SMALL PROBLEM — The gentle hands of Mrs. Jo Edmunds and the care of a veterinarian were all that baby Rocky needed after falling from his nest near Toledo Bend. Mrs. Edmunds found him and Dr. J. C. W. Rhodes set and splint his leg. Mrs. Edmunds plans to release the squirrel when he is recovered.

Reed pessimistic about Webb AFB

Secretary of the Air Force Thomas C. Reed indicated Friday that he is pessimistic about the chances of Webb AFB remaining open.

The Air Force's No. 1 civilian gave no indication that the closing would be averted as part of a cost-saving move. When he was questioned by about 10 West Texas newsmen at the Dyess AFB VIP Quarters in Abilene.

"Training Command bases are now operating at 50 to 60 per cent of capacity," said Reed, who emphasized that training is being shrunk. "For that reason, I can't offer much hope (for Webb).

"The problem is not Big Spring, but the fact that the Air Force inventory of aircraft has shrunk by one-third since 1968," he added.

It was reported that the secretary foresees a decision on the proposed Webb closing near the end of the year.

Reed arrived at Dyess after flying from Washington, D.C., Friday on a C140 Lodestar, a four-engine executive-type jet. He also answered questions on the B1 bomber and Dyess, Soviet military strength, women in the Air Force Academy, and the MIG 25 which a Russian pilot recently flew to Japan. The pilot defected and is in the U.S., where he sought political asylum.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Could file

Q. Recently a 10 or 12-year-old child visiting at the Veterans Hospital reportedly was molested by a patient. Only intervention by employes prevented it from being worse. That patient has since been released. What rights or protection does the public have on government property? Can they file charges? Would the hospital authorities be forced to release information?

A. A person may file charges for a crime which occurs anywhere, even inside a prison. Law officials may be notified and a complaint signed. Witnesses could be used in prosecution. The rights of revealing private records at a place such as the VA Hospital would have to be determined after the case reached the courts.

Not that way at all

Q. I keep hearing that the taxpayers sent a group of men to Washington that were just trying to save their own businesses by saving Webb? Why should we pay for them to have a good time in Washington?

A. They didn't have a good time. They worked until 2:30 a.m. one night and 3:30 a.m. another and attended endless hearings producing facts that might help Big Spring save Webb Air Force Base. The taxpayers did not pay the bill. The trip was funded by the Century Club with donations from individual interested citizens. They did not go on their own hook, but spent a lot of their own time after being requested to represent Big Spring by the legislative action committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Offbeat: 'Do it yourself'

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — Ted Wyche has found the solution to getting the city road in front of his home repaired — do it yourself.

Two nights this week, Wyche used a grader to fill in chuckholes on a quarter of a mile of Nicholson Road which hasn't been graded for a year.

"A stupid city that won't do the fixing" is the problem, according to Wyche's wife, Sally.

"We did this to save the wheels on our car. The neighbors are all excited about Ted doing the work. They said we would shame the city into doing something," she said.

Eric Oien, assistant city engineer, said he sympathizes with the Wyches and other Nicholson Road residents, but he said lack of money is the problem. He said this is the first time in 30 years the city has not been able to grade the road.

That's objective of striking workers

Four-day work week

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers union hopes to lay the foundation for a four-day industrial work week in its strike against Ford Motor Co. That drive, if successful, could have profound impact on the lives of millions of U.S. workers in the next decade.

The UAW, historically a contract trend-setter for American labor, has made "reduced worktime" its top bargaining goal in 1976. The goal is to offset dwindling auto industry employment.

Reduced worktime, union officials concede, is a catch phrase for cutting the 40-hour work week. Ultimately they are looking for a 32-hour work week with the same pay, if not this year then in future contract negotiations. If the UAW secures that objective for its members, other blue collar unions are sure to follow.

The reduced worktime demand is among several economic issues that triggered the nationwide walkout against Ford at midnight last Tuesday. Negotiators for both sides return to the bargaining table Monday for the first formal talks since the strike closed 102 Ford plants in 22 states. The negotiators met several times last week on an informal basis, but no one would say what was discussed.

Issues to be resolved before a new three-year contract is signed include wages, health care payments and pensions. But the reduced worktime demand is the only issue that involves a fundamental social principle: Should business assume responsibility for creating new jobs to curb mounting unemployment.

It also is the only issue that could sustain a long strike. Disagreements on the other issues involve money. Settlements in these areas, both sides concede, will follow the traditional bargaining process.

The UAW established reduced worktime as its primary objective in response to massive layoffs during the car industry's 1974-75 slump. Moreover, the auto makers have permanently cut their workforces even though production is returning to record levels.

By forcing the companies to give workers more time off, the union reasons, new job opportunities will be created for people hired to replace those taking a day off.

UAW President Leonard Woodcock has said that economic projection indicate auto production will increase twice as fast as industry employment during the rest of this century. That trend will occur in other industries as well, he said.

"We either have to adopt a full-employment economy based on a 40-hour week, or we must reduce the 40-hour week to provide job opportunities for additional millions coming into the workforce," he said in a recent interview.

"If we don't, this democracy is going to be under a tremendous strain," he said, noting that high unemployment, particularly among young people, is behind a sharp rise in crime in cities like Detroit.

UAW Vice President Douglas Fraser has said that the union is looking down the road toward the four-day work week.

"That's where we're headed," he said. "We can't do it in one full swoop, but we can establish the principle ... One thing that is sure, though. We will not have a settlement this year without a reduction in worktime."

Rains visit area again

The rains came tumbling down in Big Spring Saturday.

Residents on the east side of town reported a healthy 2.1 inches of the wet stuff, while just south of town, H. Boyce Hale registered 1.5 inches. According to Hale's measurements, four inches of rain have fallen in September alone.

In Coahoma, Rodney Tiller reported 1.99 inches and still drizzling late Saturday afternoon. Reports from Noble Kennemer in Lomax showed 1.5 inches had fallen.

John T. Couch, Luther, reported .9 inches of precipitation since early morning Saturday.

Though a slow and steady drizzle fell most of the day in the area around Lakes Spence and Thomas, no noticeable rise in the level of the lakes was measured.

Gonzell Hogg has first bale

The year's first bale of cotton to be ginned in Dawson County was delivered to the courthouse lawn 2:45 p.m. Saturday.

The grower was Gonzell Hogg who farms east of Lamesa in the Midway area. The bale of SP-21 cotton weighed 490 pounds.

Harvesting began at noon Friday and continued until the rain began to fall that afternoon. Fifteen acres of the early-maturing cotton, planted May 4, were picked to come up with the bale.

The bale was ginned at the Midway Gin owned by Pete Buchanan. Hogg will receive $250 in premiums from the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce at a special presentation Monday morning.

If Webb AFB is closed

Facility promised city

By TROY BRYANT

FORT WORTH — Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe said Friday that if Webb AFB is closed, he would locate some kind of state facility in Big Spring to help soften the economic impact.

Briscoe, in an exclusive interview at a reception hosted for 30th District delegates, said:

"I hope the federal government doesn't close Webb. It would have a tremendous impact on the Big Spring area.

"But if Webb is closed, I want to put a state agency in there. It would only partially offset the loss, but it would help."

Gov. Briscoe mentioned that the unnamed agency would mean about 300 more jobs for Big Spring. The loss of Webb would directly affect over 3,000 jobs.

Briscoe met with 30th District delegates for an hour Friday afternoon, prior to making the keynote address before the full convention Friday night.

The reception was hosted by state committeeman Charles Stenholm and State Committeewoman Mrs. Marguerite Snyder, both representing the 30th District.

Something going all week long

Fast start for county fair

The Howard County Fair will officially open at 6 p.m. Monday with activities scheduled all week along at the Fair Grounds.

Activities will include a variety of exhibits each day, the Shrine Circus on Monday and also the Barrow Show on that opening day.

Grounds will be open daily after Monday from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. with a carnival nearby each day and night.

On Tuesday, there will be an Old Fiddlers Contest, the Barrow Sale and the Rabbit Show.

The Tejas Cowbells Beef Cutting Demonstration will take place at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

On Thursday and Friday nights at 7 p.m., there will be tractor pulls in the Rodeo Arena starting at 7 p.m. There is also a pet show on Friday night.

Other Friday events include the annual farm tour followed by the Chamber of Commerce Agri-Business Barbecue at the Fair Barns honoring all county farm and ranch families. Mrs. Steve (Linda) Dick, Bill Read, Hamlin Elrod, Jerry Roman, Mrs. Dorothy Garrett, Mrs. Dale (Billie) Smith, Mrs. Joe Mac (LaVerne) Gaskins, Jimmy Taylor, Jerry Hall, Mrs. Gary (Ann) Turner, Mrs. W. R. (Geraldine) Posey, Lloyd Underwood, Johnie Walker.

This event is traditionally sponsored by local business men.

On Saturday, there is a horse show all day and on Saturday at 4:30 p.m. and again at 7:30 p.m., the Howard County Roping will be held in the rodeo arena.

Skipper Driver, general superintendent and Arnold Marshall, in charge of commercial exhibits have put together a topnotch fair for Big Springers, persons in the rural area and visitors from out of town.

Things will be busy the entire week, starting at 6 p.m. Monday.

SATURDAY — Shorthorn Association Show 9 a.m.; Youth Horse Show 9:30 a.m.; County Roping 4:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Carnival and Exhibits each day.

Two divvy up prize

When Nell R. Rogers of 505 Union St., received Friday's edition of The Herald, she got into her car and drove around town hunting for the solution to the paper's great puzzle contest.

She thought first the piece of the puzzle offered as the initial clue was a part of the fire drill tower located immediately south of the YMCA building.

It didn't match, so Nell drove east until she hit the Howard College campus. She steered the vehicle onto the stadium parking lot and there matched the clue with the lower part of one of the ticket booths.

Perhaps the time of day helped. The shadows had to fall just right and luck was smiling on Ms. Rogers. Her sharp eyes earned her a share of the $100 prize. The puzzle had been in the paper only one day.

As it turned out, Ms. Rogers has to share the prize with Eugene Bryant of Gail Rte., who also correctly identified the puzzle piece. Each winner will get $50, since Bryant is also a Herald subscriber.

When a Herald reporter notified her of her victory, it didn't surprise her.

"I knew I had won Friday," she said.

Ms. Rogers, who works in the civilian payroll department at Webb AFB, said her mother, Rosa Harris, and her sister, Ruthie Elsberry, were sure they had figured out the solution to last week's puzzle. They decided it was a lake on an area farm. (It turned out to be the rose garden in Comanche Trail Park).

Ms. Rogers, who has two children, says she will have no trouble finding a place to spend the money. It's the first prize of any consequence she's ever won.

The third Great Puzzle Contest will be started in the Herald Monday. If the person or persons who solve it are subscribers to the Herald, the prize amounts to $100. Non-subscribers will earn $50.

Any way you care to look at it, it pays to be a subscriber to the Herald — and that is very true even if you never win anything.

Zest for living

With Tommy Hart

The former Betty Bob Diltz, who grew to maturity here with great appreciation for the arts, has served as publicity director for Fort Worth's Casa Manana the past several years.

Betty Bob has been married to Ernest Buckley for 30 years now. Buckley earned his Ph.D. in Engineering and shortly will establish residence in Stillwater where he becomes a professor, teaching in the School of Technology and Graduate School of Engineering at Oklahoma State University. He formerly was on the UT at Arlington faculty.

The Buckleys thus become a two-resident family, since they do not intend to abandon their digs in Fort Worth (where they've lived for 19 years in one house). Betty Bob likely will continue her affiliation with Casa Manana and plans to coordinate a ten-week course called "Rap with the Writers" at TCU starting this week.

Betty and Ernest are the parents of Betty Lynn Buckley, who clicked on Broadway and who made a movie entitled "Carrie" due on American screens in October. Betty Lynn also cuts TV commercials which run nationally.

There are also three boys born to the union — twins Patrick and Michael, now 25, who both have their Masters in Civil Engineering, and Norman, 20, the only child still at home. Norman is attending UTA, majoring in History.

Betty Bob has maintained her zest for getting involved in projects which might cause others to limp to the sidelines. One thing about Betty Bob, she's never been bored.

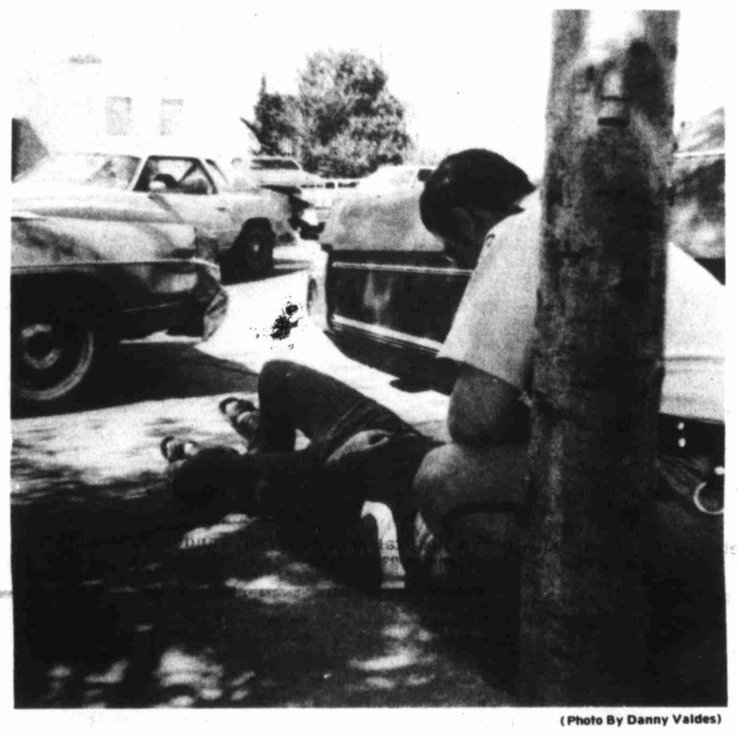

Those two good-will ambassadors from Big Spring, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Hitt (he's the former VA chaplain), have been asked to lead services at Town Hall in Tin Cup, Colo., again next summer. The Hitts spent a lot of time renovating the facility this year.

HEAD INJURIES — Nasri Parvix, airman at Webb AFB, receives help from Officer Dusty Choate after suffering minor head injuries in a two-car collision at the intersection of Tenth and Scurry, around 3 p.m. Friday. The driver of the other auto was Dorothea McCartney Turner, 2901 Lawrence. Parviz was taken to Webb AFB Hospital where he was treated and released.

800 million Chinese pay homage to Mao

TOKYO (AP) — China's 800 million people paused for three minutes Saturday to pay a final farewell to Mao Tse-tung. In Peking, one million persons gathered in Tien An Men square, where Mao declared the People's Republic nearly 30 years ago, and bowed to a 50-foot-high portrait of the chairman.

Premier Hua Kuo-feng eulogized the chairman and appealed to the workers, peasants and soldiers assembled in neat formations for unity, self-reliance and "a greater contribution to humanity."

Hua's plea for unity again hinted at the power struggle over who will succeed the "Great Helmsman," who died Sept. 9 at the age of 82.

Foreigners in Peking were confined to their residences or hotels from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and no foreign dignitaries were invited to the rally.

At the start of the 30-minute nationally broadcast ceremony, all Chinese were directed to stand at attention for three minutes of silent mourning. Arrangements had been made for workers at communes and factories to listen to the broadcast.

At the end of the service, the assembled party leaders and the crowd bowed three times to the huge portrait of Mao and a band played "The East is Red."

Mao's widow, Politburo member Chiang Ching, was dressed in black but the others massed in the square wore blue tunics, green military uniforms and white workers' garb.

All recreational activities have been banned in China for the past 10 days. In the seven days of official mourning, the official Hsinhua news agency said more than 300,000 persons filed past Mao's body, lying in state in Peking's Great Hall of the People.

There has been no word of plans for burying or cremating the Communist party chairman, but Japanese reports from Peking have said cremation is required for party members.

Most of Hua's 20-minute speech was devoted to a review of Mao's revolutionary career, starting with escape from encirclement by Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Chinese troops in the 8,000-mile "Long March," "defeating Japanese imperialism" and "wiping out 8 million troops of the Chiang Kai-shek gang." Hua mentioned Mao's leadership "in victoriously waging the war to resist U.S. aggression and aid Korea (and) triumphantly repulsing the armed provocations against our country by Sovet revisionist social-imperialism and reaction."

He said the history of China's Communist party is one of struggles between Mao's line and "right and left opportunist lines" — a struggle that continues in the jockeying for succession to the chairmanship.

Hua called for continued criticism of former Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping, ousted as a capitalist roader and a symbol of the moderate group of Chinese leaders. Opposed to the moderates are hardline Maoists who insist on all-out struggle against even the sligh 'st capitalist influence.

Fresno newsmen are freed from jail

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Twenty-one months of refusal by four Fresno Bee newsmen to judicial demands that they reveal a source ended with both sides preserving what they saw as their honor.

The newsmen said they "maintained the integrity of our source" as a matter of professional ethics. And the judges preserved their contention that protecting confidential sources is unlawful, at least in California, when a judge wants to learn how a gag order was broken.

"We all want to leave this case with honor," said the newsmen's attorney, Philip Fullerton, shortly before Friday's hearing that culminated the clash. "Leaving the case with honor is what we're all fighting about now."

"I'm tired," Superior Court Judge Hollis Best conceded before retiring to deliberate evidence which indicated the newsmen never would tell who gave them a sealed grand jury transcript.

A half-hour later, Best ruled the newsmen didn't have to spend another five days in jail on top of 15-day coercive sentences they were serving to force disclosure.

"We were treated with great courtesy by the judge," Bee ombudsman James Bort said after he and the three others were set free. "As far as the result, we have maintained the integrity of our source. That is of prime importance to us."

Landmark decision revealed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A state Supreme Court decision banning minority quotas in the graduate schools of California's state university system has angered civil rights leaders and may provide a final judicial test for so-called reverse discrimination.

The California Supreme Court ruling applies to the nation's largest state system of higher education and represents another opportunity for the U.S. Supreme Court to rule on the reverse discrimination issue.

"I look upon this as part of the ever-increasing syndrome of judicial arrogance," Nathaniel Colley, regional general counsel for the NAACP in nine Western states, said of the state court ruling.

Colley said the decision amounted to hammering "the shield of the 14th Amendment into a sword to be used against black people" and that the NAACP would join in any appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The California Supreme Court cited 14th Amendment guarantees of equal opportunity in its ruling last Thursday that special admissions programs for minorities in the University of California system are unconstitutional. Such programs often specify that blacks or other minorities be allowed a certain number of places in schools or be hired to fill a certain number of jobs before nonminority persons can considered. Thus the term "reverse discrimination."

The California Supreme Court decision applies to all schools in the California system with limited admissions, such as those producing doctors, lawyers and other professionals.

Donald L. Reidhaar, general counsel for the University of California regents, said the decision probably would be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Deaths

Annie Howard

Mrs. E. C. (Annie Ray) Howard, 78, died 4:35 p.m. Saturday in a local hospital following an extended illness. Services will be held 3 p.m. Monday at the First United Methodist Church. Burial will be in Mount Olive Memorial Park.

Mrs. Howard was born Nov. 23, 1897 in Hines County, Miss. She moved to Howard County in 1906, and married E. C. Howard Jan. 28, 1915 in Big Spring. She was a member of the First United Methodist Church, the Order of the Eastern Star-Chapter 67, the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge 153 and the Modern Women's Forum.

Survivors include her husband; two sons, Bill Howard, John Howard, both of Big Spring; four daughters, Mrs. Geraldine Parrish, Big Spring, Mrs. Maxine Roberts, Westfield, Mass., Mrs. Carl (Joyce) Bradley, Big Spring, Mrs. Doug (Delores) Bash, Lancaster, Ohio; two brothers, C. C. Wise, Midland, Lester Wise, Big Spring; a sister, Mrs. Myrtie Martin, Big Spring; four grandchildren; four great-grandchildren; and a number of nieces and nephews.

Police beat — Thugs find money

Intruders hit the Premium Service Station, 1603 E. 3rd, sometimes Saturday night, and made off with $100 in cash.

According to reports, entry was gained through an open window on the northwest end of the building. The cash had been stored in a blue bank bag inside the station.

A Webb airman reported malicious damage to his car around 7:30 a.m. Saturday. According to the report, the airman's car was parked in an alley on the 1800 block of Johnson. Parked in front of his car was a grey Chevrolet owned by a woman who lived on Johnson.

The woman and the airman got into an argument, and the woman climbed into her car and backed into the airman's auto four times, causing $300 worth of damage. Officers are investigating the incident.

Tim Daniel, 1614 Cardinal, reported that someone threw a rock through the windshield of his car while he was driving along West Sixteenth, near the National Guard Armory. The incident, which occurred around 8:30 p.m. Friday, caused $150 in damages.

Larry Chapman, 1309 Gregg, also had his car's windshield broken, some time between 10 p.m. and midnight Friday. This time the culprit used a beer bottle, causing $135 in damages.

Pascal Moore, 205 N.W. 12th, reported a burglary which occurred sometime between Wednesday and Friday. The thugs pried the hasp from the front door of the home, stealing an assortment of sheets and pillow cases. Value of the items has not been estimated.

Six juveniles were reported as either missing or having run away from home Friday night. One young couple was suspected to be heading to Mexico to get married.

Three Big Springers suffered minor injuries in auto accidents Friday.

Nasri Parviz, Webb AFB, was treated and released from Webb AFB Hospital following the collision of his car with a car driven by Dorothea McCartney Turner, 2901 Lawrence. The accident occurred at the intersection of Tenth and Scurry around 3:09 p.m. Friday.

Jeananne B. Gafford, and her son Kelly, 107 Canyon, were treated and release from Malone-Hogan Hospital following the collision of her car with a car driven by J. L. Gilbreath, 1703 Meadow. The accident occurred at the intersection of Third and Galveston, 3:18 p.m. Friday. Gilbreath was questioned in connection with the wreck.

Ten mishaps were reported over the weekend.

Cars driven by Earl G. Griffin, O.K. Trailer Court, and Peggy Vaughn (parked), 2502 Cheyenne, collided in the parking lot of the Gibson's Store, 11:45 a.m. Friday.

A car driven by Roger Dale Peacock, Route 2, collided with a telephone pole at the corner of Fourth and Gregg, 12:34 p.m. Friday.

Cars driven by Linfa McVae, 1002 N. Main No. 6, and Francisco Escobedo, 1002 N. Main No. 45, collided at Tenth and N. Aylford, 3:34 p.m. Friday.

Cars driven by James Lonidier, 538 Westover, and Jimmy Snow, Denison, collided at West Third and Aylford, 11:25 p.m. Friday.

A car driven by Elroy Williams, Webb AFB, struck a utility pole at 1500 Harding, 3:51 a.m. Saturday.

A parked car belonging to Michael John Mullins, 507 E. 15th, was struck by a hit and run driver at his home 2:48 p.m. Friday.

Cars driven by Eileen W. Conley, 211A Hunter, and Carroll B. Melton, Sands Motel, collided at the 300 block of Main, 11:40 a.m. Saturday.

Cars driven by Gloria Ochotorena, 3706 Caroline, and Arnando Reyes, 3621 Calvin, collided at the 1900 block of Wasson, 12:13 a.m. Saturday.

A parked car belonging to Ismael Solis, 1403 Mesa, was struck by a hit and run driver, 1:25 a.m. Saturday at his home.

Juvenile arsonists set fire to a T&P Railway caboose, causing $15,000 damage.

Two juveniles were in custody Saturday night in connection with the incident. Officer James Van Ness arrested the two boys following a report of fire and possible arson at the railroad yard near Track Three.

According to reports, the boys were spotted by railroad officials at around 11:45 a.m. Saturday, and then again after the fire had started at around noon.

Van Ness states that five boys hid in a vacant lot behind the Wyoming Hotel, and fled when they spied the officer. All were arrested, but three were later released.

Police speculate that the blaze was started with flares found near the caboose.

Shirley Hemingway, Garvin, Okla., reported the theft of a variety of women's clothing from her room at the Westward Ho Motel, sometime late Friday night. Loss was estimated at $190. No point of forced entry into the room was found.

Those who took issue with me when I wondered if those Legionnaires who booed when Gov. Jimmy Carter expressed his views on amnesty for draft dodgers of the Vietnam unpleasantness also rose to their feet in protest when Gerald Ford pardoned Richard Nixon for conduct unbecoming a president might have missed my point.

The jury will be out against Mr. Nixon long after I am in no position to judge. Let it be said that historians even now are not treating a martyr like John Kennedy too kindly.

My criticism in the cause celebre was reserved for the double standard of justice so evident in this nation's system of jurisprudence. One poor soul can play rock hockey for 20 years for a crime for which another person can go free. If you stand before the bar of justice without money to pay counsel or political clout, the deck is stacked against you.

A lot of tax payers should have it as good as some of the San Francisco school teachers who are being asked to take early retirement.

At 55, the teachers can call it a career early and work 20 days a year as consultants at $200 a day. In case you never paid attention to your math teacher in school, that figures out to $4,000 per annum.

In San Francisco, a teacher with ten years experience can retire at 55 with a pension of 14 per cent of his or her salary — six per cent less than at age 65. With 20 years experience, a teacher takes a 12 per cent reduction for retiring at 55 rather than at 60.

One wonders where all the money is coming from.

Baum says he knew a frustrated office secretary who once stormed up to him and said: "I've taken all the criticism of my work I'm going to take. How do you spell, 'quit'?"

You can change the dates of the annual Howard County Fair but you can't fool Mother Nature.

When the inaugural Howard County Fair was staged here in 1973, heavy rains fell throughout the area the week preceding the show and the roads around the fair site were hard to travel.

In 1974, as much as 6.1 inches of moisture fell in and around Big Spring a couple of days prior to the opening of the fair. The roads again became a quagmire.

Last year, heavy downpours occurred on Sept. 12, three days prior to the opening of the fair and heavy mud in the thoroughfares resulted.

Now the rains have come again, 48 hours before the 1976 fair is to open. Jupiter Pluvius, have you got a row boat?

The Rev. Delton Fisher, pastor of Grace United Methodist Church in Abilene, will officiate. Burial will be in Bethel Cemetery.

Born Jan. 16, 1919, at Albany, he moved with his parents to Lueders when he was 7. He was reared in Lueders and married Millie Spitzer Sept. 3, 1939, in Lueders. They had lived in Lueders since their marriage.

Mr. Wills was a farmer and rancher. He served 18 months with the U.S. Army in World War II.

Survivors include his widow, a son, Jim Casey of Snyder; five daughters, Mrs. Bill (Fay) Stovall of Abilene, Mrs. Gayland (Lyndia) Carter of Arlington, Mrs. William (Kathy) Arno of Conroe, Mrs. Gary (Sherie) Six of Arlington and Laurie Wills of the home; two brothers, Floyd Wills of Paris and Willie E. Wills of Lueders; two sisters, Mrs. Morris Commons of Anson and Eunice Graham of Monahans; and five grandchildren.

Woman is ax victim

By The Associated Press

A brutal ax murder in Bay City was the most grim statistic in Texas over the weekend.

The Associated Press count of violent deaths stood at seven early Saturday. Four of those were in traffic.

In Bay City, police looked for a man they said hacked Mrs. Eunice Shivers Lowe, 55, to death with a pickax Friday night. The body was found in a utility room at a bus station.

In other violence:

Austin police said that Dennis Henson, 29, died in a capital city hospital Friday night following an auto-bicycle accident. Officers also reported that a two-car collision at an Austin intersection early Saturday morning claimed the life of Earl Jarmon, 36.

A 13-year-old Waco girl died early Saturday after her windpipe was crushed in a freak accident, authorities said. Dee Anna Yoes, attending a church party at a Waco YMCA, was playing with barbells in a weight-lifting room ," officials said, when she apparently tried to lift a weight, but the bar fell onto her neck, crushing her windpipe.

A Dallas police officer shot and killed a rape suspect early Saturday, a police spokesman said. The spokesman said a 27-year-old man was dead on arrival at a hospital after suffering a gunshot wound in the chest. Police withheld the man's identity. The man was allegedly raping and choking a 23-year-old woman and refused to stop before officer Ronald H. Cawthon, 38, shot him once, the spokesman said.

A 19-year-old Martindale man died Friday night following a two-car, head-on collision, officers said. Robert A. Villanueva died in Austin's Breckenridge Hospital several hours after the accident. The mishap, which occurred on Texas 80 about two miles south of San Marcos, also injured a student at Southwest Texas State University, authorities reported.

Probated term handed

Probation was granted two men pleading guilty in 118th District Court Thursday afternoon.

Oscar Floyd Wharton, 50, Box 131 Hilltop Road, pleaded guilty to the July 30 theft of a 1972 pickup belongint to Ivan D. Amsberry. He was placed on probation for 10 years.

Juanito Gutierrez, 22, of a local hotel was given five years of probation for carrying a shotgun with a short barrel.

Every woman has definite ideas about what she wants her kitchen to be. Perhaps your present kitchen is right for you. If so, don't change it. On the other hand, if your kitchen is old hat, and you want to do more than just cooking in it, do something about changing it to suit your needs. If family and friends congregate here, then what you really need is a social center. You may want to have a room with easy chairs, TV, telephone, study spot, toy corner. Food fixing then would be but one among many functions in this live-in action room! Plan for yourself — and today! Not for the way your mother cooked.

LAWMAKERS LINE UP SOLIDLY FOR BIG SPRING AND WEBB AFB — Four of the most prestigious lawmakers in the U.S. Congress rallied to Big Spring's and Webb AFB's cause in environmental impact hearings held the past week in Washington, D.C. A local delegation attended the hearings conducted by the Air Force, which is considering plans to close the local facilities. Pictured from the left here are Cong. George Mahon, head of the House Appropriations Committee; Sen. John Tower (R—Tex.), who scolded the Air Force for its shortsightedness; Cong. Omar Burleson, who represented the Big Spring district in Congress; and Sen. Lloyd Bentsen (D-Tex.), who has been working for months to keep the local base open.

Final decision up to Sec. Reed

Delegation didn't watch clock

(Herald Publisher J. Tom Graham went with other members of the Legislative Action Committee to Washington for three days last week to discuss the draft environmental impact statement for Webb AFB with the Air Force and with Texas senators and congressmen. A series of articles on the impact statement begins today in the Publisher's Corner on Page 4-A. The following story is an overview of the delegation's trip.)

By J. TOM GRAHAM

WASHINGTON — Rain fell much of the time the Big Spring delegation was in Washington.

The radar at National Airport was out, backing up the planes. Their luggage missed a close flight connection.

But none of this was a problem to the four Big Spring and two Odessa residents making the trip.

The problem was working on a strategy which would give the best chance of saving Webb, and to that goal was aimed every waking hour from 7 a.m. to after 1 a.m. all three days.

SEN. JOHN Tower's aide for military affairs, Will Ball, served to coordinate the delegation's efforts. The senator himself spent almost four hours with the group on three different occasions, and Ball devoted more than a day of effort to the task.

The delegation, headed by Big Spring Mayor Wade Choate, met with Ball Tuesday evening after arriving in Washington, and plans for Wednesday were ironed out.

Wednesday began with a long meeting in Sen. Tower's office. The senator repeated his commitment to saving Webb, saying that it was not just a matter of constituents in Big Spring but friends.

The senator's determination and guarded optimism buoyed the spirits of the delegation, which also included KBST Radio owner Winston Wrinkle and attorney Ben Bancroft of Big Spring and Richard Jensen of the Permian Basin Planning Council and Dean Allen Carey of the University of Texas at the Permian Basin, both of Odessa.

BALL THEN took the delegation to his assignment for the morning: The Senate subcommittee hearings on the closing of Richards-Gebaur AFB at Kansas City. The delegation had an opportunity to watch the Kansas City testimony and to listen to Secretary of the Air Force Thomas Reed also testify.

