Q—Is it true the city is paying for an interior decorator to redecorate the mayor's office? If so, where is the money coming from?

A—City Hall does not have an office for the mayor. However, the city has asked a local firm to give an estimate to replace some old carpet, drapes and public seating in the city council chambers. If the work is done, funds will come from the general budget.

IT'S ALL FOR CHILDREN — Terry Nail, right, a Lubbock native, is more than halfway through an 8,000 mile bike ride for children. She spent Sunday and Monday in Snyder visiting her grandmother, Tennye Griggs. Terry, who began her solo bicycle journey on May 28, seeks to call attention to the needs of children and youth. School board okays budget

No new taxes for '93-94

Meeting in special session Monday, Snyder public schools trustees unanimously adopted the 1993-94 budget.

The budget, at $14.6 million, is about $240,000 less than 1992-93, and will keep the tax rate at $1.36 per $100 valuation.

"I'm very pleased to present this budget. I think it will allow us to meet our needs and still give our children a quality education," said Supt. Dalton Moseley.

Monday's action was the culmination of long hours spent on the budget by both administrators and trustees, who at one time had been looking at raising taxes by four to five cents. Additional budget cuts and the discovery of an error in the way the Texas Education Agency was calculating special education fund made up the difference, however.

Monday, SISD Business Manager Lee McNair told the board that he has made adjustments in salaries by placing some under federal programs instead of paying them through local funds. This left an excess of $100,000, of which $90,000 was put into health insurance premiums.

Briefly discussed during a public hearing prior to the board vote were field trips. The 1993-94 budget contains no funds for out-of-town field trips.

Dorothy Kayser, president of Scurry County Chapter of TSTA and music teacher at Northeast, told the board that the trips are "more than just a trip; they are a learning experience," and expressed her desire to allow some of the trips during the coming year.

"I certainly am not against field trips but in these tough economic times we need to sit down with principals, teachers and the curriculum and see how it all fits," said Supt. Moseley. He noted that field trips cost the district $27,000 more last year than the previous year.

"We need to take a long look at it and come up with a solution," Moseley said.

Trustee Charles Anderson said it is too late in the process to reconsider out-of-town field trips. "If we just open it up and give some options we'll be right back where we were," he said.

No motion was made and there was no further discussion about the field trips.

Trustee Mark McCormick told the board he had been approached by several community leaders about the board's decision to have basketball games played at the high school gym instead of the coliseum this school year. He said he was told that the coliseum is a "showcase facility" and from a community point of view it would be better to have visitors view games there than from fold-up bleachers at the high school gym.

"I think what they said does have some merit. I am not advocating putting it (the funds) back in the budget, but I do think those people in the community have a valid point," said McCormick.

In other action Monday, the board amended the 1992-93 budget and renewed its worker's compensation contract with Hibbs-Hallmark Co.

Budget amendments amounted to $120,000, not counting $215,000 in asbestos abatement, which is offset by equal revenues. The amendments included $30,000 for bus driver's salaries, $10,000 for transportation parts, $5,000 for water, $40,000 for electricity, $10,000 for gas and $25,000 for building supplies.

"Our revenues and expenditures (for 1992-93) will be pretty close," said McNair. "We're not looking at a $120,000 deficit or anything like that."

All board members were present, to include Luann Burleson, Janet Stribling, Geraldine Parker, Terry Martin, Glenn Clarady, Anderson and McCormick.

'Texas' girl biking for children

By Shirley A. Gorman
SDN News Editor

Scurry County children may not know it, but they have a friend and advocate — Terry Nail, who is slightly more than midway through an 8,000 mile bicycle ride on their behalf.

Just like early day messengers, Terry bikes from city to city and state to state, sharing her message with children and adults.

Terry's solo ride embodies her belief that "every individual, every word, every action can make a difference, beginning with ourselves. Together we can change the world."

In addition to raising funds for her organization, Children Are Our Future, Terry also seeks to increase awareness of the needs of children and youth. On behalf of the nation's children, Terry has visited with Gov. Ann Richards, many mayors and former president Jimmy Carter and his wife Rosalynn. She hopes to have an audience with Bill and Hilary Clinton also.

