Basin, Inc., Wins Another Round In FEA Battle

Basin, Inc., a crude oil marketing firm with headquarters in Midland, has won another round in its efforts to gain the right to compete with other crude oil marketing companies.

The Temporary Emergency Court of Appeals in Washington, D. C., Thursday denied a motion by the Federal Energy Administration to dissolve a federal district court injunction which Basin obtained against the FEA Oct. 6

Judge D. W. Suttle of the federal district court in San Antonio issued an injuction then forbidding the FEA from interfering with 15 crude oil purchase contracts made by Basin in September after the Federal Petroleum Allocation Act expired Aug. 31.

A spokesman for Basin said this morning the injunction was sought in order that Basin might obtain crude oil and compete with other crude oil marketing companies whose right to purchase crude had been locked in and protected in December 1973 by an FEA regulation.

He stated that the regulation had prohibited Basin from being able to competively purchase oil from the producers.

In issuing the Oct. 6 injunction, Judge Suttle found that the FEA regulation, as reinacted by Congress Sept. 29, raised certain constitutional questions.

The action taken by the Temporary Emergency Court of Appeals Thursday means that the injunction in favor of Basin will remain in effect pending the determination of the constitutional questions by the Temporary Emergency Court of Appeals.

The law under which the FEA issued the regulation, dealing with selling to historical purchasers, is due to expire again Nov. 15 unless Congress enacts additional legislation extending oil price and allocation controls under a gradual decontrol program which has been urged by President Ford.

Yates Completes Dual Discovery In Eddy Sector

Yates Petroleum Corp., Roswell, N.M., has dually completed as a Wolfcamp oil and Morrow gas discovery, its No. 1-EF Stonewall-State Communitized, seven miles northeast of Carlsbad.

Calculated, absolute open flow from the Morrow was for 137,182,000 cubic feet of gas per day, producing through perforations at 11,250-11,258 feet.

Earlier, it was reported completed, with a final flow gauge of 17.6 million cubic feet and 80 barrels of 55.3-gravity distillate.

The Wolfcamp gauged a 24-hour flowing potential of 300 barrels of 43-gravity oil, through a ½-inch choke and perforations at 8,800-8,908 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 2,067-1.

Drilled to 11,478 feet, it has 5½-inch casing set at 11,380 feet, total depth.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 30-20s-28e, 1¼ mile northwest of Morrow production in the Burton Flat field.

Wildcat To Start In Borden Region

D. B. Baxter of Midland has scheduled an 8,500-foot exploratory test in Northeast Borden County, 12 miles northwest of Fluvanna. It is No. 1 Miller.

Dorchester Stakes Mitchell Projects

Dorchester Exploration, Inc., operating from Midland, has staked as wildcats, two new projects in the vicinity of its No. 2-A Spade, Mitchell County indicated discovery, 25 miles southwest of Colorado City.

Both are scheduled to 4,050 feet, and are in section 11, block 18, SPRR survey.

No. 4-A Spade, one location southwest of No. 2-A, is 2,200 feet from north and 1,700 feet from east lines of the section.

No. 5-A Spade, a southeast offset to No. 2-A, is 2,300 feet from north and 467 feet from east lines of the section.

Well number was amended to 2-A for the former No. 1-18-11 Spade, which indicated production in an unidentified zone with the pumping of 33 barrels of oil in 24 hours, through perforations at 3,732-3,747 feet, after it had been acidized with 1,000 gallons.

It was drilled to 7,800 feet, and has 4½-inch production string set at 4,007 feet.

Dorchester also has amended well number for its No. 1-18-33 Spade, to No. 1-A Spade, and rescheduled depth at the project

Turkish Envoy, Chauffeur Slain On Paris Street

PARIS (AP)—Gunmen assassinated Turkey's ambassador to France today, the second Turkish envoy slain in Europe in 48 hours. The ambassador's chauffeur also was killed.

There was speculation that Greek, Greek Cypriot or Armenian terrorists might have been behind the attack, but no group immediately claimed responsibility.

A high ranking police official in Vienna, where the Turkish ambassador was assassinated Wednesday, said today's killing in Paris appeared to confirm the theory than an international terror group was at work.

Paris officials said Ambassador Ismail Erez, 56, was riding in his limousine on Quai Kennedy near the Turkish Embassy when the shots were fired.

Police quoted witnesses as saying that two or three men opened fire on the Turkish envoy's car as it neared the Bir Hakeim Bridge over the Seine River. They said the men then ran across a footbridge leading to the Rue Alboni on the right bank of the river and disappeared.

The car was going down the ramp leading from the bridge to the quai when the gunmen opened up. The chauffeur was killed instantly.

Police said that Erez was returning to the embassy, where he also has his living quarters, after a reception when the gunmen fired on his Mercedes. The attack occurred at about 1:30 p.m.

In Vienna, police have been untble to find the assailants or determine the motives in the slaying of the Turkish ambassador, Danis Tunaligil.

Conflicting reports at the time of the Vienna shooting indicated the gunmen could be Greeks, Greek Cypriots or Armenians.

Greece and Turkey have long been at odds over the Mediterranean island of Cyprus, which has a minority population of

ON CRITICAL LIST — The tree is gravely ill. This pecan tree in Midland County's Bicentennial plaza suffered a traumatic experience during construction of the plaza this year. Charles Green, the county's agricultural extension agent, said construction stress and sudden changes in temperature caused the tree to defoliate early. But with pruning and care, the state tree may recover. Green said the concrete plaza surrounding the tree cut down on the tree roots' surface exchange of gases.

Daylight Time Going Out This Sunday

When time drops back an hour on Sunday, it's unlikely most of the city's population will wait up until 2 a.m. to turn their clocks back.

Even Midland's official time keepers will likely wait until sometime during the day to make adjustments as Daylight Saving Time reverts to Central Standard Time once again.

Vern Dawkins, maintenance engineer at the Midland County Courthouse, will flip the reset switch on the Bicentennial clock tower on Sunday, but that won't take place until Sunday's daytime hours.

Officials at Citizens Savings and Loan Association and Midland National Bank will make the time stand still, in effect, for an hour during the day also.

The annual switchover, traditionally on the last Sunday in October, will result in daylight coming an hour earlier.

By the time the schedule converts again to DST it will be lawn-mowing season, the reason for the Daylight Saving Time in the first place, according to one sage observer.

"The reason they have it is so hard-working husbands can come home after a day's work and mow the lawn."

The time change Sunday also will mean that estblishments serving alcoholic beverages will be open an extra hour, according to Maj. Wayne Gideon of the Midland police force.

United Way People-Operated Business

By DEBBIE PIERCE

The United Way of Midland is a people-operated business with the goal of seeking to build a better community through service to people by people who care.

"Last year 38,824 individuals were touched directly by United Way agencies," Marilyn Van Petten, UW executive director, said. "People benefit from these 19 agencies without even realizing it."

Mrs. Van Petten said that 93.6 per cent of the total funds allocated to the United Way agencies remains in Midland. The agencies operate year-round because people need services and help year-round, she added.

"One of the things many people don't understand is that the money raised one year will be allocated and spent the next year," Mrs. Van Petten said. "That's why the figures given in our brochures don't equal the goal we've set for this year — because those figures were from the 1975 goal.

"Also from the total, we have a pledge-loss reserve in case an employe changes jobs or changes his status after having paid part of what he'd pledged. The pledge would then have to be cancelled," she said.

The executive director said agencies submit their request for funds each month. They state their needs and anticipated income and ask United Way to supply the difference. UW volunteers conduct a year-round drop-in visitation program in which the agencies are visited regularly to prove they are performing well and using UW funds as they had originally stated. She said, "The volunteers act as watchdogs of the community requiring the agencies to give an accounting of themselves. If necessary, agencies not meeting the set standards may be cut off from their funds."

Mrs. Van Petten said only 8.4 cents of each dollar is spent for administration and campaign costs. The national average is 11-15 per cent, she added. Last year, volunteers contributed over 361,750 hours in the various programs; if they'd been paid just minimum wages, salaries would have been $759,675.

"A lot of people give the excuse they gave at home when we ask them to contribute to UW," the executive director said. "But United Way has no door-to-door solicitation. Others say their husbands gave at the office, but if a wife is gainfully employed also, we ask her to give her share because the agencies provide a better community for all of us."

Mrs. Van Petten said the United Way is trying to become more involved in long-range community planning. She said volunteers attempt to work closely with governmental agencies so no duplication of services occurs.

Mitchell Denies Being Told Of CIA, FBI Mail Openings

WASHINGTON (AP) —Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell denied under oath today that he ever was told about mail openings conducted by the CIA and FBI.

"In the best of my recollection, I was never told that anyone was carrying on a mail opening program," Mitchell told the Senate intelligence committee.

His statement conflicted with earlier sworn testimony by former CIA Director Richard M. Helms who told the committee he briefed Mitchell on the mail opening program in 1971.

Appearing in the same caucus room where he testified before the Senate Watergate committee more than two years ago, Mitchell acknowledged that he had discussed the subject of mail with Helms but that "I understood what he was talking about to be a mail cover operation," a legal procedure.

Helms has testified that during the 1971 meeting he showed Mitchell intelligence items which could only have come from reading another person's mail. "It is my testimony that I never knowingly saw the contents of any letter that was opened," Mitchell said.

According to Mitchell, Helms had come to see him "primarily about another subject" and that the CIA's mail program had figured only briefly in their 22-minute meeting. Mitchell refused to disclose the primary subject of the meeting, saying that it had never before been made public and that he had discussed the matter with Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., vice chairman of the committee.

Franco Improves Slightly

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Gen. Francisco Franco, Spain's iron-fisted 82-year-old leader, is fighting back after two heart attacks and has improved slightly after suffering a relapse, his doctors said today.

The 11 physicians attending Western Europe's last dictator said signs of heart failure noted 24 hours earlier had been reduced, and that "progress from his coronary illness continues its normal course."

Premier Carlos Arias Navarro canceled a cabinet session today that had been expected to start the legal process to retire Franco and install Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon as chief of state and Spain's first king in 44 years.

Schools Win Second 'AA' Bond Rating

The Midland school district has won a second "AA" rating for the sale of $4.2 million in bonds to air-condition 20 school buildings.

Standard and Poor's Corp. notified the district Thursday that its rating has improved from the previous "A" rating to "AA."

Another rating firm, Moody's Investors Service, Inc., Tuesday awarded Midland schools the "AA" rating.

School officials earlier had traveled to New York City to give presentations to the two companies in efforts to improve the bond rating, thereby increasing the chances of a better interest rate for the bond sale.

The sale is set for 2:30 p.m. Tuesday in the board room of the district's administration building.

House Panel Approves Bill Cutting Taxes Further

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taxpayers with annual income in the $10,000 to $30,000 range would get most of the added benefits next year under a tax-cut extension plan moving ahead in Congress.

And most people would end up paying less taxes next year than this year, if the Ways and Means Committee's plan is eventually signed into law.

For example, a single person earning $15,000 and paying $2,559 this year would pay $2,315 next year, while a married couple with two children and taxes this year of $2,590 on their $20,000 income would pay $2,420 next year.

The committee's package includes $12.7 billion in individual tax cuts compared to 1974 levels, or about $2.6 billion more than the tax cut in effect this year.

President Ford's proposals call for $20.7 billion in personal tax cuts compared with 1974, plus a spending ceiling. He suffered a defeat Thursday when the panel voted against linking the cuts to a ceiling.

Ford has vowed to veto any tax cut that is not accompanied by a spending ceiling. But committee Chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore., told reporters, "I just don't see how the President can veto it."

Next week, the committee takes up business tax cuts. The goal is to get a bill to the full House for a vote next month.

By 21 to 16, with all 12 of the panel's Republicans and four Democrats in dissent, including former Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., the committee approved the plan for 1976 individual tax cuts.

On Oct. 6, Ford proposed sweeping away that temporary law and replacing it starting Jan. 1, 1976, with a permanent series of tax cuts linked to a matching reduction in federal spending. He called for a $395-billion lid on such spending for the fiscal year beginning next Oct. 1.

For 1976, Ford's total general tax cut package was $27.7 billion — $20.7 billion for individuals, $7 billion for business. The committee's is $15 billion — $12.7 billion for individuals, the rest for business.

Both the committee's and Ford's tax-cut proposals would distribute the tax reduction roughly the same way among various income groups.

The committee's plan would:

—Make permanent the 1975 law's temporary hikes in the minimum and maximum standard deductions. The minimum one is called a low-income allowance, the maximum one is used by taxpayers who do not itemize deductions on their tax returns.

—Only for 1976, create a new tax-credit system to replace this year's $30 across-the-board 1975 tax credit for every taxpayer or dependent for whom the taxpayer claims the current $750 personal exemptions.

That $30 credit would be replaced by a credit of 2 per cent of the first $12,000 of a taxpayer's taxable annual income. Taxable income is the amount left after a taxpayer claims all deductions and exemptions.

Under the new system, for most taxpayers there would be a maximum tax credit of $240 per return.

Chances Grim For New York City Loan Guarantee

By MIKE WATERS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, considering $6 billion in loan guarantees to New York City, said today the panel will vote out legislation but that it might not contain the loan-guarantee provision.

Sen. William F. Proxmire, D-Wis., made the statement as the committee mustered a quorum. There had been indications the panel would be unable to work on the loan guarantees because senators were hurrying to start a long Veterans Day weekend.

Proxmire said the committee's attitude is to avoid bailing out banks and bondholders — while maintaining essential city services in case of default.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., told reporters chances are "grim" for getting loan guarantees for New York City. An attitude against New York City has arisen "from a general dissatisfaction we've had in this country against big cities," Javits said.

Still, the senator said, some form of legislation to aid New York City has a chance of passing without President Ford's declaration that he will sign it.

Ford has said repeatedly that he opposes federal help for the city without action by New York showing its fiscal responsibility. And that, Ford has said, would make federal bailout unnecessary.

The loan guarantee measure lost the key support of Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III on Thursday night and that appeared to doom any hope of the measure being approved by the panel.

Stevenson had voted with the committee majority earlier in the week when the panel decided on a 7 to 6 vote to consider the aid measure.

But the Illinois Democrat changed his mind Thursday night, saying he would not vote to send the $6 billion plan to the Senate floor.

Committee Chairman Proxmire, a prime force behind the aid proposal, conceded that Stevenson's change of mind appeared to doom the bill. He said he doubted the committee would "act finally on it since there isn't a majority" in favor of the measure.

Proxmire said that means the panel must consider providing standby aid to maintain essential city services in the event of a city default or take no action at all.

Proxmire said Stevenson's decision appeared final. "He said he wouldn't vote for guarantees now or in the future," Proxmire said.

But a spokesman for Stevenson said later that while the senator is not willing to vote for the bill in its present form, he wanted time to work out an alternative that might include some kind of loan guarantee.

Meanwhile, Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, told the House economic stabilization subcommittee that he does not plan to recommend that the federal government provide financial assistance to New York, although he admitted that a city default could impair the nation's economic recovery.

Time Changes Sunday

said, the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission has told him the law is based on the official time for closing at 2 a.m.

And since 2 a.m. Sunday will arrive an hour later, late night drinkers can imbibe an hour longer.

Meanwhile, an effort to retain the current eight-month Daylight Saving Time schedule for two more years is under way in the Senate, just days before regular time resumes Sunday.

Unless Congress passes the bill introduced Thursday, it will resume on the traditional six-month schedule next April, The Associated Press reported.

Daylight time was extended from six months to a full year in early 1974 in an effort to conserve energy, and last October Congress approved an eight-month experiment for 1975.

The Transportation Department has recommended that the eight-month plan be approved again. Sen. Adlai Stevenson III, D-Ill., introduced the bill to retain such a schedule for two more years.

Stevenson said approval of the bill, which would cause Daylight Saving Time to resume next February, would allow the department to continue to study the impact of the eight-month schedule.

The full year of Daylight Time drew criticism from parents who complained "fast time" was forcing their children to leave for school during hours of darkness.

Americans in most of the nation will have to turn back their clocks one hour to resume regular time on Sunday.

The change will occur in all states and U.S. possessions except Hawaii, Arizona, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands, American Samoa and a portion of Indiana which is on Eastern Time. Those areas do not observe Daylight Time.

Portugal Forces Put On Full Alert

The moves followed a series of bombings in Lisbon aimed at moderate left-wing officers and civilians and because of "increasing reports of planned sabotage within the barracks," a spokesman for the military security forces said.

There were no injuries in the bombings.

Gen. Otelo Saraiva de Carvalho, chief of the Continental Operational Command — COPCON — and head of public security forces, conferred in emergency session with other military commanders.

The alert order was given by Carvalho's office as was a warning that right-wing forces may "possibly" be planning a nationwide terror wave. That warning was greeted with some skepticism by civilian politicians, however.

Scheduled for later in the day in the northern city of Oporto was a meeting of representatives of the radical left military movement "United Soldiers Victorious" — SUV — which seeks a reformation of the armed forces and an alliance with the working classes.

It was to be held at the same artillery barracks where earlier this month SUV members mutinied against the regional military commander.

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Libya transferred seven American jet fighter planes to Turkey last month in circumvention of the American arms embargo, a top State Department official has acknowledged to Congress.

The supersonic Northrop F5As initially were sold to Libya by the United States in 1967 with the standard U.S. rule against transferring them to a third country. As a result, Assistant Secretary of State Robert J. McCloskey said the U.S. Embassy in Tripoli has lodged a protest with the Libyan government.

However, McCloskey said in a letter to Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal D-N.Y., that Turkey has not breached any legal obligation in accepting the planes. He said the United States would take the transfer into consideration in dealing with any Libyan requests for arms in the future.

Given Turkey's grave concern that its air defense is being incapacitated by the U.S. embargo, it is not surprising that Turkey has sought to procure military equipment from other sources," McCloskey said in his letter, a copy of which was obtained by The Associated Press.

McCloskey's letter said the State Department hopes Congress will act quickly to permit restoration of U.S. defense arrangements with Turkey. He said the planes were transferred without U.S. approval or advance knowledge.

Congress earlier this month partly eased the arms embargo it had imposed on Turkey for using American weapons in the 1974 invasion of Cyprus. The first half-dozen of 24 Phantom jets approved for delivery to Turkey were shipped off this week.

Meanwhile, U.S. Ambassador William Macomber will begin negotiations in Ankara next Tuesday with Turkish officials on a new defense agreement. Turkey took over 26 U.S. bases last July in retaliation for the embargo.

Police May Resume Negotiations

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Striking police backed down some from their hard-line stand early today and said they were ready to resume negotiations with the city as soon as they receive a 10 per cent pay raise recommended by a board of arbitration.

A spokesman for the Fraternal Order of Police said the FOP had dropped its demand that City Manager Howard McMahan and City Personnel Director David Falk be fired before policemen would consider returning to their jobs in this city of 370,000 persons.

There was no immediate response from the city, but McMahan had said previously city officials were ready to sit down and discuss the issues at any time.

Motorists said traffic was normal during the morning rush hour today, despite the walkout of almost the entire 599-member police force.

Mayor Patience Latting urged city residents to remain calm. Police Chief I. G. Purcer, who with tears in his eyes had told cheering policemen outside City Hall, "I understand why you had to do it," told a 3½-minute emergency City Council meeting Thursday night that with state and county help, more police cars were on the streets than was normal for a Thursday night.

What amounted to the first police strike in the city's history began Thursday after the officers had participated in a work slowdown which began Tuesday, just after the council rejected the 10 per cent pay raise and instead offered 7½ per cent.

Barred by state law from striking, all but 16 of the force turned in their badges to McMahan. The nonstriking officers, state troopers and sheriff's deputies were patrolling the city, which is larger in area than Los Angeles and almost twice the size of New York.

Among those who threw their badges onto McMahan's table was Patrolman Byron Wood, who was wounded by a shotgun blast Sept. 20 while trying to make an arrest. Six fellow officers carried his stretcher up several flights of stairs to McMahan's office.

U.N. Celebrates 30th Birthday

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations is 30 years old today, and one of its founders said while it hasn't been a spectacular success, it hasn't been a dismal failure either.

Foreign Secretary Carlos P. Romulo of The Philippines said the U.N. Charter's principles of international cooperation are "unassailable" but some of its provisions need restudy.

"We don't have the machinery for peacekeeping operations," he complained.

Now 74, with a career as diplomat, soldier, newspaperman and educator, Romulo was chairman of the Philippine delegation at the San Francisco conference that wrote the charter from April 25 to June 26, 1945. It became effective the next Oct. 24 — U.N. Day — when a majority of the 51 signers had ratified it.

Romulo pointed out that only one other foreign minister attending the current U.N. General Assembly was also present at the San Francisco conference. He was Andrei A. Gromyko, then an assistant to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, while Romulo was ambassador to the United States.

Gromyko, 66, came to New York for the opening week of the three-month assembly session and returned to Moscow.

Romulo was his country's ambassador to the United Nations from 1945 to 1955 and was president of the 1949 General Assembly.

Asked about the American complaint that nations of Asia, Africa and Latin America get together and exercise a "tyranny of the majority" in the Assembly, Romulo queries, "How can there be tyranny when the powerful oppose?"

He said the majority in the Assembly is checked by the big-power veto in the Security Council and added, "I think the veto is necessary; it's essential."

Asked if he thought the United Nations had a future, Romulo replied:

"When Adam was courting Eve, and Eve was resisting, Adam said to her, 'Is there another?'"

Council Discusses Schools

An estimated 65 persons discussed issues involving the Midland public schools with school officials Thursday evening at a meeting sponsored by the Human Relations Council.

Meeting in the parish hall of Guadalupe Catholic Church were the residents of the Washington De Zavala, Crockett, Pease and Milam elementary school areas.

Representing the schools in the neighborhood meeting were Dr. James H. Mailey, superintendent of schools; Garland Chapman, assistant superintendent for administrative services; Lois Roger, coordinator for elementary English; Romeo Canales, De Zavala principal, and board members Gilbert Tompson, Wallace Craig and James Ramsoure.

Discussion centered around the open classroom concept, bilingual education and integration as affected by the ruling of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The meeting was sponsored in conjunction with the Texas Committee for Humanities and Public Policy.

Lubbock Man Arraigned On Shooting Spree Charges

PANHANDLE, Tex. (AP) — A Lubbock man has been arraigned here on charges of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon and aggravated assault with a motor vehicle following his arrest in connection with a shooting spree by a sniper Wednesday night on Interstate 40.

One man was wounded, shot in the leg, and a woman was injured when her car was pushed off the road by the car of the man doing the shooting.

Robert Carlton, 48, was arraigned Thursday before Justice of the Peace C. H. Bell who set bond at $25,000 on each of the charges.

The shooting began late Wednesday near a rest stop five miles west of Conway in West Texas and continued to the edge of Groom, a community near here.

Carson County Sheriff's Office spokesmen said Martin Britton, 53, of Groom was treated and released at a Groom hospital for a gunshot wound in the leg.

Susann Warner, 25, of Butler, Pa., received slight injuries when her car overturned. She told police she was forced off the highway by a man who caught up to her after he had fired several shots at other cars.

Four cars were hit.

Authorities said deputies were sent out on a search for the sniper after a driver called them using a citizens band radio.

Deputy Frank Whitehead said the shooting spree ended when Carlton's car overheated and he had to stop at a service station. Deputies drove into the station behind him.

Whitehead said a .22 caliber rifle and a box of ammunition was found in Carlton's car.

He said the sniper "started passing the vehicles and shooting. He shot at two cars and then bumped the girl's car with his. She lost control of her car and it rolled over.

Turkish ancestry and a Greek majority. Turkish forces have occupied the northern part of Cyprus since July 1974.

A man claiming to represent the "Armenian Liberation Organization" telephoned The Associated Press in New York on Wednesday and said, "I wish to inform you that we take credit for the Vienna action." Police and a number of Armenian groups in New York said they had never heard of the organization.

The Armenian region formed a large part of the old Ottoman Empire and is now divided among Turkey, Iran and the Soviet Union. Armenians were subject to widespread persecution at Turkish hands early in this century.

Mrs. Billingsley Dies At Lamesa

LAMESA — Annie Belle (Loftin) Billingsley, 73, of Lamesa, died Thursday in a Lamesa hospital after a brief illness.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Church of the Nazarene in Lamesa with the Rev. Jerold R. Lake, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Lamesa Memorial Park under the direction of Branon Funeral Home of Lamesa.

Mrs. Billingsley was a native of Oklahoma. She moved to Lamesa 46 years ago and was a lifelong member of the Nazarene Church.

Survivors include the husband, Tom Billingsley; seven sons, Austin Loftin of Stockton, Calif., Ed Loftin of Berryville, Ark., Wilmer Loftin and Homer Loftin, both of Chicago, Ill., Edward C. Loftin and Hichard Loftin, both of Denver, Colo., and Winford Loftin of Lamesa; four daughters, M. Reba Young and Mrs. Mary Pogue, both of Lamesa, Mrs. Alta Fay Rhodes of Cuero and Mrs. Anna Marie Worrell of Taft; 21 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Woman Injured; Suspect Charged

McCAMEY — A McCamey woman allegedly was hit by a car Wednesday night, the sheriff's department said.

Jimmy Frank Beaver, 28, was arrested in Fort Stockton by county deputies, a spokesman said.

Beaver has been charged with aggravated assault. Bond was set at $25,000.

Clara Mopley of McCamey is listed in satisfactory condition, an Odessa Medical Center spokesman said. She suffered multiple cuts and bruises.

Rites Held Today For S. J. Davis

BIG SPRING — Services for Stanley J. "Jack" Davis, 55, were to have been at 4 p.m. today in Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home with burial in Trinity Memorial Park.

Davis died Wednesday in a Big Spring hospital.

Survivors include three sisters, Mrs. Portia Boardman of Big Spring, Mrs. W. W. Barker of Midland and Mrs. Alice Kay Bayer of Los Angeles, Calif., and two nieces.

Lebanese Army Intervenes, Slows Beirut Fighting

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Army intervention reduced street fighting in Beirut today, but the government radio said Christian and Moslem gunmen were still kidnaping motorists on several highways despite the presence of army tanks and security checkpoints.

Security officials said both sides had exchanged many kidnap victims, leaving 40 unaccounted for. They included two American Embassy employes believed held by leftist Moslems.

"Flying roadblocks" set up by fast-moving bands of armed men kept most Beirut residents indoors today, although street battles tapered off to scattered clashes between two Christian and Moslem neighborhoods and some sniper fire in the downtown banking district.

Police reported 11 persons killed during the night, and they said they had found nine bodies in battle zones that had become quiet. Fires destroyed five furniture, aluminum and plastics factories in the eastern suburbs, with damage estimated at more than $10 million.

Engine Failure Downs Airplane

A Cherokee Arrow airplane piloted by George Steding suffered a power loss and made a forced landing in the mesquite two miles southeast of Air Terminal at 11 a.m. today.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Childs were passengers aboard the plane, but were not injured. No damage occurred to the airplane.

