Fed lowers discount rate to lowest level in six years

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board, moving to stimulate a sluggish economy, Friday lowered its lending rate to banks and other financial institutions to 7.5 percent, the lowest level in more than six years.

The one-half percentage point drop in the discount rate was expected by many analysts to accelerate a trend toward lower interest rates throughout the economy.

Minutes after the Fed's announcement, Citibank in New York, the nation's second-largest commercial bank, lowered its prime lending rate to 10 percent from 10.5 percent.

Citibank became the second major U.S. bank this week to push its prime rate to its lowest level in 6½ years. On Wednesday, eighth-ranked Bankers Trust Co. in New York lowered its rate to 10 percent, and analysts said they expect other big banks to follow suit.

The Fed said it was taking the action because of "relatively unchanged output for some time in the industrial sector of the economy, stemming heavily from rising imports and a strong dollar."

The U.S. economy turned in an anemic growth rate of 1.3 percent during the first three months of this year, the slowest pace since the end of the last recession.

A change in the discount rate is the most dramatic tool the Federal Reserve has for signaling its intentions. The discount rate is the interest rate that the Fed charges in loaning money to banks and it is one of a variety of ways that the Fed influences interest rates and the growth of the nation's money supply.

The discount rate has not been as low as 7.5 percent since August 1978, when it was 7.25 percent. Beginning in the fall of that year, the central bank began raising the discount rate in a series of steps designed to wring inflation out of the economy.

The Fed raised the discount rate to a record high of 14 percent by the spring of 1981. While inflation was brought under control, the high interest rates also brought on the steepest recession since the Great Depression.

The Fed action Friday, which will take effect Monday, marked the third time the central bank has lowered the discount rate since last November. In that month the rate was cut from 9 percent to 8½ percent, and it was reduced to 8 percent last Dec. 21.

Allen Sinai, chief economist for Shearson Lehman Brothers, said the rate reduction "is a clear signal of the central bank's concern over the weak U.S. economy and particularly the near-recession in U.S. manufacturing."

Sinai predicted that all major banks would drop their prime lending rate to 10 percent on Monday, helping to send other interest rates down as well.

"The central bank is trying to engineer a soft landing for the economy with real economic growth of around 3 percent to 4 percent without re-igniting inflation," he said. "This move helps."

Michael Evans, head of a Washington economic forecasting firm, predicted a big rally by the stock market next week because of the Fed's action.

In recent weeks a variety of interest rates have been coming down, in part because of a belief in financial markets that the central bank would be forced to ease credit conditions as a way of providing momentum to a weak economy.

In taking the action, the Fed noted that inflation appeared to be "relatively well contained in goods-producing sectors of the economy." It pointed out that some commodity prices are at their lowest levels in two years.

The Fed also noted that the nation's money supply, which had been growing rapidly, had "slowed appreciably" in recent weeks.

Farm situation 'biggest' problem, poll indicates

By PEGGY ROBERSON
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The biggest problem facing West Texas today is the "agriculture situation," if responses to a questionnaire distributed by freshman Congressman Larry Combest are an accurate measure.

Forty-four percent of the 9,600 respondents named agriculture as the biggest problem in the region followed by 35 percent who cited the "water shortage;" 9 percent who said "education;" 8 percent who said "crime," and 4 percent who named other problems.

On the question of the biggest national problem, 60 percent of the West Texas respondents answered, "federal deficit." Second was "threat of war," listed by 13 percent; "interest rates," cited by 9 percent; "unemployment," 4 percent; "taxes," 1 percent and "other," 13 percent.

Despite their concern over problems in agriculture and fears of a water shortage, a majority of West Texans — 60 percent — were optimistic about the prospects for continued economic recovery while 15 percent were pessimistic and 25 percent were unsure.

Combest asked, "What is the best way to reduce the federal deficit?" and 43 percent advised him to cut social services while 38 percent wanted to cut defense spending. Only 8 percent suggested "raise taxes," while 11 percent offered various other suggestions.

An overwhelming number of respondents — 76 percent — favored a constitutional amendment requiring Congress to balance the federal budget each year, but 20 percent said no to that proposal.

Just under half of those who answered the questions favored a "flat-rate" tax system with limited deductions in place of the present progressive income tax system. A quarter of the respondents, however, were against that idea, due to be presented by the Reagan administration to Congress, in a modified form, early next month. Another quarter of those who answered said they were "not sure."

Asked if they favor a constitutional amendment to permit "voluntary" prayer in public schools, 82 percent said yes; 15 percent, no, and 3 percent were undecided.

Judge rules law unconstitutional

By FRANK TROMBLEY
Staff Writer

ODESSA — On Monday morning 244th District Court Judge Joe Connally will make the final ruling in the no pass-no play lawsuits filed against the Ector County school district on behalf of two Permian High School football players.

Connally is expected to rule that failure notices sent by school district officials to parents via the failing students did not represent sufficient notice.

Testimony by the parents of Terry Bryant and Ricky Cronk during the May 13 hearing seeking a temporary injunction revealed the youths failed to bring the failure notices home to them.

The judge eliminated several constitutional questions raised in the lawsuits by holding that the no pass-no play rules did not violate the rights of the two students. Connally specifically ruled that, in spite of the fact the rules were implemented toward the end of a grading period, the rules mandated by state law were not applied in an ex post facto manner.

However, Connally's ruling conflicts with a ruling Friday by a Houston area judge who held in a comparable lawsuit that the new rules are unconstitutional. The Houston judge issued an injunction barring school district officials from imposing the rules on the student involved in the suit.

Attorneys representing Bryant and Cronk, Larry McMillion and Gary Watkins, respectively, and ECISD attorneys Jack Tidwell and Bob Cox were to have all briefs and responses filed with Connally's court by noon Friday so he could study them over the weekend and make his ruling Monday.

Connally specifically told them to address the question of whether school district officials, in fact, designated students as agents when the three-week failure notices were given them to take home to their parents and, if so, should this be considered proper notice.

A temporary restraining order issued earlier by Connally was allowed to stand pending his final ruling.

During the May 13 hearing, Connally disregarded the testimony of Permian High School head coach John Wilkins and ruled that the spring practice drills from which students had been barred were extracurricular, not co-curricular.

Wilkins said in his opinion the spring drills were co-curricular because students involved in football engaged in them as a substitute for required physical education classes and were graded accordingly.

Since the students were not allowed to participate in spring drills because they had failed one or more subjects, Connally asked Wilkins how he would grade the students since they were required to spend their time in study hall. Wilkins said he hadn't decided yet.

Minor accidents occur as result of rain storm

From Staff Reports

The first measurable rains in almost a month drenched Midland Friday afternoon, and there was a 40 percent chance of more thundershowers today, according to the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport.

"We had a rash of minor accidents when it was raining, but nothing serious," said a Department of Public Safety spokesman, but a Midland Police Department spokeswoman reported "just the usual amount" of accidents.

"We had some traffic lights go out earlier, but it didn't cause any accidents," she said.

A number of scattered, minor power outages were reported by the Texas Electric Service Co., "but nothing really major," said TESCO spokesman Dan Roundtree. "Everything held up pretty well."

About 0.11 of an inch of rain fell by Friday evening, the first measurable amount since the 0.02 which fell on April 21, and the first really noticeable precipitation since the 0.14-inch rainfall of April 16.

"The normal rainfall to date (for the year) should be about 3.45 inches — we've only received about 2.49 inches," said Al Landers, a meteorological technician for the National Weather Service. "We've only had traceable amounts the first part of the month."

Until Friday, no rain had been recorded for May, but with thundershowers possibly continuing through the weekend, the monthly total may soon begin to approach normal levels.

Today will be cloudy with a 40 percent chance of more thundershowers, some possibly heavy, Landers said. The high will be in the mid-70s, and winds will be from the southeast at 5-15 mph. Tonight will be cloudy with a 20 percent chance of thundershowers and a low in the upper 50s. Sunday will be partly cloudy with a 20 percent chance of thundershowers and a high in the mid-80s.

Friday's high of 72 was 25 degrees below the record for the date of 97, set in 1978, while the overnight low of 58 was 13 degrees above the 1967 record of 45.

Distributors: Herbalife cleared of wrongdoing

From Staff and Wire Reports

Members of a Texas delegation of Herbalife distributors, who have returned to Midland from Washington, D.C., where they testified before a Senate panel investigating commercial diet plans, were confident their company has been cleared of any wrongdoing.

Herbalife has been charged with using fraudulent claims and testimonials to sell its food suppliments.

"We were very pleased with the hearings," said Raun Stoltz, an Herbalife distributor in Midland. "The FDA said that they had no qualms with Herbalife, there are no lawsuits pending and toward the end of the hearings, it was like the FDA was on our side."

Stoltz and several Midlanders traveled to Washington, D.C., Tuesday as part of a 160-member delegation from Texas to voice their concern over the Senate subcommittee hearings. They visited with Sen. Phil Gramm (R-Texas), Rep. Larry Combest (R-Texas) and aides from the offices of Sen. Lloyd Bentson (D-Texas) and Rep. Tom Loeffler (R-Texas).

Stoltz and another distributor, Alton Brookshire, were enthusiastic about the legislators' reaction.

"We found out first hand that the free enterprise system works," said Brookshire. "The elected officials listened and took notes."

Stoltz attributes the original inquiry into Herbalife's marketing techniques to pressure put on by "big business" such as large pharmaceutical firms who fear competition from companies like Herbalife that offer a drug-free diet. "In the first quarter of 1985, we had a billion-dollar pace," he said. "And we had more than nine billion portions consumed — that's a real threat to big industry.

"In the last two weeks what we have seen (Senate subcommittee hearings) is a result of a very orchestrated effort by big industry."

Allegations of fraud included charges of wrongful deaths, using outdated and disreputable sources to advertise the alleged properties of nine herbs contained in Herbalife supplements.

Sen. Warren Rudman, (R-New Hampshire), accused Herbalife's founder, Mark Hughes, of encouraging customers to say in printed and televised testimonials that Herbalife products have cured them of diseases such as cancer and arthritis, according to an Associated Press report.

"In one case," said Rudman, "Herbalife used the 1932 endorsement of an alleged cancer-curing herb which appeared in the Ceylon Daily News.

"That's one of the most incredulous explanations I've ever heard from someone even attempting to sell snake oil," he said.

Smith County Constable Dennis Taylor sits atop a barrel at a Henderson, Texas, rodeo. Taylor, 33, has been a rodeo clown for 16 years.

Lawman plays clown to forget job

TYLER, Texas (AP) — Dennis Taylor sits in front of a mirror, applying the greasepaint that will enable him to brighten peoples' lives for the next two hours. He pulls on the oversized jeans with suspenders and several brightly colored handkerchiefs hanging at the sides, clothing that will visually add to his jokes later. He reaches for the wide-brimmed, polka dot hat that he pulls on over his salt and pepper hair.

Taylor surveys himself and his collection of props, reaches for his "cousin" Fred and heads for the arena. As the transformation occurs from Smith County constable to rodeo clown, Taylor prepares himself for the coming hours, hours that he will fill with humorous antics, jokes and fun. Hours that he hopes will bring a portion of happiness to the audience.

"If a family comes out here and for two hours I can make them laugh and forget their problems, then I've accomplished something," Taylor says.

Clowns are an integral part of a rodeo. They help keep the audience's attention and interest and keep it involved in the action, they fill the slack times between different events and they can mean the difference between life and death for some rodeo performers.

Taylor knows his job well. After 16 years as a rodeo clown and a short time before that as a bull rider, the 33-year-old Taylor is familiar with the hazards of the job and wears the scars to prove it. But, he says he enjoys his weekend escapes from the pressures of a law enforcement career. "Being a cop, you have to get away every once in a while," Taylor says.

Standing in the center of the rodeo arena, Taylor is the star of the show. "For two hours I'm a different person because I'm in a fantasy land," he says. "I guess that's what I like about rodeo, making people laugh.

"I love little kids and I love talking to them, and they love talking to the clown," he says.

Taylor says he always enjoyed telling jokes and from the first time he jumped into an arena to save a friend from a bull, he has enjoyed clowning. In the early years Taylor was what is known as a bull-fighter, but now is a barrel man. Clowning is relaxing to Taylor, he says, adding it also bears similarities to law enforcement. "You're helping people in both, I think," he says.

Taylor says he enjoys making people happy. At the rodeo he likes to make them laugh and as an officer one of the most enjoyable parts of the job is returning stolen property, he says. As an officer, the Lindale native says "I take it personal when thieves come into my end of the county. I don't like it."

Taylor says he has a good working relationship with the Smith County Sheriff's Office, his seven reserve deputies and Justice of the Peace Billie Garrett. When he's not in the rodeo ring, Taylor says he often spends weekends serving civil papers and catching up on paperwork at the office.

Taylor says he enjoys both of his careers but also knows there will come a day when he will not be able to be a rodeo clown. He thinks about his last rodeo with sadness, a dread that he quickly tries to shrug off. But it is a sadness he experiences at the end of every rodeo to a degree. "It's sad when you watch those trucks load up (with stock) and leave, because you know it's over," he says.

Tooth found which was lost in December

MAYPORT, Fla. (AP) — While hunting for sea shells and sharks' teeth at Mayport Naval Station, Kathy Schramke found an artificial tooth her husband lost while swimming in the ocean in December.

"I just picked it up and knew it was his," she said recently.

"It was way up on the beach with all the sea shells and stuff that had washed up," she said.

Doug Schramke, 24, said he lost the tooth when a wave crashed down on him. And he said there was no doubt that the tooth found is the one he lost.

"I put in my mouth and it still fits perfectly," he said. "...I thought it was gone forever."

Senate OKs bill which would protect employees' seniority

STATE

AUSTIN (AP) — Legislation calling for a procedure that respects the seniority of employees should layoffs be necessary in state agencies was approved by the Senate on Friday.

Under current policy, state agencies can hire and fire at their discretion. If an agency is required to lay off staff members, it can choose to lay off those with many years service and retain employees recently hired, lawmakers said.

Some lawmakers said that without a policy for a layoff system based on seniority, some layoff decisions could be based on cronyism and favoritism.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, calls for creation of seniority lists and prescribes the order in which employees would be laid off based on position and seniority.

The legislation also would provide rules for demotion as an alternative to being laid off, and for rehiring employees who have lost their jobs.

The bill, which now goes to the House for its consideration, also would require that agencies conduct layoffs so as to maintain the ratio of women and minorities in its workforce.

Also on Friday, the Senate approved:

— Legislation to require industries to make available to employees and the public lists of toxic chemicals used in their businesses. The lists also would be provided to the state health commissioner and local fire departments.

The standards are similar to employee right-to-know rules issued by the federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

"This would go a long way to making our communities and our workers safe," said the bill's sponsor, Sen. John Whitmire, D-Houston.

— A bill that would require the state Low-Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Authority to give preference to state-owned lands in acquiring a site to dispose of the nuclear waste material.

Twenty-six blacks defect to GOP

FORT WORTH (AP) — In what was billed by party leaders as an unprecedented defection, 26 black Democrats publicly switched to the Republican Party on Friday.

The new Republicans forces were marshaled by former Democratic state representative Reby Cary of Fort Worth, who said blacks are tired of being taken for granted by the Democratic party.

"If minorities are going to have political leverage and effectively impact the system, we must be participating components of both parties," said Cary, a member of the Texas House from 1978 until his defeat in the 1984 Democratic primary.

Cary and his fellow born-again Republicans were welcomed into the party by state GOP Chairman George Strake and Fran Chiles, national Republican committeewoman and wife of Texas Rangers owner Eddie Chiles.

"This is a special occasion," Mrs. Chiles said, her voice breaking and her eyes misting over. "This is a historical event in the United States of America. There is not another county in the country that has made the statement we are making today."

According to Mrs. Chiles, the mass defection is the largest in state — and possibly — national history.

Strake admitted the GOP had "lost touch" with black voters "in the 1930s" but promised them political clout in the party of today.

"You can come to our precinct conventions, our state conventions and our national conventions and you can be somebody," Strake said.

Cary's sharpest barbs for his old party were tipped with political pragmatism rather than philosophy.

He criticized the Democratic Party for failing to field a winning candidate in the 1980 and 1984 presidential races. He also complained that the party has taken the black vote for granted.

"Since the days of Franklin Roosevelt, blacks in the South have been political appendages to the Democratic Party," Cary said.

Although Cary voiced support for GOP principles such as "a minimum of government regulation," he also warned his new party that its "policy of laissez-faire has to be tempered."

"We cannot ignore the problems of urban decay, infant mortality, or education system or the state water supply," he said.

Cary, a realtor, was also careful to distance himself from the Reagan administration's policies and from the president himself.

"Ronald Reagan is not our problem," Cary said.

He said the black Republicans are concerned "about Fort Worth, the state of Texas and Tarrant County right now."

Man sentenced to eight years for purse theft

By HALLYE JORDAN
Staff Writer

A 29-year-old felon convicted Friday afternoon of snatching the purse of a 69-year-old Midland woman Jan. 25 was sentenced to eight years in prison.

James Ray Bates, who has two misdemeanor convictions for theft and one for criminal trespass in 1984, and two felony convictions for burglary of Midland churches in 1979 and 1984, was sentenced to prison for the first time.

The defendant has received probated sentences for his prior felony convictions.

"He's a convicted felon, a continuous thief," argued Tom Morgan, administrative assistant district attorney, after the eight-man, four-woman jury found him guilty of theft from a person. "He's a three- or four-time loser."

Bates was accused of stealing the purse from Margaret Earhart about 3 p.m. Jan. 25 in the northside parking lot of Johnny's Barbecue, 316 N. Big Spring.

Mrs. Earhart testified a man whose face she did not see came up behind her when she was in the parking lot with take-out barbecue in her right hand and a shoulder-strap purse on her right shoulder.

The purse, which contained credit cards, check books, personal items and about $250 in cash, has not been recovered.

Mrs. Earhart testified she chased the suspect east on Ohio Avenue after he grabbed the purse from her, knocking the barbecue to the ground.

Ramon Reyes, who testified for the state, said he was on the second floor of the West Building across the street when he heard a woman screaming and looked out the window.

