MEXICO FIRM ON LAND AND PETROLEUM LAWS

OPINION ABOUT STATUS OF LAW YET UNCHANGED

MEXICO CITY BELIEVES COOLIDGE PLAYING FOR SUPPORT

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 16.—American observers in Mexico are convinced that President Coolidge is preparing public opinion in the United States for a situation which might result in an interpretation of diplomatic relations between the two countries.

As the exchange of notes regarding the Mexican land and petroleum laws continues, it appears there must remain a vital divergent of opinion regarding the essential points at issue.

Mexico is adhering strictly to her original position that the laws are a domestic matter relating only to a domestic problem and that they are entirely just, even by the standards of international law. It appears that the Mexican policy of the Coolidge administration has not altered in recent weeks.

In the meantime, it is believed here, the American government is proceeding cautiously owing to the necessity of bringing the issue clearly before the American public so that in the event of a show down the administration would have greater support than it now feels that it possesses.

Owing to increasing editorial support in the United States, Americans here are increasingly convinced that the administration has about reached the point where it could assume a strong position and maintain it.

When agreement has been reached regarding date of publication of the first notes exchanged on the subjects it is believed that Secretary Kellogg will state his position for publication with the notes.

For the state department to concede the justice of the laws would bring censure from most Americans who own property in Mexico and perhaps protests from other nations who look to the leadership of the United States in this controversy.

SUICIDE CLAIM BRUSHED ASIDE BY CONFESSION

HER REFUSAL TO CANCEL WEDDING PLANS GIVEN AS REASON FOR ACT

WEOWOKA, Okla., Feb. 16.—Erman Higdon, 22 year old farmer's son, confessed late Tuesday that he shot and killed Rita May Gosa, 17, two hours before they were to have been married.

The murder was committed last Sunday morning in the parlor of the Gosa farm house near Seminole, Okla. After killing the girl, Higdon dragged the body several hundred feet from the house to a ravine.

When the girl's parents, who had been attending church returned Higdon led them to the body and said she had killed herself rather than marry him.

The youth was arrested and has been subjected to constant questioning since Sunday during which he told different versions of the shooting, being that the girl had pleaded with him to kill her.

The Gosa girl was to have become a mother, and Higdon said he became angry with her when she refused to allow him to withdraw from the wedding.

Missouri Operatic Prospect Carried To New York

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—The audience in the Metropolitan opera house Wednesday night will be treated to a "Missouri debut."

Enjoying it most will be some three score folks from Kansas City, who have come to New York to hear a young girl from home sing for the first time among the stars of the operatic world.

Proudest of all is "Charley" Talley, whose buxom daughter, Marion, is making her debut in the role of Gilda in Rigoletto.

Happy because her "daddy" and her other friends from Missouri will be on hand, Marion retired early, perhaps to Rosy dreams of the morrow when she will stand hand in hand with whiskey Mr. Gatti-Casazza and bow to the plaudits of pit, gallery and "golden horse shoe."

"I'm not afraid," she said as she closed the door of her apartment for the last time upon importunate visitors. "I'll come out from the wings just as though it was a rehearsal."

The Kansas City delegation knows Marion Talley can do it. The delegation is made up of folks who always "knew she could do it."

Penitentiary Riot Halted as Guards Shoot Nine Men

SALEM, Ore., Feb. 16.—Nine convicts were shot, two probably fatally, during a riot at the supper hour in the dining room of the Oregon state prison here Tuesday evening.

More than 150 prisoners, aroused over tightening of disciplinary measures gave vent to their wrath by hurling cups and plates at the guards in a barrage which forced the latter to retreat.

Armed guards rushed in and scores of shots were poured in to the dining room before the convicts were subdued.

Nine injured men then were carried to the prison hospital. Of these it is not believed that Albert Corley, Multnomah county, colored prisoner can survive. One bullet passed through his stomach.

C. R. Moore was shot in the back of the head and in the shoulder his condition is serious.

UNION MINERS MARCH UPON SOUTH INDIANA FIELD IN EFFORT TO CHECK WORK OF NON-UNIONISTS, ONE HURT

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Feb. 16.—Outbreaks similar to those of the Blair mountain region of West Virginia threatened the mining districts of Southern Indiana for a few hours late Tuesday, when hundreds of union miners launched a spectacular attempt to halt operations in a half dozen non-union collieries.

Shortly after night fall authorities announced they had the situation well in hand, having dispersed the largest mob, 400 men, who had rushed the Sargent mine at Newburg.

Lee Corbet, a non-union worker, was the only casualty.

He was stabbed in the chest and abdomen but will recover. Sheriff's deputies induced the mob to disperse by telling its leaders Corbet had been killed.

The union men are believed to have come over from southern Illinois. They marched upon the Sargent mine during the afternoon, threatening to lynch Charles Schmitt, manager. He complied with their demands, however, that the workers be ordered to the surface.

J. B. MAXEY, LUBBOCK, SUCCESSFUL BIDDER, MATERIAL BOUGHT AND WORK WILL BE STARTED SOON

CONTRACTS FOR PLUMBING AND HEATING AND WIRING WILL BE AWARDED AT MEETING OF BOARD SOMETIME THIS WEEK

The board of directors of the Lubbock Independent School District, through their architects, Peters & Haynes, of Lubbock, last night awarded the general contract for the erection of four school buildings in Lubbock to J. B. Maxey, whose bid amounted to $120,000.

Work is to start on these buildings just as soon as materials can be assembled, and as there were a number of material firms represented at the meeting last night, arrangements for immediate shipment of a large part of the materials to Lubbock were made following the awarding of the general contract.

Brick for the two study halls that will be erected on the high school campus were purchased from the Acme Brick Co. This material will match that used in the high school building, materials for which were also furnished by the Acme company.

Brick for the two buildings which will be erected in the north and southwest parts of the city, was purchased from the Reliance Brick Co. of Lubbock. This is a Coleman light red single brick, and is similar to the brick in the high school building.

Thirteen bids placed Unlucky or not, there were 13 bids placed for the general contract, and were as follows:

John Gelin $140,000, Harrison & Smythe $140,931, Shell & Company $136,500, Sampson Construction Company $136,110, E. C. Clickner $135,800, Cannaday & Stark $143,633, J. E. Johnson $135,940, Morgan & Gibbs $122,182, F. A. Mote $130,500, J. B. Maxey, $120,000, C. W. Wheeler $134,397, D. N. Leaverton, southwest and north schools only, $119,209; E. L. Noey, north school only, $47,728.

Money for carrying on the work is available, according to A. C. Jackson, business manager of the schools, who has just received $171,130 from the state school fund, which was paid for the $170,000 bond issue voted December 5th.

These bonds were originally sold to Garrett & Company of Dallas, but the state school board refused to grant a waiver and took the issue at Garrett's bid, the $1,130 above the amount of the bond issue is the bonus and accrued interest that was offered by the purchasers in the original contract.

Buildings Fire-Proof The new buildings will be fire proof throughout and every modern feature of modern school construction has been embodied in the plans.

Bids Held Up Two low bids on the plumbing and heating and two low bids on wiring were held up, but contracts will probably be awarded this week.

Due to illness in many of the homes of the members of the Junior Twentieth Century Club, there was only a small attendance at the meeting Tuesday afternoon.

The topic for study was "The Ladies", a comedy farce by Kaufmann and Connelly. Mrs. Murray Jones was leader and directed the study in a most interesting way. The essential truth of the play and the convincing quality were brought out in the discussion.

The play was composed of "Dulcy" by the same writers, which was studied at the last meeting of the club. Contrasts were made in the characters of the two plays.

The members discussed the campfire girls and made plans for helping them to a better organization during the summer.

Circular Skirts Stressed in Simple Silk Dresses

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

MAYBE a little too early it is for the big coming-out party of the gay silken frocks which fashion declares are to be "the rage" this season. However, early arrivals are not waiting for spring, but already are peeping out shyly yet confidently from beneath the "comfy" fur and novelty cloth coats of the smart set. Let come balmy days and colorful gowns of crepe and silk print will burst forth as plentiful and lovely as the spring flowers themselves.

As to colorings, the fine crepe weaves, of which so many of the new models are fashioned, almost outrival nature itself in their freshness and charm. Perhaps the rose shades come first in favor. The range includes bold de rose, arabesque (very deep rose), rose-bloom, rose-beige and rose-leaf, the latter trending to pink. Closely allied to these are peach and apricot. Blues, from periwinkle to navy, are smartly fashionable. Greens are featured as chartreuse, citron and love-bird. Some predict a success for banana and other yellowish hues, while gray, especially opal-gray and graystone, bid fair to become leaders. Sand, beige and blond retain their usual springtime popularity.

