

$193,000 School Bond Election Set For August 6

HUGHES FINISHES ROUND-WORLD HOP

ACTUAL DEBT TO INCREASE ONLY $68,000

What is believed to be the highest price ever paid in this part of the state for general obligation bonds was contracted by the local school board yesterday with the Brown Crummer Company, of Wichita, Kansas, and Dallas, who agreed to purchase $193,000 in short term bonds.

The contract is contingent upon the approval of a bond issue by the voting citizens of the Pampa Independent School district in an election which is being called for August 6, and also upon the final approval of an application with the Public Works Administration for a grant of 45 per cent of the cost of the proposed new high school building.

Based on the estimated cost of the building this grant will amount to $157,000, leaving $193,000 to be provided by the district. The school board has funds on hand now in the amount of $125,000 which they plan to use in retiring high rate interest bonds now held by the State and when this is done, the construction of the new building will actually increase the indebtedness of the district only $68,000.

It is estimated the saving in interest by retiring the 4 1/2 and 5 per cent bonds and issuing bonds on the present market, will amount to approximately $20,000. Based on the present valuations, the Board is sure that the net additional indebtedness can be handled over a period of ten years without any increase in the rate.

According to the agreement yesterday, $193,000 of the proposed issue is to bear 2 1/2 per cent interest, and which the Brown Crummer company will take at par. The balance, or $163,000, is to bear 3 per cent interest and on this lot they agree to pay a premium of $255. The entire issue will mature serially over a period of ten years.

"The transaction would seem to indicate that the bonding people have a very firm faith in the future of this part of the country, and especially the Pampa Independent school district," board members stated. "The present financial condition of the district and a close check on the manner in which the affairs of the district have been managed over a period of years also had considerable to do with the exceptionally high price for which these bonds were contracted."

Eligible to vote in the school bond election will be property owners residing in the I&G survey of Gray county who have rendered their property for taxation in 1938 to the Pampa Independent school district and who have a poll tax exemption receipt. The I&G survey is the north quarter of the county.

RAIN LESSENS WATER SHORTAGE PROSPECT

The rain of last night and this morning was joyfully received by city officials who have been sleepless the last few nights as they worried over a possible water shortage.

Mayor E. S. Carr revealed this morning that less than one foot of water remained in the elevated water storage tank at the rear of the fire station last night when the consumption started to decrease.

"Of course we had ground storage sufficient to last for a period but that didn't stop our worrying," the mayor declared. "To handle the situation yesterday we were forced to cut the water to the city parks."

All haste is being made on the new well. The screen was scheduled to arrive today and it was expected that the well could be placed in operation by August 1.

HOOVER'S COUSIN DIES
FRIENDSWOOD, July 14 (AP)—Funeral services for postmaster C. E. Hoover, a second cousin of former President Herbert Hoover, will be held here Sunday. Postmaster Hoover died yesterday in this quiet Quaker village in which he had lived since coming here from West Branch, Iowa, 33 years ago. Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. J. C. Garretson, and Miss Mabel Hoover of Friendswood, Mrs. C. W. Collins of Dickinson and a son, P. P. Hoover of Alvin, Texas.

Wanda Dunlap, Brunet, Chosen 'Miss Pampa'

Wanda Lee Dunlap, a 1938 graduate of Pampa high school, was chosen as "Miss Pampa" at the Bathing Beauty pageant held at 8:45 o'clock last night at the LaNora theater, where tomorrow she will compete with girls from a score of West Texas towns for the title "Goddess of West Texas" and a subsequent one-week-expense-paid vacation trip to Galveston.

Miss Dunlap is 18 years old and has lived in Pampa for 10 years, making her home with Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Thorne, 109 South Wynne. She is a niece of Mrs. Thorne. She has brown hair and brown eyes.

In addition to the Miss Dunlap, the contestants were Louise Schulze, Louise Williams, Hazel Claxton, Mary Houston, Leona Libby, Christine Warren, Edith Beckham, Matthe Louise Chatwell, Frances Tindal, Betty Jo Townsend whom the judges named as alternate, and Rose L. Nell Williams.

Out of Town Judges
Contestants were graded 60 per cent on beauty of face and figure, 20 per cent on poise and graceful carriage, and 20 per cent on personality, smile, hair, eyes, teeth, and complexion.

Judges were H. R. Smith of Fort Worth, C. G. Pepper of Tulsa, and W. C. Newton of Dallas.

As Miss Dunlap's name was announced as winner of the contest Claude Motley, theater manager, presented her with a bouquet of roses.

Dale Robinson of KPDN was master of ceremonies at the pageant, and conducted the program, speaking from a desk on the theater stage, and using a public address system.

Music, Dancing Presented
The pageant was presented by the LaNora theater in cooperation with the Tarpley Accordion band and the Kathryn Vincent School of Dancing.

Events on the program by pupils of the Vincent school were: a jumping rope clog by June Amick and Patsy Rhoades, soft shoe dance by Patsy Rhoades, Carrie Jean Speed, and Ruth Amick, rumba by Momi McKinnis, Nichols and Jane Robinson, Vincent studio swing by June Amick and Patsy Rhoades.

A eulogistic of Gypsy Lee Rose was presented in the opening number "Miss Topsy Lee Rose and her fan dance."

Finals at Sweetwater
In Sweetwater tomorrow, the contestants in the "Goddess of West Texas" an event on the program of the Sweetwater Water Carnival, will register between 10 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. at the Bluebonnet hotel.

At 3 o'clock there will be a reception and tea at the Bluebonnet hotel at 4:30. The revue will be held at 7:30 p. m., and the ball at 9 o'clock at the hotel, with the grand march scheduled to start at 9:30.

George O'Brien, RKO Radio motion picture star, will crown the "goddess" during the ball. He will leave Hollywood tomorrow morning by American Airlines plane, arriving in Sweetwater in time to participate in the afternoon and evening program.

The Pampa Photo Club, consisting of local people who are actively interested in photography as a hobby, will meet tonight in the Board of City Development rooms in the city hall for its second meeting at which time permanent officers will be elected to replace the temporary organization.

All members and prospective members are urged to be present at the showing of pictures of sunsets, which was the first subject selected for the camera snappers. It is hoped to have a showing also of natural color lantern slides, if a projector can be secured. Some discussion of various branches of photography is also assured.

The meeting will be held at eight o'clock, and everyone interested, man, woman, boy or girl, is urged to attend.

A. championship with an overwhelming 5 and 7 shellacking of sad-faced Jim Foulis of Chicago.

SCOUTS GIVEN $100,000 BY OIL OPERATOR

A gift of $100,000 to the Boy Scouts of the state of Oklahoma, and the Texas Panhandle has been announced by Frank Phillips, chairman of the Phillips Petroleum Company, Inc. The money will be expended on membership drives, on troop endorsements, and for the improvement of campsites with the majority being spent in Oklahoma, he stated.

The Adobe Walls council of which Pampa is headquarters city is in the area covered by the grant. Clay Smoot, treasurer of the foundation, and Jim Fitch of Dallas, regional director of the ninth area of which the Panhandle is a part, will come to Pampa within the next two weeks to confer with Adobe Walls officials. Mr. Fitch has notified Fred Roberts, council executive.

Phillips, chairman of the board of directors of the Phillips Petroleum Company, in authorizing the gift devoted to the Boy Scout movement was very important to "the future welfare of our nation."

"I announce the contribution with the sincere hope that others will realize the importance and the necessity of training the youth of our nation and will give this worthy cause their increased support."

Treasurer Smoot said the foundation had been conducting a survey during the past eight months to determine where the money would be spent. He said that would be announced after the survey is completed.

NEARLY INCH OF RAIN FALLS SLOWLY HERE

Spent rains over the Panhandle from Amarillo to Canadian brought 96-inch rain precipitation to Pampa last night and this forenoon.

It was the first local rain of any consequence in July and pushed the 1938 rainfall total to 14.19 inches. Farmers indicated the rain was not heavy enough to damage wheat that has not yet been harvested.

The rain skipped Shamrock and Mobeetie and only sprinkles were reported at LeFors and Wheeler. Larger rain, an inch, Panhandle 1.25 inches, Miami, 46 inch, Canadian, one-half inch, and Amarillo a half-inch.

God timers say that last night's rain shattered an old tradition that "never rains at night in the Panhandle" during the month of July.

Ninety-two hundredths of an inch precipitation fell in Pampa last night. It began about 8:30 o'clock and continued intermittently through the night, accompanied by thunder and lightning.

Rain Soaks FDR In 'Dust-Bowl'

President Roosevelt was rain-soaked on his first visit to the ex-gust bowl Monday, as cheering thousands, including a 2,500-piece cowboy band, greeted him at Amarillo. Following almost the same route as did the late Wiley Post in 1933, Howard Hughes, broke Post's record of 115 hours, 36 minutes total flying time around the globe. The broken line in the map above traces Hughes' flight to Moscow. From that city on Hughes followed approximately the same course as that taken by Post (solid line)—except the stops would not be the same.

Solemn Mass, Dance, Barbecue To Feature Church Celebration

Tickets to the barbecue and tickets to the dance to be held at White Deer Sunday in connection with the silver anniversary of Sacred Heart church have been sold in Pampa this week by members of the Sacred Heart parish and members of the Holy Souls parish of Pampa.

Rev. Joseph S. Wonderly, pastor of Holy Souls church, has a supply of the tickets and other Pampanians are also selling tickets.

Tickets to the barbecue, which will be held at 12:30 p. m. Sunday, sell at 50 cents. Tickets to the carnival dance to be held in the evening, sell at $1.

Bishop To Preach
In celebration of the silver anniversary, a solemn high mass, coram episcopo, will be celebrated Sunday morning, with Most Rev. Robert E. Lucey, bishop of Amarillo, delivering the sermon appropriate to the occasion.

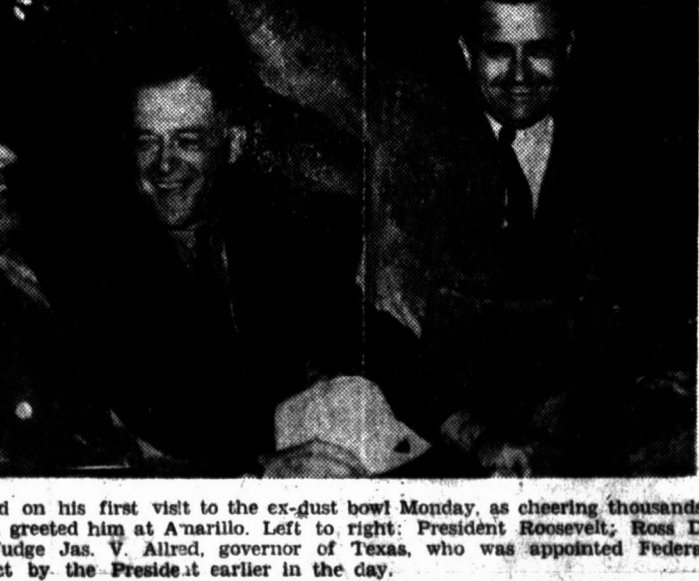

At 12:30 p. m. a select beef barbecue will be served. A number of concessions and a program of entertainment will be featured later in the day. In the evening the carnival dance will be held with music by the "Rhythm Clowns," an Amarillo orchestra.

