded 71x75 scores; Clyde Tatum had 45x50; and John B. Allen shot 61x75.

SWC Backs Meyer's Blast At Arkansas

DALLAS, Dec. 11. (AP)— The rebuke of Arkansas by the Southwest conference for playing football of the extra rough variety was called one of the sternest actions taken in years by the organization.

The conference faculty committee, of which Dr. Robert A. Leflar of Arkansas is president, yesterday upheld a protest from Coach Dutch Meyer of Texas Christian university in which he charged illegal and crippling play on the part of the Arkansas team in the Arkansas-TCU game last October.

Meyer said Arkansas made use of hands and arms too freely and that a number of his players were severely injured.

Coaches Censured

The faculty committee said that "coaches must assume responsibility for preventing dirty play by members of their teams, and athletic departments must assume responsibility for preventing unsportsmanlike conduct on the part of the spectators."

The conference censured the coaches and players of the Arkansas football team and said, "It is hoped that this censure will go far to cure the evil, not only as it concerns the University of Arkansas but also where the evil may tend to occur in the future."

Coach John Barnhill of Arkansas declined comment but Coach Meyer had a statement.

"It is not a happy thing for me to subject myself to public criticism pro and con, but I'll tell you one thing: When they jump on my boys, they'd better dig in. It's my job to protect my boys and I'm going to do it, no matter what."

Promise Drastic Action

The faculty committee promised more drastic action if such a thing occurred again.

Barnhill contended that there was provocation involved, obviously referring to ill feelings between teams of the two schools in past years. Meyer had claimed that in 1947, when TCU played Arkansas in Fayetteville, one of his players, Weldon Edwards, suffered a broken jaw.

Dr. Leflar did not preside when the action was taken. He turned the chair over to the conference vice-president, D. W. Williams of Texas A. and M.

The conference handled several other important matters, one being to place a gag on coaches to prevent them issuing blasts at the officials at athletic contests and another to remove the so-called "blackball" instituted by the coaches in diciding that only officials receiving unanimous vote could work in conference football games.

To Work With League

All criticism of officiating will have to be submitted in writing to the executive secretary of the conference, James H. Stewart and there is to be no sounding off in the press.

Officials who do not receive unanimous vote of the coaches will be permitted to work conference games provided it is not a game in which the coach voting against them has a team.

The committee decided to appoint a committee to work with the Texas Interscholastic league and other college conferences in Texas regarding formulation of a universal procedure in the recruiting of athletes still in high school. The league wants the colleges to have a rule that no high school athlete can be brought to the campus and his expenses paid while still in school.

Cleveland Captures AAC Crown

Browns Roll Over 'Frisco, 21 To 7

By HOWARD BABCOCK
INS Sports Writer

CLEVELAND, Dec. 11. — The mighty Cleveland Browns rambled to a 21-7 victory over the San Francisco 49ers today to ring up their fourth straight All-America football conference title and bring an end to the costliest four-year project in sports annals.

In driving to their second win of the season over the Frisco boys, the Browns also gained the signal-honor of being the only champion known to the now-defunct AAC, which this week joined forces with the National league.

Rain Cuts Crowd

A meager crowd of 22,550 fans, about 450 less than last year's audience at the Cleveland-Buffalo title game, saw today's contest.

An early morning rain and gray clouds were blamed for the poor gate.

In copping their second victory of the season over the 49ers, the Browns, only team to win a professional football title for four years in a row, proved conclusively their supremacy over the Frisco eleven.

The victory was the most decisive the Browns scored over their West Coast rivals since they won 37-14 in 1947. Two previous league games this season ended in a 56-28 victory for San Francisco and a 30-28 win for the Browns.

Running Attacks Used

Contrary to previous games between the two clubs, today's clash was marked by running attacks. Although Cleveland's Otto Graham attempted 17 passes and completed seven, good for 128 yards, the Browns offensive machine piled up a total of 217 yards, with Graham charging for 62-yards himself on quarterback sneaks.

The Frisco attack also was concentrated on the ground, where the 49ers totaled 122 yards. Frankie Albert's nine completions in 25 attempts were good for only 108 yards.

Cleveland took a 7-0 lead in the first quarter when Halfback Edgar Jones bucked the line for two yards to climax a 56-yard drive, highlighted by a 37-yard pass from Graham to Dante Lavelli. Neither club tallied again in the first half.

Brown Defense Good

The 49'ers were unable to get any closer than the Brown's 24-yard line in the first two periods.

In the third period, Fullback Marion Motley blasted for 63 yards on a trap play into the Frisco end zone to make the score 13-0. Lou Groza kicked his second extra point of the game.

After only 14 seconds of the Paul Salata for 23 yards who ran final stanza, Albert passed to into the end zone for the only 49er touchdown. Joe Vetrano kicked the extra point, his 107th in a row.

Cleveland came driving back, however, and drove from its own 34 for a touchdown with Halfback Dub Jones carrying over from the three.

Eagles End Sparkling Season With 17-3 Win Over Giants

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 11 (INS)—The Philadelphia Eagles completed the most successful season in their 17-year history today and knocked the New York Giants into third place in the Eastern division of the National Football league by scoring a 17-3 victory before 21,022 at Shibe park today.

Needing a victory to finish one notch above the Pittsburgh Steelers, the Giants put up stiff resistance and actually outgained the National league champions in total yardage. Several Giant threats were halted by the alert Eagles, who completed their regular season with 11 victories in 12 games.

The Eastern division champions jumped out in front after a scoreless first quarter on a 49-yard drive which culminated in Tommy Thompson's 24-yard pass to End Neill Armstrong.

Roberts Misses Record

They made it 10-0 a few minutes later when Cliff Patton, who also kicked both extra points, booted a 13-yard field goal.

In the third period, when a Giant drive stalled, Ben Agajanian made good on a field goal attempt from the 21. Then in the final period the Eagles, with Steve Van Buren leading the attack, drove for a touchdown. Van Buren scored with just 44 seconds remaining.

Gene (Choo Choo) Roberts, who needed one touchdown to tie Van Buren's league record of 18 six-pointers in one season, failed again as the Giants were held to two field goals in their last two games, both against the Eagles.

Tommy Thompson completed 11 of 21 passes for 131 yards as he outpitched the Giants' Charlie Conerly, who completed but nine of 23 for 98 yards.

Texas Conference Basketball Teams Are Easy Marks Thus Far

(By The Associated Press)

Texas Conference basketball teams have won only one game out of 18 played thus far this season and Texas A & I boasts a perfect record by virtue of that victory.

Abilene Christian, Austin, McMurry and Howard Payne have each dropped four games. Southwestern has lost its only start.

Eleven games are on tap this week for conference teams. Abilene Christian and A & I open the card Monday night, meeting Texas A & M and the University of Corpus Christi respectively.

TCU And Baylor Set Cage Pace

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Those "upstarts" at Texas Christian—they call them the youngest team the Southwest Conference ever saw—set a blistering pace as the basketball campaign races through its first two weeks.

The Horned Frogs, who haven't yet tasted defeat at TCU—either as freshmen or varsity—have wrapped up four wins this season to date.

Baylor, one of the older teams, is meeting the pace. The Bears have won three and lost none.

Poor Showing Seen

Otherwise, the conference quintets are having plenty of trouble especially against intersectional foes. The record this season is terrible—just three wins against 12 losses against outside competition.

Texas A & M contributed mostly to the bad record in intersectional play. The Aggies wound up an Eastern and Mid-Western tour with goose eggs on the scoreboard—four losses, no wins.

But Southern Methodist hasn't done so hot either. The Methodists dropped two games in the East—to City College of New York, 67-53, and to Niagara university, 55-47.

Arkansas managed to win one last week. The Razorbacks edged Tulane, 42-41. But they'd lost to Louisiana State, 62-46, the night before.

Rice hasn't been able to beat anybody outside of its territory.

Texas Christian gets its big test Monday as the Frogs play Missouri at Columbia. Then the Frogs go to Peoria, Ill., to meet Bradley and to St. Louis to tackle St. Louis university.

Arkansas also will be continuing its tour but going from the South up to the Midwest to play Illinois and Indiana while Baylor opens a tour, meeting Kansas State at Manhattan and Nebraska at Lincoln.

Joe McDermott of Rice leads the scorers. The Owl forward has run up 69 points in five games. Jack Brown of Southern Methodist is second with 65 in four.

LAST WEEK'S RESULTS

Baylor 59, North Texas State 37; Texas Christian 61, Howard Payne 31; Rice 57, Texas Tech 45; St. Louis 55, Texas A. & M 51; Texas Wesleyan 38, Texas 35; Oklahoma A & M 55, Texas A & M 34; City College of New York 67, Southern Methodist 53; Baylor 58, Texas Tech 37; Texas Christian 65, Abilene Christian College 37; Tulane 62, Rice 58; Louisiana State 62, Arkansas 46; Texas 54, North Texas State 51; Arkansas 42, Tulane 41; Baylor 57, Stephen F. Austin 45; Louisiana State 49, Rice 44; Niagara 55, Southern Methodist 47; Texas 64, North Texas State 47.

LEAVES BAYLOR — Bob Woodruff, above, resigned unexpectedly Friday as football coach at Baylor university. Woodruff said he left his Baylor post because of differences between himself and Athletic Director Ralph Wolf, who later resigned himself. Indications are that Woodruff may go to the University of Arkansas, under Coach John Barnhill. Baylor finished second in the 1949 Southwest conference grid race. (AP Wirephoto.)

Junie McMahon Leads In National Match Game Bowling Tournament

CHICAGO, Dec. 11. (AP) — The 1949 National All-Star individual match game championship tonight was within the grasp of the powerful arm of James (Junie) McMahon, 37-year-old Chicago instructor, as the field of 16 finalists headed into the final four games of the 64-game round robin series.

McMahon, a native of Passaic, N. J., had 301.34 Petersen scoring system points at the end of 60 games, based on 42½ victories, 17 1/2 losses, and 12,959 pins.

McMahon's opponent in the last four games on the schedule was Lee Jouglard, formerly of San Francisco and now of Detroit. Jouglard was in second place before the final set with 287.03 points.

Jouglard was faced with the task of winning all four games and out-totaling McMahon by 531 pins in order to create a tie for the title.

McMahon won three out of four from Connie Schwoegler, Madison, Wis., defending champion, on 863 to 794; took three more from Joe Norris, Chicago, 852 to 764, and swept four games from Rudy Pugel, Milwaukee, 813 to 716, in 12 of his 16 games on today's schedule.

'All Quiet' On Baylor Front

WACO, Dec. 11. (AP) —Baylor university, on the threshhold of its greatest football era, was without an athletic department today.

Both Ralph Wolf, who had been at Baylor for 28 years as athletic coach and athletic director, and Bob Woodruff, youthful head football coach who dragged Baylor out of the gridiron doldrums in three seasons, resigned over the weekend.

The resignations, caused by friction between the two men, came with shocking suddenness. Friday night Woodruff stepped out of a $12,000-a-year job, presumably because Wolf was continued as athletic director, and Saturday Wolf handed in his resignation with the statement that he was doing so "to clear the atmosphere for Dr. White (Dr. W. R. White, Baylor president) and the board of trustees to reorganize the athletic department."

To Get "Best Coach

Dr. White, following Woodruff's resignation, said Baylor would "secure the best coach in the land."

Of the Wolf resignation, the university president commented: "It was a most magnanimous gesture in the interests of peace at Baylor." He emphasized that Wolf's action was completely voluntary.

Wolf, in a statement, said it was regrettable that "imagined difficulties have been intimated at such a critical time for Baylor university and Waco, when the stadium drive (Baylor is going to erect a stadium seating 40,000 people) should have the concerted backing of Baylor ex-students and friends. Controversies do not make for team play and success."

Woodruff came to Baylor in 1947 from Georgia Tech where he was an assistant coach. In three years he had Baylor not only fighting for the Southwest conference championship but ranked among the top 10 teams of the nation—a place it hadn't known since the mid-thirties.

Trouble Not Disclosed

Just what the trouble was between Woodruff and Wolf was not disclosed but apparently it involved scheduling of football games, among other matters. Dr. White said the athletic committee at Baylor had worked out a compromise, but Woodruff told Dr. White he would not tolerate any kind of compromise.

There was speculation that Baylor turning down a proposed bowl game with College of Pacific last week may have had something to do with the situation. Woodruff opposed such a game.

Reportedly, Woodruff also didn't think Wolf was liberal enough with the athletic funds and that the athletic director should not decide the form of transportation the football squad used in going to games.

Under the compromise worked out by the athletic committee, Wolf was to continue as athletic director but to "eventually" become stadium director which would involve completing the current drive to raise $1,500,000 for the new stadium, supervising activities of the stadium and expanding activities of the Bear club.

One qualified observer hinted that Wolf might take that job anyway. He will not relinquish the athletic director's post until 1950.

Also, some high-placed persons said, there was slight chance that Woodruff is not gone from Baylor. Formal action on his resignation has not been taken by the trustees.

Rival Loops Bury The Hatchet

'Honeymoon Over' For Pro Grid Prospects

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

EW YORK, Dec. 11—The honeymoon is over as far as the college football players entering pro ball is concerned.

