Portable Pokey Due For Dogs

Every Pampa citizen can become a self-appointed dog warden when Pampa's new portable dog pound goes into service Monday.

City Manager Harold Schmitzer said today the steel-framed wire enclosure will be moved from place to place throughout the city to give residents a chance to help rid Pampa of stray dogs.

"Citizens may capture the dogs and put them in the portable pound," Schmitzer said, "or they may call police when they corner a stray dog and the dog warden will assist in the capture."

The city manager said the dog pound will be placed at strategic locations throughout the city and remain there for two days at a time. The portable pokey prisons will stay for three days on weekend locations.

The pounds will be visited by police at two or three-hour intervals to remove dogs that have been tossed into the pokey.

"There will be no mistreatment of the animals and they will not be imprisoned for long without water or food," Schmitzer said.

The portable dog pound will be tested to see how effective it will be in getting the cooperation of citizens in cutting down the number of stray dogs.

"We are trying it out for awhile," Schmitzer said, "and it will take the co-operation of the people to make it work successfully."

Here is the schedule of the portable dog pound locations starting next Monday:

Office to Open Extra Hour for Automobile Tags

Office of Tax Collector Jack Back will remain open during the noon hour from today until April 1 for registration of automobiles and trucks.

Back said sale of the new 1964 tags is moving "at a steady pace" but a large number of Pampa and Gray County residents could not reach his office any other time but the noon hour break.

"It is for this group of people, and any others who would like to take advantage of the hour, that we will remain open," he said.

Some 12,500 automobiles are registered in Gray county each year, Back estimated, with a heavy number of trucks getting new plates.

Humble Planning Pampa Installation

By GLENN McCASLAND

Rumors of plans to construct a gas processing plant in the Pampa area were confirmed today by a Humble Oil and Refining Company spokesman in Amarillo.

Lee C. Bullock, gas engineer for Humble's Amarillo office, told the Daily News that 85 companies serviced by Transwestern Pipeline Co. in Pampa were involved in the plans for the plant.

The plant would have a capacity between 100,000 and 200,000 Mcf-d and reports have some 30 suppliers already in agreement on the project.

"Within the next four weeks, we would be in a position to know if Pampa would be the site or not," Bullock said, when told of the reports. "Pampa's definitely being considered because of its location to our office and the pipeline firm."

Bullock said Pampa was the most reasonable site for the plant, which would be constructed and staffed in phases.

However, he said Humble was not in any position to make a definite commitment or statement about the talks over the plant.

Bullock said that gas suppliers in the Panhandle area had taken under "active consideration" plans to build the gas processing plant along Transwestern's System in their region and Pampa is favored for the site.

The facility would extract natural gasoline and LPG, Bullock explained.

Humble Oil is acting as chairman in supplier talks, which have been going on for the past two to three months.

Contracts of suppliers permit them to build and operate processing facilities along the Transwestern System.

Jack Eubanks, superintendent for Transwestern in Pampa, said that he was aware of these plans, but his company was "only involved in use of the pipeline." He referred reports to Bullock in Amarillo.

One of the 85 "partners," as Bullock referred to the suppliers, is the Cabot Corporation.

Bullock said that discussion on the plant was so fluid that he could not determine just how many persons would be employed at the plant, should it be built.

"We have thought about starting with some seven full-time employees and going from there," he commented. "I know that such a plant would be a boost in the Panhandle area economy."

Pampa Chamber of Commerce officials expressed elation over the statement by Bullock.

"We have known about this for some two years and have done everything we can to attract these people to Pampa," a Chamber official said. "We will continue to work with Humble and the suppliers involved to assure Pampa the site for this plant."

The Chamber spokesman said landing the plant would "most certainly be a tremendous shot in the arm" to Pampa industrial growth and the economy.

Bullock said the suppliers involved planned another meeting in the next few weeks to firm up their plans on the plant and a statement would be forthcoming at that time.

Seventh Science Fair At PHS Starts Today

Pampa's seventh annual Science Fair was opened to the public at 1 o'clock this afternoon in the girls' gym at Pampa High School.

More than 300 exhibits by Pampa school children will be on public display until 9:30 o'clock tonight and again Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Judging of exhibits was held this morning from 8:15 a.m. until shortly after noon. Decisions of the judges will be announced in Sunday's Pampa News.

The judges included Cameron Marsh, high school principal, and Joe Page and Paul Payne.

Winners will compete in the Regional Science Fair to be held in Amarillo April 2-5.

Entries in the local fair are divided into group and individual exhibits in botany, medicine and health, zoology, chemistry and biochemistry, earth and space, math and computers and physics.

Entries have been made in the primary, intermediate, junior and senior high school divisions.

Mrs. Elaine Ledbetter, head of the Pampa High School science department, is director of the fair.

Members of the Tri-Sci Club of the high school are official hosts to visitors and other science fair committees include the following:

Awards — McHenry Lane, chairman; Sam Begert and Jack Nichols, publicity — D. V. Biggers, chairman; Mrs. Peggy Daniels and Mrs. Paul Keim, refreshments — Bill C. Cooper.

Man Charged In Wheeler Cattle Theft

WHEELER (Sp) — Charges of cattle theft from a sale ring near Shamrock were filed today by County Attorney Guy Hardin against one of two men held in a six-county theft ring.

M. J. Rogers Sr., 47, of Amarillo, who is being held in the Potter County Jail there, was charged with unlawfully taking seven head of cattle from the sale ring north of Shamrock on the night of Feb. 4.

Rogers faces charges in Potter, Stephens, Hansford, Brown and Comanche counties along with Thomas Jordan, 63-year-old self-styled cowboy who is known by police as "Rattlesnake Red."

The two men are being held in the theft of a total of 107 head of cattle in the six counties at a total value of more than $16,000.

Jordan is not believed involved in the Wheeler County theft, but Sheriff Bus Dorman said he planned to travel to Amarillo to question both men.

"If he is, we'll sure file on him," he said.

District Attorney Bill Waters of Pampa, who has been investigating the case since the arrest of the two men in Oklahoma Tuesday, said he would call a special grand jury meeting in Wheeler to present the charges against Rogers.

