On The BEAM

By J. W. King, Sr.

A good soaking rain would be most welcome in our territory now especially south of town where moisture was not too plentiful in June.

Crops are doing real well. Cotton is loading up with forms and at this time is very promising There is very little grain sorghum planted in the area but what there is seems to be doing well. The skip row method of planting cotton has taken the grain sorghum growing out of this section to a large extent. I am wondering if the practice is really the best thing for farmers. It seems to me that grain sorghum planted on the acreage that is left blank would make more revenue but maybe I'm wrong.

A lot of people are traveling to the Northwest this year to see the wonderful scenery and to view the World's Fair at Seattle. It is a long way Seattle and if a person intends to drive through he had better have more than two weeks free time or he will be traveling all the time and not be able to see all the scenery. Those who fly or course will not need so much time but they won't see so much either.

My wife and I have been wanting to go to Seattle, not to see the fair especially but to see our son who lives there. We are not going to get to make the trip now because of several things that are in the way. We do plan, however, to go with our daughter-in-law and daughters as far as Denver. Colorado when they return home this month. Melvin will meet them in Denver and we will get to visit with him a short time. When we get all of our coons up one tree we'll go to Seattle.

New homes are springing up in various parts of town and country which we are glad to see. We need a lot more people in our community, both town and country but a lot of them have not been able to stop in Loraine because job opportunities here are not plentiful. Some day maybe the situation will be changed.

Fire Alarm System Improved Call 2700 to Report Fires

Mr. Eastwood, manager of Telephone Incorporated, of which the Loraine telephone system is a part announced this week that part of the equipment for the fire alarm system had arrived and had been installed in Loraine. The system will make it more convenient for people to call the proper person to report a fire.

Up to this week the procedure was rather confusing. In the day time to report a fire a person called 2700 which is the city hall. But at night there was no one at this telephone so to report a fire a person called the Fire Chief or any other member of the department he might know.

Now there will be five telephones tied into No. 2700 any one of which can receive the call and turn on the fire alarm. At the present time the buttons and the controls going to the sirens are not here and have not been installed but will be as soon as they are received, Eastwood said.

In case you want to report a fire call 2700 day or night.

Read Acts 16:19-34

The law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death. (Romans 8:2.)

When I am depressed and when I chafe at the limitations which fetter me, I think of Jim.

A sturdy lad of eighteen, Jim had fallen under a tractor while cutting hay on his father's farm.

I visited him in the hospital. He had had a leg amputated, his broken arm was in a cast, and his injured chest bandaged. I knew he must be in severe pain.

Maimed as he was, his future activities would be greatly restricted. Yet he kept the whole ward cheerful. He knew within himself the liberty that comes through Christ, and so was able to face his handicaps and not be overcome by them.

The freedom of the Spirit helps us become victorious, too. Christ helps us to accept ourselves as we are and yield our best to Him--our utmost for His highest.

Prayer: O God, whom to know is to love, and whom to serve is to find freedom, may we know the liberty of perfectly doing Thy will. Help us to realize that Thou dost consider our limitations and dost require only that we find our true life in Thine and do our best for Thee. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

Thought For The Day: In Christ we find the glorious liberty which breaks every fetter and floods our lives with joy.

HEALTH AND SAFETY TIPS FROM THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

Don't let an accident spoil the fun of fishing.

Fishing is one of the nation's favorite outdoor sports. It offers relaxation, mild exercise and a welcome change from the everyday routine. But, as every fisherman knows, there are several built-in hazards to fishing that bear watching.

"Sidewinders" (fishermen who swing their arms in a wide arc on the cast) are responsible for many of the hook accidents, says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association. If you are a sidewinder, be sure your field is clear of other fishermen before casting.

In removing a hook from a fish hold the fish under the gills so only its body, not its head, can flop and wiggle. Trying to grab a slippery fish and remove the hook at the same time is an easy way to get hooked.

Lures and hooks left lying on the floor of a boat or on the dock are inviting trouble.

Never try to pull a hook out if one becomes imbedded beneath the skin. Your physician will snip off the back end of the hook and push it through the wound. If necessary he will administer antibiotics and tetanus toxoid.

Save your muscles from strain by avoiding excessive rowing or exercise. Protect yourself from sunburn and heat prostration.

THE PANAMERICAN LIVESTOCK EXPOSITION OF THE STATE FAIR TO RECEIVE FIRST "E" AWARD IN TEXAS

One hundred companies or organizations in the United States have received or will receive the Federal Government's "E" for Export" award announced Harry C. Meyers, Manager of the Dallas Field Office of the Department of Commerce, upon receipt of a communication from Commerce Secretary Hodges advising that the PanAmerican Live stock exposition was the first organization in Texas selected to receive an "E" award. Presentation of the award will be made in the near future by a member of the President's Cabinet.

The "E" awards, consisting of flags and certificates, signed by the Secretary of Commerce, are given for outstanding contributions to the nation's export program. This is an all out effort spreadheaded by the U. E. government to increase the sales of American products to overseas markets. The program is vital to the nation's economic health and to the country's balance of payments position.

