

Craft Yields Moon Samples To Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's Luna 16 moon-probe returned to earth today carrying the first samples of moon soil ever gathered by an unmanned spacecraft, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

Helicopter-borne search teams recovered the capsule and its cargo on windswept steppe brushfields in Soviet Kazakhstan about 1,400 miles southeast of Moscow and 50 miles southeast of the Kazakh town of Dzhezkazgan.

SOFT LANDING
Tass said the craft parachuted to earth at 1:28 a.m. EDT, six minutes later than expected.

The moon material will be turned over to the Soviet Academy of Sciences for analysis.

The soil was gathered Sunday from the Sea of Fertility, a heretofore unexplored area of the moon's surface.

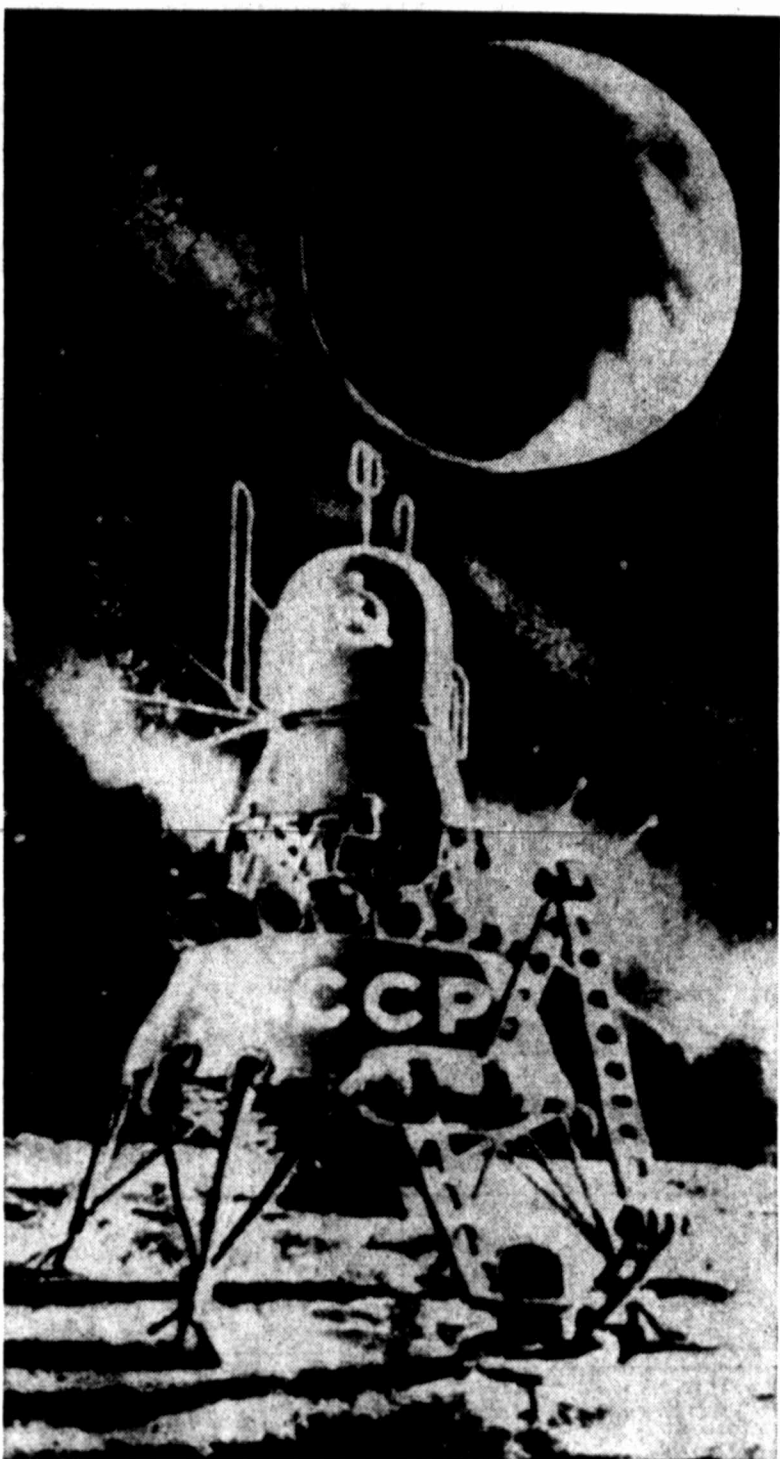

Luna 16 was launched 11 days ago with little fanfare and no word from the Soviet informants on the purpose of the mission.

Its controlled soft landing on the moon was announced Sunday as if it were no more significant than previous Soviet soft landings that were not intended to return to earth.

Only on Monday did Tass announce that the craft would attempt to return to earth with a load of moon soil.

Semi-official sources say the previous Soviet moon shot, Luna 15, was an unsuccessful attempt to bring back soil samples.

That mission 14 months ago coincided with the U.S. Apollo 11 manned moon landing and apparently was calculated to beat the Americans back to earth with the first moon samples.

LATEST LUNAR VISITOR — This is how the Soviet Union's Luna 16 moon-probe looked on the moon's surface according to artist A. Sokolov, whose drawing appeared in today's issue of Pravda. The spacecraft returned to earth today, landing in Kazakhstan, about 1,400 miles southeast of Moscow, and carried the first samples of moon soil ever gathered by an unmanned spacecraft, the Soviets say.

NOT THE TYPE TO DATE

The Final Hours Before Shootings

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The bright and penetrating early morning sun seemed to be the perfect setting for a day in which Mary Anne Reinisch had so many expectations. There was a promotion in the office.

She bolted from the breakfast table as her parents and younger sister watched her race into the womanly flurry of last minute preparations for work. It was 7:30 a.m. Wednesday.

GIRLS DEAD

One hour later, Mary Anne and three other girls lay dead from a gunman's bullets in a state office building where they worked. Their assailant was dead also.

While Mary Anne, 27, was putting the finishing touches on her hair and makeup, Linda Willis, 10 miles away in suburban Waterford, jumped into the family automobile with her mother.

Mrs. Mary Willis. The two crossed the Mohawk River, turned south and headed toward Albany and the complex of modern state office buildings where both were employed.

Patty Chromik, 22, arose late and shortly after 7:30 a.m. was seated at the breakfast table with her family. The one-story brick house is within walking distance of the office complex. Patty drove her own car to work.

YOUNG BRIDE

A few minutes before the other three set out for work, Sandy Peters, 24, a bride of three months, was whisking along the New York State Thruway heading with her husband from their Amsterdam home toward Albany.

All four girls came from middle-class homes in quiet residential sections. The homes were well-kept, the lawns well manicured.

Miss Reinisch had worked in the state unemployment office since 1960. Sandy Peters had been a senior stenographer for the state Labor Department since 1966. Miss Chromik began with the Labor Department as a stenographer in 1965 and Miss Willis had been a typist for the department since 1968.

NEW BOSS

Wednesday morning, Mary Anne was to meet her new boss and satisfy a dream one of her co-workers said she had talked about for many months—becoming a senior stenographer and working for one man.

Just back from vacation, she was somewhat tired after a late night of visiting old friends. But she was excited as well, family

Nation's Rail Strike Postponed Two Weeks

WASHINGTON (AP) — A threatened strike that could shut down the nation's railroads has been postponed two weeks to give negotiators more time to settle a dispute over elimination of firemen's jobs.

The postponement, worked out by the railroads and the United Transportation Union, was announced early today after negotiations continued past the 12:01 a.m. strike deadline.

"The parties agreed to continue negotiations for a period not to exceed two weeks in an endeavor to resolve the long-standing firemen's dispute," said Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson.

"Naturally I am disappointed that no settlement was reached, but I am appreciative of the fact that further opportunity for negotiations now exists without an immediate threat of a strike."

The lingering dispute is one of the toughest to involve government mediators. The debate over using firemen on diesel locomotives is almost as old as the diesel.

The railroads eliminated 20,000 firemen's jobs under a special act of Congress in 1963. The law expired two years later, and the union contends it has the right to demand the jobs be restored, since 18,000 still work as firemen.

Under prodding of a presidential emergency board, the union and railroads have agreed to the principle of combining the jobs of firemen and head brakemen but no method has been worked out. The board recommended the fireman-brakeman classification be eliminated gradually through death and retirement.

The industry argues firemen are not needed on diesels and accuses the union of featherbedding. The union says a third man is needed in the locomotive for safety reasons.

HOW DO YOU TELL HER FROM HIM? WATCH OUT!

AUSTIN (AP) — Women's liberationists at the University of Texas tried Wednesday to show the guys how it feels to be a girl that girl watchers watch.

"Make a man feel like a sex object day" was conducted by the guerrilla theater troupe of the women's liberation front.

"Look at those legs! What a fine specimen of manhood. Oh wow — what a body!" were the unaccustomed sounds that assaulted the ears of male passersby.

Most ignored the girls but some men were forced to pay attention when they were whistled at or pinched sharply on the behind.

"I get pinched and am subject to men's flirtations all the time. We want men to know what it's like to be a sex object," said one of the liberationists.

Handouts said the purpose of the demonstration was "the education of men on the realities of sexual objectification in this society. Men are expected to have a better understanding after enduring pinches, whistles and sexually objectifying remarks."

122 PASSENGERS Blast Digs Hole In Irish Airliner

LONDON (AP) — An explosion ripped a hole in the fuselage of an Irish airliner bound for London today. The Boeing 707 jet carrying 122 persons made a safe emergency landing at Heathrow Airport.

First reports said some of those on board were injured. Airport authorities said they did not believe the blast was caused by a bomb.

Crash trucks stood by as the Aer Lingus aircraft, coming in from New York via Shannon in Ireland, made its landing. There was a hole about 3 feet by 2 feet in the forward first-class section of the fuselage.

Passengers were quickly evacuated to a terminal building.

The aircraft carried 112 passengers and 10 crew. It was airborne about 25 minutes from Shannon when the explosion occurred.

The copilot said: "We don't know what caused the incident. All we heard was a loud bang. Then we suddenly had loss of pressure in the aircraft."

Lackland WAF Killed

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The body of a Lackland Air Force Base WAF from Michigan, soaking wet and encircled in a pool of blood, was found in the middle of a three-lane thoroughfare here today.

A medical examiner said an autopsy showed the victim, Airman Mary Elizabeth Ford, 20, of Stanwood, Mich., was either struck by a car or pushed or thrown from a moving vehicle.

Sheriff's investigator Al Johnson said the brown-eyed brunette was barefoot and "soaking wet as if she had been swimming fully dressed."

A mass of blood surrounded her and two streams of blood had run for about 10 feet away from her body, Johnson said.

A creek was nearby but Johnson said a search turned up no clues. Nearly 80 feet of skidmarks were found at the scene but officers said they could not determine if they were linked to the woman's death.

Clad in a blouse and Western style jeans, the body was found in southwest Bexar County on the edge of the city limits, officers said.

Rising Star Bank Robbed

RISING STAR, Tex. (AP) — Three thugs robbed the First State Bank in this West Texas town of an estimated $11,000 today and fled in a green car.

Bank president James Rutherford said two of the bandits carried pistols when they entered the bank and scooped the money from tellers' cages.

The men ordered all of the bank employees and the two customers in the building into a back room, he said.

The other bandit remained outside the bank during the robbery, Rutherford said.

The bank president said the men drove away toward Abilene on Texas 36.

More Power Brownouts

By The Associated Press

Hot and humid weather forced power cutbacks in the Middle Atlantic states for the third successive day today, and more appeals were made for voluntary restrictions on the use of electricity.

With weather forecasters predicting 90-degree heat in New York City — withdrawing their earlier prediction that the heat wave would be eased slightly — Consolidated Edison Co. put a 5 per cent voltage reduction into effect at 9:30 a.m.

Still Hunt Balloonists

NEW YORK (AP) — A vast sea and air hunt for three missing balloonists continued today and the Coast Guard said it had no plans to call off the search.

Two airplanes and two cutters hunted through the night in the 50,000-square-mile search area off Newfoundland where the balloon, "The Free Life" was last heard from Monday evening.

The intensive daylight search was resumed this morning with 12 aircraft scanning the area.

The three missing are Malcolm Brighton, 32, an English aeronautical engineer; Rodney Anderson, 32, a New York commodities broker and his wife, Pamela, 28, an actress.

They took off from an eastern Long Island meadow Sunday to attempt the first balloon crossing of the Atlantic. Their last message was at 7 p.m. Monday, when they radioed: "Six hundred feet and descending. Signing off. Will try contact after landing."

SIREN TEST

A siren test will be conducted at noon Friday at Webb AFB, according to the disaster preparedness officer Lt. Charles D. Stewart. This is the quarterly test and will consist of one minute of steady tone, one minute of silence and one minute of wavering tone, Lt. Stewart said.

Jordan Rescue Move Shapes, Fierce Fighting

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Fierce Jordanian army attacks were reported to have broken Palestinian resistance in northern Jordan today and Amman radio said 5,000 guerrillas had surrendered. A new peace move was launched by the Arabs.

Two Palestinian leaders left Cairo for Damascus to try to win approval of a cease-fire from Yasser Arafat, the guerrilla chief. He rejected the cease-fire Wednesday. They were expected to meet him in the Syrian capital.

PEACE MISSION
The two Palestinians were among captured guerrilla leaders released by King Hussein of Jordan. They flew to Cairo with a four-man Arab peace mission Wednesday night.

Fighting slackened in Amman, Jordan's capital, after a flareup during the morning, and was confined to pockets of guerrilla resistance. This cleared the way for the evacuation of Americans and others from Amman.

A chartered Middle East Airlines plane landed in Amman to bring out 100 Americans and other foreigners.

AIRPORT OPEN
Ambassador John Phillips of Britain reported to his government that the Amman airport and its approaches were open and working.

In the north, where the Jordanian army reported it drove out invaders from Syria Wednesday, Palestine guerrilla resistance was broken, Israeli observers across the border reported.

The fighting centered in and around Irbid, Jordan's second largest city 50 miles north of Amman. Israeli observers said the Jordanian army opened up with a heavy artillery barrage.

They said that after the shelling ended, Jordanian troops pursued the guerrillas. One source described the activity as a "pogrom," and said the guerrillas were afraid and were giving up.

The main Syrian force withdrew across the border, the informants said, and was centered near Deraa in southern Syria. It left behind 25 damaged or destroyed tanks and a number of armored personnel carriers, they reported.

MORALE HIGH
In Irbid, 50 miles north of Amman, the guerrillas said the 6th Royal Artillery Battalion was firing indiscriminately at the town, "but our fighters are holding fast and their morale is high."

Jordanian troops claim they drove Syrian forces from the Irbid area Wednesday with a tanked two pronged assault and inflicted heavy casualties.

Guerrilla broadcasts from Damascus, the Syrian capital, said the commandos had pulled back some forces from Irbid as a tactical move. The guerrillas said they still dominated the city of Ramtha, 10 miles east of Irbid.

MINES WARNING
In Amman, the government radio announced that a dawn-to-dusk curfew would be lifted in different parts of the city for four-hour stretches so that the International Red Cross could step up its efforts to care for the wounded.

EVERYBODY LOVES A CLOWN — And the clowns love everybody, including this small dog which only wanted to enjoy the Shrine Circus . . . and stay out from underfoot of such animals as the galloping horses and dancing elephants. George Bair with the Shrine's estimated 3,500 attended the Wednesday afternoon performance, and 7,000 saw the night show. Tuesday night approximately 3,000 showed up but were driven away by light rain showers about midway through the performance. (More pictures on Page 4-A.)

Legality Question Will Be Studied Wednesday

By HOWARD SIMMS

A letter of protest was lodged Wednesday with Mayor J. Arnold Marshall by Jack Watkins, challenging the legality of the commission's approval Tuesday night of two ordinances amending the city employee retirement plan without any notice given to the public.

Commissioners apparently agree that the legality is questionable and plan to bring the retirement changes up at next Wednesday's budget hearing.

In his letter Watkins said, "Article 67.52-17 of the Annotated Civil Statutes of the State of Texas requires that governmental agencies must post notice at least three days in advance before a meeting concerning the subjects that are to be brought up and voted on."