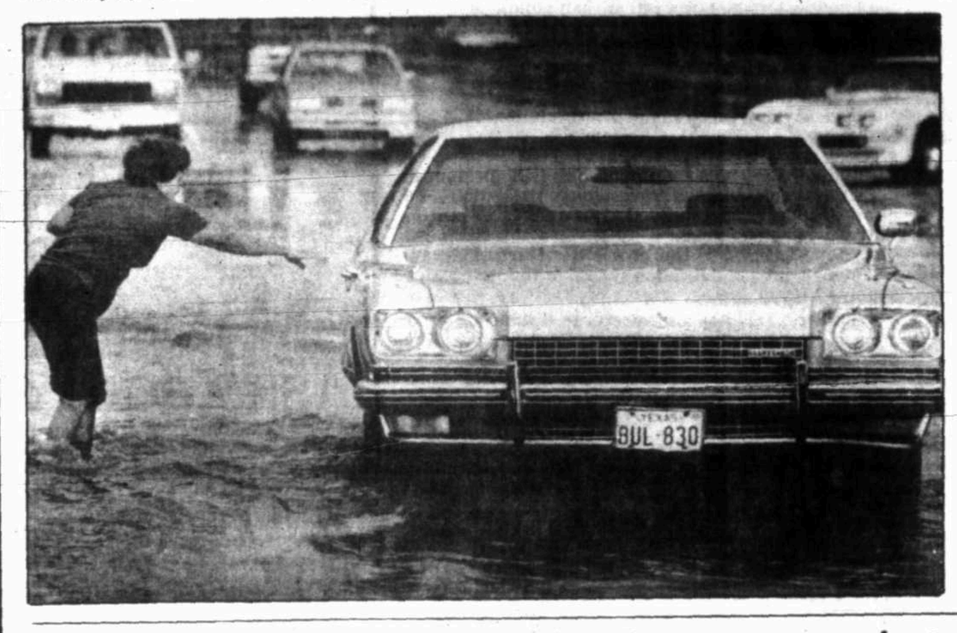

The witness said he had no doubt in his mind the defendant was the man he saw walking east in the middle of Ohio and get into a car that came south on Colorado.

But defense attorney Jack Chappell pointed out discrepancies between testimony from Reyes and Niranjan J. Sharma, who was trying to find a parking space on Ohio when he saw a man running east on the sidewalk who seemed to have a limp. The men also testified to having seen the man holding a purse on different sides of his body, Chappell said.

The defense attorney questioned police officers about Bates being the only suspect in the case. The officers testified an investigation of the defendant, who was known to them from previous arrests, was conducted only after Bates was identified by witnesses as the suspect in the photo spread.

"So maybe he is a target for police scrutiny," Chappell said during closing arguments. "They're just doing their job. But, on the other hand, due to their urgency, what if there is a mistake? I would submit that that's what we've got...it means James Bates got caught in a bad spot."

Morgan asked for the maximum sentence of 10 years in the third-degree felony, argued if the police "were out to get James Ray Bates, why did they wait five days before arresting him...unless they wanted to be professional and said let's be darn sure before we start arresting people."

Midland man arrested for second time at same place

From Staff Reports

A 38-year-old Midland man released from jail Thursday after being arrested for burglary of a business was arrested again Friday after he allegedly went back and broke into the same building, according to police reports.

Bond for Raymond Bowers was set at $50,000 by Justice of the Peace Robert Pine. Bowers was arrested about 12:45 a.m. Friday after police officers responding to a burglary alarm at Birkhead Feed Store, 100 N. Terrell St., saw him running from the back of the store. When arrested, Bowers was wearing a pair of boots E.P. Birkhead identified as stolen from his store May 7, according to reports.

Bond was also set Friday for two of the three men arrested Thursday and charged with burglarizing a garage freezer at 2820 Maxwell. Bonds of $10,000 each were set by Justice of the Peace Charlie Sprayberry for 18-year-old Larry Wayne Taylor and 23-year-old Steve Dillard. Already released Thursday on a $10,000 bond was 22-year-old Michael David Bond.

Four red-lacquer armchairs worth a total of $1,600 were reported stolen from the Masters Club, 3720 N. Edwards. Owner Chuck McClure told police the chairs had been taken without permission about three weeks ago. The investigation is continuing.

A 1976 Ford pickup worth $1,200 was reported stolen by John Fielder of Abilene, who told police he parked the pickup at 3700 W. Louisiana at 10:30 p.m. Thursday and discovered it missing, along with $500 worth of carpenter tools, at 10:15 a.m. Friday. Fielder told police he'd left the keys in the truck.

A $550 revolver and a $250 radar detector were reported stolen from a 1983 Jeep Wagoneer belonging to Brad Hodges, 4700 Polo Parkway. Burglars apparently pried open a vent window and took the items sometime between midnight and noon Friday in the parking lot near Hodges' apartment, reports said.

A $250 radar detector, a $200 CB radio and a $50 external speaker were taken from a tractor rig in a parking lot at 3609 Caldera between 6:30 p.m. Thursday and 6:30 a.m. Friday, according to reports. Richard Hoadley Jr. had left the rig in the parking lot near his apartment.

HERBALIFE

Hughes, a 29-year-old millionaire, said he used legitimate statements from doctors and nutritionists to advertise restorative and healing properties of herbs used in his products.

"Reports linking four deaths with Herbalife products are false," he said, adding that he has received only 30 complaints about them in five years, even though "nearly 10 billion portions have been sold."

"There's millions of people using it and nobody's being hurt," Hughes told senators on the second day of hearings. "I don't see why everybody is attacking us."

Subcommittee chairman, William Roth, (R-Delaware), said the panel was eager to see the results of the FDA's investigation so it can determine whether legislation is necessary to control the commercial diet industry.

The basic Herbalife diet plan substitutes vitamin-mineral tablets and drinks for two of three daily meals so that calories consumed each day are limited to 1,000. In addition, other herbal tonics and pills are sold by the company's national sales network.

A panel of nutrition specialists testified against Herbalife on Tuesday, stating the Herbalife method can be dangerous and works only on a psychological level for less than 30 percent of the people who use it.

Hughes, who has a ninth-grade education, told the subcommittee he is an authority on weight loss and nutrition and said some of the experts who appeared the day before were overweight and "looked like they could use my product."

Hughes referred technical questions about his products to Dr. David B. Katzin of Los Angeles, who said he has been working for Herbalife for three months for a $1,500-a-day fee.

When Rudman questioned his reliability as a witness, Katzin shot back that "he got on board" with the company because he believed lawmakers and the media are unfairly persecuting Herbalife.

Priest, 73, combines his faith with show business

SUN CITY, Ariz. (AP) — Show biz in Sun City: It's a far cry from his hoofing it in Broadway's "High Button Shoes" or "Oklahoma!" and a far cry from his two-year stint at Billy Rose's Diamond Horseshoe.

Father Arthur Bourbon's show business bookings these days are contracted out of love for people, and out of the knowledge that "I'm using whatever talent God gave me."

When he's not performing Mass at St. Clement of Rome, the 73-year-old priest and his troupe play the nursing home circuit, doing show business for charity, he says.

His troupe?

"I get talented people from the community, all over 60: three girls, the Step Sisters, and a banjo guy," says Bourbon, whose own act includes a little tap dancing, cartwheels, "impressions of Maurice Chevalier, Jimmy Cagney" — and stories.

Bourbon will tell you his own story goes beyond the rare, performer-turned-priest, to the miraculous.

The miracle includes his own spiritual return to the Catholic Church after "falling away," which led to his being ordained a priest June 4, 1977, at the age of 65.

His spiritual journey began at age 60, entered a Trappist monastery, where he was a monk for a little over a year

"The prayer life was beautiful," says Bourbon. But he longed for the priesthood, and obtained permission to go to a seminary, Sacred Heart Monastery in Hales Corners, Wis.

In the autobiography he hopes one day will be published, "Prompter in the Wings," Bourbon writes: "At 65 years of age, and out of school for 40 years, it was hard to comprehend the terminology used by teachers and today's students in their 20s and 30s."

Bourbon shared with his fellow seminarians the best part of his show business training — drama and producing and using his "God-given talents" — in teaching them how to re-enact the Last Supper.

Video games aid recovery of patients

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — Video games are often regarded as a fun leisure activity.

But for those who have suffered head injuries, the video-game concept can serve as a valuable tool in cognitive retraining. It is a way through which attention span and memory function can be increased, visual-perceptual skills improved and motor coordination sharpened.

A microcomputer is the newest addition to the cognitive rehabilitation program at St. Joseph Hospital and Health Care Center.

"Cognitive retraining addresses foundation skills, bottom line skills," said Dr. Jon Bentz, SJH clinical psychologist. "You don't necessarily teach (patients) how to feed themselves. (You're) not teaching a specific skill. You're retraining the brain."

The microcomputer, which aids in that process, gets patients interested in retraining tasks while serving as a motivational force.

A familiar game of pong requires patients to react to the movement of a bar and dot on the computer's screen through the use of levers they control.

Another computer task requires patients to keep a dot within the confines of a square.

Cabinet maker fixes fiddles, writes symphonies, plays violin

GREENVILLE, Texas (AP) — The sign advertises "fiddle shop", but the man is a violinist.

Just off Highway 69 in southern Hunt County, long-time cabinet maker Ron Falconer practices his hobbies: repairing fiddles, writing symphonies and playing the violin.

Falconer, 64, has a positive attitude about life and a personality based on precision and perfection.

"I do not have a music degree, but I have studied violin all my life," said Falconer, who is also a custodian at Greenville Intermediate School. He went on to explain that he started writing symphonies in Salt Lake City when he was a part of the Westminister College Community Orchestra.

"Our assistant conductor, Roger Wangerin, taught me to write music, but more to listen to the music, to know which instruments to use for a mood; oboes for melancholoy, French horns for a proud sound."

Falconer maintains a side room in his home for fiddle repair. He recently renovated an old fiddle that was missing a top board. The resulting tone indicates success.

"I was born in Detroit where I lived until my '40s. I am a cabinet maker by trade. Music has always been my hobby and my second love," Falconer says.

The musician made his way to Hunt County following his second marriage. His wife, the former Annie Agee, brought him back to her home in Northeast Texas which she called "The Promised Land."

The house where this man plies his hobbies is located down a rough gravel road south of Greenville five miles from the Sabine River.

The road up to the house is circular, punctuated by a simple wooden sign stating "fiddle shop," and occupied by two friendly dogs.

In the back yard, Falconer and his wife maintain a small grove of native trees.

It is a nice sight to see Falconer sitting amid the grove of trees in an old, comfortable rocking chair, playing a violin while his dogs nuzzle for an extra pat on the head. A classical piece floats through the leaves.

"I have written symphonies for some time, however, it is one thing to write them and another to have someone play them," Falconer said. "One of my pieces, 'Romantic Symphony in G Minor', was played by the Westminster College Community Orchestra in Salt Lake City."

Falconer credits Wangerin for his love and continuing pursuit of classical writing.

Writing cantatas is another of Falconer's musical pursuits.

"A cantata is a religious piece of music, written for a choir or for spoken narration," Falconer says. "I have written several of them and enjoy it very much."

Federal funds pledged for homeless

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Federal officials Friday offered 49 temporary homes, rent subsidies for 60 displaced families and $1 million to help rebuild a neighborhood destroyed during a battle between police and a radical cult.

Housing and Urban Development Secretary Samuel Pierce Jr., sent to tour the devastation by President Reagan, announced the emergency aid at a news conference.

"The president is deeply saddened by what occurred, and he asked me to do everything I possibly can to help remedy this situation," Pierce said.

A police helicopter dropped a satchel bomb on the MOVE stronghold Monday. At least 11 members of the cult, including four children, died in the resultant fire that burned 61 homes and left 270 homeless. .

Mayor W. Wilson Goode estimated it would take $8 million to rebuild and refurnish the west Philadelphia neighborhood. Work could start by July 1 if there are no legal obstacles, he said.

"We are doing everything we can as quickly as we humanly can to get people from temporary shelters into temporary homes," Goode said.

Pierce said 37 HUD properties, most of them in west Philadelphia, and 12 city-owned homes at scattered sites can be used as temporary homes. Refugees are now staying with friends, neighbors or at a Temple University dormitory.

In addition, HUD will provide 60 vouchers than can be used like money by families to rent temporary homes.

The $1 million grant comes from discretionary funds and is earmarked for the long-term rebuilding project. The remainder will come from city, state and private sources, Pierce said.

Pierce and Goode joined Pennsylvania's two Republican U.S. Senators, John Heinz and Arlen Specter, on a 15-minute walking tour in a light rain to inspect the ruined neighborhood. Fifty-three houses were destroyed and eight others damaged in a six-hour inferno.

They walked past the ruins of the bunkered MOVE stronghold, where police are picking through the rubble to see if there are more bodies or weapons.

"It's a war area. It's just desolate," said Specter. "Once you look at it, your heart has to go out to the people who have been rendered homeless."

He refused to comment on police tactics, which have been criticized by some. "We need to help the people who have been displaced. This is not the time to talk about blame and recrimination."

On Thursday, U.S. Attorney General Edwin Meese III called Goode's action a "good example" for law enforcement. Speaking to an annual meeting of the 5,000-member California Police Officers Association, Meese commended Goode for the "very rational, very reasonable way" he handled the situation.

Heinz likened the federal relief to the money used to relocate residents after the Mount St. Helens volcano erupted five years ago.

"It was a sad, terrifying situation," said Heinz. "Nobody planned this disaster. Whether it is a volcano or an inferno, this is a disaster and we have a duty to help.

Meanwhile, police kept watch on two other MOVE homes in the city. At a third site, police cordoned off a block Friday when neighbors reported that people who looked like MOVE members were seen entering a vacant house.

MOVE is a radical cult founded in 1972 by a man calling himself John Africa, and all members use his surname. The group shuns many conventions of society and lives in squalor with dogs, rats and roaches.

Following a 55-day siege in 1978, a policeman was killed and eight people wounded in the first armed confrontation with MOVE.

Jerry Africa, described as a minister of information for MOVE, said in an interview Friday with "CBS Morning News" that police could have waited for the children to leave the compound for daily excursions before the siege.

Cattle killed accidentally in war game

FORT HUNTER LIGGETT, Calif. (AP) — Soldiers taking part in an Army war game shot and killed 74 cattle that stampeded into the line of fire after apparently being frightened by the noise, officials reported.

"We got the cattle out of the way earlier in the morning, but when we started exercising all our weaponry in our final defensive front, all the noise must have spooked them and they turned around and came running back in," said Col. Lester "Red" Walkley.

"Five hundred soldiers were firing weapons" during last weekend's drill, said Walkley, commander of the post about 150 miles south of San Francisco. Officers ordered the soldiers to cease fire after spotting the cattle, but it was too late.

"When you give a command to turn off 500 rifles and machine guns, it takes a few seconds for the order to go from the lieutenant to the sergeant down to the soldiers," explained Walkley.

In that span, 38 cattle were killed. Another 36 were injured and had to be destroyed.

"It was really an unfortunate incident," the commander said earlier this week.

The white-faced Herefords and Anguses belonged to rancher Martin Jaureguy, who raises 7,000 head of cattle on 80,000 acres. Part of that land is leased to him by the base.

U.S., India sign high technology agreement

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The United States and India signed an agreement Friday which eases the transfer of U.S. high technology to India while safeguarding it against diversion to India's close friend, the Soviet Union.

U.S. Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige, who is to leave today for Moscow after two days of meetings in India with economic officials and businessmen, said the agreement does not cover sensitive nuclear-related or military technology.

Both countries had sought the accord before Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi's June 11 visit to the United States. It comes as both the United States and the Soviet Union are trying to woo the new prime minister.

Gandhi, 40, succeeded his mother, Indira Gandhi, after her Oct. 31 assassination. Next week he is scheduled to visit the Soviet Union, India's biggest arms supplier, in his first major trip abroad as government leader.

The agreement provides for the transfer of a wide range of computer, electronics, telecommunications and other technology which Gandhi, a home computer buff, regards as vital for India's modernization. The agreement means that export licenses to India will be approved more quickly. India has complained frequently of restrictions and delays.

Baldrige said an Indian spy scandal last February, in which 19 people were charged with selling secret industrial and military documents to the Soviets and other countries, did not cause special concern.

He said the United States did not single out India in requiring safeguards against diversion of technology to the Soviets, but insists on such safeguards in agreements with all countries.

Baldrige met Gandhi for 30 minutes before the signing ceremony. In a statement issued later he praised Gandhi's "far-sighted" policies giving greater leeway to the private sector.

"The transfer of technology is of vital importance to India, which is poised on the threshold of a new kind of growth," Baldrige said in the statement. "American businessmen are positive about India's future and I think we'll see more trade, more investment and more scientific cooperation between the United States and India in the future."

The commerce secretary also said the gas leak disaster at the Union Carbide plant in Bhopal "doesn't seem to be a depressant on the interests of American businessmen to come over here."

More than 2,000 people were killed and thousands seriously injured last Dec. 3 when methyl isocyanate leaked from Union Carbide's pesticide plant in central Madhya Pradesh state.

Union Carbide offered $5 million in immediate relief in April and sought an out-of-court settlement paying $200 million over 30 years. The Indian government called the amount too small.

All miners' bodies recovered

TOKYO (AP) — An explosion in a coal mine shaft a half-mile underground killed 61 workers, and rescue teams have recovered all of the bodies, police reported Saturday.

They said the bodies of the last 12 victims who had been unaccounted for were brought out of the mine in northern Japan at 7 a.m. That was about 15 hours after the blast that was so powerful it blew mine cars from their tracks and hurled workers to their deaths against the walls. It was believed methane gas was responsible for the explosion.

Search teams had worked through the night as mine operators tried to force air into the tunnels, said Shin Kamiya, manager of Mitsubishi Coal Mining Co.'s Minami Oh Yubari mine on the northern island of Hokkaido.

Police had said earlier they did not believe any of the trapped miners would be found alive.

Yubari mine manager Shin Kamiya said 336 miners were in the colliery at the time of the explosion, but most got out safely within minutes.

Police at the Hokkaido Prefecture reported 22 were injured, seven seriously.

In an earlier report, police said there were 65 miners either dead or missing, but they reduced that figure to 61 dead after rescue teams found the last 12 bodies.