The Church of the Sacred Heart of Jesus at White Deer was built in 1913. Prior to that time, the Panhandle was visited by a dozen priests, the first of these being Rev. C. M. Pinto, with headquarters at Trinidad, Colo., who made occasional trips on horseback or prairie schooner to Fort Elliott.

Officers of the sheriff's department and County Attorney Joe Gerdon this morning were investigating the case of T. B. Richmond, who was taken in an ambulance to Worley hospital last night after an altercation at the Y tavern, south of Pampa.

Chief Deputy Sheriff O. T. Lindsey said Richmond had been struck in the head with the barrel of a pistol. Cause of the altercation was not known to officers.

A man was being held in county jail this morning in connection with the case, Deputy Lindsey said, but no complaint had been filed up to noon today.

PRESIDENT TO REVIEW FLEET

ABOARD PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S TRAIN EN ROUTE TO SAN FRANCISCO, July 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt pushed through to the Pacific Coast to pay on a program much to his liking.

Arranging to arrive at Crockett, near San Francisco, this morning, his day's plans included a sightseeing and inspection tour in the San Francisco area, a speech at the exposition grounds, and a review of the United States fleet off the city.

The speech, to be delivered at a luncheon in the Golden Gate International exposition grounds administration building, was expected to be one of the most important of his cross-country tour.

The fleet review takes the President back to one of his first loves, the navy, which he served many years as assistant secretary.

His plans called for him to board the cruiser Houston at Oakland in mid-afternoon and to stay on her freshly scrubbed decks at least seven hours.

The review was scheduled for 6 p. m. (CST).

The President will come ashore about 11 a. m., to entrain for El Portal, entrance to Yosemite National Park, where the Presidential party will sign see tomorrow.

Mr. Roosevelt crossed into California from Nevada last night with only one set speech on his program—that at the exposition building. It was expected, however, that sometime during his three day stay in the state—he will board the Houston at San Diego Saturday afternoon for the Galapagos Islands, where he will have come kind words to say for Senator William G. McAdoo, who is seeking renomination.

During a day in Nevada, the chief executive made no preference to the Democratic senatorial primary fight and only the barest allusions to the candidates.

With Senator Pat McCarran, who opposed several major administration measures, and Albert Hilliard, McCarran's primary opponent, by his side on the platform of his train, the President referred twice to "your senator," spoke once of "Bridget Hilliard," and another time of "Al Hilliard."

Hilliard is an avowed 100 per cent administration supporter.

Both Hilliard and McCarran boarded the Presidential special early in the day and both had interviews with Mr. Roosevelt.

McCarran said his conversation centered on water projects for the state.

WPA GRANTS TO BUILD PLAINS DAMS ORDERED

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—The Public Works Administration approved today allotment of $8,710,000 for federal projects, and grants and loans totaling $3,869,534 for 28 new non-federal projects.

The federal list allocations included $6,055,000 for the navy bureau of yards and docks to be spent on repairs, additions and new buildings at the navy yards at San Francisco, the naval air station in Seattle, the naval training station at Norfolk and 14 other naval stations.

The agricultural department received grants amounting to $2,365,100 for the construction of new greenhouses, heating plants, laboratories and other buildings for repairs and improvements for the department's experiment stations and conservation projects.

The grants included: Bureau of Agricultural Economics for construction of dams for storage of water, conservation of cabins, administration buildings, facilities for public camp and picnic grounds, etc., at following places in Texas: Dallam and Hartley counties, Rita Blanca water conservation project, $335,000; Swisher county, Tule creek water conservation project, $77,500; Ochiltree county, Wolf creek water conservation project, $165,000.

CHICAGO, July 14 (AP)—John Henry Seadlund paid with his life today for the crime of kidnapping.

The 27-year-old lumberjack, confessed abductor of Charles S. Ross and confessed killer of the man who helped him commit the crime, was electrocuted at 12:08 a. m. (Central Standard Time) in the Cook county jail.

Shaved and masked, Seadlund walked tensely into the execution chamber almost unaided. "You don't have to hold my arms," he told the guards on each side of him.

He was the second man to be executed by the federal government under the Lindbergh kidnap law. The first was Arthur Gooch, 27, hanged at McAlester, Okla., June 19, 1936, for kidnapping two peace officers at Paris, Texas, while attempting to avoid arrest.

Twenty-five witnesses saw Seadlund die. Among them was Severin E. Koop, a Crosby, Minn., undertaker selected by Seadlund to carry his body back to his home in Iron-ton, Minn.

Seadlund's last hours were spent in a spirit of fatalism. Those who saw him said he expressed no regret, voiced no bitterness. He fully read the Bible and talked with the jail chaplain. In his death cell, an hour and a half before the execution, he partook of a light lunch.

Seadlund and James Atwood Gary, his 19-year-old nephew, kidnapped Ross in Northern Illinois last Sept. 25. They took the 72-year-old retired manufacturer of greeting cards to a hideout in Wisconsin's north woods, near Spooner.

There, Seadlund confessed to agents of the federal bureau of investigation, he killed Gary during a quarrel. Ross was fatally injured in the struggle, Seadlund said, so he shot him, too.

Mrs. Mae C. Ross of Chicago, the kidnap victim's widow, paid a $50,000 ransom. Most of this money, traced across the country, was recovered after federal agents arrested Seadlund at Santa Anita race track in California.

JAP BOMBS KILL 150, WOUND 500 IN CANTON

CANTON, China, July 14 (AP)—Japanese aerial bombs killed probably 150 persons and injured 500 others in this South China city today, the third successive day in which Japanese warplanes have attacked.

Eighty-three dead were counted between the East Bund and Honan Island alone as rescue squads pulled mangled bodies of men, women and children from wrecked houses.

Grossome scenes resembled those of last month's bombings in which hundreds were killed.

Thirty-seven Japanese air raiders appeared shortly after daybreak, directing their attacks toward the Pearl River bridge and the old power plant.

Near the bridge, on the East Bund, one bomb struck the center of a crowded vegetable market, and 34 shattered corpses were counted there. The only living thing appeared to be a pet monkey, chained to a tree.

The Associated Press correspondent had to tie a handkerchief across his face to keep out sickening smells in bombed areas. From the ruins of one house there was a cry, then sudden silence, indicating one more dead.

FIREMEN ANSWER TWO ALARMS IN SIX HOURS

Pampa firemen made two runs this morning, the first at 5:15 o'clock and the second at 11 o'clock for the second and third alarms of the month.

First call was to the Marie hotel on West Foster avenue where firemen extinguished a burning mattress with water from a truck booster tank. "Smoking in bed" was the terse announcement by Chief Ben White when asked the cause of the fire.

A pall of gasoline caught fire at the Culbertson-Small Chevrolet garage on North Ballard street to send firemen on their second run. The blaze was extinguished with foamite and no damage resulted.

PLANE ROARS FROM ALASKA IN TWO STOPS

FLOYD BENNETT AIRPORT, NEW YORK, July 14. (AP)—Howard Hughes and his four fellow world girdlers landed at Floyd Bennett Airport at 1:36 p. m., eastern standard time today with a smashing new round the world record of less than four days.

The big silver monoplane circled the field twice before coming down to an easy landing before a wildly cheering crowd.

The total elapsed time for the dash around the globe was set unofficially at 91 hours, 16 minutes, or three days, 19 hours and 16 minutes.

The multimillionaire speedster whipped in from the west under a threatening overcast sky with a record that more than halved the seven day, eighteen hours, 46 minutes round the world time established in 1933 by the late Wiley Post, a mark then regarded as sensational.

Howard Hughes drove the ship at full speed on the last lap of the flight from Minneapolis to Floyd Bennett airport, whence he took off at 6:20 p. m., (eastern standard time) Sunday. A spanking tail wind helped him along.

161 Miles' Hour
It is speed for the elapsed time was approximately 161 miles per hour.

A fire whistle let go with a screeching blast as the aerial argonauts set their plane down on the concrete runway and taxied toward the administration building.

Hundreds of automobile horns joined in a tumultuous welcoming.

Police Stop Crowd
Two small planes which had gone out earlier to meet the round-the-world fliers escorted it back to the field and wheeled lazily about while Hughes set his ship down.

Shortly before Hughes left the plane a crowd broke through two sections of a heavy wire fence around the administration building. Police rushed forward and stopped them just short of the plane.

Hughes wore the same battered brown felt hat and rumpled gray suit he had on when he left. He smiled shyly from behind his heavy beard and lighted a cigaret while police

THURSDAY EVENING, JULY 14, 1938.

FOUR CIRCLES OF METHODIST SOCIETY MEET

The four circles of the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Methodist church honored the president of the United States by postponing their regular Monday meetings until Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Ralph Chisum was hostess to the members of circle one who met in her home for a program opened with a song, "Just As I Am," and prayer by Mrs. J. M. Turner.

After the devotion which was given by Mrs. John Hodge, the lesson on "Bringing Korea to Christ" was presented with Mrs. W. D. Waters discussing "The New Society," founded on the teachings of the New Testament. Mrs. Turner and Mrs. Raeburn Thompson gave the mission topics preceding the closing prayer by Mrs. Robert Ekins.

Refreshments were served to the group by the hostess.

Hostess to the members of circle two was Mrs. Bob McCoy with Mrs. John Hask as co-hostess. Opening the program for the afternoon was the devotion by Mrs. John Hask and a talk on "Christian Social Relations" by Mrs. B. S. Via.

Following the singing of "This Is My Father's Work," the discussion of the topic, "Korean Mission Schools and Social Centers" was led by Mrs. John Hask who was assisted by Mrs. Horace McBeck, W. H. Peters, Tex Evans, and A. B. Whitten.

Refreshments were served to 15 members.

Mrs. George Walstad was hostess to circle three with Mrs. Frank Shotwell as co-hostess. Ten answered the roll call at this meeting.

With the devotion from the World Outlook, Mrs. Frank Shotwell was leader of the first afternoon lesson, "Building the Kingdom of God in Japan." Mrs. O. L. Qualls, C. W. Andrews, Lee Harrah, and C. T. Hunkapillar assisted on the program which closed with a prayer by Mrs. J. T. Henry.

The second lesson of the afternoon, "Bringing Korea to Christ," was led by Mrs. Shotwell with the assistance of Mrs. Tom Cook, P. P. Reid, and O. D. Stover. A discussion by the group followed and refreshments were served by the hostess.

Circle four met in the home of Mrs. Warren Grady with Mrs. A. L. Patrick as hostess. Mrs. W. R. Ewing presided over the program in the absence of the regular chairman.

The meeting was opened with a song and a prayer followed by the scripture readings and a discussion of the topic, "The New Society." According to Bible teachings, organized religion must concern itself not only with the reclamation of sinners but in protecting youth from the opportunity to sin. The old adage, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," still holds good in the religious world.

The topic, "Bringing Korea to Christ," by Mrs. B. C. Wright, chairman, John Skelly, A. L. Patrick, S. S. Ripley, and W. R. Ewing concluded the program.

The hostess served tea to 12 members and one guest, Mrs. Del Smith. A prayer by Mrs. Travis Ewing completed the meeting.

MRS. MISKIMINS WINS AWARDS IN GOLF WEDNESDAY

At the regular ladies day at the Country Club yesterday, Mrs. William Miskimins won both awards of the day for putting and handicap play. She shot a 46 on the front nine and with a handicap of seven had a net 39.

The third Wednesday instead of the last one in each month will be the regular monthly bridge-luncheon day. Reservations for tables must be called in by Tuesday noon, July 19.