Lopez Infant Dies At Lamesa

LAMESA — Mary Elizabeth Lopez, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lopez of Lamesa and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albino Vara of Midland, died shortly after birth Thursday in a Lamesa hospital.

Graveside services were to have been at 10 a.m. today at Lamesa Cemetery with the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Jerome Vitek, pastor of St. Margaret Mary's Catholic Church in Lamesa, officiating.

Survivors include a brother, Marcus Anthony Lopez of Big Spring and paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Flavin Lopez of Patricia.

Society To Hear Dr. Greenwood

Dr. Morris E. Greenwood of the Tall City Animal Hospital will be the guest speaker Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. when the Humane Society of the Permian Basin holds a meeting in the Commercial Bank & Trust building.

The meeting is open to the public.

Jaycees Plan Halloween Event

LAMESA — A city-wide Halloween carnival for youngsters will be held Oct. 31 at the National Guard Armory under the sponsorship of the Lamesa Jaycees, Jaycee-ettes and the Retail Trade Committee of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce.

Highlighting the event will be the presentation of prizes for the best spook costume in the costume and jack-o-lantern contest.

Events will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a parade around the city square. Booths at the carnival will include a dart throw, cake walk, shooting gallery, duck pond, tic-tac-toe, fishing pond, ping-pong pond, ping-pong ball pitch, ring toss and football throw. Local civic and religious groups will sponsor each booth, and admission to all activities is free.

Halloween movies will be shown until the carnival concludes at 10 p.m.

First Family Healthier

WASHINGTON (AP) — One year after her breast cancer surgery, First Lady Betty Ford has been given a clean bill of health. The President has resumed work following his illness, but was to take it easy for several days as he prepares for a visit from Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Ford is almost recovered from his four-day bout with a cold and sinus infection. Ford met Thursday with advisers to discuss domestic issues and the State of the Union message he will deliver in January.

White House officials said Ford would spend a leisurely weekend in preparation for Sadat's visit next Monday and Tuesday.

White House physician William Lukash said Mrs. Ford "is in excellent health" following a physical examination Thursday, which found "no indication of any cancer recurrence."

Mrs. Ford, 57, underwent a mastectomy on Sept. 28, 1974, for removal of her cancerous right breast and has since been under chemotherapy.

Mrs. Ford also was reported to have caught a slight cold early in the week, but recovered quickly and substituted for the President at two events.

Church Plans Activity Fair

An "Activity Fair" placing emphasis on the upcoming Advent season will be held Saturday at Trinity Presbyterian Church, W. Louisiana St., and Andrews Highway.

The fair, open to all persons interested in making Advent and Christmas more meaningful, will place emphasis on such things as music for the Advent season, creative writing for the season, and family worship. The making of Advent wreaths, Chrismons, puppets and candles also will be demonstrated. Registration fee for the fair, which begins at 10 a.m. and continues through 2 p.m., will be $2. Lunch will be available Saturday noon at a nominal fee.

You breathe 7,000 to 10,000 quarts of air daily.

Prouty Services Set At Waco

Services for Les Prouty, retired Midland businessman, will be held at 4 p.m. Saturday in Oak Lawn Cemetery at Waco, under direction of the Newnie W. Ellis Chapel. Prouty died in his home here Wednesday.

Pallbearers will be Johnny Marwell and Al and Mike Zimmern, all of Dallas; Archie and Randy Chamness, both of Cisco, and Michael Rockwell of Midland.

Army Booting Out Major Six Months Before Retirement

KILLEEN, Tex. (AP) — An Army major stationed at Ft. Hood has been told he will have to leave the Army six months short of his retirement eligibility because he cannot be promoted to the next higher rank.

The decision to release Maj. Jack B. Park, a decorated veteran of World War II, was made by Army Secretary Martin R. Hoffman and revealed here Thursday.

Park, 49, had been given a temporary reprieve by the Army two weeks ago after he was told that he was being reconsidered for promotion.

He is among 350 Army officers who sued the office of the secretary of the Army for allegedly being illegally forced out of the Armed Forces just prior to becoming eligible for full retirement benefits.

In a statement released by the Pentagon, the Army said, "the Army secretary accepted the Standby Board's recommendation not to promote Maj. Park on the basis that he was not among those best qualified for promotion."

The officers involved in the suit claim that former Army Secretary Howard H. Callaway, who is now President Ford's campaign manager, issued illegal instructions to Army promotion boards which resulted in discrimination against officers based on age and reserve status.

"I am not saying that every officer who was passed over for promotion and is being forced out was qualified," Park said. "What I am saying is that I am standing on my record and I don't believe any officer should be forced out of active service illegally."

Army policy is to retire reserve officers who are passed up twice for promotions.

However, any Army officer who is forced out of active duty prior to a full 18 years of service is paid moving costs and a maximum severance pay of $15,000.

NOMINEE—Sterling W. Price II, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling W. Price of 2300 N. N St., is Breakfast Optimist Club's nominee for the Young Texan Award. An athlete and member of the Honor Society, he is vice president of the Midland High School student body.

Hospital Nursing Course Still Open

Registration remains open for Midland Memorial Hospital's two-week mini-course for nursing aides and orderlies scheduled to begin Nov. 4.

The course, open to both men and women, will include basic nursing skills such as taking temperature, blood pressure, patient bathing, making beds and assisting patients with their meals.

Classes will be held at the hospital from 9 a.m. to 4 .m. on Nov. 4, 5, 7, 11, 12 and 14.

Prospective students should have some high school education necessary, according to Mrs. Ellen Kennedy, inservice director and instructor for the course.

Other requirements will be given each applicant at the time of a personal interview, she said.

Persons desiring complete information about the course may contact Mrs. Kennedy at 682-7381, extension 337, or the hospital's personnel department, extension 373.

Smoking Banned In Parts Of New U.S. Courthouse

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Smokers in public areas of the new $8 million U.S. District Courthouse at HemisFair Plaza could lose money and freedom besides their health.

Chief U.S. District Court Judge Adrian A. Spears banned Thursday all smoking "in any carpeted public lobby, rotunda, courtroom or elevator."

Violators would face a contempt of court citation punishable by a fine, jail term or both.

Judge Spears cited the large taxpayer investment in carpets, drapes and furnishings besides health and safety reasons.

Goldie Tells Of Marriage

"Goldie Hawn (Giggle) On Marriage, Children and Her Las Vegas Past" is the title of a feature article appearing in the current issue of Family Weekly, the magazine section included each Sunday with The Reporter-Telegram.

Other features include: "Is There Life Out There?" "How Do Sports Affect Your Life?" and "What in the World'."

Large Employers Must Offer HMO Option

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is directing the nation's 400,000 largest employers to offer their workers the option of joining "health maintenance organizations," which are groups of physicians who provide basic medical services to a family for an annual fee.

The plan for health maintenance organizations (HMOs) is designed as an alternative to traditional health insurance programs. In many cases, medical costs under HMOs are cheaper than under insurance programs.

And since a family's HMO fee allows unlimited medical attention and no deductible expenses, the programs encourage preventive medicine.

Effective Thanksgiving Day, all firms which employ 25 or more persons and provide a health benefits plan will be required to offer an HMO alternative, if there is a qualified HMO in the area.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which issued the directive, said about 52 million workers and their families — 80 per cent of the U.S. work force — potentially would be eligible for HMO coverage.

As a concession to organized labor, HEW decided that a union's bargaining team could have the power to veto the HMO option, in which case it would not be offered to union members.

Dr. Robert van Hoek of HEW's Health Services Administration said it is conceivable that if a company's employes split between an HMO and a traditional Blue Cross-Blue Shield plan, for example, the favorable group premium offered by the Blues in the past would go up.

Congress passed the HMO Act in 1973 in the hope that mandatory "dual option" HMO coverage would stimulate development of more prepaid group practices and hold down the rise in health care costs, which have been going up 50 per cent faster than the over-all cost of living.

Van Hock said the requirement imposed on 400,000 employers represents "a significant leverage enabling consumers to make an informed choice in alternative forms of health care" and give them a greater voice in determining health expenditures.

General Motors Corp., which has offered HMO coverage for 22 years and now has more than 17,000 employes enrolled, has noted a substantial reduction in health care costs for workers in the Kaiser Permanente HMO in California but not in other parts of the country, according to Robert A. Lennox, assistant director for benefits.

Illinois Bell Co., part of the AT&T system, said its HMO enrollees are hospitalized only half as long as insurance plan members. The firm said inpatient hospital care accounts for 61 per cent of Illinois' Bell employe health costs, which have risen 21 per cent over the last year.

Sheinwold On Bridge

True Bridge Player Is Man Of Decision

The true bridge player is not a modern Hamlet, sicklied over with the pale cast of thought, but a man of decision and prompt action. Look for such a man in today's hand.

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	1 ♠	2 ♥	Pass
4 ♥	All Pass

Opening lead — ♠ K

South ruffs the second spade, draws trumps and runs the diamonds, getting rid of one club on the fourth diamond. He then tries to win a trick with the king of clubs, but this doesn't work.

Still, South loses only one spade and two clubs. He scores his game and tries not to look too happy about it. Our true bridge player doesn't gloat.

Missed Opportunity

If you're looking for a man of decision, he's at another table. East missed his chance to be the hero in this hand.

East should assume that his partner has a five-card spade suit for the overcall. This means that South can have only one spade. The defenders can win only one spade trick — and East must win that trick.

East, if he is a man of decision, must overtake the king of spades with the ace. He returns the queen of clubs, and South goes down before he can get started.

This gives East a chance to look modest and unassuming. The true bridge player doesn't gloat, and he knows better than to fumble his assignment.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold: S-K Q J 10 2, H-7 2 2, D-8 4 2, C-A 9 8. What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass. The hand is not quite worth an opening bid. You might open it if you had a sixth spade or two five-card suits, but wait for something better than the actual hand when you have such flat distribution.

Pants Make Women Look Good Or Bad

COLLEGE STATION — Women in pants can look really good—or really bad —depending on how the pants fit, Margret Ann Vanderpoorten, clothing specialist, says.

Selecting styles that suit her body type has much to do with a woman's overall appearance in pants, the specialist added.

"As an example, for the woman with a small waist and large hips, pants featuring a separate band at the normal waistline usually are better than bandless styles.

"This style is more flattering because the eye travels vertically along the pants legs and horizontally at the waist—minimizing the difference between waist and hip sizes."

She said other devices creating vertical lines for the eye to follow are a fly front zipper, pleats or sharp creases.

Miss Vanderpoorten is with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System.

Deciding whether to have a front or back zipper also is important for figure flattery. Pants with a fly front add inches to the tummy, while back-zippered styles help fill in a hollow or sway back, she explained.

"Jeans and other pants with bands designed to ride on the hips rather than the waist are generally flattering to the short-waisted figure.

The chapter will have its annual Beaux Art Ball benefit Nov. 15 in the Cobra Club. Chapter projects, including scholarships for college students, are financed with proceeds from the ball.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Double Knits Don't Have To Mean Double Trouble

Dear Heloise:

I think double-knit fabrics are absolutely the greatest discovery since the light bulb, but they are very prone to develop a shine when pressing them and, once they are "shined," I've found that it's virtually, if not downright impossible to remove.

The best thing I've found to avoid shining the garment in the first place is to make a "sock" for your steam iron and use it to top press all double knits.

A piece of wool knit is the best material by far to make the sock out of. Dig around in your closet for an out-dated garment or check at rummage sales for something made of wool knit that you can use. Also, check at remnant counters for scraps of wool knit. Other fabrics can be used, but wool won't transfer a shine to your fabric or garment. If you use cotton, use a double thickness to make the sock.

Now — to make the sock, trace around your steam iron on a piece of paper. Add one inch to this measurement, and using this pattern, cut your material out and zigzag or sew a piece of soft elastic one-eighth or one-quarter inch wide, five-eighths of an inch from the cut edge of the material, stretching the elastic slightly as you sew. The elastic allows the sock to slip on and off your iron easily.

That's all there is to it, but I think you'll find the sock is absolutely fabulous for pressing knits and you'll never be without one again.

It's especially great when sewing as it lets you see where you are pressing, whereas a presscloth sometimes gets in the way and you are pressing "blind."

Chris Whitmore

Dear Heloise:

I like to use my electric fondue pot to melt and keep candy coatings warm.

It has a low setting for desserts that is just right. It is also great for coating chocolate cherries.

It is so nice because you aren't working over a hot burner, and the heat is so low, good for sugars that burn easily.

Sue the Welder

Meat Extender

An excellent way to extend ground beef for hamburgers is to add bread soaked in a little soy sauce, mixing the ingredients together well. And this method adds good flavor.

Low Cal Cran Sauce

Serving raw cranberry relish has its advantages because you can use less sugar in it than in the cooked sauce.

Wipe Quickly

When you soak black (turtle) beans before cooking, wipe up because the soaking liquid tends to stain a table or counter top — especially if it is formica.

Music Topic Of Program

The program, originally prepared by Mrs. Robert Bechtel, was held in the home of Mrs. Jack G. Stone, 3610 Sinclair St.

Mrs. Huddleston described the influences on American musical culture from the wave of immigration from Europe in the mid-19th Century.

Works of five immigrant composers who gained fame performed were those of Bela Bartok, played by Mrs. Hans Roweck, pianist. Richard Hageman, performed by Mrs. C. Robert Winkler, soprano, with Mrs. William H. Maitland, pianist. Ernest Bloch, by Mrs. Stone; Gian Carlo Menotti, sung by Mrs. Robert F. Ward, with Mrs. Robert L. Wise, piano accompanist, and Fritz Kreisler, performed by Mrs. W. Lloyd Haseltine, violinist, with Mrs. Dillard Anderson Jr., piano. more

'With-It' Mothers Prepare Nutritious School Lunches

COLLEGE STATION — "Mothers who know" prepare school lunches following the Basic Four Food Groups, a foods and nutrition specialist said this week.

Lunches can be nutritious and still delicious with this guide, according to Sally Springer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"For example, a meat or cheese sandwich, fruit and cookies, along with milk purchased at school, makes the four food group scoreboard perfect."

She reminded sandwich makers to use butter or mustard rather than mayonnaise, if the sandwich will not be refrigerated. Pack the lettuce and tomato separate, to avoid a soggy sandwich at lunchtime.

A small thermos will carry soups, stews and casserole dishes for a hot lunch at school. Also canned puddings, fresh fruits and cheese cubes make perfect lunch box treats.

Avoid using meat, fish or egg salads in packed lunches because they may spoil unless refrigerated. Creamed sauces and dishes and custards are not recommended either, if they are to remain at room temperature.

Other lunch box ideas are "fun foods" packed with nutrition — carrot sticks, celery curls and apple wedges. These create lunch box surprises that are safe and nutritious.

Make Own Pan

No jellyroll pan? You can make one of foil. Use heavy foil that is 18 inches wide and 24 inches long. Fold the sheet in half so it is 18 by 12 inches. Turn up edges 1 inch on all sides, mitering the corners. To use in the oven, place the foil pan on a cookie sheet.

Announce Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy G. Braddy of Galveston announce the birth of a daughter, Cathleen Marie, Oct. 16 in Galveston. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Clovis G. Braddy of Midland and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Parsons of Hitchcock. The great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Braddy of Breckenridge.

Dear Abby

— By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My mother used to nag my father all the time, so I made up my mind that no matter what the circumstances were, I would never nag my husband.

Well, Ted and I have been married for seven months, and if ever a wife had reasons to nag her husband, I had plenty, but I kept my mouth shut.

The biggest problem is that Ted doesn't come right home after work. And he never calls to tell me he'll be late.

Even when he comes home at 4:00 in the morning with liquor on his breath, I greet him with a smile and a sexy nightie and say, "Hi, Darling, can I fix you something to eat?"

Last Friday, he went to work and I didn't see him again until Monday evening. I was worried sick, but when he showed up, all I said was, "Gee, hon, I sure missed you."

I'm afraid he's got another girl. I can't understand him. He was so crazy about me when we first met, he made me break my engagement to another guy to marry him.

What am I doing wrong?

NEEDS ADVICE

DEAR NEEDS: You are letting Ted get away with murder. I don't recommend nagging a man, but I do think you should cut out the phony sweet talk and substitute some PLAIN talk. Your marriage is headed for the rocks. Get some counseling!

DEAR ABBY: When kids marry and have babies, and their marriages fail, they call on Grandma to look after their children while they work, date and so forth.

All Grandma gets for raising someone else's child is the remark, "My mother spoils my child, but what can I do?"

Most grandmothers, weary from having raised their own children, would appreciate a little peace and quiet in their later years, but they fall into the trap of having to raise their grandchildren, too.

Abby, please try to free the grandmothers!

WEARY AND TRAPPED

DEAR W AND T: Sorry, but every grandmother who wants to be "free" will have to free herself. If she is asked to look after her grandchildren and she doesn't really WANT to, she should say so.

DEAR ABBY: I am the 49-year-old mother of an 18-year-old daughter.

We were both quite a bit overweight, and I would like to tell you how we accidently discovered how to lose a lot of weight.

We were watching a wrestling match on TV, and much to my surprise, my daughter suggested that we wrestle with each other! At first I couldn't see it, but I finally consented.

We laid an old mattress down in the basement, put on our bathing suits and squared off like we had seen professional wrestlers do. My daughter found an opening, and rushed me. Next thing I knew, we both were down on the mattress rolling over and over.

The first time we wrestled, we were exhausted in 10 minutes. The next time, we wrestled a little longer. Now, we can wrestle for half an hour.

We both cut out bread, butter, potatoes and desserts, and between that and the wrestling matches nearly every day, we have trimmed down a lot. Everybody has noticed it.

TRIM MOM

DEAR MOM: And it's a good way to work off one's hostilities, too!

CONFIDENTIAL TO READER IN CHARLES CITY, IOWA: No one said it better than Jonathan Swift: "Good manners is the art of making those people easy with whom we converse. Whoever makes the fewest people uneasy is the best bred in the company."

Travis School PTA Slates Carnival

The Travis Elementary PTA carnival will be held Saturday beginning at 4 p.m. and concluding at 8 p.m.

The public is invited to the carnival which will offer a variety of food and booths, and a Spook House.

Midland Lee Entertains Aerial-Minded Steers

By BOB DILLON

Midland Lee hopes to snap a two-game losing streak tonight when the Rebels face the aerial circus of the Big Spring Steers in Memorial Stadium.

The District 5-4A game is set for 8 p.m. with the Rebels determined to cut down on offensive mistakes that have given opponents easy points the past two weekends.

Lee brings the No. 1 offense into the game against the No. 8 offense and the Maroon Platoon needs a victory badly. Should Abilene Cooper knock Odessa Permian out of the undefeated ranks and Lee win, the Rebs would be right back into the thick of things and would really have a chance if Midland High posts a victory over San Angelo.

True, the Rebs would like to see Midland and Cooper win, but their uppermost concern right now is to get back to winning football after dropping games to San Angelo, 39-19 and to Cooper, 33-20.

Lee turns loose the No. 2 rusher in 5-4A tonight in junior tailback Clyde Gary against the hapless Steers who have lost to Abilene, 34-6, Midland, 53-25 and to Permian, 27-0.

Lee sports a 4-2 season record and 1-2 loop mark compared to the Steers' 2-4 and 0-3 readings.

While the Steers have the No. 8 offense in the league, they also have the No. 8 defense. Lee has the fourth best defensive unit.

Gary has rushed for 245 yards in 42 carries for an average of 5.8 per carry in loop play and has a total of 300 yards on the year and the talented junior missed three games with an injury. Bobby Humble, 205-pound junior fullback, is the leading ground gainer on the year with 316 yards on 62 carries in six games.

Mark Moore, 200-pound senior quarterback, sparks the Steer offense. He has connected on 26 of 77 passes for for 374 yards and four touchdowns in three loop games.

Lee has a strong passing game too. On the year, the Rebs with junior quarterbacks Brad Wright and David Hobbs, have thrown 86 passes, completing 39 of them for 537 yards and five touchdowns. Wright has hit 16 of 31 passes for 240 yards and two TDs while Hobbs has 23 of 55 passes for 297 yards and three scores.

Both passers have outstanding receivers in split end Robert Johnson and tight end Junior Miller, to throw to. Johnson has 12 receptions for 153 yards and two TDs while Miller, a 6-6, 225-pounder, has latched on to 16 for 199 yards and three touchdowns.

The Rebels have racked up a total offense og 1,532 yards in six games with 995 of that coming on the ground.

Fullback Jesse Doss, a 215-pound junior, is the top ground gainer for the Steers in district with 65 yards in 14 carries, but the power runner missed one game and his team puts the ball into the air more than it runs. In fact, the Steers have only gained a total of 127 yards on the ground in district play.

The Steers have surrendered 783 yards on the ground and an additional 244 through the airways on defense.

"They (Lee) are mighty tough and as good as anybody in the district," said Burris, a former Oklahoma All-American and coach at Midland Lee for three years in the late sixties. "Lee is agressive and tough and we expect to have our hands full. We are young and very inexperienced to say the least."

Lee Coach Jim Acree remembers two years ago when Big Spring came into the Tall City and won, 24-7. Last year, the Steers polished off Abilene Cooper, 12-7, so the Rebs certainly won't and can't afford to take the Steers lightly if they want to wind up with a winning record and a possible share of the 5-4A crown.

Pack Meets Bobcats In 5-4A Road Game

SAN ANGELO — Midland High will be fighting for survival in the District 5-4A football race when the Purple Pack plays San Angelo at 8 p.m. today, but the Bulldogs really aren't thinking along those lines.

They'd just like to beat San Angelo and let nature worry about the implications such a victory would involve.

Midland, 4-2, wasn't supposed to be in this year's race and the prime objective at the moment is just to win as many as possible.

SAN ANGELO, while 4-2 for the season and 2-1 in district, like the Bulldogs, is a heavy favorite and it too is a backs-to-the wall game for the team that was tabbed for the preseason favorite to win it all by writers and coaches.

Midland is coming off a 28-14 win over Abilene while Angelo is bouncing back from a 24-15 loss to Odessa.

Bill Woodard leads the San Angelo rushing attack with 398 yards in 84 carries and Ronnie Rodgers has gained 160 in 35.

THE BOBCATS have a balanced attack with Mickey Abbott, a junior at quarterback. Abbott has hit 38 of 97 passes for 598 yards and four TDs. He has been intercepted nine times. His top receivers are Kelly Norman, 14 for 222, and William White, five for 100.

Midland's run-oriented Wishbone is paced by halfbacks Phillip Ward, 46 for 394 yards, Kim Madden, 45-177, and fullback Terry Whitaker, 61-227. However, as the season has progressed, the Bulldogs have added an effective air game. Junior quarterback Kevin Widner has completed 20 of 40 for 478 yards and eight touchdowns.

Top receivers are Ward, eight for 207, Clellan Pearce, six for 115, and Madden, six for 90.

Under Coach John Reddell, the Bulldogs are 1-1-1 against San Angelo, winning 21-14 in 1972, losing 33-7 in 1973 and tying 13-13 last year on a last ditch San Angelo TD pass. Overall the series stands 22-12-2 in favor of the Bobcats.

Johnson To Sign Two-Year Contract

BOSTON (AP) — Red Sox Manager Darrell Johnson will sign a new, two-year contract today, possibly at City Hall Plaza where the team will be honored by city officials, the Boston Herald American reported today.

"When the time comes for the Red Sox to talk about a new contract with me, I'll sign anything they put on the table in front of me," said Johnson, whose Red Sox lost the World Series to the Cincinnati Reds Wednesday night. "The Boston Red Sox have always treated me most fairly and I know they will now."

Sports In Shorts.... Friday's Forecast

Battle Scene

By Ted Battles

Sports In Spurts ...While we have no quarrel with the choice of Pete Rose as MVP for the World Series, this was one year they probably could have dispensed with the award. There were too many players who contributed too many vital plays to single out one over all the others.

Three points, discounting that final play safety against Arizona, the other way and Texas Tech is 4-2 instead of 2-4, wondering whether it will get a bowl bid instead of wondering where its next victory will come from...

With Ecomet Burley sidelined by a concussion and backup Curtis Reed hospitalized with tonsilitis, line coach Romeo Crennel pressed Gary McCright, sophomore linebacker from Midland, into emergency service against Arizona last week. Although Gary hadn't played nose guard before, Crennel said, "He still went out played a solid game. We just told him to go out and put a flipper on the center"...

Texas AM, Texas and Rice fans should be excited. All three are tied for first in the SWC race, for the first time since 1946...when Arkansas went on to win the title....

This week's SWC forecast....

Texas 27, Rice 10 — Battle for first.

Texas Tech 28, SMU 24 — Whoever wants it the most.

Texas AM 14, Baylor 7 — This shaped up as one of the crucial showdowns until Arkansas beat Baylor. However, you can't discount any team that was good enough to play Michigan to a tie.

Alabama 28, TCU 7 — Frogs catch it again.

The others...

USC 21, Notre Dame 20 — Irish out for revenge, but judging from troubles they've been having against the likes of Air Force and North Carolina, they probably won't get it.

Oklahoma 40, Iowa State 0 — Why couldn't that have been Ohio instead of Iowa?

Midland Lee 30, Big Spring 14 — Rebels romp.

San Angelo 20, Midland 14 — Funny thing, John Bechtell seems more optimistic about this game than he did Abilene last week.

Trojan-Irish Battle Tops College Games

By The Associated Press

John McKay calls it "the greatest intersectional rivalry in the history of football."

Knute Rockne described his team's last-minute, 13-12 victory in the first contest between the two schools in 1926 as "the best game I ever saw."

Dan Devine, in his first season as coach of Notre Dame, may not know what to call it, but he knows he doesn't want to call it the way his predecessor, Ara Parseghian, called it last year.

Notre Dame, 5-1, and No. 3 Southern California, 6-0, meet for the 47th time, on national television, Saturday with the 14th-ranked Irish slight underdogs, even though they play at South Bend, Ind.

"I love the Notre Dame game," says McKay. "They should be in a frenzy because of what happened last year."

"If I had a seat," says Devine, "I wouldn't give it up."

What happened last year was one of the biggest surprises of the college football season and began Southern Cal's grinding drive to the national championship.

The Trojans, down 24-6 at halftime, scored seven touchdowns in the second half and humiliated the Irish 55-24.

Last year, it was Anthony Davis' show. This year the Trojans have another powerful runner, tailback Ricky Bell, the nation's leading ground gainer with 1,068 yards and a 6.0 average.

On the other hand, Notre Dame's vaunted defense has allowed just 3.2 yards per carry.

"Bell is undoubtedly one of the greatest runners in the country," says Devine. "He has excellent speed, size and tremendous strength."

McKay thinks Bell is worth a small wager. "Bell will have a long afternoon. But I'll bet you one thing. He'll run like hell. You're not going to intimidate Ricky Bell," McKay says.