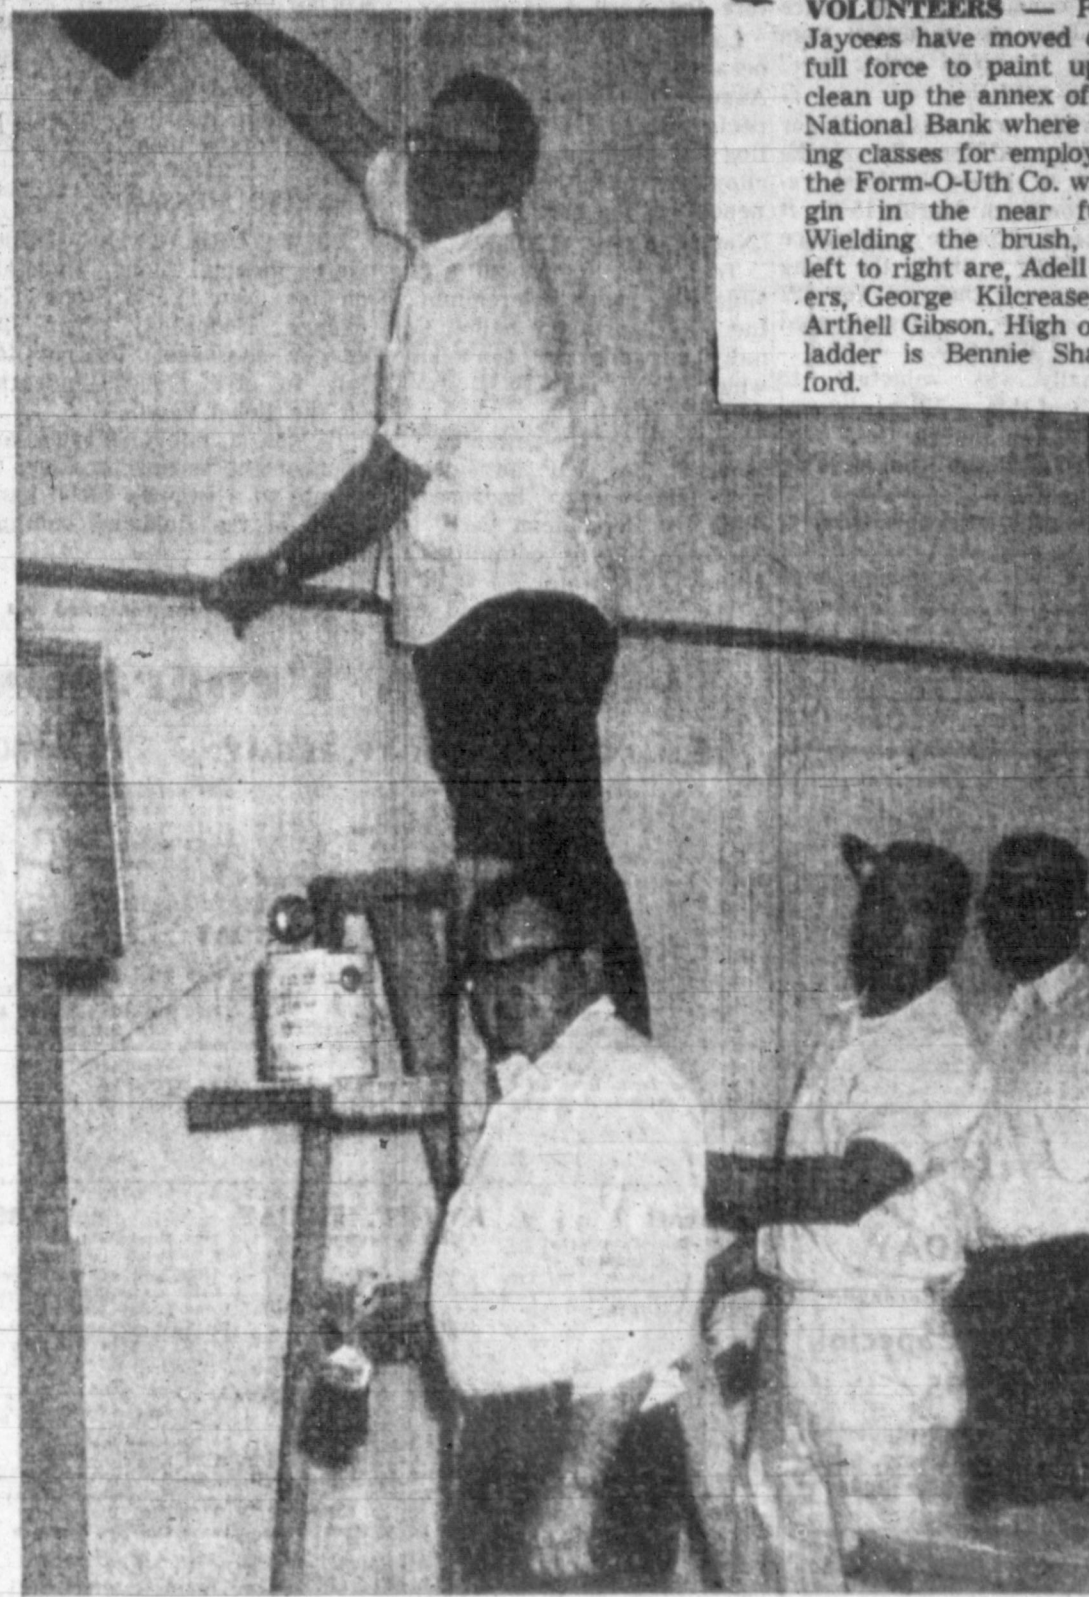

This was being done at the advice of the Potter County Grand Jury last week.

McLean Man Given Term

A 40-year-old McLean man was sentenced to two years in Huntsville state prison today after entering a guilty plea in the burglary of a saddle barn near McLean on Feb. 25.

John L. Ellison made the plea before District Judge Lewis M. Goodrich. District Attorney Bill Waters presented evidence for the state showing some four saddles and other riding equipment was taken from the W. C. Miller saddle barn at the Noel Ranch some seven miles north of McLean.

Ellison was arrested in New Mexico on a warrant charging him in the theft. He was indicted by the Gray County Grand Jury last week.

VOLUNTEERS — Pampa Jaycees have moved out in full force to paint up and clean up the annex of First National Bank where training classes for employees of the Form-O-Uth Co. will begin in the near future. Welding the brush, from left to right are, Adell Meyers, George Kilcrease and Arthell Gibson. High on the ladder is Bennie Shackelford.

FBI Ends CD Quiz in Hemphill

Investigation into alleged misuse of Civil Defense property in Hemphill County has been closed by the U.S. Justice Department.

No prosecution of parties involved will be sought, U.S. District Attorney Barefoot Sanders of Dallas, declared in a statement closing the federal probe which began Feb. 14.

Sanders said he was making the announcement for U.S. Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, who has written a letter to Hemphill County Attorney Jim Crow giving the same information to Crow.

Crow had brought attention to the civil defense issue to Kennedy in a series of letters which began in October of 1963.

"The FBI has completed its investigation into charges of misuse of Civil Defense property in Hemphill County, Tex., and has submitted a report of its findings to this office," Sanders said from Dallas, "as well as a report to the criminal division of the Department of Justice in Washington, at the request of Attorney General Kennedy."

"The purpose of the FBI inquiry was, of course, to determine if any federal criminal statute has been violated. Since the FBI report is highly confidential, I am not at liberty to discuss or disclose its contents," Sanders continued.

"However, I can say that the investigation revealed no proof of any federal criminal violation and accordingly, prosecution has been declined."

Sanders said Crow would receive a letter from Kennedy, which was mailed March 4, containing the same information.

"We were glad to look into this matter," Sanders said. "And commend Mr. Crow for his interest in seeing that the case be investigated."

Crow had charged irregularities by former civil defense director Harry Rathjen and Hemphill County Sheriff Walter Adams.

Contacted in Canadian, Crow said he would take the entire matter before the April term of the Hemphill County Grand Jury to seek state criminal action against parties involved in the case.

"I will confer with District Attorney Bill Waters of Pampa on Monday, March 9, at the Miami, Tex., courthouse where we will be conducting court cases," Crow said. "At that time, I hope to be able to present Mr. Waters with enough evidence to bring about a hearing before the grand jury in Canadian next month."

Crow said he had never been interviewed by FBI Agent Tom O'Malley of Amarillo who headed the Justice Department probe of the matter and failed to see the stand of the Department in closing the case.

"I have always felt this was a federal case, and that the government should take action. However, since this has happened, I feel it is incumbent on me and Mr. Waters to follow the state law and seek criminal actions against the parties involved."

Crow said he felt the entire matter would cause "severe political troubles" in the Panhandle area in the forthcoming election.

Adams had no comment to make on any action planned by Crow nor did he comment on Sanders' statement. Rathjen was unavailable for comment.

Waters said in Pampa he would be glad to talk with Crow about the case and study any information the county attorney might have with him on the case.

The Hemphill County term of District Court convenes April 13 with a new grand jury to be sworn in that time.

City Urged to Make Effort on Industry

Enlargement of Pampa's efforts to bring new industry to the city was recommended to the Chamber of Commerce directors and members of the chamber industrial committee at a meeting Thursday afternoon in Coronado Inn.

The recommendation came from James R. Bradley of the Industrial Research Department of Texas A&M University, who recently completed an industrial survey in Pampa.

Bradley made two outstanding suggestions. He said there should be a complete reorganization of the chamber's industrial program to establish an Industrial Foundation to work as the right arm in assisting the chamber's Industrial Committee.

This plan, incidentally, already is in operation. The foundation has been organized and teams are preparing for a fund drive.

Bradley spelled out a need for diversified industry to keep Pampa's industrial life thriving.

"Up to this point," he said, "Pampa has relied on natural resources, oil and gas, as its main source of industrial development. What is needed now is to branch out into other areas of diversified industry."

Bradley estimated that Pampa's population would grow to 41,000 by 1970.

Bradley also suggested that an enlargement of industrial efforts will call for spending more money. He recommended that a minimum of at least $3,000 additional be provided for industrial purposes in the year ahead. The chamber's present budget of $35,000 for that purpose needs to be increased, Bradley said.

E. O. Wedgeworth, chamber manager, said today the recent Facts Survey completed by Bradley and P. J. Shepard of the Texas A&M research staff will be used as a guide in setting up Pampa's industrial progress program.

Wedgeworth pointed out that the chamber's new Industrial Committee, headed by Hugh Burdette, will operate separately from the Industrial Foundation.

The chamber manager said the committee will seek out prospective industry and explain the advantages of locating here and what Pampa will do for these potential industries.

The foundation will assist with capital for buildings, leasing and the other problems of getting an industry established.

Chamber directors expressed their appreciation to Bradley for the industrial survey, said it already has been helpful and that they expected it to continue to be a source of useful information in attracting industry to the Pampa area.

Scout Exposition Opens Tomorrow

The Third District Exposition of the Santa Fe Boy Scout District will be held from 2 to 9 p.m. Saturday in the Cornelius Building, 315 W. Foster. The public is invited.

This will be a booth type display where Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers will be demonstrating scouting skills.

Display themes include first aid, pioneering, camp craft, Indian lore, hobbies and collections and handicrafts. Tickets may be purchased at the door — adults 50 cents, school children 25.

King Paul I Dies at 62

ATHENS (UPI) — King Paul I, whose courage and leadership helped beat back a Communist bid to seize Greece after World War II, died today in Tatol Palace. He was 62.

Constantine, Paul's 23-year-old son, was to be sworn in as King almost immediately.

Paul lost his struggle for life after an operation for a serious stomach ulcer Feb. 21.

A brief rally followed the four-hour operation. But the King's condition steadily deteriorated until it became apparent that it was only a question of time before the end.

Variety Show Set Tomorrow Night

A variety show, "The Death of Vaudeville," will be presented by students of Pampa Junior High School tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. to wind up activities of Public School Week. Seventy-five students will take part in the production which will include song and dance routines, tumbling feats, vocal and musical selections and comedy scenes.

Homer Krueger and Floyd Sackett are in charge of the production. Curtain time has been set for 7:30 p.m. in the junior high auditorium. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

McArthur OK After Surgery

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur underwent major surgery at Walter Reed Army Hospital today, and surgeons found no evidence of cancer.

MacArthur's gall bladder was removed in the operation conducted by a team of three top-flight military surgeons.