It was the second disaster to befall a major Japanese coal mine in three weeks and occurred at the Mitsubishi Mining Co.'s colliery in Yubari, 560 miles north of Tokyo.

On April 25, a gas explosion killed 11 miners and injured four in a coal mine on the island of Takashima in southwestern Japan. That mine also belonged to Mitsubishi Coal Mining.

Akira Suzuki, an official of the Ministry of International Trade and Industry's Mine Security Management Bureau in Sapporo, Hokkaido's capital, told The Associated Press the blast Friday was centered near two diagonal shafts about 2,640 feet below sea level.

He quoted the ministry's senior mining official Tatsuo Takahashi as saying that methane gas, which was detected in the mine, may have set off the explosion.

A 70-member rescue team, carrying oxygen masks and food, had searched for the victims trapped about 2¼ miles from the closest entrance.

Rescue operations initially were delayed for more than two hours when a machine that sends fresh air into the shafts broke down.

The nature and cause of the explosion were being investigated. The government has classified the Minami Oh Yubari Mine has being one of Japan's most dangerous in terms of potential gas leakage.

"There was a dull, boom-like sound, immediately followed by a power failure. After an abrupt change in air pressure, the air was filled with coal dust," the Japan Broadcasting Corp. quoted an unidentified injured miner as saying.

The mine was the scene of another gas explosion accident in 1979, when 15 miners were killed.

Mitsutama Chiba, an official of the government's Sapporo Coal Mine Security Management Bureau, said miners are required to carry emergency gas masks that would protect them from poisonous carbon monoxide for about 15 minutes.

Chiba said oxygen masks and tanks are required to be stored in specific areas, but did not know if they were available near the site of explosion.

About 1 million tons of coal are hauled each year from the mine, and about 2,100 people are employed as miners there, a company official said.

A fire in January 1984 in the Mitsui Coal Mining Co.'s Ariake Mine in southwestern Japan killed 83 people.

In the Hokutan Yubari mine, a different colliery in the same area, 93 people were killed in a gas explosion in July 1983.

Tex-Mex foods becoming popular across nation

AUSTIN (AP) — Native cuisines are spilling out of the Texas market and becoming popular in New England, Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower said.

Two companies in cooperation with the state are marketing "Tex-Mex" food products manufactured by 11 Texas food companies. The products include picante sauce, tamales, rice, mesquite wood chips, chili mix, tortilla chips, rice, canned chili and seasonings.

"We took Taste of Texas to Boston because we believed there was room for our style of food on the isles of New England grocery stores," said Paulette Schwartz, director of the state agriculture department market promotion office.

Assistant Commissioner for Marketing Susan DeMarco said Tex-Mex food is the fastest growing foodline in the nation.

"This Tex-Mex section in New England confirms our belief that Texas foods are a unique blend of Mexican, Black and Southern Anglo cultures that form a popular ethnic cuisine.

Lawmaker's son arrested

EL PASO (AP) — More than 150 people, including a state senator's son, were arrested early Friday in what has become an annual end-of-school crackdown on drug peddlers, police said.

About 25 of the 181 people charged in felony and misdemeanor drug warrants still had not been arrested Friday night, according to city police spokesman Sgt. Hank DiMatteo.

One of those arrested was Richard Santiesteban, 19, son of state Sen. Tati Santiesteban, D-El Paso. The younger Santiesteban was charged with delivery of cocaine, DiMatteo said.

He said 10 of those arrested were under 17 years old and that charges ranged from sale to possession of cocaine, heroin, marijuana and illegal pills.

This is the third year El Paso police and sheriff's deputies have put undercover agents in high schools in the county's nine school districts and made mass arrests the last week of school.

Swiss scientist honored

HOUSTON (AP) — Swiss scientist Dulio Arigoni has won the 1985 Robert A. Welch Award for work that could aid in understanding the cause of heart disease, it was announced.

Arigoni, professor of science and technology at Eidgenossische Technische Hochschole in Zurich, will receive $150,000 and a gold medallion at a banquet here in November. He is the 10th scientist to receive the award from the Houston-based Welch Foundation.

Arigoni is considered an innovator in the study of bio-organic stereochemistry, which involves interaction of organic chemicals and enzymes, the foundation said Thursday.

The award, given annually in honor of the Houston oil magnate, is designed to promote basic research in chemistry and to recognize research that contributes to the understanding of human life.

Parade may be boycotted

PFLUGERVILLE (AP) — Runners-up in the Miss Pflugerville pageant said they want to boycott today's parade float ride with the winner because she broke the rules.

Three runners-up said winner Kimberly Patten went 3½ minutes over the time limit while doing an acting and dance routine of characters in Gone With The Wind.

In protest, the runners-up threatened to stay off a parade float carrying the contestants.

But LaVerne Hutchins, chairwoman of the contest sponsors, Pflugerville Parks and Recreation Commission, said the contestants' threat is blackmail.

Pflugerville city attorney Glenn Cortez warned parents of the runners-up that the girls are legally bound to appear on the float and he would take legal action if they did not.

Senate OKs meeting bill

AUSTIN (AP) — A bill to beef up the state's open meetings and open records law was approved, 21-8, by the Senate on Friday.

The bill, which now goes to the House, would make several changes in open meetings statutes covering governmental bodies.

A key provision is that the bill would require a governmental body to keep a tape recording or certified minutes of closed meetings, except sessions involving discussions of litigation.

The records would have to be kept for two years. If any legal action concerning the tapes or minutes has commenced during that period, the records would have to be kept until the action is resolved.

The legislation also would make it clear that meetings between a quorum of a governmental body and other people should be held in public.

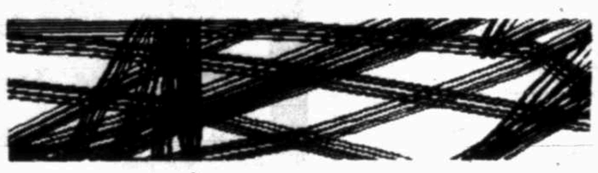

Dallas teacher indicted

DALLAS (AP) — A public school chemistry teacher, honored by officials for her classroom ability, has been indicted on charges of conspiring to manufacture and distribute methamphetamines.

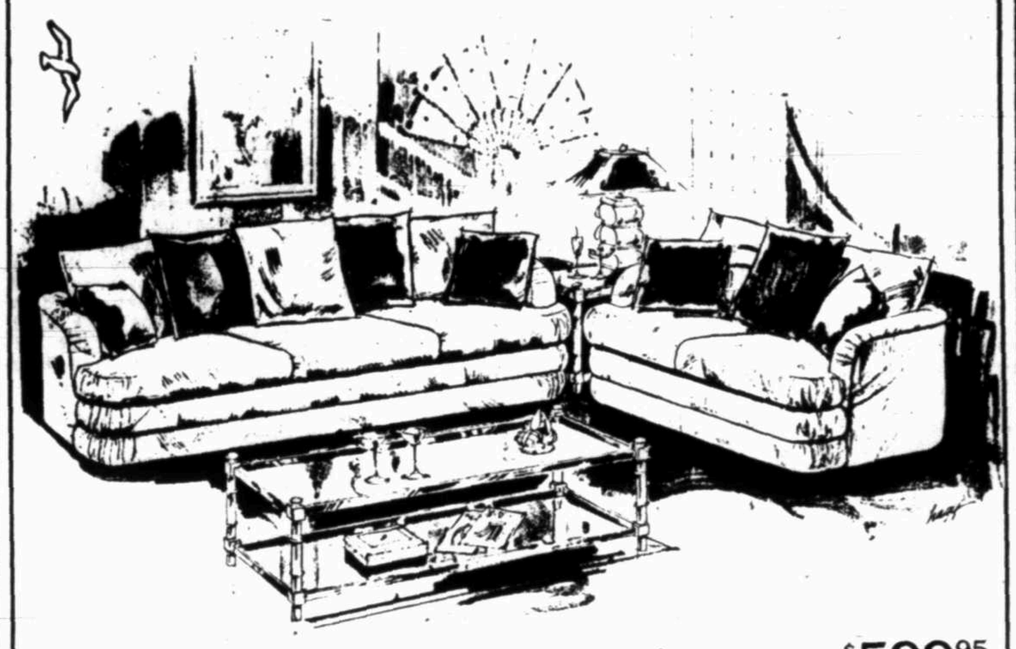

Sally Harris, 34, a former teacher at the Science and Engineering Magnet School in Oak Cliff section of Dallas, showed other people how to run illegal drug labs, federal authorities allege.

Also named in the indictment were Mrs. Harris' husband, John, 53; Roger Dale Parker, 39; and Michael B. Dear, 30, were named in a four-count indictment.

NATION IN BRIEF

Woman may no longer get to keep animals in house

WILTON MANORS, Fla. (AP) — A woman who has kept 39 dogs and two full-grown Appaloosa horses in her bedroom for three months may face court action to get rid of the animals.

City attorney Morris Tucker says he will recommend suing owner Vickki Kittles, 37, to have the animals removed.

"You have 39 dogs — let's even forget the horses," Pat King, an investigator with the Animal Protection League of Broward County, told Ms. Kittles after touring the home. "Do you honestly feel you can give the attention needed by them as a group?"

But Ms. Kittles, who shares the house with her 70-year-old mother, said, "I probably spend more time with my animals than anyone else. I don't like people anymore. I love these animals. I love them like children. I will not give them up without a fight."

Blind man convicted

CHESAPEAKE, Va. (AP) — A 24-year-old blind man was convicted Friday of drunken driving, reckless driving and driving without a license.

Mark A. Daniels, who was fined $425 and was given a seven-month suspended jail sentence by General District Judge Stephen L. Comfort, denied in court that he drove the car.

Daniels testified that a female companion who was driving the car was more drunk than he was, so he moved behind the wheel after the vehicle was stopped by a policeman April 16.

Defendant proposal denied

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A Virginia judge has rejected a drug defendant's proposal to help save lives in Ethiopia instead of serving time in prison.

The defense attorney for Walter Russell Bradley told Henrico County Circuit Judge Buford M. Parsons Jr. on Thursday that although the appeal was unprecedented it was meant to be taken seriously.

Bradley pleaded guilty March 5 to possession of nearly 200 pounds of marijuana with intent to distribute.

Parsons, noting it was a distribution and not simple possession charge, sentenced Bradley to 12 years in prison with 10 of them suspended.

Date set in fraud trial

CHICAGO (AP) — A judge Friday set Nov. 18 as the trial date for William G. Patterson and two other men charged with bank and wire fraud in connection with loans made by the Penn Square Bank of Oklahoma City and related to the financial troubles last summer of Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co.

Patterson, John R. Lytle, and Jere Sturgis were indicted by a federal grand jury last September on 16 counts related to $1 billion in loans. Lytle is a former energy loan officer at Continental and Sturgis is an oil and gas driller.

The federal charges accuse the three defendants of conspiring to defraud Continental, in part by arranging loans for Penn Square customers without following Continental's procedures for analyzing credit and evaluating collateral.

Continental purchased $1 billion in mostly energy related loans in the late 1970s, and many of the loans later were written off as uncollectable, one factor in massive losses Continental suffered last year.

Second doctor says coma caused by injection

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — A physician's testimony crucial to the state's case was corroborated Friday by another medical expert who said that Martha "Sunny" von Bulow's two comas were caused by insulin injections.

The testimony was heard after the judge in Claus von Bulow's attempted murder retrial refused a defense request to throw out the first expert's opinion.

The state's presentation, which is expected to conclude Tuesday, depends heavily on persuading the jury that Mrs. von Bulow received insulin injections, which would severely aggravate her low blood-sugar condition.

Dr. Robert F. Bradley said he ruled out the possibility that Mrs. von Bulow, 53, slipped into a coma in 1979 and what doctors say is an irreversible coma a year later because she abused drugs, alcohol or sweets. The defense contends that is what caused her condition.

Bradley, president of the Joslin Diabetes Center in Boston, also said he ruled out the possibility that her own body secreted an excess of insulin.

Echoing Thursday's testimony of Dr. George F. Cahill, a Harvard Medical School professor and blood-sugar expert, Bradley said he believes her comas were caused by "introduction of insulin — probably from outside the body."

He said he was 100 percent sure the first coma was caused by an injection of the sugar-regulating hormone and 99 percent certain that the second also was due to an insulin injection.

Defense attorney Thomas P. Puccio, as he had done with Cahill on Thursday, questioned Bradley about a little-known group of drugs known as sulfynureas that can lower blood sugar.

Bradley said based on the facts that no blood tests on Mrs. von Bulow ever turned up the drugs and that they cause a relatively weak drop in blood sugar while hers was precipitously low, the evidence was not strong enough for them to have played any role in either coma.

"There's an outside chance she might have had a high dose of sulfynureas, though there's no history of it and there's no evidence of it in the blood," said Bradley.

Puccio spent the afternoon grilling Bradley, and court adjourned with the physician steadfast in his opinion that insulin injections caused both comas.

Bradley's testimony came after Superior Court Judge Corinne P. Grande denied a motion by Puccio to strike all or part of Cahill's testimony.

Puccio argued that Cahill's opinion as to what caused the comas was not made with reasonable medical certainty.

Ms. Grande agreed with Assistant Attorney General Marc DeSisto that Cahill had given the underlying data necessary for the basis of his opinion.

It will be up to the jury, she said, to determine whether the opinion should be given any weight in reaching a verdict in the case.

Von Bulow, 58, is accused of trying to kill his wife with insulin injections at the family's Newport mansion during the Christmas holidays of 1979 and 1980.

Bond denied man who government wants deported

WASHINGTON (AP) — A divided Board of Immigration Appeals denied bond Friday to a man whose deportation is being sought by the U.S. government on the ground that he directed a massacre in a Latvian village while serving as an officer at a Nazi concentration camp.

David B. Holmes, chief attorney-examiner for the board, said the panel voted 3-2 to deny bond to Conrads Kalejs, 72, who was arrested by the U.S. Marshals Service last month and is being held in Dade County, Fla.

On April 23, an immigration judge in Florida denied a bid by Kalejs' attorneys to set the man free, saying that Kalejs represented "an extremely poor bail risk," Holmes said.

It was that decision which was appealed to the five-member appeals board.

The board action Friday means that Kalejs must continue to be held in custody pending proceedings to deport him from the United States, Holmes said.

He said the two members who voted in the minority had indicated that while they believed Kalejs represented a bail risk, they thought he should be set free on $200,000 bond.

Kalejs was alone and unarmed in a Miami Beach hotel room and he offered no resistance when arrested April 19, Bill Dempsey, a spokesman for the U.S. Marshals Service, said at the time.

Kalejs was arrested on a Feb. 22 warrant charging him with failing to appear for a deportation hearing, Dempsey said.

Showers prevail across U.S.

From Wire Reports

Showers prevail from the mid-Atlantic coast through the nation's midsecton to parts of the Rockies.

Gusty winds blew along a cold front moving across northern Florida, and it was cool and windy near southern Lake Michigan.

Heavy rains were reported in Denver, Castle Rock and Franktown and Brighton, Colo., where almost ¾ inch fell in 40 minutes, and in parts of New Mexico. Marble-sized hail pounded communities northwest of Fort Collins, and smaller hail hit Denver and Broomfield, Colo.

Today's forecast calls for rain from the Ohio Valley to New England and the mid-Atlantic states, showers and thunderstorms from Louisiana across Texas to Colorado and over the eastern Great Lakes.

STATE

Heavy rains drenched the Hill Country and flooded over a damaged dam Friday, while the rest of Texas except for the northeast was under mostly cloudy skies.

The swollen Upper Guadalupe Lake in Kerrville rose 4.5 feet above the earthen core dam after overnight rains dumped more than 4 inches of moisture in the area.

But the Guadalupe lake's concrete-capped dam, damaged when an overflow of 10 feet of water crumbled part of the structure New Year's Eve, was holding strong, said Bernie Bruns, general manager of the Upper Guadalupe River Authority.

In the rest of the state, scattered showers dotted the west, the coast and the lower Rio Grande Valley, and Northeast Texas was the only spot in the Lone Star State that had fair skies, according to the National Weather Service.

Late-afternoon temperatures were generally in the 70s and 80s, while the rain-cooled area of the Panhandle and South Plains remained in the 60s. The 4 p.m. temperature extremes were 60 degrees at Lubbock and 88 at Brownsville.

In the forecast for North Texas, widely scattered thunderstorms should end from the northwest today. Otherwise, skies should be partly cloudy with highs from 77 to 84 and lows in the upper 50s.

In West Texas, there is a chance of scattered thunderstorms through today night with highs in the 70s and 80s and lows in the 50s, the weather service said.

In South Texas, skies should be mostly cloudy today with showers and thunderstorms likely.

Midland statistics

Marcum's TD gives White win

By BOB BRUNDAGE
Sports Writer

The 1985 spring football season came to an end at Midland High Friday night with the annual Bill Mims game at Memorial Stadium and a 6-0 White victory over Purple.

White quarterback Matt Marcum snapped a scoreless tie with 6:58 remaining in the fourth quarter on an eight-yard bootleg left. White tried to make it 7-0, but a penalty, followed by a fumbled deep-snap placement kept White from getting off the kick.

It didn't make much difference, Purple wasn't able to move the ball on its final two possessions and Marcum's TD held up for the victory.

Offensively, the Bulldogs, as a whole, showed more running punch than a year ago but, except for scattered incidents, less passing. Pruple running backs Brent Barton and Anthony Adkinson combined for 161 yards rushing, 99 and 62 respectively, while White's Mark Johnson compiled 67.

"He was running hard," said MHS second-year coach Doug McCutchen of Barton's game-high performance. "He's a good strong runner. In short yardage situations he's a tough runner to bring down. Several times tonight he was hit behind the line of scrimmage and still managed to pick up three or four yards."

Marcum nearly broke the century mark in the passing yardage column, but completed only 5-of-13 passes for 98 yards. Tight end Bobby Williams accounted for most of the gain with 74 yards from four receptions.

"Bobby is going do do a good job for us at tight end," said McCutchen. "He made some good catches, big third down catches.

Bill Mims Game

We're expecting great things from him."

For the Purple squad, quarterbacks Jaime Madrid and Ben Grimes could manage only 3-of-13 for 22 yards combined.