In the mixed tournament starting Monday, July 18, more women are needed; men are available who desire partners and if women will call in their names to the club, they will be matched.

These participating yesterday were Mrs. E. W. Voss, William Miskimins, R. N. Wright, J. G. Cargile, Carl Luedders, George French, Del Love, and Miss Harriet Hunkapillar.

A marriage license was issued Tuesday to Joe Mercer and Naomi Weeks.

Warren H. Finley and Flora Dean Finley left Wednesday morning for Topka, Kas., where they will join their mother, Mrs. B. E. Finley, on a vacation trip in Colorado. At Manitou the three will meet Mrs. Finley's sister, Mrs. Nellie Warren of Colby, Kas., and Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson of Corpus Christi, Mrs. Ferguson is a daughter of Mrs. Finley.

A traffic count made recently on the Pampa-McLean road revealed that 630 cars passed over the road in a 24-hour period. The count was made by J. Lee Turner on instruction from County Commissioner M. M. Newman. Designation of the road as a state highway has been asked by the Gray county commissioners.

Mrs. A. E. Hickman, secretary to County Judge Sherman White, returned last night from a one-week vacation trip to Tyler. She was accompanied by a sister, Mrs. Leo Phillips of Pine Bluff, Ark., and Mrs. Phillips' son, Arthur Leo, who is now visiting Mrs. Hickman here.

Two judgments were filed yesterday in 31st district court. In the case of R. L. Nobis vs. Southern United writers, judgment was in favor of defendant by default, plaintiff failing to appear and prosecute the case. The judgment cancelled an Industrial Accident board award. I. B. Goodwin represented the plaintiff, E. A. Simpson the defendant. The other judgment was a divorce decree in the case of Ernestine McLennan vs. Bruce McLennan.

Busy Dozen Sewing Club will meet at 3 o'clock in the home of Mrs. S. J. Hawkins, 523 North Davis Street.

POPULAR CLUB FETES MEMBER WITH SHOWER

Honoring Mrs. Roy Jones, who will leave town soon, the Harvester Mother's club entertained with a handkerchief shower at the meeting of the club Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Roy Showers.

A covered dish luncheon was served and the group spent the afternoon quilting blocks for a candidates quilt to be given away at a drawing. A business session was conducted also.

Attending were Mrs. Bella Dull, Belle Wells, Mary Price, E. E. Reynolds, H. H. Heiskell, A. C. Green, Laura Erown, M. V. Watkins, Roy Jones; Roy Showers and the hostess.

RED CROSS OFFICE HAS LIFE SAVING MANUALS

A manual on life saving and safety first is now available at Red Cross headquarters in the basement of the city hall for persons intending to take the life saving examiners course when Roger Plaisted of the American Red Cross comes to Pampa on July 27 and 28.

The manual costs 60 cents. It contains information on most of the work necessary to pass the examiners course.

Eight Pampans have already signed to take the course. Mrs. W. H. Davis announced today. Others desiring to secure American Red Cross Examiners licenses during the visit of Mr. Plaisted should contact Mrs. Davis immediately.

General Church Social Postponed By Calvary Baptist

Because of the rain, the Calvary Baptist church has called off the general church social which was announced for this evening at 8 o'clock on the church grounds.

The entertainment will be held at a later date when the weather permits, probably next week. At that time games will be played and refreshments will be served to the group.

The hostess served punch and wafers to Mrs. Mabel Graham, J. K. Coats, W. M. Murphy, E. R. Gower, W. M. Vowles, L. E. West, and Katie Vincent.

There's a Good Reason You're Constipated!

When there's something wrong with you, the first rule is: get it out. If you are constipated, don't fiddle around with makeshift remedies. Find out what's giving you the trouble!

Chances are it's simple if you eat only what most people do: meat, bread, potatoes. It's likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulk" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If that fits you, your ticket is a crisp crunchy breakfast cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran. It contains the "bulk" you need plus the great intestinal tonic, vitamin B.

Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and just watch the old world grow brighter! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

NEGRO GOES BERSERK AND KILLS THREE

HAWKINS, July 14 (AP)—Four persons were slain and one wounded here yesterday when a 40-year-old negro landholder who drew royalty checks from East Texas oil property suddenly went berserk.

One of those killed was the negro, R. D. Register, who was brought down by a shot fired by a store owner after Register had

In his race for Governor four years ago 457,821 votes were cast for Tom Hunter—within 2% of his election. An intensive survey of the State indicates that in this race more than a half million votes will be cast for his election. terrorized the countryside, fatally wounding three.

A. B. Humphries, justice of the peace, said the negro killed his wife, Newell Ellison, a white man, and another negro, Leonard Hughes, and wounded Roy Allen, former Hawkins postmaster.

The woman and Ellison were almost instantly killed and Hughes died late last night.

Allen was in a Dallas hospital, his arm broken by a bullet. Humphries said he was not certain what caused the negro's mind to snap but had been told there had been several deaths in Register's family recently. The negro had lived near here about three years.

Humphries said Register shot his wife three times and then shot Hughes, one of Register's tenant farmers, who drove up near the front of the house with a load of hay.

On the way to town Register shot Ellison while the latter was herding cows in a pasture, Humphries said.

Register next met Allen and his wife in a truck and fired twice. One bullet struck Allen and the other hit a dog lying between the couple. Mrs. Allen escaped the negro's gunfire.

John H. Smith, store owner, obtained a gun and sought the negro. As he approached Register raised his rifle and fired. Smith did the same. Register missed but Smith's bullet killed the negro.

Humphries said there were witnesses to the events and no inquest would be held.

COUNT WILL STAY IN LONDON TO SEE SON

LONDON, July 14 (AP)—Count Court Haugwitz-Reventlow decided today to remain in London until he has seen his young son Lance, mentioned as the cause of trouble that may lead to a Danish divorce of the Count and the former Barbara Hutton.

The 42-year-old Danish Count was said today to have declared he was "anxious" to see the handsome blond boy, but at a court hearing yesterday the nobleman promised not to visit the London mansion where Lance is under heavy guard nor attempt to communicate with Countess Barbara.

"I am making no statement on the advice of my solicitors," the London News Chronicle quoted Haugwitz-Reventlow as saying.

"But I have not seen my son for four weeks and I am anxious to do so. The matter is being handled by my lawyers and until it is settled I shall know no more than you do."

The paper said the Count's secretary stated the Count would make legal application for permission to see the son "if necessary."

Since the mother, heiress to the Woolworth fortune, already has made Lance a ward in Chancery, putting him beyond control of either parent. Any meeting of the father and son probably would require court sanction.

PAMPANS NAMED TO ASSIST ON PAGEANT

AMARILLO, July 14—C. H. Walker, Jess Wynne, Siler Faulkner, A. H. Doucette, J. E. Williams, Judge W. R. Ewing, Tex DeWeese and others of Pampa have been selected to aid in gathering historical data on which to base the script for a pageant, "Old Southwest Days."

The pageant will be staged at Butler Field in Amarillo, August 15-16-17, as part of the celebration to mark the completion of the Will Rogers route, Highway 66, which now is paved all the way from Chicago to Santa Monica and Los Angeles.

Carl Hinton, national president of the highway association, said the pageant also would depict interesting incidents in the life of Will Rogers, for whom the route has been named.

Larry Doyle, the pageant director, has issued a call for a cast of 1,500 persons, including Indians, Buffalo, Longhorns, covered wagons and other pioneer property will be used.

KILLED IN WRECK. SAN ANTONIO, July 14 (AP)—A freight truck-automobile crash on the Austin highway shortly before last night resulted in the death of Thomas Lee Bartfield, 29, of Dallas, as Bexar county traffic claimed its 43rd victim of the year. Bartfield was driver of the truck which collided with an automobile driven by Henry Poage, 20, of San Antonio. Poage suffered a possible fracture of his skull and was reported in a serious condition.

WALLACE SETS WHEAT LOANS

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—Secretary Wallace announced today the government will make loans on 1938 grown wheat at rates averaging between 59 and 60 cents a bushel to producers who want to hold their grain for better prices.

The loan was made mandatory under provisions of the new farm law on the basis of an official forecast of a huge wheat crop. The crop is estimated far in excess of a normal year's domestic consumption and export needs of about 750,000,000 bushels.

The crop was forecast at 967,412,000 bushels and in addition there is a surplus of 200,000,000 bushels from last year.

Wallace said the loan rates will average the minimum allowed by the law, which is 52 per cent of the "parity" price of $1.34 a bushel.

Loans will be extended only to wheat producers who did not exceed their 1938 soil-depleting acreage allotments by more than 5 per cent. Wheat must be stored either in commercial warehouses or elevators or in approved farm bins or granaries.

The loan program set up a scale of base loan rates for principal terminal grain markets. Better grades will be eligible for higher rates than lower grades. Likewise, rates on grain stored distances from these terminals will decrease as the distance increases. In a few minor wheat areas flat loan rates were established.

The base rates for the terminal markets were announced as follows: Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas City, Kas.—No. 2 hard winter, 72 cents; No. 2 red winter, 70 cents.

Omaha, Neb., and Council Bluffs, Ia.—No. 2 hard winter, 71 cents. Chicago—No. 2 hard winter, 77 cents; No. 2 red winter, 75 cents.

Galveston and Houston, Texas, and New Orleans—No. 2 hard winter, 77 cents; No. 2 red winter, 75 cents.

The loan rate on wheat stored distances from these terminals will be the terminal rate less all-freight charges plus 4 cents.

Loans on farm-stored wheat will be made directly by the Commodity Credit Corporation through Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan agencies, while the loans on wheat stored in elevators will be made either directly by the Commodity Credit Corporation or through banks and other lending agencies.

The loans will bear interest at 4 per cent and will be for seven months when the wheat is stored in elevators and until May 31, 1939, when stored on farms.

FINLAND MAY GET OLYMPICS

(By The Associated Press)

Tokyo abandonment of the 1940 Olympic games today left Helsinki or London as the most probable alternate sites.

Selection of a substitute site remains in the hands of the International Olympic Committee whose president, Count Henri De Baillet Latour, announced in Newmarket, Eng., that the I. O. C. would get busy on the problem immediately.

Helsinki was chief rival of Tokyo for the 1940 games but was beaten out, 36-27, in the voting. Despite the comparatively short notice, Home Minister Urho Kekkonen, president of Finland's Amateur Track Federation, said Finland would be prepared to arrange for the games if they were awarded to Helsinki.

London also was a bidder for the 1940 games but withdrew before the final vote. The British metropolis enters into the picture now because of its financial resources and athletic facilities. Wembley Stadium, on the outskirts of London, can accommodate 90,000.

Karl Ritter Von Halt, German member of the I. O. C. indicated Germany would support any bid by Helsinki and Lord Aberdare, British I. O. C. representative, predicted the Finnish city would be the first choice as an alternate site.

Meanwhile both Philadelphia and New York were mentioned as outside possibilities. Grover Whalen, president of the New York World's Fair of 1939, said he would take steps immediately to invite the I. O. C. to hold the games on the World's Fair site. John B. Kelly, former Olympic rowing champion and chairman of the Philadelphia Democratic Committee, proposed that the New York World's Fair be continued through 1940 to include the games and that Philadelphia be chosen for all rowing events.