A hospital bulletin issued nearly four hours after the operation began said that MacArthur withstood the operation well.

The condition of the 84-year-old soldier was described as satisfactory.

Army Surgeon General Leonard Heaton, who headed the surgical team, said the operation showed that MacArthur was suffering from gallstones rather than a malignancy.

Connally Expected To Ease Campaign

By DAVID ANDERSON
AUSTIN (UPI) — Don't expect Gov. John Connally to campaign for re-election as vigorously as his fast-moving, 18-hour day effort to win the 1962 elections.

Not because of his wounds of last November, but more that Connally believes "the best politics I can do is to do a good job as governor." He will run a toned-down campaign this spring.

Connally told a news conference at the state capital

Wednesday that "unless circumstances change" he will stand against primary opponent Don Yarborough on his record as governor.

Conduct More Important
"My conduct of the office should be more important than anything I could say now," Connally said.

His right arm was no longer in a sling, and Connally said he expects to have the cast removed between March 15-20. It was the first public appearance by Connally without the sling since he was shot on Nov. 22 by the sniper who assassinated President Kennedy.

Connally was reluctant to talk about his political future, and repeated that he had "seriously considered" not seeking re-election.

On congressional redistricting, Connally said he has "never felt that we had enough hope of success to justify a special session" to set new boundaries.

Connally said he conferred with Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr earlier in the day about the state's appeal to a Houston federal court to delay redistricting until after the November elections. He said Carr plans to file the motion well before the April 1 deadline.

Looking to the national Democratic Party convention in August, Connally said he expects to lead the Texas delegation but does not expect to occupy "a position of prominence" at the convention.

Not In Favor of Rights Vote
To a question about a possible civil rights referendum on the May 2 primary ballot, Connally answered "I don't know what useful purpose it would serve."

Connally told newsmen he thought the GOP presidential poll unnecessary because "I think the Republican party and its leadership is committed to (Barry) Goldwater."

The governor also said estimates by Republicans that their primary would attract 300,000 Texas voters were exaggerated. He predicted a similar number to the 1962 primary, when Republicans drew 116,000 votes.

Both party state executive committees meet in Austin Monday, and decisions on what referendum questions to submit will be made then.

CRYPTIC MESSAGE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices were moving along smoothly on the New York Stock Exchange Wednesday when the cryptic message "its not too late to give blood" appeared on the ticker tape.

It was a public service announcement asking brokers to donate to a two-day blood bank drive in the financial community.

A 33-year-old druggist threw his hat into the Pampa School Board election at the last minute Thursday as deadline for candidates' filing passed.

Jack R. Hood, one-time board hopeful, re-entered his quest for a place on the board of trustees and became the fifth candidate for two seats which will be vacant this year.

Hood ran for a school board post four years ago and lost in his bid. The 12-year resident of Pampa said he was seeking a seat on the board "to give the people of this district as good representation as possible."

Hood is part owner of Miller-Hood Drug Co., coming to Pampa from Perryton. He is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma and a native of that state.

Hood is married and has two sons, ages 9 and 11. He is an elder in First Christian Church and active in civic affairs.

Hood said he would conduct a campaign based on issue as they develop between now and April 14, election date.

The druggist said he felt "all school board meetings should be open to the public and press except extreme cases where serious personnel problems must be worked out."

Hood said he has tried to stay abreast of school affairs while considering entering the race this year.

Seeking re-election to his present post on the board is John Gikas, while three others are attempting to fill another spot on the board which R. D. Wilkerson leaves this year. Wilkerson did not seek re-election.

Seeking this spot are Bill McDonald, E. E. Shelhamer and Joseph E. Reid.

The election will be held April 4 with voting to take place in Pampa Junior High gym, as in the past several trustee elections.

Pastor to Give Sunday Services
Dr. Douglas Carver, pastor of First Baptist Church, will be in pulpit for both worship services Sunday. His topic for the 11 o'clock service will be "Lazy People Punished" with the text taken from Zephaniah 1:2. The church choir, under the direction of Joe Whitten, will sing "Holy Art Thou" by Handel. Miss Eloise Lane, organist, will play "Andante" by Dubois for the offertory.

A goal of 1,212 has been set for Sunday School attendance this Sunday. Last Sunday seven departments reached their goals, and more will try to reach their goals this week. The Sunday School Improvement Clinic ended Wednesday evening under the direction of Jack Parker, with Dr. J. Earl Mead as the inspirational leader and speaker. The clinic has furnished inspiration to workers and members of the Sunday School to meet our attendance goal and to maintain a high standard of work.

The pastor has chosen "Good Tidings, We Dare Not Tarry" with the text taken from II Kings 7:9 for his 5 p.m. worship sermon. The Chapel Choir will sing "The Lord, My Shepherd Is" by Angell, and "In Remembrance" by Ogle will be the organ offertory.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities. We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

State School Textbooks

The State Textbook Committee not too long ago indulged in a practice which brought anguish cries from the "academic freedom" bloc. The committee rejected six books proposed for use in the state-financed public schools. All of them are in the so-called "social studies" group. The rejected books were charged with being socialist, which philosophy the committee deplores. At least we suppose they deplore it. They did throw out the books.

A number of years ago when almost nobody criticized the schools for the same reason nobody criticized Mom—a young history professor put a line in his textbook that raised havoc. Apparently nobody reads textbooks until they are put into the schools and a parent happens to leaf thru and leans to his feet shocked, horrified and amazed.

Anyway, this particular book contained one line which said, simply, that all socialism is not in bad repute in the United States because the public school system is the foremost example of socialism in existence.

All hell broke loose, and textbook committees who hadn't done anything in years except shake hands with publishers' representatives found out that maybe they ought to read them things.

Well, what the professor said was pretty much right. And how can a school system, based on one of the principal tenets of socialism, industriously root out of its textbooks any favorable reference to statism?

It is, indeed, a dilemma. In the case of the professor we mentioned, the usual scholastic compromise was made. He promised, in future editions, to eliminate the offensive sentence.

And the sore place healed up right away.

Dog-Gone Insurance

While neither rain nor sleet nor all the rest of it can do it, a dog often does. Stop, that is, the U.S. mail.

About 7,000 postmen are bitten by belligerent dogs every year. Many thousands more are threatened and intimidated by vicious or suspicious animals.

No more. The letter carriers are going to fight back with a new weapon—an aerosol spray can of dog repellent.

Under threat of attack by a dog, the carrier will deftly unclip the can from his belt and let him have it. The resulting yellowish spray is said to blind a dog temporarily up to a distance of 12 feet.

By the time the animal recovers, the swift courier is well away on his appointed rounds. Fido will think twice next time. The antidog spray will cost the department $90,000 annually, which is a lot of money going to the dogs. It's cheap, though, compared to the $1 million now spent every year on medical and hospital expenses, work time lost and compensation because of dog bites.

Flattery

More good men have been ruined by flattery than will ever be brought to earth by alcoholism.

Lyndon on Bobby

Lyndon Johnson, on the Senate floor July 28, 1956. "And now—Bobby Baker. I know I should refer to him as the secretary of the majority even as my heart says 'Bobby' instead. His quick intelligence, his tremendous fund of knowledge about the Senate, which is almost appalling in one so young, has kept the machinery of this side of the aisle working with smooth precision. Always present, always alert, and more than anything else, always understanding and persuasive with his wise counsel, I say to all of you here tonight that here indeed is a young man of rare and real promise."

Straight Talk

By TOM ANDERSON

CONSTITUTIONAL LIBERTIES GOING, GOING... By Tom Anderson

The so-called "Civil Rights" bill means that Big Brother takes over your life. The "Civil Rights" bill cancels more individual freedoms granted by our "out-of-date" Constitution than any bill ever before passed by Congress. It is a giant step toward dictatorship, toward a nationalized police force, toward an all-powerful centralized federal government, and away from state and local government.

Businesses will be required to go out and recruit Negroes or Protestants or Catholics, or Jews to end any "racial imbalance" or "religious imbalance," at any and every level, found by Federal inspectors. Farmers who refuse to correct the racial, "imbalance" of their work force will be excluded from every direct and indirect "Federal benefit." It is not clear whether this means the right to use Federal highways and to get Rural Free Delivery of mail.

Federal Control

Public establishments are prohibited from "discrimination." Every business which offers goods or services to the public is involved.

This bill covers all "establishments" where a substantial portion of the goods sold or used, or whose customers served have traveled in interstate commerce. This includes virtually every establishment, even Bobby Baker's apartments for deserving secretaries.

This bill gives the government blanket authority to call loans, withdraw the support of the FDIC, withdraw credit by the Federal Reserve or Federal Home Loan Board, to blacklist for undetermined periods banks, Savings and Loan Associations, contractors, realtors or any persons "participating in or benefiting from the program or activity." In other words, every major financial establishment in the country becomes not a private business institution but an institution to promote the social and political reforms of a totalitarian-type government.

Goon Tactics

Federal inspectors would overrule loan committees on who gets what loans and contracts, "to avoid discrimination." No judicial proceeding would be required. "Administrative procedures" would be used, just as our friend Castro uses them. Federal goons would be prosecutors, judges, juries, and executioners.

The so-called "genocide" clause in the Civil Rights bill gives to the President or to his appointees the right to withhold payment of veterans' benefits, social security payments, aid to dependent children, etc. from any one found guilty of "discrimination."

