Carr Pleads Basin's Case In Denver

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr today presented his state's arguments in an appeal of the Federal Power Commission's ruling on gas rates in the Permian Basin area of West Texas.

Speaking before the 10th Circuit Court of Appeals, Carr said the FPC order will put many large and small Texas independent producers out of business "because of their inability to meet expenses with the resulting lowering of income."

Carr's case also included arguments the ruling will have a "serious impact" on the state's economy and on individual Texans.

Last month, Carr commented that the order established "depressant low prices" for gas produced in the Permian Basin.

The FPC order called for a price rate of 14.5 cents per thousand cubic feet in Texas for "old gas-well gas" and 16.5 cents for "new gas-well gas."

During February, 1965, hearings in Washington, Gov. John Connally, D-Tex., Carr and Texas Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon urged a single price of 20 cents.

Last January, Texas and New Mexico obtained a stay order from the Denver court on the FPC order until they could present further arguments.

The FPC said in a written brief to the court earlier that its order, issued Aug. 5, 1965, but later stayed, would reduce producer charges in the Permian Basin of Texas and New Mexico by at least $20 million a year. The FPC also said it proposed to require refunds on sales dating back to 1958.

About 85 per cent of Permian Basin's natural gas piped to California by El Paso Natural Gas Co., and Transwestern Pipeline Co. The other 15 per cent is distributed to natural gas utilities in the Midwest by Northern Natural Gas Co.

Lawyers for hundreds of natural gas producers in the 55 Texas counties and three New Mexico counties making up the basin have joined in the fight to invalidate the FPC order which would supersede rates established on an individual company basis.

The effective date of the new rates was to have been Sept. 1, 1965 but the circuit court, on petition of Skelly Oil Co., stayed the FPC order until 30 days after the appeals court rules after hearing current arguments. In addition, the court has before it scores of written briefs.

The commission ordered Permian Basin ceiling prices of 16.5 cents per thousand cubic feet for new premium quality gas-well gas and 14.5 cents for old gas-well gas or oil-well gas.

Continental Oil Co. and 33 other major producers in a joint written brief filed Feb. 9, 1966 charged the FPC order was invalid "for its use of a composite average cost to set ceiling rates. Obviously when all rates above such a ceiling must be reduced to that ceiling, rates below such ceiling are not raised to the ceiling, producers are precluded from any opportunity to realize their revenue requirements or even the rates deemed by the commission to be just and reasonable. Hence the order is unlawful."

Cities of Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego and California Public Utilities Commission are among intervenor. who filed briefs with court.

Circuit Judges David Lewis of Salt Lake City, presiding, Jean Breitenstein of Denver and Delmas Hill of Wichita, Kan., heard the case.

Budget For County OK'd

Scurry County Commissioners Court this morning approved a 1967 county budget that is virtually identical to this year's budget.

Approval came after the commissioners were assembled for the public hearing on the budget. Nobody appeared at the hearing, except members of the court, the county auditor and representatives of press and radio.

The county tax rate is established in the new budget at .95 per $100 valuation, the same as for this year. Valuations, totalling $108,000,000 also are at the same figure.

The total tax levy is $1,026,000 of which the county expects to collect $1,015,740.

The new budget is for the calendar year beginning Jan. 1, 1967.

Five Escape In Berlin Escapade

By MARTIN ZUCKER

BERLIN (AP)—Rags and steel plates protected five young refugees from Communist gunfire as they crashed into West Berlin in a bulldozer.

Two young men, their pregnant wives, and the 4-year-old son of one of the couples crouched Sunday in the speeding bulldozer as it crossed two ditches and crashed through four barbed-wire fences before hitting a tree a few yards inside West Berlin.

Two East German border guards ran toward the vehicle with submachine guns blazing.

"We had to get out of the bulldozer. The women jumped first, then we pulled up the bottom of a (garden) fence, let the women crawl through, and followed them," the 24-year-old professional bulldozer operator related.

A witness said one of the refugees, carrying the child in his arms, repeatedly cried "Are we in the West? Are we in the West.?"

They were taken to a hospital, where one man and one woman were treated for slight bullet wounds of the head and released.

West Berlin police said East German border guards fired more than 100 rounds at the fleeing vehicle. Thirty-eight bullets hit it, some piercing the thin armor plating, police said.

The driver explained that they had only enough armor plate to shield the gas tank and windows.

AT VIET POLLS

Ky Cites Red Defeat

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Nguyen Cao Ky said today that 80 per cent of South Viet Nam's voters had turned out for the national elections which spelled "the beginning of the end for the Communists."

"We now have the conditions for final victory," the premier said at a gala diplomatic and press conference at which all members of the ruling military council appeared.

The new assembly of 117 representatives elected to write a new constitution will meet Sept. 26 and Ky said they should finish their work "as soon as possible."

The new assembly, as announced by Maj. Gen. Nguyen Duc Thang, who was in charge of the elections, included 22 teachers, 20 military men, 18 civil servants, 17 provincial councillors, 15 professional people, eight farmers, three judges and three others.

Only one woman, of 18 female candidates, was successful. The average age of the assembly is 40.

Gen. Thang said that on election day there were 5,289,652 eligible voters. Of this number 4,274,812 went to the polls.

Thang admitted that among the voters some cast blank ballots of protest, but said the number was far smaller than the 15 per cent who cast defaced ballots in the 1965 provincial elections. He gave no figure however.

Anchorage Fire Claims 13 Lives

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—At least 13 persons, two of them women, died today in an early morning fire that destroyed the two-story, 33-room Lane Hotel on the edge of Anchorage's main business district.

Anchorage police said 13 bodies, some of them burned beyond recognition, were recovered from the ruins of the frame building.

The fire started during a cold, driving rain and flames quickly swept through the building, burst through the roof and towered skyward before they could be brought under control two hours later. The cause was not determined.

The bodies were taken to a police garage where attempts to identify them were started.

The first 10 bodies recovered were found on the second floor. Fire Chief Vic Bernasconi said people were known to have slept in the basemen and that area, filled with charred timbers and debris would have to be searched thoroughly before a definite death toll could be determined.

Geminauts Claim Hook-Up Record

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini 11 astronauts, swift hunters in the sky, accomplished man's quickest rendezvous of high-flying space vehicles today as a dramatic prelude to three adventurous days in space.

They caught and captured an Agena target satellite before they completed their first orbit of the globe.

"We are docked," exclaimed Gemini 11 command pilot Charles Conrad Jr.

"Beautiful," Mission Control said to the spacemen.

The rendezvous occurred approximately 185 miles above the Pacific Ocean and the word was relayed by the pilots when they passed over a tracking station at Point Arguello, Calif.

Conrad and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Richard F. Gordon Jr. accomplished the quick first-orbit rendezvous nearly three hours and two orbits faster than any previous Gemini flight.

They skilfully steered their tiny spaceship through a series of maneuvers as they pursued the Agena over an 18,000-mile course, catching it above the Pacific Ocean some 80 minutes after they rode a thundering Titan 2 rocket from Cape Kennedy.

About 10 minutes later, at 11:15 a.m. (EST), high over the United States, Conrad gently slipped the Gemini nose into a docking collar on one end of the Agena.

Mechanical latches gripped the two as they sailed as one rigid vehicle.

Conrad, 36, called out as Gemini approached for the record rendezvous: "Would you belive M equal one?"

"M equal one" is the astronaut's term for a first-orbit rendezvous.

When Conrad told the ground he used only 44 per cent of his fuel to accomplish the docking, mission control replied:

"That's great, Pete."

Experts had said as much as 75 per cent of the fuel might be required for the tricky maneuvering of Gemini 11.

The 80-minute link at 17,500 miles an hour easily topped the old rendezvous mark of four hours set by the Gemini 9 astronauts in June. The dramatic pursuit triggered what should be an action-packed three days in space.

Ahead lay a 107-minute space walk and 140-minute "space stand" by Gordon, a dash to a record altitude of 863 miles and a unique experiment in which the Agena and Gemini will be tied together by a 100-foot line.

The fast maneuvering, achieved with almost no help from the ground, has two important implications for America's Apollo man to the moon program.

First, it simulated an emergency liftoff from the moon by two astronauts who might have to make a hasty rendezvous with an Apollo ship in lunar orbit.

Second, it demonstrated the ability of the astronauts to use their computer, inertial guidance system and radar to calculate all their maneuvers on board instead of receiving help from ground stations as earlier Gemini hunters did.

The astronauts reported only one minor problem in the rendezvous and docking exercise.