Despite these American developments, it was pointed out that since Los Angeles had played host to the I. O. C. in 1932, any European bidder would have preference.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel up and up. Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

Clarence Miller Withdraws From Governor's Race

(By The Associated Press)

Candidates for governor "shelled the woods" in South, East and North Texas today, their ranks reduced to twelve with the withdrawal yesterday of Clarence R. Miller, Dallas milling man.

Ernest Thompson was scheduled at Orange, Port Arthur, and Beaumont; W. Lee O'Daniel and his hillbilly band, which is fast becoming a leading issue in the race, swung through the Rio Grande Valley, touching at McAllen, Weslaco and Harlingen. William McCraw went to Fort Worth; Karl Crowley was scheduled at Carthage, Center, San Augustine and Nacogdoches, and Tom Hunter prepared to speak at Paris.

P. D. Renfro, former Beaumont mayor who is running on a campaign of economy and efficiency in government as exemplified by his work as a city chief executive, came into North Texas for a speech in Dallas.

Miller, in withdrawing from the race, pledged his support to Thompson.

Marvin McCoy, Houston attorney, announced his plans of a swing through Central, North and East Texas during the last week of the campaign.

Ferguson at Haskell.
S. T. Brodgon of Stephenville had Yeakum, Gonzales and Luling on his itinerary today. James A. Ferguson's plans for the week were not announced but he made an unscheduled address at Haskell yesterday.

Hunter, speaking at Longview last night, cited what he characterized as oil proration disrepancies between fields preponderantly operated by independent and major companies and charged Thompson, a railroad commissioner, McCraw, attorney general with equal responsibility.

Thompson at San Antonio stressed that Texas labor should be fairly paid and presented a broad program which he said would bring prosperity to every citizen of the state.

McCraw, at Greenville, demanded to know how O'Daniel stands on legalized horse racing and sale of liquor by the drink. He declared the Fort Worth flour merchant had not committed himself on either issue. McCraw said when O'Daniel was asked his stand on these points, the latter "just turns around to that hillbilly band and says 'boys play some mountain music'."

Crowley, speaking at Marshall, charged that "every peanut politician in every courthouse in Texas is on the payroll of Thompson or McCraw."

He referred to McCraw and Thompson's programs as "carbon copy platforms," and said O'Daniel "came out of the ground like a whirlwind and stole McCraw's show."

O'Daniel told an Edinburg audience "you folks will have to send me to Austin since I can't vote myself." He referred to his lack of a poll tax receipt. He renewed his attack on "professional politicians" but did not mention the names of any of his opponents.

O'Daniel promised yesterday he would give his stand on labor in a broadcast from McAllen today.

Kiss of Kings

ALLRED FINALLY TELLS WHAT 'V' REPRESENTS

AUSTIN, July 14. (AP)—Governor James V. Allred broke down and admitted today he had not told the public the whole truth about his name.

The federal judge-to-be volunteered at his daily press conference that his full name was James Burr V. Allred. During ten years as assistant district attorney and district attorney at Wichita Falls, attorney general with equal responsibility.

Thompson at San Antonio stressed that Texas labor should be fairly paid and presented a broad program which he said would bring prosperity to every citizen of the state.

ence to him as James Valentine Allred. The governor repeated that the V. did not stand for Valentine or anything else.

"I was named for three uncles," Allred said. "Uncle Jim McCracken, Uncle Burr Wright and Uncle V. Camp. I never used the name Burr or the initial B. That would be too many initials."

"Until I joined the navy, everybody knew me as 'V.' The enlistment officer struck out the 'V' and left the name James Allred so various officers wouldn't be worrying about what the V. stood for. Since then I have been called Jimmy."

The governor said he strongly favored simple names for children. His sons are named James V., Jr., William David and Sam Houston.

The discussion came up as a consequence of a magazine refer-

NEW CIVIL AVIATION BOARD HOLDS MEETING

WASHINGTON, July 14. (AP)—Members of the new Civil Aeronautics Authority gathered today to organize what some administration advisers call a model regulatory agency.

In a sense, it is President Roosevelt's long-delayed reply to a Supreme Court decision which blocked any White House control over the executive functions of independent agencies.

The new body differs from similar agencies, such as the Interstate Commerce Commission, in that it consists of an independent administrator as well as a commission.

This administrator is responsible to the President and exercises all the agency's executive authority. The board is responsible to Congress, and its duties are confined to quasi-judicial and legislative actions.

Edward J. Noble, wealthy industrialist, called the board together in his capacity as chairman. Other members are:

Harlee Branch, second assistant postmaster general, vice-chairman; G. Grant, Pan-American Airways official; Robert Hinkley, WPA director for far Western states, and Oswald Ryan of Anderson, Ind., general counsel for the Federal Power Commission.

The Lima Bean is of South American origin.

300-Egg Chickens Are Hard to Find

ST. PAUL, (AP)—Foultry breeders searching in vain for a 300-egg strain of chickens have been told by a University Farm extension specialist that even the best breeding flocks are not speedily reaching that goal.

Even if such a strain existed, said Miss Cora Cooke, of the University of Minnesota, it would be so costly the ordinary producer could not buy stock.

"It is well known, too," she said, "that such individuals do not have offspring of such high production to a very marked degree."

Only 38 to 4,786 hens trapped under supervision of the Minnesota Poultry Improvement board produced 300 eggs.

NOTICE OF SALE THE STATE OF TEXAS COUNTY OF GRAY

By virtue of a Pluribus Execution and Order of Sale issued out of the District Court of Harris County, Texas, 61st Judicial District, on a judgment rendered in said Court on the 18th day of January, 1938, in favor of The Federal Land Bank of Houston, for the sum of TWO THOUSAND EIGHT HUNDRED TWENTY AND 88-100 ($2,820.88) DOLLARS, and 6 percent interest from July 15, 1935, and for costs of suit, and foreclosure of lien against the defendants named in judgment in Cause No. 223,096, on the docket of said Court, styled The Federal Land Bank of Houston vs. L. S. Brock, et al. I did on the 7th day of July, A. D., 1938 at 9:00 o'clock a. m., levy upon the following described parcel and tract of land, situated in Gray County, Texas, as the property of said defendants, said premises containing 300 acres, more or less, located two miles Northwest of Alameda, Texas, and most generally known as the L. S. Brock land, and being out of the Northwest part of Section 5, located in Block 3, of the Brooks and Burleson Survey, patented to W. W. McArthur, assignee, by Patent No. 355, Volume 30, Abstract No. 498.

And on the 2nd day of August, A. D., 1938, same being the first Tuesday in said month, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m., at the Courthouse door of Gray County, Texas, in the City of Pampa, in said County, I will offer for sale and sell at public auction, for cash, all of the estate, right, title and interest which each and all of said defendants have in and to the above described premises.

Dated at Pampa, Gray County, Texas, this 7th day of July, A. D., 1938.

ROBERTA TALLEY, Sheriff of Gray County, Texas.

turned to his home in Knox county and Mr. Czerner stayed in the Pampa hands for a few days. On July 29, he went to Pampa and inspected the land north of Pampa and south of White Deer.

On August 23, 1909, he examined the land north of White Deer and chose that location for the establishment of a Polish Catholic colony. The next day he started back to Pampa and stopped on his way at Knox City to see Ben Urbanzyk.

Mr. Czerner's father, Crispin Czerner, sold his farm at Pampa in December, 1909, purchasing 640 acres of land about four miles northeast of White Deer.

Urbanzyk's Second Family
The second Catholic family to join this colony was that of John Urbanzyk who came from Knox county in September, 1910. This family was followed by the families of V. Haiduk, Jacob Tuleja, Demas Bednarz, in October; William Gordzielik, in December. During 1911 three families were added to this group, those of Sam Bednorz, Ben Urbanzyk and Felix Urbanzyk. In 1912, three marriages took place. They were Messrs. E. N. Czerner, Ben Haiduk and Henry Czerner. John Kotara and family came in October, 1912, and John Warnimski in the spring of 1913.

Mass At Groom

Between January 1 and November 22, 1910, the Catholics then at White Deer attended mass occasionally at Groom. On November 21, 1910, Rev. C. J. Bier of Amarillo came to Kingsmill and was taken by Ed Czerner to the house of John Urbanzyk. The next day the first mass in the colony was offered in the house of John Urbanzyk and was attended by five families, 35 persons in all.

From this date until May 30, 1913, mass was celebrated about once each month but at different places. On every Sunday, the Catholics assembled, usually at the home of V. Haiduk, for prayers and to hear the reading of the epistle of the gospel. Edward Czerner was appointed to do the reading and to lead in the prayers.

Land Selected In 1911

A block of land containing four acres northwest of the railroad station was selected for church property on June 29, 1911. The first high mass was sung by Father J. C. Bier at the home of V. Haiduk on April 17, 1911. The first marriage, that of Thomas Moczygemba and Florence Haiduk, took place at V. Haiduk's house on January 6, 1912. It was 15 degrees below zero, a gale was blowing from the northwest and there was six inches of snow on the ground.

Plans Adopted March 1, 1913
At a meeting held on June 29, 1912, a committee of five, V. Haiduk, C. Czerner, E. N. Czerner, John Urbanzyk and Ben Urbanzyk, was appointed to begin raising funds and making arrangements for the building of a new church.

Letters were written by Father Bier to the Catholic Church Extension society and to the White Deer Land Company asking for financial assistance. Plans for the new church were adopted March 1, 1913, and on March 24 the ground was staked off by Charles Thier of Amarillo and Father Bier. Actual construction began March 26, 1913, with a large amount of the work done by the parishioners themselves, who left their work in the fields to help with the church.

Cemetery Land Donated
Five acres of land about one-quarter of a mile north of the church property was donated for burial purposes by the White Deer Land company on March 4, 1913.

The first holy mass was sung in the new church by Father Bier on May 30, 1913. On February 1, 1914, mass was celebrated with the exposition and benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament for the first time. First solemn communion exercises took place in the church on Monday, August 25, 1913.

In September, 1913, Father Bier left for Wisconsin and was relieved by Father Hickey, a native of Dublin, Ireland.

Since February 1, 1914, the following priests have served as pastors of the parish: Reverends Bender, Weber, Meister, Campbell, Boutslik, Krukert, French, Wondery (present pastor of the Holy Souls church, Pampa), Clinton, Dvorak, and Rev. Zienta, present pastor who took charge on January 13, 1938.

The Beer that made Milwaukee famous

Look only to Schlitz
for that famous flavor

SCHLITZ is perfectly brewed to the modern taste.

A wondrously pale beer, as luminous and clear as the honey made from mountain flowers, yet it is not sweet.... nor is it bitter. Schlitz is affably smooth, appetizingly dry—with just enough of the tang of the finest hops to give it zest. And it has that distinguished flavor which has delighted lovers of real beer for almost a century—a flavor that belongs to Schlitz and Schlitz alone.

A truly great beer!

JAPS CANCEL OLYMPIC GAMES

CHINESE WAR CAUSES ACTION OF OFFICIALS

By REILMAN MORIN
TOKYO, July 14 (AP)—For the second time in a generation war caused cancellation today of plans to hold the Olympic games in the capital of a warring empire.

The Japanese government, faced with the possibility of two more years of conflict in China and shortage of funds and materials, suddenly abandoned its support of the plans to hold the 1940 games in Tokyo.

The World War wrecked plans to hold the 1916 Olympics in Berlin, capital of a Germany at war with most of the major powers.

Japan, although at war only with China, has faced a steadily rising tide of criticism and threats of athletic and economic boycotts.