She is also the daughter of a former Snyder resident, Robert Nail, who now lives in Cape Cod, Mass.

This journey is her birthday pre-

Judge to post execution date for convicted killer

Convicted murderer Dorsey Lee Johnson returns to 132nd District Court at 9 a.m. Wednesday for the setting of his execution date.

Johnson was found guilty of killing 53-year-old Allsup's convenience store clerk Jack Huddleston by shooting him in the back of the head with a .25 caliber pistol on March 23, 1986.

Johnson and his accomplice, Amanda Miles, took approximately $160 and two cartons of cigarettes. Miles was sentenced to the life equivalent of 60 years.

After being convicted and receiving the death penalty in 132nd District Court, Johnson's appeal went all the way to the Supreme Court where justices upheld the death penalty in his case. The high court said the Texas death-penalty law had not unconstitutionally limited the jury's consideration of certain mitigating evidence, such as the his age or family history. The revamped death-penalty law requires juries to consider all such evidence — including the "defendant's character and background."

Anti-discrimination adopted by officials

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas officials today approved an anti-discrimination insurance rule that was opposed by the insurance industry.

The State Board of Insurance unanimously adopted the proposal on the last day that it can pass rules. Under a new state law, an insurance commissioner will have rule-making authority, while the board will continue working on insurance rates.

Insurers criticized the board's vote, while some consumer advocates praised the decision.

Mark Toohey, a spokesman for Farmers Insurance Group, said the rule was unnecessary because there are already laws prohibiting discrimination.

"We've always abided by the letter and spirt of those laws. I would question the motive and the justification for this type of rule, and whether it would really truly benefit insurance consumers," Toohey said.

But Pamela Brown, of the southwest regional office of Consumers Union, said the rule is needed to give consumers the right to take legal action against insurers who they believe are discriminating against them.

"I commend the board in taking a bold step. They were courageous in trying to address this problem," she said.

The rule would prohibit property and casualty insurers from discriminating in their polices or rates — a practice called redlining.

Although it is already illegal to discriminate, state insurance officials say the proposed rule tightens the definition of what is discrimination.

The measure would ban discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, geographic location, age, sex or disability. That prohibition would apply to the sale, charge or continuation of insurance.

The board requested the rule after a study showed low-income and minority consumers pay higher rates for insurance even if they are a lower risk.

Another proposal before the board would establish a bill of rights attached to automobile, homeowners, and credit life policies. The insurance industry opposes this measure too.

County gets needed rain; more forecast

A cold front moving south across Texas formed thunderstorms and rainfall across the state.

While the City of Snyder received only six-tenths of an inch during last night's rain, Camp Springs reported precipitation of up to 2 inches.

The front extended through the Permian Basin eastward through the Hill Country. West Texas skies are expected to clear tonight in some of the Panhandle while most of the area can expect continuing showers and thunderstorms.

West of the city, 1.4 inches was reported while Fluvanna had three-quarters on an inch of rainfall. Hermleigh reported seven-tenths and to the east of the city there was 1 inch. Loyd Mountain gauged 1.2 inches.

Snyder has logged 12.26 inches of rain for the year and there is a 30 percent chance of continued showers and thunderstorms for tonight.

Yearly football contest begins in today's issue

Football fans who keep up with the Snyder Daily News have a chance to win up to $1,000 in this year's football contest, which begins with today's issue.

Each Tuesday, fans will have the opportunity to predict the winners of 20 football games selected from the high school, college and pro ranks. Participants should pick the teams of their choice on the entry blank provided, and turn it back in to the news office no later than 5 p.m. Friday.

The entry with the fewest misses will win $50. Prizes of $25 and $15 will be awarded for second and third place, respectively. To avoid splitting the money, a tie-breaker will be provided on each entry blank.

For the fan who gets all 20 picks right, there will be a $250 prize. And if someone gets all 20 games correctly and the exact score of the tie-breaker, $1,000 awaits.

