'Crisis' Near In Crime Wave, Hunt Tells City

Commissioner Urges Board to Take Action to Halt Robbery Of Stores and Homes in Wichita Falls

Unchecked robberies of Wichita Falls homes and stores have reached the stage of a "crisis" in which the city council should take action, Alderman J. W. Hunt told the board at its regular meeting Monday night at the Memorial auditorium.

With the exception of voting on second reading an ordinance regulating street awnings, the council devoted its entire session to a discussion of the number of robberies here in the last few months. The conversation, however, failed to result in a motion or any action by the council.

"We should do something, if it is possible, to halt the number of robberies here," Alderman Hunt told the group.

"The police department and the city have been criticized for not stopping some of the burglaries. Some of this criticism is unjust and some of it may be just, but regardless of this, I believe this city is approaching a crisis in its government if we cannot better protect property here."

Other aldermen joined in a general review of the subject, and a discussion of the methods of the Wichita Falls police department. The present method of policing the residential section and the belief of the police force that servants in the homes robbed are responsible for many of the thefts were given a major part in the discussion. No program for meeting the situation was advanced by the council.

Forbidden Sex Article Makes U.T. Outlaw Paper Sell At $1 Per Copy

Missouri University Questionnaire Places Proper Appeal On Fools Sheet to Cause 'Sell-Out'

AUSTIN, April 1. (AP)—The Blunderbuss, Texas university outlaw publication, was selling at $1 a copy here tonight wherever one could persuade someone to part with the four small, yellow sheets. The police still were looking for the publishers.

It contained the University of Missouri sex questionnaire and scads of "low-down" on university students that could be termed scandalous, if not scurrilious.

Chief of Police R. D. Thorp confiscated 25 copies from an old, blind vender and announced that he would arrest and prosecute for criminal libel anyone he suspected of being connected with the publication.

Dean V. I. Moore of the university, askd police to suppress the sheet. It already had been generally circulated about the campus and in fraternity houses, it was said.

The sheet carried a number of advertisements of Austin merchants and police said they would try to trace the offenders this way. Some of the merchants said, however, that they had done the advertising business over the telephone with anonymous persons.

The papers were sold originally for 25 cents per copy. The Blunderbuss, which made its appearance annually for a number of years on All Fools day, was suppressed by university authorities several years ago.

The Barb, anti-fraternity publication, recently threatened to publish the sex questionnaire, but its publishers were persuaded not to do so by Dean Moore and others.

LINDBERGH ON FLIGHT SOUTH

Colonel Leaves El Paso For Mexico City

EL PASO, Texas, April 1. (UP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh played his own April Fool joke on attendants at El Paso municipal airport today.

At 5:20 p. m. airport workers sighted a plane approaching from the west.

"Another one of those Mexican rebels," said the attendants.

A. E. Johnson, airport manager, took a closer look at the plane as its pilot brought it down on the field and taxied toward the gas pumps. The aviator hopped out of the plane and asked Johnson if he could get some gas and oil.

"Why, it's Colonel Lindbergh," said the surprised Johnson. "How are you, Colonel?"

Lindbergh smiled, and shook hands all around.

He ordered his tank filled and inspected the motor himself. Attendants put 127 gallons of gasoline and 10 gallons of oil in the plane.

"So you were a fraid I was a rebel?" he inquired, as he handed Johnson a $50 bill. He then began studying a map of the routes between El Paso and Brownsville. The colonel said he left Santa Barbara, Calif., this morning, and was on his way to Mexico City to see his fiancee, Miss Anne Spencer Morrow.

Lindbergh said he intended to fly late tonight and indicated he would follow the border, because he inquired about conditions on the route to Marfa, Fort Clark and Del Rio. He took off at 5:55 p. m.

PUBLIC TRAINS SUSPICIOUS EYE ON 'DRY' SOLONS

Jones Law Enthusiasts Who Wink at Prohibition Set Bum Example

TWO FACE CHARGES

Publicity Given Michaelson And Morgan Expected To Induce More 'Care'

WASHINGTON, April 1. (UP)—Closer public surveillance of congressmen and other government officials who talk and vote dry and violate the prohibition law, as well as the exercises by them of more care, is expected to follow the wide publicity now being given two house members who face the toils of the law.

It is not at all unlikely there will be a congressional investigation of the two incidents which have turned the spotlight directly upon the men who make the laws—charges of bringing liquor into the United States involving Representatives Michaelson, Illinois, and Morgan, Ohio, both Republicans and both of whom voted for the drastic Jones law.

Check Up on "Winks"

The public, naturally, will want to know just how widespread is "winking at the law" among those who make it, a law the public is exhorted to obey. President Hoover, the public naturally feels, was talking to congressmen and other officials as well as the rank and file of the citizenry when he appealed in his inauguration message for support from the great body of so-called law-abiding citizens.

Charges have been made, intermittently, on the floors of congress, that some members who vote dry, drink wet, and it is no secret that this has been the case. Sporadically, these charges are made. There is a flurry of excitement, and then it dies down.

MICHAELSON GIVES UP AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, April 1. (US)—Congressman M. Alfred Michaelson today surrendered to the federal authorities and posted $2,000 bond to guarantee his appearance in federal court in Jacksonville to answer charges of illegal possession and transportation of liquors.

Michaelson, who has been sought for three days, entered the office of Deputy United States Marshal Edward King, saying:

"Well, here I am. What is there to this silly rumor of my importing liquor from Cuba?"

King informed him he didn't know a thing about the case but served the warrants.

Denies Charge

United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker was called to King's office and Michaelson waived examination on which the $2,000 bond was fixed.

"I had absolutely no liquor," Michaelson declared. "And I expect to prove that to the satisfaction of the public. All I ask is that the public withold its judgment until this matter has been settled in the courts."

The congressman, who had not spent more than eight minutes in all in the federal building, then hurried away.

In a later interview Michaelson said he had been in the East and had just returned this morning.

PROBE IN MORGAN CASE LAUNCHED

NEW YORK, April 1. (US)—United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle today launched his investigation into assertions that Representative William M. Morgan, member of congress from Ohio, brought four bottles of liquor into the port of New York a week ago. He was closeted for three hours with six United States customs officials, obtaining their testimony.

At the close of the session Tuttle said he would not say whether he will present the testimony to the federal grand jury until after he has questioned two other officials. One of the two is Inspector James McCabe, considered one of the chief witnesses.

And Now Gene Howe Defends Name Of Muleshoe Against Roseborough

AMARILLO, Texas, April 1. (AP)—Gene Howe, editor of the Amarillo News-Globe, who recently created a furor with his criticism of Mary Garden and the opera "Thais," as presented here has entered another fight to preserve the "real culture of the plains."

Mr. Howe this time will combat a movement to change the name of the town of Muleshoe, in Bailey county, to Roseborough, he will say in Tuesday morning's issue of the News-Globe. Seeing the names representative of the "real culture" of the cow country go by the boards one by one—there was Mog Creek, for instance, changed to Desdemona after the discovery of oil—Howe says he has aligned himself with one "Peter Wormfoot," described as an old-time cowman," to combat the tendency of the "highbrows" and "intellectuals" of the plains to change old western names to new ones more pleasing to the esthetic ears of a new generation.

Howe says he was appealed to by the "Mr. Wormfoot," heading a committee to retain the old name of Muleshoe, because the editor speaks French fluently and has studied grand opera abroad.

There is no excuse for the establishment of a "sagebrush aristocracy" on the plains of West Texas, Howe said in his letter of acceptance.

It is understood that President Hoover has approved Brown's plans under which the only assistant postmaster general to remain would be W. Irving Glover, second assistant in charge of air mail.

First Assistant Postmaster General Bartlett is to be replaced and that office so remodeled that the first assistant will become the right-hand of the postmaster general in formulating policies.

JUNGLES GRIP FAMOUS FLIERS

Southern Cross Crew Lost In Australia

SYDNEY, N. S. W., April 1. (US)—Fuel and supplies were being taken 200 miles by launch today to a point on the coast of Australia near the jungle spot where Capt. Charles E. Kingsford-Smith and his three companions made a forced landing Saturday.

The last word received from the stranded fliers in the famed Southern Cross came at 11 p. m. Saturday, when Capt. Charles T. P. Ulm, who accompanied Captain Kingsford-Smith on his famous transatlantic flight, radioed:

Hopelessly Lost

"Have been hopelessly lost in a dense tropical rain for 10 hours. Making forced landing at a place we think 150 knots from Wyndham. Rotten country. Will communicate as soon as possible. Cheerio."

Because it was believed the stranded aviators were unable to reply to radio messages, since the transmitter is only working when the plane is in the air, radio stations tonight were continuously sending out detailed instructions telling the fliers how they could transform the apparatus into a ground transmitter.

The country in which the Southern Cross came down is one of the densely wooded "bush" sections of Australia, and the aviators are in imminent danger of capture by one of the various wild aboriginal tribes that overrun the region.

Monsoon Prevents Rescue

A typical southern monsoon prevented the taking off of a rescue plane, but it is believed the crew of the launch may be able to penetrate the jungle as far as the place where the plane was forced down.

Captains Kingsford-Smith and Ulm, with H. A. Litchfield, navigator and T. H. McWilliams, radioman, were making the first leg of a projected flight to Singapore and eventually to England. Wyndham was to have been their first stop.

JOHN GARNER GIVEN OKEH BY COMMITTEE

Federal House Investigators Exonerate Democrat Chief

DECISIVE VICTORY

Fraud Taints Hidalgo Vote, Solons Say in Their Report

WASHINGTON, April 1. (AP)—The special house campaign committee which investigated charges of fraud in the Texas primaries and general elections last year has reported that Representative John Garner, new house Democratic leader, was clearly entitled to his seat in congress.

The report, prepared by Chairman Lehlbach and made public today, declared there was "not a scintilla of evidence" to sustain the charge that fraud was practiced at the July primary. Testimony offered by Sid Hardin, Garner's opponent, the report added, showed that Garner defeated Hardin so overwhelmingly "that no possible motive for fraud in his behalf existed."

Wholesale Fraud

The report did say, however, that in Hidalgo county, in Garner's congressional district, the November general election was "tainted" with wholesale fraud in various forms" and recommended that the committee's conclusions be turned over to the department of justice with a request for investigation by a special assistant attorney general.

The report held that the throwing out of returns, practically all Republican, from the Weslaco district in Hidalgo county because of "trivial irregularities" was "utterly without justifiable grounds," and that such action deprived various candidates for president, vice president and United States senator of upwards of a thousand votes.

Mexican Voters

The committee also found that the "voting of thousands of Mexican citizens or naturalized Mexicans for whom the Baker machine paid poll taxes was overwhelmingly established by the evidence." The Baker ferred to is A. Y. Baker, sheriff of Hidalgo county.

The report declared the alleged frauds in the general election "were intended neither for the benefit of Representative Garner, nor could they in fact have been of benefit to him."

"His election," it was added, "was not contested either formally or informally, and not a single individual could be found who took the slightest active steps in behalf of any formal or informal candidate for Mr. Garner's seat in congress.

"We find his title to the seat in the 71st congress is clear, and that at no time and under any circumstances has he been implicated in irregularities either in the primary or general elections.

Innocent of Coercion

"Nor is Representative Garner in any way implicated in efforts to coerce Hardin by threat of indict-

"The feeling in Aurora all last week was running high," Coroner Vierke said. "There also will be more room in the county court house to accomodate the large crowd that is expected. We don't look for any serious trouble but there would be less danger at Geneva."

Federal Cavalry Swoops Down on Escobar After Forced March

BATTLE STILL RAGING

Fiercest Conflict of Revolution Is in Progress; Rebels Blocked

MEXICO CITY, April 1. (US)—Two fights in one day—one at Jiminez, in the state of Chihuahua, the other at Limon, in the state of Sinaloa, mark the most intense military activity yet produced by the revolt.

At this moment, the outcome of the Jiminez fighting, in which many rebels were killed, is still undetermined while the clash at Limon between federal and rebel cavalry has rsulted in 150 rebels being slain. No mention of the number wounded is made in the reports received here tonight.

"We are fighting up and down the streets and from roofs to roofs."

REBEL FLIERS ACTIVE

NACO, Sonora, Mexico, April 1. (AP)—One federal soldier was wounded in today's second aerial bombardment of the fortifications by rebel planes. Four bombs were dropped, all falling inside the entrenchments, but only two exploded.

Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan radioed the war office just after noon today.

A later message from the federal commander said:

"The streets are strewn with rebel dead. Our machine guns are driving them out of all their positions."

Surprise Attack

Taking the 6,000 rebels under Gen. J. Gonzales Escobar by surprise through flank movement accomplished by deserting the rail lines for a forced march in a short cut across the hills, General Almazan at the head of more than 6,000 cavalry swooped towards Jiminez. The rebels had only a brief time in which to man their trenches.

Trenches inside and outside the city were hastily manned by the rebels.

A series of dispatches from General Calles, minister of war, who is at the front, and with another large force moving northward, gave the war office and President Portes Gil a graphic picture of the stirring engagement as it progressed.

Fight Resumed

The following message from G. Almazan was relayed to Castle Chapultepec by General Calles at noon from Corralitos, in Chihuahua:

"We effected contact with the

Waggoner Interests Seek to Draw Water Supply From Beaver Creek

AUSTIN, April 1. (AP)—The Waggoner Refining company of Electra has filed an application with the state board of water engineers for permission to appropriate 7,000 acre feet of water a year for mineral and industrial purposes from Beaver creek, tributary to the Wichita river.

Details of the Waggoner Refining company's plans with reference to appropriation of water in Beaver creek, for which application was said to have been made in Austin Monday, were not available Monday night.

In fact, C. F. Colp, general manager of the Electra refinery, denied the application had been filed before the board of water engineers at Austin, as reported in Associated Press dispatches. "We have no plans of that nature," he said.

However, it was learned from the office of Bob Moore, of Vernon, manager of the Waggoner estate, that Mr. Moore had gone to Austin, and it was presumed in Vernon that he had filed the application.

It was unofficially stated in Wichita Falls that water obtained from Beaver creek in the new project would be made available to operators in the Waggoner pasture.

Committee's Report Made Public at Capital

ments. Such ill-considered efforts were apparently confined to an ambitious, not to say bumptious, brand-new assistant district attorney, Wilson West."

In connection with the contest between Augustus McCloskey, Democrat, of San Antonio, and Harry M. Wurzbach, Republican, of Seguin, in the 14th district, the report made no recommendation, calling attention to the fact that the matter was before the courts and that election was involved in a contest before the house of representatives.

It concluded, however, that the investigation showed that "changes were made in the official returns during the time between their delivery by the presiding judges and their canvass by the county commissioners."

Financial Reports

The report, filed March 3 by Lehlbach, but withheld from publication until it was printed, also contained the receipts and expenditures of the Republican and Democratic parties for the 1928 presidential campaign up to February 28, 1929.

Total expenditures for both parties amounted to $16,786,694, while the total amount raised was $17,458,427.

The Republican national committee raised $10,111,409 and expended $9,510,636.

The Democratic national committee raised $7,347,118, including loans aggregating $1,600,00, and expended $7,276,058.

The cars bore slogans saying "good government always wins."

Fitzhugh was to be the principal speaker at a mass meeting of the Independents tonight at Edinburg.

Herrick to Receive Highest Honor Ever Paid Foreigner by Parisians

PARIS, April 1. (US)—France will accord Myron T. Herrick homage such as never in history has been paid to a foreigner.

Stirred to the depths by a profound emotion of sorrow which has reached high and low alike, the French people today poured out sympathy in a manner unprecedented.

Inspired by the same feeling, the French government has prepared a program of tribute which goes as far as such honor may be accorded to one not a Frenchman. The dead American ambassador will receive a national funeral at the hands of the republic.