"This same statute provides a remedy, in that a mandamus or injunction can be brought against the city to prohibit violations for failure to give notice."

One of the questioned ordinances which received the unanimous approval of the commission, increased retirement benefits by increasing city participation from one-to-one matching ratio of employee contributions to a two-to-one ratio. Watkins objected that of the 197 cities in the Texas Municipal Retirement System, 163 are still on the one-to-one payment plan.

The second change which received approving votes from all the commissioners except Eddie Aciri who abstained, would have given the employees

CITES U.N. — A 6-cent U.S. postage stamp marking the 25th anniversary of the United Nations will be issued Nov. 20 in New York City. The United Nations was chartered June 26, 1945. The three-color stamp features a large "U" in red and an "N" in blue.

Houston's Food Prices Increase

HOUSTON (AP) — Food prices in Houston rose one percent between June and August, the U. S. Labor Department's Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday. August prices were three-tenths of one percent higher than July prices and 4.4 percent higher than in August of 1969, said Jack Strickland, director of the Southwest regional office in Dallas.

Houston's retail food price index was 134.7 in August, compared to 134.3 in July and 129 in August of 1969. This means food bought for $10 in 1957-59 cost $13.47 in August.

Question Is Whether Reds Can Be Trusted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under orders of Secretary William P. Rogers, State Department experts are preparing a wide-ranging study on whether the Soviet Union can be trusted in further efforts to relax East-West tensions.

The key question is whether relations between the United States and the Soviet Union will permit limited, perhaps reluctant, cooperation in the future.

The study was prompted by reports of Soviet collusion with Egypt in violating the Middle East standstill cease-fire which shattered hopes of those in the Nixon administration who believed the world was approaching a general detente.

Some of those officials now agree with Israeli Premier Golda Meir who has said the Soviet Union acted in bad faith in agreeing to conditions of the cease-fire.

The study was begun shortly after the United States satisfied itself Soviet missiles were moved into the Suez Canal Zone in violation of the cease-fire.

Although no target date for completion has been set, informants say officials are hoping a preliminary report will be available before Big Four representatives meet Sept. 30 to discuss the status of Berlin.

'YOU CAN'T ATTRACT ANYBODY WITH PEANUTS' Municipal Salaries Soar

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Five years ago, the director of city development in Kansas City, Mo., earned $13,920 a year. Today, the post pays $28,920 annually—a salary increase of almost 108 per cent.

Kansas City is not unique. Across the country, cities have raised salaries of both their elected and appointed officials—especially the latter—in an effort to induce the most capable people to enter public service.

COMPETITION

Hand in hand with higher salaries, in some cases, has been the creation of new municipal agencies to handle the increasingly complex problems of urban life.

The two biggest reasons for the higher salaries in the last five years are the competition with private industry and state and federal governments for qualified administrators, and the rising cost of living, according to an Associated Press survey of more than a dozen cities.

"Good men won't go into government service unless the pay is worthwhile," said Anthony Zecca, press secretary and deputy to the mayor of Philadelphia. "You can't attract anybody with peanuts."

Zecca, who was appointed to his job, earns $22,500 a year compared to the $18,000 annual salary paid in 1965.

Other Philadelphia officials also have had salary increases.

$40,000 MAYOR
Among elected officials, the mayor earns $40,000 compared to $30,000 in 1965; the district attorney is paid $31,500 compared to $22,500 in 1965; the three city commissioners earn $20,000 each compared to $18,000 each in 1965; and the city comptroller gets $27,100 compared to $20,000 in 1965.

In Seattle, among elected officials, Mayor Wes Uhlman earns $32,000 annually, a 48 per cent more than the $23,000 the job paid in 1965. The comptroller's salary has gone from $14,000 to $21,000, a 50 per cent increase and the corporation counsel's salary jumped 38 per cent—from $21,000 to $29,000.

The Miami County manager, an appointed official, earns $36,300 annually, compared to $28,000 in 1965. Among other appointed officials, the finance director gets $24,204, up from $16,176 in 1965, and the superintendent of elections gets $19,956, up from $10,176.

BUDGET BOSS

In New York City, at least, some municipal salaries are higher than those paid by either the state or federal government. New York City's new budget director, Edward K. Hamilton Jr., 31, for instance, gets $44,500 annually, an 85 per cent increase from the $23,500 a year the job paid when Mayor John V. Lindsay first took office in 1966.

He earns more than George

P. Shultz, 49, federal director of the office of management and budget, who gets $42,500 annually.

Lindsay himself earns $50,000 a year—less than 30 other city administration officials.

In San Francisco, salaries for most officials have risen about 10 per cent in the past five years and, with the exception of the mayor are in the $20,000 to $30,000-a-year range. Mayor Joseph Alioto, who earns $40,283 annually, said, "The rising cost of living has increased salaries in most categories. Unless the going rate is offered, there is less inducement to encourage good men to enter public service."

SALES PITCH

Charles Poutman, personnel director of Chicago, said, however, that more young people are interested in public service in the past, he said, industry has "been able to offer a more glamorous sales pitch. But that's changing now. A lot of kids see city government as the place where the action is."

Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley's salary has stayed the same—$35,000 annually—for the past five years. The police superintendent, fire commissioner and corporation counsel—all appointive posts—have gotten raises of $2,500 each since 1965, bringing their annual salaries to $32,500 each.

Boston Mayor Kevin H. White earns $40,000 annually, a figure set by his predecessor, John Collins, who made $20,000 a year five years ago.

White's press secretary, Frank Tivnan, said the reason for the boost was that "the mayor's pay sets the salary and tone for all the other departments. Before the mayor's salary was raised, we couldn't recruit talented people. Now we think we are fairly competitive."

FOR EXAMPLE

Several Los Angeles officials who are appointed earn more than the mayor, whose annual salary has gone from $25,000 in 1965 to $35,000 today.

For example, the city administrative officer earns $42,887, up from $28,692 in 1965; the general manager of water and power earns $57,630, up from $42,450 in 1965; and the general manager of the department of airports gets $45,000, up from $37,000 in 1965.

John S. Gibson Jr., president of the city council, explained the higher salaries for appointees by saying, "In 1925, the people who studied our charter said the way to keep politics out of these positions was to pay the same as private corporations."

Bentsen Talks Farm Program

LEVELLAND, Tex. (AP) — Republican control of the Senate would mean a step backward for farmers, Democratic U. S. Senate candidate Lloyd Bentsen said today.

Such things as fair price supports for farmers, expanded marketing research, investment credits for industries that locate in rural areas, and an improved federal small town services program would have a better chance with Democrats in control, he said.

Sen. George Aiken of Vermont or Sen. Milton Young of North Dakota would become chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee if Republicans captured the Senate, Bentsen said.

The present chairman is Democrat Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana. Bentsen said Aiken or Young "may know something about agricultural problems in Vermont and North Dakota but, personally I would much rather take up our Texas farm problems with Sen. Ellender, from our neighboring state of Louisiana."

Teens Present Lions Program

STANTON (SC) — Gary Posey and Debra McMeans, who attended the summer citizenship seminar at Baylor University, Waco, presented a program on "What the Flag Means to America" during the regular Tuesday meeting of the Lions Club.

Lions decided to cancel the Sept. 29 noon meeting in favor of the Sept. 28 Teacher's Appreciation Night, sponsored by the Lions Club. Deputy District Governor John J. Wood will introduce guests at the dinner, and Russell McMeans, Stanton school superintendent, will introduce new teachers.

Teen Tells Of Hearing Tate Slaying Details

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"Sharon Tate was the last to die because she had to watch the others die first."

A witness at the Tate murder trial told the jury Wednesday she heard defendant Susan Atkins say this a month after the blonde actress and four visitors to her home were slain.

Barbara Hoyt, 18, a former member of Charles M. Manson's hippie-style family, said she overheard Miss Atkins while the family was living at a ranch in Death Valley in September, 1969. Miss Tate and the others were slain in August, 1969.

KNOWN AS "SADIE"

She said Miss Atkins, 21, known to the clan as "Sadie" was in the kitchen talking to another member, Ruth Ann Morehouse, 18, not charged in the case. Miss Hoyt said she heard these remarks by Miss Atkins:

"She said that Sharon Tate came out and she said, 'What's going on here?' or something like that and Sadie said, 'Shut up, woman.' And she said Sharon Tate was the last to die because she had to watch the others die first."

It was the first testimony purporting to link a defendant directly to the killings of Miss Tate. Key state witness Linda Kasabian has said she saw two victims slain outside the actress' home, but never mentioned the blonde beauty who was found dead in the house.

MOD SQUAD?

Manson, 35, and three women followers—Miss Atkins, Patricia Krenwinkel, 22, and Leslie Van Houten, 20—are being tried on murder-conspiracy charges in the slayings.

Miss Hoyt, a long-haired brunette in a bright tangerine dress, appeared dazed as she took the stand.

She said three of those charged were eager to watch a television news show the night after the Tate killings. She said Miss Atkins burst into a trailer where Miss Hoyt was watching a program, asked her to switch to the news, then summoned

BARBARA HOYT

Miss Krenwinkel and Charles "Tex" Watson, 24, who faces a separate trial on the same charges.

LSD POISONING

She said they wordlessly watched only the Tate segment of the news, then left. She said family members often watched TV—"but not the news."

The state has complained that Miss Hoyt was the object of an LSD poisoning attempt to keep her from testifying.

The chief prosecutor in the case told the judge that still-loyal members of Manson's family lured Miss Hoyt to Hawaii and gave her a hamburger laced with a huge dose of the drug.

Miss Hoyt was found Sept. 9 sprawled in front of a Honolulu home. She was treated in a hospital, then flown to her home in Canoga Park, a Los Angeles suburb.

She was not questioned in court about the incident.

Plans To Fight Tax Legislation

KOUNTZE, Tex. (AP) — Hardin County Judge Emmett Lack says he'll call a statewide meeting to mobilize plans to fight constitutional amendment No. 3, which would tax ranch, farm and timber land according to productivity rather than market value.

Lack called the amendment "a grave threat to the individual taxpayer and counties and schools, especially in timber-rich East Texas."

Opponents of the amendment break to those best able to pay and force the smaller taxpayer to make up the difference.

Supporters of the amendment say unless the measure passes, many small farmers will be put out of business by high taxes.

State Reps. Don Adams of Jasper and Jim Nugent of Kerrville, both outspoken opponents of the amendments, have been invited to the conference.

Final Arguments In Marijuana Trial

Whether James Reed, 23, was "entrapped" into selling marijuana to undercover agent Donald Stracener, or whether he made the sale of his own volition will be the determining factor of his guilt in his trial in 118th District Court.

District Attorney Wayne Burns began arguing this point before the jury this morning. Defense attorney Gil Jones is to deliver his final argument also today. The case was expected to go to the jury this afternoon.

District Judge Ralph W. Caton presented the charge to the jurors shortly after 10:30 a.m. today in 118th District Court.

Included in the charge was a definition of entrapment. "If you believe that the criminal intent did not originate in the mind of the defendant, but was induced in him by Donald Stracener for the purpose of criminal prosecution, you will find the defendant not guilty," said Judge Caton in the charge. Burns then began his argument. "I believe that law enforcement officers should go after the pushers of narcotics, and marijuana is a narcotic. If a youngster should obtain marijuana through curiosity or for kicks, and if a case of possession of marijuana should come up in court, I would not push for as severe a punishment as against the pusher or seller," Burns said.

"If you believe from the evidence beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant, on Nov. 22, did sell marijuana to Donald Stracener you will find him guilty," continued Burns. On the subject of entrapment, Burns said, "I don't think a person should be punished for a crime he would not have otherwise committed. We don't want that, but the mere fact that Stracener was the first to approach the defendant and bring up the subject of sale does not mean entrapment."

"If a person is already inclined to commit the crime, then it is not entrapment," concluded Burns. Following Jones' argument later today, Burns will present the concluding argument to the jurors before they begin their deliberations.

TEXAS' NEXT SENATOR—2

Bentsen Cites Dangers

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

Lloyd Bentsen says he came out of political retirement, and turned his back on multimillion dollar business interests, because he's a "concerned man."

"I'm concerned about the dangers we face abroad and in our neighborhoods," says the Democratic nominee for the Senate.

"I think this is a great country. It has been good to me and I want to help keep it great."

SWAPS JOKES

Bentsen, 49, is a lanky, slow-talking, quick-smiling native Texan. Corners of his eyes have the sun-squint wrinkles of a cowboy but he wears specially made suits with the ease of one who frequents the skyscraper board rooms. He has a shy sense of humor that lets him swap jokes with a farm laborer—in Spanish if necessary—or trade banter with an executive about stock holdings.

His sincerity and seriousness are impressive.

Bentsen was born in Mission, Feb. 11, 1921, and grew up in the Lower Rio Grande Valley where his father and uncle had started a family empire. The interests ranged from banking and insurance to oil, gas and citrus. He graduated from the University of Texas Law School in 1942 and enlisted at once in World War II. As a pilot, he flew 50 combat missions over Europe. He came home a colonel.

WAR HERO

The hometown war hero was elected Hidalgo County Judge at Edinburg in 1946 at 25. Two years later he was elected to Congress. His youngest member had three terms, then chose not to run for reelection in 1954.

The Bentsen interests spread from the Valley to Houston and Bentsen moved there as a law-year and businessman. The Bentsen family founded the $3.3 million Consolidated American Life Insurance Co. in 1955. In 1958 the young Bentsen purchased Lincoln Liberty Life Insurance Co. for $7 million. The two firms merged as Lincoln Liberty. A $15 million skyscraper was built to house the home office. It also houses the 80-room Sheraton-Lincoln Hotel. Bentsen is president of Lincoln Consolidated, a Houston-based financial holding company.

Before moving to Houston, Bentsen and Miss Beryl Ann Longino of Lufkin were married. He calls her B.A. She was national Democratic committeewoman for Texas when John Connally was governor.

THREE CHILDREN

The Bentsens have three children, all active in the campaign: Lloyd III, 25; Lan, 22; and Tina Ann, 18.

Bentsen was urged to run against Yarborough in 1964 but declined at the last minute "for personal and business reasons."

Bentsen says the major difference with his opponent, George Bush, is that he is a Democrat and his opponent is a Republican.

"I'm going to be working within the Democratic party and he's going to be working within the Republican party," Bentsen said. "I think it's a question of who can be the most effective."

Bentsen has hit hard at what he calls Republican failures to presently on the payroll the retirement benefits of the two to one plan for the length of time the employees have been receiving one-to-one benefits. Larry Crow, city manager, said today, "I think the situation is that under the provisions of our charter the second proposal failed. Because of the unanimous consent rule on emergency measures, the abstention served to kill it, and three readings would be required to pass it without a unanimous vote."

The changes in the retirement system are part of the proposed budget, and I expect them to be put on the agenda of the budget session Wednesday.

TMRS requires that any pension changes be started on the first of the year, and also requires 90 days notice of the changes so that their actuarial work can be brought up to date. For the city to meet these requirements, any changes would have to be approved before October 1, and this would take an emergency waiver of the three-reading requirement with the unanimous vote of the commission.

Commenting on the publicity requirement cited by Watkins, City Attorney Herb Prouty said, "This is a new law, and I know of no court decisions that clarify the legality of this particular situation. Some of the commission members felt it was possible to act on the ordinance because it had been on a previous agenda and then tabled."

"Because of the importance of the retirement changes, I feel that the commission will bring it up again at the budget meeting."

Referring to a comparison of six members of TMRS in this area prepared by Roy Anderson, assistant city manager, Prouty said only one was still on the one-to-one payment ratio. Amarillo, Lamesa, Midland, Odessa, and the Farmer's Bureau have already changed to two-to-one participation, he said.

The increased cost of the two-to-one payment plan would be about $18,935 for the first year. The previous service credit proposal would require the city to go back and match the $22,760 already paid into the fund over the past 20 years by the employees now on the payroll. This would be divided into 20 annual payments of $1,138 for the next two decades.

Watkins said that more than $600,000 was at stake over the 20-year period, and this is too much to spring on taxpayers without public notice.

These changes would represent approximately a 50 percent increase in retirement benefits, Crow said. In a recent meeting, D. A. Brazil suggested that some of the city employees would rather have the increased cost in the form of a pay raise.

reverse the recession, tying Bush directly to the Nixon administration's anti-inflation efforts.