"The Purple team, mainly they were young receivers in there," said McCutchen, who saw their weak spots from two different view points. "The receivers weren't running the correct routes and that made the quarterback look bad. And, the quarterback (mostly Madrid) was missing them. But, Madrid is a sophomore and he was getting his first taste of varsity football."

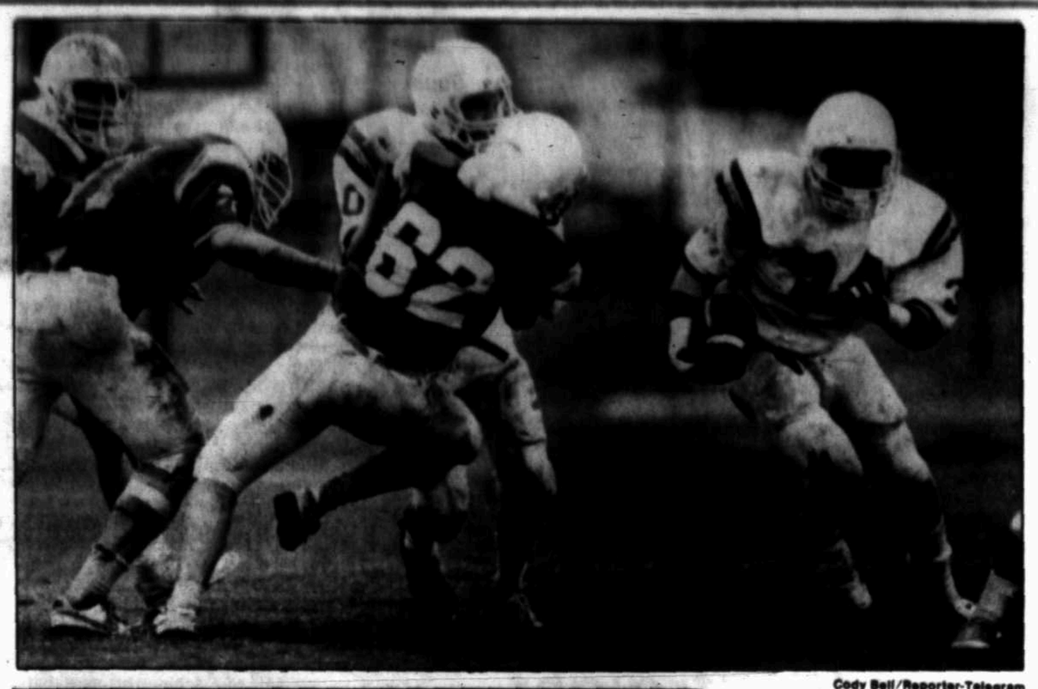

ONE AREA where Midland High found some added unexpected strength was in the Pruple defensive secondary where Grimes, a transer student from Grand Prairie, was playing a strong game.

"He did a heck of a job tonight," said McCutchen. "He had two interceptions and made three or four first hits. He was a starter for Grand Prairie in their secondary last year."

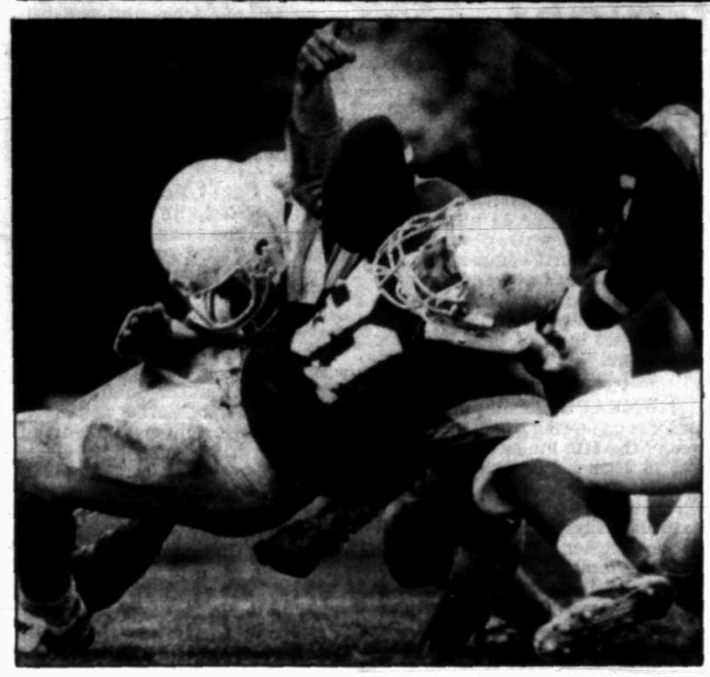

Overall, McCutchen "Thought the scrimmage was real good. It was very intense on both sides of the ball. There were a lot of young kids really getting after it out there. Purple had one fumble down deep and White had a couple of passes intercepted. Basically, it was the defenses that stopped the offenses.

"I think the main thing in a scrimmage like that where the teams are divided up is the intensity they put forth out there. A lot of bright spots came from that aspect."

Soph Pavin takes lead with hot 64

Associated Press

FORT WORTH (AP)—Corey Pavin untangled a four-way tie for the top with a 64, set a course and tournament record and established a four-shot lead Friday in the second round of the $500,000 Colonial National Invitation Tournament.

"This game can be fun sometimes," Pavin said after a birdie-birdie finish to his six-under-par effort.

Pavin, who last season set a rookie money-winning record at $260,536, completed two trips over the Colonial Country Club course in 130, 10 under par for a course and tournament record. The old mark of 131 was set by Dave Stockton in 1967.

"To play this well at Colonial, one of the best courses on the tour — in the world, for that matter — is quite an honor," said Pavin, 25, who played the European tour and won three international titles in 1983 before joining the American circuit.

"It's something I'm very proud of, something that I'll always remember.

"I'd just like to tack on something else later in the week," said Pavin, whose only American tour triumph came in the Houston Open last year.

PAVIN WAS not alone in his heroics, nor in his record-setting. The ideal playing conditions — mild temperatures and just the breath of a breeze — helped produce the lowest overall scoring in the tournament's 39-year history. More than three dozen players broke par 70.

Tom Watson, who last season gained his sixth Player of the Year designation, set a course and tournament record with a 6-under-par 29 over the front. Watson, however, made double bogey on the 10th hole and finished at 66-140, 10 shots off the pace at the tournament halfway point.

Mark O'Meara, who shared the first-round lead with Pavin, Jim Thorpe and Willie Wood, dropped back to second alone at 68-134. Thorpe slipped to 72-138, and Wood, who had a 69, was one of three at 135.

Also at that figure were Canadian Dan Halldorson and Tim Norris. Norris shot 66 and Halldorson 67.

Tied at 136 were John Mahaffey, Mike Donald and Mike Smith. Mahaffey shot a 66, Donald 68 and Smith 69.

PGA title-holder Lee Trevino, a two-time winner of this event, had a 69 and was at 139. Defending champion Peter Jacobsen was 73-140. U.S. Open champ Fuzzy Zoeller, also a former Colonial winner, failed to qualify for the final two rounds after posting a 75-148.

PAVIN'S 64, one stroke off the course record, was not without its adventures. He hit at least two trees, each time bouncing back toward the fairway. He holed a 40-50 foot sand shot for a birdie. And he scored nine "3's", including his last three holes.

State diamond playoffs further entangled

HOUSTON (AP)—A state district judge issued a temporary injunction against two Houston area school districts Friday, prohibiting them from enforcing the state's "no-pass, no-play" statute and further complicating the Class 5A baseball playoffs.

State District Judge Marsha D. Anthony ruled unconstitutional a state statute that prohibits students from competing in extra-curricular activities if they are not passing all subjects.

The judge enjoined the Spring Branch and Alief independent school districts from enforcing the rule, which further delays the progress of the 32 teams involved in the state 5A baseball playoffs, on hold since Wednesday.

No Pass, No Play

An attorney for a student athlete had argued that the "no-pass, no-play" rule, a result of the Legislature's 1984 school reforms, did not apply equally to all students because those who do not participate in extracurricular activities are not affected.

An assistant attorney general, Kevin O'Hanlon, said Anthony's decision would be appealed directly to the state Supreme Court.

The judge also offered the five other cases involving the controversial state law to consolidate with the Spring Branch-Alief decision and gave them until Monday to decide their course.

AMONG THOSE cases is one brought against the Aldine school district that involves the participation of two Aldine players ruled ineligible for the playoffs because of failing grades.

Judge Anthony's decision means the state playoffs will be postponed at least until Thursday when a hearing on another temporary restraining order is scheduled before State District Court Judge David Dunn at Orange.

University Interscholastic League Director Bailey Marshall said, "Anything that we do somebody won't like it. When we are released to play, we'll have to call all the superintendents up and see what they want to do."

A restraining order against Aldine officials forced them to allow two ineligible baseball players to compete in the state playoffs.

"The quicker judges get out of the business of running the schools, the better," UIL attorney Connie O'Dea said. "This is not a problem for the courts but for the Legislature. If there are any problems with these rules, they should be addressed to the Legislature."

Anthony Sheppard, representing Houston Stratford football player Nicky Duke Stamos, claimed the state statute was not applied equally to all students and was unconstitutional.

"The rule is arbitrary and capricious," Sheppard said. "If a child fails Spanish, he can't go to Spanish Club after school. If he fails English, he can't go to typing club after school."

"They've all been cut down by this rule. There is no way one rule can clear all ills, but they have a constitutional duty to address these issues in a rational manner."

Valentine can't predict 'quick fix' for Rangers

CHICAGO (AP) — Bobby Valentine, who traded a coaching post with the New York Mets, the team with baseball's best record, for the manager's job with the Texas Rangers, said Friday he wasn't a "get-fixed-quick man."

"I haven't been close enough to say why things have happened the way they have to date," said Valentine, who replaced Doug Rader on Thursday night Valentine inherited a 9-23 record and a six-game losing streak when he arrived at Comiskey Park to take over the ballclub for a series with the White Sox.

"But I'm here to see that things happen differently from here on out," Valentine said during a brief Friday news conference.

He said he didn't envision any immediate personnel changes.

"I think we've got the talent to win the AL (American League) West," Valentine said. "If this were a 50-game schedule instead of a 162-game one, I'd be a lot more worried."

Valentine did say, however, that he would have the Rangers running more than they have this year.

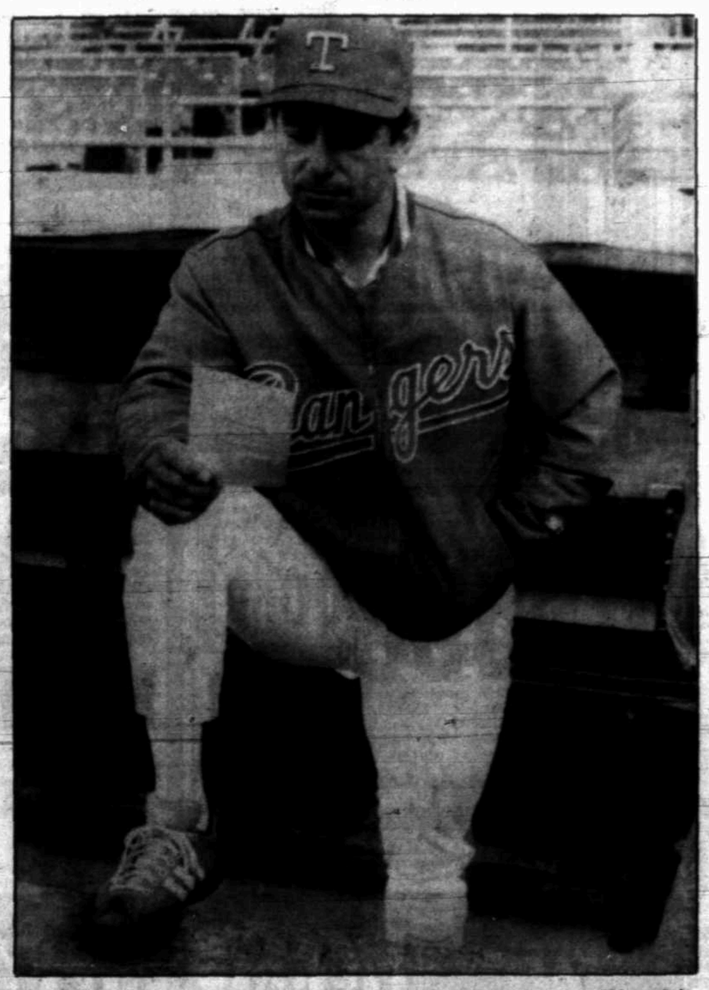

"I don't believe this game is played station to station. There has to be some movement, some pressure on the other guys."

The 11th manager in Texas history — not counting two interim managers — said money wasn't a major consideration in taking the job.

"That was the least of my requests," he said. "What I said I did want was time. I made it clear I'm not a get-fixed-quick man."

AT 35, Valentine is the youngest manager in the major leagues, a self-described devotee of skippers Tom Lasorda of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Dave Johnson of the Mets.

Valentine said he would blend "a little" of the skills of both his mentors "with a lot of Bobby Valentine's ... Ultimately, baseball is a people business ... and as far as technical skills, I don't think there's a better teacher."

Caps win two from Angels

From Staff Reports

SHREVEPORT, La. — Shreveport found the pitching it needed Friday night to almost totally shut down the Midland attack as the Captains posted 3-0, 7-1 Texas League victories here over the Angels.

In the first game, a pitching duel between Midland's Ken Angulo and Shreveport's Jack McKnight lasted three and a half innings before the Captains punched across one run in the bottom of the fourth. Shreveport added the final two in the fifth to account for all the scoring in the game.

McKnight, 1-1, scattered five hits in recording the shutout while walking three and striking out eight. Angulo, 3-3, gave up six hits, five walks and five strike outs before giving way to Ed Belzer in the sixth. Belzer pitched the inning without a base runner and struck out one.

In the second game, the Angels ended the scoring sorrows when Daryl Sconiers doubled to score Dan Murphy. It was the only run the Angels would get as Captains' pitcher Scott Norman, 3-2, closed Midland out the final six innings for the victory.

Midland pitcher Doug McKenzie, 4-0, lasted four innings before giving way to Spiro Psaltis.

The Angels and Captains resume their series tonight with a single game at 7:30.

Tommy Dunbar, a rookie for the Texas Rangers, is carried off the field on a stretcher after spraining his ankle trying to beat the relay on a double play Friday in Chicago.

Fisk hands Texas 7th straight, first for new skipper Valentine

Associated Press

CHICAGO — Carlton Fisk spoiled the managerial debut of Texas' Bobby Valentine with a towering three-run homer Friday night to lift the Chicago White Sox to a 4-2 victory over the slumping Rangers.

The loss was the seventh straight for Texas, while Chicago got back on the winning track after having a five-game streak snapped Thursday night by Baltimore.

The 35-year-old Valentine, who was a third base coach for the New York Mets, became the youngest manager in the major leagues when he took over with Texas Thursday night after Doug Rader was fired. And while Valentine promised to get the Rangers running more, he wasn't able to get much more offense from his ballclub than his predecessor.

White Sox right-hander Richard Dotson, 2-1, left in the eighth inning after giving up his sixth hit, a leadoff single to Curtis Wilkerson. Bob James finished up for his seventh save.

Fisk's drive in the fourth, an upper-deck shot to left, came on a 1-0 pitch from Texas loser Dickie Noles, 2-4. Greg Walker led off the inning with a double and Oscar Gamble followed with a single before Fisk homered for the seventh time this season.

The Rangers pulled within 3-2 in the top of the fifth after Tommy Dunbar hit his first home run of the year, but got no closer as Rudy Law clubbed a homer in the eighth for Chicago.

Texas scored first, reaching Dotson for a run in the third after he issued a one-out walk to Dunbar. Wilkerson followed with a single and after Dotson struck out Toby Harrah, Buddy Bell singled to score Dunbar.

Dunbar left the game with a sprained left ankle in the top of the seventh inning after an unsuccessful attempt to beat the relay on an inning-ending double play. He was replaced in left field by Gary Ward.

Royals 3, Brewers 0

MILWAUKEE—Bret Saberhagen faced the minimum of 27 batters while hurling a two-hitter and Jim Sundberg belted three hits and scored two runs to lead Kansas City over struggling Milwaukee

Saberhagen, 3-3, allowed only two singles, and both runners were erased on double plays — Robin Yount in the second inning and Jim Gantner in the sixth. He didn't give up a walk and had four strikeouts.

American League

The Royals have won six straight games while Milwaukee has lost 14 of its last 18.

Sundberg, who played for the Brewers last season, scored the Royals' first run in the third inning. He led off with a single, took second on Onix Concepcion's sacrifice bunt and raced home on Willie Wilson's double.

Dane Iorg stroked a one-out home run off Danny Darwin, 3-3, in the fourth to give Kansas City a 2-0 lead. It was his first homer of the year.

In the seventh, Sundberg ripped a two-out double and scored on Concepcion's bloop single to center.

Milwaukee center fielder Dion James reinjured his right shoulder while diving for Concepcion's hit. James missed the first month of the season when he first injured the shoulder on the second day of spring training.

Darwin gave up nine hits and two walks and struck out three over seven innings. Ray Searage worked the last two innings.

Red Sox 5, Indians 0

CLEVELAND—Roger Clemens pitched a five-hitter and Wade Boggs cracked three hits as Boston beat Cleveland, snapping the Red Sox' losing streak at four games and extending the Indians' to five.

Clemens, 4-4, struck out 10 and walked two while pitching his third complete game and first shutout. The 22-year-old right-hander leads the American League in strikeouts with 58.

Singles by Marty Barrett, Jackie Gutierrez and Boggs loaded the bases for Boston with nobody out in the third against Bert Blyleven, 2-4. Blyleven then walked Dwight Evans to force home a run, and Jim Rice followed with a sacrifice fly, his 1,100th career RBI, to give the Red Sox a 2-0 lead.

After two out in the Boston fourth, Gutierrez singled, stole second and scored on Boggs' third single.

The Red Sox closed the scoring in the eighth with a pair of runs on leadoff doubles by Bill Buckner and Rich Gedman, and second baseman Tony Bernazard's two-out fielding error on Boggs' ground ball.

Blyleven yielded 11 hits, struck out eight and walked two while pitching his fourth complete game.