If they go to the air, the Trojans will be face a secondary Devine describes as inexperienced and depleted by injuries. In the past two weeks, against North Carolina and Air Force, the Irish secondary allowed 418 yards passing without an interception.

In Saturday's other major games, it's top-ranked Ohio State at Purdue, Iowa State at No. 2 Oklahoma, No. 10 Colorado at No. 4 Nebraska, Baylor at No. 5 Texas A&M, TCU vs. No. 6 Alabama at Birmingham, Indiana at No. 7 Michigan, and Army at No. 9 Penn State. At night, Rice is at No. 8 Texas.

Purdue Coach Alex Agase is hoping for a little luck of the Irish to rub off on his Boilermakers when they entertain the Buckeyes.

"To be competitive, you have to be good and you also have to be a little bit lucky," Agase says. "So with a little bit of luck, we might surprise a few people Saturday."

It's not been a season of luck for the 1-5 Boilermakers, their only victory coming in a 26-24 squeaker over Illinois. And this year, Ohio State hasn't allowed a Big Ten opponent to score a single point.

Purdue will be relying on a rushing game that features halfback Mike Pruitt, the league's third leading rusher with an average of 103.3 yards a game.

Ohio State has All-American Archie Griffin, who boasts a 111.7-yard per-game average. Griffin needs only 115 yards to become the all-time major college rush leader.

Iowa State has dubbed it's running back duo of Jim Wingender and Mike Williams the "W-W Express." But on Saturday, they'll be joined by another "W"—All-American Joe Washington of Oklahoma.

Wingender and Williams are among the top four rushers in the Big Eight—Wingender with 588 yards on 100 attempts and Williams with 566 on 112 carries.

But they be running into an Oklahoma defensive front led by tackle Leroy Selmon, middle guard Dewey Selmon and end Jimbo Elrod—the backbone of a defense that has limited opponents to 129 yards rushing a game. An opposing back has not gained more than 100 yards against Oklahoma in the last 22 games.

The Sooners, 6-0, who have not lost in 35 consecutive games, have been guided the past three years by quarterback Steve Davis. The senior signal caller is a dangerous running threat and finally got the Sooner passing attack going last week in a 25-3 win over Kansas State. Davis hit on 7 of 14 passes for 107 yards and one touchdown.

Colorado, 5-1, has been surprising the past two weeks, losing to Oklahoma by one point on a missed conversion attempt and last week pounding Missouri 31-20 at Boulder, Colo.

The rest of the day schedule has Duke at No. 12 Florida, Kansas State at No. 15 Missouri, Illinois at No. 16 Michigan State, Navy at No. 17 Pitt, California at No. 19 UCLA, and the No. 1 college division team, Grambling, at Jackson State.

U.S. Contingent Shows Class

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A U.S. contingent that had been branded second rate, weak and not likely to succeed in the VII Pan American Games has finally proven itself, surpassing the accomplishments of its 1971 predecessor on the way to even loftier goals.

With a scrappy track team, supposedly deficient swimming squad and a number of lesser-publicized performers, the Americans roared past the total of 89 gold medals the United States had won at the 1971 Games, with slim possibility of [illegible] total of 121 golds.

At the start of competition Friday, with the end of the Games two days away, the burgeoning U.S. gold-silver-bronze medal count was 99-64-[illegible], with golds already won in men's and women's basketball not yet distributed.

Surprisingly, Cuba, which [illegible] led the Americans through the first few days of these quadrennial Western Hemisphere games, had [illegible] with Canada at [illegible] Mexico [illegible] and Brazil [illegible].

In spite the U.S. conquest of these Games, there have been moments of agonizing frustration for some of the bench, vilified and sometimes persecuted Americans.

A case in point Thursday was cyclist Steve Woznick of Ridgefield Park, N.J., who was more than slightly distressed about a Cuban appeal that was upheld and forced him to run his semifinal again.

Woznick wheeled his bicycle to the judges stand and proceeded to hack the tires off with a knife. He angrily threw the tires away, then tried to throw the damaged remains of the bicycle into the stands.

But the story didn't end there. He later came back to win the gold medal in the event, the sprint finals.

A little less dramatics Thursday was Kathy Heddy, the [illegible] Summit, N.J., high schooler, who almost nonchalantly won her fourth gold medal in swimming, this time in the 400 freestyle relay. The race was one of four the United States swept, all in record time—again.

Miss Heddy seemed disinterested when informed only one other swimmer in history—Chris Von Saltza with five—had won more golds.

"That's nice. I never heard of Chris Von Saltza," she said coolly.

Other U.S. swimming golds went to Mike Curington, Birmingham, Ala., Bobby Hackett, Yonkers, N.Y., and Camille Wright, New Albany, Ind.

Lele Forood, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., won a gold in women's tennis singles, then teamed with Hank Pfister, Bakersfield, Calif., in the mixed doubles final for another gold.

Peter Kormann, New Haven, Conn., won a gold in men's gymnastics, in floor exercises, in an otherwise total Cuban sweep of the seven golds.

Mike Dokes, Akron, Ohio, moved into the heavyweight boxing finals against awesome Teofilo Stevenson of Cuba, with a lackluster decision over Trevor Berbik of Jamaica. Stevenson gained the finals by annihilating Jair Campos of Brazil in barely two minutes.

Six other Americans also will compete in the boxing finals Saturday.

"It looked like Stevenson killed the Brazilian," said a witness to Stevenson's victory. "The guy looked like he'd been hit with a shotgun blast.

Dokes seemed unperturbed. He patted Stevenson on the stomach as the hulking, 225-pound Cuban jogged out of the ring, and advised, "You're next." Stevenson looked anything but impressed.

"I'm going to psyche him out," Dokes explained later, about his less-than-impressive performances to date here, he added, "I was saving myself."

Another suspect performance, according to U.S. Coach Karl Schwenzfeier, was in judging of the men's gymnastics.

"It stinks," Schwenzfeier said succinctly. Three gold medals that went to Cuba's Jorge [illegible]

Knicks Gain Haywood From Seattle

The Knicks obtained Haywood Thursday from the Seattle SuperSonics for a reported $1.5 million and Eugene Short, a 6-foot-7 rookie forward from Jackson State, New York's No. 1 pick in this year's NBA draft.

"I had my eyes set on New York," the six-year pro veteran said. "I like New York's style and what they're doing there. New York is sort of a dream of mine."

It's sort of New York's dream too, at least since forwards Dave DeBusschere and Jerry Lucas and center Willis Reed retired.

In a 106-101 loss to the Los Angeles Lakers Thursday night, the Knicks' forwards were held in check. Phil Jackson came off the bench to score eight points. Bill Bradley, Mel Davis and Hawthorne Wingo had six apiece, and Dennis Bell scored two.

Last season, in what he considers an off-year, the 6-8 Haywood averaged 22.4 points and 9.3 rebounds per game. His five-year NBA career scoring average is 24.9.

"It's almost frightening as to what can happen now," said Knicks' guard Earl Monroe, who along with Walt Frazier have been providing the New York firepower.

"It's gonna be a much easier season for us now," Monroe said. "He can do so many things. He gives us something we haven't had since everyone retired—versatility."

After starring at the University of Detroit, Haywood dropped out of school to sign with the American Basketball Association's Denver Rockets. He was named the ABA's Rookie of the Year and Most Valuable Player, then jumped to the NBA's Sonics.

The 26-year-old Haywood said he asked to be traded because of problems between himself and the Sonics' management. But, he said, those problems did not include a reported communications gap between himself and Bill Russell, the Sonics' coach and general manager.

Haywood said he "felt mistreated" last year during the playoffs when he was benched. During the season he appeared in only 68 games, being hampered by several injuries and pneumonia, which put him in a hospital for nine days.

During the offseason, Haywood underwent a series of tests at the Mayo Clinic, which confirmed he suffers from a long list of allergies, but otherwise is healthy.

"We hope to have Haywood in uniform for Saturday night's game against Cleveland," a Knicks spokesman said.

Penn State-Pitt On National TV

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC-TV announced Tuesday the Nov. 22 game in Pittsburgh between Penn State and Pitt will be shown nationally as part of a college football television doubleheader.

The University of Pittsburgh confirmed the game has been moved from Pitt Stadium to Three Rivers Stadium, with the starting time changed from 1:30 to 4:05 p.m., EST.

Although Three Rivers has about 5,000 fewer seats than Pitt Stadium, it also has lights to accommodate the late afternoon start.

The first part of the television doubleheader will be the Ohio State-Michigan game in Ann Arbor, Mich., at 12:50 p.m., EST.

Aggies Try Baylor

Texas Battles Pesky Rice Eleven

By The Associated Press

Texas and Texas A&M, apparently on the way to a showdown for the Southwest Conference football title, have a couple of pesky opponents to handle this weekend, either one capable of rewriting the script for this 1975 season.

The Aggies, unbeaten in six games and with two conference victories tucked away, take on the defending conference champion Baylor Bears, who have run into fumble problems in losing two straight, to South Carolina and Arkansas.

A&M, the nation's No. 5 team, is a touchdown favorite over Baylor but Bear quarterback Mark Jackson said recently, "That's the way we like to play, as underdogs. We're going to relax and have fun, and that's the only way to play."

Jackson's description of fun may be contrary to the opinion of others. The Aggies lead the nation in total defense, and [illegible] have permitted an average of only six points per game, and have the conference's leading rusher in Bubba Bean.

Baylor can claim a hard-running ground attack, but has committed 22 turnovers in five games, including nine fumbles against Arkansas a couple of weeks ago, and is suffering with a 1-3-2 overall record.

Texas, 5-1 for the year and 2-0 in league play, takes on a Rice team that has covered the scale from lousy to good in compiling a 2-3 record. The Owls did beat SMU 28-17 last week and go into the Saturday night game with a 1-0 conference record.

The other league games matches SMU, 3-2 and 1-1, against Texas Tech, 2-4 and 0-2.

SMU Coach Dave Smith, in the usual pessimistic tones of a college football coach, says, "I believe Texas Tech may be the best team we've faced."

Smith may have a hard time convincing Coach Steve Sloan of that statement. Sloan, in his first year at Tech, has lost four straight, including a 42-18 thrashing by Texas and a 19-0 whipping by Texas A&M.

Arkansas and Texas Christian have non-conference games, but their opponents are on the opposite ends of the football scale.

The Razorbacks, 4-2, take on Utah State, 3-3, a team which lost to Texas A&M. Arkansas fell to the Longhorns 24-18.

TCU, with the nation's longest losing streak for a major college team —15—has to face Alabama.

The Crimson Tide, after an opening season loss to Missouri, has crushed five consecutive opponents, scoring 230 points while yielding 20.

Oklahoma Drills For Iowa State

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — The University of Oklahoma Sooners completed preparations for Saturday's Big Eight conference game with Iowa State Thursday, working on the kicking game and offensive polish.

"I feel like we've had a pretty good week as far as getting ready for Iowa State," said head coach Barry Switzer. "But that old injury bug just won't let us go."

He was referring to the injury to split end Billy Brooks' knee in Thursday's practice.

"I guess we'll just have to say he's doubtful for Saturday," said Switzer.

However, fullback Jim Littrell and offensive guard Terry Webb, injured for the past three weeks, have gotten the green light for the 1:30 p.m. kickoff in at OU's Owens Field.

Britain Leads Tennis Tourney

TORQUAY, England (AP) — Britain took a 3-0 lead over the United States in the women's under-21 tennis match for the Maureen Connolly Trophy Thursday.

Glynis Coles defeated Ann Kiyomura of San Mateo, Calif., 3-6, 6-3; Michele Tyler beat Joanne Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., 6-3, 6-1, and Linda Mottram defeated Jo Anne Russell of Naples, Fla., 6-4, 1-6, 6-3.

Bullpups Top Angelo

By BOB DILLON

An alert defense and the toe of David Reddell was the difference Thursday night in Memorial Stadium as the Midland High Bullpups downed the San Angelo junior varsity football team, 21-20.

The Bullpups intercepted four Bobcat passes and gobbled up two fumbles to secure the victory which gives them a 5-2 season record.

San Angelo struck first on a lightning-quick pass play when quarterback Carl Brainard hit end Steve Winger on a 70-yard strike late in the opening period. Johnny Pinchback ran over for the two-point converison and an 8-0 Angelo lead.

Midland turned away the Bobcats earlier in the period when Larry Hall picked off a Brainard pass at the Pup four.

The Bullpups struck for two second period TDs to take a 14-8 lead into the dressing room at halftime. Alvin Price got Midland off to a good start after Angelo's TD with a 36-yard return of a kickoff and MHS drove 63 yards in eight plays with a 30-yard run by Gerald Dedrick, setting up the score. Price scored from the four with 10:56 left in the first half, but the run for the two-pointer failed, making it 8-6.

Joe Primera picked off another Brainard pass for the Pups at the Midland 38 and in 13 plays, MHS took the lead with Jackson scoring from the six.

Midland tacked on the two-point conversion when quarterback Joe Mowles passed to David Isby to make it 14-8 with 4:21 left in the half.

The Pups got another break late in the second period when Mark Dinsmore recovered a fumble at the Angelo 23 after Don Gleghorn knocked the ball loose from Brainard. Reddell tried a 35-yard field goal on the last play of the half, but a bad snap, turned MHS away.

Dinsmore pounced on another Bobcat fumble in the third period, but after the Pups drove to the Angelo 16, a five-yard penalty and a 17-yard loss on a fumbled pitchout by Mowles, kept Midland from scoring.

Angelo took advantage a Midland fumble at the Bobcat 25 and scored in seven plays when Brainard hit Ricky Reidy on a short five-yard pass. The pass failed for the two-pointer, but it was 14-14 with 3:45 left in the third period.

Midland came back to score what was the winning TD in the final period when Bryan Booker recovered a fumble at the San Angelo 38 and in nine plays, Price raced in from the 10 to make it 20-14 and Reddell split the uprights for a 21-14 advantage.

Angelo recovered a fumble by Dedrick at the Pup 38 and scored in 13 plays against a determined MHS defense with Brainard hitting Warren Fox with a five-yard pass. Jackson then made the key defensive play of the game in hitting the receiver just as the ball arrived for the two-point conversion which failed and that was the difference in the game.

San Angelo is now 4-3 on the year with the other losses to Abilene Cooper and Midland Lee.

Jackson not only stood out on defense, but rushed for 129 yards in 31 carries while Dedrick gained 53 in 11 rushes and Price had 50 yards in eight carries.

Other defensive standouts for MHS were Roy Richard, David Collins along with Dinsmore, Booker, Primera and Isby.

Lake View Takes Win

LUBBOCK — Lake View shut out the Lubbock Dunbar Panthers, 14-0, Thursday night in a District 3-AAA football game at Lowrey Field.

The Chiefs were chalking up their eighth straight win without a loss and more important, their fourth loop victory.

John Maberry, a 150-pound sophomore fullback, scored both touchdowns for the San Angelo eleven and rushed for 66 yards in 20 carries. His scores came from six and three yards out. Levi Cauley booted both extra points for the winners who meet Lubbock Estacado in the 3-AAA showdown in Lubbock, Nov. 7.

PGA TEAM PLAY

Tour Rookies Lead

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Frustrated PGA tour rookies Bryan Abbott and Jimmy Whittenberg found themselves in a strange position today in the second round of the $200,000 National Team Championship — they were No. 1.

They shared the first-round lead with the veteran combo of Gibby Gilbert and Bobby Mitchell after both teams fired 10-under-par 62s on separate golf courses Thursday at Walt Disney World.

But even a piece of the top action is fine for a pair of guys who have not earned $2,000 between them this year and believe their tour careers may be down the drain.

Abbott, unemployed since leaving the tournament trail last July, gave all the credit for their fast start to his partner. "Jimmy played about 65 on his own ball," he said. "It was as good a round as I've ever seen."

The unlikely leaders who became friends on the Monday qualifying circuit bolted from the blocks to birdie six of their first eight holes on the 7,162-yard Magnolia course. Whittenberg touched off the streak with a chip-in birdie from 60 feet, then capped it by putting three straight approach shots within four feet of the pins.

Playing on the shorter but tighter Palm layout, Gilbert and Mitchell slayed their heroics. Gilbert accounted for more birdies, but Mitchell dropped the bomb by rolling home a cross-country putt of 90 feet for an eagle three at the 509-yard seventh hole.

Lee Volleyball Team Cops Win

SAN ANGELO—The Midland Lee Rebels evened their second half District 5-4A volleyball record at 1-1 here Thursday night with a 15-13, 15-6 victory over San Angelo.

Lee will host Abilene Cooper Tuesday in a big second half outing. The junior varsity will kick things off at 6:30 p.m. while the varsity clash is set for 7:30.

Lee JV Captures 6th In Row

Tailback Jerry Moore got the Rebs off to a great start with a 65-yard TD scamper in the first period, and the Rebs got the two-point conversion on a pass from Tracy Rogers to Tim McAdams.

Robbie Wegner got the Steers on the scoreboard in the second period on a 20-yard run with Don Stump booting the PAT.

Kenneth Coffey latched on to a 60-yard TD bomb from quarterback Wade Cobb and Stumps' PAT made it 14-8 in favor of the Steers in the second period, but Lee scored with only 45 seconds left when Doug Guthrie took a five-yard pass from Rogers to make it 14-14. The kick by Moore failed.

Lee went in front, 21-14 in the third period when McAdams raced 30 yards for a score. This time, Moore's kick was good.

Big Spring tied the game, 21-21 in the final period on a 45-yard pass from Cobb to Coffey with Stump's PAT true.

Moore skipped six yards for the final score of the day for Lee late in the final period. The kick failed, however.

Lee is now 6-1 on the year and meets undefeated Odesst Permian next Thursday in Memorial Stadium.

Moore led the Lee running attack with 207 yards in 29 carries while McAdams picked up 108 in nine carries. Johnson was pleased with the play of David Windsor and John Marks. Windsor had a key interception in the third period and Marks' 30-yard punt return, set up a second half TD.

Big Spring is now 2-5 on the year with the loss.

MHS Girls Trip Steers

Midland High put together its relays, sets and spikes to polish off the Big Spring Steers, 15-11 and 15-13 Thursday night in District 5-4A girls volleyball action in the MHS Gymnasium.

It was a big victory for Coach Jo Ann Martin's Bulldogs who won the first half of the race with a 7-0 mark compared to Big Spring's 6-1 reading.

Karen Graham led the Bulldog attack in blocking three Steer shots and MHS enjoyed their best evening of spiking the ball with 30 of 34 well-executed spikes.

The Pack hit 43 of 50 attempts at the serving line and the dinking game was something else as MHS cut 19 of 20 to the hardwood floor.

Mary Raschke and Amy Grimes were deadly in the spiking department with Mary killing seven straight hard shots from the net and Amy cut the ball around single and double blocks all night long. Other standouts were Staci Moore and Linda Wimberley. Kathy Moore was the big gun from the endline. Tish Madsion, the Bulldog court general, was all over the court.

The junior varsity also won, 15-5 and 15-9.

Midland now owns a 22-4 record and stands 2-0 in the second half of district play.

Bosox Fans Honor Team

BOSTON (AP) — The Red Sox lost, but 12,000 faithful fans cheered them on.

"Wait 'till next year" shirts were in preparation almost from the minute the Reds' Cesar Geronimo caught Carl Yastrzemski's pop fly that ended the Red Sox' closest chance at baseball dominance since 1967.

The twelve thousand fans packed City Hall Plaza Thursday and squealed in emotional sympathy to a parade of their hero's.

"We're going to win that World Series yet," said team captain Yastrzemski. Boston last won the Series in 1918 and went all the way to the end to go down to St. Louis in 1967. There were two other Series in which the Sox played.

"I'd give anything in the world just to play those guys again.", Rick Burleson told the crowd.

The reception was staged by the city and attended by Manager Darrell Johnson and Massachusetts Gov. Michael S. Dukakis in addition to members of the team.

Pitcher Bill Lee, wearing a baseball cap backwards, got the loudest applause. "Everyone thought we were going to collapse," he said, "but we bounced back. Baseball is the American game."

The team was presented with a frosted-cake replica of Fenway Park complete with miniature players at a later reception inside City Hall.

Gov. Dukakis said he would make good on a bet with Ohio Gov. John Rhodes to turn over 20 pounds of cod fish if the Sox lost the Series.

Giants To Upend Cards

By HAL BOCK

NEW YORK (AP) — Upsets. Mr. Webster calls them the defeats of contestants favored to win. The Pro Picker calls them a headache—a Giant-sized headache.

Now who could have expected the lowly New York Gitnts to beat the previously undefeated Buffalo Bills last week? Who knew that winless Green Bay would score a touchdown in the final minute to beat the Dallas Cowboys?

Those were two classic upsets, and even though the Pro Picker came up with t couple of goodies of his own—Houston over Washington and Cincinnati over Oakland—the defeats of contestants favored to win locked him into a 7-6 week—the worst log of the season.

Undaunted, the Picker has returned to his crystal ball hoping to improve on the season's record of 47-18 that divides out to a .723 average. And just to get even with the upset maker, the Picker has gone for a couple of underdogs, hoping that lightning strikes twice.

The picks:

N.Y. Giants 21, St. Louis 17

The first rule of pro football prognosticating is never to go with the team that has only four days to prepare for an opponent. But the Giants are still sky-high after last Mondty night's upset of Buffalo and the momentum could carry them past over-rated St. Louis on Saturday.

N.Y. Jets 19, Baltimore 10

The Jets just aren't as bad as they looked in last week's shellacking at the hands of Miami. Really, they aren't. Are they?

Cincinnati 31, Atlanta 7

The Bengals are capable of t scoring explosion anytime, and last week's upset of Oakland has them flying.

Dallas 14, Philadelphia 10

The shotgun offense of the Cowboys will shoot down the Eagles, but it won't be easy.

Denver 24, Kansas City 14

The Chiefs have won two straight games and the Broncos just got by lowly Cleveland on Jim Turner's last-second field goal a week ago. But Denver has the better tools and should prevail comfortably.

Houston 21, Detroit 14

You have to love the Oilers, who have shed the patsy image to become a factor in the AFC Central race. Someday, Detroit may be as fortunate, but not this year.

Miami 16, Buffalo 14

The Dolphins can take over the AFC East lead this week, and don't think they don't know it. Buffalo still can't figure out what happened against the Giants last Monday night.

Los Angeles 27, New Orleans 7

James Harris and Co. feast on the patsy Saints, who are in the wrong place at the wrong time. The Rams are due to win big.

Pittsburgh 21, Green Bay 10

Oakland 34, San Diego 14

Look out. The Raiders have dropped two straight and this is just too good a team to lose three in a row. Looks bad for improving San Diego that they drew Oakland this week.

San Francisco 10, New England 7

The 49ers aren't as bad as everyone thought. And the Patriots aren't as good as everyone thought. The combination looks like another victory for San Francisco.

Washington 20, Cleveland 17

A surprise could happen here. The Browns are beginning to resemble a football team and they could throw a scare into the Redskins' greybeards. But Washington can't afford to lose this one.

Minnesota 34, Chicago 7

Did you know that Howard Cosell hosts a Saturday night show? If you listen closely in between Fran Tarkenton touchdowns you may hear something about it.

Porter Captures Lead By Two Over Bourassa

RANCHO SANTA FE, Calif. (AP) — Mary Porter of Phoenix, Ariz., shot a five-under-par 68 Thursday to take a two-stroke lead in the opening round of the Ladies Professional Golfers Association Classic at Whispering Palms Country Club.

Miss Porter had her best round since joining the pro tour two years ago, sinking six birdies on the 6,150-yard, par-73 course. One of those birdies included a 45-foot chip shot.

Jocelyn Bourassa of Quebec, Canada, was second with 70. Two golfers tied for third at 71, Jan Stevenson of Palm Springs, Calif., and Jerilyn Britz of Luverne, Minn.

Tournament favorites Sandra Palmer and Donna Caponi Young ended the day sixth and seventh, respectively. Palmer, of Boca Raton, Fla. was tied with three others at 74. Young, of Los Angeles, was grouped with four others at 75.

Darkness prevented 11 players from finishing their first rounds, including all-time LPGA money winner Kathy Whitworth. They will complete their opening rounds today.

Rice Czar Views Sports

HOUSTON (AP) — Rice University President Dr. Norman Hackerman says he's appointing a committee to evaluate the entire athletic program at Rice during the next six months.

"When Bill Peterson was coach I said we'd evaluate our athletic program at the end of five years," Hackerman said. "This is the fifth year."

Hackerman said the written report, to be presented next April, will include a recommendation concerning Rice's program and the direction it will take during the next 10 years.

In recent years, Hackerman said, Rice has been collecting almost $1 million in revenue from ticket sales, Southwest Conference television and bowl game stipends and alumni contributions.

Hackerman estimates total income to be $1 million compared to a budget of $1.25 million. "The cash loss is in the non-football area," he said. "Football pays its own way, not counting tuitions."

Berry Takes Lead In College Stats

SHAWNEE MISSION, Kan. (AP) — Washington and Lee has yet to win a football game this season, but its quarterback, Jack Berry, leads Division III in passing and total offense, according to the weekly figures released today by the NCAA Statistics Bureau.

Berry completed just eight passes in Saturday's 29-13 loss to Hampden-Sydney, but two of them were touchdown bombs of 73 and 79 yards. Overall he passed for 246 yards and rushed for an additional 53, although Washington and Lee's record dipped to 0-4-1.

Berry now leads his division with 17.2 completions and 227.4 total yards per game. Tim Whelan of Tufts leads Division III in rushing with 149.0 yards per game.

In Division II, quarterback Dan Hayes of Cal-Riverside is the top passer with 17.0 completions per game, North Dakota's Bill Deutsch is the leading rusher with 145.7 yards per game and quarterback Lynn Hieber of Indiana, Pa., leads in total offense 244.8 yards per game.

Other Division II leaders are Len Pesotini of Indiana, Pa. and Butch Johnson of Cal-Riverside in receiving, 49 catches; Dale Kasowski of North Dakota in scoring, 12.8 points per game; Terry Magee of Nicholls State in punting, 42.7 yards per kick; Marion Beavers of Nevada-Las Vegas in punt returns, 18.1 yards per runback, and Randy Ferrell of Northern Arizona in kickoff returns, 44.2 yards per return.

Cuervo were at the root of the criticism.

"Cheating," charged assistant coach Marshall Avener. "That's the only way to describe it. We realized there was going to be cheating, but we didn't think it was going to be anything like this.

"That's the way it goes though. It's the only game in town and you've got to play it.

"There's no way the Cuban could have scored as high as he did," snorted Frank Bare, vice president of the International Gymnastics Federation.

"The judges just beat a 17-year-old kid out of a medal," Schwenzfeier said, referring to Bart Conner, Morton Grove, Ill., who finished second to the Cuban in the parallel bars.

Sojourner Placed On Waivers

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Center Willie Sojourner, a four-year veteran of the American Basketball Association, was placed on waivers Thursday by the New York Nets.