The blending of the National league and the All-America conference in a rather one-sided merger puts a check to any chance of a highly-publicized college star sitting back smugly while two rival leagues cut their own throats bidding for his services. He'll now take what he is offered, and if he doesn't like it he can pursue a career in dad's hardware store or start selling insurance.

Hart Faces Slash

Just a few days ago Leon Hart, the huge Notre Dame end who was awarded the Heisman Trophy as the outstanding college player of the year, casually announced he would play pro ball if he were offered a small sum, say $20,000 or $25,000.

He might have been offered that amount, at that, had he contrived to finish school a year earlier. As it is, we have a suspicion he'll be lucky to get half the figure he might have expected had not the two pro leagues finally come to their senses.

Sometimes a guy has to lose his shirt before he realizes he shouldn't have stood so close to the fire so long, and it took tremendous losses befre the rival leagues realized they just couldn't go on and on knocking their heads together. All they got was lumps.

Pride Proved Costly

Even casual observers, who were not business men, knew the two leagues were playing a losing game, but stubborness and pride are very human traits and each league refused to admit defeat. By golly, we can throw dollars into the ocean as long as the next guy, was their attitude.

If big-time professional football were to continue, some action such as that taken last Friday was absolutely necessary. The only ones involved who deserve a few tears are the players, who now will be at the mercy of the, can you call it monopoly?

Hogan Begins Comeback Try

FORT WORTH, Dec. 11 (AP)—After a 10-month absence from the links, Ben Hogan hits a golf ball with the same masterful touch he used in earning the sport's "man of the year" honors in 1948.

That's what observers reported after the little champion, who suffered multiple injuries in an automobile crash last Feb. 2, returned from a long inactivity to play 36 holes this weekend here at Colonial Country club, his home course.

His scores? A 71 Saturday and a 72 Sunday over the par 70 layout that is regarded as one of the toughest in the country.

Previously Hogan had confined his links exercise to putting but began to hit practice balls with all clubs last week.

Shanks Practice Drive

He shanked his first practice drive, incidentally, but when he stepped up on the tees, he looked as if he'd never been away.

Hogan was two under on that first nine with a 33 but tired somewhat in the latter stages. It rained some during the tour.

Sunday, after finishing his second 18, Hogan remarked in the locker room that he "felt a little tired."

"But I thought I hit them good," he replied.

Pro Raymond Gafford, Texas PGA Open champion from Fort Worth Ridglea, who was Hogan's partner Saturday, said "Ben hit 'em very well."

"He looked as sharp as he always was before the accident," Gafford added. "He can hit those drives and is still a mighty fine putter."

"When I look at Hogan," Gafford added, "I believe it's what you know about this game that counts."

Trinity Is Only Unbeaten Team In Gulf Coast Basketball Loop

(By The Associated Press)

Two weeks of play leave only one unbeaten team in the Gulf Coast conference basketball campaign.

Trinity university leads the way but has played only two games whereas the other three members of the circuit have played five and six.

University of Houston has played five games against intersectional competition, winning two of them—57-33 over Loyola of the South and 65-51 over Loras. Houston took lickings from Bradley, Beloit and Marquette.

Trinity's wins have been over Texas Tech, 65-63, and Southwest Texas State 53-52.

Willie Knapp, who rode the winning Upset in Man O'War's only defeat, is in charge of Mrs. E. L. Hopkins' racing string this winter at Hialeah.

YEARBOOK WINS FIRST PLACE

Three Lubbock Students Win Honors At Press Convention

Three Lubbock Senior High school students won honors in contests at the annual convention of the Texas High School Press association this past weekend at Denton.

The meeting was held on the campus of Texas State College for Women.

Bettye Power, senior student and feature editor of the Westerner World, student newspaper, won second in the editorial writing division.

Donnie Dean, a sophomore at the local high school, won second in the sports stories division.

Mary Frances Forkner took fourth place in the news column contest for her column, "What's New," which appears weekly in the Westerner World.

725 Attend Meeting

Approximately 725 persons attended the annual TSPA meeting, representing 101 member schools in the state. Attendance at this year's gathering was the largest in the history of the organization.

The 1949 edition of the Westerner, Lubbock Senior High school yearbook, placed first in the yearbook Class A division. The book was entered under the lithographed classification.

Under this same classification, yearbooks from the following high schools were edged out by the Westerner for first place: Breckenridge, Austin, Wichita Falls, Ysleta, Martin High of Laredo, Tyler, Pampa, and Robert E. Lee High of Baytown.

Lubbock Wins First

Yearbooks of these schools received All Texas ratings.

The Westerner World newspaper won first place in the Class A weekly division, defeating weekly newspapers from the following schools for the top honor: Waco, Paschal High of Fort Worth, McAllen, and Tyler.

These runners-up received All Texas ratings for weekly newspapers.

Mary Ruth Sims was editor of the 1949 Westerner yearbook. Joan Bolinger was art editor and Janice Duncan was business manager.

The 1949 edition was awarded All American rating several weeks ago by the National Scholastic Press association. All American is the highest rating given to any high school yearbook. The Westerner was submitted to the NSPA for judging under the classification of lithographed yearbooks in high schools with an enrollment of 1,000 and 1,399.

Three Others Honored

Only three other yearbooks in this classification received All American ratings. High schools throughout the United States were competing in this particular classification.

The 1949 edition of the Westerner was the fourth consecutive edition to win All American honors.

The Westerner has won first place in the lithographed division of Texas High School Press association judging for three consecutive years.

Current editor of the Westerner World is Joy Pharr. Don Hancock is sports editor and Ann Alexander is advertising manager.

The Westerner World this year won first place in the THSPA for the first time since the war.

Won Three Years

It won first place in its particular division in 1941, 1942, and 1943. Annual meetings of the Texas High School Press association were discontinued in 1943 and were not resumed until 1946.

Local students who attended the Denton meeting were:

The students were accompanied to Denton by Mrs. Dick Cozby, director of publications at Lubbock Senior High school; and Mrs. John Mitchell.

Atomic Spy

testimony in a search for persons in strategic positions in which they might have helped expedite uranium to Russia.

May Recall Woman

The renewed interest in the testimony of Miss Bentley who appeared before three different congressional committees, suggested a possibility that the confessed spy ring courier might be recalled to the Capitol before the uranium probe is completed.

In her earlier testimony, Miss Bentley disclaimed much knowledge about atomic spying She said that an Office of Strategic Services source once "discovered" a very "hush hush development was taking place at Oak Ridge, but didn't know what it was."

She said that she reported this to the Russians and "that is the closest I came to the atomic bomb."

Was Key Witness

Miss Bentley appeared as a key government witness in spy probes after renouncing Communism and determining to aid the government in stamping out Red activities within the U. S.

Kerley told a Senate Judiciary committee on alien spying that Adams headed a group which "was trying to steal the secrets of the atom bomb long before the bomb was perfected."

He also gave secret testimony to the House un-American Activities committee.

Meanwhile, a high committee source denied a report broadcast in New York that President Truman had "commanded" the House group not to ask Lieut. Gen. Leslie Groves, wartime atomic boss, any "embarrassing questions."

The source said flatly that no such word had come to the committee from Florida, where Mr. Truman is vacationing.

It was pointed out, however, that Groves still is under the wartime ban against revealing any strategic secrets, which never has been revoked.

SOLON DENIES KNOWING OF GROVES "CENSORSHIP"

CANTON, Ga., Dec. 11. (INS)—Rep. John S. Wood, chairman of the House Un-Amerncan Activities committee, said tonight he knows nothing of any orders from President Truman reportedly forbidding any "embarrassing questions" when the wartime atomic chief appeared before the group last week.

However, Wood, now resting at his Canton home, did not deny the existence of such a message but said that he was not in Washington at the time Lt. Gen. Leslie F. Groves appeared to testify on charges that top atomic secrets were shipped to Russia during the war.

Earlier today, Mutual network commentator Sidney Walton said Mr. Truman told the committee to edit their questions carefully because international policy considerations of the highest order were involved.

"Good Deal" Seen

The doctors polled were in favor of the dispersal system bonds because of the improvements which would result in traffic safety and movement.

Several of them pointed out that the rights-of-way will have to be secured eventually. Delay, they believe, will add to the cost. And, as one of them remarked the city might not be able to get $1,611,000 worth of paving and underpass construction by the state and federal departments if there are delays. The money is available for these projects now. It will be allocated elsewhere if the rights-of-way bond issue is rejected and may not be obtainable when the city wants and needs it.

There will be only one polling place Monday—in the Central Fire station, Tenth street and Avenue J. Polls will be open from 8 a.m. until 7 p.m. The block between Ninth and Tenth streets on J will be reserved for parking by those desiring to vote.

Ward flatly denied today that he confessed to that charge, as the Red radio reported.

Boarded Ship Alone

Ward boarded the Lakeland Victory alone.

He said the Reds refused to release the other 19 members of his party until he would sign a Red-demanded statement saying the party embarked "safely and without molestation."

The others were held aboard the tug which brought them from Tientsin to Taku bar.

Glad To Be Aboard

Asked how it felt to be on board, Ward replied:

"Just imagine how you'll feel the day after St. Peter lets you in."

He had lost 25 pounds during his year's virtual imprisonment in Mukden.

Tall, gaunt, balding and bearded, Ward said "no Americans that we know of" remain in Manchuria.

"I've no idea," he added, if the Chinese Reds will continue treating Americans as they did him.

Actually, Ward was not the first "member" of his party aboard.

He was preceded up the gangway by the Irish setter dog of Vice Consul Fred Hubbard.

for the past 10 years.

The lone shot that killed Gonzales was fired as the two men stood in a dirt street in front of the Apolco cafe in North Levelland.

After the shooting, Herrera drove to the office of Sheriff Charlie Bullock to surrender himself and a .22 rifle.

In a statement signed before officers, Herrera said the shooting came after a fist fight with Gonzales. Herrera said he ran to his car and got his gun. Gonzales saw him get the gun, he said, and picked up two coke bottles.

Claims Knife Drawn

"I was about 18 or 20 feet away when I shot," Herrera said in the statement. "He took a step or two and then fell." Herrera said a man with Gonzales had drawn a knife just before the shooting.

A. W. Salyars, assistant district attorney who drove to Levelland to aid Bullock and County Attorney E. W. Boedeker in the investigation, said no one could be found who admitted seeing the shooting.

In his statement, Herrera said that "lots of people saw me shoot him." Salyars said one small boy was found who admitted witnessing the fist fight before the shooting.

Hearing Slated Today

The complaint against Herrera was sworn by Bullock before Boedeker and filed in the court of A. F. O'Dell, justice of the peace, Salyars said. A hearing has been scheduled before O'Dell today for setting bond.

In Lubbock, Harrison Smith, 25, negro who gave his address as 1612 Ave. C, was charged with assault with intent to murder in the lieu of $2,500 bond set when Smith waived examining trial before Justice of the Peace C. E. Lynn.

Smith, in a statement signed before Salyars and three deputy sheriffs, said he fired three shots from a .22 rifle at Sims. As in the Levelland shooting, Smith said he shot Sims after a fight.

Sims Sitting On Divan

He said Sims was sitting on a divan in the Curley Lennox cafe in Queen City, negro residential district of Lubbock, when he fired from the doorway. The gun jammed, he said and he ran out. Looking back, he saw Sims in the doorway with a pistol in his nand, the statement continued.

Smith went to a drive-in on the Slaton highway and called officers. Deputy Sheriffs John Barnett and B. F. Forrester made the arrest.

Late Sunday night, Lubbock police still were looking for a 29-year-old suspect in connection with the shooting of Pedillo at the Tony Romero residence, scene of several shootings in the past.

Excise Tax Repeal

the next session of Congress to set up a Senate-House budget commission. It would study spending needs of the various White House agencies and be in a position to advise Congress if their money requests are justified.

2. Defense department officials disclosed that the layoff of 135,000 civilian employes, announced last spring as an economy measure, has just about been completed. It was disclosed that the transfer of thousands of reserve officers from active to inactive status brought reduction in payrolls to around the 150,000 point.

Relief Sought

Sawyer said that businessmen throughout the nation also pressed him for an end to double taxation and for acceleration of the depreciation allowances in tax returns.

However, he stressed tht repeal of excise taxes wa sthe most frequent request he has heard.

The President has urged a tax increase. Members of Congress who have returned to Washington at various times during the congressional recess, have unanimously opposed any increase in taxes and have called, instead, for a reduction in excise taxes.

Sawyer, who was interviewed on the Gannett radio program, predicted that while profits may be down in 1950, wages, production and prosperity should "remain about the same" as in 1949.

Shopping Steady

He said Christmas shopping should approach last year's dollar volume and in number of items sold, may even exceed last year's total.

Meanwhile, two congressional economic subcommittees prepared to turn the spotlight tomorrow on the purse.

One unit, headed by Sen. O'Mahoney, (D-Wyo) will open hearings on the financing of new business ventures.

O'Mahoney said he favored a "tax reward" for new business that takes "a chance" on developing the basic resources of the country.

The other, headed by Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) will begin hearings on the problems of low-income families. Sparkman said that there were 10 million U. S. families with an income of less than $2,000 in the "highly prosperous year" of 1948.

North Korean Reds Free Two Americans

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 11 (AP)—Two American officials of the Economic Co-operation administration were released unharmed today after 81 days as prisoners of the North Korean Communists.

