INDUSTRIAL BILL NEAR PASSAGE

TWINKLES
By the time this is printed, this writer will—thereoretically at least—be in the midst of State Press association discussions at Houston.

We're never, never going away again—south in the summer time, if we can help it. We still have a hankering, however, to see the world's fair in Chicago. Are you going to join us in the most economical trip of all?

In every convention are a few persons who seem to think it is their duty to attend the sessions. And in every meeting there are a number who think they have done their duty if they register. A few always think it smart to get drunk and stagger into wrong rooms late at night. And salesmen who frequent conventions of their customers often conduct themselves in a manner unbefitting to the craft in session.

The meanest man we've read about recently is a robber who beat a victim for not having any money to lose. And in times like these!

With hot weather very definitely here, tests of Pampa's milk supply are very satisfactory. That's good news to mothers with small children, and for the whole city in fact.

Medicinal beer has its virtues, but most of that brewed around here is fit to make any imbibitor a fit subject for medicine.

Pampa parents ought to be congratulated on their control of their children. While there are exceptions, one finds a remarkable scarcity of youngsters downtown compared to the number on the campuses during school days.

"Give and take" is the Rooseveltian idea of international diplomacy. Yeach, say the Europeans, hardened in diplomatic sparring, "give as little as possible and take as much as you can get."

Civic clubs are working on means to let every child in the city swim periodically, regardless of inability to pay. We hope this is possible, and we trust that the pool management will be able to show figures soon under which bargain hours may be set for those who can ill afford to pay the regular scale.

The city commission for some time has been planning erection of at least two wading pools for the children. These will be near playgrounds of schools or parks. No charge for admission has ever been planned for these. The tiny tots enjoy even a little water as much as ducks.

And now a revival until we report on what we see, hear, and learn on the trip to the state press gathering on the coast.

ELECTRA WOMAN DIES
ELECTRA, June 9 (AP)—Mrs. Ida Wilcoxson, 42, wife of Clark Wilcoxson, Electra drilling contractor, died today. Burial here tomorrow. Survivors are husband, infant son, sister, Mrs. Martha McClain of Orange, Texas.

I SAW—

A Max Baer fan who said that the numerous backhand blows given Schmeling was not because Baer was not a clean fighter but because of political reasons. He said Schmeling is a Hitlerite and that Baer sees red every time he glimpses a Nazi. "Every time Baer socked Schmeling he felt as if he were taking a lick at Hitler," the fan said.

THREE GUESSES

HUNDREDS ATTEND INITIAL EVENTS OF POOL OPENING

CROWDS JAM STREETS FOR LONG PARADE

WATER CONTESTS AND BALL ON PROGRAM THIS EVENING

TOWNS SEND BEAUTIES

MANY VISITORS ARE IN CITY; CARNIVAL HOLDS INTEREST

THE hundreds of persons who came to Pampa for the formal opening of municipal swimming pool joined with Pampans on the streets while the parade of bathing beauties, tiny tots and swimmers and divers passed shortly afternoon today. The crowds then started for the swimming pool where the opening program was to be staged.

John Studer, local attorney, was scheduled to make the opening address and then was to follow diving exhibitions, swimming races, water ball games and parades of kiddies and entries in the queen of the water carnival revue.

The formal opening, being sponsored by the Pampa Junior chamber of commerce, will continue through tomorrow with final selection of the queen of the water carnival and the awarding of prizes on the stage of the La Nora theater at 9 o'clock tomorrow night. More than 25 beautiful girls from Pampa, Stinnett, Panhandle, Clarendon, Miami, Canadian, Phillips, and other Panhandle towns were to parade at the opening program this afternoon and at future programs.

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the pool the Thrill Harmony orchestra will give a half-hour musical program which will be followed by diving exhibitions, swimming races and the parade of girls entered in the contest. At 9 o'clock at the Pla-Mor auditorium the water carnival ball will begin with the Thrill Harmony orchestra furnishing the music. Admission will be $1. Entrants in the revue will be honor guests at the ball.

The program tomorrow afternoon will start at the pool at 1:30 o'clock with water games, diving contests, swimming races and semi-finals in the bathing revue when 12 girls will be selected to go into the finals tomorrow night on the stage at the theater. Three out-of-town judges will select the winner and she will be given a cup and several prizes.

The Thrill Harmony orchestra will play during the parade of finalists across the stage. While the judges are selecting the winner and the next three place winners, the Pampa Sweethearts, Misses Dorothy Doucette, Jackie Jones, and Virginia Rose will sing several numbers.

President W. T. Fraser will present the prizes to the four winners in the queen of the water carnival contest and to winners in the swimming races.

George Limerick and Jack Dunn, general chairmen, and their committees have worked hard to make the formal opening of Pampa's new $10,000 swimming pool a success.

SENTENCE COMMUTED
AUSTIN, June 9 (AP)—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson today commuted to 20 years' imprisonment a penalty of 99 years' confinement that had been given Virgil Stevens, convicted in Bowie county of murder, Stevens was convicted in April 1926.

MANY DIE IN HEAT WAVES

Twenty-Two Die in Illinois; Dozens of Persons Are Overcome in Chicago.

By The Associated Press.
SIZZLING hot record breaking temperatures baked vast stretches of the eastern half of the nation today, bringing reports of deaths that approached the century mark. The nation's metropolis—new York—suffered yesterday with a record-breaking June 8 temperature of 92, with one heat death and two drownings, but it was in the middle-west where the death figures mounted.

Illinois alone counted 22 dead in three days of the heat wave. Eighteen of the fatalities were in Chicago, where the thermometer shot up to 97—a new all-time record for June 8—and then began to recede, with a drop of ten degrees promised for today.

Dozens of persons were overcome and treated in Chicago hospitals, including eight visitors to the city's Century of Progress exposition.

Cleveland was scorched under an all-time heat record of 98 for the day and reported that eleven were known to have died in Ohio during the past two days from the heat, with two others losing their lives by drowning.

Jesse F. Wiseman, pastor of the Church of Christ here for more than three years, left yesterday for Borger, where he is to assume the pastorate.

Wiseman Is New Borger Minister

His place here has not been filled. Services are to be conducted Sunday by Clyde E. Riley of Wellington, who has been assisting in a revival that closed Wednesday evening.

Eighteen additions to the church were reported as the result of the revival services, conducted for 10 days by Evangelist Gray Carter of Shawnee, Okla., with Riley in charge of the music.

SEVENTEEN-YEAR OLD YOUTH IS ARRESTED FOR SLAYING MOTHER

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 9 (AP)—Counsel for 17-year-old Balfie MacDonald held in connection with the slaying of his mother about two weeks ago in Flint, Mich., said today they would resist extradition. The admission of a youth, held for extortion, that he is Balfie MacDonald, 17, of Flint, Mich., hunted since his mother was found slain nearly two weeks ago, brought Michigan officers hurrying here to take charge of him and a companion.

Both MacDonald, who denied he killed his mother but says an argument with her led him to run away, and the companion, William Terwilliger, 16, also of Flint, were charged by Nashville police with murder and with being fugitives from justice.

Mrs. MacDonald was found dead in bed at her home May 17, her head crushed and her son missing. MacDonald and Terwilliger were arrested here a week ago on charges of mailing extortion notes to Nashville business men but gave their real names only yesterday on arraignment before a United States commissioner.

A newspaper man recognized MacDonald's name and notified officers. A detective said Terwilliger told him Balfie had admitted striking his mother with a book end.

TEXAS FLIER HAS TIME TO BEAT RECORD

INTENDS TO STAY ON GROUND UNTIL TOMORROW

ARRIVES EARLY TODAY

PLANE IS FUNCTIONING WELL; HEALTH OF AIRMAN GOOD

MOSCOW, June 9 (AP)—Jimmy Mattern, round-the-world flier, landed at Bloye, Siberia, about 50 miles from Irkutsk at 3:45 p. m. today, Moscow time (7:45 a. m. E. S. T.).

He intends to remain there until tomorrow. No details were available here but the aviator presumably was in good health and his plane was functioning well.

MOSCOW, June 9 (AP)—Jimmy Mattern, American round-the-world flier, passed over Nizhniudinsk, in eastern Siberia, at 2:05 p. m. Moscow time (6:05 a. m. E. S. T.) today.

Nizhi Udinsk is about one-third of the distance between Krasnoyarsk, Mattern's last taking-off place, and Chita, apparently his next objective. It is about 1,300 miles from Krasnoyarsk to Chita.

Lions Club Will Aid in Equipping Children's Park

The Pampa Lions club will assist in securing playground equipment for the kiddie park to be built west of the city park on North Cuyler street. A committee composed of John Hesse, chairman, C. E. Hutchins and John Osborne was appointed to take care of the matter at the noon luncheon meeting yesterday.

An interesting talk on salesmanship was given by Lion Bert Cuyler. Entertainment of songs and music was given by Misses Dorothy Doucette, Virginia Rose and Jackie Jones.

Next week will be the election of officers for the coming year. Guests yesterday were J. C. Rich and C. T. Hunkapillar, Pampa, and Glenn Garrison of Amarillo.

'Fight Party' At NEWS Attended By Large Crowd

A crowd of several hundred fight fans heard the blow-by-blow account of Max Baer's sensational triumph over Max Schmeling last night in front of the Pampa Daily NEWS. The report was received over the Associated Press wire from the ring-side.

Although Schmeling was the favorite of most Pampa fans before the fight—largely because they believed he was the best fighter—few indeed were sorry that the Teuton was given the lazing of his life. Baer's savage, mauling attack was surprising and appreciated, cheers from the crowd indicated. Sam Fenberg, megaphone announcer de luxe, did the "talking" from the NEWS gallery.

Mattern's Wife Has a 'Hunch'

JIMMIE MATTERN (above) will make the rest of his globe-girdling flight without mishap, if his wife who is knitting a red dress in Walla Walla, Wash., maintains her 100 per cent "hunch" record. Thus far, her "batting average" on "hunches" has been perfect. Her "hunch" today was that Jimmie would suffer no more accidents causing delays, and would dash from Siberia to New York in time to beat the Post-Gazette record. This striking portrait was made recently.

'WILD FLOWER' BILL SIGNED

Law Makes It Misdemeanor To Pick Flowers Without Owner's Permission.

AUSTIN, June 9 (AP)—The "wild flower bill" has been signed by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson. Its consideration by the house of representatives during the closing days of the session precipitated warm debates.

The bill, which will become law about September 1, makes it a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of from $1 to $10, for one to wilfully take, injure or destroy "shrubs, vines, flowers, and moss growing on the enclosed land of another" without written permission from the land owner.

A. W. Chisum of Miami was in Pampa yesterday.

R. J. Labaugh was over from Shamrock recently.

NEWSPAPERMAN'S PAPER IS ONE OF ALL-AROUND MERIT

THIS NEWSPAPER is proud of the compliments that come not only from readers it serves but from other newspapers and newspaper men.

Small city dailies are known to bridge a difficult gap between that stage in which a town outgrows its country newspaper pace and thinks in terms of news from a wider field. Therefore when a small daily not only covers its local news but presents in attractive typography the high-speed Associated Press report with features and comics, it is doing a man-sized job in good times.

The NEWS is often complimented for not having lost the "common touch" with its home folk yet living up to Pampa's status as an aggressive city. Only a daily newspaper is worthy of Pampa, hence The NEWS strives always to keep pace with the community.

Any unbiased newspaper man will tell you that this publication is straining to the full extent of its resources to serve the eastern Panhandle.

FINAL VOTE IS DUE IN SENATE IN AFTERNOON

ROOSEVELT AND HOUSE COMPROMISE ON VETS' CUTS

ROAD FUND IS VOTED

STATES WOULD OBTAIN 400 MILLIONS FOR HIGHWAYS

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—The senate today by 65 to 20 adopted a committee amendment to the industrial recovery bill allotting the $400,000,000 to the states for roads on the basis of one-third each on population, area and existing road mileage as against one-half population in the house bill.

Intent on winding up the extra session as quickly as possible, the senate moved steadily toward a vote on the big industrial recovery bill.

The house democratic steering committee today unanimously accepted a modification of President Roosevelt's compromise proposal on veterans' cuts and made plans to bring it up for house action tomorrow.

Further steps toward adjournment were taken when the house quickly approved conference reports on the administration's railroad reorganization and home mortgage relief measures, leaving only senate approval necessary before they go to the White House.

The senate was deep in the public works section of the industrial recovery bill, with indications that a final vote on the legislation would be taken late this afternoon. Meanwhile, the senate banking committee approved a batch of nominations, including that of Walter Newton of Minnesota, one of former President Hoover's secretaries, as a member of the home loan bank board.

Under the compromise agreement, service connected cases are reduced not more than 25 per cent, and at an average of 18 per cent.

Presumptive cases are to be cut 25 per cent, instead of being stricken off the rolls as provided under regulations previously issued.

CHANGING IDEAS ON BUSINESS CONTROL

If someone sat down to write a history of the Sherman anti-trust law, and the varying attitudes which the public has displayed toward it, he would find when he got through that he had also written the history of one of the most significant phases of the whole industrial revolution.

The Sherman act bridges the gap between two diametrically opposite ways of looking at the fruits of the machine age.