Basically Uncivil

"Extremist" Harry Truman says if anybody sat down in his store and refused to get up, he'd have 'em thrown out. And he'd be put in jail. Property rights are the essence of human rights. In the communist and socialist nations; property rights have been denied; human rights are minimized. The right to own and manage property is the essence of human rights. The right to discriminate and the right to choose is the essence of liberty.

A nation where businesses cannot choose their own customers will soon become a nation where customers cannot choose their own businesses.

This crime against our whole philosophy of liberty under the Constitution must not go unpunished. All who have had a part in trying to perpetuate this fraud upon our people should be denied all future paychecks. They should be impeached for ignoring or attempting to nullify clearly stated promises of the Constitution.

Allen-Scott Report

President Must Decide Whether to Aid Ray Revolution in Cuba; Advisors Split on Former Castro Minister

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Pres. Johnson faces a new thorny decision on Communist-ruled Cuba—that may be a lot tougher than countering Castro's cutoff of Guantanamo's water supply.

Manuel Ray, one-time minister of public works in the Castro regime and among the most controversial leaders of the Cuban exiles, proposes to launch a new guerrilla underground on the island and wants U. S. assistance. Specifically, Ray is seeking two things:

— Assurance that the U. S. will not interfere with his infiltration of fighting men and arms into Cuba.

— A steady flow of funds and weapons to support his combat operations when they get underway.

An avowed socialist, Ray announced last May he was organizing a new force that would "invade" Cuba within a year. Through emissaries, he has notified authorities in the State and Justice Departments and Central Intelligence Agency he is now ready to start infiltrating his troops.

Their number is placed as between 700 and 900. They have been undergoing rigorous training in Puerto Rico and Venezuela, where they have had the support of former President Betancourt. His recently inaugurated successor is reputedly also behind them.

Trained to operate in small guerrilla units, they will embark for Cuba from Venezuela and one other Central American country. Ray's plan is to follow Castro's successful tactic of infiltrating into the mountains of Oriente Province and striking from there.

Ray and most of his officers are thoroughly acquainted with this region.

BACKSTAGE SPLIT — In weighing Ray's potentially highly explosive proposals, President Johnson is confronted with sharply clashing views among his top advisers.

Foremost among the left-leaning Cuban exile leader's supporters are Attorney General Robert Kennedy, Defense Secretary McNamara, and important officials of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Secretary Rusk is strongly against Ray's venture. The State Department head argues it might escalate into a new dangerous confrontation between the U. S. and Russia. It is Rusk's contention the U. S. should limit its efforts to topple the Communist-Castro regime by economic and diplomatic measures—despite their patent ineffectiveness.

Still on the fence are two other key officials—CIA Director John McCone and Assistant Secretary of State Thomas Mann, in charge of Latin American affairs.

McCone is much concerned about the wide variance in CIA over Ray; with some officials vigorously favoring him and others equally against him.

Also, McCone is wary of Ray's past close association with Castro and his known radical economic views.

The fact that the Joint Chiefs of Staff also are chary of Ray is influencing McCone in withholding a decision regarding him.

Assistant Secretary Mann is keeping an open mind pending a thorough study of Ray's plans and background. Because of the President's confidence in Mann, his counsel is certain to be influential.

Under the late President Kennedy, Ray visited Attorney General Kennedy in his Washington home. At one time, he was widely credited among Cuban exiles as the Kennedy administration's favored anti-Castro leader. He still appears to have the confidence of the Attorney General and important elements in the Defense Department and CIA.

Whether they are enough to overcome the skepticism of Secretary Rusk and other high-placed authorities remains to be seen.

Siding with them in this wariness are rival refugee leaders who are critical of Ray on the ground he is a "dedicated leftist." Some who were on close terms with him are now active against him. They charge Ray's basic policy is "Castroism without Castro."

SEETHING CAULDRON — Senator George Aiken, Vt., veteran member of the Foreign Relations Committee, is privately warning that a revolution is "highly likely" in strife- and inflation-racked Brazil by Easter. Aiken has authoritative information that extreme leftists and rightists are busily arming in preparation for attempts to seize power.

Gamel Nasser, who is continuing to publicly threaten war in the Middle East, has secretly signed a so-called "technical assistance" agreement with Russia to provide equipment and scientists for an atomic center. This Inshas Center is to be built by the Soviet ostensibly for "peaceful purposes," but with no outside check to determine its true nature.

SECRET WRITE — IN CAMPAIGN — New Hampshire's widely touted presidential primary next week may turn out to be just as important for the Democrats as for Republicans.

Supporters of Attorney General Robert Kennedy are quietly conducting a well-organized and financed drive to pile up a big write-in vote for him for Vice President.

Democratic Governor John King, a strong Kennedy adherent, is reputedly masterminding this backstage campaign. Insiders are hinting that $100,000 is being put into it. Aim of this undercover drive is to boom the late President's brother for second place on President Johnson's ticket. The belief is that a big write-in vote

In 1947, the Supreme Court upheld a lower court ruling that fined John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers $710,000 for an illegal strike in 1946.

The definite purpose of these plans is to make his selection as running mate more or less "mandatory."

Key members of the Kennedy family will get together around Easter to talk over the political situation and possible plans and strategy. Slated to attend are Attorney General Kennedy, Senator "Ted" Kennedy, Mass., and Sargent Shriver, head of the Peace Corps and President Johnson's new "war on poverty" project.

This family council of war will take place at the Palm Beach home of former Ambassador Joseph Kennedy, ailing father of the late President.

WORDAFOOLERY

Editor: Sunlight filtered through the glass bowls of the gas pumps and cast a redish haze over the features of the blue-bibbed overall clad farmers sitting on the whittled benches in front of Spatanga's mercantile store.

The drone of the cotton gins' big motors sang out from across the road and the cool fall breeze wafted the acrid smell of hot lint and cottonseed into the nostrils of old man Merit Probit and my Uncle Gem Paragon as they sat huddled together rejoicing over the blessings of a bountiful crop.

These two staunch members of the Spatanga community were long-time friends and fine Christian gentlemen, though they attended separate churches built facing each other across Spatanga's one lane street. Their soft slurred voices were interrupted by the rackety voice of Spatanga's glutton, who was a boulder of ill-repute and a man of many vices.

"Ah will match you's fer a coke," rasped old Cram Guzzler. Uncle Gem Paragon looked up with annoyance and remonstrated. "Cram, you know very well that Merit and I do not gamble." Old Cram Guzzler gave what he hoped would be a disarming smile and answered, "Well now, Mr. Paragon, ah reckon ah knowed bout your belief against gambin, but shucks this here flippin' coin haint gambin, hits only a contest to see who buys the cokes, now shorly to goodness ye haint got airy a thing against a contest."

Old Merit Probit and Uncle Gem Paragon declined the invitation, but each of them made a mental note of the wordafoolery used by old Cram Guzzler and it wasn't too long until it became a common thing to see these two fine old gentlemen contesting each other for a coke. The same coons were flipped and the same rules applied but by word manipulation these two men had found a way to do something that had long been a temptation and now by wordafoolery they did it with self justification.

This tiny little drift away from morality seems to me to be symbolic of a dreadful trend the people of this country are taking.

Indeed, it is difficult to be sure what an elected official means when he uses such words as freedom, progression, liberal, poverty. It is also impossible to be sure what a politician means when he uses terms like, moving ahead, broadening our horizons, guaranteeing people their rights, etc.

As a matter of fact, we live in an age of wordafoolery, when any given word seems to mean what ever its user wants it to mean in order to justify what the user wants to do. Seems to me we have a communication problem because our high lines of morality have fallen down. In truth, we have many clever liars in our land, so clever that they believe their own wordafoolery.

SICK GIRL

Editor: I just got thru reading Bette Rooney's letter on your editorial page of March 2nd, and I would say that girl is really sick. If I was that sick I'd see a medical doctor. Yours very truly, J. Wade Duncan

Editor: The John Birch Society takes the position that most of the Administration's so-called "civil rights" program is in flagrant violation of the Tenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

The National Council of the Society, meeting in Boston, emphatically asserts that many actions being taken under the "civil rights" banner are a direct threat to both the person and property of every individual American, of whatever race, color, or creed.

The Society takes no position with regard to segregation or integration. It has both segregated and integrated chapters, in accordance with the wishes of our members in their respective communities. The Society believes that the serious questions involved in this racial problem should be decided by local or regional authorities, for the smallest practicable areas, and in no case by any unit larger than a state government. The Federal Government is strictly forbidden by the Constitution from either making these decisions or from using military compulsion to enforce them.

The Tenth Amendment is the keystone to our Bill of Rights, and it is explicit. Our Constitution could never have been adopted without this guarantee against the very usurpation of power in which the Federal Government is now engaged. The Tenth Amendment has not been repealed, and cannot be repealed by the Supreme Court, or the Executive Department, or even by the Congress—but only by the people themselves, acting through their state governments.

The Council urges every patriotic American citizen to reread the Constitution carefully for himself, and to enter into a gigantic moral crusade to insist that both the spirit and the letter of the Bill of Rights be observed by all public officials. The present course of this Administration, by substituting a government of men for a government of laws, is heading us straight for dictatorship and tyranny.

John S. Skelly Jr.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not incur wrath.)