Sojourner, 6-foot-8, averaged six points and 4.8 rebounds during his pro career which included two seasons with Virginia. He averaged 4.5 points and 3.4 rebounds last season.

Bryan's Dickey Impresses Opposing Football Coaches

BRYAN, Tex. (AP) — The Curtis Dickey Fan Club includes a loosely knit chapter of high school coaches whose careers have been placed in jeopardy by the sometimes bullish, other times waterbug runs of the Bryan High School senior running back.

Each club member has paid his dues in losses to the Viking football team, currently ranked No. 1 in Class 4A of The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll.

There are no formal club meetings. Primary functions of the club are to occasionally exchange Dickey Horror stories and to supply superlatives upon request.

Examples:

—"He reminds me of a bigger, faster Joe Washington (Oklahoma All-American). If there's a better running back in the nation, I'd like to see film on him. He's the most versatile back I've ever seen." (Coach W. T. Stapler, whose strong Conroe team lost to Bryan 28-15 in the second game of the season.)

—"He's the best back I've ever tried to defense and I've been in the business 24 years. Some track men don't make good football players because they're afraid to get out of their lane. Dickey has speed and he can put some moves on you." (Coach Gene Rogers, whose Killeen Kangeroos lost to the Vikings, 28-12.)

Dickey, a well-coordinated blend of strength and speed, likely will be the No. 1 plum college recruiters seek when the recruiting seasons begins.

The 6-2, 180 pounder is averaging 6.4 yards per carry and 115 yards per game through six games this season. He's scored 15 touchdowns, including one on an 80-yard kickoff return in a 62-6 victory over Cleburne last week.

Another segment of Dickey's fan club includes his head coach at Bryan, Merrill Green, and the scores of college recruiters who visit Green's office to watch Dickey on film.

"We coached Donny Anderson at Texas Tech and Lance Alworth at Arkansas," the well-traveled Green said. "This may sound silly to say, but Curtis Dickey is a combination of both of them." He's got the strength of Anderson and the acceleration of Alworth.

For all the excitement Dickey has created since joining the Bryan varsity mid-way through his sophomore year, Green says Dickey's greatness wasn't immediately recognized.

"He didn't have that great of a junior high career," Green said. "We'd heard a lot more about Mike Davis, the quarterback. When it came time to pick our varsity team, we decided to put only one of them on the varsity and Davis was the one we chose."

"In our great wisdom, we discovered by mid-season we were wrong and brought him up to the varsity," Green said. "Curtis is a very quiet, reserved kid.

"I think part of our assessmen at the times was that football was not that important to him, that he had an attitude problem, which certainly was not the case."

Quiet and reserved may be an understatement. Getting an expanded answer to a question from Dickey has to be as difficult as chasing him down on a football field.

"Have you thought much about where you want to go to college?" he is asked. Answer: "No." "You have both strength and speed, do you prefer inside or outside running?" Answer: "Outside."

"Bryan forfeited its first three games this year because of an ineligible player, did that bother the team?" Answer: "No."

Dickey, though a man of few words, is very polite and with a little prodding, did expand.

"I don't mind running inside but I think I'm better going outside. I can use my speed better out there.

"The forefeits didn't bother us because we'd already played the games on the field and won them. We can still win our district and the state championship."

"The only schools I've thought about attending so far are Texas A&M and Arizona State. Why Arizona State? Because they do everything to get you ready for the pros."

With that statement, Dickey's fan club expanded by the number of coaches on the Arizona State staff. Aggie staffers were charter members.

Florida Bank Sues Former Yank Star

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Former New York Yankees' shortstop Phil Rizzuto is being sued by a Florida bank for $150,000 in connection with an alleged loan default, court records show.

Contacted in New York, Rizzuto, now a Yankees broadcaster, acknowledged the couple had co-signed the loan for a friend who wanted to form a real-estate development company.

However, he denied any legal responsibility for the note.

"I have all kinds of indemnification papers at home saying I'm not responsible for paying the loan," Rizzuto said. "I did this out of friendship with a buddy of mine.

"It was the biggest mistake of . . . but that's what friendship will get you," he said.

Rizzuto refused to name the friend who asked him to sign the loan papers in June, 1973.

Hill Unconcerned Over WFL Collapse

DALLAS (AP) — Former Dallas Cowboy running back Calvin Hill says he expected the World Football League to fold, but he adds that the failure of the league does not terminate his contract with the Hawaii team.

Hill told the Dallas Times Herald that he "was not terribly surprised" that the league ceased operations Wednesday.

"It was not like I woke up this morning and the bottom suddenly was sinking," he said. "When I signed, I considered the possibilities. Based on all the newspaper reports lately, I've been conditioned that this might happen."

He said his contract with the Hawaiian team, $166,000 annually, was a personal services agreement, but "I could void the contract by discussing it."

Heated Debate On Constitution Continues

By The Associated Press

A vote on the proposed new state constitution is little more than a week away, and debate continues heated over revision of the 1876 document under which the state now is governed.

Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill and State Court of Criminal Appeals Judge John Onion stood on opposite sides of a debate platform Thursday night in San Antonio, sparring over possible unification of the state's highest courts.

Under the proposed new constitution, a single judicial system would comprise the supreme court, the courts of appeals, the district courts and circuit courts. That would in effect merge the supreme court and the courts of criminal appeals.

Onion challenged the need for such a merger, saying, "What good are speedy trials without speedy appeals?"

Hill said criminal appeals are running two years behind, and asked, "Why not unify our court system and put some management into it at the top?"

More than 200 persons attended the debate sponsored by the St. Mary's University student bar association.

Sen. Tom Creighton, D-Mineral Wells, made his 36th speech against the proposed new constitution in Cleburne Thursday, saying it would "give the legislature so much power it would be the true ruling class of Texas."

Various state organizations also continue to stand up and be counted on the constitution as the Nov. 4 referendum approaches.

Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco called on farmers and ranchers Friday to support the proposed revision, saying the new document would "return control of the governmental processes to the people..."

The executive board of the Texas Association of College Teachers also announced its endorsement of the document Thursday. The statement by Dr. Forest G. Hill, president of the association, said, "....public higher education in Texas will benefit significantly from the strengthening and streamlining of state government which passage of the entire constitutional revision will accomplish."

The board of directors of the Texas Civil Liberties Union was not so enthusiastic. Its policy statement Thursday endorsed only the general provisions article of the proposed new constitution. It opposed the proposed judiciary and voting and elections articles and took no position on the other five articles.

Voters also seem to be showing more interest in the constitutional revision than predicted by Secretary of State Mark White. Unusually heavy absentee voting was reported this week in the state's metropolitan areas, where the heaviest vote is expected on election day.

White has predicted that only 25 per cent of the state's five million voters would turn out for the referendum, but Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, Fort Worth and Austin all reported heavier-than-usual absentee voting.

Dallas County reported 276 absentee ballots, compared with 178 in the April constitutional election, and 175 in a county bond election in May.

In San Antonio, Bexar County officials reported 860 absentee votes. Lorena White of the absentee balloting office said that last April "we didn't have enough absentee ballots to put into a teacup."

Harris County officials reported that the 800 ballots they had received were more than for past special elections. Officials noted that Houston is electing a mayor and other city and school district officials.

Election officials in Fort Worth reported 273 absentee ballots cast so far, more than last April.

How's Your Hearing?

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

Send for this non-operating model now. Wear it in the privacy of your own home to see how tiny hearing help can be. It's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit. No wires lead from body to head.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 2188, Beltone Electronics, 4201 W. Victoria Street, Chicago, Ill. 60646.

WTCC Holding Midyear Meeting At Amarillo

AMARILLO — The West Texas Chamber of Commerce honored four West Texans and one community theater for their contributions to and promotion of the culture of West Texas during the WTCC midyear meeting here Thursday night.

The recipients of the 1975 awards were Mrs. Lou Cooley of Borger, Dr. I. F. Hudson of Stamford, Elmer Kelton of San Angelo, the people of the Fort Griffin Fandangle, and Thomas H. Barnett Jr. of Fort Worth, chairman of WTCC's Cultural Affairs Committee for the last 10 years.

Presentation of the awards was made during the annual Cultural Achievement Awards Banquet by Barnett who, in return, received his surprise award from President Frank Junell of San Angelo.

Each received an engraved silver vase following an audio-visual presentation highlighting the life and career of each. Robert Green and Marilynne Jacobs accepted the award for the people of the Fort Griffin Fandangle.

In addition to the silver vase, Barnett was presented a bound volume of a collection of letters from past WTCC award recipients during his 10 years as chairman of WTCC's Cultural Affairs Committee.

The WTCC midyear meeting opened Thursday at 1:30 p.m. with committee meetings of the WTCC Water Development Committee, Local Action Committee, Agriculture and Ranching Committee, and National Affairs Committee.

A meeting of the WTCC executive committee was held at 4 p.m.

A Quota Busters Breakfast honoring WTCC directors who had exceeded membership quotas for their cities launched today's activities, followed by the WTCC board of directors meeting.

The meeting closed with the annual midyear luncheon, with Lt. Gen. Samuel V. Wilson of Washington, D.C., deputy to the director of Central Intelligence for the Intelligence Community, as the speaker.

No Major Changes Made In Leasing Offshore Oil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department has made no major changes in its policy on leasing offshore oil rights, according to coastal state energy officials.

At the first meeting of a new Outer Continental Shelf Advisory Board, composed of state and federal officials, department planners repeated on Wednesday Interior's intention to offer offshore leasing permits for areas in California and Alaskan coastal waters later this year. Both states had requested more time.

Similarly, there has been no change in Interior policies to accelerate leasing or to continue issuing single leases for both exploration and development. Some states have called for major changes in these areas.

Preble Stoltz, director of planning and research for California, and Guy R. Martin, commissioner of natural resources for Alaska, said they were disappointed by the decision to lease off their states and added that they might seek a court delay of the plan.

Assistant Interior Secretary Royston C. Hughes represented the department at the advisory board meeting. Also in attendence were other federal officials and representatives of environment and energy planning agencies of 17 states.

Hughes said he did favor, in principle, a proposal to increase the flow of information on leasing between the states and the federal government. He also agreed to provide more copies of offshore environmental impact statements following a request by Glenn Paulson, assistant commissioner of environmental protection for New Jersey.

The next meeting of the board was tentatively set for early next year. It will probably be held in New Orleans so state representatives can visit Louisiana's already well-developed offshore petroleum facilities.

Oil Squeeze May Hamper Brazil's Political Plans

The Washington Post

RIO DE JANEIRO — The international oil squeeze, which has caused serious economic problems in many developing "third World" countries, may have even deeper political repercussions in Brazil.

High-priced crude oil from the Middle East could, indirectly, interfere with President Ernesto Geisel's plan to return Latin America's largest country to the democratic system, after 11 years of authoritarian military rule.

There is speculation that congressional and gubernatorial elections slated for 1978 will be affected.

The "scenario" goes like this:

1. Expensive foreign crude (Brazil produces only about 20 per cent of the oil it needs every year) is forcing the government to adopt unpopular but necessary economic belt-tightening measures.

2. The people will show their dissatisfaction by voting for the Brazilian Democratic Movement (MDB), the only legal opposition political party.

3. MDB will become strong enough to back a non-military man for president, in indirect balloting scheduled for early 1980.

4. The current military rulers could never accept such a possibility and will try to change the rules of the game now.

Brazil's leading political columnist, Carlos Castello Branco of Rio's Jornal do Brazil, wrote: "Prospects for a general election in 1978 could become as vain as the forecasts of self-sufficiency in oil a few hasty government officials Made (at the beginning of this year." He predicted that the regime will come up woth a "political solution" for 1978 — but that it won't necessarily be an "electoral solution."

What brought all this on was Geisel's surprise announcement in early October that Brazil will allow foreign petroleum companies to look for oil here under risk contracts. This was a bitter pill to swallow. It seemed to negate Brazilian policy that led to the founding of the state oil monopoly 22 years ago under the slogan: "The oil is ours."

Geisel, an ex-army general who formerly headed Petrobras, admitted that he — along with many others in the government — had been opposed to letting in foreign oil companies.

But the president tried to explain that risk contracts are necessary if Brazil is to right its disastrous balance-of payments deficit, which is quickly draining the treasury's gold and dollar reserves and pushing the foreign debt to an all-time high.

Geisel took additional measures, such as raising the price of gasoline (premium gas in Brazil now costs the equivalent of $1.80 a gallon, thought to be the most expensive in the world), doubling import duties on nonessential items and ordering federal agencies to drastically cut overseas purchases.

This was the first time the government admitted publicly that the shine was off Brazil's so-called "economic miracle", which followed a right-wing military coup here in 1964.

First reactions to the president's announcements from influential military brass — Geisel's actions are said to be closely checked by a secretive clique of ultra-anticommunist officers — were favorable. The respected newspaper O Estado de Sao Paulo, quoting unnamed military sources in Brasilia, said the armed forces have total confidence in Geisel in this case, largely because of his Petrobras experience.

Winter Invades Texas Panhandle

An early breath of winter invaded the Texas Panhandle today with brisk north winds and near-freezing temperatures.

At dawn the cold front that brought the chilly weather stretched from Childress to El Paso this morning, dropping pre-dawn temperatures into the mid-30s. A few showers were reported in the El Paso area.

The front was expected to move southeastward across the state, bringing cooler and clear weather into Central Texas by early Saturday, The Associated Press reported.

Cloudy to partly cloudy skies and mild temperatures were reported at dawn southeast of a line from Dallas to Del Rio, ahead of the front, and some scattered showers were expected lead the front into that area by Saturday.

Temperatures at dawn ranged from the mid-30s in the Panhandle to the mid-70s in South Texas. The chilliest spot was Dalhart at 35, and Corpus Christi was the warmest with a balmy 76.

A front that moved out of East Texas Friday dumped heavy rains in that part of the state. Galveston was the wettest with nearly four inches of rain.

Warm temperatures were reported across the state Friday, topped by 92-degree readings at Alice at Cotulla.

Midland, Andrews and Lamesa reported overcast conditions with cold and chilling breezes.

Stanton had the sunshine out in full force, as did Crane.

Man Beaten, Robbed

A Fort Worth man allegedly was beaten with his crutches and then robbed of $40 to $45, a small color television and various credit cards late Thursday night, the Midland County Sheriff's office said.

Ray Jenkins, 26, of Fort Worth, told deputies his car had broken down one mile east of FM1788 on Interstate 20 and "two young men had stopped to help him."

from 7,600 feet to 4,050 feet.

The wildcat test is six miles south of No. 2-A, 990 feet from south and east lines of section 33, block 18, SPRR, ½ mile north of the Sterling County line.

It has been shut in for bottomhole pressure tests. It tested no gauges, through perforations at 7,429-7,461 feet.

Dunigan Plans Borden Outpost

James P. Dunigan, Inc. of Abilene, has made plans for a ¾-mile east outpost to Ellenburger production in the Fluvanna, Southwest field of Borden County. It is No. 12 M. A. Parks.

Drillsite is 1,980 feet from north and 2,640 feet from east lines of section 583, block 97, H&TC survey, one location northeast of upper Strawn production in the multipay field. Planned depth is 8,600 feet.

Morrow Section Gains Extension

Morrow gas production has been extended 1½ mile southwest in the Boyd field of Eddy County, with completion by Roger C. Hanks of Midland, No. 1 Trudy Communitized.

Calculated, absolute open flow was for 1.4 million cubic feet of gas per day, producing from pay zone behind perforations at 9,018-9,028 feet.

Offset To Irion Field Scheduled

A northeast offset to the one-well C.B. (San Angelo) field of Irion County has been staked by Simpson-Mann Oil Producers, operating from San Angelo.

It is No. 2 Cotton Brooks which spots 1,653 feet from south and 1,100 feet from west lines of section 2, block 3, H&TC survey, two miles east of Mertzon. Planned depth is 1,350 feet.

The pool opener, Hinson Brothers of Houston, No. 4 C. B. Brooks, finaled last January to bail six barrels of 47-gravity oil per day, through perforated interval at 1,242-1,248 feet.

Runnels Sector Gets Stepout Try

John W. Barbee of Abilene, has scheduled a southwest stepout to the one-well Loco Rico (Gardner "A") field of Runnels County, about seven miles northeast of Ballinger.

No. 1-B Raymond Hoffman, slated to 3,900 feet, spots 3,283 feet from southeast and 5,756 feet from southwest lines of Austin & Williams survey 262. It is contracted to be drilled to 3,900 feet.

The field opener, Barbee No. 1 Hoffman, finaled August 6, for 87 barrels of 42-gravity oil daily, through a 14-64-inch choke and perforations at 3,724-3,734 feet.

Stepout To Start In King County

Taubert, Steed, Gunn & Medders of Wichita Falls staked site for No. 12-N S. B. Burnett Estate as a ½-mile northeast stepout to the four-well conglomerate oil sector of the Anne Tandy field of King County.

Location is 660 feet from southeast and 1,450 feet from northeast lines of section 9, block X, R. M. Thomson survey, 17 miles southeast of Guthrie. Planned depth is 5,900 feet.

Tri-Star Stakes Runnels Tester

It is No. 1-A Ralph Burns, located one mile east of Wilmeth and 1,500 feet west of the depleted Hall (Jennings) field.

FPC Allows Virginia Firm To Bypass Federal Controls

By JAMES L. ROWE JR.
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — The Federal Power Commission Thursday gave a Virginia textile manufacturer permission to buy natural gas directly from a Texas producer without regard to federally-set controls on the price of the fuel.

The FPC said that Dan Rivtr Mills could buy the gas at a price about three times that set by the power commission. Dan River, the major employer in Danville, Va., has said that it would have to shut down its operations and idle 8,100 people if its supplies of natural gas are cut off Nov. 15, as expected.

Raymond C. Gourley, vice president of Dan River, said he had not seen the FPC ruling, but said that even if the company gets 500,000 cubic feet a day from the Texas producer, it could still not operate economically.

Gourley said the company uses about 2 million cubic feet of gas each day and needs approval from the FPC for a similar purchase of about 700,000 cubic feet a day from a Louisiana gas producer and permission from the Federal Energy Administration to use propane (bottled gas) for industrial purposes to make up the remaining 800,000 cubic feet of its daily needs.

He indicated there was a possibility that Dan River might not lose all of the 2 million cubic feet it now gets from the city of Danville.

The decision was thr first under a power commission directive issued last August which said that industrial customers could search out their own supplies of natural gas if they cannot substitute another fuel for gas in the face of curtailment of their gas supplies.

Under FPC rules, residential users of natural gas have a higher priority for service than do industrial users.

The latter move is the more far-reaching and controversial, though both are sure to come under attack by consumer groups who feel that energy prices have risen too much and too fast.

Present FEA regulations say that oil companies can raise prices only once in any month and then only when when they can justify price increases on the basis of higher costs.

Sources said that the FEA is proposing the rules change only because of the oil glut in the market today, with gasoline prices declining a little and with fuel oil prices rising only slightly as the winter heating season approaches.

The rule that oil companies may raise prices no more than once a month has been in effect two years. It covers all crude oil and its refined products, including gasoline, heating oil, jet fuel and diesel fuel.

The FEA's action Tuesday that allows bottle gas retailers to raise their prices almost surely means that bottle gas (propane) prices actually will go up two cents a gallon because of the looming shortage of natural gas this winter.

Bottled gas is the first fuel that consumers substitute for natural gas, which the Federal Power Commission says is in such short supply that it expects natural gas users to be cut off from deliveries of three trillion cubic feet of gas. This is almost 20 per cent of natural gas production in the U.S.

The FEA did not relax its rules on wholesale bottled gas prices, saying that propane is sold in such bulk at wholesale price that it does not have the cost problems that retailers do.

"This increase reflects non-product costs for retailers," an FEA statement said. "And non-product costs are those incurred for payment of wages, rents, utility bills, taxes, interest and insurance payments."

Wholesale bottle gas sells for about 19 cents a gallon in the U.S., with another 7 to 12 cents being tacked onto retail prices. About half the bottled gas sold in the U.S. is sold at retail to farmers and retail dwellers to cook, dry crops and heat homes and barns.

An FPC spokesman said that five other companies have filed applications with the FPC to transport natural gas at rates above the federal ceiling. He said that other companies are now expected to apply because of the favorable ruling in the Dan River case.

Only about half of the 22 trillion cubic feet of natural gas used in the country each year is shipped from one state to another. The rest is consumed within the state where it is produced and is not subject to federal price controls.

The price of this so-called "intrastate" gas is about three times as high as the federally-controlled price and as a result gas producers have become increasingly reluctant to commit their product to the interstate market.

The FPC sets the price at which natural gas producers can sell gas to interstate pipeline companies such as Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp. which supplies Danville. It also regulates the price at which the pipeline can sell its gas to industrial, residential and commercial customers.

Technically, the FPC Thursday granted permission to Transcontinental Pipeline to carry the gas for the textile manufacturer. Dan River will pay the Lester Moore Tank and Supply Co. in Texas $1.50 per thousand cubic feet for the gas. The federally-set price is about 50 cents per thousand cubic feet.

FEA Okays Bottle Gas Price Increase

Laser System Beats Pap Smear

BOSTON (AP) — Scientists say a new laser light system for identifying cancer cells is faster and possibly more accurate than the familiar Pap smear test.

The new system, which distinguishes between the light patterns of normal and abnormal cells when the laser beam shines through them, may prove even more useful in rapidly identifying types of white blood cells, the researchers said Thursday.

Different kinds of white cells fight certain kinds of infections. A quick cell test can help doctors make hour-by-hour checks on how a person is doing warding off an infection, they said.

Dr. Gary Salzman of the laboratory's biophysics and instrument group said the system has been used successfully in detecting cervical and vaginal cancer in laboratory testing.

Since all kinds of cells scatter light differently to form distinct patterns or "signatures," a catalogue of light patterns can be stored in a computer for instant comparison and identification of new samples, he said.

The new system works by passing cells in a salt solution through a plastic tube at a rate of 60,000 cells per minute. As each cell progresses individually through the flow chamber, it is struck by a low-power laser beam and the light is scattered.

A detector system converts the scatter pattern to electrical signals which are stored in a computer memory for comparison with similar cell types.

Salzman said initial tests of 40 cell samples taken from women, which compared the experimental laser-computer method with the Pap smear test, showed "the accuracy of our system is quite consistent with that of the Pap smear in detecting cancer cells and we think it will prove to be better."

The system must undergo further testing and is at least two years away from manufacture, he said.

Parents To Hear Baylor Professor

Dr. Ted Powers, professor and chairman of Baylor University's department of health, physical education and recreation, will be guest speaker at the Tuesday meeting of the Midland chapter, Baylor Parents League.

The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of First Baptist Church. It is open to parents of all Midland students currently attending the university and former Baylor students living in the area.

Mrs. Jack Herring of Waco, league director, will represent the university at the meeting.

Texas DPS Deliberately Vague About Security For Briscoe

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Department of Public Safety doesn't even like to be asked about security for Gov. Dolph Briscoe, and the governor doesn't see the need for it.

"If you want to do a public service, don't print anything about security," said Sgt. Billy Williamson, who has been in charge of protecting Briscoe since he took office in 1973.

Briscoe said he is not aware of any increase in security as a result of recent attempts on President Ford's life.

DPS headquarters, which Williamson said should do the talking, was deliberately vague about the extent of its gubernatorial security arrangements.

"I can't give you specific numbers. It varies depending on where and when. We try to evaluate this in accordance with the conditions of the time. We try to do the best job we can," said DPS spokesman Bill Carter.

Visitors and deliveries are logged each day.

Like all public officials, Briscoe receives occasional threats on his life, the DPS said.

"The threats are evaluated and appropriate steps are taken. Mostly they are not really enough to be too concerned about. It has always been a problem . . . Most of the time they are just kooks who just feel a need to blow off steam," said one source.

When Briscoe makes public appearances, he is protected not only by Williamson but sometimes by plainclothes DPS officers and local police. During a recent visit to Olney, Electra and Wichita Falls, one additional DPS officer assisted Williamson.

Baylor Student Foundation Names Three Midlanders

WACO — Three Midland men attending Baylor University are among the 74 new members of Baylor Student Foundation for 1975-76.

The Midlanders are John P. Bates Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Bates of 2801 W. Shandon St.; James B. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Johnson of 3311 Dengar St., and John C. Newton, son of Mrs. Virginia Ramsey of 3335 Fannin St.

The foundation is comprised of 87 members who are junior and senior students working in the areas of university public relations, student recruitment and student scholarships.

Mexican Police, Troops Kill 8 Persons, Wound 14

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Troops and police killed eight peasants occupying land on the outskirts of Yaqui in the northern Mexican state of Sonora and wounded 14 of them, all critically, Red Cross authorities reported today.

The sources said more than 400 peasants had occupied the land for two days when the army and the police confronted them Thursday with tear gas and machine guns.

A Red Cross spokesman said it was not known which side fired first, but no casualties were reported among the troops and police.

Other sources said the peasants were dissatisfied with the pace of the government's land redistribution program. Some of the peasants were reported to have been waiting for land for more than 25 years.

The governor of Sonora, Carlos Armando Briebich, said in a television interview that most of the "invading" group were members of the Small Property Owners Federation.

But other sources said some of the demonstrators represented two farm workers' unions — the Independent Farm Workers Central and the General Workers and Peasants Federation.

An unconfirmed report said 35 college students were arrested in nearby Ciudad Obregon for "stirring up and encouraging the peasants to rise against authorities."

Philadelphia Area Residents Already Bicentennial Weary

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—John Williams has already had his fill of the bicentennial, and it's not even 1976 yet.

Williams' frayed nerves are the product of living history. He's a resident of Elfreth's Alley, the oldest continuously occupied residential street in the nation and a Bicentennial tourist's "must" stop.

The cobblestone alley and its 31 small brick homes — many dating back to the early 1700s and nearly all restored — is down the street from the Betsy Ross house and five blocks from Independence Hall.

"We accept the fact that people will be interested in these 18th century houses and we get used to crowds walking up and down, but sometimes it gets ridiculous," said Williams, who has lived on the Alley four years.

The Alley's residents want local Bicentennial planners to institute some kind of crowd control. One home on the Alley has been restored and opened as a museum, but the others are private residences.

Local planners have predicted that as many as 10 million tourists will visit the city next year.

John Egan, another Alley resident, also has had problems with the crush of tourists. He says the type of visitor has changed.

"In the past, they generally were more knowledgeable and less aggressive," explained Egan. "You could even chat with them without feeling used."

But now, he said, "They're doing Philadelphia and we're just another stop on the tour."

One day, says Williams, one of his neighbors was working outside when a woman walked up and tapped him on the chest, demanding, "Young man, are you trained to dispense information?"

Ford Pickups. Built Texas-tough.