It was born when the whole nation looked with suspicion and an uneasy distrust on the giant combines of industry and finance. Mere size, in itself, seemed bad in those days. Our ideal was still the small business man, the small industrialist, the man who knew all of his employees by name and carried most of the details of his business in his own heads. That seemed to be the only kind of business that jibed with our traditional concepts of freedom.

But the tide was running the other way. Instead of small shops we got vast plants employing men by the thousands; great networks of interlocking businesses that blanketed the entire country, with a maze of security steps that seemed to put ownership and management above the reach of public control.

So we adopted the Sherman law, hoping to stem the tide.

But the tide kept on moving; and as it moved our ideas changed.

We began to discover that "big business" was an inevitable outgrowth of the age of machinery. The trend couldn't be stopped. The day of large-scale operations and giant combinations had arrived and we could do little but make the best of it.

And this, we began to see, might not be so bad, after all. If we could somehow foster this bigness, help it to become even bigger and more widespread, and at the same time work out some scheme by which social values would weigh just as heavily as profits, we might do very well for ourselves.

So now leaders in the administration discuss with industrial leaders the possibility of modifying the Sherman law—partly in the interest of business, but chiefly in the interest of the ordinary citizen.

It is a strange and significant shift which has taken place.

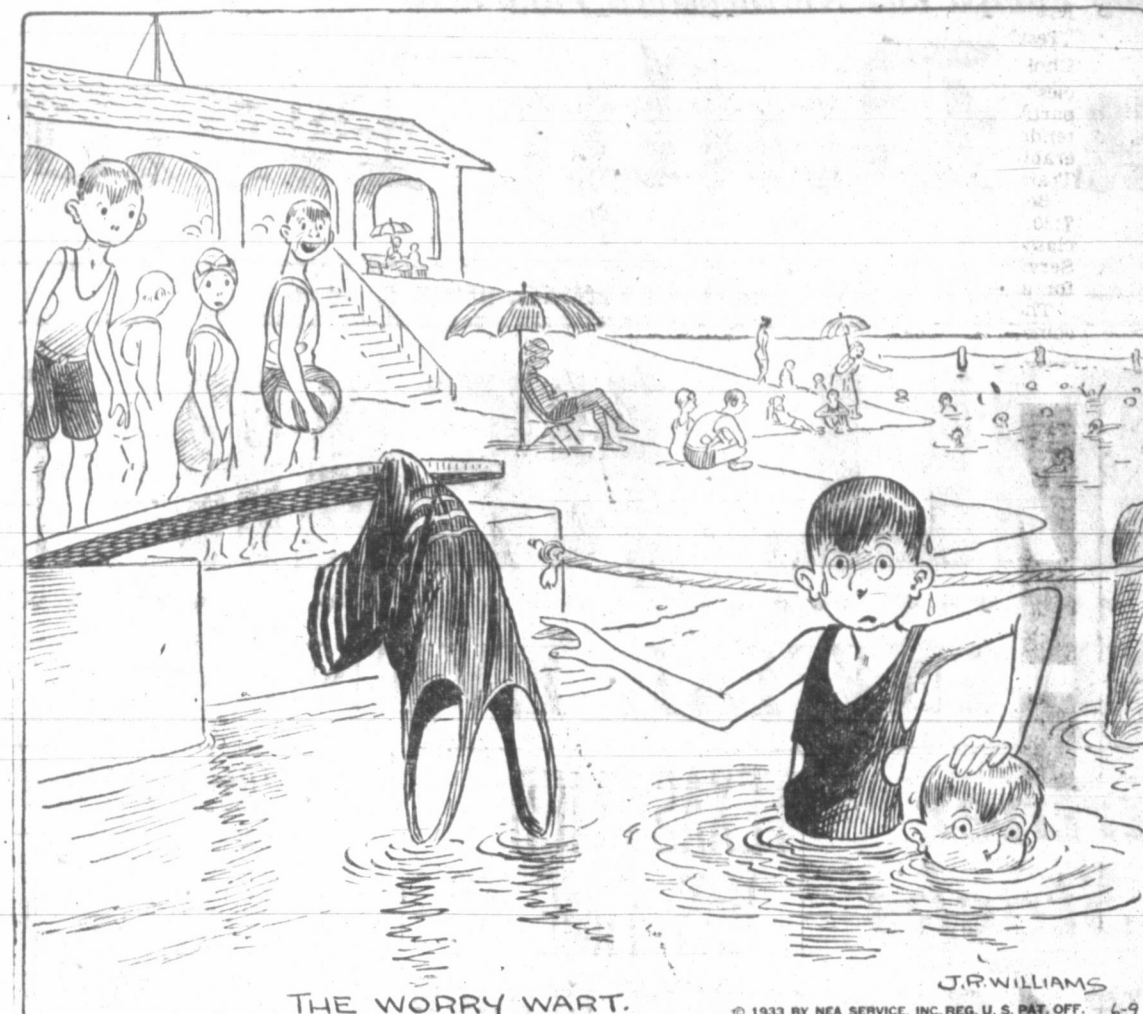

Scientist claims people in the city are more intelligent than those in the country. Must be true. A million of them have moved to the country in the last three years.

Why all this worry about the gold clause, when we have always boasted that our word is as good as our bond?

Maybe we don't understand the artistic point of view, but it looks to us like this: A man builds a $100,000, to exercise his artistic right to paint anything he pleases in the $100,000,000 building.

Now that physicians are permitted to prescribe as much liquor as they see fit, you might say that hilarity is just around the corner.

SOUTHERN COTTON FARMERS ARE MOST IMPOVERISHED IN NATION—REASON: FAILURE TO DIVERSIFY

UNIVERSITY, Va., June 9 (AP)—The southern farmer's complete subservience to "King Cotton" has made him worse off economically than the farmer of any other large section of the nation, and has resulted, for many decades, in the impoverishment of the section, it is asserted in a study of the cotton cooperatives in the southeast soon to be published for the institute for research in the social sciences of the University of Virginia.

Among the leading cotton states of the United States, the study shows, 48.5 per cent of the aggregate value of all crops for the ten-year period 1920-1930 was made up of cotton and cotton seed. In Mississippi approximately 65 per cent of the crop emphasis was upon cotton, and Texas was not far behind with 62.4 per cent. Arkansas, Alabama, and South Carolina showed more than half of their aggregate crop values over the ten-year period in cotton.

On the acreage basis, the study shows that 40 per cent of the total acreage devoted to crops in the south was planted in cotton. Texas and Mississippi showed more than 50 per cent, and Arkansas and South Carolina averaged more than 40 per cent.

Using data available for the year 1930, the conclusion was drawn that the average annual net cash income of the southern farmer was more than 50 per cent below the national average of $538 in that year. If to this figure is added the value of food produced and consumed on the farm, and the interest on farm investment at 5 per cent is deducted, the conclusion is reached that farmers of the South Atlantic states received $17 less than nothing, and those of the South Central states $69 less than nothing for their hours and days of toil.

Tenancy Blamed. "Unfortunately," the study says, "the poorer farmers greatly preponderate in the south due to the large amount of tenancy which prevails. Under present conditions, even the best farmers, in spite of their resourcefulness, are weathering the storm with extreme difficulty."

and they are doing so only at the expense of severe retrenchments in living standards or increased mortgage indebtedness.

Thirteen states are to be found among the fourteen lowest ranking states in per capita wealth. A large correspondence is to be found between the amounts of accumulated wealth and the rank of these states in farm income. Since the south is the predominantly rural section of the United States, its prosperity is still preponderantly the reflection of the farmers' wealth and income. Much of this is the result of the prolonged era of unprofitable cotton farming.

Failed To Break Even. Turning to the cost of producing cotton, the study shows that in 1931 not a single cotton producing state so much as broke even on its cotton production, losses ranging from $5 in Missouri to $29.50 in Oklahoma. In that year, it was shown, the United States produced 17,000,000 bales at a net loss of $282,084,000, or an average loss of $16.50 per bale.

By states, the losses were, Alabama, $17.50 per bale; Arkansas, $15; Florida, $27.50; Georgia, $16.50; Louisiana, $16; Mississippi, $13; Missouri, $5; North Carolina, $10; Oklahoma, $29.50; South Carolina, $16; Tennessee, $12.50; Texas, $27.50; and Virginia, $11.

Explaining how such a situation is possible, the authors pointed out that total production costs include rent and labor, and that therefore "the southern cotton farmer in 1931 produced cotton largely for his health and amusement."

SILVER ARRIVES

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—One of the largest silver shipments ever to arrive in the port of New York was taken today from the hold of the Dollar liner President Grant. The shipment was valued at about $6,000,000 and consisted of both specie and ingots.

H. J. Lyons of Dallas is here on business.

Bugbee To Draw Camp House on Goodnight Ranch

CLARENDON, June 9 (AP)—Harold Bugbee, cowboy artist of Clarendon, is doing research work preliminary to drawing plans for a reproduction of the original camp house of the famous Goodnight ranch as it appeared when erected in 1872.

If plans for establishing government reforestation camps inside the Palo Duro Canyon and the development of a park site go through, the old house will be reconstructed on its site in the canyon, on the proposed scenic Goodnight memorial trail.

Bugbee is interviewing those who worked for the late Colonel Goodnight while his headquarters were inside the canyon, or anyone who visited there, in an effort to have his plans accurate.

Roosevelt Will Get a Tom-Tom

PONCA CITY, June 9 (AP)—An Indian tom-tom, fashioned by the Ponca Indians at the request of Colonel Zack T. Miller of the 101st ranch, will be presented soon to President Franklin D. Roosevelt as a token of good will.

Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma will make the actual presentation, according to Miller.

The tom-tom, made on a hollow wooden core covered with bark and specially treated skins, is adorned with a portrait of President Roosevelt painted by Roger G. Taylor, noted painter of Indian subjects now living in Perry.

Plains Fine Horse Association Formed

AMARILLO, June 9 (AP)—Horse fanciers of the Panhandle have organized the Plains Fine Horse association for the purpose of "promoting the best interests of horse breeding in this section."

Towns having as many as six members will be entitled to a representative on the board of directors, and to hold shows affiliated with the regional association. Plans are being made now for a regional show in Amarillo during the summer.

John S. McKnight of Amarillo is president of the group, and J. Lind says Nunn secretary.

SIX WEEKS REQUIRED

RENO, Nev., June 9 (AP)—Nevada's divorce laws permit either party to file suit, regardless of which has established residence. Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt would be permitted to file suit here immediately after her husband has lived in Nevada six weeks.

By the World FORGOT

A New Serial by Ruby M. Ayres

SYNOPSIS: Everyone has deserted Nicholas Boyd, the famous star, except, apparently, George Baneroff—and Nicholas is not interested in George. He has played the hero once too often, and received a battered face and a lame leg as his reward. Now his contract has been cancelled and—George Boyd, his wife, has refused to sail with him to an obscure life in England. He complains bitterly to George, on the ship, because of the world's unkindness to his fallen star.

Chapter Six SENTIMENTAL CHILD

THERE was a long silence; Nicholas was looking away from her, straight ahead, of him with moody eyes, then presently George said:

"You ought not to say things like that; everyone doesn't pass by on the other side."

"No," he agreed bitterly. "Some of them stop to stare and to say: 'Poor devil, behold how the mighty are fallen.'"

"And some of them," George said, "stop as you did in the picture and say: 'You're still got me.'"

"Do they? I've never met anyone like that."

There was another little silence, then George said, almost timidly: "You've met me."

"You!" he said scornfully. "You're sought out Nicholas, not he who had looked for her.

"I love rooins," George said, in a pleased little voice. We get lots where I live."

She moved her little feet beneath the scarlet frock in time to the gay music.

"Why don't you go and dance?" Boyd said abruptly.

"Because nobody has asked me," George answered frankly. "At least not anyone I should care to dance with. Nelly introduced me to a man, but I hated the way he looked at me, and so I wouldn't dance with him. He's dancing with Nelly now."

"And doesn't she mind the way he looks at her?"

"I suppose not."

She leaned back in her chair, one bare arm curled above her head and Boyd watched her critically.

He had grown used to her now; during the last four days she had appeared beside him so many times, quietly taking it for granted that he was pleased with her company, that he had given up trying to avoid her, though sometimes he did not answer when she spoke to him, and sometimes he forgot that she was there.

HER arms and throat were rather brown, adding truth to Boyd's fancy that she looked like a robin,

"You look like a robin," Nicholas said.

only a child, a sentimental child who knows nothing of the world."

"Just now you said I wasn't a child."

"I was mistaken; you're just a baby who ought not to be allowed out alone."

"But I'm always alone," she insisted gently. "All my life I've been practically alone."

"I suppose you've got friends?"

She shook her head. "Not many. I know people, of course, but there isn't anyone I'd die for, if you mean that."

His fleeting smile came again. "Sometimes it's easier to die for people than to live for them," he said somberly.

Then suddenly he sat upright, carefully lowering his lame leg to the deck. "Well, it must be nearly lunch time," he said.

"Can I talk to you again some time?" George asked.

"It seems beyond my power to prevent you," he answered.

"But you don't mind?" she urged, anxiously.

"As long as you don't try the kissing experiment on me," he said cynically.

George smiled. "It wouldn't be necessary," he answered.