"We had some sort of a funny during rendezvous," Conrad said. "We couldn't switch antennaes and on our third correction we had no elevation."

A backup system was used to do the job and after completing the docking, the pilots reported the antenna switching system, used in calculating elevation, was working.

Shortly after docking, Conrad fired the Gemini thruster rockets to push the Agena forward. Purpose of this experiment is to test the technique and accuracy of a direct contact method of determining the weight of an orbiting object — in this case the Agena.

The ground knows the precise Agena weight and officials want to see if instruments aboard Gemini 11 can come up with the same figure during the test.

More Riots Stir Atlanta

By RICHARD BLYSTONE
and
RON SPEER

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Racial violence-accented with relieving marches—erupted in a predominantly Negro area of Atlanta for two straight nights.

Injuries were light in the rioting that continued until calm was restored early today. Several arrests were made.

Mayor Ivan Allen Jr. threw open the doors of his office and appealed for Negro leaders to present their problems and possible solutions to the violence.

Allen, who waded into the middle of riots in his city Tuesday and Saturday, rushed to the scene again Sunday night after a blazing fire bomb signaled the beginning of more violence.

Only a few hours earlier he had offered a $10,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person responsible for the death of Hubert Vorner, 16.

Sporadic violence punctured the rioting Sunday night and intermittently fractured a volatile, unspoken truce brought about largely through the efforts of Negro and white ministers and social workers.

The Saturday night rioting, several miles away from that of Tuesday, was spawned by the death of Vorner and the wounding of a companion, Roy Milton Wright, also 16.

Investigators reported a car carrying a white man and a white woman had slowly passed when shots rang out felling the youths.

Witnesses' accounts led officers to believe the gunman apparently thought his companion had been insulted by Vorner and Wright.

Police Sgt. M. J. Spears, 42, quickly arrived to probe the shooting. He was talking to a crowd of Negroes when he was felled by what officers first said was a shot from the crowd but later termed only as an object.

Two Markers Dedicated At Ira

Some 200 persons were present Sunday afternoon at the "crossroads" in Ira as the Scurry County Historical Survey Committee dedicated two historical markers.

One marker commemorates the drilling of the first producing well in the county—the J. J. Moore No. 1 Loutex in 1923. The other marker recognizes the founding of the town in the late 1800's.

Elmer Taylor gave a brief talk and he introduced James O. Jarman, a tool dresser on the early oil well, Pat Moore, son of the late landowner of the well, also spoke briefly. He told how he helped fire the boilers on the rig.

Others appearing on the program included Hugh Taylor, chairman of the historical survey committee, and the Rev. T. L. Nipp.

Moore removed the covers from the two markers.

Jarman told of the trouble the crew had when they struck a pocket of pressurized cold air, containing nitrogen and helium.

"It was the first time I had run into air," he said, "and I thought it was gas."

"I put out the fire and ran as fast as I could to get away," he continued. "Later, when we realized there was not going to be a fire, we returned and discovered that the bit had been ruined. Water and mud blew 60 feet above the wellhead."

Jarman said they completed to 3,575 feet and plugged back to 1,800 feet in the San Andres formation. The well has produced over 500,000 barrels and is still yielding oil.

The tool dresser was the only man to work on the rig from top to bottom. He said they had "showings" of oil at a greater depth.

Jarman now resides in Colorado City. He is still active in the oil business and has two rigs working in Reaves County.

Moore recalled how the cold air was harnessed to the rig so the drillers could use it for power rather than steam.

"We put watermelons against the pipes to get them cold," he remembered.

The melons got so cold the workers had to borrow a saw to cut them.

Some of the "old timers" among those present recalled that Ira was named after Ira Green, who opened a crossroads store after leaving a wagon train.

The first homes and school at Ira were half-dugouts (cellars with windows set above ground level). The Post Office was established in 1896. Settlers began moving into the area and opened it to farming and ranching just before the turn of the Century.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What are you trying to do to us newly married young girls by saying you see no reason why a young bride should not keep in daily touch with her mother!

One of the reasons a girl leaves home is to get out from under her mother's domination.

I am a bride and I work 8 hours a day. I cook supper and my husband does the dishes and vacuums. In the evenings, I do my hair, our washing and ironing and mending. We go out with friends once a week or have friends over. We see my mother once every other week. I call her once a week—yet, I got your column in my mailbox!

Abby, who am I to please? Myself, my mother, or my husband?

I am very busy and I get tired. I just don't have time for a 15-or 20-minute phone call with my mother everyday, and I can't cut her off any sooner.

Please, for us who don't have time but want to keep peace in the family say a kind word. And until you do, I am an—

EX ABBY FAN

DEAR FAN: I will miss you, but before you depart may I say that I have never known a person who was too busy to do the things he really wanted to do. And I did not say that a married woman SHOULD be in touch with her mother daily, I said, I saw nothing wrong with it.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: When I come home after my night out with the girls, My husband always kisses me hello to see if I've been drinking. I resent this. I never kiss him to see if he's been drinking when HE comes home from his night out with the boys because I KNOW he has. I say, what's good for the goose is good for the gander. Right?

GANDER

DEAR GANDER: That's a lot of goosefeathers. What's good for the goose has never been good for the gander. And never will be.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: We have a son who has been in the service for a year. He is now stationed in Hawaii. After not hearing one line from him in two months, we received a telephone call from Hawaii at 2 o'clock in the morning. It was our son informing us that he is getting married and needs our consent and signature as he is only 19 years old.

Well, Abby, you could have knocked us over with a feather. Of course we knew nothing of this girl. He said he met her six weeks ago and he loves her "deeply." We have been thru all this with him before. He has fallen in and out of love half a dozen times already and each time he says it is the real thing.

Believe me, we have had it with him. We refused our consent because we honestly feel he isn't grown up enough to know what he wants. Are we doing right to refuse our consent to this marriage?

HOLDING OFF

DEAR HOLDING: Until you know more about the girl, and the circumstances, I would say your decision was sound.

Reds Grant Asylum To US Citizen

MOSCOW, Sept. 12 (AP) — Tass, the official Soviet news agency, reported today a U.S. citizen and former Roman Catholic priest has been granted "political asylum" in the Soviet Union.

Tass identified the American as Harold M. Koch and said he made his request "to protest against the criminal United States aggression in Viet Nam."

The Tass report did not give any further information about Koch.

An American Embassy spokesman said the Tass story was the first he had heard of the matter and that inquiries had been begun to find out more about Koch and his presence in Moscow.

Tass said the competent authorities examined the request and granted it. There was no mention of where the American is now or what he is doing.

Tass gave this text of the statement it said Koch made to the foreign ministry:

I, Harold M. Koch, ask to be granted political asylum in the Soviet Union. I make this request for the following reasons:

1. I protest against American aggression in Viet Nam which is daily increasing in force, cruelty and injustice.

2. The American leaders are ignoring the hoplessness and misery of the impoverished people in the States and especially the colored people to push forward the unjust war against the Vietnamese people.

3. Lastly, I wish to join the Soviet people in their work of promoting world peace and building a new social order in their country.

I request that the authorities in the U.S.S.R. consider my application at their earliest convenience and grant me an opportunity to take an active part in the struggle against the injustice and cruelty of the Vietnamese war.

I would be willing to use the press and any other media and hope that such an opportunity will be given me.

DeGaulle Sees Blast

PAPEETE, Tahiti (AP) — Clad in grey protective coveralls and antiflash dark glasses, President Charles de Gaulle watched France's third Pacific nuclear test from the bridge of a cruiser.

The atomic device was launched Sunday from a balloon off the French Polynesian atoll of Mururoa at an altitude of about 1,500 feet. Officials said it was the largest French nuclear explosion to date.

No yield was given but indications were it was in the range of 100 kilotons, or equal to 100,000 tons of TNT.

The 75-year-old chief of the French republic had to wait an extra day aboard the cruiser De Grasse as unfavorable wind conditions forced a 24-hour postponement of the test, originally set for sunrise Saturday. The vesel was 25 miles away from the blast.

The blast climaxed De Gaule's 27,000-mile round-the-world trip.

Red Chinese Oust Chief Of Province

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China indicated today that Chen Yu, governor of China's rich and populous southern province of Kwangtun — Canton — has been sacked. It identified Vice Governor Lin Li-ming as acting governor.

Chen's removal from the office he has held since 1957 was seen in an announcement that said Lin had, with Canton Mayor Tseng Sheng, received a Congolese parliamentary delegation Sunday in Canton. There was no other indication of when or why Chen had been replaced. Lin spoke at a later banquet for the group and was identified as acting governor at a rally in Kwangchow in honor of nine Chinese seamen allegedly killed by U.S. planes in the Gulf of Tonkin.