As to materials which fashion sponsors for this season, included in the list are: Flat crepe, georgette, crepe Elizabeth, crepe roman, crepe Louise, frost crepe, chiffon and Gourette.

When it comes to the styling of these practical and handsome materials the story is fascinating and endless. Outstanding high lights are long and fanciful sleeves, high necks, some of which are convertible, and widened skirt hemlines.

The model here pictured is typical of the mode. It is of flat crepe in that deep rose shade known as arabesque. The circular skirt is one way of carrying out the latest of fashion in regard to neatness at the hemline.

Wilds of Alaska To Be Charted By Navy Planes

PORTLAND Ore., Feb. 15.—Forty thousand square miles of country covered by snow caps, great forests, glaciers and volcanoes in southeastern Alaska will be mapped this summer from the air.

For years the geological survey has been struggling to complete its maps of this part of Alaska, but the ground survey has been slow and in many places almost impossible.

So the navy has been asked to assist. The expedition will be launched this spring under the immediate direction of Lieutenant Ben H. Wyatt, well known navy pilot. Lieutenant M. A. Schur will be engineering and maintenance officer.

The feat is gigantic. The territory to be mapped extends from the Aleutians and the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes to Ketchikan. The rough country, fogs and clouds present hazards.

Most of the mapping will be done from an elevation of 10,000 feet. The expedition is styled the greatest aerial photographic expedition ever attempted.

All Foreign Shippers Asked Use Excelsior As Health Measure

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The department of agriculture has enlisted the aid of diplomatic officers abroad in its effort to eradicate the foot and mouth disease, according to Dr. John R. Mohler, chief of the bureau of animal industry.

At the request of the department of agriculture Mohler said consular officers abroad are getting people in foreign countries to substitute excelsior and paper for hay and straw for packing material. This action, he said, is relieving the danger of importation of the disease to a great extent.

Through inspections last year the department condemned 298,000 animals and carcasses together with 1,294,000 parts of carcasses on account of 41 diseases or conditions and removed them from the food supply. Approximately 33,175,000 pounds of foreign meat were inspected and passed for entry and 91,680 pounds were condemned or refused entry because of insufficient evidence of wholesomeness.

are needed to make this dress, just as illustrated, with 2 1/4 yards of fancy braid, or braid and fur.

The woman who is inclined to trim her spring frock with fur may do so without hesitation, for fox—in brown and platinum—makes its appearance on a number of pleasing models.

The diagram shows the development of the sleeve on the wrong side. It is necessary to gather the fulness between the notches in order to make the sleeve fit well and have an easy line. After stitching the seam, press open carefully and either notch or finish with seaming. An extension facing should be added to the under slash in the sleeve. This extends about 2 1/2 inches above the wrist, making the tight sleeve of fashion more accessible. The upper side of the slash or open seam may be hemmed or faced, then snap hooks added to both sides for the proper fastening.

The Flare Takes a Step Backward

Just so it is in evidence, fashion lets the flare express itself as originally as the genius of Paris designers dictate. It goes to the back of this taffeta model, and smart it is.

Dark blue taffeta is one of the smartest silks in Paris just at present. In fact it is one of the leading materials, silk, woolen or cotton. The new taffetas, are soft, supple and subtle and well-dressed women will delight to wear them. Four yards will delight to wear them. Four yards will delight to wear them.

BLOOD AND SAND FROM EL TORO

Not so much of the former, but just lots and lots of the latter was scattering around town during the afternoon yesterday.

Just some nice summer weather, that's all. We can't understand however, among several other things how it was that the ground hog evidently didn't see his shadow the other day. We did—and the weather's been warm ever since.

The Home Economics girls are fixing up for their edition of the Toreador as well as the Engineers. Not having any trouble, of course, and we can wish them all the success ever. We had plenty.

About the funniest thing we can think of just now is the case of crumpled dignity when somebody told a fish that he, representing the whole school of 'em, wasn't the whole cheese. Or words to that effect. And the fish believed him!

For a wonder, though. Wonder, too, just what dignity is? We thought we knew, beyond any correction, back in the days when we were a high school seniors. Us—on top of the world—and there to stay! But when a fellow gets some "college duds," following the fashions set by the College humorous magazines; a cigarette in his mouth, perhaps, or an A-paper under his arm—then he's really on his dignity.

And the funniest thing about it is that some of them remind one of that old frog who was so dignified, and so important that he blew himself up with trying to emphasize his importance. And that's more human than animal, to be exact.

That is, in some cases. Not all, you may understand; because there is really a whole lot of good in everything, and especially in everybody. It does take a microscope sometimes to find it and a pair of "pincers" to take hold of it; but it's there, and really worth looking for.

And what a contrast is the fellow who's genial, friendly, hale-fellow-well-met and such, and a genuine species of that rather rare thing of nature, a real good pal! Wonder how many of both kinds are in our school? It's a rather interesting job, we think, to sit back in a class and look at the gang around you, including the teacher sometimes, and just wonder what's all back of those faces? One sometimes misses a perfectly good lecture by doing so derelictly; and sometimes gets an other lecture of another kind for doing it; but we rather think it's really worthwhile. As a diversion, you understand!

Diversion enough was the subject for a lecture we received in a certain class, the other day. Diversion from the main thoroughfare to an a grade, we sadly fear; and now that we've diverse-ed, we maybe won't be able to get back; but the teacher said, anyway, that that class was—well, we don't recall the thing she did say; but it amounted to being punk!

It's the plumb dickens, anyway, to have studied and studied the night before on a perfectly good translation—and then to find out that it was the wrong one. Ever have that happen? More fun—more grades down.

Sock and Buskin club was interesting last evening, to say the least. "Rosalie" was the feature, and Rosalie was a pretty charming hostess. The Sock and Buskin club is going along nicely; making some noise and cutting out a lot more; but with it all, it's doing some work that nets results. Not only in an evening's entertainment for some of the members, but especially for the jidos who're in the plays. More fun.

Ah! We knew all the time that old Cow-Town and the Dallas of the East were good pals of the Tech. Along about the time that to tell the truth, the Athletic gang was in what might have been described as "thin" circumstances, along they come with five hundred bucks. Pretty good stuff, and we are perfectly sure that the school wouldn't object to its coming pronto!

HEREFORD CHAMBER OF COMMERCE CONDEMS TELEPHONE SERVICE

Special to Avalanche.
HEREFORD, Feb. 16.—The Hereford Chamber of Commerce went on record Monday, condemning the present telephone system here for inefficient service, and a number of business men expressed the opinion that the local system needed much improvement, and a manager on the ground to look after the affairs of the plant. No business can be run successfully without a manager to look after the affairs of the concern, it was decided. E. B. Black, president of the local chamber of commerce was authorized to take the matter up with the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, and see if better service can be obtained. F. H. Oberhieser, G. A. F. Parker, Mayor B. S. Ireland and President Black made talks on the local telephone situation.

Seth B. Holman made a talk on advertising, and urged the local business men to cooperate with the Hereford Chamber of Commerce in trying to curb promiscuous advertising schemes. The local organization has a committee to pass on the merits of the various schemes that are brought in by high powered salesmen, and Holman urged the business men to refer all solicitors to this committee.

N. C. Vogele was appointed superintendent of the Plains Circuit Poultry Show which will be held here next December; Henry Williamson, assistant superintendent; Claude Bicketts was appointed secretary of the organization, and C. W. Humble and T. D. Ross were named directors of the show for Deaf Smith county.

The local chamber of commerce voted to sponsor the "club pal" project which County Agent R. O. Dunkle is planning to put into effect among the club members of Deaf Smith county and the business men of Hereford. Work will be started immediately on this new project and it is believed that more interest can be created in the work in the various committees. J. R. Edmonds, district agricultural agent of A. and M. College, made a short talk in which he told of the needs for a home demonstration agent for Deaf Smith county. He is visiting Mr. Dunkle.

Congress Would Reward Heroic Sailors Work

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—American and other officers and seamen who participated in the heroic rescues in mid-Atlantic during recent gales would be rewarded with gold medals by the United States congress, under the terms of a bill introduced Tuesday by Senator Jones, republican, Washington, chairman of the senate commerce committee.

The Secretary of Commerce and director of the mint would be authorized to procure designment of medals at a cost of not more than $5,000.

"Thanks and appreciation of the congress of the United States" would be tendered by the bill to the families of Uno Wirtenan and Fritz Steger, of the crew of the President Roosevelt who lost their lives in the rescue of the Antiope's crew.