Raymond Poincare, who as president first welcomed Herrick to France, will, as premier, deliver the funeral oration beside the body of the beloved diplomat, lying in a room in the United States embassy.

It will be a tribute unprecedented in recent French history. Full military honors will be accorded the ambassador's body as it is borne from the embassy to the American protestant episcopal cathedral.

Then the crack French cruiser Tourville, pride of the French navy, will bear the body over the Atlantic to America.

School and College News

Eight members of the high school and Junior college faculty affiliated with a newly organized junior chamber of commerce when the junior chamber held its first banquet at the Wichita club. Faculty members who joined the organization are B. T. Adams, W. A. Mangum, I. C. Presson, W. J. Morris, Howard Bunch, E. A. Baggett, W. T. Falls and R. O. Jones.

Dean S. H. Rider and Brooks P. Henderson are members of the senior chamber of commerce.

A. K. Presson, registrar of the Junior college, spoke at the semi-monthly Junior college assembly Monday morning during the half-hour period on "Difficulties of Transferring From the Junior College to Another Institution." In his speech Mr. Presson gave four main reasons for the difficulties encountered in transferring from the local Junior colleges to other institutions, particularly the senior colleges. As his first reason, Mr. Presson stated that the courses taken are not in the right field. He explained that some students make a study of some courses that will not be needed at all in the field he later registers for in senior college. Second, the hours do not fit properly. That is, some colleges require a certain number of hours for a subject, while others grade from a basis of semesters. Third, low grades. In some institutions students may enter with an average of D or E, while other colleges require higher averages upon entrance into the school. Fourth, he said that schools will not accept credits because of the nature of the institution. He gave an example of a student who graduated from the local Junior college with unusually high grades, and asked for admittance into a doctors' training school. He was denied admittance into the institution because the Wichita Falls Junior college was not a member of the association to which the school belonged.

Plans for providing the meetings with entertainment featured the regular meeting of the sophomore class following the adjournment of the college assembly Monday morning. Ameel Kouri and Robert Gohlke were appointed by President Gordon Fulcher as a committee to provide entertainment at the next meeting. The class voted unanimously not to have invitations, following a precedent set by the earlier classes of the college.

A. K. Presson, registrar of the college, asked all graduating sophomores to give orders for caps and gowns soon, and appointed Jim Tom Barton to take all orders from boys and the class, and Rita Bob Turner to take orders from the girls. R. O. Jones, class sponsor, appealed to class members to keep up their grades, now that another grade period is nearing.

Members of the Girls Hiking club of the Junior college will hold a "winegar woiks wobble," or a dance, at the Junior coffee shop Thursday night, according to Virginia Belle Walker, president of the organization. An admission charge of 50 cents for "stags" and 75 cents for each couple will be made for the dance, and each attendant is urged to attend in Apache costume.

"Resolved: "That Members of the Fairer Sex Should Pay Half the Expenses of 'Dates'" will be the topic for debate at the weekly meeting of the Junior college senate which is scheduled to be held Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock at the local college.

The sides of the question will be upheld by two collegians and two co-eds, respectively.

The topic has been under debate for some time among the undergraduates, and many points, both pro and con, are promised by the debaters.

Although the information is not official, it was learned from an authoritive source that the affirmative speakers have traced proof for their argument back to the time of Aristotle and Caesar.

GRAND JURY TO END WORK

Report Expected at Noon Today to Close Term

The shortest grand jury session within the memory of Wichita county officials is expected to close at noon Tuesday when the 30th district grand jury, impaneled by Judge Allan D. Montgomery Monday morning, hands in its report.

Officials expect the body to return bills covering routine complaints presented through the office of the district attorney, including charges of burglary, theft, forgery, and violation of the liquor laws. Witnesses called to testify on a special investigation of the activities of a precinct officer accused of having exacted and kept traffic fines, will be interviewed before the written report of the jury is completed, it was learned Monday afternoon.

In his charge to the grand jury Monday morning, Judge Montgomery covered only routine ground, making no comment or recommendation when he turned over to the body a verdict recently returned by a jury in the county court at law, asking that certain methods said to be employed by members of the constable's department be investigated.

Frank Boyd of Iowa Park was made foreman of the body impaneled Monday. Other members are A. C. Rayzor, Charles P. McGaha, J. H. S. Bonner and Marrill Blair of Wichita Falls; W. F. George of Iowa Park, W. D. Utts, E. L. Blum and Bruce Schumacker, Burkburnett; J. M. Hamby, A. C. Ruppy and W. M. Austin, Electra.

traitors in front of Jiminez at 1 a. m. The fighting continued until nearly sunrise. There was then a lull. Fighting was resumed at 6:30 a. m. We are at this time within a kilometer and a half of Jiminez.

"At 7:30 an enemy airplane flew over the federal positions. We sent up two planes to engage it, and as soon as they neared the other plane the enemy made a hasty landing. Our airmen reported the enemy forces as disorganized. A captain of the rebels deserted to us with 33 men.

"At 9:30 the battle had become general."

At 11:30 this forenoon a rebel plane rose up from the city of Jiminez and flew off towards the city of Chihuahua. General Almazan reported to General Calles that he believed the plane was carrying the three rebel leaders, Generals Escobar, Urbalejo and Villareal.

Retreat Cut Off

At noon General Almazan sent a brief message saying:

"The retreat of the rebels has been cut off to both Parral and Chihuahua City."

Early in the action General Almazan brought his artillery into play. General Calles telegraphed President Portes Gil that the federals were laying a destructive barrage on enemy positions at the railway station and north of the city.

Before noon, after the fighting had become extremely severe, General Almazan reported to General Calles:

"Our artillery is working fine, making many direct hits over the enemy lines at the railway station."

At 12:30 this afternoon General Almazan radioed:

"At this moment our troops took possession of the station and the tracks of the branch line going to Parral. We found several engines facing south. The enemy cannot any longer flee in that direction."

During the afternoon General Almazan reported that according to a statement from the captain who had deserted from the rebels to the federals, the strength of the Escobar forces at Jiminez did not exceed 5,000 men.

The official announcement of the battle was made "orally" by officials of the war office during the day. The first "official" announcement stated:

"General Almazan is in command of the federal cavalry attacking forces under General Escobar at Jiminez. The cavalry converged on the town from the northeast."

MYSTERY BOMB CAUSES STIR

JUAREZ, Chihuhua, Mexico, April 1. (AP)—Juarez was stirred today by an alleged attempt to assassinate Gen. Augustin de la Veva, commandant of the rebel garrison here. A 24-pound dynamite time bomb was found dumped into a water trough by the general himself after it had reposed on his desk for more than an hour.

Last night Edmondo Herrera, chief of police, was attracted by a large red object on the pavement as he rode down the street. He discovered it was a time bomb about 18 inches long. Its clock mechanism was set to explode the bomb at 10:30 p. m.

Herrera called a soldier and ordered him to take the bomb to the general's headquarters and destroy it. Apparently misunderstanding the orders, the soldier placed it on the desk of General De la Vega, who was absent. A few minutes later General De la Vega walked into his office and saw the bomb.

With an expression of disgust, the commandant ordered an aide to disconnect the timing device and dump the explosives in an irrigation canal. Continuing on an inspection tour, the general returned to his office at 10:15 p. m. The bomb still reposed on his desk, the aide explaining he had been unable to find a soldier to take it to the canal.

Hastily, General De la Vega picked up the bomb and dashed into the yard where it was lowered into a water trough.

COUNTY PAYS 50 ROAD BONDS

Money Also Voted For Work on Spillway Bridge

Retirement of more than 50 road and bridge bonds, involving in principal, interest and exchange, a total of $328,000, was authorized by the county commissioners court at its regular meeting Monday. The payment represents the annual retirement program of the county, according to T. W. McHam, county treasurer, who will forward the money to the Hanover National bank and to the National Bank of Commerce before April 10.

New Justice Named

The court voted to add $5,325.62 to $1,500 allowed by the city for the completion of the Lake Wichita spillway bridge, linking the Wichita and Archer county paving scheme. The total $6,825.62 was ordered placed in escrow to meet the city and county share in the total cost of around $20,000. The order completed one of the last steps to be taken before the work can get under way, it was explained.

J. W. Williamson was appointed justice of the peace of precinct No. 3, to fill the vacancy made by the death of E. M. Bledsoe, former justice. J. R. Raley, appointed by the court last week, declined to serve. The court also approved the appointment of A. E. Spray as deputy constable in Burkburnett under constable N. P. Sanders.

The commissioners instructed E. P. Walsh, auditor, to advertise for bids for the construction of two concrete bridges on the Clara-Willberger road at an approximate cost of $4,000. Work will start as soon as the contracts are let, L. L. Kuntz, commissioner for precinct three, announced.

Tractor Purchased

The bid of the Lone Star Road Machinery company, offering a road tractor for $5,000, was accepted for precinct three by Mr. Kuntz at the meeting Monday.

The court voted not to renew the lease of two corners on East Broadway at the intersection of the Iowa Park road, now occupied by a filling station and a hamburger stand. Acting on a motion which explained that the buildings obstructed the road at a dangerous turning, the commissioners voted to clear both sides. The leases expire in May and in July.

Hospital Report

The auditor's annual report for the Wichita General hospital for the year 1928 was presented to the court. It showed receipts totaling $75,436.85 and disbursements amounting to $74,269.58. The balance on Dec. 31, 1928, stood at $1,167.27, according to the report. Of the receipts, the city and county contributed a little more than $14,000 each.

Doctor Found What is Best for Thin, Constipated People

W. B. Caldwell M.D. AT AGE 88

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. They were constipated.

In the course of his 47 years' practice (he was graduated from Rush Medical College back in 1875), he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with pepsin. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of a medicine to be known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in that year his prescription was first placed on the market.

The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drug stores as it previously had in his private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day somewhere somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. Millions of bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are being used a year.

Its great success is based on merit, on repeated buying, on one satisfied user telling another. There are thousands of homes in this country that are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and we have gotten many hundreds of letters from grateful people telling us that it helped them when everything else failed. Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.—Adv.

CITY FINANCIAL REPORT ISSUED

U. S. Tells Distribution Of Wichita Taxes

Special to The Record News.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—The department of commerce announces a summary of the financial statistics of the city corporation of Wichita Falls, Texas, for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1928. It should be noted that in order to put the city of Wichita Falls on a basis comparable with those cities in which the schools and water improvement districts are a part of the city corporation, the figures here given include 95.9 per cent of the transactions of the board of education of Wichita Falls for the fiscal year closing Aug. 31, 1928, and the transactions of the independent water improvement district No. 1 for the same fiscal year, the percentage in the case of the schools being based on the rate of the assessed valuation of the city to that of the entire school district. No per capita figures are given, there being no estimate of the population of this city shown for 1928. These statistics were compiled by W. E. McBroom, city clerk.

Expenditures

The payments for operation and maintenance of the general departments of Wichita Falls amounted to $1,033,742. In 1927 the comparative amount for operation and maintenance of general departments was $989,884. Payments for the operation and maintenance of public service enterprises in 1928 (waterworks and cemeteries) amounted to $167,696; interest on debt, $580,440; and outlays for permanent improvements, including those for public service enterprises, $1,141,289. The total payments, therefore, for operation and maintenance of general departments and public service enterprises, for interest, and outlays, including schools and the water improvement district, were $2,923,167. The totals include all payments for the year, whether made from current revenues or from the proceeds of bond issues.

The total payments included for the schools amounted to $525,862. Of this amount $521,767 represents payments for operation and maintenance; $108,507, interest on debt, and $195,588, outlays. The total payments for the independent water improvement district amounted to $332,732, of which $10,868 represents the costs for operation and maintenance of the district; $45,743, operation and maintenance of public service enterprises; $271,052, interest on debt; and $15,069, outlays.

Revenues

The total revenue receipts, including schools and the independent water improvement district No. 1, were $2,202,549. This was $420,671 more than the total payments of the year, exclusive of the payments for permanent improvements, but $720,618 less than the total payments, including those for permanent improvements. These payments in excess of revenue receipts were met from the proceeds of debt obligations. The revenue receipts included for the school district amounted to $681,978, and those for the water improvement district, to $428,949.

Property taxes represented 66.5 per cent of the total revenue for 1928 and 64.1 per cent for 1927. The increase in the amount of property taxes collected was 10.8 per cent from 1927 to 1928. The amount of property taxes collected was $1,465,385 in 1928 and $1,322,310 in 1927.

Earnings of public service enterprises operated by the city represented 14 per cent of the total revenue for 1928 and 15.4 per cent for 1927.

Indebtedness

The total funded or fixed debt outstanding March 31, 1928, was $10,181,635. Of this amount $5,337,560 was for public service enterprises.

The net indebtedness (funded or fixed debt less sinking fund assets) was $8,820,250. Of the total net indebtedness $3,719,903 was for the city corporation; $1,803,772, for the schools; and $3,296,575 for the water improvement district. In 1927 the net debt was $8,577,912.

Assessed Valuation and Tax Levies

The assessed valuation of property in Wichita Falls subject to ad valorem taxes for city corporation was $50,166,110. The levy for all purposes was $2,129,143, of which $702,325, or 33 per cent, was levied for the city corporation; $526,501, or 24.7 per cent, for the schools; $347,225, or 16.3 per cent, for the water improvement district; $252,085, or 11.8 per cent, for the state; and $300,997, or 14.1 per cent, for the county. The amount of taxes levied for the city, school, water improvement district, state and county was $1,846,414 in 1927.

Desirability of Classification

Final statistics of the cities having a population of over 30,000 have been collected since 1903, but because of the diversified accounting systems in the 250 cities in this class it is still necessary to have agents visit most of those cities to prepare the reports.

The bureau of the census advocates a simple, logical, and comprehensive classification of accounts, the use of which would permit obtaining readily accurate and comparable data. It requires only that the accounting officials segregate receipts and payments under proper headings, showing the sources of revenue and the objects of expenditure. This can be done in any city without changing the present system of accounting.

The cooperation of city officials in establishing a uniform classification of accounts would make it possible for the bureau, without greatly increasing expenditures, to collect statistics on this important subject for practically all cities in the United States.

Removal of Lamb County Seat From Olton to Littlefield Is Petitioned

Special to The Record News

LITTLEFIELD, Texas, April 1.—Following several community meetings in Lamb county, it has been decided to ask the commissioners court to immediately call an election for the removal of the county seat from Olton to Littlefield. Some 500 names have been signed to a petition and the court will doubtless make the call as soon as the law will permit.

Lamb county was organized in 1908. The entire county at that time was occupied by big ranches. The slaughter ranch in the northeast corner of the county was then being subdivided, and the county seat was placed at Olton, which is nine miles from the north line of the county and two miles from the east line. It is an inland town of about 500 people. The Santa Fe railway later crossed the southern part of the county and the towns of Littlefield, Sudan and Amherst are all on the railway. Littlefield is the largest town in the county, with a population of about 3,000. The election will be closely contested.

Chloroformed Weather Man's Letters Show Fatal Love Affair Was Not All

HARTFORD, Conn., April 1. (INS)—Further evidences of the love adventures of Harry E. Adams, head of the local weather bureau, who was killed by his wife, Olive, because, she said, he flaunted his affair with Dorothy Collins, a stenographer, came to light today. Adams was chloroformed by his wife as he slept.

Miss Collins is now in a state of collapse because of the public display of the dead man's intimate correspondence.

It now develops that also in the life of Adams there was "Jane," a Massachusetts school teacher, and "Alice," a married woman. Then, too, there were Irene and several others who succumbed to the occultism and personality of the weather expert.