Chen's province has been in hot water over the Red Guard movement. Mayor Tseng Sheng was reported to have been manhandled by the youths Sept. 3 when he advised them against using force on Chinese visitors from Hong Kong and Macao.

The Peking People's Daily, official paper of Red China's Communist party, has disclosed the existence of a movement urging farmers and laborers to oppose the militant Red Guard movement.

In a broadcast monitored in Tokyo, Radio Peking quoted the paper as saying attacks on the Red Guards must stop.

"Such action cannot be permitted. The Red Guard movement itself is correct. The goals of the Red Guards and the farmers and laborers are basically the same, and therefore they should act in concert with each other," the paper said.

Superspy Snaps Reds

NEW YORK (AP) — A new maneuverable superspy satellite is taking photos of Soviet military bases and dropping the film packages back to the United States, the Daily News said today.

In a copyright article from Cape Kennedy, Fla., the paper said the satellite may have a television system which can be monitored from the ground.

The News said the satellite is an improved version of a type which has been photographing Soviet and Chinese military bases for more than five years — the so-called Smos program.

It said the new satellite, first launched on July 29 from Vandenberg Air Force Base in California, has a camera so powerful it can photograph objects as small as several feet across from 100 miles up. The film packages are dropped on signal from the earth and caught in nets by planes near Hawaii, or fished from the ocean if the planes miss.

The satellite also is equipped with rockets which can change its orbit on ground signal, the News said.

New Auto Unveiled

DETROIT (AP) — Chevrolet took the wraps today off its new Camaro which will challenge Ford's Mustang in the sporty car field in 1967.

General Motors' biggest division show its diversified 1967 line at a press preview.

The revised Chevy lineup has cut the much publicized Corvair line to five models for 1967, two less than in the 1966 run.

The personal-sized Camaro will be built on a 108-inch wheelbase, the same as the Corvair and the Mustang, but it will have a bit more width, over-all length and curb weight than Ford's entry. A coupe and a convertible will be offered in the Camaro line.

The Camaro lines are very similar to those of the Mustang, featured by the trend to the long hood and short deck. In general, Chevrolet's new offerings tended toward the Big car look."

Trio Charged With Murder

MCBEE, S. C. (AP) — A blonde, 16, and two teen-aged boys were in jail today charged with murder in the slaying of a South Carolina highway patrolman.

The Pennsylvania teen-agers were arrested at Myrtle Beach Saturday night.

Patrolman Charles Steele, 28, the father of three, had been shot twice about noon Saturday and left on the side of U.S. 1 in front of his patrol car about three miles north of McBee. His emptied revolver was by his side.

Investigating officers declined to give many details about the slaying but Steele apparently had flagged down a speeding car.

Held in Columbia were Joyce Mackanick, 16; Jeffrey Brunner, 16, and Kenneth Fleming, 17, all of Altoona, Pa.

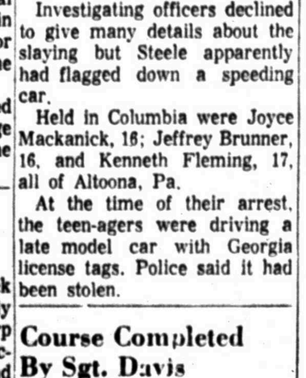

At the time of their arrest, the teen-agers were driving a late model car with Georgia license tags. Police said it had been stolen.

Trial Delayed By Shortage Of Judges

WASHINGTON (AP) — A shortage of judges delayed the start today of the trial of Robert M. Shelton, imperial wizard of the United Klans of America, on a contempt of Congress charge.

Chief Judge Mathew F. Maguire of U.S& District Court assigned the case for trial after rejecting a move by the defense attorney, Lester V. Chalmers, for a postponement.

MaGuire referred the case to the court's assignment office which said it was in a "ready at waiting" category but that no court was immediately available.

Mansfield Still Asks Troop Cut

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite President Johnson's opposition, Sen. Mike Mansfield said today he intends to press his attempt to put the Senate on record for substantial reductions of U.S. forces in Europe.

But the Senate Democratic leader said in an interview he will leave it to the Senate to decide whether the resolution urging the cutback should be the subject of public hearings.

The Montana senator previously planned to call up the resolution without such hearings. But Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen objected, contending that the issues involved are too complex for the Senate to act until it knows where it is going.

Johnson told a news conference last Thursday he doesn't think "this involved problem can be solved by Senate resolutions." He said there must be consultation and agreement with U.S. allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) over necessary military strength and how to apportion it.

Mansfield said he is in complete accord that there must be allied consultation and that the United States could not afford to act alone to reduce its troop contribution.

"But the European nations have been acting unilaterally in regard to their responsibilities in this matter," he said. "Some of them have abolished conscription, at least one of them (France) is withdrawing its troops and others are failing to fulfill their commitments to NATO.

"I hope this is a matter we have been discussing periodically with them for the last 20 years but if it is, we seem to have made little progress."

Mansfield said that on the day Johnson made known publicly his opposition to Senate action, members of the Democratic Policy Committee met and reaffirmed their unanimous support of the resolution which they had joined him in offering.

"This resolution is offered with the greatest goodwill by members of the policy committee representing every political spectrum," he said. "In no way is it an attempt to dictate to the President or to undermine his responsibility or authority in this field. It would be simply a recommendation by the Senate for action toward an ultimate objective."

Journal Tribune Makes Late Debut

NEW YORK (AP) — The World Journal Tribune made its debut today — 4½ months late because of labor difficulties.

The press run of the first edition, which was scheduled for 9 a.m., was delayed for more than an hour by what President Matt Meyer called first-day "normal confusion."

Mayor John V. Lindsay was to have pushed a button to start the 900,000-copy press run, but he had to leave before it was ready to roll.

Lindsay was presented with a proof of age one of the new afternoon paper, which will sell for 10 cents. The Sunday edition will cost 30 cents in the city, 35 cents in the suburbs.

Two Mishaps Are Reported

City Police investigated two minor traffic accidents over the weekend.

Cars of Judy K. Bruyere, 2406 Forty-second Street, and Dewey K. Grinslade, 3201 Avenue V, were involved in a collision at Twenty-seventh Street and Avenue S at 4:14 p.m. Sunday.

Damage to Grinslade's 1963 Model Chevrolet was set at $50, and damage to the other car, a 1960 Buick, was set at $50.

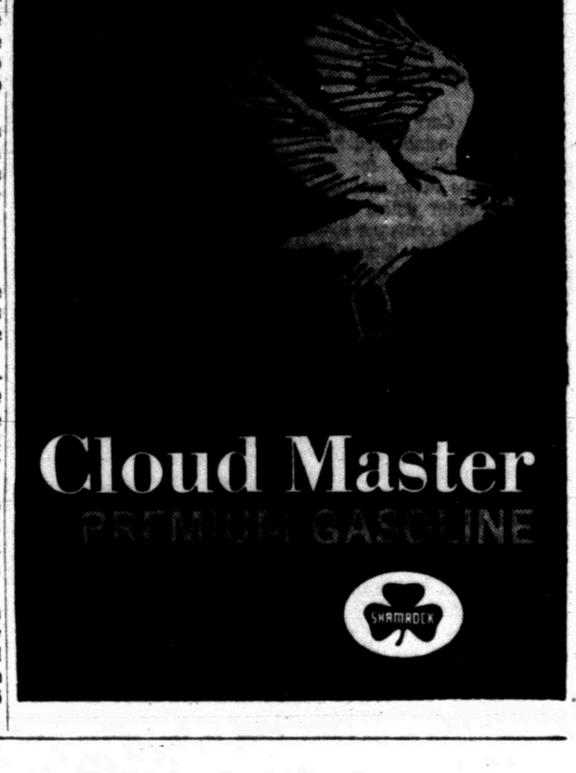

The second mishap occurred at 5:52 p.m. Sunday at Thirty-seventh Street and Avenue S.

Involved were the 1955 Model DeSoto of Charles P. Armstead, 200 Thirty-fifth Street, and the 1963 Model Chevrolet of Linda L. Pearce, Route 2, Abernathy. Damage to the DeSoto was set at $100, and damage to the other vehicle was estimated at $150.

Police Investigate Theft Of Coins

MISS CINDY HALE

Miss Hale Legislator At Tech

Miss Cindy Hale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Hale of 2215 Forty-second Street, will serve as a Legislator this year in Stangel Hall, womens dorm at Texas Tech. Stangel Hall is a new upper classwomans dormitory and adjoins Mens No. 10 on the campus.