ADDITIONAL FUNDS FOR AIRCRAFT OF NAVY SUPPLIED

By United News
WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The senate Tuesday adopted amendments to the navy department appropriation bill authorizing expenditure of $18,900,000 for new construction or procurement of aircraft and equipment an increase of $4,962,500 over the amount authorized when the bill was passed by the house. An amendment also was adopted authorizing the secretary of the navy to contract for construction of new airplanes to an amount of not exceeding $4,100,000. The amendments were adopted without a record vote.

SIN'S BITTER FRUIT—"And they said one to another, we are verily guilty concerning our brother, in that we saw the anguish of his soul when he besought us, and we would not hear." Gen. 42:21.

EDITOR'S LABOR OF LOVE

All over this land are earnest, unselfish souls who are serving "above and beyond the call of duty" in behalf of the people of their respective communities and states.

It may not be amiss to particularly mention one who strikingly illustrates this type of newspaper man. He is Garrard Harris, associate editor of the Birmingham News, author, foreign de expert, conservationist and sportsman.

When a little magazine, called the Alabama sportsman, devoted to conservation of wild life and true sportsmanship, was in a bad way a few months ago, Mr. Harris undertook single-handed to put it on its feet—and he succeeded.

Working without salary, out of hours, in addition to his "bread-and-butter job," Mr. Harris for several months acted as editor, manager, advertising solicitor and in fact, as the entire staff of the magazine, which he has rehabilitated and ved to the conservation forces of the state, and are now rallying to his support.

Interest in game preserves, restocking of lakes and rivers with fish, establishment of bird sanctuaries and allied enterprises for the public benefit is being revived largely through this labor of love on the part of Editor Harris.

Many other editors are performing similar public services in every state, and it is not out of place to call attention to them occasionally, as these men are usually too modest to blow their own horns very much.

SOAKING THE INVESTOR

An unusual item appeared in a North Carolina newspaper, the Reidsville Review, the other day. It told of a citizen of that town, who owned a piece of property desired by a corporation as a location of a new enterprise. He said: "Take it and pay me what you care to."

According to the customary practice, he would have asked two or three prices for the land, especially if he knew that it happened to be particularly suitable for the investor's purpose.

How many cities and towns are retarded in growth and prosperity by greedy individuals who seek the opportunity to "soak" the newcomer planning to establish a new industry?

The spirit shown by that Reidsville citizen is the sort that helps to build up a community. The contrary attitude kills the goose even before it begins to lay the golden eggs.

WASHINGTON, THE MAN

Monday, February 22, marks the 194th anniversary of Washington's birth. In view of a recent controversy over the personal characteristics and habits of the Father of Our Country, a brief reference to some less familiar facts of his life seems timely, his public record being almost universally known.

He was born on a Friday, apparently not an unlucky day for him, nor for the nation of which he was destined to be the founder. His great-grandfather, John Washington, came from England and settled in Virginia in 1657.

George Washington was the son of Augustine Washington, by his second wife, nee Mary Ball. After his father's death when he was 11, the lad was under the guardianship of his half-brother, Lawrence, with whom he visited the West Indies, where he had small-pox. He was appointed a midshipman in the British Navy, but was prevented from going to sea through the objections of his mother.

Otherwise, little is known of his boyhood, and the various stories, concerning it, including that of the "hatchet and cherry tree," have no historical basis. He had only a very elementary education, excepting in mathematics, in which he was principally self-taught, and at the age of 16 became a surveyor.

Later he inherited the family estate at Mt. Vernon and married a wealthy widow, Mrs. Martha Curtis, becoming one of the richest men in America, owning 70,000 acres of land in Virginia and later 40,000 acres father west, given him by the government for his military services.

He was a large slave owner, but hoped for the ultimate abolition of slavery; he was not a prohibitionist; he was a member of the Episcopal church. He was a powerful man, more than six feet tall, with big hands and feet, sandy hair and blue eyes. Mrs. Washington was small and plump, with dark hair and hazel eyes.

During his career Washington was at times

most violently denounced by his opponents; who tried to deprive him of the command of the Army, condemned him for approving the location of the national capitol near Mt. Vernon, spoke of him contemptuously as "the step-father of his country", and even hinted at the propriety of building a guillotine for his execution. He once considered resigning from the presidency and later expressed regret that he had not done so.

But the great mass of the people were unswervingly loyal to him to the end, and he might have had a kingly crown had he so desired. In the final judgement of the American people he was fully sustained the eulogy passed upon him at his death by the great Marshall:

"First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

CLEAN CUP IS A DUTY FOR ALL

Because of the menace of communicable diseases, laws in general provide that there shall be sterilization of glasses after each use, or that cups shall be provided which may be used once and then destroyed.

Then process to be used in sterilizing is detailed in some of the laws bearing on this subject: Ohio, for example, prescribes the following method—namely, that after each individual service, the glass must first be washed by rinsing in cold water, then thoroughly washed in hot water with soap or suitable cleansing powder, or exposed to live steam, boiling water or hot air, the latter at a temperature of not less than 250 degrees Fahrenheit, for a period of not less than five minutes, then rinsed in clear cold water and drained.

Heat, of course, is about the best sterilizer known. Boiling water kills most germs in five minutes, and dead germs are harmless unless they exist in enormous numbers.

There is an obvious disposition on the part of many dispensers of soft drinks to avoid this sterilization process.

It is not alone in soft drink dispensaries that the dangers of the unclean glass may be encountered. These dangers may exist in restaurants, cafeterias, theatres, and many other places.

Every man, woman and child has a responsibility to himself and to his fellows. It is the duty of any one who drinks at a soda fountain, a restaurant or any place, to find out whether the receptacle from which he drinks is safe, and if not, to demand one that is. Insanitary conditions of whatever nature should be immediately reported to the local health authorities.

FARMERS HELP SELVES

While much discussion of relief legislation is going on, with little prospect that any of it will solve the farmer's problem, in many parts of the country the farmers themselves are making plans which will help more than anything Congress may be expected to do.

They are becoming convinced that the salvation of the farmer rests largely upon raising his own living at home. They are accordingly planning to have some poultry, a cow or two and at least one sow and litter of pigs on every farm. They will see that a good garden is planted and properly cultivated. They will raise their own food and stock feed, so that less cash shall be spent for these things.

These intelligent farmers know that they can produce most of the food necessities of life, without seriously interfering with the raising of their main crop, whether it be wheat, corn, cotton, or some other staple product.

They are also learning that a less number of acres planted with the best seed and properly cultivated will produce more profitable crops than a large acreage not properly handled.

While less capable farmers pin their faith to the politicians, these live-at-home advocates are adopting plain and sensible measures to protect themselves.

HERE'S A RECORD

There is a remarkable firm of general merchants in the little town of Clear Lake, S. D., which probably hold the world's record for consistent and adequate advertising in a community of that size.

English & Towers have carried a full-page advertisement in the Clear Lake Courier, every week, without a miss, for twenty years. They have contracted for a similar space for each week of 1926.

Yet Clear Lake is a town of only 835 population, in a county with but 8,758 people, with two newspapers. The extent of the firm's advertising with the other newspaper was not stated in the source of our information, but it is reasonable to suppose that it was considerable.

From their extensive and persistent advertising, English & Towers appear to be pretty thoroughly sold on the proposition. As the Courier says: "They have proven to their satisfaction that large space in the newspaper regularly brings correspondingly big results."

Nobody's Business

Secretary Kellogg denies the right of the court to review his decision refusing Countess Karolyi, of Hungary, admission to the United States for a visit with American friends. He takes the position that the case begins and ends with him—that his decisions is nobody's business.

This may be the law, but if so it is a mighty poor American law, and Secretary Kellogg is doing his bit to have it pulled out by the roots. His reasons may be sufficient to himself, but he will have some difficulty in convincing the people that he is either acting for and shielding another foreign power, or has been the victim of ill-advised secret diplomacy. It is contrary to all American principle to vest in any official such an arbitrary power. This is not Russia nor is it Italy. We are not only admitting far more dangerous characters every day, but permitting them to preach and lecture and publish books by the score criticising our form of government.

We don't need an American Mussolini to keep this nation American—just a square deal.

Below Zero

SO THINK WE

We think that success hardly ever comes galloping up to a fellow but is usually the result of a series of failures, overcome.

We think that probably the reason the scenery in the country is more attractive than that of the city is because there are more bouquets and fewer bricks.

We think there is quite a difference between railroading and being railroaded.

We think it is wise to think before you speak, and much wiser to think a lot more than you speak.