"What does that mean?" he asked.

"Only that I know already that I like you—awfully."

For a moment he stood looking at her, and she asked quickly:

"What are you thinking about?"

"I am wondering if you are as innocent as you look," he answered rather brutally.

"I don't know what that means."

"Then you probably are," he answered shortly, and without another word he turned away and left her.

WHY do you always wear that color?" Nicholas Boyd asked. George glanced down at her frock, a fluffy crimson affair that fell in soft folds to her ankles and was cut away at the neck and arms. "I like it," she said simply. "Don't you?"

"You look like a robin," Nicholas said.

They were sitting in a corner of the Winter garden, and in the distance the band was playing. As usual, it was George who had but where the crimson frock fell away there was a glimpse of white skin, soft like a child's.

She looked about seventeen, Nicholas thought, and yet there had been times during their strange friendship when she had talked to him almost like a woman of the world, a woman to whom life was a stern reality of which one might not make a jest.

At other times she was laughing and almost frivolous, making him feel as if he were an old, tired man, standing aside watching the world go by.

He said suddenly, "The day after tomorrow we shall be at Southampton."

"Yes—isn't it hateful?"

"Hateful? No! I shall be glad."

"Will you?" she looked at him rather wistfully. "I suppose you've got people to meet you," she hazarded.

"No."

It was strange that though George had told him so much about herself and her own life, she had never once discovered anything about him.

"I should like to go on like this forever," George said.

"Like what?"

She waved expressive hands. "Like this; in the ship, doing nothing in particular but just quite nappy."

He took a cigarette case from his pocket and offered it to her.

"Will you smoke?"

"I'll have one of my own. I don't like the kind you smoke."

She dove into a little bag in her lap and produced a battered silver case, which looked as if it might once have belonged to a man.

When she laid it down again Nicholas stretched out a hand and took it from her lap.

"Has this been through a revolution, or what?" he asked idly.

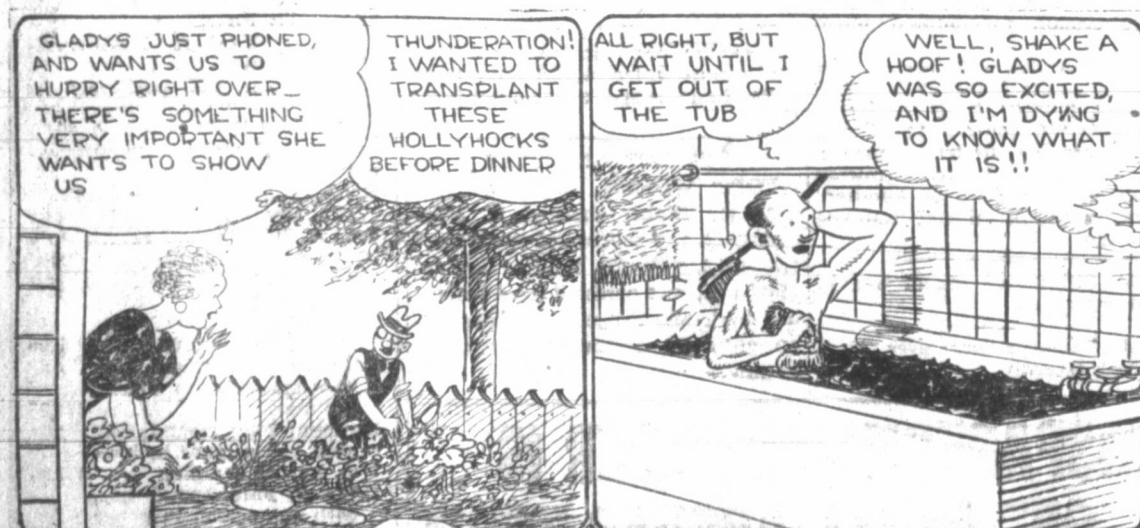

"It was my father's," George said. "He was killed in the war." She stifled a sigh. "I believe he was the only person in the world who ever really loved me, or who ever will."

(Copyright, 1933, Doubleday Doran.)

George gets a present, Monday.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" has been revived on Broadway and a critic describes it as "a ripe old play." A mellow drama, we presume.

MISS BARNHART WEDS KENNETH E. KURTZ IN HOME CEREMONY

BRIDE'S COUSIN READS SERVICE AT 10 O'CLOCK

COUPLE WILL RESIDE IN BORGER AFTER WEDDING TRIP

With only a few relatives and intimate friends present, Miss Frankie Barnhart was married to Kenneth E. Kurtz of Borger yesterday morning in a beautiful ceremony at the home of her mother, Mrs. H. F. Barnhart.

The service was read at 10 o'clock by the Rev. Terrell Fox, Christian minister of Amarillo and the bride's cousin. Mrs. Mel Davis played the "Lohengrin" wedding march as the bridal party entered the living room.

Bride Wears White.
Miss Barnhart was gowned in white lace and silk net, and carried a shower bouquet of Tailsman roses and baby breath. Her sister, Mrs. E. E. Smith of Amarillo, was maid of honor. She wore blue organza with a corsage of pink sweet peas and baby breath.

Mrs. Davis was beautifully dressed in tea rose lace, with a sweet pea corsage. John R. Barnhart, brother of the bride, acted as best man.

Tall baskets of Canterbury bells stood at each side of the improvised altar where the bridal party stood.

Roses decorated the dining room, where the bride's cake was arranged on a table covered with a lace cloth over pink, and pink tapers in silver holders flanked a centerpiece of roses.

Guests were Dr. R. L. Kurtz of Bartlesville, Okla., father of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Smith, the Rev. Mr. Fox and Mrs. Fox, of Amarillo; Miss Mary Lucille Hannon of Vernon; Mrs. Henry Charles and small daughter, Margaret Jane; Mr. and Mel Davis, Doris Ann Davis, Patsy Dunnigan, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Barnhart.

Mr. and Mrs. Kurtz left immediately after a wedding trip to Bartlesville and the Ozarks. They will be at home after July 1 in Borger, where Mr. Kurtz is with the Phillips Petroleum company.

Mrs. J. E. Collins Is Hostess To Members Of La Nueva Club

SKELLYTOWN, June 8 (SP)—La Nueva bridge club members gathered in the home of Mrs. John E. Collins Wednesday afternoon for two tables of bridge.

At the close of five games, in which Mrs. J. C. Jarvis won high score and Mrs. W. Price received the "galloping prize", refreshments of strawberry ice cream and angel food cake were served to two guests, Mrs. J. B. Gallaher and Mrs. Price, and the following members:

Messames John Dalton, Joseph McConnell, Charles Wayne, Frank McGuigan, S. C. Dickey, J. C. Jarvis, and the hostess.

The club voted unanimously to receive Mrs. Price as a member to fill the place of Mrs. McConnell, who will be gone during the summer months.

G. F. Johnson of Oklahoma City visited in Pampa this week.

W. R. McKinney of Amarillo spent yesterday here.

Cheers For Her

MIDDIES at the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., gave three cheers of approval when Miss Virginia Thompson of Baltimore, stood beside Midshipman Ernest Lee Jahnke Jr., who chose her for "color girl," at pre-graduation ceremonies as pictured here. Jahnke is the son of the former assistant secretary of the navy.

Queen of Clubs Has Novel Party

A clever kitchen motif was stressed when Mrs. O. H. Booth entertained the Queen of Clubs yesterday afternoon for her daughter, Mrs. H. C. Wilson.

Tailies were tiny china ships with 3-minute egg timers. High score prizes of hand made tea towels went to Mrs. A. B. Goldston for club members and Mrs. George Taylor for guests. Mrs. Carl Boston was consoled for low with a pretty apron.

Parasol sherbet, cake, and punch were served to Messames A. A. Kelley, C. T. Hunkapillar, L. O. Johnson, Philip Pond, Raymond Harrah, and Taylor, club guests, and Messames Neil McCullough, Charles Cook, J. H. Kelley, R. S. Lawrence, Goldston, and Boston, members.

Luncheon was served to Messames Mary L. Hufferd, Earl Phillips, E. Slocum, Leo Carlisle, Orin Colvin, W. H. Hughes, Paul Hughes, Walberg, Jerry Lockart, C. W. Thompson, Miss Margaret Hufferd, and the hostess.

Billie Burke Is Glad To Be Her Fluttery Self in Latest Picture

By ROBBINS COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Billie Burke is finding the talkies much more interesting from the player's viewpoint than the old silents.

Miss Burke's first experience in Hollywood was in 1916, in the days of silent films, and now she admits modestly that she is trying very hard to find a place in the talkies.

She has made three of them to date, appearing in "A Bill of Divorcement," in "Christopher Strong," and "Dinner at Eight."

No Fluttering
"When we were making a 'Bill of Divorcement,' the director, Mr. Zukor, almost had to hit me over the head to restrain the fluttering," Miss Burke recalled. The result on the screen, however, was rather a disappointment to many who had seen her on the stage, because the character in the picture was so staid.

The actress, widow of Florenz Ziegfeld, made some pictures in New York in the early days but had no experience in Hollywood. This was with the old Thomas Niece company.

"Pictures offered unbelievable salaries in those days. I remember I had offers both from Ince and from Paramount," Miss Burke said. "At Paramount Mr. Cecil B. DeMille, when I met him, looked closely at my profile and said, 'She'll do—her nose is all right!' that seemed terribly impertinent to me then—perhaps because I didn't know what a great judge he was. At any rate, I went with Ince."

Hopes—Not Plans.
April 11 would have been the nineteenth anniversary of her marriage to Ziegfeld. Miss Burke said she plans a biography of him in collaboration with some writer.

In the autumn, perhaps New York will see Billie Burke again in a play.

MERTEN CLUB'S OPEN HOUSE IS WELL ATTENDED

VISITORS RECEIVED IN HOME OF MRS. STAFFORD

MERTEN home demonstration club held open house yesterday at the home of Mrs. F. S. Stafford, bedroom demonstration.

Members and visitors observed the work completed in her bedroom, which included refinished floor, furniture, new curtains and blinds, a home made bed table, clock shelf, shoe rack, tie rack, and a well-arranged linen closet built by Mr. Stafford.

Exhibit Enjoyed.
The exhibit of quilts, linens, and other objects made during the year by other club members was also enjoyed by the visitors.

Sandwiches and lemonade were served by the hostess committee, and the group then went to the home of Mrs. C. H. Casey of the Busy Bee club, where another open house program was in progress.

Guests registering were Miss Ruby M. Adams, C. E. Cary, Messames H. B. Knapp, R. W. Taylor, Georgia Uzzell, Fred C. Fischer, R. A. Haskins, Fred E. Conner, E. F. Strickland, A. J. Sanders, L. L. McGhee, W. D. Champion, John H. Rickard, E. Bachus, R. M. Jenks, John Lochirhart, Herbert Jackson, Geo. Puckett; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Short Trips Are Made By People From Skellytown

SKELLYTOWN, June 9 (P)—Mrs. Clyde Aker and son, Max, left Saturday by auto for a visit of several weeks in Tulsa, Okla.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Staats, a baby boy, Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Harvey and daughter and Aaron Staats spent Sunday near Wheeler.

John Horner and J. C. Jarvis accompanied Clyde Carlson to Borger Saturday evening.

Mabel Marti and Mrs. Joe McConnell shopped in Pampa Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Abbott and children spent the week-end on their farm near Wheeler.

Miss Beulah Horner spent Tuesday in Pampa on business.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Reamsnyder motored to Amarillo Tuesday on business.

Mrs. Wesley Black and daughter, Billie Irene, left Wednesday to stay several weeks near Morrison, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gallaher motored to Pampa Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Kuehn have been absent for several days on a vacation trip, from which they returned this week.

Mrs. Naomi Watkins and daughter returned home last week for a few days.

Mrs. Lillian Barrett was admitted to the Pampa hospital today for a major operation.

Mrs. C. S. Hood of Panhandle entered Pampa hospital this morning for a tonsil operation.

BILLIE BURKE, first seen in the films in a silent of 1916, is finding more interest in the talking pictures in which she has returned to the screen.

"As for pictures," she said, "I don't plan—I hope!"

CHILDREN'S DAY PROGRAM WILL BE PRESENTED

Presbyterian Church Will Observe Annual Day

Annual children's day will be observed at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning with a special program which will be presented at the morning worship hour, beginning at 11 o'clock.

Children of the primary and beginners departments will appear, assisted by several from the cradle roll department. All teachers and officers in those divisions of the Sunday school have had a part in training the youngsters for their parts on the program.

Readings and songs will be featured in the service. Numbers will be given by classes and individuals. The children have been rehearsing the past two weeks and are prepared for their public appearance. The public is invited to attend this service, which will replace the usual morning preaching.

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY, NEA Service Writer.

Fruit should be added to the breakfast menus whenever it is possible. Every child should have one quart of milk daily; two teaspoons of cod liver oil should be given daily to each child under two years of age and to all children who are not well nourished; and from 1-8 to 1-4 of a cup of tomato juice.

RECIPES

The recipes given will serve a family of five.

Creamed Codfish.

One cup salt codfish, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour.

Separate the fish into very small pieces and leave in cold water to cover for three hours, changing the water three times. Heat the milk in a double boiler. Add the codfish, well drained, and cook for 10 minutes.