Miss Hale was chosen by a selection committee of Women's Residence Council. Selections are based on high academic standards, moral character, friendliness, enthusiasm, honesty, and fair play. Many other qualities are considered when legislators are selected. First, does she get along well with all the girls on the wing; is her attitude good about dorm rules; does she have an interest in outside activities; does she set a good example; and is she dependable.

Being a Legislator is not merely an office or an honor, it is also a responsibiliiy that can be rewarding. By being appointed it indicates she has been an outstanding student. She has exhibited the ability to be a leader among her own age group and that she is well liked by her associates, and those older than she.

The official governing body of each hall is the legislature. Legislators live in specified rooms on each wing of the halls and represent the viewpoints of the residents, and are responsible for the welfare of their particular wing. Legislators are the key link in communicating information from A. W. S. and the administration. She must be informed about the various campus activities and church groups. Legislature and wing meetings are held twice a month.

Miss Hale was also appointed as Social Chairman of Stangel Hall. It will be her duty to supervise all social activities of the dorm including dorm parties, mixers, exchange dinners, open houses, installation of officers, holiday activities, etc. Her first officiation in this capacity will be an Open House on Sunday, September 18, when the co-eds move in. Refreshments will be served to the girls and their parents.

An honor student, Miss Hale has a 3.7 grade point average (on a 4.0 system) her spring semester at Tech. She was the recipient of the Lyndon Baines Johnson scholarship awarded by the Diamond M Foundation upon her graduation from Snyder High School in 1965.

Union 4-H Club Meeting

The Union 4-H Club met Sept. 8 at the Union community center. Darlene Tate presided.

The girls discussed an exhibit for the Scurry County Fair.

Darlene and Barbra Tate served refreshments to Mary Dickey, Jane Ann Herrington, Beth Herrington, Teena Duke, Gloria Bigham, Martha Stevens, Terry Lynn Duke, and visitors Laurie Graves and Teresa Bigham.

Gloria Bigham was in charge of recreation, with a game of human checkers. A discussion on record books was also held.

Sorority Has First Meeting

The Lambda Kappa Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held its first meeting of the new year at Snyder Savings and Loan community room recently.

Pam Mengwasser was elected to fill the office of secretary which was vacated by a transfered member.

The possibility of a booth at the Scurry County Fair and the area convention in Midland was discussed.

A 'Peach' Of An Upside Down Cake

Buttery - rich cake topped with peaches, brown sugar and butter glaze and accented with brilliant red maraschino cherries make Peach Upside - Down Cake a dessert delight. Baking this cake in an oven - proof Teflon-lined pan is suggested for easy removal.

Peach Upside-Down Cake
(Makes 9 servings)

¼ cup butter
¾ cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
Maraschino cherries
1 can (29 oz.) sliced peaches (reserve ½ cup syrup)
½ cup butter
½ cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg, beaten
1½ cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt

Melt the ¼ cup butter in a 8x8x2-inch pan. Sprinkle brown sugar over melted butter. Arrange cherries and peach slices on top of brown sugar mixture. Cream the ½ cup butter and granulated sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in vanilla and egg. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with ½ cup peach syrup, beating only until smooth after each addition. Pour batter over peach slices and spread to edge of pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 minutes.

Sprinkle 1 tablespoon granulated sugar on top of cake. Place a pan the same size, right side up, on the top of cake. Turn upside down. Lay a wet towel over bottom of pan for about 5 minutes. Remove pan. Cool. Cut into squares. Serve warm or cool with whipped cream, if desired.

Cake flour gives cake a finer texture and crumb than regular flour. Cake flour may also be used to advantage in biscuits.

GRAPEFRUIT GRANITA, inspired by Italian water ices, is a hot-weather delicacy that is easy to prepare and delectably refreshing.

Grapefruit Granita Is Cool Refreshment

By CECILY BROWNSEONE
Associated Press Food Editor

ITALIAN CUISINE has simple but marvelous summer offerings — water ices that have a fascinating texture. When the well-known food writer, Nika Standen Hazelton, was a child, she spent summers in Italy. In one of her cookbooks she recalls these Italian ices — with nostalgia.

They are "honest undiluted fruit juices, mixed with sugar only, and frozen to a mush that is incredibly cool on a hot day," says Nika.

Then she adds, "Granite, as these semisolid water ices are called, were favorites of the Romans — those ancient bon vivants used snow from the Appenines, and honey for sweetening."

No snow from the Appenines have we, but we do have excellent frozen fruit-juice concentrates to use in granite. Recently we tried a refreshing granita made with frozen concentrated grapefruit juice. In this American recipe, the sweetened concentrate is coupled with a sugar syrup, and ginger ale is also used.

We found this Grapefruit Granita both refreshing and interestingly different. Water ices and sherbets of orange, lemon and lime flavors may be bought, but we've never come upon a frozen dessert of grapefruit flavor in the usual shops. Here's the recipe for those cooks who are interested to try it.

Grapefruit Granita

1 cup sugar
1½ cups water
1 can (6 ounces) frozen concentrated sweetened grapefruit juice
¾ cup ginger ale
Chilled parfait (6 ounce size) or similar glasses

Into a medium saucepan turn the sugar and water; over low heat stir until sugar dissolves; quickly bring to a boil; lower heat and simmer without stirring for 5 minutes; remove from heat. Add the undiluted sweetened grapefruit concentrate and stir to defrost; stir in ginger ale.

Pour into an ice-cube tray (1-quart size) with grids removed. Place in ice-cube section of freezer (do not stir) until firm — 2 to 3 hours. When it is ready, granita should have a texture that is snowlike plus some spots of almost free-flowing thick syrup; at this point the granita should be served. To do so, use a sturdy metal kitchen spoon of medium size; scrape the tip of the spoon over the granita to make large shavings. Spoon the shavings into the chilled parfait glasses; serve at once with iced teaspoons and straws. If fresh mint is at hand, you may wish to garnish the granita with some of the sprigs. Makes 4 to 5 servings. This recipe may be successfully doubled. In this case, the granita should be frozen in 2 ice-cube trays.

Note: If the granita is left in the freezer for as long as overnight, it will be like frozen snow without the syrupy almost free-flowing mixture. You may still be able to shave it with the spoon — especially if you let it stand in the refrigerator or at room temperature until it softens a bit. We like the hard-frozen granita served in sherbet glasses with vanilla ice cream.

Tag Tomato Sauce To Accompany Lamb Chops

Lamb chops can take many versatile foods with them as they come to the dinner table. Have you tried them lately with a well-seasoned tomato sauce?

Lamb shoulder chops come with two different kinds of bones. One of these is the blade bone which looks like the figure "seven." The other is a round bone which, naturally, has an "o" shape, explains Reba Staggs, meat authority.

All kinds of good seasonings go into tomato sauce like onion, garlic, brown sugar, mustard and lemon juice. Since this will become the gravy or sauce with which the chops are served, make fluffy rice or noodles the accompaniment.

Lamb Chops—Tangy Tomato Sauce

6 lamb shoulder chops, cut 1-inch thick
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1 medium onion, sliced
1 clove garlic, minced
1 tablespoon brown sugar
½ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

Brown meat in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season meat with salt and pepper. Combine remaining ingredients and pour over meat. Cover tightly and cook slowly 1 hour or until done. 6 servings.

Add lots of parsley sprigs to tomato juice and refrigerate overnight. Remove the parsley before serving—it will have added subtle flavor to the juice.

SOMETHING TO KICK ABOUT!

LBJ's Long-Time Friends Refuse To Be Yes Men

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Among the trials and tribulations of President Johnson are the Democratic and Republican leaders of the Senate, long-time friends and helpers who go along with him but only sometimes.

Take the Republican leader, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, 70, of Illinois. He said on occasion he and Johnson telephone each other six or seven times a day. When he was hospitalized recently with a broken hip, Johnson called him daily.

Earlier this year when the Republican House leader, Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, accused the Johnson administration of shocking mismanagement of the war in Viet Nam, Dirksen refused to endorse the criticism.

But this summer Dirksen accused Johnson of not being "candid or consistently credible" on the war. Then two days later, after a White House meeting with other congressional leaders, Dirksen came away calling it a "satisfying experience."

Last year he was a main prop in getting the civil rights bill through the Senate. But now he has just about killed all hope for the 1966 bill. First, he opposed the open housing section. Then he said he disliked other sections.

Then he said he would oppose the whole bill. Without him, and the Republican help he could muster, the administration can hardly hope to crush the inevitable Southern filibuster. A two-thirds vote is needed to shut off debate.