The Soviet-backed North Korean regime indicated strongly to the very last that it hoped to trade the two hostages for some form of American diplomatic recognition, but failed.

Albert E. Willis, 40, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Alfred T. Meschter, 28, of Kinderhook, N. Y., finally were turned over to Harold J. Noble, first secretary of the U. S. embassy to South Korea.

The transfer occurred at Yohyon, on the 38th parallel which divides North Korea from the American-sponsored southern republic.

Willis and Meschter, while wolfing down steak dinners, told of losing weight on short rations.

They said they suspected something was up a week ago when their captors suddenly started fattening them up. They said they never were physically mistreated.

on the same side in opposing administration proposals.

Aiken said that if Bricker wants an actual test of the coalition theory he could get it in the Senate when Congress meets again next month.

Coalition Can Control

"There is no doubt at all but what Republicans and southern Democrats now have more than enough votes to take majority control of the Senate," he said. "They could have done this and taken over control of all committee chairmanships and other offices early this year."

The fact that they did not do this, Aiken continued, points up their sharp differences on some vital issues and "our tradition for a two-party system."

"Northern Republicans never will join opposition to civil rights measures," he said. "On the other hand, southern Democrats have been strongest supporters of public power, an issue which most northern Republicans seem to disfavor."

"And which party is to submerge its identity and its name?" he continued. "If I know anything about the Dixiecrats and southern Democrats they would not do it."

Tornadoes Strike

ning in Modesto, Ill.

Winds described as of "tornadic proportions" swept through the Mississippi river town of Hannibal Mo., Sunday injuring three persons and causing heavy damage to buildings.

The season's first extensive blizzard blew out of the Rockies and roared across Nebraska and Iowa into the norther Minnesota border area.

Wind reached gale velocities (up to 54 miles per hour) over a wide area of the central west with gusts up to hurricane force (over 75 MPH).

A cold wave of Arctic air swept down from western Canada across the northern plains and the central states. The weather bureau at Kansas City said the cold wave will continue moving southwestward Sunday night and Monday and will overspread all of Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, and Oklahoma by Monday morning. Temperatures will range down to 15 below zero in northwestern Nebraska, the bureau said.

Flights Are Cancelled

Fog cancelled 114 domestic flights from LaGuardia field, New York, Sunday, and kept inbound planes away most of the day.

There was a chill gale Saturday in southern California, followed by freezing temperatures in the southwest. Fog spread over large sections of the Midwest Saturday and early Sunday, and a "heat wave" developed in the lower Ohio and Great Lakes regions.

Temperatures moderated in the northeast, but there was freezing rain in some localities and extensive drizzle over much of the eastern half of the country. New Yorkers, beset by a water shortage, prayed for rain and cast hopeful eyes at overcast skies.

At least one man froze to death in the blizzard. He was Thomas MacAllister, 98, whose body was found near Miles City, Mont., after the storm blew out of the state.

A second man was missing in Montana. Emil F. Mitchie, 71, failed to return from a rabbit hunt near Butte Saturday.

The blizzard swirled over most of the Dakotas and Nebraska late Sunday. It was expanding into Minnesota, where three persons were killed on icy roads, and southward into Iowa and Kansas.

Two persons were killed on icy Utah highways Saturday.

Virtually all planes were grounded in North Dakota and many buses canceled their scheduled runs. Trains were running slow.

Mercury Hits 20 Below

In the wake of the storm, Lewistown, Mont., reported the mercury at 20 degrees below zero. The heaviest snowfall was 10 inches reported at Livingston, Mont.

Sub-zero weather was predicted by Monday over much of the northern Rocky Mountains and upper plains.

Tornadoes hedge hopped across north Arkansas Sunday. Two persons were killed in the Providence area and 12 were hurt. One child was reported missing.

Visibility was reported cut to half a mile Saturday night as the 50-mile winds whipped snow through the air in the Cheyenne, Wyo., vicinity. The advancing cold front was sharply defined, with temperatures ranging more than 50 degrees in Nebraska—from four below at Scottsbluff to 49 above at Omaha before the cold winds arrived.

Cars Are Stalled

A drizzle and extremely mild temperatures were the unexpected combination in much of the Great Lakes region. The Chicago Motor club reported 2,000 calls from motorists whose cars were stalled by fuel line and ignition condensation as the temperature rose from 37 to 61 degrees for an all time Dec. 11 heat record.

A violent storm hit Hannibal, Mo., Sunday, injuring three persons and damaging a number of homes. There was a brief torrential rain and gusts of wind which Police Chief Dorse Rust said had "tornadic proportions."

The cold wave was spreading into the lower plains and middle Mississippi valley. Temperatures in the mid-twenties were predicted for Monday in southeastern Oklahoma and southeastern Missouri.

Only light snow flurries were expected in Oklahoma, Missouri and the south and east parts of Kansas.

Sunday brought milder temperatures to New England and the East. But there was extensive cloudiness, freezing rain and drizzle.

Much of the fog, which yesterday caused suspension of traffic at Chicago's municipal airport and resulted in the death of a flyer who crashed in Texas, was dissipated Sunday.

times, but I shoved him away. He had been playing on the bed with Ronald Eugene when the fire began and didn't have his shoes on.

"I ran to the back of the house," Jesse Phillips said, "and picked up a cedar post and tried to break out the planks in the wall. I broke out one or two boards, but flames shot out of the hole seven or eight feet and I gave that up."

Fire, Smoke Block View

"At one time I thought I could make out the form of a person inside the house, but I wasn't sure. I thought I saw the box the little baby had been in, but there was so much fire and smoke I couldn't be sure.

"I heard Mrs. Phillips scream only once after she ran back into the fire. I could just barely make out the sound of the baby crying above the roar of the flames."

Phillips, badly burned, was taken to the hospital in Spur by Billy J. Calvert, son of the farm owner, it was reported.

Water Unavailable

After flames had already taken over the entire house, the alarm reached the Spur volunteer fire department. Lack of water forced the firemen to wait until the house had burned to the ground before the bodies could be removed.

The three bodies were taken to the Chandler Funeral home in Spur. The dead were to be taken overland Monday to Pasadena, original home of the Phillips family. Funeral home attendants said that Phillips would be taken to Pasadena, near Houston, in another ambulance if his condition permits travel on Monday.

Jesse Phillips said the two families came to Dickens county to work on the Calvert farm about three weeks ago as cotton pullers.

He said the frame house actually had a third room, but it was jointly used by the two families for storage of personal goods. He said the house had no windows.

Little Is Saved

"We saved only the clothes on our backs," he said. The survivors planned to stay at the Calvert farm tonight. Jesse Phillips said he did not think he would go to Lubbock to look for a job.

In the smouldering ruins of the house, the five-gallon can which had contained the kerosene was found. Both the bottom and top had been blown out. Kerosene in the can had been purchased only Saturday night.

Deputy Sheriff Horace Cage of Dickens county said that W. M. Malone, justice of the peace in Spur, had investigated the fire but that no verdict was necessary in view of the obvious accidental circumstances.

Dr. Pike C. Nichols, of the Nichols General hospital, said that Phillips was conscious, but suffering from extreme shock in addition to the severe burns.

"Unless complications set in, he should recover," Dr. Nichols said.

Lubbock Boy Accidentally Shot Reported Showing Improvement

Robert Brackett, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Brackett of 2309 Thirty-fourth, last night had shown some improvement and was resting satisfactorily in St. Mary's hospital, attendants said.

The youngster earlier had been in critical condition with a bullet wound in the abdomen. He was accidentally shot about 10:50 p. m. Saturday when he and his brother, Boone, 13, were playing with a .32 caliber automatic pistol. The weapon accidentally discharged.

The bullet entered the lower abdomen, missed all vital organs, and emerged at the left hip, hospital attendants said. Surgery was performed about 12:30 a. m. Sunday.

Child Is Reported Injured When Twister Strikes Home

SHREVEPORT, La., Dec. 11. (AP)—One child was slightly injured and three homes blown off foundations by a tornado at 6:15 p. m. Saturday two miles west of Calvin in Winn parish.

Miss Mary Riser, publisher of the weekly Winn Parish Enterprise at Winnfield, said the twister swooped down on a cluster of three homes at dusk, partly demolishing one house and carrying two others approximately 10 feet before dropping them to the ground.

Miss Riser said a small child was injured when the home of Lee Cloud was partly demolished after being torn from its moorings. She said she did not know the name of the child.

Youth Is Shot

Horrice Glenn Glasco, 16, was accidentally shot to death Sunday on a farm near Kerens. Justice of the Peace Melvin Penney of Kerens said the youth had leaned his shotgun against a tree so he could drink from a creek. The gun fell and discharged. Glasco was hit in the head.

Her husband, James Tutt, 28, was seriously injured.

Three persons were fatally injured Saturday in a Fort Worth collision. They were Mrs. Beatrice French Walraven, 42, Fort Worth; Mrs. Margaret Summers, 73, Martinsville, Ind., and Martin Patterson, jr., 32, Fort Worth.

Two Die In Wreck

A headon collision near Mineral Wells Saturday night killed Lee Roy Combs, 38, Shreveport, La., and Patrick W. O'Brien, about 50, Detroit, Mich.

Frank W. McGregor, about 60, an Arlington nurseryman, was hit and killed by an automobile as he walked across highway 80 a mile west of Arlington Saturday night.

B. O. Bailey, 51, of Belton was killed Saturday night when an auto in which he was riding struck the rear of a parked trailer truck. The accident occurred on Belton's main street.

Joe Powell, 36, employe of the highway patrol, shot his only son, Raymond, 4, to death Saturday. Then he killed himself in the living room of his Wichita Falls home. Coroner H. M. (Doc) Newman returned a murder and suicide verdict. Colleagues said Powell had been upset since his transfer recently from the license to the weights division of the patrol's Wichita Falls substation.

Mrs. Walter Rogers, 56, was killed in the kitchen of her Lubbock apartment Saturday. Her 65-year-old husband of three months was charged with murder. Mrs. Rogers apparently bled to death after a shotgun blast almost severed a wrist.

Perryton Man Shot

Homer Eidson, 37, Perryton salvage dealer, was found shot to death Saturday in his car. A .22 caliber pistol was beside the body. Justice of the Peace Dewey Allen returned a suicide verdict.

A man identified as Willie Joe Mackey, 26, of LaGrange was shot to death early Saturday in an attempted holdup of a San Antonio filling station. J. R. Herring, station manager, told police he fired the shot when he was told: "Give me your money or I'll blow your heart out."

William McClellan, 49, was killed Saturday when his new four-place plane crashed and burned a mile from the Spearman airport. He had just taken off from the airport.

Morris H. Gryder, 72, was found hanging from a pecan tree Saturday on his farm home near Stephenville. A coroner's jury returned a suicide verdict.

Ashes Of Eight Children Are Removed From Ruins Of Home

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Dec. 11. (AP)—The ashes of eight children were removed from the blackened shambles of burned wood and metal, all that remained of their two-story cabin home destroyed by fire last night.

The flimsy structure at nearby Cascade was consumed by flames in minutes.

Killed in the blaze were Edward 13, Henry 12, Joseph 11, Raymond 9, Robert 7, Phyllis Beverly 5, Birtriss 3, and Beatrice 1—children and step-children of Bert Edkins, an unemployed laborer.

Edkins, his wife and a stepson, Edgar Confgrove, 14, survived. They suffered critical burns of the face, arms, legs, and body.

A 10th child was not home.

The house was burning furiously when neighbors arrived. They said there was no way of knowing how the fire started. A wood-burning stove was located on the first floor.

FIREMEN FIND SMOKE

Lubbock firemen answered an alarm from Sneed hall on the Texas Tech campus about 10 p.m. Sunday but only found smoke properly rolling from an incinerator.

Coffee Stocks Are Claimed Low

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—American housewive are likely to wait a long time for any general return of coffee prices to September levels.

The reason for this was outlined for Congress Saturday by an American diplomatic official: Brazilian reserves have virtually disappeared and unfavorable growing conditions have wrecked any chances for a bumper crop next year.

"I don't think Brazil ever again will be as big a coffee producer as she was," Robert B. Elwood, second secretary of the U. S. embassy at Rio De Janeiro, told a senate agriculture subcommittee investigating high coffee prices.

Rigging Of Market

Elwood was ordered home to testify before the committee. He took a somewhat different approach to the coffee problem from that of Chairman Gillette (D-Iowa). Gillette declared:

"It is just as apparent to this committee as daylight that somewhere along the line in October and November there were speculative interests that had such an effect on the coffee market as to practically double the price of coffee to the American consumer."

He added there has been "a rigging of the market and we are trying to find out where it is."

Elwood told the committee there has been an "unexpectedly heavy rate" of coffee exports from Brazil since July 1, 1949.

"Continuation of this rate of exports," he continued, "would have resulted in the complete exhaustion of coffee supplies in Brazil before the 1950 crop would begin to become available for export in July of that year."

Drouth In Brazil

Also, he said, a drouth in south-central Brazil "destroyed all hope of a bumper harvest in 1950."

Finally, Elwood testified, Brazilian government-owned coffee supplies were liquidated last August, with a "strong psychological effect on the market."

In Rio De Janeiro, President Ruy Almeida of the Brazilian coffee exchange denied that speculation was involved in the coffee price rise, at least as far as Brazil is concerned.