VIETNAM STAND

Here are some stands Bentsen has taken on various issues: "While the Vietnam War is on we must make Selective Service fair and workable but we should point toward a day when we can abolish the draft completely and build instead a volunteer army, backed by a strong force of reserves and National Guardsmen."

"We must do everything possible to protect the public from the misuse of firearms by criminals but universal registration is not the answer. I favor stronger laws and tougher penalties."

"The revenue sharing idea seems to be the only feasible way to get larger sums of money out of Washington and into state capitals and city halls."

"The least we can do for disabled veterans is to give them adequate medical care... VA hospitals need more funds."

"The Manned Spacecraft Center should be given the research job of solving modern pollution problems."

PRICES GOING UP

"We need to reform our welfare system—but not with the bill now pending in Congress which would double the cost of welfare and raise the number of people on the welfare rolls from 10 million to 24 million... and no matter what they call it I don't think Congress ought to pass a guaranteed annual income bill."

"My opponent may be able to do more for President Nixon but I know good and well I can do more for Texas."

"The Republicans are beginning to hint they've got inflation on the run. But any housewife who ever pushed a grocery cart can tell you that all of the Republican propaganda in the world doesn't cover up the fact that prices keep going up, up, up."

Smut Mail Bill Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed 79 to 0 and sent to the House a bill that would allow recipients of pornographic mail to return it billing the sender for costs plus a 50 cent surcharge.

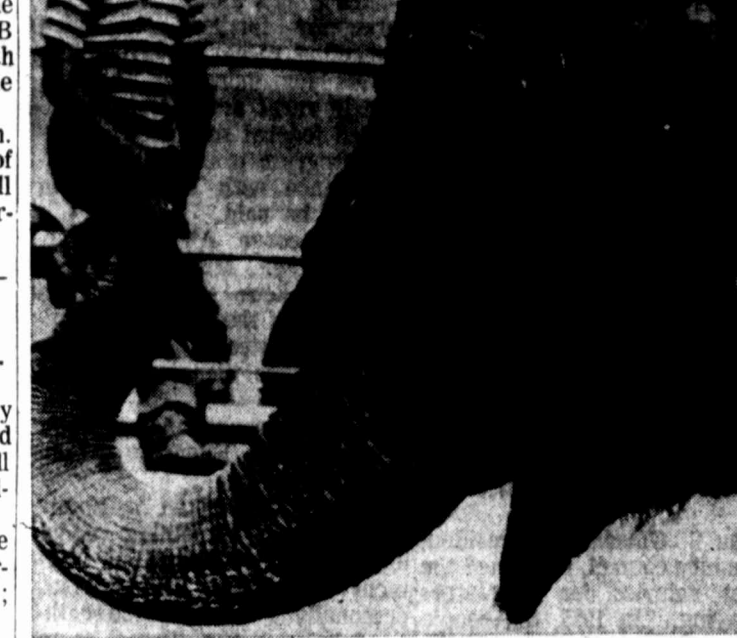

The measure also requires such mail to be clearly labeled. "I think that when these materials are sent without request or solicitation, there is a clear invasion of a person's right to privacy," said Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the bill's chief sponsor.

The Senate Post Office Committee says most unsolicited mail of a pornographic nature is advertising.

The shipping label would read: "The enclosed material is sexually oriented advertising and may, if requested by the addressee, be returned to the sender unopened at no cost to the addressee."

The bill defines "sexually oriented advertising" as "any advertisement that depicts in actual or simulated form, or explicitly describes, in a predominantly sexual context, human genitalia, any act of natural or unnatural sexual intercourse, any act of sadism or masochism, or any other erotic subject directly related to the foregoing."

members related. She told her parents she wanted to be at work at 8:20 a.m. instead of the usual 8:30.

Linda Willis was a well-traveled "Army brat" whose father was a military career man.

1966 QUEEN

She was the 1966 queen of her junior prom at nearby Waterford-Halfmoon High School and had attended schools in Florida and Japan as a result of her father's travels. A girl-next-door type, she was a cheerleader, a member of the pep club and a yearbook staffer.

Patty Chromik dated several boys, but none steadily. Friends said she was petite, attractive and sported beautiful, dark, shoulder-length hair.

Several of her teachers commented that Patty was a nice girl and a mailman in the neighborhood said he remembered her as a "quiet girl, a very pretty girl."

Beneath her picture in the Lynch High School 1964 yearbook was this caption: "Her ways are ways of pleasantness. And all her paths are peace." The fifth character in the grisly scenario was the man who police say took the lives of the four girls, then turned his hunting rifle on himself.

Joe White was employed by the state as a $12,000-a-year senior administrative analyst.

NO LADIES' MAN

One of his co-workers, Francis Lochner, said, "He was quiet, reserved, but he went with us to coffee breaks and kidded with the girls."

A close acquaintance of Miss Reinisch said she believed White didn't associate much with girls: "He's just not the type you'd expect to date."

White was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blank of Albany. He had his name changed legally from Blank to White several years ago.

White had been on a leave of absence from his state job for the past six weeks with a stomach ailment. He returned to get his paycheck Wednesday.

By 8:15 a.m., the girls were arriving at the office building.

Mary Anne Reinisch made her way to the fourth floor state division of unemployment office, one floor below where the other three worked.

CHRISTMAS GIFT Standing at the front of the fifth floor Labor Department offices was White.

The tall, quiet, "25-year-old man wasn't noticed by many people, nor did anyone pay much attention to the raincoat slung over his arm. He had been seen with the coat many times before.

This time it concealed a rifle. He had taken "to work in a box wrapped in Christmas gift paper."

Down on the fourth floor, Mary Anne chatted a bit with a close colleague, Cathy Barone, of nearby Guildland.

Upstairs, Patty, Linda and Sandy had taken their places at their desks.

At 8:25 a.m., Francis Lochner looked up when he heard a loud bang. He said he saw a man standing in front of Linda Willis' desk, a rifle in his hands.

LOCK YOUR DOOR The gun swung around, Lochner said, and more shots were fired. The gunman walked to the desks of Sandy Peters and Patty Chromik, firing a single blast at each. They died instantly.

"Lock your doors and remain in your offices, a man with a gun is at large," a voice crackled over a loudspeaker system.

On the fourth floor Mary Anne Reinisch stood just inside the door, nearly at the end of her chat with Cathy Barone.

"He walked just one step inside the door... just one step... and God, he fired," Mrs. Barone recalled. Mary Anne lay dead at her feet.

Moments later, a final shot was heard. White's body was found at the bottom of the second floor stairwell. He had fired a bullet into his head.

Uncle Sam To Remove Planes From Okinawa

TOKYO (AP) — The United States notified the Japanese government today that it will remove B52 bombers from Okinawa shortly, the Foreign Ministry reported.

Officials said the U.S. Embassy informed the Foreign Ministry of the decision.

An embassy spokesman said U.S. officials discussed the issue at the ministry, but declined to comment on future operations of the big B52 bombers in Asia. The embassy also declined to elaborate on when the withdrawal would be completed.

Japan's Kyodo News Service reported the U.S. Air Force would continue to be permitted to fly B52s to Okinawa's Kadena Air Base "when such action is regarded necessary." But, neither the Foreign Ministry nor the American Embassy would confirm the report.

LETTERS

Says Eggers Is Answer

To The Editor:

Texas has been blessed for too many years with governors and legislators whose answer to any problem is: appoint a committee to study it, appropriate money to control it and appoint a commission to spend it to submission. The result of this policy obviously had to be the highest tax bill in the history of the State of Texas. Lamentably, also resulting from this policy are: the greatest crime rate, the highest welfare costs, the most turmoil and civil strife, and the greatest dissatisfaction among the responsible citizenry that the State has ever seen.

With all this, the Democrats still brag that their followers should vote the straight party ticket.

Isn't it time for Texans to take a new approach to our problems, as have the citizens of other states, by repudiating the straight ticket fallacy and vote instead for ability, integrity and honesty.

Paul Eggers is such a candidate, now available to the citizens of Texas. He has a new approach to our old problems—he believes in economy in government as well as local self-rule, local school autonomy and stringent law enforcement.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Have you ever heard of a girl being in love with her own brother? I don't want to believe my eyes and ears, but what else can I do? I've been married to Bud for two years now, and the only thing that keeps my happiness from being complete is "Sis."

She is 22. (I am 24 and Bud is 26.) Maybe I should go back to before we were married. Sis tried to break us up before she even met me. I later heard she made trouble for every girl Bud ever went with.

Sis uses our swimming pool, and if I didn't push her into the bedroom, she'd change into her suit right in front of Bud. (She walks around in her panties and bra in front of him.) She asks him, not me, to help zip her up. She puts the music on and coaxes Bud to dance with her. She sits on his lap and kisses him a lot.

Her conversation when Bud is around consists of the dirty books she's read and dirty movies she's seen. She includes herself with our circle and invites herself along on weekend trips.

If I sound jealous, I am. How can I let Sis know it's time she found a man of her own?

BUD'S WIFE: DEAR ABBY: You don't give me a clue as to how Bud reacts to Sis' performance. Seems to me he's the one to let her know that she is out of line. And if he doesn't know how you feel about Sis, what are you waiting for?

DEAR ABBY: Are birth control pills deductible?

BERTIE: DEAR BERTIE: Only if they don't work.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are both in a profession which takes us away from home all day. Our two children ages two and three are cared for by a dependable, intelligent 62-year-old woman. She loves our children and they love her, but she has had very little formal education and her grammar is poor. (Example: "Have you ate yet?")

Our children are learning to talk, and that which they learn in their formative years will be hard to unlearn. Naturally, we don't want them to talk the way she talks. How can this be solved without hurting her feelings?

WONDERING: DEAR WONDERING: Better to have an intelligent, loving, dependable woman caring for your children than a grammarian who lacks these qualities. If the youngsters pick up some of her mistakes, correct them, and don't worry about hurting her feelings. She knows her grammar is poor. Somehow those who have been exposed to poor grammar during their formative years, manage to emerge unscathed — thanks to proper schooling. Witness the number of fine grammarians whose parents were foreigners — or illiterate. (P. S. What do you want? Good grammar or good help?)

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069, for a personal reply enclosed stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069.

Old Problem

SYDNEY (AP) — Australia, like the United States, is worried about the pollution of her rivers.

Apparently it is not for the first time because a researcher has dug up this "General Order" dated Oct. 14, 1802, issued by the Governor of the day: "If any person whatever is detected in throwing any filth into the stream of fresh water, cleaning fish, washing, erecting pig sties near it, or taking water but at the tanks, on conviction before a magistrate, their homes will be taken down and forfeit five pounds for each offense to the Orphan Fund."

STAGE RALLY FOR PEP 'GAL'

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — Not many girls get to sit on the bench with their favorite football team to celebrate their birthday — but Evorie Dillingham did Tuesday.

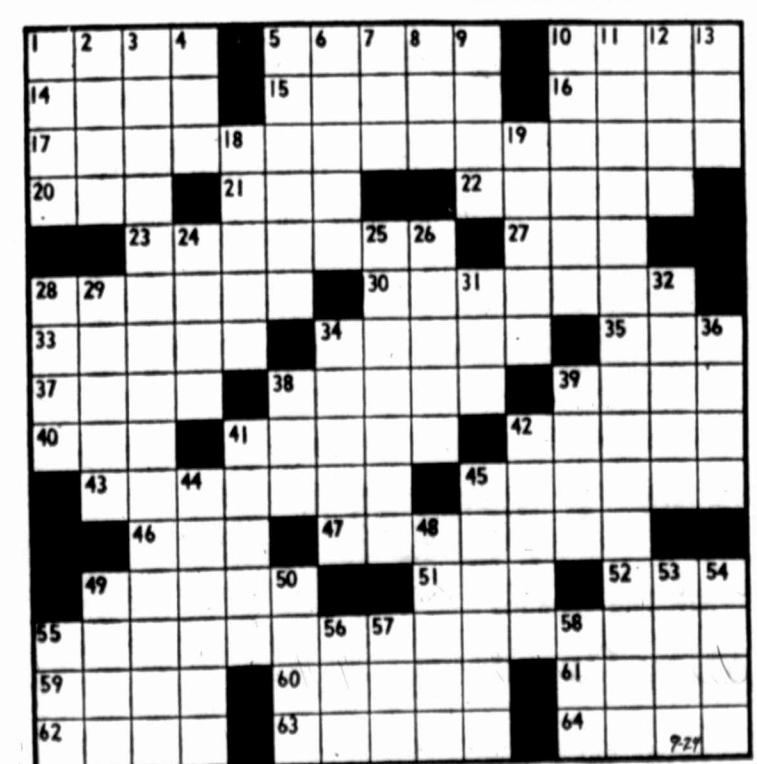

On top of that, the co-captains lined up and presented Evorie a birthday gift.

Evorie said she "considered wearing a miniskirt to the pep rally" in her honor, but decided to go with the longer, more modern dress at the last minute.

She taught 44 years in the Sherman schools with duties that included helping coach football, baseball and track. She was 97 years old Tuesday.

Rodeo Booked At Sul Ross

ALPINE, Tex. (AP) — Some 250 contestants from 13 colleges and universities will test their skills in rodeoing here Sept. 24-27 when the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association's Southwestern Region opens its 1970-71 and 25th annual season at Sul Ross State University.

The rodeo will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday, 6 p.m. Friday, and at 1:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday in the SRSU Rodeo Arena.

Competing in the four-day sports show will be Sul Ross, Tarleton State College, Hardin-Simmons University, Ranger Junior College, Midwestern University, Oklahoma State University, Panhandle State College, West Texas State University, Texas Tech University, Eastern New Mexico University, New Mexico State University, New Mexico Military Institute, and South Plains College.

A trophy will be awarded to the top cowboy Sunday, and buckles will be presented to winners in the nine events: bareback riding, saddle bronc riding, bull riding, calf roping, ribbon roping, steer wrestling, barrel racing, goat tying, and breakaway roping. Women compete in the latter three events.

Training For Jobs Great Morale Builder For Cons

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Prisoners are known for their complaints about food. Except in the Texas prison system where food is good.

So prisoners leaped at the chance to protect their own dinners recently—and gain special training they can use to earn a living when they finish their terms.

The situation was this: Lake Livingston when it fills might cause flooding of the Ellis Unit of the prison system. Ellis raises some commercial crops, but it also raises garden food and cattle to feed the inmates of the system.

BUILD LEVEES

So 21 men enrolled in a training program at Texas A&M University's Heavy Equipment Operators Training School and went to work. Another crew was made up of men who come to the prison with heavy equipment skills or learned them through A&M.

The 21 students—19 inmates and two guards—who entered Al Jones' A&M school completed 9,500 feet of levee recently to protect the farm. A total of 13 miles of levees will be built.

Although two guards were in the class, there was no armed supervision and the guards often were separated from the prisoners. Robert Gilliam, Texas Department of Corrections vocational education director, noted that the program's main aim is to train prisoners.

'TRUSTEE TIME'

Gilliam said that 356 inmates from throughout the system applied for the training and the 19 were selected after screening. Each prisoner draws "trustee

What Killed Rock Guitarist?

LONDON (AP) — What killed Jimi Hendrix, 27-year-old American rock guitarist, will be kept officially confidential until there has been an inquest.

Authorities said a post-mortem examination was completed Monday but that the results would be withheld pending a coroner's hearing still to be set. Hendrix was found unconscious at the home of a friend Friday and pronounced dead on arrival at St. Mary's Abbot Hospital. He came to Britain Sept. 6 for a series of appearances.

British fans had voted him top pop musician of the year in 1967.

Well, There Goes Pot Vote

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Marijuana is harmful because "it is used mostly by young people attempting to escape from reality just at the time when they are reaching out for independence," says the U.S. surgeon general.

But Dr. Jesse L. Steinfeld added that "in this sense anything that promotes escape from reality is harmful."

Steinfeld, in Los Angeles to address the American Cancer Society chapter, told newsmen that legalization of marijuana is unlikely while President Nixon is in office.

Asked if the Nixon administration is "antimarijuana," he replied: "I would hope so, yes."