QUESTION: "Is the tax cut really a cut in taxes or a shift of taxes into indirect taxes?"

ANSWER: We hope we are mistaken, but we are afraid that it will be simply a shift of direct taxes into indirect taxes. Most people do not understand the unseen taxes. They do not realize that one-third of what they pay for an item is for taxes. When the government shifts taxes or reduces direct taxes they are able to fool the people longer and keep in power.

It looks as if with all the plans that the government has of doing something for everyone that it is impossible for them to really reduce taxes. A real reduction in taxation, of course, would be a real blessing to mankind—it would enable every individual to spend more of what he earns in a way that will give him the most satisfaction. As it is, he doesn't have a choice when the government takes at least a third of what he produces from him, directly or indirectly. It is the indirect tax that fools those in the lower income brackets, because most of their taxes are indirect. Of course, they are in the 20 per cent bracket, and that is taken out of pay or other income so they really do not realize that they are being fleeced to that extent.

As long as the government believes in subsidizing all foreign nations, trying to take care of the so-called backward nations, paying the farmers for not producing, interfering with free and natural division of labor between nations as they are now attempting to do by putting a tax on foreign investments and as long as they make law that give organized labor power and privileges that other people cannot have, there is little chance of real tax reduction. It will just be a tax shift. It will throw smoke in people's eyes and keep them from seeing what is taking place.

Powder-room package is an easily made little gift for a hostess or for a housewarming. Box, basket and jar are decorated with roses cut from extra tissue boxes.

By KAY SHERWOOD

One innovation in packaging that deserves an appreciative word from casual homemakers is the use of plastic overwraps that carry the product message, leaving a decorative box beneath free of type.

Perhaps I'm over-enthusiastic about this trend because I am the casual type who never gets around to transferring facial tissues, for example, from their box to a decorative holder. Paper napkins are served in the box they came in.

Our use of paper products, especially during the cold and hay fever season, is conspicuous consumption at its most obvious. And facial tissue boxes, necessary as they are, don't add much to the decor.

With the message-imprinted plastic overwrap or sleeve removed, you can have a pretty box that stays "out in the open." Products packaged in this way include facial tissues, paper napkins, candy, stationery and cosmetics. Box decorations include flower prints, sampler motifs, modern art, folk art.

Emily Cole, stylist for paper products (Hudson) was inspired by these new packages to design a "powder room package," which might be used as a "thank you" to a hostess. Or, it would make a wonderful house-warming memento.

Matching powder room accessories are made with the aid of sharp scissors, epoxy-type glue, shellac and decorative boxes. If the rose motif is your favorite or would suit the powder room color, save rose-decorated boxes and cut out the motifs carefully, using sharp scissors to avoid ragged edges.

Glue some to a square glass jar which you can fill with rosebud soaps. Glue some to a clear plastic box which you can pack with cotton balls or individual powder puffs. Buy a small white wastebasket and add a sprig of roses to this.

Shellac the glued-on motifs to protect them from moisture. Pack the items and a matching box of tissue into the wastebasket, wrap in clear plastic and top with a pink rose, real or fake.

Tile: Foyer

Of all the materials that go into a home, none is subjected to rougher wear than the flooring, particularly around the entrance and foyer. That's why more architects and builders are specifying materials like ceramic tile for these areas. Ceramic tile is durable, attractive and easily cleaned.

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE BRANDSTADT
"A little learning is a dangerous thing," said Alexander Pope many years ago. Now a Midwest doctor says, "A Little Sickness is Good for You."

This is the title of a new book by Dr. H. S. Benjamin, who supports his thesis by citing the case of two elderly patients who each got pneumonia in a winter epidemic. They were about the same age, height, weight, and build. Prior to their pneumonia, both were in good health, yet one died a few hours after developing this disease and the other made an uneventful recovery.

Why did these two persons react differently to the same disease? Dr. Benjamin believes it is because the survivor had all the usual childhood diseases early in life, and a few more thrown in for good measure as an adult. The other patient had been coddled all of his rather inactive life and had experienced remarkably few bouts of illness.

I am not one to advocate being foolhardy, and would certainly not suggest that anyone court "a little sickness" in the form of any of the communicable diseases for which effective immunization is now available. But there are still plenty for which such protection has not been found.

It is possible that a few bouts with the common cold and other diseases give us an ability that we would otherwise lack, to deal with subsequent infections.

The worst feature about coddling, however, is the enforced inactivity and the negative outlook on life it engenders. It is not necessary for us to go out of our way to look for "a little sickness." But if we spend our lives in fear of it, we will not be in shape to handle a big sickness when it comes.

Q—What is the difference between cerebral palsy and infantile paralysis? Both campaigns feature crippled children.

A—The term "cerebral palsy" is applied to a group of paralytic conditions that are present from birth or early childhood. The cause in many cases is prolonged labor, delay in getting the baby to breathe, and brain damage incurred during delivery. The underlying cause of these factors, however, is often hard to determine. In other cases the cause may be prematurity or severe hemorrhages of the mother during pregnancy.

The manifestations are varied, and include rigid paralysis or limp paralysis of one or more limbs, or inability to make co-ordinated movements.

Infantile paralysis or poliomyelitis, on the other hand, is an infection of the spinal cord caused by a virus. It is not congenital but may be acquired at any age and results in a limp or flaccid paralysis of a group of muscles.

When it affects an extremity there is marked wasting of the muscles supplied by the involved nerves. When it affects the diaphragm the victim cannot breathe without the aid of an iron lung.

Dear Abby....

Why Should SHE Be Hurt Because He's Dependent?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of an engagement where the couple has to sneak around like thieves to meet secretly because the boy's parents are opposed to the marriage, and he is afraid to face them with the facts? He swears he loves the girl, yet he has never taken her to a public place, and they have been going together for over a year. She has studied and gone to classes for months to take his religion, but, on Sundays when she sees him in church with his parents, he doesn't dare even to look in her direction. This girl could have her pick of many other boys, but she just sits home and waits for him to sneak away and see her. She is so in love with him it pains me to see her hurt like this. How can I help her?

THE GIRL'S MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: You do not mention their ages. Or his educational or financial status. This is of utmost importance. If he is still dependent on his parents, announcing his engagement to a girl of whom they disapprove would end all help from them. If he loved the girl enough, and were a man, he'd do just that, and find a way to make it on his own. He is obviously unwilling, unable — or no man. Do your daughter a favor and tell her she is cheapening herself.

DEAR ABBY: My wife has started to talk so loud she is driving me crazy. When I remind her to tone down she starts to speak in almost a whisper, but before long she is yelling again. What should I do? We've been married almost 30 years.

GOING CRAZY
DEAR GOING: Take your wife to a doctor who specializes in disorders of the ear. She could be suffering from a hearing loss and not know it.

DEAR ABBY: What would you have done in a case like this? My daughter-in-law had a birthday coming up, so I asked her in my most pleasant tone, "What would you like for your birthday, dear?" She looked me right in the eye and replied, "Give me the money instead, Mother. Your taste is atrocious!"

STRUCK SPEECHLESS
DEAR STRUCK: I'd have given her a "taste" of an ignored birthday.

CONFIDENTIAL TO EDNA: Yes, I write all my own answers. A ghost writer hasn't a ghost of a chance with me.

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Indoor Gardening
Windowsills, countertops and other level surfaces, if covered with a water-proof and scratchproof material such as ceramic tile, serve beautifully as settings for plant pots and boxes.

POLLY'S POINTERS

DEAR POLLY — After months of trying to open baby food jars by tapping, holding under hot water and so on, I wrote a letter of complaint to a manufacturer. They suggested the use of rubber gloves while removing the caps which really solved the problem for me. I hope they will help the aching wrists of other young mothers. Those of you who hate dishwashing and have not yet discovered rubber gloves will find they make that job more pleasant and enable you to use hotter water which, in turn, is more sanitary.

DEAR POLLY — Those people who have footstools that slip out from under their feet should measure the legs at the base and buy four rubber cone or crutch caps. They really work. I thought they were rather unsightly, even though useful, before painting them with gold paint. They covered very easily and a 19-cent can of paint did the job.

DEAR POLLY — We all know that the linings of coats and suits first show wear under the arms. At the first sign of wear, I sew dress shields at the armholes and my coats look good as new as long as the rest of the lining holds out. White shields can be dyed to match colored linings and the black shields can go in black coats. —MRS. J.P.K.

GIRLS — If you prefer covering these newly added dress shields with the same fabric as the coat lining, turn the sleeves wrong side out and cut away the lining from about one inch below the underarm seam and about three or four inches above the cuff. Cut a pattern from this, allowing for seams, and replace the section of sleeve lining with other fabric the same color. Even when the coat is thrownback over a chair, the replaced sleeve lining will not show. I have removed printed silk from a coat sleeve lining and covered a pillbox hat to complete the costume. No one was the wiser. —POLLY

New C. S. Lewis Book Reflects Relationship of God and Man

Religion in America
By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International
C. S. Lewis was a shy man who hated publicity so much that he sometimes hid in the closet when reporters came to interview him.

It was thoroughly characteristic that he made his exit from his life on a day when the world press could give him little notice. He died late Nov. 22—the day President Kennedy was assassinated.

I've been waiting ever since for an appropriate occasion—a "peg" as newspapermen say—to pay tribute to the witty Oxford don whose widely read books helped to make Christianity a live option for modern intellectuals.