We think that a lot of time when the wife tells you you are a huge joke, she is really not joking.

We think the janitor's at the courthouse are certainly shinning the old building up, and if old battle axe will just swallow a lot of the stuff that he pretends to like to chew, the halls will remain clean and sanitary.

We think there could be a great improvement in the sanitary condition of the entrance to the postoffice.

We think that the fellow who can remain silent and maintain his inward equilibrium in the face of false and unjust criticism is a man that all honest men can well afford to tie to.

We think that possibly it may be best that women were given the right to enter actively into politics. By so doing they meet many men and so many of them are no better looking or no better than their husbands that they really become more satisfied or resigned to their fate, and live happily ever afterwards.

We think about the only secret that a lot of folks try to keep is how little they really know. And even then this is soon found out.

We think the good part about the short stories of this day and time is that they are really short.

We think one of the most successful financiers is the fellow who will spend the last cent he has for a bill fold.

We think there will likely be a surplus crop again this year. Especially is this feared in regard to the 1926 crop.

We think that charity covers a multitude of sins, until the muck-raker gets hold of it, and then there is no mantle of charity.

We think that resolutions would be more popular if there was a guarantee with them against breaking.

We think many a man has gotten his foot in his business because they had not used their head.

We think that looking for a needle in a hay stack is possibly about as needless as swearing or getting drunk.

IT IS REPORTED

That the proposed food merger is suffering indigestion or investigation, or condemnation or something of the sort.

That plain ordinary fiction is too tame for many of the writers of that class of stuff and they are flocking to Florida and California for new and better fields of operation.

That about all the Greek that most of the college students remember is the name of their fraternity.

That California is advertising and is distributing literature in Florida stating that the best in Florida is a ticket to California it would not cost as much to the South Plains.

That Chicago is to have a new two million dollar hog pen, but even then Texas may go there one better for that size pen would not near begin to hold the road hogs that the Lone Star state has.

That doctors use the word complications when he is not just sure what the trouble is, and the radio man says it's static that is the trouble when the radio fails to percolate as it should.

That in Chicago potatoes are about three times as high as they were a year ago.

That $150,000,000 were collected in gasoline tax last year. No wonder it costs so much to operate an automobile.

That one poor man has two automobiles, and then wonders why his pay check will not go any further than it does.

That some of Lubbock people are installment to death. Its ten dollars a month for a radio, fifty dollars per month for payment on a car, fifty dollars per month for payment on furniture, five dollars per week on a phonograph, and the balance is used for theatre tickets, cafe meals, cold drinks and fine clothes, and the rent is unpaid.

That an Amarillo husband has asked for a divorce on the ground that his wife made him darn his own sox. We are sure the only reason she did not do it herself was that she did not know how.

That more than a hundred thousand women in China who have been employed as hair net makers have been thrown out of employment by the bobbing of hair in that country.

That an Abilene man who was hurrying home to tell his wife about the prize he won for careful driving, was arrested for speeding and it cost all the prize he won to pay his fine.

RURAL SCHOOLS NEWS

United States Department of the Interior Bureau of Education.

The Junior High School in Rural Communities

The junior high school has appeared in rural communities in every State of the Union except Louisiana and South Carolina. Out of a total of 2,548 schools of the junior-senior type reported to the Bureau of Education, Department of the Interior for 1924-25, 1,215 and located in rural communities. In general, the junior high school is formed by combining grades 7 and 8 of the elementary school with grade 9 of the four-year high school. In many cases in rural communities grades 7 and 8 are added to the four-year high school to make a six year secondary school without any attempt to divide the secondary school into junior and senior schools.

Some advantages derived from extending the secondary school downward to include the upper two grades of the elementary school are: (1) It permits assembling a considerable number of children enrolled in grades 7 and 8 at a single center so that instruction becomes less expensive. (2) By grouping these grades with the secondary school the pupils have the advantage of better trained teachers and a variety of special equipment which the secondary school affords. (3) Instead of spending their time in drill upon the skills involved in arithmetic and reading the pupils can be introduced to subject matter in science, the social studies, and the practical arts which is more useful and interesting to them. They get practice in the use of skills involved in reading and computing while they are considering subject matter worth while in itself.

One and One-Half Million Dollars for State Aid in Texas. In 1924, 4,109 rural and small town schools in Texas were able to maintain a term of from one to two months longer than formerly because the State appropriated one and one-half million dollars special aid. 180 school received $250 each for instruction in the practical arts; 488 children living in one-teacher school districts had high school training; and 18 consolidations were traceable to the bonus provided for consolidating small and contiguous districts.

The "rural aid" law of Texas helps country children in four ways. It makes a longer school term possible in certain districts by providing not to exceed $150 per teacher employed to subsidize salaries. It encourages the addition of practical arts subjects to the curriculum by granting not to exceed $250 to each school of two or more teachers which offers instruction in these subjects. It aids in extending high school instruction to boys and girls who live in districts which do not maintain high schools by providing for the payment of their tuition in neighboring districts not exceeding $10 per month per pupil. It induces districts to consolidate by offering $1,000 for each consolidation resulting in a school of not less than four teachers. The law further stimulates local initiative, for in order to receive a share of this million and one-half dollars of State aid school districts must meet certain standards relating to buildings, equipment, courses of study, and local tax.

The rural aid law has been on the statutes of Texas since 1915. That it is popular is evidenced by the substantial increase in its appropriation from a half million a year in 1915 to one and one-half million in 1925.

A. L. Green in the Middle West paying its primary teachers $3.50 a week wrote in its school report. The Board of a general rule have determined to employ no teachers in the schools but those of ripe age, ample experience, successful teachers of general knowledge. Besides this, the teacher must have great goodness and kindness of heart, indomitable perseverance, good common sense, and last, but not least, the qualities, in a measure, of a successful military general. Certainly this board in 1857 was very modest in the list of required graces for such salaries.

School officers selecting teachers for the coming year find it difficult even today to secure teachers meeting many of the above qualifications much less the very important additional one of professional preparation. Such preparation includes scientific and technical knowledge in the field of education. It is a fact that an elementary rural school teacher may most effectively teach arithmetic, for example, she must know rather accurately the relative difficulty of the number combinations. This enables her to avoid or use sparingly the easy combinations and to provide for more frequent use of the difficult combinations in classroom games and devices.

WINTER'S JEWELRY
 Now winter hems us in with snow and ice
 And builds her rugged barriers to play,
 Blusters and roars about us through the day,
 Fashions in crystal many a strange device,
 Festoons of jewels, perfect and precise
 To deck the humblest home, as if to say:
 "These caves shall wear my diamonds without pay."

I'll shape a necklace past a monarch's price,
 So winter crowns the houses of the poor
 And decks with brilliant gems their little caves,
 Hangs a great crest above the narrow door,
 Patterns of beauty on each window weaves,
 And with the morning all the children
 Counting with joy the jewels flashing there.

SPORT NEWS

AMERICAN GIRL LOOSES GRACEFULLY BEFORE SUPERIOR ABILITY OF FRENCH RAQUET STAR IN CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

CANNES, Feb. 16.—With all the dramatic moments, the thrills and heart throbs, and the smashing exhibition of super-tennis promised through weeks of postponement, the women champions of the old world and the new have met, and Suzanne Lenglen has been crowned the victor.

Greater in defeat than any one had expected, Helen Wills failed to wrest the world's title from the French girl and went down before a superior brand of tennis in straight sets, but the gallant young American champion convinced the Riviera that it will not be long before she dethrones Suzanne.

When the match was over and Miss Lenglen gave a joyful little leap and tossed her raquet into the air, she had beaten Miss Wills, 6-3, 8-6, but she had been given the hardest battle of her career since she defeated Molla Mallory at Forest Hills four years ago and there had been moments when it seemed as though the California girl was about to sweep through to victory.

Played in blazing sunshine on the center court of the Carlton club, a smooth green patch with tumultuous tiers of spectators, the match was replete with breath taking moments.

All the drama which the temperamental Suzanne works into her greatest game was present. The French girl stormed at the spectators because they could not repress their cheers. She wept over the decision of the officials which deprived her of a species of victory. And at the end she worked herself into a veritable frenzy and smashed angrily but with deadly accuracy until Miss Wills was bleeding at the nose and nearly exhausted from her efforts to cover the court.

Calm of feature—almost grim—throughout the match, the American girl gave everything she had in the struggle. She took the lead in the first set and again in the second, but Miss Lenglen proved that the critics who said she could not come from behind were wrong.