The Japanese army's opposition to the games as an influence for internationalism, considered hostile to the orthodox Japanese, also was a powerful factor in the decision to give up the Olympics.

At the same time the government announced cancellation of the international exposition of 1940, planned for more than a decade to celebrate what orthodox Japanese consider the 2,500th anniversary of the empire of Jimmu Tenno in 660 B. C.

The two decisions were announced simultaneously by Marquis Koichi Kido, minister of public welfare and right hand man of Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye. It came at the close of a luncheon at which it had been taken for granted in advance that Marquis Kido, Seihin Ikeda, minister of commerce and industry and also finance minister, and their staffs would decide to call off the expedition.

Kido's quiet statement to the press that the abandonment included the Olympics surprised the nation.

At first members of the Japanese Olympic organizing committee asserted the government's stand need not prevent further efforts to hold the 1940 games here. The Tokyo games were to have been the twelfth in a modern series, revived in 1896.

But later Count Michimasa Sogehima, member of the international Olympic committee and leading spirit of Japan's participation, said "the cancellation was inevitable under the present circumstances."

Various athletic organizations and newspapers in several countries have agitated for a boycott of the games if held in Japan, but monetary reasons and military leaders' opposition to a growth of internationalism among Japanese were cited to explain the suspension.

Yanks Take League Lead As Dodgers Beat Pirates

DISTRICT SOFTBALL TOURNEY WILL BEGIN HERE AUGUST 8

The Panhandle's third district softball tournament will be held in Pampa again this year with the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce the sponsoring organization. Play to name a team to enter the state tournament in San Antonio will begin on the night of August 8.

Any softball team in the 20 north Panhandle counties is eligible to participate in the tournament providing that team is a member of the National Softball association and pays a small local entrance fee. Membership in the National association will be $2 for a team that is a member of a four or more team league or $10 for a team that is a member of no league.

Membership fees must be in the hands of Alton Hall, Panhandle softball commissioner, not later than July 26. Mr. Hall may be contacted at the Jones-Roberts Shoe store, 207 North Cuyler street, Pampa. Local entry fee will be announced soon.

Thirty crack teams from over the Panhandle competed in last year's tournament, won by Texaco Refiners of Amarillo over Rig Service Station of Borger.

All games will be played at night with double elimination necessary for removal from the tournament. Winner will play winner and loser will play loser as long as possible.

Softball teams from the following 20 north Panhandle counties will be eligible to enter the Pampa District tournament: Dallam, Sherman, Hansford, Ochiltree, Lipscomb, Hartley, Moore, Hutchinson, Roberts, Hemphill, Oldham, Potter, Carson, Gray, Wheeler, Deaf Smith, Randall, Armstrong, Donley and Collingsworth.

Yanks Win 15-12
Take the Yankees. They tangled with the St. Louis Browns in a game that left some 3,671 fans wondering just what sport was played. From the second inning, when the Browns scored six times and the Yanks four, it was anything but baseball.

Managers Joe McCarthy and Gabby Street seemed to be trying to outdo each other in queer ways to handle pitchers—and they succeeded.

The Yanks tied the score in the fourth, the Browns tallied four more in the fifth, and the Yanks finally deadlocked it again in the ninth. Came the tenth, and Joe DiMaggio broke up the game with his second homer of the day to give Murderer's Row a 15-12 decision.

Since the Cleveland Indians took a 4-3 beating from Washington in another daffy tilt, the Yanks went into first place by half a game. Harry Kelley, cast off even by the Athletics, pitched a four-hitter for Washington and was hooked up in a 1-1 duel with Bobby Feller going into the ninth. In their half of the frame, the tribe counted twice, but the Nats came right back with a three-run spurge, featured by Take Wright's two-run pinch-double, to win.

Dodgers Whip Pirates
No whacky day, of course, would be complete without those doffiness boys from way back, the Dodgers of Brooklyn. They took a hand by knocking over the Pirates, 10-5, with a seven-run spurge in the ninth inning, to end the Bucs' long winning run. When the Brooklyn finally tied the game 3-3 in the eighth, big Mace Brown, who loses a relief pitching assignment about as often as Don Budge is beaten in tennis, took over the Pittsburgh flinging chores. He had his ears pinned back in the ninth and his personal winning stream of seven straight was snapped.

Johnny Mize of the Cardinals was another who couldn't find the answer to the day's dizzy developments. Johnny hit three homers in successive times at bat, and then saw the Boston Bees beat the gas house gang, 10-5, anyway.

Despite the Pirates' defeat, the Bucs retained their slim hold on first place in the National league since the Giants dropped a 6-1 decision to the Cincinnati Reds. The Phillies and Cubs were rained out.

George Caster pitched a six-hitter and paced the Athletics to a 5-2 win over the Chicago White Sox. The Tigers and Boston Red Sox broke even in a free-hitting doubleheader, the gold plated hose taking the opener 7-4 and Mickey Cochran's crew coming back 9-5 in the nightcap.

The scheduled exhibition softball games between Danciger of Pampa and Back of McLean and King of Pampa and Gulf of Borger for tonight at 8:30 o'clock at Road Runner park will depend on the weather.

"If the sun shines by noon, the field will be dry enough," was the belief of Joe Parkinson of the Danciger team this morning. "That is if not too much rain falls during the morning."

SEVEN COUPLES ENTERED IN CLUB'S MIXED GOLF TOURNEY

Deadline for entering the mixed foursome tournament at the Pampa Country club is tomorrow night. Pairings will be made Saturday and released the following day.

Up to today only seven couples had entered and paid the $1 entry fee which will go toward purchasing prizes for the winners. Several other couples had notified Mr. and Mrs. Del Love that they would report before the deadline.

Play will be over nine holes, two evenings a week beginning at 5 o'clock or after until the finals. To be eligible to compete, the man must ask the woman to be his partner and she cannot be his wife or sweetheart. A brother and sister combination was announced yesterday when Harriet and Chester Hunkapillar registered to play together, declaring that the rules said nothing about brother and sister not playing together—which was right.

Local players who can meet Clarendon and Memphis here on Sunday afternoon, beginning at 1 o'clock, are urged to register with Del Love at the clubhouse. The players who went to Clarendon last Sunday will be given preference in the pairings. However, more players will be brought to Pampa than represented the local club.

Entered in the mixed tournament to date are: Mrs. Charlie Thut and Joe Gordon; Mrs. H. H. Hicks and Grover Austin, Jr.; Mrs. Carl Leuders and John Austin; Mrs. William Miskimins and Marvin Harris; Mrs. Del Beagle and Bert Curry; Mrs. R. N. Wright and William Miskimins; Harriet Hunkapillar and Chester Hunkapillar.

McNeil Forced Out Of Tennis Meet By Injury

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—With the top-seeded favorite, Don McNeill, out of the running, it looks like a wide open scramble for top honors in the New York State clay court tennis championships.

McNeill took a bad tumble Tuesday in his third-round match with Jack Bushman. He finished out and won the match and later in the day played doubles. But yesterday he called on a doctor and learned he had torn some ligaments—and wrenched an ankle.

Unable to play for ten days or so, McNeill defaulted to Don Leavens, of the University of Southern California. Leavens thus became the first to enter the semi-finals.

Favored to join him there are Frank Guernsey, Jr., National Intercollegiate champion from Rice, Julius Heldman of Los Angeles and either McNeill's Kenyon teammate, Morey Lewis of Texarkana, Ark., or Leonard Hartman of New York.

Guernsey, seeded second, faces Gerard (Jeff) Podesta, captain-elect of the Princeton University tennis team today while Heldman, No. 3, meets Howard Stephens of Yale, tomorrow. The Hartman-Lewis match is expected to be the keenest battle of the lot. The New Yorker was seeded fourth and Lewis sixth, by winning his way into the college title final. Lewis proved he is not to be overlooked.

JAYCEES AND JEWELERS WIN GAMES EASILY

Rain halted night games in Pampa softball leagues last night but two twilight battles were completed, the hustling Jaycees downing the Christians 13 to 2 and the Diamond Shop coming up with a 14 to 2 win over the Supply Boys, both City league games.

The Jaycees won their second game in a row when they took the churchmen into camp. On Tuesday night the clubmen beat Mack & Paul Barbers in an upset. Barbers, again in top form as he hurled the Jaycees to a win and his support was again tops. Hall was behind the plate.

Jordan and Kennedy was the losing battery. The Christians had to borrow a couple of players, when starting time arrived and all their players had not arrived.

With Cary and Maples working nicely and support almost perfect, the Diamond Shop jumped into an early lead and coasted to a win over the Supplymen. LaFrade started on the hill for the losers but was wild and ineffective. Miller finished and was hit hard. Whitten was behind the plate.

Emmer homered for the jewelers for the only four-ply wallop of the game.

Weather permitting, the Diamond Shop and Supply Boys will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at Recreation park. A postponed game will be the second battle on the program.

Tomorrow night's schedule follows:
6 p. m.—News vs. Mack & Paul.
8:15—Gulf-Cooper vs. Christians.
9:30—King vs. Danciger.
Standing including games last night follows:

Every once in a while, without rhyme or reason, one of those daffy days pops up right plumb in the middle of the pennant races and it doesn't make any kind of sense no matter how you add it up.

Maybe because it was the 13th of the month, or the heat or something, the pennant race on both sides of the big league picture had one of those days yesterday.

In the confusion, there were such solid developments as (1) the arrival of the Yankees in undisputed possession of first place in the American league for the first time since May 11, and (2) the end of the Pittsburgh Pirates' 13-game winning streak, longest victory run in the majors this year.

But the manner in which even these two things came about was just part of as silly a set as the big time has seen on any one day this year.

Take the Yankees. They tangled with the St. Louis Browns in a game that left some 3,671 fans wondering just what sport was played. From the second inning, when the Browns scored six times and the Yanks four, it was anything but baseball.

Managers Joe McCarthy and Gabby Street seemed to be trying to outdo each other in queer ways to handle pitchers—and they succeeded.

The Yanks tied the score in the fourth, the Browns tallied four more in the fifth, and the Yanks finally deadlocked it again in the ninth. Came the tenth, and Joe DiMaggio broke up the game with his second homer of the day to give Murderer's Row a 15-12 decision.

Since the Cleveland Indians took a 4-3 beating from Washington in another daffy tilt, the Yanks went into first place by half a game. Harry Kelley, cast off even by the Athletics, pitched a four-hitter for Washington and was hooked up in a 1-1 duel with Bobby Feller going into the ninth. In their half of the frame, the tribe counted twice, but the Nats came right back with a three-run spurge, featured by Take Wright's two-run pinch-double, to win.

Dodgers Whip Pirates
No whacky day, of course, would be complete without those doffiness boys from way back, the Dodgers of Brooklyn. They took a hand by knocking over the Pirates, 10-5, with a seven-run spurge in the ninth inning, to end the Bucs' long winning run. When the Brooklyn finally tied the game 3-3 in the eighth, big Mace Brown, who loses a relief pitching assignment about as often as Don Budge is beaten in tennis, took over the Pittsburgh flinging chores. He had his ears pinned back in the ninth and his personal winning stream of seven straight was snapped.

Johnny Mize of the Cardinals was another who couldn't find the answer to the day's dizzy developments. Johnny hit three homers in successive times at bat, and then saw the Boston Bees beat the gas house gang, 10-5, anyway.