Mix the butter with the flour until a smooth paste is formed, then stir it into the milk, stirring until thickened. Cook 10 minutes. Take the dish from the heat, add the beaten egg, stir well and serve with out further cooking, adding a sprinkling of pepper just before dishing. If the sauce is cooked after the egg is added, the milk is likely to curdle. The egg may be omitted.

Fried Mush.

Pack cornmeal mush in a greased pan or in a small bread pan; cool and cover. Cut in slices and fry (saute).

Baked Bean Soup.

Three cups of cold baked beans, 3 cups water, 3 cups milk, salt and pepper, 2 level tablespoons onion, 1-4 sliced carrot, 2 slices onion, 3 tablespoons fat.

Put beans, onion and carrot in saucepan with three cups water and allow to simmer for a half hour. Rub through a colander or coarse sieve. Add milk, salt, and pepper. Reheat and add flour and fat, which have been blended together. Let boil slowly for 10 minutes.

Friday's Menu.

BREAKFAST: Oatmeal with milk and sugar, whole wheat bread and butter, milk for children, coffee for adults.

DINNER: Creamed codfish, spinach and cabbage salad, boiled or mashed potatoes, whole wheat bread and butter, fried mush with syrup (omit the fried mush for the small child), milk for children.

SUPPER: Baked bean soup, whole wheat bread and butter, fresh raw apple, tea for adults, milk for children.

FIFTH AVENUE FASHIONS

By ELLEN WORTH

For Sheer Chic and Cool Comfort

You can't decline a party just because the thermometer soars to dizzy heights. But you can arrive looking cool, unwetted and very, very feminine if you wear a frothy, primed cotton or chiffon frock. Sheer prints have an irresistible charm this year, whether they're patterned after field flower nosegays or the building of the Chicago Fair. For that's the latest news in prints, and very good news it is, too. Even script prints, an old-time favorite, have caught the modern spirit.

For dressmaking purposes you'll find a print the easiest fabric to work with. If the design is novel and the color becoming all else that is needed is a pattern with very simple, but very distinguished lines.

That's why this model belongs in every wardrobe—so simple in design that you can put it together in an afternoon; but so graceful in line that the full sleeves and dropped shoulders flatter like magic. For fabric requirements see pattern envelope. See our new Summer Fashion Book for more smart styles.

Pattern No. 5236 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 bust.

Heiress Wife Flies To Prince

SO eager was Princess Rospi-losi, the former Marion Snowden, Milwaukee heiress, to disprove rumors that her romance was on the rocks that she summoned her princely husband from Italy and flew down the bay to greet him when his ship neared New York. Here they are, reunited, as they emphatically denied the rumored rift.

Mrs. Mattern Is Not in Knitting Race, She Says

WALLA WALLA, Wash., June 9. (P)—"It's no race at all," says Mrs. Jimmie Mattern of her knitting.

While Jimmie, her flying husband, has been flitting about the globe, Mrs. Mattern has been sitting at her sister's home, quietly knitting on her new red dress.

"Jimmie really has a head start, you know. Knitting a skirt's a longer job than flying around the world—and a lot more monotonous. 'Of course—well, that is, I hope—I won't have the skirt finished before Jimmie's back in the United States. Why I haven't even started dropping stitches to narrow the skirt down at the hips, and if you know your knitting, you know I've still a long way to go."

Mrs. Mattern was in a happier mood after learning from the Associated Press that her husband was in the air again. She said she felt certain he could make the rest of the trip without mishap.

More than 40 years later the great French scientist Louis Pasteur announced to the world two important discoveries. Micro-organisms present in food, water, and air cause spoilage of food. Heat destroys those micro-organisms, and sterilizes the food. Here was the secret of Appert's success.

Process Changed
Since Appert's time, and especially since Pasteur, there have been new developments in the canning process. The old-time way was to cook the food, pack it boiling hot into hot containers, and seal it quickly to shut out air. This is the "open-kettle" method and it worked with fruits and tomatoes, provided there is no contamination at the moment between packing and sealing the containers. A later method is the "cold-pack," by which the food is packed cold and the filled container is "processed," or sterilized, in a water-bath or pressure canner. The bureau of home economics recommends the "hot-pack" method, however, in preference to either of these. For the "hot-pack" the food is heated in a minimum quantity of liquid, in order to reduce the bulk and drive out air. Then the containers are packed with the boiling hot food and processed in a water-bath.

Methods Vary
These methods can be used with the acid foods, such as fruits, tomatoes, pickled beets, and ripe plums, because the presence of the acid together with the boiling temperature destroys the micro-organisms that cause spoilage.

For nonacid foods, such as meats, corn, beans, peas, asparagus, or baby beets, "processing" in the pressure cooker is recommended by the bureau.

In these foods, which lack the acid found in fruits and tomatoes, much higher temperatures are needed to destroy the micro-organisms of spoilage than are required for acid foods. Only with a pressure canner, says the bureau, can these higher temperatures be obtained.

MR. AND MRS. BERT ROBERTS ARE COMPLIMENTED AT PARTY FOLLOWING RECENT MARRIAGE

Clella Nichols And Ray Parrish Married June 5

Announcement of the marriage of Miss Clella Nichols and Ray Parrish, which was solemnized in Sayre, Okla., June 5, adds to the list of June weddings.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Nichols of Pampa, and is a graduate of Pampa high school. Mr. Parrish is the son of J. L. Parrish, also of Pampa. He is employed by H. F. Wilcox here.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Peters of Borger accompanied the couple to Sayre and witnessed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Parrish are at home here.

Son Finds Mother He Believed Dead

FORT WORTH, June 9 (P)—Charlie Womack, 16, had believed his mother dead. Yesterday he found her in the line of women to whom he was giving milk for a charity institution.

Charlie arrived in Fort Worth on a freight train after several months "bumming" about the country. He had been adopted twice since he last saw his mother when his parents were separated eight years ago.

As the mother, Mrs. Jess Williams, took her usual place in the milk line, she recognized the boy behind the crooks as the son whom she had been seeking for years. Then she took him home with her.

She has two other children, a younger boy and a girl, who she believes are somewhere in East Texas.

BLUE EVENING GOWN SELECTED BY MRS. ROSS

WASHINGTON (P)—Nellie Taylor Ross, newly appointed director of the mint, is wearing a pale blue evening gown. Lattice-like straps of the silk are drawn in, fan-wise, to the high neckline, where they are caught by a soft band of the material which passes through the ends of the lattice effect.

Mrs. Jud Line and daughter, Miss Virginia, of Hereford, are visiting her mother, Mrs. J. S. Carter.

ELLOITT ROOSEVELT IN LOVE WITH TEXAS GIRL, REPORTS SAY

MOTHER KEEPS MUM; DENIAL GIVEN BY SON

ELLIOTT OFTEN VISITED FORT WORTH GIRL, SAYS PAPER

DALLAS, June 9. (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's transcontinental airplane dash from Washington to Los Angeles, left a trail of reports here, quickly denied, of a romance between him and Miss Ruth Goggins of Fort Worth.

The first lady, disclosed before she left Los Angeles yesterday that her son contemplated establishing residence in Nevada, so his present wife, the former Elizabeth Brown, daughter of Philadelphia, might sue him on grounds of incompatibility.

Mrs. Roosevelt, stopping briefly in Fort Worth last night, was asked if Elliott planned to marry Miss Goggins after his present wife obtains a divorce.

"I really couldn't say anything about that. You see, Elliott still is married," she replied.

Miss Goggins, 25, brunette, attractive, and a Wesleyan college graduate, was indignant, saying, "I think it is too bad to have all of this stirred up about nothing. We just happened to meet."

She said her introduction to Roosevelt was in Dallas and that they had been invited to several gatherings in Fort Worth. Young Roosevelt stopped in Fort Worth to attend a rodeo last March, while en route to Tucson, Ariz., and was entertained by C. R. Smith, vice president of American Airways, and others.

Miss Goggins added that Elliott was "a very nice boy" and "I don't know when I will see him again." She said she knew nothing of his marital affairs and she did not see his mother either when the first lady passed through Fort Worth en route from Washington to California nor when she stopped there last night returning to Washington.

Previously, young Roosevelt, in commenting on his divorce plans, emphatically declared there was no "triangle element" in the case.

"I want to make it clear," he was quoted from Los Angeles as saying, "that I am not in love with any other woman. I am going to de-

THE HANDS OF Big Ben weigh 224 and 336 pounds. The hour bell weighs 13½ tons.

The hide of a rhinoceros is used for making whips, harness, ropes, etc. Native hunters use it for shields, since it will turn an arrow, or an old-fashioned bullet. When properly prepared, the hide has the appearance of tortoise-shell, and can be made into beautiful ornamental objects.

FOXX SMASHES THREE HOMERS AGAINST YANKS

GOMEZ' OFFERINGS ARE HIT FREELY AS A'S WIN

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.

Philadelphia fans figuratively shedding tears over the failure of Jimmie Foxx to live up to the proud boasts they made for him when he clouted 58 home runs last season, apparently can dry their eyes and start cheering him on toward record achievements once more.

Jimie looked very much like the cluster of 1932 when he blasted his way back into the thick of the fight at the expense of the mighty Yankees yesterday. With the redoubtable Lefty Gomez as his mound opponent, Foxx crashed three home runs, batted in five tallies and was a leading figure in the 19-hit attack that gave the Athletics their first victory of the season over the Yankees, 14 to 11.

For a while, Foxx was tied with Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig for the big league home run lead with 11, but after the A's had put the game away with a six-run rally in the eighth, the Babe resuscitated his supremacy by piling his twelfth.

Another Philadelphia-New York game was decided on long distance slugging as the Giants, who have given New York a monopoly on first-places for the first time in years, turned back the Phillies, 7-6. Mel Ott's seventh homer of the year was the winning blow after four batters by Homer Peel and Bill Terry had brought in the other Giant runs.

Washington's Senators cut loose against Boston with 17 hits in the second game of a doubleheader to win 12-3 after they had "blown" a 4-3 decision in the opener. The even break gave them second place in the American league, once more as Detroit ended the 6-game winning streak of the Chicago White Sox with an eleven inning, 3-2 triumph when Catcher Frank Grube dropped a throw and let the winning run count.

The St. Louis Browns continued Cleveland's losing streak to five games by pounding out a 5-3 decision.

Diszy Dean of the St. Louis Cardinals outpointed Lonnie Warneke of the Chicago Cubs, giving only three hits to win 2-1. The victory kept the Cards only a few points behind the Giants while Chicago lost a good chance to take third place when the Pittsburgh Pirates suffered an 8-2 setback at the hands of the Cincinnati Reds and their old "jinx" moundman, Eppa Rixey.

Gas Hearing Will Be Held June 19

Applications of the Mid-Kansas Oil & Gas company and the Indian Territory Illuminating company for permission to process gas will be heard in the hearing held in Amarillo at 10 o'clock June 19. A member of the Texas railroad commission will preside.

J. M. McDonald, deputy supervisor of the commission with offices here, left this morning for Austin to attend a conference. He will return next week.

Twitty Hurling Staff May Give Mags a Surprise

Twitty's fast baseball team will come to Pampa Sunday afternoon to battle the Magnolia "Mags" in an important Cotton-Oil league tilt. The game will start at 3 o'clock with the admission 25 cents.

The "Mags" are tied for first place in the league standing along with McLean. Twitty and Shamrock are holding second place while Magic City and Wheeler are in the cellar. McLean won a 9 to 8 game from Twitty Sunday. Previously McLean had won a 4 to 2 game from Pampa.

Twitty has two good hurlers in Bartee and Gorman. Their battery mate is Nelson who is also a hard hitter. Both hurlers are fast ball pitchers with fast breaking curves. Pampa was without the services of a regular hurler last Sunday when they defeated Magic City. This Sunday Manager Howard Buckingham will have both Rogers and Burke ready for mound duty. It is probable that Rogers will start the game. He has rounded into condition and should be able to go the distance. "Boss" Wagner will do the catching.

Several changes may be made in the Pampa lineup. Weaknesses have been cropping up, largely due to lack of practice, and Manager Buckingham will field his strongest lineup.

Twitty's lineup will be: Westmorland, ss; S. Brown, 3b; Henderson, cf; E. Brown, lf; Briley, 2b; Burgess, 1b; McCracken, rf; Nelson, c; Bartee or Gorman, p.

Crows Use Wire In Mexico Nests

CLOVIS, N. M., June 9. (AP)—Crows in eastern New Mexico are so "tough" that build their nests of barbed wire.

A lineman sent out from Clovis, to investigate the cause of interruptions of the Associated Press printer service in the News-Journal office followed the line for 30 miles until he found a crow's nest in the arms of a telephone pole. Short pieces of barbed wire, used for foundation material in the nest, were shorting out the line.

Babe Didrikson Practicing Golf In California

LCS ANGELES, June 9. (AP)—Babe Didrikson was back today in Southern California, where she gained international fame in the Olympic games, with plans to prepare herself for added glory on the golf links.

The Texas girl is taking lessons in the game under the instruction of John Duncan Dunn, veteran professional, and plans to stay here for several months.

On the Santa Monica municipal course yesterday she shot a 90 despite several three putt greens.

