New Clashes Spread Unrest Over Levant

Tension Eases At Trieste, But More Trouble Flares Over Polish Muddle

By ROMNEY WHEELER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 22—New clashes between French troops and the Syrian and Lebanese populations broke out in the Middle East today as political unrest continued to spread although tension had eased at Trieste.

In the area of Europe's trouble-spot No. 1, Trieste, American and British troops of the Allied 15th Army group moved forward into Yugoslav-garrisoned areas north of the city and the atmosphere was relieved by a new conciliatory attitude on the part of Marshal Tito's government.

New Polish Charges

But the Polish government in London made new charges against Russia in connection with the arrest of 16 Polish underground leaders; there was the problem of the Russian-occupied island of Bornholm and in northwestern Italy a local political group declared the "independence" of the French-speaking Aosta valley.

In the Levant states, fighting against French troops occurred throughout Syria and Lebanon although a general strike in both states, scheduled for today, was called off as the parliaments sat in reportedly ocntinuous sessions.

GENERALS IN TRIESTE

LONDON, May 22 (AP)—Reuters reported tonight that Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander and Gen. Mark Clark have arrived in Trieste. The report quoted the Rome radio.

The French cabinet also was reported in a lengthy night meeting which was prolonged beyond midnight and the Paris radio said that French troops in Syria had been ordered to take up "protective dispositions" but to "remain on the defensive."

Relations Broken

(The Beirut radio said that the Lebanon government had broken off negotiations with France over the French demands for concessions and that the break had been approved by the chamber of deputies.

(The French press agency said the Syrian and Lebanese ministers in Paris this afternoon handed a joint protest note to the French ministry of foreign affairs. The Beirut and French broadcasts were heard by the FFC.)

Display Allied Might

The region had been occupied by the Yugoslavs, who today watched the powerful display of Allied might march into the area. Later, Gen. Mark W. Clark, commander in chief of the Allied 15th Army group, inspected the area.

Meanwhile, the long-standing "Polish question" was far from being settled. The controversy over the 16 arrested Polish leaders—said by Premier Stalin to be

Allies Move On Flensburg Group

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, May 22—Both the Allies and the Russians are dispatching "control parties" to Flensburg near the Danish frontier to use the German high command as an intermediary in controlling and administering German forces, supreme Allied headquarters announced today.

The Allied delegation, headed by Maj. Gen. Lowell W. Rooks as Gen. Eisenhower's representative, has been instructed to work in close collaboration with the Soviet group.

Utmost Assistance

A brief announcement that the control parties were moving in on the "Flensburg group" of Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz indicated that the Allies had decided to demand the utmost assistance from the German high command before disposing of it.

"The main object of the supreme headquarters control party is to impose the will of the supreme commander on the German high command and to make such use of the O.K.W. (oberkommando wehrmacht) as may be practical and expedient in controlling and administering the German forces in the A.E.F zone of occupation," the announcement from Eisenhower's headquarters said.

Used strictly as a go-between, the German high command will take orders from Eisenhower's representatives and pass them on in the form of directives to the beaten German forces. Presumably the same system will be employed in the Russian zone of occupation.

Safeguard Documents

The Allied control party also will have the task of collecting and safeguarding documents of the German high command.

Included in the Allied group besides Gen. Rooks are Brig. Gen. Ned Schramm of the American Army as senior air officer, Capt. G. O. Maund of the British Navy as senior naval officer, and Brig. E. J. Foord of the British Army and the intelligence section of the SHAEF.

Prime Minister Churchill announced in London the appointment of Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery as commander in chief of British forces of occupation in Germany and as the British member of the four-power Allied control council.

U. S. Representatives

Gen. Eisenhower earlier had been named by Washington as commander in chief of American occupation forces and member of the control council, with Lt. Gen. Lucius Clay as his deputy. Marshal Montgomery's representative for control questions will be Lt. Gen. Sir Ronald Weeks.

Allied headquarters also announced that some German prisoners of war, such as farmers and skilled laborers urgently needed to get Germany's economy working again, are being discharged and returned to full civilian status.

Priorities On Relief Needs Are Ordered

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 22.—President Truman today ordered priorities for "the minimum civilian requirements" of liberated countries of northwest Europe.

He specified that such priorities should not interfere with American military and essential domestic needs.

In a letter to four government agencies, Mr. Truman cited the recent report on relief needs of liberated countries by Judge Samueluel I. Rosenman, special assistant to the President. Rosenman said the United States will be looked upon as the principal source of civilian supplies for these countries just as it has been the largest producer of the United Nations in wartime. The President then added:

Established Policy

"It is the established policy of this government to accept this responsibility as far as it is possible to do so.

"As a matter of national policy, therefore, I request your agency to grant the priority necessary to meet the minimum civilian requirements of those of our Allies who have been ravaged by the enemy to the fullest extent that the successful prosecution of military operations and the maintenance of our essential domestic economy permit."

The letter went to Chairman L. A. Krug of the War Production board, Marvin Jones, war food administrator; Harold L. Ickes, solid fuels administrator for war; and Leo Crowley, chairman of the foreign shipments committee.

Serious Situation

The letter said Judge Rosenman's report pointed out the extremely serious economic situation in the liberated countries of northwest Europe, and added:

"The report confirms in strong terms the need for action on the part of this government."

Mr. Truman repeated in the letter three paragraphs from Judge Rosenman's report which declared a "dangerously low level of nu-

Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Wednesday, May 23.—Maj. Gen. Clarence Martin's 31st division occupied the north central Mindanao town of Malabalay with its adjacent airfield and Maj. Gen. Roscoe Woodruff's 24th division pushed to within two miles of the last enemy-held airfield near Davao, headquarters reported today.

Defense Plan May Get Test In Arab Fuss

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22—The United Nations conference pushed forward tonight a plan to use regional defense agreements against aggression. The decision came at a time when Arab states talked of applying their own defense pact now in a blood-letting dispute with France on the other side of the world.

A conference subcommittee approved a formula, accepted by the Big Five powers and most of the Latin American states, which would let regional defense systems operate against an aggressor until the security council of a new world organization takes adequate measures.

Efforts For Settlement

The formula emphasized that members of regional groups, like the Pan-American and Pan-Arab systems, should "make every effort to achieve peaceful settlement of local disputes."

The subcommittee acted soon after three conference delegations jumped into a dispute which already has produced bloodshed in the Levant—a ruckus of the type a world organization this United Nations conference is shaping would be handling if it already were in operation.

The Syrian and Lebanese delegations accused France of using Senegalese troops in their home lands "as instruments of political pressure and coercion" to obtain a privileged position.

A French delegation spokesman, Raymond Offroy, told a news conference that France must maintain a "dominant position" in the Levant or some other great power will replace her. He didn't say what power.

Plans To Use Bases

Furthermore, Offroy asserted, France plans to use the Levant for airbases, depots and ports in the war against Japan. He added that neither Syria nor Lebanon could guarantee its security in modern warfare and that some great power must serve as protector.

But the Syrians an Lebanese said in a joint statement that France was reinforcing her arguments with troops over protests of their governments and now "bloody clashes still mar the peace and quiet of these two lands."

Prime Minister Faris Al-Khouri of Syria pointed to a provision in the recently signed pact of the Arab states for joint military action against aggressors.

And he predicted the Arab league would help out in the present dispute with France.

Committees Go Ahead

While the Levant states and the French were having it out verbally, conference committees went right ahead with the job of working out plans for a new world peace-keeping league.

One committee approved provisions of a charter which would declare:

All members of the world organization agree to try to settle disputes by peaceful means; they agree to refrain from threats or use of force inconsistent with pur-

Yanks In Rubbled Yonabaru; Others Take Nearby Heights

Only Meager Resistance Remains In Anchor City After Surprise Assault

By LEIF ERICKSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Wednesday, May 23—Veteran infantrymen of the Seventh division speared into Yonabaru, eastern anchor of the stiff Japanese line across southern Okinawa, in a surprise pre-dawn assault yesterday and threw an encircling arm around the rubbled city.

Maj. Gen. Archibald V. Arnold's Seventh, back in action after a two-week rest, made its quick thrust against light opposition, in bad weather and thick mud. Tank support was impossible.

Others Reach Heights

The infantrymen who swept around Yonabaru reached heights overlooking the towns of Rioi and Itarashiku, about 1,000 yards south of Yonabaru. They were in the northern end of a long ridge line which dominates the communication road net south of embattled Shuri.

Yonabaru still was not fully secured up to last night but the Japanese apparently did not intend to try to hold it. Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said today Yonabaru had been "thoroughly reduced by our gunfire and bombing."

Addition of the Seventh division to the Okinawa fighting bolstered total U. S. strength to five divisions—some 75,000 men. Until now maximum strength has been about four divisions on the southern Okinawa front.

Rain and mud the past few days slowed action on the central and western sectors.

The 96th Infantry division, which gave way on the extreme east flank to the Seventh, pressed southwestward from bloody Conical hill in a sector where it has been fighting a bitter hand-to-hand battle for a week clearing enemy strong points.

The success of Maj. Gen. James Bradley's 96th in pushing the Japanese off ridges north and northwest of Yonabaru cleared the way

Solons Start On Cleanup Tasks

AUSTIN, May 22 (AP)—Cleanup work of the general session of the legislature continued today despite the absence of positive action on sine die adjournment.

The House rejected its own resolution for adjournment on May 30 and also refused to concur in a Senate amendment to another House resolution for May 24 adjournment.

Although proponents of a summer recess led the successful move against concurring in Senate amendments to the May 24 resolution they failed in an attempt to instruct their conferees to hold out for a recess.

Adjournment Plans

The House had asked the Senate to appoint a free conference committee to recommend an adjournment plan after it refused to concur in the May 24 adjournment resolution. Proponents of not concurring had expressed hope the conference committee might favor the recess plan, long advocated by Rep. Jo Ed Winfree of Houston.

Important bills neared the final processing stage. The Senate, with one minor amendment, passed a House bill re-enacting the road bond assumption law for two more years. House concurrence in the amendment was expected tomorrow.

The Senate took up the House-approved anti-closed shop bill (HB 12) by bringing it out of its regular order on the calendar. Adjournment until tomorrow cut off full consideration of the bill.

Public Welfare Funds

Both Senate and House put the final touch to a resolution which submits to the voters on Aug. 25 a constitutional amendment placing an annual ceiling of $35,000,000 on state allocations for public welfare spending and increasing from $15 to $20 the maximum state grant for individual old age assistance payments.

The House ordered a half day session on local and uncontested bills, measures whose authors are anxious to beat the deadline for final enactment.

Warning Issued On Jap Balloons

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP)—Aimless Japanese balloon attacks have been made on the western U. S. mainland for several months, the Army and Navy announced today.

Carrying a few small bombs, the unmanned balloons float without control, their main purpose believed to be to set brush and forest fires. No property damage has resulted from the enemy's "fantastic effort," the announcement said.

The balloons are of gray, white or greenish-blue paper, about 33 feet in diameter. They are "known to have landed or dropped explosives in isolated localities," it was stated, but it was emphasized that the attacks "should not be viewed with alarm."

Warning To Use Caution

The military made the announcement as a warning to the public. Unexploded bombs may be found in isolated places and should be avoided, it stated.

The balloons have been the talk of the west for months. Until today, however, the Office of Censorship forbade any mention of them in the press.