The Indians have scored only three runs during their losing streak, and have been held to three runs or less in 21 of their 34 games this season.

Twins 7, Blue Jays 6

MINNEAPOLIS—Tom Brunansky's run-scoring single in the bottom of the 11th inning lifted Minnesota to a come-from-behind victory over Toronto.

The hit came off Luis Leal, 2-3, the sixth Blue Jays' pitcher, and scored Mickey Hatcher, who had doubled to start the inning. After Kent Hrbek was walked intentionally, Brunansky bounced a single over third base to bring home Hatcher.

Reliever Pete Filson, 1-0, pitched 2 1-3 innings of perfect relief to pick up the victory.

The Twins entered the ninth inning trailing 6-1 but exploded for five runs against four Toronto pitchers. Randy Bush led off the inning with a triple off Jim Acker and Roy Smalley followed with his third home run of the season.

After Gary Gaetti walked, Bill Caudill came in and walked pinch-hitter Mike Stenhouse. Mark Salas followed with a double to make it 6-4 and Dennis Lamp relieved Caudill. Kirby Puckett singled to score one run and an error by second baseman Damaso Garcia brought home the tying run.

One out later, Gary Lavelle relieved Lamp and after loading the base with a single to Kent Hrbek and a walk to Tom Brunansky, retired the last two batters to end the inning.

The Blue Jays staked starter Dave Stieb to a 6-0 lead.

In the second, Willie Upshaw walked and scored on a double by Garth Iorg off Twins starter Frank Viola and an error by Twins center fielder Kirby Puckett, Iorg took third on the play and scored on a throwing error by third baseman Gaetti on Tony Fernandez's groundball.

The Twins scored a run in the eighth off Acker on Hrbek's RBI single.

Astro relievers blow it, 8-6

National League

HOUSTON — Jack Clark, Andy Van Slyke and Terry Pendleton delivered run-scoring singles with two out in the ninth inning as the St. Louis Cardinals, who trailed 6-1 after three innings, rallied to defeat the Houston Astros 8-6 Friday night.

With the Astros leading 6-5 and two out in the ninth, Willie McGee and Tommy Herr singled off Jeff Calhoun, 0-1, starting a string of five consecutive hits. Dave Smith relieved and Clark, Van Slyke and Pendleton all singled to produce the three runs.

The game produced 30 hits, 10 of them for extra bases, including home runs by Houston's Terry Puhl, Phil Garner and Jerry Mumphrey.

The Cardinals took a 1-0 lead in the first inning. Vince Coleman led off with a single, moved to third on Herr's single and scored on Clark's sacrifice fly.

Houston jumped on Danny Cox for four runs in the bottom of the first. A solo homer by Puhl, an RBI double by Jose Cruz and Garner's two-run homer accounted for the runs.

The Astros made it 6-1 in the third. Cruz singled and Mumphrey hit a towering home run to center field. Cox was then ejected by home plate umpire Jim Quick for arguing a called ball to Garner, the next batter.

The Cardinals cut the lead to 6-5 in the fourth on a solo home run by Clark, a two-run double by Tom Nieto and an RBI grounder by Coleman. Bill Campbell, 1-1, was the winner in relief.

Cubs 7, Braves 5

ATLANTA—Keith Moreland singled home the tying run and Jody Davis ripped a two-run single as Chicago jumped on Atlanta relief ace Bruce Sutter for three runs in the ninth inning and defeated the Braves.

After the Braves went in front 5-4 with two runs in the eighth off Chicago bullpen ace Lee Smith, Sutter, 2-1, replaced Gene Garber and pinch hitter Richie Hebner started the rally with a one-out single. Leon Durham also singled, sending pinch runner Davey Lopes to third, and Moreland followed with his game-tying hit. Ron Cey was hit by a pitch, loading the bases, and Davis lined his two-run single to left-center.

Smith, 1-0, was the winner, although the Braves tagged him for two runs on four hits in the eighth and had two runners on base in the ninth. Smith retired Bob Horner and Terry Harper on fly-balls to end the game.

Harper started Atlanta's eighth-inning rally with a one-out single and went to third on pinch hitter Ken Oberkfell's two-out single. Gerald Perry and Claudell Washington also singled, driving in the tying and lead runs, but Perry was thrown out at the plate attempting to score on Washington's hit.

Expos 2, Padres 1

MONTREAL — Andre Dawson doubled home Tim Raines in the 10th inning as Montreal downed San Diego and snapped a four-game losing streak.

Dawson drilled the first pitch from Tim Stoddard, 0-2, the third San Diego pitcher, into left field after Raines singled with one out and stole second. Dawson's hit followed an intentional walk to pinch hitter Terry Francona.

Montreal relief ace Jeff Reardon, 2-1, worked three innings for the victory.

The Expos took a 1-0 lead against Eric Show with three hits in the first inning. U.L. Washington singled with one out and one out later Dan Driessen and Tim Wallach singled to bring Washington around. The Padres tied the game in the sixth against Expos starter David Palmer when Tony Gwynn tripled and Steve Garvey singled through a drawn-in infield.

Phillies 10, Dodgers 5

PHILADELPHIA — Von Hayes and Juan Samuel hit two-run homers and Garry Maddox drove in two runs with a pair of doubles as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Kevin Gross, 3-4, allowed three runs and eight hits in eight innings and struck out ten, equaling his career high. Jerry Reuss, 2-4, was the loser.

The Phillies took a 3-0 lead in the first inning. Samuel doubled and scored on Maddox's double. After Hayes was safe on a fielding error by third baseman Pedro Guerrero, Mike Schmidt lined out. Ozzie Virgil's RBI single made it 2-0 and the third run scored on Glenn Wilson's groundr.

The Phillies, who had lost nine of their last 10 games, extended their lead to 10-1 against Tom Breenan in the fifth. Doubles by Virgil and Wilson, a sacrifice fly by Aguayo and Samuel's homer accounted for the scoring.

Mets 3, Giants 2

NEW YORK — Gary Carter's single with one out in the 12th inning scored Wally Backman from second base with an unearned run and gave the New York Mets a victory over the San Francisco Giants.

Rookie Roger McDowell, 4-1, the Mets' third pitcher, was the winner. He allowed one hit in one inning. Loser Scott Garrelts, 2-3, the fourth San Francisco pitcher, hurled 2 1-3 innings.

In boosting their extra-inning recored to 23-1 since July 26, 1983, Backman hit a one-out line drive that was dropped by left fielder Jeff Leonard. Keith Hernandez singled Backman to second, setting the stage for Carter's fifth game-winning hit of the season.

The Mets, who had been shut out for 16 consecutive innings, tied the score 2-2 in the seventh inning when San Francisco starter Dave LaPoint issued a leadoff walk to George Foster and Ray Knight followed with his first home run of the season.

Reds 6, Pirates 3

PITTSBURGH—Dave Parker belted a two-run homer among his three hits and Alan Knicely hit a two-run double and scored twice as Cincinnati Reds beat the Pittsburgh.

Winning pitcher John Stuper, 5-2, survived a 2-hour, 15-minute rain delay before the start of the game and checked the Pirates on one hit over five innings.

Stuper was chased after allowing Bill Almon's run-scoring single in the seventh. John Franco surrendered Lee Mazzilli's RBI single before getting Marvell Wynne to fly out with two on and two out.

The loss was the Pirates' eighth in 10 games and dropped their record to 10-22, worst in the National League and their poorest start since 1965.

Pete Rose and Parker singled in the Reds' fifth before Knicely, who was batting .446 at Denver of the American Association, lined a two-run double. Knicely advanced to third on the play on right fielder George Hendrick's error and scored on Nick Esasky's sacrifice fly for a 4-0 lead.

The loss was DeLeon's 15th in his last 16 starts, including a nine-game losing streak in the second half of the 1984 season. The Reds' victory was their third in a row and seventh in 10 games.

UT's Schiraldi

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets placed pitcher Calvin Schiraldi, ex-Texas Longhorn star, on the 15-day disabled list because of a fractured small toe on his right foot and activated infielder Ron Gardenhire, the team announced Friday.

Schiraldi, who was struck by Claudell Washington's ground ball Monday night in his start against Atlanta, was 1-0 with a 5.72 ERA in two starts and two relief appearances. Gardenhire, coming off the 15-day disabled list with a pulled right hamstring, is batting .222 in 11 games this season.

The Mets also announced that pitchers Bruce Berenyi and Brent Gaff are scheduled to join the team's Triple-A affiliate at Tidewater on Friday so they may play under the major league rehabilitation program. Both pitchers were set to pitch for the Tides this weekend.

The Mets additionally shifted outfielder Darryl Strawberry from the 15-day disabled list to the 21-day list. He was placed on the 15-day list Sunday after undergoing surgery to repair ligaments in his right thumb that were torn last Saturday against the Philadelphia Phillies.

Smith dealt by Cards for KC minor leaguer

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals shipped fleet-footed outfielder Lonnie Smith to the Kansas City Royals Friday for minor league outfielder John Morris.

Smith, 29, who has a .298 average in five full major league seasons, was edged out of the St. Louis outfield by rookie Vince Coleman, who is leading the major leagues in stolen bases.

Morris, 24, in his fourth season in the minor leagues at Omaha where he is batting .258 this spring, was assigned to the Cardinals' Triple-A team at Louisville. His best year was in 1983 at Jacksonville, a Double-A team, where he was the Southern League's Most Valuable Player with a .287 batting average, 23 home runs and 91 RBIs.

"Since the end of last season and through spring training, we have been interested in acquiring a veteran established hitter to provide another solid bat in our lineup," Royals General Manager John Schuerholz said of the trade that brings Smith to the Royals.

"Lonnie Smith has been a key player for the Cardinals and is a player who we think can increase our offensive productivity," he said.

The Royals entered the week with the worst team batting average in the American League, .228.

Smith has batted over .300 in three of his five full seasons — .339 in 1980, .324 in 1981 and .307 in 1982. He missed about a month of the 1983 season when he entered a drug rehabilitation program.

Smith, who was to report to the club in Milwaukee Saturday, has averaged 43 stolen bases per season and was selected for the 1982 National League All-Star team. He was signed originally by the Philadelphia Phillies in 1974 and went to the Cardinals in a three-way deal with Cleveland in November 1981.

DAL MAXVILL, the Cardinals general manager, said the team had purchased the contract of right-handed infielder Tom Lawless from its Louisville farm club to fill the spot left by Smith's departure.

Lawless, 28, was acquired by the Cardinals from Montreal in exchange for Mickey Mahler March 25. Lawless has hit .285 with six stolen bases this season in Louisville. He has played in 103 big league games over two seasons with Montreal and Cincinnati.

HISTORY OF THE LITIGATION

This lawsuit was filed on August 8, 1980, by Helen Lockwood, Lena Sneed, Thelma Beard and Corey Traylor, each individually and on behalf of a class of persons similiarly situated. The lawsuit alleged that the Defendants, acting in their official capacity as officers and agents of the Texas Department of Human Resources, violated federal law and regulations by failing to maintain an adequate notice and fair hearing procedure for persons whose medicaid benefits were scheduled to be reduced, suspended, denied or otherwise adversely affected. The Defendants have denied any failure to fully comply with federal law and regulations governing the medicaid program.

This case was certifed as a class action by an order of this Court entered on November 4, 1983. The Court has not yet passed on the merits of any claim asserted by the Plaintiffs or any defense raised by the Defendants.

Although Defendants deny any liability or wrongdoing, they recognize legitimate concerns raised by the named Plaintiffs and consider it appropriate that the action be settled. The Plaintiffs believe the settlement addresses their concerns, and the concerns of the class, in a fair, reasonable and adequate manner. Specific procedure have been adopted to conduct such an investigation.

The Texas Department of Human resoursces has agreed to begin providing notice to all medicaid recipients that they are not responsible for medical bills which the medicaid agency should pay. The notice will provide the recipient with an explanation of their right to a hearing adn provide a toll-free number for the recipient to call in order to initiate an investigation when the recipient receives a bill which they believe medicaid should have paid. The Agency had also promulgated and adopted numerous amendments to the Texas Department of Human Resources Administrative Code. These amendments are intended to clarify the rights and responsibilitites of the Agency, the medical provider, and the recipient of medicaid benefits.

The parties have further agreed that all cost of this action will be paid by the Defendants and that the Plaintiff's cousel shall receive an award of attorneys fees in the amount of $10,175.00.

On approval of the settlement by the Court, final judgement of dismissal will be entered, with prejudice, and the Paintiffs, and all class members who have not timely excluded themselves from this action, will be conclusively bound by such dismissal.

Muddy track could help Derby loser Chief's Crown

Associated Press

BALTIMORE—The prospect of an "off track" could be another plus for favored Chief's Crown in Saturday's 110th Preakness Stakes at Pimlico.

With thunder rumbling before a heavy downpour Friday morning, it was brought to trainer Roger Laurin's attention that his Chief's Crown was the only horse it in the field of 11 3-year-olds that had a "mud mark"

"That's terrific," Laurin said. "I just hope he has one after the race."

The mud mark is a symbol given by the Daily Racing Form to horses who show ability to run on an off track, which loomed as a possibility for the richest Preakness.

There were intermittent showers Wednesday, and Friday morning's rain was expected to be followed by more thunderstorms Friday night.

Saturday's forecast called for partly sunny skies and high winds which could dry the track by race time.

Star Crown Stable's Chief's Crown, the 2-year-old champion who finished third as the 6-5 favorite in Spend a Buck's wire-to-wire Kentucky Derby victory May 4, was listed as the 8-5 morning-line favorite for the 1 3-16-mile Preakness.

Preakness

Eternal Prince, 12th in the Derby, 5-2, and Tank's Prospect, 6-1 were the only other horses listed at less than 10-1 in the early line.

Since Spend a Buck defected this second leg of throughbred racing's Triple Crown to await the May 27 Jersey Derby at Garden State Park for a shot a $2.6 million payday, the Preakness has attracted several mystery horses with unimposing credentials.

They include Southern Sultan, who has a solid pedigree but no victories in eight starts.

IN HIS only try on an off track, the Belmont Futurity slop last September, Chief's Crown finished second, one length behind Spectacular Love.

"That was only a seven-eighths (of a mile) race," Laurin said. "He was running at the end."

Many in the field have never tried an off track, opening the possibility that some could handle heavy going.

If all 11 go, the Preakness will be worth $545,700 with $423,200 awarded the winner.

Eternal Prince failed to show his early speed in the Kentucky Derby, but if he gets away quickly, the speed-favoring Pimlico Race Course could be to his benefit. Owners George Steinbrenner and Brian Hurst felt a change in jockeys from Richard Migliore to Chris McCarron will help.

"If he goes out quickly," said Laurin, whose Danzig colt has won nine of 13 career starts and has been out of the money only once, "we're going to go right after him."

Eternal Prince, a winner of four of six starts this year after a winless juvenile campaign, was at his best in front-running victories in the Gotham and Wood Memorial at Aqueduct.

In the 1¼-mile Derby, Spend a Buck was allowed to build up a big lead at the start and Chief's Crown didn't have enough at the end, fading from second to third.

Tank's Prospect, the Arkansas Derby winner who ran seventh in the Derby, figures to be a factor with his late-running style if the front-runners don't hold on.

The Wayne Lukas-trained colt ran second to Chief's Crown in the Breeders' Cup Juvenile last Nov. 10 when Spend a Buck ran third.

OTHERS IN the field include Hajji's Treasure, who won the California Derby at Golden Gate Fields in his last start, and I Am The Game, last in the Kentucky Derby.

The field also included Skip Trial, a winner of three straight Pimlico allowance races and owned by the track's co-owner Mrs. Ben Cohen, Tajawa, ridden by Patti Cooksey, the first female rider in Preakness history, and Sparrowvon, with a rare black trainer-jockey team (Hank Allen-Wayne Barnett). The complete field, in post position order from the rail out with morning line odds:

Southern Sultan, 30-1; Tajawa, 20-1; Chief's Crown, 8-5; Eternal Prince, 5-2; I Am The Game, 20-1; Tank's Prospect, 6-1; Sport Jet, 20-1; Cutlass Reality, 20-1; Sparrowvon, 15-1; Skip Trial, 10-1, and Hajji's Treasure, 15-1.

Hajji's Treasure, Tajawa and Sport Jet were not nominated for the Preakness and their owners each put up a $20,000 supplemental fee.

All will carry scale weight of 126 pounds.

ABC will present a Preakness telecast from 5-6 p.m. Post time is 4:40 p.m. CDT.

TAKING THE opening kickoff, Purple had the first opportunity to score but Madrid fumbled the ball on the White four to stall a 55-yard drive.

Purple's defense came out and held on White's first possession and reclaimed the ball on its own 43. On a Purple fourth-and-two situation on the White 18, Barton was stopped short of the first down to end the first quarter scoring threats.

In the second quarter, Purple continued to dominate offensively but still couldn't manage to reach the end zone. Purple lost possession on the White 33 and 35 on consecutive posessions.

White didn't manage to get much offense going until its second possession of the second quarter when the drive stalled on the Purple 35.

Offensive momentum started its swing when White first touched the ball in the second half. White made it all the way to the Purple 10, a 62-yard drive, before Grimes recovered a Johnson fumble. Two possessions later, Grimes stopped White again with his second interception of the game.

White's Richard Triplitt countered Grimes' interception when he recovered Madrid's second fumble of the game at the White 42, setting up a 58-yard, nine play scoring drive.

In the drive, Tyrone Oliver kept things alive with carries of 11 and 12 yards and Marcum hit Williams with a pass for 14 more. Johnson punched the ball 13 yards closer to the goal line on three carries and Marcum carried it in for the winner.

After the touchdown, Purple never came closer than the White 42.

Kareem, Lakers prevail, 136-118

DENVER (AP) — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 27 points and sparked a third-quarter surge that carried the hot-shooting Los Angeles Lakers to a 136-118 National Basketball Association playoff victory Friday night over the Denver Nuggets, giving the Lakers a 2-1 edge in the best-of-seven series.

Game 4 in the Western Conference final series is set for Sunday afternoon in Denver.

Abdul-Jabbar, frustrated by a 4-for-16 shooting performance in Game 2 and ultimately ejected from the game for fighting, countered with a dominating performance Friday night. His four baskets early in the third period helped forge a 26-point lead, 114-88, after three quarters.