Japan Expected To Import More American Cotton

OSAKA, Japan, June 9. (AP)—The prospect of a marked increase in Japanese purchases of American raw cotton is expected as a result of a decision of the Japan cotton spinners federation to cease buying raw cotton from British India.

This decision reached by the federation's emergency committee, is in retaliation for India's 50 per cent increase in duties on non-British cotton cloths announced on June 6.

The Indian action was taken because of the depreciation in the yen and the pressure of Japanese competition.

In the past three months, Japan's purchases of raw cotton from India have considerably exceeded purchases from the United States.

Simla's tariff boost is interpreted as being designed to close one of the Japan cotton industry's richest markets and, combined with India's notification on April 10 abrogating an Indo-Japanese commercial treaty, arouse bitterness throughout industrial Japan.

Mrs. Glenn Sheehan and children left this morning for a visit to Tulsa.

O. L. Love of Canadian visited in Pampa this week.

'Big Train' Is New Manager Of Cleveland Club

CLEVELAND, June 9. (AP)—Walter Johnson, "the big train" of baseball for many years, was named manager of the Cleveland Indians today.

Johnson will succeed Roger Peckinpaugh, whose regime has been reported frequently to be unsatisfactory to the Indians' management. The team has been losing more than half of its starts of late, and dropped from first to fifth place in the American league race.

The Westinghouse name is never placed on any but a strictly quality product. Westinghouse experimenting is done in the laboratory, not by the purchasing public. There is no "skimping," no sacrifice in materials or workmanship. That's why your Westinghouse will be serving you ... and saving money for you ... long after your neighbor's so-called "bargain" refrigerator has been replaced.

Yet Westinghouse quality actually costs only fractionally more than the very cheapest, untried makes. In return, you get a HERMETICALLY-SEALED mechanism, protected from wear, rust, dirt and leakage, forced-draft cooled for greater efficiency. You get the extra safeguard of Dual-automatic control. And you get all-steel construction ... better insulation ... faster freezing ... more conveniences throughout. Compare the Westinghouse with any other ... and you will know your only bargain is the BEST.

Cotton Farmer of South Spends Big Sums For Food Which He Could Grow At Small Outlay Other Than Labor

UNIVERSITY, Va., June 9 (AP)—The system of farming in the south which puts emphasis on cash crops of a non-food nature, mainly cotton and tobacco, might be justified according to theoretical economists in the law of comparative advantage, but such a course can scarcely be made to seem reasonable when it is shown that the south is raising cotton largely "for its health," or even at an actual loss.

This conclusion is reached by Dr. Wilson Gee and Edward Allison Terry in a study of the economic status of southern agriculture presented to the American Petroleum Institute, a study which is being published in the Journal of the American Petroleum Institute.

Estimates place the southern farmer, the study said, "in the astounding position of buying for cash approximately $430,000,000 worth of food and feed every year, most of which he could grow at small cost other than his labor. Every year the entire population of these states 'imports' foods and animal feeds from other states to the tune of $1,000,000,000 and depends largely on crops that are not indispensable to pay the bill. Therein lies the economic fallacy. In many southern counties the extent of total retail purchases runs in the order of $2,500,000 per county, while the cash crops, which constitute the only exportable value produced in them, have a value of $2,000,000. The unfavorable balance of $500,000 annually is accounted for by the constantly increasing load of farm mortgages.

Fortunately for the south, its farm indebtedness is proportionately less than for the nation as a whole. Farm lands and buildings in the United States, in 1930, were mortgaged to the extent of 19.3 per cent of their total value, while for the principal cotton states the corresponding figure was 15.4 per cent, ranging from 11.7 in Tennessee to 17.8 in South Carolina.

Turning to the problem of bank failures, the study showed that the bank failures during the 11 1/2 years ending June 30, 1932, in the United States numbered 10,103, of which the largest proportion were in agricultural communities, principally in the west and south. The southern states total was 3,123, most of which, it was said, were caused by the unhealthy pulse of communities composed principally of cotton farmers.

The WORLD of STAMPS

By QUINTON JAMES

Cuba recalls history in an issue of five stamps commemorating the dedication of a monument to soldiers who fought the Spanish in 1895.

The issue was scheduled to come out earlier this year but was delayed. Values: 3 centavo, brown, the mango trees of Baragua, under which in October, 1895, the soldiers assembled; 5c, blue, the battle of Valmora; 10c, green, the battle of Coliseo; 13c, carmine, three Cuban leaders, Antonio Maceo, Maximiliano Gomez and Juan B. Zayas; 20c, black, the monument.

Mal Tiempo; 10c, green, the battle of Coliseo; 13c, carmine, three Cuban leaders, Antonio Maceo, Maximiliano Gomez and Juan B. Zayas; 20c, black, the monument.

Against Auction Sales

French stamp dealers have come out flatly against public auction sales of collections during the economic emergency. They argue that auctions throw on the markets too large a mass of merchandise for collectors to absorb at present, with the result that stamps rapidly lose value.

But the open-air stamp market of Paris, situated just off the Champs-Élysées, is a different matter. It is still in full swing on Thursday and Saturday afternoons, school holidays, despite attempts to abolish or move it because of reported abuses in transactions. Almost half a century old, it attracts many children, most of whom are guided by their fathers.

Jots And Titles

Uruguay plans to issue a complete series this year to mark the 441st anniversary of Columbus' first trip to America.

Those who request stamp numbers when they buy stamps from the philatelic agency of the post office department, Washington, will be asked to purchase in these quantities: 3c denominations or less, full sheets; 4c to 10c, blocks of 20; 11c to 17c, blocks of 10. It seems the extra work of tearing off the numbers put the agency 25 days behind in filling mail orders. Larger orders are expected to mean less work.

For Zeppelin mail, Paraguay has issued the following values: 4.50 peso blue, 9p red, 13.50p light green, 22.50p light brown, 45p violet. The three lower values picture an airship over a palm-fringed coast; the two higher, an airship spanning the ocean between South America and Europe.

Durston Visits At His 'Second Home'

Greeting old Pampa friends with his infectious smile this morning was H. H. Durston of Fort Worth. Mr. Durston calls Pampa his second home and he takes every possible opportunity to visit Pampa.

Mr. Durston was in Pampa most of the time during the construction of the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad between Pampa and Childress which was completed just about a year ago. While here he made many friends who always welcome him to Pampa.

Mr. Durston has been known to sign his name on a hotel register as coming from Pampa.

MOSCOW, June 9 (AP)—Jimmy Mattern continued his round-the-world flight today by hopping off from Krasnoyarsk, Siberia, a little more than four hours after he had arrived there from Belovo, Siberia. The American aviator, who believes he still has a chance to establish a globe-girdling record despite setbacks by sickness, rain and plane trouble, arrived at Krasnoyarsk at 7:30 a. m. Moscow time (11:30 p. m. Thursday, E. S. T.).

Reports to Moscow were delayed by slow communication facilities so it was not learned what his next objective would be, although it was presumed that he will try for a point from which he could take off on the trans-Pacific leg of his adventure.

The Texan had apparently recovered from the nausea which had forced him to land, almost uncon-

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 9 (AP)—Cotton opened easier today. First trades showed losses of 5 to 11 points and prices continued to ease, October dropping to $9.14 and December to $9.29, or 10 to 11 points down from yesterday's close. The decline was attributed to some hedge-selling on continued good weather.

The market became more active as the morning progressed and prices advanced mainly on a report from Washington that favorable action would probably be taken during the coming week on the government land-leasing program. This stimulated trade buying and covering by shorts. October advanced to $9.33, and December to $9.49, or 19 to 20 points above the early lows and 9 points above yesterday's close.

Planet Mars Is Not Inhabited, Is New Theory

By EVERETT H. TIPTON

Associated Press Staff Writer

PASADENA, Cal., June 9 (AP)—A blow to any theory that human life may exist on Mars was given today by two astronomers of the Carnegie Institution's Mount Wilson observatory.

Dr. Walter S. Adams, director of the observatory, and Dr. Theodore Dunham, Jr., have made observations which indicate the amount of free oxygen on the planet is less than one per cent of that on the earth.

The astronomers have declined to discuss the possibility of life on Mars. Dr. Adams stating before his findings were made public: "Our is purely a scientific investigation. We are interested solely in determining the amount of oxygen on Mars."

Scientists generally, however, have regarded Mars as the planet most suited for human existence. Most of the others are too cold. Even on Mars the summer temperature ranges at times in its 687-day year from 79 degrees Fahrenheit to far below zero. Its eclipse is much more pronounced than that of the earth and when it is farthest from the sun its maximum summer temperature is 32 degrees, the freezing point.

Dr. Adams and Dr. Dunham began their observations last November with the 100-inch telescope, the most powerful spectrophotograph used on planets and highly sensitive photographic plates.

Orchestra Engaged For Saturday Dance

Ted Price and his Texans will play for the regular Saturday night dance at the Pia-Mor.

It is the consensus of opinion that Price and his band are in the same class with Johnny Floyd of the Nat in Amarillo. The band is composed of 11 musicians, including an accordion player of radio fame.

The management of the Pia-Mor is being congratulated for securing a band of this type.

Belovo was ready for him on his arrival in Krasnoyarsk, and it was believed his early getaway was made possible by the presence at the airport of an interpreter and the essentials he needed.

At Krasnoyarsk, 185 miles from Belovo, he had planned to effect permanent repairs on his large ship, the tail of which was broken during the landing at Belovo.

(His hope of beating Post and Gatty apparently rests in his ability to reduce the time he is on the ground henceforth. Mattern was about ten hours from Irkutsk—although it is not certain that he will go there—and should he reach that city in ten hours, he would be about 145 hours out of New York Post and Gatty took about 92 hours to reach Irkutsk, but they were grounded a total of 52 hours at Blagoves-Tschensk, Khabarovsk, and Edmonton, Canada, subsequently.)

Mattern was held up longer than he had hoped at Belovo by rainstorms which broke late in the night. He waited until they had cleared away and then, warmly thanking officials and mechanics for their help, he took off, the plane rising without difficulty.

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—When Jimmie Mattern landed at Belovo, Siberia, this morning, he was 147 hours and 24 minutes out of New York.

At that time-point in their record flight around the world, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty had left Khabarovsk, their last stopping place in Siberia, and were a couple of hours on their way toward Alaska.

Khabarovsk is about 1,400 miles further east than Belovo.

Report of the Annual Meeting of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Released; Officers Are Selected

BOSTON, Mass., June 9.—Word that no further contributions to the fund for the building of the new $40,000,000 home now being erected for The Christian Science Publishing society need be made after July 1, was announced here today at the annual meeting of the Mother church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist.

Members from many lands—more than 5,000 in all—heard the message from the directors, read by Mr. Charles E. Helfman, chairman, which hailed the "sacrifice and unselfed efforts" of those "who have made possible the completion of the new publishing house without delay and without debt."

Announcement was made of the election of the following officers: President—Miss Mary G. Ewing of Brookline, Mass.

Clerk—Ezra W. Palmer of Brookline, Mass.

In her address, the new president, Miss Ewing, said in part: "Perhaps never before in the history of the Christian Science movement has there been a time when the comfort and encouragement of our annual meeting could pour so rich a balm into our hearts, nor when its inspiration and blessing carried beyond these walls could mean so much to the world of human thought and endeavor. For today, that world is facing the claim of evil conditions in human affairs, unprecedented in influence and extent—conditions which know no barriers of race, nation or tongue."

"In human experience, the regenerating influence of truth begins with the individual, spreads from group to group until eventually it must leaven the whole mass of human thought. Then will wars cease and the true brotherhood of man be made apparent, be seen to be established and maintained by God's law; then will the bounty of God's house be realized and men dwell together in security and peace."

Miss Rosamond Wright, manager of the Department of Branches and Practitioners, cited the establishment of "a new branch of The Mother Church in Kenya, Africa, situated 2,000 miles from the nearest branch church; also, our first branch in Egypt, at Cairo; and two new branches in Brazil, South America, as well as five additional branches in Australasia. These represent the distant points to which the arms of The Mother Church have extended since our last meeting."

In addition, 21 new branches have been formed in Europe, and 42 in North America. Twenty-six Christian Science societies have qualified for the title of Church. Five new college or university organizations have been formed. The Mother church now has 2639 branch churches and societies, and 47 college and university organizations.

An outstanding example of how public thought is being "leavened" in regard to Christian Science was cited by the Hon. C. Augustus Norwood, manager of committees on publication, in the annual report of activities within his department.

The "incident" referred to was the poll which was conducted to determine America's 12 greatest women of the past 100 years which gave Mary Baker Eddy "the recognition which was clearly due her."

Mr. Norwood disclosed that "news stories of this poll, many of which were accompanied by pictures of our Leader, were published not only in hundreds of papers in the United States, but also in hundreds of papers in other countries, thus indicating a broad interest in our organization and our religion; and in the great life-work of the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science."

Noticeably larger audiences than usual at free public Christian Science lectures were cited in the report from The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, read by Judge Samuel W. Greene, chairman Judge Greene reported that during the year ended April 30, 1933, the members of the Board of Lectureship delivered 3080 lectures on Christian Science to an estimated attendance of 2,955,174 persons. One of the two lectures delivered in Mexico City was the first to be presented in the Spanish language.