That Dirksen zigs and zags is a fact of life. The New York Times reported that during Dirksen's 6 years as a member of the House he had changed his position 31 times on military preparedness, 62 times on isolationism, and 70 times on agricultural policy.

Now take the Democratic leader of the Senate, Mike Mansfield, 63, of Montana. He was Johnson's right-hand man in the 1950s when Johnson was Senate leader. Mansfield got the job in 1961 when Johnson became vice president.

Since then he has been Johnson's captain in steering administration legislation through the Senate, a quiet, kind, gentle man who believes a senator should speak out when he feels strongly about something, if he is qualified to speak.

Recently Mansfield proposed that Johnson meet with French President Charles de Gaulle in a French island in the Caribbean to talk about peace in Viet Nam. This must have galled Johnson, who stiff-arms the Frenchman.

But the White House said nothing. It let the State Department do the speaking and the State Department brushed the idea aside.

More recently Mansfield truly agitated Johnson when, speaking for the 13-member Senate Democratic Policy committee, he proposed that the Senate quickly pass a resolution saying U.S. forces in Europe should be substantially reduced.

The administration doesn't want any part of troop withdrawal from Europe right now. Dirksen quickly rushed to Johnson's aid by insisting that before the Senate vote on the Mansfield suggestion a Senate committee should hold hearings on it. This would take time and probably will kill the idea altogether.

Every time there is an international crisis, Dirksen backs Johnson, believing you can't "—" the President down when there is a war on.

He calls himself a "garden variety of Abraham Lincoln," says he has tried to be a "negative brake" on progress when he thinks the country is in danger of moving too fast.

Mansfield and Dirksen, except for the fact that they both get in Johnson's hair at times, are not alike. Mansfield stays more in the background, says little, makes it to the point.

Dirksen is the greatest actor in Congress since the 19th century. He believes in the "oil can" approach to problems. If sometimes he sounds a little too oily it may be because, as one writer said, he has a stained-glass voice.

Challenge Of Weather Not New

By CARLOS ESCUDERO

NEW YORK (AP) — People have ben trying to do something about the weather for a long, long time.

Undeterred by the continuing prevalence of hurricanes, floods, droughts, unmanageable snowfall and heat waves, they are still trying.

American scientists who hope to salt a hurricane's tail with silver iodide may fairly claim precedent extending back into the mists of time.

If Greek mythology is to be credited, one weather-warper who really had it made was Aeolus, the god of the winds. Aeolus gave Ulysses winds of all kinds neatly tied up in a leather bag to help his boats along on the Odyssey.

More recently, the Aborigines of the Greater Antilles and the Bahamas — they were called Arawaks — had a wind god named Hurukan, from which came the word hurricane.

The Arawaks believed the hurricanes to be Hurukan's children, and that if he were properly propitiated he would keep the kids under control.

Finnish wizards of old used to sell wind to hardy mariners. The wind was tied up in three knots. Let go the first one and a nice, moderate wind came up. Release the second and there was half a gale. And mind the third: a hurricane.

The tale is told of making wind in New Guinea by striking a wind-stone with a stick—once over lightly for a friendly breeze, a hard rap for a real blow.

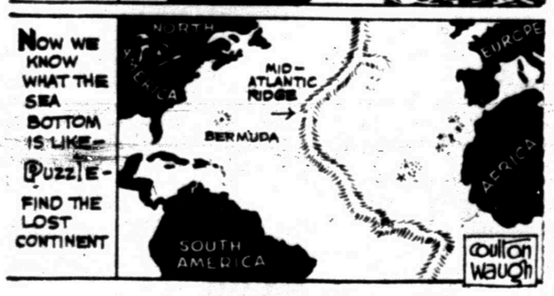

Scottish witches raised the wind by dipping a rag in water and beating it a magical three times on a stone, with a chant:

"I knok this rag upon this stane
"To raise the wind in the divellis name,
"It sall not lye till I please againe."

Natives of Tierra Del Fuego — on the tip of South America — throw, or used to throw, sea shells against the wind to make it stop. From the looks of the country, this technique could stand improvement. The wind blows so much in Tierra Del Fuego the trees grow on their knees.

QUESTION: What happened to the lost continent of Atlantis?

ANSWER: As civilization grew in the Old World, rumors arose of strange lands to the west. The great Greek philosopher and writer, Plato, who lived between 427 and 347 B.C., took the legend of a large imaginary island or continent to the west, Atlantis, and wrote about it in great detail. He explained that once an empire existed there, and that its armies had invaded Europe successfully, with only Athens resisting its attacks. Then, went on Plato, great earthquakes split Atlantis to pieces and the continent sank below the sea. This story became famous and was believed by many persons. Maps such as we show were drawn with rivers and cities. However, in recent years, oceanographic expeditions have probed the ocean bottoms and made depth maps, which show no trace of Atlantis under the area it was supposed to occupy. Only the narrow submerged mountain range, the Mid Atlantic Ridge, raises itself above the ocean floor. It is now reasonably clear that Atlantis was a mythical continent only.

Rugged Goliad Nips Lamar 9th, 8 To 6

The 9th grade Lamar Texans did a good job holding a powerful Goliad 9th grade team to an 8-6 victory here Saturday night as both schools began the 1966 football season.

Big Spring fashioned its victory behind the slashing power runs of tailback Basco, fullback Glover, and halfback Ryan.

The visitors took the opening kickoff and drove 59 yards for the first score with Ryan blasting over the center for the TD. He also ran for the two extra points which was the margin of difference.

Glover set up the score with a 22-yard ramble to the one.

Lamar couldn't get cranked up in the first half, but the Texans made the bigger Goliad eleven fight for every inch of ground.

Lamar posted 6 points on the scoreboard in the 4th quarter as fullback Lynn Wilson shot over right guard midway in the period and raced 48 yards for a touchdown. He skirted end on a run for extra points following the TD and did his best to fight his way into the end zone. But, just at the last second a Goliad defender slammed him down inches shy of the goal.

Late in the quarter Goliad tried to run out the clock, but was held on a crucial 4th down run on its 33. Lamar tried gallantly to win. Quarterback Lee McNair hit Larry Greene with an 8-yard toss, but the Goliad defense stiffened to preserve the win.

Goliad's Marquez shook lose on a 43 yard run to the goal in the third stanza, but it was nullified by a clipping penalty.

The Big Spring boys have a fine team and Lamar did well to fight them on almost even terms to the second half.

Wilson galloped for a 30 yard run to the Goliad 20 in the fourth period, but the fine field position was wiped out by an offsides penalty. The Texans had a lot of mementum and appeared to have the desire to carry the pigskin into the end zone until the penalty took away their advantage.

Ponies Hold 'B' Team To Scoreless Tie

SWEETWATER—The Snyder High School "B" team and Sweetwater's junior varsity fought to a 0-0 standstill here Saturday night in the opening football clash for both teams.

Snyder dominated play in the first two quarters. Most of the action took place within the Pony 40 yard line in the first half.

The young Bengals had two touchdowns called back on penalties after Steve Holder and Willie Garcia crossed the goal on short runs.

The second half was played on even terms as each team made long drives. However, neither club had a scoring punch.

Coaches Roy Carter and Bill Hartsfield of Snyder were pleased with the way their defensive men hit.

The next outing for the "B" team is at 7:30 p.m. here Saturday when Big Spring's junior varsity comes to town.

Austin Is Co-Champ

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Austin, which finished fourth in the regular season and almost forfeited its place in the final playoff, is co-champion of the Texas League.

The Braves whipped Albuquerque 10-1 Sunday night in a sudden death final to win the playoffs and share the pennant with Arkansas.

Arkansas won over the full route but was eliminated by Austin the playoff semifinals. Albuquerque, the third place club, took out runnerup Amarillo.

Rain almost prevented the Austin-Arkansas series being finished, and Austin had indicated it would forfeit if this occurred. The delayed final playoff then was cut to one game instead of the best of three.

Three unearned Austin runs in the sixth inning broke open a tight game and captured the final from Albuquerque.

Austin was ahead 1-0 and Ken Nixon of Austin and Alan Foster of Albuquerque were in a pitchers' duel. But Kenny Washington allowed Sonny Kopacz' easy roller to go between his legs and this opened the gates for Austin's three runs.

Clarence Gaston singled, Walt Hriniak doubled to score Kopacz and Bill Hancock drove in Gaston with a sacrifice fly. Nixon then singled in Hriniak.

Albuquerque scored in the sixth but couldn't do much the rest of the way.