The peg is now at hand in the form of Lewis' last book, published posthumously by Harcourt, Brace and World under the title "Letters to Malcolm: Chiefly on Prayer."

The format of the book—an imaginary correspondence—will remind many readers of "The Screwtape Letters," the delightful piece of satire which established Lewis' reputation as the 20th century's most articulate "apostle to skeptics."

But "Letters to Malcolm" is a very different kind of book. This is Lewis in the twilight of life, reflecting on the relationship between man and God as he has experienced it.

Discovers Pain
In 1961, pain ceased to be an abstraction to Lewis. His adored wife died a lingering death of cancer. It was a shattering experience for him, and his reactions to it are movingly recorded in a little book called "A Grief Observed" (Seabury Press) which he published under the pseudonym, "N. W. Clerk."

"Letters to Malcolm" refers obliquely to "the terrible days" of his wife's illness, and the great anxiety which gripped his soul, and made it difficult to pray. "Some people feel guilty about their anxieties and regard them as a defect of faith," Lewis writes. "I don't agree at all. Anxieties are afflictions, not sins. Like all afflictions, they are, if we can so take them, our share in the Passion of Christ."

It is clear that Lewis did learn to take his afflictions in the spirit of Christ, and even to give thanks for them. In one of his final "Letters to Malcolm," he muses that "most of the real good that has been done to me in this life has involved suffering."

New Classes Started At Central Baptist

Desiring to minister to the needs of all its constituents, Central Baptist Church has begun a new work. In a recent study they discovered that there were many teen-agers who were members of this church who have recently married.

Last Sunday two new classes were created in Sunday School especially for these newlyweds. Teacher for the girls is Mrs. Wayne Cobb. The boys are taught by Mr. H. A. "Buck" Muns. There are wonderful prospects for these two classes. At least 42 married teen-agers are eligible for these classes in Central Baptist Church.

Attending services of worship should be a regular part of a person's weekly activity. An experience of worship strengthened one for the days ahead. Central Baptist Church majors on providing such an atmosphere and program for this experience.

Following Bible Study at 9:45 the Morning Worship begins with a period of Organ Meditation at 10:30 with Mrs. Hugh Sanders at the organ. At 10:35 Richard Johnson, Minister of Education, takes a few moments for promotion and reports. Just before 11:00 the choir leads the congregation in a Choral Call-to-Worship. From then until the close of the service every part is designed to lead a person closer to God. Such an experience can be yours.

Pastor, T. O. Upshaw, will preach at both services Sunday.

Churchwomen Attend Meeting in Lubbock

Four members from the local Council of United Church Women attended the State Assembly held at Lubbock last month.

Attending from Pampa were Mrs. William West, St. Matthew's Episcopal; Mrs. Carl Shaffer, First Methodist; Mrs. Jerome Henry, St. Mark's Methodist and Mrs. S. T. Friend, First Christian.

The First Methodist Church was the host church and the assembly lasted for two complete days with three sessions a day scheduled.

Highlights of the program were: "What Do You Hear," by Dr. William E. Pasewark, Head of Business Education Department, Texas Tech; "The Ministries of the Church," Chaplain, Maj. Gen. Robert P. Taylor, United States Air Force, Washington; "Beginning a New Decade," Mrs. Theodore F. Wallace, National President, United Church Women.

In 1854 the State of Texas purchased 1,280 acres of East Texas Big Thicket at $2 per acre.

Chicago Man to Give Lecture at Church in Pampa

God's requirements for happiness will be explored in a one-hour Christian Science lecture here Monday.

Roy J. Linnig is the speaker, under sponsorship of First Church of Christ Scientist. It's a public lecture, and will be given at 8 p.m. in the church at 901 N. Frost St. Title of the lecture is "The Science of Happiness."

He left this position several years ago to devote full time to Christian Science practice. He is currently on tour as a member of The Christian Science Board of Lecturers.

The Bible Lesson at Christian Science churches this Sunday will explore the question from Psalms (8:3), "What is man, that thou art mindful of him?" Golden Text: "God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him" (Genesis 1:27).

One of the major themes will be these lines from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The understanding of his spiritual individuality makes man more real, more formidable in truth, and enables him to conquer sin, disease, and death" (p. 317).

Invitation Extended By Highland Baptist

Beginning with the Sunday School at 9:45 Highland Baptist Church invites one and all to attend the services. The adults will continue a series of lessons centered around personalities that came in contact with Jesus during his short life on this earth.

Morning Worship begins at 11 promptly with the choir and congregation singing of the Call to Worship under the direction of Roy Harper, minister of music and accompanied at the instruments by Mrs. Edith Beighle and Mrs. Ann Winegeart. MMRS. Beighle will also render the special music by singing, "If I Had a Thousand Lives, I'd Live Them All For Jesus."

For his scripture Rev. Allison will read from the 16th chapter of Revelations, verses 10-21. The title he has chosen for his sermon is "The Last Three Vials."

The evening worship period begins with choir rehearsal at 5:30, followed by the Training Union Hour and class for new members at 6:30, and the Evening Worship at 7:30 p.m.

Rev. Allison will continue a sermon in the series taken from Ephesians which he began sometime ago. The scripture is found in Ephesians 3:1-21 and the title of the sermon is, "Why Paul Preached to the Gentiles."

Rev. Allison will resume teaching of the mission book, "The Ministry of Vocation," once again this Wednesday evening during the regular Officers' and Teachers' Meeting time at 6:45 p.m., followed by the Prayer Service at 7:30 p.m. This is our regular time for Business Meeting.

Lamar Minister Takes Text From Matthew, Acts

Loren E. Williams, minister at Lamar Christian Church, will speak Sunday morning on "Two Stories of Scorching Hell." These stories are to be found recorded in Matthew 23:1-3 and in Acts 5:1-11. The thesis of this message is "Good outstanding citizens seldom lose out by doing what is wrong, but by failing to do what is right."

The Sunday evening worship will center around the sixth in a series of messages on the Words from the Cross. This Sunday the Word is "It is Finished" found in John 19:30. Preceding the evening service the functional committees of the church will meet at 5:30. Chi Rho Fellowship, which regularly meets at this hour, will be dismissed in order that our youth can meet with their respective committees. On Monday night there will be a meeting of the Deacons beginning at 7:30 and on Wednesday evening we will continue our weekly visitation beginning with a brief meeting at the church at 7:30.

The minister will be in District Cabinet meeting in Amarillo Tuesday morning. There will be a Bi-District Institute for Daily Vacation Bible School workers in Plainview First Christian Church Thursday March 12.

The Miracle of Complete Mastery is the title of the Morning Sermon at First Presbyterian Church.

The pastor, Donald S. Hauck, will use the 6th Chapter of John's Gospel as the text for the sermon at both the 8:45 and 11 a.m. Worship Services. Ruling Elder Roy Sparkman will assist in the worship and the choir will sing "Surely He Hath Born Our Griefs," from the Messiah by Handel, at the 11 a.m. service with Mrs. George Budd singing "Calvary" by Rodney, at the 8:45 a.m. service.

The Pastor's Class for Inquirers will continue at 9:45 a.m. during the Church School Hour. All are invited to attend this class which meets in Kelley Chapel.

At 5:30 p.m. the Young People will be served a snack supper followed by Youth Fellowship and Evening Worship. The pastor will bring the Evening Worship Service at 7 p.m.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

A. E. BURNS, PASTOR
BARRETT BAPTIST CHURCH

"We Preach Christ Crucified"

The Bible is the text book for us as we present God's message to the world. It tells us that we are to preach Christ and him crucified.

First, we are to preach the Person of Christ. The question was asked in the bible, and I ask it now, "Whose Son is He?" Was he Joseph's son? Was he the illegitimate son of a Roman soldier, or was he God's Son? The angel said to Joseph, "That which is conceived in her is of the Holy Ghost. Some may ask the importance of this question, and I will answer that all our hopes for life everlasting depends on Jesus being the Son of God. It is not enough for him just to be "a good man."

For him to pay for man's sin, he had to be perfect, without sin, holy in every way. No mere man has that qualification. Yes, I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God, born of a virgin.

Second, we are to Preach the Purpose of Christ. Christ crucified is our message, so his purpose was to be crucified. He said "For this very cause come I into the world." He did not come to start a new religion. He came to carry out the old. He did not come to do with the law. He came to establish and to fulfill the law's demand. He did not come admitting that prophecy had failed, he came to fulfill that very prophecy. He did not come to call the righteous, He came to call sinners to repentance.

All of God's purpose is centered in Christ and him crucified. All of the past, all of the future, and all of the present.

If you believe in the Person of Christ and the Purpose of Christ, will you now put your trust in the Power of Christ and receive Him as your Lord and Master?

John 1:12 "As many as received Him, to them gave He power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name."

MYRON SCRIBNER — The burly griddier will be one of four weightmen competing for Pampa in the Canyon Reef Relays tomorrow.

Harvesters Take 14 Haltom City Plays Today

The Pampa Harvester track team has had their pride hurt and woe betide anyone who crosses their path from here in!

Although not saying so in as many words, coach Norm Phillips indicated that the Harvesters thin-clads were seeking revenge on somebody, anybody, for last week's debacle at Fort Stockton, in which they were unable to score a single point.