Asking the public to keep specific information of the balloons from the enemy, the War and Navy departments said today the attacks were scattered and aimless, without military threat, but detailed facts might help the Japanese to correct their methods.

"There is always the possibility that unexploded bombs may be found lying in isolated spots or concealed in wooded areas," the statement said.

Children Are Warned

"Some may be buried in melting snow. With the coming of warm weather and the end of the school session it is desirable that people and especially children, living west of the Mississippi river be warned of this possible hazard and cautioned under no circumstances to touch or approach any unfamiliar object."

The War department has started an educational public safety campaign in cooperation with schools and civic organizations.

The enemy would be aided greatly by exact information about time, locality and effect of the balloons in helping him to evaluate his efforts, it was stated.

Don't Spread Stories

Civilians were asked to do as press and radio have done and "refrain from spreading news of any specific balloon incident of which they may hear."

In asserting that the attacks "should not be viewed with alarm," the announcement said:

"Due to the large areas of the United States and the variable nature of the winds, the possibility of a hit in any specific area is remote. The chances that any given place would be hit by these attacks is only one in many millions."

"Editors and broadcasters, cooperating splendidly with the Office of Censorship, have done a remarkably effective job of keeping all details from the enemy," the departments said.

They advised readers and listeners to understand that reports were omitted to keep information from the enemy.

Forest Fire Hazards

The public was urged to keep a careful watch "for possible forest fires started by incendiary bombs. Thus far, no such incident has occurred."

Early in the war, Japanese submarines lobbed shells into the vicinity of Astoria, Ore., and also into an oil field in southern California. The only other known direct attack on the U. S. mainland was when a small, submarine-launched airplane dropped incendiary bombs in the vicinity of Mount Emily, Ore.

Shipments Of Troops Hiked

PARIS, May 22 (AP)—Troop shipments to the United States in June will number 250,000 compared to the 84,000 soldiers that will have left by the end of this month, an official statement said today.

Several hundred officers and men of Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First Army which is being moved to the Pacific via the United Sates, already are enroute home.

Four Divisions Alerted

Four infantry divisions from the European theater—the 86th, 97th, 95th and 104th—already have been alerted for redeployment in June. They will leave in the order named and will go to the Pacific by way of the United States, the announcement said.

Forces which will have left the continent by the end of May will include 29,500 sick and wounded, 28,000 freed American prisoners, 15,500 potential discharges, and 11,000 in redeployed troop units.

Additional shipments which will have left the continent by the end of June will include 20,500 sick and wounded, 15,000 freed American prisoners, 35,000 potential discharges and 180,000 men in redeployed troop units.

It was emphasized that these figures do not include men being redeployed directly to the Pacific. Transfers of troops to the United States by plane also is expected to begin in June.

Mediterranean Area

(A dispatch from Casablanca today said the first group of veterans from the Allied Mediterranean theater arrived there by plane Monday, en route home on the new 15th Air force-air transport command combination ferry. This ferry is scheduled to carry 15,000 men a month from Italy to the United States by the end of August.)

European theater schedules also call for shipment of 4,000 American Navy personnel to the United States in May and 5,000 in June.

The first four divisions being redeployed were chosen from among those which were the last to arrive in this theater. Top priority on shipping space must go to units being deployed to the Pacific directly or indirectly as long as the war against Japan continues, headquarters said.

Troops Moved To Strike Area

CHICAGO, May 22. (AP)—Troops encamped on Chicago's lake shore tonight as federal intervention was expected in a truck drivers' strike which has tied up food and vital materials for nearly a week.

A detachment of military policemen from Fort Custer, Mich., estimated unofficially to number 700 men, arrived in Chicago late today and set up camp on Northerly island, part of the 1933-34 century of progress exposition grounds in Burnham Park.

Public relations officers of the Sixth Service command in Chicago declined to discuss the arrival of the troops, where they had come from or the purpose of the movement.

Intervention Assured

Some form of federal intervention became assured after the National War Labor board referred the dispute over wages and hours to Economic Stabilizer William H. Davis in Washington.

Effects of the walkout of 6,500 independent union members were being felt beyond the metropolitan area.

Some railroad freight was backing up for lack of interline transfer, waste paper saved in the war salvage campaign was piling up, and over-the-road trucking was hampered by a shortage of loading and unloading facilities.

A suit demanding damages of $1,000,000 was filed against the striking independent Chicago Truck Drivers' union by the Keeshin Motor Express company, headed by John L. Keeshin.

The Woman's Angle

THE DUST STORMS

SUNDAY afternoon when we were visiting with friends of long standing and wondering why we had always been so pleased to call this our home, on account of the dust that was whizzing by, we asked if dry seasons come in cycles.

"Yes," answered a native, "and furthermore it's about time for us to go through a dry spell. Remember 1934."

The Woman's Angle confessed that she is vague when it comes to remembering weather of past seasons. When we associate with self-styled weather prophets and the talk turns to "the big snow of February 1940" and "the flash freeze that July" or "the time Shallowater was almost swept away" we always nod dumbly and wish someone would change the conversation because once a season is past it's past where we are concerned.

But Tuesday afternoon we went to the files, trying to find something on the black dusters that rolled over our beautiful countryside several years back. While we failed to find anything on those uncomfortable days, we did notice that it was in 1934 that the dust bowl was moulded and federal relief administration was initiated to take care of one of the worst spring droughts in history.

MAGNOLIA TREE

WE were brought back from our research of whether we should ask Dr. W. C. Holden for the names of the Indians, who lived out here long ago, by a visit from A. L. Scoggin who brought a hobnailed bowl in which floated three waxen-like magnolia blossoms as large as salad plates. You've never seen anything so beautiful.

If the closest you have been to a magnolia tree is a bottle of perfume, you'll know how pleased we were and also surprised to learn the richly scented tree will grow here. The odor from the blooms has pervaded the office, driving out the smells of ink and floor sweep.

Mrs. Scoggin said the tree took quite a bit of punishment Sunday when the wind was so strong but it has revived since then. It is about 14 years old and was at the place when they bought their home several years ago. It is on the south side.

Where do the sweet magnolias grow? Well, at least one tree grows at 2207 Sixteenth.

DEW-BLACK BERRIES

AS if we were not ashamed enough that we had thought Lubbock weather was disappointing, here came a visit from Mrs. H. C. Greer who lives on route 6. In her hands she carried two branches heavily loaded with green berries from a plant which she described as a cross between a dewberry and a blackberry.

"I thought it might encourage neighbors if they heard what could be grown out here," she explained. "I have six rows of the berries and am planning to put up berries for jelly and jams."

If the plants are set out in the fall they will produce the next season Mrs. Greer said.

The berry looks much like a blackberry and when it is ripe is a purplish-black, Mrs. Greer said.

Ad Interim Government To Rule England Until Election In July

LONDON, May 22 (U.P.)—Prime Minister Churchill today was organizing an interim government which was expected to replace his coalition cabinet within a few days and rule Britain until the general election early in July.

Churchill was expected to ask King George within two or three days to dissolve Parliament and thus set in moiton the machinery for the country's first general election since 1935.

Breakup Clears Way

The breakup of the coalition government, formalized by the labor party's rejection of Churchill's proposal yesterday to carry on until Japan is defeated, cleared the way for the general election.

The next move in the complicated jockeying for election position law with Churchill. Before asking for the formal dissolution of Parliament, he might ask his labor ministers to turn in their seals of office.

Whatever the technique, the action will be aimed at trying to shift responsibility for breaking up the coalition onto the shoulders of the other fellow. The procedure will approximate this:

Procedure Given

Churchill will announce that he has asked the king to dissolve Parliament on a date three weeks in the future. The king will issue a proclamation for the election. Nineteen days later the people in England, Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland will vote. The results will be announced 21 days after the election, giving time for transmission of ballots from service personnel overseas.

Underlying the partisan electioneering was concern over the effects a midsummer election would have on Britain's foreign relations. Emphasis was placed particularly on Churchill's difficulties in attending any big three meeting until his position at home is clear.

Truman Pacific Conference Seen

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press News Analyst

A visit of President Truman to the Pacific for a conference with American and British theater commanders seems conceivable in the light of progress of the war.

The time when major strategy decisions are envisioned at President Roosevelt's Pearl Harbor meeting with American Army, Navy and Air chiefs in the Pacific must be reaffirmed or brought up to date cannot be distant.

SIMPSON

Now that gigantic realignment of military strength of the Western Allies is gathering force, the final major campaign against the Japanese are just over the horizon.

Broad strategy doubtless was worked out long before Mr. Truman took the oath as President less than five weeks ago, but his active interest might lead him away from the mainland for the first time as president for a meeting face to face with the men who will strike the fatal blows.

Emphasize Warnings

Mr. Truman's frequent and dire warnings against the Japanese, would be emphasized by such a maneuver.

Navy, Army and Air force top spokesmen have not always seen eye to eye on how the job against Japan could best be done.

That was what prompted President Roosevelt's trip to Hawaii to discuss the subject with such front line commanders and Admiral Nimitz and General MacArthur. Their dual command status grew out of that conference but there are some intimations that the sister services at home may not be completely in accord as to procedure from here on even so.

The only man who could settle any dispute once and for all would be the commander in chief.

During the Civil War the operations of the western division of the Union army were largely devoted to securing control of the Mississippi.

Early Capture Of Okinawa Predicted

ABOARD ADM. TURNER'S FLAGSHIP OFF OKINAWA, May 21 (Delayed) (AP)—Vice Adm. Richmond Kelly Turner, commander of the gigantic amphibious assault on Okinawa, predicted today that Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner's Tenth Army "will capture this island in the comparatively near future."

"The Japanese courage on Okinawa is the courage of desperation," Turner said after visiting command posts with General Buckner on a tour across the island. "It seems that the Japanese have about their last reserves in the line and that the determination of our generals and our troops will soon put these Japs into ultimate limbo."

Speaking in the highest terms of the "tremendous accomplishments" of General Buckner and his command, both in the bitter struggle for southern Okinawa and the speedy development of occupied areas, Turner said:

"No longer should we say to Japan, 'Here we come,' but now with the accomplishments of our troops in Okinawa, and with our activation of airfields of great importance we should say, 'Here we are'."

GEIGER MAKES FORECAST

OKINAWA, May 22 (AP) — Maj. Gen. Roy Geiger, commander of the Marine Third amphibious corps, today forecast the breakdown of Japanese resistance on Okinawa island soon because of the failure of their lines of communication.

"We made good progress considering the defenses we were up against," he said at a press conference. "If the weather doesn't impede us I think we will break the Jap resistance soon."

Federal Court Criminal Docket Is Cleared Here; One Man Convicted On Draft Charge

Judge T. Whitfield Davidson recessed the U. S. district court, Lubbock division, until 2 o'clock this afternoon at noon Tuesday after hearings on criminal cases were completed and the docket cleared.

One contested case continued from Monday afternoon was completed Tuesday morning. David Robert Fletcher, charged with failure to report for induction upon order of the Gaines county draft board, was sentenced to 13 months at La Tuna federal prison.

Walter Allen, defense attorney, suggested an insanity judgment be handed down by the court but it was refused after testimony by A. H. Fletcher, older brother of the defendant.

