Allen Hits -- But Not With Wallop Predicted

The damage was bad, but it could have been much worse, city and county officials agreed Tuesday as they surveyed Aransas County in the aftermath of Hurricane Allen.

"We're not in too bad a shape," said Aransas County Judge John Wendell.

And County Sheriff Bob Hewes observed, "We're still here. I think we're very fortunate." He added that no serious injuries had been reported as of Tuesday.

No one tried to minimize the damage that did occur. Holiday Beach, for example, was inundated, and most of Fulton Beach Road was coked off by washed-up beach and debris.

Those were about the hardest-hit areas in the county, but a number of homes were flooded, particularly in Key Allegro and the south part of Rockport where water as deep as three feet was reported inside the houses.

Fires destroyed at least two houses in the area, one at the South Beach Trailer Park and the other on Corpus Christi Street, during what was for most residents a very long weekend.

As of Tuesday, Key Allegro was still without telephone, electricity and sewer facilities, Shell Ridge was without water and the south part of Rockport around Austin and Magnolia was without water or sewer facilities.

City Secretary Herman Johnson said as of Tuesday afternoon, he had reports of some 50 or 60 homes in the south part of Rockport that suffered water damage.

Fulton Mayor L.E. Casterline reported loss of an estimated 20 boats — shrimpers and pleasure crafts — in Fulton Harbor and Fulton Beach Marina, and "all the docks were torn up in the harbor."

He added, "The fishing piers took a beating all along the beach." and Johnson commented, "I doubt there's a pier left in Aransas County."

Roads, streets and highways throughout the county were flooded, including Highway 35 along Rockport's Ski Basin.

However, except for one sailboat that was blown up on the beach, the boats tied up in the Ski Basin reportedly weathered the storm well.

Rockport Police Chief James Craigmile said at one point he counted several crewboats, a cable boat and at least one sailboat moored in the Ski Basin. Craigmile added that most of the shrimpers remained moored in the Turning Basin and apparently did well despite high winds, high tides and blowing rain.

None of the damage was as extensive as area officials — or residents — had anticipated, mainly because Allen did not hit as hard as

Aransas Included In Relief Request

Aransas County will be included in an application for federal disaster relief assistance.

That announcement followed a meeting Tuesday morning, August 12, of representatives from several South Texas cities and counties with Texas Governor Bill Clements in Corpus Christi.

Rockport Mayor Walter S. Falk, Fulton Mayor L.E. Casterline and Aransas County Commissioners Ray Longino and Raymond Owens were among the estimated 100 persons who met Gov. Clements at the Corpus Christi International Airport about 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Prior to the meeting, according to Mayor Casterline, Governor Clements toured Aransas County by helicopter to get a look at the damage wrought by Hurricane Allen.

Casterline said Clements' helicopter was one of five that toured the area.

Also flying over the area were U.S. Senator John Tower of Texas; Senator Babe Schwartz of Galveston; State Representative Leroy Weiting; and Bill Patman, Gongressional candidate from this district.

County Judge John Wendell emphasized that, while Aransas is now assured of being included in the disaster relief application, this is not a guarantee of disaster assistance.

Judge Wendell sent a telegram to Gov. Clements Monday, the first step in the effort to get disaster assistance. The next step, he said, was the meeting with the Governor — accomplished Tuesday.

The county then must complete "a disaster summary outline" which includes estimates of the extent and dollar amount of damage to the area.

"The disaster summary outline is just to get 'em in here," Judge Wendell added.

"They" are survey teams from the Army Corps of Engineers, State Highway Department, Red Cross and the State Health Department. These teams will

Emergency Personnel Work Around The Clock During Storm

City, county and state officials worked around the clock over the weekend to provide protection and keep area residents informed on weather and road conditions in the county.

Four people were needed just to man the telephones set up at the Aransas County Sheriff's Office, emergency operations headquarters from Friday, August 8, through Monday when the worst of the storm was over and people began returning home.

"We had four telephone lines into the building," County Sheriff Bob Hewes said Tuesday, "and they were ringing continuously until about midnight Monday."

The bulk of the calls, he said, were from people who had evacuated the county and were seeking information about local conditions, their homes and when they could return home.

The sheriff and his people — six deputies and eight reserve deputies — worked 18 to 20-hour shifts with four to six hours off, while Rockport Police Chief James Craigmile kept his eight city police officers on duty in two 12-hour shifts.

In addition, the Department of Public Safety sent in four two-man units who worked in 12-hour shifts to assisst the local law enforcement officers.

Officers patrolled the city and county to watch for looters as well as to observe weather and road conditions. Rockport Mayor Walter S. Falk Jr. and City Secretary Herman Johnson — who is also in charge of Civil Defense — also worked at the emergency center.

"The unsung hero,"

Weekender Delivered With Today's Pilot

The Sunday, August 6, Pilot Weekender is being delivered to Pilot subscribers with today's midweek edition.

The Weekender could not be delivered on schedule because of Hurricane Allen.