(R.L. Polk & Co. figures)

...Ford's Durability Record

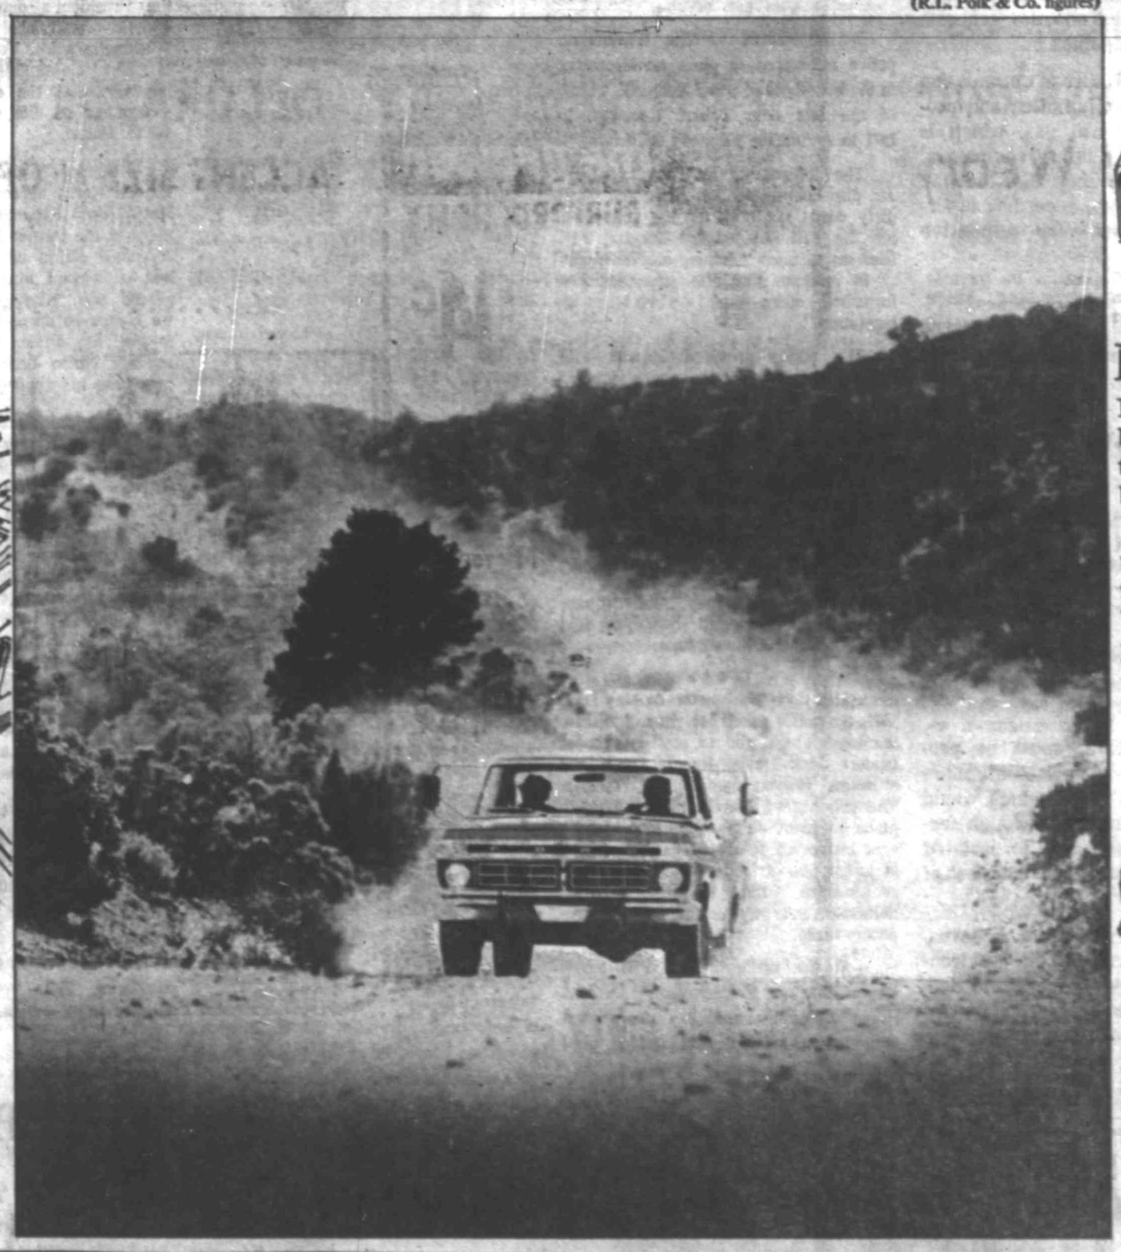

Ford's record over the past 12 years for all of its truck models doesn't prove how long the '76 models will last. But it should give you a lot of confidence in the way Ford builds trucks. Here's something to make you feel even more confident. A good hard look at today's Fords. The way they're put together and how they compare with other pickups on some important points, because these '76 Fords are tough trucks . . . built strong from the frame up.

Rugged Ford Frame

The siderails in a Ford pickup frame are as deep as 8" and they're bridged by six husky crossmembers. But Ford's frame isn't just strong—it's different.

The Ford frame widens out from the cab back. This gives broadbase support for the load area. Moreover, it provides room for fuel tanks—both standard and optional auxiliary models—to be mounted between the frame rails. That's true only of Ford.

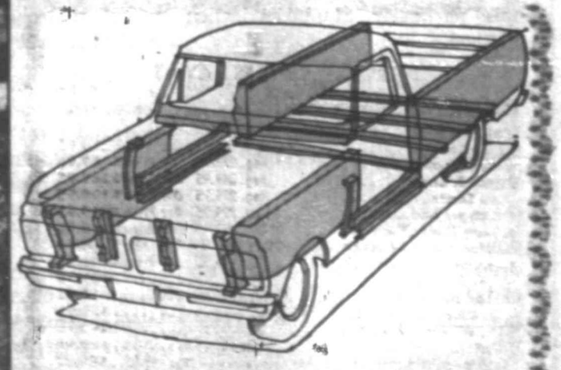

Durable Box

Nobody builds a pickup box like Ford. Ford's box is all-welded and made of large stampings to reduce the number of joints. Tailgate and body sides are double-wall all the way.

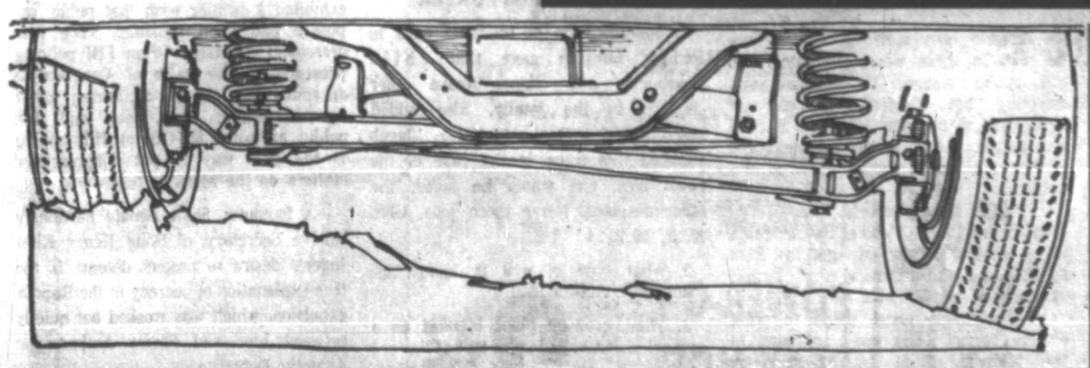

In addition, body sidewalls curve to meet the floor. This eliminates an area where rust may occur, and makes the box easy to clean. This is an example of quality construction you won't find in other trucks.

Galvanized Body Parts

Every Ford Styleside has over 200 sq. ft. of galvanized sheetmetal. It's in vital areas like rocker panels, cab sills and body sidewalls. And it's an extra measure Ford takes to keep pickups looking young, lasting long.

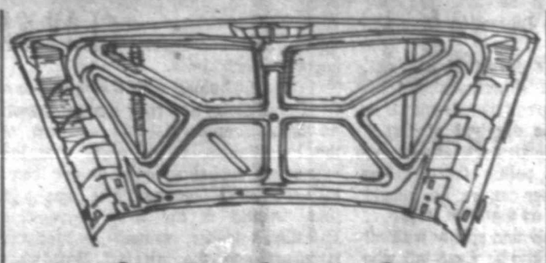

Exclusive Twin-I-Beam Front Suspension

Ford's Twin-I-Beam is the only pickup suspension design today that wasn't borrowed from a car. It's the only one with the built-in strength of two forged I-Beam axles, one for each wheel.

Each wheel is cushioned by a big coil spring. Each can step over bumps independently for easy ride and handling.

Twin-I-Beam is also one of the areas where Ford pickups are engineered to reduce scheduled maintenance needs. Wheel alignment requires only one-third as many adjustment points as other suspensions.

Nobody but Ford has Twin-I-Beam.

Massive Ford Hood

Try this simple test.

Open the hood and grab it with both hands. Twist it. Shake it. Then look under it to see why it's so solid. You'll find a bridgelike structure welded to the hood to form a single rigid unit. It's designed this way to help prevent hood flutter as you drive along the road.

Best V-8 Mileage

Ford has the best gas mileage rating of any V-8 pickup according to U.S. Government Environmental Protection Agency tests.

Here's the record set in 1976 EPA tests by Ford's F-100 with optional 302 V-8 and standard 3-speed manual transmission:

24 MPG highway, 16 MPG city.

And that's for a regular, full size Ford V-8 pickup! Of course, these figures are EPA estimates as published in the 1976 EPA/Federal Energy Administration Buyer's Guide. Your actual mileage will vary with your pickup's condition, optional equipment, and where and how you drive.

'Financially Viable'

Alan Erwin, a member of the new Texas Public Utilities Commission, said that although he hopes to keep utility rates down, utility companies must remain "financially viable" to cope with the growth of the state.

This certainly must have been good news to the utility firms operating in the Lone Star State. It should be good news to all Texas consumers.

Erwin met informally last Saturday with the Public Utilities Committee of the State Bar of Texas, during the Texas Consumer Association convention at Houston.

"I would hope," he said, "that the utilities are financially viable and able to cope with the growth in this state.

"If we ruin that, I think we are doing a disservice to the consumer."

Utility companies certainly must have a fair rate of return on their investments if they are to be expected to meet growth challenges or to provide continually improved services.

The commissioner seems to be approaching the matter in a sound, practical manner.

The commission will assume all authority over regulation of utility companies other than rate setting on Jan. 1. Next Sept. 1, it will take over rate-making matters involving telephone companies, and on Sept. 1, 1977, it will take over rate-making for electric, water and sewer utilities in unincorporated areas.

The commission also will hold public hearings on rate requests by utility companies.

It is good to know also that the utility companies, according to Erwin, have been very responsive so far.

Secondary Recovery

Secondary recovery, as most persons in the oil patch know, is a valuable tool in the recovery of oil from certain fields.

A number of Permian Basin fields produce additional oil through this particular fluid injection method.

The nation certainly needs all the oil which can be recovered from known reservoirs. And secondary recovery does this very thing.

Yet, a proposal in Congress, aimed at protecting sources of drinking water, would force many of these fields to shut down, leaving countless barrels of oil in place.

Sherman Hunt of Dallas, retiring president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, said that under the proposed bill, the industry would carry the entire burden of proving no threat to drinking water sources, regardless of where the fields are located.

Drinking water must be protected from any such contamination, but most fields which would produce additional oil through secondary recovery are in isolated areas which are not sources of drinking water.

The burden, Hunt believes, should be placed on the Environmental Protection Agency to designate areas where secondary recovery possibly might damage drinking water supplies.

Ford's Horrendous Dollar Gap Revealed

BY ROWLAND EVANS

WASHINGTON — The stubborn refusal of David Packard, finance chairman of President Ford's campaign committee, to broaden his razor-thin money-raising target far beyond Republican fatcats is causing consternation and anger among some of Mr. Ford's political aides.

Instead of mass mailings — a proven fund-raising technique which involves tens of thousands of small donors — Packard's solicitations so far have been limited to a pitifully inadequate number of party fatcats who have received Packard mailgrams and telephone calls asking for large contributions.

The result has been catastrophic: only $707,000 collected, virtually the entire amount from well-heeled donors giving up to $1,000 each (the legal maximum by a single contributor to a single candidate).

But when party officials close to President Ford try to explain the facts of life to Packard, the multimillionaire California industrialist (and former Deputy Secretary of Defense) is infuriatingly patronizing. His message: I know better than you do.

What Packard fails to understand is the enormous political dividends accruing to any candidate who collects small amounts from a large number of contributors, each of whom immediately has a financial stake in the election.

"The trouble with Packard," one high-level Ford operative told us, "is that he thinks like a donor, not a collector, and doesn't understand much about politics."

The fact that non-candidate Ronald Reagan has been able to raise almost $3 for every $4 raised for an incumbent President has sent shock waves through the President's political entourage. This is acutely true of experienced political experts who are close to the President but are cut off from direct contact with the Ford campaign committee (the White House end of which is under control of chief of staff Donald Rumsfeld).

Packard's skepticism about the proven political assets of mass mail-solicitation is its cost. "A very expensive way to raise money," he has told friends. But the offset to cost is the huge number of grass-roots contributors making pocket-book commitments: two-thirds of Reagan's 15,000 contributions, for example, are less than $100 each; less than one per cent of Mr. Ford's are under $100 — and many are the $1,000 legal maximum.

A footnote: Adding misery to the President's campaign woes are the fund-raising difficulties being encountered by Packard's state finance chairmen. In one Southern state, a seasoned fund-raiser is striking out. "They say they're not interested in Ford because they're not sure about his politics," he told us.

SENATE SPY

One of the many questions asked by the polite Soviet diplomat at a cozy luncheon with a liberal Senate staff aide in the Peking Restaurant here earlier this year was this: What territorial concessions is Israel prepared to make to Syria on the Golan Heights?

That diplomat, whose name is Grigory Rapota, and whose assigned station as a spy was the U.S. Congress, left for home-leave in Russia shortly after the Peking Restaurant lunch. A few days after he returned to duty here, he was quietly sent packing (without any announcement or any Soviet retaliation against the U.S. embassy in Moscow). Reason: espionage.

The Rapota case, unreported until now, highlights Soviet KGB agents, operating as legitimate diplomats, having the run of the Senate and House dining rooms, committee hearings, and congressional offices under circumstances tailormade for spying.

That is why some well-informed members of Congress are livid that the Rapota case was not publicized by the Ford administration when it occurred. High-level administration officials told us that there were "peculiar" circumstances in the Rapota case which ruled out public disclosure, but they exhibited a similar wish that public exposure had been possible. Since congressional resistance to an FBI policing presence in the halls of Congress is an added handicap in scrutinizing Soviet agents working there, they said, full public exposure of Capitol Hill spying is the best way to put congressional staffers on the alert.

A footnote: Some Senate hardliners believe Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's desire to protect detente is the true explanation of secrecy in the Rapota expulsion, which was worked out quietly between him and Soviet Ambassador Anatoliy Dobrynin.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By JACK ANDERSON
with Les Whitten

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — The Washington police attempted to plant an informant in the household of Ethel Kennedy, widow of the late Sen. Robert Kennedy, in 1971 to spy on the Kennedy crowd.

The informant, E. Robert Merritt Jr., also committed burglaries and other dirty deeds not only for the police but for the FBI. Indeed, confidential FBI files say of him: "Nothing has developed ... to indicate that the informant has furnished other than reliable information."

The police provided Merritt with Ethel Kennedy's private phone number and home address. He was instructed to apply for a job opening as gardener-driver at the Kennedy residence and then to use the position to gather information about the friends, associates and members of the Kennedy family.

This particular plot fell through, but he completed many even more bizarre undercover assignments. Under the guidance of his attorney, Alan Cilman, the 31-year-old Merritt has now told us about some of his exploits:

—When anti-war demonstrators descended upon Washington on May Day, 1971, the police asked Merritt to infiltrate the inner circle and to spy on activist leaders Jack Davis, Rennie Davis and a young lawyer named Ray Twohig. The police gave Merritt pills and marijuana to plant on Twohig. Merritt also was instructed to distribute bad drugs, including blue-striped capsules that caused nausea, and to disrupt the demonstrations by cutting the microphone wires.

—At the instigation of FBI agent William Tucker, Merritt entered the Red House Bookstore, which is associated with prison reform, and swiped mail which he turned over to the FBI.

—The undercover operative also picked up a box of addressed envelopes left outside the Union of American Hebrew Congregations and delivered them to FBI agent Terry O'Connor.

—Merritt also was instructed to spy on the Institute for Policy Studies, a respected left-wing research group. Told to take anything he "could get away with," he walked off with a sack that turned out to contain first-class letters. He turned over the mail to the FBI's Tucker, who retained it for study and later asked him to return it.

—Both the FBI and Washington police asked Merritt for any gossip he could glean about the following Members of Congress: Senators Tom Eagleton, D-Mo., Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., Ted Kennedy, D-Mass., Charles Mathias, R-Md., George McGovern, D-S.D., Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., Ed Muskie, D-Me., William Proxmire, D-Wis., Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., and Stuart Symington, D-Mo., also Representatives Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., Mario Biaggi, D-N.Y., Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., John Conyers, D-Mich., Ron Dellums, D-Calif., Don Edwards, D-Calif., Walter Fauntroy, D-D.C., Richard Ichord, D-Mo., Claude Pepper, D-Fla., and Charles Wiggins, R-Calif.

Footnote: The two FBI agents, William Tucker and Terry O'Connor, declined to comment. Tucker's superior, Nick Stames, also refused to comment but promised to investigate any questions of impropriety. Some of the Washington policemen, involved with Merritt, had no comment; others did not return our calls.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: Susan Ford, the President's daughter, is the star of her political science class at Washington's Mt. Vernon College. Some of her classmates are grumbling, however, that the course is becoming a seminar on life with father at the White House.

—Richard Nixon's confidant, Rabbi Baruch Korff, agrees with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's private assessment of the former President. Kissinger described Nixon as an "odd, artificial and unpleasant man." The Rabbi also agreed with Kissinger it was unusual for a man so uncomfortable with people to run for office. Korff explained to us that Nixon became a politician to overcome his shyness.

—Art Sampson, the federal government's former chief housekeeper, was supposed to leave the General Services Administration on October 15. But he will remain on the payroll as a consultant at a $37,800 annual salary. The White House asked him to advise his successor about such thorny problems as GSA's custody of the Nixon papers and dealings with the computer industry.

—Japan's Emperor Hirohito was the first to sign his name in Vice President Nelson Rockefeller's new guest book. With great dignity, the emperor began scratching his name in the book. But his hand slipped, and he spilled ink all over the blank pages.

—Conservatives now use Congresswoman Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., as the yardstick for assessing liberals. The Conservative Committee for the Survival of a Free Congress, for example, has targeted 35 House liberals for defeat in 1976. The victims were chosen by comparing their voting records with those of battling Bella.

A CHANGING WORLD—

Senator Baker And 'Junket' Worth Money

By JOHN PINKERMAN
Editor, Copley News Service

Among the overseas junkets taken by members of Congress during recent recesses were two that make for an interesting comparison. Both were to the Middle East, a volatile area vital to the interests of the United States.

One trip was made by Sen. William L. Scott, R-Va., the other by Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn. Scott, in 1974, reportedly was characterized as the "dumbest congressman of them all" in a poll of 200 colleagues, newsmen and lobbyists. Baker is best known to the public for the even-handed and serious manner he used in the Senate select committee's handling of the Richard Nixon travesties.

Scott's Mideast trip has been reported in a Washington newspaper as being a "diplomat's nightmare." The senator, the newspaper claimed, showed incredible ineptness and in the words of a State Department official, "managed to insult almost every country he visited."

The results of Baker's trip are printed in a report entitled "Peace and Stability in the Middle East," published by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee (ironically, Baker since has been kicked off the committee in a Democratic power grab that reduced GOP representation on the body).

Baker's report makes excellent reading for anyone interested in a fair and unbiased view of the situation that continues to pit Israelis vs. Arabs. The senator does not pretend to have easy solutions for the crises: Israel vs. Syria, Israel vs. Egypt, Israel vs. Jordan, Israel vs. the Palestinian Liberation Organization.

But, completely devoid of bombast, Baker has warned Americans and his friends in the Congress that despite U.S. commitment to the survival of Israel, "and to this particular aspect of American foreign policy there is no alternative ... neither can we, nor should we, turn our backs on the Arab states ... We must deal evenly and openly with all the nations of the Middle East—all who are willing to assume the mutual responsibilities and maintain the mutual advantages inherent in mature participation in what is rapidly becoming an interdependent world community."

However, when Baker uses the words "all" Arab states he comes as close as anyone has to including the Palestinians and his report of talks in Israel, Jordan, Lebanon, Egypt, Saudi Arabia, with Palestinian groups and PLO leader Yasir Arafat himself, indicates that at some future date—if there ever is to be real peace in the Mideast—both Israel and the United States may have to deal officially with the Palestinians and probably with Arafat.

Arafat is remembered in the United States as the gun-carrying tyrant who ranted and raved from a United Nations rostrum that some day the Israelis would be wiped out and the Palestinians would be restored to what now is Israel.

Baker's conversations paint a somewhat different picture—a picture that shows Arafat as the most moderate of Palestinian leaders, as a man who increasingly rejects the terrorism occasionally associated with Arab forays against Jews and against those who even negotiate with Jews.

The PLO, along with the Syrian-based Palestinian guerrilla group known as Saiqa, represents 90 per cent of the Palestinians, Baker says, with the extremists including only 10 per cent. In Lebanon, Baker says, he was told that "Arafat is the most responsible Palestinian leader, without question the strongest and the wisest." But, what do Arafat and the so-called responsible elements of the Palestinians want?

"A national existence like any other people," a PLO leader told Baker, "an idea we learned from you"—referring to the American Revolution.

In conversations with Arafat, Baker found the man more flexible than he expected, even though the situation remains dangerous. While Arafat stated a requirement that "Palestinian authority be established on any territory that can be liberated," he also said, when asked what the PLO would settle for, "Whatever Israel can be persuaded to give up." When Baker talked about PLO violence, Arafat said, "For 17 years we sat in our (refugee) camps and did not shoot one bullet against anyone...We gained more misery and remained in our camps."

Baker received what he considered realistic assessments also in Jordan and Saudi Arabia and particularly in the latter nation did he get more advice that if the United States would extend the hand of official acceptance of Arafat and the "moderate" PLO as representing the Palestinians the road to peace would ease considerably.

Baker's own view of Arafat may be seen in these words: "Contrary to the public image, Mr. Arafat was anything but strident in tone or belligerent in manner. His style is mild and genial, but it is the mildness and geniality, I would judge, of a skillful politician."

Finally, Baker reports these words from Crown Prince Fahd of Saudi Arabia as to whether Arafat can get the PLO to renounce the destruction of Israel: "Nothing is unobtainable."

Baker takes great pains to point out he cannot offer easy solutions in the Mideast. That bit of modesty notwithstanding, his report adds considerable sober and useful dialogue on a critical subject.

Unlike the trip of his colleague, his "junket" was worth far more than the $16,000 in tax money reportedly spent by Scott on a "diplomat's nightmare."

Watkins To Call M-Squares Dance

Nelson Watkins, a nationally-known dance caller from La Mesa, Calif., will be the caller for a dance sponsored by the M-Squares group here tonight.

Watkins is one of the nation's few yodeling callers, it was announced.

The dance is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. at the M-Squarena on Warren Road in southwest Midland.

A preponderance of persons listed in "Who's Who" were born in January and February.

Dallas To Forego Yule Decorations

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Chamber of Commerce has decided that $25,000 is too much to spend for the Christmas decorations it traditionally has hung on downtown streets.

So there won't be any this year.

The holiday decorations have been hung for years from light posts along three primary streets in the central business district.

A certified check or bank money order, issued by a bank satisfactory to the City, in the full amount of the total bid submitted, payable without recourse to the City of Midland, must accompany the bidder's proposal, as a guaranty that the bidder will accept a conveyance of said land from the City if he is successful. Bids without the required check or money order will not be considered.

The City of Midland will issue a Special Warranty Deed and the bidder must satisfy himself as to title and acquire all desired abstracts and other title information or insurance solely at his own expense, and all other costs of sale, if any, must be borne solely by the successful bidder.

The proposed sale and Special Warranty Deed will be subject to the following conditions and covenants which shall expressly be made a part of the deed, to-wit:

"The Grantor hereby reserves for itself and the general public the right of flight for the passage of aircraft through the airspace above the surface of said land, together with the right to cause in such airspace such noise as may be inherent in the operation of aircraft now known or hereafter used for navigation of or flight in the air, using said airspace for landing at, taking off from, or operation on the Midland Airpark.

"And provided further that this conveyance is expressly made subject to those restrictions and conditions contained in the release instrument executed between the City of Midland, Texas, and the United States of America, on October 30, 1957, recorded in Vol. 51, page 47, of the Release Records of Midland County, Texas.

"SAVE AND EXCEPT all of the oil, gas and other minerals in, to and under the land herein conveyed, together with the right of ingress, egress and access to the subsurface only, at all times for the purpose of exploring, drilling for, mining and producing any such oil, gas and other minerals. Provided further that the Grantor hereby expressly waives and releases any rights of ingress, egress and access to the surface of said land herein conveyed for such purposes of exploring, drilling for, mining and producing any such oil, gas and other minerals. And provided still further, that as an express limitation upon the reservation by Grantor of title to the oil, gas and other minerals in, on and under the herein conveyed land, its right of access to the subsurface shall not be utilized in any manner so as to damage either the lateral or vertical support to or of any improvements placed upon the surface by the Grantee of its assigns."

The City reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids, to waive technicalities, to negotiate with any of the bidders, and to make any investigation deemed necessary as to a bidder's financial status.

Duet Festival Scheduled Saturday

A duet festival for keyboard students of members of the Midland Music Teachers Association will be a Saturday event in the city.

The festival is planned as a means of providing the students opportunity to participate in a group music situation. Pairs of students will perform simultaneously at almost a dozen studios in the city, beginning at 1 p.m. and continuing throughout the afternoon. Adjudication of duet performances will be done by teams of teachers who will rate the performers on such points as memorization, rhythm, accuracy, ensemble proficiency and interpretation.

Chairman of the upcoming event is Mrs. Bertha S. Johnson and her committee includes MMTA members Mrs. Donald Thompson, Mrs. Carl Leonard and Mrs. W. B. Reece.

Mrs. Johnson said that almost 300 students of 19 piano teachers will be participating in the festival, which will include presentations of keyboard trios and quartets as well as duo-piano numbers. The festival is being held for the second year, replacing the 10-piano ensemble events previously offered each fall by the Midland Music Teachers Association.