Two Granted Citizenship

Enrique Guajardo, 53-year-old Mexican, who has lived in the United States 45 years; and W. A. Currie, British subject who has been in the country for 18 years and is 41, were granted citizenship and given the oath of allegiance. Both are married.

Three juvenile delinquency cases were brought forward with Claudie L. Waldrep, 17, Murray M. Bowen, 15, and Buddy M. King, 16, pleading guilty to charges of forgery of endorsements to two checks.

King, of Littlefield, in a separate case, was said to have forged an endorsement of a check amounting to $78. The check was allegedly taken from the family mail and from a letter addressed to a non-member of the family.

Bowen and Waldrep, both of Seminole, were charged in connection with the theft from the Seminole post office of a check amounting to $285.00 while Bowen allegedly was aiding his mother, a postal employe, in moving heavy mail sacks.

Sentence was withheld in both cases, with the juveniles probated to Elmer Reed, probation officer, for two years. Evidence presented by Reed showed that restitution of the money in each instance had been made and recommendations for the boys' characters were given by Reed.

Sammy Hearst Meeks, charged with theft of an automobile in Denver City and driving it to Eunice, N. M., pleaded guilty and was sentenced to three years in a U. S. prison to be announced later.

William C. Griffith, 27-year-old ex-serviceman of Los Angeles, Calif., was sentenced to 30 days in jail, with sentence suspended and the defendant placed on probation for one day. The sentence came out of charges of illegal possession of 27 gasoline rationing coupons.

Fine of $50 was assessed against Frank Perry, negro of Sudan, for transfer of two tires from his auto to that of Willie Williams without receipt of tire certificates.

Willie Williams was fined $10 for accepting two tires without surrender or possession of certificates. Evidence presented by Williams, Sudan negro, indicated he held the tires as security for a debt owed him by Perry.

Troy Stockton gave a plea of guilty to charges of illegal possession of 50 gas coupons and was fined $25.

Thomas L. Benton was fined $50 for illegal possession of "several hundred" gasoline rationing coupons.

Marvin Johnson, charged with illegal possession of a gasoline rationing book upon sale of the car for which the book was issued, and with operating a travel bureau illegally, was fined $25.

The cases of James Bennet McBride, fugitive from court; Cecil Bartlett; Raymond Harrison; Francis Rackley, violation of national bank act; Charles J. Gaines, fugitive from the last session of court and from this one; S. M. Burris; and Lawrence McClaran, fugitive from court, were continued from this term.

Rent control hearings were set by Judge Davidson for Saturday, June 2.

The candy industry uses about 80 varieties of farm products every year.

BOEING B-29 SUPERFORTRESS

THE ROUND TRIP TO TOKIO is over water all the way. There aren't any emergency landing fields—just those endless, marching lines of big, green Pacific rollers.

It's no wonder, then, that the flight engineer on a B-29 is one of the most important men aboard. They call him the "gasoline salesman"—the fellow who nurses that big baby along and makes every single drop of 100-octane fuel count. And we think there's a pretty good moral in his story for you folks.

After all, you're the "flight engineer" of your car. And though you won't get a ducking in the Pacific if you let her run out of gas, you still can't afford to neglect your car's running order. Because you have a direct responsibility to your Uncle Sam to "Care for your car for your country!"

Too many cars are going off the road these days just because of needless neglect. And those irreplaceable cars are part of our vital war-time transportation system!

But you can easily take that added ounce of precaution which will keep your car purring along—and your Phillips 66 Service Man will be delighted to help you!

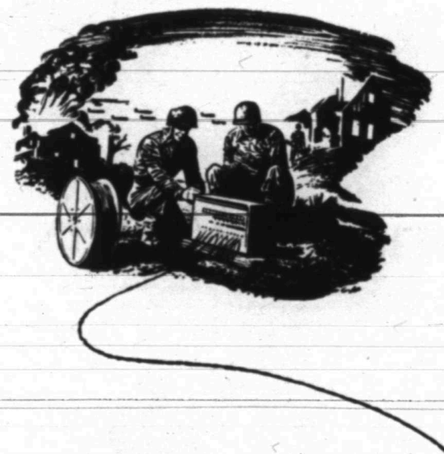

He'll check your tires for cuts and bruises and criss-cross them with the spare; he'll check your oil and water and brakes; he'll look at your battery and oil filter, and he'll keep his eyes open for loose nuts and bolts, too. In fact, your Phillips 66 Service Man will do all the things he does for many of your neighbors—all of them part of the Phillips Car-Saving Plan that keeps 'em rolling!

For your car's sake as well as your country's—stop in the next time you see the Orange and Black 66 Shield . . . the sign of famous Phillips 66 Gasoline and Phillips 66 Motor Oil.

Telephone men working!

When American armies stormed the Ruhr, Robert Lissell, Blue Network radio correspondent, reported:

"I don't think you can go more than half a mile when you're near the front without seeing telephone men working....Most of the time they're ducking incoming mortars, but they do keep the lines intact. When the battalion moves forward to take a new objective, the field telephone and its platoon of linemen move right along with it, and in minutes after the battalion arrives, the battalion commander can talk to his regimental commander directing the operation."

To run this war—from factory to foxhole—takes a lot of complex telephone equipment.

Recall Due For Men Furloughed To Plants

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP) — Skilled soldiers who were furloughed to war plants because of the manpower shortage are to be recalled to active duty upon expiration of their present periods of temporary leave.

The War department announced today some 3,000 to 4,000 soldiers, principally those employed in tire plants, foundries, forges and artillery ammunition factories, will be affected by the order. They are being recalled, the department said, as the result of the demobilization of 1,300,000 soldiers under the point rating system.

Tariff Proposal Flayed, Praised

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—Democrats shouted today that the tariff vote will test whether Congress wants world cooperation or isolationism. Republicans fired back that administration lower tariff proposals are "imbecilic and fantastic."

With heavy oratorical barrages, the House took up an issue as old as the two political parties—and party lines again were drawn tight.

Doughton Opens Plea

Rep. Doughton (D-NC), 81-year-old ways and means committee chairman, opened for the Democrats, calling for enactment of legislation giving President Truman broad new postwar power to cut tariffs in reciprocal trade agreements with other nations. He declared:

"Our vote on this bill will be the first real test as to whether or not we are willing to participate in international cooperation or revert to a policy of economic and political isolation."

Rep. Knutson (R-Minn) set off the Republican attack, declaring that this "tumble-weed variety," of reciprocity makes "Uncle Sam a glorified Santa Clause," an "Uncle Sap" to the rest of the world.

State Department Acts

The State department, meanwhile, threw new administration weight into support of the measure. Acting Secretary Grew said in a statement that "the fate of the reciprocal trade agreements act may well tip the balance" toward "narrow economic nationalism," or "the opposite goal of lowered barriers, more trade, greater productivity and greater material well-being."

Knutson said the State department's "give-away-our-markets" program is an "imbecilic and fantastic one-way trade program" that will put American workers in competition with low paid foreign labor, and result in unemployment in this country.

Three-Year Extension

The controversial bill, proposed by the late President Roosevelt and endorsed by President Truman, would extend the reciprocal trade act for three years beyond the June 12 expiration date. It would give the President new power to reduce tariffs up to 50 percent below the January 1, 1945 rates, in agreements wherein other nations would make like concessions.

This, the State department said would permit return of duties to levels of the old Democratic Underwood tariff.

Okinawa Advances

for the Seventh's spectacular thrust into Okinawa's fifth largest city, which had a prewar population of 5,000.

It seemed probable some Japanese were caught between the Seventh division troops inside Yonabaru and those forming the encircling arm to the west.

Key Road Junction

The Seventh's thrust appeared aimed at heights dominating a key road junction in the Kamizato region southeast of Shuri, at a time when the Japanese already are suffering supply difficulties.

Maj. Gen. Roy S. Geiger, commanding the Third Marine amphibious corps, told Associated Press correspondent Vern Haugland "there are indications we are sealing off Japanese communications south of Shuri. When the Jap loses his communications, his forces disintegrate and he will then break into small pockets."

Another heavy night counterattack against Maj. Gen. Pedro A. Del Valle's First Marine division on the west flank was turned back with 80 Japanese killed.

Several Japs Downed

Twelve to 15 Japanese planes attacked American shipping in the Okinawa area at dusk Monday. Eight were shot down and the remainder were chased off. No damage was reported.

American commanders at Okinawa forecast the breakdown soon of organized last-stand Japanese resistance on the island under the continuous grinding pressure of U. S. Tenth Army Infantry and Marines.

"If the weather doesn't impede us I think we will break the Jap resistance soon," said Maj. Gen. Roy Geiger, commander of the Third Amphibious Marine corps' Sixth and First divisions at the front.

The Yanks will "capture this island in the comparatively near future," said Vice Adm. Richmond K. Turner, commander of naval forces around the island.

Already An Air Base

Turner said Okinawa, three-fourths in American hands, already is a base for aerial attacks on southern Japan, only 325 miles to the north, and on Formosa and enemy air bases in the Ryukyus.

The American drive along the sulphuric four-mile southern Okinawa battleline put the Yanks closer to Shuri town and castle, central key to the Japanese defense, while advances were made Monday on both flanks, headquarters said yesterday.

Thirty-five Japanese planes dived in for low level attacks on American ships off Okinawa Sunday evening, damaging five light U. S. units. Only nine of the Nipponese aircraft escaped destruction.

Fierce Attack Repulsed

A furious 500-man Japanese counterattack Sunday night on Sugar Loaf hill, west coast height on the Okinawa line, was turned back by Sixth division Marines who had secured the crest after 11 bloody attacks.

Then the Marines pushed 200 yards south of Sugar Loaf Monday, winning a limestone ridge on their right flank to dominate the Asato river, which flows through Naha, Okinawa capital city, front reports said.

Another Marine surge in this area took the Devildogs to the crest of Half Moon hill, but Japanese command of a nearby height kept the Americans from cleaning up the reverse slopes of the hill.

PEACE STOCKS IN DEMAND

NEW YORK, May 22 (AP)—Investment demand for peace-rated stocks proved a bolstering market factor today although many leaders wilted under further profit taking sales.

Light but selective bidding appeared at the opening. Timid offerings persisted and dealings were sluggish throughout. Gains and losses of fractions to a point or more were well distributed at the close. Transfers of 1,050,000 shares compared with 1,080,000 Monday.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was unchanged at 65.1. The utility composite edged up .1 to a peak since 1937.

At tops for 1945 or longer were National Power, most active mover with a gain of ⅛ at 11⅛, and Real Silk Hosiery, up 3⅝ points at 22⅝. Improved were N. Y. Central, Baltimore and Ohio, Texas Co., Sears Roebuck, Boeing, Du Pont, American Telephone, Western Union "A," and General Electric. Casualties included General Motors, Chrysler, Hudson Motors, Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Goodyear, U. S. Rubber, Woolworth and Kennecott. Pittsburgh Coal common fell 1¼ and the preferred 4.

Bonds were uneven.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, May 22 (AP) — Aggressive mill covering against textile orders rallied the cotton futures today into new high grounds for the day on the close. Final prices were 40 to 75 cents a bale higher. Profit taking and hedging was readily absorbed and restricted offerings brought out on the trade demand encouraged replacement commission house buying in the distant months.