"It is gratifying", Meyers said, "to see that recognition has been given to the efforts made by the PanAmerican Livestock Exposition to increase the sale of cattle to overseas markets."

"Texas has much to gain from foreign trade for this trade represents 446 million dollars in sales of wheat, cotton and cattle plus 836 million dollars of electronic, petrochemicals and other Texas manufacthred goods. It stands to reason that the more products we sell overseas, the more prosperity and jobs will be created in Texas.'

Replace it now with a modern flameless ELECTRIC WATER HEATER and save $50 with this...

Good for $50 on the retail purchase and installation of a new electric 40-gallon (or larger) glass-lined quick recovery water heater in any home served by Texas Electric Service Company. Certificate available now and for a limited time only from your electric appliance dealer, plumber or electrical contractor.

Only an ELECTRIC water heater gives you all these advantages:

SAFE—NO FLAME. No flame to blow out accidentally, no fuel to leak, no pilot light or flue to worry about.

FAST—EFFICIENT. Immersed electric heating elements put all their heat into the water. No heat is wasted up a flue. You get hotter water faster and it stays hot longer.

SUNSHINE CLEAN. No by-products of combustion to soil walls or ceilings. No unpleasant fumes. No flue to accumulate soot.

LONG LIFE. With an electric water heater, the tank bottom is not subjected to the corrosive action of flames. There are no valves to stick, no burner to adjust.

INSTALLS ANYWHERE. Needs no flue. Can be installed anywhere in the house, close to the point of greatest use. Saves long, heat-wasting pipe runs.

NEW LOW RATE. Only 1¼ cents per kilowatt-hour for all electricity normally used for water heating by the average family. Call our office for details.

ANOTHER IN SERIES OF RESEARCH ARTICLES

(Editor's Note: This is another in a series of especially written articles telling of Texas A&M College faculty and staff probes deep into research areas, one of the great frontiers. Some of the research results in immediate rewards in dollars-and-cents for Texans other projects add to mankind's knowledge and provides the basis for further ventures along the frontiers of research.)

By Henry L. Alsmeyer, Jr.

College Stateion, Texas--(Spl)--Complex mathematics teamed with chemical engineering in a research effort which included a Texas A&M College professor and several graduate students have produced formulas described as worth "millions of dollars" to the oil industry.

Dr. C. D. Holland, professor of Chemical Engineering at A&M, his graduate students, and top researchers from the Humble Oil and Refining Co. and the Esso Research and Engineering Laboratories, developed the method for calculating distillation processes.

Dr. Holland began working on the project about eight years ago.

The secret of the procedure is the translation of a chemical engineering process into information which an electronic computer can utilize.

The results in the usual highly technical form are available to anyone, since they have been published in a series of articles in the technical literature.

The refiner faces such decisions as this: "How much 93 octane gasoline can we make from this particular run of crude oil, and what will it cost to make it?" The method is designed to provide this information. In addition, the manner in which the tall distillation columns of the refinery should be operated is also provided.

What the refiners appreciate about the new procedure is that they use a cumputer with its millionth of a second computational abilities to arrive at practical answers. They no longer have to use intuition or trial and error.

The key to Dr. Holland's procedure is what he calls the "convergence method.' This procedure "tells" the computer which way to go. As Dr. Holland puts it, "It zeroes in on the solution."

The National Science Foundation recently made a $14,000 grant through the Texas A&M Research Foundation for further research by Dr. Holland on "Convergence Methods for Distillation Calculations."

This project entails a continuation of the earlier research.

Dr. Holland salo directs other National Science Foundation-sponsored research projects whose financial support amounts to $34,000. Among these is the study of fundamentals involved in rate of transfer of materials between vapor and liquid phases.

NATIONAL FARM SAFETY WEEK JULY 22—28

College Station, July 12-The theme for the 19th annual National Farm Safety Week, July 22-28, is "Family Safety at Work and Play" and major emphasis is being placed upon highway and farm machinery safety.

According to the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, motor-vehicle accidents account for almost half of the fatal, but only a fifth of the non-fatal injuries to farm people in the United States each year. In 1960, 11,300 farm residents died from accidents and 950,000 suffered disabling injuries. Of the total fatalities, 5,100 resulted from traffic, and 3,300 from work accidents.

The Council points out that studies of accident reports show that over 90 percent of all accidents involve some human failure —inproper attitudes, carelessness, lack of attention to rules and regulations and many others.

Accidents, the Council continues, are the leading killers of young people from ages 1 to 36 and rank fourth in total deaths. From 1950-60, nearly a million persons died in accidents, 95 million suffered disabling injuries, and 3.5 million were permanently handicapped. America's cost $100 billion. But no dollar total can hope to appraise the priceless value of human life, nor can it comprehend grief, loneliness and pain. No purpose is served by accident losses. And most can be prevented, emphasizes the Council.

Safety is no accident and the accomplishments of rural leaders and cooperating farm families and organizations in their work to reduce accidents was cited by the Council. During the past decade, an 11 percent decrease in the farm resident death rate has resulted from this cooperative effort.

But, warns the Council, we still have a long way to go to give farming and ranching a safety record equal to other national industries. Until every rural resident makes safety his business, our cooperative efforts must be continued, they add.