Secretary Reed is the man whom the Air Force says will make the final decision on the future of Webb. The Big Spring delegation had met with Secretary Reed during the spring trip to the nation's capital.

At Reed's side was Dr. Billy Welch, special assistant for environmental quality and the man who headed the Air Force team which met with the Big Spring delegation on Thursday.

Wednesday afternoon, the Air Force delivered the draft environmental impact statement to Sen. Tower's office, and the delegation began reading the large pile of paperwork.

LATER MEMBERS of the delegation met with Cong. Omar Burleson, who was having two crucial days on his estate tax bill before the House of Representatives.

Cong. Burleson discussed the format and timing of the Thursday meeting with the Air Force. He also said that he felt another mission could be found for Webb if time allows.

The Anson congressman also noted that President Ford's pledge personally to review the Webb situation before it would be closed still stands.

Jensen worked with Cong. George Mahon and Cong. Dick White, both of whom represent portions of the Midland-Odessa area, and their aides on plans for the Thursday meeting.

Wednesday night was spent talking strategy with congressional aides and reading the impact study. Dr. Carey, an economist, worked until 2:30 a.m. interpreting the study's economic impact figures.

Thursday morning was entirely spent with aides going over reaction to the impact study and planning the noon meeting with the Air Force, which was to be in the House Appropriations Committee Room of the Capitol.

After a quick typing and copying of notes and no time for lunch, the delegation's meeting with the Air Force began.

FOUR POWERFUL Texas lawmakers lined the head table, and each of them made statements before the Air Force began its briefing. They were Sen. Tower, Cong. Burleson, Cong. Mahon and Sen. Bentsen. Cong. Dick White came into the meeting later.

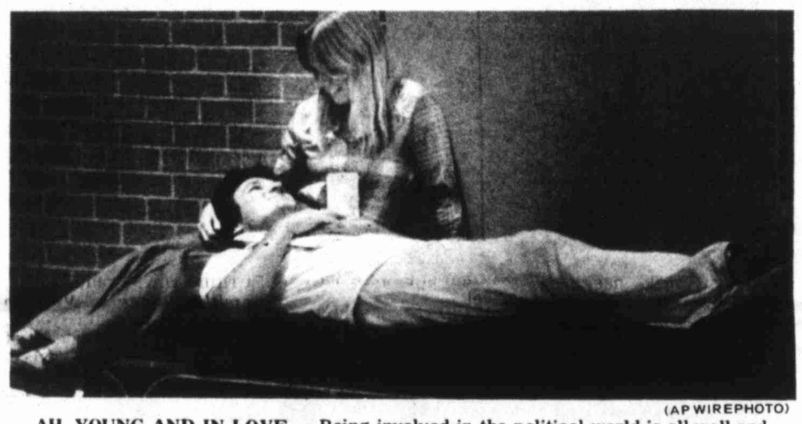

Mayor Choate read his letter to Secretary Reed, and the question and answer session began.

The Air Force officials, lead by Dr. Welch, insisted that no decision had been made and that Webb would receive an objective and fair evaluation along with other Air Training Command bases.

The Air Force officials basically answered questions by contending that the newly released environmental impact statement was only a working document aimed at beginning a dialogue.

The Big Spring delegation expressed its disappointment in the narrow scope of the alternatives considered and stated that the socio-economic impact portion of the study was so inadequate that it could only be considered a beginning, and a poor one at that.

After three and one-half hours, the meeting ended, and the Big Spring delegation headed home.

AH, YOUNG AND IN LOVE — Being involved in the political world is all well and good, but when the speeches get a bit long and when in love, it's nice to get away. Barbara Ellis and Fred Sutherland, both delegates to the State Democratic Convention from Lubbock, Texas, found their place to get away Friday night during the first night of the convention.

DeMille should be directing it

City folks in a hurry

FORT WORTH — Dear Boss:

I've now spent two days and nights here in Cowtown covering the 30th Senatorial District delegation to the Texas Democratic convention.

This is the greatest assignment you've ever given me.

It's even better than the time you suggested I float down Red River in an open boat in midwinter.

This town is unreal.

It's so big you wouldn't believe it.

They've got buildings bigger than Midland.

THE OTHER NIGHT, I got lost in the lobby of the motel.

You wouldn't believe downtown Cowtown at rush hour. It's the wildest thing you've ever seen. Thousands of people running in all different directions. They need Cecil B. DeMille to direct it.

And it's hard to get around in Fort Worth.

If the taxi drivers can't run down at least one pedestrian every trip, it makes them unhappy.

One delegate got on a bus the first day we arrived, and no one has seen him since.

And you have to watch out for the muggers.

I haven't been mugged yet. When I walked around last night, I turned my pocket inside out and wore a sign around my neck that said, "help me, my unemployment has run out and I can't get food stamps."

I get a lot of funny looks, but so far it's worked.

This is a very friendly town. Have you ever heard how rude Cowtown cowboys are?

Don't believe it.

The town is almost broke and the mayor and chamber of commerce "big-wigs" have made everyone promise to behave while the Democrats are here so they can improve their chances of getting a government loan.

They tell me even the muggers are saying "please" and "thank you."

Last night I went into a bar and everyone was holding hands and hugging and kissing.

They were all fellas, too.

The ladies are especially friendly. I'll bet at least four have stopped me near the convention center and told me they'd like to show me a good time.

It's a little expensive here, though.

A couple, who shall remain a secret, went to an expensive honky-tonk featuring dancing girls and it cost them $67 for food and stuff.

I've been eating in a motel restaurant, where a hamburger with no lettuce only costs $2.50.

As you know, I drink only non-alcoholic beverages. But even the soft drinks cost at least 50 cents and iced tea is 80 cents.

THOSE THAT DRINK stronger brews tell me that a beer can cost as much as $1.50 and a bourbon up to $2.50.

That's probably why you see so few drunks in Fort Worth.

Well, as we say in Cowtown, greetings to all you folks in Big Spring and Texas.

P.S.

Send money. I'm planning to take a fast look at Six Flags and even with a press pass I'm not sure I can afford it.

P.P.S.

They tell me the Democrats nominated Calvin Guest for chairman. If I can confirm that, I'll try to get around to writing a story about it. —WALT FINLEY.

Shaw, Brazel are named to state party posts

FORT WORTH — Two Howard County Democrats, Larry Shaw and D. A. Brazel, were elected to state Democratic Party committee posts Friday.

Shaw was named to represent the 30th District on the Platform Committee with no opposition.

Brazel was elected to serve on the Resolutions Committee from the 30th District. He defeated Steve Carriker, Jones County, by the vote of 85 3-7ths to 84 4-7ths.

Charles Stenholm, Stamford, was reelected State Committeeman with no opposition and Mrs. Marguerite Snyder, Baird, was renamed State Committeewoman without opposition.

Mrs. Pauline Penn, Wichita Falls, had earlier mounted a campaign to unseat Mrs. Snyder, but she withdrew Friday in a meeting with Howard County delegates.

Rojean Hicks, Nolan County, was elected to the Nominations Committee without opposition.

Larry Gillen, Wichita Falls, was named to the Rules Committee over Po Cabe, Clay County.

Calvin Gambill, Baylor County, was elected to the Canvassing Committee without opposition.

Dan Swindell, Wilbarger County, defeated Troy Bryant, Howard County, for the Credentials Committee post.

At the meeting, Stenholm announced that the district has raised 97 per cent of its quota for the state party. The quota was $11,700 and the amount raised is $11,409.

Stenholm said the 30th District, represented by the largest delegation of 179 delegates, also had the best percentage in the state.

Guest is returned to office

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Bryan businessman Calvin Guest overrode a raucous liberal challenge Saturday and retained the state chairmanship of the Texas Democratic Party.

Delegate survivors of night-long political revelry rejected the spirited bid of East Texas lawyer John Henry Tatum and rewarded Guest with a third two-year term.

The role call vote was 1,948 for Guest and 1,345 for Tatum.

The Guest victory was not totally unexpected. But the decisive margin was a surprise.

Guest, 53, a savings and loan executive, sought reelection on a campaign based largely on party unity and the unswerving support of Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

Briscoe, who hand-picked Guest as state chairman in 1972, spoke out passionately for Guest at a moderate-conservative caucus shortly before the climactic vote.

"If this party turns its back on Dolph Briscoe, it turns its back on itself and its own interest," said Jess Hay of Dallas, one of several to speak out against the minority report calling for Tatum's election.

Gaily decorated delegates, waving Guest and Tatum banners, occassionally shouted down attempts for quiet as convention officials sought to bring the issue to a vote.

One speaker observed wryly that with a close presidential election just several weeks away now is "a heck of a time" to dump Guest, co-chairman of presidential contender Jimmy Carter's Texas campaign.

Tatum, incidentally, was a "charter Carter" and an early coordinator of the former Georgia governor's campaign in Texas.

He had promised "a new day for Texas" if elected and said "we're going to have a party that's open to all Democrats."

Delegates were expected later to give swift approval of State Rep. Eddie Bernice Johnson of Dallas as party vice chairman. She was the choice of the black caucus.

The state's liberal faction won several new seats on the 62-member State Democratic Executive Committee and, according to some interpretations, seized the balance of power

One ousted member of the committee, a conservative, broke down the new delegation thusly: 15 conservatives, 10 moderates, the remainder liberals.

But for all practical purposes, the major show saturday was the Guest-Tatum battle.

Tatum, a Lufkin attorney, accused Guest of excluding certain factions from party affairs and charged repeatedly that he misused and mishandles party funds.

'Or face race war alone'

'Give power to blacks'

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger reportedly sent a message to Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith on Saturday: Rhodesia's white minority must agree to transfer power to the black majority by 1978 or face a possible race war alone.

The secretary also told South African Prime Minister John Vorster that Smith must give an answer this weekend, U.S. officials said, before Kissinger flies on to a second round of talks with leaders of black Africa to report on his efforts to avert racial war in southern Africa.

Vorster reportedly carried the ultimatum to Smith at nearby Johannesburg, where both were to attend an international rugby match, after a second session between Vorster and the secretary.

Kissinger has told Vorster that he will not meet with Smith unless their talk would be "the final element in reaching a satisfactory conclusion" to the Rhodesian dispute.

"I will see him if it helps move matters to a conclusion and only if some clear result is likely," Kissinger said.

But South African officials suggested that there will be at least one session between Kissinger and Smith here Sunday.

Prime Minister Ian Smith

The officials said it was possible that session could lead to a final, conclusive second round of talks later this week — a development that would require the secretary to return to Pretoria from scheduled second visits to Zambia and Tanzania. Kissinger is also set to stop in Zaire and Kenya before returning to Wshington via London.

While thousands of South African troops watched for trouble at Pretoria, anti-Kissinger demonstrations continued outside Johannesburg. In Cape Town, white civilians shot and killed one colored person — as those of mixed blood are officially called here — and wounded two others.

In Soweto and Alexandria, huge black townships bordering Johannesburg, students and other blacks demonstrated with signs labeling Kissinger a murderer and a Fascist, and warning, "Dr. Kissinger, get out of Anzania (South Africa) — Don't bring your disguised American oppression into Anzania."

Police fired on anti-Kissinger demonstrators in Soweto on Friday, killing six students and wounding 35, according to the Rand Daily Mail.

Many militant blacks are anti-American because they claim the United States supported Vorster's white government in the Angolan civil war and on other occasions.

Kissinger stressed American opposition to South Africa's policy of apartheid or racial separation in meetings with black and antigovernment leaders as well as American Embassy personnel.

In an address to 150 staff members at the U.S. Embassy, 30 of them black, Kissinger warned that "war between the races, if it once started, would have the profoundest implications for international stability on a global scale.

"As far as the United States is concerned, the concept of human dignity must have universal application," he said. "We cannot agree with any concept that's based on the separation of the races."

VA, hospital seeking homes for veterans

The Veterans Administration and the Big Spring VA Hospital have begun a search for families in the Big Spring area who are willing to open up their homes to allow one or more veterans to stay with them, according to John J. Clancy, Jr., out-patient social worker at the hospital.

Personal care homes, providing only basic room, board, and supervision, are needed for veterans whose average age is 50. The Veterans Administration sets the rates charged these veterans for room, board, laundry, and care.

Those veterans who are to be placed in the personal care homes are usually fully ambulatory and can get around by themselves. All medications are provided by the Veterans Administration, and if he should become ill, the veteran is admitted in the VA Hospital.

Sponsoring homes must meet physical criteria set by the VA, but ordinarily, the average home is more than adequate. All persons placed in these homes must be approved by the Big Spring VA Hospital.

Social workers will provide supervision and counseling to the sponsors and the veterans.

Sponsoring homes do not have to be licensed by the state as long as they meet VA standards and requirements and do not take patients except those sent by the hospital.

According to Clancy, there will be an immediate need of placement for veterans in October, and the VA would like a listing of potential Personal Care Homes so that veterans can be palced as the need arises.

For more information or to apply, please contact the Social Work Service at the VA Hospital, or call 263-7361, extension 232 or 308.

Battle over Webb now joined

During the following week, I hope to take parts of the draft environmental impact statement on Webb Air Force Base and write about them.

But the first question must be: How does Webb stand at this point?

The impact statement, released last Wednesday, did not suggest a miracle new life for Webb.

Neither did it nail the coffin shut.

ALTHOUGH I am sorry to not have better news for the citizens of Big Spring, I think that Webb's situation has not changed. Its chances are no better or worse than they have been.

One important thing has changed. The battle, instead of only being imminent, is now joined. Between now and at least the end of the year, it will be a struggle to the death for Webb's life.

We have going against us the fact that the Air Force has already announced Webb as a possible closing. The Air Force does not like to back off an announced closing, although it has on rare occasion done so.

We have going for us some of the most powerful congressional support any base could hope to have.

Sen. John Tower, long the Senate's strongest supporter of the military and ranking Republican on important armed forces committees, has made a total commitment to save Webb.

Cong. Omar Burleson, who represents Big Spring in Washington, has walked the halls of Congress for 33 years. Thus far this year, he has been uniformly successful in passing key legislation to Big Spring in the House of Representatives.

CONG. GEORGE MAHON, who was responsible for getting Webb at Big Spring and who began his political career here, is interested because his district, which includes Midland, will be strongly impacted by the closing of Webb. The effect of having last Thursday's meeting with the Air Force in the House Appropriations Committee Room at the Capitol could not have possibly been lost on the Air Force. Cong. Mahon, perhaps the fourth most powerful man in Washington as chairman of this committee which handles the money, told the Air Force it could do him a favor by deciding to keep Webb open.

Webb also has received strong support from Sen. Lloyd Bentsen and Cong. Dick White of El Paso, whose district which includes Odessa would be affected by any Webb closing.

Sen. Tower's words in last Thursday's meeting could not have been stronger in support of Webb, and anybody who saw his face and heard his tone of voice would have to believe that he means them.

What we must do in Big Spring is to help these congressmen and senators.

First, we must write them in thanks for their support.

SECOND, WE must follow through on the environmental impact process as actively as we can. I urge every citizen to write for a copy of the impact statement and to study it in finest detail.

Then send comments to the Air Force (see box) before the public comment period ends Nov. 8.

Although Webb's chances cannot be described as very good at this point, I do not believe we are yet out of the contest.

Sen. Tower thinks there remains a fair chance to save Webb, and he has made this effort one of his top priorities from this moment on.

We must make it ours.

— J. TOM GRAHAM

Silence on SALT

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Quiet anxiety among hard-liners over what course on SALT President Ford will take if he is elected has been heightened by his failure to answer personally a request from a Capitol Hill supporter for his thinking about arms control.

Rep. Jack Kemp of New York, a conservative upstate Republican and budding expert on defense questions, wrote Mr. Ford Aug. 16 following a personal exchange with the President a week earlier. In the letter, Kemp repeated what he had asked in person: "The question. . . of whether the issue of SALT transcends all other considerations of relations between the United States and the Soviet Union."

NO ANSWER was received from the President himself, and Kemp was not satisfied by an unresponsive reply this week from a senior presidential adviser. All this does not allay suspicion that Mr. Ford intends to negotiate a new SALT (strategic arms limitation talks) agreement on terms that congressional and Pentagon hard-liners consider too favorable to the Soviets.

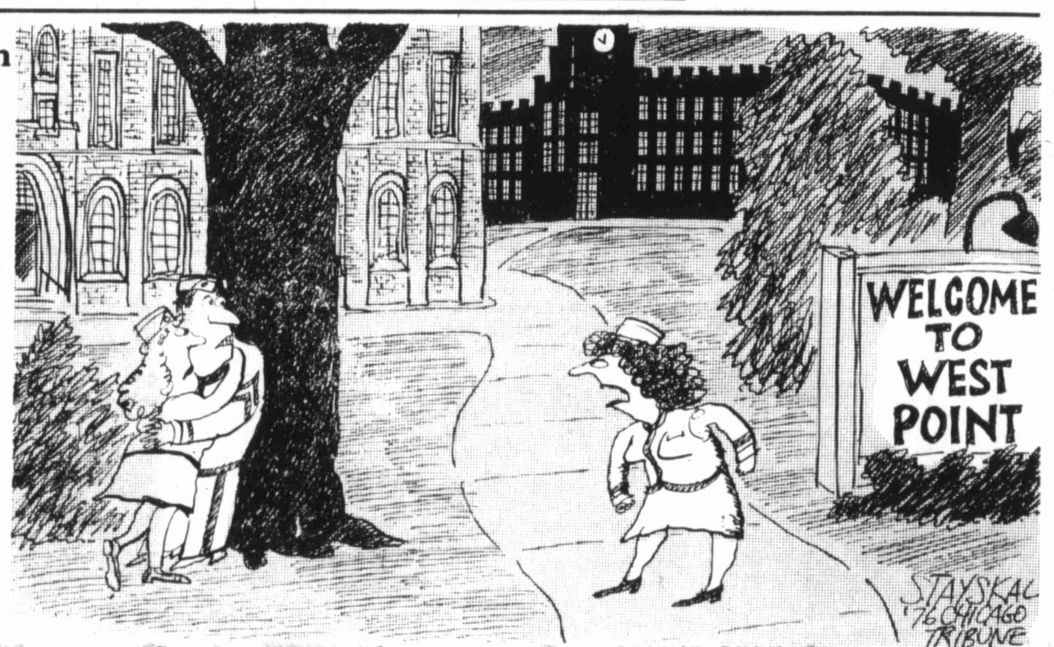

Indeed, fear has persisted that Mr. Ford and Secretary of State Kissinger would still try to squeeze out a SALT II agreement before the Nov. 2 election. That is now unlikely in the extreme, thanks to the time squeeze and the Kremlin's caution in dealing with a potential lameduck.

But if Mr. Ford is elected, there is no doubt of a post-election push for a treaty likely to contain a concession totally unacceptable to the hard-liners: virtual abandonment of U.S. cruise missiles. This apprehension is deepened by the probable departure of Dr. Fred Ikle, Arms Control Agency director who in his soft-spoken way has courageously fought against excessive concessions on SALT. Neither Mr. Ford nor Dr. Kissinger has been happy with Ikle's frequent dissents, and he will be gone after the election.

Like many other Republican critics of Kissinger's SALT policies, Kemp supports the President come what may and will serve as a Ford campaign "advocate." But less partisan hard-liners wonder whether Jimmy Carter, his position a mystery, can possibly be any worse on SALT than the Ford-Kissinger team. The President's nonresponse to Kemp only confirms those doubts.

THE FORD-KEMP dialog began the week before at the Republican national convention when the President dined privately at the Capital Hill Club with the Good Guys, an organization of conservative Republican Congressmen. All went smoothly until Jack Kemp rose during the question period.

Kemp questioned Kissinger's presence in Moscow seeking a SALT agreement while the Kremlin was financing Communist revolution in Angola.

"AND JUST WHO DO YOU THINK YOU'RE CHEATING ON NOW, RALPH?"

He plays with dolls, mom worries

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I don't know who to speak to about this. A few years ago I tried to speak to my pediatrician, but he said there was nothing to be done until the age of puberty.

I am very concerned. My nine-year-old boy always loved to play with dolls, and at times he still does. He has no interest in sports. He is the second oldest son and we have other children.

If he is headed in the wrong way, how would I know for sure? Could this be a hormone problem? — Worried Mom.

From where I sit I gather all the boy can be accused of is occasionally playing with dolls and having disinterest in sports. I take it you interpret that as an indication he is becoming effeminate.

Playing with dolls needn't be limited to little girls. Toymakers know little boys can be every bit as interested in dolls as are their sisters. Have you noticed the proliferation of soldier dolls? Nor does every little boy have to dream of becoming a sports hero.

Since we don't get excited about little girls wanting to play baseball I don't see any logic in getting excited about a little boy who doesn't.

I am not saying "feminine" traits should be encouraged in your boy. I just don't think it wise to make an issue out of what may be a mere passing phase. You could easily create a problem that doesn't exist.

A hormone problem can cause severe sexual problems. I think your pediatrician was correct in telling you that at puberty (when hormones establish male or female traits) the natural changes in his body should make him aware of his sexuality. If something were seriously amiss there would be other signs of it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been told recently that I have gout. Could you inform me, please, of some of the causes and effects? Also, some of my muscles are giving way, especially in my right arm. Could this be caused by the gout? Is it inherited? — Mrs. W.H.

Gout, as you know, is faulty elimination of uric acid from the system. As a consequence the level rises in the blood and eventually is deposited as crystals in a joint — classically in the great toe.

Faulty uric acid metabolism is usually inherited. It is estimated that about a fourth of the family members of gout victims will have elevated levels of uric acid. Of these, about a fifth will develop gout.

Other causes can be fasting, overeating or excessive drinking. Women are not troubled with this as much as men, but the problem can arise with obesity or after menopause. Injury, excessive use of a particular joint, medication (such as diuretics) can contribute to attacks.

I can't interpret your arm muscle problems, except that they might result from gouty arthritis occuring in the shoulder joint.

Gout tends to occur in attacks. A fuller discussion appears in my booklet, "Gout, The Modern Way to Stop It." Readers can get a copy by sending 35 cents to me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. There are effective medications to interrupt the uric acid build-up and thus the gout problem.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it best to serve hot or cold meals to children during hot weather? This is a argument in my family. — Mrs. F.T.

The only consideration would be the tastiness of the food. Hot food tends to be more flavorful and appetizing than cold. This may be one reason why some children tend to lose weight during summer months. And, except for the milk and pop guzzlers, some children also tend to get too little liquid during summer.

Another factor to consider is the cook, who must labor over a hot stove to prepare those tasty dishes.

But cold food is every bit as nutritious as hot.

Emphysema can be controlled. To learn how to live with this serious lung problem, write for a copy of Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "How to Control Emphysema," in care of the Big Spring Herald. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: How do you think people should dress when they go to church? I sometimes feel as though I am at a farmers' club instead of a church when I see people dress in jeans, t-shirts and unpressed slacks. — S.L.

DEAR S.L.: Worshippers must strike a balance in their appearance at church, they should show respect for God's house but they must not be ostentations. Peter warns against overdressing: "Whose adorning let it not be that outward adorning of plaiting the hair, and of wearing of gold, or of putting on of apparel; but let it be the hidden man of the heart" (I Peter 3:3, 4). On the other hand it is recognized that we should care about how we look when visiting a President or other dignitary, and we should surely be even more desirous of looking neat and clean when going into God's house.

The Bible likens the character of Christians to the dress they wear. We should remember that a slovenly dressed Christian is not presenting a true picture of the life that is clean, spotless and clothed in righteousness. Your appearance, as well as your character, can help to fulfill such verses as: "He hath clothed me with the garments of salvation, he hath covered me with the robe of righteousness" (Isaiah 61:10); "Thou has a few names even in Sardis which have not defiled their garments; and they shall walk with me in white" (Revelation 3:4). God likens the person you are to the clothes you wear; don't spoil the picture by your dress.

First, a difficult question from lithe Lisa Beard:

"What in the world is a redneck?"

The consensus of those around here who claim to be authorities say:

"THE MALE, among other things, wears tight faded jeans and western shirts, owns a pickup with gunrack, listens to country music on the radio, drinks Coors or Lone Star from 'longnecks,' dislikes uppity people, regards a CB radio as a status symbol second only to a Cadillac.

"Idolizes John Wayne and Willie Nelson, considers the ultimate vacation a trip to the Grand Ole Opry, enjoys honky-tonkin', is attracted to bumper stickers and women with beehive hair-dos and considers media people left-wing nuts."

"That seems to cover the subject rather well, good buddy," declares ex-Alpine cowboy Jay Sanders.

My priceless cousin, Price Everett, Bridgeport, is a very brave man. He sent me the worst pun I've ever heard (Bison Ten -ell sell ab ration) and I ran it and ignored the boos and hisses of those people who wished they had thought of it.

Well, now that both of his remaining friends are speaking to him again about one time out of three, he has come up with another. Don't say I didn't warn you — atrocious puns are habit-forming.

Russian pleistocentologists, working in the frozen northern steppes, have uncovered evidence of the diet of the long extinct woolly mammoth, especially the hitherto unknown specifics of what the very young animals ate.

IT COMES AS a complete surprise that man co-existed with the huge vegetarian creatures, but he did indeed. A legend set to primitive music and born out of scientific examination of long-frozen mammoth droppings, has survived.

The ditty, as now sung around the campfires in Siberia reveals:

"Mammoth Little Baby loves, shortnin', shortnin', mammoth little baby loves shortnin' B-R-R-E-E-A-A-D."

And now for a little poetry for M-e-r-r-y Jo:

The Bore At The Door
There is no excuse for the bore
Who puts his big foot in the door
And ask about the state of soul,
And wonders if my faith is whole.
What is there for me to say
Besides the impolite, "Go 'way"?
I usually stand there and mutter
Something dumb and utter, utter.

Ice Breakers had a couple of Joe Garagiola stories:

Joe described the Detroit Tigers' Alex Johnson as having a personality of a guy who could start a fight in an empty room. Johnson has the personality of a wrong number. When you say hello to him, you feel like the Internal Revenue Service is closing in.

JOE SWEARS he does not make up stories about Yogi Berra, such as his life-time friend Yogi refusing to ride on double-deck buses "because there's no driver up there."

Staff under fire

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — In a sizzling exchange, White House Deputy Staff Chief Jim Cavanaugh last week threatened to cut off Press Secretary Ron Nessen from sensitive presidential papers unless his staff was more careful with them.

Nessen responded heatedly: "The answer is not to cut off the information we need to do our job for the President; the answer is to have the President fire me and the rest of my staff this afternoon and build a new press office that you can trust."

CAVANAUGH WAS upset over the leak of some presidential briefing papers to The Chicago Sun Times. He dashed off a memo to Nessen, dated September 10, complaining about "finding copies of briefing papers for the President lying around the lower press office area."

Cavanaugh asked for Nessen's "thoughts on how future occurrences like this can be prevented" and demanded "the name of the person on your staff who you will hold accountable for the proper handling of these papers."

This was followed by the terse threat: "In the event of another occurrence, distribution of these papers to your office will be terminated, and you will be asked for recommendations on what disciplinary action should be considered for those involved."

Nessen fired back a memo the same day, declaring that his office "is far more careful of sensitive documents around reporters than most other . . . offices."

This was the "second time in recent weeks," he noted, that Cavanaugh had accused his staff "of leaking information to the press." There was "no evidence," contended Nessen, in either case.

"I resent this, Jim," bristled Nessen. "I'm not going to allow you to disparage or unfairly accuse members of my staff." He suggested that "if you seriously suspect my staff of what you have accused them of twice," the President should fire the whole lot.

Then he added emphatically: "Should the President not decide to fire the press office today, the answer to your question is: The person in the press office who can be held accountable in this and all other matters is named Ron Nessen."

Footnote: Despite the harsh language, Nessen told us that he and Cavanaugh are "the best of friends" and that they "work very closely together."

OIL BOONDOGGLE: Four powerful House members have appealed privately to the Ford administration to back off an $11.5 billion boondoggle for the oil and gas industry.

The administration supports a bill that would promote the development of synthetic fuels. Under its terms, the taxpayers would take all the risk, and the oil companies would reap all the profits.

In an urgent letter to Treasury Secretary William Simon, the four House members call the scheme a "sweetheart loan," which would enrich the oil and gas tycoons.

THE FOUR are Congressmen Ken Hechler, D.-W. Va., and John Dingell, D.-Mich., both subcommittee chairmen with jurisdiction over energy matters; also Congressmen Richard Ottinger, D.-N.Y., and Philip Hayes, D.-Ind., both science and energy experts.

The beneficiaries of the bill, according to the letter, would include such oil and gas giants as Gulf Oil, Pacific Lighting, Sunoco, Texas Eastern Transmission and Union Oil. Other official documents indicate that Ashland, Exxon and Shell would also derive benefits from the measure.

The bill would provide guaranteed loans and price supports for experimental synthetic fuel plants. Theoretically, the plants would provide research information for the government and the industry. But the four congressmen claim the real result would be a "windfall" for big companies, which would develop commercial rather than experimental plants.

THE TAXPAYERS, of course, would pick up virtually all the bills. Thus there would be almost no financial risk for the companies. But if the plants should ever produce a profit, the taxpayers would get none of it.

The House rejected a similar bill last December by a sounding 263-to-140 vote. But the crank-up costs have been reduced from $6 billion to $3.5 billion in loan guarantees, plus $500 million in price supports. This has made the bill more palatable, although the end cost will still be $11.5 billion.

Fifteen Iranians are honored at ritual

Graduation ceremonies for Security Assistance Training Program Class 76-11 were held in the base Chapel Monday.

Fifteen Iranian pilots were honored during the ceremony, with Air Cadet (AC) Gholamali Shirazi walking off with three awards. He received the Air Training Command Commander's Trophy, the Flying Training Award and the Academic Award.

Outstanding Graduate Letters went to Air Cadet Shirazi along with Air Cadets Mohammed R. Amini and Farzad Arianpoor.

Guest speaker at the graduation was B. Winston Wrinkle, president of Snider Corporation which owns KBST Radio Station. A local civic leader, he is a strong supporter for the improvement of Webb's facilities.

Other graduates were: Air Cadets Karamotollh Bozorgi, Mohammad S. Afshar, Faramarz Ariatabar, Mohammed Azimi, Hossein Dashtabadi, Seid J. Ebrahimi, Ebrahim N. Fahimi, Dawood Jamshidnejad, Ahmad Monsefi, Samad Naghdi, Mohammed E. Shahbakhti and Mohammed Reza E. Zarnejad.

Two graduates, Air Cadets Fahimi and Shahbakhti, will return to their homeland. Four will go to Laughlin AFB, Tex., for further training: Air Cadets Jamshidnejad, Monsefi, Naghdi and Zarnejad. The remainder will stay here for T-38 training.

$1,385 is given out

Webb AFB's suggestion program made awards of $1,385 to a number of people in the July-August period with the Air Force savings totaling $15,545.84 for their good ideas.

The largest award in August went to Diane Eyre of the Morale, Welfare and Recreation office. She got $145 for suggesting fees for pouring molds in the ceramics shop which resulted in tangible savings of $1,890.

Close behind was TSgt. Albert F. Tauber of Field Maintenance Squadron who received $137 for suggesting reuse of a cleaning solvent. Tangible savings of his idea was $1,650.

Those receiving $30 awards and their suggestions were: AIC Jaye M. Dankeas of Student Squadron for chock cables, TSgt. Joe M. Sabine of Field Maintenance for horizontal stablizer line clips, SSgt. Floyd H. Richardson of Organizational Maintenance for portable battery cart, and MSgt. Evaristo Contreras of Supply for use of plastic bags in lieu of paper bags.