"The growth of The Mother church goes on unfettered," Ezra W. Palmer, clerk, told members at the annual meeting.

"The Relief Fund of the Mother church, which is available for temporary assistance following major disasters, has been drawn upon during the year for assistance to flood sufferers in England, and in West Virginia; for aid to hurricane victims in Puerto Rico; and for help in a section of California following the recent earthquake."

"Some relief work has been done in other sections of the United States, and in Germany, Holland, Estonia, Austria, Poland, Finland, and Canada."

"Operating on a basis of 'wisdom, economy, and brotherly love,' economies were effected in the Publishing Society, and large savings made, through the stagger system and in other ways, without a general reduction in the working force. Thus by refraining from adding to the world-wide problem of unemployment the publishing society has made a substantial contribution to social welfare."

Motion To Void Pool Hall Writ Is Overruled

District Judge W. R. Ewing this morning overruled the motion of O. C. Williams and Clifton Williams to dissolve the temporary injunction restraining them from operating a pool hall in the city. All pool halls in the city were closed two months ago by a temporary injunction which still stands.

However, amusement clubs can operate under a charter which has been granted one or two local places, but the judge said that play will not be allowed under the old method.

The state was represented by District Attorney Lewis Goodrich while Judge Newton P. Willis represented Mr. Williams and his son.

Vet Enrolment Begins June 12

On June 12 the Veterans' Administration at Dallas, Texas will begin to select 655 men for enrollment in the Emergency Conservation Corps. This work, insofar as the Veterans' Administration is concerned is to be completed on or before June 22. Ninety-three per cent of the 655 selected will be World War veterans. The remaining seven per cent will be veterans of other wars.

The 655 men will be selected from 150 counties which includes all the counties assigned to the Dallas Regional Office and those 26 counties composing the Panhandle, which are under the jurisdiction of the Oklahoma City office.

The number of applicants selected from each of the counties will be based on the 1930 census. In other words, a county with a population of 10,000 will be in position to secure enrollment for two veterans provided applications are submitted by those eligible. A county with a population of 49,000 is entitled to the acceptance of 10 applicants, nine of which would be World War and one veteran of other wars. Those with dependents will be given preference. Those who are accepted will be requested to report to a conveniently located Army Recruiting Station between the dates of June 25 and July 6.

Those wishing to enroll should immediately submit their requests to the Regional Office of the Veterans' Administration, Dallas, Texas.

Kiwanis Club To Give Program For Ladies June 26

Members of the Kiwanis club were entertained today by vocal selections by Miss Dorothy Harris, accompanied at the piano by Miss Joan Woodrum. The program was in charge of Buck Mundy, junior Kiwanian.

A ladies' night program will be given at the Schneider hotel on the evening of June 26. The inspirational convention at San Francisco will be in session at that time. Gene Fatherson became a member of the club today.

The Kiwanis water ball team as selected today includes: Earl Roff, Paul LeBeuf, Max Mahaffey, Don Conley, Frank Carter, Harry Grove, C. L. Stine, Frank Hill, Reno Stinson, W. O. Workman, and Fred Culham.

Clark Visiting Council Troops

C. A. Clark, executive of the Adobe Walls council, left yesterday afternoon for the "north plains" where he will attend troop meetings in various towns and cities in the council. He was to stay in Perryton last night and then go on to Guyman, Pollett and other places.

Plans for troops in that area to attend the summer camp were to be made at the various meetings. The northern troops are becoming active and have made rapid strides during the past few months.

President A. G. Post of the council went to Wellington this morning and was to present charters to two new troops in that city. One troop was being sponsored by the Kiwanis club and the other by the American Legion.

entered the musical lists in the nation school band contest today. "Rienzi" was chosen as the test piece and it was first rendered by the 56 instrument band from Washington high school at Sioux Falls, S. D. Baritone solo, three place honors were won by Fenton Kirk, Panhandle, Tex.

Publisher Will Discuss Taxes Before A. P. I.

That excessive taxes on gasoline and other petroleum products are approaching the point of confiscation is declared by Jack Moyer, chairman of the Panhandle chapter of the American Petroleum Institute, to be an indisputable fact.

Each session of a legislature brings the menace before an industry already harassed by taxation. Because of these facts, the chapter is bringing to the Panhandle one of the best informed men on this subject, Jack Dionne of Houston. Mr. Dionne is publisher of the Gulf Coast Lumberman and as spokesman for a trade which serves the oil industry he has made a detailed study of the subject assigned him.

The session at which he will speak will be held in the Crystal ballroom of the Herring hotel June 13. A large Gray county delegation will attend.

Veteran's Hoard Responsible For Cut in Pensions

By CHARLES E. SIMONS.

AUSTIN, June 9 (AP)—The Confederate veteran who saved his pension and left nearly $1,800 concealed in his room at the Texas Confederate home is said to have been partially responsible for reduction of the monthly allowance of veterans and widows who are inmates of the two state Confederate homes.

Officials of the institution know the veteran had been frugal. Shortly after he died attendants found a crumpled $100 bill concealed in a water pitcher in his room.

Further investigation revealed a small crack in the wall. It was explored and a money belt was found. It contained $300 in gold and $1,500 in gold certificates.

Most of the coins and certificates were more than 20 years old. When members of a legislative committee considering adjustment of the Confederate pension awards heard about it they decided that if one inmate of the home could save that much on $12.50 per month it might be advisable to reduce the allowance. It was accordingly lowered to $7.50, with several members holding out for $5.

The Confederate pension fund long has been in difficulty. The legislature passed a bill to place in the pension law a provision that would permit payment of an allowance only to those veterans and widows who have no other means of support.

No pension will be allowed veterans or widows who own a home—stead valued at more than $3,000 and who have more than $1,500 in personal property.

In a further effort to get the fund out of the red, the legislature decreed that no widow who was born after 1870 would be entitled to a pension and reduced the pension of widows under 75 years old from $25 to $12.50 per month.

Five Thousand Wheat Farmers To Obtain Loans

AMARILLO, June 9 (AP)—Approximately 5,000 wheat farmers in the Texas Panhandle will receive government crop loans, it was estimated by John E. Hill, chairman of the government relief work in the territory.

The loans probably will be about equally divided between row crops and summer fallowing. The time for obtaining loans for summer fallowing has been extended to June 17. The average loan has not been estimated, but the maximum for either row crop planting or summer fallowing is $300.

These loans will help finance planting and preparation of part of the estimated 1,700,000 acres of wheat land which already has been abandoned because of unfavorable weather conditions.

Hill estimated that 20 per cent or more of the abandoned acreage would not be cultivated another year. Most of the acreage which will not be planted either to row crops or wheat is new land that has been cultivated, largely on a commercial basis, the last three years each year being a failure for the producer either because of low markets or drought.

New Well Going Down on Church Lot in Kilgore

KILGORE, June 9 (AP)—St. Luke's Methodist church of Kilgore may yet get in for its share of the East Texas oil flow.

The second well to be drilled on the Methodist church property here is beyond the 2500 foot mark. The first well drilled on the land was not finished.

Trouble with a boiler delayed drilling on the present well which drillers planned to complete soon.

Floating Art Gallery Visits Galveston Port

GALVESTON, June 9 (AP)—A floating art gallery sailed into port here recently.

The artist, Genaro Massi is radio officer aboard the steamer Alberta of the Italian Cosulich lines. He has spent most of his life at sea and painted during his spare time. At Rome, Trieste, Naples and Padua in his native country Italy, Massi has won awards including the silver medal of Italy bestowed by the minister of interior.

When his ship called at Philadelphia recently his paintings were displayed in the city. Usually his paintings are exhibited on board. His subjects are chiefly scenes that have interested the artist in his many ports of call.

"I simply paint such things as appear to me as the ship goes from place to place," the artist explained.

Mrs. W. C. Chisum will be dismissed Thursday from the Worley hospital, where she underwent a tonsillectomy operation this week.

Proration Test To Be Started July 1

The proposed 10-day test of all proration wells in the Panhandle field will not be started July 1, according to a telegram received at the local office of the Texas railroad commission Tuesday afternoon. The test was to have been made to secure a more detailed report on the production of the Panhandle field.

Local pipe line companies were of the opinion that considerable difficulty would be encountered in securing an outlet for the flush production. It would also work a hardship on the small producers to have to clean out their wells in self-protection and to sell their oil at the present market price.

ARE you worried because you are subject to Body Odor—yet hesitate to bathe with a strong-smelling soap that betrays its purpose? Then read what research chemists have discovered.

Every specialist knows that objectionable body odor does not come from fresh perspiration but from stale perspiration deep in the pores.

Stale perspiration contains calcium, salt and particles of fat. The thick and sticky lather of most ordinary toilet soaps is unsuited chemically to mix with this waste material and set it free. Instead, it hardens into clogging curds!

That's why deep-pore cleansing is needed to remove the objectionable curds—and it is a scientific fact that there is only one way to accomplish this. Kirk's Coco Castile—being a 100% pure vegetable oil soap—mixes with the particles of perspiration curds, loosens them, then

Texas Capital 30 Miles Farther South Than Any Other in The U. S.

By R. W. BARRY

AUSTIN, June 9 (AP)—The capital of Texas is thirty miles farther south than any capital city in the United States. It is that many miles nearer the equator than Tallahassee, Florida. It is farther south than Sacramento, California, yet Austin is 350 miles north of Brownsville.

Representative George Moffett of Chillicothe figured that all out when he worked up his resolution to limit the number of "city slickers" in the legislature. His resolution would have made it impossible to concentrate the members of the legislature too much. He collected all that data to show that concentration of the membership in a large state like Texas would not be wholesome.

Gibb Gilchrist, engineer of the Texas highway commission, missed a fine experience recently. He had to go to the capital of the United States to see about federal allotments for Texas highway building. While he was away members of the commission decided to visit the capital of Mexico. T. H. Webb, first assistant engineer, drew the Mexican assignment. W. R. Ely and D. K. Martin, members of the commission, accompanied by William H. Furlong of the San Antonio chamber of commerce, and others went to Mexico for an inspection of the road construction work in progress between Laredo and Mexico City. They were guests of the Mexican government, were welcomed by Joseph Daniels, the new ambassador from the United States, and all the dignitaries. Gilchrist not only missed the trip, but he returned empty-handed from Washington.

Prohibition Administrator Opposed To Repeal But Advocates Wine Law

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—Expressing "unalterable opposition" to repeal of the eighteenth amendment, Major A. V. Dalrymple, prohibition administrator, told the house ways and means committee that legalization of naturally fermented wines would increase revenues to the treasury. Dalrymple was testifying in support of the Lea bill which would legalize wines of from 11 to 12 per cent alcohol by volume and tax the new beverage 20 cents per gallon.

"The sale of 3.2 beer has very materially reduced bootlegging. It also has created a feeling of favor for enforcement which the law did not have before. Liberalization of the wine laws would have the same effect."

Asked by Representative McCormack (D., Mass.) what revenues would accrue if the eighteenth amendment were repealed, Dalrymple replied:

"That is hard to say. Of course, we would have competition from imports, but if the tariff were high enough we might be able to raise considerable revenue."

"Personally, I am unalterably opposed to repeal of the eighteenth amendment, but I think liberalization is the thing. I am not absolutely convinced that repeal would materially increase revenues. Liberalization will."

The Lea bill, Dalrymple asserted, would bring the government from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 annually in new revenues.

BAER BEATS GERMAN INTO PULP AND LOOMS AS NEXT WORLD'S CHAMPION

BAER SHOULD EASILY SWEEP TITLIST ASIDE

BACKHAND BLOWS ONLY BLEMISH TO HIS TRIUMPH

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 9. (AP)—A roistering young blade from out of the west, with thunder in his brawny fists and all the "killer instinct" he has any use for, stood today a threatening menace to Jack Sharkey's heavyweight crown.

Victor last night over Max Schmeling by a crushing tenth round knockout that left 65,000 spectators pop-eyed with amazement, Max Baer of California established himself the greatest young heavyweight to crash the big scene since Jack Dempsey whittled down Jess Willard at Toledo.

"I'm going to win that championship!" he shouted as a shower swept away every trace of the combat. Not one of the vast crowd that saw him floor Schmeling with a murderous right and then, a few seconds later, leave the former champion hanging on the ropes helpless, will argue the point.

A minute and 51 seconds of the tenth round had ticked away when Referee Arthur Donovan stepped forward, mercifully, to lift Baer's hand and spare the game German further punishment. Sagging, ready to drop, his guard down and his eyes glazed, Schmeling was an open target for a punch that might have gone lasting injury. There wasn't a dissenting voice from the massed thousands in Yankee stadium.

Eye-fall For Sharkey

The scene was an eye-fall for Jack Sharkey and Primo Carnera, both of whom peered attentively from ringside chairs as Baer, a far greater fighter than he had been given credit for, battered down his man. One or the other, the victor in their championship fight later in the month, probably will get a chance, to sample the Baer dynamite, and it is doubtful now that either relishes the prospect.

"I don't know what happened," said the dazed Schmeling as he sat disconsolate, removing his ring togs. It was evident the sudden, sharp conclusion of the combat, five rounds before the scheduled finish, had left him shell-shocked.