Entries must be on the official blank. No copies will be accepted. Entries must also be signed, and address and telephone number listed.

Participants can enter only once per week; multiple entries will disqualify all of that's person's entries. However, everyone in the family may enter.

The SDN Column — By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Some people don't have much to say, but you have to listen a long time to find out."

Jack Smartt, retired TU Electric manager, likes to brag on his pickup. Nobody knows the age of the pickup, but rumor has it that Smartt tried to enter it in the antique car parade earlier this month.

It has a new paint job, and the color looks like something that his company may have used in years past. Man and his pickup, in West Texas, is a natural love affair.

It reminded us of a West Texan who finally visited his brother-in-law in another state. The brother-in-law tried to outdo the Texan and took him for a ride around his ranch.

When they had driven out to a central location, the host stopped the pickup and got out. "My land stretches from that clump of trees and all the way beyond that lake, way off over there in the distance."

The Texan shook his head. "When I want to check on my ranch," said the Texan, "I have to get up at 4 a.m. and pack a lunch. I get in the pickup and drive 'til noon, eat a quick bite, then drive all afternoon and into the night just to see the whole spread. What do you think of that?"

"I'm sorry," said the brother-in-law.

"Sorry?"

"Yeah," he said. "I used to have a pickup just like that."

Despite the jokes, visitors really envy the Lone Star state.

An Englishman was being shown all the points of interest when his host commented, "Do you know that your whole country could be fitted into one small corner of our state?"

"Oh really," panned the Englishman. "Twould do wonders for the state, wouldn't it?"

Most defense attorneys say...

Davidians can get fair trial in Waco

AUSTIN (AP) — Most of the attorneys representing 12 Branch Davidians accused of murdering four federal agents during a Feb. 28 raid on the group's religious compound say their clients can get a fair trial in Waco.

U.S. District Judge Walter Smith Monday set Nov. 8 as the trial date for the dozen Branch Davidians who survived the April 19 blaze that destroyed the sect's rural home outside Waco and killed leader David Koresh and more than 80 of his followers.

The government intends to prove the defendants were sharpshooters who gunned down four special agents of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms and wounded 16 others during the botched raid. Six Branch Davidians were killed during the raid.

Gene Silverblatt, attorney for sect member Livingston Fagan, said: "Finding someone in Waco who does not know about David Koresh is not going to happen. But I think the sentiments cut both ways. I think the sentiment may not necessarily be pro-Branch Davidian, but maybe anti-ATF."

"We think we can get a fair trial in Waco," said Rocket Rossen, who represents defendant Kevin Whitecliff.

Ruth Ottman Riddle became the last of the sect members indicted on Aug. 6 to receive a detention hearing Monday. She was ordered detained pending the trial. The defendants will be tried together.

Ms. Riddle is one of Koresh's pupils charged with killing federal officers, conspiracy to murder federal officers and possession of a firearm during the commission of a crime of violence.

"I think what's happening is they want all of the defendants and our client in particular to serve David Koresh's time," said Terry Kirk, co-counsel for Ms. Riddle, who survived the blaze by jumping out a second-story window.

The charges stem from the Feb. 28 federal raid of the group's Mount Carmel fortress that launched a 51-day standoff.

The stalemate ended April 19 when federal agents pumped tear gas into the compound. A fire broke out and most of the Branch Davidian members were killed, including 17 children.

Prosecutors have relied on hundreds of photographs, audio tapes and videotapes compiled during and after the standoff to piece together a crime scene destroyed by the fire.

Government attorneys have refused to comment about their case. Findings from federal investigations examining the raid, standoff and fire are expected to be released in mid-September.

So far, in discovery proceedings, prosecutors have shown defense lawyers rifle stocks and other ammunition charred from the fire.

The 33-year-old religious leader for years had preached that Armageddon would come to their so-called Ranch Apocalypse home in a bloody showdown with government authorities.

Defense lawyers said they are puzzled at how their clients have been pinpointed out of more than 100 Branch Davidians who were inside the prairie fortress the day of the shootout.