Letter Revealed

A letter from "Jane" to Adams came to light today. It was postmarked Sept. 2, 1924, at South Rehobeth, Mass., and said in part:

"My own dearest sweetheart: Oh, how glad I was to see you, even for a second the other day. I only wish it might have been longer. I have to come up to Boston to the dentist's Saturday, the thirteenth, and can't you meet me in town, say at 11:30, and we can either go to lunch or out to Stoneham, or something?

"Oh, if I could have you with me for a short time—just you and I—how happy I should be. Oh, how I do love you and wish I might be nearer you all the time. Much love as ever.

"Your own, Jane."

More Letters

Another letter from "Jane," written from the schoolroom where she was teaching, was more fervent and ended in this manner:

"How I do long to see you, dearest, and be in your dear, strong arms once more. No one can take away our devoted love for each other, can they, sweetheart? Heaps of love and kisses."

On Oct. 27, 1924, Jane wrote:

"Darling: Of course I remember coming to see you in New Haven last year. Didn't we have two wonderful days together? Remember, I am yours and love you dearly. Think of me often and love me a lot. I can't begin to tell you how much I love you."

Adams' diary revealed that he was on friendly terms with Alice, the married woman. Her husband on one occasion interfered with a rendezvous between Alice and the meteorologist.

More of Miss Collins' letters also came to light. On Sept. 6 she sped the following emotions into her pen:

"You can imagine how I missed my husband's goodbye kiss, but I hope you will save it for some future time when we can have each other again. Be a good boy, dear, and don't flirt with any flappers."

She regarded herself as his Buddhistic "wife."

KIWANIS CLUB HEARS CRIMM

'Any Dog Can Run Good Race in Lead,' He Says

Rev. B. B. Crimm, cowboy evangelist, who is conducting a revival meeting in the tabernacle at Twenty-second street and Yale avenue, was the principal speaker at the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club held at the Kemp hotel Monday noon.

The speaker discussed the lessons in friendship and character-building which may be learned from close association with dogs.

"Any dog can run a good race when he's in the lead," said Rev. Mr. Crimm, "but it takes a dead game one to run when he's behind; and men are the same way."

Walter Nelson Jr., Gerald Pond and Charles Nolen had charge of a number of April fool stunts. Musical entertainment was furnished by Mary Perkins and her Imperial Hawaiian entertainers.

Announcement was made of an inter-city meeting to be held at Lawton, Okla., Thursday night. A number of local Kiwanis members will attend.

"FINE, I'll write you when I have an opening," said Mr. Halliday, president of the company.

A white lie . . . to save Jim's feelings! Mr. Halliday hadn't any idea of hiring Jim, but he couldn't tell him why.

So Jim waited hopefully. And . . . never heard. Why? He was considered clever. A hard worker. Reliable. What was wrong?

Then one night, a poster caught his eye. "No one," it said, "is safe from 'B. O.'" Body Odor! Jim wondered. Could that . . . be his trouble?

Jim is certainly glad he acted on that idea. For as soon as he suspected his handicap and discovered the simple way to overcome it, things started to change. Today he has a fine job.

"B. O." is treacherous! It hurts us socially. Ruins our business chances—without warning us. We never know when we offend. And no one will tell us.

Yet body odor is natural. We all have it—because to live we must perspire constantly. Even in cool weather our pores give off as much as a quart of odor-causing waste a day.

Oh, These Women

By LEOLA ALLARD

NEW YORK, April 1. (US)—Two men on an observation car. Both college men, both handsome.

"It's funny about women," said the thin one, lighting a fresh cigaret, "they don't go through any long process to arrive at conclusions but they are right nine times out of 10, and they make their decisions in one leap."

"I know it," said the fat one. "My wife isn't educated. She never went through even the first year of high school, but she is the smartest member of my family. With all my college education she's got me snowed under. She sometimes embarrasses me with her wrong use of words, but when I want help on a question of importance and I can't tell whether it is or is not the move for me to make, I ask the wife and she knows at once. And she's always right."

"It all goes to show," said the thin man, "that while it's fine to have the education and the fine manners, there is something much more important. Sometimes you have to live many years to find that out. I've learned it."

"I have too," said the fat man. "I've been all over the world and I've found people on far away islands who ate with their hands and I've found some in cities who ate with innumerable tools. I've seen folks crawl up trees and perch on a limb and munch fruit when they got hungry. And now, after all that I've found that it didn't matter at all what their manners were, or whether or not they knew about grammar. What was important was what was inside these people. Some with the quickest minds, the clearest reasoning, the best hearts I'll admit were not exactly what Park Avenue is pining for."

"I've known men who had wives who were so painfully perfect that life was torture in their homes," and the thin man shook his head at a memory he was not enjoying. "And I've known women who were fat and plain and had no style and talked loudly, and bleached their hair, who made home such a happy place that their men folks never wanted to go to any other place. And other men's wives wondered why this was."

"Of course," said the fat man, "I like a gentlewoman, with a pretty face and a pretty voice, and a pretty gown and a pretty good opinion of herself. But I wouldn't exchange my wife for any woman I ever saw, and she bought a green hat yesterday to wear with a red dress that fairly screeched when they met.

"She puts all the food on the table at once because that's the way she likes it. Some of our acquaintances look sidewise at each other when they eat at our home, but whatever she wants is what we are going to have."

A woman who could wear a green hat with a red dress and still have her husband rave about her, certainly has the secret of success in marriage.

But I'll wager, after a look at their hair, they didn't let their wives buy their necktie.

Men rather buy their own and come home to a fat wife who makes good lemon pie. A man who is full of lemon pie is color blind anyway.

Little Theater To Be Perpetuated Under New Plan

At a luncheon at the Wichita club at noon Monday, a round table discussion resulted in the formation of new plans for the development of the Little Theater, according to Mrs. James P. Bowen, leader in the work. The organization will be a community interest. The membership is open to every citizen or neighboring city citizen at a membership fee of $1, and every member will pledge him or herself to use or dispose of two tickets for the plays to be given this spring, of which there will be one or two. Each member joining between now and next Monday evening will become a charter member. On Monday evening, April 8, there will be a meeting at the Woman's Forum to complete all arrangements.

Committees have been appointed to consider the advisability of keeping the Little Theater in the Forum or giving the plays at some more central place. Committees also have been appointed to consider the plays and to perfect the executive staff.

The Little Theater will continue its work without a professional director in the future, it was said.

Persons wishing to join may telephone Mrs. W. H. Caldwell, treasurer, 3320, or Mrs. James P. Bowen, 8364.

Wichita Club Has Annual Dance In Night Club Style

The Wichita club ballroom was a scene of beauty Monday night when the annual Wichita club dance was held.

The little tables all around the walls were covered with gaily colored balloons; the lights draped in rose and gold tissues; a gold drop with crimson velvet curtains at the side for Sammy Williams and his serenaders, who furnished music through the night.

The black and white of the men's attire furnished just the right contrast for the colorful gowns of the ladies. There was assembled here one of the prettiest assortment of dresses seen in Wichita for a long time.

A dance on the order of a night club was planned, and the room had the appearance of a night club. The music furnished by the splendid dance orchestra and the vaudeville program at 9:30 and 11 o'clock made it seem really what the members had planned.

Joe Foster was master of ceremonies and the following numbers were offered in vaudeville:

Song and dance.....
—Nancy Jane Barling

Songs, "Weary River" and "Where the Shy Little Violets Grow"
—Jimmy Campbell

Varsity Drag.....
—Misses Helen Peters and Virginia Hampton.

WE WOMEN by Betty Brainerd

BROKEN HEARTS

BY WAY of proving that men are sentimental and women are not, H. L. Mencken writes as follows: "Very few women believe in broken hearts and the cause is not far to seek; practically every woman above the age of 25 has a broken heart.

"That is to say, she has been vastly disappointed, either by failure to nab some pretty fellow that her heart was set on, or worse, by actually nabbing him and then discovering him to be a bounder or an embecile, or both. Thus walking the world with broken hearts, women know that the injury is not serious."

I dispute the statement that every woman over 25 has a broken heart. Mr. Mencken confuses broken hearts with experience, with the strange and inevitable emotional processes of life.

Mr. Mencken's spangled statement has the glitter of an impressive and saucy epigram; and that is just what it is. It is one of his cute and provocative tricks of trade.

But Mr. Mencken's technique is immaterial to the question under discussion. Some men are sentimental and others are not and this is also true of women.

Mr. Mencken insists that women are more intelligent than men because they are less sentimental than men. Within the full significance of this assertion, Mr. Mencken unconsciously demolishes his own argument. If women were as unsentimental and as intelligent as Mr. Mencken contends, they surely would be able to avoid broken hearts!

Like a tradition that has come down the ages unchallenged and unexamined, the term "broken heart" has come to mean something it actually does not.

The road to happiness is not a short one, nor soft as down, nor smooth as glass. We live as we travel and have experiences. Shall every experience or episode, which comes to an end after the manner of life itself, but which was happy and delightful while it lasted, be set down as a tragedy, and therefore a cause for a broken heart? If women are as intelligent as Mr. Mencken tries to make them out to be, where is their sense of proportion?

Mr. Mencken does us an injustice. Some of us are sentimental and some of us are intelligent; but this applies to men, too. Mr. Mencken might with equal justice say that every man above the age of 25 has a broken heart.

He, himself, is proof of the fact that this is not so. His argument, finally, reduces all affairs of the heart to the stature of a mere trifle.

Erring Mothers Usually Responsible For Sulky, Fault-Finding Daughters

Who Is to Blame for the Bad-Tempered Daughter? Terrible Tales of Juvenile Wrecking Crews —Perfect Propriety in a Girl's Traveling Alone.

Dear Miss Dix: What can one do with a peevish, faul-finding, sulky, discontented daughter whose whole outlook on life is distorted, who magnifies trifles into insults and keeps her mother walking on eggs for fear of offending her? She threatens to leave home, but stays on, possibly because she is so comfortable, more likely because she is afraid of what people might think if she did go.
—UNHAPPY MOTHER.

Answer: Afraid of your own daughter? How do you get that way? And more important still, how did you let her get that way?

If you are honest with yourself you are bound to admit that you are primarily to blame for the situation, because if you had not let her get the upper hand of you when she was little she would not now have you under her thumb and tyrannizing the life out of you. Your chance to assert your sovereignty was when she was in the cradle, and if you had done so you would have had her so thoroughly under control that she would never have dreamed of rebelling against your authority.

I never see a mother letting her child talk back to her and say impudent things to her without wondering why she hasn't intelligence enough to know that the child is going to grow up to despise her and insult her and revile her. And I wonder still more that she hasn't enough sense to see that she could stop it once and for all by turning little Johnny or Mamie across her knee and giving him or her a spanking that would teach him or her that mother was a person to be respected and to whom you had to keep a civil tongue in your head when you addressed her.

If it is any comfort to you, however, to know that you are not alone in your sufferings, take it and welcome. I should say that about half the parents in America are in your plight and like in deadly fear of their children. They simply quake with terror of the bawling out that Tommy and Susie will give them if they cross them. They shudder with dread when they think of the caustic criticisms of Maud and Percy about their personal appearance, their manners, their friends and everything they do and leave undone.

They wouldn't dare to express an opinion in opposition to the views of Sam and Sally, nor would they dream of showing such an impertinence to Fanny and Bob as to ask them where they were going or when they came in, and far be it from them to use the automobile if any of the children want to take a joy ride.

Whose fault is it when parents are afraid of their children? Who brought up these boys and girls to be self-centered little egotists without a thought for anybody's else comfort but their own? Who reared them with no respect for authority? Who taught them that they didn't need to be even decent to father and mother and that they were meek, humble, cringing creatures to whom you could say anything?

Take these same youngsters away from home. They don't try to ride roughshod over strangers. They don't "sass" their teachers nor their bosses when they go to work. They are polite and courteous and considerate to everybody except the two people to whom they owe everything on earth. But it is the parents' fault. They could have taught their children to respect them if they had had the backbone of a fishing worm.

In your case, Unhappy Mother, the remedy is plain and simple. Spunk up for once in your life and tell your peevish, fretful, disagreeable daughter just where she gets off. Take your courage in both hands and inform her that unless she can be pleasant and agreeable and polite you would prefer to have her to leave home and find some other place in which to live.

The chances are, ten to one, that she won't go and that she is only bluffing when she threatens to leave, but if she does go it will be her salvation and yours, too, because she will have to behave herself among strangers and curb her bad disposition, and it will give your fretted nerves a chance to get well. Don't think that a girl who is old enough to be making her own living is going to the bad because she leaves home. She isn't. She knows how to take care of herself and she will be all right and so will you if you are parted.

I know of just such another case where this experiment has been tried and both the mother and daughter have been made over by the separation.

But I hope that every mother who has a saucy little child will profit by your case and that the first time the impudent little brat says an impertinent word it will get its come-up-ance.
—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I have a neighbor who has a normal, healthy, restless, 2½-year-old child that she always brings along with her when she comes to see me. In ten minutes this infant terrible does more harm in my house than I can repair in a week, and the mother gets peeved because I won't let it drum on the piano and scratch pictures with a pin on my best mahogany and grind cakecrumbs into my pet Oriental rug.

My husband thinks that he has hit upon a way to induce this fond mother to leave her mischievous child at home when she goes visiting. He proposes that when I return the visit I take along our cat and dog and parrot. The only trouble is that we wouldn't break her, because our pets are so much better trained than this woman's baby is. What do you think of this idea?
—MARTHA.

Answer: Great, provided you could stage a dog-and-cat fight and set the parrot to squawking.

I agree with you that visiting is no pastime for children. They are better off at home in their own environment and with their own toys and amusements and with those who are inured to their noise. So are pets for that matter.

I have suffered from visitations from both and had my typewriter broken in the midst of a "rush" story by a small boy whose complacent mother only remarked that Johnny had such an investigating turn of mind, and I have had my de luxe books dog-eared and chewed by teething infants whose mothers thought that the babies' love for books displayed a literary taste, and well do I remember a visit from a lady who brought along her lap dog, and what it did to a newly upholstered couch has made a coolness between us to this day.

So it is a stand-off between the woman who has little children and the woman who has pets, and when both go a-visiting they should leave their encumbrances behind them if they wish to be welcome.
—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I have an aunt out in California who wants me to visit her, but my mother absolutely refuses to let me go alone, saying that it would be a stigma on my reputation for all time. Would it?
—RUTH.

Answer: Certainly not. In this country no more is thought of a woman traveling alone than a man. As long as you conduct yourself with dignity and mind your own business and make no advances toward strangers you can go from one end of the land to the other without any one molesting you in any way and be just as safe as if you had a dragon along to guard you.

Your mother should withdraw her objection to your paying your aunt a visit. There is no more delightful trip than to go to California, and it will be both a pleasure and an education to you for you to see something of your own country. I wish you a pleasant journey.
—DOROTHY DIX.

Mr. and Mrs. Lomax Give Lovely Party For Mrs. Barrett

Mrs. A. E. W. Barrett of San Antonio, sister of Mrs. J. W. Lomax, was honoree at a lovely party when Mr. and Mrs. Lomax were at home Sunday evening to about fifty of their friends.

Pink roses, heavy headed pink and white snapdragons and primroses made the house fragrant and colorful. The dining room was particularly pretty with the table covered with a handsome lace cloth, a great bowl of pink roses in the center and tall pink tapers in silver holders at each end. A dainty feature of the decoration was the sprinkling of little green leaves the length of the table.

Friends called from 5 until 11 and were served with an artistic and delicious salad plate.

Mrs. Barrett will be honoree at several pretty parties while she is in the city.

Sugar useful in diet

Famous food scientist recommends it

THERE are several plain facts that people who are dieting for weight control should remember.

No one under 25 years old should be at all under weight.