It will not be sold on newsstands, but extra copies will be available at the Pilot office, 1002 Wharf Street in Rockport.

Election Pending State Decision

A new date for Rockport's special city election was still unsettled Tuesday morning as city officials waited for word from the Secretary of State's office.

The special city election, to fill the unexpired term of Alderman Dan Ward, was set for Saturday, August 9.

However, because of Hurricane Allen, the election was postponed.

Helen Braffett, assistant to Rockport's City Secretary Herman Johnson, said Tuesday, August 12, that the city had calls in to the Secretary of State's office to find out what the city can, or must, do in this situation under state laws.

But, she added, the election is not one of the city's higher priorities in the wake of the hurricane-generated winds, high tides and rainfall.

"Our main thoughts right now are to get the water and sewer going and get things cleaned up," she said.

The election was -- and is -- to fill the seat left vacant by the death of Alderman Ward on June 8.

Candidates in the special election are Peter Lazidis and Betty Jean Ward.

78 Persons Evacuated From Shelter To San Antonio

Some 78 Aransas County residents were evacuated from the hurricane shelter here to San Antonio on recommednation of the Corpus Christi Weather Bureau early Saturday, August 9.

That was when Hurricane Allen was still expected to slam the Texas coast with winds up to 170 miles an hour — and a teletype from the Weather Bureau was predicting a tide of up to 24 feet in San Antonio Bay.

Some 78 persons went to the storm shelter at Live Oak Elementary School when it opened its doors Friday. Those were the persons who were evacuated later that night. Another 45 went to the shelter following the evacuation.

Rockport City Secretary Herman Johnson, who also is in charge of the city's Civil Defense, said the last person was sent home at 5:30 p.m. Monday, August 11, when the evacuees returned from San Antonio.

The shelter was manned by Elmer Redden Friday and by Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Bracht for the remaining three days. Johnson said Dr. Fred Warren, Dr. J.M. Shellenbergar and members of the Aransas County paramedic corps set up a hospital at the shelter to treat sick and injured persons.

The hospital remained in service at the shelter until noon Sunday, August 10, when it was moved to Enterprise Medical Clinic.

Johnson said when officials received the teletype information about the 24-foot tides Friday, they immediately contacted the weather bureau in Corpus Christi. This was about 11 p.m. Friday, he added.

The Corpus weather bureau "told us we could expect better than a six foot tide," Johnson continued. "We told them we had two citizens at the shelter who were on oxygen 24 hours a day and some in wheelchairs and asked for a recommendation."

The weather bureau recommended immediate evacuation, so the 78 people were loaded onto two school buses driven by volunteers and were transported to San Antonio. Johnson said that was done about 12:20 a.m. Saturday.

The buses, driven by San Antonio people, returned Monday afternoon.

Wyatt Cosponsors Bill To Increase Pay

U.S. Congressman Joe Wyatt has announced his cosponsorship of a bill to increase military pay levels in an effort to halt the erosion of manpower from the armed services.

"People are leaving the military in alarming numbers and when you look at their pay you certainly can't blame them," said Wyatt, "I think this bill could help defuse any future necessity for a draft by making the military an attractive career for those who choose it instead of needing to draft manpower to fill vacancies."

Since 1972 the Consumer Price Index has risen 76 percent. In that same time the pay for civilian federal workers has risen 78 percent and for unionized workers 77 percent. For those in the military, pay has increased only 51 percent. In some grades this represents a decline in real wages of 25 percent over the last eight years.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics says that for a family of four $11,546 provides a "lower" standard of living. Average pay for an enlisted man, including benefits is now $9,900 a year.

"The job we are asking those in the military to do is one of the most important there is -- protecting the security of our country. It's difficult work involving lots of unpleasant tasks, family hardships and generally less than ideal conditions. If we are going to ask people to make this sacrifice to protect our security, I believe we need to pay them a first-class wage -- not pay them as second-class citizens," said Wyatt.

Wyatt said the effects of low military pay are being felt right now. He said that for the first time in its history the Air Force has failed to meet its enlistment quotas, and that due to a lack of doctors over 400 military medical clinics have closed leaving the military unable to keep its promise of free medical care for many enlistees.

"Anyone who has ever been in business knows that it is much better to keep one well-trained employee for many years than to replace and retrain someone for that job every couple of years. It's better for morale, better for the business and better for the individual involved," said Congressman Wyatt, "but you sure aren't going to keep many people when you offer them the prospect of going on food stamps because you pay them so little. I truly believe that for the sake of our country's security, and probably more importantly, for the sake of those individuals and families who are making the sacrifices on behalf of our country, this bill must pass."

The bill, H.R. 7441, is authored by Congressman Paul Trible of Virginia and Charles Bennett of Florida.

The bill has four parts:

—First, it would eliminate the authority of the President under present law to impose caps on military cost-of-living increases. Military pay has been arbitrarily capped three times in the eight year history of the All-Volunteer force, and the President intends to impose yet another cap in FY-81. These pay caps, far more than any other factor, are responsible for the plummeting rates of first, second and third term retention. The surest way to convince our servicemen and women that things will get better is to guarantee that things will not get worse.