According to reports from the trade, shippers and merchants submitted a large volume of offers to buy cotton acquired by the CCC under the 1944 purchase program. However, the proportion of desirable grades held by the government is limited, indicating acceptances against trade orders will be somewhat smaller than the amount of cotton absorbed.

Spot cotton markets were quiet and steady.

member of the Batallion Survey Section serving with the fourth howitzer battalion, Fifth Amphibious corps, Fleet Marine Force, during action against enemy Japanese-held Saipan, Marianas islands, 16 June 1944. Courageous and determined in the performance of duty, Private First Class Witt braved constant and intense hostile fire during the initial phase of this hazardous invasion, rendering valiant and skillful service until he was struck down by Japanese fire. His initiative and aggressive fighting spirit were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval service. He gallantly gave his life for his country."

The citation was signed "for the President" by James Forrestal, secretary of the Navy.

Lt. Gravitt's citation, also signed by Secretary Forrestal, read:

"For extraordinary heroism while serving as a platoon leader attached to the Third Battalion, Seventh Marines, First Marine division, in action against enemy Japanese forces on Peleliu, Palau islands, 28 Sept. 1944. Skillfully leading his platoon in defense of a sector of the front lines vital to the success of the mission assigned his company, First Lieutenant Gravitt constantly exposed himself to heavy enemy machinegun and rifle fire in order to direct the fire of his unit against the fortified hostile emplacements. Observing a group of Japanese moving to a new location and aware that their fire from this point would imperil an adjacent unit and render his own position on a barren ridge untenable, he unhesitatingly seized an automatic rifle from one of his own men and, courageously making his way forward to an open area, delivered intense, accurate fire on the enemy group until he was mortally wounded. By his inspiring leadership and dauntless fighting spirit in the face of grave danger, First Lieutenant Gravitt enabled his platoon to locate and destroy the Japanese troops, and his self-sacrificing devotion to duty was in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval service. He gallantly gave his life for his country."

Two Post Bonds In Flareup Here

Ralph Roberts, 37, posted four bonds totaling $900 and B. F. (Lefty) Fowler, 28, was held in custody in lieu of corporation court bonds totaling $200—and faces a justice court charge and presentation to U. S. District Judge T. Whitfield Davidson on a capias accusing him of of having violated terms of a federal parole—all resulting from attempts of police to arrest the men Monday night for drunkenness.

The men, police charged, used abusive drunken language and conducted assault on the officers, L. W. Fristoe and L. N. Bartley.

Part of the results: Fristoe worked Roberts over with a blackjack, and sent him to a hospital for suture of a head cut; Fowler was overpowered and taken to jail; charges of drunkenness and abusive language were filed in corporation court against each Roberts and Fowler; a charge naming both Fowler and Roberts for simple assault was filed in the court of D. W. Robertson, justice of peace; a charge of aggravated assault was filed in county court against Roberts; and federal authorities were asked by police to revoke a federal parole of Fowler. If granted, he would be sent to a federal institution, on top of the other trouble he finds himself suddenly plunged into.

Officers Courteous

Police and other witnesses said arrests were attempted by courteous officers who explained they had received a call to the address, in Ellis cafe.

The battle started, it was related, and salt shakers and sugar bowls flew, and a pocket knife and a butcher knife appeared in hands, it was related. The police, attempting to subdue the men without injuring them, finally resorted to force, and used all that was necessary to arrest the men, one of whom allegedly had made a grab for Fristoe's gun.

Police reiterated their position. They will use all restraint consistent with prudence in making arrests, but they will deal out force where force is demanded—and they will file all the cases that offer a remedy at law where their civil rights have been infringed.

Federal officials said Fowler had been convicted of an OPA violation about a year ago and had been fined $500 and placed under probation two years. The capias for his arrest by federal officers was issued soon after police reported the Monday night disturbance.

poses of the organization; they promise every assistance to the organization; they refrain from aiding any state against which the organization is taking preventive or enforcement action.

Other Decisions

Other committees decided that: "No state can evade the authority of international law or the obligations of the present charter by invoking the provisions of its internal law."

In principle, no country could withdraw from the world organization, but the organization can suspend members.

The organization's all-nation general assembly should hold regular annual meetings, but with provision for special session when requested by a majority of members or by the peace-enforcing security council.

Approved By France

Paul Boncour of France was reported to have termed "fine" the action of the subcommittee on regional defense systems. Delegates quoted him as saying there was no longer need of an amendment by the nations sponsoring the conference to permit operation of pacts aimed at enemies in this world war, since all that would be necessary would be to say that the power to take action to prevent aggression is available.

France has a treaty with Russia, directed at any resurgence of German aggression.

In a morning meeting of another committee, a proposal of one of the Arab states, which automatically would have placed some strategic Pacific islands under international rule, was defeated 22 to 5.

Egyptian Proposal

Turned down in a committee considering trusteeships for dependent and strategic areas of the world, was an Egyptian amendment which would have placed mandates from the last World war under supervision of a new league.

That would have covered such islands as the Marshalls, Marianas and Carolines, mandated to Japan after the last conflict and snatched from her in this one at the cost of American lives and blood.

The United States, above all else in a trusteeship system, wants to make sure that she can control Pacific bases which the Army and Navy consider vital to maintenance of peace in the Pacific.

Upset Whole Theory

The Egyptian amendment, which got only six affirmative votes, would have upset the whole trusteeship theory which the committee has been considering — that areas should be placed under jurisdiction of the world organization only by consent of the powers possessing the mandated territories.

Commander Harold E. Stassen, for the United States, and Lord Cranborne for the British, argued vigorously against that.

The ballot, Stassen said, "should clear the way for other points. It was an important decision affecting the core of the trusteeship system."

Leader Like Stalin Needed, Japs Say

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22 (AP) Japanese broadcasts today stressed the need for controlling "peace agitation," for a leader like Joseph Stalin and for an "inspiration" such as Sovietism to combat the empire's greatest crisis.

Namisuki Nakano, procurator-general, was quoted by the Domei news agency in one of the FCC-recorded emissions as frankly admitting the growth of "peace agitation . . . in a portion of the populace" because of the war situation.

Nakano was reported as ordering arrests for "any speech that might cause disorder in the national unity." He added that it was impossible to repulse the enemy outside Japan "if there is no perfect unity within Japan."

The Tokyo Shimbun pointed to the "powerful leadership, based on Sovietism," of Stalin and said Japan could draw from this the "inspiration and ingenuity" necessary to defeat the "Anglo-American capitalist aggression."

Sweden's Carl Johan To Wed "Commoner"

STOCKHOLM, May 22 (AP) — Sweden's "Panzer prince," 28-year-old Carl Johan, will override the wishes of his grandfather, King Gustaf V, to marry Mrs. Kerstin Mijkmark, 35, once-wed member of Stockholm's cafe society.

A captain in a Swedish tank regiment, Carl Johan is the third of Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf's five sons to renounce his succession to the throne for love. His older brothers, Princes Lennart and Sigvard, already are married to commoners. Only Prince Gustaf Adolf, the direct successor to his father, and Prince Bertil retain their succession rights.

Indefinite Deferment Given Men Thirty Or Over In Essential Work

WASHINGTON, May 22. (U.P.)—Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey today announced indefinite deferment for men 30 or over who are contributing to the war effort or are doing "useful" community work.

Hershey also instructed local boards to review the cases of men in the 18-25 age group who were previously disqualified on physical grounds.

Under the new program, which is effective immediately, drafting of older men virtually will be halted if local draft boards rule that they are engaged in work contributing to national health, safety or interest.

Reduction Due

Hershey told a press conference that the monthly draft calls will be reduced to 90,000 starting July 1. This is a drop of 25 per cent under current calls. This cut made possible the liberalized policy for calling up men in the 30-37 age group, Hershey said.

Hershey emphasized that the armed forces need younger men. Munitions cutbacks in war plants will make older men available for war jobs, he pointed out, and this situation should enable the release for induction of younger men now occupationally deferred. Discharged veterans, he said, also will be available in increasing numbers to replace the younger men in war plants.

Depends On Jobs

Hershey added, however, that men 30 and over who leave essential jobs will still face the prospect of induction.

Of 4-F's and limited service registrants in the 18 through 25 age group at present, Hershey said he hoped about 10 per cent would turn out after review to be available for military service.

The new program abolishes the 30 through 33 age classification. Registrants in this group were formerly eligible for occupational deferment only if they were necessary men in an essential industry.

Local boards now have full authority to determine which men over 29 will be drafted, and are no longer restricted by the list of essential activities.

Britons To Get Cuts In Bacon And Fats

LONDON, May 22. (AP)—Minister of Food J. J. Llewellin said today Britons must accept some cuts in bacon and fat rations, but announced that sugar and cheese rations would be maintained on approximately the same level for the remainder of the year.

The liberation of Europe, he declared, created a demand for food greater than was anticipated and the Germans greatly increased the difficulties by their "insane determination" to continue the struggle long after defeat was apparent.

In pre-machine days, it took three-fourths of U. S. manpower to feed the nation.

All-Out Effort Asked By Dupree

George W. Dupree, Lubbock attorney, cited responsibility of Lubbock county residents toward exertion of "every ounce of energy, time, thoughts and prayers" toward prosecution of the Japanese war, when he made a Seventh War Loan drive address at Tuesday's weekly luncheon of the Lions club in Hilton hotel.

Dupree declared "there's a long fight ahead for your boys and mine" and cited the tremendous task facing the county in subscribing to the Seventh War Loan.

Neil H. Wright, county war finance chairman, preceded Dupree and declared the purchase of E bonds in the drive presented a greater task than ever before. The county's E bond quota of $1,700,000 is 60 per cent greater than the total for the Sixth War Loan. The county's overall quota is $4,550,000 but banks will not be allowed to participate in the drive until the last 15 days.

The luncheon was featured by announcement of nominations for the annual club election, the second week in June.

"Steamroller" candidates, nominated by Dr. Ewell Hunt, were: R. C. (Bob) Harvey, president; Dr. F. G. Harbaugh, first vice president; Raymond Burford, second vice president; Paul Hardwick, third vice president; Dr. Marshall Harvey, secretary; Roy Boyd, Lion tamer; Geo. J. Young, tail-twister; and Noel Stalnaker and F. A. Kleinschmidt, directors.

"Knife and Fork" candidates, nominated by Dr. J. Wm. Davis, were: Harvey, president; Dr. C. C. Craig and Carroll Thompson, first vice president; J. Y. Boyd and Judge G. V. Pardue, second vice president; J. O. Kuykendall and Dr. C. H. Schulkey, third vice president; B. C. McCasland, Lion tamer; C. J. Norton, tail-twister; Orville Smith and Dr. J. B. Jackson and Elmer East and J. H. Millikin, directors.

R. A. West of Coleman, Edd Pfeffer of Dallas, Jim Coffey of Fort Worth, Capt. Geo. D. Pratas and Midshipman James Fish were guests at the luncheon.

Farris Fish was program chairman.

AROUND THE WORLD A THOUSAND TIMES!