Agents and Davidians alike have described the 45-minute gunbattle Feb. 28 under rainy skies as a dizzying exchange of gunfire in which bodies were ducking for cover and bullets whistled from more than 50 locations.

"I am always impressed by the government and their thoroughness," said attorney Buck Harris, who is representing defendant Renos Avraam. "It's kind of like cotton. If it's there, they will pick it clean.

Year-old child receives $3.35 million settlement

GALVESTON (AP) — A 1-year-old Galveston County boy will receive $3.35 million in damages for the traffic death of his mother at a road construction site.

Houston's Durwood Greene Construction Co. will pay Christopher Dixon $3 million as part of the settlement of a lawsuit filed after the death of his mother, Karen Jean Dixon, 34, of League City, Houston attorney Joe Jamail said Monday.

Ms. Dixon was killed July 10, 1992, in an accident on Farm-to-Market Road 2004 near the Gulf Greyhound Park dog-racing track.

The settlement came Monday just before a trial of the lawsuit was to begin, Jamail said.

Ms. Dixon died after a car driven by her sister, Gloria Jean Dieter, 46, ran off the road and crashed in an area where barrels had been placed to redirect traffic during construction, Jamail said.

Christopher, who was 2 months old, suffered minor injuries.

Jamail said the lawsuit filed on the boy's behalf alleged that the barrels' improper placement caused the fatal accident.

The Houston firm of Wayne Smith and Associates Inc., consulting engineers, also agreed to pay $250,000 into a trust fund to be established for the boy at an area bank, Jamail said.

He said five other companies named as defendants agreed to pay $20,000 each to the fund.

They are Gulf Greyhound Partners Ltd., which operates the dog track; Safety Lights Sales and Leasing of Houston Inc.; Traffic Consultants Inc. of Austin; Linda's Construction Co. Inc. of Kingsville; and N.C. Morgan Construction Inc. of Tuscaloosa, Ala.

The boy remains in Ms. Deiter's custody.

But thinks George W. Bush will...

Mosbacher will not run for governor

HOUSTON (AP) — Republican Rob Mosbacher says he is not running for Texas governor, and he believes that means just one thing — George W. Bush will run and win the GOP nomination.

Mosbacher had been considering running for governor next year. But after a 11/2-hour meeting Monday with Bush in Houston, Mosbacher announced he would not seek the GOP nomination to challenge Democratic Gov. Ann Richards.

"While I'm convinced ... that I could have beaten George. George is convinced that he could have beaten me," said Mosbacher, a Houston oilman.

"And the only thing that is absolutely clear is we would have spent a lot of money and a lot of time trying to prove it. And that's money that could be better spent on retiring Ann Richards."

Bush, who has not made public his political plans, left Mosbacher's downtown office without speaking to reporters.

But Mosbacher said there is "no doubt in my mind" that Bush would seek the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Karl Rove, a political consultant for Bush, called Monday's meeting part of the process Bush is going through in deciding whether to run.

"He's not a candidate today, but I don't see anything that's going to keep him from becoming a candidate," Rove said.

With strong name recognition as son of former President Bush and managing partner of the Texas Rangers baseball team, Bush has been viewed as a top contender to try and beat Richards, who already is planning her re-election bid.

Mosbacher, son of former U.S. Commerce Secretary Bob Mosbacher, said he considered himself Bush's strongest opposition.

The GOP primary, he said, has come "pretty close" to ending now that he is out and Bush almost certainly is in. Both men believe Bush had a clear shot at the nomination, he said.

"There may be somebody, fringe-type, out there, but I think most of the serious candidates have folded up their tents," he said.

Mosbacher, 42, said Bush seemed relieved with the news he would not run.

He also said he would support Bush in the race and that he expects a formal announcement from Bush after the baseball season.

Besides Mosbacher and Bush, Dallas lawyer Tom Luce, a former adviser to Ross Perot's presidential campaign, has been mentioned as a possible GOP candidate.

Also Monday in Austin, Louis Podesta, 42, said he planned to seek the GOP nomination for governor.

Podesta, a freelance writer and small business consultant from San Antonio, called himself a "Barry Goldwater-style" conservative.