—Second, the legislation provides for a nine percent pay increase over and above the cost-of-living for the three lowest enlisted grades, and the two lowest officer grades. These increases would be phased in at the rate of three percent a year over the next three years.

—Third, the National Defense Compensation Act provides for an 18 percent increase for career enlisted and officer grades. These increases would be phased in at the rate of six percent a year.

—Finally, it provides for a 100 percent increase in the following special duty pays: flight pay, parachute duty pay, submarine duty pay, demolition duty pay, sea pay and carrier flight deck pay. Flight pay was last increased in 1954, carrier deck duty pay in 1965, parachute pay, submarine pay and demolition duty pay in 1955.

Eyes And Answers

NEARSIGHTEDNESS AT PUBERTY

Dear Dr. Pettey: Two of my three daughters became quite nearsighted, each beginning at about twelve years of age. Will my third one, now nine, do the same thing?

There is really no way of knowing for sure or a way of determining if your third youngster will follow, visually, the other two.

However, a safe prediction is that the third child will become myopic (nearsighted) also. Going into adolescense and puberty and developing myopia at about the same time seem to happen in certian families. The statistics on that occurrence are overwhelming.

If either parent is myopic, it seems almost certain that the child will develop a nearsighted blur on distance vision sooner or later.

Hoax Plagues Veterans Administration

A GI insurance dividend hoax that has plagued the Veterans Adminstration for more than 25 years has reared its ugly head in widely separated parts of Texas, the agency reported today.

Bearing the brunt of the added workload in disproving the false information are VA insurance centers in Philadelphia and St. Paul, Minnesota.

More than $250,000 is spent each year in responding to requests for the bogus dividend.

Dorothy L. Starbuck, VA Chief Benefits Director in Washington, said that publication of erroneous information in a Texas union publication has resulted in some 200 daily requests for a dividend on GI insurance that does not exist.

The publication has agreed to a retraction in lieu of the VA responding to hundreds of clipped coupons.

The hoax, which recurs irregularly, usually follows distribution of application forms complete with the address of a VA insurance center.

The bogus application form, often crudely reproduced, alleges that dividends are payable for the asking, even though premiums have not been paid since 1945.

A special GI insurance dividend paid in 1950 and 1951 is believed to be one source of the VA headache.

A law enacted in 1970 stipulated: "No claim by an insured for payment in case of a special dividend declared prior to January 1, 1952, shall be processed by the VA, unless such claim was recorded within six years after such dividend was declared."

Annual dividends on current GI insurance policies are paid to veterans who have continued to pay their premiums.

These payments are made automatically, usually on the anniversary of the policy, and no application is necessary, the VA explained.

Live Oak Philosopher

Editor's note: The Live Oak Peninsula Philosopher on his brassburr ranch this week takes a look at a new development sweeping the country.

Dear editor:

Americans have always had the ability to rise up and meet practically any challenge and despite what some people say that ability still exisits.

Take the problem of lawyers. According to an article I read the other day, the United States has 20 times as many lawyers per capita as Japan. This is hard to understand, as you'd think that a government regulation written in Japanese would take more lawyers to interpret than one written in English.

Nonetheless, the Federal government now has 15,532 lawyers on its payroll, many of them spending long hours interpreting government regulations which neither the bureaucrats who wrote them nor the public which has to follow them can understand.

But these 15,532 lawyers are just a tiny fraction of the total number of lawyers practicing around the country, with law schools turning out more and more every year, and for a while it looked like lawyers, if they were all going to make a living, would have to start suing each other, like the college drop-outs who tried to finance themselves by taking in each other's washing.

The American people, however, are meeting the challenge. They're thinking up brand new ideas for suing each other and thus keeping lawyers busy. You read about the wife who sued her husband for $35,000 because he failed to shovel the snow off their sidewalk. Or the couple who sued the school because their son graduated without being able to read. And convicted "Son of Sam" killer David Berkowitz is suing a writer for saying he shot at 32 people when actually it was only 15, six of whom were killed and seven wounded. He says it's slanderous to exaggerate the number and wants 10 million dollars in damages to his reputation. And one batch of refugees fleeing to this country is suing the government because they say another group is getting better free financial support.

I could go on but this is getting hard to believe. If a typographical error shows up in this letter when it appears in The Pilot I do not intend to sue, although clearly under this new wave of litigation there may be grounds for it and possibly a lawyer is willing to take the case.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Accent On Health

Although summer activities are in full swing, parents should look to the fall school year and locate their children's immunization records. This could alleviate a mad scramble later in case immunizations are needed for school entry.

"Many times, parents have either misplaced or lost the record during moves from one house or town to another," says Euel A. Smith, Director of the Immunization Division of the Texas Department of Health. "When they try to locate another record at the physician's office or public health clinic, sometimes they can't obtain a duplicate, and have to start the child's immunizations all over again."