GETTING THE MESSAGE FROM THE COACH — Stanton's Buffaloes gather around coach Bill Young as the team prepares for its game at home Friday night against mighty Frenship. Unbeaten Frenship, which has been averaging about 50 points a game, is coached by ex-Big Springer Jack Tayrien. Buffaloes kneeling are Steve Douglas, Curt Howard, Willie Wells and Theodore Wells. Standing, Marc Briggs, George Dean, Bubba Standefor, Charles Atchison, Gary Kitchens, Clark Ray, Walter Haislip and Rick Wilson. Game time is 8 o'clock.

Yanks Nail Down 2nd Spot In Standings

By The Associated Press

After five years of frustration, manager Ralph Houk of the New York Yankees admits that the 1970 season has been a fun year for him.

"The way the kids are playing," said Houk, "the season, especially near the end now, has been lots of fun."

The Yankees, not counted on to be contenders in the American League East, after finishing fifth a year ago, clinched second place Wednesday night, dropping the Washington Senators 6-4 for their sixth straight triumph.

It gave Houk's youngsters an 80-67 mark, their best record since the last New York pennant-winning club of 1964 which finished 99-63. The Orioles lead the Yanks by 12 games but New York was the only club to make any kind of a run at Baltimore earlier.

The Yankees won it on rookie Jim Lytle's two-run double and RBI triple. Another rookie, Frank Baker drove in the final New York run. Rob Gardner, just recalled from their Syracuse farm club, picked up the triumph in his first start. He was touched by a three-run homer by Mike Epstein and a solo blast off the bat of Dick Billings.

The victory earned the Yankees about $1,200 per player for their second place finish.

In other AL games, Boston lost to Cleveland 5-2, and combined with the Yankees' victory, eliminated the Red Sox from the second place battle. Minnesota topped Oakland 7-4. Chicago blanked Kansas City 5-0. California at Milwaukee was called by rain and the Detroit at Baltimore game was postponed by the power shortage in the East.

Steve Hargan pitched a six-hitter and Ken Harrelson and Vern Fuller each slammed their first homers of the season in the Indians' triumph, snapping Boston's seven game winning streak.

Rookie right-hander Bart Johnson tossed his first major league shutout, blanking Kansas City 5-0 while his Chicago teammate veteran Luis Aparicio, equalled the all-time major league record for games played by a shortstop with 2,218.

George Mitterwald slammed to fly to New York, hopefully to pick up a renewed license to fight there.

Magee Wins Golf Crown

Carrie Magee is the new women's club golf champion at the Big Spring Country Club. Carrie won the honor Wednesday in a "sudden death" match with Billie Dillon on the first extra hole after the two had turned in identical medal scores of 176 over 36 holes. The meet started Tuesday.

Mrs. Magee earned a trophy for her efforts. Low net was achieved by Peggy Marshall, who toured the course in 150 strokes over 36 holes. Mickey Marcum was runnerup with 152.

In the nine-hole flight, Polly Mayes had an 81 while Janell Davis was second with an 83. Medalist honors were captured by Mrs. Dillon. She posted an 88 on the first day of play.

Friday is the deadline to submit nominations for the International Little League board of directors, it has been announced by Maj. Phillip Rain, president of the league.

During last week's little league banquet, 350 parents, guests and players heard radio man Jim Baum speak on sportsmanship and teamwork. Baum also talked about several major league baseball players.

On the business side of the banquet, Maj. Rain talked about the various achievements of the last season such as a dedication of a Little League diamond, addition of an announcer's booth and general field improvements.

For any information on nominations for the board of directors, one should call either Maj. Rain at 3-7224 or S. Sgt. David Baker at 7-2222.

Toro Eleven To Oppose SA Glenn

Local football contingents will be heading in all directions this evening to begin a busy weekend for local buffs.

The junior varsity, loser to Snyder, 8-6, in its only start, challenges Andrews JV in a 7 o'clock game in Andrews.

The Sophs were to have played Colorado City here tonight but that game was suddenly cancelled by Colorado City. Cee City had booked another opponent.

The Sophs lost their opener to Midland Lee, 34-6, then bounced back to rout Coahoma, 42-0.

The lights of Blankenship Field will go on for a 7:30 p.m. engagement between the Big Spring Toros and San Angelo Glenn.

Goliad's eighth graders will oppose Coahoma there in two games, with the B team playing at 5 p.m., and the A squads at 7 p.m.

Runnels' eighth graders travel to Colorado City for a 5 o'clock start while the Brahmas challenge Colorado City there at 7:30 p.m.

Runnels' eighth graders are undefeated, having knocked off Big Spring Goliad and Snyder Lamar in that order.

Seventh grade league play will be resumed Saturday morning, with Goliad I and Goliad II tangling in one game and Runnels I and Runnels II clashing in the other contest. Activity there starts at 9 a.m.

Alston Is Rehired

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Walter Alston, manager of the Brooklyn and Los Angeles Dodgers since 1954, was given another one-year contract Wednesday for his 18th year at the helm of the National League baseball club.

"Walter Alston received a deserved raise over 1970," said Al Campanis, Dodger vice president. "This probably is the earliest Walter has received a new contract over the years."

Terms were not disclosed except that the pact covered just one season, following Dodger tradition.

"Is there any other kind?" Alston replied to a question on the contract's length. All five Dodger assistant coaches — Jim Gilliam, Danny Ozark, Roy Hartsfield, Red Adams and Carroll Beringer — also were rehired for 1971.

Alston, 58, who worked 13 seasons as a minor league manager before coming up to the Dodgers, was asked at a news conference how many more years he planned to manage.

AT FIRST CHRISTIAN QBC To Serve Meal Again

The kitchen of the First Christian Church, 911 Goliad Street, will be used to prepare the food for the Quarterback Club's breakfast Friday morning, QBC co-captain Paul Shaffer has announced.

Members of the Big Spring High School football team will sit down to a meal with members of the club and friends of football in general.

Shaffer said the boys would be served about 7:15 a.m. The dining hall will be open from 7 until 8 o'clock.

Members of the QBC will again prepare the meal. Adults and players alike will again pay only 25 cents for the breakfast.

At those prices, husbands who might be reluctant to attend may be shovelled out of the houses by their wives. Fact is, the wives might feel inclined to get ready and go with them.

The ideal seating arrangement at the breakfast, according to QBC co-captain Harrold Jones, is to sit a player next to an adult.

"The big reason for this breakfast is to provide a way for the adults to get to know the boys better," explained Jones. "We know the boys want to get to know the fans better."

Last week, the meal was served at the First United Methodist Church and a bumper turnout attended.

The QBC team will attend church as a group at East Fourth Baptist Church Sunday morning and Shaffer said he hoped as many adults as possible would attend. Church services start at 11 a.m.

QBC officers have already sold two shipments of gold blazers (cost: $6 each) to friends of football here and more have been ordered. The windbreakers fit snugly into the Bold Gold scheme being carried on by the club to make the area aware of the unity of the community.

Three dozen gold-tinted caps, priced at $3 each, have also been distributed to local fans. QBC officers are again urging local fans who attend Friday night's game in Snyder to wear gold-tinted clothing.

There's nothing more reassuring to a player in a game than to look up in the stands and spot people he knows are cheering for him," Shaffer stated. "What better way to let the boy know than by wearing colors that are immediately identifiable to him?"

Cloninger Will Start For Reds

CINCINNATI (AP) — Tony Cloninger was ticketed Wednesday night by Reds manager Sparky Anderson for the starting rotation in the playoffs between the Eastern and Western Divisions of the National League after beating the Houston Astros 6-2.

"Larry Shepard (pitching coach) has done a fantastic job with him," said Anderson. "He's taken him from spring training when he had no confidence in himself to the point where he's throwing very well."

"Ha," said Cloninger, who knocked in two of the Red runs, one on a homer, "In the spring I wondered if I'd still be here at this point."

Cincinnati earlier won the western division.

Deadline Near For Nominees

Friday is the deadline to submit nominations for the International Little League board of directors, it has been announced by Maj. Phillip Rain, president of the league.

During last week's little league banquet, 350 parents, guests and players heard radio man Jim Baum speak on sportsmanship and teamwork. Baum also talked about several major league baseball players.

On the business side of the banquet, Maj. Rain talked about the various achievements of the last season such as a dedication of a Little League diamond, addition of an announcer's booth and general field improvements.

For any information on nominations for the board of directors, one should call either Maj. Rain at 3-7224 or S. Sgt. David Baker at 7-2222.

PREPPING FOR BIG CHALLENGE FRIDAY — When Borden County and Sands tangle in an 11-man game at Gail Friday night, there's liable to be blood on the moon. Borden County ordinarily plays eight-man ball but will try the visiting Mustangs in an 11-man game this time. Here are three boys who contribute mightily to Gail's cause. From the left, they are Charles Billeck, Rick Hendley and Joe Harding, who'll start in the Borden County backfield. The Coyotes are undefeated in two starts.

Coyotes Try Cougar Club In Headliner

By The Associated Press

The top-ranked teams in the Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll face a rugged schedule this weekend, headlined by the Class AAAA showdown between No. 1 Wichita Falls and No. 2 Abilene Cooper.

Wichita Falls rang up a near-perfect score in this week's voting by polling 18 of 20 first place votes and 198 points — two short of a possible 200. Cooper, meanwhile, moved into second place from No. 3 with a solid 169 points.

Dumas in Class AAA and Iowa Park in Class AA retained their No. 1 rankings but they'll be tested this week, as will Poth, the new No. 1 team in Class A.

Dumas, idle last week, takes on Amarillo Tascosa of Class AAAA Friday while Iowa Park tangles with Class AAA's Wichita Falls Hirsch tonight. Poth tests its new ranking against Class AA Rockport.

Dumas gained ground on runner-up Ennis in this week's poll although the Demons had an open date. Dumas polled 14 first place votes for four to Ennis, which has registered two impressive victories. The first six teams in Class AAA remained intact from a week ago.

Hirsch and Sinton dropped from the Class AAA list and were replaced by Jacksonville and Lamesa.

In Class AA, Iowa Park is almost as well at the polls as its next-door neighbor Wichita Falls, polling 17 of 20 first place votes and gaining 197 points. Refugio remained No. 2 with two first place votes and 167 points. Eastland, Mart and Floydada round out the top five places.

In Class A, Poth was followed by Sonora, White Deer, and Barber Hill.

Bob Hayes Mystery Is Big Topic In Big D

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The most interesting mystery in town is entitled "Bob Hayes and the Dallas Cowboys."

As we all know, the former All-National Football League split end is in the doghouse. Hayes, who is playing out his option, was allowed only to shag punts Sunday in a 17-7 victory over Philadelphia.

Coach Tom Landry said Dennis Homan had beaten Hayes out because Bullet Bob didn't meet Landry's "performance levels" which consists among other things of "consistency" and "attitude."

Landry wouldn't say where Hayes was off the track and told the Dallas press it was false to speculate.

Hayes took unkindly to only returning punts and said Sunday after the game in Philadelphia "I'm too good to play on the second team. I'm still developing and if I can't play regular I'd rather leave."

Landry disclosed Wednesday that he had had a talk with Hayes, who caught four of the five Cowboy touchdowns passes in the exhibition season.

"There's nothing wrong with Bob's attitude," Landry said, disputing one theory.

Landry said Hayes' Philadelphia quotes which came immediately after the disappointment of not playing makes good writing but doesn't always express what a guy feels."

Then Landry said he "probably would have" played Hayes on offense if Hayes hadn't missed a day of practice because of a knee infection before the Philadelphia game.

This was news to the Dallas press. No Cowboy official could give any news outlet to say that Hayes had missed a practice—a fact which gamblers might have found interesting.

It turned out that Hayes did play infected knee and all on the punt return teams. Landry did not explain why Hayes was well enough to return punts but not catch passes.

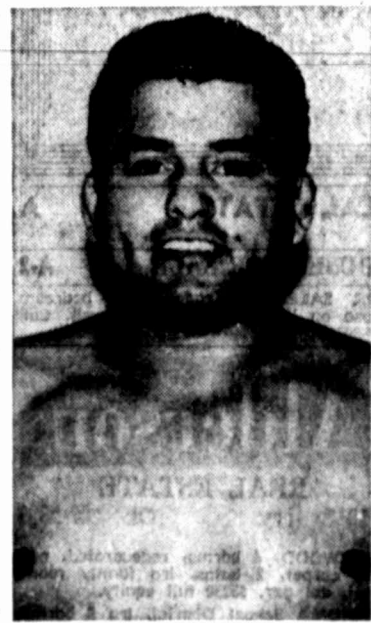

Landry is on record as saying just because Hayes doesn't start doesn't mean he won't get a chance to catch some passes.

Some Cowboy watchers are speculating that Landry has orders from on high not to do Hayes any favors until he takes over his own salary negotiations with the Cowboy front office instead of letting two Miami lawyers handle it.

Other speculation centers on Hayes' consistency level—great in games against ragtag teams but below par in championship play.

Like most mysteries, speculation is all you have to go on until the last page.

And the Cowboys aren't supplying that.

have a valet accompany him into the ring to spray his corner for germs. He sticks to straight wrestling and he's a gem, they say.

Greg Patterson and Apache Gringo, neither of whom have ever appeared here, will be matched in one of the preliminary duels.

Another duel will be announced at ringside.

Ringside seats will sell for $2. General admission can be had for $1.75. Children four to 11 will be admitted for $1.

If this show is a success, and Slaton drew capacity houses for his events last winter and spring, the promoter will book into Big Spring about once a month.

IN MATCH TONIGHT Romero Seeking Mexican Title

Ricky Romero will be a man with a mission in tonight's wrestling show in the Municipal Auditorium, a program booked to get under way at 8 o'clock.

Romero, one of the most popular grapplers ever to appear here, will be out to lift the Mexican heavyweight championship now held by rugged Bull Ramos in a best-of-three falls match.

Romero is capable and there's no doubt he'll have the fans in his corner but Ramos, a real villain who'll do anything to win, doesn't panic easily.

He may make Romero wish he'd taken up gentler pursuits, like finger painting or ice hockey.

No wrestling shows were held here during the summer because of the heat — the auditorium isn't air-conditioned. Promoter Don Slaton figures the nights have cooled off enough so that he can again go indoors with his matches.

Leading up to the main event will be a tag team match which will offer some new faces. Mr. Wrestling and The Gladiator will line up on one side of the ring against The Lawman and Gorgeous George Jr., son of the late grappling great.

Gorgeous George Jr. doesn't resort to the kind of show his dad staged. He doesn't frequent beauty parlors and he doesn't

Mets Getting Help In Air-Tight Race

By The Associated Press

The whispered story of the 1969 baseball season was that supernatural... perhaps even divine... help moved the New York Mets to the world championship.

There is a possibility now that the National League East race has reached the nitty gritty stage that the Mets are getting some extra help again.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Occupied now with the job of trying to get an $800,000 Vocational building added to his campus, HCJC president W. A. Hunt says his next big objective is construction of a community coliseum seating at least 5,000.

Dr. Hunt thinks such a building can become a reality only if the school and the community get together. Furthermore, he reasons it can be built without raising taxes.

"There's no way telling how much money local merchants and business men have lost the last few years because we don't have a coliseum. There are so many things like the Ice Capades which are not stopping here because we don't have a place to stage them."

Dr. Hunt also reasons any such facility should have a Tartan-type floor, a durable base which can withstand all kinds of punishment.

"It would cost more, but it would be worth it," Dr. Hunt said.

Odessa has 14 boys playing football in the Southwest Conference this year. Only four cities boast more representatives, including Dallas, which leads with 51. Houston has contributed 50, Fort Worth and San Antonio 19.

The "farm" crop of the Houston Astros this year is considered outstanding.

Houston's affiliate at Oklahoma City finished third in the American Association under Hub Kittle, just two games out of the top spot. The club paced itself well despite loss of Cesar Cedeno, Larry Howard, John Mayberry and Wade Blasingame during the year to the parent club.

Catcher Cliff Johnson, who hit .382 for Oklahoma City, is being groomed to replace John Edwards when that worthy retires.

Infielders Fernando Tatis and Ed Batista are other top prospects with the AAA team.

Houston fielded a Southern league pennant winner in Class AA Columbus, Ga.