Hawthorne Phillips Dies; Services Set

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Funeral services for Hawthorne Phillips, former state Supreme Court justice and assistant attorney general, will be held Saturday in Austin. He died early Thursday in M. D. Anderson Hospital, Houston.

Burial will be in the State Cemetery.

Youth, 17, Found Dead Of Gunshot

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Brownsville police are investigating the shooting death of a Brownsville youth whose body was found near a housing project.

The body of Alberto Knowles, 17, was found Thursday near the Poinsetta housing project where he lived. Officers said Knowles had been shot in the chest.

Her brother realizes that. And so do my wife and I . . . most of the time.

But sometimes Sunday mornings mean a ride in the country . . . sleeping late . . . receiving guests. Something, every Sunday.

Then one day, watching her trying to read, I realized that filling her mind and heart and soul is a continuous process. It can't be restricted to days of the week.

So Sundays in church have become part of our life style. We all are finding new insights, strengthening our faith, discovering ourselves and God.

Religious Downswing Predicted

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — In times to come, futurologists say, believers in God may be considered outsiders, a nonconforming minority, facing a society of predominantly secularist attitudes and conduct.

The prospect is seen by various scholars in assessing developing trends in U.S. life.

Historian James Hitchcock of St. Louis University says American society is entering an "entirely new period" of a religiously neutral state and an unbelieving popular majority.

So far, studies indicate most Americans believe in God and belong to religious bodies.

But a religious "downswing is coming," Hitchcock told a recent meeting in Cincinnati on the future, adding that the "social and conformist" kind of Christian probably will disappear.

It is becoming respectable "not to go to church" for the first time in two centuries of American life, he says.

"Christians must accept being a defined minority for the time being," he adds.

Similar predictions have come from other scholars, including research specialist Tad Ward of Michigan State University, who foresees increasing friction between the church and secular society.

"There are going to be more and more points of crunch ahead for Christians," he says in a paper presented at a continental congress on the family held in St. Louis last weekend.

"In a rather short time we can expect to see Christians put in decision dilemmas in which their scriptural beliefs run strongly counter to the general will of the people."

Involved in this conflict, he adds, will be issues such as abortion, euthanasia, eugenic and genetic manipulation — activities that can strike at Jewish-Christian concepts of the sacred value of human life.

State domination of education also has blanked out the subject of faith, teaching only secular facts and ideas. The Catholic League for Religious and Civil Rights, of Milwaukee, says much of the declining influence of religion is the result of court restrictions placed on education.

"In recent years secular humanism has moved from seeking merely tolerance for itself in a basically religious society to seeking to make its philosophy the only acceptable one in American life," the league says.

Hitchcock says the official separation of state from religion has been bolstered by popular indifference to religion. For believers to continue having any impact, he says, they must make their identities "clear and sharp" and the church collectively must "make itself quite clearly Christian."

While it cannot withdraw from social concerns, he says, the church must recognize that its most distinctive, lasting power is in its spiritual promise and in nurturing that hope and conviction among people.

Rev. Irvin Rutherford

Rev. Rutherford Due To Speak

The Rev. Irvin E. Rutherford, who has spoken at various Midland churches in the past, will return here this weekend as the pulpit guest of the First Assembly of God, 100 W. Wadley Ave.

Mr. Rutherford and his wife Linda participated in the establishment of Teen Challenge, the world-famous rehabilitation program for youthful drug addicts, in Saigon, Vietnam, several years. Earlier, Mr. Rutherford worked six years with Teen Challenge in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, and more recently has served as executive director of San Antonio's Teen Challenge outreach.

According to the Rev. J. W. Farmer, host pastor, Mr. Rutherford will speak during the 7 p.m. worship hour Sunday.

Texas Baptists Schedule Convention Next Week

DALLAS — Texas Baptists will take a peek into the past and a look into the future when they meet here next week.

"We will be dealing with a bicentennial theme," says Dr. Ralph Smith, pastor of Hyde Park Baptist Church of Austin and president of the 2.2-million member denomination.

"We will be emphasizing how Texas Baptists have been blessed by God," Smith said, noting the convention also will adopt the largest budget in its history and take bold steps into the future.

Smith has been president of the convention during the years of phenomenal financial growth. He is due to step down and messengers will elect a new president.

Messengers likely will again be faced by a controversy over the charismatic movement which drew attention last year in the annual meeting at Amarillo.

REVIVAL SPEAKERS—The Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Ivey, state evangelists for the Church of God, will conduct revival services all next week at the Midland Church of God, 5300 Thomason Drive. The Rev. E. P. Mitchell, host pastor, announced that the revival emphasis will begin with the 7:30 p.m. service Sunday, continuing with services at 7:30 p.m. through Sunday, Nov. 2. The public is invited to attend. The church nursery will be in operation nightly.

Methodists Planning Special Song Service

First United Methodist Church will observe its traditional "Great Day of Methodist Singing" with a special service at 7 p.m. Sunday.

This year's service will be a "Festival of American Hymns 1776 to 1976," and it will involve all the singing choirs of the First United Methodist Church as well as the handbell choirs. The program will be under direction of George L. DeHart, organist-choirmaster of the church.

The program, open to the public, will be divided into five parts: 1) Methodism's musical heritage from England; 2) American anthems and hymns; 3) Spirituals and gospel songs; 4) New song and hymns for celebration and commitment, and 5) The Bicentential prayer anthem.

Participating in the service will be Dr. Charles Lutrick senior minister of First United Methodist Church, and the Rev. J. B. Stewart, associate minister of the congregation.

Congregational members and visitors to the annual program are always invited to join in the singing of hymns and this year's event will be no exception, DeHart said. The congregation will be given a special invitation to participate in singing two anthems, "Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory" (more popularly known as "The Battle Hymn of the Republic") and the Bicentennial prayer anthem, "The Lord Is In This Place," composed by Lloyd Pfautch of Dallas.

The Sunday evening service also will incorporate the annual Choir Dedication Service, which is actually a choir family dedication event, paying homage to choir members' families without whose support and understanding the choristers could not function as integral parts of the church's music outreach. "Choir is a family sponsored stewardship," Dehart points out.

Lutherans Plan Special Service

Reformation Sunday, an annual observance in many Lutheran congregations and in churches of various other Protestant denominations, will be observed Sunday at Hope Lutheran Church here.

Hope Lutheran Church, 2003 North A St., will celebrate the historic occasion with a special service of singing during the morning worship hour. A sermonette will be presented by the Rev. Elmer Burrell, pastor, and Dave Kibler, chairman of the stewardship committee, will speak.

Program Planned

A program titled "What You Always Wanted to Know About Science of Mind But Were Afraid to Ask" will be presented here Sunday evening.

The program will be presented by three practitioners from the Church of Religious Science, Christine Welder of Midwest City, Okla., Martha LeFevre and Elizabeth Simon of Dallas. Moderators for the event, scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m. Sunday in the Rodeway Inn, will be Roger and Sandy Mallory, lay directors of the Midland Church of Religious Science. There will be no admission charge for the program, although a freewill offering will be taken.

Church Plans Special Services

The Rev. Kenneth Baker will lead a special series of services next week at Gardens Assembly of God, Andrews Highway at W. Kansas St.

Nationally known as an outstanding Bible teacher as well as dynamic speaker, Mr. Baker will be in the pulpit for services beginning next Wednesday and continuing through the weekend. The services will each begin at 7:30 p.m. said the Rev. Paul Coxe, host pastor.

Pastor Coxe also has announced that the Rathbun Family, a gospel and inspirational music group, will present a concert at 7 p.m. Sunday at Gardens Assembly. The family travels extensively throughout the U. S. and Canada in its music ministry. The group has appeared on numerous TV programs.

College Team Plans Program Tonight

The Midland Free Methodist Church, 4712 Shadyland, will be host to the Joyful Praise, a share team from Central College at McPherson, Kan., in a special program tonight.

The group will present the message of Christ through contemporary Christian folk music and personal witness in its program at 8 p.m. today.

Participants in the ensemble include students from Kansas, Florida, Minnesota, Missouri and Washington. Centrtl College, now in its 91st year, is a two-year Christian college owned and maintained by the Free Methodist denomination. The student body represents 27 states and numerous denominations.

Native Of Australia To Lead Program

The Rev. Barry Dangerfield will lead a New World Mission beginning Sunday at St. Paul United Methodist Church, 4501 Thomason Drive.

A native of Australia, Mr. Dangerfield is a graduate of the University of Queensland and is a member of the Queensland Methodist Conference. Currently he oversees seven Methodist churches, a nursing home and a senior citizens residence in Wynnum, a Brisbane bayside community.

Mr. Dangerfield will be conducting three missions events in the United States while on a visit to this country, including the one here.

The missions emphasis will begin Sunday, continuing through Thursday, said the Rev. Tommy E. Nelson, host pastor. The Sunday services will begin at 10:50 a.m. and 7 p.m. In addition, there will be morning study hours beginning at 10 a.m. each weekday, as well as evangelistic services starting at 7:30 p.m. daily. The evening events will be preceded by youth forums at 6 p.m. on Sunday and 6:45 p.m. each weekday. A reception honoring the visiting minister will be held following the Sunday evening service, and there will be fellowship gatherings following services Monday through Thursday nights.

All the special missions programs and services will be open to the public, it was announced.

Youths Plan Haunted House

Young people of Hope Lutheran Church, members of the Luther League of the church, will sponsor a "haunted house" next Wednesday and Thursday nights.

There will be no ghosts or ghouls, goblins or witches, spokesmen say, but the attractions of the pair of evenings will "haunt" visitors for a long time to come, they add.

They point out that Halloween was originally a Christian festival — the eve before All Saints Day, which honored the memory of Christianity's saints. For this reason, the Hope Lutheran young people are placing a different emphasis on their upcoming festival. The sessions begin at 7:30 p.m. Hope Lutheran Church is at 2003 North A St.

Bible Lessons To Be Offered

A special series of Bible lessons will be offered next week at the Golf Course Road Church of Christ, 3500 W. Golf Course Road.

Speaker at the services will be Robert Oglesby of Richardson. A graduate of Abilene Christian College, he has been minister of Richardson's Waterview Church of Christ for the last 13 years. He is the author of nine books on group discussion teaching and has conducted numerous teaching training courses for Church of Christ congregations throughout the state.

Following opening services in the series at 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. Sunday, Mr. Oglesby will be in the pulpit for special lectures at 7:30 Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The public has been invited to hear him.

Bidding For Paperback Rights Is High-Stakes Game

By THOMAS COLLINS
Newsday

NEW YORK — On a recent summer day, the top officers of nine paperback publishing houses gathered in their respective executive suites and waited rather tensely for the phone to ring.

In gambling terms, it was a bit like waiting for the dealer to show his cards at the baccarat table. In the publishing business, it was the auctioning of the paperback rights to a book that everyone in the trade coveted — "Ragtime," by E. L. Doctorow, the No. 1 best-seller, the hottest book of the year, a Book of the Month Club selection and an eventual movie to be directed by Robert Altman of "Nashville" fame.

Books don't transform themselves magically from hard cover to paper back. The right to make the transformation is paid for by the paperback house, usually through bidding at an auction conducted by the original publisher — Tandom House in the case of "Ragtime."

The auction is conducted by telephone, with each of the prospective buyers notified well in advance.

The gentlemen waiting for the phone to ring were waiting for Millie — Mrs. Millie Marmur, the chief subsidiary-rights editor at Random House, a brown-eyed, brown-haired woman with a lovely telephone voice. In her job as head auctioneer, it helps to have a good telephone voice along with a lot of savvy about how to get the highest price for a property. Mrs. Marmur is generally conceded to be the best in the business.

From an outsider's point of view, it would be hard to understand the excitement on the "Ragtime" auction day. Hardly anyone had ever heard of E. L. Doctorow and his book outside of the literary cognoscenti. But "Ragtime" was not the usual kind of book and Doctorow was not an average author.

THE NOVEL had been in the works for three years; a smidgen of it appeared in a literary magazine, American Review, which had only whetted people's appetites. Doctorow himself was recognized as a first-rate writer, a man who was know in publishing circles, first as a former editor for the Dial Press and then through the excellent reviews that his previous books, "Welcome to Hard Times" and "The Book of Daniel," had received.

But the good wishes of the critics had not been converted into big sales for those books, and the feeling was that Doctorow was due for a best-seller. It was a feeling carefully planted and nurtured by Random House's editor in chief, James Silberman, the chief strategist in a textbook example of how to presell a book.

Silberman first generated enthusiasm in Random House itself, much as Tom Congdon had paved the way for Doubleday's success with "Jaws." Knowing that he had the best of literary material to work with — a combination of artistic accomplishment with potential wide popular appeal — he fanned the rumors at cocktail parties and editors' luncheons.

Mrs. Marmur spread the word that "Ragtime" was the biggest book on Random House's list and that there would be a large first printing backed up by a heavy advertising campaign.

THE RESULT was that "Ragtime" was something of a legend even before it was published — as a matter of fact, long before it was published.

"It was as though the literary establishement was choosing a Pope and you expected to see the white smoke come out of the chimneys," one paperback editor said. "The establishement needs its idols like anybody else, and it was time for a new face."

The nice thing about "Ragtime" is that it is as good as the advance hype said it was. The critics, responding as Silberman had predicted, called it lyrical, throughly successful, the kind of book that you want to speed through. It is a kind of moral history of the United States in the first part of the century, an artistic vision of the rich, the immigrant poor and the blacks, told against a background of stunning detail of the times. Mingling such historical figures as Houdini, Evelyn Nesbit and Sigmund Freud with fictional creations, it examines better than most histories the roots of Americans.

Within a few days of publication Mrs. Marmur had a lot to pass on to the paperback houses. Movie rights had been sold; it was a best-seller, and the book club selections were in.

By the time she began dialing the paperback houses, the editors had their checkbooks ready.

COMPETING for the book were Ballantine, Dell, Pocket Books, Avon, New American Library, Bantam, Warners, Fawcett and Berkley. Everybody had their nerves under control. "It's just like a surgeon," Peter Mayer of Avon said. "If you got nervous about cutting, you wouldn't come into work the next day." Others described the atmosphere as "horrible" and "scary."

"We all had our profit-and-loss statements in front of us, which shows you at a certain price how many copies you have to sell in order to make a profit," a Ballantine editor said.

"Sure, we were worried. Anyone who bids this kind of money is concerned. We had to make sure we were not carried away by the auction but, on the other hand, we didn't want to be bluffed out."

Bidding for the paperback rights to a book can start in some cases as low as $1,500. Many, of course, start much higher. "Ragtime's" opening bid, made by Ballantine, was for $250,000, "just to put some money in the hat."

EVERYONE KNEW it would go to seven figures. Mrs. Marmur called each house in turn and received its bid, and the figures began to climb higher. "It went up very fast," one editor said.

By the time everyone broke for lunch, the magic number of $1 million had been reached. By the time they came back, the ranks of bidders were depleted. We were out as soon as we heard somebody had offered a million," said Ross Claiborne, editorial director of Dell.

The bidding went on throughout the afternoon, marked by hasty conferences on both ends of the telephone and rapid calculations. The summer day ended, and the windows darkened in the offices, and still the auction continued.

By nightfall, there were three bidders left: Bantam, Ballantine and Avon.

Avon, which has grown accustomed to the rarified atmosphere of million-dollar prices having purchased several books in that range, including "Jonathan Livingston Seagull," made what proved to be its final bid: $1,600,000.

Ballantine, which is owned by Random House and would have had to pay only the author's share of the purchase price — possibly as much as 60 per cent to Doctorow (Random House would have been paying Random House, in effect, if Ballantine won) — topped Avon with a bid of $1,700,000.

IN THOSE SWEEPSTAKES, the price turned out to be good for second place. At 10 p.m., Bantam took the game with a bid of $1,850,000 the highest amount ever paid for paperback rights in publishing history.

"It became increasingly obvious that Bantam wanted that book and would spend anything," an editor said.

Now, the only question buzzind among the literait is whether Bantam really got that good a deal. Can it get its money back? "That's the most hotly debated subject in publishing," says Dell's Claiborne.

One editor calculated that "Ragtime" would have to sell 3 million paperback copies at $2.25 for Bantam to break even. The number of books that have sold as many as 5 million, which would give Bantam a good prof- it, have been few, he pointed out, and "rarely a literary prop- erty."

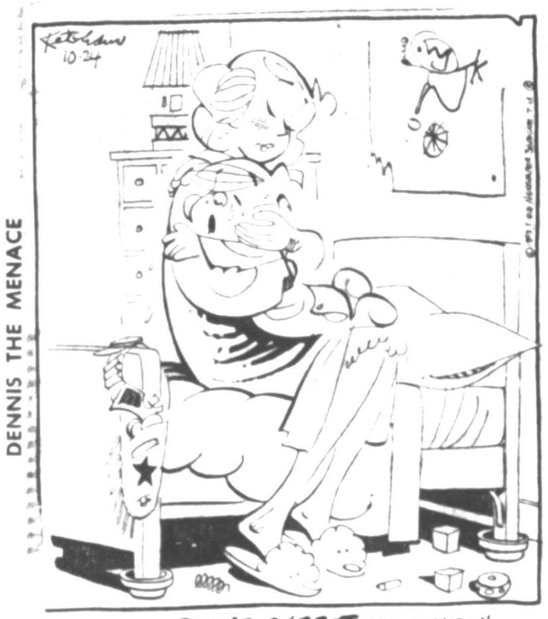

BANTAM, however, is overjoyed and excited by its acquisition. It plans to bring it out next August at more than $2 a copy. Senior Vice President Marc Jaffe, who has made the winning bid, told an editorial meeting recently, "The risk on this book is less than we have taken on many other books."

Film director Robert Altman has already huddled with Bantam President Oscar Dystel, and plans are proceeding to give the public the old one-two—paperback and movie breaking out at a nice pace calculated to keep interest high all around. A logo common to both book and movie a la "Jaws," is being worked out.

Over at Random House, Silberman is pleased and modest. "The only thing I would claim credit for was in thinking that the book would be a success," he said, "and in planning how we would publish it. We were very lucky."

Stock Prices Give Ground To Wave Of Profit-Taking

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 3.85 at 851.31, and losers held a 4-3 edge on gainers in the over-all count at the New York Stock Exchange.

Several major banks announced prime rate cuts from 8 to 7¾ per cent during the morning. But analysts said it appeared the market had taken that development into account in advance with the 22.98-point runup in the Dow over the past four trading days.

MacMillan was the most active issue on the NYSE, unchanged at 4⅝. A 152,300-share block moved at 4½.

Big Board volume accelerated, with 8.14 million shares changing hands in the first two hours, compared with 6.99 million in the comparable period Thursday.

Brokers said the tendency toward profit taking appeared to be increased by press reports that New York City's chances of getting financial help from the federal government appeared to be dimming.

Weyerhaeuser fell 1⅛ to 37¼ after a delayed opening. The company announced plans to offer about $200 million worth of convertible preferred stock.

Livestock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures No. 2 were higher by as much as $3.25 a bale in midday dealings today. Forecast for frost in the Texas High Plains region over the cotton belt that could damage the cotton crop prompted buying of futures contracts, brokers said.

The average price for strict low middling 1 1-16 inch spot cotton declined 20 points to 48.67 cents a pound Thursday for the 10 leading markets, according to the New York Cotton Exchange.

Midday prices were $1.75 to $3.25 a bale higher than the previous close. Dec. 52.30, March 53.58, and May 54.45.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed proposals addressed to the Mayor and City Council of the City of Midland, Texas, will be received in the office of the City Secretary, City Hall, Midland, Texas, until 2:30 P. M. on October 30, 1975 and will be publicly opened and read aloud at 3:00 P. M. on the same day for the furnishing of flood light standards and fixtures, for Redfern Field, Hogan Park, Midland, Texas.

Any bid received after closing time will be RETURNED UNOPENED.

Bid envelopes shall be plainly marked "Proposal for Flood Light Standards and Light Fixtures, Redfern Field, Hogan Park, Midland, Texas, Project No. P-83."

Information for bidders, proposal forms, plans and specifications may be obtained at the office of the Director of Public Works, City Hall, Midland, Texas.

A certified check, bank money order issued by a bank satisfactory to the owner, or a bid bond on a form approved by the City Attorney, in the amount of five per cent (5%) of the largest possible lump sum bid submitted, payable without recourse to the City of Midland, Texas, must accompany the bidder's proposal as a guaranty that the bidder will enter into a contract and execute the required bonds and agreement in the form provided within fifteen (15) days after notice of award of contract to him. Bids or proposals without the required bid guaranty will not be considered.

The bidder's attention is directed to the fact that bids or proposals shall be submitted only on the forms provided in the contract documents. Any bid submitted in any other form will be considered irregular and will be returned to the bidder without receiving consideration by the Mayor and City Council.

The City of Midland, Texas, reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids or proposals to waive technicalities, and to make any investigation deemed necessary of the bidder's ability to perform the work covered by the plans and specifications.

The Rabbit is Amazing.
But don't take our word for it.

Road & Track "This car does it all; it's small, light, roomy and fast, with nimble and responsive steering, ride and handling.
Road Test Magazine "It is the finest example to date of a totally-integrated passenger car, useful anywhere in the world, and is qualified as no other imported car is for 1975 for the Road Test Engineering Award."
Popular Mechanics "Volkswagen's Rabbit is the best value for 1975."
Car & Driver "Whole populations of drivers will live for years with this car, strongly impressed by its generally nimble disposition and its sensitive feel of the road through the steering wheel and brake pedal."
Esquire "It is the specific type of car that Detroit will be building in the 1980's."

Education Article Offers Little Change

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the sixth in a series of nine articles on the proposed new Texas Constitution that will be placed before the voters at the Nov. 4 election.

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — For all the time legislators spent debating the education article of the proposed new Texas Constitution, they came up with very little in the way of change.

Possibly the most intense debate of the 1974 Constitutional Convention, whose work was submitted to the voters by this year's legislature, revolved around education.

But what resulted was an apparently innocuous declaration for "equal educational opportunity," addition of instructional materials to the free textbooks' provision and expansion of college and university bonds.

The article says the legislature has a duty to provide a public school system that furnishes "each individual an equal educational opportunity"—a gesture toward meeting the problem of financial inequality that was raised by the Rodriguez case. But it follows this guarantee with a provision that allows districts with plenty of taxable property to continue "enriching" their program meaning the rich probably can keep their edge over the poor in educational quality.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock contends the "equal educational opportunity" guaranteed "should increase pressures for more spending for public school education." The $100 million now appropriated for "equalization aid" is only "a minimal example" of what will follow, he predicts.

The Legislative Budget Board, however, contends the state already is implementing a commitment to "equal educational opportunity and any fiscal implications of the item "would have to do with the distribution of state school aid rather than the total amount of state school aid."

George Braden, former Yale law professor, said the equal opportunity requirement is "a confused command" that would require many judicial interpretations.

"The compromise between the desire for equal opportunity and the unwillingness to forego the opportunity for local communities to provide themselves with something better than the state average defies logic and altogether satisfies no one," he said.

"Nevertheless, the norm of equal opportunity is stated and will undoubtedly have weight with the legislature and the courts."

Under the new document, the cost of instructional materials used in the schools would come out of the Available School Fund, representing a drain of $20 million to $24 million a year before the rest of the fund is distributed to school districts on a per child basis.

Bullock contended the general revenue fund would have to make this up, but the budget board said: "The net result would be a reduction of approximately $10 per pupil in state aid to 'budget balance' districts—comparatively rich districts—offset by the value of instructional materials those districts would receive."

When Gov. Dolph Briscoe declared his opposition to the new constitution on Oct. 14, his sole mention of the education article concerned university bonds.

"I am opposed to increasing the bonding authority of the Permanent University Fund at a time when enrollment in institutions of higher learning is leveling off," Briscoe said.

The permanent fund consists of invested oil and gas royalties and other income from land dedicated to support of The University of Texas and Texas A&M. Dividends from the investments become the Available University Fund, which can be used to pay off construction bonds and finance "extras" for the two system.

The new constitution would raise the amount of bonds that can be issued from 20 per cent to 30 per cent of the size of the permanent fund. It also would allow the bond proceeds to be spent on all campuses of the two university systems, not just the main ones, and add library books and building repairs to the purposes for which the money could be used.

Bullock said repayment of the additional bonds would reduce the amount of the available fund that could be spent on other things, and general revenue would have to take up the slack.

The budget board agreed, but also said bonds could finance some things that now are paid for out of general taxes. It mentioned construction and repairs at UT and A&M system schools that presently cannot benefit from Permanent University Fund bonds.

Schools not in the two super systems would get a "higher Education Fund," with the 10-cent state property tax backing their bonds. The tax now yields $25.9 million a year, already debts.

The legislature could reduce the tax rate if full market value assessment of property sent yield from the property tax soaring beyond needed amounts.

The LBB said "Higher Education Fund" bonds might ease pressure on the general fund to finance items that totaled $36 million this year, such as construction at the participating schools.

Mrs. Berlin Wins Rights As Widow Of Country Singer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A federal judge has ruled that Billie Jean Berlin was the wife of country singer-composer Hank Williams Sr. when he died and that she has the right to a share in copyright renewals on his songs.

Williams, who died Jan. 1, 1953, had taken part in three marriage ceremonies with Mrs. Berlin, but at the time of of all of them her divorce from a former husband was not yet final.

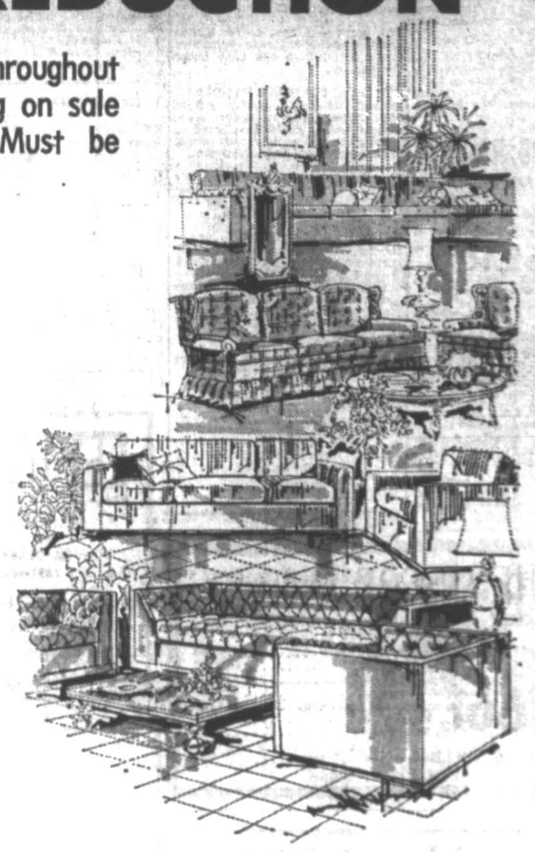

U.S. District Court Judge L. Clure Morton said Wednesday that since the couple subsequently lived together, Mrs. Berlin was qualified as a "putative wife" under Louisiana law, which derives from the French Code, and as a "common-law wife" under Alabama law, which is derived from the English system.