Extreme dieting is dangerous to health and may result in permanent injury to the delicate tissues and organs of the body.

Sugar, in dessert, is a useful part of the meal.

Eminent authorities emphasize the dangers of fasting and they should be borne in mind by every person who wishes to remain healthy. One of America's leading food biologists advocates deserts containing sugar. "The value of the sweet," he says, "in addition to giving energy is in furnishing a feeling of satiation that helps relieve an empty, unsatisfied feeling."

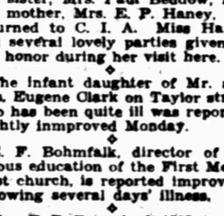

Starving is dangerous, and each person should eat regularly a variety of healthful foods, especially cereals, fresh and canned fruits and vegetables sweetened to bring out the delicious flavors. Cereals, fruits and vegetables are wholesome and delicious. The best cooks are generous with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

CRIMM SCORES MODERN LIFE

Movies, Joy Rides and Bathing Suits Lambasted

With the S. R. O. sign figuratively hanging on the outside of the tabernacle at Twenty-second and Yale, Rev. B. B. Crimm, cowboy evangelist, Monday night preached on "The Picture Show, Mixed Swimming Pool, Joy Ride and Dance," and pronounced immorality as the most damnable sin in America today.

Crimm preached to the largest crowd that has thronged the tabernacle since the meeting opened more than three weeks ago.

"We are fast going in the track of France and when we reach the place where France has gone, God have mercy on us," Crimm declared. "There are 50 red light women today where there was only one 10 years ago. We don't need the red light houses today. Now they are drawn on four tires and run by gasoline.

"The picture show is the biggest curse of the human race. If I had my way and could swap the motion picture show as it now is for the old-time saloon I would trade and give two hound dogs to boot. The saloons, got the men, but the picture shows got our men, women and then our children.

"You can go out on any road leading from Wichita Falls tonight and find 100 parked automobiles within 10 miles.

"I wouldn't disgrace myself by living with a wife who would put on a bathing suit and prance around where men might see her. The present-day bathing suits are suggestive, ungentlemanly and unladylike.

"Dancing is just a cheap way to hug by music."

Dr. S. S. McKenney, pastor of the First Methodist church, led the congregation in prayer.

On Tuesday night Crimm will preach on "The Prodigal Son."

Chauncey Quits School Race

Board President Withdraws Name From Ballot

Giving as his reason his intentions to devote more time to business activities, W. B. Chauncey, president of the Wichita Falls school board, and member for the last nine years, announced Monday that he would not be a candidate for reelection at the school board election next Saturday.

This will leave only five candidates on the ballot, as follows: J. T. Harrell, Paul B. Scott, Mrs. T. B. Smith, C. M. Clark and Carter McGregor. The last three named are present members of the board, whose terms expire this spring.

In a statement Monday, announcing his decision not to run, Mr. Chauncey reviewed his career as a member of the board, praised highly the standing of the Wichita Falls schools, and expressed appreciation for the loyalty of board members, patrons and teachers with whom he has been associated in an official capacity.

Many Reservations For Shrine Bridge Tourney

Numerous reservations had been received Monday afternoon at the Maskat temple headquarters in the City National bank building for the public bridge tournament to be held Tuesday afternoon and night and Wednesday night, according to Al Ellis, secretary.

The tournament is being sponsored by the Arabic patrol of Maskat temple and by the Daughters of the Nile. Proceeds will be devoted to the regular work of the two orders, it was stated. Prizes to be awarded in the bridge tournament are now on display at the Phonograph Shop, 803 Indiana avenue, Mr. Ellis stated.

Those wishing to make reservations were requested to call Maskat Temple offices by noon Tuesday.

Mortgage Company And Banks Vote Dividends

H. L. Hunter announced Monday that the Empire Mortgage company of Wichita Falls, of which he is secretary, had paid stockholders a 5 per cent dividend, bringing total dividends for the fiscal year closing last Saturday up to 15 per cent.

Business conditions, Mr. Hunter said, discussing the affairs of the concern, were very good during the past fiscal year, and indications are that this trend will continue.

Three Wichita Falls banks, the Wichita State Bank and Trust company, the City National and the First National, also have mailed checks to their stockholders. The Security National bank, the fourth institution here, declares its dividends in semi-annual payments.

Ingrown Nail Turns Right Out!

Pain Stops Instantly!

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.—Adv.

Uncle Sam Plays Cupid in Correspondence Romance

Seymour Man Weds Chicago Woman After Meeting Here

Uncle Sam played Dan Cupid for two natives of Czecho-Slovakia here Monday when Mrs. Tekla Stark of Chicago and Frank Shear of Seymour were married at their first meeting.

Mrs. Stark and Mr. Shear met and became engaged through correspondence. They decided to be married in Wichita Falls, she journeying all the way from Chicago and he from his home in Seymour to meet each other.

Mrs. Effie McHam, executive secretary of the Family Relief association, who was requested by the Immigrants Protective society of Chicago to meet Mrs. Stark when she arrived, acted as "mistress of affairs," conveying the couple to her office in the Memorial auditorium and securing O. L. Gibbs, justice of the peace, to perform the ceremony.

Mrs. Shear told Mrs. McHam that she had been divorced from her former husband in Europe and that she had been a resident of the United States for the past eight years. Mr. Shear has been a resident of this country for a number of years.

When the couple met at the station, according to Mrs. McHam, they greeted each other in much the same manner as others do on their wedding day. They had never seen other before. Both are natives of Czecho-Slovakia, and their first words to each other after they had been introduced by Mrs. McHam were in the Polish language.

Mr. and Mrs. Shear were most grateful to Mrs. McHam for her part in assisting Dan Cupid to complete the match and extended her a cordial welcome, at their parting, to visit them in their home, which will be in Seymour.

A buffet luncheon was served Monday night following the installation meeting.

Walton League Meets Tonight

Judge C. M. McFarlane is chairman of the general committee, W. Daniels heads that on building, and the finance committee chairman is J. W. Pond. Considerable progress by each of these groups will be reported to the league membership at Tuesday night's meeting, it was said.

The meeting will be held in the 78th district court room.

TAXES PAID

84.6 per Cent of Total City Levy Collected, Hyer Reports

After a month of very slow paying, the collection of city taxes took a considerable rise during Saturday and Monday, the last days before delinquency, when a total of $78,216.84 was paid into the department, according to W. R. Hyer, city and school tax assessor and collector.

A total of $615,000, or 84.6 per cent had been collected Monday afternoon, which leaves a sum of $111,791.80 of the roll of $726,791.80 still uncollected.

Because the last day of March, on which the taxes were to have been declared delinquent, fell on Sunday, no penalties were imposed Monday for late payers, Mr. Hyer said.

TWO JAILED IN COOKE THEFTS

Loot From Gainesville Store Recovered by Bralley

Two men arrested by Sheriff W. G. Bralley Sunday night were identified here Monday as the bandits who recently broke into a grocery store at Gainesville and escaped with a large quantity of flour, syrup, lard, coffee, kraut and other staples.

The merchandise, discovered by the sheriff's department in a house on Travis street, was identified Monday afternoon by Sheriff J. Dobkins of Cooke county, who came to Wichita Falls after a long distance telephone conversation with Mr. Bralley.

Along with the foodstuffs, the department discovered half a dozen inner tubes, identified as those recently taken from a tire dealer here. Sheriff Dobkins took one of the two prisoners back to Cooke county, leaving the other to face county court charges of theft here.

Masculine World All Topsy-Turvy As Ladies Give Men's Style Show

The dramatic possibilities of a masculine style show, in which every hour of the well-dressed man's day finds expression, are being developed to the utmost in plans for the Hostess Day luncheon at the Woman's Forum Wednesday.

The whole national political arena is being utilized to form a background for the graceful posturings of masculine models, wearing spring's latest styles as presented through the Hub Clothiers. President Hoover and several members of his new cabinet are to be impersonated. Former President Coolidge will join the group, and Tom Connally and Jim Reed from Missouri are members of the cast, their political personalities all merged in a tribute to style.

Bruce Greenwood will present the personalities as they appear, offering appropriate comment with each new appearance. Honey Boy and Sassafras have promised a comedy skit by way of prologue. Mrs. G. B. Smedley and Mrs. Bernard Martin, hostesses for the day, hope to see the program reach its climax in a true-to-life representation of Lindbergh himself, all togged out in the newest thing in the way of aerial jackets and parachutes.

The list of models has been from among the city's own notables. Among them will be Joe Hatchitt, Ben G. Oneal, Temple Shell, Bruce Greenwood, Jerry Bernstein, L. D. Bolding, B. D. Donnell, Jimmie Allred and J. M. Gillam.

The program is planned to include dramatic representations of the day's activities, beginning with the morning coffee, all through the business, politics and late afternoon golfing of the day. A lovely spring wedding, in which Jerry Bernstein will wed a mystery girl bride, will give the occasion for the appearance of the Tuxedo in the evening.

The luncheon, offering Wichita Falls' very first all-masculine style show, will be given at 12 o'clock Wednesday at the forum. Especial attention to the appetites and tastes of the men is promised from the kitchen.

Doctors Disagree

When children are irritable and peevish, grind their teeth and sleep restlessly, have digestive pains and disturbances, lack of appetite, and have itching eyes, nose and fingers, doctors will not always agree that they are suffering from worms. Many mothers, too, will not believe that their carefully brought up children can have worms. The fact remains that these symptoms will yield, in a great majority of cases, to a few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge, the sure expellant of round and pin worms. If your child has any of these symptoms, try this harmless, old fashioned remedy, which you can get at 35c per bottle from Miller Drug Store.

Texas Lady Says When She Took Cardui Her Improvement Was Steady.

SHERMAN, Texas.—Mrs. Ida Stone, of 817 South Throckmorton street, this city, writes the following:

"I was having dreadful nervous spells. I felt like crying all the time. I was so blue. I felt like something awful was going to happen. I was swollen and my face was puffed.

"I was up and down. When I would get up out of bed, for a few hours, I would go 'all to pieces.'

"I tried different medicines, but did not get any better. One of my friends who came to see me one day told me to try Cardui. She had taken it and found it of great benefit. She said it should help me, because I was suffering like she did. My husband brought a bottle home to me, and I began taking it. It was not long until I noticed a change for the better. I kept on taking Cardui for several months. I took 13 bottles. My improvement was steady and permanent. When I had finished taking it, I felt in better health than I had been in years."

SARGON BROUGHT HEALTH; GAINED 14 POUNDS, HE STATES

"I gained 14 pounds on three bottles of Sargon. It mastered every one of my ailments and kept me on the job. I never felt better in my life than I do now," said S. U. Blakely, well known resident of 1123 Laurel street, Beaumont, recently.

S. U. BLAKELY

"Before I started on Sargon I was so weak and rundown that many days I had to stay at home and let my work go. I had a bad case of chronic indigestion and after eating I suffered so much from gas pains, dizziness, heart palpitation and smothering spells that I dreaded to see mealtime come. I lost weight rapidly and felt exhausted from under-nourishment.

"Biliousness and constipation added to my suffering and my kidneys were so badly disordered that there was a hard pain across the small of my back and I had to get up several times every night. This broke into my sleep and brought on extreme nervousness.

"The medicine I took didn't help me, and I heard so many of my neighbors praising Sargon I decided to try it. Now, I too, want to help spread the good news to other sufferers. Sargon helped me from the first. I began to eat big, wholesome meals without a bit of trouble afterward. The pain in my back disappeared and I never have to get up at night now. Sargon Soft Mass Pills ended every trace of constipation and biliousness. My nerves are steady, I have gained weight, and I feel so well it is hard to realize I was ever in the bad shape I was. Sargon deserves all the praise I can give it."

Sargon may be obtained in Wichita Falls from the Renfro Drug Co., Eighth and Scott streets, No. 1 main store, and Seventh and Indiana, No. 2; in Electra from Lough's Drug store, and in Burkburnett from Burkburnett Pharmacy.—Adv.

THE HIGH HAND

Daily Editorial

THE MICHIGAN state senate, taking cue from "The Mikado's" famous song, now repents the life-for-a-pint law and "makes the punishment fit the crime."

The senate of the United States, which so recently clinked glasses and downed whisky at its own private bar, will also, in due time, realize that the reprisals in the Jones act are out of all proportion to the offenses with which it deals.

Even a fair-minded teetotalar must blush for democracy when "the greatest deliberative body on earth" ranks the sale of one drink or possession of a hip flash with major felonies, and designates such penalties for transporting a bottle of ale as are customarily inflicted on felonious assault and mayhem, manslaughter and forgery, rape and kidnaping, defalcation and seduction.

If justice falsifies statutory weights and measures with cheating scales, public conscience must protest and repudiate the meretricious transaction.

The country begins to suspect that congress no longer obeys personal conviction, but has become the intimidated lick-spittle of a lobbying minority, which increasingly demonstrates power to elect or demote state and federal officials by casting decisive block votes accordingly as candidates support its arbitrary program.

◇ ◇ ◇

WE ARE THREATENED with an invisible government with no purpose except the complete desiccation of these United States.

The capitol is invested with zealots who would give the eighteenth amendment the sanctity of an eleventh commandment.

They have canonized an alcoholic formula, and set the brand of Judas upon all opinion that dares challenge the judgment of Saint Volstead's judicial committee.

They have flung the banner of Saint Louis from Anti-Saloon league headquarters and summoned the ghosts of Coligny and Guise, Roundhead and Cavalier, Torquemada and the Grand Inquisitors to a united concert of bigotry and a common crusade against non-conformists.

The spirit of Titus Oates, the spectre of Cotton Mather, the shibboleths of witch-smelling and the whispers of hired informers haunt the shadows and infect the clean breath of freedom.

Fanaticism has invoked sectarianism to seize the political theater and re-stage religious feuds constitutionally and specifically banned from this republic. Hysterians would callously burn the house and destroy the whole structure of liberty to exterminate a few untrapped vermin.

They would banish the "quality of mercy" from courtroom and community heart, multiply taxes, crowd the land with penitentiaries and crowd the penitentiaries with "lifers"—to serve rabid hatred for a suddenly outlawed habit, which for generations, centuries and ages was a social acceptance and a daily indulgence of prelate, statesman, and the supreme bench, itself.

But a traditional right cannot overnight be translated into a repulsive crime, nor human nature shoked or bludgeoned into evolution.

National sentiment is overwhelmingly for prohibition, but if prohibition may only be enforced through persecution and the cringing surrender of legislative independence, then let's choose the lesser of two evils, and wipe the eighteenth amendment from the constitution.

Immoderation spites itself. A cause deaf to compromise invites defeat. Whole-hog-or-none high-handedness never brings home the bacon.

DAVID BRANCH'S DAILY FILOSOFY

"He who controls by kindness is wiser than he who controls by force."

Some one of those working under you today may be your keeper when you are old and grey. Make friends of your subordinates and lighten your task and be free from the reaction upon those who rule by force, should you lose your grip.

A Democratic club was held up in New York the other day and $1,500 taken from the card players. This will prove interesting information to the national committee.

Calvin Coolidge had nothing to say to the reporters in New York the other day. Try to find the news in that.

The Real Peace Agents

SO LONG as the movement for world peace remains exclusively in the hands of the peace societies there is little to be hoped for from it. But if the bankers and business men once get hold of it we may actually see war discarded forever.

This is not said in criticism of the peace societies. Their rosters include excellent people, but a vague odor of the uplift clings to them, and inspires a cynical world with distrust.

The bankers and business men, on the other hand, have public confidence. Besides, they have power. When the world of finance and industry once sets its heart on something, that goal is usually attained.

It is interesting, therefore, to read recent remarks made by Ralph Hayes, New York banker, in addressing a group conference of eastern bankers.