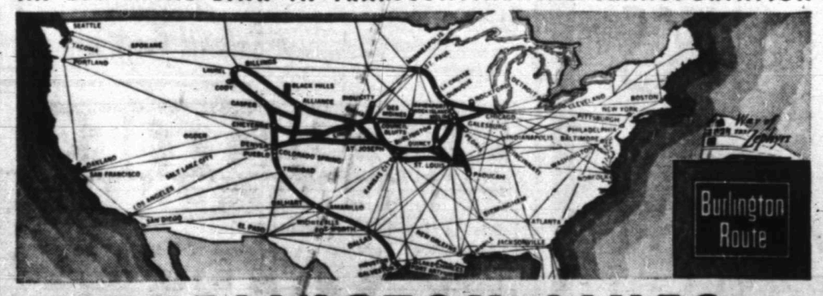

• Shortly after the first of this year, Burlington's fleet of fourteen diesel-powered, stainless steel Zephyrs attained an unprecedented total in train miles of service—25,000,000!

The Texas Zephyrs, linking Texas with Colorado since August, 1940, have contributed nearly 3,000,000 miles to this amazing total.

In rolling up the equivalent of a thousand times around the world, the Zephyrs have proved many things. Their tremendous patronage has shown the public's enthusiastic endorsement of speedy, luxurious, streamlined trains. Their almost unbelievable record of availability and "on-time" performance, in the face of high speed schedules, has established the might of diesel power. Their beauty and stamina are a tribute to the design and structural strength of these fast trains. (The Pioneer Zephyr, first of the Zephyr fleet and America's first diesel-powered streamline train, has nearly 2,000,000 miles to its credit and has already started on its second ten years of service.)

Yes, America has given the nod of approval to the Zephyrs and the kind of travel they typify. So there will be more of them in the days ahead. They will be even more efficient, even more luxurious. For improvement is the mandate of progress.

Junior Baseball School At Chapman Field Starts Today

The great American pastime—baseball—will move into Lubbock officially today, with the opening of the second annual baseball school scheduled to start at 9 o'clock at Chapman field.

Plenty of instructors are to be on hand to take care of a crowd of baseball minded youngsters that is expected to number better than 150 local boys. The school will run for the remainder of this week, with the all-star games scheduled for next Sunday.

Classes Open Today

The opening class this morning will be for boys under 15 years of age. The older boys will take the field at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and will take in the boys over 15 years of age, and under 18 years of age. The same working schedule will be followed throughout the rest of the week.

All American Legion team candidates are especially urged to report to Chapman field this afternoon. Coaches H. J. McCabe and Stoney Wall will start picking their Legion nine at the school. The team must be certified by June 1.

School Is Free

There is no fee for the school, and it is open to all boys who care to attend, and take part in the junior baseball program this summer. The present plans calls for the opening of two leagues, just as was done last year.

There will be a meeting tonight at 8:30 o'clock at the American Legion hall for all coaches and sponsors, and final plans for the organizations of the two leagues will be worked out at this meeting.

Queen Of Softball Has Amazing Record

FORT WORTH, May 22 (AP) — Jo Kennedy, who counts the day virtually lost when the opposition gets the ball out of the infield, is off on another no-hit, no-run streak.

The star pitcher of Globe Aircraft corporation's softball team has notched five victories in five tries this season, two of them no-hit, no-run affairs.

Over a period of nine years she has been playing the game, Jo has hurled 63 games in which the opposition didn't get a hit. Twelve of them were in 1943 and she climaxed the great season by clouting a homer with two on to win the state American Softball association title.

Last year she won seventeen games and lost two with seven of them no-hitters, six of which also were no-run exhibitions.

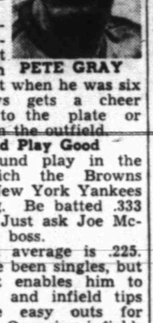

But she's not just a star on the home lot. In 1940 she pitched a no-hitter in the world series while playing with Houston. She has had one no-hitter and one shutout in the Texas Amateur Athletic federation and American Softball association state tournaments.

PONY BALLET WINS

BALTIMORE, May 22. (AP)—Leading throughout, Mrs. R. H. Heigh's Pony Ballet, co-holder of the Pimlico track record for six furlongs, won the $5,000 Carroll purse today by a length and a quarter over Vincent Cicero's Royal Flush, the favorite of the crowd of 14,187.

One-Armed Pete Gray Wins Place In Hearts Of Fans

ST. LOUIS, May 22. (AP)—Pete Gray, one-armed outfielder and lead-off man for the St. Louis Browns, may or may not stick in the major leagues, but one thing is certain: He has won a secure place in the hearts of St. Louis fans and is one of the best drawing cards a local team has had since the days of George Sisler or Rogers Hornsby.

PETE GRAY

The tall, fleet-footed Pennsylvanian, who lost his right arm in a traffic accident when he was six years old, always gets a cheer when he steps to the plate or makes a catch in the outfield.

All-Around Play Good

Pete's all-around play in the four games which the Browns took from the New York Yankees was outstanding. Be batted .333 in that series. Just ask Joe McCarthy, Yankee boss.

Gray's season average is .225. All his hits have been singles, but his speed afoot enables him to beat out bunts and infield tips which would be easy outs for slower runners. Opposing infielders haven't learned yet how to play him. He hits to right or left field. And there is power in that one-arm swing. Pete has a keen batting eye, rarely goes after a bad pitch and seldom swings and misses. He usually gets a "piece" of the ball.

'Whiz' In Field

In the outfield he is little short of a whiz. He makes the hard chances seem easy. But on ground balls he does appear at a slight disadvantage. The fraction of a second he needs to shed his glove and grasp the ball for the return to the infield might provide a break for a fast baserunner.

Blue Bonnet Laundry Defeats LAAF 5-2

Blue Bonnet Laundry's undefeated softball team racked up their fifth win of the season Tuesday by defeating the Lubbock Army Air field military police group 5-2.

The Blue Bonnet team scored 2 runs in the first inning, two in the second, and another in the fifth. The only runs for the soldiers were made in the second, when an MP homered with a man on base.

Next game slated by the Laundry team is with Ferguson Auto supply Friday afternoon at the Thirty-second and Jefferson street diamond.

Yankees Shut Out Athletics

NEW YORK, May 22 (AP)—Twilight ball was something less than a howling success today at the Yankee Stadium as 6,622 paying customers turned out in threatening weather to watch the New York Yankees shut out the Philadelphia Athletics, 3-0.

Hank Borowy recorded his sixth victory to one defeat and snapped a five-game Yank losing streak although Jim Turner relieved him in the seventh when he developed a blister on the middle finger of his pitching hand.

Rookie catcher Herb Crompton drove in all the Yank scores with a pair of singles.

After the contest owner Larry MacPhail said he had grown lukewarm on the subject of twilight ball.

Flops Of Last Year Now League Leaders

NEW YORK, May 22 (AP) — Throw away the record books and give a hand to yesteryear's flops who are today's heroes in the ball parks of the nation.

There's Roger Wolff of Washington, for example. The veteran knuckle ball artist couldn't get anybody out last season, losing 11 straight to merit the catcalls of the Griffith Stadium fans for spinning the longest string of successive losses in either league.

As of today, while all the majors except the Yankees and Athletics rested before opening another intersectional series, Wolff had four wins and one defeat.

Lee Is Outstanding

Thornton Lee of the Chicago White Sox is even more outstanding with a 5-1 victory mark for the American league leaders after a mediocre 3-9 season in 1944.

Now Lee is one of the big reasons for the success of Jimmy Dykes' Sox, aided by some lusty clouting from two other veterans hitting the comeback trail.

Tony Cuccinello, 36-year-old infielder, is playing third base in big time style and leading the league with a .356 average. Last year he hit only .262, Wally Moses, 33, whose last .300 year was 1941 is smashing the apple at a .324 clip.

Derringer's Record Good

Paul Derringer of the Cubs and Ernie Lombardi of the Giants are the prize National league exhibits. Paul clicked for four straight pitching decisions and boasted a 5-2 mark at the end of his club's first eastern invasion.

Lombardi appears off on one of his biggest years with nine homers—more than anybody else in either circuit—and a .348 average as compared to a dreary .255 a year ago.

Tri-State Tourney Is Set For Friday

Entries are coming from North Louisiana, South Arkansas and East Texas.

Former Manager Of Fort Worth Nine Dies

NEW ORLEANS, May 22. (AP)—Jacob (Jike) Atz, 64, former shortstop for the Chicago White Sox and a veteran of nearly 50 years in organized baseball, died here today. He had been in ill health for several years.

Atz made baseball history as manager of the Fort Worth Cats, winning six Texas league pennants in a row and defeating Southern association champions in 5 or 6 series. His championship teams set many Texas league records, some of which still stand.

Struck By Ball

Atz was a semi-pro star at 16. He was struck on the hip by one of Walter Johnson's fast balls and was never able to go at top speed again. He dropped out of the major league in 19.0 and played with Providence, R. I. He had short stays with New Orleans and Beaumont, Tex., before going to Fort Worth in 1914.

After leaving Fort Worth in 1929 Atz piloted Dallas, New Orleans and Shreveport teams before becoming umpire-in-chief of the Texas league in 1933. He served as umpire-in-chief for half of the 1933 season before returning to Fort Worth as manager.

Atz was later connected with Tulsa, Galveston, Harlingen, Tex., Hudson and Winston-Salem as manager or business manager before illness forced his retirement in 1942.

He is survived by his widow; one son, Jacob Atz, jr., of the Seabees, and a daughter, Kalma Atz, of New Orleans.

Sports Leaders Say "The Worst Is Over"

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP)—"The worst definitely is over for us," sports leaders said today as they hailed a Selective Service announcement that men 30 and over engaged in "useful" occupations no longer will be drafted.

"Now we're getting something solid to stand on," those interested in professional athletics said.

They had little doubt that such professional sports as baseball would be considered "useful" work by most local draft boards.

The War Manpower commission early this spring ruled that ball players could leave war plants to return to their "principal business," baseball. This, in effect, gave baseball a semi-essential rating.

And Selective Service said that WMC's list of essential activities will continue to be used as a guide with local boards having "full authority to determine what may be considered in the national health, safety and interest."

Air Sailor Winner At Churchill Downs

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 22. (AP)—Lt. Cmdr. T. D. Buhl's Air Sailor outran five other Kentucky Derby candidates today in the seven-furlong $2,500 Stoney Point purse, feature rcae on Keeneland's program at Churchill Downs.

Air Sailor held on in bulldog fashion to beat out Murlogg stable's Fighting Step and L. J. Caliouette's Joe's Choice fn a blanket photograph finish. A nose and a neck separated them at the wire.

Air Sailor was timed at 1/25 2/5 and the victory boosted his stock several notches as a threat for the derby on June 9. He paid $7.60, $4.20 and $3.20.

A length and a half out of the money came C. C. Tanner's Best Effort.

Longhorn Nine Aided By Return Of Coach

AUSTIN, May 22. (UP) — Bib Falk's return from the Army to the University of Texas athletic staff today bolstered the Longhorn's chance to cinch the Southwest conference championship in baseball.

Falk, former Chicago player and recently coach of the Randolph Field Army Ramblers, will not resume baseball coaching fully at the University of Texas until next season but meantime is helping with advice.

Texas university will have to send a crippled team against Rice Institute here Friday and Saturday for the closing conference games. Catcher Tom Milik has a split thumb and second baseman Leroy Anderson is out because of an appendicitis operation.

Minnesota's new fishing regulations cover the entire state, eliminating the northern and southern zones.