A jury verdict last March 22 agreed on the putative wife aspect but denied the common-law issue. Morton's decision overrode the latter part of the verdict.

Permian Basin OIL & GAS LOG

Yates Completes Dual Discovery In Eddy Sector

Yates Petroleum Corp., Roswell, N.M., has dually completed as a Wolfcamp oil and Morrow gas discovery, its No. 1-E F. Stonewall-State Communitized, seven miles northeast of Carlsbad.

Calculated, absolute open flow from the Morrow was for 137,182,000 cubic feet of gas per day, producing through perforations at 11,250-11,258 feet.

Earlier, it was reported completed, with a final flow gauge of 17.6 million cubic feet and 99 barrels of 55.3-gravity distillate.

The Wolfcamp gauged a 24-hour flowing potential of 300 barrels of 43-gravity oil, through a ½-inch choke and perforations at 8,800-8,808 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 2,667-1.

Drilled to 11,478 feet, it has 5½-inch casing set at 11,380 feet, total depth.

Wildcat To Start In Borden Region

D. B. Baxter of Midland has scheduled an 8,500-foot exploratory test in Northeast Borden County, 12 miles northwest of Flavanna. It is No. 1 Miller.

Dorchester Stakes Mitchell Projects

Dorchester Exploration, Inc., operating from Midland, has staked as wildcats, two new projects in the vicinity of its No. 2-A Spade, Mitchell County indicated discovery, 25 miles southwest of Colorado City.

Both are scheduled to 4,650 feet, and are in section 11, block 28, SPRR survey.

No. 4-A Spade, one location southwest of No. 2-A, is 2,200 feet from north and 1,700 feet from east lines of the section.

No. 5-A Spade, a southeast offset to No. 2-A, is 2,300 feet from north and 467 feet from east lines of the section.

Well number was amended to 2-A for the former No. 1-18-11 Spade, which indicated production in an unidentified zone with the pumping of 33 barrels of oil in 24 hours, through perforations at 3,733-3,747 feet, after it had been acidized with 1,000 gallons.

It was drilled to 7,800 feet, and has 4½-inch production string set at 4,007 feet.

Dorchester also has amended well number for its No. 1-18-33 Spade, to No. 1-A Spade, and rescheduled depth at the project from 7,600 feet to 4,650 feet.

The wildcat test is six miles south of No. 2-A, 990 feet from

Oklahoma City Police Force Resigns In Dispute

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Barred from striking by a state law, virtually the entire police force in this capital city of 320,000 persons turned in their badges in a wage dispute.

That left 16 policemen, aided by state troopers and sheriff's deputies, to patrol a city whose limits cover an area larger than Los Angeles, and twice the size of New York City. The normal number of police is 589.

Mayor Patience Latting urged city residents to remain calm. She called an emergency City Council meeting which lasted 3½ minutes, just long enough for Police Chief I. G. Purser to report that with the state and county help, more police cars were on the streets than was normal for a Thursday night.

There was no indication when city officials and police would talk again in an effort to end what amounts to the city's first police strike. The dispute centers on wages, with the police insisting the city has the money to pay a 10 per cent pay raise recommended by a board of arbitration, while the city offers 7½ per cent.

More than 500 police officers threw their badges on the desk of City Manager Howard McMahon on Thursday afternoon, escalating a three-day-old slowdown. Six officers carried in a stretcher bearing Patrolman Byron Wood, who was injured by a shotgun blast Sept. 20 while trying to make an arrest.

"Here's my badge," said Wood as he dropped it on the table and gave a clenched fist salute.

It was a method used by Albuquerque policemen who struck that New Mexico city last July. They turned in their badges rather than obey a court order requiring them to return to work. The judge in that case ordered them to return to work despite their resignations.

Minutes after the badges started raining down on McMahon's desk, Democratic Gov. David Boren assigned state police to patrol city streets and notified the National Guard of the strike.

An emergency squad of 53 highway patrolmen and 17 sheriff's deputies formed the make-shift police force trying to cover the area within the city limits. They reported mostly routine calls — traffic accidents, burglaries and thefts. By 10 p.m., one person had been booked into jail, drunk.

A spokesman for the governor declined to say how many state troopers could be committed to the city. But he noted the normal city police payroll of 597 and said, "We don't have that many highway patrolmen in the entire state."

City police now earn from $638 monthly for a rookie to $1,276 for a lieutenant with 21 years of service. After five years, a patrolman can rise to $873 and then to $1,026 after 21 years. Top pay for sergeants is $1,187.

Portugal Forces Put On Full Alert

The moves followed a series of bombings in Lisbon aimed at moderate left-wing officers and civilians and because of "increasing reports of planned sabotage within the barracks," a spokesman for the military security forces said.

There were no injuries in the bombings.

Gen. Otelo Saraiva de Carvalho, chief of the Continental Operational Command — COPCON — and head of public security forces, conferred in emergency session with other military commanders.

The alert order was given by Carvalho's office as was a warning that right-wing forces may "possibly" be planning a nationwide terror wave. That warning was greeted with some skepticism by civilian politicians, however.

Scheduled for later in the day in the northern city of Oporto was a meeting of representatives of the radical left military movement "United Soldiers Victorious" — SUV — which seeks a reformation of the armed forces and an alliance with the working classes.

The alert and the urgent meeting at COPCON followed the explosion of six small bombs in different parts of Lis-

ANDREWS — Delores Thompson, dispatcher for the Andrews County Sheriff's office called law enforcement officers to assist her this morning.

She reportedly went out to start her car and heard "this wasp, wasp, wasp" and discovered for "of some sort" flying out from underneath the hood of her car.

ON CRITICAL LIST — The tree is gravely ill. This pecan tree in Midland County's Bicentennial plaza suffered a traumatic experience during construction of the plaza this year. Charles Green, the county's agricultural extension agent, said construction stress and sudden changes in temperature caused the tree to defoliate early. But with pruning and care, the state tree may recover. Green said the concrete plaza surrounding the tree cut down on the tree roots' surface exchange of gases. "There's a delicate balance — a real delicate balance," he said.

House Panel Approves Bill Cutting Taxes Further

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taxpayers with annual income in the $10,000 to $30,000 range would get most of the added benefits next year under a tax-cut extension plan moving ahead in Congress.

And most people would end up paying less taxes next year than this year, if the Ways and Means Committee's plan is eventually signed into law.

For example, a single person earning $15,000 and paying $2,550 this year would pay $2,335 next year, while a married couple with two children and taxes this year of $2,590 on their $20,000 income would pay $2,420 next year.

The committee's package includes $12.7 billion in individual tax cuts compared to 1974 levels, or about $2.6 billion more than the tax cut in effect this year.

President Ford's proposals call for $20.7 billion in personal tax cuts compared with 1974, plus a spending ceiling. He suffered a defeat Thursday when the panel voted against linking the cuts to a ceiling.

Ford has vowed to veto any tax cut that is not accompanied by a spending ceiling. But committee Chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore., told reporters, "I just don't see how the President can veto it."

Next week, the committee takes up business tax cuts. The goal is to get a bill to the full House for a vote next month.

By 22 to 16, with all 12 of the panel's Republicans and four Democrats in dissent, including former Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., the committee approved the plan for 1976 individual tax cuts.

On Oct. 6, Ford proposed sweeping away that temporary law and replacing it starting Jan. 1, 1976, with a permanent series of tax cuts linked to a matching reduction in federal spending. He called for a $395-billion lid on such spending for the fiscal year beginning next Oct. 1.

For 1976, Ford's total general tax cut package was $27.7 billion — $20.7 billion for individuals, $7 billion for business. The committee's is $15 billion — $12.7 billion for individuals, the rest for business.

Both the committee's and Ford's tax-cut proposals would distribute the tax reduction roughly the same way among various income groups.

The committee's plan would:

—Make permanent the 1975 law's temporary hikes in the minimum and maximum standard deductions. The minimum one is called a low-income allowance, the maximum one is used by taxpayers who do not itemize deductions on their tax returns.

—Only for 1976, create a new tax-credit system to replace this year's $30 across-the-board 1975 tax credit for every taxpayer or dependent for whom the taxpayer claims the current $750 personal exemptions.

That $30 credit would be replaced by a credit of 2 per cent of the first $12,000 of a taxpayer's taxable annual income. Taxable income is the amount left after a taxpayer claims all deductions and exemptions.

Under the new system, for most taxpayers there would be a maximum tax credit of $240 per return.

Daylight Time Going Out This Sunday

When time drops back an hour on Sunday, it's unlikely most of the city's population will wait up until 2 a.m. to turn their clocks back.

Even Midland's official time keepers will likely wait until sometime during the day to make adjustments as Daylight Saving Time reverts to Central Standard Time once again.

Vern Dawkins, maintenance engineer at the Midland County Courthouse, will flip the reset switch on the Bicentennial clock tower on Sunday, but that won't take place until Sunday's daytime hours.

Officials at Citizens Savings and Loan Association and Midland National Bank will make the time stand still, in effect, for an hour during the day also.

Premier Abruptly Calls Off Session Of Spanish Cabinet

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Premier Carlos Arias Navarro called a cabinet session today that had been expected to start the legal process to retire Generalissimo Francisco Franco and install Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon as chief of state and Spain's first king in 44 years.

The 11 physicians attending Western Europe's last dictator announced, meanwhile, that the 82-year-old generalissimo, who had been improving after a heart attack Monday night, had suffered a relapse.

A government source said Premier Arias' decision to cancel the scheduled cabinet meeting indicated the ministers had agreed at a marathon session Thursday to be ready for the end of Franco's rule and a transition of power to Juan Carlos, Franco's designated heir.

Following the medical bulletin late Thursday, Juan Carlos and Arias rushed to their leader's Pardo Palace 10 miles north of Madrid along with the president of the Cortes, the Spanish parliament, and a group of ministers. Later, they went home to bed, and there was no death watch in evidence at the palace.

Moroccans Say Spain Ready To Cede Disputed Territory

MARRAKECH, Morocco (AP) — Moroccan sources say Spain has agreed tentatively to turn over the disputed Spanish Sahara to Morocco, and Morocco in turn will cede part of the territory to Mauritania.

No official confirmation of the report was immediately available.

There was also no immediate reaction from Algeria, which opposes the claims of Morocco and Mauritania and backed a Spanish proposal for a self-determination referendum.

Schools Win Second 'AA' Bond Rating

The Midland school district has won a second "AA" rating for the sale of $4.2 million in bonds to air-condition 20 school buildings.

Standard and Poor's Corp. notified the district Thursday that its rating has improved from the previous "A" rating to "AA."

Another rating firm, Moody's Investors Service, Inc., Tuesday awarded Midland schools the "AA" rating.

School officials earlier had traveled to New York City to give presentations to the two companies in efforts to improve the bond rating, thereby increasing the chances of a better interest rate for the bond sale.

The sale is set for 2:30 p.m. Tuesday in the board room of the district's administration building.

Lebanese Army Intervenes In Beirut Fighting

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Army intervention reduced street fighting in Beirut today, but the government radio said Christian and Moslem gunmen were still kidnaping motorists on several highways despite the presence of army tanks and security checkpoints.

Security officials said both sides had exchanged many kidnap victims, leaving 40 unaccounted for. They included two American Embassy employes believed held by leftist Moslems.

"Flying roadblocks" set up by fast-moving bands of armed men kept most Beirut residents indoors today, although street battles tapered off in scattered clashes between two Christian and Moslem neighborhoods and some sniper fire in the downtown banking district.

Police reported 11 persons killed during the night, and they said they had found nine bodies in battle zones that had become quiet. Fires destroyed five furniture, aluminum and plastics factories in the eastern suburbs, with damage estimated at more than $10 million.

Karami agreed late Thursday to order some units of the 18,000-man army to guard major routes in the city but ordered them not to go near Palestinian refugee camps or to interfere with Palestinian guerrilla patrols trying to enforce a cease-fire in Moslem areas.

Karami had opposed using the army in Beirut because most of its officers are Christians and Moslems claim the troops would be used against them. Army troops have manned buffer zones between private Christian and Moslem militias in northern Lebanon since August.

Palestinian guerrilla leader Yasir Arafat said in Damascus that there is a "plot to partition Lebanon" into separate Moslem and Christian areas, similar to the Greek-Turkish division of Cyprus.

He told the Arab Front for Participation in the Palestinian Revolution that "Lebanon shall remain united and Arab, Arab, Arab."

The Lebanese army went into action in Beirut after weeks of recurrent street fighting despite repeated cease-fires, an increasing number of kidnap victims and the failure of a reconciliation committee of Moslem and Christian politicians to make any progress toward a peace settlement.

Little Hope Seen For Bill Providing Loan To NYC

By DAVE RILEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Banking Committee is drafting a measure that would provide $6 billion in loan guarantees to New York City, but the panel's chairman says he sees little hope that the bill will ever get to the Senate floor.

The legislation was to come before the committee today, although there were indications the panel would not be able to work for lack of a quorum as senators hurried to start a long Veterans Day weekend. The panel originally had planned to begin voting on various provisions of the proposed bill.

But the measure lost the key support of Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III on Thursday night and that appeared to doom any hope of the measure being approved by the panel.

Stevenson had voted with the committee majority earlier in the week when the panel decided on a 7 to 6 vote to consider the aid measure.

But the Illinois Democrat changed his mind Thursday night, saying he would not vote to send the $6 billion plan to the Senate floor.

Committee Chairman William F. Proxmire, D-Wis., a prime force behind the aid proposal, conceded that Stevenson's change of mind appeared to doom the bill. He said he doubted the committee would "act finally on it since there isn't a majority" in favor of the measure.

Proxmire said that means the panel must consider providing standby aid to maintain essential city services in the event of a city default or take no action at all.

Proxmire said Stevenson's decision appeared final. "He said he wouldn't vote for guarantees now or in the future," Proxmire said.

But a spokesman for Stevenson said later that while the senator is not willing to vote for the bill in its present form, he wanted time to work out an alternative that might include some kind of loan guarantee.

Assessing the mood of committee members about aiding New York, the panel's chairman said, "It'll be a struggle every inch of the way." Proxmire earlier had sought to get a measure to the Senate by today.

Meanwhile, Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, told the House economic stabilization subcommittee that he does not plan to recommend that the federal government provide financial assistance to New York, although he admitted that a city default could impair the nation's economic recovery.

He said his major objection to aiding New York is that "the effort thus far made by both the state and the city is still inadequate."

New York state officials have objected to a portion of the measure before the Senate Banking Committee that would require the state to impose a special tax on residents to aid the city as a condition for the federal loan guarantee.

Burns did say, however, that Congress should quickly decide if it intends to help New York because "almost any resolution of these uncertainties may be better than prolonged debate and controversy. Financial markets do not thrive in such an environment."

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Libya transferred seven American jet fighter planes to Turkey last month in circumvention of the American arms embargo, a top State Department official has acknowledged to Congress.

The supersonic Northrop F5As initially were sold to Libya by the United States in 1967 with the standard U.S. rule against transferring them to a third country. As a result, Assistant Secretary of State Robert J. McCloskey said the U.S. Embassy in Tripoli has lodged a protest with the Libyan government.

However, McCloskey said in a letter to Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal D-N.Y., that Turkey has not breached any legal obligation in accepting the planes. He said the United States would take the transfer into consideration in dealing with any Libyan requests for arms in the future.

"Given Turkey's grave concern that its air defense is being incapacitated by the U.S. embargo, it is not surprising that Turkey has sought to procure military equipment from other sources," McCloskey said in his letter, a copy of which was obtained by The Associated Press.

McCloskey's letter said the State Department hopes Congress will act quickly to permit restoration of U.S. defense arrangements with Turkey. He said the planes were transferred without U.S. approval or advance knowledge.

Congress earlier this month partly eased the arms embargo it had imposed on Turkey for using American weapons in the 1974 invasion of Cyprus. The first half-dozen of 24 Phantom jets approved for delivery to Turkey were shipped off this week.

Meanwhile, U.S. Ambassador William Macomber will begin negotiations in Ankara next Tuesday with Turkish officials on a new defense agreement. Turkey took over 26 U.S. bases last July in retaliation for the embargo.

Lubbock Man Arraigned On Shooting Spree Charges

PANHANDLE, Tex. (AP) — A Lubbock man has been arraigned here on charges of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon and aggravated assault with a motor vehicle following his arrest in connection with a shooting spree by a sniper Wednesday night on Interstate 40.

One man was wounded, shot in the leg, and a woman was injured when her car was pushed off the road by the car of the man doing the shooting.

Robert Carlton, 48, was arraigned Thursday before Justice of the Peace C. H. Bell who set bond at $25,000 on each of the charges.

The shooting began late Wednesday near a rest stop five miles west of Conway in West Texas and continued to the edge of Groom, a community near here.

Carson County Sheriff's Office spokesmen said Martin Britton, 53, of Groom was treated and released at a Groom hospital for a gunshot wound in the leg.

Susann Warner, 25, of Butler, Pa., received slight injuries when her car overturned. She told police she was forced off the highway by a man who caught up to her after he had fired several shots at other cars.

Four cars were hit.

Authorities said deputies were sent out on a search for the sniper after a driver called them using a citizens band radio.

Deputy Frank Whitehead said the shooting spree ended when Carlton's car overheated and he had to stop at a service station. Deputies drove into the station behind him.

Whitehead said a .22 caliber rifle and a box of ammunition was found in Carlton's car.

He said the sniper "started passing the vehicles and shooting. He shot at two cars and then bumped the girl's car with his. She lost control of her car and it rolled over.

City's Move Into Ambulance Business Came As Surprise

By DEBBIE PIERCE

The City of Midland's decision Tuesday night to go into the ambulance business took Thomas Funeral Home, the city-subsidized ambulance service, completely by surprise.

"We'd received no complaints from the city manager (James Brown), and we'd never broken our contract with the city," Bill Thomas, co-owner of the funeral home, explained. "The move took us very much by surprise, and we feel the city is creating problems they haven't considered yet."

The city council decided Tuesday to purchase three ambulances in cooperation with the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission (PBRPC) on a federal grant. The vehicles, costing about $19,000 each, will be operated by the city fire department.

Thomas noted the funeral home had just purchased two new ambulances five months ago and had added a third since. The vehicles cost about $20,000 each including equipment, he said.

"Our contract with the city required us only to have two ambulances, but we added the third to improve our service to the city," Thomas said. "We felt we needed a spare in case one of the other vehicles was in need of repairs, and we wanted to keep two ambulances working at all times."

The funeral home owner said the city ambulance operation would cut down the volume on his ambulance service, forcing the funeral home to raise its rates on transfer calls, those calls from hospital to hospital, from private home to nursing home and others. "We think our transfer calls are too high already, although our calls are now below the state average," Thomas said. "We may have to increase them to the state average in order to break even. Of course, this will hurt people in rest homes and on fixed incomes but if worst comes to worst, we'll just have to take the loss on our third ambulance and force the city to run transfer ambulances, too."

City Manager Brown said no definite policy has been set up yet regarding the city ambulance service, but he anticipated haying the vehicles operate emergency runs to the hospital only.

Thomas said former councilman Jim Kent had made a survey at his own expense of Texas cities, their ambulance services and costs. "According to this survey, it's going to cost the City of Midland quite a bit of money to go into its own ambulance business," Thomas said.

Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr. cast the only vote Tuesday against the city going into the ambulance business. He explained that he saw no reason for the city to go into this business unless definite evidence existed to show the present ambulance service was not doing an adequate job. "I don't feel this is the case," he added.

Angelo said the cost of going into this business was another reason he was against the issue. "I'm reluctant to get government involved in any more activities than is absolutely necessary," he said. "So often, the costs of things like this are never clear. For instance, in this issue, the indications are that the city can operate its own ambulance service at an equal cost to what we're paying Mr. Thomas now, but, of course, the cost depends on the city's operation and its success in collecting the funds."

He said the council had decided to go along with acceptance of the federal funds now, rather than postpone the decision until later. The issue has been tossed back and forth over the past two and one-half years or so, he added.

City Manager Brown said he had not presented this issue in letter-form to the council Tuesday to hurt the Thomases. "I presented the letter to the council with no malice to the Thomases and with only the City of Midland and the citizens of this town in mind," he said.

He said he had received several complaints about the services offered by the funeral home about one year ago and, at that time, had given the council three options — to leave the ambulance service as it was, to allow the city to enter the business, or to subsidize the Thomases and place certain requirements on them.

"The council decided on the latter option and we've had no complaints since then. But we have received several complaints on the fees charged by the Thomases," Brown said. "Our contract with the funeral home, however, was cancellable in 30 days, and we felt a city ambulance service could keep the costs down and still give good service the citizens would be proud of."

Brown said that when the opportunity arose for the federal grant six to eight months ago, the council indicated it wanted Brown to ask for three ambulances. "This should have been a tip-off to the Thomases that we were planning to go into the ambulance business, and they did not need to purchase that third vehicle," he said.

He added that details regarding costs and how to make collections were being investigated by comparing methods with other area cities. The council is shooting at a target date of July 1, 1976, to begin its ambulance operation.

Councilman Carroll Thomas, speaking in favor of the city going into the ambulance business said, "We on the council would like to believe we can run this business as efficiently as at the present through the fire department. We won't have to build a new building, some firemen are already trained as Emergency Medical Technicians, others can be trained easily, the entire make-up of the fire department is geared to emergency operation and other neighboring cities are getting into this business. It seems to be an opportune time for this move since the federal funds are available to help us in the transition."

The federal grant will pay 50 per cent of the ambulance costs.

tionally on the last Sunday in October, will result in daylight coming an hour earlier.

By the time the schedule converts again to DST it will be lawn-mowing season, the reason for the Daylight Savings Time in the first place, according to one sage observer.

"The reason they have it is so hard-working husbands can come home after a day's work and mow the lawn."

Meanwhile, an effort to retain the current eight-month Daylight Saving Time schedule for two more years is under way in the Senate, just days before regular time resumes Sunday.

Unless Congress passes the bill introduced Thursday, it will resume on the traditional six-month schedule next April, The Associated Press reported.

Daylight time was extended from six months to a full year in early 1974 in an effort to conserve energy, and last October Congress approved an eight-month experiment for 1975.

The Transportation Department has recommended that the eight-month plan be approved again. Sen. Adlai Stevenson III, D-Ill., introduced the bill to retain such a schedule for two more years.

Stevenson said approval of the bill, which would cause Daylight Saving Time to resume next February, would allow the department to continue to study the impact of the eight-month schedule.

The full year of Daylight Time drew criticism from parents who complained "fast time" was forcing their children to leave for school during hours of darkness.

Americans in most of the nation will have to turn back their clocks one hour to resume regular time on Sunday.

The change will occur in all states and U.S. possessions except Hawaii, Arizona, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands, American Samoa and a portion of Indiana which is on Eastern Time. Those areas do not observe Daylight Time.

A seventh bomb went off at about the same time at the Bureau of Agrarian Reform in Alcacer do Sal, in the Alentejo region southeast of the capital, a Communist stronghold and recently the scene of agitation by Communist-led farmers anxious over the slow pace of agrarian reform.

Woman Injured; Suspect Charged

McCAMEY — A McCamey woman allegedly was hit by a car Wednesday night, the sheriff's department said.

Jimmy Frank Beaver, 28, was arrested in Fort Stockton by county deputies, a spokesman said.

Beaver has been charged with aggravated assault. Bond was set at $25,000.

Clara Mopley of McCamey is listed in satisfactory condition, an Odessa Medical Center spokesman said. She suffered multiple cuts and bruises.

McCamey and Rankin officers are continuing to investigate.

Coldwell Named Bank President

McCAMEY — Kenneth G. Caldwell has been named president of the Security State Bank of McCamey.

Ed Thorp, chairman of the bank's board of directors, said the appointment came in the board's regular monthly meeting held on Monday.

According to Thorp, Caldwell was appointed president over several applicants due to the merits of his 28 years' service.

He has been actively running the bank during the past six months as vice president since the resignation of Derwood Langston who had been president 14 years.

Instruments Reported Stolen

BIG SPRING — A Lubbock man told police musical instruments valued at $2,620 had been stolen from his van while the vehicle was parked at a Big Spring motel.

An electric guitar, a steel guitar, two amplifiers, a foot pedal and a microphone reportedly were stolen Wednesday afternoon from Steve Williams, who was in Big Spring to fill a musical engagement.

Odell Kite Resigns Post

LAMESA — Odell Kite, business manager for Lamesa schools, has resigned his position effective Nov. 1 to accept a similar position in Borger.

In other action at the session, which lasted over six hours, board members stated their unanimous approval of articles 7 and 8, concerning education and finance, of the proposed new Texas Constitution.

The board also accepted for further study a petition presented with 388 signatures favoring the Biblical creation of man to be included on an equal basis in curriculum. Currently, the Biblical references are included in studies of the origins of man, but evolution is the main teaching in Lamesa schools, according to school administrators.

Patty Hearst To Undergo Psychiatric Treatment

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst's lawyers, expressing concern for her mental health, took steps today to give the jailed heiress the psychiatric treatment they say she needs.

With the approval of U. S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter, the defense team prepared to bring their own handpicked psychiatrist in to treat her. They did not immediately identify the psychiatrist they have chosen.

Lawyer Albert Johnson said Miss Hearst's immediate treatment was "an emergency matter for the preparation of her defense and her mental well-being." But he said there had been no drastic change in her condition and "she is not in turmoil."

Carter, who called an unexpected hearing on the defense request late Thursday, agreed to the treatment — but only on the condition that the defense psychiatrist be forbidden to testify in any future Hearst case proceedings.

Government lawyers had indicated suspicions that the defense would ultimately try to use their psychiatrist to give testimony as evidence. But the judge ruled that out, saying the doctor must not testify "in any judicial proceeding" involving Miss Hearst.

The 21-year-old newspaper heiress is being held at San Mateo County Jail while a court-appointed panel of three psychiatrists and a psychologist seek to determine whether she is mentally fit to stand trial on federal bank robbery charges.

Since her arrest Sept. 18, her attorneys have maintained she is mentally disturbed — perhaps even insane — as a result of torment by the Symbionese Liberation Army which kidnaped her on Feb. 4, 1974.

"I desire treatment for the girl. I desire it now," Johnson told the judge. "I think it is important she have it."

Outside court, Asst. U.S. Atty. David Bancroft scoffed at Johnson's statement of an emergency need for help.

"There was absolutely no emergency or any indication that there was any change in Miss Hearst's condition," said Bancroft. "The only emergency was that the defense waited until the 11th hour before the judge was going out of town to make their motion."

Bancroft, who represented the government at the hearing, said they opposed a court-appointed psychiatrist because "this would put the court's Good Housekeeping Seal of Approval on the idea that she needs psychiatric treatment."