Mr. Hayes took world peace as his topic, and he discussed it in the manner of a business man. He recognized that war is first of all a spiritual catastrophe, but he put his argument for peace strictly on a dollar and cents basis.

"With nearly $10,000,000,000 worth of foreign trade each year, and with more than $25,000,000,000 of foreign investments," he remarked, "every salvo our artillery fired would hit a debtor, and every bomb our airplanes dropped would kill a customer. Call that a vulgar calculation, if you will; the conquest of war is not to be achieved in terms of sweetness and light. Let us appeal to the heads and to the hearts of men and of nations, but let us not fail to appeal also to their pocket books."

What Mr. Hayes says, of course, is absolutely true. War is a fearful bit of economic folly. It is nearly as hard on the nation that wins as it is on the nation that loses. For that very reason it will eventually be abolished. Not because people discover that moral questions cannot be settled by force, and not because people come to realize that it is terribly wrong to indulge in mass slaughter, but simply because people find that it doesn't pay.

The pocket book, it would seem, is mightier than the conscience.

All of this, at first, is slightly discouraging and extremely confusing. It isn't exactly pleasant to discover that we cannot take a great forward step of this kind until we find out that it is to our own selfish interests to do so. We like to think we are altruistic and noble, but this makes it look as if we are pretty calculating and grasping.

That, however, is the way the world goes. Most of the great reforms in human history have come in exactly that way. And it really needn't bother us.

For, after all, the important thing is that they do come. Any man who ever walked toward a spitting machine gun or covered in the mud to get away from high explosive shells will not be very critical of the spirit in which such things are made impossible.

If the cold, materialistic bankers and industrialists can rid us of the curse of war, they will just about have justified their claim to world dominance.

La-De-Da With the Law

SOMETIMES the solemn processes of the law look very much like an elaborate comedy, staged, in profound seriousness, for no reason at all except to provide a weary world with a laugh.

Alphone Capone, better known by the nickname "Scarface Al," was called to testify before a federal grand jury in Chicago the other day. The jurors were trying to get information about booze, gangs and such-like matters; so Mr. Capone, accompanied by a cordon of attorneys, went up to answer questions.

It proved a waste of time. Mr. Capone, it developed, knew nothing about the gang wars but what he had read in the newspapers. He also knew nothing whatever about alcohol, beer and the methods of their distribution. In fact, he seemed to know rather less about the whole subject than anyone in Chicago. So, with police and detectives looking on agape, he went his way.

All we need, now, is a Gilbert and Sullivan to trim the whole thing down for presentation on the comic opera stage.

The Pan-American Highway

A NUMBER of important things happened in the closing days of the last congressional session that most of us lost sight of in the press of more sensational news.

Among these was the action of congress authorizing the appropriation of $50,000 with which the United States government can cooperate with Latin-American nations in a study and survey of the proposed Pan-American highway.

This roadway, projected to link all the nations in the new world, is as deserving a project as has been suggested in years. It would bring incalculable benefits to every nation on the continent, from Canada to Chile—and the United States would probably benefit most of all. It is to be hoped that the new congress will speedily vote the money that the last congress authorized. The sooner this job is started, the better.

Foch's Famous Dispatch

ONE OF the most inspiring stories that cluster about the name of the late Marshal Foch is the story of the famous dispatch he sent Joffre during the first battle of the Marne. You remember it, of course—"My left is giving way and my right is retreating; I shall attack with my center."

It is one of those things that thrill even the most jaded. It pictures, perfectly, the dash and courage of the supreme soldier.

But now, it develops, Foch never wrote it! The whole thing, it seems, is an invention, the product of some gifted French journalist's brain.

Really, though, it doesn't matter. The dispatch tells precisely what Foch did, and the circumstances under which he did it; whether he put the words together or not is of small consequence.

BRANDS OF ECONOMY

President Hoover was accused of "getting away from Coolidge economy already," when he hired two additional secretaries at $10,000 a year each. But on the other hand, he has dispensed with the Mayflower, presidential yacht, the maintenance of which cost $500,000 a year, and that leaves $480,000 to his credit.

There never was any more mistaken idea than that President Coolidge was an economical president. He talked economy, while he spent more money than any preceding president.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

NEW YORK, April 1.—"Well, the stock market again hopped off without me," declared Elmer Twitchell today, "but I have learned my lesson. The next time the federal reserve board issues a warning I am going to leap right into the market and lead up!

"I know the system now. If I play it I can't lose. It's this: you just watch for those things:

PHILLIPS

First—A statement by Colonel Ayres that stocks are too high and that a big break is near.

Second—Market letters stating that a technical readjustment is necessary and urging caution.

Third—Widely circulated reports that the rediscount rate, whatever that is, is to be raised.

"When these things happen they are pretty good signs that stocks are going for another ride. Then is the time to pick out a few stocks, fill the fountain pen and get the checkbook ready for action. There is only one more thing to wait for. That's a Federal Reserve bank warning against speculation.

"You never have to wait long, and when you get it you can take it as an infallible sign that the market is about ready to set a new altitude record. Then is the time to buy stocks, but if you have a timid nature you can wait a couple of hours for a development that will clinch everything. That will be a statement from Secretary Mellon.

"The statement from Mr. Mellon has become superfluous and is not needed except by the scary traders who want everything guaranteed. Still, it is yours if you want it.

"All you really need to wait for is the federal reserve board warning, and you can judge how big the rise will be by the tone of the warning. If it is just a mild warning stocks may not go up more than 30 or 40 points, but if it is a red-hot warning full of strong language you can bet your shirt that 100 points can be made in anything.

"I will not be caught again. I understand there are two factions in the F. R. B. One is for issuing the warnings only twice a month, but the other faction is for issuing them every day except Sunday and holidays and by telephone, letter and postcard. I am for the second faction. The more warnings the bigger the market, and no joking."

Eye Exercise

Failing eyesight can be restored by proper exercise of the eye muscles, the New York State Optometric society says. If the eyes don't get enough exercise on our streets these days they never will.

The amount of setting-up exercise that a frail eye can get in the subway is positively bewildering.

Moving pictures that think are now being perfected, and after that something may be done about making producers, directors and film stars do as much.

The Market

Customer (excitedly on phone): Is it true that Secretary Mellon issued a statement saying that now is the time to buy bonds?

Broker: Yes sir.

Customer: There's no doubt about it?

Broker: None at all.

Customer: Well, put me aboard a dozen stocks right away!

Electrical Shares In Demand in Germany

BERLIN, April 1. (US)—There was a lively upward trend on the Berlin bourse this week, which saw only four days of trading because of the Easter holidays.

Electrical shares were in heavy demand, especially from New York, London, and Amsterdam. Siemens and Halske went beyond 400 while Schuckert and A. E. G. gained many points.

Ford Seeks to Buy German Auto Works

BERLIN, April 1. (US)—Henry Ford has begun negotiations with Reichstein brothers for the purchase of the big independent automobile concern of Brennabor, it is reported here. Ford, it is said, has offered Reichstein brother 90,000,000 marks for the control of the second largest independent automobile concern in Germany. The amount is 5,000,000 marks less than General Motors paid for control of the open works, the largest German independent.

The Day Book of a New Yorker

Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YORK, April 1.—It seems as though some of our popular restaurants here are going in strong for athletics.

At the Roosevelt grill the other night there was a miniature ping-pong tournament to intrigue the diners while they feasted upon delicacies. In Greenwich Village there is the Alice McCollister restaurant which, between courses, you have the privilege of going to the middle of the room and playing a "round" of golf. A minature golf course has been established, constructed chiefly for those who want to do a little putting. A mashie shot, or a drive is unconventional, to say the least.

I suppose the reason for this wave of athletics, or this extra dinner course, you might say, proves there is some relation between calories and calisthenics; vigor and vitamins.

With the arrival of spring many little restaurants will begin to clean up their back yards and soon there will be "open air" restaurants where you can enjoy a meal in company with refreshing breezes and the heavenly stars, if any. And here, again, Greenwich Village, takes a prominent place, for it is in this section that the open-air restaurant flourishes. There are literally a score or more tiny restaurants hidden in the basement of sombre looking dwellings and in the summer you pass through the basement and out to the back yard where, lo! all the comforts of a garden party are to be had.

MacDougal alley, on a summer's night, presents a pleasant scene reminiscent of a Parisian boulevard. At sundown tables and chairs are placed out on the sidewalks and there you may have a meal in a really public place.

Every week the theatrical signs in Broadway seem to take on a more spectacular look. The larger movie houses, particularly, go in for blatant, brilliant signs. If the play deals with a ship you may find on a huge electric sign an electrically illuminated ship moving through incandescent waters.

The latest and, perhaps, most spectacular is a sign announcing a movie that deals with a great flood in ancient history. The sign is perhaps 50 feet wide and 25 feet high. At least it looks that big. Through the generous application of ohms and watts you are presented with the spectacle of a huge ark rolling ominously through great waves, you see rain falling in torrents, lightning shimmering, figures of human beings drowning and—a few more things to take away your breath and to cause you to wonder just what the movies are going to do next. The sign is supposed to give you some idea of the magnitude of the picture, but I can't believe the picture can come up to the sign in spectacular insipidity and silliness.

I thought I had heard about, or found, nearly all the unusual professions in New York. In fact, it was while strolling through Eighth avenue, contemplating with a sense of triumph my acquaintance with the unique, that I came across a little shop in a basement. In the window was merely a sign: "We specialize in tatooing."

Because I was gazing at it too interestedly, I suppose, an elderly man came out and asked if he could help me. He invited me inside and then showed me various designs for tatooing, from ships to ladies looking rather pretty, except for the fact that the tattoo marks made them appear as victims of smallpox.

"It's not a profession," he said to me, with a little display of contemptuousness. "It's an art. An art as old as—" and he began vaguely to mutter about the ancient days when savages did a little tatooing on their own account. So feeling very educated I went away marveling at another thing the man said to me. He said his business prospered even when the fleet wasn't in.

When Christopher Morley and his associates opened up ancient, ramshackle theaters in Hoboken and there revived dramas dating back to the fatuous fifties, they didn't know what they were starting—or reviving, rather. So successful have they been that other producers, who found Broadway treking across the Hudson, began to cast about for old plays and old playhouses.

As a result one producer intends to reopen Miner's Old Bowery theater at No. 165 Bowery for the purpose of duplicating Morley's feat. Their first effort will be a production of "Under the Gaslight," produced for the first time in 1852. The mahogany bar at Miner's will be dusted off and put into commission again, also, but I'm not so certain as to what the waiters will serve. It will be grape juice, lemonade or something like that.

One Motor Car Fact No Buyer Can Escape

Every Motor car buyer seeking the finest, confronts the simple fact that the finest precision laboratories in the world today are the manufacturing plants in which Cadillac and La Salle are produced. The fact that Cadillac-La Salle happen also to be the smartest and most artistic cars on the streets of the world is only incidental to the more important fact that anyone can detect their superior difference the moment he steps from other cars into Cadillac or La Salle. The world's highest standard of precision manufacture immediately reveals itself in performance.

AS is the case with all other leaders, Cadillac's superiority is the result of deliberate planning and intensive effort. There has been nothing lacking in precision methods, nothing overlooked in mechanical equipment or scientific experiment, nothing to equal the resources in time, money and expert knowledge lavished on Cadillac and the Cadillac-built La Salle.

The Cadillac-La Salle environment, consequently, can not be duplicated. There is also a certain "feel" in the performance of these cars and in their riding and driving qualities that is never experienced elsewhere. You have only to drive a Cadillac or La Salle and then step into any other car to note the immeasurable difference.

There are new features in Cadillac and La Salle found in no other cars that will give you special satisfaction because they bear so heavily on the safety of yourself and your family.

Then there is still another safety feature that adds so much to your peace of mind—Cadillac-La Salle Security-Plate Glass in all doors, windows and windshields—so that there is no longer any danger from flying glass fragments.

No offer of long trading allowances from other cars can possibly compensate for these advantages or for the brilliance, smoothness and unvarying reliability of the Cadillac-La Salle 90-degree, V-type, 8-cylinder engine, or for the beauty and prestige that belong only to these cars. SENATE AFTER MELLON'S POST

Opposition to Aged Secretary Continues

WASHINGTON, April 1. (UP)—Efforts to oust Secretary of Treasury Mellon from the cabinet will be resumed at the special session of congress this month by his critics in the senate, who have not been mollified by his recent concessions to some of their demands.

The senate judiciary committee is planning to make an investigation in accordance with a resolution adopted the day after President Hoover's inauguration. This resolution, by Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tenn., recites charges made frequently by McKellar, that Mellon is interested in liquor concerns and thus is holding office contrary to law, and also questioned the right of President Hoover to withhold the nomination of Mellon from the senate. Mellon repeatedly has denied McKellar's charges, as have the secretary's friends in the senate.

Mellon Has Strength

Chairman Norris of the judiciary committee opposed the McKellar resolution on the ground a senate investigation would prejudice possible impeachment proceedings in the event they were instituted by the house, but since the resolution passed he is expected to lead the anti-Mellon forces in the committee.

He will have the support of Republican independents and some Democrats, but is conceded but slight chance of unseating Mellon. Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, has been trying to get Mellon's official scalp for several years without any success. Now, with the administration majority in congress much larger, the possibility of ousting the secretary is still further reduced.

Furthermore, Mellon's recent statement in favor of publicity for tax refund proceedings deprives his enemies of some of their ammunition, although it does not convince them of his fitness to continue as head of the treasury department. They point out that Mellon has previously opposed publicity and that his change of heart was sudden.

Charges that it was inspired by Mr. Hoover have been denied at the White House, however.

Cause of Change

Most of Mellon's opponents believe the secretary would have clung to the treasury's policy of secrecy except for an amendment to the last deficiency appropriation bill providing that none of the money set aside for tax refunds should be paid out without public reports on the cases involved.

Mellon was bound to issue an order carrying out this act but voluntarily went further in ordering refund publicity as a permanent departmental policy.

In a radio speech, the secretary advocated reduction of taxes on earned incomes, another pet of the independent group opposing him, thus depriving them of another argument against him.

Mr. Hoover avoided a fight over Mellon's confirmation when his other cabinet appointments were sent to the senate by failing to submit a nomination for the treasury post. This was possible because by the generally accepted interpretation of the constitution a cabinet officer can remain at his post without reappointment despite changes of administration.

Besides the controversy over Mellon which the judiciary committee's investigation will start at the special session, there will be a fight over the anticipated renomination of former Senator Irvine Lenroot of Wisconsin for the court of customs appeals.

Lenroot's nomination was sent to the senate by President Coolidge, but action was blocked by the same independents who are fighting Mellon. They are prepared to resume hostilities against Lenroot, but admit they have slight hope of success.

"IT CERTAINLY DID RELIEVE ME," SAYS MRS. CROW

Wichita Woman Feels Better Than She Has in Years—Took Only One Bottle of Orgatone

Among the hundreds of Wichita people who have endorsed Orgatone recently none are more genuinely grateful to the medicine for the good it has done them than Mrs. R. C. Crow, of 2806 Avenue R, Wichita Falls, Texas.

"I took Orgatone for my stomach and kidney trouble," she continued, "and it sure did relieve me and it did it right away, for I've taken only one bottle in all and it has certainly relieved my troubles and I am feeling better every day.

"For twelve long years, I haven't been able to eat hardly any kind of food for everything soured on my stomach, causing gas to form and heart burn. I had bilious and dizzy spells, until at times, I could hardly stand up, and would have to hold to something to keep from falling.

"My kidneys bothered me and this caused pains in my back and sides, and I never had any energy or pep enough for anything, and always felt tired and worn out. I was so nervous, I hardly got any sleep and would roll and tumble all night long, and would get up in the morning feeling more tired and worn out than when I went to bed. I was just in a general run down condition.