Smith urges all parents to keep immunization records in a safe place, and to make photocopies before sending the records to a child-care facility or school. He warned that all students must show a validated record of their immunizations when they enter a Texas school.

What are the requirements to get into school? Children have to have at least three doses of diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis (DTP) or Td (Tetanus-Diphtheria) vaccines. They must have three doses of polio vaccine, and one dose each of measles, mumps and rubella vaccines to enter kindergarten or the first grade. At least one of the three doses of DTP/Td and one of the three doses of polio must have been received since the fourth birthday. The measles dose must have been received since the first birthday.

Smith said for the 1979-80 school year, mumps vaccine was required for first graders only, but that the grade requirements will increase each year afterwards. Next year, (for the 1980-81 school year) all first and second graders will be included, and the yearly increases by grades will continue on through the next 11 years.

Also, measles vaccine was required for the 1979-80 school year through the sixth grade, but this will increase each school year for the next six years. Rubella vaccine is only required for students up to their twelfth birthday.

Smith said parents may want to ask their private physicians about having immunizations for mumps and measles if their children are not in the age groups requiring vaccinations.

"Measles vaccine is especially important for older unprotected students who haven't had the disease," he said. "We are seeing cases now among junior and senior high school students."

Smith said that contrary to popular belief, measles can be a serious illness. "It causes an ear infection or pneumonia in nearly one out of 10 children," he warned. "One child out of every 1,000 who gets measles has an inflammation of the brain (encephalitis). This can lead to convulsions, deafness, or mental retardation. One child in every 10,000 who has measles dies from it."

Smith said mumps can cause serious complications. The disease causes a mild type of meningitis in about one out of 20 children. The disease can also cause encephalitis and deafness.

Smith said that even though rubella vaccination is not required past the twelfth birthday, it is recommended for non-pregnant students who haven't had the immunization. If a pregnant woman gets rubella, there's a good chance that her child will be born crippled, blind, or with other defects, especially if the disease is contracted in the first trimester of pregnancy.

Smith said parents should obtain immunizations as early as possible for their newborn infants, usually at two months, and not wait to start or complete immunizations just prior to the starting of school.

"The longer parents wait to immunize their children, the bigger chance they are taking of thier children contracting one of the vaccine-preventable diseases," he said. "Diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis and polio immunizations may be started as early as two months of age. Measles, mumps and rubella usually are received at age 15 months.

Immunizations may be obtained at a private physician's office or at a public health clinic. Military families may get their immunizations at the base. "Generally, there are no charges for immunizations received at public health clinics," Smith said. "A few clinics, however, may have a small record keeping charge or a service fee."

Texans are doing better on their immunizations than 10 years ago. In 1970, the state had 23,760 cases of immunizable diseases reported, while in 1979 only 1,911 cases were reported. This is a reduction of 92 percent.

"These reductions result from more emphasis being placed on immunizations in Texas through child-care facilities and public and private school immunization laws, and the efforts of private physicians and public health clinics," Smith said. "Also, we have a special departmental program to promote immunizations among parents of newborn children."

He said about 93 percent of the children in child-care facilities, and 98 percent of the students in schools are immunized.

Accent On Health

You can't measure the emotional impact of an unfulfilled life in dollars and cents, but you can put a dollar value on the savings produced by preventing retardation in a newborn.

The Texas Department of Health expanded its laboratory newborn screening program this year to include hypothyroidism, a cause of retardation unless detected early.

Congenital hypothroidism, according to some authorities, is the most common cause of retardation but it can be prevented.

This testing compliments the 15-year-old phenylketonuria (PKU) program and the testing for two other genetic maladies — homocystinuria and galactosemia.

In cases where a family doesn't have the resources to cope with the retarded child, a common step is to institutionalize the child in a Texas Department of Mental Helath/Mental Retardation (MHMR) facility.

Although the expense of private care is higher, the cost for the average resident in a State School ranges up to $48 per day, with an average cost of $53.50 (includes indirect costs) per day. The average annual cost in an MH/MR State School is $19,454.

Any child with undetected hypothyriodism, PKU, homocystinuria or galactosemia may face a lifetime of mental retardation.

In 1979, nine infants were identified with PKU and two with galactosemia.

Nineteen babies, or about one per week, have been identified with hypothyroidism since the new program started in February.

Three children have been identified with PKU and two with galactosemia this year.

The screening program already has proved its worth.

Tom Tucker, Director of the Heritable Disease Program in the Maternal and Child Health Division of the Texas Department of Health, said it was interesting that "we've had only three PKU cases to date this year. We've been running 12 to 15 PKU's a year," said Tucker.

Statistically, Tucker said, you can expect to find about one hypothyroidism case in each 4,000 births; one PKU case in each 20,000 births; one galactosemia case in each 65,000 births; and one homocystinuria case in each 200,000 births.

"We have one disgnosed homocystinuria infant and another child with a variant of this condition in approximately two years of testing for it," he said.