Colts Lose To Packers

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lee Roy Caffey plays linebacker for Green Bay and hide 'n' seek against Baltimore.

Caffey won at the kiddie game against Johnny Unitas when he swiped a second-period pass and rambled 52 yards for the touchdown that triggered the Packers' 24-3 victory over the Colts Saturday night.

The National Football League opener matched the opponents in last season's memorable Western Conference playoff and the "Packers, who squeezed through last December with Unitas sidelined, won easily this time.

They did it by embarrassing Baltimore's peerless quarterback, with three interceptions, two of them providing touchdowns in the final moments of the first half.

Unitas, who sat out the 1965 championship game with a bad knee, was leading 3-0 late in the second period when he threw a pass intended for Raymond Berry.

"I never saw Caffey," Unitas said later. "Berry was wide open when I looked."

It was Caffey who was wide open when Unitas threw. The 250-pound linebacker, who can run the 100 in a fraction over 10 seconds, dashed 52 yards for the touchdown.

In Sunday's openers, Cleveland ripped Washington 38-14, Los Angeles spoiled Atlanta's debut 19-14, Detroit upset Chicago 14-3, St. Louis outlasted Philadelphia 16-13, Minnesota rallied to tie San Francisco 20-20 and New York and Pittsburgh battled to a 34-34 deadlock.

Cleveland, the defending Eastern Conference champion who played for the first time without the retired Jimmy Brown, looked listless in the first half against Washington. But Frank Ryan pulled the Browns together with three touchdown passes and Cleveland turned three interceptions and a recovered fumble into touchdowns for the victory.

Bruce Gossett kicked four field goals for Los Angeles and the Rams held on to beat fledgling Atlanta.

Detroit, winless in five exhibitions, stunned Chicago, scoring both its touchdowns in the second period. Tom Nowatzke wiped out a 3-0 Bear lead with a six-yard run and then Milt Plum hit Pat Studstill on a 25-yard pass for another score. After that, the Lions' defense stifled Chicago's attack.

Two Tigers Earn Gold Grid Stars

"We looked better than I thought," said Coach Keith Miles, head Tiger mentor, after veiwing a film of the Snyder-Andrews football game.

He said the Tigers were "a little excited" and made mistakes. Miles observed that in eight Tiger drives, six of them were stopped by our own mistakes.

"Andrews didn't stop us," he said. An offsides penalty, three fumbles, an interception and a busted assignment halted six drives in the first half.

The first two drives in the second half ended in touchdowns, and the only other march in the second half was stopped by a penalty.

Two Tigers received gold stars for "championship" play in the contest. Frankie Grimmett won one on offense, and Murry Bowden earned one on defense.

Miles said the squad would devote Monday to correcting mistakes and working on tackling and the kicking game.

END OF THE FIGHT — Challenger Karl Mildenberger, his face battered, is led away from a happy Cassius Clay by referee Teddy Waltham after Clay was declared winner of the world heavyweight title fight at Frankfurt, Germany. Koufax, LA Win Twinbill From Astros

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National League pennant puzzle is still a long way from solution, but Los Angeles run-rejectors are beginning to fill in the blanks.

Sandy Koufax and three other Dodger pitchers kept Houston off the scoreboard for 18 innings Sunday as Los Angeles grounded the Astros 4-0 and 1-0, thereby sweeping into the league lead for the first time in five weeks.

The double shutout, coupled with St. Louis' 4-3 victory over Pittsburgh, sent the Dodgers one game ahead of the staggering Pirates and two in front of San Francisco in the torrid race.

After Koufax fired a six-h[illegible] for his 23rd victory of the season, Joe Moeller, Bob Miller and Phil Regan scattered seven hits in the nightcap, completing a string of four straight shutout victories over the Astros. Claude Osteen blanked them 7-0 Friday night and Don Drysdale collaborated with Regan in Saturday's 1-0, 10-inning victory.

The Dodger staff has thrown 18 shutouts—five by Koufax—while compiling a brilliant earned run average of 2.69. Regan, who has contributed to one-third of the Dodger victories with 13 victories and 15 saves, and Koufax, 23-8, lead the way with ERAs of 1.64 and 1.81, respectively.

The Giants dropped their third straight to the last-p[illegible] Chicago Cubs, 4-3, in the first game of a doubleheader but rebounded 2-0 behind Bob Bolin's three-hitter to stay within range of the leaders.

The Atlanta Braves whipped New York 8-3 for their sixth straight victory and Philadelphia drubbed Cincinnati 9-3 in other NL games.

In the American League, Minnesota slugged Baltimore 11-6, Kansas City topped Detroit 5-1, California trimmed Cleveland 8-2, Chicago beat Washington 4-1 and New York downed Boston 4-2 in 10 innings.

Pinch hitter John Roseboro delivered a run-scoring single in the seventh inning of the nightcap, enabling the Dodger pitching trio to edge Houston's Chris Zachary. Miller, who replaced starter Moeller in the sixth, was the winner.

Ron Fairly singled across the only run Koufax needed in the fourth inning of the opener, and Willie Davis' bloops double scored the last two runs in a three-run fifth.

McCarver's two-out, bases-loaded single off reliever Roy Face in the eighth wiped out a 3-2 Pittsburgh lead and handed the Pirates their fifth loss in the last six games. Singles by Julian Javier and Lou Brock, a ground out and an intentional walk set the stage for the Cardinal catcher.

Bolin set the Cubs down in order until Randy Hundley's lead-off double in the sixth and yielded two singles the rest of the way. He also smashed a home run in the eighth after fifth-inning doubles by Willie Mays and Jim Hart had sent the Giants in front 1-0.

The Cubs, trailing 2-0 in the sixth inning of the opener, erupted for four runs, including Billy Williams' two-run homer, off loser Ray Sadecki.

Mickey Calls Her Shots

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—Mickey Wright, capturing her second professional golf title in [illegible] many weeks, proved herself an able prognosticator as well in winning the Pacific Ladies Classic at the rain-swept Eugene Country Club.

Asked last week to predict the winning score in the 72-hole tournament, Miss Wright said, "Well I know it will be under par. I'd say around 284."

She hit it right on the nose Sunday, finishing with a one-over-par 73 and took home the first-place prize money of $1,500.

In the process, the 31-year-old blonde from San Diego broke defending champion Mary Mills' four-round total of 289, set in the 1964 tournament.

She also equaled Miss Mills' course record of 67 Saturday when she birdied six holes, finishing with a five-under-par 67 and a six-stroke lead wi[illegible] 18 holes left.

Her winning margin Sunday was seven strokes over Clifford Ann Creed of Alexandria, La., who finished at 291 and received $1,200.

"I just love playing this course," said Miss Wright, who also was a winner in the World Series of Golf last week in Springfield, Ohio, "because it was one of the best on the tour."

Texans Rip Goliad Eighth Grade, 8-0

Thwarted by fumbles [illegible] first three periods, the 8th grade Lamar Texans finally held onto the ball long enough to score an 8-0 decision over Goliad here Saturday night. The younger Snyderites completely dominated the game and could have posted a lopsided score with better ball handling.

A tenacious Lamar d[illegible]nse completely shutout Goliad. The visitors never crossed the 50 and gained only 8 yards rushing in the first half. Only six yards in the third period and one yard in the final quarter left them with just 15 yards gained on the ground. They only tried one pass and it was intercepted.

The backfield quartet of Bruce Almond, Gary Shields, Bobby Thompson and Tommy Faver racked up 123 yards rushing for Lamar. The right side of the Lamar line did a good job of blocking.

Shields scored the only tally with 2:20 left in the fourth quarter on an 8 yard burst over [illegible] tackle. He also blasted over for the extra points.

The touchdown capped a 35 yard drive in which Shields, Faver and Johnny Quiros alternated carries.

Thompson ripped off several nice gainers for the Texans. In the opening period, he rambled 23 yards with a punt return from Goliad's 45 to the 20. Faver added four, then Thompson netted three. With 3rd and 3 at the 7, Faver scotted to the 2, but a fumble spoiled the bid for an early score.

Lamar also drove from midfield to the 4 in the second period with Thompson making another fine punt return and adding 10 up the middle. Another fumble kept the Texans out of the end zone.

A recovered fumble at the Goliad 12 put Lamar in scoring position again in the third quarter, but a fumble slowed them, and the visitors held.

Glen Rambin intercepted the only Goliad pass late in the last frame and Lamar was on the march again. They moved from midfield to the 18 and were stopped only by the clock.

There were several defensive standouts for Lamar, including Shields, Larry Wall, James Norred, Tommy Faver, Kenneth Keller and Steve Dillaha.