"The advance came about naturally from lower production and higher consumption at the same time," Almeida said.

Rio dispatches told of retail coffee prices there of 59 to 62 cents a pound, as compared with a little over 22 cents two months ago.

Demand Meets Supply

Like Elwood, Albert M. Prosterman, a commerce department commodity specialist, said the main factor in rising prices is the ebb of Brazilian reserve coffee stocks.

"The day of huge coffee surpluses is over, at least for the present," he told a reporter. "Now the demand is just about equivalent to the supply."

New Season Low

doubtful that snow or sleet would make it as far south as Lubbock and vicinity this time.

To further dispel indications of real winter, the Weatherman said last night that indications pointed to fair skies today, tonight and Tuesday. Rising temperatures are forecast for Tuesday afternoon.

Don't think it won't be plenty cold here today and again Tuesday morning, though, he warned, for the mass of maritime air which moved into the area about 4 a. m. Sunday was enough to send temperatures skidding downward.

Near 15 Degrees Seen

A low temperature of near 15 degrees is forecast for the area this morning and again Tuesday morning, the local U. S. Weather Bureau station said. The high temperature this afternoon is expected to be in the low 30's.

The air mass which hit the South Plains area early Sunday was maritime air, as contrasted with the much colder Arctic air which was originally scheduled to roll in.

The cold wave last night was making itself felt in some towns of the Panhandle and New Mexico. Dalhart had a temperature of 18 at 10:30 p. m., while nearby Clayton, N. M., had 11. Amarillo, which was still south of the leading edge of the front, had 30 degrees at the same time — a temperature two degrees higher than Lubbock's.

New Low Expected

Howling cold front or not, the cold air in the South Plains area will be enough to drive temperatures down to the lowest recorded here this fall. The low for the season so far is 24 degrees.

The real cold front is scheduled to wear itself out long before reaching as far south as Fort Worth and Dallas, and the weather bureau has changed its forecast for that section, according to an Associated Press dispatch last night. After predicting overnight readings in the upper twenties, the bureau later said Dallas and Fort Worth probably would not feel anything worse than temperatures in the low 40's.

The first snow of the season already had fallen Sunday in far West Texas. At El Paso, .11 inch of snow fell late Saturday night and early Sunday. Most of it had melted Sunday afternoon, but the Franklin mountains, overlooking El Paso, were still snowcapped Light snow fell at Guadalupe Pass. The sparsely populated mountain pass was the state's coldest point Sunday with a 33-degree reading

A weak cold front moved through the Panhandle and into North Texas as early Sunday night. It dropped the temperature at Fort Worth to 57 degrees and at Dallas from an afternoon 70 to 55.

Earlier a mild front bustled through the state. It had little effect except to whip away clouds that had overcast the state for two days. Extreme West Texas and the Gulf Coast were still overcast, however.

LUBBOCK HEALTH IN DANGER!
LUBBOCK PROGRESS AT STAKE!

Citizens can help avert the danger and continue progress by voting FOR the $550,000.00 Bond issue for enlargement of the City Sewage Disposal Plant and system and the $525,000.00 to buy rights-of-way for completion of the City High-way Dispersal System.

Here Are The Blunt Facts--

CONCERNING SEWAGE DISPOSAL NEEDS:

Our present disposal plant was designed to serve a maximum population of 40,000 people.

It is attempting now to serve some 65,000 inhabitants, with 10,000 to 20,000 other persons eagerly seeking connections.

Unless the plant is enlarged, millions of gallons of raw sewage cannot be treated to kill germs and odors next Spring and Summer.

The dangers and inconvenience represented by millions of gallons of raw sewage during the heat of the Summer can better be imagined than described.

The Thoughts Are Alarming . . .

They Are Nauseating

BUT THEY ARE FACTS

CONCERNING HIGHWAY DISPERSAL SYSTEM RIGHT-OF-WAY:

For every dollar proposed for rights-of-way, the State and Federal governments will spend more than $3. for Lubbock Highway Dispersal System construction.

The State and Federal governments will pay ALL the cost of constructing some 10 miles of 64-foot, four-lane pavement, as follows:

Nineteenth street from Texas avenue eastward to the Idalou Highway; Fourth street from east to west entirely across the City, linkling the Idalou and the Levelland highways; Northeast Avenue Q from Third street through Country Club addition to the Plainview Highway; and Avenue A from Broadway to Nineteenth street.

The State and Federal governments also will pay ALL the cost of building four railroad underpasses, each of four-lane width, as follows: Avenue A at Fourteenth; Nineteenth near Avenue A; Fourth street at Avenue J; and Northeast Avenue Q at North Second street.

This construction will expedite the movement of traffic; ease the present loads on some of the most heavily traveled thoroughfares and, with the underpasses, unstop present bottlenecks on the east and north sides of the City.

The program also will mean much in terms of traffic safety by the elimination of grade crossings and by providing broader and safer thoroughfares.

THESE OBLIGATIONS EASILY ARE WITHIN THE SOUND BONDING CAPACITY OF THE CITY OF LUBBOCK. WITH THESE SECURITIES SOLD, THE BONDED DEBT SECURED BY TAXATION WILL BE $6,090,000.00—ABOUT 8½ PER CENT OF THE CITY'S ASSESSED VALUATIONS. A BONDED DEBT UP TO 10 PER CENT OF VALUATIONS IS CONSIDERED SOUND AND CONSERVATIVE.

Paulette Goddard To Make 'Acapulco' In Mexico With Bert Grantet As Producer

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 11.—Paulette Goddard is so sold on Mexico and that important friend of hers south of the border, that she will make another picture there. She chooses the same set-up she had in her last picture, "The Torch"—Bert Grantet is the producer, and Emelio Fernandez, the director. This next epic, "Acapulco," will be filmed in its namesake.

Hedy Lamarr may be able to get away with temperament with some people, but not with C. B. De Mille, who has dealt with experts in that department. Well, Hedy met her master when she refused to give any interviews or cooperate in any way with De Mille in helping exploit his and her picture, "Samson and Delilah."

Result: Now Hedy's name is being taken off theater billing, and Paramount's publicity department in New York has been told to go slow on her publicity.

Radio Programs Slated

Robert Montgomery, who has been campaigning for law and order on his radio programs, will devote six of his programs to Frank Costello—Mr. Big of the underworld!

Bob believes that by constant repetition and airing the activities of Costello, he may arouse the public to such a pitch that some sort of action will be taken.

Plans Are Changed

Elizabeth Taylor was all ready to fly to Puerto Rico last night with her mother to spend a week when the studio reported more work on "A Place in the Sun" at Paramount before she goes to MGM for "Father of the Bride."

But Liz was not too disappointed. On Saturday night she was escorted to the UCLA great lover's ball by Bob Precht, the junior who was voted the "great lover" of the school. Liz was voted the girl with whom they would most like to see Bob have a date.

Mrs. Taylor was hostess at a dinner before the dance, which was attended by Betty Sullivan (columnist Ed's daughter) Ann Westmore, and Marjorie Dillon and their escorts. Did Bob Hope, whose movie inspired the junior prom, rib Liz? Well what do you think?

Writer Likes Idea

I certainly like John Wayne's idea, and I think it will prove extremely valuable.

He is financing his stand-in, Sid Davis, in the making of a 35mm educational short subject for children, which will instruct them what to do if accosted by strangers. The film has the complete sanction of the Los Angeles police department and the Los Angeles Board of education.

Davis has just completed a 16-mm children's fantasy in color, which was also financed by John.

Curtain Calls Received

Fannie Brice almost as excited as Katharine Hepburn, telephoned to say Katie received 22 curtain calls on opening night of the try out of "As You Like It."

Franchot Tone's first call when he returned home was to Jean Wallace to inquire about her health.

June Havoc recently bought a short mink cape which she calls "adamink"—because she says she's going to add a mink a month until it becomes a full-grown stole.

HST May Work Out Budget Cut

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP) — President Truman may work out a budget calling for expenses a half billion dollars or more below this fiscal year's indicated spending, it was reported Saturday.

Officials in touch with the situation said the figure is likely to be in the 42 to 43 billion dollar range, probably nearer the latter. Final decisions still are pending on some items, it was said.

Budget spending the current year ending next June 30 is running about $43,500,000,000.

Tax Boost Wanted

This wouldn't be enough of a cut to balance the budget unless taxes are increased. Mr. Truman has made it clear he sees no other way than increased revenues to halt deficit spending. The budget will be handed to Congress next month.

With tentative revenue expectations at the $38 billion level of this year and last, the present outlook appeared to be a deficit of 4 to 5 billion dollars for fiscal 1951.

For the current fiscal year, the deficit—meaning the margin by which the government is overspending its income—is currently estimated officially at $5,500,000,000.

Important Decisions Slated

Officials discussing the matter, but unwilling to be named, stressed that the precise outcome will be determined by the President and his advisers at Key West.

Mr. Truman was reported hopeful that federal spending from here on out will be downward from the current fiscal year's peacetime record of $43,500,000,000.

The administration blames the "cold war" with Russia for most of the sharp rise in federal costs this year and last from the postwar low of $36,066,000,000 in fiscal 1948.

The size of the spending figure—and cut—will vary considerably according to such final presidential decisions as whether to ask Congress again to set up universal (compulsory) military training.

That alone was a $800 million item in last January's budget—and one which some advisers hope Mr. Truman will drop this time, since Congress has ignored it twice.

Mr. Truman is reported sure, however, to push again for another hitherto unsuccessful proposal—federal aid to education—despite the $300 million a year cost tag it carries.

Suit Against A. And P. Claimed As Desire To 'Eliminate' Firm

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 11 (AP) — John C. Brennan of Chicago, a vice-president of the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., says the government's anti-trust suit against his firm is based on a desire to "eliminate" the company.

Brennan made the charge Saturday at the annual convention of the Association of New York State canners.

"Their (the government's) desire from the first has been to eliminate us as a competitive factor," Brennan said, "either because they honestly believe that any company this big is dangerous and must be destroyed, or in order to satisfy, for political reasons, the demands of small business groups and their spokesmen in Congress who demanded this action, or both."

Famous Washington Cartoonist Claimed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. (AP) — Clifford K. Berryman, noted editorial cartoonist for the Washington Star, died today.

The 80-year-old veteran of 53 years of front page drawing died at his home about 10 a.m. (CST) after an illness of less than a month. He collapsed in the lobby of the newspaper as he went to work Nov. 17.

Despite his age he was still regular in appearance at his drawing board.

He drew three cartoons a week, usually on national affairs and figures. It was only recently that he cut back from seven a week as a concession to advice that he take it easy.

"Cliff" Berryman was dean of the nation's cartoonists. A handsome, stocky man with wavy white hair and a partiality toward windsor ties, he was a familiar and popular figure.

Self-taught, he was a true artist and never caricatured. His work made sharp editorial points on policies and events but in 53 years of front page drawing of the nation's great he was never known to have given personal offense.

To older politicians and thousands of friends he was known for creating the famous "teddy bear." He first drew the cub back in 1902 as a joke on President "Teddy" Roosevelt who refused to shoot a young bear during a hunting trip in Mississippi.

The little bear became a sort of trade mark, inserted occasionally in a corner of drawings to which Berryman gave particular importance. The bear's likeness lives on in thousands of toy reproductions for which the cartoonist never received a cent. He never copyrighted the idea.

Home Station Training For Lubbock Reservists Okayed

Authority has been received from the Texas Military district in Austin to conduct home station training in Lubbock for Organized Reserves in this area, Major James R. Samsel, local ORC instructor has announced.

This training, conducted over weekends, proved popular with Reservists during its initial try last year. In fact, there was such interest in the program that allotted funds for the program were depleted before the training season was half over.

This year, applications for quotas will be submitted to Texas Military districts by Dec. 27, and the district will allocate funds to various areas according to the entire state's responses.

Major Samsel said the Lubbock office will ask for 75 officers and 50 enlisted men to implement the home station training program here.

French tractor production, now running ahead of demand, may have to be reduced.

Dual Completion Plan Before Board

Production Tests On Gaines Discovery Set

Samedan Oil Corporation and Anderson Brothers No. 1-E-A Andrews, discovery for flowing oil from both the Devonian and from the Ellenburger, in Central-South Gaines County, 15 miles south and slightly west of Seminole, is preparing to take potential test and complete from the Devonian, and will then follow by taking the potential from the Ellenburger

The Ellenburger completion will be held up until the Railroad Commission of Texas has held a hearing on the matter of dually completing the wildcat.

On the latest test report on the Devonian, the well flowed 596 barrels of pipe line oil in 10½ hours, through open two-inch tubing. That was an average of 58.47 barrels of oil per hour for the period. During the first five hours of the period the well made 300 barrels, and in the last five and one half hours the production was 296 barrels.

Operators are now making pressure surveys and doing other routine operations incident to completing the well.

The Devonian production is from perforations in the casing 10,056-070 feet, which had been washed with 500 gallons of mud acid.

The Ellenburger at 11,900-960 feet, has flowed for an average of seven barrels of oil per hour, through a one inch opening of tubing, after that zone had also been treated with acid. The Ellenburger production is also through perforations.

Currently a bridging plug is set in the casing between the Devonian and the Ellenburger.