Every baby born in Texas is supposed to have the tests made for the four diseases. Through a small puncture made on the heel of every baby, blood is collected on a special filter paper which is sent to the TDH Laboratory in Austin. Four small discs are automatically punched out from the blood spot.

The laboratory tests indicate babies with conditions which could cause retardation.

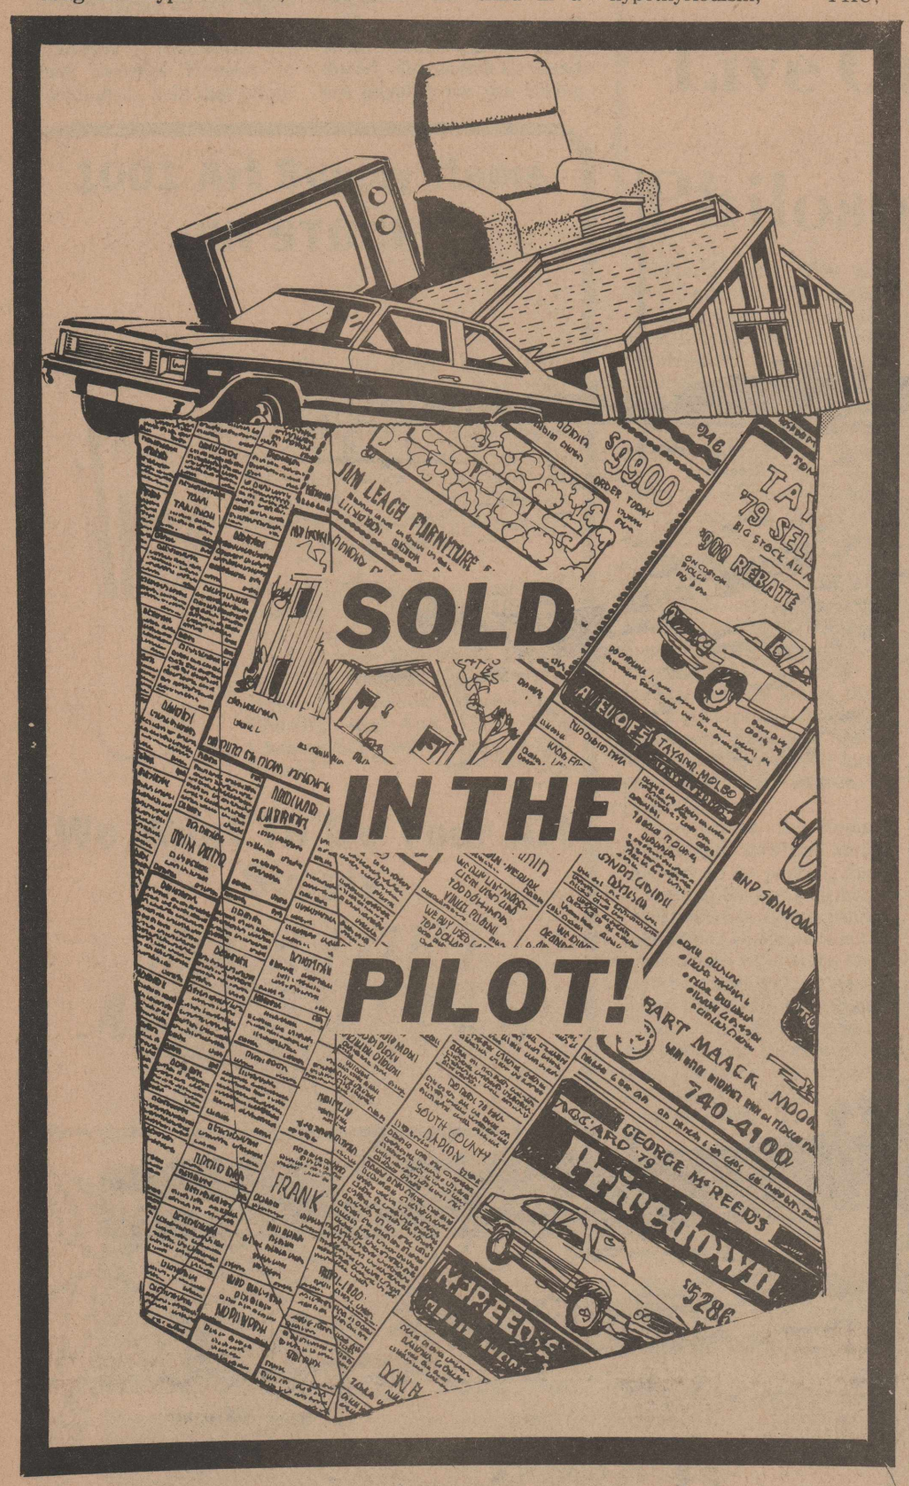

In cases of home births or delivery by midwives, there is always the possibility that a baby will be missed in the screening provess. Some babies may leave the hospital after only a brief stay and confound the testing procedure.