Miss Wills "poker face" and calm of manner belied a natural nervousness, which was evident when she tossed away the first set with some half dozen errors.

Once, when a linesman, Cyril Tolley, the British amateur golfer, called one of Suzanne's base line shots "in" when it seemed to Helen and a majority of the spectators that the ball had struck several inches outside, the American girl showed her displeasure.

Miss Wills was within a point of winning the second set at the time, but the decision seemed to take all the heart out of her. She wilted visibly, put a hand to her head, and after that never again put quite the same fire into her game.

At the end of doubles, in which Suzanne and Miss Vlasto defeated Miss Wills and Miss Contoslavos, 4-4, 8-6, it was Miss Lenglen who fainted and had to be attended on the court by physicians.

Tuesday night, in Riviera cafes and hotels, there were toasts to Suzanne and Helen, offered impartially, for the American girl had provided the oft-times jaded winter residents with the greatest sporting thrill of their lives.

The French girl was dissatisfied with her triumph. "Don't congratulate me," she said brusquely to Baron Henri De Morpurgo, her doubles partner, who was the first to reach her side after the singles match was over.

"I don't know what was wrong. I didn't play at all well." Turning to the United News correspondent, Suzanne said: "Miss Wills is as great as you proclaimed. She is really a splendid player and has not yet reached the top of her career. I shall always be happy to play her."

Municipal Golf Links Reclaimed By Association

The Lubbock Municipal Golf Association, recently organized for the purpose of reclaiming and conditioning the golf course located in the canyon just east of the Fair Grounds has made the old place take on new life. Two men started work Monday, leveling the sloping greens and re-arranging the boxes in order to lengthen the course. It is the intention of the association to put the course in the best possible shape within the next two or three weeks in order that play may begin at the call of the weather.

The association reports that thirty eight memberships are paid in which makes possible the carrying out of the plans for improvement. And it is requested that all those interested in this phase of recreation or who intend to become members of the association, to do so before March 1st. That until that time memberships may be secured for $10.00 which will entitle each member and lady to privileges until March 1st, 1927.

Checks payable to Lubbock Municipal Golf Association for $10.00 may be left at Bowen's Drug Store, with Buddie Stewart at the Citizen's National Bank, E. B. Adecock, Woodson Grocery, or V. E. Wilson, 303 Temple Ellis building and membership cards will be mailed to each subscribing member about March 1st.

BUFFALOES DEFEAT N. M. CADETS 40 TO 13

CANYON, Tex., Feb. 16.—The West Teachers College Buffaloes defeated the New Mexico Cadets here tonight 40 to 13 in a slow game. The Buffaloes played listless ball until the middle of the second half when they opened live a fash and baffled the Cadets with a brilliant passing offense finishing the game in a whirlwind fashion. The teachers meet the Abilene Christian College championship contending Wildcats in Buffalo gym Friday and Saturday nights, Feb. 19 and 20.

RAZORBACKS DEFEAT AGGIES AND WIN SOUTHWESTERN

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 16.—The Arkansas Razorbacks won the Southwestern conference championship in basketball by defeating the Aggies in their second game at College Station tonight by a score of 35 to 21.

Pickel of Arkansas was high point man of the game, counting 13 points.

SPORT FLASHES

FANNING WITH FARRELL
By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Every manager in the major league knows what he needs to win a pennant.

Maybe it's one player and maybe it's a whole new team, but it's his business to know.

The process of finding the weakness is not an art. It is a simple matter compared to the subsequent problem—what to do about it.

Bucky Harris, the youthful manager of the Washington Senators has been particularly capable—or lucky if you will have it that way—in landing experienced players to plug up the weak spots.

After winning his first pennant, Harris said the chances of his team to repeat depended upon finding an experienced pitcher. He found not only one but two experienced pitchers and they won the pennant for him.

When Dutch Reuther was put on the market by the Brooklyn Robins, every manager but Harris turned his thumbs down. Reuther was not only tagged as being through but he had the reputation of being hard to please.

Harris grabbed him though and Reuther had one of his best seasons. The same thing happened when the Cleveland Indians put the veteran spit-baller, Stan Coveleskie, on the market. No one but Harris wanted to bother with an old man with a sore arm. But Harris took him and the result is a matter of record.

The Senators could not have won the 1925 pennant if Reuther and Coveleskie had not been on the team.

Last fall, after the Senators had been nosed out of the world's series by the Pittsburgh Pirates, Harris admitted that he had to have another experienced right-hand pitcher to get anywhere in the 1926 race.

Weakness of pitching cost the Senators the world's series and even if he is, the greatest of optimists, Harris couldn't gamble on a mere hope that Coveleskie and Reuther would have another good season.

Harris then went out and secured Joe Bush, veteran of fourteen campaigns, and Johnny Tobin, a capable reserve outfielder, from the St. Louis Browns in exchange for Win Ballou, a promising young pitcher and Tom Zachary, veteran southpaw.

In John McGraw fashion, Harris no doubt figured that he had to gamble for immediate results and he figured that Bush would be better this year than Ballou even if Ballou was a much better prospect for the future.

George Sisler, some believe, got all the worst of the deal, but Sisler perhaps is figuring more on the future than he is on a championship this year and Ballou may develop into a star. He has a lot of stuff and one of the stougest young hearts in the major leagues.

Bush is still a great pitcher and as he has taken care of himself, he may have a number of good seasons left in him. Many of the players have expressed the opinion that the change in the rule permitting pitchers to use resin on the ball will benefit Bush more than any other one pitcher in the league.

TAX AGREEMENT MAY BE DELAYED AT WASHINGTON

FINAL ACTION MAY NOT BE TAKEN UNTIL NEXT WEEK SMOOT SAYS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Agreement on the numerous disputed sections of the tax bill may be delayed beyond the end of this week so that final action by congress will not come until next week as a result of slow progress in the conference.

Senate and house conferees sat all day at the capitol Tuesday without reaching agreement on any important controversial issue. The session was marked by considerable haggling and a general determination on the part of all concerned to stand pat.

Senator Smoot of Utah, chairman of the finance committee, said afterward that if the conferees made no better progress than during the first two days, they would not finish their work by the end of the week.

Reading of the disputed sections was completed finally Tuesday, so that the conferees can get down to actual trading Wednesday.

Tentative agreement was reached on some minor differences in the house and senate measures. It was learned, but members refused to indicate what these were.

The determination of the house conferees to stand by their bill was indicated Tuesday in the announcement from the floor from Rep. Garner, Texas, democrat, that the house representatives would never consent to repeal of the estate tax as voted by the senate. It is generally agreed that the senate conferees will have to yield to the house provision for retaining this tax at a 20 per cent minimum.

The program for this week includes action Thursday on the report of Senator Walsh urging further investigation into the Aluminum Company of America and consideration Friday of the nomination of Charles W. Hunt to the federal trade commission, over which there is some opposition.

The senate will adjourn over Sunday with prospects of taking up the Muscle Shoals project Monday.

The Muscle Shoals resolution is the only matter that is placed ahead of the appropriation bills which have the right away again when that problem is settled or laid aside. That means that appropriation bills will be the major business of the senate for a month or more with no action until after that time on the foreign debt settlements.

In view of the growing opposition in the senate to the Italian settlement and the recent activity of Premier Mussolini which has stirred up a good deal of criticism in this country, the failure of senate republicans to hasten action on the foreign debt settlements is no mystery. A breathing spell is desirable for the purpose of letting the anti-Mussolini feeling subside somewhat, if for no other reason.

If the Italian settlement were thrown into the senate at this time, the discussions might be embarrassing to the administration but back the pact formulated the debt funding commissions.

During the tax debate there were occasional heated assaults on the Italian settlement. This attack will grow more general when an opportunity is offered.

STANDARD OIL SEEKS SOVIET RUSSIA RIGHT

BERLIN, Feb. 16.—The Standard Oil Co. is negotiating for oil rights in soviet Russia which would develop into a Standard Oil monopoly of the sale of such oil in Europe it is learned from an authoritative source.

The deal has large implications and especially affects France. Negotiations are proceeding under cover of the Banque De Paris Et Des Pays Bas which, with the consent of the French government would grant long term credits to soviet Russia in exchange for a soviet guarantee to supply French oil needs. The bank long has been closely associated with the Standard Oil Co.

Cessions which probably would include the entire Emba Oil field in Central Asia and the establishment of a nominally Franco-Russian but actually Standard-Russian monopoly are envisaged. This monopoly would assure Standard Oil an immense advantage over the royal Dutch Company in the international oil game. It is emphasized that negotiations have not yet entered the conclusion stage.