This important discovery is 660 feet from north and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 19, block A-24, psl survey.

It is on the northwest side of the Robertson field, which has production from the middle and lower Permian, above 8,000 feet.

The nearest Devonian and Ellenburger production to the Samedan and Anderson strike is about four miles south and slightly east in the Flanagan multi-pay field.

PUMPING UNIT BEING SET ON GAINES WELL

Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation No. 1 Nichols, central-east Gaines county, wildcat, 23 miles west of Seminole, and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 7, block A-10, psl survey, is setting a pumping unit to continue testing, and to try to complete as a producer and a discovery.

This exploration has shown for a small production from the Clear Fork of the Permian through casing perforations at 6,390-6,448 feet.

That interval has been treated with several injections of acid. On the last swabbing test reported the project recovered 21 barrels of oil, one and one half barrels of sediment, and seven and one half barrels of water in six hours.

It drilled to total depth of 7,510 feet and then plugged back and set 7-inch casing at 6,570 feet, for the completion try, after the zone between 6,570-7,510 feet had failed to show for any sort of petroleum production.

TERRY COUNTY DISCOVERY REACHES WATER TABLE

Tide Water Associated Oil company, and associates No. 1 Nystel, southwest Terry County discovery for possible commercial production from the Fusselman zone of the Silurian, finally found the water table in that formation, and is now drilling deeper.

The water came in the Fusselman in a one hour drillstem test at 11,594-640 feet. There was a good blow on air throughout the period.

Recovery was the 1,030-foot water blanket, and 1,128 feet of sulphur water. Chloride content of the water was 31,000 parts per million. There were no signs of oil or gas.

Open flowing bottom hole pressure was 750 pounds to 900 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure was 1,300 pounds, after 15 minutes.

No. 1 Nystel has shown oil and gas in drillstem test from 11,469 feet to 11,595 feet. That gives the wildcat approximately 125 feet of section above the water. Considerable free oil has been developed on drillstem tests on that interval—however, none of the tests had any oil flows.

The project was originally started to drill the Ellenburger. The hole will be continued until that objective has been satisfied, and then, if no other shows for production are developed, it is expected that casing will be run, and a production test made on the 11,469-595 foot horizon.

This well is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 9, block C-38, psl survey. It is five miles east of the Adair-San Andres field, and 14 miles south and a little east of Brownfield.

NEW WELL TO BE DRILLED IN ANDREWS

Drilling is to be started at once on a 5,000-foot wildcat in Central-Southeast Andrews county. The prospector will be The Vickers Petroleum Company, Inc., Bay Petroleum Corporation and Norwood Drilling Company No. 1 Fasken-Amerada.

The location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 12, block 42, G&MM B&A survey, T-2-N.

That puts the venture four miles north of the nearest producers from the San Andres-Permian on the north side of the Midland Farms field. The No. 1 Fasken-Amerada is contracted to explore

$25,000 Loss In Cotton Fire Set

MORTON, Dec. 11. (Special)—High winds today were blamed for a fire in the storage yard of the Morton Co-op gin here Saturday, and for a subsequent grass fire nearby.

J. T. Lilljedahl, manager of the gin, said strong winds blew off the top of the gin's burr pit, caved in a side, and sent sparks showering over the storage yard, starting the fire that damaged an estimated $25,000 worth of cotton there.

Wind Causes Damage

The wind also caused some damage on the Slaughter Farms project six miles south of town, which is managed by Lloyd Miller. Miller reported here that a henhouse and some other buildings had been damaged by a small twister which struck in the area.

The cotton fire, which started shortly after noon, destroyed about 200 bales of cotton, and the equivalent of ten bales of unginned cotton, said Lilljedahl. He said personnel at the gin had worked all day today to check damage, but that exact figures could not be released until Monday. Lilljedahl said the storage yard had about 1,100 bales in it at the time of the fire.

More than 100 volunteer fire fighters checked the spread of flames shortly after 4 p.m., but it was after 9 p.m., before fire-fighting crews, using bulldozers to stir the smouldering cotton, had extinguished the last spark.

A grass fire, northeast of the gin yard, which is located three blocks north of the Morton business district, started during the afternoon from sparks from the cotton fire. Firemen extinguished it before it spread or did any damage.

Merchants and others in Morton left their work and hurried to help fight the blaze while women and children gathered as spectators.

Trucks and tractors from town were rushed to the scene to haul away cotton bales and trailers that were not in flames.

Eight-Year-Old Girl Brings Aid To Parents Hurt In Wreck

FORT WORTH, Dec. 11. (AP)—An eight-year-old girl, bruised and bleeding, stumbled to a highway to flag down a passing motorist about midnight last night, to obtain aid for her parents, lying unconscious in their overturned car in a small creek near Azle.

The girl, Beverly Ann Young of Markley, crawled out of the car hardly realizing that her head was bleeding as she groped for nearby highway 199.

Beverly Ann was released by the hospital this morning and was taken home by her aunt, Mrs. Tom Enright of Graham.

116,000 Dropped From Military Payrolls

Economy Move Hits Civilians

By ELTON C. FAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The Defense department has dropped about 116,000 civilian workers since the start of its economy program last summer, officials said today.

The job of carrying out the order of Defense Secretary Johnson for a 135,000-man cut for the three armed forces thus was said to be on or ahead of schedule.

This is the biggest item on a list of 25 possible cost cutting projects outlined by the department.

Two Complete Layoffs

The Army completed its worker reduction on November 1 and the Air Force about December 1, officials said. The Army's part was a layoff of 41,000; the Air Force, 18,800.

Because the Navy had the biggest proportion of cuts assigned to it—76,000 workers to be dismissed—and because the project of closing down such plants as shipyards involved more complications, time for completion of the Navy layoff schedule was extended to next June 30.

The lay-offs are part of what the Defense department calls a program to reduce expenditures by approximately $200,000,000 the first year and when in full effect at a rate of approximately $500,000,000.

Smaller Budget Seen

The administration has let it be known that the military budget for the next fiscal year will be held to a ceiling of about $13,000,000,000. The budget for the armed forces this year carried a top $14,400,000,000.

Another big project in the department's "areas of possible savings" was a drastic reduction in flying hours for reserve officers or officers other than those regularly assigned to operational air units. The department jotted down a $101,352,000 figure for that item.

Then a $48,000,000 possible savings was listed for "cutback of civilians in uniform." To carry this out, approximately 12,000 reserve officers who have been on active duty are being relegated to inactive, no-pay status.

One of Johnson's advisers explains that in addition to actual reduction of expenditures, he is "trying to get more and more of our money into combat units, into the effective fighting force" and spending less on the overhead operating cost of the administrative end of the defense. Translating money into terms of men, he said, this means "more men in regiments, less in headquarters."

The play, which is the second of the season for the group, will be presented tonight and Tuesday only.

The story centers on Professor Turner, who was a happy man until an all-time All-American descended upon his home and an irate trustee menaced his career. He was a mild literary scholar until hilarious complications made him a swash-buckling man of action.

Mrs. John Robert Moxley will direct the play.

Appearing in the production will be Mrs. William Byrd, as Cleota; Guy Wilson as the professor; Mrs. Samuel W. Tinsley, jr., as Ellen Turner, wife of the professor; Miss Anne Eskin, as Patricia Stanley; George Wehling, as Wal-

Beauty Found Dead In Boarding House

Iowa U. Student Is Charged In Strangulation Death Of Co-Ed

(By The Associated Press)

IOWA CITY, Ia., Dec. 11.—A beauteous golden-haired co-ed was found strangled early today in a men's rooming house known as the "Empty Arms."

Her escort, a fellow-student who had entertained her at a private lobster dinner and a fraternity dance, was accused of slaying her.

The case rocked the University of Iowa campus.

The dead girl was Margaret Ann (Gee-Gee) Jackson, 20, a campus beauty. Charged with murder is Robert Bednasek, 24, who wined and dined her on the eve of her death. County Atty. Jack C. White filed the charge.

Dr. George D. Callahan, Johnson county coroner, said the girl's death was "murder caused by strangulation."

He said the motive probably was jealousy, Miss Jackson, formerly "pinned" ("engaged" by campus custom) to Bednasek, had invited another man to her sorority dance Friday night.

Her body was found at 2 a.m. today in a men's rooming house, still clad in the white strapless formal gown she had worn to a fraternity dance with Bednasek last night. Bednasek wore his tuxedo when arrested.

Both were students majoring in psychology at the state University of Iowa.

Miss Jackson's father is a prominent Burlington, Ia., attorney and a member of the state parole board. The young woman was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Bednasek, a senior from Cedar Rapids, Ia., is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity but lived at the rooming house where the body was found.

A joint statement issued by state, county and local authorities described the sequence of events as follows:

Bednasek reserved a second floor room at his rooming house and took Miss Jackson there at about 7:45 p.m. yesterday for a dinner for two.

Health Plan Would Provide All Kinds Of Devices, Official Says

By WILLIAM KERWIN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—A top Federal Security agency official declared today that the administration's proposed national health plan would provide "all kinds" of medical devices, including wigs, glasses and false teeth, to patients if a doctor ordered them.

John L. Thurston, FSA assistant administrator for program, agreed with his boss, Oscar R. Ewing, that the multi-billion dollar health plan proposal would cover the whole range of medical aids.

Thurston emphasized that they will be made available only on "doctor's orders."

Cost Considered Small

Ewing, FSA head and leading proponent of health insurance, told a London news conference that under the British plan which provides the devices the cost of wigs "doesn't amount to a hill of beans."

Thurston, directing his remarks to the administration's health bill bottled up in the Senate, declared:

"The plan could conceivably provide for the granting of all kinds of devices on the recommendation of a doctor just as the Veterans Administration provides devices for veterans patients."

Rule Of Thumb Given

"No blueprint" has been drawn by the agency, but Thurston said that "a safe rule of thumb would be that the matter would be up to the doctor in caring for his patient."

Officials said they expect a "slight" increase in the use of the medical aid by persons in this country if the program is approved. Thurston said that the increase "would be to the extent that people now would be able to obtain things they otherwise could not buy."

Annual estimated cost of the health plan ranges from $4,500,000,000 to $6 billion with about 85 million people covered. If changes in the old age and survivors insurance program are made, the number of persons included in the health plan would rise to about 100 million.

Payroll Tax Possible

Initially the funds would be raised through a three per cent payroll deduction to be shared equally by employe and employer, later, the tax will be increased by one per cent when more dentists are available.

The program would be made a part of the FSA set-up with provision for a national advisory board to handle policy.

One feature of the plan is that visitors to the U. S. would not be included in the program as is the case in Britain. FSA said they would have to pay for medical treatment out of their own pockets.

Texas Lawyer Plans Court Attack On Cotton Program

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—A Texas lawyer said last night he will be ready Monday to take legal action against the government's cotton acreage allotment program.

William H. Shireman of Corpus Christi told a reporter a suit will be filed in U. S. district court here, asking an injunction against Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan and other department officials.

He represents a group of Texas coastal bend farmers who he contends will lose 145,000 acres of cotton land because of inequities in the Texas allotments.

"I spent the day in consultation with Washington lawyers," he said. "We revamped our brief and will be ready to file it on Monday."

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Traffic In False Papers Is Revealed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. — Sen. McCarran (D-Nev), declared today that underground operators in Europe are conducting an extensive traffic in fraudulent papers for displaced persons otherwise ineligible to enter the United States.

The chairman of the Senate Judiciary committee, just back from a month's-long tour of Europe, declined to say whether the traffic is part of an organized movement but said he found a flow of false papers "in place after place."

Drastic Changes Needed

McCarran declared that "there is plenty of it going on and it calls for drastic changes in the present law." He added:

"They do it in devious ways. The papers include fraudulent passports, birth certificates and residential certificates."

Pressed for further details and asked if the practice is carried on by individuals interested in "making a fast dollar" or by an organization, McCarran said:

"I would rather let the data that I've collected answer that."

He said he will make the data public at the proper time.

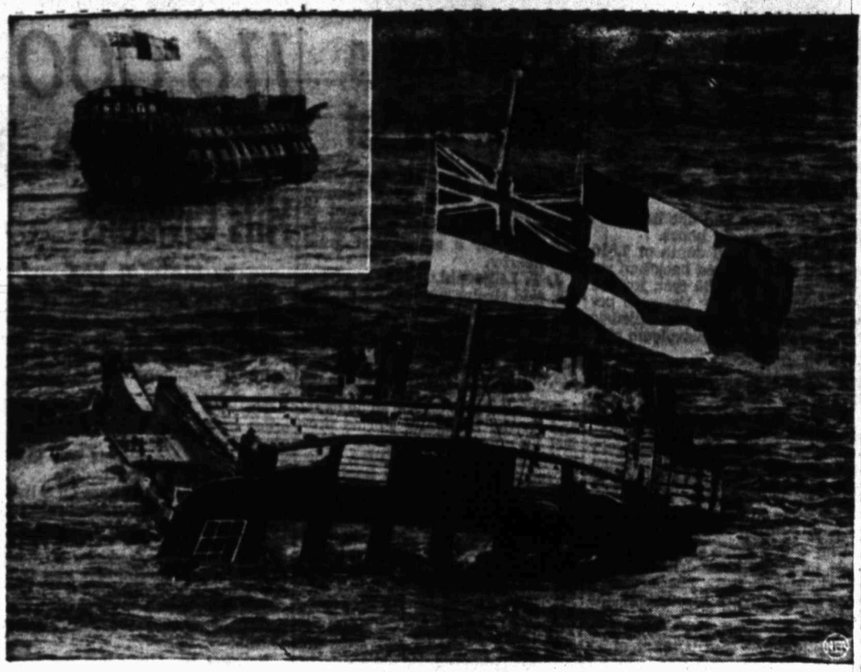

Red Thrust Feared

McCarran, who spent some time conferring with Spanish officials, also asserted that Spain fears a Communist thrust from North Africa in case of war and pointed out that such a move would pinch off western Europe.