Receiving $25 awards were: Capt. David E. Ambrose for logging required briefings, TSgt. Edgar H. Stolte Jr. of Field Maintenance for tool for J-85 engine and SSgt. Paul V. Brown of Hospital for storage for oral airways.

Certificates went to Capt. Daniel R. Kelly, SSgt. Stephen R. Shellenberger and Sgt. Ernest L. Soward.

Courses are concluded

Recent graduation ceremonies marked the end of the 12th Career Advancement Program (CAP) class at Webb AFB. The 19 graduates who completed the courses brought to a total of 339 airmen who have received the refresher training at the base, according to Verl I. Green, education services officer.

The CAP offers classes in English, reading, and math in 12-week courses. Paid for by the Veterans' Administration, the CAP classes are taught by Howard College at Big Spring in the Education Center.

The next series of CAP classes are scheduled to start Oct. 4.

Graduates of the June-September classes are as follows:

Civil Engineering Squadron — AIC Lehebron Farr and Airmen Vester Gross, Francis F. Lake, and Neil S. Schostag. Organizational Maintenance — SSgt. Gary L. Johnston, and Airmen Richard M. Gould and James E. Lemons. USAF Hospital — SSgt. Danny H. Walker, Sgt. Eon M. Agard, and Amn. Mark C. Steele. Air Base Group — Airmen Kenneth L. Haines, and Mario O. Reyes. Field Maintenance — AIC Mark C. Brown, and Amn. Robert C. Davis. Supply — Airmen Thomas C. Dillard Jr., and Charles F. Esters. Communicatons — Amn. Norman J. Leclerc.

Revenue, expenses both up

August results underlined the trend for the year — higher revenues and greater expenses — for the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Revenues of $564,745 for the month boosted the eight-month total to $4,264,719. Operating expenditures of $204,703 pushed the year's total through August to $1,524,130.

Energy and debt service costs were prime factors in higher expenditures. During August the amount of water billed was one-seventh of the year's total; the amount of energy expense was one-fifth of the total. One reason revenues have stayed ahead is that the district raised rates at the beginning of the year in anticipation of much heavier debt service requirements.

For eight months, energy costs stood at $776,382, up $211,593 or 38 per cent over the comparable period a year ago. Among other items adding to higher operating costs were maintenance labor up $13,000, general expense and administration up $15,000, general maintenance up $12,000, operation labor up $11,000.

The excess of revenue over operating costs amounted to $2,740,588 through August, up $402,000. The district transferred to the net revenue fund for debt service, indentured purposes, etc. $2,745,000.

Eight-month revenues showed $2,644,462 from cities, $1,554,624 from oil and industrial users, $57,605 from recreational facilities, and $8,026 from miscellaneous sources. Water billings for the eight months stood at 12,609,328,000 gallons, or 760 million gallons more than for the same period in 1975.

After commission named

Five lawsuits are filed

By SCOTT CARPENTER and JIM DAVIS
Harte Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — The Public Utilities Commission, which has just gained its full authority to operate, is already the subject of five lawsuits.

And the lawsuits involve a section of the utility commission law that was put in the bill at the last minute — to have radio telephone companies covered by the provisions of the bill. The radio telephones are the telephones that go in cars.

In four of the cases, the attorneys who brought the suit work for a law firm headed by James K. Presnal of Austin, a former state representative and brother of the chairman of the House Appropriations Committee. It was Presnal who put together the radio telephone owners association and got the House and Senate writers of the utility regulatory bill to include his clients.

"They never should have been included," Dr. Jack Hopper, economist for the consumer associations who pushed for adoption of utility regulation in Texas, said.

All five of the suits involve companies in the Houston area which stretches to Walker County.

Answer, Inc. of Houston is suing because the commission denied it a certificate to operate.

In the other four cases, all handled by Charles R. Hodges for James K. Presnal, Inc., Houston Mobilfone, Houston Radiophone Service and Radio Dispatch Inc. are suing to reverse a commission decision to let others compete with them.

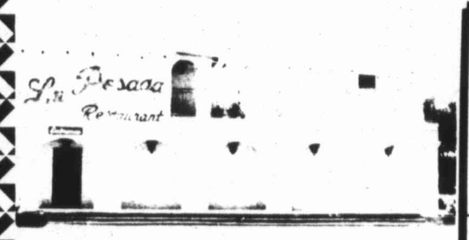

Utilities are granted monopoly status in areas to keep the public from having to pay the cost of duplicating facilities. In turn they are required to serve all who want the service.

Hopper argues that radio telephones shouldn't have been included because "you really aren't talking about duplicating facilities" other than a radio broadcast tower.

The radio telephones were not in the utility regulation bills originally introduced. Presnal visited with members of the House and Senate committees which were writing the regulatory bills and told them he was representing an association which wanted to be included.

Big Spring High School

Nominees for HC being selected

By JERRI DAVEY

Through years to come . . . and years gone by, theme of this year's homecoming, symbolizes the past and future years of the Big Spring Independent School District. This year is the district's Diamond Anniversary.

Clubs should start selecting their nominees for homecoming queen and preparing their floats. The picture of homecoming nominees should be turned into Mr. Fischer no later than Sept. 28, for them to be in that week's football program.

Student Council is preparing for the Howard County Fair. They are setting up a booth for the fourth straight year, publicizing the homecoming and helping exes with their memberships.

Class meetings will be held Sept. 20, at 3 p.m. Purpose of the meetings is the introduction of class offices and preparation of homecoming floats and other class participation. All classes and clubs have less than three weeks to have their floats ready. If students want their say in class activities, they must attend these meetings. The senior class will meet in the cafeteria, juniors will meet in Steer Gym, sophomores will meet in the P.E. gym, and freshmen will meet in the auditorium.

Students interested in applying for BASIC, (Big Spring Area Student Involvement Council) can pick up their application in the front office. BASIC is being organized by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce in order to provide high school students with an avenue of communication with the business community and a method of creating effective and meaningful public service programs. BASIC is composed of 30 high school students; 10 seniors, 10 juniors and 10 sophomores, two of the students elected will serve as voting members of the Chamber's Board of Directors.

Shorthand Club elections were made this past month. Officers are Lisa Fort, president; Dianna Cole, vice-president; Mariella Wise, secretary-treasurer. "The Scratch" officers are Denise Crenwelge and Gay Humphrey, editors; Marlene Jesizek and Lisa Loudamy associate editors. "The Scratch" is a book that the shorthand students publish.

Future Scientists of America had its second meeting last Tuesday. Howard Shivers, president, conducted the meeting. Plans were made to start an ecological survey of Moss Creek Lake. The FSA plans to go to Carlsbad and Sonora Caverns, McDonalds Observatory and other places during the year. The next meeting will be Sept. 21, at 3:30 in room 106. Anyone interested may come.

The Astronomy Club held its first meeting Sept. 14. Officers elected were Tammy Plew, president: Joe Granato, vice-president; Suzanna Williams, secretary; Maggie Gonzales, treasurer. All students interested in Astronomy can attend the next meeting Sept. 21 at 3:30 in room 106.

National Honor Society had a meeting Sept. 16 in the high school library. Plans were made for the fall induction ceremony. Speakers are Suzanne Smith, Steve Hughes, Emily Boyd, David Trim, Lyn Garner. The fall induction will be held Oct. 21, at 9:30 in the high school auditorium. All juniors and seniors are invited to come.

Key Clubbers are still selling student calendars for one dollar.

Scholarships revealed for 102 school students

A competition in which 102 high school seniors will share $116,500 in scholarships has been announced by the Natjonal Associaton of Secondary School Principals (NASSP).

The Century III Leaders Scholarship Program is the 1976-1977 successor to the Bicentennial Seniors Scholarships which were awarded to the class of 1976. Top national award will be a $10,000 college scholarship. Two winners from each state and the District of Columbia will get $1,000 scholarships, and the nine national finalists will receive an additional $500 scholarship.

The 102 state winners will participate in a four-day Century III Leaders meeting in Colonial Williamsburg, Va., in March, 1977, in which national education, business and government leaders will conduct seminars about current issues. At the completjon of the conference, the national winner will be selected.

Winners will be selected on the basis of performance in a specially-prepared current events examination conducted in each school; the student's participation in school and community activities; and a "Projection for Innovative Leadership". This projection must be a written statement of the student's ideas about how Americans can meet the nation's needs and challenges during its third century.

Owen B. Kiernan, executive secretary of NASSP, says the competition will begin at local participating high schools where one winner will be selected for a Certificate of Recognition and an opportunity to win a state scholarship.

Any graduating senior in an accredited public, private or parochial high school can enter the competition by submitting an application to the school principal before the deadline of Oct. 15, 1976.

Books arrive

By TAMMYE SPEARS

The seventh and eighth grade football teams played the Andrews Colts Thursday. The second pep rally of the year was Thursday noon for the eighth graders. The Pep Club was there to support the cheerleaders and the team.

Library Orientation classes are over for the seventh graders and the library is now open to all students.

Mrs. Mabel Beene, the librarian, also reports that students found one hundred sixteen new books in the library this week. These books have been processed since school started this fall.

The Library Club has planned to start sometime this week. The members of the club will mainly be library workers.

In the past week, a business class went to several places learning how business is transacted. One of the places was the Contemporary Designs Inc. Ice Division.

The choir director, Mrs. Jack Bowers, will be returning Monday. The choir members would like to thank Mrs. Tedesco, the substitute, for filling in while Mrs. Bowers was gone.

Volleyball team wins

By DANA DORN

There was not much activity taking place this past week, just a lot of studying.

The volleyball team opened the season with a victory over Garden City Monday night.

The Senior class had their portraits made Tuesday, September 14th. There are eight seniors in the class. They are Linda Anderson, Georgeann Smith, Dana Dorn, Bobby Matlock, Tonmy Whitesides, Jeff Beaird, Eddie Hale and John Mannings. Mr. Maxey Ware is the class sponsor.

Applications taken for Emergency Medical

Applications are now being taken for the new Emergency Medical Technology Program. The form can be picked up from Dr. Bobby Wright's office in the Horace Garrett Applied Science Building. Dr. Wright is the Dean of Occupational Education and coordinates this program.

Applications will be accepted until Thursday, September 23. Two classes will begin on September 29 and thereafter will meet on Monday-Wednesday schedule and one class will meet on Tuesday-Thursday schedule.

Each class is limited to 20 students and applications will be taken on a priority basis with those directly involved in emergency medical training receiving priority first. Those who apply and are not able to get in the first two classes this fall will be placed on the priority list for the class that will begin in February. Bob Harbin, instructor, explained the reason for the priority, "The funds for this program came from the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission and the thrust of this program is to first reach those who are presently directly involved in emergency care such as firemen, policemen, and other service groups."

Arrangements have been made through the Howard College scholarship program to pay the cost of tuition and fees for the first two classes' participants. Therefore, the only charge for the first two courses will be for books and supplies. All tuition and fees will be paid for the student.

Six hours of college credit will be granted for those who complete satisfactorily the 14-week course which includes 100 hours in the classroom, 52 hours in the hospital and 5 hours on emergency ambulance runs. The graduate of this course will take a certification test administered by the State of Texas which certifies one trained for emergency care of the seriously ill and injured person.

Dr. Carl Marcum is the physician advisor for this program.

Applications may be obtained at Howard College from Dr. Bobby Wright. He may be reached for additional information about this program by calling 267-6311, extension 70.

Goliad

Books on display

By HELEN HICKS

Books on our American heritage are on display in the library and may be checked out. There are also numerous magazines in the library which may be checked out by students or teachers. As a service to its users, the library has reduced the price of pencils to 5c and paper to 10c.

Thursday there will be a meeting of library aides to elect officers during the eighth grade advisory.

Happy Birthday to Mrs. Ann Campbell, Social Studies teacher, who celebrated her birthday Saturday. Belated birthday greetings go to Mrs. Marguerite Schwarzenbach and Mrs. Sue Smythe whose birthdays were earlier this month.

New students enrolled in Goliad Junior High School last week were Mary Ann Vise from Pecos, seventh grade, Angela Bass from Salt Lake City, Utah, eighth grade, and Joe Valdez from Floydada, seventh grade.

Goliad's band made its first appearance at the Maverick home game Thursday where the Mavericks stomped Coahoma in a 31 to 8 victory. The pep club also made their first appearance at the game. They will be supporting the Mavericks at all of their home games in their attractive black and white uniforms. Seventh graders also blanked their opponents in a 12-0 victory.

Stanton

Spirit girl identified

By DEEDEE ADKINS

A mystery person lurked through the halls in Stanton High School in the guise of an ordinary, every-day student the past week.

Then Thursday, Leticia Hernandez said the spirit password of the week: "Sack the Badgers!" and the game came to a quiet halt.

Leticia was presented with the spirit stick during Friday's pep rally.

The past week was the first time the spirit password game was played. It was suggested by Coach Thompson, then adapted and revised by the Stanton cheerleaders.

Spirit seems to be a major topic of conversation and has blossomed as a result of this. Our varsity Buffaloes contributed to the enthusiasm even during pep rallies, no longer donning the tough, sophisticated look that invariably comes out as a bored attitude. The Buffs and the student body stand united!

Homecoming will be next Friday. Nominees for queen are: Katherine Springer, senior; Laurabeth Pierce, junior; Natalie Mitchell, sophomore and Marcy Young, freshman. The queen will be announced during ceremonies Friday night at half time.

Juniors are selling Homecoming mums. Plain mums start at $5.50, double mums $12.50, child's mums, $3.75, and boutonniere, $1.50. The Junior class will also sponsor a supper before the game as they do before every home game.

Twelve girls dress up for FHA initiation

By LINDA SCHWARTZ

This week was a big highlight when the FHA had their annual initiation. Monday, the twelve girls who are joining dressed up in their Good Night outfits. Wearing their Dad's pajama tops stuffed into a pair of long john's was a site to see. Tuesday was the Wedding Day where half the girls dressed as brides in sheets and the other half dressed as grooms in old suits. Wednesday the girls dressed as Fat Ladies. Wearing their 3 big pillows stuffed under their stylish dresses, rolled down hose, spiked shoes, and a big hat was rather colorful all day. Thursday was Chinaman Day in which their attire consisted of a tow plate as a hat and boxes for shoes. After school on Thursday the FHA members went door to door to collect for UNICEF. The girls wanting to join the club had final initiation after collecting for the needy children.

The Student Council met on Tuesday to decide upon a movie title for the Thanksgiving Holidays. Projects of painting barrels for trash cans and a cleanup before homecoming were discussed.

The Jr. High hosted the Klondike football team in competition on Thursday night. The High School Football team traveled to Klondike on Friday evening.

The Pep Squad met on Friday also to gather ideas for a homecoming float. The members gave ideas for other activities that the Pep Squad could do at homecoming. Bearkat sons were drawn for. They also set up dates to work on the routine and the bonfire.

ELEMENTARY NEWS

On September 9th the Jr. High held a pep rally. Coach Light introduced the defense. Later that day the team traveled to Forsan and hit them hard but lost 32 to 0. Coach Light drilled the boys extra hard this week and plans to win next Thursday.

The Elementary School is getting new desks very soon. They wish to thank the school for ordering them.

The school put in new seats in the football bleachers. These will add to the fans comfort as they watch the Bearkats in action.

The paving of the Elementary is now completed. They now have smooth places to park the buses.

On September 13th a rattlesnake crawled in the school building to raise excitement but he was soon found and killed.

I wish to thank Staci Wilkerson, Colleen Covert and Mrs. Smith for helping me with the Elementary News this year.

Fall doldrums hit Forsan

By STEVE COWLEY

School life has now taken on all the signs of a peculiar situation I'll define loosely as the Early Fall Doldrums. These Doldrums are evidenced by the fact that there was not an overabundance of news this week.

Despite this, magazine sales are climbing steadily. Both the Junior and Senior classes have reached about one half of their respective goals. This means that there is still about $2,000 worth of sales still to be made, so get with it, Juniors and Seniors!

The eagerly awaited 12-weeks test exemptions have hit some snags. The Student Council met Thursday to mull over the grade average and absence requisites. The Council is trying to settle upon standards that are acceptable to both the faculty and school board. Hopefully, a decision will be reached soon.

The Forsan Buffaloes, coming off of a convincing but lackluster 26-0 bombing of Borden County, will be fired up for a game against long-time rival Sands. The game gets under way at 8 p.m. at Sands. The Buffs' next game is home against Robert Lee. The Buffs appreciate the support they've been getting, and all fans should be out for both games.

The Buffalo Band has been getting in shape for their part in the Howard County Fair. The Band will present a 45-minute concert this coming Tuesday starting at 7 p.m. The Band would like to see a big crowd on hand, so make plans to attend. Next Saturday, the 25th, director Mike Neel will take all students interested in trying out for region-band to Texas Tech University in Lubbock for a clinic over All-State tryout music. If you're interested, get in touch with Mr. Neel.

Trio from here earn degrees

Polly Diane Lancaster, Big Spring, has earned a Bachelor's Degree in Business Administration at the University of Texas of the Permian Basin in Odessa.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Connie Wade, Big Spring.

Johnnie Lou Avery, Bonnie S. Dodson and LeRoy McClendon, all of Big Spring, have earned Bachelor of Arts degrees at the same school.

Homecoming week filled with activities

By CATHY MAHANEY

The week of the 20th is going to be an exciting one. It's Homecoming Week which occurs once every 4 years.

The Student Council met and decided on different activities that the students will participate in during homecoming week. They are: Mon.-Western Day' Tues.-Slave Day; Wed.-Movie Star Day; Thurs.-Kiddie Day; and Fri-Brown & White Day plus a Talent Hour. Also, if we're lucky, the burning of the Bonfire is Friday night at 8:00 p.m. The end of this exciting week will be Saturday night at 8:00 p.m. when we will play the Jayton Jay Birds on our home field.

Special appearances from Yolanda Rodriquez a Freshman, Sylvia Brito a Sophomore; Jodie Kemper a Junior; and Nobie Kemper a Senior. One of these girls will be chosen as Homecoming Queen.

Another very important day to remember is September 28. The Senior class is sponsoring a Powder Puff Football Game at 7:00 p.m.- Seniors & Sophomores vs. Juniors & Freshmen.

Sands finally has a music teacher, Mrs. Karen Lee. Mrs. Lee is teaching Kindergarten through Eighth Grade.

Both Jr. High and High School played Forsan this past week. This was the first Jr. High Game for the season.

Jr. High Cheerleaders are: Jana Long and Carla Parker, eighth grade; D'Ann Hall and Tammy Peugh, seventh grade; and Olga Cantu, sixth grade. The pep squad sponsor is Miss Billie Briggs.

Officers elected

CLASS

Coahoma Spanish Club met September 8 to elect officers. Officers elected for the 76-77 year are: Patricia Ferguson, president; Carla Bates, vice-president; Pat McCraw, secretary-treasurer; Daryl Witt, reporter; Student Council Representative, Tim Barbee; and Historian, Darla Harrington. The first meeting will be held at Patricia Ferguson's house September 20 at 6:00. The $2.00 dues should be given to Pat McCraw by September 20.

The Band sold Halloween candy Monday, Sept. 13, through Thursday, Sept. 16. The candy was sold by both the Junior High and High School bands. The proceeds will be used to finance both bands' activities which include possible festival trips. Orders were taken during the week and the candy will be in one or two weeks before Halloween.

Science Club held their first meeting Sept. 14 to elect officers. Officers elected were: president, Kathy Woolverton; vice-president; Dana Pettit; secretary-treasurer, Patricia Ferguson; reporter, Melissa Brown; sergeant at arms, Pierce McCraw; and student council representative, Pat McCraw. Dues, set at $1.50, are payable to Patricia Ferguson. Carla Bates and Pat McCraw were appointed to serve as the program committee for this year.

Class meetings were held Wednesday, Sept. 15, to elect officers. The Seniors elected Daryl Witt as their president; Lanny Gass as vice-president; Donna Parrish as secretary-treasurer; Altie Ballard as reporter; and Student council representatives are Jim Bob Phillips and Donna James. The junior class election results are president-Jim Bob Coates, Vice-president-Annette Paige, secretary-treasurer-Vannessa Cooper, and student council representatives Beth Nelson and Jay Shaw. The sophomore class president is Cindy Fryar, vice-president is Randy Phillips, secretary-treasurer is Debbie Reid, reporter is Judy Cox and student council representatives are Cindy McMahon and Mike Richey. Elected as freshmen officers are Jerry Roever-president, Jonny Fraiser-vice-president, secretary-treasurer Brian Neff, reporter-Lisa Pettitt and student council representatives — Julie Higgins and Tim Ballard. Each class also elected a candidate for Powder Puff Queen to be crowned Tuesday September 21 at the Powder Puff Football Game. The Seniors chose Bobby Roever; the Juniors chose Billy Higgins; and the Sophomores chose Randy Phillips; and the Freshmen chose Gary Paige.

Ford, Carter at odds

Arguing issues

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

From A for abortion to Z for zero-based budgeting, the Republicans and Democrats are arguing about the issues.

Here is an alphabetical guide to the views of President Ford and Jimmy Carter and their parties' platforms:

ABORTION: Both men personally oppose abortion. Carter also says, "I do not favor a constitutional amendment which would prohibit all abortions, nor one that would give states local options to ban abortions." Ford opposes a national ban on abortion, but adds: "I have supported — because I think it might be a practical and moral solution — an amendment which would permit each state, or the voters in each state, to make the decision on that state's abortion policy."

BUSING: Both men are against forced busing for integration. Carter says it doesn't work, but adds that he will support the rulings of the federal courts. "I believe this is not the subject to be reopened with a constitutional amendment," h says. Ford, who sent legislation to Congress limiting busing programs, says: "I believe that busing as a remedy ought to be the last resort and that it ought to be limited in scope to correcting the effects of previous constitutional violations."

CONSUMERISM: Carter has endorsed creation of an independent Agency for Consumer Advocacy. Ford opposes such an agency, under consideration by Congress, contending it would simply add another layer of bureaucracy. He has ordered federal agencies to step up their consumer protection efforts.

DEFENSE: Carter has said, "Our ultimate goal should be the reduction of nuclear weapons, in all nations to zero." Meanwhile, he wants to maintain rough equivalency with the Soviet Union which he says we now have. He would cut defense spending by "reducing the waste and fat"; would reassess "our strategic deployment of nonnuclear weapons and delivery systems"; and would gradually withdraw some U.S. troops from some areas. Ford proposed a record peacetime defense budget and said the United States "is the single most powerful nation on earth — indeed in all history — and we're going to keep it that way." He criticized Carter's troop withdrawal plan, saying: "We cannot lay down our arms in the simple hope that others will follow our lead."

EDUCATION: Carter has called for increasing the federal share of public education costs and overhauling revenue sharing to remove the ban on using such funds for education. He also proposed the creation of a separate Department of Education. Ford sent Congress a plan to consolidate federal aid for elementary and secondary education from 24 aid programs into single block grants for the states. The cost would be $3.3 billion in fiscal 1977. As for higher education, Ford said: "No student should be denied access to a postsecondary education because of financial barriers. Those in need should receive grants; others with higher family income should be helped to borrow to meet the costs..."

Crocheting to be taught

The Continuing Education Division of Howard College is offering a course in beginning crochet starting Sept. 23 at 7:00 p.m. The course will meet Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. and will last for six weeks. Tuition is $13, which includes cost of supplies for the first lesson.

The course will cover the basic stitches, how to read crochet patterns, and how to design original articles in crochet. Special instructions will be given to left-handed students.

The instructor will be Ms. Susan King of the Howard College English Department who does needlework as a hobby. Her crochet classes in the past years have been very popular.

"Crochet garments and articles for the home are very much in style now," reports Ms. King. "My students enjoy making these for themselves and for gifts. Some of my students have sold their crocheted shawls and purses, but most take the course for enjoyment and to learn a new hobby."

The course is open for all ages. Several teenagers have taken the course, and the oldest person to sign up for the course was 72 when she took the class some years ago.

Students may pre-register by calling Herb Johnson at 267-6311 Ext. 66, or they may register at the first meeting. The class will meet at Howard College in Room A-202.

Jay Mehaffey joins KMID

Veteran Permian Basin sportscaster Jay Mehaffey joined the staff at KMID-TV, effective Sept. 15.

In his new position, his popular sportscast will be a part of the 6 p.m. Big 2 News Monday through Friday, and he will be featured in special sports programming.

Mehaffey, a retired army captain, is a native of Des Moines, Iowa, and majored in English and Radio Speech at Drake University. He was a decorated World War II Ranger and was a volunteer for D-Day's number one suicide mission, the assault on the cliffs at Pointe Du Hoc on Omaha Beach. His account of "The First Wave at Omaha Beach" has been published by all major wire services. Jay and his wife Betty have lived in Odessa for 28 years.

Farmers hurt by elements

ACKERLY — Farmers in this area are continuing to assess the heavy hail damage in the storm last Sunday night.

The heavy rain and hail fell in a strip two miles wide and ten miles long.

Among some of the farmers with heavily damaged cotton are Dicky Shortes, Joe Dean Hall, Dalton Wright, A. D. Reid, Olin Haddock, John Hale and others.

Recovery of the crop will be light with bolls that are left badly bruised by the severe hail.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas effective October 7, 1976.

It is expected that the requested rate schedule will furnish an 18 percent increase in the company's intrastate gross revenues.

A complete copy of the new rate schedule is on file with the Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality, and is available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices in Texas.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1976

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This can be an extremely good day and evening if you control the temptation to lash out where you are displeased. Make some important policy decisions that can be important to you in the days ahead.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You can enjoy yourself now provided you do not envy or criticize others and put your talents to work. Be careful in driving.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Avoid a partner who wants to manipulate you. Be happy at home with your family whose support you have.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be persistent in whatever you have started to do and put your ideas across to others. Go to an expert for advice you need and follow it.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Plan how to add to present assets and not feel lack in the future. Contact some adviser who is at leisure today.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can do whatever you set your mind to today provided you do not permit a family tie to dissuade you from what you feel is right.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Use caution in handling a personal problem. You get the important information you need by going to the right source.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get together with friends but be careful not to overspend. You need to have more personal contacts now. Plan new week's activities.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Good day to get into civic work and not indulging in silly projects that yield nothing. Show a bigwig that you are of a charitable nature.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Concentrate on more philosophical matters, and come out of the despondency you are in. Make concrete plans for the future.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Your hunches are particularly good now so use them to better your living conditions. Steer clear of a gossip.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can come to a good understanding with associates provided you do not permit some official to come between you. Show more cooperation in a civic matter.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Try to be of help to one who has done you many favors in the past. Avoid associates who are in a bad mood today. Take time to rest.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, ..he or she will have phenomenal ideas early in life and should be encouraged with them. Care should be taken not to air them or they will be stolen. Give as fine an education as possible and teach to work early for best results throughout the lifetime. Religion a must early, too.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

FORECAST FOR MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1976

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the day finds you tied down to unfinished duties and faced with longtime obligations. Later you can develop creatives ideas that will boost you forward quickly.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Make sure you handle an important business matter early in the day. Evening is fine for getting out of that rut. Show more devotion to mate.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Think of the time element where a new project is concerned before making final plans. Do some entertaining in the evening.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can get ahead today if you are more conscientious with others. Attend to A new project needs more study before with good friends later.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Concentrate more on the monetary side of your life and make plans to have more security in the days ahead.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) First improve your appearance and then engage in activities that mean the most to you. Accept any invitations extended to you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Think carefully how to increase your abundance in the future. More courtesy toward loved one can bring fine rewards.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Know what your personal aims are before taking on any new projects. Sidestep an opponent who wants to downgrade you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) The situation in your line of endeavor requires your full attention at this time. A higher-up can give you good advice now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) a new project needs more study before putting it in operation. A change you want to make is best done in the evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have committed yourself to a task that needs your full attention now. Strive for increased harmony with loved one.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Carry through with promises you have made to associates. Study your surroundings and make plans for improvements.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Show others that you are most efficient in handling your duties. Take time to improve your appearance. Strive for happiness.

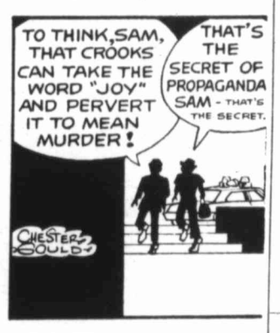

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, ..he or she will have much creativity and can become most successful provided you give the finest education you can afford. There's a tendency here to seek too much pleasure, so teach to be more practical and raise the incentive.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

TO THE RESCUE — Tow truck driver Ron Bobbitt leaps into San Diego water in order to attach cable to a car which went in earlier. Its driver, Betty Lou Frame of La Mesa, escaped injury. She drove through barricades around the pool Thursday, caused by break earlier in water line.

Displays varied

A wide range of displays is open for the Big Spring, Howard County and area residents in the annual Howard County Fair, Sept. 20-25.

The range is from cookies to cotton, from rabbits to barrows, from linens to cloths, from pictures to crafts.

In addition, there will be numerous special events, including the barrow show and sale, the Shrine Circus, a week-long carnival, beef cut-up, pet show and horse show. The Agri-Business appreciation barbecue luncheon is also on tap and the above scheduled beef cut-up will be a demonstration of cutting and packaging of a half-beef and cuts will be give away to those who are registered. The cutting will be done by George Smith of Hubbard Packing Co., narration by Mrs. Smith and beef donated by Aubry & Modesta Stokes.

Here are some of the area of exhibition open to all residents: field crops — cotton, small grains, feed grains, grasses, beans, peas and hay. Vegetables and fruits — potatoe, onion, turnips, beets, carrots, radishes, squash, cucumber, pumpkin, watermelon, peppers, collards, apples, pears, peaches, plums, grapes, etc.

There will be a women's division which also will include home and hobby items, regular and metal crafts, glassware and other personal treasures, clothing, linens, breads, cakes, canned fruits and vegetables, preserves and pickles. There will be a junior division in most of these categories.

There will also be an art show, antique show, gem show, and a special division for the "Over 60" group in most of these categories.

There is no charge for entering any of these divisions and anyone interested in participating may contact Skipper Driver, gen. superintendent or Ruth Mitchel, secretary, at the Extension Office in the basement of the courthouse.

Short says at seminar

More problems being shifted to teachers

Teachers are being called upon to handle more and more of the problems of society as the nation's institutions "cop out" and blame it on the teachers, Dr. J. Rodney Short said Saturday.

Dr. Short, who addressed the Big Spring Herald's Newspaper in Education seminar Saturday morning at Howard College, said that the American institutions from the family to the churches are taking less responsibility for children.

The burden of this neglect, he said, is falling upon the teachers, who are now called upon more than ever to deal with emotional problems before they can begin to teach.

Dr. Short noted that the average middle-class father spends only 15 minutes a day with his children. He cited a recent survey which indicated that 70 per cent of the women would not want to have children if they could do it over again.

Dr. Short, director of the Newspaper in Education graduate seminar held each year at Texas Woman's University noted that "Americans spend half a billion dollars a year on a drug to relieve their anxiety, which is in itself a cause for anxiety." He added that mental illness is the largest type of sickness in America.

The TWU professor said that teachers have difficulty overcoming these social barriers to learning because textbook families are all white, upper middle-class with no problems.

The students see what he called the "thundering disparity of their real world and the world of the textbook.

Using the newspaper in the classroom can be a powerful tool for bridging this gap, he said.

The Dallas Morning News, he noted, is written for reading levels ranging from grade three to the Ph.D.

"The reading skills are at an all-time low in this country," he said. "We need to help our children not only develop reading skills but a love for reading."

Also speaking to the teachers was Mrs. Beverly Dickerson, an earth scientist, teacher and consultant on Newspaper in Education. She is from Odessa.