Dr. C.R. Allen Jr., Chief of the Bureau of Personal Health Services with Texas Department of Health, said from 36 hours to 10 days of age is the best time for testing, even though all infants should be tested before leaving the hospital, regardless of age.

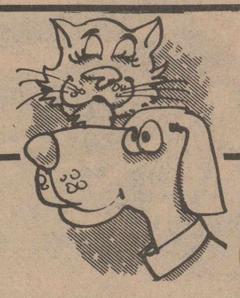

Infants should have been on milk feeding for at least 24 hours for PKU screening, he said.

Dr. Brad Therrell Jr., who heads up the clinical Chemistry Division in the TDH Laboratory, said, "We recommend that all babies be tested two to four weeks after they leave the hospital. Looking at the number of tests which the laboratory is running, I figure we are getting about 60 percent after they leave the hospital."

Pet Talks

By Dr. Hap Lutz

Dr. Lutz is a graduate of Baltimore City College and Texas A&M University. He specializes in small and exotic animal practice. He was an instructor of small animal diseases and surgery in the Veterinary School at Texas A&M and was in private practice in Waco for 25 years.

The month of August was considered "dog days" by the old timers. I think it is appropriate to present a favorite poem of mine about a dog by W. Dayton farth titled:

BUM

He's a little dog, with a stubby tail, and a moth-eaten coat of tan,

And his legs are short, of the wobbly sort, I doubt if they ever ran;

And he howls at night, while in broad daylight he sleeps like a bloomin' log,

And he likes the food of the gutter breed; he's a most irregular dog.

I call him Bum, and in total sum he's all that his name implies,

For he's just a tramp with a highway stamp that culture cannot disguise;

And his friends, I've found, in the streets abound, be they urchins or dogs or men;

Yet he sticks to me with a fiendish glee. It is truly beyond my ken.

I talk to him whem I'm lonesome-like, and I'm sure that he understands

When he looks at me so attentively and gently licks my hands;

Then he rubs his nose on my tailored clothes, but I never say nought thereat,

For the good Lord knows I can buy more clothes, but never a friend like that.

From your pet's friend, the one with a warm heart for cold noses.

Retirement System Deadlines Announced

Two important Teacher Retirement System deadlines are approaching.

Teachers Retirement System (TRS) members who have been employed in the past by a state agency and contributed to the Employees Retirement System have until August 31 to transfer that service credit to TRS.

Transfer can be made even though the contributions may have been withdrawn.

Employees of higher education who are participants in Optional Retirement Program have until September 1 to exercise a one-time election to return to TRS membership.

Most Residents Home By Tuesday

90 Percent Of County Evacuates

An estimated 90 percent of Aransas County's residents evacuated the area Friday in an effort to escape Hurricane Allen — and most of them were home by Tuesday evening, according to County Sheriff Bob Hewes.