The Nevadan said that the United States must advance loan credits to Spain if it hopes to see the Atlantic pact succeed and said he believes Spain would furnish ports and airfields to mount a western nation's counterattack if Russia attempted to overrun Europe.

McCarran is chairman of a subcommittee studying revision of the bitterly-contested displaced persons bill passed by the 80th Congress.

Make sure that your toddler is comfortable when he is eating. Are his chair and table the right height for him? Does he have eating utensils that are the right size for him to manage? A small squat glass for milk or orange juice is better for a pre-schooler than a heavy tall glass.

TRAFALGAR VET GOES TO WATERY GRAVE—Proudly flying both the Union Jack and the French Tricolor, the 152-year-old wooden warship Implacable goes down in the sea off Isle of Wight, England, after being scuttled by the British Navy. Inset shows the old ship being towed to her burial site. One of two ships surviving the famous battle of Trafalgar, the Implacable was captured from the French by the English. Naval leaders of both countries attended the ceremony in which the rotting relic was sent to the bottom.

Santa Claus Runs Into Shortage Of Suits, Whiskers

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 (INS)—If Santa Claus looks a little bedraggled this Christmas, just blame it on a shortage of whiskers and higher prices for red suits.

Even 'ole Saint Nick has his troubles when it comes to shopping. One of Santa's favorite tailors in Chicago, who has been supplying Santa Claus suits with all the trimmings for 50 years reports that times are harder.

Material for costumes is "hard to get and more expensive than ever before."

There are times when Santa's beard is a mere stubble and the wrong color. In past years, Santa could always turn to the costumer's for a set of flowing white whiskers.

But this is an uncertain year for Santa's whiskers, too.

Customers once got such beards—12-inches long—for $30 a dozen. Now the beards are selling for $15 . . . each . . . frequently looking a little motheaten.

Costumer Complains

One costumer complained: "We've got a couple beards that were not much more than goatees—and who wants a Santa looking like a dressed up billy goat?"

All of which adds up to the best method of recognizing Santa Claus this year: It doesn't matter whether his beard is long or a mere stubble—or what he's wearing. If he's carrying gifts, it's Santa Claus.

If Santa doesn't have a red suit, its only because he didn't do his Christmas shopping early.

Minnesota Curfew Siren Ruled Legal Despite Noise Nuisance

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 11 (U.P.)—Blowing a fire siren at eight o'clock each evening as a curfew warning does not constitute a nuisance, the Minnesota attorney general's office held.

J. A. A. Burnquist, the attorney general, wrote the opinion after a resident of Freeport Village complained about the noise.

"The public interest is paramount and transcends such slight inconvenience as the party complaining may suffer for a minute or two," Burnquist wrote.

OUR GAS RATES:

Something Is Wrong

THE majority of the people of Lubbock probably won't do any cheering over the possibility of lower gas rates unless and until they actually see them.

We, frankly are not hopeful of results. We shall be surprised if the City commission's latest discussions of gas rates do not follow the course of those of a few months ago, and others of years past. There was a lot of talk for a time, and then all was forgotten.

We, like the City commission, are unable to find justification for domestic gas rates in Lubbock which are almost twice as high as those in Amarillo. The Avalanche-Journal has condemned this disparity many times over the past 20 years and took a leading part in the original campaign which obtained lower gas rates for Lubbock. The rates were and still are too nigh in comparison with those prevailing in Amarillo, but the difference in rates is not quite as great as it was.

We do not pretend to know whether present Lubbock rates are necessary to give the gas company a fair return on its investment. Officials of the company say this is true and, in view of enormously increased operating costs, it is difficult to doubt them.

But one thing is sure: The rates in Lubbock either are too high, or those in Amarillo are too low. The two rates should be equalized. If Amarillo users are getting gas too cheaply, they should be required to carry a more equitable share of the load. Otherwise, increased rates are pretty sure to be proposed sooner or later in cities like Lubbock to help pay for gas sold too cheaply in Amarillo, if, indeed that is not happening right now.

It is to be hoped the City commission will follow through this time in an effort to obtain rates which are equitable for Lubbock, Amarillo and all cities served by the West Texas Gas company. But we aren't going to try to hold our breath until something of this kind is done.

The Maddox Case

JOHN F. MADDOX, who was discharged as chief claims auditor of the Texas State Board of Control last week, has announced he will demand a Senate investigation of the incident.

Naturally, if Maddox can produce any evidence of wrong-doing by the board, the matter will be a proper subject for legislative inquiry. But the evidence, if any, should be convincing before the Senate allows any of its time to be wasted on such a matter.

As of this time, the incident has nothing more than the appearance of one of the State's hired hands getting fired. Mr. Maddox's conduct since then has given apparent credence to the explanation that he was discharged for "gross insubordination."

If that is all the case amounts to, it is not properly a matter of concern to, or consideration by, the people, or of the legislative bodies of Texas.

Going Too Far!

IT IS natural, of course, for the political parties to vie with each other—to try to impress the voters that each can offer as much as the other, if not more.

But when the Republicans countered the Democrats' Andrew Jackson May with J. Parnell Thomas, or vice versa, the competition was carried too far. Republicans, or Democrats, we need no more Thomases or Mays!

Stalin holds that communism and capitalism can live side by side in peace. It appears no one has ever thought of trying it.

Giveaway programs are reported as losing their popularity on radio. Uncle Sam will soon have a monopoly in the field.

Scientists say that the nation is running out of water. It couldn't be the increased demand is for drinking purposes?

Conservative: The man who wants to keep his money. Liberal: The one who wants to tell you how to spend your money. Radical: The man who wants all of your money.

A Blunt Reminder

The Cameo

By VIRGINIA TEALE
Distributed By NEA, Inc.

THE STORY: Hagar Blair is in jail charged with murder in which a valuable cameo seems to be a vital clue. Hagar has no alibi for the time of the deaths of either Martin Falter, blackmailer, or Neil O'Neill, one-time owner of the cameo. Hagar's assistant, Stephanie Smith, Neil's niece, meanwhile receives a visit from Andrey Yakov who says he has letters that will clear Hagar, if Stephanie will let him examine the cameo.

XXV

STEPHANIE lowered her eyes. When she looked up, she asked: "Would you allow someone else to be present while you looked at the locket? And will you give me the letters first?"

Yakov smiled wryly. "I will meet your conditions. I suppose you will have Mr. Reddy of the police department as witness?"

Stephanie nodded.

Yakov got up and walked to the door, he paused with his hand on the knob:

"It is agreed. I will get the letters and bring them to you. We will get this business done tonight." He bowed. "Until later Miss—Smith!"

Stephanie locked the door behind him, stood there thinking for a few minutes, then walked swiftly to the phone and dialed Charlie Reddy' home number. She waited impatiently for 10 rings then slammed the phone back in its cradle and sank into a chair.

Presently she strode across her bedroom to an old-fashioned oak desk, the flat top, kneehole type, which stood near the windows. Stephanie yanked at the handle which opened the typewriter compartment and the machine rose to a working level. She reached into the hole where the typewriter had been and brought out a small steel box, which she unlocked with a key which had been cached in a hollow of her typewriter. Inside the case was the silver cameo box.

She began to pry at the cushion of the box. When the velvet pad came up, she studied the numbers engraved in the bottom of the box. The first set, 10 and 4, flashed a message. She remembered Hagar's suggestion about the twelve points resembling a clock dial. She pressed down the fourth and tenth point of the cameo frame. The cameo flipped open to the pictures. With trembling hands she pressed the next set of numbers, 8 and 2. Nothing happened. Disappointed she studied the engraving. There was still the numeral 6. Idly she pressed the point on the frame which, on a clock dial, would correspond to 6.

Stephanie almost dropped the locket as the smooth gold back of the cameo snapped open like an old-fashioned watch and a small bit of paper fluttered to the floor!

BREATHLESS with curiosity and apprehension, she stooped and picked it up. Her shaking fingers smoothed the folds open.

A few words of Russian script, precisely printed, met her eyes. Translating, she repeated the words aloud:

"The Cherry Orchard, gold and morocco binding, Dr. Otto Urich, St. Petersburg College."

Stephanie shook her head—it was foolish! Why, Dr. Urich? Any Russian school child would know that Chekov was the author of "The Cherry Orchard!"

She spent almost a half hour considering possibilities: Was this what Andrey Yakov was searching for? Was it a code? Was it of such importance that two people had been killed because of it? And, most important, was Yakov the killer. She must tell Hagar.

She made her decision and left the house. After all, she told herself, the town's main street was only a couple of blocks down the hill.

Walking swiftly her eyes straight ahead on the cheerful lights of town, she did not notice the unnatural swaying and bending of a nearby pepper tree, nor the long, narrow shadow that materialized several yards behind her. The shadow disappeared and reappeared at intervals, always behind her and gradually lessening the distance.

HEADLIGHTS coming up the hill threw their glare onto her red coat. It roared into a U-turn and came to a stop beside her.

"Going my way?" asked a fine, sturdy voice.

Stephanie laughed in relief. "I am if you are going to the jail."

Charlie Reddy hopped out and held the door open: "Jail's our destionation, lady!"

As the car glided slowly down the hill, he said: "May I suggest you don't go traipsing around alone and on foot while we still have a murderer at large? We haven't yet discovered any reason why either of the murders have been committed. The cameo seems mixed up in this pretty thoroughly and—while we're in the warinings department—let me direct your attention to its present possessor!"

Stephanie squirmed a bit and told about Yakov's insistence upon seeing the cameo.

Did he threaten you?"

"Not exactly. But he did call me 'Miss Serenov' with a kind of knowing leer, as though he'd found out something I was hiding. And he told me that he had some papers or letters that would get Hagar out of jail."

"He did! Chief Peters'll have that guy for concealing evidence. Wonder what he's got? Did he say anything more than that?"

"Well, he made a bargain with me. I'm to let him examine the cameo in exchange for the letters." She looked at Reddy thoughtfully for a moment and then added: "But I've found what he's looking for, I think. And yet, I don't understand why it would be important. I want to talk to Hagar about it."

Reddy's eyes were reproachful: "How about me? Can't you trust me with it?"

Stephanie impulsively pressed his arm, "Of course I can. But why not come in with me to see Hagar? Then I can tell you both at the same time."

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 11—There ought to be a law forcing all eastern commentators—and viewers-with-alarm—to spend at least a week each year in and around the Phoenix area.

The result would be a sharp drop in the number of reports that this land of ours is losing its wallop.

This is Texas without oil. California without Hollywood — but with all the unquenchable pride and vigor and lustiness that would now enable our people to start all over again and still come out on top. Confidence shouts its defiance around these parts.

We (as a fellow learns to say here, after a few days) got the sunniest sun in the whole danged United States, and figures to prove it.

We got the most lettuce in the world, and the most copper, and the only long-staple cotton this side of the Nile valley, and the purtiest gals and the strongest men.

We got rattlers that rattle louder than any rattlers anywhere, and the fattest cattle, and mountains that turn to bronze at sunset. And never is heard a discouraging word.

Up north we got the biggest dam' hole in the world, 200 miles long and down to 6,000 feet deep. We got the only city-paid archeologist in captivity, a fellow out of Norway named of Odd S. Halseth.

OVER TREASURY POLICY

Capital Feud Flares

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, — The Eccles-Snyder clash over the Treasury's inflationary financial policies marks the first public avowal in presidential circles that the Administration seeks even stronger control over banking and industrial credit, with the obvious plan to maintain present swollen levels of business activity, prices, taxes, federal revenue, and Fair Deal spending.

TUCKER

Had it not been for the conscientious Mr. Eccles's smoldering indignation and deep concern over the drift toward a crisis which would bankrupt a private business, the Truman-Snyder scheme might never have been revealed so that the public could understand it.

But now there is virtual assurance of a Congressional investigation of the White House strategy to use public funds to prevent economic difficulties. Mr. Eccles has received commendatory letters from all sections.

POLICY: As revealed here exclusively several days ago, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation's new lending policy, including questioned advances to automobile, housing and wildcatting oil firms, is directed by the White House. Secretary Snyder, John R. Steelman and Donald S. Dawson, ex-RFC official, are the operators.

Through the vast lending authority of RFC, which was increased at Mr. Truman's demand, he intends to pour out government money to keep marginal firms in existence because of the employment and wages they provide to their employes. The borrowers are actual political assets to him.

Secretary Snyder's deficit financing falls into the same political category, according to Mr. Eccle's hints, although he has not yet told the full story.

Under the Truman-Snyder scheme, they force the Federal Reserve to buy billions of low-interest Treasury issues that reliable banks will not take. The Federal Reserve must also support these issues at par by absorbing whatever private institutions won't accept, thus creating a false market.