The Nuggets whittled the deficit to 17 midway through the final quarter, but could get no closer.

Laker forward James Worthy, who finished with a team-high 28 points, poured in 15 points in the opening quarter as Los Angeles moved to an 11-point lead. But Denver guard Mike Evans came off the bench to score seven of his team's last 10 points in the quarter as the Nuggets drew within 39-38 to start the second period.

Ueberroth: 'no comment' on Fehr, MJLPA rejection

NEW YORK (AP) — Commissioner Peter Ueberroth declined comment Friday on the Major League Baseball Players Association's rejection of his request to discuss the mandatory drug-testing program with union leaders.

"He has promised not to discuss the matter and he stands by it," said Chuck Adams, a spokesman for Ueberroth. "There's nothing more to say."

The New York Times said Friday the commissioner had asked to address the union's executive board when it meets Thursday in Chicago, "to remove the fear factor." But he was turned down, according to a Times source familiar with Ueberroth's drug-testing proposal.

The newspaper said Donald Fehr, acting executive director of the union, declined to confirm or deny that Ueberroth had made a request to speak. It quoted Fehr as saying: "There are no plans for him to appear."

Ueberroth said he believed the "fear factor" is keeping the players' association from accepting his plan for drug testing, part of which would give the union sole knowledge of which players were found to be using drugs.

"They know what I have in mind," Ueberroth said. "If someone has a better solution I'll listen to it."

The union has strongly opposed mandatory testing for drugs, saying it presumes guilt rather than innocence and that it invades a player's privacy.

THE COMMISSIONER said he knew of "less than a handful" of major leaguers he could suspend now because of drug involvement. He declined to identify them, saying, "That's not the solution, to attack baseball players."

Ueberroth, in a continuing effort to sell his anti-drug policy to the union, clarified his stand Thursday by releasing guidelines that include non-punishment of first-time offenders. But he did not say what penalties would be imposed on those whose subsequent tests were positive.

He said the tests would be random, with everybody subject to three tests a year but that not everyone would necessarily be tested that often. Those whose tests were positive would be subject to follow-up tests "no more than twice a week and no less than three or four times a month."

Still undecided is which laboratories would conduct the testing and how much it would cost. Officials from several private laboratories have indicated the cost of each test could range from $25 to $200, depending in part on the sophistication of the procedure.

Ueberroth said his aim was to help people, not punish them. "There are laws in society to punish people," he said. "I don't see my main role as commissioner to punish people. I think I'm different from my predecessor (Bowie Kuhn) in that way."

Leaping Lewis primed to approach record

From Wire Reports

TRACK—Four-time Olympic Gold Medal winner Carl Lewis, competing in what he calls "a fun year," is expected to make his most serious assault on Bob Beamon's world long jump record Saturday in the Pepsi Invitational Track and Field Meet at UCLA.

Beamon's mark of 29 feet, 2½ inches has stood for 17 years — since the 1968 Olympic Games in the high altitude of Mexico City.

The closest the 23-year-old Lewis has come to matching it was 4¼ inches. Twice, he has jumped 28-10¼ — in the 1983 Athletics Congress Championships outdoors at Indianapolis and in the 1984 Millrose Games indoors in New York.

Now, he appears primed to smash one of the most revered marks in the sport.

He has competed once in the long jump during this outdoor season, sailing 28-0 in the Houston Invitational May 5.

"It was the best opening meet I've had in years," said Lewis, whose victory at Houston was his 41st in a row, equalling the all-time long jump winning streak set by George Brown from 1951-52.

AUTO RACING—The pressure is on Brazilian Ayrton Senna to prove again on Saturday that he is the fastest driver in Grand Prix events.

Senna, 25, in only his second Grand Prix season, has posted the fastest time in every qualifying session in the last two races and was fastest again in Monaco Thursday. He set a track record of 1 minute, 21.630 seconds at an average speed of 90.759 mph.

The final one-hour qualifying period is set for early Saturday afternoon, with the weather forecast suggesting rain showers and a possible storm for Sunday's race. Friday was a rest day.

Former Indianapolis 500 winners Joe Boyer, Floyd Roberts and Parnelli Jones and former national driving champion Henry Banks have been elected to the Auto Racing Hall of Fame, the Indianapolis Motor Speedway announced Friday.

Boyer was co-winner of the 1924 Indy 500 with L.L. Corum. He relieved Corum shortly after the halfway point of the race and moved up steadily from fourth place to set a race record of 98.23 mph.

Roberts dominated the 1938 Indy race, starting from the pole position, leading for 92 of the 200 laps and winning by more than two laps with an average speed of 117.2 mph — a race record that stood for 10 years. He also was the 1938 national driving champion.

Banks was the 1950 national champion, the first driver since Pete DePaolo in 1927 to accomplish that feat without earning any points in the Indianapolis 500. He also finished well in all 14 champ-car events in 1951 and finished second in the national standings.

BASEBALL—The Boston Red Sox are planning a "new look" for 73-year-old Fenway Park, major league baseball's smallest stadium with a seating capacity of 33,563.

The Red Sox announced Friday that the firm of Howard Needles Tammen and Bergendoff has been retained "to develop a program for renovations, repairs and future planning of Fenway Park."

The park was built in 1912 and reconstructed in 1934. Known throughout the sports world for its "Green Monster," the 37-foot wall in left field, the park has undergone changes, including the installation of luxury boxes on the roof, in recent years.

Success no stranger to UT's Quick

By ERIC SCHURER
Sports Writer

A pair of NCAA titles would be a career for many coaches, but for Richard Quick of the University of Texas, it looks like just a beginning.

Quick, who was in the Tall City for the City of Midland Swim team banquet on Thursday, is still in the infancy of his tenure at UT, already has back-to-back championship trophies hanging on the wall of his Austin office. His titles came in his second and third years at the helm. This season, the Longhorns not only racked up more points than had ever been scored in a the women's NCAAs, but they won by a larger margin than had ever been recorded, and that with its favored 400-meter freestyle team being disqualified.

An appropriate question might be, what happened in that first season?

But rather than dwell on negatives (?), Quick is already looking to repeat again in 1986.

"We're just taking it a year at a time right now," he said. "We were primarily a freshman and sophomore club so we will be good again, but I think it's going to be a balanced thing for a while."

What Quick brought with him to Texas from Auburn, where he coached the men's team, including captain Brad Swindig, now the head coach at COM, was a strong reliance on the team concept of swimming.

BUT WAIT a minute, swimming has always been a solo effort, the team part only coming into play when side with the fastest collection of individual stars takes more first places than the other side.

"On the day of the meet, that's the case," Quick says. "But when we practice five or six hours a day together, you better be out there helping each other out rather than tearing each other up."

Quick has instilled that concept so deeply into the team's fiber that the Longhorns' motto has become "Working together, to get better."

A simple saying, yes. An effective one, YES!

"Once you get the talent together, you have to figure out how the chemistry of the team and make it work positively. There can be jealousies when you get these highly-touted stars together in the same pool."

By developing the team attitude in his individual stars, Quick has floated to the top of the NCAA women's swimming pool in what would seem like a short time.

But at 42, Quick has already put in 20 years of coaching at all levels, including a stint with the U.S. Olympic team as a sprint coach. He was also Olympian Rowdy Gaines' personal coach for more than five years, long after Gaines left Auburn.

Yet Quick shows no sign of coaching burnout. He is ready to gon on foresver at UT.

"I don't know what else I could do," Quick admits. "I'm real happy in my position now. I'm not looking (for a new challenge) at all. As long as people are willing to come to the pool and work hard for their goals, I feel good about it. I have the same enthusiasm now that I did 20 years ago."

QUICK'S COACHING philosophy has developed into much more than the simple "batten down the hatches, full speed ahead, win at all costs" method.

"Swimming fast in itself isn't all that important. All records are forgotten evetually. If there is any value in swimming, it more than just swimming fast.

"Watching me at poolside during one of our workouts, no one would say swimming fast isn't important to me, it is at the time. But if it doesn't relate to life, we're missing the boat in athletics."

If there is one he will leave behind, it is that no one will accuse Richard Quick of missing the boat.

UT's Swindell stifles Houston, 5-0

SWC Baseball

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Top-ranked Texas used the four-hit pitching of Greg Swindell to blank Houston 5-0 in the opening game of the Southwest Conference baseball tournament Friday.

The Longhorns, tournament winners the past six years, jumped on Mike Walker for four runs in the first inning and that was plenty for Swindell, who ran his record to 15-1.

"Swindell pitched as well as he's ever pitched," Texas coach Cliff Gustafson said. "The Houston lineup is not easy to pitch to, but he pitched a sensational game."

The Texas lefty allowed just an infield single by Guy Garibay in the first six innings. Mike Basso of the Cougars added a solid single in the seventh. Garibay and Mark Soma each singled to start the eight, but Swindell got three straight outs.

"Too much Swindell," said Houston coach Rolan Walton. "That's three times he's beaten us in the last two years. We haven't solved him yet. Not many teams do, though."

Texas second baseman Bill Bates, who had two doubles, said, Houston hit the ball hard, but right at Texas.

"They hit it good all day, but the ball was just not dropping for them," Swindell said.

Gustafson said Swindell's performance was even more amazing because he had trouble with his breaking ball. Swindell, who struck out six and walked none, said, "Maybe the wind moved my breaking ball. It bounced after about 58 feet every time. I threw a lot of fastballs, and eight or nine changes."

"We seem to hit the ball pretty well every time we see Swindell — he doesn't get his 11-strikeout average against us — but he's very, very good," Walton said.

COBY KERLIN led off for Texas, 55-10, with a walk and moved to third on Bates' double to right. Rightfielder Dennis Cook singled home both runners and went to third on a double by David Denny.

Walker, who lasted just 24 pitches against Texas two weeks ago in a series at Austin, retired the next two batters before Scott Vondemkamp drove in two more runs with a single.

Arkansas 6, Baylor 4

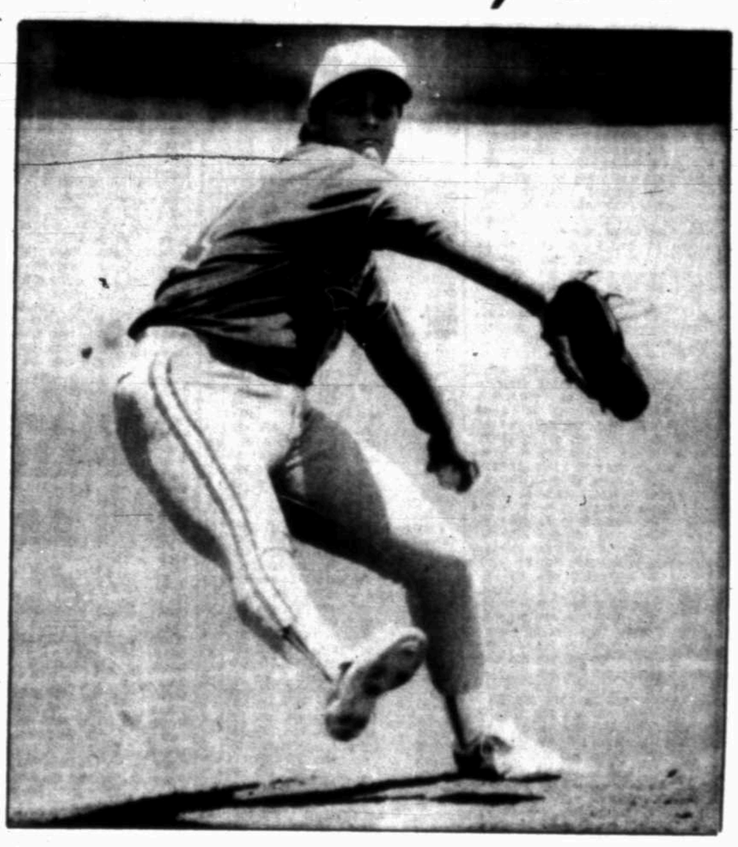

Mark Jackson's two-out pop single in the ninth inning drove in two runs and lifted Arkansas over Baylor in the Southwest Conference Post-Season Baseball Tournament.

Jackson had gone zero for four against Baylor starter Blaine Beatty 9-4, including three straight strikeouts. But he muscled an inside fastball from reliever Alan Koonce just out of the reach of four converging Bears with the bases loaded in the ninth.

The 11th-ranked Razorbacks, 43-13, advance to the winner's bracket game Saturday night against No. 1-ranked Texas. Baylor, 42-12, plays Houston in a Saturday afternoon elimination game.

Texas lefty Greg Swindell has been undefeated in Southwest Conference play, beating Houston Friday in the first round of the tournament. He now has a conference ERA of 1.57.

Conley's record leap paces first day events

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas' Mike Conley set a meet record Friday of 27-4 in winning the long jump at the Southwest Conference track and field championships.

A north wind of 1.1 meters per second was below the allowable 2 meters per second for the record-setting leap. Conley's jump eclipsed the old record of 27-0 3-4 set in 1981 by Olympic gold medalist Carl Lewis of Houston. Conley said it was his best jump within the wind allowance. It was short of Conley's 27-6 wind-aided jump at the 1983 TAC Championships.

After the completion of four events, Texas led with 41 points, followed by Arkansas with 38, Houston with 19, Texas A&M with 17, Rice with four, Texas Tech with three and Baylor with two. SMU and Texas Christian failed to score Friday.

With five women events completed, Houston led with 58 points, followed by Texas with 35, Rice wih 24, Arkansas with 19, TCU with 10 and Texas Tech with nine.

Conley's victory was his fourth straight outdoor title. That, added to his indoor championships each of the past four years, gives him eight consecutive SWC long jump titles.

MIKE DAVIS of Arkansas was second in the long jump at 26-8 1-2 and A&M's Chris Walker was third at 25-10.

Texas' Dag Wennlund won the javelin with a throw of 266-11. Wennlund threw 302-5 earlier this month, the best in the conference this year and the second best collegiate throw ever. Greg Bullion of Texas took second at 239-4 and Bob Erskine of Houston was third at 235-4. Last year's champion, Roald Bradstock of SMU, did not compete.

"I wish Bradstock had been here," Wennlund said. "I would have thrown better if I had had somebody like him here."

Houston's Rick Meyer took first in the discus with a throw of 198-3, well short of his best toss this year of 207-2 and less than the meet record of 202-11 set by Ken Standel of Rice in 1973. Doug Lowell of Texas was second at 189 and Marty Kobza of Arkansas was third at 184.

A TAILWIND hampered the throws, Meyer said. "The wind was really tough. It probably took about 10 feet off everybody's throws," he said.

A&M's Arturo Barrios won the 10,000 in 30:07.85. Arkansas' Roland Reina was second in 30:14.46 and Texas Noel Byrne was third at 30:41.48.

Plan would split revenue

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — A plan to split an estimated $1.8 billion in offshore oil revenue among seven states could go before the U.S. House as early as next week, staff members at Rep. John B. Breaux's office in Washington said Friday.

The plan, which could net Louisiana about $700 million, was adopted by the House Budget Committee.

Breaux said the plan, adopted by the committee Thursday, would distribute $5.8 billion of the $6.8 billion that has been in escrow since 1978. The federal government would get $4 billion, Texas $372 million, California $375 million, Alaska $323 million, Alabama $73 million, Mississippi $15 million, and Florida $30,000.

Bird, Erving agree: Dr. J's game has changed

NBA Preview

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Larry Bird says Julius Erving has changed his game, and Erving agrees.

Bird vs. Erving is one of the key matchups in the best-of-seven National Basketball Association semifinal series between the Boston Celtics and Philadelphia 76ers.

Bird's Celtics beat Erving's 76ers in the first two games at Boston. The series resumes here for Games 3 and 4 Saturday and Sunday.

"I think everybody senses that his (Erving's) role is different," said Bird this week.

"You can tell that there are 15-footers he would take in the past that he's not taking anymore. They don't look for him to score as many points as they did two or three years ago.

"He's been playing better defense than he ever has. I think that he's concentrating on that more.

"He can score if he wants but because he is aged now it's not how much he scores, it's when."

The 35-year-old Erving said Bird's comments were "a pretty good analysis of what I've been doing.

"We're very conscious of shot selection because on this team we want guys shooting the way they're most effective.

"Most of what he (Bird) said is true. He's noticed an adaptation in my game."

BIRD AND Erving also agree on the importance of Saturday's Game 3. While five teams have rallied from 2-0 to win a seven-game series, no team in NBA history has ever come back from a 3-0 deficit.

"It's really to our benefit to win that first game in Philadelphia," said Bird. "And we'll give it all we've got. What Philly can't do is let us get one of those games."

Erving said, "We have to focus in on this one game (Saturday). This is for the marbles. After that's over, do it again.

"We have to look at it as the first game of a one-game set. On our court we're four or five points better (than Boston). I believe that. But we have to do that. Boston isn't awesome or dominant."

Suppose Boston wins and it's 0-3, Erving was asked.

"We're not going to think of that," he replied.

Erving's confidence in the home-court edge is bolstered by figures. Since Bird joined the Celtics in 1979-80, Boston has won just three of 18 regular season games and two of eight playoff games here.

Boston Coach K.C. Jones said the Sixers would "come out like a herd of buffalo. But we've had three days' rest, so there's no reason for us not to come out aggressively. Two games and then we get ... out of there."

The Sixers' Andrew Toney responded to a report that he may not start because of 3-for-17 shooting in Game 2 by saying, "It's the playoffs. If sitting on the bench is going to make us win, sure I'll do that."

TONEY SAID 76ers Coach Billy Cunningham hadn't said a word about replacing him with Clint Richardson in the starting lineup.

"As far as I'm concerned there is no change," Toney said.

Toney thinks there has been an over-reaction to his poor shooting Tuesday night.

"It's not like I had two games in a row like that. It's not a slump. Another game like that would be different. I just need to keep a level head."

Erving, who had said he planned to talk with Toney, changed his mind.

"He didn't need for me to sit down with him. I watched him very carefully and came to that decision," Erving said. "Sometimes you have to back off and let somebody have his space..."

Rosie Jones takes first-round lead

LPGA

CHATHAM TOWNSHIP, N.J. (AP) — Rosie Jones, seeking her first Ladies Professional Golf Association tour victory, fired a course record 7-under-par 66 to grab a three-shot lead after the first round of the $175,000 Chrysler-Plymouth Charity Classic on Friday.