Norred also did a fine job of blocking along with Ted Floyd.

Bruins Ruin Syracuse

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Top-ranked Alabama has two more weeks in which to get ready, but most of college football's other pre-season powerhouses take the plunge into regular competition this Saturday.

And after what happened to Syracuse against Baylor last Saturday, the plunge could be just that for some of the highly-regarded clubs.

A sensational performance by Terry Southall led Baylor to a 35-12 rout over the seventh-ranked Orangeman in the season's first major game and left Syracuse Coach Ben Schwartzwalder stunned.

Southall fired four touchdown passes and completed 14 of 28 attempts for 229 yards, leaving Syracuse's defenses in a shambles.

"He is the best quarterback I ever played against," said Schwartzwalder. "Baylor was ready for this game, and we weren't. We played like a two-bit ball club, and so we got beat."

Floyd Little gained 90 yards and scored both Syracuse touchdowns, but it was small solace for Schwartzwalder who now has two weeks in which to pull his club together for its Sept. 24 game against UCLA.

That's the same day Paul (Bear) Bryant's defending national champions from Alabama open their season against Louisiana Tech.

Most of the other members of The Associated Press Top Ten get their seasons started this week.

Michigan State, ranked second in the pre-season poll, opens at home against North Carolina State and third-ranked Nebraska hosts Texas Christian.

UCLA, No. 4, gets ready for Syracuse with a meeting against Pittsburgh in Los Angeles. Arkansas, No. 5, meets Oklahoma State. Purdue, ranked eighth, is at home to Ohio University and Southern California, No. 9, visits Texas.

Notre Dame, ranked sixth, and Tennessee, No. 10, don't play until Sept. 24. The Irish face Purdue and the Volunteers are at Auburn on that date.

Resistance Still Slows Integration

By DON McKEE

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Desegregation of public schools has expanded considerably this fall in the South. But with the spread of change hav come spurts of new resistance — white pupil boycotts, challenges of federal guidelines and at least one punch in the face of a school superintendent.

Associated Press spot surveys of the 11 Southern states, from Virginia to Texas, indicate a probable doubling of the number of Negro pupils in school with white children since last year.

The most significant development, however, is the start of faculty integration in many school systems, a major effect of the controversial guidelines drawn by the U.S. Office of Education.

"We desegregated as many faculties as we could," said a school official in Knoxville, Tenn., where 20 of the 68 schools have Negro and white teachers.

"We have just one system for everybody now," said Supt. Jacob Johnson of Winchester County, Va. Classrooms and faculties were integrated in the county, eliminating the dual school system.

Two Negro schools closed in Huntsville, Ala., to become relics of racial history. Despite the Alabama Legislature's enactment of a law nullifying school board agreements on federal guidelines, integration increased in the state — many systems are under court orders.

The Alabama nullification law was pushed through by Gov. George C. Wallace, who vainly tried to block university integration three years ago by standing in a doorway at the University of Alabama.

Ironically, Wallace's son, George Jr., enrolled Tuesday at a Montgomery school where 16 Negroes desegregated classes. In another irony, the Democratic nominee for Arkansas governor, Jim Johnson — who opposes the federal guidelines — saw his twin sons enrolled in a desegregated school.

Although faculty integration has begun in many schools this fall, it has not been accepted without objection in some instances. A school superintendent at Sanford, Fla., was punched in the face by a white father upset because his daughter's teacher was a Negro.

In Interlachen, Fla., about one-half the white children boycotted classes at a predominantly white elementary school which had three Negro teachers. Campbell County, Va., had 25 faculty vacancies last month when white teachers resigned because of integration.

A wholesale boycott of white pupils resulted in Plaquemines Parish, La., when schools opened under a federal court desegregation order and five Negroes applied for transfer to one of the white schools.

Supporters of the boycott announced construction plans for five private schools, an alternative tried in other states a'.. Louisiana has an estimated 11,000 pupils receiving the $2-a-day-per-pupil state grants for private schools.

In Alabama, a three-judge federal court has set a Sept. 30 hearing on a Justice Department suit aimed at prohibiting the state from paying tuition grants for private segregated schools under a 1965 law.

In Mississippi, however, a survey of more than 50 all-white private schools showed the response has been slow. The state pays $185 per pupil under a tuition grant law, but the average cost of private schooling runs about $375 per year.

Faculty integration is beginning or spreading in most of the states except Mississippi. Some schools in Alabama and Louisiana have begun integrating teacher staffs, while this change is well under way in most of the other states.

A state breakdown showed these conditions by states:

Texas—Asst. State Commissioner of Education Leon Graham said "We will have twice as many Negroes in previously white schools." There were 60,000 or so last year. At Houston, all the grades except the 9th are being desegregated. A federal judge refused to order integration at once of senior high grades in Fort Worth in a decision last week.

Louisiana—In New Orleans, about 3,000 Negroes are attending classes with white pupils in grades 1-7. Four schools have desegregated faculties. In Jefferson Parish, the number of desegregated schools increased from 10 last year to 17 this term.

Arkansas—Increased integration of classrooms and faculties. Last year, more than 6,200 Negroes attended school with white pupils in 172 of the state's 419 districts. Little Rock has 21 Negro and 19 white teachers in integrated classes. Pine Bluff's schools, which had 58 Negro pupils in school with whites last year, has 207 this term.

REAL BARGAIN — Arel (Red) Faver of Terry Motor Co. holds a carton of wholesome Preston milk which the firm dispenses at bargain prices. You can get a gallon for 89 cents or a half gallon for 45 cents.

Many Bargains At Faver's Station

Arel (Red) Faver, independent Fina jobber, offers quality products at reasonable prices at the Terry Motor Co. station just south of Thirty-seventh Street on the west side of the Big Spring Highway.

The station was the first one built on the Big Spring Highway 16 years ago, and was purchased by Faver in October of 1961 from Lee Dan Stone.

Faver carries a complete line of oils, filters and Parks batteries. Being an independent jobber, he often is able to offer bargain prices.

For his customers, Faver also keeps on hand a good supply of Preston Milk, which also is sold at discount prices. You can get a gallon of the wholesome milk for only 89 cents or a half gallon for 45 cents.

Terry Motor Co. also has a limited Supply of waste baskets that will be sold as long as they last.

Employes at Terry Motor Co. take pride in the promptness and efficiency of their service.

Held For Kidnapping

DALLAS (AP)—Virginia Riggins Martin, about 30, was held for hearing before U. S. Commissioner William Smith today on an FBI complaint of kidnaping.

The woman, who said she was from San Antonio but had been living in the Midland-Odessa area, is accused of abducting Danny Ray Wright, 2, from the home of his grandfather, Luther Tucker, at Shamrock Sept. 3. The boy's mother is Mrs. L. C. Brown of Albuquerque.

Gordon Shanklin, special agent in charge of the Dallas Division of the FBI, said FBI agents arrested the woman at a self-service laundry in Dallas Sunday. He said the boy was found safe at a house here.

The woman also is charged with kidnaping in a warrant filed by Wheeler County authorities. Shanklin said if there is insufficient evidence to hold the woman on the federal complaint she will be turned over to the county for prosecution.

He said there was no motive for the abduction.

Shanklin said the woman is of Mexican descent and the boy is Negro.

To Direct Texas Community Plans

DALLAS (AP)—Allan Maley Jr., director of Dallas County's war on poverty, has been elected president of the newly organized Texas Association of Community Action Program Directors.

The association was formed in Austin with a meeting of directors of poverty programs from 70 of Texas' 254 counties.

Criticizes Wage Law

DALLAS (AP) — "Minimum wage laws will result in unemployment for a large number of farm workers," Executive Vice President Willis R. Deines of the Texas Citrus and Vegetable Growers and Shippers Association predicts.

His forecast was made Sunday as about 600 growers, shippers and others affiliated with the industry assembled for the organization's 24th convention. It continues through Wednesday.

"A federal agricultural minimum wage law will no doubt be signed into law in the near future," Deines told a reporter.

He added that if the statute contains no exemption for farm laborers paid on a so-called piece rate basis, "producers will have no choice but to reduce the number of employes.

"Our piece rates are as high in Texas as in other states. A competent worker can earn up to $2 an hour."

Says Pollution Bill Will Fall Short

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Jim Wright of Texas and six other Democrats said Sunday the House Public Works Committee passed water pollution control authorization bill falls short of meeting a crisis facing the nation.

The bill calls for $2.3 billion in new authorizations for a four-year period.

The seven Democrats, all committee members, said in a supplementary report that the bill is an improvement over the present federal aid program, but they favored a Senate-passed measure calling for a $6 billion authorization for six years.