Upward Bound Program recruiting students

The Upward Bound Program is now recruiting students in the 11th grade to participate in their collegiate opportunity program. The goal of Upward Bound is to prepare and encourage students in the continuation of their education beyond high school.

To qualify for this program the student's family income must not exceed a certain level and the student must have academic potential.

"Through learning sessions, career planning, counseling, field trips, financial aid programs and a summer residence at Howard College, we hope to make the transition from high school to college as easy as possible for the students," said Mr. Herb Johnson, director of Upward Bound.

The program will include 65 students from the high schools of Big Spring, Coahoma, Colorado City, Midland, Midland Robert E. Lee, Snyder and Stanton. Thirty-one of the students will continue in their second year, leaving 34 places for new students in their junior year.

During the academic year students attend Saturday sessions at Howard College including classes, lunch and a recreation period. Transportation to and from the college is provided.

In the summer, the students will live on the Howard College campus for a six-week period. They will take part in a variety of academic, cultural and social activities. Those students graduated from high school will take two college courses for credit.

There are no cost or fees for instruction, books, materials, dormitory rooms, meals and transportation.

Those students interested in the program should contact their school counselor or the Upward Bound Office at Howard College at 915-263-4581.

Sweetwater courthouse bids OKed

SWEETWATER — A bid of $2,332,737.20 was accepted here Friday morning for the demolition and construction of a new Noland County Courthouse.

Hambrick Craig Construction Co., Abilene, with a low bid of $1,808,392, was awarded the general construction bid for the new courthouse. Its bid stated that construction would take 365 calendar days.

Southwest Rathgerber Co. of Austin was awarded the demolition contract of the courthouse with a low bid of $29,222. Its bid said the demolition would take 60 calendar days.

Bullock Electric Co. of Sweetwater was awarded the electrical contract with a low bid of $142,259. Other bids accepted were Abilene Air Conditioning with a bid of $203,888 for heating and air conditioning; J.M. Tate Plumbing and Heating Co. with a bid of $126,795 for plumbing; and Needham Carpets of Sherman with a bid of $21,850.20 for carpeting.

Demolition of the courthouse should begin within 14 days.

Income growth bogging down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government has mixed some good economic news with some bad economic news — the nation's industrial productivity is picking up but Americans' personal income growth has bogged down.

The Federal Reserve Board reported on Thursday that the pace of industrial production has increased in the last two months. It said production from the nation's mines, factories and utilities rose five-tenths of one per cent in both July and August.

That's two-tenths of a per cent better than June's rate of growth, which translates into more jobs. Industry accounts for about one-third of the jobs in the economy.

On the other side of the ledger, the Commerce Department came out with personal income growth figures for August showing the smallest growth in 13 months. Personal income is the pool of money available to individuals and is a key economic indicator. Like industrial production, it affects new job opportunities. Any drop is bad news for those persons looking for work.

The Commerce Department said income of all Americans, after deduction of Social Security taxes but not allowing for income tax deductions, climbed in August at an annual rate of $6.1 billion.

People helping people

Well on way toward goal

Today military and Civil Service personnel, through the Combined Federal Campaign (CFC), constitute one of the strongest single sources of support for the work of the National Health Agencies (NHA), according to information received from the NHA state chairman, Paul A. Jones Jr.

This was evident in Big Spring, where more than $9,000 was contributed to the NHA last year by the personnel of Webb Air Force Base and from other federal offices to help NHA meet the nation's increasing health needs.

Earlier this year in a letter to the then CFC Chairman, Col. Robert A. Owens, Mr. Jones paid tribute to the generosity of the Big Spring Federal community and expressed the sincere gratitude of all NHA member agencies for its support of their efforts to combat sickness and disease and provide improved health care for all.

Each year the CFC provides federal employes the opportunity of supporting vital medical research, professional and lay help educational programs, and much-needed community and patient service provided by the NHA.

After the first week, contributions to the CFC by Webb people total $13,081.69 out of a goal of $29,950. This accounts for 38 per cent sharing. No reports were made by off-base federal agencies. Of the total CFC collections 71.18 per cent will go to the Big Spring-Howard County United Way.

Attorney is testing law on advertising

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In among the people trying to sell television viewers a used car, a bar of soap or a headache remedy is Stuart Baron. He's a lawyer trying to sell his legal service.

"I'm sitting at a desk looking very, very dignified in my suit," said Baron, whose commercials started running here this week. He is one of the first lawyers in the country to launch a television advertising campaign.

"It might be a very good thing," said State Bar of California spokeswoman Lily Barry. "It just has to be tested."

The service began in May. About 200 clients, including 150 who responded to this week's ad campaign, have signed up, said administrator Don Hagler.

Talks will resume Monday

NEW YORK (AP) — Top-level representatives of Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers kept informal negotiations going this past week after the Tuesday night walkout by 170,000 workers.

The full union negotiating team is scheduled to return to the table Monday.

The key issue facing the bargainers is the union's demand for 12 additional days off to increase employment and job security.

Ford has rejected that demand, saying it would disrupt the operation of its factories. The company said it would cause problems in scheduling production.

Ford had offered an extra five days a year off, but the union said that pre-strike offer would have done little to increase employment in the auto industry.

Despite the strike, Ford's auto production totaled 155,625 cars this past week, the trade journal Automotive News reported. In the four days after Labor Day last year, when auto production was depressed, Ford had turned out only 148,489 cars.

Elsewhere in business this past week:

—The International Monetary Fund held its third gold auction, selling 780,000 ounces from its reserves at an average price of $109.40 an ounce. Successful bids ranged from $108.76 to $114 an ounce.

About $54 million of the sale's proceeds will go into a special fund for low-interest loans for developing countries.

—Conflicting testimony before a Senate subcommittee about whether a former Nixon administration official asked Grumman Corp. for an illegal political contribution may lead to further investigation. The Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee on Multinational Corporations may ask the Justice Department to investigate for perjury.

Discrimination charged

Abortion law opposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A measure limiting federally funded abortions, which one senator says discriminates against the poor, faces legal challenges if it becomes law.

The provision is part of a $56.6 billion appropriations bill the Senate sent to the White House Friday for President Ford's signature. The total is about $4 billion more than Ford requested and there is a possibility that he will veto the bill.

If the measure gains his approval, at least one group advocating freedom of choice on the abortion issue, a group called the National Abortion Rights League, says it will fight the law in the courts on constitutional grounds.

The abortion compromise was worked out after weeks of conflict between the House and Senate. The House passed the final version of the bill Thursday by a 256 to 114 vote. The Senate cleared it Friday by a 47 to 21 vote.

The section on abortion declares that none of the money in the bill, which carries funds for the Departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare, may be used "to perform abortions except where the life of the mother would be endangered if the fetus were carried to term."

The bill also would not preclude federal funding for abortions in cases of rape, incest or ectopic pregnancy, in which gestation occurs outside the uterus.

Opponents claimed the amendment is open to a constitutional challenge.

"The language...clearly discriminates against the poor who cannot afford the cost of an abortion but must rely upon Medicaid," said Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass. It "would not affect those who can afford the price of an abortion. It would not put an end to abortions, but only would price them out of reach of the neediest."

He said he believes the Supreme Court would rule that the measure is unconstitutional.

If Ford does decide to veto the bill there will be adequate time remaining for the House and Senate to make an override attempt before adjourning for the year Oct. 2.

Services are set

Jewish services for Rosh Hashanah will be led by Rabbi Joseph Zeitin of Odessa in the Webb AFB Chapel at 8 p.m. Friday and at 9 a.m. Saturday. Yom Kippur services will begin at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 3, and 10 a.m. Monday, Oct. 4.

This year, Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish New Year, begins the year 5737 of the Jewish calendar at sundown Sept. 24, or the first and second days of the Hebrew month of Tishri. This day, to Jews, appears as second only to Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, in significance and solemnity.

The origin of celebration traces its way back to ancient Babylonia where Jews gathered together in prayer in the hopes that God would show mercy, grant kindness and salvation.

Tiger two-point conversion

Steers lose by one

By DANNY REAGAN
Sports Editor

SNYDER — The host team Tigers were not content to kiss their sisters Friday night, and successfully completed a two-point conversion in the late going to hand the visiting Big Spring Steers a 14-13 dirt-kicking loss.

For the third week in a row, the Steers played a team with the same school colors, and for the third week in a row, the Steers showed improvement in a different department of performance.

The Bovines finally halted their streak of piling up enormous penalty yardage (they only had one penalty for seven yards), but their offense could not capitalize on five Tiger turnovers in what could be termed a "I-don't-want-it-you-can-have-it" football game.

A packed house in excess of 5,000, (at least half of those Steer fans), saw the two teams butt heads for the first eight minutes of the contest, until Tiger Mike Quiros picked off an errant Bubba Stripling aerial at the Longhorn 35-yard line, and skipped into the end-zone with it. That was with 4:15 remaining in the first period. The extra point attempt failed.

That score seemed to put something in the Tigers' tank, because the next time they got their paws on the ball, they drove it right down the Steer horns until defensive back Steve Hughes intercepted a Tim Falls pass at the Steer 17-yard line to end the drive.

After an exchange of a Steer punt and a Tiger fumble, Big Spring began its first scoring drive of the night, beginning at the Tiger 24-yard line, where Tommy Churchwell had fallen on the Tiger bobbled bauble.

Six successive runs, two by Gregg Adams, three by Eddie Puga, and an end-around by Mike Harris, had the Steers set up on the Snyder one-yard line with second and goal. From there, Bubba Stripling made a nifty cut-back move against the grain, and scored.

Harris missed the extra point, and the score was tied, 6-6, where it would remain until intermission.

During the first half, the Steer offensive effort was thwarted time and time again. Stripling and his pass receivers could not seem to connect against a supposedly weak Tiger secondary. Part of the problem was slippery footing, but most of the difficulty arose from the Tiger front four who made Stripling hurry his throws much of the time.

The Steer defense had caused Snyder to cough up three fumbles, and had picked off an interception. Steve Wolfe had blocked a pass, Tiger running backs had dropped for losses, and the game was starting all over at the second half.

The third quarter looked much like the first, a stand-off, except for a couple of fine passes from Stripling to Ken Coffey, one for 34 yards, and another for 13.

After a 12-yard end-around run by Mike Harris, one of his three successful ones of the night, the Steers had a first and 10 from the Tiger 33 at the beginning of the last period.

On fourth and seven, when it looked like the locals had run out of steam, Stripling hit Coffey again with a 24-yard aerial that carried the ball down to the Tiger six-yard line. Coffey had fallen down on his route but had regained his feet in time to catch the ball.

Stripling then passed to Robbie Wegner in the end-zone for the touchdown. The extra point was good, and with 10:14 to go in the game, the Steers led 13-6.

But then the Tigers took over on the ensuing kick-off on their own 22-yard line, and drove in for the touchdown on a 78-yard drive that lasted six minutes and racked up seven first downs.

Highly-touted Snyder fullback Ricky Beard, who rushed for 125 yards in the game, went over for the TD from the one-yard line on fourth down. And then the killer. Disdaining any thought of a tie, Snyder quarterback Tim Falls passed to Beard in the end-zone for the two-pointer, and Snyder led 14-13 with 4:01 remaining in the game.

The Steers had two more possessions of the ball, but the Tigers held them to no gain, until, with just 32 seconds remaining in the game, with the Steers holding the ball on their own 45-yard line, they lost their last chance.

Stripling passed to Coffey, who in turn tried to lateral the ball back to his comrade in arms Robbie Wegner. But the ball fell loose, and the Tigers had possession after the scramble for it subsided. The play had worked effectively against Hobbs the week before, but the Tigers looked as if they were prepared for it.

Time then ran out, the Tigers didn't feel like they had kissed their sisters, and the Steers knew that they had let a very winnable ballgame slip through their hands.

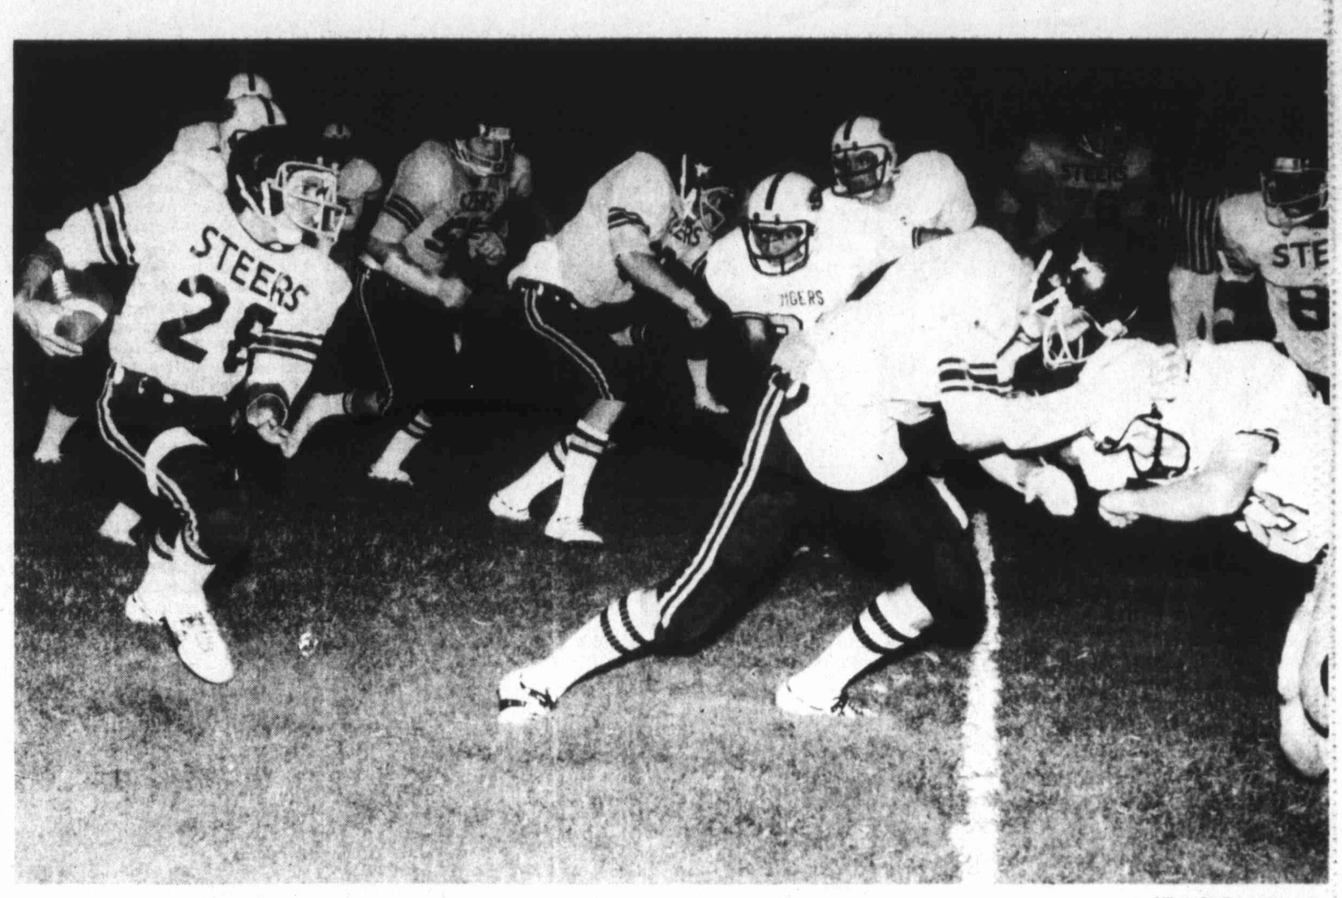

The Longhorns have learned to keep their mistakes to a minimumm, and they have definitely evolved into a defensive ball-club, but they have two weeks now before their next game to work on an offense that is needed to compliment the rest of their game.

Tommy Churchwell, Tommy Wegner, Tony Mann, Billy Hayes, Ernie Nichols, Jesse Doss and company played another sterling game on defense, holding the Snyder Tigers to their third consecutive 14-point ballgame.

The Steers have an open date next Friday, but come back the week after against Abilene High in Memorial Stadium.

Defense remains unscored upon

Forsan sandblasts Sands, 50-0

By MARJ CARPENTER

ACKERLY — The Forsan Buffaloes have yet to be scored upon this season.

Coach George White put in a good many of his second stringers late in the game Friday night out at Ackerly when they stomped the luckless Mustangs 50-0. But the second-string Buffs also held fast and kept their team's unblemished record of nobody crossing their goal line.

The game was not as lopsided as it sounds on paper, because the "Big Brown" as they often refer to themselves out at Sands, never gave up.

Sands knew what they were up against before the game started, and knew that added to the fact that Forsan had a triple-threat backfield and a strong line was the fact that Sands had upset Forsan last season and the Buffs were going to be seeking revenge.

Still, the Mustangs put up a valiant effort the first quarter. They stopped three drives in the initial period by the Buffs, something that nobody else has accomplished this season. Ackerly had a big freshman center named David Hall that kept knocking the ball loose everytime Forsan nailed it.

However, the Buffs soon had enough of such delays and 19 seconds before the first period ended, Ralph Miranda, fleet Buffalo quarterback, took off around end for 25 yards and a tally.

Rusty Henderson went in for two. Forsan enjoyed scoring so much that the first play after the kick return, Thomas Posey snagged an interception and got the ball back for the Buffs.

Three plays later, Gary Tidwell sat up another score for the Buffaloes when he thundered 26 yards down to the five. He carried it to the one. Sands watched him closely the next play while Henderson went over for the score. Henderson also took in the extra points and led 16-0.

That second period spelled disaster for Coach Jim Yakubovsky's Mustangs. They took the ball back on the kick, had a fleeting hope as David Long, freshman end snagged a 24-yard pass from Summer Shaw for a first down. On the next play, they lost the ball on a fumble.

John Medlin hadn't made a score yet for Forsan and he took off on a blasting 48-yard run only to get nailed in the corner near the goal line. An angered Sands defense shook loose the ball on a fumble and then turned around and lost it back to Forsan when the whole team piled on the ball for a safety, making the score 18-0.

A determined Forsan defense got the ball back and added insult to injury when Miranda scampered from the 27-yard line over to the right side and seeing a determined bunch of Big Brown ran back to the middle of the field and went in for the score. Forsan was 24-0 ahead and a little junior high boy in the Ackerly stands, who had been beaten 48-0 earlier in the week by the Forsan junior high said "Well, coach is going to be surprised when their score is the same as ours."

The attempted pass for two points was knocked down. Forsan kicked to Ackerly, and they took the ball and lost it on a fumble. Of course, it's hard not to fumble when guys like Bobby Osburn, Dennis Boyd, Alan Hollandsworth and Posey are coming at you with Gary Martin, Craig Clark and Medlin getting you if they miss.

The next score for Forsan was on Randy Cregar who held on to the football after getting tackled hard in the end zone after a 13-yard scamper. The Buffs finally decided to practice their kicking and Martin booted the point after.

A few plays later, Forsan got the ball back again on an interception by Tidwell who went to the two and the next play took the ball in for a tally. Martin booted another extra point. Forsan went in at halftime 38-0.

Ackerly came back and put up another valiant fight in the third period. Mustangs such as Jackie McDonald, Sammy Anderson, Danny Holguin and Brobbie Bayes kept trying to knock that ball loose.

Jessie Hernandez would make a determined run close to the ground trying to run under a determined wall of Buffalo to no avail. Angel Miranda, little brother to Ralph, took the Buffaloes and put together a drive that looked so much like his brother that you thought, "Me and My shadow." Hank Adams and Martin carried the ball down on alternate plays to the one where the Angel went in for a score. The attempted kick failed.

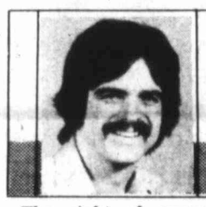

Forsan scored one more time with nine minutes left in the game when Martin made a 20-yard scamper for a touchdown and the two-point try failed.

Ackerly was still trying. They had failed to beat them but they were trying to be the first team to score against the Buffs. They put together a drive that included four first downs and four successful passes to Long and one over to Van Gaskins.

But when the game ended, Forsan again had the football. The Forsan Buffs are determined to make a mark their final season in B Schools. Thus far, they've been able to accomplish it.

Both schools have homecoming next week with Forsan hosting the tough Robert E. Lee team Friday night, Ackerly hosts Jayton Saturday. Both schools an Homecoming activities.

THROUGH the fieldglasses

By Danny Reagan

The sight of approximately 2,500 Big Spring Steer fans cramming Tiger Stadium Friday night may appear to have been inadequate support from the way in which the scoreboard turned out, but it wasn't.

The Steers had as much enthusiasm built up for that game as they had the week before for Hobbs. And the fans were a big reason. I can't imagine a better sight for a football player than to look up as he comes out onto the field for an out-of-town game, and see his side filled to the brim.

The Steers may not have found the right track to impressive victories, but the defeat Friday night was a good sign, as far as defeats go as good signs.

The Bovines didn't play even close to the impressive ball they did against the New Mexicans, and yet, they almost won the game. There is still hope in this rebuilding year.

A winning season may be hard to come by this year, but don't expect to see the locals go down by any 53-25, 35-14 or 44-0 scores as they did last year. This years' team has too much spunk (and defense) to let that happen.

An unusual sight in a High School football press box must be a woman. How do I know this? Because each time I take my spotter-wife to a game, everyone looks at us as if it were the case.

A spotter is a person who follows the football on each play with a pair of binoculars, making sure the reporter gets the right number and name every time. They are indispensible, and a sports writer can't cover a ballgame without one.

"Pearl" is a great spotter, her presence makes the coke and hot-dog boxes come by more readily, and her enthusiasm as a Steer fan makes for lively conversation, especially with the opposition reporters.

An added bonus is that cussing in the press box is held to a minimum.

Spotters are a very important part of reporting football, and I would like to say this to all of them out there in thanks: "A good sports writer needs a loyal dog, a winning team, and a patient wife, but not necessarily in that order."

Bad news from Head Coach Don Robbins. Steve Wolfe, defensive starter, will be out for four to six weeks because of a fracture in one of the small bones in his wrist.

"We hate to see an injury anytime to anyone of course," said Robbins, "but we especially hate to see a young man as nice as Steve have this happen to him."

The Steers will experiment with both offensive and defensive units over the next two weeks, in preparation for the conference opener against Abilene Oct. 1. Someone will have to be found to fill Wolfe's shoes.

Quote for the day: "I was able to belt a lot of quarterbacks around. It was the only part of the game that I liked." — Alex Karras.

Three win, three lose

Abilene losses highlight 5-4A action

ABILENE — The Eagles of Abilene High generously turned the ball over nine times to the Temple Wildcats, conceding a 41-14 whopping in the process.

Five pass interceptions and four fumbles turned a very close statistical game into a rout. Temple only gained five more total yards than the Eagles, but in the important statistic, points, Abilene was far behind, with 27 less.

Temple took an early 14-0 first quarter lead, and Abilene was forced to play catch-up, utilizing their passing department.

Abilene almost caught up in the third quarter. Trailing 28-14, but just coming off a scoring drive, Eagle quarterback Glen Stirman hit split end K. D. Roberts for a 35-yard strike deep in Temple territory. But a penalty wiped out that threat, and the Eagles never had another chance.

In the fourth quarter, already leading 34-14, Temple's halfback Charles Young couldn't help himself and galloped 80 yards for the final score.

●●●

KILLEEN — Dancing Kangaroo quarterback Greg Hamilton made like Fred Astaire and led his offensive chorus line to a runaway victory over Abilene Cooper, 48-20.

Killeen quickly set the pace of the game with a 53-yard scoring drive on their first possession. Three minutes later, the 'Roos had scored again on a 69-yard drive.

Shortly after that, defensive back Tony Benskin stepped in front of a Beale pass and returned it for another score.

Killeen put in its second and third strings, and 20 more points were scored.

Cooper didn't make a mark on the scoreboard until the fourth quarter. Against a host of substitutes, Cooper quarterback Mark Beale ran in for two scores and passed to tight end Jim Cook for another.

The victory kept Killeen, the no. 8th-ranked team in the state, undefeated at 3-0. Cooper fell to 2-1.

HOBBS, N.M. — The Odessa High Broncos remained undefeated Friday night by roasting the Eagles 19-2.

Odessa nows stands at 3-0, while Hobbs, which lost to Big Spring last week, is 1-2.

The Bronco's All-state prospect Darrell Shepard ran 60 yards for the first score. The extra point attempt failed.

In the second quarter, Hobbs scored its only two of the night when the snap sailed over the hapless Odessa punter's head into the end-zone for a safety.

In the third quarter, tailback Jeff Holder scored his six of the night on a four-yard run.

Ronnie Terry for Odessa went 22 yards in the fourth quarter for Odessa's final TD of the night.

●●●

PLAINVIEW — Midland Lee Rebel defensive end Eric Stewart recovered a fumble in the end-zone to score the first points for his team in a 27-7 decision over the Plainview Bulldogs.

Lee quarterback Brad Wright passed 10 yards for the second TD of the night in the second quarter. Jerry Moore set up the score that capped a 93-yard drive on a 44-yard gallop around right end.

Plainview made the game close at 14-7 after a fumble recovery on the Lee 13-yard line resulted in a Bulldog TD, but just before half, Lee had scored again on a three-yard run by Jeff McCowen.

The final Midland tally came in the third stanza when Jerry Moore ran seven yards to Bulldog paydirt.

●●●

MIDLAND — In what has to be termed an upset, Lubbock Monterey capitalized on a number of crucial fumbles and dropped Midland High School 17-13.

The Midland Bulldogs completely dominated the statistic side of the game, but fumbles spelled doom on the scoreboard for the host team.

Midland scored first on a four-yard dive play by Rusty Maroney in the second quarter. On the next Midland possession, the Bulldogs fumbled on their own 13-yard line, and Monterey punched in the score on the next play. The half-time score was 7-7.

In the third period, Monterey scored two quick touchdowns, one on a 53-yard play, and one after Midland fumbled the ensuing kick-off.

In the fourth quarter, Midland got its final score on a 80-yard drive in which Maroney again dived over from three yards out.

●●●

SAN ANGELO — The Central Bobcats finally won a game, and won it big, burying San Antonio Roosevelt 33-6.

Central running back Bill Woodard was the hero of the game, scoring three first half touchdowns, and rushing for 133 yards on 13 carries.

Angelo scored four quick TD's in the first half, and Roosevelt never recovered from the shock.

Central had a total of 302 yards rushing, and scored a final TD in the third stanza to completely dominate play.

With two weeks before conference action begins, Central now stands at 1-2.

Almost embarrassed again

UT nudges North Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Fullback Earl Campbell limped 83 yards on a damaged right leg to ignite Texas to a 17-14 victory over North Texas State Saturday night.

Campbell, a 231-pound junior playing with a pulled muscle, also scored from the one after cracking for key gains on a 57-yard drive that enabled Texas to overcome a 7-3 halftime deficit.

Moments after that TD, with Texas pinned on its 13 yard line, Campbell broke off the right side and shuffled down the sideline behind the screen blocking of Johnny "Ham" Jones. Linebacker Burks Washington finally caught Campbell at the four, but two plays later quarterback Mike Cordaro ran untouched for two yards and a touchdown with 1:39 left in the third quarter, giving Texas a 17-7 lead.

Playing what Coach Hayden Fry called the most important game in North Texas' history, the Eagles took the lead on a second-quarter touchdown set up by a 34-yard pass off a halfback reverse that carried to the Texas one.

North Texas was penalized to the six, but Mack Cumby banged over in two tries.

North Texas closed the gap to three points with a 69-yard march, which was fueled by 30 yards in penalties against Texas. Third-team quarterback Ken Smith warded off two Texas tacklers and threw for a 13-yard touchdown to Jeff Brown, who

With each team scoring two touchdowns, the margin of victory turned out to be a 49-yard field goal by Russell Erxleben with 11:28 left in the second quarter. It was Erxleben's first successful three-point kick after four misses this season.

North Texas combined trickery with great punting a ball control — a trademark of Texas teams — to control the first half. The key play in that half was a left-handed pass from halfback Malcolm Jones to J.T. Hollins, who used his four-inch height advantage to outjump 5-9 Paul Jette for the ball at the Texas one.

The 34-yard gain wiped out a second-and-21 situation.

Two 15-yard penalties may have kept Texas out of the end zone in the first two quarters. One, against Alfred Jackson, rubbed out a 14-yard gain by Jones to the North Texas 13. The drive fizzled when Erxleben missed a 51-yard field goal attempt.

The second crucial penalty occurred after Johnny Johnson had picked off Glen Ray's pass and returned it to the North Texas 35. A Texas player was charged with a dead ball foul, making it first and 25 for the Longhorns. Erxleben salvaged three points with a field goal.

The absence of star middle guard Walter Chapman, a 250-pound senior, may have been responsible for Campbell's great success running up the middle in the second half.

No. 1 Michigan over Stanford

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Fullbacks Rob Lytle and Russell Davis each scored two touchdowns and Michigan's backs ran wild Saturday as the No.1-ranked Wolverines crushed Stanford 51-0 in college football.

Michigan's top five backs piled up 516 yards rushing in 51 carries for an average of more than 10 yards per carry.

Tailback Harlan Huckleby led the attack with 157 yards in 16 carries, including an eight-yard touchdown run to climax Michigan's first possession.

Less than a minute later, fellow sophomore Rick Leach, Wolverine quarterback, sprinted four yards for another TD, set up when Dom Tedesco recovered a Stanford fumble at the Cardinals' 17.

It was Michigan's game the rest of the way as the defense thwarted Stanford's touted passing attack.

FUMBLE PLAY — SMU's Art Whittington (40) Randy Jueecka (41) and Alabama's Pete Cavin (20) all try for the ball which was fumbled by Whittington on a kickoff return after the Tide's first score in the 2nd quarter of Saturday's game in Birmingham. Cavin got the ball and Alabama went in to score again a few plays later.

Houston gets alligator bit

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Senior quarterback Jimmy Fisher came out passing and drove the Florida Gators to an easy 49-14 victory over the Houston Cougars in an intersectional football game Saturday night.

Fisher conducted 80-yard touchdown marches each of the first three times Florida had the ball and took the Gators 85 yards to open the second half.

He ran for touchdowns of 31 and eight yards and passed to wide receiver Wes Chandler for a 35-yarder. Willie Wilder swept right end 35 yards to score another.

Florida's second string, under the guidance of Junior Bill Kynes, rolled 58 yards for a touchdown that had the Gators well in control, at 28-0, midway in the second quarter.

Earl Carr ran 18 yards for that touchdown and broke loose on a 46-yard scoring run in the third quarter. Third-string quarterback Harry Lecount produced another TD on a oneyard pass to Nap Green late in the game.

Scrambling sophomore Danny Davis got Houston on the scoreboard late in the second quarter with a three-yard run and tossed an 11-yard touchdown pass to Rickey Maddox in the third quarter.

This game was remineiscent of the only other Houston-Florida meeting, one that opened the 1969 season. Florida won 59-34 but the Gators were rank underdogs then instead of slight favorites this time.

This victory gave both teams a 1-1 record. Houston, playing for the Southwest Conference title for the first time, beat Baylor last week.

Loop defeats Ira in heartbreaker

LOOP — The Loop Longhorns defeated the Ira Bulldogs 28-12 here Friday night.

Loop tallied early in the first quarter on a run by Clay Freeman. The PAT failed.

In the third stanza, Fred Kesner scored for Ira on a pass from Joe Hall, but the PAT also failed.

Loop bounced right back, when Richard Hord took a 35-yard pass from Gilbert Varquez. The two-point conversion was good.