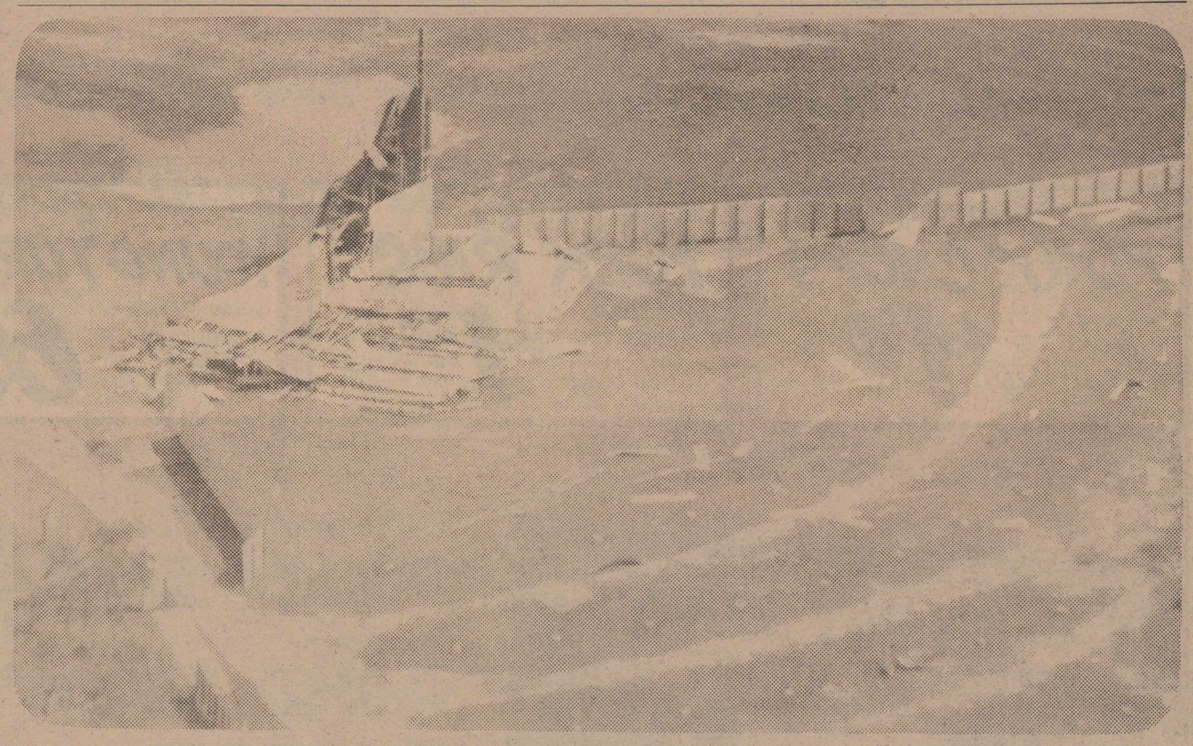

Hewes said the evacuation was voluntary — people were asked rather than told to leave their homes — "but they responded real well."

And those who chose to stay, he continued, "hacked it real well."

Some 78 persons were evacuated from Rockport's hurricane shelter at Live Oak Elementary School shortly after midnight Saturday following a weather bureau report of 24 foot tides in San Antonio Bay.

Those persons were evacuated in two school buses and were brought back to Rockport by bus Monday afternoon, August 11.

Most county residents left Friday. Many were able to return Monday as roads and highways to the north became passable, but other highways into the county remained flooded until late Monday or early Tuesday. By midmorning Tuesday, Sheriff Hewes reported all roads into the county were passable.

COVE DRIVE IN

Residents Should Beware Of Snakes

Aransas County residents should be alert to the danger of snakes for the next several days, according to Rockport Police Chief James Craigmile.

Snakes -- primarily rattlesnakes and water moccasins -- have been reported throughout the area as the high waters generated by Hurricane Allen recede.

"We're asking people to watch for snakes," Craigmile said, adding that 12 were killed on Rockport Beach at one point Monday, August 11.

"They were all over the picnic tables," he continued.

Police also received an unconfirmed report that 18 snakes were killed in one hour on South Water Street.

So far, Craigmile said, he has not received any reports of snakes being found in houses, but he cautioned that residents should be alert to that possibility.

People also should be alert to the danger of snakes around pieces of driftwood.

The Police Chief added that Rockport police have been "well-armed with snake shot."

CURRENT DANGER

As the floodwaters recede, Aransas County residents are probably going to see more of these, says Police Chief James Craigmile. Snakes — as many as 12 to 18 at a time in some places — are being reported from various areas around the county. Most are rattlesnakes or water moccasins, and Craigmile urges residents to be alert for the creatures.

expected.

Sheriff Hewes said sustained winds of up to 58 miles per hour were recorded at the Sheriff's Office, which served as emergency operations headquarters. And at one point, Hewes added, gusts of up to 102 miles per hour were reported.

Elsewhere winds of 74 and even 90 miles per hour were unofficially reported. But this was well below the 170-miles per hour winds that were expected to slam the Texas coast.

Hewes added tides up to eight feet were reported, and rainfall ranging from eight and a half to 13 inches was reported from various areas in the county.

Johnson said Rockport's official rainfall reading was about nine and a half inches.

"The biggest damage (in Rockport) is near the bay," Johnson said.

There was damage, officials repeated — enough to qualify Aransas County at least as an applicant for disaster relief assistance.

But officials also pointed out that the damage was not as great as it could have been if Allen had gone inland a little farther north and-or with greater force.

"That thing could've torn us up," Craigmile said.

And Judge Wendell summed it up: "Aransas County was lucky."

RELIEF

decide whether the area qualifies for relief and how much.

Red Cross and Health Department officials were already in the county as of Tuesday.

Disaster relief, if the county qualifies, will include low-interest loans from the Small Business Loan Office, to assist in making repairs to businesses, homes, boats, "even churches," Judge Wendell said.

Judge Wendell added that county residents should not wait on Red Cross or other disaster-assistance organizations but should proceed with repairs, if possible, "so they can get back to living normal lives."

Commissioner Longino said those at Tuesday's meeting included representatives of Robstown, Kingsville, Alice, Aransas Pass, Port Aransas, Bishop, Agua Dulce, San Diego, and San Patricio County as well as from Aransas County, Corpus Christi and Nueces County.

CINEMA 35

CLOCK

Craigmile said, "was a trusty named John." Prisoners were transported to the jail in Refugio for the weekend and were brought back Tuesday. "John refused to go with the others," Craigmile said. "He wanted to stay and help — and he did."

Also helping was Gary Olson of Gary's Texaco who "stayed with his wrecker and was everyplace" during the weekend. Craigmile added.

Both Craigmile and Hewes praised their men for their efforts during the four days.

"All of our female dispatchers were sent out of town," Hewes added, "so the officers dispatched, too. They did it all."

Patrols were kept out "as much as possible," Hewes added, although there were times when, because of high winds and rain, the patrols were called in.

To keep the cars out of salt water, the county pressed two dump trucks into patrol duty part of the time. The city used a flatbed truck for the same purpose.