"My daughter had been taking Orgatone and received benefits from it and convinced me that I should take it. It wasn't more than a week when I began to feel better. I have gained in weight and strength and feel better in every way. I can eat almost anything now and don't have gas or heart burn, and my kidneys are back to normal. I am not nearly as nervous as I was, and sleep fine every night. I have taken lots of medicines and lots of treatments but Orgatone has done me more good than anything I've ever taken, and I want everybody to know just what the Orgatone treatment will do."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific bile preparation containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Wichita Falls by the Allison Drug Store, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative. Also at Burkburnett by the City Drug Store.—Adv.

Foggy Weather Prevents Plains Sand Storms

Special to The Record News

LAMESA, Texas, April 1.—March has passed without the usual number of wind and sandstorms in this country. The old adage, "Come in like a lamb, go out like a lion," has not held good on the South Plains this year. This good weather has been attributed to two facts: there has been moist and foggy weather during most of the late winter and spring; and there is a larger acreage of land under the plow in this section.

With the excellent seasons coming as early this year on the South Plains, it is believed the South Plains will escape the severe windstorms that usually come when the early spring is dry. Early planting is expected this year, and it is believed by farmers that a good yield will result by reason of this early start.

MAN GIVES UP FOR SLAYING

Friendly Scuffle Blamed For Killing

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 1. (UP)—Eddie Shouquette, 28 years old, late today surrendered for the slaying of Sam Sheitman, 30, restaurant owner.

Sheitman was found shot to death in the apartment of Jack Rich early today. Rich was held as a material witness.

Shouquette walked into the county attorney's office shortly after noon today and said:

"I just killed a man."

Shouquette said he, Sheitman, and two others were shooting craps at Rich's apartment when they began a playful scuffle for Shouquette's revolver.

"I accidentally shot him. 'You've broken my leg.'" Shouquette quoted Sheitman as saying. "I didn't surrender before now because I was too drunk, I guess." Shouquette said.

Shouquette has a prison record, investigation at the state capitol revealed.

University Given Priceless Volume Of Old 'Chronicles'

AUSTIN, April 1. (INS)—Of tremendous value to graduate students in English at the University of Texas is a recent gift to the university library of a second edition copy of Holinshed's "Chronicles," in two volumes, according to Dr. R. H. Law, professor of English. The gift is from Mrs. Miriam Stork of Orange.

The volume is dated 1587 and is one of a very few copies in America of the second edition, which is considered much more valuable than the first edition, dated 1578, Dr. Law pointed out. The second edition was used by Shakespeare in writing at least a dozen of his plays, he said.

The university library has had for many years a good copy of the first edition, but its only access to a second edition, prior to receiving Mrs. Stark's gift, was by borrowing a copy from Gail Borden, Houston collector. "The Chronicles" is the most famous history of England published during the 16th century, Dr. Law said, and is of invaluable assistance to students choosing certain phases of English literature as the basis for their themes.

Olney Poultryman Succeeds in Experiment

Special to The Record News

OLNEY, Texas, April 1.—Hubert Gadberry, one of Olney's promising poultrymen, has proved conclusively that money can be made on poultry in this section of the state even if all feed used has to be bought. As an experiment Mr. Gadberry selected 400 White Leghorns in September, 150 old hens and 250 pullets. During the past six months he has bought all the feed consumed by these 400 chickens and to date shows a net profit of $405.85. At this rate these chickens are making a net profit of more than $2 per bird per year.

The feed for these 400 chickens during the six months cost $484.65. During this period he sold 2,225 dozen eggs for $890.

Besides being a breeder of White Leghorns, Mr. Gadberry has on his poultry farm several hundred pure-bred Barred Rocks.

BRIDGE HAS TO CEASE TOLLS

Court Order Makes Span Free to All

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 1. (UP)—The Bridgeport bridge over the South Canadian river was opened free to motorists today when Judge Tom G. Chambers of district court ordered the Postal Bridge company to cease toll collection. The bridge connects Bridgeport and Geary.

The order was a temporary injunction granted on petition of the state. Allegations were that the De Luxe Bridge company, original owners, had no right to transfer their toll franchise.

George D. Key, bridge company head, offered to post a bond for toll collection during the pendency of the case on supreme court appeal, but was refused by Judge Chambers.

This is the first bridge opened under a campaign begun by the state legislature.

State highway department records show that 641 automobiles pass over the bridge every 24 hours. It is on highway 66 and one of the main thoroughfares of the state. The fee is $1 per automobile.

No attempts are under way at present to open any of the other 10 toll bridges in the state, highway officials said.

New Chicken Hatchery Ordered at Clarendon

CLARENDON, Texas, April 1.—The largest chicken hatchery in point of capacity in the Texas Panhandle is soon to be located in this city. Frank White Jr., local hatchery operator, is now running a 52,000-egg machine at capacity and is unable to handle his trade. He has ordered another machine of the same make and capacity which will be installed within another week, to give his place a capacity of 104,000 eggs or approximately six tons by actual weight, when full. Mr. White states that he is unable to provide sufficient space with one machine and putting in the other in order to keep pace with the rapid development of the poultry industry in this community and in Donley county. The poultry industry is one of the fastest growing enterprises in this county and is one of the lines of development in agricultural production being conducted here to make the cotton farmer a safe "live-at-home" man.

Tulsa Divorcee Sought by Police Investigating Death of Millionaire

TULSA, Okla., April 1. (AP)—Investigation into the death early Saturday of William S. McCray, millionaire Tulsa oil man, today centered in a search for a Tulsa divorcee, whose name authorities withheld.

McCray, 49, was assaulted in his hotel room the night of March 24, receiving injuries which, investigators said, resulted in his death.

W. L. Coffey, assistant county attorney, said the woman's name was revealed by McCray on his death bed in connection with a telephone call he received shortly before an unidentified man entered his room and attacked him. The woman made the telephone call, Coffey said McCray related.

McCray was separated from his wife, Mrs. Jeanette McCray, but they were said by Samuel Borstin, her attorney, to have been near a reconciliation.

MR. GALLOWAY CAUSTIC AS HE GIVES ORDER FOR MORE PEP

IM EVIDENTLY FROM MISSOURI

Anyhow, He's Going to Be Shown From Now On

By LARRY DAILEY
Record News Sports Editor

Going on the very correct assumption that a month is sufficient time for veterans to acquire condition and rookies to show baseball skill if any, Skipper Galloway started "bearing down" on the athletes yesterday. It was no April fool for the tossers who incurred the displeasure of the boss—and there were times that the foreman's displeasure was aroused, indeed.

Yesterday marked the start of second month of training and there are certain players who have not shown sufficient ability or hustle to please the skipper. Some have been sent on their way and threats of others to follow are made unless speedy improvement is shown.

While there still are some 40-odd players in the combined Spudder-Abilene Ace camp, the contest for retention here has been narrowed to 25. As that is the number which may be carried a month after the opening of the Texas league championship race, practically all those now on the squad will be retained some time. There are a few places which still are to be unfilled and Jim is taking his time in selecting the most likely survivors, when the final cut is made May 17 to the 18 players permitted throughout the season.

Here's the Squad

Just for reminder, here are the players who are listed as Spudders:

Pitchers—George Payne, Milt Steengrafe, Harold Wiltse, Cy Smith, Ed Taber, Fred Stiely, Ed Ellis, Chick Galeria and Lester White.

Catchers—Pete Lapan, Jack Crouch and Bob Snyder.

Infielders—Dallas Clements and Bill Bean, first base; Pete Turgeon and Bear Allday, second base; Wally Swenson, third base; Rabbit Benton, Debs Garms and George Spiers, shortstop.

Outfielders—Red Bennett, Howard Fitzgerald, Brick Eldred, Dick Sullivan and Garland Orr.

Of the 18 to stay throughout the season five must be class men, that is, players who have not engaged in class A baseball before. This gives several of the youngsters excellent chances and of course those who show the best will be those who are retained.

Steengrafe, Payne and Wiltse of course are sure of their jobs. Cy Smith, the big fellow from the Piedmont league, and Lester White, back for his third trial, are the only other righthanders. Smith has looked exceptionally promising and may be figured upon to stay. White is problematical. Thus it may be that another righthander may be procured.

Stiely Looks Good

Stiely has shown best of the lefties to date, except of course for Wiltse. This for the simple reason that he has worked more often. In his trials the stocky fellow has indicated he knows how to pitch. Ed Ellis, sent back from Tulsa, to whom he was merely loaned and Ed Taber, a pair of bespectacled fellows, have not yet worked in a spring game here for the Spudders. Galeria, a third southpaw who wears glasses, showed enough last season to warrant further trial.

Lapan of course will be the regular catcher. The second string job lies between Crouch and Snyder. Veteran against youth. Crouch is the kid from the Western association and apparently a great prospect. Bob is an experienced maskman.

Turgeon and Swenson will be back at their places and Benton doubtless will play. I don't see how they can pry him off the job. The utility infield place then rests with Garms and Spiers. Debs is temporarily out of the running with an injured ankle, as also is Crouch. However, that pair of sweet looking colts will be back soon. Their retention for the season seems likely to this writer.

One outfield berth is open, with four fly chasers to be carried. Bennett and Fitzgerald will take care of left and center and the hard-hitting Eldred probably will get first choice for right, though he has been slow in rounding into condition this spring.

Orr and Sullivan are bidding for the fourth place. Dick has played more often this spring while Orr has been a disappointment at bat. But it isn't certain yet that Garland won't make a fight for a place if he ever attains the batting stride of which it is believed he is capable.

This Kid Promising

Speaking of good promising kids, another is Ray Andrews. This youth, from the sandlots of California, still is removed from Texas league class. But he looks fine at the plate, is big and fast and a sure fielder of ground balls. A year in the bushes should make this youngster a fine prospect.

Two extensive drills yesterday marked the start of preparation for the three-game series with the Chicago White Sox, opening Friday. Long workouts will be the order every day, with batting to be stressed.

And, take it from Jim, EVERYBODY must hustle.

Hustle, or you don't eat, is the slogan of the skipper.

Estelline Defeats Memphis Prep Nine

Special to The Record News

MEMPHIS, Texas, April 1.—The first baseball game of the season was played on the local diamond here, Memphis and Estelline meeting on a muddy diamond, the results of the game being 14 and 2 in favor of Estelline.

It was rather a one-sided affair, the Memphis team showing that they need much hard practice. Baseball has been rather neglected in the Memphis High school during several years past, and is only being revived this year to an appreciable degree.

The new uniforms arrived this week, which suits were donated by various business firms of Memphis. Those donating the uniforms have their names on the back of the suits.

The locals' next game is with Childress Tuesday at Childress.

The SPORTLIGHT

THE GERMAN MENACE

After a lapse of several centuries, or possibly longer, the German heavyweight menace is getting more pronounced than ever. There has never been a German heavyweight near the championship division and now, almost overnight, as time skids, there seems to be no less than a pair of Teutons. One is Max Schmeling, the most sensational of all new heavyweights. The other is Schaaf, the 20-year-old entry from the East, who has been coming on like an express train lately. Eddie Mack, the Boston promoter, who knows his part of the leather game, figures Schaaf the most dangerous young heavyweight now around. "He can hit," says Mack. "He is strong and aggressive, he can take it and he is a rough, ripping type, who will make a lot of trouble in less than a year. For example, he had a Con O'Kelly out in a punch, groggy and barely able to stand up, but in trying to hurry the knockout he hit low.

"In my opinion, Schaaf will be a great fighter in less than two years. By the time he is 22 he will be the tougest of them all. He weighs 190 pounds now and he will be fast at 200. There are only two now who can handle Ernie and they are no sure shots against him."

With Schmeling already arrived and Schaaf near the top, only about a year away, the German section seems to be the strongest of the lot in the heavier division. It is not an impossibility that two Germans will be scrambling for the last jump in the next year or so, and this might mean a big pugilistic party for Berlin. Schaaf was a promising youngster over a year ago. He has been coming along in the right way, without being hurried, and at 20 he has plenty of time ahead to get all set for the big shot. And when the time comes, Eddie Mack isn't the only fight expert who thinks he won't miss.

Flying Time

A few days ago a gray-haired, slightly bald ball player dropped into the room. He still looked to be in fine condition, but time had collected its evidence around the knob.

As he came in I recalled my first sight of the same athlete. He came to Nashville, in the old Southern league, as a Little Rock outfielder. It took no part of an expert to see in 15 minutes that a new star had arrived. He looked like a hitter and acted like one at bat, with three hits that afternoon. He circled all over the outfield, where he made the hardest sort of chances look simple and easy. He seemed to be waiting for the ball, wherever it fell.

The name is Tris Speaker. That first sight of the Texan goes back 22 years and at the moment he was on his way to handle a minor league. Speaker was not only a great outfielder and a great hitter, but as playing manager he carried Cleveland into a world series championship. Speaker was to outfield play what Larry Lajoie was to infield art. Both were artists. Every move they made was effortless, smooth, free and as light as a flying bird. Speaker always had a rare knack of judging the next fly, frequently shifting 40 or 50 yards to handle a certain type of hitter. And he was rarely wrong in his diagnosis.

I never saw a minor league ball player look as sure of big greatness as Speaker looked in that first game. Not even Cobb, who lacked Speaker's easy grace. Not even Shoeless Joe Jackson, who was another you couldn't miss. Many are called in their early years, but most of them are frozen. Once in a rare, long while, a Speaker, Cobb, Jackson or Sisler pops out in some minor league engagement, and even a blind man can see a real ball player in action—one who can't miss the narrow trail to the top of the big hill.

Few men in baseball have had more attractive personalities than Tris Speaker. Few have made more friends. He has been one of those no one could help liking. Of the old-timers now taking their stand again as leaders in the minor league game he will have as many pulling for his success as any ball player known.

It would be a great thing to see another Lajoie or another Speaker come along. They had something that even Cobb and Ruth couldn't furnish—a touch of high art in action, a certain grace that no one else has ever equaled in the modern game of 1890 on.

BIG LEAGUERS ON WAY HOME

Some Clubs Overtrained and Others Not in Shape

NEW YORK, April 1. (AP)—Major league baseball teams working their way by easy stages from southern and western training camps to their home bases are moving toward the 1929 battlefield with mingled hopes and fears. Some are not in shape and others fear their condition may be too good with a vexing danger that they will not be able to sustain it until the season gets under way April 16.

Managers have been plagued by the usual quota of injuries and trainers are working overtime to get athletes in shape for the opening bell.

With two weeks to pass before they must make up their minds, most managers are taking advantage of the delay in deciding on the lineups.

Some, notably Wilbert Robinson of Brooklyn, have to wait the extent of convalescence shown by athletes. The Robins are watching the condition of Glenn Wright's arm and Jake Flowers' tonsils.

Hurlers Worry Connie

Connie Mack is forced to wait for more encouraging reports on Bob Grove and George Earnshaw before he can map out his pitching plans and Miller Huggins, manager of the world's champion Yankees, left an able battery in Herb Pennock and Benny Bengough behind at St. Petersburg when he started his circuitous route to New York by way of Texas and Oklahoma. Pennock and Bengough will let the sun aid in restoring ailing arms. Burt Shotton for some time has looked with anxious eyes at the arm of Ray Benge, one of his star pitchers.

John McGraw has his New York Giants in excellent condition and Joe McCarthy has no worries over his rejuvenated Chicago Cubs, but Donie Bush continues to experiment with his infield and wonder, perhaps, if Paul Waner finally will come into the fold and solve his outfield problem.

An American league manager seeking a winning combination is Stanley Harris, making his bow to Detroit fans as manager of the Tigers.