Bowling Tourney To Open Friday

Lubbock Bowling club's spring sweepstakes will get underway Friday with approximately 75 persons competing for the prize money, Robert J. Allen, owner of the club, reported Tuesday night.

About 50 entries had been received last night, including 16 from Amarillo, 11 from Midland, and 12 from Big Spring. Today is the last day that entries will be accepted, Allen said.

The contest, which is slated to run through Sunday, will be conducted in separate division for men and women, and will be on a singles basis with no team play.

Pampa Golfer Takes Honors At Amarillo

AMARILLO, May 22. (AP) — Frank Mitcham, sr., of Pampa, a comparative unknown, posted a 74 to grab medalist honors in the eleventh annual Tri-State senior golf tournament's qualifying rounds at the Amarillo Country club today.

Mitcham, formerly of Shamrock, finished a stroke ahead of Red Gober of Austin, defending champion and 1944 co-medalist, Harrison Smith of Oklahoma City and Col. Earl D. Irons of Arlington.

Match play starts tomorrow morning and continues through Friday, with 12 entries, an all-time high.

Committee Named To Pick Schoolboy Star

DALLAS, May 22. (AP)—A four-man committee was named today to select North Texas' best young baseball player for participation in the all-American boys baseball game in New York Aug. 28.

Selection of the player will be made by Graham Pierce, president of the Southwestern AAU, and P. C. Cobb, Dallas High school athletic director, who are in charge of the state baseball tournament to be held here; Hap Morse, scout for the Philadelphia Phillies, and Louis Cox, assistant sports editor of the Dallas Times Herald.

The player will be named during the state schoolboy diamond tournament June 4 to 8. He may be selected from teams competing in the tournament or from players wishing to participate in a tryout camp the afternoon of June 8 and an all-star game that night preceding the championship tournament game.

BLUEJACKETS EDGE PHILLIES

GREAT LAKES, Ill., May 22. (AP)—Philadelphia's Phillies shelled Bob Feller off the mound in the fourth inning here today, but Feller's Great Lakes Bluejackets came back in late innings to win an 18-14 victory.

Continued 'Adjusted And Reduced' Lend-Lease Urged By Truman, FEA

By ROBERT J. MANNING
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 22—President Truman and the Foreign Economic administration told Congress today that lend-lease must continue on an "adjusted and reduced" basis to generate the overwhelming power needed to crush Japan.

FEA reported that a grand total of $38,971,000,000 in American lend-lease aid had been poured into the United Nations war machine in a little more than four years up until last March 31.

15 Cents On Each Dollar

This, it said, amounted to fifteen cents out of every American war dollar spent during that period.

The most important thing the U. S. has gained through lend-leass, the report declared, has been "the defeat of Nazi Germany and the hastening of the day of victory over Japan."

In addition, however, it said this country had received up to last Jan. 1 nearly $5,000,000,000 worth of reverse lend-lease supplies and services from its Allies. That's a return roughly of one eighth of what we shipped to our Allies.

Lend-lease programs to all the Allies have now been "adjusted and reduced to take into account the end of hostilities in Europe and the new military situation," FEA said.

Caution With Soviet

Both the report and a letter from President Truman accompanying it avoided any direct mention of Russia's role in lend-lease now that full war emphasis has been shifted to the Pacific. The Soviets are neutral there.

This was partly attributable to the fact that the report covered only up to the end of March. The war in Europe ended in May.

Since March, because of the end of the European war, the bulk of Russia's $300,000,000 a month lend-lease deliveries have been suspended. Work has begun on a 45 per cent reduction in the flow of lend-lease aid to the British Commonwealth. Additional reductions are in the making in lend-lease programs with other Allies.

The President said the vast mutual aid program must continue "on the scale required to build the overwhelming power which alone can save American and Allied lives and bring an early and complete end to this terrible war."

War Greatly Shortened

He said both the European and Pacific wars had been "immeasurably shortened" by lend-lease and reverse lend-lease.

The report said more than 98 per cent of this nation's vast lend-lease contribution had gone to the four major Allies—Britain, Russia, France and China.

It listed Britain's share as $12,775,000,000 to the United Kingdom, $1,257,000,000 to Australia and New Zealand, and a large part of the $5,836,000,000 which has gone to the African-Middle East-Mediterranean area and the China-India section.

Russia received $8,409,000,000 in lend-lease up to March 31. Additional deliveries to the Soviets before the recent suspension pushed Russia's total close to the $9,000,000,000.

Huge Amounts To Two

In the case of Russia and Britain, these figures included huge shipments of the munitions which crushed Nazi Germany such as:

United Kingdom—9,500 airplanes, millions of dollars worth of engines and plane parts, hundreds of transporters for carrying heavy equipment, hundreds of amphibious craft which helped British troops cross the Rhine, 13,371,000,000 pounds of American food and hundreds of tanks and guns.

Russia—13,300 airplanes, 6,800 tanks, 312,000 tons of explosives, 1,800 self-propelled guns, 135,000 sub-machine guns, 13,000 pistols and 8,300 other guns of various types. More than 400,000 U. S. lend-lease motor vehicles provided mobility for the Red Army.

Russia also has received 1,500 locomotives, 5,800 flat cars, 1,000 dump cars, 100 tank cars, 540,000 tons of railroad rails, 116,000 tons of railroad wheels and axles, 397,000 field telephones and more than 1,050,000 miles of field telephone cable.

To Reduce Russian Aid

Acting Secretary of State Joseph C. Grew hinted last week that Russia would continue to get some lend-lease but said that "substantial reductions" would be made.

FEA reported that lend-lease provided Latin American countries with $226,000,000 worth of goods for purposes vital to the U. S. war effort. Some $805,025,000 has been scattered among other countries.

It said four countries of the British Empire had provided United States armed forces with $4,656,315,000 in reverse lend-lease through last December—the United Kingdom, 3,352,000,000; Australia, $720,000,000; New Zealand, $171,000,000, and India, $411,000,000.

Merchant Marine Praised At Rally

NEW YORK, May 22. (U.P.)—Merchant Marine casualties rose to more than 6,000 shortly before V-E day, Vice Admiral H. F. Leary, commander of Eastern sea frontier, said today at a national Maritime day rally.

"Today we salute the greatest—and the bravest—Merchant Marine this country has ever known," Admiral Leary said.

He disclosed that of the more than 6,000 casualties, 767 were dead and almost 5,000 missing. He added that "I do not have to underline that last figure—to tell you in how many cases the word 'missing' means 'dead' when it is used of men who go to sea."

More Needed In Pacific

Frank J. Taylor, president of the American Merchant Marine institute, also spoke at the custom house ceremonies. He said that "where one ship was necessary in the European area, three will be required to attain the same effect in the Pacific."

In another speech, Joseph Curran, president of the national Maritime union (CIO), said "the no strike pledge we made at Pearl Harbor will be kept inviolate. We'll deliver the goods even into Tokyo harbor if necessary."

Praising Merchant Marine sailors for maintaining discipline, Rear Admiral Santley V. Parker, district Coast Guard officer, said the Merchant Navy's accomplishments "have been almost unbelievable."

The speakers, including Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, and other naval and labor leaders, reviewed a parade of 800 Merchant Marine cadets and trainees from the U. S. Merchant Marine academy, Kings Point, N. Y.

No Place For Courtesy

No Salutes For Defeated Nazis

A NEWS picture which appeared in Avalanche-Journal and other Associated Press newspapers a few days before the final surrender in Germany attracted our close inspection—and doubtless that of millions of other Americans—because it showed a U. S. Army sergeant standing at salute as a captured German general came out of a building, accompanied by members of his staff.

We thought perhaps the U. S. sergeant was saluting American officers who may have been accompanying the Nazis, but were not shown in the picture. But now we know that was not necessarily the case, because it was only a few days ago when Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower issued an order relieving the necessity of American GI's and officers saluting German officers, regardless of rank.

Perhaps there was a day when war was more of a "game" than it is now, and when enemy officers lived up to international agreements in the conduct of warfare. In that era, perhaps, upholding some sort of military courtesy—even after an enemy had surrendered—might have been desirable. But certainly any necessity for showing any courtesy to beaten German officers is lacking today. They deserve to be treated for what they have proven themselves to be—arrogant, bullying, treaty-ignoring individuals who care nothing for human rights, therefore should be deprived of any themselves.

General Eisenhower's order banning the saluting of German officers by U. S. troops was commendable but, it seems to us, unnecessary. Originally, the salute between fighting men consisted of an armored knight raising the "window" of his helmet to permit another to view his face and thus be certain he was a friend and not an enemy. As time past, and armor was discarded, the gesture was continued as a matter of courtesy and recognition of rank and/or rating.

That is what the salute is today—hence its use in connection with enemy officers, whether German or Jap, is uncalled for and repugnant to Americans.

Insurance Is Available

It is likely that Attorney General Biddle is too pessimistic in predicting that a serious crime wave is inevitable after the war. The vast majority of returning service men certainly will be able to make the readjustment to civilian life if given half a chance.

But experience does prove that an increase in crime follows every conflict. Some of the men who have lived for years under the terrible strains of battle, and whose chief business has been killing, are unable to settle down to humdrum jobs. This time the number is likely to be larger since far greater fighting forces have been raised and they have been in battle a far greater length of time than ever before.

It is, at any rate, wise to start thinking about the problem now and to make some preparations for coping with it when it comes. Mr. Biddle presents a program of reforms in judicial procedure. Expert criminologists should be asked to decide how effective they would be.

It seems reasonable to suggest that the services of psychiatrists, clergymen and vocational training experts be brought into play for the benefit of offenders and that judges be given the option of turning offenders under 24 over to a youth correction authority.

One definite effort can be made to minimize the effects of this postwar unrest. That is to concentrate on maintaining a prosperous and stable postwar economy in which jobs are available for the returning veterans who want to work. That is the first requirement, and the second is to give the men who come back every assistance in finding their place in the community.

A Comparison Of Costs

In the past week or so, we have heard considerable comment about the undeniable fact that Lubbock Independent School district is going to have to spend some important money each year for at least several years in new buildings, and in additions and improvements to those already built.

Thus far, we have heard no one argue that the money shouldn't be spent, for even the most penurious among us realizes that our children must be educated—and educated properly. We have heard some groans, however, over the fact that considerable money will have to be spent.

To those who think the costs of education are high, we call attention to a statement made the other day by George Stoddard, education commissioner of the State of New York. Said he:

"We have worried about the cost of education, forgetting that it is only a trickle in comparison to the cost of crimes, depression and wars."

We commend that thought to those who might otherwise wonder if this community can "afford" proper educational facilities in the place of today's already overburdened ones.

Our leading New Dealers may think they are magicians, but they are not. A magician knows that before you can pull something out of a hat, you have to put something in it.

THE STORY: Someone enters Nick's room at night. There is a struggle and a bullet goes into the wall. Nick manages to wrench the pistol away from his assailant but the man himself escapes.

XIV

The sun was still quite low in the east when I slipped out the front door and walked down towards the sea. Seated on the seawall smoking a cigaret and looking as fresh as a child after a nap was Brenda Temple.

"Why, Nick, you've shaved," she greeted me. "You look positively blooming."

"Do I?" I said. "What got you up so early?"

"I had a foul night."

"Where are the others?"

She shrugged.