Ken Forsch, a pitching winner his first time out with Houston after Columbus closed its season, had a 13-8 record in the Southern league, posted a 2.05 ERA and fanned 152 in 167 innings.

The Columbus first baseman, John Dolinsek, almost won the league batting title. The Columbus shortstop, Ray Busse, was on the all-star team.

The Astros' team in the Carolina circuit, Raleigh-Durham, wound up third in over-all standings after missing the first half championship by a half game. The catcher, Cliff Johnson, opened the year there and hit .332 and drove in 97 runs before he left. Observers voted him "the player of the year" in the circuit.

Raleigh-Durham also had an outfielder, Alonzo Harris, who hit .302 and a fine lefthanded pitcher in Rich Evans (8-2 and 1.62 ERA).

Cocoon in the Florida State league, Williamsport in the New York-Pennsylvania circuit and Covington in the Appalachian league were other Houston affiliates. Cocoon finished last but offered a fine prospect in a 6-8 pitcher named James Rodney Richard, who fanned 138 in 169 innings.

Williamsport also finished last but got good performances out of outfielder Lambert Ford, who led the league in batting with .378.

Covington wound up second in a rookie circuit. Gregg Gross, center fielder for the team, was named "player of the year" after hitting .353.

Though it's not too easy to shake an image as a perennial doormat, Kansas State (where Big Springer James Carver is a starting tackle) is making progress.

Under coach Vince Gibson, K State has won four straight opening games now. That's in keeping with Gibson's personal record. Since he started coaching at South Georgia JC, teams with which he has been associated with have never dropped an opening game.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1970 SEC. B

NOW A SUPER BEETLE — The "bug" comes in two versions for 1971 — the Volkswagen Beetle and the new VW Super Beetle (above). The three-inch longer Super model has nearly twice the trunk space of its smaller brother, a new-for-1971 flow-through ventilation system with a comfort-cooling two-speed blower and a 60-horsepower, air-cooled rear engine.

Volkswagen For '71 Adds Super Beetle

Volkswagen's "bug", a pace-setter in economy cars, comes in two versions for 1971: The Beetle and the Super Beetle.

While the Beetle features added power, a flow-through ventilation system and a number of other improvements for 1971, the new three-inch-longer Super Beetle incorporates more engineering changes than any VW since the first "bugs" came to America 21 years ago.

New models are being shown at the local dealership, Braney Toland Volkswagen, 2114 W. 3rd.

Following are announced new features of the 1971 VW line: Volkswagen's Type 3 vehicles, the squareback sedan and the Type 3 with its fastback styling, have a "memory" unit designed to make it impossible to leave the headlights on unintentionally.

Volkswagen's bus-like station wagon delivers increased horsepower — 60 — plus power-assisted brakes as standard equipment.

Karmann Ghia — the low-slung coupe that looks like an expensive sports car but has the economy of a VW Beetle — sports a 60-horsepower air-cooled rear engine plus other mechanical improvements.

All 1971 VW vehicles are covered by a 24-month or 24,000-mile warranty and are delivered to buyers with coupons entitling them to free VW Diagnosis at 6,000-mile intervals during the first 24,000 miles traveled.

According to Stuart Perkins, president of Volkswagen of America, "the new Super Beetle shows what our engineers — men who have been designing small cars for 25 years — can do to put even larger measures of performance, economy, comfort and convenience into the type of 'package' that has made our car the best-selling small car in the world."

Despite the slightly larger size of the new model and its many special features, there is no mistaking the family relationship of the two cars. Both 1971 Beetles have a new 60-horsepower engine, up from last year's 57-hp powerplant which gives them a top and cruising speed of 81 miles per hour.

Engine modifications, a new carburetor and an evaporative control fuel system keep both Beetle powerplants within the allowable emission levels in the company's continued campaign against smog.

Standard equipment includes a smooth-shifting, four-on-the-floor manual transmission. The Super Beetle is optionally available with VW's torque-converter VW's torque-converter Automatic Stick Shift transmission.

$2 Million Press Fire

HOUSTON (AP)—The Houston Post should be back in full operation by January, Jack Short, vice president of production, said Wednesday.

The morning newspaper suffered a fire in its press room July 17 in which one man died.

Short said the first of two badly damaged presses will be on the line in mid-October and the other the first of the year. The paper has been operating on two other presses, only one of which was slightly damaged by the blaze.

"We've managed to get by with half of our presses and still produce a full size paper," Short said.

He said the cost of rebuilding the presses and restoring the press room will be about $2 million.

Murder Weapon Eyed By Jurors

HOUSTON (AP)—A rifle identified as the murder weapon was shown to the jury for the first time Wednesday in the trial of Dr. Archie Burkhalter.

Burkhalter is charged as an accomplice in the slaying of his partner, Dr. Robert Pendleton, on Dec. 9, 1966.

Pendleton was killed by sniper fire as he walked from the hospital he and Burkhalter owned. Special prosecutor Jimmy James and defense lawyer Warren Burnett questioned witnesses about the model 742 Remington 30-06 automatic rifle.

A. L. Cornett, former Pasadena detective and now with the FBI, testified the weapon was recovered by divers from a lake in April of 1968.

Houston firearms examiner R. Sullivan said in his opinion the rifle ejected the two cartridge casings found in a clump of weeds from which the sniper is believed to have fired.

Sullivan said he also compared a slug found in the hospital after the slaying with one from the recovered rifle and they were from the same weapon.

W. A. Sullivan, a piping supervisor, told the court he bought three model 742 Remington 30-06 automatic rifles for Burkhalter, plus three other like guns.

Sullivan testified Burkhalter gave the last rifle he bought from him to Dr. Robert Sheldon.

In turn, Sheldon told the jury the rifle given to him in 1962 disappeared from his Houston home during a burglary in October or November of 1966.

Nothing else was missing, he said, although there were other valuables in the house.

Sheldon said Burkhalter could have known where the rifle was kept. Later he and the doctor discussed the missing rifle and decided against reporting it, he said.

Nathan Coon, testified Robert Tucker Jr. came to his salvage yard looking for Delmonico Whitehurst to "do a professional job."

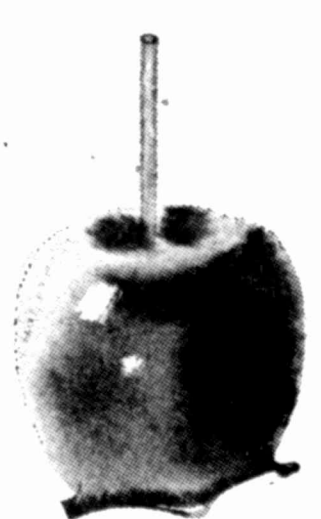

Whitehurst is charged with murder in the slaying, and Tucker is appealing a 99-year prison term as an accomplice to murder.

Bentsen Says Most Serious Problem Is Mid-East Crisis

The most serious problem been to polarize opinion of re-facing President Nixon since he took office is the Mid-East crisis, Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr. told the Downtown Lions Club at the Settles Wednesday.

"This is no time for partisanship," he added. "I stand behind Mr. Nixon as he tries to resolve this dangerous situation."

Bentsen had brought his campaign as Democratic nominee to the United States Senate here Wednesday, and a large number of other men from the community came to hear Bentsen's address on general problems.

Some of these, he said, aside from Southeast Asia and the Mid-East crisis, are violence, threat to law and order, drugs, ascending crime rate, need for judicial reform, need for tighter Congressional controls.

CHALLENGING DECADE
"As we face this challenging decade," Bentsen declared, "we need to ask ourselves what kind of a country do we want? I think most people want a progressive and prosperous nation, and I believe it is possible to achieve this despite stresses and strains of the times."

One of the strains, he said, was that of violent demonstrations, adding that "arson is still arson even on campus, and violence makes a mockery of dissent." No violent demonstration ever did any good, unless in recent months it has

SWIFT JUSTICE
"If punishment is to be a deterrent, then justice must be swift and sure," he said. Instead of lifetime appointments he proposed a review by the Senate of all federal judges every 10 years.

Root of much crime is in drugs, he claimed, with 50 percent of all crimes against property charged to this factor.

He proposed turning over all drug cases to the U. S. Public Health division, and to vastly expand the hospital and rehabilitation system, which now consists only of two hospitals for hard drug addicts, so it robbery and murder because could aid the avalanche of soft these laws are hard to enforce, drug users. He also called for and we shouldn't back off from expanded research on drugs, fighting attempts to whitewash saying this had been responsible filth.

These things will cost money for educating young people to the perils of LSD.

Bentsen expressed disdain for irresponsible citizenship and reckless violence against the establishment. "The establishment is you and me and every productive member of society," he said. "We're the true revolutionaries of the world. We are descendants of tough, spiritual idealists."

He alluded the recent House reform bill as a step in the right direction and proposed that committees be required to hold all sessions be open to the press and public unless clearly a matter of National security is involved.

DON'T BACK OFF
He thrust at permissiveness and scored a presidential commission on pornography for recommending laxness because "laws against it are hard to enforce. We don't back off from

THE TIMES THEY ARE A'CHANGING
Midi makes it to the White House

OH!

Say, Can You See-Through?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joan Kennedy, who once created a mini-tremor in Washington society by wearing a thigh-exposing miniskirt to the White House, has scored another fashion first by wearing a see-through blouse and midskirt to an East Room Reception.

The blonde wife of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., easily created the biggest stir Tuesday at the reception Mrs. Richard Nixon held for Mrs. Ferdinand Marcos, wife of the president of the Philippines.

Mrs. Kennedy's blouse was a gossamer, transparent light blue lace. A slightly darker blue brassiere was very visible through the lace.

The blouse was tucked into a mid-length silver-colored leather skirt with a slit up the front. She added a pair of front-laced black boots to complete the ensemble.

She told reporters, almost mischievously, she had decided she was wrong 18 months ago when she wore a very short miniskirt to President Nixon's first reception for Congress.

Photographers at that time caught Mrs. Nixon staring at the goodly expanse of Joan Kennedy's thigh. Her mini was one of the shortest then seen here.

Cameras at Tuesday's event preserved the glance downward by Mrs. Marcos as she and Mrs. Kennedy shook hands warmly.

Mrs. Nixon wore a turquoise midi at the reception.

The tall, dark-haired Mrs. Marcos, who pinned a diamond brooch at the lowest point in a vee-neckline, wore a floor-length pink dress.

Rainbows Initiate Two Into Order

Kim Brock and Rita Gee were initiated into the Order of Rainbows for Girls Tuesday evening during the last meeting for the term of Vickie Annen, worthy advisor.

Sharon Andrews, worthy associate advisor, announced the arrival of garment bags which the girls will sell as a fund-raising project. The bags for formals are $4.50, and the dress or suit bags are $3.

Mary Alice Terrazas, chairman of the hosiery drive for Big Spring State Hospital, reported over 14,000 hose collected. They are used in crafts by the patients.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Curtis L. Beaird and Mrs. C. E. Gressett.

Miss Andrews will be installed at 8 p.m., Oct. 3 in an open installation ceremony at Masonic Temple.

Shower Held For Bride

WESTBROOK (SC) — A bridal shower Saturday evening in the Baptist Church honored Mrs. Thomas Sloane, the former Miss Carole Ann Bell. Mrs. Robert Blalock registered approximately 30 guests.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Maxey Ware and Miss Patricia Bell from a table covered with netting over green linen. A yellow floral arrangement accented the table, and silver and crystal appointments were used. Wedding bells and flower arrangements decorated the room.

Hostesses were Mrs. Rex McKenney, Mrs. Charles Ranne, Mrs. Hoyt Roberts, Mrs. L. M. Dawson, Mrs. Frank Hodnett, Mrs. Gerald Rollins, Mrs. Newby Pratt, Mrs. Dalton Conaway, Mrs. Clyde Chambers, Mrs. Altis Clemmer, Mrs. Royce Moore, Mrs. Troy Lankford, Mrs. J. D. Iglehart, Mrs. Keith Williams, Mrs. Sam Oden, Mrs. Emory Sweat, Mrs. George Sweat, Mrs. Douglas Barber, Mrs. W. C. Hutchins and Mrs. Maxey Ware.

Guests were registered from Odessa, Stanton, Brownwood, Colorado City and Westbrook. Mr. and Mrs. Sloane are residing in Coleman following their marriage Sept. 4 in Brownwood.

Says Children Need Work Shop

The Howard County Association for Retarded Children heard a report from the president, Mrs. Maurice Smith, at a meeting Monday at Moss Elementary School.

Mrs. Smith told of a trip she made to Austin where she toured a work shop for retarded students. In conclusion, she quoted parts of a speech by Gov. Preston Smith who stressed that every community should have such a work shop for the children to relieve the load on state schools.

Refreshments were served by

Eastern Star Unit Honors Leaders

Houston's Manned Space Flight Center was the theme for a party honoring Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Tanner, worthy patron and worthy matron of Coahoma Chapter 499, Order of Eastern Star, Tuesday at the Masonic Temple. Mr. and Mrs. Tanner will represent the chapter at the grand chapter meeting beginning Monday at Houston.

Hostesses for the reception were line officers, Mrs. Gerald Culpepper, Mrs. Jimmy Swann and Mrs. David Talmage.

Mrs. Tanner was given a red, white and blue carnation corsage and presented with a gift wrapped in a rocket-shaped package. A cake decorated to represent the space center was served from a table covered with a red, white and blue cloth with U.S. flags and astronaut figurines completing the decorations. The next regular meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 13.

Agronomist Stresses Urgency For 'Environmental Quality'

"We are the most affluent society in the world, yet we are dependent on our environs," said Dr. Paul Koshi, agronomist with the U.S. Experiment Station, when speaking Tuesday at a dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Making use of the theme, "Environmental Quality," Dr. Koshi said that due to the race for affluence, nations are neglecting to keep their environs pure, thus polluting air, water and food with other sources of energy.

"To produce man-made energy, it takes natural energy," explained Dr. Koshi, by illustration, noting that oil which produces carbon dioxide is taken from the earth. He said that air pollution is caused by such things as automobile exhaust, manufacturing, refuse disposal, heating apparatus and solids in the air such as would occur during sand storms. One pollutant which is fairly new is detergents, which create a difficult disposal problem.

In detailing the cause, effect and solution of the world's pollution, Dr. Koshi remarked

Hair Stylists Go To Area Contest

Two Big Spring hair stylists competed recently in the fall festival of fashion at San Angelo. Barry Bolding and Miss Zonell Sharp, stylists at the College Park Beauty Salon, placed second in the first-timers trend contest. Miss Sharp was Bolding's model.

Holiday Flower Show Is Slated By Gardeners

A holiday flower show, featuring Christmas decorations such as door wreaths, has been scheduled Dec. 1 by the Rosebud Garden Club. The plans were initiated Tuesday during a brunch at Holiday Inn where hostesses were Mrs. R. C. Alexander, Mrs. Jesse Crane and Mrs. Joe Smoot. Table decorations were streamers of pyracantha and purple sage.

Mrs. Charles Tuttle, president, welcomed three new members, Mrs. W. T. Rutledge, Mrs. John M. White and Mrs. Ralph Mahoney.

It was announced that the club will sell "Texas Wildflower Color Notes" to help finance several projects, civic beautification and garden therapy plans for patients at Big Spring State Hospital. Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas Jr. will donate a book about plant disease to Howard County Library.

Mrs. G. P. Morrison presented "Projects for Gardeners," a program for preparing gardens for the winter. She suggested saving the raked leaves and grass clippings in a wire enclosure, and this much spread around roses and shrubbery to protect roots from freezing.

Mrs. Bill Edwards, 2703 Crestline, will be hostess for the Oct. 27 meeting.

that "it is hard to legislate anti-litter" and impossible to patrol every mile of highway.

He cited forest conservation and preservation as an aid because green, living plants are the only things that will convert carbon dioxide to oxygen. Although a non-leaded gasoline has been developed, it is not in common use because of the high cost, he said.

The speaker commended garden clubs for their continuing campaigns to stop pollution and beautify cities. He urged the promotion of studies of ecology (the relations between organisms and their environment) concluding that the observation that the situation is worse than most people realize.