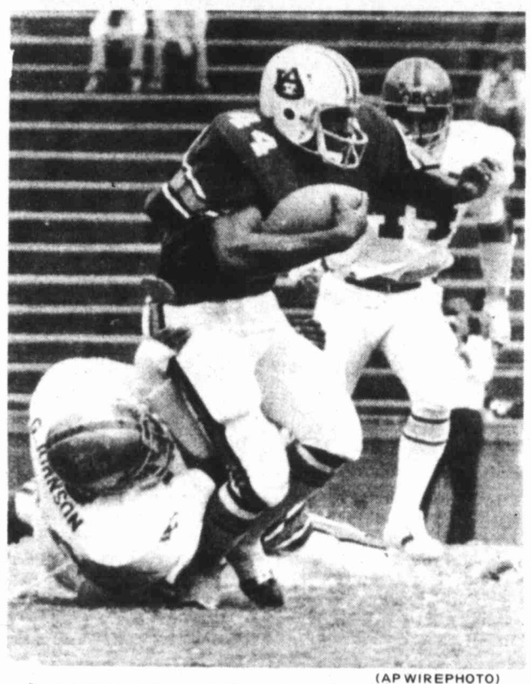

In the fourth quarter, Ira scored again when Eddie Woolsey returned a punt 75 yards for a TD. The extra point failed.

Loop scored two more times, once on a 15-yard run by Steve Juarez, and once on a 35-yard passing strike with 16 seconds remaining in the game. Vasquez and Bingham scored the two extra points, respectively.

The game, which was homecoming for Loop, was much closer than the final score indicated. Ira Head Coach Jones indicated that Ira just failed to capitalize on a number of opportunities.

Ira's Royce Corbell did his best to spoil the homecoming festivities, however. The defensive tank-stopper had 25 tackles for the night, 12 of them unassisted.

Ira plays its next game Friday night at home against Christoval.

HANGING ON — Auburn running back Secdrick McIntyre (44) is stopped by Baylor's Gary Johnson after a short gain during first quarter action in Saturday's game played at Jordan-Hare Stadium. Baylor's Keavin McDonald (44) comes up on the play.

Buffalo ready to loose the Juice

BUFFALO (AP) — Of course Coach Lou Saban wants his Buffalo Bills to score lots of touchdowns against the Houston Oilers in Sunday's National Football League game.

But if he has to settle for field goals, newcomer Bennie Ricardo is the man Saban is counting on to get them.

Ricardo, cut by the Detroit Lions, impressed the Bills with his accurate and long-range kicking in a tryout Wednesday and signed a contract the next day.

"We need a kicker who is hot," said Saban, who fired sixyear booter John Leypoldt after he missed a trio of three-pointers in Monday night's 30-21 loss to Miami.

"Your kicking game can mean the difference between winning and losing four games in a year," Saban added.

The Bills, who have lost eight consecutive games to the Oilers, worked hard during the week trying to find someone who can block for O.J. Simpson, back in Buffalo a week ago after a three-month absence.

Fullback Jim Braxton was Simpson's key blocker but he is lost for the season after tearing ligaments in his right knee early in the Dolphins' game.

Vic Washington, who took over for Braxton, and rookie Darnell Powell worked at fullback. Powell had been a halfback in the preseason.

Against Miami, Powell picked off blitzing linebacker Larry Gordon with a block, allowing quarterback Joe Ferguson to complete his third touchdown pass of the game. It was Powell's first play in a regular-season game.

Simpson, who carried five times for 28 yards and caught a pass for a 43-yard gain in his brief appearance, was expected to see considerable action.

Punt, Pass Kick Today

Bob Brock Ford's Punt, Pass and Kick Contest, which was to have been conducted Saturday afternoon, was rescheduled for 2 p.m., this afternoon in Memorial Stadium due to the rain.

Regardless of today's weather, competition will have to be held since winners have to be certified by midnight.

The winners here become eligible to compete in Zone competition in Lamesa scheduled next Saturday.

Dale Worthan is in charge of today's program.

RRRRR RIP — Florida's Wes Chandler scores as his jersey rips away at the goal line in the hands of Houston defenseman Frederick Snell (24) and defenseman Mark Mohr (39) moves in too late. The action came during the first period of play as the Univ. of Florida met Houston here Saturday night.

Aggies laugh last

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M's 250-pound fullback George Woodard battered Kansas State for two touchdowns and 177 yards rushing Saturday and the 11th-ranked Aggies inflicted a 34-14 intersectional bruise on the Wildcats.

Woodward, only a sophomore, carried the ball 39 times as he rallied the Aggies over the previously unbeaten Wildcats of the Big Eight, who took an early 7-0 lead on quarterback Bill Swanson's one-yard run.

Woodard scored twice from a yard out and almost had a third touchdown when he fumbled at the goal and A&M guard Craig Glendenning recovered for the score.

The 6-foot Woodard, who gained 167 yard in a game last year, received a standing ovation from the Kyle Stadium Field crowd of 50,027 — the largest non-conference gate in A&M's history.

Reserve junior quarterback David Walker guided the Aggies after starter David Shipman fumbled the ball away on two early possessions.

The Aggies, now 2-0 for the year, struck to tie the score 7-7 thanks to a 35-yard pass from Walker to Mike Floyd which set up Woodard's first touchdown.

Barefoot kicking specialist Tony Franklin kicked a 52-yard field goal and a 43-yard field goal as the Aggies built up a 20-7 halftime lead.

Kansas State scratched back late in the third period on a one-yard touchdown run by Roscoe Scobey to make it 27-14.

But Walker took the Aggies on an 87-yard drive in ten plays climaxed by freshman Curtis Dickey's first collegiate touchdown, a four-yard bolt around right end.

Theopilis Bryant flopped on a Shipman fumble and the Wildcats drove 29 yards in six plays before Swanson sneaked over for the score.

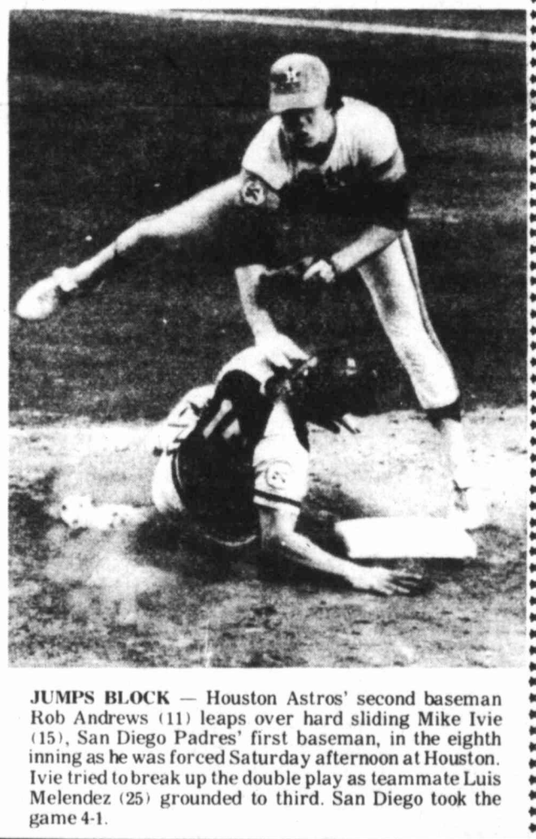

But the Aggies made a break of their own when linebacker Jesse Hunnicutt recovered Swanson's fumble at the A&M 37. At that point, Walker came in to guide the sputtery Aggie attack and immediately began feeding the ball to the massive Woodard, who broke tackle after tackle on his seemingly endless thrusts into the Kansas State line.

Aggie defensive tackle Edgar Fields converted a second K-State miscue, Ken Lovely's fumble, into Franklin's booming 52-yard field goal.

After Glendenning experienced the rare thrill for an offensive lineman of scoring a touchdown, the Aggies received another gift from Kansas State when Reggie Williams picked up a fumble with just one second to play in the first half. Franklin kicked a 43-yard field goal as time ran out.

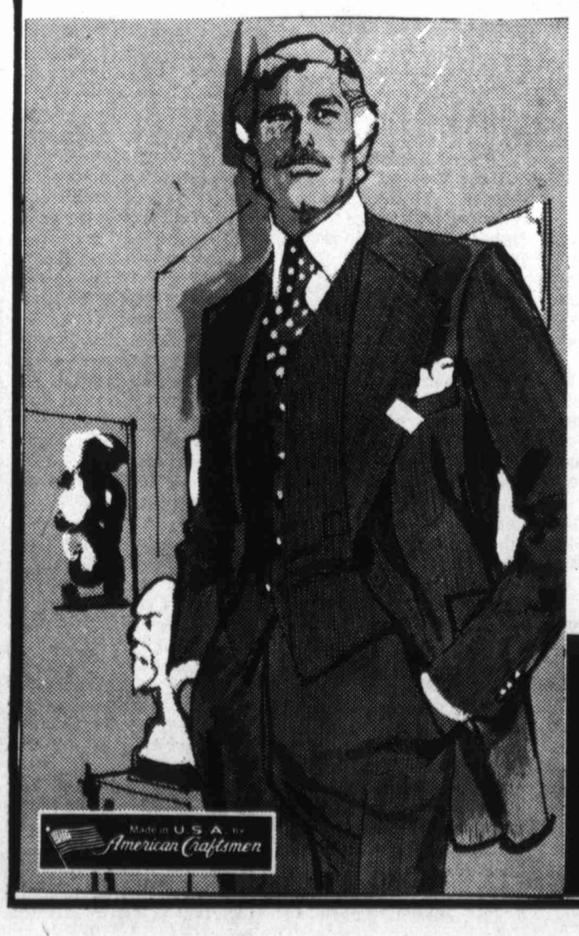

In one typical series in the second half, Woodard carried the ball eight consecutive times, dragging Wildcat players sometimes four and five yards.

The Aggie defense, which ranked third in the nation, was its usual awesome self as it allowed Kansas State only 25 yards rushing.

JUMPS BLOCK — Houston Astros' second baseman Rob Andrews (11) leaps over hard sliding Mike Ivie (15), San Diego Padres' first baseman, in the eighth inning as he was forced Saturday afternoon at Houston. Ivie tried to break up the double play as teammate Luis Melendez (25) grounded to third. San Diego took the game 4-1.

Cowboys vs Stram

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Tom Landry and the Dallas Cowboys ran Hank Stram out of town once.

Stram was coach of the Dallas Texans of the old American Football League, and "Big D" just wasn't big enough for the Cowboys and the Texans.

Stram took his team to Kansas City, became one of professional football's winningest coaches and conquered Minnesota in the 1970 Super Bowl.

Landry stayed in Dallas, also became one of professional football's most frequent winners and conquered Miami in the 1972 Super Bowl.

There the similarity ends.

Stram, fired by the Chiefs, is now 0-1 in his first season with the New Orleans Saints.

Landry is in his 17th year with the Cowboys, who won their season opener last week. The Saints and Cowboys meet Sunday in the Superdome.

After the Saints fumbled and stumbled to a 40-9 whipping by Minnesota last week, Stram promised some lineup changes. But his options were apparently limited by a lack of replacements.

First-round draft choice Chuck Muncie has recovered from a shoulder injury, so he'll start at the tailback slot in Stram's I formation. Secondround choice Tony Galbreath replaces Andrew Jones at fullback, since Jones is hobbled by a recurring problem with his knees.

One-time starter Jim Merlo has regained the outside linebacker post he lost to Rusty Chambers, and Steve Baumgartner will be starting at defensive end in place of Elois Grooms, who is out with a pulled muscle.

Otherwise, the lineup's the same for the Saints.

For the Cowboys, only Preston Pearson, who underwent knee surgery during the preseason, will miss Sunday's contest.

Pecos beats Tornadoes

LAMESA — The state Class AAA semifinalists last year, the Pecos Eagles, came into town looking to show their might, and succeeded, toppling the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes 35-7.

Lamesa could not overcome the strong rushing attack of the foes from far West Texas, and went down to their third defeat in as many starts.

Lamesa plays Hobbs next Friday in New Mexico.

Grady gets stung, 58-27

HIGHLAND — The Highland Hornets stung often and in the early going to buzz away with a 58-27 victory over the Grady Wildcats.

Ivan Krejki hammered the most nails into the Wildcat coffin, by running over three touchdowns, and kicking for 10 extra points.

Other Hornet scorers were Tony Pantoja (two TD's), Randall Blankhead, Carey Scott and Mark Wright.

For Grady, Leland Key, Randall Chee and Frank Cantu all score touchdowns. Randal Jeter kicked for two points, and Alex Perez ran over one pont.

CC Wolves blank Cisco

CISCO — The Colorado City Wolves and the Cisco Lobos battled to a first half draw Friday night, but he visitors came back the second half to defeat Cisco 10-0.

Cisco is now 1-2 on the season, and Colorado City is 2-1.

In the third quarter, Colorado City quarterback Ray Torres passed to split end Pete Parham for a 17-yard tally. That was with 4:16 left in the third stanza.

Steve Belvin kicked the extra point for the Wolves.

The remainder of the third period was very much like the first two quarters, a defensive stale-mate.

But in the fourth quarter, with 10:18 to go in the ballgame, Colorado City drove down the field before it was stopped on the Cisco 30-yard line.

From there, Belvin kicked a three-pointer to round out the scoring.

Garden City KO's Klondike

KLONDIKE — Garden City rallied for 16 fourth-quarter points, and blanked Klondike 16-0 Friday night, upping its record to 1-2, and dropping the hosts to 0-3.

Wayne Hirt scored the first TD of the game when he ran the ball in from 25 yards out. The Garden City defense then combined to drop the Klondike quarterback in the endzone for a safety, and Hirt rounded out the scoring by falling on a blocked punt in the end-zone for another TD.

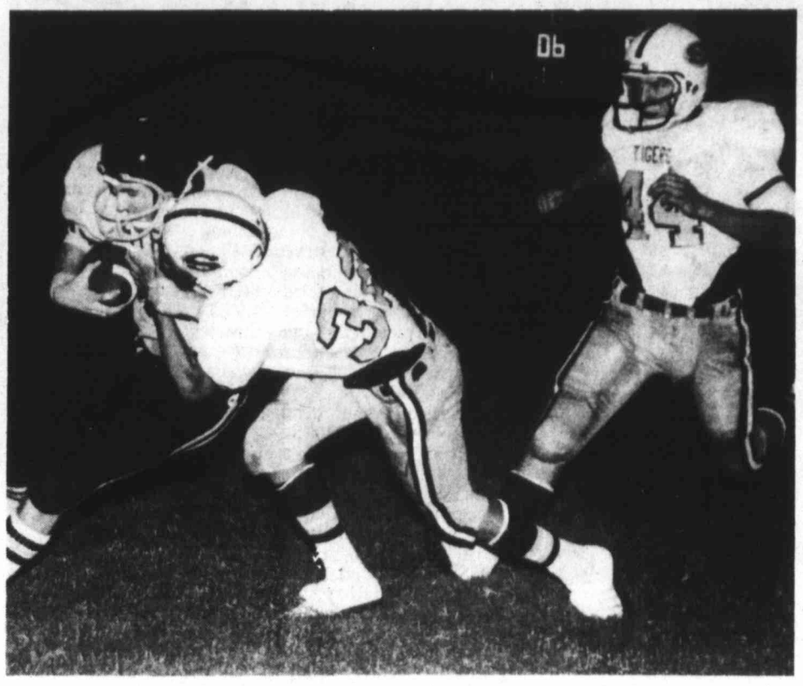

Garden City had 168 total yards to Klondike's 194. Each team lost five fumbles, and Garden City punted eight times for a 25-yard average, while Klondike booted the ball four times for 29 yards.

O'Donnell over Borden

GAIL — The O'Donnell Eagles gained their first win of the season here Friday night by defeating the Borden County Coyotes 24-6.

O'Donnell put 16 points on the scoreboard in the first quarter on a two-yard run by Kevin James, and a 25-yard pass from James to Jessie Martinez. The visitors held Borden County to zip points until the third stanza, when Tommy Patterson scored on a three-yard run.

The Eagles put their final points on the board with 8:41 remaining in the game on a 20-yard run by Danny Morales, and a two-point conversion.

(Photo By Danny Valdes)

Stanton's 'Lemon Juice' squeezes out McCamey

STANTON — The hometown Buffaloes, led by Marvin "Lemon Juice" Jones and his superb running, coupled with a rock-solid defense, blanked the McCamey Badgers here Friday night 20-0.

Jones racked up 169 total yards on 19 carries, and carried the pigskin for two touchdowns.

Jones scored first with 5:54 remaining in the first half. He scooted for 48 yards. The score was set up by an interception by Mike Swinson.

With only 58 seconds remaining in the first half, Jones scored again on a two-yard plunge. Tim Glynn had set up the score on an earlier fumble recovery.

Buff defensive man Bimbo Allred intercepted a Badger pass and raced 45 yards for the final TD late in the game. Todd Smith passed to Oscar Perez for the two-point conversion.

Whitewing season very successful

EDINBURG — An estimated 170,000 white-winged doves were bagged during the Sept. 4-6 and 11-12 season in the Rio Grande Valley, half of which were taken the first day.

Both hunters and officials at the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department were surprised with the first weekend's kill — some 145,000 birds — as a large number of birds moved into the Valley.

However, the birds scattered after the first day of shooting and hunter interest dropped. P&WD whitewing project leader Gary Waggerman said only 6,000 birds were bagged on the last day, Sept. 12.

"With the exception of the first weekend the hunt went as expected," said Waggerman. "There were no major weather disturbances and the harvest was an average one." Last year's harvest was poor with only some 125,000 whitewings taken, as compared to an excellent one in 1974 when some 300,000 were killed.

Forty per cent of the birds were bagged in Starr County with the remainder split between Cameron and Hidalgo Counties.

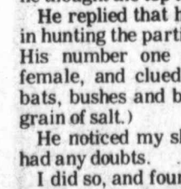

A relatively large number of mourning doves also were killed during the five-day hunt. Waggerman said an estimated 45,000 birds were taken, mostly by hunters in citrus groves away from the Rio Grande. Those hunters along the river bagged very few mourning doves.

Waggerman estimated a total of 40,000 hunter days of recreation from the 1976 whitewing season in the Rio Grande Valley. This November a randomly selected sample of 3,000 Whitewing Stamp buyers will be contacted by mail in an effort to learn more about white-winged dove hunting from Brownsville to El Paso. Persons receiving the postcard questionnaires are asked to return them as soon as possible.

Konny's Korner

By Konny Service

I've been talking to a few of the hunters around the Robert Lee area this week trying to learn all I can about the techniques and skills involved in hunting game.

To my dismay though, I usually end up with a collection of wild stories and schemes that even I know won't work. For example, did you know that you can hunt dove without a gun? That's right. All you need is a handful of grain, a long rope and a little bit of patience.

What it involves is this: 1) Place the rope on the ground, creating a large circle so that it can accomodate from one to three birds comfortably. 2) Place the grain within the center of the circle, and 3) run to the end of the rope and quietly await your prey.

The idea is that when the dove land inside the rope and begin to eat, the rope will be jerked firmly, but quickly, just enough to cause the birds to raise their heads in wonder.

This will cause the rope to close around their necks, making a clean break of the neck, or at least a severe headache. At any rate, the meat will be free of shot, and the cost is surprisingly lower.

Needless to say, after this story I learned to "steer clear of the fat, and try to get a little more of the lean."

I did gain one interesting fact from my outings, however. I was talking to one man who seemed to know a great deal about hunting. He said that he thought mourning doves were the number three game target in the country. This aroused my curiosity, so I asked him what he thought the top target of the area was.

He replied that his ratings were based on the difficulty in hunting the particular game, and how hard it was to hit. His number one target was snipe. (Being a cynical female, and clued in on "Snipe hunts", complete with bats, bushes and bags, I took the statement with a large grain of salt.)

He noticed my skepticism and told me to look it up if I had any doubts.

I did so, and found that the snipe really is considered a very sporting target because of its flight pattern. If you have your doubts, look in the National Geographic Society's book entitled "Water, Prey and Game Birds of North America."

Happy hunting!

Dusters prepare 'victory blueprint'

Last year the Dusters were the "odds on" favorites to win the command flag football title. After an unbeaten season they stumbled in the playoffs and head coach Elmo Gladden came home already building his "blueprint to victory".

As with any construction job, Gladden first had to make sure the 1976 squad would have a strong foundation. It has. Anchoring the interior line will be two former varsity lettermen at the Air Force Academy, Tom Peterson and Bruce Fritzche. Both were starters last year. Add Gladden himself to that pair and the offensive line looks formidable.

But if you want to win at flag football you have to have receivers and the Dusters are deep. The slot is filled by returner Joe Kahaipe, who Gladden describes as a playbook receiver with good speed and a knack for running pass paterns.

At one of the wide receiver slots may be Dick Legas, converted from strong safety in the off season. Legas has quick hands and blazing speed. But, the best of the best is Jack Rudigar, a starter at Concord University, Va., Rudigar is the fastest man on the Duster squad.

Gladden rates him as the best in the command and probably the Air Force at his position.

Pulling the trigger will be Al Oldfather who played wide receiver while backing up all-American quarterbsck Gray Baxter on Webb's first title team.

Oldfather is a strong passer and will add a new dimension to the Duster offense — a quarterback that can scramble.

On defense the Dusters return weakside safety Curtis Marshall, who many think is the best in the command. Curtis Johnson has surprising lateral movement at middle linebacker.

With Gladden leading the defensive charge again this year the stop troops should be strong.

The next Duster practice will be Saturday morning at 10 on the base softball field. Coach Gladlden stressed the need for linemen and defensive backs to tryout for the squad. He quickly added that all positions on the squad are open to challenge.

Charley Johnson joins corporation

Philip E. Giberson, Executive Vice President of the Synthetic Oil Corporation of America, headquartered in Harahan, Louisiana, announced today the appointment of Charles Lane Johnson as Vice President in charge of Product Development.

Johnson is a former NFL all Pro Quarterback. He ended his playing career with the Denver Broncos in 1975. He is currently acting as a scout and quarterback coach with the Denver team.

He spent nine years with the St. Louis Cardinals before moving on to the Houston Oilers for the 1970-72 seasons. He joined the Denver team in 1972.

Johnson was born in Big Spring. He earned a B.S. in Chemical Engineering at New Mexico State University, and holds a M.S. and a Doctor of Sciences, Chemical Engineering from Washington University in St. Louis.

Two local UNM players sidelined with injury

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. — Two sophomores playing football at the University of New Mexico have two things in common: they are both from Big Spring, and they both could be challenging for a starting job if not for injuries.

James Coffey, a linebacker from Big Spring sat out the 1975 season with injuries, and is on the sidelines again. He was a three sport letterman at Big Spring High playing tackle in football, center in basketball, and he putted the shot in track.

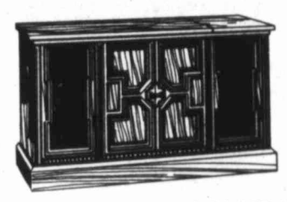

An all-district selection in football he shared the Obie Bristow Award as the top all-around athlete at Big Spring with Danny Ferrell, the other hurting player at UNM.

Ferrell is a sophomore and started every game last year for the junior varsity at tailback, split end and safety. He was back of the year and all-district in high school.

"If we could get our Big Spring players healthy I'm sure this football team would improve greatly," said UNM head Coach Bill Mondt.

Crimson Tide covers SMU

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Quarterback Jack O'Rear, running like a fullback, snapped a stumbling Alabama team to attention with two touchdowns in 49 seconds to lead the Crimson Tide to a 56-3 football victory over Southern Methodist Saturday.

O'Rear's runs of 7 and 19 yards came early in the second period after the Mustangs had taken a 3-0 lead on John Dunlop's 40-yard field goal.

Alabama, ranked 14th in the nation despite an opening 10-7 loss to Mississippi, gave up the ball on its first three possessions on two fumbles and a pass interception.

But O'Rear, starting the second period with Alabama at the SMU 26, tossed to Thad Flanagan to the seven and then ran over four defenders on the next play to score.

SMU's Art Whittington fumbled the kickoff, Pete Cavan recovered it at the 25 and three plays later O'Rear again bounced off tacklers to take it in.

O'Rear directed Alabama 60 yards for another touchdown on its next possession, and with the half almost over, sophomore Jeff Rutledge threw to Ozzie Newsome who caught the ball at the five between two defenders and scored on a 45-yard play.

The Tide defense, led by tackle Bob Baumhower, kept SMU from getting a first down until Alabama had taken a 14-3 lead and never let the Mustangs past their own 23 in the third period.

With Alabama subs on defense late in the game, SMU moved to the Alabama eight and again to the 12. But the Tide held on fourth down both times.

Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant used 65 Alabama players including five quarterbacks, as the game deteriorated into a bad mismatch.

Tide runners rolled to 419 yards, with Tony Nathan getting 101 on 10 carries, Johnny Davis 90 on 9 carries and O'Rear 58 on 6.

It was the first game ever played between the schools, and gave each a 1-1 record for the season.

Buckeyes nip Lions

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — Wingback Bob Hyatt, on his only carry of the game, took a pitchout eight yards for a fourth-period touchdown Saturday to give second-ranked Ohio State a 12-7 college football victory over seventh-ranked Penn State.

Quarterback Rod Gerald, who made the pitchout to Hyatt, scored the Buckeyes' first TD on an eight-yard sweep at the end of an 82-yard, second-period drive. Ohio State missed two-point conversion run attempts after each score.

Coach Joe Paterno's Penn State Nittany Lions, on the verge of their first shutout in 106 games, rallied on a 15-play, 87-yard march. It was capped with six minutes remaining in the fourth quarter by freshman Matt Suhey's one-yard touchdown dive.

Penn State twice in the second period failed to score against the Ohio State defense after picking up first downs at the Buckeyes' five. Ray Griffin intercepted a pass in the end zone, blunting the first threat, and Joe Geise fumbled the ball away the second time.

Emmons the bulldozer

Vols zilch TCU

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)— Sophomore fullback Bobby Emmons bulldozed for 73 yards and a touchdown to lead Tennessee to a 31-0 victory Saturday night over Texas Christian in an intersectional college football game.

The 224-pound reserve danced 11 yards over the middle for the Vols' third touchdown in a 62-yard drive that saw him plough through the line for 13 yards four plays earlier, carrying four Horned Frogs with him.

All-American split end Larry Seivers won the battle of receivers against TCU's highly-touted Mike Renfro. Seivers scored a touchdown in the second period on a 69-yard pass play from quarterback Randy Wallace. The fourth longest pass in Tennessee's history, it quelled suspicions that Wallace was bothered by tendonitis in his shoulder.

Horned Frogs' quarterbacks Jimmy Dan Elzner and Steve Bayuk, who passed 60 per cent of the time, turned their aim to flanker Vernon Wells, the leading receiver of the night with 189 yards on nine grabs.

Renfro, the top receiver in the Southwest Conference last year with 810 yards, was confined to 95 yards on six catches by a Tennessee secondary led by safeties Roland James and Russ Williams and cornerback Thomas Rowsey, who had two big interceptions.

The Horned Frogs threatened to score only once, advancing to the Vols' 9-yard line early in the fourth quarter only to turn the ball over on downs.

The loss was the second straight of the season for TCU after falling 34-14 to SMU last week. Tennessee evened its record at 1-1 after a 21-18 loss to Duke last Saturday.

Junior Jim Gaylor vindicated himself after missing two extra-point attempts and a field goal in the loss to Duke. Gaylor booted a 49-yard field goal in the third quarter and all four extra points in addition to sailing the ball into the end zone on five kickoffs.

Wallace opened the scoring the third time Tennessee got the ball with a 17-yard keeper over right tackle in a 56-yard drive.

Fleet Stanley Morgan took a pitchout around left end for 29 yards and Tennessee's final touchdown.

Elzner and Bayuk connected on 18 of 40 passes for 291 yards for the losers. Tennessee, getting its Wishbone rolling, completed nine of 18 for 131 yards.

OU Sooners boom Cals

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Junior quarterback Dean Blevins ran 10 yards for one touchdown and passed 65 yards for another and Oklahoma's secondary lived up to its reputation as the fourth-ranked Sooners defeated pass-minded California 28-17 in college football Saturday.

With fullbacks Kenny King and Jim Culbreath running almost at will against the Golden Bears' lightweight line, the Sooners overcame some early fumbles to fashion a 21-7 halftime lead.

California's Joe Roth had success connecting with his receivers on short routes, but the Sooner secondary completely cut off the long pass until Roth hit wide receiver Ed Gillies on a 28-yard scoring aerial with 3:34 to play.

Culbreath, a senior, got the Sooners on the scoreboard with a 56-yard jaunt with 5:57 left in the first period, and Uwe von Schamann got the first of his four extra-point kicks.

Oklahoma had three drives stopped by fumbles, coughing up the ball once on the California six after a 61-yard dash by King. Sooner halfback Elvis Peacock had a 30-yard run into the end zone nullified by a penalty.

Texas schoolboy football results

By The Associated Press

Tyler John Tyler ripped Conroe in a key Class 4A schoolboy football game in Texas Friday night, while top-ranked Sherman registered an easy triumph.

Tyler, ranked fifth, tripped No. 9 Conroe 22-3 in the year's first battle between two ranked 4A teams. Sherman showcased Ronald Jackson, who scored four touchdowns and rushed 173 yards on just 13 carries, as it shelled Greenville 42-13.

For the first time this season, all of the top-ranked teams in the five schooboy divisions won their games. Beaumont Hebert of Class 3A beat another 4A school, Port Arthur Lincoln, 20-13; Class 2A kingpin Rockdale whitewashed Marlin 31-0, Aledo of Class A blanked Joshua 6-0 and Class B No. 1 Chico edged Sanger 15-14.

Class 4A's Pampa defeated No. 6 Perryton 12-3, the only loss suffered in the Class 3A Top Ten. Second-rated Gainesville tripped Rockwall 38-, No. 3 Ennis blanked McKinney 15-0, No. 4 Brownwood and No. 5 Brazosport slugged Waco Midway and Edna, respectively, by identical 33-7 margins, No. 7 Beeville slipped by Alice 17-13, No. 8 Humble cracked Liberty 33-21, No. 9 Silsbee whitewashed Beaumont French 22-0 and 10th-rated Pecos slugged Lamesa 35-7.

In Class 2A, the seventh, eighth and ninth teams were defeated. Respectively, Pittsburg fell 15-9 to Daingerfield, Bellville lost 18-14 to Katy and Gladewater was shut out 9-0 by DeKalb. Second-rated McGregor beat Waco Connally 29-14.

Rice buries Utah

HOUSTON (AP) — Quarterback Tommy Kramer picked apart the Utah secondary Saturday night tossing four touchdown passes and running for another score to lead Rice to a 43-22 intersectional football victory.

Kramer was a magician, especially in the last two quarters, as he brought Rice from behind twice with his pinpoint passing. He completed 28 of 43 passes for 319 yards.

Utah kept coming back and back, with tailback Steve Peate punishing the Owl defense with bruising runs, but it was not enough. Peate scored three times on runs of four and one yards and then on a 72-yard screen pass-play from quarterback Pat Degnan.

Everytime Rice, a member of the Southwest Conference that limped through a dismal 1-10 season last year, appeared to stall, Kramer came through with a clutch pass. He started the scoring with a five-yard pass to Kenneth Roy and then hit his big tight end for touchdowns tosses of 11 and eight yards. Kramer also sneaked in from the one after setting up the score by completing five of six passes.

The other Rice touchdown came on a three-yard run by fullback James Sykes. This score, once again, was set up by Kramer's passing as he completed five in a row for 63 yards.

The last Kramer touchdown pass came with two minutes when he hit Greg Boston from eight yards out.

The four touchdown passes tied a school record set in 1950 by Vernon Glass against Santa Clara, Calif., in the first game ever played in Rice Stadium.

The 43 points were the most scored by a Rice team since 1969 when they racked up 55 against Virginia Military.

Utah stayed in the ball game until the disastrous fourth quarter when Rice could do no wrong.