Despite the Pirates' defeat, the Bucs retained their slim hold on first place in the National league since the Giants dropped a 6-1 decision to the Cincinnati Reds. The Phillies and Cubs were rained out.

George Caster pitched a six-hitter and paced the Athletics to a 5-2 win over the Chicago White Sox. The Tigers and Boston Red Sox broke even in a free-hitting doubleheader, the gold plated hose taking the opener 7-4 and Mickey Cochran's crew coming back 9-5 in the nightcap.

PLANS OVER SPAIN

Success of the London Non-Intervention Committee in delivering itself of a plan to liquidate foreign interest in the Spanish conflict is notable chiefly by contrast with past failures.

Not that the Committee's mountainous labors have produced a mere mouse. The plan is something much bigger than that—and more "complicated," which is the word Lord Halifax, Britain's Foreign Secretary, used to describe it. But immediate effects on the Spanish war are not to be expected.

The very complications of the plan preclude its making much difference to either the Insurgent or the Spanish Government for many weeks. For friends of Spanish democracy, at this late hour, it offers small comfort. By virtue of superior foreign aid, General Franco's fascist forces have been able to subdue much of Spain and to obtain a military position on the peninsula which gives them great advantage for the future, whether or not foreign "volunteers" are withdrawn.

The emergence of a plan to which the entire twenty-six nations on the Committee could agree is perhaps of more significance to other nations than to Spain. It smooths the road to British-Italian friendship in fact, where now these two countries merely have friendship on paper, and it may save El Duce the necessity of taking by either horn a dilemma which has lately become plain to others, as well as to himself. This dilemma is the problem how to keep British friendship while also winning a diplomatic victory in Spain.

So far as can be seen, there is nothing in the Committee's plan which will prevent in Spain the sort of denouement El Duce demands. But there is in the plan at least seeming progress toward that withdrawal of foreign troops which the British Government knows must precede ratification of the Anglo-Italian pact if British public sentiment is to be satisfied.

STYLE NOTE

To George Bauer, 28-year-old packing plant worker of Denver, Colo.

First of all, congratulations on becoming an American citizen. Everybody, George, is tickled to death.

Now, please don't start off on the wrong foot by jumping at conclusions too fast. The news stories about your becoming a member of the family weren't very long, and maybe if they'd told more about the situation there wouldn't have been any need to write this letter, but—just in case they did give the whole picture—don't, George, get the wrong idea.

When the judge wouldn't let you be a citizen at first because you came in your shirt-sleeves, maybe he just wasn't feeling very well. No doubt he meant well, George, but a courtroom is a kind of formal place. You're to be congratulated, George, on not getting too sore about it, on going for your coat and coming back and starting all over again.

Anyway, this is the point: The country really likes shirt-sleeves. There never was any indignity attached to them since the place was discovered. In fact, George, as a costume for a man applying to become a member of the family, a pair of work pants and a shirt with the collar open and the sleeves rolled up is just about perfect. Overalls are, of course, too. Don't get the wrong idea. Yours truly, etc.

RUSH TO THE RESCUE

A story arrives from India of a building that caught fire and got out of control of the local volunteers. There being no telephone in the village, a letter was sent by urgent post to the state fire brigade. Receipt of the letter was acknowledged almost immediately. It was marked "for disposal" and forwarded to the state ruler. It arrived on this gentleman's desk a fortnight or so later. He saw that it was marked "Urgent," opened it at once, studied it, decided it was worthy of response, and dispatched the state apparatus forthwith.

The firemen found, on arrival, that the old building was gone and a structure of an entirely different nature was already rising on the old site.

This is the kind of story that ought to send a number of the best known gentlemen in the world of diplomacy into gales of laughter. Geneva should be reduced by its merriment to a state of positive helplessness.

Behind the Scenes In Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Pampa News Washington

Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 14—Many outstanding economists in Washington are now beginning to believe that business has left the bottom of the 1937-38 depression and is proceeding upward toward another period of recovery.

Even some conservative experts who until recently feared that any marked early upturn would be followed by a sharp drop in business activity during autumn have now lost their skepticism. And many expect the wheels of industry to be whirling merrily by January.

Chief difference in confidential forecasts available is a diversity of opinion as to the probable rate of acceleration of the upswing.

The stock market is something else again, in the opinion of some of the canner government experts, who believe its recent spurt was not justified by the relatively small business pickup and that stock prices had held up well as compared with the precipitous decline of industrial production. A sharp market drop would cause no surprise in Washington.

BUSINESS TRENDS

The Federal Reserve Board industrial production index figure of 76 showed no change for June, indicating a leveling off, and weekly indexes show something of a subsequent increase. Production fell off far more drastically than consumption until a few weeks ago.

Now, according to confidential new figures, department store sales—indicative of the retail trend—have stopped declining for the first time since last September, simultaneously with the first increases in production.

LONG ON NAME, SHORT ON CASH

Announcement at the Hiller government's nonchalant policy toward payment of German—and Austrian—debts continues to spread. Even the New York Stock Exchange has made a unique application to the Securities and Exchange Commission for removal of a German bond issue from its list.

That rain last night sort of took the rough edges off the current heat wave and gave folk a new zip that is needed after a protracted spell of weather that makes the air-conditioning salesman happy. . . . A peep at gauge showed that ninety-five hundredths of an inch precipitation was recorded between 9 last night and 10 this morning. . . . Perhaps it was an aftermath of the refreshing beauty display in a downtown theater last night.

I still can't find a soul who is willing to wager a nickel on the outcome of the Gray county sheriff's race. . . . When Jess Wynne, who has been here a year or two, won't venture a guess on who will be in the run-off, if any, why should I? . . . Incidentally, Mr. Wynne, Albert ouette, and C. H. Walker will go to Amarillo to attend a luncheon tomorrow noon at which they will advise with other committeemen on the plans for the big Will Rogers Memorial celebration to be held in Amarillo next month.

Speaking of that bathing beauty pageant last night. . . . Pampa and its surrounding area has more downright breath-taking pretty girls than you can find anywhere in the Panhandle. . . . The judges did a pretty swell job of it when they picked Wanda Lee Dunlap and Betty Jo Townsend as the outstanding beauties in the current pageant. . . . And, the judges had no easy time of it, either, so keen was the competition. . . . The man on the flying trapeze was no more of a thriller than the shadow-graph of the young lady who stood in front of the window and undressed to the ohs and ahs of the theater audience last night. . . . But, when something went wrong and she fell through the paper screen, "she" turned out to be a mere male, attired in long red flannel undies.

One often wonders why so many men get so far down front at these bathing beauty revues. . . . I suppose it is so they can hear everything that is said. . . . Comely Colleen McMahon, who does well in a bathing suit, they say, was not on the stage. . . . Instead she occupied a second row seat. . . . She had planned to be a contestant up to the very last day, but decided to step aside and not compete. . . . Frequently now you read a searching, candid, straightforward evaluation of the character of some candidate for office, and find at the end of the article that candidate's signature.

A newspaper picture shows the bridegroom, 63, carrying the bride, 16, across the threshold of his home, feet first. . . . The cutlines don't say whether the old boy is well-heeled or not, but it is taken for granted that he is—and that the gal will be just biding her time until her mate is carried back across the same threshold, feet first. . . . A campaign promise is like a first-of-the-month promise to "pay you next Saturday." . . . The difference is, the candidate can't be sure, even next Saturday.

GRASS FIRES.

(From the Dallas Times-Herald.) The Fourth of July was a busy day for the Dallas fire department. Ninety-five alarms were answered and it is estimated that it costs the city $50 for each run.

Sixty-five of the alarms were due to grass blazes started by fireworks. This convinced City Manager Moseley that shooting of fireworks in the corporate limits should be prohibited. But it also calls attention to the fact that there is an abundance of grass ready to blaze up when ignited.

The use of firecrackers, Roman candles, skyrockets and other explosives in the city is a menace to life and property, but vacant lots and alleys overgrown with vegetation that is left to dry out constitute a perpetual fire hazard.

So far, this season, the city has done nothing to clear the vacant lots of luxuriant growth, or to induce owners of property to do so. If the vegetation is allowed to stand, the department will have many other busy and expensive days before the summer is over, and the alarms will not be attributable to fireworks.

which matured April 15. Because of German foreign exchange restrictions, the bank was unable to provide dollars in New York for payment. So it offered other bonds or Reichsmarks, which can't get out side Germany.

The New York exchange's committee on stock and bond listing gave an opinion to SEC that it would be in the public interest to drop the listing of the bonds.

SEC had a hearing at which no opinion was registered, although it subsequently received a letter from the bank expressing concern in Germany, which required three days for translation. SEC is now considering. It nearly always follows the exchange's recommendation in such cases.

The Capital Jigsaw

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, July 14 (P)—By a simple proclamation, Gov. James V. Allred may have saved the lives of 14 persons. For the first five months of this year the average weekly toll of traffic deaths in Texas was 33, but in the week of June 12-18, which Gov. Allred proclaimed "Safety Week," only 19 lives were lost in traffic accidents.

After the governor issued the proclamation some newspapers in editorial questioned whether it would do any good, an official of the state Public Safety Department said. "We think a reaction of 14 in the average maintained for five months was worthwhile."

The average for 1937 was 41. Rep. Arthur Holland of Belton says there is one sure way a candidate can know when he has won a vote. That is when a voter places the candidate's advertising sticker on his automobile.

"Anyone will stick up a placard for you," Holland remarked, apparently referring to placing candidates' placards in stores and offices, "but when he puts a sticker on his car you know it's a vote."

Although he has no opposition for re-election, Holland is attending political rallies and passing out campaign cards.

Many stories about Jeff T. Strickland circulated in Capitol corridors when it was learned the former member of the legislature insurance company executive and legislative representative of interstate theaters had died at San Antonio.

Jeff, as he was called by nearly everyone who knew him, had a keen sense of humor. He liked to hear stories with a laugh in them and could tell plenty on his own account.

Former Rep. Tom Martin, Johnson City, who, incidentally, this year is trying to outdo the incumbent representative of that district, Alfred E. Petch, of Fredericksburg, recalled he once bought a horse from Strickland.

"I asked Jeff if that mare handled easily," said Martin, "and he assured me she was as gentle as a lamb."

"Well, sir, when we tried to take her home she kicked $60 worth of new lumber off a trailer. In fact, the trailer was demolished. We could not move her until I could locate one of the wranglers who know how to handle mean horses. Ordinary cowboys we knew couldn't do anything with her."

"Jeff thought it a great joke."

Strickland told press correspondents how a woman member of the legislature once had attempted to arrange a marriage between him and a friend of the member. Strickland was a widower.

The would-be matchmaker invited Strickland and the friend to a luncheon and for a while everything rocked along smoothly.

"But I knew what she was up to," Strickland grinned. "So when they brought in the coffee I poured it into a saucer, put my elbows on the table, lifted the saucer between both hands, blew on it and began drinking."

Strickland said his hostess cried, "Now stop that, Jeff; you're doing that just to embarrass me."

"But I went right on drinking and blowing," Strickland said.

After that, attempts to promote a match were dropped.

Bob Barker, secretary of the state Senate and a close friend of Strickland, was preparing the day he died to send Strickland an old shaving brush which bore Barker's name. Strickland was a collector of mugs.