The program was arranged by the civic participation committee, comprised of Mrs. Ray Nichols, chairman; Mrs. John Hardy and Mrs. Fred McGown.

New members introduced were Mrs. C. E. Marstrand, Mrs. Jimmy Mason and Mrs. Sam Blackburn. It was announced that a District 7 conference will be held at 3 p.m. Saturday in Colorado City.

Mrs. Laura Boubek, chairman of the public relations committee, will be in charge of the Oct. 13 meeting in the Chamber of Commerce office.

Club Has Tour Of Figure Salon

Salad Mixers met at Furr's Cafeteria Monday evening for a dinner prior to a tour of the Elaine Powers Figure Salon as guests of Mrs. Larry Shaw. The group watched demonstrations on how to take off excess pounds with exercise. Mrs. Edward Simpson won a three-month free course at the salon, and Mrs. Shaw was named weekly queen.

Slender Benders Meet Tuesday

Two guests, Mrs. Coy Nowles and Mrs. Jesse Watson, attended a Tuesday meeting of the Slender Benders at Midway School where the group reported a total weight loss of 11 pounds. Mrs. Tommy McFarland presided, and it was announced that work will be done on items for a Dec. 5 bazaar during next Tuesday's meeting at the school.

A LOVELIER YOU

Make-Up Designed To Cover Leg Veins

By MARY SUE MILLER

A Lovely asks: What covers spider veins, something that doesn't look fake under stockings? When I went barelegged last summer, my leg makeup looked great. Not so with stockings. Because the veins have spread and deepened, makeup has become a necessity winter and summer.

The Answer: It is probable that your summer leg makeup is too dark. As the tan on your face and arms fades, legs have to fade too. Furthermore, you may require a denser kind of coverage for the increasing density of the veins.

An opaque cosmetic could be the answer. Not all leg makeups are opaque or designed to be. Opacity varies with brands. Originally created to hide birthmarks, a combination of a cover cream and finishing powder works magic when matched to your skin tone and applied with a practiced hand.

To insure optimum effects, keep the leg complexion satin-smooth. Massage with a rich body lotion after removing makeup and at frequent intervals when not wearing it. The slightest bit of chap or scale flakes the makeup.

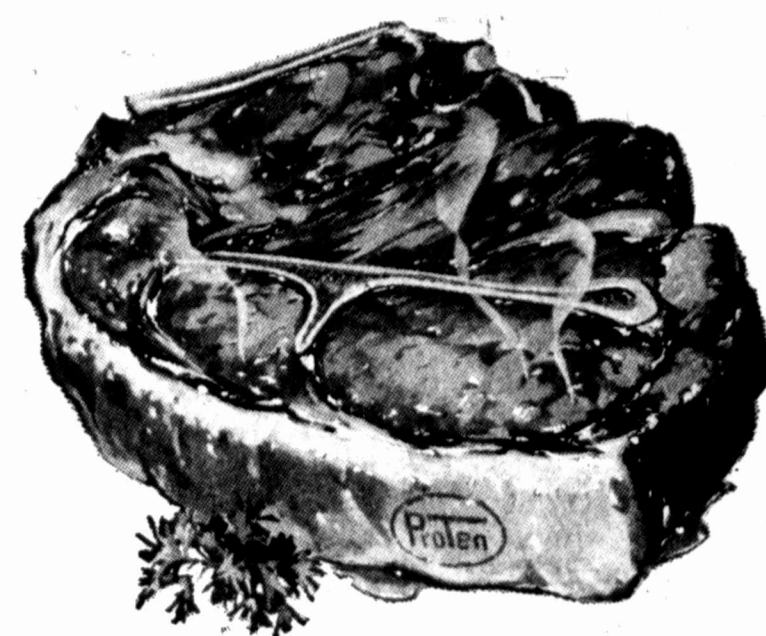

Also let dark, semi-opaque stockings be an ally. The texture diffuses all sorts of problems, even slipping makeup. And fashion plays along here. Semi-opaque hose comes highly recommended for casual and street wear.

BEAUTY KNOWS NO AGE. Some women age before their time; some retain their youthful beauty and charm. Why? The secrets of non-stop attractiveness are revealed in "Beauty Knows No Age." Advice covers ways to a youthful figure, skin and hair; to flattering makeup, hairstyles and fashions. ADD MORE MEAT
With turkey roast

Big Family Gatherings Need Lots Of Turkey

Roast turkey plus more turkey is called for by most family gatherings. Some may want to stuff and roast the 18 to 24 pound turkey. However, the modern hostess who wants to spend a little extra time on the trimmings and still have time with her guests will combine the newer convenient turkey items.

Along with a 12 to 13 pound turkey that is already stuffed with delectable old-fashioned bread stuffing, why not add a butter basted 2-lb. turkey roast? This combination will supply meat to serve 12 to 16 persons.

This idea will be particularly appreciated when there's a preference for white meat among the guests. The 2-lb. turkey roast is available either as all white meat or as a combination of light and dark. The good drippings from both the whole bird and the butter-basted roast will make plenty of rich turkey gravy.

The whole bird is as oven-ready as the smaller boneless roast. The drumsticks are tucked neatly into a slit of skin at the base of the body cavity.

Dilly Tomatoes 'Make A Meal'

A flavorful topping for baked tomatoes.

DILLY TOMATOES

3 large firm tomatoes
2 1/2 tbsps. butter, melted
1/2 cup fine dry breadcrumbs
3/4 tsp. dill seeds
1/2 cup grated cheddar cheese

Cut washed tomatoes in half crosswise; make a scalloped edge on each by using a long paring knife to cut through to center of tomato, slanting the knife for each scallop. Place tomatoes, cut sides up, on a baking sheet. Mix butter with breadcrumbs and dill seeds; place two tablespoons of mixture on each tomato half; top with cheese. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven for 10 minutes. Makes six servings.

Judge Pastries For Uniformity

To judge your pastry with an expert's eye, look for the following — a product with uniform thickness; neat, even edges. It should fit well in the pan, show a surface just slightly darker around the edges.

The crust should be slightly blistered, or rough — not smooth or leathery. The texture should be delicately crisp, neither compact nor soggy. The product should be easily cut, not crumbly or tough, with a rich, yet delicate flavor.

Cranberry Sauce Is Garnish

Jellied cranberry sauce makes an attractive garnish when it is removed from the can without breaking the mold.

Do this by punching a small hole in the bottom of the can first. Then remove the top of the can with a wall-type can opener that slices the tin evenly around the can. Turn can upside down and the jelly slides out easily without breaking the mold.

French Toast Makes Sandwich

Hot French toast sandwiches are filling, hearty and delicious when made this easy way.

Bake, rather than fry, French toast in a hot oven.

Place a slice of fried ham between two slices of hot French toast.

Serve with topping of maple syrup mixed with canned apple sauce and sprinkled with nutmeg.

Raisins Flavor Green Apple Pie

Golden raisins are a delectable addition to green apple pie.

GREEN APPLE PIE

Rich flaky pastry for a two-crust 8-inch pie plate
4 cups thinly sliced pared apples (3 or 4 large tart green apples)
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 cup golden raisins, rinsed in hot water and drained
Line 8-inch pie plate with half of pastry, leaving an overhang. Add apples to pie crust in two layers, alternately with sugar, cinnamon and raisins. Roll out remaining pastry and cut vents in it; place over apples; trim pastry; seal edges; flute. Brush top pastry with milk. Bake on a low rack of a preheated 425-degree oven until apples are tender and pastry browned about 45 minutes. Serve warm or reheated.

Try Boiled Beef

"Boiled" beef tastes good served with a horseradish cream sauce. To make the sauce, add either finely-grated fresh horseradish or prepared bottled horseradish to a thin white sauce made with cream.

Cooking Something New Will Add Variety To Dinnertime

Children love these hot dogs.

FRANKFURTER ROLLS

1 tube refrigerated crescent rolls (7 ozs. with 6 rolls or 8 ozs. with 8 rolls)
Prepared mustard
6 to 8 frankfurters
Unroll crescent dough and separate into triangles. Spread generously with mustard. Place a frankfurter along one of the long sides of a triangle and roll up; repeat with remaining frankfurters and triangles. Place on ungreased cookie sheet and bake in preheated 375-degree oven until roll covering is golden brown — 12 to 15 minutes. Serve at once. Makes six or eight servings.

An unusual dip to use with shrimp.

PLUM DIP
1 can (1 lb., 14 ozs.) plum plums in heavy syrup
2 tbsps. cider vinegar
1 tsp. brown mustard
1 tsp. honey
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce

1/4 tsp. salt
Red coloring if desired

Thoroughly drain plums. (Use syrup in a cold beverage or in some other way.) Puree plums in an electric blender — there should be about 1 1/2 cups. To puree add the vinegar, mustard, honey, Worcestershire and salt; stir well. If used, add red coloring, drop by drop, to make puree a richer color. Serve as a dip for cooked shrimp. Makes about 1 1/2 cups.

A delicious way to treat a pantry-shelf food.

CURRIED POTATO STICKS

2 tbsps. butter
1 can (2 1/4 ozs.) potato sticks
1/4 tsp. curry powder
Into an 8-inch round layer-cake pan turn the butter; place in a 250-degree oven until melted; remove from oven. Stir in the potato sticks to coat well. Sprinkle with curry powder; mix well. Bake in 250-degree oven, stirring once or twice, for 8 to 10 minutes. Serve warm or cold.

Stuffed eggs make a great appetizer!

ROQUEFORT EGGS

4 hard-cooked eggs
2 tbsps. Roquefort cheese
2 tbsps. mayonnaise
Salt and pepper to taste
Paprika and parsley sprigs
Shell eggs and slice in half lengthwise; remove yolks and mash fine with Roquefort, mayonnaise, salt and pepper. Refill whites with yolk mixture. Ruffle yolk mixture with the tines of a fork held flat. Sprinkle with paprika and garnish with parsley sprigs, tucking in stems.

Shrimp salad makes a refreshing lunch.

SHRIMP SALAD
1 can (4 1/2 ozs.) deveined shrimp
2 ribs celery, finely diced (1/2 cup)
6 pitted ripe olives, sliced

1/4 cup Thousand Island dressing (from an 8-oz. bottle)

Salad greens

Chill shrimp in can; drain shrimp and soak in ice-cold water for 20 minutes, then drain again. (This procedure firms shrimp.) Mix shrimp with celery, olives and dressing; arrange on salad greens. Makes two large servings.

For the best company dinner ever, brush a tender steak (about 3 lbs.) with a teaspoon of soy sauce and let stand two or three hours. Broil the steak turning once.

Mix 3 teaspoons gravy master (gravy seasoning and browning sauce), 1/2 cup blue cheese, 1/4 teaspoon seasoned pepper and 2 tablespoons butter well making a paste; spread over steak and return to broiler for three to four minutes or until topping melts. Makes 3-4 servings.

Barley And Veal Go Together

Great accompaniment for veal and other meats.

BAKED BARLEY WITH MUSHROOMS

2 tbsps. butter
1/4 cup frozen chopped onion
1 can (13 1/2 ozs.) chicken broth
1 can (4 ozs.) sliced mushrooms
1/2 cup medium barley
1/4 tsp. salt
In an 8-inch skillet melt the butter; add the onion and cook gently until wilted; turn into a round one-quart casserole (about 6 1/2 by 2 1/2 inches). Turn the broth into a measure and add enough of the liquid from the mushrooms to make two cups; add to casserole with the drained mushrooms, barley and salt. Bake, uncovered, in a 350-degree oven, stirring several times, for one hour. Cover tightly; bake 30 minutes more. Liquid should be absorbed but barley should be moist. Makes four generous servings.

Different Carrots

Serve those cooked carrots with sautéed mushrooms for an interesting vegetable dish.

'Like Mother Made' Means Gourmet Dish

By MARILYN NEVELS

Mrs. J. Doug Ingram, 514 Dallas, studied gourmet cooking from her mother, "who is a real gourmet cook."

"She taught me to appreciate really good food," said Mrs. Ingram. "I sort of grew up in the kitchen. I started making cookies and little things when I was young and as I got older, made more complicated dishes."

"My mother makes things like crepes suzette and chicken paprikash, fattening, but worth the time and trouble. Crepes are the only French dessert I like to make. It is a very delicate recipe and you must be exacting."

Mrs. Ingram's father was in the Air Force and retired in Big Spring.

"He thought Big Spring was one of the friendliest places he'd been, so he came here to retire," said Mrs. Ingram. "We have relatives nearby." She was born in Washington and spent 11 years there before coming to Big Spring. She and her husband met through school activities and following their marriage moved to Dallas. They returned to Big Spring last December, and Ingram now raises cotton on his Vincent farm.

"I'm not really a farm girl, but my husband is teaching me how to ride and hunt," said Mrs. Ingram. "He has an Appaloosa stud, but he is a little wild for me. I'd rather walk than ride. I am learning to hunt and shot a couple doves and a rabbit at the farm. We bring the dove home to eat. Doug likes them fried like chicken best. They're very good baked in white wine too."

"Country life is different. In Dallas, there were lots of activities and opportunities, but I would like to live in the country. It is so peaceful and restful. My husband's dream is to build a house on the farm. There is nearly a section of land there, and he has the spot picked out. Although it is 20 miles from town, it is close enough for activities."

Living in Washington, Mrs. Ingram acquired a love for the out-of-doors and greatly enjoys camping.

"I like to fish, but would rather clean the fish, than sit and wait for hours for them to bite," she admits. "I learned to clean doves, too. I figure, if I can shoot them, I might as well learn to clean them. I think anything tastes good cooked over a campfire. Last time we went camping I mixed ham-burger with ranch beans and a little chopped onion and chili powder which turned out real well."

Mrs. Ingram's biggest activity now is keeping track of her 10-month-old son, J. Doug. Mrs. Ingram has decorated her home with some decoupage posters and pictures, but finds it hard to work on hobbies "with a little one always grabbing things."

"Doug is an early walker and is all over the place getting into things."

MRS. J. DOUG INGRAM

RECOMMENDED RECIPES From Mrs. Ingram

CREPES SUZETTE (Makes 12)

Crepes:

- 1 cup sifted flour
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 3 well-beaten eggs
- 1 cup milk

Sauce:

- 1/4 cup powdered sugar
- 1 grated orange peel
- Juice of 2 oranges
- 1/2 cup cointreau
- 1/4 cup brandy
- 1/2 cup butter

Pancakes can be made ahead of time and kept warm. Sift together flour and salt and add milk and well-beaten eggs. Make one pancake at a time in small greased skillet. Brown each side and roll up. For sauce, melt butter in chafing dish. Add crepes. Sprinkle with powdered sugar and orange peel. Pour on orange juice and cointreau. Let sauce come to a boil and baste pancakes. In separate pan, heat brandy, then pour over crepes and light with match. Serve after flames die.

BARBECUED CARROTS

- 1 pkg. carrots
- 3 slices crisp bacon

1 can tomato soup
1 small chopped onion
Wash, scrape and boil whole carrots. Saute onions in greased skillet. Place tomato soup then carrots in casserole dish and mix in onions. Crumble bacon over top and bake in 350 degree oven until bubbly.

CHICKEN PAPRIKA

2 1/2-3 lb. fryer, cut up
1/4 cup shortening
1/2 cup minced onions
1 tsp. paprika
1 tsp. salt
2 tbsps. hot water
1 1/2 tbsps. cold water
1/2 tsp. lemon juice
1 grated lemon rind
1 cup sour cream
2-3 tbsps. flour
Brown chicken in the fat. Add onion and saute until tender. (about 1 hour.) Remove chicken but keep hot liquid left in skillet. Blend flour with cold water, and stir into liquid. Add lemon juice and rind, salt, and paprika. Mix thoroughly, then return chicken to skillet and reheat. Add sour cream and blend just before serving. (Over rice if preferred.)

CRAW LOUIE SALAD

Dressing:
1 small can evaporated milk
1 wedge roquefort cheese
2 cups mayonnaise
1 clove crushed garlic
1 tbsps. lemon juice
2 tbsps. grated onion
Salt
Pepper
Crumble wedge of roquefort and place with evaporated milk in top of double boiler. Cook until cheese is melted, stirring frequently. Cool, then add remaining ingredients with salt and pepper to taste. Makes 1 quart.