Degnan completed 16 of 33 passes for 276 yards and had the Utes in front 15-14 at halftime. Then the ceiling fell in.

The Rice offense leaned almost entirely on Kramer's arm. The Owls could pick up only 87 yards on the ground while the Western Athletic Conference team was gathering 163.

Rice took a 21-15 lead late in the third quarter but within two plays was back in front 22-21 as Peake streaked 72 yards down the sideline after taking screen pass from Degnan.

From then on it was all Rice, although Utah did have its offensive movement, but missed on three field goa attempts.

Kramer put the game on ice when he went for a two-point conversion in the fourth period hitting halfback Nick Spillios to make it 29-22.

It was the opening game for both clubs and the Southwest Conference debut for Rice Coach Homer Rice.

Huskers rout injured Indiana

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Tailbacks Monte Anthony and Richard Berns combined for 167 yards and scored two touchdowns each Saturday as eighth-ranked Nebraska manhandled injury-riddled and error-plagued Indiana 45-13 in college football.

The Cornhuskers, who fell from the No. 1 ranking after playing a 6-6 tie with Louisiana State last week, struck for two touchdowns within a five-minute stretch in the first quarter and were in control the rest of the way.

Indiana scored late in the third quarter when reserve quarterback Terry Jones hit receiver Keith Calvin on a 3-yard scoring pass. A 48 yard pass from Jones to Don Burrell and a 20-yarder to Calvin set up the touchdown.

Nebraska marched 74 yards for a touchdown on its first possession and scored when fullback Dodie Donnell went over from the one.

Baylor Bears sneak by fumbling Tigers

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Mark Jackson threw a 12-yard fourth-quarter touchdown pass to Tommy Davidson and then tossed to Davidson again for a two-point conversion Saturday to give Baylor a 15-14 football victory over an Auburn team which gave up the ball six times on fumbles.

Two of the errors halted Auburn scoring drives inside the five-yard line. The Tigers drove 83 yards early in the first period until quarterback Phil Gargis lost the ball just inside the five. Then in the second period Secdrick McIntyre was jarred lose from the ball on the one and Baylor recovered in the end zone.

The Tigers had no monopply on fumbles. The visiting Texans dropped the ball five times and Auburn recovered it on four of those plays.

Auburn scored first on a 35-yard pass from Gargis to flanker Chris Vacarella and again when Gargis hit Dick Hayley from eight yards out in the third quarter, and the Tigers appeared at that point to have thinngs pretty well in hand.

But Baylor came storming back on Jackson's passing and long runs by tailback Cleveland Franklin and, assisted by a 15-yard penalty against Auburn, moved into range for Jackson to hit Davidson with the winning score.

Unwilling to settle for a tie, Jackson went for a two-pointer and hit Davidson in the end zone again.

Baylor came within three feet of scoring another touchdown in the final period. Jackson hit Davidson with a 15-yard pass and another for 10 for a first down at the four, and the Bears got down to the one before Franklin fumbled and Jeff McCollum recovered for Auburn.

Gargis had a pretty good passing day, completing nine out of 15 for 172 yards.

It almost like old home week on Auburn's second touchdown. The fumble reovery by Rick Freeman started the scoring drive which came to a climax when Hayley caught the eightyard pass from Gargis.

Freeman is the son of Bobby Sreeman, a one-time Auburn quarterback who later became one of the Tigers' assistant coaches; Hayley's father is Lee Hayley, the present Auburn athletic director and himself a former Auburn football player. Watching the game from e press box was Ralph "Shug" Jordan, who was Auburn's head coach for 25 years until he retired at the end of last season.

STAINED GLASS — Displays such as this will be among the many attractions at the fourth annual Colorado City Railhead Arts and Crafts Roundup next Saturday.

Up to 70 artists expected

C-City show slated

Sixty to 70 artists and craftsmen from throughout West Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico are expected to set up booths and displays of their handiworks for the 4th annual Colorado City Railhead Arts and Crafts Roundup set for Sat., Sept. 25.

The Railhead Arts and Crafts Roundup, so named in recognition of Colorado City's status as a railhead for West Texas in the 1880's, will be held in and around Colorado City's Civic Center, 2nd & Oak Street in the downtown area.

This Arts and Crafts Fair will be unique for this area as the exhibitors have been invited to decorate their booths and dress with the Railhead — 1880 theme. For their efforts booth prizes will be awarded. Everyone entered plans to dress old-fashion hoping to create an interesting enjoyable atmosphere for fairgoers.

The roundup begins at 10 a.m. and ends at 6 p.m. Sept. 25, followed at 8 p.m. by a meeting of the Do-Si-Do Square Dance Club to which everyone is invited. There is no admission charge to either the roundup or the square dance club meeting. Everyone is invited to come by and join in the fun. There will be live music all day plus food booths.

By Sept. 11, 58 artists and craftsmen had already reserved space for booths at the roundup and more requests for booths are expected as the time for the roundup grows closer.

Many of the artists and craftsmen attending have donated items that will be given away in drawings throughout the day. Everyone attending is asked to register in order to be eligible for the drawings.

Artists and craftsmen will have items for sale at the roundup. All of the items will be hand made and created by the artists and craftsmen themselves.

Some of the items to be on display include all types of art work (oils, watercolors, pencil, charcoal), macrame, handpainted jewelry, handpainted china, woodcraft, artificial fruits, plants and flowers, pottery, tole paintings, ceramics, weavings, leather goods, dolls, jewelry and much, much more.

The event is sponsored annually by the Cultural Committee of the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce.

Tractor pulls will be part of the Howard County Fair again this year with special competition on Thursday and Friday nights.

This fast-growing sport, will be held in the Big Spring Rodeo Bowl at 7 p.m. on both nights. Advance tickets are $2.50 for adults with tickets at the gate $3. Children tickets are $1.

For information, call Elbert Long at 7-2007 or Durwood Blagrave at 353-4426.

The Thursday night event will include competition in the 5,000 lb. open, the 9,000 lb. stock, the 9,000 lb. super stock, the 7,000 lb. modified, the 15,000 lb. stock and the 15,000 lb. local novice.

On Friday, competition will include the 7,000 lb. super stock, the 12,000 lb. non-turbo, the 9,000 lb. open, the 12,000 lb. stock and the 12,000 lb. open.

Total purse for the two night events is $4,750 with entry fees set at $25.

Continuance plea denied by judge

District Judge Ralph W. Caton Friday afternoon denied a motion for a continuance sought by the defense in the murder trial scheduled Tuesday.

Roger D. Brown, attorney for Jay Doug Ingram, argued two witnesses could not be found and a doctor was going to Europe.

Subpoenae for Lloyd Gene Nichols and Donna K. Nichols, both said to be living on a route out of Tahoka, have been returned unserved seven times, Brown stated.

A Colorado City physician who examined Ingram, 26, after the April 1975 shotgun slaying of Mike Green, is going to Europe, Brown noted.

Green and Ingram fought with fists before the shooting, witnesses told police.

Judge Caton granted the defense one continuance in September 1975.

Girl, 5, is molested

HURST, Tex. (AP) — A man abducted a 5-year-old girl and her 6-year-old brother on their way home from school Friday, sexually molesting the girl after locking the boy in the trunk of a car, officers said.

The abductor then released the youngsters, who were found by officers.

Police Sgt. Gene Kilgore said the children apparently were lured into the car.

Police were seeking a young white man about 5-foot-11 and wearing a cast on one hand. They described his car as a large, white vehicle with a red interior.

In talk by Bancroft

Campaign steps told

Ben Bancroft reported to the group of civic leaders here Friday on the pioneering steps being taken by the Richards-Gebaur base in Kansas City.

This base, which was originally in Illinois and moved to Kansas City was to have been closed by the Air Force 18 months ago and moved back to Illinois.

The Kansans, joined on the state line by the Missourians, got upset. And they have conducted quite a battle with the Air Force, according to Bancroft.

While the local delegation was in Washington, they attended hearings on this matter with Bancroft sitting in for Big Spring. "I learned a lot about their battle and how they have held off the Air Force this long," Bancroft stated.

He said Senator Symington is chairman of the Military Construction Subcommittee of which Sen. John Tower of Texas is vice chairman.

Both men have taken a strong stand for the Richards-Gebaur base.

"In the hearing they pointed out many of the other federal agencies that would spend more money if the base is moved. They claimed that it was false economy to save 50 cent closing a base on one hand and then spend a dollar for the harm it does to other federal agencies."

They used as examples such things as the office of Housing and Urban Development having to spend millions in housing recovery projects.

Bancroft said, "We can make a lot of the same claims." He added, "Richards-Gebaur have also filed a lawsuit, which is another delaying action.

"We picked up a lot of knowledge at that hearing. They are the first base that has forced the Air Force into following the law with the environmental impact hearings which we are presently going through.

"They are now attempting to prove that it is false economy to say you are saving money on one hand and spend it on the other," Bancroft added.

Bancroft commended Senator Tower for the strong stand he has taken on Webb. "He has really been our friend in this matter," he added.

He also discussed the Nuclear Fuel Assurance Act, which Big Spring is awaiting, hoping that it might be a possible site for a nuclear power plant.

Bancroft said, "Unless something surprising happens, I don't believe this is going to go to the Senate before they adjourn the week of Oct. 2-9."

Carter visits state Sept. 24

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Democratic presidential candidate Jimmy Carter will make his first campaign trip to Texas on Sept. 24, state party chairman Calvin Guest announced today.

Guest said that Mrs. Carter will arrive two days before her husband and campaign throughout Texas.

Guest said Carter "is going to be quite active," but added he did not know yet the specific

CINDERELLA BUT NOT THE HANDSOME PRINCE
Shrine Circus here Monday offers many laughs, specialty acts

In circus here Monday

Varied program offered

Spectacular, star-studded entertainment rolls into town Monday with the arrival of the Clyde Bros. Carden-Johnson Circus vans and caravan of talent. With a precision gained from forty international tours, skilled hands will set about the preparations for the Big Spring Shrine Circus to be presented at 3:15 p.m. again at 8 p.m. in the Rodeo Bowl.

The scene is a familiar one from the tip of Florida to the busy streets of Toronto, from the northeastern states to the ranges of the southwest as America's finest indoor circus travels on its United States and Canada tour.

Billed as "Clyde Bros. Carden-Johnson Circus, Bicentennial Edition," the circus features tigers, elephants, chimps and the greatest aggregate of animal acts on the circus tour.

Stars of the trapeze and high-wire demonstrate their sensational skills with bold disdain of safety. Months and years of unrelenting training result in fast-moving performances of skill and strength.

There will be laughs a-plenty when the circus comics, the capering clowns, hit the state with their merry madness.

From the moment the door of the first van swings open and the sound of trumpeting elephants and roaring lions and tigers herald their arrival, until the last light is dimmed on the final dazzling performance, there is excitement and entertainment for all at the Shrine Circus.

Tickets are available at the gate.

Shark bite is fatal

JACKSONVILLE BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A Tennessee teenager who police thought had drowned actually was killed by a shark, authorities say. His brother, who was swimming with him, is missing.

The body of Mike Harold Karras Jr., 16, of Knoxville, Tenn., washed ashore a few miles south of here Wednesday, and a medical examiner said Thursday there was no doubt that he had been killed by a shark.

"The bite in the left shoulder and another in the right leg were 10 inches in diameter," said Dr. Peter Lipkovic. "The teeth marks were like a shark's. No other fish is like that."

Mike and his brother, Ricky, 15, disappeared Sunday from the rough Atlantic Ocean surf off the Northeast Florida coast here. They had been staying at a nearby motel with their parents.

Police Chief Paul Brown said there had been no reports of sharks Sunday, and he added, "We were surprised when we learned he had been killed by sharks."

Brown said that nobody on the beach reported seeing the boys, and no lifeguards were on duty at the time because it was off-season for this resort area.

Expert at making ox yokes

with Marj Carpenter

Ted Daniels, 63, who lives at 2300 Thorpe, has one of the most unusual hobbies of anybody in Big Spring.

He makes ox yokes just to be making ox yokes. He is a retired sand and gravel worker and decided that he needed something to do.

HIS FATHER, the late W.B. Daniels, used to farm around here in the early years and he at one time had used oxen to pull his plow. So Ted just decided he'd like to make an ox yoke.

He made one and carried it around in the back of his pickup. It created so much talk that he got busy and made four more.

His wife laughed, "It's been messy. He made the ox yokes out of cottonwood and tracked it all in the house and it would stick to his clothes."

Down at Big Spring Hardware, they heard about his project and so they loaned him a couple of loops that had been lying around the store for years.

Then he made his other loops. He got green wood and lopped them around a tree tying the loops until they dried. Just like in the old days.

He studied magazines and pictures and kind of taught himself how to make the yokes. Then in between, he decided to weld together all of the horseshoes he had picked up through the years and make a chair. "I may enter that horseshoe chair and an ox yoke at the Fair," he laughed. "I guess I'd be in the senior division."

HE MIGHT be in the senior division on paper, but in enthusiasm about his hobby, he ought to be in the youth division. He is really excited about his partime.

He purchased tool at the Nat Schick auction to build his ox-yokes with. He said, "I guess it may be the same one Nat used to carve those totem poles."

He's thinking now about making an old plow. "I'll have to go and look at a couple of them," he quipped. He looked at an ox yoke in the Judge Roy Bean Museum in Langtry and came home and made one. He also macrames hanging baskets for pot plants. "I just like to keep busy."

He has two sons, Melvin and Jimmy Daniel. Both reside in Big Spring. His grandchildren include two boys and a girl.

"The family has always had more boys. When we came out here from Hood County when I was 15, there were 11 kids in our family. Seven of us were boys."

HE WENT to school in the Moore community and "loved to play basketball. We used to play against Fairview, Knott, Highway, Elbow, Lomax and Centerpoint."

Daniel said "I've written down a verse of an old song about oxen drivers."

"Oh no," his wife declared.

"Oh yes," said Daniel.

Root Hog Or Die

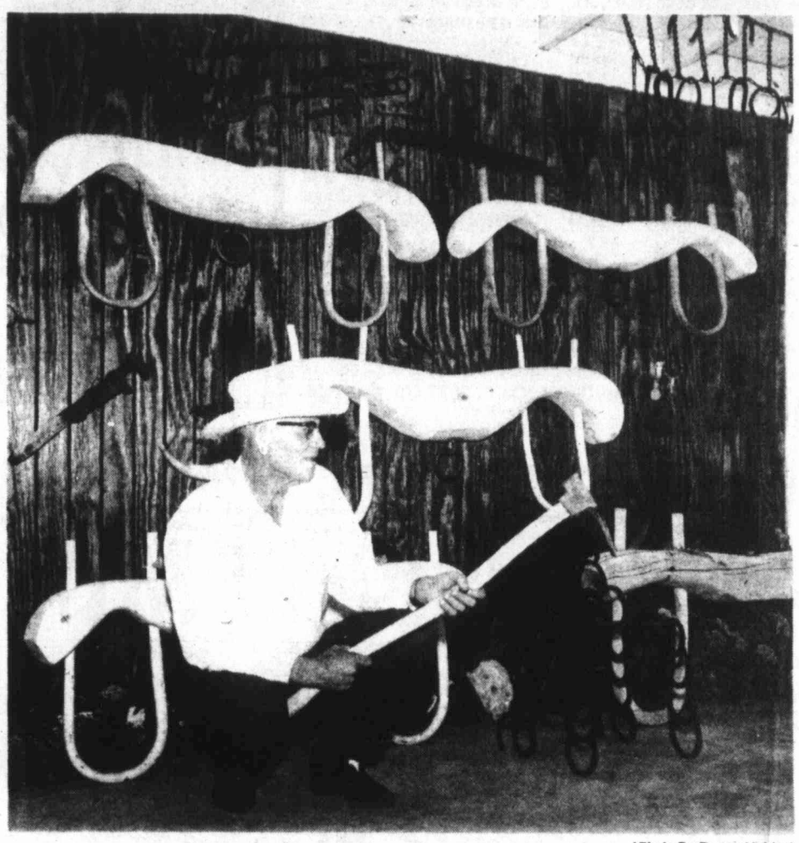

"I am an oxen driven on the Salt Lake City line.

I can whip the rascal that yoked an ox of mine.

You had better turn him out, or you bet that I will try.

I will whip him with an ox box. Root Hog or Die."

And that's the way it is out on Thorpe Street. That's way out at the edge of town — near the fence, when I was out ridin' last week.

JUST A HOBBY — Ted Daniels makes ox yokes for a hobby. "I just like to carve them out," he said here this week.

Records broken at Six Flags

ARLINGTON, TEX. — Six Flags Over Texas has begun weekend-only operation for the fall months on the heels of the most successful spring and summer seasons in the theme park's sixteen-year history.

Through Labor Day more than 2,217,000 persons had visited the Arlington entertainment center, topping the old record by more than 200,000 visitors.

Six Flags Over Texas will be open Saturdays and Sundays only through the last weekend in November. Hours on Saturdays will be 10 a.m. until midnight in September; 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. in October, and 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. in November. Hours on Sundays, September through November, will be 10 a.m. until 8 p.m.

Crane minister is selected

COLLEGE STATION — The Rev. Carl Treat of the First United Methodist Church of Crane and of the Methodist Church in Imperial has been selected Texas Rural Minister of the Year.

Announcement was made Sept. 15 by Dr. David Ruesink, rural sociologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and general chairman of the 31st annual Town and Country Church Conference Sept. 30-Oct. 1 at Texas A&M University.

Wrong car is flagged down

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — "I'm a cop. You hit a cop," a man involved in a collision here yelled as he flashed a gold badge at two men in the second car.

The other two men looked at his badge, identifying him as "Honorary Deputy Sheriff, Middlesex County, Massachusetts," and then produced their own badges, police said. They were plainclothes, undercover detectives for Fort Lauderdale.

Brian Philip Blaney, 26, of Boston, was arrested Thursday on charges of impersonating an officer and driving while intoxicated.

"What's worse than hitting a police car and being at fault?" asked police spokesman Tom Brophy. "Hitting an undercover police car, being at fault and then trying to impersonate a police officer."

Musical drama lures crowds

CANYON — In 1976, the musical drama "Texas" played to 98,710 people. Raymond Raillard, the executive vice president of the producing organization released the audited figures in a report to the meeting of the Panhandle Motel Association at Howard Johnson's East, Thursday noon, Sept. 9.

The final figures were somewhat higher than the earlier estimated number, and show the highest attendance in the history of the production.

Craig might be first

'One base at a time'

"One of our best alternatives at this point may be to try to persuade the Air Force that they should only close one base at this time," Mayor Wade Choate told a group of civic leaders at a briefing at the Big Spring Country Club at noon Friday. "If they would decide that, I think they would close Craig and not Webb," Choate added.

"WE REALLY believe this is true because there is to be an expected upswing of ATC pilots. If this is the case, they would barely get two bases closed and then turn around and open another one," the mayor added.

He outlined this possibility among many other possibilities which the legislative action group is trying to get incorporated into the public hearing. The hearing will follow the environmental impact statement released in Washington this week.

The delegation, which has been at the Capitol to receive and discuss the statement on Webb Air Force Base returned to Big Spring around 1 a.m. Friday.

They briefed a group of community leaders, including the Century Club executive board, the legislative affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce, the chamber board of directors, and city and county officials.

Mayor Choate, who was one of four speakers at the luncheon, again told the group the details of the environmental report which listed four other bases as possible alternates to be closed.

He then called on J. Tom Graham to present charts which compared the four bases which might be alternates to the two bases scheduled for closing, which are Webb and Craig AFB in Selma, Ala.

"Actually Webb shows up rather well on the Air Force's own charts," Graham pointed out. "I don't see how they justify selecting Webb as the one to be closed. If there must be two, the facts and figures show that they probably should be Craig and Columbus."

THE GOOD weather at Webb was again mentioned. It is second only to Laughlin AFB on the days available for flight.

Mayor Choate publicly thanked both senators, Sen. John Tower, and Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, Congressmen Omar Burleson, George Mahon and Richard White for their continued support of Big Spring in their battle to attempt to keep Webb AFB open.

"Sen. Tower has taken an especially strong stand. In fact he was to visit today on a plane en route to Wichita Falls with the Secretary of the Air Force concerning Webb," Choate added.

Richard Jensen presented figures released by the Air Force on the socio-economic impact on Big Spring. "They are using 1973 figures and we think this is unfair. Everybody knows the purchasing value of the dollar has dropped in three years," Jensen pointed out.

He said the Air Force has admitted that there will be 1307 vacant homes in Big Spring immediately following the closing of the base. "This does not even include the second impact, when some small businesses might fail while waiting for the city to recover. This would mean additional homes would become vacant. We estimate it could become as high as 2500 or 2800," Jensen stated.

"There would be $19.7 million drop in sales at local stores very quickly. The impact would be very heavy. In turn, the city would lose $197,000 in sales tax revenue alone," Jensen added.

MAYOR CHOATE pointed out that the Permian Basin Planning Council, headed by Harold Hall, local city councilman, would conduct a hearing in October, sending in their imput from the area.

"The main thing we must do in the next month is to gather all available data and be sure that it is all included in the public hearing facts," Mayor Choate added.

Graham pointed out that Sen. Tower told the Air Force that "You have not justified the closing of one of the most efficient Air Force bases in the United States with your impact statement."

R. H. Weaver commended the delegation for their "hard work" and added, "We appreciate it." Some 35 civic leaders attended the briefing.

Highway week opens today

AUSTIN — Noting that "The vital role of transportation is a matter of concern to every Texan," Governor Dolph Briscoe has proclaimed Sept. 19-25 as "Highway and Transportation Week."

Board to review building plans

GAIL — The board of trustees for the Borden County Independent School District will review plans for new buildings and consider a trip to New York City concerning bond ratings at a meeting 8 p.m. Monday.

Also, the board will open bids on proposed contracts for butane, gasoline and a car.

Vance is safe, insist solons

VANCE AIR FORCE BASE, Okla. (AP) — Enid officials say they have been assured by Sens. Henry Bellmon and Dewey Bartlett, Oklahoma Republicans, that nearby Vance Air Force Base is not in danger of being closed.

Rumors that the northern Oklahoma base might be shut down cropped up Thursday after the Air Force released a statement listing Vance among four bases to be studied as alternatives to the proposed closing of Craig Air Force Base, Ala., and Webb Air Force Base, Tex.

The Air Force, in a statement released from Vance, said a Draft Environmental Statement (DES) had been filed with the President's Council on Environmental Quality listing Vance and three other air training command undergraduate pilot training bases as alternatives.

Owners of barking dogs awakened by officials

ABERDEEN, N.C. (AP) — Town officials here believe in letting sleeping dogs lie — and in waking up the owners of dogs who bark too late at night.

Spurred by complaints from some of the 2,000 residents that barking neighborhood dogs were disturbing their sleep, the town board decided recently to enforce a long-standing ordinance against unnecessary noise between 11 p.m. and 7 a.m.

The board instituted a program called "Awake the Owner," under which citizens whose slumbers are disturbed by canine cacophony telephone the police with the name of the offending dog's owner.

A police dispatcher then awakens the owner with a telephone call — and if necessary, a second and third call until the dog is heard no more.

"The program has been successful," former Police Commissioner Cliff Blue Jr., who is credited with originating the plan, said Friday. "Lots of people have complimented me. One man said he whipped the hell out of his dog one night."

Blue publicized the program in the Sandhill Citizen, a weekly newspaper he edits in this south-central North Carolina town. He said he resigned as police commissioner this week and now serves as road commissioner.

Homosexuals becoming vocal

Antiquated sex laws are being phased out

About a third of the states have repealed or reformed laws dating to Puritan days which prohibit certain types of sexual activity, laws which homosexuals say discriminate against them.

Most of the changes have come in the 1970s, with most reforms-made in the last two years, sometimes in response to pressure from gay activists and civil libertarians.

Most of the laws in question are sodomy laws which prohibit oral and anal sex. Massachusetts, which retains its law, calls it "the abominable and detestable crime against nature," punishable by 20 years in prison.

A few states have repealed their sodomy laws directly. Most legislatures have revamped old state laws as part of general reform of their penal codes. These revamped laws do not prohibit consensual sex acts.

Because of these reforms there are now 19 states scattered across the country which have no laws restricting consensual sexual activity by adults. They still prohibit certain acts if they are forcible or involve minors.

In the last two years these states have changed their laws: Arkansas, California, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, New Hampshire, New Mexico, South Dakota, Washington and West Virginia. Florida had its sodomy law thrown out by a state court five years ago, and the legislature has not rewritten it.

Despite this trend toward liberalization of sex laws, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled last March in a Virginia case that the old laws are constitutional and a state may use them to prohibit private homosexual acts between consenting adults.

Opponents of the laws claim the laws are unconstitutional and discriminatory, especially in the few states where they don't apply to married couples, but do to homosexuals and everyone else.

In most of the states the laws prohibit certain sex acts without regard to sexual inclination or marital status. Thus even married couples are legally barred from engaging in them.

Violation of the law represents a misdemeanor or felony and can be punishable by hundreds of dollars in fines and years in jail.

Critics say laws are unrealistic because the sex acts covered by sodomy laws are very common in the heterosexual population. They cite the Kinsey Report and other surveys that show that well over 50 per cent of heterosexual couples engage in them.

But the decision in the Supreme Court case, which homosexual and civil liberties groups expected to kill what they say are antiquated laws, came as a surprise. The groups say the decision has forced them to go after reform at the state level. They have run up against resistance in some states.

"We have about 18 states that no longer have these laws, even some in the Bible belt where you wouldn't expect it," says Bruce Voeller, executive director of the National Gay Task Force in New York City.

"These laws pertain every bit as much to heterosexual acts as homosexual acts," Voeller says. "Various surveys show that 60 to 85 per cent of the heterosexual population engages in these acts.

"The reality is that they are seldom enforced, but when they are, it's usually against gay men.

"Everyone should see that their privacy and individual rights are at stake in this matter, and we hope that through litigation and legislation the law will change."

But opposition to repeal or reform can be strong and stems from the religious heritage of a country that made sodomy punishable by death in the original colonies.

Asked about repeal, Atty. Gen. Vernon B. Romey of the Mormon State of Utah said: "Of course not. Utah would never go for something like that. Never. There is no possibility. No possibility."

One of the major challenges to the constitutionality of these laws comes from New York where the state appeals court is to hear the case of two men charged with sodomy. They were engaged in sex one night in a car parked out of public view near the Long Island Expressway. They were arrested.

A judge ruled the law unconstitutional on grounds that in New York sodomy is not a crime for a married couple. Her ruling was overturned and an appeal was filed.

The unusual and celebrated case of a married couple in Virginia shows that heterosexuals are not exempt from enforcement of the law.

A Virginia Beach couple was arrested and jailed in 1971 after one of their children came across pictures of them engaged in a prohibited sex act in their bedroom. The child showed the pictures at school, authorities were notified and the parents were arrested.

They were each sentenced to prison for up to two years.

Last May, a federal appeals court upheld their conviction.

Just as they were in 1960

Debates could be turning point

EDITOR'S NOTE — In 1960, it proved a turning point. Will history repeat? Saul Pett, who covered the first presidential debates 16 years ago and will be there in Philadelphia Thursday, herein reflects on both.

By SAUL PETT
AP Special Correspondent

In the moments before the first of their "great debates" in 1960, John Kennedy and Richard Nixon met briefly, shook hands and chatted.

Neither man had a natural talent for small talk. But the difference between them was that Kennedy did not feel obliged to try, while Nixon usually felt an irresistible compulsion to fill any lull.

So he talked about the weather, the campaign crowds, the motorcades, the fact that candidates got more tan from the wind than the sun. Kennedy was civil but said little. He just kept looking at his opponent.

Watching them in the Chicago TV studio that night, one was reminded of Joe Louis before the bell. As he and the other fighter listened to the referee's instructions in the center of the ring, it was usually the condemned man who fidgeted, grimaced, smiled or hammed up some show of bravado. Old Joe just stared, not a twitch anywhere, and then went out and flattened the other guy.

Kennedy did not flatten Nixon in the debate of Sept. 26, 1960. But the severe damage done to Nixon's campaign that night he did to himself.

He was the favorite, he was the vice president, he was the man who had "debated" Nikita Khrushchev, he was the star of the "Checkers" show who had mastered the medium of television. But this night he could not master something inside of Richard Nixon.

Whatever it was could not escape the voracious eye of the TV camera. And 70 million people watching a candidate for president saw occasional but fateful glimpses of a man off balance, nervous, perspiring, eyes darting left and right, smiling erratically.

The lessons of 1960 surely are not lost on the protagonists of 1976. Neither Gerald Ford nor Jimmy Carter is a Nixon, or, for that matter, a Kennedy. Both now prepare mightily for combat Thursday night in Philadelphia. Both will remember the first presidential debates.

Nixon's great mistake was that he had come to debate, to make debaters' points. He talked to Kennedy. Kennedy talked over and beyond him to the country. He had divined the medium. He came to project an image and he did — of knowledge, confidence and poise.

Nixon projected knowledge and a debater's skills. But more importantly, he projected a picture of a man who seemed unsure of what he wanted to seem. It was not a new problem with him.

On this night, he appeared determined to convince everyone he was being fair. Several times he told the audience he sincerely believed that Kennedy was sincere. The old gut fighter wanted to make it absolutely clear he was not impugning the other man's motives.

Some days later, Kennedy was talking with a friend about fatigue in the campaign. He said it was a problem but that it was worse for his opponent. Why?

"Because," said Kennedy in what might have been a classic insight, "I know who I am and I don't have to worry about adapting and changing. All I have to do at each stop is to be myself. But Nixon doesn't know who he is, and so each time he makes a speech, he has to decide which Nixon he is and that is very exhausting."

Nixon went on the attack in the next three debates and, seeming more comfortable in that posture, did better. But the damage was done in the first debate. The underdog senator from Massachusetts climbed immediately in the polls and his crowds grew.

Issues? They were almost as difficult to remember the morning after as they are now 16 years later. Something about those offshore islands, Quemoy and Matsu. Something about getting the country moving again, about providing help for the poor and the aged but where would the money come from?

Issues are lost. Vignettes remain:

In the fourth debate, Nixon accused Kennedy of weakening the country with his criticism. Kennedy shot back:

"I really don't need Mr. Nixon to tell me about what my responsibilities are as a citizen. I've served this country for 14 years in the Congress and before that in the service. ... What I downgrade, Mr. Nixon, is the leadership the country is getting, not the country."

A member of the TV panel questioning the debaters sought their views on Harry Truman's use of profanity in the campaign.

Kennedy, smiling: "I really don't think there is anything I can say to President Truman that's going to cause him to change his particular manner. Perhaps Mrs. Truman can but I don't think I can."

Nixon, solemnly: "One thing I have noted as I have traveled around the country are the tremendous number of children who come out to see the presidential candidates ... mothers holding their babies up. ... It makes you realize that whoever is president is going to be a man that all the children of America will either look up to or will look down to ... and I only hope that, should I win. ..."

Expletives deleted would come later.

As in 1960, the presidential debates this year are likely to be a battle of image more than issues. As in 1960, we can expect that both protagonists will be well briefed. Their answers are likely to come quickly in machine-gun style because each will be filled with facts and figures yearning to be unleashed.

Which is too bad, because it would be refreshing, maybe even reassuring, for Americans to watch a candidate for president in the process of thought, not talk.

Each of the debaters this year has his image needs. Ford needs to be presidential, nonbumbling and as crisp and combative as he was in his nomination acceptance speech. Carter needs to be positive, clear and unequivocal. In the process of trying to avoid the negative image each has been tagged with, it is just possible that one or both might say too much.

Their mental styles differ. Ford's thinking appears to be more simple and direct. He is not given to subtlety or nuance. His sense of humor is better than his wit.