CAPITAL: Although this subject is extremely complicated, the transactions which Mr. Eccles condemns amount to robbing Peter to pay Paul. And in this instance the taxpayers are both Peter and Paul. It is their money that permits these operations. Here is the story in laymen's language:

Secretary Snyder—the Treasury, that is—prints billions of securities at extremely low interest rates and at an issue price which the government guarantees to maintain, to pay the costs of running the government, which will exceed income this year by an estimated $6 billion and to refinance the $256 billion public debt.

He must pay a low rate on "governments"—1 3/8 per cent on short term and an average of 2½ on long-term stuff—because a higher and more equitable interest would cost him from three to four additional billions a year in public debt charges.

But his insistence on such low rates keeps down the return on all other investments, thus killing incentive and drying up equity capital.

GUARANTEED: When private banks, life insurance companies and investment corporations refuse to buy his bonds, as they have been doing lately, Mr. Snyder forces the Federal Reserve to take them to keep them from falling below par. That is what keeps "governments" from falling to 70 or 80 instead of their par value of a 100-plus.

Meanwhile, whenever a bank loaded down with Mr. Snyder's collateral needs money to lend to a customer, it merely cashes its government bonds with the Federal Reserve at a guaranteed support price.

Just as a farmer can turn over a bushel of wheat to the CCC at an artificial figure under the Administration's subsidy program, so a banker or private individual may turn in his bonds.

There is no difference in the two transactions. Both are based on federal generosity with our money.

BANKRUPTCY: An even more threatening feature, as Mr. Eccles suggests, is that this scheme serves to conceal the fact that the United States Treasury is evading bankruptcy only because it can continue to draw money from the taxpayers.

If the government were a private enterprise, it would now be in the hands of a receiver. That is the real significance of the Eccles-Snyder controversy.

The public debt was about $275 billion when Mr. Truman took office based on New Deal and war expenditures. He reduced it to about $250 billion by turning back to the buyers more than $22 billion of a postwar issue that was not needed. That represented no savings, of course.

DEBT: The debt now stands at about $256 billion, and will probably go above $260 billion in the next six months. Taxes are at an all-time high for a peace era. In such periods, the government should pay off its debts instead of increasing them.

That is the Eccles thesis. His public avowal of it, however, has won him the enmity of the Treasury and the White House. It serves to explain, belatedly, why President Truman did not reappoint him as head of the Federal Reserve a year ago.

As against Truman-Snyder opposition, the man from Utah has strong supporters in his demand for economy and financial soundness. They include General "Ike" Eisenhower, James F. Byrnes, Bernard M. Baruch and Jesse H. Jones.

NEW ATOMIC FLAREUP SCORED

Scare Stories Branded Politics

BY THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — There is a type of political strategy that has become very familiar through constant use.

This is to take a man or group of men identified with a particular political and economic philosophy and make them out to be dupes or villains, or even sinister if possible, in order to discredit the philosophy.

STOKES

That's much simpler than a generalized attack on the philosophy, for an idea can be personalized into specific human beings who are public figures and are cartooned and caricatured, which make them easy targets and scapegoats.

Most of us are guilty of that in some form or another.

Hoover Was Example

In that way, for instance, Democrats for years capitalized upon Herbert Hoover — and still do on occasion. This was because he was President when our greatest depression occurred that affected so many people and because of the political philosophy that disappeared with the end of his administration for the reason that it no longer served the people.

They saddled all the woes that time upon Mr. Hoover, though he was but the victim of circumstances of the previous decade. He tried to meet the disaster in ways that comported with the political philosophy of that era and it could not be met that way any longer. So he went out along with his philosophy. Some understanding has come since of what he was up against, and he has emerged now as a sort of elder statesman.

BUT we are still in the midst of bitter controversy about the new philosophy that replaced the old. Those who are fighting it create their whipping boys, as Democrats did with Mr. Hoover, in the form of persons identified with the Roosevelt New Deal philosophy that is now carried forward in the Truman Fair Deal philosophy.

The fight against the New Deal-Fair Deal idea diminished somewhat after Harry Truman became President because he could get nowhere with it in Congress. It was for considerable time a dead duck, so to speak. But, after his surprising re-election and after Congress finally began to move slowly with part of his program, the fight broke out again in full fury.

So we find Franklin D. Roosevelt vilified anew and his widow attacked scurrilously. And now we have the uranium-to-Russia "sensation" of 1943 revived and the names of persons closely identified with the Roosevelt New Deal produced in connection with it. These include Harry L. Hopkins, who burned out his life with his devoted and effective war service, and Henry A. Wallace, who also performed valuable service in those critical and trying days.

In the revival we have the customary mysterious airplane flights, mysterious telephone calls, secret documents, and memoranda on "White House stationery."

Officials Deny Charges

The whole cheap drama was demolished by Secretary of State Dean Achesan and Lieut. Gen. L. R. Groves, head of the atom bomb project during the war. The latter never had any contact whatever with Mr. Hopkins or Mr. Wallace who were accused of "pressuring" him in some way or another.

Negligible quantities of uranium were shipped to Russia with the full approval of the War department, but not enough to be of any use in the atom bomb process, as General Groves testified, and as top atomic scientists had said. Uranium then was a commercial product and could be obtained on the market. Nor at the time had we developed an atom bomb or did we know the process of making it — the industrial "know-how," which is the chief thing. General Groves confirmed what atomic scientists had suggested, which was that it was not considered wise suddenly to stop shipments of uranium as the Russians might then learn that we were working on a bomb.

IT IS hard afterward to project yourself back into the crisis of war, but we were then fighting a war for our national survival and the Russians were our allies upon whom we depended heavily, which now seems to be forgotten in many quarters.

There probably will be more of these tall tales fabricated, particularly if the Fair Deal has further successes in Congress and in future elections — for that purpose and for the purpose of those who want to steam up hostility toward Russia. That is a pattern now well recognized in the sources from which it springs so regularly.

The American people do not seem to fall very easily any more for these hobgoblins.

PAPER DISCLOSES MAHON PROTEST

Washington Learns Of Schools Fight Against Russian Bulletin

By SARAH McLENDON
Avalanche Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Washington woke up over the weekend to discover that the Soviet Information bulletin is invading its public school libraries.

The disclosure, which was made by a newspaper story appearing on the front page of The Washington Post, came about through a protest made some time ago by Rep. George Mahon of Colorado City, who attacked the distribution of the magazine to Lubbock schools by means of the United States mails.

Readers Are Surprised

The Post, which generally minimizes the dangers of expositions of probable subversive activities in government and through the country, surprised its readers with the story.

Norman J. Nelson, first assistant superintendent of schools in Washington, said he had confiscated two or three dozen copies of the slick-paper Soviet Information bulletins mailed in recent months to high school libraries here. Grounds for confiscation were that periodicals must be on the approved lists to appear in school libraries.

He noted that apparently the publication is not received every month by all the schools, and that usually they come addressed to the libraries.

Other Schools Protest

Other Texas congressmen have protested the arrival of the magazine at schools in their districts. It was learned also that complaints have been received from California and Massachusetts schools.

Valentin A. Sorokin, second secretary of the Soviet embassy and the official in charge of the bulletin, declined to discuss circulation figures, but said that he wondered if school superintendents were a "kind of judge" of what literature Americans should read.

In its story, The Post pointed out that George Allen, former assistant secretary of state in charge of information, said in a speech here in 1948: "If we impose censorship, or make it difficult for people who visit certain foreign information centers, we will arouse ten times more interest in foreign propaganda than exists in the United States today."

Since Allen was made ambassador to Yugoslavia, at least two persons have turned down the position of assistant secretary in charge of information, and, at present, the government is hunting for a man to assume these duties.

The United States publishes for consumption in Russia a more elaborate information magazine than the Soviet bulletin. Called "America," it contains articles about life, industry, art, and literature in this country. There is no political propaganda in it.

Persistent Jap's 15 Attempts To Commit Suicide Are Failures; Adjudged Insane

TOKYO, Dec. 11 (U.P.)—Hiromasa Sato tried—oh, how he tried—to end his life.

He tried 15 times in all, up in northern Hokkaido.

The record shows: He took cyanic once, tried hanging himself six times, jumped in front of trains eight times.

He finally piled railroad ties on the tracks. The idea was to derail a train, kill a few people and then be punished for the crime. The attempt failed—but that's how Sato finally got into court.

The judge studied the case and adjudged Sato insane.

"That's foolish," said Sato. "I just want to be sentenced to death."

Young Boy Enjoys Last Sight Of Santa Through Failing Eye

MARLIN, Dec. 11 (AP)—This is a joyful Christmas for Odis Clyde Havis, 3. He doesn't know he's seeing Santa Claus and Christmas trees for the last time.

Because it is the last time, the people of Marlin are making it the happiest Christmas ever. Friday there was a special party for him.

The handsome little fellow is going blind. He already has lost the sight of his right eye. The malignant tumor which closed it last June is now destroying his left eye.

But the bright blue left eye shone with happiness yesterday. The special party was at the home of Mrs. Louis Bearden, one of several Marlin women who worked out details.

There were presents scattered all around the Christmas tree. fruits, apples, grapes. Santa was there and Odis looked hard through the haze closing in on him.

Odis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Normer Havis.

Odis is a good little boy, though he sometimes gets up in his mother's lap and cries a little. Mrs. Havis said she first noticed the boy's eye condition when he was a few months old. Soon the right eye was removed. Next week there's to be a trip to a Dallas surgeon. The left eye may be removed then.

Pecos Compact Commission Names Site For Main Office

SANTA FE, Dec. 11 (AP)—Carlsbad, N. M., Saturday was chosen for the Pecos Compact commission's main office.

A committeeman said it was the only city Texas and New Mexico could agree upon.

He said the city was selected because it is on the Pecos river, is centrally located, and because the Carlsbad Irrigation district offered to supply the commission with free space.

The New Mexico-Texas commission's legal committee, which handled the matter, said Roswell and Santa Fe, N. M., and Pecos, Tex., also were considreed

An adopted committee report sets the commission's annual meeting for the third Thursday in January and a regular meeting for the third Thursday in October. The Carlsbad meetings will be public.

Three standing committees are created by the report. They are the engineering advisory, legal and budget committees. Also provided for are annual audits and commission officers, to consist of the chairman, secretary and treasurer.

MANY PROBLEMS FACE PLAN

German People Oppose Proposal To Set Up New Military Force

By RICHARD O'REGAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

FRANKFURT Dec. 11.—Everybody is talking about a West German army—but nobody has asked the Germans about it.

They don't want an army — neither the generals, nor the government, nor the men who would carry the guns. The women don't want one either. There are already 16 of them to every 10 men.

The generals of Germany are old men, embittered against the Allies. "A year ago you called us war criminals," said one high officer. "You can't expect us to turn around overnight and be your allies after that insult."

But if they were asked, how many of the ex-generals would offer to raise an army to help defend western Europe?

About 35 to 40 percent," said a former SS general. "The rest are utterly fed up, although a few think Germany's future could be best strengthened by fighting for the Russians."

Some of the generals and professional soldiers might be willing, but not the men who would be their soldiers.

The sergeants and the privates, starting life anew after spending their youth in the forces, have no liking for the prospect of carrying a gun.

German Men Oppose Plan

A recent poll showed that more than 60 percent of German men never again wanted any part of military service.

"I wouldn't enlist voluntarily," said an ex-corporal. "I don't like uniforms. The trouble is, they probably won't ask me."

"I just got my husband back from Russia," said a German woman. "My daughter wouldn't have much chance if they took all the men away again."

The generals are bitter. General Franz Halder, fired by Hitler for the collapse of the German armies before Moscow, said "we old soldiers were trodden in the mud. Now we are private citizens. "I shall stay that way."

Many of the top generals have been hanged. Others are in allied jails. Some are in German labor camps for being Nazis. They feel the junker class lost honor and face, not only from their surrender to the Allies, but as a result of the treatment they got from their own people.

Only about nine percent of the Germans questioned in the poll said they would be willing to serve in a military force, but the professional soldiers think they could raise many more.

"I think 30 to 40 percent of the former younger officers and honest non-coms would follow a call to arms," said one general, "but we would fight only if we were given gentlemanly conditions."

These conditions, he said were: "No second-class rating. Only as an equal partner with the United States, France and Britain. Confidence. No discrimination."

The major difficulty of a West German army would be the reliability of its troops—facing brothers and cousins now being trained by the Russians.

The SS general put it bluntly: the upright, honest German soldiers who endured everything to the last. Many soldiers showed in the last war they could not withstand propaganda. Propaganda will be greatly increased in a new war because there would be Germans in the east.

"There is no organization which could be turned into an army right away. We would have to start from the bottom with the faithful nucleus of officials who would support us."

The police could not be used. In the western zones they get no formation drill.

There are 113,000 of them for a population of 47,000,000, with little better than one pistol or rifle for every two men. They are completely decentralized.

In the Russian zone, the Soviets are reported building a centralized "peoples police" of 360,000 men for a population of 17,000,000. They get 14 hours daily training with heavy weapons, including artillery.

Moscow radio recently claimed the "industrial police" of the Allied occupation forces were being mobilized into a western army.