"As we are all aware, the congested fad is sweeping the country. I try them all and so do a lot of my women friends. I know that you have a woman in Pampa who is clever enough to walk away with a lot of prizes, Mrs. C. W. Stowell. I am sure she must be a very delightful person in addition to being a brilliant one. Good feeling between border officers of the United States and Mexico has grown tremendously in recent years, he said.

Around Hollywood

By DAN DE LUCE

(Stand-in for Robbin Coons)

Robbin Coons, our Hollywood columnist is in New York for no weeks to see what movie activities are like in the east.

NEW YORK—I'm the guy that came to bury Caesar and found him doing the Big Apple.

The New York theater isn't dead. It doesn't even look sick to me. Back in Hollywood, when came the talkie dawn, we used to say smugly, "The stage had better look to its laurels." This past season we got reports that the stage, at last, had looked.

But there's nothing like seeing for yourself. That's what I've been doing. And if what I've seen is alluring then I've been a corpse for ten years.

The movies have taken over Broadway, yes. But on those shoddy side streets there is excitement and beauty and a sense of things stirring. And I don't mean mice.

The most of excitement, beauty, and stirring I found in the one place of which Hollywood can make nothing on film. Don't look for Thornton Wilder's "Our Town" at your local nickelodeon.

Movie Minus Scenery Maybe Hollywood's own William K. Howard, who had a hand with Jed Harris in the production, is planning to film it but I hope he isn't. I hate to think of what the screen, with its matchless facilities for realism, could do to "Our Town."

"Well, now, we gotta have scenery." That would be the first shot at the movie story conference. Whoever said it would be right. Any movie without scenery would be as boring as Mr. Will H. Hays at a ceremonial banquet. On the stage, in "Our Town," you miss scenery less than I'd miss Constance Bennett from the screen. If Mr. Wilder is going to write more pieces like it, the stage won't have to worry much about looking to its laurels.

"On Borrowed Time," on the other hand, is going to be a movie. It ought to be a fine one. But I'd hate to be the scripter who has to put pretty words in the old grandpa's mouth. In the movies the grandpas get their mouths washed with good Breen soap for saying much less than Dudley Digges says on the stage. But the Digges grandpa is a character I'd hate to see without a home. The stage can take him as he is. The movies have to sprinkle the sugar.

To Cherish Juliet Another quick reason the stage will have to keep on living is "Shadow and Substance." Taking the play cold, my movie-trained mind (aged 13) couldn't quite decipher it. Juliet Haydon's been a personal weakness for a long time and she's on the stage a great deal, giving a radiant and glowing performance. Next time I intend to watch the play, and pay more attention to the fine work of Sir Cedric Hardwicke and the others.

But, Juliet Haydon, all by herself, is cause enough to feel confidence in the theater's life. Juliet, remember, was mishandled and abused by Hollywood—kicked around. I call it—and she's never going back. I have her word for it, and it serves Hollywood right.

But there has to be a place to cherish people like Juliet. That place is the stage. If it doesn't keep on recognizing its responsibility, I'm going to invoke Hollywood's best hex on the whole business.

How's Your Health?

By IAGO GILDSTON, M. D.

Medical Ethics How do medical ethics affect the practice of medicine? Or, to phrase it more directly, what have medical ethics to do with your health?

We have heard much of late on the subject. A good deal of it is "biased judgment." Thus, we hear much of the "medical clique," of the clannish covering up of faults and errors, and of other black marks against the profession.

No doubt many of these charges are warranted in particular instances. But all these faults and foibles of the profession have really nothing to do with medical ethics. The ethics of the practitioner of medicine are principally concerned with his relationship to his patient and with the fulfillment of his high obligation.

On the portals of The New York Academy of Medicine there is a Latin motto, taken from Cicero, which means, "in nothing do men more nearly approach the gods than in giving health to men." This ideal carries with it great privileges and equally great obligations.

The patient who comes to a doctor literally places himself at the doctor's mercy. How weak and helpless, how utterly dependent is the patient confronted by a medical or a surgical emergency!

The medical man as a surgeon employs powerful instruments, as likely in the hands of the unscrupulous to administer death as in the hands of the conscientious to prove life-saving. The drugs which the physician employs are equally as powerful, and it should be ever borne in mind that the physician is exempt from the supervisions which are imposed upon men in other walks of life who handle similarly powerful agents.

The very power he possesses places a major obligation upon the physician. Needless operations, needless treatment, fancy procedures, financial and other exploitation of the patient—against all of these the conscientious physician is pledged by his code of ethics.

Not all who receive a diploma in medicine formally take the Hippocratic oath, but all who practice medicine labor within its restrictions. The medical profession jealously guards the integrity of its professional ethics and it does so in the last analysis to safeguard the well-being of those whom the profession serves—the patient.

Six of Wan an' 'arf A Dozen of t'other

By BRUCE CATTON

As a relief from the weighty news of the day you might give a moment or two of thought to the matter of the famous—and puzzling—British accent.

Hollywood has been doing its best to instill a true British accent into the vocabularies of its stars; so have the radio people, and the result, in most cases, has been something fearful and wonderful to hear. And the British, in their turn, have long insisted that American-made films are unfit for empire consumption because of the dreadful American accent which pervades them.

But now it develops that the British themselves are not quite sure what is and is not good, sound English speech.

Milton Bronner, European manager for the Newspaper Enterprise Association, points out that while England is in area slightly smaller than the state of Alabama, its 40,000,000 people have more accents and dialects than the entire continental United States.

Yorkshireman and Lancashireman can understand one another, with an effort; but neither has a speech like that of the native of Somerset. The London Cockney is in a class by himself. And the celebrated Oxford accent deserves a separate volume.

The upper class in London calls a bath a bawin and grass, grahns, but the upper class in Liverpool or Edinburgh will pronounce those words precisely as Americans do.

An observant London clergyman recently remarked that the upper class West End of London is really just as bad as the lower class East End. He cited, as an example, the line frequently sung in church: "Praise Him for His Grace and favor."

In the Cockney East End, he said, this line becomes: "Prize Him for His grice and fiver."

And the cultured West End the line sounds like this: "Preeze Him for His Grease and fev'er."

All of which, doubtless, adds up to nothing at all. But a harassed American who has to listen to imitation British accents every time he goes to a movie or turns on the radio may properly draw a modicum of comfort from it. He can go on comfortably saying "Noo York" instead of "New York," secure in the knowledge that at least half of England itself would probably agree with him.

INTERNE TROUBLE

BY ELINORE COWAN STONE
COPYRIGHT, 1938, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
TRAN DEARBORN—heroine, student nurse. She ran into love and trouble when she met Dr. BOB BENCHLEY—hero, handsome young intern. He had trouble, too, keeping up with brilliant DR. STEPHEN SARGENT—head surgeon. Dr. Sargent's problem was something else again.

Yesterday, opportunity came to Tran when she acts as interpreter for a Italian patient. She does not notice that someone enters the room as she quicks the injured man.

CHAPTER VII

TRAN did not notice that when Dr. Benchley was about to interrupt with a swift question, someone who stood in the background stopped him with a quick, low word.

She only knew that the eyes of the man on the table clung to her for reassurance, and that under her hand the quivering in his arm lessened, the tense muscles relaxed. . . . And for the first time in her life, Tran felt power.

She did not know how long she stood so without looking up—feeling quivering muscles relax under her fingers and the calm assurance of her voice—before a white-clad nurse came with an orderly and wheeled the patient away.

It was only then that Dr. Benchley said with the irony of a patient too long strained, "If it isn't too much to ask, it might be interesting to get some idea just what that was about."

Tran lifted her head and answered absently out of the uplift of that newly discovered sense of power. "He thought he was dying. I told him it was going to be all right."

"As simple as that, eh?" commented Dr. Benchley dryly.

Tran did not answer. Instead she turned and walked like a woman in a trance, straight out of the room—without even seeing that the terrible Dr. Stephen Sargent stood just inside the door, watching her with a thoughtful frown between the arrogant sweep of his brow.

Once outside, Tran found that her knees were shaking so helplessly that she had to cling to the wall as she went along the corridor.

So that was what Miss Philbin meant when she talked about "giving to the patient."

There was another thing about that evening that Tran never knew.

LATE that night, Dr. Sargent, coming from the operating room gray with fatigue, halted in the corridor outside Miss Armstrong's office at sight of light framed by the transom, knocked, and went inside.

Miss Armstrong, her cap slightly askew, was brooding over a sheaf of reports. At this time of year Miss Armstrong often brooded well into the morning over the reports of her students. "You're grunting," Dr. Sargent said. "And so on—far into the night. I suppose. And this is the hard-boiled lady who sends her girls to bed at 10:30."

"I might say, 'And this is the head-surgeon who rides his subordinates for turning up red-eyed for want of sleep, and then piles a midnight charity operation on top of a full schedule.' . . . Well, how did it go, Stephen?"

Miss Armstrong had been supervisor of surgical nursing at Saint Vincent's when Stephen Sargent had been the rawest of young internes.

"Ruptured before I could get to it," he said, sliding down in his chair and thrusting his hands into his pockets, his long legs stretched out before him. "The poor devil had a wife and three children, and couldn't make up his mind to take a chance till this evening, the thing hit him like a bomb shell."

He took a silver case from his pocket, extracted a cigarette, and lighted it.

"You really do smoke too much, Stephen," Miss Armstrong said as if from force of habit; but her mind was obviously not on her words.

"Just what I was telling young Benchley about himself not two hours ago," he agreed with a wry grin. "Young Benchley," the white-haired woman echoed musingly. "And not so many years ago you were 'young Sargent.' . . . How old are you, Stephen? Thirty-six, isn't it? . . . Pretty young for a man to have taken the hurdles you have."

"Tran told young Benchley that," he grinned. "He thinks I have one foot in the grave already. And do you know, Armstrong, I'm not so sure he isn't right. I've reached the stage where all this flaming youth underfoot around here gets me down sometimes. . . . But what I came about is one of your probabilities."

"Ah?" said Miss Armstrong, and glanced with a sigh at the pile of reports under her folded hands.

"By a strange coincidence," Dr. Sargent went on, staring at the ceiling, and luxuriatingly wreathing his head in smoke, "it's the one who was up in court—month or so ago—the one with the eyes like saucers and the tongue-in-the-cheek look who goes around deviling everyone with questions. . . . What is it they call her?"

"At various stages of her career 'Utility' and 'Agility.' . . . Later, I believe, it's been 'Elephant's Child' because, as you suggest, she goes around asking questions. . . . I suppose she's been asking you some?"

Stephen Sargent chuckled. "Par from it. She takes it on the lam if she sees me coming a half mile down the corridor. Somebody's told her that I eat little girls alive."

"So you've noticed it," murmured Miss Armstrong with a little secret smile. "Well, what is your complaint?"

"What would your guess be?" he countered quizzically.

"An overdeveloped sense of humor for one thing. . . . The tongue-in-the-cheek look, I think you called it. Some of her instructors complain of that. There seems to be an amazing difference of opinion. Miss Philbin, who has her in demonstration, says she has seldom seen such concentration and such deft, sure workmanship. . . . Miss Miller, under whose supervision she had sometimes worked in the wards, confirms that, but tells me that she is emotionally unstable."

"H! I doubt if Katherine Miller would recognize an honest emotion if she met it naked in broad daylight," Stephen Sargent said with a sudden flatness of tone that made the director of nursing glance at him sharply.

"I shouldn't be so sure of that," she said, a dry smile in her abrown dark eyes. "Even so, it is pretty well known that the unemotional Miss Miller is your first choice for the operating room."