LATEST PHOTOGRAPHS SCIENTISTS HAVE MADE OF MARS SHOW SIGNS OF LIFE THERE; NEW LENSES USED

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 16.—Photographs of Mars made with invisible light bear out the belief that conditions on the planet are such as would permit life as we know it here on earth.

That opinion was expressed here at the convention of the Southwest section of the American Association for the Advancement of Science by Dr. A. E. Douglass, director of the Stewart observatory of the University of Arizona. Dr. Douglass is the man who has been making the pictures.

The photographs are made with plates sensitive to infra-red rays, the rays which are just a little longer than the red light visible to the naked eye. The earth's atmosphere breaks up and reflects blue light in all directions.

The scientists call it scattering. That is why the sky looks blue. But red light comes through more easily. For example, the sun looks red just before setting when it is low on the horizon.

The invisible infra-red rays, have come through a atmosphere still blue. Tests made by Douglass show that objects four and a half miles away on earth can be photographed clearly with plates sensitive to infra red rays while ordinary photographic plates give hazy and blurred pictures.

So Dr. Douglass tried photographing Mars with these special plates. "They have the additional detail which I anticipated," he says. "There is no doubt in my mind but what there is plant life on Mars. As the Maritan summer advances the large dark areas on the planet assume a hue that can be explained only as the growth of vegetation."

Dr. Douglass has also been making a study of the Maritan atmosphere and the clouds in it.

"I feel that there is much more at work on Mars than some astronomers think," he declared. "My work also shows clouds at a height of 14 miles in Maritan atmosphere moving with a velocity of about 18 miles an hour."

World Flier Quits Service to Boost Mitchell's Plan

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Lieutenant Leigh Wade, the round the world flier, has resigned from the army to aid the campaign of former Colonel Wm. Mitchell for a unified air service.

It was learned here Tuesday that Wade had handed his resignation to Secretary of War Davis last week and that it was accepted. It was also disclosed here by Colonel Harold E. Hartney of the general airways corporations that Lieutenant Lowell Smith, another round the world flier, wanted to get out of the air service as soon as possible.

Colonel Hartney said dissatisfaction among members of the air service was intense and that the court-martial of Mitchell had added to the bad feeling.

Wade, it is understood will tour the country in a fight for air service reform.

All Undesirables Driven From Tia Juana Borders

TIA JUANA, Mexico, Feb. 16.—The long heralded drive to rid Tia Juana of its horde of "undesirables" started Tuesday with the arrest of 25 Mexicans and the "deportation by request" of numerous American gamblers and painted women.

Mexican troopers and police armed with sabers and carbines visited the most vicious drinking drives throughout the day, arresting all notorious characters they saw. The "undesirables" were taken to Tres Marias Island off the lower California coast. The American habitues of the resort evaded arrest by leaving town.

While this round up was in force, Mexican authorities were hearing conclusions with reference to the guilt or innocence of the seven men accused of murder in connection with the "shame suicides" of the Thomas Petet family of four.

Federal Judge Urias, with whom the fate of the accused rests, has until Wednesday to announce his findings on the evidence presented to him by Federal Deputy Attorney General Gallos.

At the time Urias will either place the final verdict in the hands of a jury or free some of the suspects and sentence the others to die by execution.

Navy Bill Passed By Senate; Army Helped In House

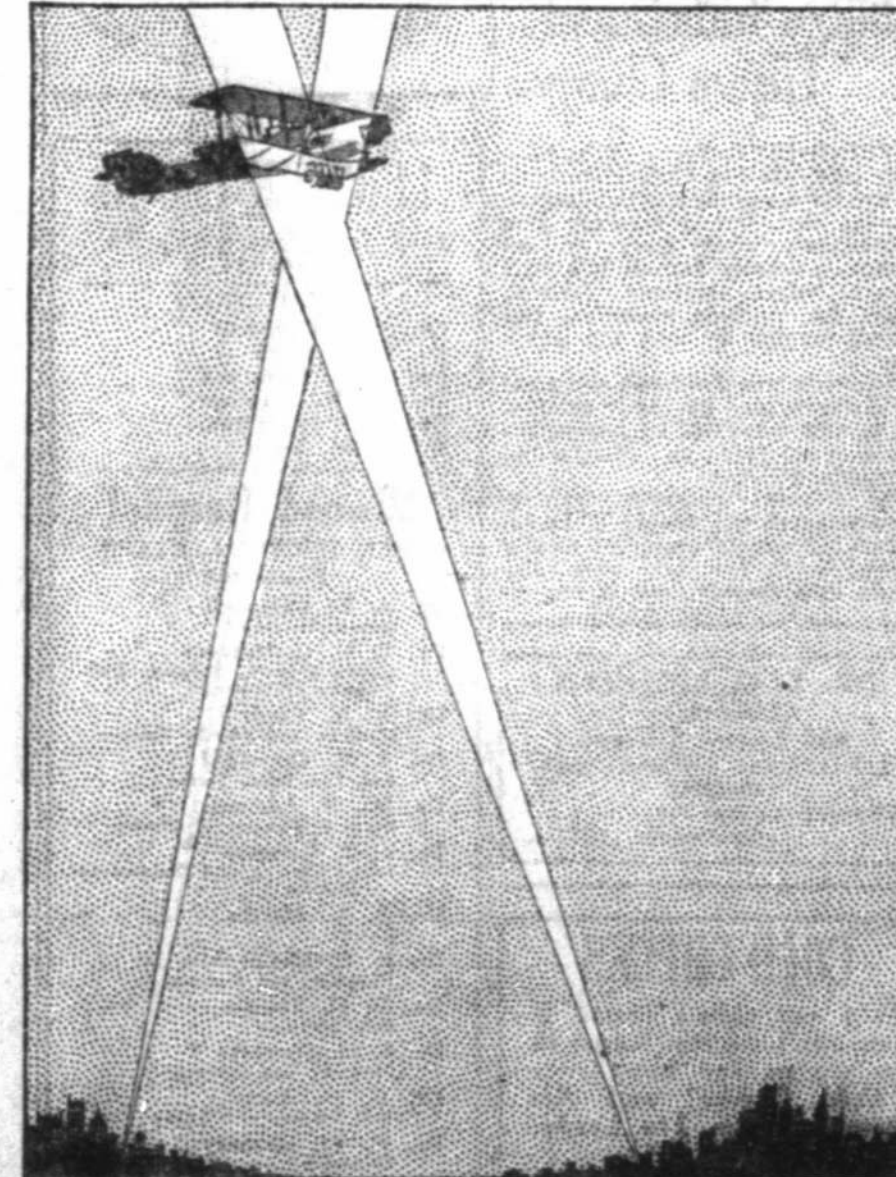

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Defense legislation moved forward in both houses Tuesday.

The senate passed the naval appropriation bill carrying $321,000,000. The house approved the army bill, carrying $339,500,000.

The navy bill authorized $18,900,000 for new aircraft and equipment, increasing the house allowance by $5,000,000. The secretary of the navy also was authorized to contract for construction of new airplanes up to $4,100,000. An amendment was incorporated to prevent replacement of the Shenandoah.

The army bill carries $7,000,000 above last year's appropriations but retains the enlisted strength at its present figure.

One other important action was the decision of the house naval committee recommended a five year building program to cost $100,000,000. This would give the navy 1,000 modern planes at the end of five years and two dirigibles twice the size of the Shenandoah. Provision also is contemplated for co-operating with the Aircraft Development Corporation at Detroit in building an all-metal dirigible.

AS BIG BUSINESS BECOMES INVOLVED WITH POLITICS, COOLIDGE IS UNEASY AND PREPARES AGAINST ANY CRITICISM

By United News. WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Evidence points more strongly every day to a new momentous political question involving big business.

The most significant fact is that President Coolidge is quietly preparing himself against any attack in that quarter.

Several days ago the United News stated that there has been a shift in the wind at Washington and that business would hereafter come under more critical eyes.

One of the first indications of this was the unusual action of the department of justice in moving to prevent formation of the Ward Food Products Corporation instead of waiting until the merger was consummated and then filing suit in the ordinary way.

The Aluminum case also is directing attention to the general situation. Resolution called for investigations of this and the banking mergers are pending in the senate.

Now it has become known that President Coolidge is concerned over the tendency of large corporations to squeeze the investing stock holder out from any control in the management by depriving the shares issued to the public of all voting rights.

This movement already has caused some concern in the New York Stock Exchange which recently announced that all issues of non-voting stock would be scrutinized before being approved.