The "industrial police" are a mixed group of Germans and displaced persons who guard Allied supply depots and freight yards. There are not more than several thousand in all western zones and marching and saluting are banned.

Moscow radio also said the United States has "200,000 members of the militarized Edelweiss society" in the west.

"What's that?" asked an American. An army officer told him:

"Oh, that was a group of about 35 German youngsters who tried to build a resistance movement in 1946. It was quickly wiped out and that ended it."

the San Andres.

It is approximately eight miles southeast of the town of Andrews. The exploration is on a lease which was farmed out to Vickers, Bay and Norwood by Amerada Petroleum Corporation.

Norwood will drill the project, using rotary tools.

NEW LOCATION BEING STAKED IN SCURRY

Placid Oil company of Dallas, has staked location for a stepout to production on the southwest side of the North Snyder field of North Central Scurry County.

The exploration is to be placid's No. 1 C. E. Ferguson, to be located 467 feet from north and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 295, block 97, H&TC survey.

Contracted depth is 6,900 feet. The drillsite is three miles northwest of Snyder.

About one mile south of Placid No. 1 Ferguson, Magnolia Petroleum Company has spotted its No. 1 Leonard Spence as a 6,800-foot venture.

It will be 660 feet from south and east lines of section 294, block 97, H&TC survey.

Lone Star Producing Company has planned two 7,000-foot projects for the North Snyder field.

Lone Star No. 1 Pearl B. Lary will be 467 feet from north and east of tract 30, section 16, J. P. Smith survey.

No. 2 Lary will be 467 feet from north and west lines of tract 30, section 16, J. P. Smith survey.

Drilling on these ventures is to begin at once.

On the southeast side of the field, Johnston and Johnston have completed their No. 1 Wade for a calculated 24-hour potential of 2,535 barrels of 43-gravity oil, natural with no water. Gas-oil ratio was 880-1.

The flow was through a three-quarter inch tubing choke from pay the 5½ inch oil string cemented at 6,706 feet and total depth at 6,875 feet. Pay was topped at 6,685 feet.

Flowing tubing pressure was 500 pounds, and the shutin casing pressure was 1,100 pounds.

The new producer is 467 feet from north and west lines of the south half of section 159, block 3, H&GN survey.

The drillsite for Johnston & Johnston No. 2 Wade as previously reported should be corrected to be 467 feet from south and west lines of the lease which is the south half of section 159, block 3, H&GN survey.

OFFSET LOCATION STAKED IN SCURRY COUNTY

Hiawatha Oil & Gas company has staked its No. 1 J. B. York as an east offset to Standard-Fryer Drilling Company No. 1 York, recently completed two-mile east extension to the Kelley field of Central Scurry County.

Hiawatha No. 1 York will be 467 feet from north and west lines of a 128 acre lease in section 180, block 3, H&GN survey. That makes it one-quarter of a mile from the city limits of Snyder.

Scheduled depth is 7,000 feet.

Pan American Production Company No. 1 Maud Carrell is to be an east offset to Newman Brothers and associates No. 1 Boren, one and one-half mile northwest extension to the Kelley field.

No. 1 Carrell is to be located 467 feet from west and 2,467 feet from north lines of section 248, block 97, H&TC survey, and six miles northwest of Snyder.

Another new project for the Kelley field is to be Cities Service Oil Company No. 1 Austin, located 467 feet from north and west lines of tract 31, section 39, Kirkland & Fields survey.

It is to drill to around 6,900 feet, starting operations by December 16.

DIAMOND-M FIELD TO GET NEW WILDCAT

In unproven area on the west side of the Diamond-M field of Southwest Scurry County, Lion Oil Company has planned its No. 1 Ohlenbusch as a 6,800 foot exploration.

This development will be 666.67 feet from north and 1,840.07 feet from west lines of section 181, block 97, H&TC survey. That puts the drillsite about 13 miles southwest of Snyder.

SMALL DISCOVERY IS COMPLETED IN SCURRY

Placid Oil Company of Dallas has officially completed its No. 1 R. H. Odom as a small discovery from the Ellenburger, three miles east of the southeast side of the North Snyder field of North Central Scurry county, where production is from the Canyon lime reef.

The discovery was completed as a pumper and made an initial daily production of five barrels of oil, plus 50 per cent water.

Completion was from open hole pay between the 5½ inch oil string set at 7,717 feet and total depth at 7,735 feet, in the Ellenburger. Gravity of the oil was 36 degrees.

The pay section was treated with 3,000 gallons of acid.

This project, which was drilled several months ago, is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 38, block 97, H&TC survey. It is about three miles north and east of Snyder.

COMPLETION IS PLANNED ON SCURRY DISCOVERY

George P. Livermore, Inc., No. 1 Winston, Central Scurry County discovery from the Strawn lime of the Pennsylvanian, was flowing to test and complete.

The discovery, located one and one-half miles east and one-quarter of a mile north of the initial producer from the Canyon reef in the Kelley field, ran a string of 5½ inch casing at 7,473 feet. After drilling out the cement plug, operator pulled the swab four times. The well kicked off and flowed though open two-inch tubing for one hour and made 33.3 barrels of oil. There was no formation water.

The open hole had been treated with 1,000 gallons of acid.

The production is coming from open hole between 7,473 feet and total depth at 7,493 feet.

Operator was testing the well on various sized chokes. Interested observers estimate that the well will be completed for a daily potential of 700 barrels of oil.

Location is 636 feet from south and 686 feet from east lines of the south half of tract 69, section 11, block 1, J. P. Smith survey.

DRILLSTEM TEST RUN ON SCURRY PROSPECTOR

A three-quarter of a mile north extension to the northwest side of the Sharon Ridge-Canyon field of Southwest Scurry County has been indicated at R. E. Smith No. 1 Springer.

This prospect, located one-half mile north of Knapp and 660 feet from south and east lines of section 123, block 25, H&TC survey, took a one-hour drillstem test in the Canyon reef, topped at 6,705 feet, from 6,705-12 feet.

There was gas at the surface in three minutes, and oil in nine minutes at the rate of 25 barrels per day. Gravity of that oil was 42 degrees.

Operator plans to drill the venture a little deeper and then try for completion. On the top of the Canyon reef the venture had a datum of minus 4,416 feet.

SCURRY WELL CONTINUES TO FLOW AFTER TEST

Sun Oil Company No. 2 Mae Lemons, West-Central Scurry County wildcat, which has shown for flowing production from the Strawn lime of the Pennsylvanian, was continuing to flow to test and complete as a discovery.

In the last 18 hours of flowing through a one-quarter inch tubing choke and well made 117 barrels of oil. No formation water was being developed. Flowing tubing pressure was 375 pounds, with the shutin casing pressure 925 pounds. The flow was natural.

The production is coming from open hole between the 5½ inch oil string cemented at 7,665 feet and total depth at 7,680 feet.

In a previous 24-hour period the well averaged 6.9 barrels of oil per hour flowing through a one-quarter inch tubing choke.

This venture found the Canyon reef lime low and was barren in that formation.

The discovery, located 853 feet from south and 1,787 feet from east lines of the southwest quarter of section 205, block 97, H&TC survey, is due to be completed and put on production in the near future.

Menzies Assured Of Anti-Labor Majority

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 11. (AP). Robert G. Menzies was assured of an anti-Labor majority of at least 11, perhaps 17, in the house of representatives today, and turned his attention to forming a coalition cabinet.

The counting of votes in Australia's general election of Saturday continued but Menzies' Liberal party and Arthur W. Fadden's Country party were certain of at least 66 of the 121 voting seats in the lower house of parliament.

Prime Minister Joseph B. Chifley's Labor party, which governed Australia since 1941, was sure of only 50. Five seats remain in doubt, but the anti-Labor parties appeared to be winning three of them. If threrefore had a good chance for a total of 69 seats to Labor's 52.

Vote Is Given

When today's counting ended, 3,931,126 of about 4,900,000 votes cast had been counted.

After a two hour repast, the couple went to the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity's winter formal.

At about 12:30 a.m. today the couple returned to the rooming house for a nightcap.

Danced To Record Player

They apparently had a few drinks of scotch whisky. Then they went across the hall and began dancing to a record player.

At this point, Bednasek said, he doesn't remember what happened.

The next Bednasek knew, he said, he found the co-ed lying on the floor "not breathing." He said he became frightened.

Bednasek ran to the fire station about a block from the rooming house. He battered on the door. There was no answer.

Then he ran to the police station around the corner and shouted:

"There's a girl up here at 411 East Washington street who isn't breathing and needs help."

Bednasek returned with police to the rooming house. When they reached the second floor he ran to the "dinner for two" room and hurled the whisky bottle out a window.

A physician pronounced Miss Jackson dead and Bednasek was arrested for questioning. An autopsy and inquest followed, climaxed by the murder charge against Bednasek.

Sorority sisters of the girl last March, signifying their engagement. They said the co-ed returned the pin during the summer.

This fall the couple began dating again but were not going "steady," friends said.

Miss Jackson is reported to have another male student as her guest at a Kappa Alpha Theta house dance Friday night.

Authorities declined to confirm early reports that Bednasek claimed he and Miss Jackson had been "playing a game" shortly before her death.

Dr. Callahan said there was no evidence to substantiate a report they were playing "blackout." (In "blackout," a person holds his breath until blacking out.)

The autopsy was conducted at the University of Iowa hospital. Dr. Callahan said in his formal statement that the autopsy revealed "definite evidence of trauma (an injury caused by violence) to the throat and larynx."

Dr. Callahan said "this definitely is not a sex crime."

RATIONLESS MEALS

PRAGUE (AP)—For the first time in ten years Czechs can walk into some restaurants these days, order a steak and a bottle of Pilsner beer and walk out without plunking down ration coupons. But only a few Czechs can take advantage of this new freedom because "off ration meals" usually cost from 50 to 100 per cent more than those paid for with the little blue stamps. The price for a rationless meal, including soup, beer, a meat course and dessert, is a minimum of 100 crowns ($2). Few Czechs can afford such prices more than once a week.

Fourth UN Assembly Closes On Hopeful Note Of Growing Peace

BY PIERRE J. HUSS
INS Staff Correspondent

FLUSHING MEADOW, N.Y. Dec. 11—The fourth Un assembly ended Saturday on declarations that "the pattern of peace" is emerging in consequences of a gradual movement by the major powers toward conciliation and compromise.

The 12 weeks of intensive deliberations closed at 1:21 p.m. after Assembly President Carlos P. Romulo, Secretary General Trygve Lie and a number of leading delegates completed farewell speeches. Russia alone injected a parting sour note.

Session Strengthens Move

Before ringing down the curtain, the final plenary session in rapid succession fortified its decisions to take over the rule of Lybia and Jerusalem by the following steps:

1.—It confirmed the appointment of Dutch-born Assistant Secretary-General Adrian Pelt as UN commissioner for Lybia.

2.—It approved the appropriation of $8,150,000 for UN administration over Jerusalem.

3.—It instructed the trusteeship council to meet in Geneva early next year and draft the statute for an international Holy City and set up machinery for governing Lybia.

Romulo preceded wind-up ceremonies by expressing the hope that the Balkan conflict between Greece and her neighbors will see improvement as a result of Assembly negotiation. He received a silver-plated gavel from Lie and the greatest ovation yet heard on the floor.

Romulo, in his final speech, said that a "pattern of peace" is emerging. He added:

"In the past, when the breakdown of law resulted in war among the nations, the limited power of the weapons at man's disposal gave him a margin of safety. In this day of atomic bombs, bacteriological weapons and supersonic planes, that margin of safety has all but disappeared. We can no longer permit the breakdown of law without endangering our very existence."

Russia's Jacob Malik declared: "Imperialist warmongers have worked behind the back of the United Nations in a black plot against peace."

The Soviet delegate, still smarting from the Assembly's overwhelming rejection of Russia's proposed "five power pact to strengthen peace," said there is no reason "for a positive appraisal of the fourth Assembly session."

UN Secretary General Trygve Lie said that the United Nations has moved forward to the point "where the world has reason to hope for a step-by-step resumption of real negotiation between both sides."

Romulo's gavel signaled the end of 12 weeks of continuous debate in plenary and committee. The initial Romulo hope for a "peace assembly" failed to transpire under the impact of three strikes during the first week of sessions. These were:

1.—President Truman's announcement that an "atomic explosion" had been detected in Russia.

2.—Yugoslavia's candidacy and subsequent election to the Security Council against Russia's bitter opposition.

3.—Nationalist China's formal charges that Russia caused a threat to peace in the Far-East by master-minding and aiding Chinese Communirt conquests.

In the opinion of a large number of UN delegates, however, the 1949 Assembly not only overcame the adverse effects of these three shocks but laid the law down to the Soviet bloc on the fact that expansionism and Cominform aims cannot be hidden, condoned or smokescreened through propaganda tactics.

NO TWO TREES ARE JUST ALIKE

Yet, by general characteristics we know them to be elms, oaks, maples or pines . . . and so with Nature's hardest memorial substance, Rainbow Granites, each basically the same material, marvelously compounded million of years ago by tremendous heat and pressure.

There is a likeness to all granite quarried from the same deposit and yet, there is often an interesting change in texture design. These granites are especially appropriate for monuments in the interpretation of characteristics made beautiful in the crucible of life.