"Still asleep, I suppose. Why? Are you hungry?"

"Tolerably."

"I'm famished. Let's run up to Minot. The diner will be open."

"An inspiration," I said.

Brenda had her head back against the seat with her eyes half-closed.

"Do you know this is the first time I've felt secure since I met you all last night?" she asked.

"Really?" I said.

She half turned and looked at me.

"Leave the lying to the women, Nick. You can trust me."

I steered carefully around a bump.

"I haven't lied—yet."

"Do you expect me to believe that cock and bull story about the surprise party? That little conclave last night had the making of a lovely blow-off. The air just reeked with private hates."

"You and Eric hit it off especially well," I said.

"That man;" Brenda made a face. "Whose idea was he?"

"Papa Hudson's."

"Papa?" She gave me a sly look. "You're sure he isn't Pat's?"

"Look, Brenda," I said, "if you know the answers, why bother to ask the questions?"

"There's no use getting angry, Nick." She sat forward with sudden earnestness. "I know as well as you that Pat doesn't like Eric Woolf. But she might have her reasons for being nice to him."

"Such as what?" I asked.

She did not answer at once. She put her head back on the seat again.

"Did you know that the Hudson fortune has dwindled to a mere shadow?" she asked.

We drew up at the diner and Brenda laid her hand on my arm.

"I'll tell you something else, Nick. I looked our car over this morning and found that the rotor had been removed from the distributor head."

"So it wasn't the rain," I said.

During breakfast I turned the thing over a hundred times in my mind and got nowhere. Finally I pushed my plate away and took out my cigarets.

"Feeling strong?" I asked.

"Top-hole," she said.

"Able to stand a shock?"

"I'm practically shock-proof."

"Someone tried to kill me last night."

Just calm like that at breakfast, the way you'd say I scarcely slept a wink. Her glance never wavered.

"You've come a long may since the old days, Nick," she said.

"The boy who made good," I quipped. "But hold on. Here comes the real shock; whoever disabled your car last night might have wanted to keep your father here so that he could take a shot at him."

Her lips tightened, but her eyes were skeptical.

"And he got in the wrong room? I doubt it. Think a little, Nick." Sh gave me a calm, clear look. "Removing the rotor from the distributor head of a car wouldn't keep anyone at The Ledges who really wanted to get away. Especially when the garage was full of cars."

The light dawned. Bruce Temple, himself, had removed the rotor from the distributor head, and Phineas Hudson had made it very easy for him to stay. And that fortuitous meeting of the Temples in Minot with the well-engineered invitation to join the party. It all fell neatly into place. Afraid of the awful thoughts showing in my eyes, I looked down at the table top. I could feel Brenda's eyes boring into my brain.

"Whom do you suspect?" she asked clearly.

"Suspicion is no good," I said. "What did he look like?"

"It was dark. He was big. That's all I know."

"Big?" An odd smile curved her lips. "As big as father?"

"Or Charley Strand or Eric Woolf," I said evasively.

"I ought to say it couldn't have been father." Her voice was dead calm. "But if you knew what I know—" She broke off and stood up. "Let's get back to The Ledges."

She didn't speak until we had crossed the old wooden bridge again and the long crescent of Crystal Beach was visible running in a graceful curve from the stony bluff where The Ledges stood.

"Look, Nick," she said. "You're a nice boy and I like you. Why don't you pack your suitcase and slip aboard a freighter that is bound for Pernambuco or some equally remote place?"

"What are you afraid of?"

"Do you really want to know?" She tilted her head to one side and smiled grimly. "The dark. I wouldn't spend another night in this house for all the tea in China."

"Why not?"

"Because somebody's going to get hurt. I think I know a little something that you don't know and—I can feel it in my bones."

Clothing Total Is 58,585 Pounds Here

Shipments in the local United Nations Clothing Collection Drive were 750 packages totaling 58,585 pounds of clothing, a summary Tuesday disclosed.

Of that amount, Lubbock turned in 50,012, slightly more than one-fifth of its goal of 250,000 pounds. Whiteface brought 101 pounds here to be shipped; the American Legion of Morton, 1,572; Lorenzo Lions club, 962 pounds, and Brownfield, 5,938 pounds. F. A. Kleinschmidt, local chairman of the drive, announced the figures.

All of the packages except those contributed by Brownfield were sorted here into six groups specified in the national collection. The amounts in the different classifications were: Type 1, baby clothes, 914 pounds; Type 2, children's clothes, age 3-8, 4,234 pounds; Type 3, men's and boy's clothes, 8 years and older, 17,309 pounds; Type 4, women's and girl's clothing, 8 years upward, 22,722 pounds; Type 5, shoes for all ages, 6,064 pounds; Type 6, piece goods, 1,404 pounds.

The shipment was sent to Fort Worth, center for this region.

Kleinschmidt expressed appreciation to all groups helping, because "it was a terrific job." He especially gave appreciation for work of Mrs. George Sessums, who had charge of women workers sorting clothing. The carpenter's union helped nail wooden boxes and wire them. Members of the Lions and other civic clubs and others aided.

The average here was about one pound per person, about the same as the national average.

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

JOHN P. MEDBURY, the well known humorist, and his wife are visiting us here in Brookfield.

Last evening we all sat and talked about a number of things and John told us a little incident which he considered very funny.

One of the little boys in their neighborhood out in Hollywood came rushing home one evening and told his father and mother all excitedly that he just found out why the weather has been so awful lately.

BRANDEIS

He said the kids had been talking it over and they had come to a definite conclusion.

"In the old days they thought that the earth was flat, but now people say it's round," he said.

"Well, we've decided it's flat after all.

"I'll prove it to you, daddy," he shouted, in great glee over his scientific discovery.

"The earth is flat, and way over in Europe on one side and in Japan on the other side they are shooting a lot of bombs down on the earth. Those bombs shake up the earth like nobody's business and that makes the flat old earth quiver and quiver and the quivering stirs up the clouds and they bust open and down comes rain and snow and sleet and what have you?

"Doesn't that prove the earth is flat?"

Well, the father tried to explain all about Newton and Copernicus and all the other great scientists who had done so much for the progress of mankind, but the kid wasn't convinced.

"What do I care about old Newton and his old apple?" he said. "If those guys knew so much why didn't they invent something that would make people stop fighting?

"Didn't I prove to you just now that the earth is flat?"

When he was through telling the story Johnnie Medbury waited for the laugh. He thought it was very funny. And Mrs. Medbury looked at me as if I were some kind of a dope when I said I didn't see what was funny about it.

"What's the matter?" she asked me. "Can you imagine any kid these days thinking the earth is flat?"

"Yes I can" I answered, "as a matter of fact I'm not so sure that the earth isn't square or octagon-shaped.

I USED to take everything I read in the books and everything I learned in school for gospel truth.

But lately pretty nearly everything I believed in has been upset. Who would have thought that in the twentieth century such a phenomenon as Hitler could arise and millions of people would believe in him?

"How could the human race in a few short years destroy a civilization that it had taken centuries to build?

"No, I wouldn't be a bit surprised if the earth was flat, after all. I wouldn't really be surprised at anything anymore.

"But I'll be very glad to have you prove to me, beyond the shadow of a doubt that the earth is really round."

Well, to make a long story short, we all went to bed, Medbury hasn't proven yet that the earth is round. Nor can I prove that it's flat.

Hillman Bucks Truman

Radicals Swing Away From HST

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE most curious phenomenon in Washington today is that Harry Truman's fiercest critics are radical hang-overs from the previous administration, which his leading supporters lean toward the conservative side. It is not so much what he has done as what they think he plans to do that has produced this almost unbelievable division inside and outside the Presidential family.

The leftists resent bitterly the new Chief Executive's determination to assert American and world rights vis-a-vis Moscow. They praised him when he carried out the promises which FDR had given Stalin at Yalta, even though Mr. Truman was not aware of the agreements at the time they were made. But they have turned against him in their private juntos and conversations since he demanded that the Soviet boss keep his pledges in regard to Poland and Trieste.

Sidney Hillman's CIO-ers, still seeking to capitalize their contribution to the Roosevelt-Truman triump last Fall, continue to stir up discord in the ranks of the workingmen. Their battle with the more conservative American Federation of Labor increases in fury every day. The Bridges and Browder groups are pressing claims which had not been satisfied at the time of Mr. Roosevelt's death.

TUCKER

The CIO has just launched a movement which may hinder rather than help the White House in establishing a monetary and banking organization for stabilizing world conditions. But this is only one example of how this group's bruising and browbeating tactics may embarrass a President.

Hillman has begun to propagandize for the Bretton Woods agreement by means of what he says will be the "most sensational phamphleteering effort in the country's history." He is using the same technique for the Dumbarton Oaks pact and for the renewal of the reciprocal tariff law authority.

In the millions of documents which he will distribute within the next few months he will assail opponents of these Administration plans as "capitalistic tools," "international bankers" and "reactionary Tories." Unfortunately, Hillman's past connections may tend to antagonize many people who were originally in favor of these postwar recipes.

Time and again the new President has expressed a desire to unite all Americans for the winning of the war and the peace. He wants to be known as "The Conciliator." He plays no special favorites; he eschews partisanship and factionalism. But the very cliques which have benefited most from 12 years of New Deal rule seem determined to thwart him.

LIQUIDATION: Two agencies which seem headed for fairly prompt liquidation are Elmer Davis's Officer of War Information and William J. Donovan's Office of Strategic Services. Although they were special pets of FDR, they have lost caste since V-E day because of the realization that they are no longer needed.

In fact, many high Army officers assert that neither agency has contributed to battlefield success or the weakening of enemy morale, although their combined budgets have amounted to almost $100,000,000 annually. The War department itself frequently offered to handle the Davis propaganda work; it could probably have done a much better job. The Donovan unit, which was staffed by professors and ideologists, rarely gave any useful data to the military

Another reason for killing them off is that they would be less effective against the Japs than they were against the Germans. It is believed that the Oriental savages will not respond to Elmer's leaflets or radio symphonies. Numerous government bureaus, including Commerce and FFA, have more data on Tokyo's economic resources than Donovan's academic researchers can furnish.

HST has already won acclaim for his pruning of certain nonessential activities. But he would make a ten-strike if he eliminated two agencies which have been associated, though erroneously, with actual warfare

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

THE discrepancy in the statements of Prime Minister Churchill and General Clay gives no assurance that, except for a few scapegoats, Hitler's generals and admirals will be brought to justice and the Berlin GHQ smashed once and for all.

Following the last war a novel was published in the Reich called, "The Kaiser Goes, the Generals Remain." Regardless of the clamor of the American and British public, history seems to be repeating itself.

Powerful interests appear to be shielding the German military hierarchy although the late President Roosevelt solemnly promised that it would be dissolved.

LEMAN

Moscow radio commentators accuse the Anglo-Americans of allowing German officers to spread Fascist propaganda. But the Kremlin dickered with and is using the generals it captured. And, as far back as November 7, 1942, Stalin declared. "Our aim is not to destroy all armed force in Germany."

Among apologists for the Prussian clique are those who maintain that the brass hats are not so bad as the Nazi bigwigs. True, the Gestapo and special guards operated the concentration camps for political prisoners. But let it never be forgotten that the Reichswehr shot and burned its victims, too.

There are sufficient bits of evidence to support this charge.