"We just weren't in shape," he had almost no chance of practice because of the weather. "I said before the meet that it was going to be almost impossible to beat these southern clubs who had had several weeks of warm weather work out in."

"We're in a little better shape this weekend," opined the Pampa pipe-puffer. "We're far from completely in shape, it takes me and we haven't had that much time, but we'll be in better shape for the Canyon Reef relays. We should stick around for the finals this time."

Phillips is taking 14 athletes to the meet at Snider tomorrow, the one of the deepest field event squads the Harvesters have had at a meet in several years. Teddy Bird will compete in the high jump, Hank Perry in the pole vault, Carl Johnson and Myron Scribner in the discus, Phil "Russian" Learner and Big Billy Quarles in the shot put, and Red Griffith and Little Butch Crossland in the broad jump.

Hurdler Wayland Bullard and half-miler Mark Westbrook will be the top threats in the running events, with Crossland in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, Griffith in the 100, Randy Johnson in the hurdles, Davy McDaniel in the 100 and 220 and Jimmy Jamieson and San Williams in the 440. Crossland, Griffith, Jamieson and McDaniel will probably make up the 880-yard relay team.

Holladay Plans Grid Scrimmage For Tomorrow

A full-scale workout under game conditions will be unveiled for Pampa football fans tomorrow afternoon beginning at 2:30 at Harvester Stadium.

Chimexing the second week of spring training, some 50-odd future Harvesters will display their wares for next season. Head coach Otis Holladay explained that this would not be a regular Green 'n Gold intrasquad game, but a scrimmage instead, with all players being put through their paces.

Holladay explained that due to six of the returning regulars being at the track meet, at Snider, the Harvesters would not have an intrasquad game. "We feel that with the boys needed at the track meet, we should hold off a regular intrasquad game," explained "Happy" Holladay. "Track is as important a part of our physical education program as football, and if the track team will be materially strengthened by their participating in the meet, that is the most important thing."

We are planning to schedule the regular Green 'n Gold game for next Friday night, so that the trackmen can play in the game and run at the next day's track meet as well.

Holladay urged the public to come out and see what next year held in store for Pampa football, both tomorrow afternoon and the following Friday night. Tomorrow's scrimmage will run approximately three hours, closing about 5:30.

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Big-city schools swing into action today in the Texas High School Basketball Tournament. Dallas Adamson plays San Antonio Lee and Haltom City (Fort Worth) meets Houston's Stephen F. Austin.

Other games in Class B, for the smallest schools, matched McAdoo vs. Frankston and Hawley vs. Hutto's Hippers.

Triple-A teams got going Thursday night with a strong South San Antonio team upset by Graham in a tight contest that saw the lead change eight times. Graham went ahead to stay with 3:44 left and won by a 47-42 margin.

Clear Creek took a 69-60 triumph from Kilgore in the other AAA match. Jimmy Dale Lenox led the victors with 30 points.

Easy To Finals
Canyon and Lancaster easily won their way to Saturday's finals in Class AA in other games yesterday. Canyon breezed past Sour Lake 58-42 while Lancaster subdued San Diego, 69-53. The losers play for third place.

Class A contests yesterday saw Talco defeat Sanford-Fritch 77-61 and Henrietta come from behind in two overtimes to edge East Chambers 64-63. Finals between Talco and Henrietta also are set for tomorrow.

In a pair of Class B games yesterday, Hutto downed Wall 88-61 and Frankston beat Celeste 71-52 as the winners took the lead and held it.

The championship games Saturday will run from 9 a.m. with the Class B finale, to 8:25 a.m. when Class A's top teams tip-off. Finals in AA follow the B game, while the AAA game is 2:30 p.m. and the AAA at 7 p.m.

High Scoring Highs
Graham's Mike Lochner and South San Antonio's Philip Dugger both scored 26 points in the game between those teams. Graham led at the half 21-19, but the score was tied 32-32 going into the fourth period before Graham pulled ahead to stay. Lancaster's Gregg Beasley dumped in 29 points and his teammate Larry Kunz hit 17 against San Diego. The losers were led by Walter Reyna with (See HALTOM, Page 10)

McLean Track Set for Relays

McLEAN — Coach Derral Davis is a busy man. In addition to plunging without pause from football to basketball to track, Derral has just completed all but a few minor touches on one of the biggest projects in McLean history — a first-class track to host tomorrow's McLean Relays.

Davis mopped his sweating brow and admitted that it has been a lot of work. "We've gotten through just in time, working through dark these last few days, but we're going to have one of the fastest and finest tracks in the Top O' Texas."

David explained that the project, practically a community and civic affair as McLean firms and citizens donated their time, support and money, took only three weeks. "A lot of teams didn't enter this meet because they didn't think we could get done in time. With the co-operation of the people of this community, we are not only done, but we won't even have to ask the coaches to keep the watch or be judges at the meet, as they usually have to do."

The first McLean Relays will have a relatively small field, due to the lateness of invitations being sent out and many schools already committed to the Greyhound Relays at Gruver. "Next year we'll have everything done, even down to the curbing and the topsoil on the infield, and we plan to have 20 to 24 teams in the meet."

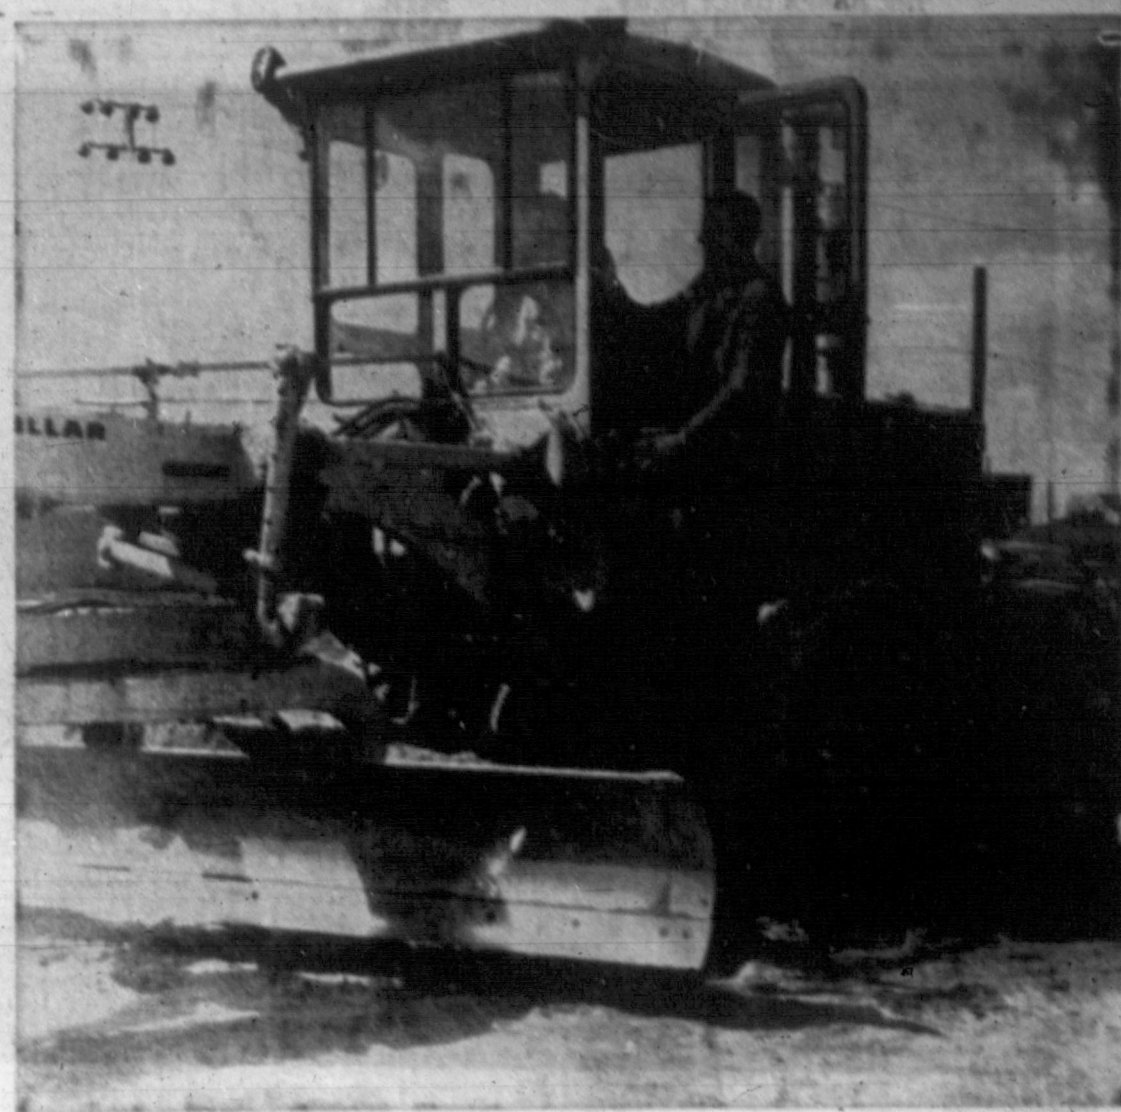

The first annual relays, which will really have an emphasis on relays, with five team events listed, will have 12 teams competing. Pampa B, Wheeler, White Deer, Wellington, Memphis, Clarendon, Turkey, Mobette and Briscoe will take on host McLean.