Realizing the grave possibilities that might arise from abuse of this device of non-voting stock, President Coolidge called W. Z. Ripley, professor of economics at Harvard and one of the leading students of this phase of corporation organization to the White House to advise on possible federal action.

At the moment, President Coolidge does not see that the federal government can do anything. Investigation by the investor is regarded as the best protection now.

But if corrected voluntarily by current publicity and criticism will call for some possible that the situation, unless action at Washington.

If any recommendation is made, it probably will be similar to that advocated by President Taft in his last message to congress. He urged federal incorporation, and a government corporation bureau, which would supervise issue of securities and regulate publicity of accounts such as the I. C. C. does for railroads, telegraphs, telephones, and other common carriers—but with far less detailed regulation.

Possibly some license system would be coupled with the plan. Taft advised that at the beginning federal incorporation of concerns doing interstate business be made voluntary. Inducements would be offered by a more clear cut definition of the anti-trust laws so that large business would know exactly how far they could go instead of having to try out each case in the courts.

POSTAL SAVINGS PLAN IN SLATON POSTOFFICE

SLATON, Feb. 16.—It has been announced by Acting Postmaster Bates that the local postoffice has been designated as a postal savings office. This means that local people may place money on deposit with the postal department, beginning with a minimum of one dollar, and will receive interest at the rate of two and one-half per cent.

This arrangement will afford an opportunity for following the postal savings plan inaugurated by the government, never before offered to Slaton people.

Radio Hearing To Ruin Zenith or Altair Air Law

By United News. CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson has undertaken to solve the nation's biggest radio problem—who controls the air?

Following formal arguments in the government's test suit against the Zenith Radio Corporation, accused of "air piracy," Judge Wilkerson late Tuesday took the case under advisement.

If the decision favors the government the Zenith's broadcasting station may be seized by United States Attorneys and Eugene McDonald, president of the corporation may be asked to pay a fine of $10,000.

In event the court favors the defendant the entire structure of law governing this new industry may be torn down and rebuilt on a scale to match the tremendous growth of broadcasting.

The suit is the first of its kind in history. It was designed to set a precedent for the deciding of similar problems resulting from the congestion of the air brought about by increasing radio traffic.

McDonald's company, claiming to be a pioneer in the broadcasting field, was licensed by Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover to broadcast through station WJAZ on a 322 meter wave length two hours a week. Declaring the assignment was unfair and discriminatory WJAZ proceeded to broadcast at will on 329 meters.

The department of commerce then filed its charges of "air piracy" in the federal court.

Arguments in the case hinged principally upon Secretary Hoover's authority to deny WJAZ more freedom of the air.

Irving Herriott, defense counsel, declared the present radio laws were obsolete, having been passed in 1912 when radio was in its infancy. The Zenith people, he said, are doing revolutionary work which will add much to the fund of radio information and growth.

Scopes Prosecutor Faces Indictment Liquor Charges

SPRING CITY, Tenn., Feb. 16.—After attempts had failed to keep the matter a secret, it was admitted Tuesday that former attorney Ben T. McKenzie, whose fiery oratory became nationally famous last year when he helped prosecute John T. Scopes for teaching evolution, had become tangled up with the liquor laws.

McKenzie was fined $50 and costs last Saturday for disorderly conduct and is now scheduled to appear before a grand jury on charges of transporting liquor.

The former prosecutor boisterously attacked the theory of evolution on the streets, according to city marshal V. C. Lyle, who took McKenzie into custody, and it was alleged that he had been drinking.

EXCLUSION ORDER COUNTESS VERA IS DELAYED

By United News. WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Decision in the case of Vera, Countess of Cathcart, has been delayed, Secretary of Labor Davis announced late Tuesday.

His ruling on the exclusion order of the immigration authorities at Ellis Island had been expected Tuesday, but the great number of technical points involved made it impossible to conclude examination of the case.

Davis spent many hours Tuesday conferring with officials of the department on the recommendations of the board of review which Monday heard arguments by William A. DeFord, of New York and Wilton J. Lambert, of Washington, who were retained by friends of the countess to appeal the decision of Ellis Island immigration authorities. Late Tuesday afternoon, Davis, and Assistant Secretary of Labor White went to the department of justice where they conferred at length with Attorney General Sargent.

U. S. Government Not Interfering Mexico Religion

By United News. WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The United States government will maintain a hands off policy in the connection with the reported closing of American religious institutions and deportation of American religious workers by Mexican authorities.

It is understood that the investigation being carried on by American Ambassador Sheffield in Mexico City relates solely to property rights of such religious organizations. Religious properties acquired in Mexico before the constitution of 1917 are in the same category as oil and agricultural lands and will receive the same protection from the United States government.

The state department, however, recognizes the sovereign rights of Mexico to regulate the teaching of religious institutions with in its borders and to deport without explanation American and other aliens whom its considers undesirable.

Mexico's reply to the latest American note protesting alleged retroactive and confiscatory features of the new land and petroleum laws had not been received at the department Tuesday. The document, which was mailed from Mexico City, is understood to repeat the Calles government's defense of the laws, and to offer no major compromise.

Lost Relatives Sought Through Police Office

W. F. McGlothlin, formerly of Rotan, Texas, but who has not been heard from for some time, is being sought by his daughter, Miss Opal McGlothlin, of that place. A letter from the daughter to the local police office stated that he was last heard from in Lubbock about a month ago, and it is probable that he is still in this section. No reason for the disappearance of the father was given, but that Miss McGlothlin is worried over him was shown in the letter received here. Police are endeavoring to locate him. A letter has also been received from C. P. Anderson, of Holiday, Texas, stating that a brother of J. T. Anderson is dangerously ill and calling for him, and that he too, is believed to be somewhere in this section.

SLATON IS GINNING 100 BALES OF COTTON A DAY AT THIS TIME
 SLATON, Tex., Feb. 16.—Cotton continues to come in almost like the fall of the year. Some of the gins have been crowded both day and night. Something like 100 bales of cotton are being ginned each day. This late cotton has greatly relieved general conditions, the moral of the farmers that felt so badly hurt during the early fall freeze is far better than the average. The country is blessed with feed and many of the farmers are adding both cow, hog and poultry, as a guarantee against any hazardous conditions that might occur as did last year. The diversified program that is being fostered and put over by Slaton's Commercial Club is meeting the endorsement and co-operation of every community surrounding Slaton. These communities are being organized into sub-units that will coordinate with both the diversified program and Slaton's community fair. There is being subscribed some five or seven hundred dollars as cash premiums to be given on the different diversified products. This program seems to have stimulated and has come at the opportune time to be adopted into every farm home in the country.

When it's your birthday—and celebrating friends flock in for the glad event—when happy thoughts and laughter fill all the house—have a Camel!

Camels contain the very choicest tobaccos grown in all the world. Camels are blended by the world's most expert blenders. Nothing is too good for Camels. In the making of this one brand we concentrate the tobacco knowledge and skill of the largest organization of tobacco experts in the world. No other cigarette made is like Camels. They are the overwhelming choice of experienced smokers.

WHEN your own birthday again has come. And well-wishing friends troop in with gay congratulation. When your festive halls resound with laughter and happy praise—then how fitting are those words, "Have a Camel!"

For no man has ever lived long enough to find a better, more friendly cigarette than Camel. Camel goodness grows more mellow, more joyous with every passing year. There's not a tired taste, not a cigarettety after-taste in a whole lifetime of Camels. Camels are rolled from the choicest tobaccos grown in all the world. Millions of experienced smokers have found in Camels such lasting contentment as they never hoped to find in a cigarette.

So this night as at your birthday festivities you revel in the sheerest joy this old world affords—taste then the fragrance, the goodness of the primest cigarette ever made. On this day of days you and your friends deserve the best. Have a Camel!

Our highest wish, if you do not yet know Camel quality, is that you try them. We invite you to compare Camels with any cigarette made at any price. R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co

COUNTESS VERA TO KNOW FATE IN NEXT 48 HOURS

BY ROBERT D. LUSK
United News Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Verá, countess of Cathcart will know within the next 48 hours whether she may remain in the United States or must go back to England.

An official board of review is expected to present its recommendation to Secretary of Labor Davis on Tuesday.

Davis will decide the fate of the British noblewoman shortly after he receives the board's recommendation.

The case of the countess was laid before the board in secret session Monday by her counsel, Wm. A. DeFord of New York and Wilton J. Lambert of Washington. They contended that the government, before excluding her, must first prove the woman detained at Ellis Island was guilty of "moral turpitude."

It further was argued that it was within the discretion of the secretary of labor to admit her even if the government proved her guilty.