"He wasn't hurting me, so I got careless and opened up. Wham, I thought a house had fallen on me." The only blemish attached to the young Californian's triumph was his frequent use of a backhand blow that brought warnings from the referee and rambles from the crowd. Baer used it at times when he backed Schmeling into the ropes and beat at him calmly. But the audience forgave him that after the climax.

German Wins 3 Rounds
Schmeling crowded in with a short, sharp attack that won him his only three rounds of the fight, the fourth, sixth and seventh. Experts at the ringside settled back, confident the Californian had shot his bolt, that the German would slowly, efficiently cut him to pieces the rest of the way. The crowd booed the Livermore product heartily as he backed around listlessly, or stood in his corner and let Schmeling pour in blows.

The came the fireworks. Starting the eighth, Baer socked Schmeling with everything in the book, both at long and short range.

In the ninth he nailed the German against the ropes twice and measured him with terrific wallops to the jaw. When Schmeling's guard went up, he dug into his middle. They were in a furious mixup at the bell, slugging away until the referee parted them. Schmeling stumbled once as he walked to his corner.

Baer wasted little time finishing his man in the tenth. They came, out of a crouch in mid ring, when the Californian's right darted out and thudded on the point of Schmeling's jaw. Down the German went, sprawling on his back, then rolled over to watch the knock-down timekeeper. He barely rose as the count reached nine.

Serious for perhaps the first time in his jolly young life, Baer sailed into his battered rival with a flurry of punches. Schmeling covered up, slid along the ropes in a desperate effort to escape. But Baer was on top of him, throwing his 203 pounds into every shot.

A left doubled Schmeling up, and a right sent him slumping against the post in a neutral corner. And that was the end.

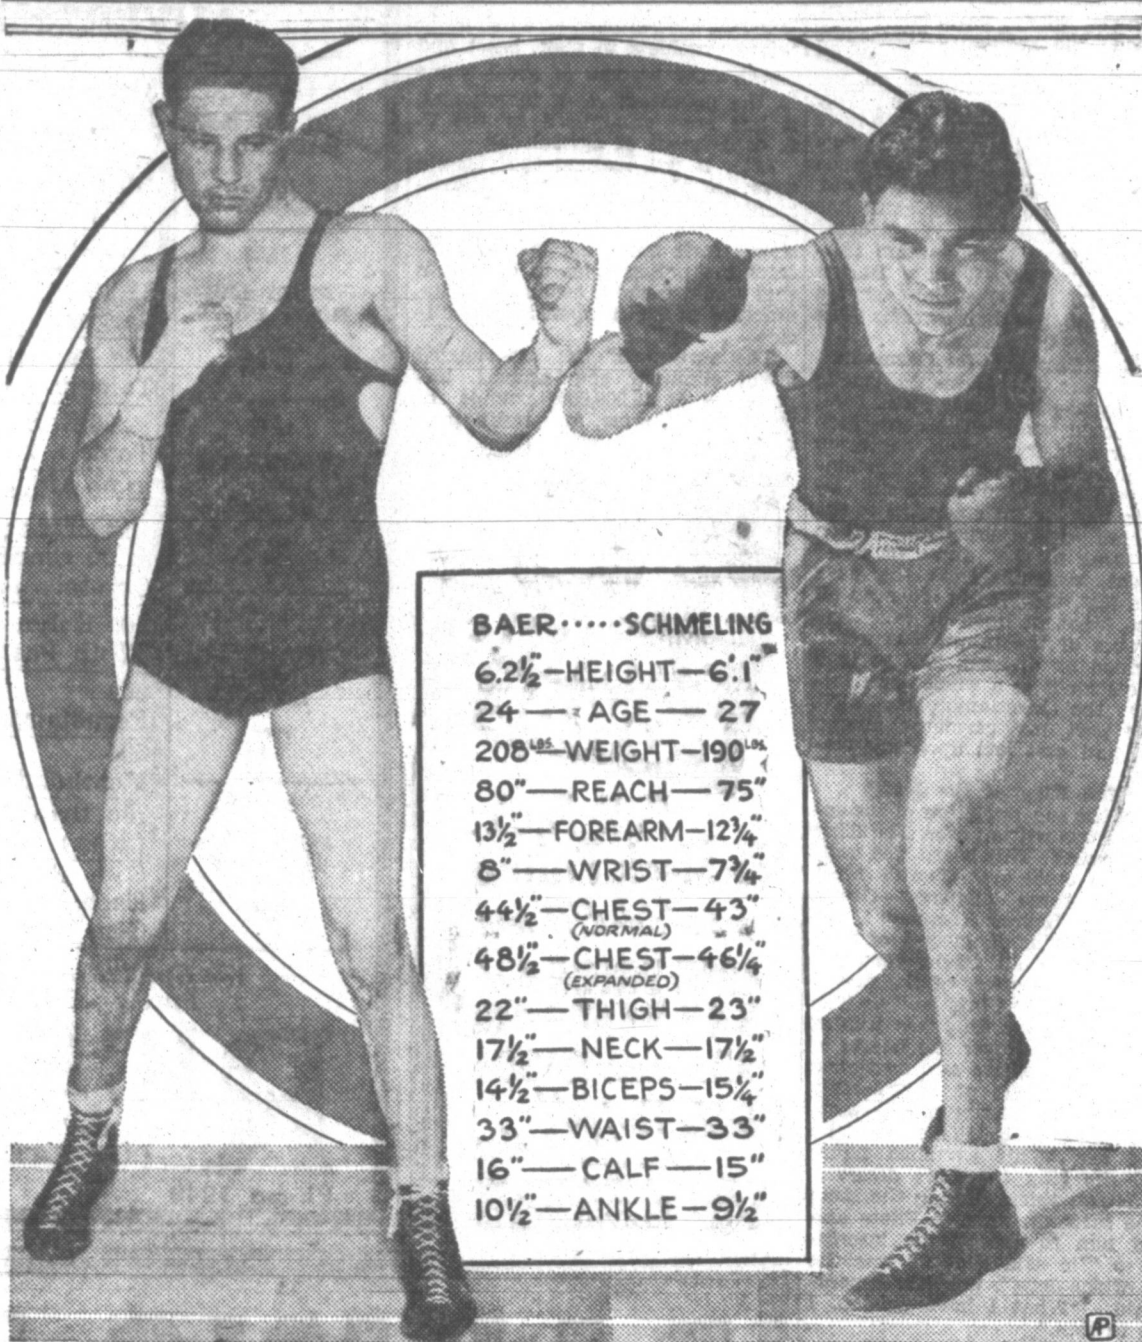

LOSES ARM

COMANCHE, June 9. (AP)—Graham Smoot, Blanket school principal, lost his left arm below the elbow in an automobile collision four miles west of Dublin last night. Smoot swerved his car to avoid striking a blinder approaching him and struck the other automobile.

MAX BAER won the fighting heart of American almost to a man last night when the California Earthquake (he might as well be called that) rocked the sport-world with mule-kick blows that mercilessly cut down the Test, Max Schmeling. Will be wrest the heavyweight crown from Jack Sharkey? Millions of Americans who like a pell-mell fighter such as Baer proved himself to be, believe that Sharkey hasn't got a chance. But time will tell.

BAER WILL BRING BACK GOOD OLD SAVAGERY, SAYS DEMPSEY

Jack Has Greatest Thrill Since His 'Argument' With Mr. Firpo.

By JACK DEMPSEY.
(As told to Edward J. Nell, Associated Press Sports Writer.)

NEW YORK, June 9. (AP)—Boxing has found in Max Baer the kind of fighter who can bring the game back to the old days—the days when big men fought to knock each other out, and you couldn't find places big enough to hold every one who wanted to see it done.

It seems to me that the possibilities in this California youngster are only starting to be uncovered. As great a puncher as Schmeling couldn't hurt Baer. And until last night I hadn't seen any one fighting today who could out-wallop the German.

So I believe that boxing's comeback now rests right on Baer's shoulders. He is only 24 years old, he's the biggest, strongest man fighting today, and he hits with terrible power. He might have more trouble hitting a man as clever as the champion Jack Sharkey and he'd certainly have trouble evading the title-holder's left hand, but that will be a fight equal to anything that has gone before in the ring.

It's possible that Max Schmeling's bravery, tremendous ability to take punishment, will be lost sight of in view of Baer's spectacular display, but I have never seen a more courageous exhibition than the German gave. He was hurt from the start, yet he never stopped trying, never stopped moving in. He's still one of the finest heavyweights I've ever seen.

As Baer moves along, it seems natural to expect that his boxing will improve and the importance of big bouts will steady him. He has in himself the ability to become one of the great heavyweights of the ring.

At least he gave me the biggest thrill I've had in ten years—since the night a man named Firpo and I had an argument in the polo grounds.

Five Flights To Start Sunday In Club Tournament

The Country club tournament committee was at work today setting the players in each flight and drawing for opponents in the club open tournament which will get under way Sunday morning. It was believed this morning that five full flights would be ready to tee off with 16 players to the flight.

A list of valuable prizes has been secured and will be divided between the winner and runner-up in each flight and for low score in qualifying and match play.

Caretaker Autry has the course in the best condition, in years and good qualifying scores are being registered. Several players have made the best scores of the year while qualifying, because of the fast fairways and even greens.

ARMOUR LEADS NATIONAL BY FIVE STROKES

SCOT BREAKS COURSE RECORD WITH A SIXTY-EIGHT

By PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

GLENVIEW, Ill., June 9. (AP)—One of the greatest shotmakers of them all, Tommy Armour, had his competitors all but rubbed off the market today with a record-breaking five shot mortgage on the National Open Golf championship.

The silver Scot, his irons and putter singing the same sweet tune that long ago placed his name in golf's hall of fame, pulled his coup on the big prize market of golf yesterday by storming in with a 68, that not only broke the course record for the North Shore championship layout but sent him five strokes ahead of the field after the first 18 hole round engagement, with Walter Hagen and six others tied at 73.

Fifty four holes were left before the end of the big battle and most of the favorites were grouped well up but it looked like another crown for Armour, winner of the title at Oakmont in 1927. No one in the 36 years of play in the National Open ever held such a margin after 18 holes, although two of them, Walter Hagen in 1914 and 1922, and "Wild Bill" Mehlhorn in 1926, had staggered the field by firing 69's in the opening round. Olin Dutra, the towering senior from California, took a four stroke lead last year at Fresh Meadow with a 69 only to toss it away.

What made it look all the darker for the field, among them defending champion, Gene Sarazen, who took a 74 to land in an eight-way tie for eighth, was that Armour has a habit of getting better as the battle goes on.

Face-setters until Armour came home, the six dead-locked for second place included two amateurs, Neil White of Topeka, Kan., and Southern California, and Maurice McCarthy, Jr., of Cleveland, and four well known professionals—Hagen, Henry Cluel of Flushing, N. Y.; Craig Wood, Deal, N. J.; and young Jimmy Revolta of Menominee, Mich., a star of the winter tournaments.

Texas at Bear
The group tied with Sarazen, a victim yesterday of wild tee shots, numbered Al Watrous, Detroit; Tom Creavy, Albany, N. Y.; 1931 professional champion; Joe Kirkwood, Coral Gables, Fla., truck shot artist; Ky Laffoon, long hitting Denver pro, and a trio of dark horses—Carl Gustafson, Chicago; Lee Willcox, Norfolk, Neb., and C. H. Mayo, Long Beach, Calif.

Such famed shotmakers as Olin Dutra, Bobby Cruikshank, Johnny Farrell, Johnny Goodman, Paul Runyan, and Horton Smith, brought up the rear with 75's.

Scattered through the lower regions were Gus Moreland, Philip Perkins, and Denny Shute, all regarded as title threats before the show opened, in the 76 class. Mac Donald Smith staggering in the 77's, Harry Cooper and Leo Diegel a shot worse and Billy Burke, 1931 champion, in the 79 group. George Von Elm fell to a shaky 80, one of his poorest performances in the open.

More than 70 players had turned in qualifying scores up to last night and it was expected that many more would qualify today. Interest in the tournament is at a high pitch and many close scores are anticipated. A list of prizes has been named and they will be divided among the different flights.

Low qualifying score turned in so far is 68 which is expected to stand for the tournament, although Bus Kaufman shot a 66 for a new course record a few days after he had qualified.

The course is ready for play. Caretaker Autry having gone over the greens and fairways this week.

J. C. Johnson of Borger spent Wednesday in the city.

Eighty Golfers To Tee Off Sunday; Qualifying Will Close This Evening.

Five flights, of 16 players each, will tee off Sunday in the Country club's open golf tournament. Qualifying was to close at 6 o'clock tonight and the tournament committee was scheduled to select the 80 players in each flight and then draw for opponents immediately after the last qualifying card is received.

"SO HAPPY THAT I TRIED ALL-BRAN"

Delicious Cereal Brought Relief From Constipation

If you have headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness or any other of the frequent effects of constipation, read Mrs. Schneider's letter:

"Since I have been eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, I don't have to take anything else for constipation. How good it is, and how much better it is for constipation than pills or any other medicine.

"I would never go back to what I used to take, because Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is wholesome and healthful." Mrs. John Schneider, 950 Tenth Street, Oshkosh, Wisconsin.