Carter said that a much-delayed hearing on her mental competence definitely will be held Nov. 4 when he plans to issue the crucial ruling which could influence all legal proceedings against her. He has scheduled a prehearing conference with attorneys for Nov. 3.

Jaycees Plan Halloween Event

LAMESA — A city-wide Halloween carnival for youngsters will be held Oct. 31 at the National Guard Armory under the sponsorship of the Lamesa Jaycees, Jaycee-ettes and the Retail Trade Committee of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce.

Highlighting the event will be the presentation of prizes for the best spook costume in the costume and jack-o-lantern contest.

Events will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a parade around the city square. Booths at the carnival will include a dart throw, cake walk, shooting gallery, duck pond, tic-tac-toe, fishing pond, ping-pong pond, ping-pong ball pitch, ring toss and football throw. Local civic and religious groups will sponsor each booth, and admission to all activities is free.

Halloween movies will be shown until the carnival concludes at 10 p.m.

Services for Les Prouty, retired Midland businessman, will be held at 4 p.m. Saturday in Oak Lawn Cemetery at Waco, under direction of the Newnie W. Ellis Chapel. Prouty died in his home here Wednesday.

Pallbearers will be Johnny Marwell and Al and Mike Zimmern, all of Dallas; Archie and Randy Chamness, both of Cisco, and Michael Rockwell of Midland.

Mary Hahn Dies At Plainview

PLAINVIEW — Mrs. Mary Hahn, 79, of Plainview, sister of D. C. Duncan of Big Spring, died Thursday in a Plainview hospital after a brief illness.

Services were to have been at 10 a.m. today in Wood-Dunning Colonial Chapel in Plainview with Gene Glaeser, minister of Garland Street Church of Christ in Plainview, and the Rev. M. O. Evans, assistant pastor of First Baptist Church in Plainview, officiating. Graveside services were at 4 p.m. today in Brazos Valley Cemetery in Stonewall County under the direction of Wood-Dunning Funeral Home.

Mrs. Hahn was born in Stonewall County and married George Hahn in 1918 in Aspermont. They moved to Plainview in 1956 from Aspermont. Her husband preceded her in death. She was a member of the Ninth and Columbia Street Church of Christ in Plainview.

Survivors include a daughter, four sisters, two other brothers, seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Music Topic Of Program

The program, originally prepared by Mrs. Robert Bechtel, was held in the home of Mrs. Jack G. Stone, 3610 Sinclair St.

Mrs. Huddleston described the influences on American musical culture from the wave of immigration from Europe in the mid-19th Century.

Works of five immigrant composers who gained fame performed were those of Bela Bartok, played by Mrs. Hans Roweck, pianist. Richard Hageman, performed by Mrs. C. Robert Winkler, soprano, with Mrs. William H. Maitland, pianist. Ernest Bloch, by Mrs. Stone; Gian Carlo Menotti, sung by Mrs. Robert F. Ward, with Mrs. Robert L. Wise, piano accompanist, and Fritz Kreisler, performed by Mrs. W. Lloyd Haseltine, violinist, with Mrs. Dillard Anderson Jr., piano. more

Dear Abby

— By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My mother used to nag my father all the time, so I made up my mind that no matter what the circumstances were, I would never nag my husband.

Well, Ted and I have been married for seven months, and if ever a wife had reasons to nag her husband, I had plenty, but I kept my mouth shut.

The biggest problem is that Ted doesn't come right home after work. And he never calls to tell me he'll be late.

Even when he comes home at 4:00 in the morning with liquor on his breath, I greet him with a smile and a sexy nightie and say, "Hi, Darling, can I fix you something to eat?"

Last Friday, he went to work and I didn't see him again until Monday evening. I was worried sick, but when he showed up, all I said was, "Gee, hon, I sure missed you."

I'm afraid he's got another girl. I can't understand him. He was so crazy about me when we first met, he made me break my engagement to another guy to marry him.

What am I doing wrong?

NEEDS ADVICE

DEAR NEEDS: You are letting Ted get away with murder. I don't recommend nagging a man, but I do think you should cut out the phony sweet talk and substitute some PLAIN talk. Your marriage is headed for the rocks. Get some counseling!

DEAR ABBY: When kids marry and have babies, and their marriages fail, they call on Grandma to look after their children while they work, date and so forth.

All Grandma gets for raising someone else's child is the remark, "My mother spoils my child, but what can I do?"

Most grandmothers, weary from having raised their own children, would appreciate a little peace and quiet in their later years, but they fall into the trap of having to raise their grandchildren, too.

Abby, please try to free the grandmothers!

WEARY AND TRAPPED

DEAR W AND T: Sorry, but every grandmother who wants to be "free" will have to free herself. If she is asked to look after her grandchildren and she doesn't really WANT to, she should say so.

DEAR ABBY: I am the 49-year-old mother of an 18-year-old daughter.

We were both quite a bit overweight, and I would like to tell you how we accidently discovered how to lose a lot of weight.

We were watching a wrestling match on TV, and much to my surprise, my daughter suggested that we wrestle with each other! At first I couldn't see it, but I finally consented.

We laid an old mattress down in the basement, put on our bathing suits and squared off like we had seen professional wrestlers do. My daughter found an opening, and rushed me. Next thing I knew, we both were down on the mattress rolling over and over.

The first time we wrestled, we were exhausted in 10 minutes. The next time, we wrestled a little longer. Now, we can wrestle for half an hour.

We both cut out bread, butter, potatoes and desserts, and between that and the wrestling matches nearly every day, we have trimmed down a lot. Everybody has noticed it.

TRIM MOM

DEAR MOM: And it's a good way to work off one's hostilities, too!

CONFIDENTIAL TO READER IN CHARLES CITY, IOWA: No one said it better than Jonathan Swift: "Good manners is the art of making those people easy with whom we converse. Whoever makes the fewest people uneasy is the best bred in the company."

Midland Lee Entertains Aerial-Minded Steers

By BOB DILLON

Midland Lee hopes to snap a two-game losing streak tonight when the Rebels face the aerial circus of the Big Spring Steers in Memorial Stadium.

The District 5-4A game is set for 8 p.m. with the Rebels determined to cut down on offensive mistakes that have given opponents easy points the past two weekends.

Lee brings the No. 1 offense into the game against the No. 8 offense and the Maroon Platoon needs a victory badly. Should Abilene Cooper knock Odessa Permian out of the undefeated ranks and Lee win, the Rebs would be right back into the thick of things and would really have a chance if Midland High posts a victory over San Angelo.

True, the Rebs would like to see Midland and Cooper win, but their uppermost concern right now is to get back to winning football after dropping games to San Angelo, 38-19 and to Cooper, 33-20.

Lee turns loose the No. 2 rusher in 5-4A tonight in junior tailback Clyde Gary against the hapless Steers who have lost to Abilene, 34-6, Midland, 53-25 and to Permian, 27-0.

Lee sports a 4-2 season record and 1-2 loop mark compared to the Steers' 2-4 and 0-3 readings.

While the Steers have the No. 8 offense in the league, they also have the No. 8 defense. Lee has the fourth best defensive unit.

Gary has rushed for 265 yards in 42 carries for an average of 5.8 per carry in loop play and has a total of 300 yards on the year and the talented junior missed three games with an injury. Bobby Humble, 205-pound junior fullback, is the leading ground gainer on the year with 316 yards on 62 carries in six games.

Mark Moore, 200-pound senior quarterback, sparks the Steer offense. He has connected on 26 of 77 passes for for 374 yards and four touchdowns in three loop games.

Lee has a strong passing game too. On the year, the Rebs with junior quarterbacks Brad Wright and David Hobbs, have thrown 86 passes, completing 39 of them for 537 yards and five touchdowns. Wright has hit 16 of 31 passes for 240 yards and two TDs while Hobbs has 23 of 55 passes for 297 yards and three scores.

Both passers have outstanding receivers in split end Robert Johnson and tight end Junior Miller, to throw to. Johnson has 12 receptions for 158 yards and two TDs while Miller, a 6-6, 225-pounder, has hitched on to 16 for 199 yards and three touchdowns.

The Rebels have racked up a total offense og 1,532 yards in six games with 995 of that coming on the ground.

Fullback Jesse Doss, a 215-pound junior, is the top ground gainer for the Steers in district with 65 yards in 14 carries, but the power runner missed one game and his team puts the ball into the air more than it runs. In fact, the Steers have only gained a total of 127 yards on the ground in district play.

The Steers have surrendered 783 yards on the ground and an additional 244 through the airways on defense.

"They (Lee) are mighty tough and as good as anybody in the district," said Burris, a former Oklahoma All-American and coach at Midland Lee for three years in the late sixties. "Lee is agressive and tough and we expect to have our hands full. We are young and very inexperienced to say the least."

Lee Coach Jim Acree remembers two years ago when Big Spring came into the Tall City and won, 24-7. Last year, the Steers polished off Abilene Cooper, 12-7, so the Rebs certainly won't and can't afford to take the Steers lightly if they want to wind up with a winning record and a possible share of the 5-4A crown.

No Major Changes Made In Leasing Offshore Oil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department has made no major changes in its policy on leasing offshore oil rights, according to coastal state energy officials.

At the first meeting of a new Outer Continental Shelf Advisory Board, composed of state and federal officials, department planners repeated on Wednesday Interior's intention to offer offshore leasing permits for areas in California and Alaskan coastal waters later this year. Both states had requested more time.

Similarly, there has been no change in Interior policies to accelerate leasing or to continue issuing single leases for both exploration and development. Some states have called for major changes in these areas.

Preble Stoltz, director of planning and research for California, and Guy R. Martin, commissioner of natural resources for Alaska, said they were disappointed by the decision to lease off their states and added that they might seek a court delay of the plan.

Assistant Interior Secretary Royston C. Hughes represented the department at the advisory board meeting. Also in attendence were other federal officials and representatives of environment and energy planning agencies of 17 states.

Hughes said he did favor, in principle, a proposal to increase the flow of information on leasing between the states and the federal government. He also agreed to provide more copies of offshore environmental impact statements following a request by Glenn Paulson, assistant commissioner of environmental protection for New Jersey.

The next meeting of the board was tentatively set for early next year. It will probably be held in New Orleans so state representatives can visit Louisiana's already well-developed offshore petroleum facilities.

Oil Squeeze May Hamper Brazil's Political Plans

The Washington Post

RIO DE JANEIRO — The international oil squeeze, which has caused serious economic problems in many developing "third World" countries, may have even deeper political repercussions in Brazil.

High-priced crude oil from the Middle East could, indirectly, interfere with President Ernesto Geisel's plan to return Latin America's largest country to the democratic system, after 11 years of authoritarian military rule.

There is speculation that congressional and gubernatorial elections slated for 1978 will be affected.

The "scenario" goes like this:

1. Expensive foreign crude (Brazil produces only about 20 per cent of the oil it needs every year) is forcing the government to adopt unpopular but necessary economic belt-tightening measures.

2. The people will show their dissatisfaction by voting for the Brazilian Democratic Movement (MDB), the only legal opposition political party.

3. MDB will become strong enough to back a non-military man for president, in indirect balloting scheduled for early 1980.

4. The current military rulers could never accept such a possibility and will try to change the rules of the game now.

Brazil's leading political columnist, Carlos Castello Branco of Rio's Jornal do Brazil, wrote: "Prospects for a general election in 1978 could become as vain as the forecasts of self-sufficiency in oil a few hasty government officials Made (at the beginning of this year." He predicted that the regime will come up woth a "political solution" for 1978 — but that it won't necessarily be an "electoral solution."

What brought all this on was Geisel's surprise announcement in early October that Brazil will allow foreign petroleum companies to look for oil here under risk contracts. This was a bitter pill to swallow. It seemed to negate Brazilian policy that led to the founding of the state oil monopoly 22 years ago under the slogan: "The oil is ours."

Geisel, an ex-army general who formerly headed Petrobras, admitted that he — along with many others in the government — had been opposed to letting in foreign oil companies.

But the president tried to explain that risk contracts are necessary if Brazil is to right its disastrous balance-of payments deficit, which is quickly draining the treasury's gold and dollar reserves and pushing the foreign debt to an all-time high.

Geisel took additional measures, such as raising the price of gasoline (premium gas in Brazil now costs the equivalent of $1.80 a gallon, thought to be the most expensive in the world), doubling import duties on nonessential items and ordering federal agencies to drastically cut overseas purchases.

This was the first time the government admitted publicly that the shine was off Brazil's so-called "economic miracle", which followed a right-wing military coup here in 1964.

First reactions to the president's announcements from influential military brass — Geisel's actions are said to be closely checked by a secretive clique of ultra-anticommunist officers — were favorable. The respected newspaper O Estado de Sao Paulo, quoting unnamed military sources in Brasilia, said the armed forces have total confidence in Geisel in this case, largely because of his Petrobras experience.

Exxon Reports 31 Per Cent Loss In Third Quarter

NEW YORK (AP) — Exxon Corp., noting the impact of tax changes and lower demand ctused by the recession, said today that profits in the third quarter fell 31.2 per cent from the year before.

The company, the world's largest oil concern, said it earned $550 million, or $2.46 a share, after taxes in the latest three-month period, as against $800 million, or $3.58 a share, in the 1974 quarter.

Exxon's earnings follow the industry trend in which earnings have fallen from year-earlier periods despite higher sales figures resulting from increases in the price of crude oil and gasoline.

Earlier this week, Mobil Oil Corp. announced a 17 per cent decline in worldwide earnings and Standard Oil Co. of Indiana a 28 per cent drop.

Exxon estimated nine months profits at $1.67 billion, or $7.49 a share, versus $2.28 billion, or $10.19 a share, in the year-earlier period. Sales advanced to $35.8 billion from $33.3 billion.

Stepout To Start In King County

Taubert, Steed, Gunn & Medders of Wichita Falls staked site for No. 12-N S. B. Burnett Estate as a ½-mile northeast stepout to the four-well conglomerate oil sector of the Anne Tandy field of King County.

Location is 660 feet from southeast and 1,450 feet from northeast lines of section 9, block X, R. M. Thomson survey, 17 miles southeast of Guthrie. Planned depth is 5,900 feet.

Tri-Star Stakes Runnels Tester

It is No. 1-A Ralph Burns, located one mile east of Wilmeth and 1,500 feet west of the depleted Hall (Jennings) field.

It has been shut in for bottomhole pressure tests. It tested no gauges, through perforations at 7,429-7,461 feet.

Operators Slate WT Explorations

Avance Oil & Gas Co., Inc. of Midland filed application for permit to drill a 12,000-foot probe in East Central Gaines. It is No. 1 Wood.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 50, block H, D&W survey, 19 miles northeast of Seminole. It is ⅝ mile south of a 10,250-foot failure, and 3½ miles southwest of the Cedar Lake, Southwest (Silurian) field.

King Venture

R. D. Gunn, Wichita Falls, will drill No. 1-F S. B. Burnett Estate, a 4,500-foot wildcat in North King, 10 miles north of Guthrie.

It spots 3½ miles southwest of the Four Sixes, North (Strawn) field and five miles west of the Tom B (Bunger sand) field.

Explorers Staked In Ward, Andrews

Atlantic Richfield Co. will drill a 21,000-foot Ellenburger try in Ward County, four miles southwest of Pyote, as No. 1 G. T. Hall Estate.

Mann Rankin of Midland has staked site for No. 1 Knight, et al, an 8,200-foot venture in Andrews, 2½ miles northeast of the Martin, West multipay field, and surrounded by production in the Fuhrman-Mascho pool.

Location is 467 feet from south and west lines of the survey, northeast quarter of section 11, block A-41, PSL. The project also is slated for tests in the regular pay in the Fuhrman-Mascho field.

Cities Service Reports Gauges

Cities Service Oil Co. has reported four-point gauges and was preparing to calculate absolute, open flow potential at its No. 1-A Ives Communitized, Eddy County, N.M., scheduled Morrow wildcat, 1⅝ mile west of Morrow production in the La Huerta field.

It flowed through Morrow perforations at 11,186-11,196 feet, on the following one-hour periods: on an 8-64-inch choke, 750,000 cubic feet; on a 10-64-inch choke, 1.5 million cubic feet; on a 12-64-inch choke, 3.5 million cubic feet, and on a 14-64-inch choke, 4.6 million cubic feet per day.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 30-21s-27e, ½ mile northeast of Carlsbad townsite.

Runnels Sector Gets Stepout Try

John W. Barbee of Abilene, has scheduled a southwest stepout to the one-well Loco Rico (Gardner "A") field of Runnels County, about seven miles northeast of Ballinger.

No. 1-B Raymond Hoffman, slated to 3,900 feet, spots 3,283 feet from southeast and 5,756 feet from southwest lines of Austin & Williams survey 262. It is contracted to be drilled to 3,900 feet.

The field opener, Barbee No. 1 Hoffman, finaled August 6, for 87 barrels of 42-gravity oil daily, through a 14-64-inch choke and perforations at 3,724-3,734 feet.

FPC Allows Virginia Firm To Bypass Federal Controls

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — The Federal Power Commission Thursday gave a Virginia textile manufacturer permission to buy natural gas directly from a Texas producer without regard to federally-set controls on the price of the fuel.

The FPC said that Dan Rivtr Mills could buy the gas at a price about three times that set by the power commission. Dan River, the major employer in Danville, Va., has said that it would have to shut down its operations and idle 8,100 people if its supplies of natural gas are cut off Nov. 15, as expected.

Raymond C. Gourley, vice president of Dan River, said he had not seen the FPC ruling, but said that even if the company gets 500,000 cubic feet a day from the Texas producer, it could still not operate economically.

Gourley said the company uses about 2 million cubic feet of gas each day and needs approval from the FPC for a similar purchase of about 700,000 cubic feet a day from a Louisiana gas producer and permission from the Federal Energy Administration to use propane (bottled gas) for industrial purposes to make up the remaining 800,000 cubic feet of its daily needs.

He indicated there was a possibility that Dan River might not lose all of the 2 million cubic feet it now gets from the city of Danville.

The decision was thr first under a power commission directive issued last August which said that industrial customers could search out their own supplies of natural gas if they cannot substitute another fuel for gas in the face of curtailment of their gas supplies.

Under FPC rules, residential users of natural gas have a higher priority for service than do industrial users.

An FPC spokesman said that five other companies have filed applications with the FPC to transport natural gas at rates above the federal ceiling. He said that other companies are now expected to apply because of the favorable ruling in the Dan River case.

Only about half of the 22 trillion cubic feet of natural gas used in the country each year is shipped from one state to another. The rest is consumed within the state where it is produced and is not subject to federal price controls.

The price of this so-called "intrastate" gas is about three times as high as the federally-controlled price and as a result gas producers have become increasingly reluctant to commit their product to the interstate market.

The FPC sets the price at which natural gas producers can sell gas to interstate pipeline companies such as Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp. which supplies Danville. It also regulates the price at which the pipeline can sell its gas to industrial, residential and commercial customers.

Technically, the FPC Thursday granted permission to Transcontinental Pipeline to carry the gas for the textile manufacturer. Dan River will pay the Lester Moore Tank and Supply Co. in Texas $1.50 per thousand cubic feet for the gas. The federally-set price is about 50 cents per thousand cubic feet.

FEA Okays Bottle Gas Price Increase

By THOMAS O'TOOLE
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON—The Federal Energy Administration has allowed retailers of bottled gas to raise prices two cents a gallon and has proposed a rules change that will allow producers to raise prices of all oil products more than once a month.

The latter move is the more far-reaching and controversial, though both are sure to come under attack by consumer groups who feel that energy prices have risen too much and too fast.

Present FEA regulations say that oil companies can raise prices only once in any month and then only when when they can justify price increases on the basis of higher costs.

Sources said that the FEA is proposing the rules change only because of the oil glut in the market today, with gasoline prices declining a little and with fuel oil prices rising only slightly as the winter heating season approaches.

The rule that oil companies may raise prices no more than once a month has been in effect two years. It covers all crude oil and its refined products, including gasoline, heating oil, jet fuel and diesel fuel.

The FEA's action Tuesday that allows bottle gas retailers to raise their prices almost surely means that bottle gas (propane) prices actually will go up two cents a gallon because of the looming shortage of natural gas this winter.

Bottled gas is the first fuel that consumers substitute for natural gas, which the Federal Power Commission says is in such short supply that it expects natural gas users to be cut off from deliveries of three trillion cubic feet of gas. This is almost 20 per cent of natural gas production in the U.S.

The FEA did not relax its rules on wholesale bottled gas prices, saying that propane is sold in such bulk at wholesale price that it does not have the cost problems that retailers do.

"This increase reflects non-product costs for retailers," an FEA statement said. "And non-product costs are those incurred for payment of wages, rents, utility bills, taxes, interest and insurance payments."

Wholesale bottle gas sells for about 19 cents a gallon in the U.S., with another 7 to 12 cents being tacked onto retail prices. About half the bottled gas sold in the U.S. is sold at retail to farmers and retail dwellers to cook, dry crops and heat homes and barns.

Laser System Beats Pap Smear

BOSTON (AP) — Scientists say a new laser light system for identifying cancer cells is faster and possibly more accurate than the familiar Pap smear test.

The new system, which distinguishes between the light patterns of normal and abnormal cells when the laser beam shines through them, may prove even more useful in rapidly identifying types of white blood cells, the researchers said Thursday.

Different kinds of white cells fight certain kinds of infections. A quick cell test can help doctors make hour-by-hour checks on how a person is doing warding off an infection, they said.

Dr. Gary Salzman of the laboratory's biophysics and instrument group said the system has been used successfully in detecting cervical and vaginal cancer in laboratory testing.

Since all kinds of cells scatter light differently to form distinct patterns or "signatures," a catalogue of light patterns can be stored in a computer for instant comparison and identification of new samples, he said.

The new system works by passing cells in a salt solution through a plastic tube at a rate of 60,000 cells per minute. As each cell progresses individually through the flow chamber, it is struck by a low-power laser beam and the light is scattered.

A detector system converts the scatter pattern to electrical signals which are stored in a computer memory for comparison with similar cell types.

Salzman said initial tests of 40 cell samples taken from women, which compared the experimental laser-computer method with the Pap smear test, showed "the accuracy of our system is quite consistent with that of the Pap smear in detecting cancer cells and we think it will prove to be better."

The system must undergo further testing and is at least two years away from manufacture, he said.

Baylor Student Foundation Names Three Midlanders

The Midlanders are John P. Bates Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Bates of 2801 W. Shandon St.; James B. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Johnson of 3311 Dengar St., and John C. Newton, son of Mrs. Virginia Ramsey of 3335 Fannin St.

The foundation is comprised of 87 members who are junior and senior students working in the areas of university public relations, student recruitment and student scholarships.

Mexican Police, Troops Kill 8 Persons, Wound 14

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Troops and police killed eight peasants occupying land on the outskirts of Yaqui in the northern Mexican state of Sonora and wounded 14 of them, all critically, Red Cross authorities reported today.

The sources said more than 400 peasants had occupied the land for two days when the army and the police confronted them Thursday with tear gas and machine guns.

A Red Cross spokesman said it was not known which side fired first, but no casualties were reported among the troops and police.

Other sources said the peasants were dissatisfied with the pace of the government's land redistribution program. Some of the peasants were reported to have been waiting for land for more than 25 years.

The governor of Sonora, Carlos Armando Briebich, said in a television interview that most of the "invading" group were members of the Small Property Owners Federation.

But other sources said some of the demonstrators represented two farm workers' unions — the Independent Farm Workers Central and the General Workers and Peasants Federation.

An unconfirmed report said 35 college students were arrested in nearby Ciudad Obregon for "stirring up and encouraging the peasants to rise against authorities."

Parents To Hear Baylor Professor

Dr. Ted Powers, professor and chairman of Baylor University's department of health, physical education and recreation, will be guest speaker at the Tuesday meeting of the Midland chapter, Baylor Parents League.

The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of First Baptist Church. It is open to parents of all Midland students currently attending the university and former Baylor students living in the area.

Mrs. Jack Herring of Waco, league director, will represent the university at the meeting.

Texas DPS Deliberately Vague About Security For Briscoe

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Department of Public Safety doesn't even like to be asked about security for Gov. Dolph Briscoe, and the governor doesn't see the need for it.

"If you want to do a public service, don't print anything about security," said Sgt. Billy Williamson, who has been in charge of protecting Briscoe since he took office in 1973.

Briscoe said he is not aware of any increase in security as a result of recent attempts on President Ford's life.

DPS headquarters, which Williamson said should do the talking, was deliberately vague about the extent of its gubernatorial security arrangements.

"I can't give you specific numbers. It varies depending on where and when. We try to evaluate this in accordance with the conditions of the time. We try to do the best job we can," said DPS spokesman Bill Carter.

Visitors and deliveries are logged each day.

Like all public officials, Briscoe receives occasional threats on his life, the DPS said.

"The threats are evaluated and appropriate steps are taken. Mostly they are not really enough to be too concerned about. It has always been a problem ... Most of the time they are just kooks who just feel a need to blow off steam," said one source.

When Briscoe makes public appearances, he is protected not only by Williamson but sometimes by plainclothes DPS officers and local police. During a recent visit to Olney, Electra and Wichita Falls, one additional DPS officer assisted Williamson.

Philadelphia Area Residents Already Bicentennial Weary

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—John Williams has already had his fill of the bicentennial, and it's not even 1976 yet.

Williams' frayed nerves are the product of living history. He's a resident of Elfreth's Alley, the oldest continuously occupied residential street in the nation and a Bicentennial tourist's "must" stop.

The cobblestone alley and its 31 small brick homes — many dating back to the early 1700s and nearly all restored — is down the street from the Betsy Ross house and five blocks from Independence Hall.

"We accept the fact that people will be interested in these 18th century houses and we get used to crowds walking up and down, but sometimes it gets ridiculous," said Williams, who has lived on the Alley four years.

The Alley's residents want local Bicentennial planners to institute some kind of crowd control. One home on the Alley has been restored and opened as a museum, but the others are private residences.

Local planners have predicted that as many as 10 million tourists will visit the city next year.

John Egan, another Alley resident, also has had problems with the crush of tourists. He says the type of visitor has changed.

"In the past, they generally were more knowledgeable and less aggressive," explained Egan. "You could even chat with them without feeling used."

But now, he said, "They're doing Philadelphia and we're just another stop on the tour."

One day, says Williams, one of his neighbors was working outside when a woman walked up and tapped him on the chest, demanding, "Young man, are you trained to dispense information?"

Killian To Direct New State Program

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — [illegible] Killian, superintendent of Denton State School since 1960, was appointed Thursday director of a state mental health genetic screening and counseling program, effective Nov. 11.

Killian will supervise clinics and specialists in helping prospective parents, with high chances of having mentally retarded children, make decisions about having children.

The Denton State School started the program four years ago with a grant from the Moody Foundation. A legislative appropriation of [illegible] for the next two years will enable the service to reach approximately one-fourth of Texas' population, says the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

Plans call for making the program statewide within 10 years.