Carter's mind seems capable of operating on several levels at once. Ask him a question and, even before you finish the asking, he is answering the direct point, the implications and the possible side effects of the question. He may be a man with more wit than humor. In his stern self-discipline and single-mindedness, he has allowed neither to surface much in the campaign so far.

Changes in tax laws discussed by Gaines

The Big Spring Association of Life Underwriters began the season with the first of its regular noon meetings at the Western Sizzler Steak House, 208 Gregg, Thursday.

The association will continue to meet the third Thursday of every month, and will feature a number of guest speakers.

Thursday's guest was Charles E. (Chuck) Gaines CLU, the director of the School of Life Insurance Marketing located on the campus of Southwest Louisiana University. Gaines had been director of the Insurance Marketing Program at Southern Methodist University, and recently received the Texas Leader's Roundtable Achievement award.

He spoke to the association about new tax law changes affecting the insurance business which will come before President Ford for signature into law today.

Benny Jones CLU, with Southwestern Life in Abilene, current president of the Texas Life Underwriters Association, will be the featured guest speaker at the next local meeting.

Thursday's kickoff meeting was also the beginning of the term for new association officers. Those officers are Bob Watlington CLU, Snyder, president; Ron Mason, vice-president; Jerry Mancill CLU, secretary-treasurer and education and training chairman; Ray Weir, publicity and public service chairman; Walter Stroup CLU, national committeeman; John Bennety CLU, membership chairman; Joe Dunn, Life Underwriters political action committee chairman; Louis Stallings CLU, legislative chairman; John Hale, health insurance committee chairman; Bob Wilson, awards chairman; and John Agee, Lamesa, quality business chairman.

Anti-poverty symposium is criticized by Black

By JIM DAVIS
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — A black University of Tennessee professor Wednesday criticized a symposium on anti-poverty programs for ignoring a guiding principals of those programs — citizen participation.

Reynell M. Parkins, a former Corpus Christi minister and University of Texas at Austin professor, particularly was upset because the symposium in which he was participating had almost no Mexican-American representation.

He was a member of a panel Wednesday discussing the housing programs initiated during the administration of President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The symposium is being held this week at the LBJ Library to analyze the anti-poverty programs of the administrations of President John Kennedy and Johnson.

"Since Sunday (the symposium's first day) I have had a deep feeling that some of the tremendous developments of the Johnson administration have been betrayed at this symposium," Parkins said.

Saying that the anti-poverty programs of the 1960s stressed citizen participation, Parkins said the symposium organizers should have included people who benefited from the programs and not just public officials and academic representatives.

Parkins said Mexican-Americans were deeply involved in the war on proverty during the last decade but they were almost totally left out of the symposium.

Two persons with Spanish surnames were included in the five-day symposium. One was Dr. Ray E. Santos of Lubbock, who participated in a discussion of health and medical care programs. Tuesday. The other was Graciela Olivarez, state planning officer for New Mexico, who was scheduled to appear on the same panel with Parkins but had to cancel.

"Only a man reared in Texas under Latin American thought would undertake a war on poverty," Parkins said.

Parkins praised the stress of the Kennedy and Johnson administrations on helping the poor.

He said one of the important things to analyze is why many of the people who participated in the anti-poverty programs at the local level now have dropped out and seem resigned to inaction today.

Parkins was a minister and civil rights leader in Corpus Christi during the 1960s before taking a position with the University of Texas as professor of architecture. He now teaches at Tennessee and involved in programs concerning low-income housing and neighborhood development.

Technicians are sought

The U.S. Civil Service Commission has announced a need for Training Technicians (Flight Simulator) at Reese Air Force Base near Lubbock. Starting pay is $8,925 per year with full Civil Service benefits.

To qualify applicants must have two years of general experience and one year of specialized experience. The one year of specialized experience must include the instruction of student pilots in operating flight simulators. No Civil Service test is required.

Interested applicants should submit a Standard Form 171 and a CSC Form 5001BC to the U.S. Civil Service Commission, Dallas Area Office, 1100 Commerce Street, Dallas, Texas 75242. Information and forms may be obtained by calling 749-3156 in Dallas. Applicants located outside the Dallas metroplex and within the State of Texas may call toll-free 1-800-492-4400.

For early consideration applicants should submit forms by October 1, 1976.

CAMPUS ADDITION — The new gazebo at Big Spring State Hospital was inspected Friday by Adolph Supak, assistant superintendent, who was joined by volunteers and staff in admiring the attractive structure. From left are, Jack Y. Smith, building committee chairman; Supak, Norma Tinley of the Volunteer Services office; and Marilyn Newsom, a volunteer who is also a member of the singing group which made a record album to help pay for the gazebo.

Hospital's new gazebo proving to be popular

The most popular gathering spot on the campus of Big Spring State Hospital is proving to be the new gazebo located in an open area fronting the Allred Building.

Completed last week at a cost of $4,615, the redwood and concrete block structure is being presented to the hospital by the Volunteer Services Council. All funds were raised by the council; the major percentage being proceeds from the sale of a record album, "Reach Out, America!"

The album, produced in Nashville, was recorded locally by the Nuts and Bolts, a choral group from First United Methodist Church, which donated its services for the benefit project. Additional money was obtained through the sale of Bicentennial decals and by private donations.

Spearheading the project was Jack Y. Smith, a former council chairman, who also had a large part in raising funds for the Tollett All-Faith Chapel at the hospital.

"We have paid for the gazebo, but we will continue sale of the albums in order to landscape the area," said Margaret Baum, volunteer coordinator. Others on the gazebo committee are Johnny Johansen, Cliff Stovall and Adolph Supak, assistant superintendent of BSSH. Johansen will be joined by Norma Tinley in designing the landscape.

The elevated gazebo, constructed by builder, Lee George, is 18 feet wide with two sets of steps flanked by redwood railings. The floor is concrete, cedar shingles form the roof, and a three-foot sidewalk will circle the structure.

Prospect reported

A Martin County prospect and a Mitchell confirmation are in the area oil news this week. There is also a Scurry confirmer continuing to test.

RK Petroleum Corp., Midland No. 1-B Wolcott in Ward CSL No. 251, Martin County Devonian oil prospect, 3¾ miles south-southwest of Devonian production in the Breedlove multipay field, 5½ miles northwest of the RK (Devonian) field and nine miles northwest of Tarzan, pumped 102 barrels of oil, along with 264 barrels of water, in 24 hours. Testing continued through perforations at 12,085-095 feet.

It recovered 50 feet of oil, 10,000 feet of water blanket, 500 feet of mud and 2,323 feet of salt water on a drillsteam test of the Strawn at 10,835-894 feet.

IN SCURRY COUNTY, Lario Oil & Gas Co., Odessa, No. 2 Brumley in 446-97-H&TC, third producer and a location north extension to the Tonto, North (Strawn) field, six miles northeast of Snyder, swabbed and flowed 137 barrels of oil and 134 barrels of water in 21 hours.

Recovery was through perforations at 7,008-913 feet, which had been acidized with 10,000 gallons and fractured with 10,000 pounds of sand. Testing continued.

IN MITCHELL COUNTY, Dorchester Exploration Inc., Midland, will drill the No. 9-A Spade as a ⅜ mile west stepout to the four-well Beals Creek (Wichita-Albany) field of the county, 25 miles southwest of Colorado City.

Location is 200 feet from the south and 3,417 feet from the east lines of 6-18-SPRR. Contact depth is 4,100 feet.

Freedom brief for escapee

HOUSTON (AP) — Rudolph Jackie Sims, 42, has been returned to a Texas Department of Corrections prison unit in Fort Bend County after being arrested here.

Sims was taken into custody Tuesday in northeast Houston, a day after he escaped from the T. C. Jester Unit.

A sheriff's deputy said Sims, who had served five years of a life sentence assessed at Houston for murder, offered no resistance when he was arrested at an apartment complex.

Prison officials said Sims, a trustee, apparently walked away from the unit Monday.

Texas AFA offering $1,000 scholarship

High school seniors, including dependents of Air Force military and civilian personnel, throughout Texas have a chance to win a $1,000 scholarship.

The Texas Air Force Association (AFA) is offering the Earle North Packer Scholarship as the prize in its annual essay contest. This year the theme is "Air Force Technologies: How The Nation Benefits." The contest began Aug. 1 and ends Nov. 30.

Essays must be not more than 600 words, typed double spaced, and on an 8½-by-11 inch paper. Entries must also include author's name, address, phone number, and name of school. Printed entry forms will be available from local Texas AFA chapters. A small black and white "head shot" photograph must accompany entries.

Those interested in entering can contact Ralph Brooks, president of the local AFA chapter, at Blum's Jewelers, 222 Main St.

Each essay will be evaluated by a local chapter committee and a winner selected. The winning essay will be forwarded to the state AFA office where it will represent that chapter in the statewide competition. The scholarship will be presented to the winner of the state competition.

Selection of chapter winners and presentation of local awards will take place between Dec. 1 and Jan. 15. State level judging will be done from Jan. 15 through Feb. 28. Presentation of the scholarship will be made during the spring executive meeting. That date has not been announced.

Main is slain, Texan charged

GAINESVILLE, Mo. (AP) — A 23-year-old Texan charged with capital murder in connection with the shooting death of a Centerville, Tex., gas station owner was under arrest here Friday on a fugitive warrant, authorities said.

Dennis McBride, Pasadena, Tex., was being held without bond in the Ozark County jail after he was apprehended in a wooded area in extreme southern Missouri.

McBride was being held on a fugitive warrant after refusing to waive extradition to face a capital murder charge in Texas, officers said.

McBride and David Waters, 19, were charged with murder in the Sept. 10 shooting death of J.W. Comer during a robbery at Comer's gas station.

The highway patrol said Waters was spotted in southern Missouri earlier this week but had not been arrested. Officers said he may have fled the state.

Profits record set by AT&T

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. has apparently set a record for profits earned in any single quarter.

The company said Wednesday that it earned $1.021 billion in the three months ended Aug. 31 — the first time any corporation's quarterly profits have crossed the $1 billion mark.

General Motors Corp. was the only other company to come close. It reported $909 million in profits for the second quarter this year.

AT&T said its third-quarter earnings were nearly 25 per cent higher than in the third quarter last year and attributed the rise in part to rate increases in many states.

NIGHT SHIFT — Patrolwoman Cathy Hatczel gets last minute instructions from Lt. Robert Duggan, Cathy's boss for a part of the eight hours. On the night watch since her third day, Cathy still rides with a veteran officer until she gains experience.

First female in Big Spring Police Department

The lady is a cop

By CANDY SMITH

A normal workday begins at 6 p.m. for the new night patrol officer at the Big Spring Police Department. Uniformed and armed, her car is checked before joining another officer for the shift that lasts until 2 a.m.

The new officer, Cathy Hatczel, is the first woman to be put on regular patrol duty in this area. She's been riding the night shift for two weeks, not yet quite experienced to go alone.

People still "kind of give a second look. They look over and shake their heads like they don't know if they should believe what they saw. I kinda just smile," said Officer Hatczel.

She first considered the job while working for the police department in identification and records. Chief Stanley Bogard, she said, asked her if she had ever considered going "outside," on patrol. She considered it.

At the time, Ms. Hatczel was in her first job after being honorably discharged from the Air Force. She had joined the Air Force immediately after her senior year and had been stationed at Webb AFB in Vehicle Operations, an area she wasn't overly fond of. She began to look for a way out. Trying to get out before her four years were up, Ms. Hatczel ran into a difficult time because, as she put it, "I had never done anything wrong. There was no reason to discharge me," she said.

Before getting out of the Air Force, she spent six months in Okinawa, a small island for such a long stay, but was finally discharged in the fall of 1975 after 2½ years duty.

Being in a predominately male field was nothing new then to Ms. Hatczel. According to Lt. Robert Duggan, she has been awarded no individual privileges and no special attention. She and her partner each night will share the driving from 6 p.m. until 2 a.m. as long as she is required to be accompanied.

All new officers are accompanied by a veteran officer until they gain enough experience to patrol alone.

Although she is the first female to wear a police uniform around here, she is not a "token" female, said Lt. Duggan. "Other departments might look at it that way, but she is just one of the employes here. I'm not going to say she's one of the guys because she isn't, but she receives the same treatment as other employes," he said.

The 21-year-old from Indiana said she might want to consider going into criminal investigation in the future, but that, for the time being, she will be concentrating on learning the job she has. That includes over 100 radio number symbols and what hundredth each block is in her district.

She is doing quite well, said Lt. Duggan, and has picked up the police radio quickly. Ms. Hatczel said she had no previous training other than a few law enforcement classes at Howard College this summer, but did intend to go to the police academy in Midland around January next year.

Even having had the previous background of the Air Force, Ms. Hatczel says she is still not sure how her fellow officers are taking her. "I'm sure some of them don't like it. Probably basically because they don't think females should be out in a field like this."

But she is not, she emphasized, doing it just to say she could make it into a male field. 'Women's Lib' doesn't impress her.

"As far as believing in 'women's lib,' " she says, "if a woman wants to do a job, she should be able to do it, with the same capabilities. But most of it is a traditional type thing. I believe really that a woman's job is at home, especially if she is married.

"Whereas I'm single, it's basically just a job. I have no responsibilities," she continued. "I'm not out to prove anything to anybody. Maybe I'm trying to prove something to myself. If I can't do it, then I don't intend to stay.

"It's not necessarily only my life that's put on the line, but other people's too."

The situation hasn't arisen yet to test what Officer Hatczel's reaction will be to possible danger. The proverbial 'dizzy dame' who faints at the sight of blood will be useless, but past situations suggest the patrolwoman is far removed from that stereotype.

Recently, Ms. Hatczel's lighted bathroom was the focal point of a "peeping Tom," she related. She neither screamed, ran or hid, but calmly woke up her roommate and called the police.

Afraid that the police would arrive too late, Ms. Hatczel took her own gun, went out the back door, around to her neighbors', came up behind the man, and asked him not to move.

Seeing the gun pointed squarely at him, he said, "You don't have to point that thing at me. I'm not going anywhere.

"You got that right," Ms. Hatczel replied.

The argument, though, of what she would do if faced with a suspect stronger than she, such as an unruly drunk, is both old and new. "I don't think anybody can say they are strong enough to handle any situation." There's just as much chance that the suspect will be 5'4" and weigh 150 pounds as there is the chance he will be 6'4" and weigh 250 pounds, she added.

"If I can't handle it, I can call for help. Nobody says you have to go out there and fight and probably get killed. If I got into a real battle, I'd back off and call for help," she said.

She stated that if someone were pointing a gun at her and about to shoot, she would shoot back to kill. "I'm not afraid of dying, but I'd like to stay around a little longer."

So far though, she said, it's been much like a Sunday afternoon drive, "only the reason we're out there is to look for anything that's not normal.

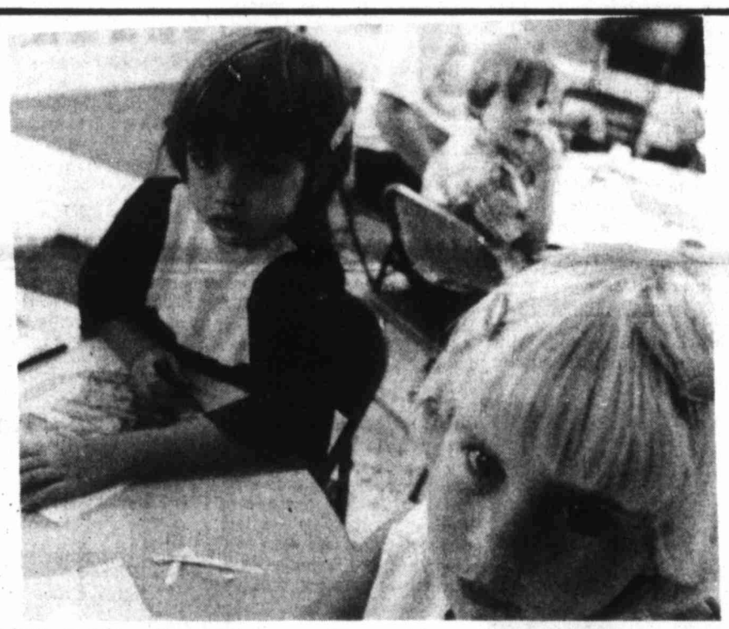

"I like it so far. It's exciting but not too exciting. I came in at a good time. Things have slowed down a lot. I'm being broken in slowly."

She is also helping the idea of women as patrol officers to be broken in slowly. "If this works out, she probably won't be the last girl," said Lt. Duggan.

Westside Day Care Center provides community service

WHAT NEXT — Cinamin Carney and Teresa Allen wait for their teacher to explain what comes next in the lesson.

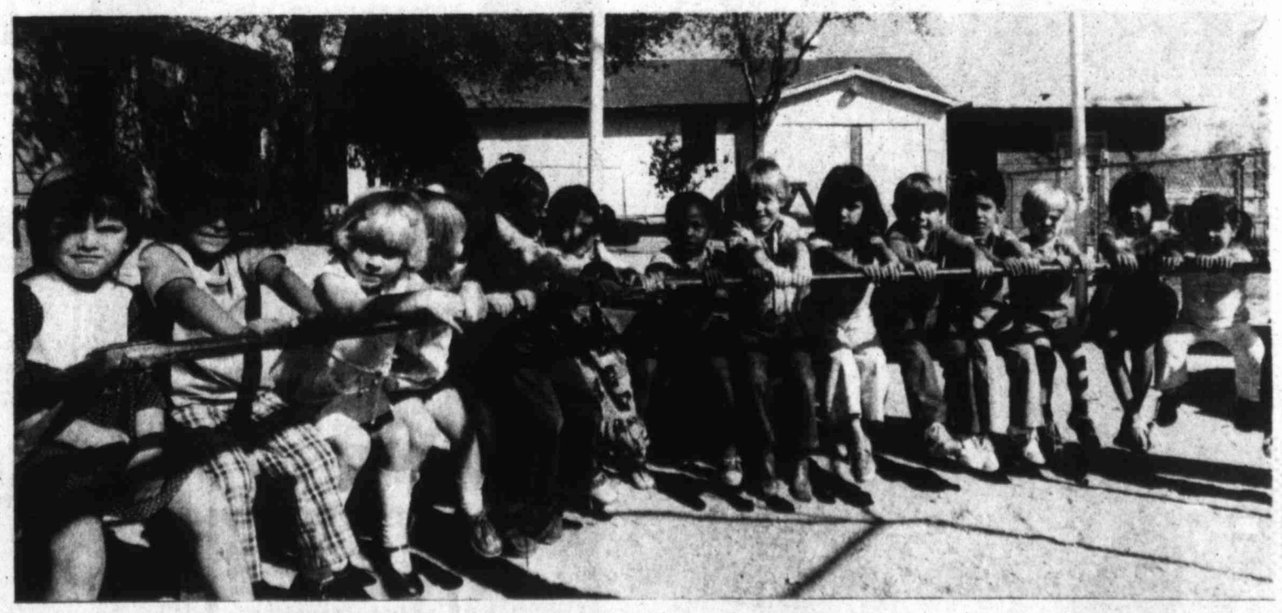

CUTTING OUT FIGURES — Grace Guzman cuts out figures as part of her lesson for the day at the Day Care center.

ROBERT GONZALES and Rashonda Moreland work with crafts provided at the Westside Day Care center.

CONCENTRATION — Christopher Gammons is another one of the Day Care center children taking part in the morning lessons.

TIME FOR PLAY — The Westside Day Care center is not all work, as evidenced by the children as they take advantage of the equipment in the yard of the center.

By CAROL HART

"We strive to give the best child care possible, and to instill in children a pride of self, country and others," said Mrs. Glenn Allen, director of the West Side Day Care center, located on Fifth Street behind the ABC park.

Mrs. Allen went on to say that "we hope each child goes home each day finding value in self and compassion for others."

The Day Care center was initiated to provide a day care service open to the community, said Mrs. Allen. It was designed for low income working mothers and fathers and for students. All children, regardless of race, creed or color are accepted into the center.

Parents taking advantage of the center are asked to pay a nominal fee for the service. Mrs. Allen said that no parent pays more than $1.50 per day per child to keep their child in the center. The average cost for running the center is $7.46 per child per day, said Mrs. Allen. The center is funded 30 per cent by local funds and 70 per cent by state and federal funds. The donor agency for the center in Big Spring is the West Side Community Center.

The Day Care center is governed by a local board of directors, consisting of Mrs. Mary Randall, president; Julian Patterson, Dr. Ray Owen, Elaine Morrow, Dr. Charles Hays, Charles Beil and Joy Blythe, a parent representative.

Mrs. Allen said that the center, which is licensed by state and federal agencies, must, by law, have 30 square feet per child at the center. There must also be a set ratio for staff and children. Because of these rules, the center can only have 30 children at any one time. At present, the center has 27.

"There are three vacancies in the four-to-six-year-old age range now," said Mrs. Allen. She went on to list staffers and the positions they fill.

The center is equipped to handle four bed babies, and Mrs. Socorro Rodriquez is staff aid for that department. The center has four babies at this time.

The center has four toddlers at present, and is equipped to handle four. Mrs. Maria Rangel is staff aid in the toddler department.

The center is also equipped to handle five three-year-olds, and has that many at present. Miss Melinda Casillas works in this department.

The other children at the center are in the four-six-year-old age range. Staffers in this department are Ms. Sandra Majors, Ms. Mary Jones and Mike Wooldridge.

Wooldridge, who has a degree in political science, enjoys his job at the center. "He provides a male image for the children," said Mrs. Allen. "He also has lots of girlfriends, even if they are only three years old," she added, stressing the fact that the children respond well to him.

Program coordinator for the center is Mrs. Jeffie Phinny. Mrs. Phinny leads lessons for the children. Penny Nichols, a part-time student at Big Spring High School, also works in the center.

Another person who, according to Mrs. Allen, is very important to the center, is Janelle Minter, a full-time cook there.

The center is open from 7 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. five days a week. Mrs. Allen said that the center provides breakfast, lunch and a mid-day snack free of charge. The meals provide the total daily nutritional requirements for children.

The children play until 8 a.m., then have breakfast. At 9 a.m. the group works with hygiene. The children then have lessons, followed by games, exercises, and music.

"We want to stress physical, mental and emotional growth," said Mrs. Allen.

The children have lunch at 11:15, and then take naps. At three p.m. they have a snack and play.

The center has several children that are in kindergarten, and they are provided transportation. The center also provides someone to pick them up and bring them back to the center, where their parents later pick them up.

With a new fiscal year beginning in November, Mrs. Allen said that "we hope to improve the program." The day care center is located in a building that has been standing since 1938, and a new one is desired by those working for the center.

Plans are man a booth at the Howard County Fair this week where applications for admission to the Day Care center will be accepted. If there are no openings available for children, they will be placed on a waiting list until an opening becomes available.

The Day Care center has been under routine investigation recently, as required by the state and federal agencies. "It was rough," said Mrs. Allen, speaking of the investigation, but the group passed.

"I have never seen any staff member be rude to any child," said Mrs. Allen. "The staff here is the best you could put together. I am really pleased," she added. She said that the center works under a family atmosphere. "There is a fine rapport between the staff and children, and between the staff members."

The community needs to be aware of the service offered by the Day Care center, said Mrs. Allen. She said that the center hopes to invite community members to donate in its behalf in the future. Anyone in the community is invited to come visit and see the work being carried on.

Mrs. Allen closed by saying "parents don't need an excuse to bring their children here on their day off, they must have an excuse not to bring them. We want the children here. We are here to perform a service to the community."

Mrs. Pam Carroll presided at the rituals and the meeting that followed. Mrs. Claudia Cannon, Mrs. Karen DeLaRosa, Mrs. Lauretta Glass, Ms. Elizabeth Phelan, Mrs. Fran Roberts and Mrs. Rose Stukel were welcomed as guests.

Mrs. Stephanie Roll, ways and means chairwoman, thanked all the members for their help and participation with the successful garage sale.

City Council representative Normal Friesen, announced a salad supper and fashion show to be held Oct. 14. Beta Omicron members sent their congratulations to Penny Stancil on being chosen City Council's Valentine Princess.

A program on natural science was presented by Mrs. Doris Arcand and Mrs. Pam Carroll. They presented some of the latest discoveries in the fields of zoology, botany, ecology and geology. The discussion following the program ranged from the possibility of a coming ice age to the latest first aid treatment for rattlesnake bites.

The evening was concluded with an auction of vacation boxes. Momentos of summer holidays were sold with the money going to the Arthritis Research Fund.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Pam Carroll and Mrs. Sue Curotto. The next meeting will be held 7:30 p.m. Sept. 27 at 1809 Runnels. A salad supper is planned for that evening.

Gold Star Mothers

The American Gold Star Mothers met Wednesday morning, Sept. 16, in the home of Mrs. Herbert Smith. A fellowship and coffee preceded the meeting.

Mrs. Huey Rogers, president, took charge of the business section. An invitation from Chaplain Anderson Hicks, at the VA Hospital, was extended to the members for a Sunday morning workshop Sept. 26, Gold Star Mother Day, as Gov. Dolph Briscoe had proclaimed.

They will also host the Department of Texas board meeting Oct. 8-9 at the Settles Hotel.

Hospital chairman, Mrs. Smith, reported that 64 patients were served refreshments Wednesday morning, Sept. 15 at the VA Hospital. Community service report showed 52 trays of food served to the needy, 42 vases of flowers to friends and invalids and $55 donated to causes.

Next meeting will be Oct. 21 in the home of Mrs. A. W. Moody, 1514 Tucson.

Violet club

The Texas Bouquet African Violet Club met Wednesday evening September 15 in the home of Mrs. A.C. Moore for a slide film presentation.

Members discussed the flower show coming September 20-26 in the Howard County Fair Barns. The show is open to the public.

The slide program was shown by Mrs. Lee Porter and narrated by Mrs. A.C. Moore. It was a collection of arrangements from the National Convention in St. Louis, Mo. The presentation explained what to do and what not to do in arranging flowers.

It suggested practicing using African violets in designs at home or competing in the design section of the flower shows. To make an award-winning show entry, it is important to study the schedule carefully and know whether violets can be used as an accent or whether they are to predominate.

Guests were Mrs. G.V. Crocker, Mrs. C.B. Sullivan, Mrs. Pierce Humble of Laredo, Mrs. Lee Porter, Mrs. Murray Galipp of Dallas, Mrs. Lavell Hill and Mrs. Fann Wilkinson.

Next meeting will be a breakfast September 29. Hostess and co-hostess will be Mrs. A.S. Womack and Mrs. Paul Guy.

GUEST SPEAKER — Luis Serabia, (facing camera) enjoys the Thursday luncheon during Hispanic Heritage Week at Webb before he was guest speaker. He is the director of Chicano Affairs at New Mexico State University. On his right is Edward Sanchez, of the civilian personnel office at the base. Nearer the camera are Chris Martinez and Sandra Williams of the base accounting and finance office. Far right in the picture is Col. Harry Spannaus, wing commander.

Lifestyle topic of speech

Luis Serabia, the director of Chicano affairs at New Mexico State University, spoke at a luncheon Thursday at Webb in honor of National Hispanic Heritage Week.

Serabia quoted George Sanchez as saying that the Mexican-American in this country is the 'forgotten American.' Serabia added that to a large extent, that is still the case today.

Serabia touched on biased textbooks, past atrocities of Anglo-Americans toward Mexican-Americans, the stereo-typed 'chicano,' unionization, housing and the generally misunderstood culture of the Mexican-American.

One hundred sixty-six years ago, Mexico began its struggle to rid itself of the colonial oppression of Spain, said Serabia. Soon after, in 1848, Mexico signed away one-third of its national territory to another colonial empire, the United States.

Seldom in history has one nation acquired so much territory from another nation, Luis Serabia told the audience at Webb AFB.

"National Hispanic Heritage Week is a fine thing but next week we go back to being 'greasers' and 'spics' and 'wetbacks,' Serabia said. He told the group he wondered some about the effect of the week's events, but added that it is a vehicle to make people aware of things that are going on in the lives of Mexican-Americans.

"Most Mexican-Americans become citizens not by choice but by war and conquest. History books are written by the ones who win the war," he said.

Eighty-seven per cent of the southwestern states of Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California and Colorado are inhabited by Chicanos, yet their culture is negligible in textbooks, Serabia said. "Many people in the states don't know that the Southwest exists, much less the people that inhabit it and much less their accomplishments.

During the My Lai massacres, Serabia went on, people here were shocked that Americans could perform such atrocities, although they did the same thing to Mexicans between 1846-48.

Serabia read several accounts of the Mexican-American War, a field he is currently studying. He included an excerpt from the memoires of Gen. Ulysses Grant, who said that had he had the moral courage, he would have resigned during that war.

Words like 'rodeo,' 'bronco,' and 'chaps,' the domain of the American cowboy, were borrowed, he said, from the Mexican culture but "never" paid back or thanked for them, he said.

The attitude of the Mexican-Americans in this country are very much similar to those of the American Indian. "We didn't come here, we were here," said Serabia.

The cultural gap is great and felt most painfully by young Mexican-Americans, often considered 'slow learners' because they grow up speaking Spanish and don't understand English the first day of school, Serabia added.

He quoted many statistics of the Mexican-American people that are much the same today as they were ten years ago and twenty years ago and even thirty years ago.

Although four out of five Chicanos are born in the United States, they are not regarded as true Americans, Serabia added. Although 53 per cent live in highly urbanized areas and 32 per cent live in suburbs outside of cities, they are still stereotyped as farm workers. Only 15 per cent fit into that category, he noted.

Forty-three per cent of those over the age of 16 earn less than $4,000 a year. Twenty-five per cent of all families, not individuals he said, exist on a yearly income of less than $4,000.

The plight of Mexican-American communities all over the Southwest is essentially the same. You go to the north side of this town, he said, and housing is bad. To improve his housing, Chicanos must go to the bank and borrow money.

"When he goes to the bank, they won't lend him money because they don't lend money on that side of town. Okay, why else is the situation bad," he asked. "There are no stop signs, no paved roads, no sidewalks and no parks. Well, why doesn't the city do something? We pay taxes. The city won't do anything because we don't have any representation because representatives are elected at large.

"We don't have the numbers to change these kinds of things. We must depend to some extent on the consciousness of Anglo-Americans to Mexican-Americans."

Globe, college combine

The Globe of the Great Southwest and Odessa College will combine their resources to co-produce "Story Theatre" a series of enchanting fairyland skits from The Grimm Brothers and Aesop Fables. The play was adapted by Paul Sills and opens at The Globe for a 1 p.m. matinee for Odessa's Junior High students, Oct. 21.

The imaginative and unpretentious delight is for audiences of all ages and brings magic and innocence to the stage with its Mother Goose characters. The production is top quality entertainment and requires talented actors with nimble and expressive bodies to portray the many characters.