Howley's Task Hard

Dan Howley, whose Browns were the sensation of his league last season, seeks to combine good hitting with clever fielding and finds his task difficult.

Boston's Braves have played better ball in the spring than some of their partisans expected but the Redskins have done well in Florida before and failed in the East.

Washington, with Walter Johnson coming home at the head of the class after years in the ranks, is down to weight and player limit. The Chicago White Sox, other sufferers from injuries, see improvement in sight.

Cincinnati has little fault to find with the condition of its players and is gratified at the form shown by young outfielders.

The National league champions, the St. Louis Cardinals, are ready for the season to open.

Roger Peckinpaugh is confident that Cleveland has a better club to start this season than he led at the close of last. Bill Carrigan still has some heavy thinking to do before he nominates the starting Boston Red Sox.

BUFFS DEFEAT PIRATES, 4-3

Champions Hustle Way To Win Over Bushmen

HOUSTON, April 1. (AP)—Fight and hustle, characteristic of the Dixie champions of 1928, today inspired the Houston Buffaloes to whip the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4 to 3.

Two years ago today Donnie Bush's team at Houston defeated John Schelberg, 4 to 0. Today Schelberg worked seven rounds, giving three hits and two runs. Score:

Pittsburgh	200 000 001	3	6 2
Houston	010 011 01x	4	12 0

Grimes, Brame and Hargreaves; Schelberg, Wachtel and Hoffman, Abbott.

PANTHERS BLANK FROGS BY 3 TO 0

FORT WORTH, April 1. (AP)—The Fort Worth Panthers did not find it an easy job to defeat the Texas Christian university Horned Frogs today. The score was 3 to 0.

Charles Kearney, rookie right-hander, and Ben Weaver, elongated lad obtained from Fort Smith the latter part of the 1928 season, did the flinging for the Panthers.

INDIANS TO PLAY SANDLOT TOSSERS

Pitcher Herbert Agricola of Flatonia, who has been trying for a place on the San Antonio staff, has decided to retire from baseball, and First Baseman Gus Wendler of Boerne and Pitcher Hugo Klaerner of Fredricksburgh have been turned over to the Coleman, West Texas league club.

GIANTS RALLY TO BEAT SPORTS, 5-2

SHREVEPORT, April 1. (AP)—After a slow start against the Shreveport team of the Texas league here today, the Giants found the range in the fourth and the fifth for a total of five runs, which enabled them to win by 5 to 2.

Carl Mays did well after an unsteady first inning. Harry Kelly finished for the Giants. Score:

New York	000 320 000	5	9 1
Shreveport	200 000 000	2	8 0

Baer Facts

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

NEW YORK, April 1.—If you see the clover-kickers and the hay-benders rattling off for the cyclone cellars you will know that another farm relief bill comes up on April 15.

The farmers are always glad when the new congress opens until they discover that it had instructions to act like the old one.

There are now 48 bills in preparation. Each one of the 48 will relieve the farmer so much that the other 47 can be used as bandages.

The twin McNary-Haugen combination turned out to be more Siamese than suburban.

McNary-Haugen would have done better if they had stretched their bill on a hoop and then jumped through it.

Few people know that there is a farmer's union. Its purpose is not to get an eight-hour day. A weed-jerker works so hard that he would be glad to get an eight-hour night.

The trouble with the dirt farmer is just that. The latest quotation on dirt was three cents a bushel.

Senator Umbay of North or South Guam strikes the key-note on the wet banjo when he asks:

"How are we going to get them back to the farm after they've seen relief?"

Representative Scrambo, who has the senior contested seat in congress remarks:

"The solution is diversified weeding. For 15 years I sought for bigger and better crops."

"Now I will be content if I can get them free grass seeds for their graves."

Assistant-senator Inkdott, who was a probationary congressman before he became the pet of the investigation committees, thinks along different loopholes:

"A bumper wheat crop makes the golfers' sores there is too much rough in the country as it is."

So you can see that the farmers are between the cup and the bunkers.

While endeavoring to discover just when a relief program merged into an autopsy, Senator Ditto gives some interesting data on the eclipse of Bull Durham:

"I have always pondered over the reason why Bull Durham went out of style.

"I have just found out. The farmer can no longer roll his own because the banks have all his paper."

Training Camp Chatter

BEAUMONT, Texas, April 1. (UP)—The Chicago Cubs again proved poison to the Detroit Tigers here today, defeating the American leaguers, 6 to 1. It was the seventh Cub victory over the Tigers in eight games.

The two teams will meet again Tuesday and Wednesday.

CHISOX RECUPERATING

DALLAS, Texas, April 1. (UP)—The Chicago White Sox recuperated from the severe drubbing handed them Sunday by the Giants by taking long workouts this afternoon. Neither Manager Lena Blackburne nor the players, practically all of whom were thrown into the game to stem the Giant rally were baffled by the defeat, as the youthful Chicago team held the scrappy Giant crew to even terms until Thomas blew up in the ninth inning.

CARDS BEAT NEWARK

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., April 1. (UP)—The St. Louis Cardinals opened their series of 11 exhibition games against minor league teams today by defeating Tris Speaker's Newark International league club, 3 to 1.

MACON, Ga., April 1. (UP)—Jack Hendricks, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, cancelled today's exhibition game with the Macon club of the Sally league because he thought the ball park, under construction here, was not a safe place in which to let a major league club perform. The Reds caught an early afternoon train for Atlanta and will practice there tomorrow.

RED SOX WIN

BRADENTON, Fla., April 1. (UP)—Collecting 18 hits, the Boston Red Sox beat the Buffalo International league club today, 14 to 6. Ruffing and MacFayden hurled for the sox.

BROWNIES DEFEATED

PHILLIES HIT HARD

LAKELAND, Fla., April 1. (UP)—The hitting of Tommy Thevenow and Don Hurst featured the Philadelphia Phillies' 13 to 1 victory over the Columbus American association club today. Thevenow made four hits, including a home run, and walked once in five times at bat. Hurst also hit a homer.

Third Baseman Foss of Columbus was struck in the face by a bounding grounder and had to be assisted from the field.

NATS WIN 12TH IN ROW

BRAY ELECTED CAGE CAPTAIN

Guard Named 1930 Leader Of Coyote Team

Goodwin Bray, guard of last season's Coyote basket ball team, was elected by his teammates to lead the Pack next year. Bray hails from Abilene and was also a reserve letterman of the Coyote football team of last season.

Nine letters were awarded in addition to one managerial letter. Those receiving letters were:

R. T. Craig, captain; Henry Anderson, Jerry Curtis, Ensign Rexford, Martin Hodgkiss and the four lettermen who will return next year, Paul Dickey, La Verne Malone, Captain-elect Goodwin Bray and Thomas Beaty.

Cyclone Whirls This Way Again

But Pug Humphries, Rough Guy, May Stop Him

Pug Humphries, a rough bucco who has given some leading welters of the Southwest artistic shellackings, is to be the foe Wednesday night of Cyclone Hall. Pug and Cyclone are to step 10 rounds in the windup of Prof. Alexander B. Ross' weekly boxing show at the Palace theater. Incidentally, stop here to give the professor a hand. He certainly has been providing corking ring programs for fans here at popular prices.

To continue with tomorrow night's story: Rudy Hoge of Houston and Tommy Scott of Electra meet in a return war, this for eight rounds, in the semi-windup. Their fast six-round go last week resulted in carding them for eight rounds in their next affair.

A flock of prelims is book, to-wit: Jack Lewis, Wichita Falls vs. Red Williams, Childress, middleweights, four rounds.

Martin Craig, Wichita Falls vs. Jack Howell, Archer City, welterweights, four rounds.

Alvie Anderson, Wichita Falls vs. Jack Howell, Archer City, welterweights, four rounds.

Glen Holcombe, Quanah, vs. Leo Stacy, Electra, light heavyweights, four rounds.

Frank Perez, Wichita Falls, vs. Battling Sturdevant, Scotland, bantamweights, four rounds.

Schmeling Has Many Managers

NEW YORK, April 1. (AP)—When Max Schmeling returns to the United States for the spring heavyweight harvest it probably will be necessary to arrange a proxy vote to decide which faction of stockholders controls the German clouter and who he is to fight.

So far at least a dozen shareholders, managers and agents have taken an interest in fixing up Schmeling's affairs. His German manager, whom he disclaims, has signed with the Fugazy-Dempsey combine.

Another representative has booked him exclusively with the Madison Square Garden corporation. There is also an unfulfilled contract for Max to box Con O'Kelly in Boston. On top of all this, small stockholders, including a delicatessen shopkeeper who claims a five per cent interest in Max, want to know when dividends will be declared.

If he can untagle himself, Schmeling, a la Luis Angel Firpo, declares he will do his own contract signing. When the big Argentine was here a few years ago he did his own fighting, managed his own affairs and counted the financial returns personally.

Texas Takes 2 Straight From Northwestern, 7-6

AUSTIN, April 1. (AP)—In a game marked by ragged fielding, Texas university made it two straight over Northwestern today, 7-6.

Score:		R	H	E
Northwestern	000 202 002	6	10	3
Texas	013 000 03x	7	7	5

Jamosh, Plaskett and Vandeburg; Railton, Peeples, Browning and Rees.

ALTHOUGH victory is desirable at all times, there is no cause for deep regret at the Spudders' loss of three straight games to the Tulsa Oilers. Spring contests are primarily for conditioning purposes—they count nothing in the standing of the clubs. They bring out defects which are to be corrected, and the games with the Tulsa club showed no glaring weakness on the part of the Spudders. Except for a lack of hitting strength, which is nothing to cause worry, and a possible need of more pitching effectiveness, the Spudders are about set to open the Texas league championship season a week from tomorrow.

Knowing, to a certain extent, the class of other clubs in our circuit and the potential caliber of the Spudders, I still maintain that the Wichita Falls club will be in the fight for the pennant. I don't say they'll win the gonfalon. But they'll be one-two-three.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE SPUDDERS will present a veteran array this season, in contrast to unsettled lineups of practically all other clubs in the race. They have three veteran pitchers of known worth—Steengrafe, Payne and Wiltse. Except possibly for first base they are set to open the season with a powerful attacking force and tight defense. Turgeon, Swenson and Benton in the infield and Bennett, Fitzgerald and Eldred in the outfield leave nothing to be desired. Clements has shown very well, and if the Texas youth fails to fill the bill at first base, there will be a capable guardian at that bag. Depend upon J. Alvin Gardner for that.

Houston, Fort Worth and Dallas generally are rated as foremost clubs for the Spudders to beat, with Beaumont and Shreveport as dark horses. Houston needs pitching and more infield and outfield reinforcements. The Buffs, however doubtless will get aid from St. Louis and Rochester and of course must be reckoned as formidable.

◇ ◇ ◇

DALLAS looms mighty strong—on paper. Yet the Steer infield will be slow, and such a defense as it appears will be presented by the Bovines is not one calculated to win pennants. There seems to be many oldtimers on the Dallas roster, players who apparently have passed their prime as class A tossers.

Sports writers and baseball men have told me that the Fort Worth Cats lack offensive punch. It appears, however, that Jake Atz' team is going to be formidable.

Shreveport Sports and Beaumont Exporters have been eminently successful in spring games and both apparently have strong clubs which will be in the contention.

Waco has a young club that is impossible to forecast. San Antonio appears weak in all departments and already out of the running, unless greatly strengthened before opening day.

◇ ◇ ◇

A YOUNG man by the name of Smith may succeed a man by the name of Jones to the royal mantle of golfdom. Not since young Robert Tyre Jones came out from Georgia a decade or so ago to show probably the most amazing mastery golf that the royal and ancient game has known has there been a player to arise with such meteorlike brilliance as Horton Smith. This phenomenal youngster from the Ozarks of Missouri, not yet 21 years old, has in a winter of play consistently defeated the foremost exponents of the game in a manner so convincing as to leave no doubt that he is a super golfer.

The ascendancy of Horton Smith began last fall with the winning of the Oklahoma City open. That was the start of a series of unprecedented triumphs in California, Texas, Hot Springs and Florida. Hagen, Farrell, Sarazen, foremost of the professionals, and such amateurs as George Voigt, alike bowed to the wizardry of Horton Smith of Joplin.

Smith has arrived to challenge the supremacy of Jones and Hagen. His play the past winter season leaves no doubt that he ranks today as one of the greatest stars of the game. It is conceivable that no later than this summer that he will go on to win highest honors of the links. No golfer, not even the incomparable Jones, ever compiled an amazing record of achievements as those accomplished by Horton Smith, in his first season of play with the greats of the game.

Farm Equalization Fee May Be Given Test

WASHINGTON, April 1. (AP)—Even though the Republican convention at Kansas City and President Hoover in campaign speeches frowned upon the equalization fee provision of the twice vetoed McNary-Haugen bill, a suggestion for drafting the new farm measure in such a way as to test the constitutionality of the fee was made before the senate agriculture committee today by Senator Howell, Republican, Nebraska.

Edinburg to Hold City Election Today

EDINBURG, Texas, April 1. (AP)—Edinburg voters tomorrow will select a mayor and two city commissioners.

Mayor A. J. Ross Sr., and Commissioners W. R. Dyer and E. M. Everett are seeking reelection with the backing it is said, of Sheriff A. Y. Baker of Hidalgo county, long prominent in valley politics. They will be opposed by Dr. H. O. Schaleben for mayor, and Otto Kusel and Santiago Guzman for commissioners as a group put forward by the "good government league."

What We Can Learn From the Tongue

A coated tongue is found in practically all acute diseases where there is a rise of temperature, but is not of much value in distinguishing the different diseases. Coated tongues are sometimes found in persons who are apparently in perfect health. The coating is usually caused by a growth of bacteria and becomes more abundant when there is a lack of saliva or when the system becomes less resistant.

Biliousness is often the cause of the tongue being continually coated, but if the tongue is only coated in the morning and clears off toward evening, it has no diagnostic significance. If the tongue is usually clean, but suddenly becomes coated, it is generally an indication of some stoppage of the digestive tract, either indigestion or constipation.

Much can be learned by the way the patient puts out the tongue. If the tongue protrudes very far and is slender, the individual is usually a neuristhenic character who is in the habit of examining the tongue frequently in the looking glass, and is always looking for digestive symptoms. If the tongue trembles, there may be an indication of some nervous disorder or of alcoholism. When the tongue protrudes toward one side more than the other, it usually indicates a nerve or spinal paralysis.

The color of the tongue is sometimes of value in diagnosing. For example, a bright red color in a person suffering from digestive disturbances may indicate a stomach ulcer. A yellowing tinge to the tongue may indicate jaundice. A dry, coated tongue is often found in uremia, and a dark brown coat on the tongue may indicate wasting diseases or prolonged fevers.

The tongue is also subject to ulceration from accident or from irritations by the teeth. Canker sores also occur upon the tongues of people suffering from acidosis. Cancer and tuberculosis may also attack the tongue, and are difficult to distinguish except by microscopical examination.

An enlargement of the tongue may occur from tumors or in connection with a deficiency of the thyroid gland, as in either myxedema or cretinism.

The tongue is sometimes affected with smooth hard patches called lingual corns, which really are simply thickened skin of the tongue and may exist for a long time without causing pain. They are apparently caused by some irritation, such as the rubbing from an ill-fitting plate or the contact with the end of a pipe in smokers. They are dangerous because of the possibility of turning into an epithelioma. This condition is called leukoplakia buccalis and resembles psoriasis.

The tongue is also susceptible to eczema which produces peculiar patches resembling a geographic map. It has an intense itching and usually causes much worry to the patients, who imagine it is the beginning of cancer.