"Naturally," he agreed. "She has the quickest eye, the coolest intelligence, the deftest hands of all the nurses I have ever worked with. She'd have made a damned good surgeon if you ask me. But do you know, Armstrong, I've sometimes wondered, if I were down and out and hurting like the devil and scared within an inch of my life—the way we get them every day—whether a quick eye, a cool intelligence, and deft hands would be all I'd need. Katherine Miller might be perfect—the perfect nurse, I mean, of course—if she'd put one more ingredient into her work."

He broke off abruptly. "Well, I'm still listening," Miss Armstrong prompted.

"Herself," he finished. "She thought, perhaps she would if you were the patient, Stephen, my lad. Aloud, she said, 'After all, it was poor little Utility we were talking about, wasn't it? . . . Whose chief fault seems to be that she puts a devastating amount of herself into everything she does. . . . Well, I believe you had a complaint?'"

"I didn't know I'd said anything about a complaint. But," Dr. Sargent added slowly, "I have had something forced upon my attention which I think might interest you."

CITY SPENDS $12,098 IN JUNE,
TAKES IN $10,494 OFF WATER

Total operating expenses for the city of Pampa during June were $12,098.83 and the bank balances of the city funds on June 30 totaled $44,460.57, the monthly operating report presented at the city commission meeting Tuesday revealed.

Of the total operating expenses street lights accounted for $394, meters $592.47, sewer line $641.80, and summer recreation program expense $160.

Water and sewer was the biggest expense item, $1,879.48. Water and sewer salaries were $1,065, street department salaries $1,495.30, police department salaries $1,360.92.

Receipts totaled $13,538.45, of which $10,494.14 was derived from the water and sewer fund, $1,301.95 from garbage collection, and $890 from the municipal swimming pool. Of the total bank balance, that of the interest and sinking fund was $30,858.24, W. P. A. $4,541.74, water and sewer, $2,277.35.

Mae West, Daniel Boone et al Lose In Sooner Primary

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 14 (AP)—Oklahoma's "famous name" candidates returned today to political obscurity—with but one exception, the originator of it all.

Will Rogers, Moore, Okla., school teacher who startled the state by winning a 1932 congressional election, and has been doing it ever since, led the way for the Democratic nomination in yesterday's primary.

Some of the "famous names"—Mae West, Daniel Boone, Oliver Cromwell, Huey Long and Joe E. Brown—ran as well as third in their quest for Democratic nominations for state officers.

Byron Nelson In Quarter Finals Of PGA Tourney

SHAWNEE-ON-DELAWARE, Pa., July 14 (AP)—There was interest at all points today as eight survivors from a starting field of 108 of the nation's crack professionals entered on quarter-final round competition in the P. G. A. championship over the Shawnee Country Club.

There was interest in the top match of the draw because it sent Jimmy Hines, confident conqueror of two-year champion Denney Shute, against Byron Nelson, the transplanted Texan who had a 15-under-par score for 96 holes at the start of this morning's first eighteen holes.

There was interest at bracket No. 2 for that sent straight slugging Sam Snead against Jim Foulis, sad-faced son of the inventor of the mashie niblick and only surprise survivor into the round of eight.

There was interest at bracket No. 4 since that matched Gene Sarazen, possibly playing in one of his national championships, with Henry Picard, of Hershey, Pa., who always "should have" but never has won a national title.

But there was more interest than usual at Bracket No. 3 where Horton Smith went up against Paul Runyan, besides Sarazen the only former title holder left in the field.

Horton and Paul, in all their years of big-time golf, never have met in match play.

18-Year-Old Boy Is Medalist In Western Amateur

SOUTH BEND, Ind., July 14 (AP)—A smiling Milwaukee youngster with rare golfing talents joined the front rank of contenders for the western amateur golf championship today by some sensational shot-making in the final qualifying round.

He is Burleigh Jacobs, 18, and just out of high school. The youngster smashed the Chain O'Lakes course record yesterday to card 189 for medalist honors in the 36-hole qualifying event.

Jacobs turned in a 67, four under par, in the final qualifying round, scoring six birdies, ten pars, and putting like a world's champion. He went over on only two holes.

He was among the 68 low scorers who headed into match play today for the title now held by Wilford Wendie of Racine, Wis. His opponent was Kenneth Young of South Bend. The defending champion, who was exempt from the qualifying test, was pitted against Billy Sixty, golfing reporter from the Milwaukee Journal.

The field included "Little Jack" Horner, six-foot, four inch Chicagoan who was runnerup to Jacobs with a par 142, Walter Emery, Dallas, Texas, former intercollegiate champion, and Henry Castillo of Louisiana State University.

LOUIS-BAER FIGHT ALMOST CERTAIN TO BE IN SEPTEMBER

NEW YORK, July 16 (AP)—The hot weather and even hotter comments in the public prints were thought to have taken Mike Jacobs' mind off a Joe Louis-Max Baer fight in September, but it appears to have been a false hope.

The Sixth Avenue impresario is dogged and determined about the matter, and besides, he explains, Baer has a contract. With Mike feeling that way about it, a miracle will be required to avert a Louis-Baer fight sometime, somewhere.

In Mike's behalf, it must be admitted that up to two days ago he was willing to be reasonable. He was about ready to retire to his New Jersey estate for the remainder of the summer and attend to his peonies. But when Louis flew in on him unexpectedly from Chicago and said he wanted to fight in September, and out the window went Mike's good resolutions.

Now he's back in his office under the elevated, his sleeves rolled up and a telephone in either hand. Twice yesterday he had long talks with Louis' co-managers, Julian Black and John Roxborough, in Chicago, and they are about to make a deal.

"What can I do?" Mike protested. "Louis says he wants to defend his championship in September. I say I don't care if the government does take 75 per cent of his purse—he wants to fight. So now it's up to the managers."

"I don't know where I'll hold it yet. All I know is that Baer gets the fight, and that he'll put up a lot better fight than Schmeling did. I promised the winner of the Baer-Tommy Farr bout a shot at the title, and Max won it. If Farr wants another chance he'll have to lick somebody first. Maybe I'll match him with Bob Pastor."

During the breathing interval Mike was reminded that, after all, the handsome Baer fellow had had one session with Louis, and that a lot of folks who picked him to win had been trying to forget the affair ever since. Was he, for instance, honestly convinced that Baer wanted to get in the ring again with the dark dynamiter?

First Division Teams To Play In Texas League

(By The Associated Press)

Upper division teams square off against each other tonight in opening games of important series in the Texas league race.

The Tulsa Oilers, boasting a five and one-half game lead over the field, meet the third-place San Antonio Missions and second-place Beaumont tangles with fourth-place Oklahoma City. They play at Tulsa and Oklahoma City.

There was no change among the top clubs last night as only the second division teams had games, the Fort Worth Cats finally getting out of the cellar with a 3-1 victory over Shreveport, which had been tied with the Panthers for the bottom rung, and Houston downing Dallas, 5-0.

Jackie Reid began his manager-ship of the Cats auspiciously by taking the mound himself to turn back the Sports with seven hits, only one for extra base. Reid succeeded Homer Peel as temporary skipper of the Panthers.

Harry Brecheen was the whole show in the Houston win over the Steers. He allowed Dallas only three hits and didn't let the Herd put a runner as far as second base until the ninth. Houston scored via the Chicago Tribune that Cincinnati scouts are looking over a minor league pitcher named Ketcher, a catcher named Pitcher, (where was Mike Gabe Paul, the demon Cincinnati press agent, while all this was going on?) . . . Confidentially, we'd have willingly traded our right arm to have had that item first.

Over in Brooklyn the other day Babe Ruth pointed to Bob Seeds of the Giants and exclaimed: "There's one guy who is really uglier than I am. He's the pitcher who's got half a dozen balls daily and autographing more than 100 score cards before each game, but his chances of becoming manager of the Dodgers are fading for the simple reason the club is losing about as regularly as it ever did—which is plenty if you count out the last two days."

Dan Daniel of the New York World-Telegram says Pos. - Mater Jim Farley will cock an attentive ear if the baseball moguls come to see him about Judge Landis' job as high priest of baseball.

Will Head New Aviation Body

Before leaving on a transcontinental speaking tour, President Roosevelt, named Edward J. Noble, above, to serve as chairman of the newly-created Civil Aeronautics Authority, which will take over civil aviation in the U. S. Mr. Noble, long an aviation enthusiast, is a resident of Greenwich, Conn., a businessman, heavy investor in aviation companies and a member of the Industrial Advisory Committee of the New York Federal Reserve Bank.

40 AND 8 WILL ACT ON NEW CONSTITUTION

Action upon a new state 40 & 8 constitution, which will be submitted at the state convention of the American Legion in Austin on August 28, 29, and 30, will be taken when members of the Pampa voiture hold their regular meeting tonight at the American Legion hut.

Volunteers over the state are having copies of the new constitution sent to them for their approval or disapproval.

At the meeting tonight will also be held the nomination of officers of Pampa voiture. Installation of officers is to occur on October 12.

The local post of the American Legion will elect officers on July 21 and have an installation on October 5.

MANY THINGS OF INTEREST IN News For Farmers

Corn Crop Threatened

The corn crop in the central corn producing states, especially Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska, may be affected by the high temperatures in that area during the past few weeks.

Temperatures of over 100 degrees were reported in some sections, and a new 48 year record for July 4 of 102 was reported at Wichita, Kan.

Extreme temperatures and hot winds may wear the tassels of the corn and prevent proper fertilization, experts said.

Chicago Board of Trade reported that the corn crop ranged from a total loss on flooded lowlands to shoulder high in parts of Illinois.

Corn in Indiana is quite poor, except on high lands, according to the report.

Bulletins from other sections of the country indicated concern over crop growth.

Unfavorable reports are purely regional, the general corn outlook hitherto having been very promising.

Fruits Kept Fresh

In seasons of high production, large quantities of fresh fruits are allowed to go to waste because there is no market and they can be held in storage only a short time, but specialists of the U. S. Bureau of Chemistry and Soils have been studying and improving methods of preparing and keeping frozen fruit pulp, which may be used in making fruit ice cream and fruit sherbet.

Fully ripe fruit, when the flavor is at its peak, is crushed to a pulp or puree, a predetermined amount of sugar or sirup is added, and the mixture is frozen rapidly. The amount of sugar or sirup depends upon the use of the product.

The fruit is held at a storage temperature of zero, Fahrenheit, and some of the original fruit stored 7 years ago still is in storage and samples opened from time to time have been as high in quality as when fresh.

Reports from manufacturers show that the frozen puree makes an ice cream much smoother in texture than when pieces of fresh fruit are used. The fruit pulp also may be used for mixing fountain drinks, and crushed or chopped fruits can be used as sundae topping.

U. S. Buys Surplus Wheat

More than 8,000,000 bushels of surplus wheat will be utilized in flour and cereal bought by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation through offers from millers accepted this week, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration announced.

The flour and cereal are to be distributed to the nation's needy.

Purchases of wheat products are being made to help farmers move into consumption a supply of wheat which for this year is reported to be greatly in excess of normal requirements.

Fresh vegetables as well as 600,000 pounds of American cheese will be purchased.

Farm Product Prices

Farm economies at various universities throughout the country are predicting no further drop in general farm product prices.

Though opinions vary, most products are expected to maintain the present low level for a time, but it will not be long before prices begin increasing.