"I'm here as an ordinary citizen who has never been involved with politics formally," he told a Capitol news conference.

Podesta filed a lawsuit that currently is before the Texas Supreme Court to invalidate a prison bond measure approved by voters because he said half of 25,300 prison beds financed by the measure were for substance abuse treatment.

Mosbacher, who lost the last race for lieutenant governor and is now president of Mosbacher Energy Co., wouldn't rule out ever running again for public office.

"I feel like I've paid my dues and I'm sure there will be a day when I will decide to run for something else," he said. "It's not right now."

While conceding Richards is popular in Texas, Mosbacher said she has failed to show leadership.

An octet of Europeans

By Phillip Alder

Eight teams qualified for this year's world championships from the Generali European Championships, held last June in Menton, a small town on the French Riviera between Monaco and Italy.

Poland won the Open Series, surprising no one, and Sweden won the Women's, surprising everyone — including, perhaps, themselves. Poland is joined by Denmark, Norway and the Netherlands in the NEC Bermuda Bowl. France, Italy and Germany also qualified for the NEC Venice Cup.

The British North-South pair finished in five diamonds, which died when the spade finesse lost.

Three no-trump makes because West has no entry to his club winners, but that is tough to judge. And four hearts isn't such a bad spot. How would you have planned the play against the club-king lead?

Opening three clubs in the third position would be the choice of most players, especially at the prevailing vulnerability. But if the opponents buy the contract, which they rate to do, it is a revealing bid.

Gawrys won the first trick with the club ace and unblocked dummy's top hearts. Then Gawrys simply led a low spade from the dummy.

How could East defend? If he won with the king, eventually declarer's two diamond losers would disappear on dummy's A-J of spades. But when East ducked, South no longer had a spade loser. He lost one trick in each of the other suits.

African folk dress appears in U.S. fashion

By The Associated Press

Colorful African folk dress can now be produced by the home sewer, with the introduction of authentic African fashion patterns by McCall's.

The collection was designed by Emeaba Emeaba, a member of Nigeria's Abiriba tribe, and includes an array of caftans, tunics, headgear and accessories for men, women, and children. Pattern numbers are P469-P473.

Among them are the bou bou, a long robe worn by French-speaking West African women; the buba and sokoto, an outfit originally for kings, now popular among people in sub-Saharan Africa; and the ad'eze (meaning princess in Igbo language), a "butterfly" outfit whose free styling conceals the shape of the wearer. The garments are characterized by loose fit, some with drawstring waists for easy adjustability.

McCall's notes that many African fabrics, such as strip-woven kente cloth and printed cottons, are available in United States markets. Crochet Tops

Those intricate lacy tops found expensively in boutiques can be created by anyone even moderately handy with a crochet hook.

Instructions for four tops designed by Mary Ann Frits are included in the American School of Needlework's Crocheted Toppers booklet (1100).

Perhaps most striking of the set is a jacket with a filigreed rose design, front tie and long puffed sleeves, which could dress up a simple sheath or frock. There's also a pullover with an openwork pineapple design. Instructions call for cotton or cotton-look sport yarns.

Organizers

After the wardrobe has been achieved, you can make the appropriate closet gear to preserve garments' shape and protect them from fading, pests and deterioration.

A closet organizer pattern package from Butterick (B6869) includes patterns for two large hanging storage bags, three see-through garment bags, a suit cover, handbag organizers, shoe bags, umbrella holders and covered hangers.

The last item is especially important, according to Chris Paulocik, costume conservator at the Metropolitan Museum in New York. She advises using padded fabric or plastic hangers instead of the wire versions you get from the cleaners. Also banish all pins and plastic bags, she says.

She recommends making storage bags of pre-washed cotton, muslin and quilt batting that will prevent fading and allow clothes to breathe.

Sports injuries

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Overuse injuries that result from playing sports don't just happen to professional athletes; they happen to kids, too.

Children can damage muscles and bones through excessive or improper use, says Dr. B. David Horn, a clinical assistant professor of orthopedic surgery at Thomas Jefferson University.