Constipation is usually due to lack of "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN has both, as well as iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the wastes.

Try ALL-BRAN in place of pills and drugs—so often habit-forming. Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Use as a cereal, or in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

BONURA MIGHT GO TO MAJOR LEAGUE BEFORE SEASON END

Dodger and Cub Scouts Are Persistently Trailing Steer First Sacker.

By BILL PARKER.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

There is a possibility Zeke Bonura, Dallas first baseman, may not finish the season in the Texas league. The big New Orleans boy who led the Texas league first sacker in fielding and hitting last year, is being trailed by Nap Rucker, Brooklyn scout; C. C. Slapnicka, Cleveland ivory hunter, and John Doyle, Chicago Cubs scout.

Batting around 320 average this season, Bonura has turned in some of the greatest fielding plays of his career. He made his first error of the season on Tuesday night, May 30, when he let a roller dribble through his glove as he charged it.

Rucker wanted Bonura for immediate delivery. He made Dallas an offer, but Vice President Bob Tarleton doesn't want to give up Zeke in midseason except at a high price and the availability of a suitable replacement.

With Happ Morse gone from the club Bonura is the only popular gate attraction remaining. Dallas fans perhaps would be reluctant to lose him but many of his admirers say they would like to see him perform against big league pitchers.

Changed Mind.

Baseball has strange shifts. Last year Dallas traded outfielder George Loopp to Fort Worth for Tex Jeanes, Bob Tarleton, club official, said Loopp wouldn't do at Dallas because of weak hitting.

Fort Worth released Loopp last spring. He returned to Dallas where he has a business and requested Tarleton to sign him. His offer was rejected. "The woods are full of players like Loopp who can field but can't hit," explained one club official.

Playing second division baseball and with frequent changes in personnel the officials apparently have decided Loopp still is a useful player for he has been signed to patrol the outfield for the Steers.

New Champion.

Wearing her new women's Texas Golf association championship, Miss Aniela Gorczyca of Fort Worth is at Albany, Ga., to compete in the women's southern tournament. This event is one of the bigger and better tournaments of the year. She was medalist in last year's southern.

Aniela, 20 years old and a state champion after a golf career of six years, would not surprise those familiar with her golfing ability to see her go to the finals of the southern.

A. M. Dell of Amarillo spent the day here.

HOUSTON LEAD STRETCHED TO 4 FULL GAMES

INDIANS HALT WINNING STREAK OF SAN ANTONIO 3-1

By The Associated Press.

The Houston Buffs stretched their Texas league lead to four full games Thursday night by defeating the Fort Worth Cats, 6 to 1.

Winning his ninth game of the season, Ed Greer struck out eight Fort Worth batters and allowed but five clean hits. Greer's error in the fifth inning led to the only Cat score and cost him a shutout.

Ernie Parker, Houston center fielder, slammed out a pair of triples to lead his team at bat. In all, the Buffs pounded Chambers and Minogue for a dozen safeties.

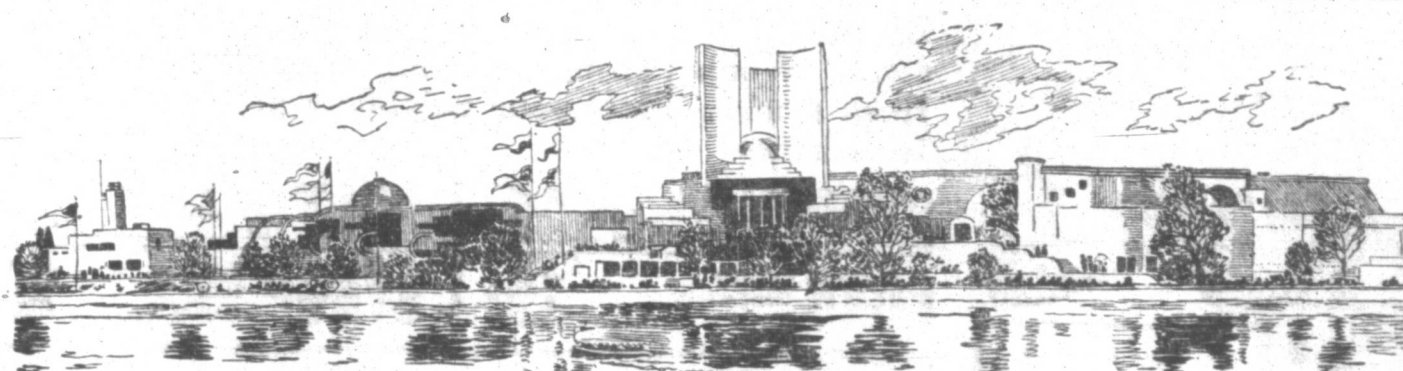

The San Antonio Missions' winning streak was halted at eight consecutive victories when they fell before the Oklahoma City Indians, 3 to 1.

At Galveston the Tulsa Oilers were helpless against the classy hurling of Chief Moore, Buccaneer right-hander, who chalked up his eighth victory of the season. Galveston won 6 to 0.

The touring Dallas Steers lost the opener of a three-game series at Beaumont, 7-1. Weak batting was responsible for the Dallas defeat, Joe Sullivan allowing the Steers just four hits.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: Jesus on the Cross.
Scripture Lesson: Mark 15:22-39.
22. And they bring him unto the place Golgotha, which is, being interpreted, The place of a skull.
23. And they offered him wine mingled with myrrh: but he received it not.
24. And they crucify him, and part his garments among them, casting lots upon them, what each should take.
25. And it was the third hour, and they crucified him.
26. And the superscription of his accusation was written over, The King of the Jews.
27. And with him they crucify two robbers: one on his right hand, and one on his left.
28. And they that passed by rallied on him, wagging their heads, and saying, Ha! thou that destroyest the temple, and buiddest it in three days.
29. And they that passed by rallied on him, wagging their heads, and saying, Ha! thou that destroyest the temple, and buiddest it in three days.
30. Save thyself, and come down from the cross.
31. In like manner also the chief priests mocking him, among themselves with the scribes said, He saved others; himself he cannot save.
32. Let the Christ, the King of Israel, now come down from the cross, that we may see and believe.
33. And they that were crucified with him reproached him.
34. And when the sixth hour was come, there was darkness over the whole land until the ninth hour.
35. And at the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani? which is, being interpreted, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?
36. And some of them that stood by, when they heard it, said, Behold, he calleth Elijah.
37. And one ran, and filling a sponge full of vinegar, put it on a reed, and gave him to drink, saying, Let be: let us see whether Elijah cometh to take him down.
38. And Jesus uttered a loud voice, and said, Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit: and he said, Truly this man was the Son of God.
Gold Text: God commendeth his own love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us.—Rom. 5:8.
Time: Friday, April 7, A. D. 30.
Place: Jerusalem.
Introduction
"The trial of Jesus was illegal from start to finish. It was rushed through in a single sitting of the Sanhedrin on Friday morning, whereas the law forbade the trial of a man and the condemning him to death on a single day. No attention was paid to the rules of evidence. No opportunity was given for the presentation of the case in favor of the prisoner. The Sanhedrin had determined that Jesus should be put to death, and they rode rough-shod over all their rules. The trial has fittingly been called 'the lynching of Jesus!'"
The Sanhedrin convicted our Lord of blasphemy because he called God his Father and declared that he was the Son of God. Blasphemy was punishable by death by Jewish law, but the Romans had taken away from the Jews the power to execute convicted criminals so that it was necessary for them to take Jesus before the Roman governor of Palestine, Pontius Pilate, who had come to Jerusalem for the feast from his seat of power, Caesarea. But the Jews knew that the government would pay no heed to a charge of blasphemy, so they shifted their charge,—another plain illegality,—and accused Christ before Pilate of sedition, alleging that he sought to make himself a king, twisting into a literal sense Christ's frequent references to the spiritual "kingdom of heaven" which he came to establish on earth.
Pilate delivers Jesus to the Mob.
Pilate solemnly took a basin of water and washed his hands before the crowd, declaring that he was innocent of the blood of a righteous man. "We assume the responsibility," answered the Sanhedrin and the mob. "His blood be on us and on our children. If you free him, guilty as he is of sedition, you are making yourself a king, and so will report you to Rome." Thus Pilate, contemptibly weak, decreed the crucifixion of Jesus, committing the one most awful crime of the world's history.

"And they bring him unto the place Golgotha." Probably the hill

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

WHITE PEPPER grows on the black pepper vine. The change in appearance is brought about by the method of preparation for commercial purposes. Pepper was worth its weight in gold in the middle ages, and in some places was used as a medium of exchange. It was pepper, or the lack of it, that led Portugal to seek a new route to the Indies.

of white limestone, about sixty feet high, some two hundred yards beyond the Damascus gate in the northern wall of Jerusalem. On its summit is a pitfall of the bones of criminals who for ages were crucified on that spot. At the foot of the hill is an ancient garden, and six feet below its surface, where it touches the cliff, a tomb cut in the rock has been found—probably the very tomb in which our Lord was buried. "Golgotha" is Aramaic and "Calvary" Latin for "a skull." Seen from a distance, the hill looks exactly like a skull—empty eye-sockets, rounded forehead, lines of the nose and mouth.

Crucifixion
"And they crucify him." Crucifixion was a horrible form of execution. While the cross was on the ground, the victim was, stretched naked upon it, his hands were nailed to the arms of the cross, and his feet, one on top of the other, were nailed to the foot of it. A wooden peg in the center partially supported the body which mainly hung from the wounds in the hands and feet. Then the cross, bearing its agonized burden, was lifted and dropped with a sickening fall into the hole prepared for it, there to remain until the pain and the fearful thirst, with starvation, finally released the sufferer. "Preachers have dwelt with terrific emphasis upon our Lord's sufferings on the cross. Painters have strained their powers to depict them. Poets have exhausted the capacity of language to describe them. Saints have gone mad through brooding over them. Neither painter, poet nor saint has exaggerated the tortures inflicted upon our Lord. Imagination cannot do so."—Rev. William Burnet Wright, D. D. Christians should never forget that their Saviour went through for their sake.

Soldiers Cast Lots for Garments
"And part his garments among them, casting lots upon them, what each should take." The quartermen of four soldiers and a centurion that guarded each of the condemned from any possible rescue by friends had for their perquisites the garments of the crucified. When they came to the tunic or inner garment, reaching from the neck to the feet, they found it woven all of one piece, of linen or wool, like the robes of the priests. It would be ruined by division, and so they cast lots for it as a whole, thus fulfilling the Messianic Ps. 22:18, "They part my garments among them, and cast lots upon my vesture."

"The King of the Jews"
"And the superscription of his accusation was written over, The King of the Jews." This board was nailed to the cross over Christ's head, giving in three languages—Greek, Latin, and Hebrew (Aramaic), the three worldwide languages of that time, so that all might read—an unconscious prophecy of the worldwide spread of Christianity. The charge of being a king was true of Christ, his way over the hearts of men being extensive and continued far beyond that of any earthly monarch. The inscription was written in mockery by Pilate, as if he would say, "This wretched figure is all the king the Jews deserve." The Jewish rulers, feeling the sting of the sarcasm, went to Pilate and asked him to change the inscription to "He said that he was the king of the Jews"; but Pilate merely said, "What I have written, I have written."

Three Hours of Darkness
"And then the sixth hour was come." That would be noon, after Jesus had hung on the cross for three hours. "There was darkness over the whole land until the ninth hour." That would be three p. m. the hour of the daily evening sacrifice, the crucifixion having begun at the hour of daily morning sacrifice. We are not told how far the darkness extended—certainly it covered all Jerusalem and the region round about. It could not have been caused by an eclipse of the sun, for that phenomenon takes place only at new moon, and the passover was always at full moon. It was a supernatural event, nature plunged into mourning in sympathy with the Creator of nature.

"Veil of the Temple"
"And the veil of the temple was rent in two from the top to the bottom." This was the wonderful curtain between the Holy Place and the Most Holy Place, a curtain sixty feet long and thirty feet wide and as thick as the palm of the hand, requiring three hundred priests to manipulate it. Back of the curtain dwelt the mystic Presence of God above the ark of the covenant. No one might enter the Most Holy Place save the high priest, and he only once a year, on the great Day of Atonement. The rending of the veil signified (2 Cor. 3:14-16) that through the death of Christ all may have unrestricted access to the Father, an open way to a life of holiness and peace.

"Seven Words From the Cross"
Mark gives us only one of Christ's utterances from the cross, so that it is best to list all seven here, in the order in which they were spoken.
1. "Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do."
2. "Today shalt thou be with me in paradise."
3. "Woman, behold thy son! Behold thy mother."
4. "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?"
5. "I thirst."
6. "It is finished."
7. "Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit."

'Shoestring of Devil' May Yet Grow Valuable

LUBBOCK, June 9. (AP)—The "Devil's Shoestring," a weed heretofore worthless to man, beast and insect, may become of great value in the manufacture of insecticides. After it was learned that insects gave the plant wide berth, experiments determined that the weed contained a poison fatal to insects. Now efforts are being made to extract the poison juice in quantities that would make possible the manufacture of an inexpensive insecticide.

The success of the experiments might eliminate the annual importation of 10,000,000 pounds of pyrethrum flowers, and result in a new industry for West Texas, New