Most of the diseases of the tongue yield when the underlying cause is corrected, but it is important at the same time to practice cleanliness and in some cases local treatments are also necessary.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Thyroid Tablets

Question: Mrs. T. W. E. writes: "I am 42 years old. Up to three years ago I never weighed more than 135 pounds. Now I am getting fat and my hair keeps getting thinner. A friend told me it is because I have reached the age where there is a thyroid deficiency and she says if I will take one 5-grain thyroid tablet each day I will come back to normal weight and my hair be improved and I will feel better all around. She says she has done it. But another friend says it would be dangerous—she claims it would have a bad effect upon my heart and I might get a goitre. I am not a heavy eater and do not care for sweets; do all my own work, which gives me plenty of exercise. I am tempted to try the thyroid tablets, but am afraid. If they are really harmful, will you explain in just what way they would have a bad effect?

Answer: These tablets should only be taken under the advice of a physician, but I have never seen a case where better results could not be received through a simple dietetic treatment. You doubtlessly are having the change in both the ovaries and the thyroid, but can keep your weight to the normal if you will stick to the right kind of food, using it in limited quantities, taking only one or two meals a day if that is necessary to keep your weight normal.

Milk and Catarrh

Question: A. L. P. writes: "I should appreciate you advising me through the columns of the paper if you consider a 10-day orange juice fast followed by an exclusive milk diet a cure for nasal catarrh?"

Answer: The orange juice fast should bring about excellent results, but should be followed by a diet comparatively free from starch, sugar or milk. While milk is an excellent food, its use should be carefully restricted by all those with a catarrhal tendency.

STALEY-WYNNE FORCES ACTIVE

Wilbarger and Wichita Properties Kept Busy

The Staley-Wynne interests are showing considerable work in the development of their different tracts out of the W. T. Waggoner lands in Wilbarger county and their Kemp-Kempner lease in south Wichita county. A glance at the drilling under way by this concern shows the following: Waggoner B-3, in section 32, block 4, setting pipe at 1830 feet preparatory to standardizing. Waggoner B-2, in the northwest part of section 25, block 4, offsetting the Easter production to the east has set and will drill in the sand the next day or two.

Waggoner F-5, in section 32, block H. & T. C. survey, is drilling at 900 feet. F-6, in the same survey, drilling 1000 feet.

Waggoner N-1 is located in their 80-acre lease out of the northeast corner of the south 40 acres of section 40, M. E. P. R. R. survey.

Waggoner L-1 is located in section 39, M. E. P. R. R. survey. In Wichita county No. 16 Kemp-Kempner in block 82, Wichita Valley Farm Lands has set and cemented pipe on the sand at 1474 feet. On the same lease No. 17 is drilling at 1100 feet and will drill to the 850 foot pay.

Cosden Wildcat Gets Deep Sand

J. S. Cosden company No. D-1 W. T. Waggoner, located in the northeast part of section 35, block 2, H. & T. C. R. R. survey, southeast of the old Ziegler pool in Wilbarger county, is showing considerable oil and gas from a sand at 2648 feet, and in the event of a producer being completed it will extend Wilbarger's deepest pay a distance of two and a half miles to the southeast.

The well, which drilled two feet into the sand, stood with a hole full of water and after a short time the oil came in a considerable depth, accompanied by heavy gas pressure.

The completion of this well will be the second to produce from the 2640 foot sand, Wilbarger's deepest horizon, the other producer being the Atlantic Oil Producing company's No. A-5 in section 51, block 4, H. & T. C. survey, in the Ziegler pool south of the old South Vernon production.

SOUTHWEST IOWA PARK

Riner & Omohundro made location for their No. B-1 Mrs. N. Michie, 150 feet from south line, and 450 feet from west line of the Michie farm in the Lewis Netherly survey, abstract 240, Wichita county.

BRYSON POOL, JACK

Bridwell-Petroleum Producers No. 1 Sampley drilled the plug in the sand at 3115-42 feet and will place a 35-quart shot of nitro in an effort to make a producer. The well is located south of the Liedecker producer in Sanders survey, Bryson pool.

FRANK C. CULLUM TEST

F. C. Cullum and others are rigging up rotary for a test to be drilled 450 feet east and 150 feet north of the southwest corner of block 9, Falls county school lands in Archer county.

WEST OF HOLLIDAY

The Texas company and associates No. 1 C. Knight, located in the northeast corner of block 69, W. V. F. L., west of Holliday in north Archer county, is drilling at 1855 feet. This test, which is a south offset to the Texas company et al. No. 1 Kemp-Kempner, which is producing 190 barrels per day from the sand at 1814 feet, has apparently the earmarks of a dry hole.

NEW YORK AIR BRAKE COMPANY

Five-Year Record

The New York Air Brake company manufactures, replaces and repairs air-brake equipment for passenger and freight cars and locomotives. In 1928, it commenced the manufacture of the Gerlinger hydraulic lift carriers. Since 1912, it has made under Westinghouse patents all parts of Westinghouse air-brake equipment. It owns all the stock of the Jefferson Munitions company and controls the Forsythe Automatic Air and Steam Coupler company. The main plant of the concern is at Watertown, N. Y., and has a daily capacity of 1,000 sets of air brakes. It also owns valuable water power rights in vicinity of Beebe island.

New banking interests came into the company in 1922, when the capital structure was readjusted. Earnings have been variable. In 1927, net income was $1,096,666. This compared with $1,593,934 in 1926. For the first six months of 1928, net was $440,000, or slightly lower than for the corresponding period of 1927.

There is no funded debt. Capital stock outstanding totals 300,000 shares of no par value. The old $100 par stock was exchanged on a basis of two shares of new no-par for one share of old. The present dividend rate is $3 a share per year. This rate has been paid since 1926.

The earnings for the entire year of 1928 have been estimated at something under the $3 dividend requirements.

As of June 30, 1928, total current assets were $5,406,616. Current liabilities amounted to $744,085 and net working capital was $4,662,531. Book value, applicable to the capital stock, excluding patents and trade names, amounted to $10,764,795, or $35.88 a share.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 1. (AP)—Cotton was lower today under liquidation and local or southern selling inspired by reports of fairly favorable weather in the South and the unsettled tone of the stock market. After showing net declines of about 30 to 34 points, with July selling off to 19.86 prices rallied partially on covering, July closing at 20.01. The general market closed steady at net declines of 12 to 21 points.

The market opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 6 points on reports that weather conditions over the holidays had been fairly satisfactory in the South, coupled with the weak opening of the stock market and advance in call money rates. There was some trade buying and covering.

The market later turned steadier on covering and earlier losses were partly recovered.

The late advance was promoted by reports of a better tone in stocks. The early selling seemed to have improved the technical position.

A private report was published early, placing preliminary acreage indications at 2.3 per cent above last year's. This was somewhat above figures published last week, but it seemed to have little if any effect on the market. In continuation of the Easter holidays, Liverpool was closed today but will reopen tomorrow.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 1. (AP)—Cotton prices eased off over $1.50 a bale today under offerings induced by weakness in stocks and favorable weather in the corn belt, but the lower prices attracted some trade buying and covering which was further stimulated by a report that the government would soon issue a boll weevil statement. In final trading July contracts rallied from 19.75 to 19.92 and closed at the latter figure, or net 15 points lower. The general market closed steady at net declines of 12 to 17 points.

In the absence of Liverpool cables the market was apparently without incentive at the start. First trades were unchanged to 3 points net down. Prospects for favorable weather in the belt brought out enough ring selling, however, to force prices 16 to 17 points below Thursday's close.

There was a rally of about 3 points towards the end of the first hour on a bullish private acreage report but the demand soon tapered off and selling became more active in sympathy with the decline in stocks. By noon quotations were 29 to 33 points net down.

A report that the government was to issue a boll weevil report in the near future induced traders to cover, probably on the belief that the report would be bullish. Prices gradually recovered during the afternoon and final prices showed rallies of 16 to 17 points from the lows. May closed at 19.83, and October 19.85.

Mitchell Shows Which Side Of Fence He's on by Urging Advance

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, April 1. (US)—Several bearish money developments combined to put the stock market lower today. Rise in the call money rate from a renewal of 10 to 15 per cent, recommendation of the National City bank that the rediscount rate be raised to 6 per cent, and a mysterious meeting of the reserve bank governors at Washington were the most unsettling features. Storm damage in the West destroyed wire communication so that the total trading was reduced to near the 4,000,000-share level.

Steel lost 4½ points, Radio 6, General Motors 2½, Montgomery Ward 4⅜, Can 4½, Anaconda 6⅝, while other industrials were down from 2 to more than 10 points. Other groups were influenced so that rails and oils dropped on the average, although evidencing better support than shown in the industrial group.

Recommendation of the National City bank that the rediscount rate be advanced proved the greatest influence to renewed selling. The street thought that because the bank offered money at from 15 to 20 per cent last week it meant that Mr. Mitchell was bullish. The recommendation in the bank's monthly review caused everyone to wonder "what side of the fence is he on?" The recommendation made it quite plain, however, that the National City believes that a higher rediscount rate is the best means of correcting the credit situation and therefore is bearish on stock prices for the immediate future.

A higher rediscount rate would have but a psychological effect on the market at first, but to the extent that it threatened a slowdown in general business would be an added influence to liquidation of speculative security holdings. Bankers generally agree with Mr. Mitchell and forecast that within a short time after the rate was raised, credit conditions would be improved to an extent to permit of a rate below 5 per cent.

The call money rate of 15 per cent proved the month-end period of tightness was not over. After checks go through tomorrow, however, there will be reason to expect some easier conditions unless the reserve, through under-cover operations, offsets the normal easing developments. Calling of loans today was mostly for out-of-town banks. As a contrast to such actions, the private wires from Washington indicated that western bankers were more in opposition to the Federal Reserve's campaign to force a reduction in brokers' loans than those from the East.

The absence of official utterance from the reserve directors in session in Washington while the market was in session enhanced speculative uneasiness. Private wires to brokers, however, indicated that there was no likelihood of the reserve board abandoning its corrective campaign.

The ticker in publishing a story of Mr. Durant's questionnaire to leading business men asking their opinion whether or not stocks were too high was interrupted with an item telling of calling of $20,000,000 loans by banks. That gave the answer to Mr. Durant's question. Some who received Mr. Durant's questionnaire will not answer at all. They feel that many stocks are not selling too high when the long-pull prospects are considered, but believe there is no advantage in buying stocks while the credit controversy rages. As they do not want to go on record as bears, however, they will not answer at all.

While the oils are influenced by the general irregularity, there is good absorption evidenced therein, as the group has not been over-exploited and leaders of the industry have several important plans to put through. Those picking up the stocks, however, will not climb for them, for they believe they will have plenty of time to accumulate all they want while the reserve is completing its credit correction. Several of the Standard companies are expected to increase their dividends, while Sinclair, Pan-American, Texas company and other independents, it is believed, will play important part in merger activities as stabilization of the industry progresses.

TEXAS LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, April 1. (AP)—The supply of cattle and calves was more liberal here today. No quotable change for lower values developed during early trading. Hogs registered an advance, and spring lambs were a little lower; other classes of sheep were steady.

Slaughter steers, particularly the kind to sell at $10.50@11.00, were active at 10 to 15c higher values.

The early trading included a nine-car shipment of steers that sold to order buyer at $12.40. These steers carried considerable finish.

Bulls were fully steady, one load early selling at $8.75; packages at $8@8.50. Common lightbulls cleared around $8.

Slaughter yearlings about steady with carlots at $12@12.75 and a load of long aged yearlings at $13.

Very few cows were included in the day's trade. Values fully steady. A package of fat cows sold up to $9.60, butchers around $7 and canners and cutters in packages at $5.25@6.50.

Calves were about steady. Packer buyers paid up to $12.65 for good heavy calves, culls selling around $8.

Buyers for stocker calves a little easy on some sales but carlots moved at $12.50@12.75. About two loads of desirable light stocker cows sold at $9.25.

Spring lambs a little lower and a few sold at $16. Wooled fat lambs sold at $15.75 and shorn fat lambs at $13@14.00. Shorn fat yearlings at $12.50.

MID-WESTERN REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, April 1. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—Curtailed supplies of cattle around the 11-market loop today prompted a reaction on killing classes of cattle with prices firm to unevenly higher. Sharp gains of 25 to 50c were registered at several markets on fed steers and yearlings. A weak to lower undertone prevailed on vealers. Stocker and feeder trade ruled fairly active at steady to 25c higher prices. Several points, however, are materially lower than a year ago on feeders. Aggregate receipts were around 44,300 a decrease of 26,500 from a week ago and 11,500 less than the corresponding day last year.

Hogs found an active outlet at generally 25 to 35c higher prices, meager supplies being the strengthening influence. The day's extreme top of $11.90 was paid both at Chicago and St. Louis. Total offerings were around 84,000 as compared with 146,565 last Monday and 138,622 a year ago.

The sheep supply approximated 64,000, an increase of 12,000 over a week ago and slightly heavier than a year ago. Fat lambs were steady to 25c higher. No changes were registered on the limited showing of aged stock.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, April 1. (AP)—Tumbling of grain values today went side by side with fresh breaks in the stock market. Meanwhile, monthly unofficial crop estimates issued here today were in general construed as bearish, and moisture in Canada as well as in domestic wheat territory tended further to induce lower prices.

Closing quotations on wheat were nervous, 1⅛@⅝c to 2⅛c net lower; corn finished 1c to 1¼c down, oats ⅛c to ½c off, and provisions varying from 5c decline to a rise of 15c.

News of late rallies in the stock market were not received until after grain trade was at an end, and wheat closed but little above the day's bottom figures.

Corn and oats declined owing to sympathy with wheat weakness.

Provisions were firm early, responsive to an upturn in hog values, but later reflected the weakness of grain.

EGG DEMAND HOLDS STRONG

Easter Shipments Here Are Heaviest on Record

Laying hens in the territory contributory to Wichita Falls wholesale poultry and produce houses were called upon to work overtime during the week just closed in order to supply an unusually heavy demand for Easter eggs, according to local dealers.

Orders placed for shipments to northern and eastern points bore special instructions designed to insure delivery of the eggs before the end of the week, it was stated. Deliveries to local merchants for the retail trade in Wichita Falls was said to have trebled the amount usually demanded for the week-end business. The Wichita Poultry and Egg company alone wholesaled 3,750 dozen eggs on Saturday before Easter Sunday.

No further advances had been posted Monday in the poultry market, despite a continued shortage of marketable live birds.

The president of the junior division will become a member of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce, according to a statement made by officials recently.

Federal Court Hears $7,200 Damage Claim

Trial of the suit of Mrs. Gladys R. Beard and her daughter, Ouida Beard, against the Ocean Accident and Guaranty corporation, asking $7,200 compensation for alleged injuries to their husband and father suffered on an oil lease in 1926, will be called before Judge W. H. Atwell in the United States district court Tuesday morning. It is the only case set for the day.

The plaintiff's petition alleges that W. R. Beard was hurt when he attempted to lift a heavy wrench on an oil lease operated by E. C. Stovall in 1926. The plaintiffs live in Stephens county.

City Installs New Accounting System

The city of Wichita Falls' new method of bookkeeping and accounting which incorporates the principles favored by the national government at Washington went into effect Monday at the opening of the new fiscal year, according to W. E. McBroom, city clerk. The new system of accounting is modeled after the modern method of bookkeeping for cities of 50,000 or 60,000 inhabitants.

The new system makes it possible for the city manager to keep an accurate check on the expenditure of each department and to compare expenditures, revenues and debts with that of other cities of this size.

The most fun offered the public for a dime is a wavy automobile track known as the Ocean Wave. Wichita now has one, four miles out Henrietta road. Drive out and try it once. A pleasant surprise awaits you.—Adv.