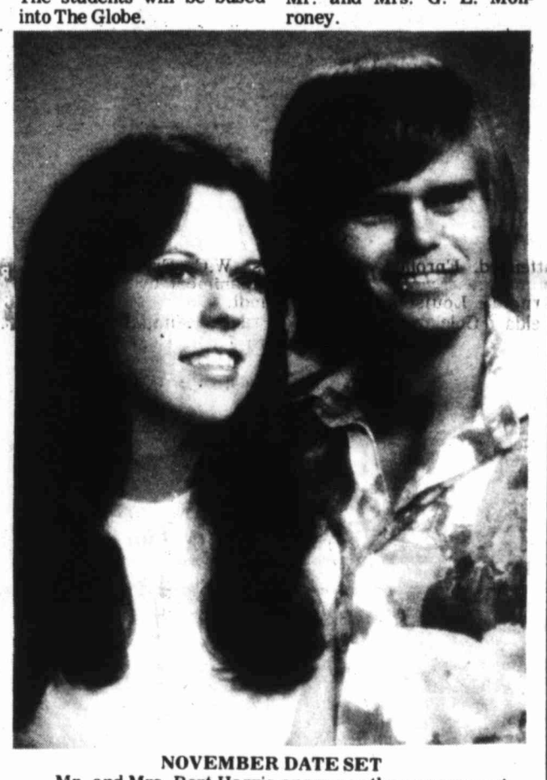

Professor at Odessa College and The Globe's producer-director Charles David McCally will co-direct the play. Odessa College students will portray the many roles. They have been cast as a company ensemble with individual roles to be announced at a later date. Company members are as follows: James Abeyta, Jackie Anderson, Bruce Chadwick, Claire Donnolo, Linda Graves, Martha Humphrey, David Inabnet, Barbara Iglehart, Mickey James, Allen Mathews, Renice McGarrity, Diana McKenney, Hank McKay, Vance Medlin, David Rydell, Janna Rydell, James M. Rymer, Jr., Kelly Leigh Sinclair, Cathy Smith, Allen Thorp and Joyce Thorp. Renice McGarrity will also be state manager and Rhea Womack is the tech director.

"Story Theatre" will be Odessa College's first production of the school year and the fifth production on the Globe's season ticket. The matinee performances (open only to Odessa's six Junior High Schools) are scheduled for 1 p.m., October 21, 28, and Nov. 4. The students will be bused into The Globe.

The evening performance at 8 p.m., Oct. 21 is for the Adult Basic Education People and will not be open to the public; and the 8:30 show Oct. 29 will be for the Southwest Theatre Conference only.

Performances open to the public and Globe season ticket holders are scheduled for 8 p.m., Oct. 22, 23, 30 and Nov. 5.

Admission prices are $4 for adults and $2 for students. A 25 per cent discount is offered to groups of 20 or more. Both Odessa College and U.T.P.B. students will be admitted free with ID cards.

MR. AND MRS. GORDON McGUIRE

Parmela Murphy weds Gordon McGuire in rite

Mr. and Mrs. Dell McGuire, Gail Rt., have recently returned from Lompoc Calif. where they attended the marriage of their son, Gordon to Miss Pamela Murphy of Lompoc. Miss Murphy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Murphy of Lompoc. The wedding was performed in the Trinity Church of the Nazarene with the bride's father officiating.

White organza over satin fashioned the bride's A-line dress with long sheer sleeves and skirt which flowed into a train. Lace edged the three-tiered veil. Her bouquet was white roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Mrs. Gary Smith of Normal Ill., served her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Darla Murphy, sister of the bride and Miss DiAnn McGuire of Big Spring, sister of the groom. They wore identical dresses of spring green and carried white daisies and yellow carnations.

Carl McAdams of Lompoc attended the groom as best man. Lee Murphy, brother of the bride and Jerry McGuire of Oklahoma City, brother of the groom, were groomsmen. Paul McGuire, nephew of the groom was ring bearer.

A reception followed in the fellowship hall of the church. After a short trip to points in Southern Calif. the couple are at home in Lompoc.

The bride attended Eastern Nazarene College in Boston Mass. The groom is a 1974 graduate of Big Spring and left immediately after graduation to join the Air Force. He is presently stationed at Vandenberg AFB at Lompoc but will be going on overseas assignment to Turkey in November.

The couple plans a trip to Big Spring and other points in Texas and Oklahoma in October.

Reunion today

There will be a Center Point Community homecoming at the old Center Point School today starting at 10 a.m. There will be a speaker.

Participants are reminded to bring a basket lunch. Drinks and plates will be furnished. The afternoon is set aside for visiting, according to officers in charge of the reunion.

Long-lasting light bulb

COLLEGE STATION — Imagine a light bulb without filaments to wear out that lasts many years — but uses only one-fourth the electricty of a standard bulb.

Mrs. Janice Carberry, a family resource management specialist, says that the technology needed for producing a longer-lasting, less expensive light bulb has been known for many years.

She is the with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"According to a report called 'The Short Life of the Electric Light Bulb,' published by the Government Activities Subcommittee of the Committee on Government Operations, the idea has only been partially developed because of the posed threat to the light bulb industry.

Marcy PTA slates first meeting

The first meeting of the Marcy PTA will be Tuesday in the school cafeteria.

The group began its annual membership contest Sept. 16. Prizes will be awarded to the classes with the highest percentage of parents to join PTA.

Membership dues are $1.25 per parent. Meetings are once a month on the third Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

The membership contest ends Oct. 7.

A free baby sitting service will be available at the school while parents attend the meetings.

The teachers will be introduced, and a get-together will follow, with refreshments served by the Executive Committee.

Only difference

Organization is the only difference between packing for the increasingly popular softside luggage and traditional packing techniques for hardside luggage, Mrs. Becky Culp, area clothing specialist, says.

"First, pack heavy items such as shoes on the side opposite the carrying handle. Weight should be evenly distributed from side to side for easy carrying and prolonged life of the luggage.

Local DAR chapter holds special coffee

The Captain Elisha Mack chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution held a Constitution Day coffee in the home of Mrs. W.A. Riley, regent for the chapter Sept. 17. Mrs. Douglas Newman was cohostess.

Wade Choate, Big Spring mayor, read a proclamation declaring Friday, Sept. 17, as Constitution Day. Mayor Choate presented the chapter with a copy of the proclamation, noting that Sept. 17 is the 189th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution. This day and the week which follows have been designated by Act of Congress and by proclamation of the President of the United States as Constitution Week.

Those present at the reading of the proclamation were Mrs. John Cobean, Mrs. Vivian Crutcher, Mrs. John Damron, Mrs. David Duke, Mrs. Bill Earley, Mrs. Marcia Ewing, Mrs. Jack Lipscombe, Mrs. Douglas Newman, Mrs. Barbara Martin, Mrs. W.A. Riley and Mrs. C.G. Barnett.

My small son looks wonderingly at a bright red cardinal. And, for one instant, I glimpse a bright mind in eager search, the wonder of intelligence dawning. What an awareness of heaven is in my heart as I see my baby reflect God's goodness and love! And what a deep sense of responsibility I feel.

How grateful I am for my church! It has helped me find answers, strengthened my faith. How comforting to be able to guide the religious training of my child as his questions grow in scope and depth!

More than anything else I want to share with him the wealth of love and understanding, joy and strength I have found in the love of God and His Church.

Parents don't like bearded suitor

DEAR ABBY: I've been going with this guy for five months, and both of my parents liked him a lot until he grew a beard. When he showed up at my house with his new beard, my parents were actually rude to him.

They said he looked like a bum or someone who was trying to overthrow the government. Abby, I think his beard looks great and told him so. It's not shaggy or neglected-looking—it's carefully cropped and really looks neat.

I was so embarrassed when my folks put this guy down, I didn't know what to say or do.

Abby, you're my parents' age, at least. How do you feel about beards?

BONNIE L.

DEAR BONNIE: If they're neat and well-cared for, I think they're great. Some of the most important men in history had beards: Moses, Jesus, Abraham Lincoln and Sigmund Freud, to name a few. And the Smith Brothers, who coughed up a fortune.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 9 years old and I want a horse more than anything in this world! Dad said, "You can have a horse if you can pay for it, plus all the equipment and the upkeep."

The horse I want costs $150, but I don't have the money. I don't get an allowance, and I can't earn money doing chores for the neighbors because they say I'm too young and I might get hurt.

I can't earn any money doing chores around my own house because my folks say I live here and should do whatever I can for nothing.

I have run out of ideas. How can I get the money?

HORSE-CRAZY IN INDIANA

DEAR HORSE-CRAZY: I'm afraid you will have to be patient until you are able to EARN the money—unless you can persuade your dad to lend it to you with the understanding that you will repay him when you become a wage earner.

Rainbows elect officers

The Big Spring Assembly Order of the Rainbow for Girls met Tuesday evening in the Masonic Temple for a business meeting. Pam Parmenter, worthy advisor, presided.

Officers elected for the term beginning October 1 were Phyllis Hart, worthy advisor; Leilani Thomas, worthy associate advisor; Kenda Born, charity; Cappi Tatum, hope and Robin Von Rosenburg, faith. The installation will be October 2.

The charity project will be serving in the Big Spring Nursing Home September 23 with Tracy Egan as chairman.

The next meeting will be for a salad supper Sept. 28.

Westbrook President re-elected

Mrs. A. G. Anderson was re-elected to serve as president of the Golden Age Club at the regular meeting Tuesday, September 7. Also re-elected was Mrs. Tom Jackson, secretary; D. J. Barber, treasurer and Mrs. Ruth Morgan, associate secretary. Also elected for a first term was Mrs. W. A. Bell, vice president. She replaces Mrs. P. E. Clawson who did not run again.

Mrs. Stokes will serve as refreshment chairman for the October meeting. Thirty-four attended the meeting. Three new members, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hale and Mrs. Leona Jones, were among them.

Next meeting will be October 5.

Open Heart Club meets

The Big Spring chapter of the Open Heart Club of the Southwest will meet today at the Malone-Hogan Hospital.

L.W. Pearce, chairman of the group, reported recently that the Lubbock chapter of the association had a garage sale and cleared $8,000 which bought a much needed heart monitor at the Southwestern Heart Institute at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

Pearce said also that any person who has undergone open heart surgery can benefit from this club.

The agenda for the Sunday meeting includes an update from the meeting at Lubbock, attended by one of the officers of the Big Spring club, and listings of future speakers and activities.

Other officers in the organization are Willis Taylor, vice chairman; and J.C. Gross, secretary.

Representatives speak out

"If you don't vote in the Governor's election, you don't get represented," said James Baird, one of the local men responsible for selecting delegates to the national democratic convention from this area.

Baird did vote in the Governor's election and is now doing better than being represented. He's representing himself this weekend at the State Democratic Convention in Fort Worth.

Baird accompanied Delano Shaw, national Carter delegate, and his brother, Larry, nominee for the district platform committee to the convention also attended by fourteen other 30th senatorial district delegates, among them County Judge Bill Tune.

Baird, a Democrat, was supporting Jimmy Carter long before it became acceptable, and rather chic, to be behind Jimmy Carter.

The people in this area complain about things they don't like in the government, but they aren't willing to get involved and do something about it, Baird said.

Baird said he was selected back in January by Carter to be on the Delegate Selection Committee, whose job it was to select delegates for Carter in Baird's district, the 30th senatorial district.

One way to create interest is to create controversy, but there are better ways, Baird stated. One reason people may shy away from politics is their basic distrust of politicians, he added.

The process also sounds a little complicated and people are reluctant to ask about it.

"It's really very simple. Everything operates the same way all the way up, from the grassroots of the precinct caucus to the national convention.

"The precinct is where it all starts." Baird said very few people showed up for the precinct caucus here. "We have one delegate for approximately every 300 people in this county. There are 17 delegates from Howard County and there should be twice that many."

Baird was instrumental in electing Delano Shaw as a delegate from Big Spring. Shaw was one of the three from this area to go to New York.

Baird said he got interested in politicking in 1974 when he went to the state convention in Austin. He got to know people, got interested and got acquainted with how everything worked.

"Not that many people take part and they don't realize how easy it is to get involved," Baird said.

"Anyone can pass a resolution," he said, on the grassroots level. If it's good enough it may go all the way to the convention and become part of the official platform.

A resolution was made in the 30th senatorial district to increase exemption for the inheritance taxes. The resolution committee adjourned in Houston during the state convention before the report could be made, but the committee has promised to hear the

Mrs. Warren Kelley honoree at shower

Mrs. Warren Kelly was the honoree at a baby shower Sept. 16 in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas Company.

Hostesses at the event were Mrs. Caryl Henderson, Mrs. Connye Ward, Mrs. Betty Cordes, Mrs. Mildred Read, Mrs. Jo Adams and Mrs. Jane Blalack. They presented her with a swing and a baby book.

The table at the shower was covered with a lace table cloth and centered with a yellow candelabrum. The register table was covered with a matching cloth and centered with a chrome candelabrum.

Unusual wedding ceremonies recalled by area officials

EDITOR'S NOTE — In our highly marriage-oriented society, unusual weddings stand out. The following is an account of some of the more uncommon unions in Big Spring's past.

By JOHN EDWARDS

Snow was falling on the courthouse lawn. Near a Christmas tree, about 10 persons gathered in the darkness of Christmas eve 1975.

"Cars were going by there, honking their horns," Justice of the Peace Gus Ochotorena Jr. said.

"I was kind of rushing, because I was st-st-st-st shaking a little bit" in the cold, Ochotorena joked.

"I'll never forget it," Ochotorena said.

The scene was the setting of the marriage of Michael Fahey and Bertha Morphis.

Bob West, the other justice of the peace with an office in the courthouse, performed the civil ceremony for a Vietnamese couple who were Buddhists.

The civil ceremony followed the Buddhist marriage rites. Then came the party.

"Vietnamese believe that you can fill out all the papers in the world, but you aren't married unless you have a party," Air Force Sgt. Donald Knisley, brother-in-law of the bride, said.

Dang Hoang Nghi, formerly a second lieutenant in the South Vietnamese Army, and Quach Ai Dong were wed in a local home.

Following Buddhist custom, the groom went to the bride's home for the ceremony. Because the groom's father lives in Vietnam, Chau Van Thuy, another refugee accompanied him for the ceremony.

The mother of the bride and father of the groom, or his representative in this case, formerly agreed to the marriage.

Then, the bride and groom held burning sticks of incense as they kneeled before an altar and prayed to Buddha.

They stood up. The bride's mother and Ong Tu (Mr. Tu) toasted with wine and wished the couple a happy marriage.

The groom presented flowers to the bride, and he took her away in marriage, driving a white car decorated with fresh flowers. White symbolizes purity for Vietnamese, and red represents happiness or good luck, Sgt. Knisley concluded.

"That was probably one of the most unusual marriages I'll probably ever have," West said.

West was appointed to complete the unexpired term of Justice of the Peace Walter Grice, who had just started work as a JP when he was called for one of his most memorable weddings.

Grice, who retired in October 1975, recalled a man asked him to marry his daughter in the country. The year was 1941.

An old model A Ford taxi, carrying the father and bridegroom, picked up Grice about 8 p.m., the peace justice remembered.

As they followed country roads outlining sections, Grice kept asking how much farther it was. He had thought they were only going a few miles. But the wedding site was 20 miles away. It was about 10:30 or 11 p.m. when they arrived.

I'll go in here and wake these people up," the father said.

"What is this, a shotgun wedding," Grice asked the bridegroom, who had been released temporarily from the Army to be married.

"Yeah, I guess that's what you call it," the bridegroom replied.

Beside the bride lay a two or three-day-old baby, Grice said he decided to officiate for the wedding, because he "felt like he was doing the girl a good deal." She lay in bed with her baby during the ceremony.

Grice didn't see a gun but the JP added, laughing: "He knew, if he didn't do it (get married), he'd get shot."

As far as the official remembers, the then Army man never did come back to live with his wife.

Since then, Grice has witnessed numerous shotgun weddings but nothing like that one. Courts sometimes leave men a choice, of marrying a pregnant woman or going to jail, Grice explained.

"My marriages are mostly run-of-the-mill types," Justice of the Peace Lulu Adams said. She has been the J.P. in Coahoma for 14 years.

She remembered one couple separated for eight years. "He came back to visit his little boy," Mrs. Adams recalled. "He just stayed, and they remarried.

"And then I married one couple, and they had seven children between them, and all the children were present," Mrs. Adams said.

She presided at the ceremony for two neices and one nephew — Dixie Broom Blevens, Klieta Mae Godfry — Scheible and Rusty Archard.

Once, Ochotorena was called about 3 a.m. for a marriage at an apartment party.

" 'Can it wait until tomorrow?' " Ochotorena asked.

" 'No, I want to get married right now,' " the prospective bride said. " 'If we don't marry right now, I'm not going to get married.' " Ochotorena said, "Everybody was drunk."

The couple didn't have a marriage license. So the man offered Ochotorena first $50 then $100 to perform the ceremony anyway.

"If you don't have a marriage license, I wouldn't do it for a $1,000," Ochotorena said.

Later, Ochotorena learned more. "The guy was already married and was out there trying to marry and wanting to marry somebody else."

Another time, a misunderstanding almost prevented a marriage. More than 200 persons had gathered for the event, Ochotorena said. Again, the couple did not have a marriage license.

"They thought I had it in my pocket," Ochotorena said.

Then County Judge A. G. Mitchell waived the requirement for a blood test, former County Clerk Pauline Petty issued the license and the party wasn't ruined.

Another time, a large crowd wearing formal clothes and bearing flowers waited on the second floor of the closed courthouse the day before Christmas.

Ochotorena waited for about an hour, shopped at a store across the street and returned and went home, leaving his phone number.

Several days later, the couple finally appeared at his office.

"Well, we just changed our minds," Ochotorena was told. "They came in here, got married, didn't even say thank you and walked away."

The average tip is $5 or $6, local JPs said, noting some give him $20 and others nothing.

Even when the couples tip, it is not always profitable. Ochotorena bought champagne for $2.99 once for a ceremony in his own home. The tip: $2.

Does he offer advice? "I offer advice after they've been married for a while," the married father of five children said.

Ochotorena has married several couples twice, divorce not being uncommon. "As a matter of fact, my very first marriage — they are divorced now."

One couple with grown children didn't have time to divorce again. The man was bedridden in the Veterans Administration Hospital and wanted to "get everything squared away," because "he died two days later."

Holds first meeting

The Big Spring School Food Service held its first meeting Thursday September 9 in the elementary cafeteria of Marcy School.

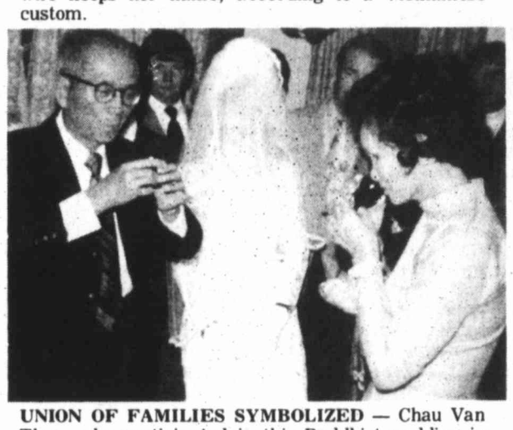

Mrs. Willie Hartfield reported on her trip to Hawaii and seminars she attended. Plans for a Christmas party were discussed and it was decided that the party would be held in the Marcy Cafeteria.

TO WED — Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Christon, Stanton, announce the engagement of their daughter, Connie Sue, to J.W. (Bill) Pardue, son of Mr. and Mrs. H.W. Pardue, also of Stanton. Ceremonies are set for 8 p.m. Oct. 16 in the First Baptist Church of Stanton. Miss Christon is a 1976 graduate of Stanton High School and is presently employed at Western Production Credit association. Pardue is employed with Permian Corp. in Midland and is a 1971 graduate of Stanton High School.

BUDDHIST COUPLE UNITED — Dang Hoang Nghi poses with his new bride, Quach Ai Dong, after a Buddhist and civil ceremony in a Big Spring home. The wife keeps her name, according to a Vietnamese custom.

UNION OF FAMILIES SYMBOLIZED — Chau Van Thuy, who participated in this Buddhist wedding in place of the groom's father, and Cam Thi Tu, the mother of the bride, toast with wine. Shown watching this symbolic gesture of the union between the two families are the bride, Quach Ai Dong, and wedding guests.

resolution September in Fort Worth.

The main point, said Baird is that more people need to get involved with the process of running their country. Certainly 200 years ago leaders wouldn't have needed to beg to get people to vote. Women sacrificed much and caused a great stir to get an amendment passed to vote, yet there isn't one women's political group in this area.

Baird said he liked to see competition, and the more people voting, the better the people are who get elected.

Booze, pot not mixing with chili

TERLINGUA, Tex. (AP) — Organizers of the 10th annual World Championship Chili Cookoff, which is a gathering of a very special breed of gourmets in the far reaches of West Texas, warned Friday that their annual affair will not be turned into a lost weekend this year.

The cookoff will be held in this Texas ghost town, 90 miles from the nearest real town, Alpine, in the Big Bend country on Oct. 16. Last year it attracted more than 15,000 spectators and participants.

Texas chili is a hot dish of beef and chili not designed for weak palates, but to which aficionados attribute all sorts of virtues including medicinal powers for hangovers.

Cooks from all over the world will set up their own kitchens in the ghost town and prepare their dishes for the judges while thousands enjoy the rich aroma of chili in the clean desert air.

Paul (Terlingua) Vonn, owner of the ghost town, said that arrangements have been made this year to have "peace officers around the clock from the Thursday before the cookoff until Monday following the event."

"We want visitors to feel safe while enjoying the magnificent October weather and the mountains and desert in the Southwest's most satifactory ghost town," Vonn said.

"Boozers and potheads will be arrested," he warned.

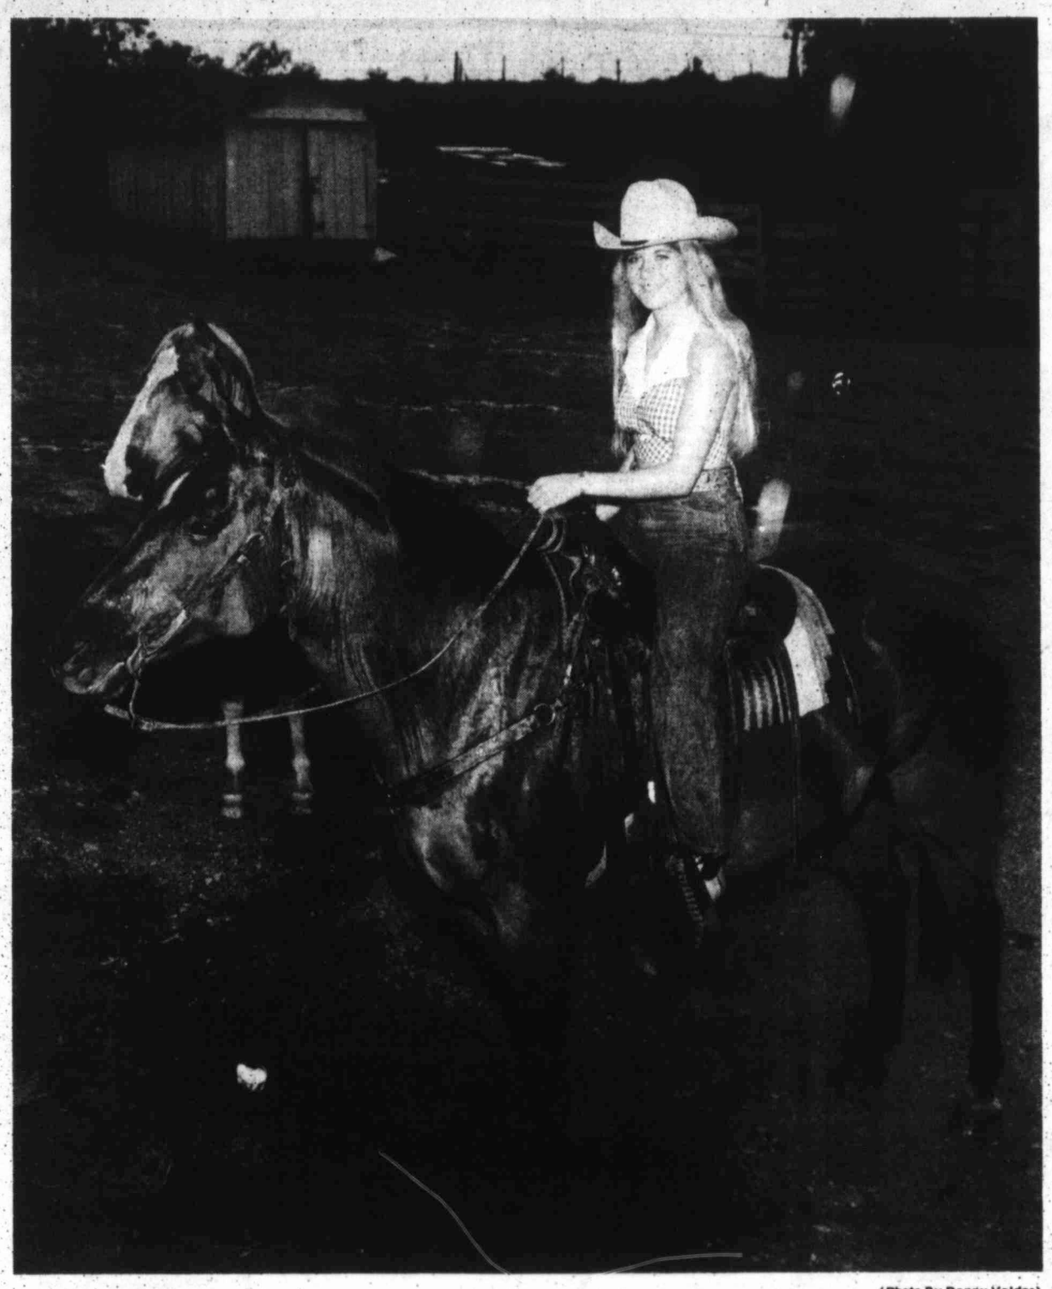

Proceeds from concessions in the area are donated to civic clubs and schools in West Texas.

Participants and spectators arrive in hundreds of recreation vehicles, but Vonn said that motorcycles would not be allowed this year.

Vonn said police protection was arranged this year because there were a few fistfights last year.

Frank Tolbert, co-founder and director of the cookoff, said that champions from 20 states, three Mexican states and at least one Swedish cook will participate in the contest.

Meanwhile, in San Marcos, north of San Antonio, cooks were competing in the Republic of Texas Chilimpiad this weekend with the winner scheduled to represent the state in the Terlingua affair.

NOT YOU, THE HORSE — Layne Stallings, 17, dresses appropriately for halter class competition in the Open Youth Horse Show slated at the Howard County Fair Saturday. Judges decide the winner of halter classes on the basis of the horse's — not the rider's — appearance, gait and poise, however. Layne, a senior at Big Spring High School and member of the Lucky Acres 4-H Club, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stallings.

Psychology profs joke to teach classes well

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The University of Southern California's psychology department says the way to keep students awake during lessons on ponderous material is through their funny bones.

Instead of conducting conventional lessons, instructors have been urged to spice up lectures with jokes — to turn them into something resembling comedy routines.

It all began about 2½ years ago when Prof. Edward Conolley began one of his classes by saying:

"It was in this very room that I attended my freshman orientation. I'll never forget it. We were addressed by a man with a nervous tic who was wearing a clip-on tie and what looked like a clip-on suit. He also carried a Roy Rogers lunch box with him.

"He was, I learned later, the head of the psychology department."

For several hours, the professor intermingled jokes produced by comedy writer Eric Cohen into his lecture. When class ended, his students stood up and applauded.

Conolley has since left USC, but his experimental lecture technique has been developed into what's known as the Quality Teaching Effectiveness Program. The department also called in Dick Shaal, an actor-director who is married to Valerie Harper, star of the "Rhoda" series on television and has played in "Phyllis," to show teachers stage techniques for capturing and keeping attention.

Critics say QTE does little more than make professors popular with their students.

But Dr. Scott Fraser, one of QTE's organizers, says the technique really works.

"We have run control groups and found that students in classes where the course material was infused with the humor and dramatic techniques did better than those in classes where such methods were not used," Fraser said.

Fraser said the jokes used in QTE aren't Henny Youngman one-liners, "but jokes designed to illustrate concepts as well as hold the attention of students."

QTE is limited to the psychology department, but Fraser hopes resource centers will be set up across campus where professors can develop their "entertainment" skills and practice before audiences made up of faculty members.

Cohen, the man who started it all, now produces the hit television series "Welcome Back, Kotter."

He still writes jokes for psychology lectures, but says he doesn't have time to work for other colleges.

But Cohen says he sees a real challenge in a request from the University of Oregon medical school.

"What kind of a joke can you tell with a scalpel in your hand?" he says. "How do you punch up brain surgery?"

'Texas Trilogy'

NEW YORK — Preston Jones' widely acclaimed "A Texas Trilogy," three plays dealing with small-town southern life, premieres at the Broadhurst Theatre Sept. 21.

Fact, fiction written with flair

Sci-fi dad invokes awe

By JOHN W. DEATS
COUNTY LIBRARIAN

An author who can produce nearly two hundred books, hundreds of short stories and countless magazine articles has to be very much in demand.

Especially when they cover such a vast range of subjects: From physics, biology, mathematics, and astronomy to history, religion, literature, and social criticism.

Just such an author is Isaac Asimov, considered by many critics to be the father of modern science fiction.

His classic, the Foundation series, was one of the first works of this field to speculate not only about what man would do after achieving interstellar flight but how mankind would be altered by the experience. A long list of this author's works includes "Pebble in the Sky," "The Martian Way," "Nightfall," and "Buy Jupiter."

THE QUALITY of a simov's fiction lies partly in its depth, partly in its humor. He often writes in an almost anecdotal sytle, yet his stories invariably involve the reader in the moral dilemma of his characters.

These are usually "good natured, human, unextraordinary, wonderful Joes." People tend to think of science fiction in terms of monstrous creatures, freaks and superheroes, yet they inhabit only the worst (artistically) of the worlds created by the imagination. Asimov rarely creates the unbelievable.

This brings us to another aspect of Asimov, that of the realist. A professor of biochemistry at Boston University, he brings to the literary world a rare combination of scientific knowledge and the ability to write clearly.

The information gap between scientists and "ordinary" people seems to widen every day, but Asimov is one of the few writers who is able to make basic concepts of modern science accessible to many readers. Among others, the following books have enjoyed wide popularity: "The Solar System and Back," "The Stars and their Courses," and "The Clock We Live On."

HOWARD COUNTY Library has recently acquired another of these best selling, factual works: Understand Physics (in three volumes). They provide a readable introduction to the nature of light, heat, electricity, sound, nuclear particles and much more.

Would you like to know more about the Second Scientific Revolution at the turn of the century, about the awesome energy bound up within the atom or the theory of relativity? These books are highly recommended for the high school student and intelligent adult.

Perhaps Damon Knight summed up the power of Asimov most aptly, regarding both fiction and fact: "Asimov will make you feel the distances, the cold, the vastness, the courage of tiny human figures against that immense backdrop."

Book gives look into locker room

BEHIND CLOSED DOORS. By Bob Woolf. Atheneum. 300 Pages. $9.95.

Sports fans interested in getting a behind the scenes peek into the world of professional sports are given the opportunity in Bob Woolf's "Behind Closed Doors."

Woolf has been inside those doors for the past 12 years as legal representative for athletes in fields from baseball to billiards, and he shows that:

They are portals of humanness in a world where the athlete is pictured as the god of the playing field. That door is opened when Woolf tells of former Boston Bruins defenseman Ted Green as he lay in a hospital bed, his future in question after a brain injury sustained in a 1969 high sticking incident.

THIS WEEK'S SPECIAL
Captain's Bed $174.50
Solve those small room storage problems.
Woodward combined this warm pine-toned Captain's bed with 3 stately wall units to create the perfect solution for those small room space problems. The Captain's bed contains 4 roomy drawers and 2 rugged shelves while the wall units boast a full 18" depth. And because the pieces are all designed and finished alike, they add untold versatility to larger rooms. When you buy Woodward's Captain's bed with the matching wall units, you get a winning combination for your small bedrooms. Or your large ones. Take them home. You'll see what we mean.
This piece of solidly crafted furniture was produced in the U.S.A. under the most exacting production techniques available today and embodies the following quality materials: high pressure plastic tops with wood edge banding, solid pine fronts, and simulated engraved wood grain on wood products sides.