Craigmile reported that the situation remained "fairly quiet" over the weekend. "We had a few reports of vandalism, but nothing real serious," he said.

Hewes added, "Everything went real smooth."

Police Report

Police were called to the scene of two accidents, both minor, Friday, August 8, as residents of Rockport prepared to leave the city.

The first accident occurred about 11:30 a.m. at the intersection of Bronte and Market when Ferrell Lee Guthrie of Sunset Drive, Rockport, attempted a left turn from Market Street onto Bronte.

Guthrie reportedly turned in front of a car driven by Richard Garcia Solis, 33, of Doughty Street. Guthrie was ticketed for failure to yield right-of-way.

The second accident occurred about 3:30 p.m. in the Ice Box parking lot at Bronte and Market when James Russell, 32, of Rockport, backed out of a parking space and into a vehicle driven by Vicente DeLaGarza, 52, of 1204 South Verne, Rockport.

No ticket was issued in that accident.

THE PERFECT PLACE TO DISPLAY YOUR FISHING TROPHIES—A panelled wall reaching up to the cathedral ceiling of a cozy den looking out over Little Bay. The perfect place to live, too, with 3 bedrooms and 3 baths; a wet bar and second den downstairs; the kitchen with microwave, trash compactor, and walk-in pantry; plenty of storage room and a utility room downstairs. Also, a one-car carport, covered patio, fenced dog-run, dock, fish-cleaning table, and lots of trees. $125,000

A SIZEABLE SHADE-TREE, A SPACIOUS PATIO, AND GAS GRILL set the scene for a good old summertime barbecue by the water. More formal entertaining scenes inside—with a mirrored wall and stairwell, d'Hanis tile floors, Tiffany-look lamps, and a scenic view of Little Bay. The 4 bedroom, 3 bath home itself was custom built with extra touches throughout, such as perfect cross-ventilation for days you like the windows open (but a new Rheem unit for controlled environment); 2 waterside decks, one off the master bedroom; track lights and directional lighting to display special hangings; built-in shelves and an entertainment center; a full lighting system over the water, dock, ramp, and outdoor shower, even more . . . $165,000

RULES AND HOW TO PLAY

1. TO OBTAIN MATERIAL: No purchase necessary. Get a free game card and game ticket on request at the end of checkout or at store office. Limit - one (1) ticket per visit, per day. Adults, 18 years of age or older only eligible to play.
2. TO PLAY: Each game ticket contains four markers. Simply punch out the perforated portions of the game ticket, then seperate the punched out portions to reveal your four markers. Each marker corresponds to a square in one of the games on this game card. Carefully insert each marker in their appropriate square on your game card. Example: If one of your markers is a 634 in the $100.00 game, insert that marker in the square marked 634 in the $100.00 game on this game card. Some games contain squares marked "free," and it is unnecessary to collect a marker to be placed in such free squares. Free squares are not transferrable.
3. TO WIN: There are three seperate games to play and win: Instant $1.00 and $2.00 winners. If one of your markers shows "You Win $1.00" or "You Win $2.00," you may be an instant winner and can immediately submit that marker for verification. Collect $5.00, $100.00, $1,000.00 and $5,000.00 diamond plus $1,000.00 cash game winners. These games play just like regular bingo, simply complete the required row either down, across or diagonally. Collect $25.00, $50.00 and $100.00 grocery certificate winners. Simply complete the spelling of any of the three words down and you can win the prize indicated.
4. CLAIM A PRIZE: All markers which are not part of the winning row should be removed and transferred to a new card. Submit the game card and winning row to authorized store personnel, who will arrange for verification and awarding of prizes. The game card must be signed and each marker submitted initialed by the customer in the presence of authorized personnel. Winners of instant $1.00 and $2.00 prizes and the $5.00 cash collect game can be verified and paid in cash at the store. Redemption of the $100.00, $1,000.00 and $5,000.00 diamond plus $1,000.00 cash collect games and the $25.00, $50.00 and $100.00 NIFTY GIFTY certificate games must be submitted to the sponsor for verification and payment. Only one prize will be awarded per game on any one game card. All game materials submitted for verification become the property of the game sponsor. All tax liability on prizes is the responsibility of the prize winner.
5. ALL GAME MATERIAL: Will be rejected and judged void if not obtained from and verified by authorized personnel or, if any part of any game pieces are illegible, altered, mutilated, defaced, tampered with, forged, contains printing or other errors, or is irregular in any way. Any attempt to forge game material or to defraud in any way will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law. Game materials void where taxed or prohibited by law.
6. GAME ENDS: Upon distribution of all game tickets. All prizes must be claimed within five (5) days after the announcement of termination or they are forfeited. Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, at such times as the verified claims for prizes in any category equals the number of prizes advertised for that category, then the game, as it relates to that specific prize category, shall immediately terminate without notice, and any unverified claims at or after that time shall be automatically rejected.
7. ONLY GAME MATERIAL: Marked series DJB 1 are valid for this game.