Seldom before has a decision of the department of labor caused such a widespread protest as the exclusion of the countess. A group of indignant women staged a mass meeting on the front steps of the building.

Debate in the United States senate was interrupted while senators discussed the immigration officials' ruling. Meanwhile hundreds of telegrams were delivered to the secretary of labor protesting against the exclusion of the countess for "admitting a misdemeanor involving moral turpitude."

Word that the Earl of Craven, with whom the countess lived in discreet months in South Africa had fled to Montreal did not stop members of the National Women's Party from attempting to press their charges that exclusion of the countess and the admitting to this country of the Earl was discrimination against women.

Barraged from the hearing before the board of review, a score or more of women held a mass meeting on the steps of the labor department building. Miss Mabel Vernon of New York declared that the exclusion of the countess was official recognition of a double standard of morality.

Isabelle Kendig and Pauline Clark representing the Civil Liberties Union, also were refused admission to the hearing. They contended that the exclusion of the countess was an extension of the law to cover "personal morality" Acts which the countess was alleged to have admitted, they said, were not recognized as misdemeanor in this country.

"There is no federal law against such acts," Miss Kendig declared. Senator Copeland of New York, democrat, demanded on the floor of the senate the countess be admitted.

Lambert, retained by funds of the countess, based his argument before the board of review on the contention that the burden of proof in the case against the countess rested with this government.

"The fact that the countess had a passport duly countersigned by an American consul was prima facie evidence that she had a right to enter this country unless it was proved otherwise," Lambert argued. "The burden of this proof rested with the United States government."

Lambert attacked the record of the inquiry held by commissioner Curran and said that it did not show that the countess had admitted moral turpitude.

"She admitted illicit relations with the Earl," Lambert said. "But these acts were committed after she had been discovered—therefor they did not constitute adultery."

ONE of the most virile and fascinating stories ever written by Rex Beach. A mighty epic of one of America's most stirring periods—the gold rush to the Klondike. It is the story of one man who faced the Klondyke alone, without friends or money, and tells how he won the hard fight for the thing he came to seek in that country and the love that he found.

Grain Opinions—Lamborn Bros.—Would hold to a trading position with preference for purchases on good breaks.

On any further rally today believe wheat should be sold. Stein Alstrin—With improved export buying a further recovery in wheat could be easily brought about.

CHICAGO.—Pit operations continue to be dominating influence in wheat market. An overall condition developed and a general short covering movement headed by some of the local traders who have been aggressive on the bear side of late, caused a sharp bulge. There was no change in the general character of the news to account for the buying, but after considerable break in two weeks, there was a material let up in the pressure from local bears.

Weakness in cash corn market, with sample grades off as much as four cents, compared with May, had a depressing effect on futures, which were sold by commission houses and locals. A good part of local arrivals were from Iowa and graded poorly.

Hornblower & Weeks—Subject to trading rallies, the market indicates a downward trend into the early part of March. When rallies occur, strength is likely to be confined to the group and issues have lately shown an upward tendency continue to reduce accounts substantially on all rallies.

SLATON'S WATER LINES TAPPED TO SANTA FE

SLATON, Feb. 16.—The water connection between the city water mains and the Santa Fe mains was completed today; a valve was installed in the tap and the Santa Fe water will only be used in the city mains in time of emergency.

The city already had a well flow of 275 gallons per minute with a well in reserve capable of the same flow, and a storage capacity of 425,000 gallons. With the Santa Fe additional supply the city will now have a well flow of 725 gallons per minute, and a storage capacity of 925,000 gallons. The Santa Fe is now contemplating the erection of another storage tank that will bring the storage capacity well over the million mark.

With a storage capacity of almost a million gallons of water and sufficient well flow to more than refill the entire array of storage tanks in less than twenty-four hours, the city of Slaton has an inexhaustible supply of water as can be found.

SLATON HOME BURNED WHILE OCCUPANTS WERE OUT OF CITY

SLATON, Feb. 16.—The home of Jeff Custer was almost totally destroyed by fire of undetermined origin last night. The fire started about 1 a. m. and burned for some ten minutes before neighbors were aware of its existence; when the fire department arrived the house was a mass of flames, but it was soon extinguished. The Custer family were not at home; they were notified early this morning of their loss by friends.

Only a small part of the furnishings can be saved, and the house is a total loss; the loss amounting to about $3,000 which was covered by insurance.

Much Interest Manifested in the Matter of Starting A State Museum—Sate U. Faculty Active

AUSTIN, Feb. 16.—A creditable start toward a state museum for Texas was made recently when members of the faculty of the University of Texas interested in the project met for further discussion of plans, according to Mr. J. E. Pearce, professor of anthropology, who was elected president of the organization formed at that time. Dr. E. H. Sellards of the Bureau of Economic Geology of the University was made secretary.

That Texas greatest need from an educational viewpoint is a real teaching museum where various museum collections may be preserved for study, was shown by Dr. Charles Schuchert, who addressed the gathering. Dr. Schuchert of Yale University, as visiting professor at the University of Texas for the present term is delivering a series of lectures on geology in the Graduate School. He is curator of the recently dedicated Peabody Museum at Yale which was erected at a cost of $900,000. Dr. Schuchert further explained the relation between education and such a museum. If Texas is to engage in scientific research, a museum of this nature is an absolute necessity, he declared.

That Texas is in a fair way to lose her rare specimens of past ages recording the existence of man on this continent has been brought out forcibly within the last few months, according to Mr. Pearce. Only recently was a skeleton of a buffalo which became extinct in the ice age discovered in Mitchell County. This gives evidence of man's having lived on this continent some 40,000 or 50,000 years earlier than has heretofore been supposed. The persons finding the skeleton, however, reported their findings to a Colorado institution because mounted specimens had been observed there and it was known that institution was interested in such discoveries. That the material evidence of what may reconstruct the anthropologic history of the North American continent should go outside the state will mean an inestimable loss to the further development of science in this state, Mr. Pearce said. The find, he continued, was in Texas and belonged to a Texas institution, but the state of Texas would have been unable to exhibit the skeleton had it been presented. It is now on display in Denver, Colo.

Another such instance was pointed out by Mr. Pearce. Not long ago a skeleton was found in Texas which proved to be the final link in the evolution of the horse. This skeleton is now in the museum at Yale although it was discovered in this state.

The Permian beds of west Texas are among the most interesting in the world, Dr. Schuchert declared, and their only rivals are those of South Africa. Many specimens of North America are found only in Texas. All the large museums of the north and east contain specimens of the Texas Permian beds, but this state itself has no exhibit of them, Dr. Schuchert said.

The University of Texas also has some valuable collections which are constantly in danger of destruction, Mr. Pearce stated because there is no fireproof building where they may be housed and properly cared for. From time to time, extremely rare pieces of these collections have been stolen. In their present location it is even impossible to keep them under lock. These collections are kept in attics, basements, and such places where they are not only unsafe, but where their educational value can in no measure be realized.

"So far as a museum is concerned, Texas is on the same plane as Abyssinia or Turkey," Mr. Pearce declared. "Apparently Texas has no more interest in her history and in preserving the remains of it than has an uncivilized nation. It is indeed a short sighted policy to allow the state to become the happy hunting ground of others who are more alive to the value of these specimens that we ourselves seem to be."

It was decided by the organization that the only feasible plan of remedying the situation would be to have a state museum, built by the state, and located on the University of Texas campus, under the control of the Board of Regents. This plan would mean a great saving to the state and the University, as under these circumstances a museum could be erected and operated at one-fourth the cost of an individual enterprise, Mr. Pearce explained. At the University are curators whose services could be obtained with but little additional expense to the state. Dr. Schuchert demonstrated his faith in the project when at the close of the meeting, he presented the newly formed organization with a personal check for $100 to be used without reservation other than it should be used toward a museum at Austin.

England still holds the record for the largest attendance at a football game.

The Modern Art Frock with the Chinese Lantern Sleeves

The influence of the Exposition des Arts Decopatifs in Paris is felt in the newer frocks where daring colors and strikingly modern designs combine with lines of great simplicity to give the utmost in chic.

A most interesting example is the Boero Frock sketched above. Skirt is slashed side front and back to show the unusual print. The Lantern sleeves are graceful and very, very new.

Hot Point stoves are sold on a basis that means economy—in the purchase—and in paying them out on installments.

If you are anticipating changing the method of cooking in your home we are sure that it will pay you to investigate the Hot Point electric before you pay out your money. There are, of course, other good electric stoves—but when you place one of another kind up besides the Hot Point Electric you will find that they cost more. Check up on this and see.