Jones, the runner-up in last year's U.S. Women's Open, collected five birdies and capped the round on the par 73, 6,265-yard Fairmount Country Club by rolling in an eagle from 12 feet. The 25-year-old former Ohio State golfer did not have a bogey during the round, which was a career best for her.

Jones, in her fourth year as a pro, came into the public eye last year, finishing second to Hollis Stacy in the U.S. Women's Open and then losing a playoff the following week to Kathy Whitworth.

"It was one of those rounds where you don't know what's going right," Jones said. "And that's when you play your best because you are not thinking what you are doing wrong."

Nancy Lopez, seeking her 30th career LPGA victory, was tied for second place with Jan Stephenson, Sally Quinlan and Kris Monaghan at 4-under-par 69. Lopez has won this event twice.

Former champions Pat Bradley and Cathy Morse and Laura Baugh headed a group of eight-players tied at 3-under-par 70.

DOT GERMAIN and Joan Joyce were five shots off the lead at 71.

But the opening round belonged to Jones, whose previous best round of golf was a 67 last year in the Freedom Orlando Classic.

Jones played the front nine in 1-under-par 35, dropping a 6-foot birdie putt on the sixth hole. She dropped to 2-under with a 22-foot birdie putt at No. 10 and then took command rolling in consecutive birdies at Nos. 14, 15 and 16 with putts of 6, 20 and 3 feet, respectively.

The back nine was completed in 6-under-par 31, and the round broke the old course record, which club pros say was 73.

"I got a little nervous when I got to five under," Jones said. "I just kept saying that this is only the first day."

Jones, who has had five top 20 finishes in 12 LPGA events this year, capped the round by hitting a three wood on her second shot to No. 18 and then calmly sinking her eagle.

USFL, ABC head to arbitration

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States Football League agreed Friday to put aside its day-old lawsuit against ABC in favor of what USFL Commissioner Harry Usher called "a speedy, expedited arbitration" over the $7 million that the league says the network is witholding from it.

The agreement, reached with the approval of U.S. District Court Judge Mary Johnson Lowe, came after the USFL filed suit in an effort to get the network to continue its rights payments.

ABC, which has televised USFL games for the three years of the league's existence, has been seeking a reduction of its $14 million payment for this season. The network had based its decision on a provision of its 1982 contract that requires the USFL to play in eight of the country's top 10 TV markets, including the top three. This season the league is without teams in Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and Detroit, all of which had original USFL franchises.

Under the agreement announced Friday, however, Usher said the network had agreed to place the $2.8 million in escrow while the dispute is arbitrated.

Ex-volunteers stay in island paradise

AP Laserphoto

Jerry Knight

POHNPEI, Micronesia (AP) — As a straw-haired schoolgirl back home in Teutopolis, Ill., Marialice Burford had a dream.

"I was going to be a Chicago Cubs sportswriter someday," she recalled.

Then she found her South Sea island. "And my dreams all went away." There was a heaven beyond Wrigley Field after all.

For a generation now, the ageless allure of the Pacific — the jewel-like waters, the lush little islands, the languid, laughing people — has been luring Peace Corps volunteers like Marialice Burford into sinking new roots in remote old societies.

Dozens of volunteers have stayed behind after their tours of duty ended, becoming part of island life, operating businesses and practicing law, keeping taverns and advising governments, studying anthropology and writing novels.

Some liken themselves to old beachcombers, those 19th-century adventurers who counseled island chiefs on the ways of the outside world.

Today, 394 Peace Corps volunteers are assigned to the Pacific islands, 94 of them in Pohnpei, the Marshall Islands and other places in Micronesia, a U.S.-administered territory 5,000 miles from the American mainland. They work on agricultural projects, as teachers, as advisers to businesses.

No one knows just how many of their predecessors have settled in the islands. But on Majuro atoll, a slender ring of palm-fringed islets that is the capital of the Marshall group, "ex-vols" turn up everywhere.

One runs the coconut-oil factory. Another manages the big store. A third owns a handful of small businesses. But none has plunged more deeply into atoll life than Jerry Knight.

A Chicagoan who arrived as a volunteer in 1967, Knight later decided to stay on and "get inside the culture."

First, he worked as a Majuro fisherman for two years, perfecting his knowledge of the musical Marshallese language. Then he cast off into the unknown — sailing 400 miles up to isolated Rongelap atoll, where he lived for four years among the 150 Rongelapese, an ocean away from Western civilization.

In his lagoon retreat, the self-taught anthropologist took down the oral histories told by a traditional island narrator. He later published a book of the stories.

"I was planning to stay there till I died," said the wiry, mustached Knight, 37. But he finally was recalled to Majuro for overstaying his visa in the Marshalls. Later he re-established himself in Majuro, and as curator of the local museum continues recording Marshallese tales and music.

Riding a commuter train one morning, a passenger turned to his seatmate and said, "I've got a clock that tells me when to get up-but some days I need one to tell me why." The search for meaning and significance in life is never ending. The why of life is much harder to answer than such questions as when, where, what and who. Let us help you discover the answer to that question.

Our interstate roads tell us something about human character: We need challenges and a map or plan to guide us in life.

We spend time putting together a route we'll look at once or twice — then discard.

There are different kinds of challenges. To the climber, a mountain presents a physical challenge. To the mathematician, an equation presents a mental challenge.

Through the centuries one of the most important challenges has been spiritual. God gave us the capacity to explore our relationship with HIM, to discover the deep truths that give life its richest meaning.

Don't discard the challenge of Faith. Join your neighbors next week in worship.

RELIGION IN BRIEF

Memorial Christian honors church youth

The public is invited to attend Sunday morning's worship at Memorial Christian Church, 1001 Andrews Highway, when the congregation will celebrate Youth Sunday by having the service performed by members of the church's youth groups.

Members of the Chi Rho, sixth through eighth grades, and Christian Youth Fellowship, ninth through 12th grades, have planned the service which will include messages brought by graduating senior students Shelley Branson, Charlie Harris and Robert McCracken. The special service will also include a presentation by the Joy Connection Choir comprised of Chi Rho and CYF members.

At 6 p.m. Sunday in the church's Fellowship Hall, graduating seniors will be honored with a covered dish fellowship dinner. The program for the dinner will be provided by the Covenant Players, a repertory group from Mesquite, who will show the role youth play in today's church and world.

Woman to host workshop

MacDougall

Mary Katherine MacDougall is conducting a workshop on "How to Achieve Prosperity by Letting Go of Negative Emotions" from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Sunday and Monday in the Airport Executel's Hospitality Room.

Ms. MacDougall is the author of several hundred articles and eight books including "Black Jupiter," "What Treasure Mapping Can Do for You," "Healing Now" and "Prosperity Now."

The workshop is sponsored by Unity of West Texas Study Group. Books will be available.

Bellview holds celebration

"Bellview...A Blessing," a celebration of music, will be held 6:40 p.m. Sunday at Bellview Baptist Church as part of the Midland Centennial.

The program, being held in the sanctuary, will feature gospel songs, a slide presentation, testimonies and a display of memorabilia from Bellview's past.

"The Bellaires," a men's quartet, along with "The Ragtime Gospel Band" and "Rejoice," a ladies' ensemble, will be presenting music during the celebration. Joyce Wilson and Kelie Jones will be featureed soloists. Bellview's Children's Choirs will also take part in the occasion.

Bellview Baptist Church is located at 1710 N. Big Spring, just north of the downtown area. Troy Stevenson, minister of music, invites the public to come and be a part of this celebration. A nursery will be provided.

Players to lead worship

The Covenant Players will be leading the 10:55 a.m. worship service at St. Mark's United Methodist Church, 1701 N. Main St., Sunday.

The group witnesses through drama. The members will be using the theme "Christian Commitment Through the Stewardship of Time, Talent and Money."

Also, at 6 p.m. Sunday, the children's choirs will perform and receive achievement recognition at The Fellowship Supper, in the Fellowship Hall.

St. Mark's UMC's music coordinator, Mrs. Jack Riley, invites the public to attend the Sunday worship service.

Church to present musical

The Christian Church of Midland is presenting a special musical at 7 p.m. Sunday.

At this time the "Rainbow Kids Choir" will present a musical entitled "Down On The Creek Bank." These children are ages first through sixth grade. The Associate Minister's wife, Connie Duncan, is the director of the church's musical program and will direct this choir.

The Rev. Robert Blazek, minister of the congregation, invites the public to attend this inspirational program. The free program will be presented in the auditorium at 2608 Neely.

Midlander graduates

Bruce Chadwick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daryl G. Chadwick of Midland, graduated from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth during commencement exercises held at the Travis Avenue Baptist Church in Ft. Worth May 10.

Chadwick received a masters of divinity degree from the School of Theology. He will continue his studies through the summer, working on a masters degree from Baylor University in Theatre Arts, which he will receive in August of this year.

He was born and reared in Midland and graduated from Robert E. Lee High School.

Crestview to air musical

The Youth Choir of Crestview Baptist Church will present the musical "Backpacker's Suite" by Sonny Salsbury at 7 p.m. Sunday at the church, 3300 Thomas St.

The setting for this light musical drama is a Colorado state park and the theme is discovering God and His truths through nature.

Joining the current 60 members for the choir will be 20 former members who sang in Crestview's original production of the work in 1976.

Crestview's minister of music, Ty Morris Jr., invites the public to attend this "Reunion Performance."

Students attend convention

Thirty-five students from the Midland Baptist Temple School left Thursday morning for the International Student Convention for Accelerated Christian Schools to be held on the campus of Indiana State University today through Friday.

All students competing at the convention are first and second place winners on the state convention level. The Midland Baptist Temple School students will be competing in the areas of vocal and instrumental competition, marching band, athletic areas and platform events.

Joy Fellowship to meet

Joy Fellowship meets at 11:45 a.m. until 1 p.m. Monday at First Assembly of God Church, 100 W. Wadley Ave.

Special speaker for the luncheon is Tiny Elling of Holland. Ms. Elling will tell how her husband and herself hid Jews during World War II in Holland.

Those attending are asked to bring a covered dish. A nursery will be provided. The public is invited to attend.

Anglicans set communion

The Rev. Jean Pierre Meshew, archdeacon of the Diocese of the Southwest of the American Anglican Church, will celebrate Holy Communion for St. Paul's American Episcopal Church at 10 a.m. the first and third Sundays of each month.

Services are held in the chapel of Ellis Funeral Home. The 1928 Book of Common Prayer is used by the congregation for all services.

Baptists break embargo

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Southern Baptists have managed to send a shipload of 1,100 tons of rice seed to hungry and war-ravaged Cambodia, overcoming a U.S. trade embargo against that country, missionaries report.

The missionaries say the Thai government also broke a five-year export ban in authorizing Southern Baptists to buy the seed from Thai farmers and ship it to Cambodia, now ruled by the Vietnamese-backed Heng Samrin regime.

The seed should produce a harvest in September if Cambodians can get it planted before the spring rains set in, says missionary physician Marvin Raley, who becomes the first Southern Baptist working in Cambodia.

Christians petition court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organizations embracing 120 million Christians have asked the U.S. Supreme Court to uphold the right of public high school students to meet for religious purposes in extracurricular periods on an equal basis with other student groups.

Friend-of-court briefs backing that position were filed by the U.S. Catholic Conference, including about 50 million Catholics, and by major Protestant bodies, totalling about 70 million.

They contend that a Williamsport, Pa., high school, in prohibiting a group of students from holding religious meeting before class hours, violated the students' rights of free speech "solely because of its religious content."

Churches unite to fight limits on charitable deductions

RELIGION

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

When worshippers drop their money into the collection plate, they do so — as commonly phrased in the liturgy — to put some of their "life and labor" into God's work in the world.

That's the main motive, church leaders say. But they agree the resultant tax break helps — that people generally can afford to contribute more because such gifts are tax deductible.

A Treasury Department proposal to sharply limit such deductions has drawn wide protests from churches and other charitable organizations, with indications that it may be dropped.

Calling it "negative and destructive," the Rev. James M. Dunn, head of the Washinton-based Baptist Joint Committe on Public Affairs, says:

"It is a cruel contradiction for this administration to appeal to churches and others in the private sector to assume more responsibility for meeting human need and at the same time to remove incentives for support..."

The proposal would limit deductions for charitable gifts to amounts in excess of 2 percent of gross income. This would wipe out the deductions for most taxpayers, for whom the median amount is 1.97 percent.

Bishop James Malone of Youngstown, Ohio, president of the U.S. Roman Catholic bishops, calls the proposal in the Treasury Department's tax reform plan "a very considerable threat to private charity."

He says it could impair "the ability of donors to continue their generosity." He cited a study indicating the proposal would reduce charitable contributions by $13 billion, or 20 percent.

Noting reductions made in government funds for public welfare programs, Malone said "this is no time...for the federal government to take money away from private charity...Many taxpayers would be forced to reduce their gifts in order to pay their taxes."

Officials in Washington this week said President Reagan was reviewing the proposals and that he probably would rule out the one to restrict deductions for charitable contributions.

He often has emphasized the key role of voluntary giving in the private sector for charitable works.

Total charitable contributions in the United States have been projected at $59.5 billion in 1985 for educational, medical, religious, artistic and other causes, most of it, $43.8 billion, going to religion.

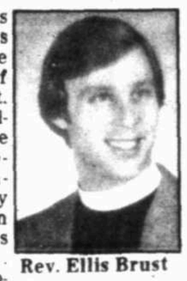

A recent study by the Council on Foundations found that religious bodies provide more support to programs for the poor and social justice activities in the country than any other private institutional group.

Religious bodies contributed about $7.5 billion to such causes in 1983, twice as much as $3.4 billion provided by the next biggest donor, the secular foundations, the study found.

It concluded that the churches are playing a "very important and largely untold role in meeting society's needs."

But some churchman questioned whether the tax deduction has much effect on the amount of a worshipper's contributions.

Man ordained into Episcopal priesthood

Rev. Ellis Brust

The Rev. Ellis E. Brust was ordained to the Sacred Order of Priests by the Rt. Rev. Sam B. Hulsey, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Northwest Texas, May 8. The ordination ceremony was held at St. Nicholas Episcopal Church where Brust has served as curate since June 1984.

Brust was presented for ordination by the Rev. Joseph H. Schley, Jr., rector of St. Nicholas; the ordinand's wife, Mrs. Ellis E. Brust; and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Brust, Jr., of Plainview. Other local participants included: Mrs. David Dunbar, litanist; Eric L. Thunem, lector; Mrs. W.H. Gilmore, psalmist; Max Wright, epistoler; and the Rev. David W. Price, gospeler and deacon of the Mass.

Schley acted as master of ceremonies for the occasion, and the Rev. Kevin B. Matthews, Annapolis, Md., gave the sermon. Special music was presented by flutist Martha Jo Davis.

Brust received his bachelor degree in psychology at Bethany College, Linsberg, Kan. He worked as a counselor and assistant administrator at St. Francis Boys' Home, Salina, Kan., prior to attending seminary.

Brust received his master of divinity degree from Virginia Theological Seminary, Alexandria, Va., in May 1984. While in seminary, Brust was a member of the VTS Missionary Society and worked as seminiarian assistant at Grace Episcopal Church, Alexandria. During the summer of 1983, he served an internship here at St. Nicholas, under the direction of Schley. Brust was ordained to the Sacred Order of Deacons in June of last year.

Brust is a member of the Midland Jaycees and will serve on that board as chaplain for the term 1985-86. He is on the board of the Clinic of the Children's Ministry, chairing the publicity committee. He is currently serving on the Chemical Dependency Task Force of the Diocese of Northwest Texas.

'We were plastic,' Fabian confesses

Los Angeles Times-
Washington Post News Service

HOLLYWOOD — "We were plastic, these plastic...things — not even people," said Fabian, the former teen idol, groping to describe the attitude of many adults — and critics in particular — toward him and most other teen stars in the heyday of rock 'n' roll back in the '50s and early '60s.

"They laughed at us. They wouldn't take us seriously as artists. They didn't think we could sing or perform or anything. To them, we were this low form of life. You can't laugh that off. Everybody craves respect. If people are looking down on you, all the money in the world doesn't really make you feel any better about it."

Squinting with apparent displeasure, Fabian appeared to be sifting through unsettling memories. Suddenly smiling, he said: "Don't get me wrong. It wasn't all bad. For a teenage boy, you can imagine what it was like having all those girls drooling over you. That was heaven. Sometimes I was on top of the world. Me, this dumb kid from South Philly, got to be a star. I couldn't believe it."

He was looking down at the table in the empty restaurant patio as he spoke, rhythmically tapping his wine glass with a fork. "Whaddaya know, I got rhythm," he joked. "See, I do have some musical talent."

Though he wasn't taken seriously in his peak years, singing songs like "I'm a Man," "Turn Me Loose" and "Tiger," Fabian has somehow managed to survive as an entertainer. After all these years, he still has enough clout to host and star in a rock 'n' roll revival show at the Universal Amphitheatre, featuring the Platters, the Drifters, Lou Christie, Lesley Gore, the Shirelles and Bo Diddley.

"Most of the audience for these shows is between 30 and 55," he explained. "They're looking to recapture a feeling, something they felt when they were younger and listening to rock 'n' roll. They reminisce and get wild. They also come because they're curious, they want to see how we look after all these years. Are we fat, bald and wasted? I think I've held up OK."

That's an understatement. At 42, Fabian looks remarkably youthful. The only real clue to his age is his somewhat thinning hair in front.

Fabian is in the midst of his second comeback. His first retirement came in 1961, when he was a distraught and disillusioned 18-year-old. That layoff lasted 12 years, and his brief return was followed by a five-year hiatus that ended when he returned to the revival circuit in 1981.

Explaining why he quit that second time, Fabian said, "I wasn't very happy. In fact, I was depressed and miserable. I didn't like the people I was working with. I didn't like the show I was doing — my heart wasn't in it. I was doing it for the money, and it was good money. I was having some serious personal problems. I was divorced and I was trying to help my two kids, who are now 15 and 13 and doing fine, but they had problems then. They might have gone down the drain if I hadn't taken time off to be with them.