"People were hunted down on the pretext that German soldiers had been fired on," declares the official Black Book of Poland, p. 22. "One of the houses were set ablaze after the Germans had thrown hand grenades into it. Many persons were inside. Their bodies were left unburied until two days later." These were civilians butchered at the command of Reichswehr officers.

The Soviet War Crimes commission in Riga lists 327,000 Russian prisoners of war killed. Captured troops are under military control. It took someone higher than a sergeant to order this massacre.

The French Press service in New York has many photos of atrocities practiced by the Wehrmacht. One snapshot, taken from a prisoner, shows the hanging of several young men in Sarlat. In the foreground are officers in German uniform.

Imagine a lieutenant in any army committing a crime of this nature without having been told to do so by superiors, or being sure that they would sanction his act

Schecklichkeit (terrorism) was inaugurated by the General General staff long before the Nazis were born. Many fine German-American citizens of the United States came to this country because they detested the unrestrained militarism in the Fatherland.

DOENITZ: Pettifoggers state that, since Hitler transferred sovereign powers to Doenitz, he and his staff must now be considered "heads of state" and thus untouchable.

There is no certainty that Hitler abdicated in favor of the Admiral. The shift in power may have been a military putsch engineered by the military — a second try after the original bomb plot failed.

This is the treatment administered to a head of state by the Germans as sworn to last week by Paul Reynaud, premier when France fell:

"I was put in solitary confinement for five months; I never saw a ray of sunlight and was not allowed to read." Count von Krosigk, whom Doenitz made "Premier of the Reich," was permitted to use the radio with impunity to broadcast Nazi propaganda.

Seventy-five per cent of America's wool industry is located inthe western range states. Wool is produced in all of the states, but Texas is well in the lead with a production which has averaged 75 million pounds annually in recent years.

U. S. Fails To Exert "Moral Leadership"

Policy Toward Colonials Scored

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — The United States seems to be falling short at the San Francisco United Nations conference in "moral leadership" where it has always exercised more influence than perhaps any other nation.

STOKES

It was with some dismay that many received the news that we had cast the deciding vote in the Big Five against writing into the charter of the World Security organization a pledge for eventual independence for colonial peoples of the world.

Instead there will be some phraseology about "progressive development of self-government" as the objective for colonial peoples under the trusteeship system to be set up.

We sider, on this issue, with Great Britain and France which have large colonial empires. Russia and China a specific pledge of independence. It is some comfort that the United States delegation was not unanimous. There was a minority in favor of going the whole way for eventual independence.

Stems From Yalta

It was obvious earlier in the conference, when Russian Foreign Commissar Molotov raised the issue of eventual colonial independence, that this conference would not provide machinery for that purpose. This deduction was reported at the time by this writer from the manifest attitude of Great Britain and France, as well as from one circumstance stemming from the Big Three conference at Yalta.

This circumstance was that the trusteeship agreement at Yalta required voluntary action by any of the United Nations to place territories it now controls under this category. Neither Great Britain nor France has indicated any disposition to yield up any colonies to mercies of a joint trusteeship which might open the way for independence much more quickly than either of those empires contemplate.

BUT there was one hope, at least, from this conference.

This was represented by the attempt to write the magic word "independence" into the charter as a promise.

It must have been embarrassing for the United States, because of its traditional stand for freedom, to have to cast the deciding vote to block this hope, especially since Russia, which has been considerable of a troublemaker in other directions took the leadership.

We have a responsibility for moral leadership. Woodrow Wilson aroused the hope of the little peoples of the world, the dependent peoples of the world, by his crusade for political freedom and self-determination after the last war. Franklin Roosevelt raised their hopes high again. This is the symbol that the United States has become to the common people everywhere.

Russia's Position Contradictory

Russia now is snatching for the torch, paradoxical as that appears, considering the sad state of political liberty within her own borders and her old attempts to influence the nature of governments in small countries just outside her borders.

President Roosevelt apparently had ideals about eventual independence for colonial and subject peoples. But the agreement at Yalta, in which he was a partner, blocked this ideal in the first instance, unless there was some way around this that he saw which has not come to light.

THERE is one other hope in the San Francisco conference.

One of its sponsors is Commander Harold Stassen who, incidentally, announced the United States delegation's decision on the "independence" issue.

This is to give the assembly, in which every nation will be represented, wide powers of investigation and full authority to receive petitions about conditions here and there that should be remedied. He holds that the right of petition is basic and fundamental.

But Great Britain is even opposing this right.

Will she be able to douse this other glimmer of light?

Ernie Pyle's Niece To Christen Ship

DALLAS, May 22. (AP)—Miss Babette Johnson, Southern Methodist university senior, will be in Vancouver, Wash., June 20 to christen a new troop transport, the SS Ernie Pyle, named in honor of the noted war correspondent who was killed in the western Pacific.

Miss Johnson is a niece of Pyle's and was selected to christen the ship after Pyle's widow was forced to decline because of illness.

"I'll hit it as hard as I can and think of Uncle Ernie when I do it," blonde Miss Johnson said. "Then I'll have to hurry back to be here in time for graduation."

Grenades Tossed By Jap Women Kill Two

TEMPLE, May 22. (AP) — Pfc. Melvin L. Eatherton of Valley Park, Mo., says he felt sorry for the first Japanese women he saw on Okinawa.

But then he saw Japanese women toss hand grenades, killing a sergeant and a private, and he didn't trust them any more, says Eatherton. He now is at McCloskey General hospital here with a fractured arm and bullet wounds in his side.

Aide Moves Briefcase And Foils July Attempt On Life Of Hitler

By HOWARD COWAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERCHTESGADEN, May 22.—The attempt to assassinate Hitler last July 20 would have succeeded if a colonel had not kicked a little black briefcase, said Heinz Buchholz, a shorthand expert who was in the barracks at Rastenburg, East Prussia, when the bomb went off.

Buchholz, who escaped with only minor cuts from flying glass, continued recording Hitler's conferences until April 20, when he was ordered to leave Berlin.

Here is his story of the effort of Col. Von Stauffenerg to kill Hitler:

"Hitler had a conference every day at lunch time. His headquarters was in the forest near Rastenburg. The code name was Wolfsschanze.

About 25 In Room

"There were about 25 people in the room, which was at the end of the barracks and had windows on three sides. It was the first time Hitler had ever seen Stauffenberg, and Field Marshal Keitel introduced him. Stauffenberg was forming the new Volks Grenadier divisions.

"Col. Stauffenberg set his brief case under the long heavy table and stepped back behind and to the right of Hitler. Hitler was standing in the center of the long table which was spread with maps. On his right was Gen. Hensinger, then Col. Brandt.

"The conference had just begun when Col. Brandt kicked Col. Stauffenberg's briefcase and seemed annoyed that it was in his way. He stooped and picked it up and set it over about a foot—on the outside of the thick oak slab that supported the end of the table.

Stauffenberg Called Out

"The conference proceeded and at 12:40 someone called Col. Stauffenberg to the telephone. At 12:45 the brief case exploded with a big burst of yellow flame and black smoke.

"For a few moments it was quiet. Everybody was deafened by the noise. Then everyone started yelling 'where is the fuehrer?' Keitel got him by the arm and started out.

"I jumped out of one of the windows and ran around to the door. Hitler was walking to his underground bunker a few feet away. His trousers were torn and his uniform was soiled. His hair and face were blackened, but he did not seem to be hurt. He kept pushing away everyone who tried to help him."

"When I went back into the room Col. Gen. Gustav Jodl was ordering the place to be surrounded so that no one could leave. Soldiers were everywhere and they helped the injured, and the ambulances were beginning to arrive.

Several Die of Injuries

"Col. Brandt who had been nearest to the briefcase, even after he had moved to the outside of the table, died that night. One of his legs had been blown off.

"Hendreich Berger—he was sitting across the table from Col. Brandt taking notes—died in the afternoon. Both of his legs had been blown off.

"Luftwaffe General Korten died the next day. A big splinter from the table had penetrated his abdomen.

"Maj. Gen. Schmundt, Hitler's chief adjutant, lost an eye and a foot and died six weeks later.

"Investigators said that if Col. Brandt had not by chance moved the briefcase Hitler would have been killed or seriously injured. As it was, the table end shielded him from the blast."

Optimists Rank High In District In Work

Lubbock Optimist club learned at its luncheon Tuesday in the Lubbock hotel that their club placed third in rating for the governor's trophy, based on general club work, and second in boys' work at the district Optimist convention last Thursday in Dallas.

Six representatives of the club attended. They were L. D. Casey, president, J. D. Strickland, Dr. A. W. Young, Bryan Walker, Cliff Elliott and S. E. Marbut, all of whom presented reports today. It was urged by Marbut that the club begin preparing records now for next year's contest, since the awards are made on basis of records.

Casey announced the appointment of T. K. Martin as chairman of the attendance committee, and of C. C. Born as a new member.

Sugar Reduction Of Million Tons Due

By HOWARD FLIEGER

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP)—Civilians — manufacturers and householders alike—will have a million tons less sugar this year than last.

Reporting this today, the House food committee urgently recommended appointment of a single administrator to coordinate sugar controls now spread through a score of government agencies.

Otherwise, it asserted, reserve stockpiles which now are vanishing will be gone entirely in 1946.

There were reports, meanwhile, that two men are under consideration as possible sugar coordinators: Earl Wilson, sugar branch director of the Commodity Credit corporation, and Joshua Bernhart, head of the War Food administration's sugar division.

Wilson, formerly a vice president of the National Sugar Refining Co., conferred with President Truman last week.

"Only when the housewife finds how little sugar is going to be available under the contemplated program which provides five pounds per person for a four-month period, will the full impact (of the shortage) be realized," the committee said in a unanimous report.

"We feel that all of the allocations to liberated countries or neutrals should be re-examined in the light of existing supply and current production figures."

Development Of Gas Below Border Sought

MEXICO CITY, May 22. (U.P.)—Monterrey business men who protested against a U. S. Federal Power commission ruling against export of natural gas from Texas to that city said today they would seek instead to develop gas resources themselves south of the border.

They suggested the Mexican government should cooperate with them in exploring and exploiting the oil pool that stretches south from Iranda, Texas, to Reynosa and Camargo in the state of Tamaulipas.

They said they hoped the new field, which is already being investigated, would soon compete with the Texas gas line even if the FPC reverses its ruling.

Indestructible Texan Falls On His Feet

LONDON, May 22. (U.P.)—An indestructible Texan told today how he fell four miles to earth from his Flying Fortress, clutching an unopened parachute most of the way, and landed on his feet virtually unhurt.

He is Lt. John C. Morgan of Amarillo, Tex., winner of the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Morgan, whose parents live in New York City, said his Fortress exploded in the air over Berlin and he was blown out. His parachute finally opened after he had fallen nearly four miles, and four seconds later he hit a tree which broke his fall.

"I landed on my feet and I felt like it busted every bone in me—but it didn't," he said today after his arrival in London after his release from a prison camp in the Baltic area of Germany.

NARCOTICS STOLEN

HOUSTON, May 22. (U.P.) — A 200-pound safe containing 5,000 tablets of narcotics was stolen from the Methodist hospital here Monday night, police disclosed today. The narcotics thieves tore the safe loose from a brick vault, hauled it away, emptied it, and abandoned it.