Salad:
10 oz. can Alaskan crab meat (serves four)
Lettuce
Tomatoes
Olives, chopped
Hard-boiled eggs, diced
Prepare salad ingredients, top with crab meat, then dressing.

SHRIMP CREOLE
1/2 chopped bell pepper
1/2 small chopped onion
2 stalks chopped celery
1 1/2 tbsps. butter
1 1/2 cup tomato juice
1 bay leaf
2-3oz. pkgs. frozen shrimp
Rice

Fry bell pepper, onion and celery in butter. Add tomato juice and boil with bay leaf until thick in saucepan, boil shrimp according to directions. Add shrimp to sauce and serve over hot rice. Serves six.

Add Extra Pinch

Some good cooks follow package directions when they are cooking buckwheat groats with this exception: they add a pinch of monosodium glutamate.

LET'S TALK

ABOUT TABLES

There are still many people who like matching sets of tables for the living room but many professional decorators today like to make each table entirely different.

Not only different styles, but different materials and finishes.

When it comes to the coffee or cocktail table, you may want to use several small tables instead of one large one. According to the size of the sofa or sectional, there is always a great variety of cocktail tables to choose from. Wood and formica top tables are still the most popular, but tile top, glass, marble, leather and lacquered colored top tables are also in great demand.

And, there's never been a wider selection of shapes and sizes of tables than there is today. There are wedge, lamp, step, cigar, console, boomerang, free-form, commode, drum, tier, and even lazy-susan tables in great variety.

Many low lamp tables are being used with very tall lamps.

Picture window tables are more popular than ever. We invite you to come in and see our complete selection of tables of all kinds, and take advantage of the ideas we can give you on decorating your living room with the right table or tables for you.

A Devotion For Today . . .

The Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us. (John 1:14)

PRAYER: O God, we thank Thee for Thy word as given in the Holy Bible and personalized in Jesus Christ. May we study to know Thee better and reflect Thy truth and spirit among our fellowmen. In the name of our Lord, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

People have learned with no surprise, although with dismay, that another passenger service in Texas has gone under the axe. The once-famous "crack" Missouri Pacific train, the Texas Eagle, has been cancelled by the Texas Railroad Commission's assent to MoPac's appeal.

This train had operated across the heart of the state, from Laredo to Texarkana (and on to St. Louis), serving a populous and busy area. Almost simultaneously, the Interstate Commerce Commission agreed to let the Southern Pacific Railroad reduce its Sunset run between New Orleans and Los Angeles (via Houston, San Antonio and El Paso) to three times a week.

Although Southern Pacific has agreed to reinstate sleeping car and dining car service on those three-a-week trains, some more handwriting may be on the wall.

The result of these actions is that Texas has now only one daily passenger train service, the Santa Fe

Chief from Houston to Chicago. How long for the Chief?

The arguments about the death of rail passenger service are as inclusive as the answer to the chicken-and-the-egg question. Many groups are convinced that the railroads drove off the passenger through neglect, if not downright abuse. The railroads, in turn, said the passengers quit them.

It's a sad turn of events, and we speak not just from nostalgia. The day surely must come when the jamming of the airways and the delay at terminals; and the clogging of highways with more inherent danger, will prompt a turnabout. Mass transportation is one of the nation's acute problems. Rail movement is a part of mass transportation.

One of the challenges in this country is for experts in the field to devise a way that rail passenger service can return, in efficient, up-to-date and profitable manner.

Junk Falling From The Skies

A national newspaper has noted that there's a new element in the pollution system: Outer space pollution. There are a lot of bits and pieces and whole units of spacecraft circling the earth. More than might at first be imagined.

NORAD's Space Defense Center estimated recently that some 1,400 pieces of "earth-orbiting debris" were hurtling around our globe.

So? Well, radars watching against the possibility of rocket attack must distinguish between a low-orbiting ICBM, also, spaces launched must avoid the trajectories of the space junk. Of more immediate importance, perhaps, is the fact that some of this debris finally slows down and falls through the earth's atmosphere. And not every piece burns up.

Not long ago, some objects hit on rural areas in Oklahoma and Kansas. In 1958 a part of a Soviet space machine which fell in the Pacific Ocean weighed over two tons. Pieces of an aborted American rocket booster have fallen in Cuba. South Africa and Spain have recovered spacecraft debris.

There could be a major hazard.

Here's a matter for international law. Nations adept at space technology ought to develop ways of locating and removing useless space objects. An appropriate treaty will have to come.

David Lawrence Peace-Keeping Task For U.N.

WASHINGTON — The task of securing the release of the 54 citizens of various countries held as hostages by the Palestinian guerrillas apparently is being left to the Jordanian government, which is waging war on the rebels. But if this is the decision of the major powers, it is a risky one. For they continue to be openly defied by outlaws of a small nation.

The United Nations stands before the task as the institution available for the purpose of sending a military force into the desert of Jordan to recover the prisoners. Why aren't the members of the U. N. insisting on action?

ONE REASON perhaps is that the governments whose citizens are among the hostages — Great Britain, Switzerland, West Germany, the United States and Israel — are assuming that the military operation now undertaken by Jordan will suffice. But already Syria is being accused of assisting the Palestinian guerrillas, and the United States has called upon the Syrian government to order its forces to pull out immediately and he urged all other governments in the area to join in the appeal.

MEANWHILE, what becomes of the principle that citizens aboard an unarmed passenger airplane are supposed to be immune from attack or kidnapping? How can the hijackers of the world be given the kind of warning they would heed against a repetition of such incidents unless the recent crime is dealt with firmly by international force?

The United States naturally is reluctant to handle the problem alone and would not wish to send a military expedition into Jordan on its own. But the United Nations can do so by Action of the Security Council, and if this is not forthcoming, collective measures can be taken by members of the U. N. under Article 51 of the charter.

UNLESS THERE is international action, moreover, the hijackers will pay no attention to the "negotiation" for release which has been going on and which it has been hoped here in Washington, would recover the remaining hostages in Jordan. But would hijackers have been taught a lesson? Would they be impressed by a deal which brought an exchange of prisoners in order to obtain the return of the hostages?

IF HIJACKING is to be prohibited in an effective way, the United Nations certainly has the responsibility to participate in the process. If a military force, comprised of units from several countries, were made ready by the U. N. for action, the chances are that influences within the Mideast would counsel the Palestinian guerrillas that there would be far less chance of serious complications by their releasing the hostages at once.

SINCE THE hijackers and the conspirators who planned the crime are guilty of air piracy, they should, of course, be tried and punished. Unless this is done, other criminally-minded individuals in various countries will not hesitate to try hijacking again and again. Air travel has been jeopardized by what has happened and the task of assuring the protection of passengers and crews of commercial airliners is the obligation of all countries which have airports.

THE FUNCTION OF THE United Nations is to maintain peace and security in the world when there are outbreaks which are not the responsibility of any single government. The peacekeeping idea has been applied to stop small wars. There is no reason why it cannot be used to employ measures of law enforcement when the safety of innocent persons traveling to and from peaceful nations is threatened by irresponsible elements who commit international crimes.

John Cuniff Nuclear Power Problems

By HARRY STEINBERG
(Substituting for John Cuniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — Nuclear power, which now supplies enough electricity for more than five million Americans, is expected to become a major source of electric power by the end of this century.

"We anticipate that 30 years from now nuclear power plants will be generating over one-half the nation's total electric power," Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Glenn T. Seaborg said in a recent speech.

Currently, only two per cent of the nation's annual $21.4 million kilowatts, comes from nuclear-powered generators. There are now 16 such generators operating and they produce over 5.1 million kilowatts annually, according to the AEC. A kilowatt — 1,000 watts — is the amount of electricity one person uses at any given time.

The future of atomic energy for generating electricity seems bright. The AEC reports that 55 reactors, with a capacity of 44.5 million kilowatts, are now under construction. Thirty-seven more, with a capacity of 35.9 million kilowatts are on order. Nine more plants, with an eight million kilowatt capacity, have been announced.

The problems facing the continued growth of nuclear energy are: cost, construction time and the ability to meet environmental controls.

The AEC reports that a large nuclear-powered station—one with a capacity of one million kilowatts—can cost up to $40 million more than a similar fossil-fueler plant.

Among the reasons for the greater cost of a nuclear-powered plant are the added costs of reactor safeguards and the fact that there is virtually no standardization in the manufacturing process. They have to be built to specifications.

A special year-long period of AEC licensing review means that nuclear plants take longer to construct. The AEC reports that while a fossil-fueled plant takes about four years to build, a nuclear plant takes up to six years to build. This extra construction time also adds to the cost of financing a project that can cost upwards of $200 million.

But the scarcity of fossil fuels, and their rising prices may yet make nuclear-powered plants more economical than they appear now.

While nuclear plants give off no particulate or gaseous pollution, some critics charge that they overheat surrounding bodies of water.

Nuclear generators, like fossil-fueled generators use water as a coolant, so they must be built near lakes or rivers. The problem posed by the nuclear units is that the water returned to the lake after use as a coolant experts say, is about 30 per cent hotter than water discharged by fossil-fueled plants.

"We're beginning to find that changing the temperature of the water by one degree can effect not only the fish life, but also the biological growth, plant life and fish hatching for many miles around," says Peter Borrelli, East coast representative of the Sierra Club, a conservation group.

However, Dr. James H. Wright, director of environmental Systems Department at Westinghouse Power Systems says that raising the temperature of water may actually help some forms of marine life.

As an example he cites a shellfish agricultural program being run by the Long Island (N.Y.) Lighting Co. which is growing shellfish on reactor-warmed water that would normally be too chilly for the shellfish.

Hal Boyle Daydreams Of Autumn

NEW YORK (AP) — Autumn is a fine time for daydreaming.

So is any other season, of course, except possibly winter, when most daydreamers go into hibernation.

But whereas the daydreams of spring are lazy, and those of summer warm and temperate, the daydreams of autumn are fine and stirring things, full of derring-do.

To Your Good Health The Curious Cause Of Endometriosis

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What causes endometriosis? Please explain treatments or cure. Would it be fatal if it went untreated?—Mrs. B.

To understand endometriosis, a disease of women in the child-bearing age, you have to keep in mind the way the menstrual cycle works.

With each menstrual period, the endometrium, or lining of the uterus, sloughs off. Then a new lining grows, to be ready in case of pregnancy.

Sometimes some of the cells of the endometrium go wandering off to other areas. One generally accepted theory is that bits and particles of this tissue somehow work their way up through the Fallopian tubes and are deposited in the abdominal cavity.

Then such cells become embedded in the peritoneum, ovary, over the bladder, or in the bowel wall. Even though displaced, these cells react just as they would if they had remained in the uterus.

Keep in mind that it is the rise and fall of hormone levels which signal the proper time for the cells in the lining of the uterus to slough off, or to grow again. With endometriosis, the displaced cells try to do the same.

The principal consequence of this is increasingly painful menstrual periods.

What to do about it? Since the trouble subsides between menstrual periods, or when there are no periods (as in pregnancy), we have a clue to treatment. Pregnancy, for one thing, halts the discomfort — for as long as the pregnancy lasts.

However, endometriosis also can bring on infertility. And anyway, especially with our concern for over-population, a continuing series of pregnancies is hardly a practical treatment for the ailment.

However, hormones (as in birth control pills) can produce a pregnancy-like condition. Therefore they have become an effective treatment for this type of problem. (Fertility often is restored after six months or so of treatment.)

Another way to stop menstrual periods is to remove the ovaries — in a word, surgical menopause. This is not a preferred method, of course, for young women who still hope to have children. In older women, however, especially if the discomfort has progressed considerably, such surgery would be considered.

Endometriosis is not fatal, and it is not cancerous, but if not treated it can become mighty uncomfortable.

Arthritis sufferers can be helped. Dr. Thosteson's booklet discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as outlining effective treatments and medications. For a copy of "How You Can Control Arthritis" write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Around The Rim Keep Those Calls Coming

There is something about the telephone that seems to attract weird situations. Put that telephone in a newspaper office, and anything can happen.

FOR INSTANCE, once while chasing down an elusive fact about some author or something, I called a schoolteacher I know. A strange voice answered and I asked whether the teacher was home.

"There's nobody here but the cat," was the reply. That stopped me for a minute. Either that wasn't the exact truth, or I had a real story. Talking cats are often heard of, but seldom heard from.

"WHO IS THIS," I cautiously queried. "I'm the neighbor. I came over to take care of her cat while she's out of town," the woman responded.

Even better than the calls we make are the ones we get.

"Can you tell me who won the World Series in 1952? My neighbor and I have this bet . . ."

"Can I speak to Dear Abby?"

"Do you know what Dr. Thosteson's home address is?"

"What's the population of the United States?"

MY FAVORITE caller, however, was the man passing through Big Spring who stopped at a local motel and called our sports desk before taking a room. He wanted to know what channel the telecast of a football game would be on — and he wanted to make sure the motel television would get that channel.

The telephone calls even extend to after office hours.

ONE EVENING at home I got a telephone call from a Herald subscriber.

"Are you the one who works for the newspaper?" I replied in the affirmative and got a 15-minute tirade from a man who hadn't received his afternoon paper. I promised to try to do better in the future.

And then there was the woman who called to tell me she was leaving on vacation. "That's nice" I said. It was the best comment I could think of at the moment. She then explained that she had tried to call the newspaper office and couldn't get an answer. Since she had seen my name in the afternoon paper she decided to call me. "Can you stop my papers for two weeks and save a vacation pay for me?"

Newspapers frequently cause minor family arguments which we get called in to referee. One woman called and said she and her husband were fighting over me. "He says you're about 50, and I said you're much younger," I had to take her side.

Art Buchwald Cancelling Your Insurance

WASHINGTON — There has been a rash of automobile insurance cancellations lately by the major companies, and everyone is very nervous about it. The other day my wife was notified that her auto insurance policy was being canceled. The notification gave no reason for the cancellation, and since my wife had not been in an accident or had ever made a claim, she was perplexed.

She asked me to get to the root of it and I took the next plane to visit our insurance company. The company is housed in a 56-story aluminum and tinted glass skyscraper on a 30-acre shopping plaza overlooking most of the state of Connecticut.

I ARRIVED on the 35th floor where one made inquiries concerning canceled insurance policies. After browsing through the company literature, which told how insurance was making America great, I was ushered into the office of Clyde Featherstone.

I gave Mr. Featherstone the cancellation notice and he clucked once or twice and then disappeared. He returned in a few moments with the folder.

"What did my wife do wrong?" I demanded.

"You wife didn't do anything wrong. Her records are all up to snuff."

"THEN WHY did you cancel her insurance?"

"Because of Trembling and Trembling, her insurance agents."

"Trembling and Trembling?" I said.

"Yes," said Featherstone, going through the folder. "They've been very naughty boys, very naughty indeed."

"Did they steal any money?" I asked.

"That's a foul lie," said Featherstone, losing his smile. "We're here to build buildings and real-estate developments, and finance ships and airplanes and ball parks. If we keep paying out claims, where would we get the money to construct this 56-story building with its beautiful shopping plaza and underground computer center?"

"I appreciate all that," I said, "but surely you have to pay some claims in order to stay in the insurance business."

"That's what Trembling and Trembling thought," Featherstone said, as he tore up my wife's folder.

Andrew Tully There's Money In Exploitation

WASHINGTON — Perhaps it is felicitous that a recent public appearance of Atty. William Kunstler, gentleman-in-waiting to the imperial court of the New Left, went largely unnoticed in the press and on the tube. But I claim the right to remark upon the occasion.

KUNSTLER ADDRESSED a large group of University of Maryland students, sharing the soapbox with a representative of the Maryland Attorney General's office. Naturally, Kunstler was applauded, and naturally the AG's assistant was heckled. That's not news. What should be news to those sincere liberals who support Kunstler's raucous exhortations as the stuff of real civil liberties is that not once did this self-styled champion of free speech ask his intellectual yokels to let the state official speak without interruption.

KUNSTLER is a lawyer and pretenses to be a man of learning and civilization. Striking what he fancies is a Jeffersonian pose, he recently declared that free speech today is in more danger than at any time in the Republic's history. Well, he should know. He contributes to this peril almost every time he appears in public with an individual taking an opposing view on an issue.