"Assuring the adequacy and purity of the nation's water supply is the single most crucial domestic problem confronting the United States in our time," the Democrats said. "It warrants an all-out crash program and half-way measures will no longer suffice."

Others signing the supplemental report were Reps. John R. Schmidhauser, Iowa, James J. Howard, New Jersey, Ed Edmondson, Oklahoma, Kenneth J. Gary, Illinois, Robert Sweeney, Ohio, and Richard D. McCarthy, New York.

Oklahoma Lass Begins Her Reign

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — They're dancing in the streets in Oklahoma but it looks like the Sooners will have to wait at least a wek to welcome home their winner.

Jane Ann Jayroe, a basketball-bouncing, baton-wielding brunette from Laverne, Okla., today begins to find out the rigors of being Miss America.

From the moment she was crowned Miss America of 1967 Saturday night here, she has faced one camera flash after another. Today she goes to Philadelphia for a television interview.

Then starting tonight, she'll spend at least a week in New York taking the first steps of her 200,000-mile journey as Miss America. Her personal appearances will bring her an estimated $75,000, but, above all, she's looking forward to the experience.

For example, she has never traveled in an airplane.

"I'm looking forward to it," she said Sunday. "But with butterflies."

Oklahoma seems impatient for her triumphant return. As the news came to her hometown of 1,937 inhabitants, horns blew, people shouted. Even the fire sirens sounded.

And celebrations were held all around the state. Oklahoma City University students indicated they might walk out of their classes and even the school's president said:

"A walkout is as good a way as any to show the school's enthusiasm for Jane Ann. It's an old OCU custom to walk out, and I'm glad to see it come over something like this."

A street dance was planned.

One person waiting for the homecoming has a vested interest. He dates her.

Says Rick Schuerman, an OCU junior from St. Louis: "I think modesty is her best quality. She's been in quite a few beauty contests and won every one of them and she's the same old girl."

Jane Ann — Jay-Jay, informally — displayed her charm for newsmen here Sunday. She spoke of her ambitions to be an orchestra conductor but lamented a "prejudice against women conductors."

Asked how to spend an evening in Laverne, she answered: "In the summer there's the drive-in and in winter there's basketball."

Her love of music and basketball both come from her family. Her father, E.G. (Pete) Jayroe, coaches the Laverne High School team. And she comes from four generations of music teachers.

Tuesday's Primaries Include Notable Democratic Scraps

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
Associated Press Writer

Tuesday is the biggest primary day of the year. Eleven states vote and contests include notable scraps for Democratic nominations for the Senate and governor in Minnesota.

Maryland and Wisconsin also have hot battles over Democratic nominations for governor and New Hampshire Republicans have a six-way struggle on over their party's Senate nomination.

Other states voting are Arizona, Colorado, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Utah and Vermont.

Statistically, the voting will clear 178-plus candidates for places on the ballot Nov. 8 when 435 House members, 35 senators and 35 governors are to be elected.

Democrats and Republicans are making nominations for 74 House seats, 9 Senate seats and 6 governorships — a total of 178 candidates. There are also some primary contests, chiefly in New Jersey, over ballot places as independents.

After Tuesday's voting, the states to hold primaries will be Georgia, Wednesday; Louisiana, runoff Saturday, Washington, Sept. 20, and Hawaii, Oct. 1. A Georgia runoff, which virtually is certain, would be held Sept. 28.

In both Massachusetts and Minnesota, the Democratic fights involve candidates endorsed by state party conventions and challengers who appealed to the voters from the convention decisions.

Edward J. McCormack Jr., former attorney general, was endorsed for Massachusetts governor. Kenneth P. O'Donnell, who was on President John F. Kennedy's staff, is running against him for the nomination.

Boston Mayor John F. Collins is contesting with former Gov. Endicott Peabody, the endorsed candidate, for the Massachusetts Senate nomination. Thomas B. Adams, Boston businessman, also is running.

The winner will go against Republican Edward W. Brooke, state attorney general who is a Negro, in what is expected to be one of the top Senate contests of the year. Brooke is unopposed for his party's nomination. Republican Gov. John A. Volpe is unopposed for renomination.

In Minnesota, the Democrats who operate with a hyphenated tie to the Farmor-Labor party, spurned Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag for endorsement at their convention.

Rolvaag now is trying to prove the convention made a mistake in endorsing Lt. Gov. A.M. (Sandy) Keith to take over the governor's chair. Polls give him a splendid chance of doing that.

Otherwise the Minnesota primary prospect is Democratic renomination of Sen. Walter F. Mondale and Republican nomination of Harold LeVander for governor and Robert A. Forsythe for senator. All three have nominal primary opposition.

Heart Attack Fatal To Dr. Sadler

FORT WORTH (AP) — Dr McGruder Ellis Sadler, recently described as "a giant among men" after leading Texas Christian University through a phenomal growth period, is dead.

Sadler, 69, who retired June 30, 1965 after nearly a quarter of a century as TCU chancellor, died of an apparent heart attack Sunday.

He was on a weekend fishing trip and was driving alone near New Waverly in South Texas when stricken. He died at a Huntsville hospital.

Texas Christian had 1,700 students and an endowment of a few hundred thousand dollars when he was named sixth president in 1941. The title was changed to chancellor in 1959.

Today the university has a student enrollment of approximately 9,600 and an endowment of more than $27 million. In addition 42 buildings were erected, rebuilt or purchased.

His death was the third among high Texas Christian officials within a week.

Amos W. Melton, assistant chancellor, died last Monday and Dr. Cecil Williams, head of the English Department, died the next day. Both died of heart attacks at home.

Although retired, Sadler had agreed to serve as executive chairman of the board to handle a few major projects.

At the time he was called "a giant among men" he was being honored as Fort Worth's outstanding senior citizen in 1966. The award was made by the Women's Civic Club Council.

"There will be a few persons who can ever equal him," said TCU Chancellor James M. Moudy at the time. "He is one of a kind."

Sadler was president of the International Convention of Christian Churches in 1950 and of the Texas Council of Churches three years later. In 1952 he was president of the Association of American Colleges. He was a director of the World Council of Churches in 1953.

He was dean of Lynchburg College in Virginia from 1931 to 1936.

His widow and two daughters survive.

Services were pending.

The first calliope had only eight keys, though later models had 32. A coal or wood-fired broiler furnished steam. Firm pressure on a key opened a valve, which sent steam coursing into a pitched pipe. Music of sorts came out of it.

New, Positive Policy Line Adopted By Manufacturers

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Werner Gullander is the face of the National Association of Manufacturers—an efficient, gregarious spokesman for an organization that now feels it should help get things done rather than just being against them.

"We were becoming ineffective," Gullander said of the years prior to his taking the job of president in 1962. He admitted having had some reservations before accepting the position, which pays him more than $100,000 a year.

As Gullander expresses it, the NAM has a definite positive tone about it today. It has moved into areas of social responsibility once thought beyond its province. It feels it must do its share or else relinquish its right to criticize.

It has a program now for combatting some of the social problems it must deal with. Negroes from the other end of Manhattan's Park Avenue are trained as office workers at NAM headquarters, for example.

Under another program, case studies on relocating personnel, creating new job opportunities and improving employe skills are being promoted among the 15,000 member companies.

Gullander says that he, himself, is personally friendly with some in labor who may be his philosophical adversaries. The NAM is trying also to work smoothly with the federal government, he said.

A glance at its publication, NAM Reports, shows a surprising willingness to cooperate. In fact, a recent article seemed to express sympathy for a Democratic president's difficult task of running a full employment economy.

As Gullander puts it, "I respect President Johnson's interest in combatting inflation." (This statement was made before Johnson revealed plans to suspend the investment tax credit).

Gullander, 57, is fit-looking, red-faced. He wears silver-rimmed glasses, is fastidious in appearance and manner. He is no prototype of the tycoon.

Gullander represents and speaks on broad, general policy formulated by NAM committees, which occupy 3,000 members from time to time and 300 staffers fulltime.

The NAM, he said, still does not like government action in the marketplace. "The most effective boss is the marketplace," he said. "I have a greater confidence in it than in the government for determining what people want."

Regarding the broad social welfare programs of the administration, Gullander commented: "Don't you think they get in where there's hay to be made? It's the re-election motive."

But should something perhaps be done for depressed areas such as Appalachia? "If a stream runs dry, the fisherman gets up and leaves," he said.

The big problems before the country now, Gullander said in answer to a question were inflation, the Viet Nam war and the adverse balance of payments condition.