"Miami may enter the meet too," reported Davis. "Coach Bill Hines wasn't sure whether his boys were ready yet, but most of the others have been handicapped by weather and aren't in much better shape, we may be able to talk him into it. Sanford - Fritch had to cancel out due to being in the state basketball playoffs. Lefors also cancelled out, they were going to split the team and take half to Gruver and send half here, but decided that they didn't have enough boys ready for two meets."

On the basis of pre-season reports, Wheeler, which returns almost all of last year's track team, in contrast to most of the rest of the area, must be considered a strong favorite. "Wheeler will be the favorite in the dashes, the 880 relay and the low hurdles. Memphis will push them in the short races however, and Wellington has overall team depth and could take enough points for the title. White Deer has graduated most of last year's great team, but have some of their good field and distance men back. They're sending 25 boys and also could win out on depth. Pampa could be a threat, a 4-A B team is always a dark horse in a smaller school meet."

None of the other schools is figured as a powerful contender, although Mobette's one-man gang, Big Ray Corcoran, will bid for individual honors as he is entered in five different events.

SMOOTHING IT OUT — McLean track coach Derral Davis climbs down from the cab as Joe Graham puts on the finishing touches to the new McLean Relays track.

TT'S Denney Only Junior On All-SWC

DALLAS (UPI) — Texas Tech's Harold Denney was the only junior to break into the otherwise all-senior makeup of the 1964 United Press International All-Southwest Conference basketball team.

Denney, along with the league's one-two-three scoring punch of Rice's Kendall Rhine, champion Texas A&M's Bennie Lenox and Southern Methodist's Gene Elmore won their mythical honors hands down, but there was a spirited voting battle involved in filling the fifth spot.

It was finally won by Rhine's Rice teammate, Herb Steinkamp — one of the league's most underrated players, by a one-point margin over a pair of talented sophomores and by five points over still another soph.

Three Are Unanimous
Elmore, Lenox and Denney were unanimous choices of the panel made up of UPI sports writers and university sports publicity directors, while Rhine — the team's tallest man and the loop's leading scorer — lacked only two points of unanimity.

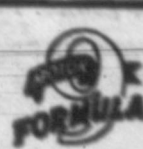

SMU's Jim Brockman and the Texas tandem of Joe Fisher and John Paul Fultz were selected unanimously. (See DENNEY, Page 10)

Hunter, 5-11, 178-pound full-back and linebacker, has been a starter on the football team since his freshman year. He led the Mustangs to 10 straight wins this past season, topping the team in scoring and in yardage gained. He was named

Deadpan Derrith Welch Really Humorist at Heart

By JEFF COHANE
Pampa News Sports Editor

McLEAN—Most basketball fans consider All-State Derrith Welch of McLean a distant figure . . . first because of his towering six feet, six inches of height, and secondly, because of the complete lack of expression on his face when he is engaged in action . . . a look very similar to that of Bret Maverick when holding four aces and a joker.

The funny part, however, is that "Deadpan Derrith" is the "joker." Beneath the poker face is a ready, engaging smile that is apt to burst loose when least expected, and beneath that calm exterior is, as teammate Eddy Jay Windom puts it, "a real crazy sense of humor."

Derrith is an extremely skilled basketball player . . . one of the finest ever produced in the Top O' Texas, as proven by his accomplishment in not only being the only area player to make an All-State basketball team in any classification this year, but in being one of those rare stars who made it twice. But, more than that, Derrith is a likeable, friendly and extremely intelligent youngster. The height is due to heredity, all his family being tall. The intelligence may be due to the same source, his father, N. L. Welch, being Superintendent of Schools at McLean. . . . but the smile and the personality are strictly Derrith.

Located in the calisthenics room, where he was working out on weights to put more poundage on his 78 inches, Derrith broke out in a smile, quickly suppressed it, and began answering questions as fast as they were fired off.

Always fairly tall for his age, Derrith did not become unusually so until the summer after his freshman year, when he shot up from six foot to 6-4 before his sophomore year was out, adding an inch in each of the last two years, when the growth seems to have stopped. Height is a family trademark on both sides, his father being 6-2½, his mother 5-8, and "uncles on both sides who make me look short."

Derrith has always been a basketball lover, sticking principally to that sport since seventh grade, although going out for track in his sophomore and junior years. Aided by the coaching of Derral Davis, who was quick to recognize his great ability, Derrith averaged 26 points a game as a junior to make the all-state team, and became probably the leading scorer in the state this year as he averaged over 33 points a game. His greatest performance was at the Samnorwood Tournament, when he racked up consecutive totals of 45, 42, 43 and 39 points a game. His lowest production has been 23.

In addition to being a prolific scorer, Derrith has become a ferocious rebounder, averaging between 15 and 20 a game although on an extremely tall team overall. Welch has out-rebounded and outscored such rival all-stars as 6-7 Jack Johnson of Quitaque and 6-7 Wade Crook of Sanford-Fritch.

Coach Davis points out that while most big men make their points on an overwhelming number of shots, Welch's accuracy is fantastic for any size player. "We didn't keep game individual shooting charts," says the also-towering Tiger mentor, "but Derrith never hit less than 50 percent of his shots, usually closer to 75, even when he was double-and-triple teamed and forced outside. Realizing that a big man draws lots of fouls, Derrith has spent a tremendous amount of his own time in the gym working on free throws, so that he hit 90 percent of them as a junior and over 85 percent as a senior, which won us a lot of ball games."

Derrith admits to having been contacted already by about 30 colleges throughout the nation, including just about every major Southwest school. "I don't know yet where I would like to go," the tall youth said thoughtfully, "but I think I would like to go out of state and see a little of the rest of the country."

Women's Day to Be Observed

Women's Auxiliary Day will be observed Sunday by the Pentecostal Holiness congregation at 1700 Alcock St. According to the pastor, Rev. R. M. Marsteller, a special program is being planned for this event.

Churches throughout the United States and Canada will be spotlighting ministries of the official women's organization, the Woman's Auxiliary, on this day.

Since its organization on a national scale more than 18 years ago, the Woman's Auxiliary of the Pentecostal Holiness Church has experienced steady growth and development. Its program embraces worship, study and activities which include missionary, benevolent and educational projects.

Mrs. Pete Marek of 912 S. Banks is the president of the local chapter.

Sunday School will convene at 9:45 a.m. with classes for all ages. The women will be in charge of the Morning Worship Service at 11. Rev. Marsteller will be in charge of the Evangelistic Hour Sunday night at 7:30 and will speak on the subject "The Desperate Need." The Gospelairs Trio will provide special music.

Key Club Wins Top Award in Contest

Key Club International, high school boys' service organization sponsored by Kiwanis International has won a top award in the annual Freedom's Foundation Americanism competition, according to Don Lane, president of the Pampa Kiwanis Club. The local club sponsors the Key Club of Pampa High School.

The award which was presented to Kenneth Cohen, 17, of Ewing Township High School, Trenton, New Jersey, came for Key Club's 1963 theme, "Fulfill Freedom's Challenge."

Dr. Kenneth D. Wells, president of the Freedom's Foundation, made the presentation.

Key Club International, which comprises approximately 67,000 high school boys in 2700 U.S. and Canadian high schools, was cited as follows: "Sixty-seven thousand high school young men adopted an eight point program which stressed strengthening spiritual growth, preserving our common heritage and ideals, putting democracy on the offensive, inspiring intelligent leadership, stressing higher moral standards by promoting mental and physical fitness."

BEE-STING PROVES STORY

LISBON (UPI)—Police were lenient Wednesday with Rui Lima Simoes, 32, an office clerk whose auto swerved and hit a large truck on the road. Simoes blamed the accident on a bee which flew in his car and stung him on the face. The case was dismissed against him because he had a bee-sting to prove his story.

RETURNS VISIT

MISHAWAKA, Ind. (UPI)—Coolidge Benson is getting a little tired of uninvited guests—especially John A. Bella. Last July a car driven by Bella hit Benson's home hard enough to put Bella in the hospital for 10 days. Bella hit the same house again Monday and was hospitalized in fair condition.

Lawmakers Hit On Charter Try

AUSTIN (UPI)—Opponents to applicants for a new savings and loan association in Waco Tuesday criticized two state senators who are seeking to get the new charter approved by the State Savings and Loan Commission.

Pat Beard of Waco, lawyer for opponents to the application, charged in a motion to postpone the hearing that state Sen. Murray Watson of Mart was using his "senatorial position" in an attempt to gain the charter.

Beard also criticized state Sen. Charles Herring of Austin, chairman of the Senate Nominations Committee, when Herring appeared at the hearing and said he also represented the applicants.

The post of commissioner of the agency has been vacant since January when veteran commissioner Ray Benson died. A new commissioner is expected to be named March 28 when the State Finance Commission meets. The appointment would have to be confirmed by the state Senate.

Acting commissioner Jar O. Gerst took the application which was filed by Watson, an examiner for the commission, recommended the charter be denied because another savings firm in Waco would create excessive competition.

Watson holds $25,000 of permanent stock of the proposed First State Savings Association and would serve as secretary-treasurer. The senator makes his home in Mart, but practices law in Waco.

Watson and other supporters testified that Waco's population growth was sufficient to support a new savings firm.