Like most of the youthful rabble that applauds him, Kunstler seeks civil liberties on his own arrogant, moist-handed terms. Dissent is good if it is mounted by student radicals; it is evil if attempted by the other side and should be shouted down, preferably with fusillades of four-letter words.

ON HIS RECORD, I suggest that Kunstler qualifies as one of those money-grabbing adults in the business and professional world whom Vice President Agnew has accused of exploiting the rock-cum-dope New Left. He literally lives off the revolutionaries, buying his sustenance from the fees paid him for appearances in court and on the lecture platform.

If not tidy, this is legitimate, the Kunstlers have to earn a living, too. But even those who hail his aggressive devotion to the revolution's cause must sometimes wonder about "WORSE!" They've written too many policies this year that people have made claims on. We've had to pay out $1,897 to Trembling and Trembling clients in the last 12 months.

"But what's that got to do with my wife's insurance policy? She didn't get any of the money."

"Ah, but since you are with Trembling and Trembling you are now considered a bad risk. Their record is your record."

"THAT'S NONSENSE." I hardly know Trembling and Trembling," I protested. "I wouldn't recognize them if I saw them on the street. This is guilt-by-association."

Featherstone smiled. "You came to us through Trembling and Trembling and you will leave with Trembling and Trembling. This company will not put up with people who make insurance claims against it."

"But that's what you're here for," I said. "To pay people off when something happens."

Kissing Their Boots, She Begg Them To Stop

By ELIAS ANTAR
Associated Press Writer

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Day blends into night and time loses its meaning as scenes of battle flash in the streets outside like violent, one-act plays.

The thunder of the guns, a symphony of death for thousands of Amman's 600,000 citizens, ebbs and flows like the pounding of surf.

One of the most pleasant sensations in Amman during the fall is the clean fresh air blowing in from the desert. But now the air is thick with cordite which stings the nostrils.

TENANT, TOMCAT?

Colors play a dominant role in one's impressions of the battle of Amman. Like the orange flash of an explosion, the gray and white puff of an artillery shell hitting a honey-colored house, and the thick black smoke of an oil fire.

It is dark now, and something moves on a rooftop nearby. It could be a curious tenant, a tomcat or a guerrilla.

Without asking questions, one of King Hussein's Bedouin soldiers opens up with a machine gun, ignoring instructions to fire only a few rounds at a time.

SCARLET LIGHT

The heavy bullets, lead covered with copper, smash against the house and crimson tracers blend with yellow sparks until the walls are bathed in scarlet light.

It is hard to say whether the guerrilla if it was a guerrilla — has escaped.

On the darkened horizon, artillery batteries open up, looking like a photographer's flashbulbs popping against a back-drop of black velvet. The shells land in an area inhabited by Palestinians who have been battling a huge fire for more than 24 hours.

The moon rises, lending a strange serenity to the embattled city. Another machine gunner opens up, sending red tracers almost vertically into the sky for no apparent reason.

A bright yellow parachute flare ignites above the darkened city. The gunner turns his fire against this new target. He misses, and the flare finally dies out after landing behind a row of houses.

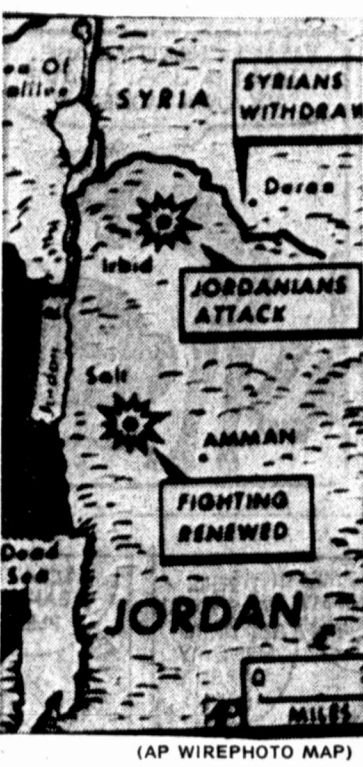

BUZZ OF BULLETS

The sun rises and a stiff breeze blows away the pall of smoke at least for the time being. Two men in khaki, but without the steel helmets worn by Hussein's troops, peer around the corner of a wall.

A soldier across a valley spots the pair and fires two or three rounds from his automatic rifle. He misses, and the crackle of gunfire echoes through the Seven Hills of Amman.

A machine gun battle explodes across the valley. The chattering has become so familiar that the only sound one picks out is the buzz of bullets bouncing off their targets.

In the distance, the two sides are fighting with mounting intensity. There is a continuous thunder of artillery, rockets, mortars and tank guns. A government ambulance pulls up near a hut which has received a direct hit. Four medics run over a wall for cover. The fire slackens and they unfurl a white flag and start up the steps again. Burst after burst of fire pursues them to the ambulance. But they make it safely and drive away with the two bodies.

During a brief lull a Palestinian woman runs out of her house. Hysterical with grief and shock, she falls at the feet of several Jordanian soldiers. Kissing their boots, she begs them to stop shooting at her house.

"My children, my father, my brothers," she wails, tugging at the trouser legs of a soldier carrying a submachine gun. The soldier steps back quietly, and the woman collapses sobbing on the sidewalk.

Bids Asked For Spillway At Moss Lake

Bids are being asked for Oct. 15 for a new spillway as the first step of increasing the capacity of Moss Creek Lake, a key terminal storage reservoir of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

The project may cost upwards of a quarter of a million dollars.

On behalf of the City of Big Spring, CRMWD recently obtained a permit from the Texas Water Development board to raise the dam 10 feet, thus increasing capacity of the reservoir from 2,477 acre-feet to 4,027 acre-feet.

Proposals will be received for construction of a concrete spillway where the No. 1 emergency spillway is now located at the north end of the dam. It will be 400 feet wide, 82 feet long, and will have wing walls.

Some 90,000 cubic yards of earth will have to be moved (including 16,000 for a core trench) and will be slipped to the toe of the dam as the first step toward increasing its height. The structure will call for 2,500 cubic yards of concrete and 3,200 cubic yards of rip rap.

Opening lead: Six of ♠. East realized that cashing out promptly was of the essence in defending against South's four heart contract. His main problem however, was in deciding how many tricks to try for in each suit.

West opened the six of clubs and the ace was played from dummy. The opposing trumps were drawn in two pulls and South led the ten of clubs next and let it ride after West followed with the four.

East was in with the queen and he paused for a moment to reconstruct his opponent's holding. From South's play so far, it seemed apparent that the declarer had started with seven hearts and three clubs.

This left him with three cards in spades and diamonds. If he held the ace of diamonds, then the contest was over, for that added up to 10 tricks.

In order to defeat the contract then, East must play his partner for the ace of diamonds. Now if South's remaining three cards were divided two and one between spades and diamonds, there would be a problem in guessing how to cash out—for it was perfectly clear that just as soon as declarer regained the lead, he could run enough clubs to bring his trick total to 10.

In an attempt to probe for more information, East shifted to the seven of diamonds. This appeared to be a "top of nothing" lead and it was his objective to induce West to shift to a spade. The fall of the spots in that suit might clarify the picture.

West put up the ace of diamonds and dutifully returned the three of spades which was most revealing to his partner. Since the three was presumably fourth best and the deuce was located in dummy, it became obvious that West had a maximum of four spades and South therefore held two cards in that suit. East confidently cashed the setting tricks in spades with the queen and ace.

Observe that if East makes the conventional lead of the king of diamonds first, he has no chance to recover, for South ruffs the continuation and runs for cover.

Jurist Celebrates 94th Birthday

DALLAS (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge T. Whitfield Davidson, silver-haired and spry, celebrated his 94th birthday in a hospital Wednesday.

The jurist entered Gaston Avenue Hospital several days ago after complaining of dizziness. He expected to go home today.

Friends joined him as he received a birthday cake, gifts and flowers. Davidson, now retired from active service, was appointed a federal judge by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1936. He still handles naturalization cases and reviews legal decisions.

Lowest Casualty Total In 4 Years

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that 52 Americans were killed and 333 wounded in action in the Vietnam war last week, the lowest over-all casualty toll in 4 1/2 years.

South Vietnamese battlefield casualties also dropped sharply last week, with 195 government troops reported killed—the lowest number since May, 1969—and 464 wounded, the lowest wounded toll in nearly three years.

The allied commands said 1,217 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops were killed last week, the lowest number of enemy reported slain in four weeks.

SMALL ATTACKS
The U.S. Command said that American battlefield deaths for the past 12 weeks are at a nearly five-year low, reflecting the disengagement of American troops from Vietnam and the Viet Cong's apparent re-emphasis on small guerrilla attacks rather than large battles.

In the only significant battlefield action in South Vietnam, spokesmen said government troops raided a North Vietnamese staging area two miles southwest of embattled Fire Base O'Reilly in the northern sector and killed 24 enemy without suffering any casualties.

The U.S. Command said that American gunners accidentally fired 36 rounds of mortar shells into a unit of the 4th Infantry Division operating along the central coastal plain Wednesday night. Two Americans were killed and four wounded.

MAJOR SUCCESS
Elsewhere, Communist forces again drove back Cambodia's biggest offensive of the war in the heartland north of Phnom Penh, inflicting serious government losses.

But the Cambodians' South Vietnamese allies claimed a major success in a six-day operation to clear the banks of the Bassac and Mekong rivers 30 to 50 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, with 200 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed in the past three days.

In Laos, North Vietnamese gunners hit a U.S. Air Force fighter-bomber on a mission along the Ho Chi Minh trail, but the pilot, Capt. John W. Newhouse, 30, of Rowayton, Conn., guided the crippled plane back to Vietnam and bailed out 18 miles southwest of Hue. He was picked up by a rescue helicopter and was reported slightly injured.

SHOT DOWN OVER LAOS

It was the first American jet fighter-bomber reported shot down over Laos in two months. In Cambodia, North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops entrenched in the village of Taing Kauk, 47 miles north of Phnom Penh, drove Cambodian paratroopers out of the southern edge of the village Wednesday.

A spokesman for the Cambodian military command said the government forces suffered moderate casualties over-all in the day-long battle, the second attempt in 11 days to recapture the village where 300 to 500 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong are reported dug in.

The Cambodians are trying to open Route 6 between Taing Kauk and the provincial capital of Kompong Thom to the north in an effort to recapture some of Cambodia's heartland.

Completion Near On Water System

Rapid progress is being made toward completion of a brackish well water supply for the SACROC oil unit in southwest Scurry County.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District is installing the system and has five wells, capable of supplying over 3,000,000 gallons per day, completed. Gathering lines and a central tank are being installed along with well pumps.

About two-thirds of a four and a half mile (24-in) pipeline to the SACROC unit has been laid. O. H. Ivie, CRMWD general manager, estimated work can be finished within 10 days.

Diphtheria Epidemic Worst In 14 Years

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — This city's diphtheria epidemic is the nation's worst in 14 years and the end is not in sight, health officials say.

Confirmed diphtheria cases stood at 102, with 29 more patients listed as "clinically confirmed" but unproved in laboratory tests. There also were six suspected cases.

The National Center for diseases Control in Atlanta said it is the worst diphtheria epidemic in the United States since a Detroit outbreak in 1956, when 141 cases were recorded.

Dr. Marthelyn Green, head of communicable disease control here, says she sees no signs of the epidemic ending in the near future. Other local authorities have said the outbreak may last a year.

The disease, which can damage the heart and nervous system, has killed two children here this year. The mother of one of the victims said Wednesday that an autopsy showed her son's heart was so heavily damaged "it looked like a pulp."

She said the boy, 6, who died Aug. 1, had received two shots in the diphtheria immunization series, but a cold prevented him from receiving the third inoculation required for full protection.

Children need three diphtheria shots. Anyone over age 6 needs two. Boosters should be obtained every 10 years, or every five in epidemic situations.

Terror In 10 Schools

HOUSTON (AP) — Police will put 10 public schools under surveillance because of reports of threats and harassments of pupils, Mayor Louie Welch said Wednesday.

About 20 mothers told the City Council Wednesday they wanted protection for their children and that there was "terror in their schools."

The mayor warned about the damage caused by rumors, one of which drew a request from the federal government for an investigation after persisting for four years.

Councilman A. L. Miller said he was convinced that many of the reports of violence were more than rumors and that the school board should be made aware of the council's concern.

Welch said the 10 schools under watch are checked while the pupils are going and coming from school. He said that police stationed in the schools might do more harm than good, but that he has talked to school administrators about the possibility of an internal security system.

Office Education Group Organizes

COAHOMA — The Coahoma Chapter of Office Education Association, has elected officers for the 1970-71 season, including Pat Sweeden, president. Others are Billy Don Fishback, vice president; Arlene Milliken, secretary-treasurer; Connie Howell, reporter; Terri Anderson, historian; Dicky Stone, parliamentarian; and Wayne Morris, sergeant at arms. Mrs. Marie Ethridge will serve as chapter advisor.

The chapter's meetings are planned for the first and third Monday's of every month. A project will be to sell candy in order to raise money for the various activities that the chapter will have throughout the year. The next scheduled meeting is Oct. 5.

Second Victim Of Crash Named

FORT WORTH (AP)—Authorities identified the second of two men killed in the collision of a freight train and a truck in North Tarrant County Wednesday.

He was Douglass Hernandez, 16, of McKinney. The other victim was identified earlier as Julian C. Nava of Waco.

The accident occurred four miles north of Saginaw about noon.

Shutdown Of Banks Send Irish To Bars

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — A bank shutdown in Ireland is forcing the public to turn to bartenders, druggists and grocers for cash—and the shutdown is threatening to spread to Northern Ireland.

Union leaders are considering calling out 3,000 affiliated bank employees in the six Northern Irish counties governed by Britain. Bank clerks on both sides of the border belong to the same union, the Bank Officials Association.

6,500 IDLED
 "It's quite in the cards that clerks in the northern offices will be asked by the officials' association not to handle business from Eire," said a union official.

Since Ireland's 900 banks shut their doors last April 30, more than 6,500 employees have been idled.

The impasse began when bank employees demanded a 25 per cent pay hike on weekly salaries which range from $30 for clerks to $60 for managers. They began a slowdown to enforce their demands.

Finally the banks, claiming a backlog of checks had piled up to the point where the banking system couldn't function, closed down. Employees called it a strike.

STUBBORN IRISH
 The banks offered a 17 per cent increase. The employees turned it down. A labor court recommended 22½ per cent and the employees accepted, but demanded back pay for the time they have been idle.

The banks refused, and there's no sign of a break in the deadlock.

Despite the protracted dispute, cash is plentiful supply. Checks and bank drafts are accepted readily by saloons and stores.

"We take in so much cash it would be a problem to store it all safely," said Pat Quinn, owner of a Dublin supermarket.

"Checks and government pay orders are safer and are of no value to burglars."

Almost all the 6,500 idled employees have found temporary—or permanent—work, either in Ireland or abroad.

Pupils Protest 'Unfair' Firing

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — Several hundred North Texas State students dispersed peacefully Wednesday after gathering at the school's administration building to protest what they called the "unfair" dismissal of a graduate student-instructor.

Police announced early in the afternoon that they were leaving working on a Ph.D. in English, the campus because the student said she had been told that her dents indicated they would then fellowship would not be renewed do the same. No further incident because of "obscene language" occurred.

and conduct unbefitting an instructor in front of students and others on the university campus."

About 70 students gathered late Wednesday morning while Mrs. Duke was appealing the decision with administrators and a representative of the state attorney general's office.

Later a group of more than 200 gathered carrying signs saying "Support the Constitution."

Sunday Blue Law Hits Bryan Store

HOUSTON (AP) — A Bryan discount retail store has been stopped from selling prohibited items on consecutive Saturdays and Sundays in violation of a state blue law.

The 14th Court of Civil Appeals upheld a lower court ruling Wednesday enjoining Cook's Bryan, Inc., and Sundaco, Inc. from operating both days.

The store operates under the name of "Cook's Discount Center."

The appeals court ruled that the store was operated by Cook's Monday through Saturday and by Sundaco each Sunday and that the arrangement between them was a "sham and subterfuge" by which to conceal the blue law violations.