"So I was off the road between '77 and '81. I stayed away as long as I could. I got back into this because I was antsy and also because of the money. It's still very lucrative."

"I'm always on the lookout for a good role," Fabian explained. "If one came along, I'd jump at it. But music is my bread and butter now."

At present, Fabian has no complaints. He not only stars in but promotes these rock 'n' roll revivals, which are especially popular in the Midwest and the South. This summer he'll be touring with Frankie Avalon and Bobby Rydell, both also former teen idols from Philadelphia.

Wife dons red dress, climbs billboard, waves to motorists

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Donna Small said she was not afraid of heights but she had to admit that when she was hoisted atop a 48-foot billboard to help advertise her husband's business she was "a little squeamish."

Mrs. Small, wearing a red dress to stand out from the sign's background, recently spent the day smiling and waving down to amazed motorists on a busy Evansville street.

"After awhile," she said, "there was nothing to it."

Mrs. Small said she would spend five days on three new billboards around town, and then would be replaced by a metal silhouette.

She sits on a platform behind a piece of plywood cut in the shape of an office desk, imitating the logo of her husband's office supply company, Corporate Design Inc. Behind her is the company slogan, "Our people make the office."

"I've never seen anything like it before, and it was all her idea," said Leon Howell, manager of Naegele Outdoor Advertising Co., which put up the billboard. "The attention it's gotten has been phenomenal," he said.

Mrs. Small, a former advertising businesswoman, said her husband, J. Michael Small, also needed some persuading.

"He wanted someone else to be up there, but I wanted to do it myself," she said. "I didn't want to miss the excitement."

Your horoscope

By JEANE DIXON

Sunday, May 19, 1985

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: Someone who keeps you waiting for a decision all the time may never be able to help you. Move on to more positive situations and people. Seek allies in your efforts to improve your work environment or neighborhood. Children are eager to win your approval. Set a good example. The romantic outlook is rosy. A financial goal moves within reach. Take responsibility for any mistakes you have made. A young person teaches an important lesson. CELEBRITY BIRTHDATES: "Good Morning America" host David Hartman, Ed Whitson of the New York Yankees, actor Steve Ford, Black Muslim leader Malcolm X.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Seeing old friends proves both fun and relaxing. Limit entertainment expenses. Someone who has always appeared indifferent pays you a compliment. Try to make peace when family members squabble.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Help family members broaden their horizons. New interests make old tensions fade away. Travel is best postponed. Your work with a special group boosts your standing in the community.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): A long-cherished desire is fulfilled. Do not play games in romance or you will spend a miserable evening. You need to become a better listener. Date a former schoolmate.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): A give-and-take attitude improves home life. Devote at least part of the day to church or community affairs. A newspaper article or ad triggers a moneymaking idea. Consult a practical friend.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Give yourself a break. Seek new surroundings and friends. A relative could have delusions of grandeur. A smart-aleck attitude will only create a rift between you. Avoid saying "I told you so."

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Have fun daydreaming, but use common sense when making important decisions. Your rapport with romantic partner reaches a new high. Spend a pleasant, relaxing day with your family.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Taking public transportation could be more convenient than driving today. Try to overlook your loved one's failings. A compliment encourages someone to try harder. Avoid discussing money matters.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A platonic relationship could be more rewarding than you dreamed possible. Do not rock the boat. Be sensitive to family members' feelings.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): A cheerful attitude is your best asset now. You are able to accomplish more when you feel well-rested. Romance thrives when you learn to express your feelings. Turn in early tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Be careful not to overdo if taking part in an athletic event. Romantic partner may want to spend some time alone. Do not view this request as a rejection. Be understanding.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Wait for others to reveal their plans in their own time. A friend or acquaintance could spring a surprise at a social outing. Romance is in the air. Be receptive.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Make your entertainment plans early in the day after consulting family members. Romance could suffer if you try to impose your ideas on loved one. Be tactful. Ask for suggestions.

Austin blues pianist dies

AUSTIN (AP) — Robert Shaw, one of the last practitioners of vintage barrelhouse piano blues, has died at age 77 after suffering a heart attack.

The veteran Austin bluesman, whose career spanned more than half a century, had a history of heart trouble. He died Thursday.

Rod Kennedy, promoter of the Kerrville folk festivals, was one of Shaw's biggest boosters, employing the pianist for 13 consecutive festivals and regularly extolling his musical virtues.

"Robert was a unique musician," Kennedy said.

"He was one of the original Kerrville performers, which was very fitting since his music was some of the original music of Texas. What he played was an authentic piece of our cultural heritage, and I'm afraid it may well be lost with his death. There's just not anybody else around that has the experience that Shaw had, nor the dedication he had for his music."

Shaw made his early reputation playing the "sporting houses" of Texas and Oklahoma, when piano players were a prominent part of the night life.

He spent a decade playing such venues, and although he was surrounded by an unhealthy and frequently dangerous lifestyle, he rose above his surroundings, saying, "I may have been in some lowdown places, but I never picked up those lowdown habits."

Shaw was a regular on the "Santa Fe circuit," so named because the musicians hopped the Santa Fe freight trains to get from one city to the next. He played as far north as Chicago, but primarily confined his activities to central and East Texas.

Born near Houston, Shaw arrived in Austin in the early 1930s, just as the advent of jukeboxes was killing off the employment opportunities for honky-tonk pianists.

He went into the grocery and barbecue business, setting up a combination icehouse and barbecue store in west Austin. He eventually relocated the establishment to Manor Road, and built it into a major commercial success, numbering many Hill Country celebrities — including Lyndon Johnson — among his regular customers.

He kept a piano in all his business establishments, usually in the back room. But it was not until 1967, after suffering his first heart attack, that he began playing publicly again.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Family Feud" host Richard Dawson has kissed his last female contestant for the cameras.

Having smooched about 20,000 women over nine years on the television game show, Dawson tearfully brought "Family Feud" to a close Thursday as the studio audience game him a standing ovation.

The show fell victim to the ABC network programmer's ax.

Dawson took some rare on-camera moments to talk to the audience without music, applause or squealing contestants.

"I've had the most incredible luck in my career," said Dawson, who won an Emmy in 1978. "I never dreamed I would have a job in which so many people could touch me and I could touch them," he said — drawing an unexpected laugh.

Dawson is known for kissing each woman contestant, and executive producer Howard Felsher estimated that Dawson bussed "somewhere in the vicinity of 20,000 women contestants" over the nine years.

"I kissed them for luck and love, that's all," Dawson said, dismissing criticism of his displays of affection.

The show, in which families try to guess the most popular answers to such questions as, "What do people give up when they go on a diet," occasionally featured celebrities but most often used ordinary people.

Frank Sinatra

NEW YORK (AP) — Entertainer Frank Sinatra says "there's no stopping" him from accepting an honorary engineering degree from Stevens Institute of Technology in his hometown of Hoboken, N.J.

About a third of the school's 300 seniors oppose the action and have submitted a petition to college adminstrators, citing the singer's lack of background in higher learning and a concern that their graduation would be overshadowed by his presence.

But school officials said there would be no change in plans.

Sinatra, who the New York Daily News said is a high school dropout, told the paper he would speak on the "value of higher education" at the school's commencement next week.

"When (Stevens President) Dr. Kenneth Rogers called me to say that Stevens wanted to confer this degree, I was deeply honored," Sinatra told the paper. "So I'm going to be there on the 23rd. There's no stopping me."

Johnny Carson

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Late-night talk show host Johnny Carson left his "Tonight" show desk for a seat in the guest's chair — for only the second time in more than a decade — when he appeared on "Late Night with David Letterman."

But Carson, whose program is in its 23rd year on NBC, made himself at home by bringing a folding desk out with him and setting it up as he sat down to talk with Letterman after midnight Friday.

After the desk was removed, Carson proceeded to phone an actress posing as Letterman's mother — who said Letterman often told her he wished Carson would be run over by a truck so he could get the 11:30 p.m. time slot rather than his current 12:30 a.m. position.

Network officials said it was only the second time in more than 10 years that Carson had appeared as a talk show guest. Letterman, who usually tapes in New York, moved his show to California for one week.

Last week, Letterman appeared on the "Tonight" show as Carson's guest.

Muhammad Ali

PEKING (AP) - Boxing great Muhammad Ali joined 1,000 Chinese Moslems for prayers in the ancient capital of Xian Friday, and was then surrounded by worshippers seeking his autograph, the official Xinhua News Agency reported.

"Muhammad Ali has won fame for Moslems the world over and Chinese Moslems take pride in his achievement," Imam Ma Liangji told the congregation at the 1,200-year-old mosque. "We wish him good health and greater contributions to Moslem solidarity and world peace."

The former world heavyweight boxing champion, here at the invitation of the Chinese government to promote boxing, began his tour with informal exhibition bouts in Peking. He leaves for Shanghai Saturday.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Peso shape to be changed to distinguish from quarter

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Mexican government has agreed to change the size and shape of its new peso coin so it cannot be used in place of the U.S. quarter, said a U.S. State Department official in a letter received by Texas Sen. Lloyd Bentsen on Friday.

The Mexican coin has plagued vending machine operators whose machines cannot differentiate between the coins. The peso is one 14-thousandth of an inch wider in diameter than a quarter, but it is only worth about a half-cent.

Bentsen wrote the State Department in March after getting complaints from laundromat operators along the Texas-Mexico border.

William L. Ball III, assistant secretary for legislative and intergovernmental affairs, wrote to Bentsen in a letter dated May 15 that U.S. officials have met with Mexican officials about the problem.

"They (Mexican officials) indicated that the Mexican government is formulating plans to change the size and shape of the one-peso coin," Ball wrote.

However, he added, it will take months before a new coin can be put into circulation because such a change requires an act of the Mexican Congress.

Paper: Pornography rises

PEKING (AP) — An influx of illicit pornographic videotapes has reached epidemic proportions in China, with some entrepreneurs holding daytime showings and charging more than 30 times the price of ordinary film tickets, a newspaper complained Friday.

"We must strengthen management of videotapes," the Workers Daily (Gongren Ribao) said in a front-page commentary.

The complaint came less than a month after the state council decreed new rules toughening a ban on pornographic videos, substances said to be aphrodisiacs, and obscene materials that "poison people's minds."

The Workers Daily did not explain who is responsible for importing illicit videos, but said many are smuggled from Hong Kong, shown by private entrepreneurs charging up to the equivalent of $3.50 a ticket. Ordinary tickets cost 11 cents.

Cyclones strike India

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Cyclones killed at least 32 people in northern India this week, the United News of India reported Friday.

Twenty people were reported killed Tuesday and at least 100 injured in Allahabad in Uttar Pradesh state, 336 miles southeast of New Delhi, the news agency said, quoting reports from the area.

A cyclone in neighbouring Bihar state killed at least 12 people, UNI said.

Soldier sentenced to life

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP) — A jury convicted a British soldier Friday of killing a retired army major and two soldiers with a submachine gun in a $24,000 army payroll robbery last Jan. 17.

Cpl. Andrew Walker, 31, a small-arms instructor with the Royal Scots Regiment, was sentenced to life in prison by Judge William Grieve, who recommended that he serve at least 30 years before being considered for parole.

Walker was convicted of killing retired Maj. David Cunningham, 56, a civilian army administrator; Staff Sgt. Terence Hosker, 39; and Pvt. John Thomson, 25. They had picked up the equivalent of $24,000 from a bank in Pinicuik, eight miles south of Edinburgh.

Passenger bus hits truck

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Seven people were killed when a passenger bus hit a parked truck Friday in western Maharashtra state, the United News of India reported.

The accident which occured at Borgaon, about 750 miles south of New Delhi. The bus driver was arrested, the news agency said.

55.9 carat diamond sold

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) A 55.9 carat pearl-shaped diamond was sold for $1.67 million at auction in Geneva.

London dealer Lawrence Graff was the successful bidder for the pearl-shaped stone at an auction held Thursday night by Christie's.

A unique historical gem that figured once in the treasury of the Mogul emperors of India could find no buyer at the required price, however, and Christie's spokesman John Herbert said it went back to its present owner, who was not identified.

The unsold diamond, weighing 56.7 carats, was described in a 17th century travelogue as being part of the jewelry collection of the Mogul emperor Aurangzeb.

Britain's retail prices up

LONDON (AP) — Retail prices rose 2.1 percent in April, sending Britain's annual inflation rate to 6.9 percent, its highest level since September 1982, the government said Friday.

The Department of Employment, which published the figures, said April's surge pushed the annual inflation rate up 0.8 percentage points from 6.1 percent in March. The annual rate is based on average price increases over a 12-month period.

The April rise was viewed as a setback for the Conservative government of Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher.Cutting inflation is a cornerstone of her policy of holding down public spending. The opposition Labor Party blames cutbacks in government spending for Britain's 13.1 percent unemployment rate.

Guerrillas bomb home of ambassador in Lima

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Marxist guerrillas blitzed Lima with 20 bombs, including one at the U.S. ambassador's residence, and police said Friday they had rounded up nearly 3,500 suspects.

Police said the bombings caused a partial blackout of the city and extensive damage, but they had no reports of injuries.

Targets of the bombers also included the Chinese and Soviet embassies, the Peruvian-North American Cultural Institute, four police stations and San Marcos State University, whose student body government officials believe is a recruiting ground for the rebels.

Police blamed the bombings on the Maoist guerrilla group Sendero Luminoso, or Shining Path, and said the blitz may have been meant to mark the fifth anniversary of its war against the government, which began in May 1980.

The U.S. Embassy said the bomber threw two sticks of dynamite over the high wall surounding Ambassador David Jordan's downtown residence and one exploded on the edge of the swimming pool, causing minor damage. The other fell into the water and did not go off.

Jordan and his family were home at the time, but no one was injured, the embassy said.

Maj. Luis Cuba, press spokesman for the civil guard, said 3,488 people were detained in a roundup that ended early Friday.

Damage at the downtown branch of the cultural institute was slight, police said. Dynamite charges placed at the Soviet and Chinese embassies in the San Isidro suburb broke windows and doors, but hurt no one, the official report said.

Police said an office of the state-owned power utility ElectroLima, which serves 6 million residents of Lima and Callao port, was badly damaged by dynamite thrown from a passing car.

Newspaper reports Friday said that as lights went out in parts of Lima and Callao, huge hammer-and-sickle symbols were lighted on two hills above the city.

ElectroLima officials said the guerrillas blew down at least four power pylons.

Lamesa man wins $11 million suit

From Staff Reports

LAMESA — A 45-year-old Lamesa man paralyzed in an Andrews County oil-field accident in November 1983 won an $11 million settlement from Exxon and several other defendants last week. It was believed to be one of the largest settlements of a personal-injury suit in Texas history.

James L. Jarrett, a father of eight confined to a wheelchair since the accident left him paralyzed from the neck down, had sought $20 million from Exxon, Caprock Trucking Inc. and 50 non-operating oil companies of the Fullerton Clearfork Unit of Andrews County. The $11.055 million settlement, most of which will be paid in semi-annual installments over a 30-year period, followed a year of negotiations between Jarrett's attorney, John Saleh of Lamesa, and lawyers for the defendants, according to the Lamesa Press-Reporter.

Midland attorney Harrell Feldt represented the defendants before 106th District Court Judge George Hansard during last week's court proceedings, which consisted of formalizing the previously agreed upon settlement.

On Nov. 7, 1983, an electrical accident caused a 200-pound truck tire and rim to explode and fly 60 feet in the air before landing on Jarrett, his suit alleged. At the time, he was working for BJM Drilling and Exploration Co., which was preparing to drill a well for Exxon in the Fullerton oil field of Andrews County.

Bill would create program to control brush infestation

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Legislation creating the Texas Brush Control Program — to be administered through the State Soil and Water Conservation Board — has been approved by the Senate and sent to the House for action.

SB 1083 by Sen. Bill Sims, D-San Angelo, would establish a statewide brush control management program, to be administered through the Soil and Water Conservation Board and districts under the board's jurisdiction.

The board would designate "critical areas" where brush infestation is particularly serious and water needs are great.

A management plan would be adopted — including methods approved for eradication of the brush. Landowners wishing to participate in a brush-control program would be eligible for assistance through State cost sharing.

An analysis of the bill notes that mesquite and salt cedar cover "vast amounts of acreage" which was, little more than a century ago, native grassland.

The spread of mesquite and salt cedar in West Texas has resulted in loss of productivity on the land, with the mesquite consuming 3½ times the amount of water consumed by the grass it replaced.

A Soil and Water Conservation study concludes that land productivity would be increased from the capability of supporting one cow on 40 acres to one cow on six acres "if an effective brush-management plan was implemented," the analysis states."

Senate OKs lease of highway rights

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — The Senate has approved legislation by Rep. Tom Craddick, R-Midland, providing for the lease of highway rights of way for oil and gas development.

HB 918 removes the current prohibition (passed in 1981) regarding such leases. The measure also provides for preferential rights for adjoining mineral estate owners.

Leasing would be permitted if the land is not within a producing area (2,500 feet of a well capable of production on Jan. 1, 1985).

The General Land Office estimates that 200,000 acres would be available for leasing.

In 1981, revenue from such leases exceeded $217,000, according to a fiscal note prepared by the Legislative Budget Board on the bill.

The bill was sponsored in the Senate by Sen. John Sharp, D-Victoria.

House votes to raise age

AUSTIN (AP) — With no debate and little opposition, the House voted Friday to raise the legal drinking age from 19 to 21 and allow increased penalties in DWI cases involving drinking while driving.

A 126-6 vote sent the bill to Gov. Mark White.

The increased drinking age and DWI penalties were added to a House bill by senators on Thursday. The House voted to concur with the changes.

As originally passed by the House on an uncontested calendar, the bill merely changed a few words in the Alcoholic Beverage Code. The House has yet to act on separate bills raising the drinking age and banning drivers from drinking alcoholic beverages.

DON'T GAMBLE

Did you buy a diesel powered vehicle two or three years ago and wonder now how you are going to pay off the note when it's due without using all your down payment money? You no longer have to gamble on the future value of a vehicle you purchase—let someone else take the loss, unless of course it goes up, then you pocket the difference. See our professional sales department for an excellent buy, and then they will introduce you to the best Business Manager in town who can explain how to protect your truck or auto investment.