"Overloading the immature skeleton with repetitive motion, such as throwing a softball, puts stress on the part of the bone that is growing, where it is the weakest," he said.

Improper use of muscles, such as throwing with a sidearm rather than overhead, can damage joints, Horn said. "Pain in a joint or along the arm or leg indicates an injury and should be evaluated by a physician."

To prevent injuries, parents need to make sure their children practice proper throwing and running mechanics and supervise how much children play, he said.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (SWBT) is asking the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC) for approval to offer Caller ID service in Texas. This service includes Calling Number Delivery, Calling Name Delivery and Anonymous Call Rejection (ACR). This service will be deployed statewide on a staggered, city-by-city basis, over a period of years in Texas in association with residence, business single and multiline services, but not PBX, Centrex or Plexar services, where facilities are available. Caller ID is an optional service which allows a subscriber to see date, time, and the phone number (Calling Number Delivery) and/or name associated with the number (Calling Name Delivery) of most direct dialed local calls and some select long distance calls before the telephone is answered. Per-call and per-line blocking will be available when the service is deployed. Detailed information on Caller ID service and how to block will be sent to each customer in their telephone bill during the next few weeks.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in this proceeding should notify the PUC before October 6, 1993. Spice up vegetables

The Associated Press

Use cooked rice as the base for a quick Rice Salad Primavera made with cherry tomatoes and sliced zucchini or yellow squash. The vegetables and rice are tossed with an Italian-scented vinegar and oil dressing, flavored with basil and oregano, garlic and grated Parmesan. Serve as a side dish with grilled meats, poultry or fish, or as a main-dish salad by adding chunks of chicken or canned tuna.

RICE SALAD PRIMAVERA

4 cups halved and sliced zucchini or yellow squash
11/2 cups cooked rice
1 cup cherry tomatoes, cut in halves
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1/4 cup olive oil or vegetable oil
2 tablespoons cider vinegar
1 teaspoon oregano leaves, crushed
1 teaspoon basil leaves, crushed
3/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper

Fill a medium skillet with 1-inch water; bring to a boil. Add zucchini; cook until crisp-tender, about 1 minute. Drain in a colander; rinse with cold water; place in a serving bowl. Add rice and tomatoes; set aside.

In a small bowl combine Parmesan cheese, oil, vinegar, oregano, basil, salt, garlic powder and black pepper; toss with rice mixture. Serve immediately or cover and refrigerate until ready to serve. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

SHS visits Plains for non-district tilt

Snyder's Lady Tigers, fresh from a runner-up finish in the consolation bracket of the weekend Denver City Volleyball Tournament, will hit the road today to take on Plains in non-district varsity and JV matches.

The Lady Tigers lost a hard-fought battle to the Cowgirls, 9-15, 15-13, 14-16, in the championship quarterfinal round at Denver City.

"I was really proud of our showing," said SHS coach Patty Grimmett. "It was really a point-for-point match almost all the way through.

"We learned a lot against Plains," the coach continued. "One of the things we learned was that we can play with anybody."

Bianca Rocha was Snyder's top server against Plains Saturday, putting in 13 points and four aces. Misty Roquemore finished with nine and Lindsey Griffin slammed seven.

The Lady Tigers carry a 4-6 record into tonight's match. Varsity action begins at 5 p.m. The JV contest is slated to start at 5:30 p.m.

Snyder's next home match will be a week from today when the Lady Tigers host San Angelo Lake View and Water Valley in a three-way match.

Cowboys waive Millen, Bates

IRVING (AP) — Will Hugh Millen be back?

Coach Jimmy Johnson waived Millen and several other players on Monday, but said several released players would be brought back today, when NFL teams can expand their rosters to the final 53 players.

Millen, who signed a one-year $1 million contract with the Dallas Cowboys as quarterback insurance, was cut along with special teams star Bill Bates, fullback Tommie Agee and deep snapper center Dale Hellestrae.

"We'll bring back at least a half dozen. I'm confident some of our veterans will be back with us," Johnson said Monday.

The Cowboys cut to 45 Monday so they could look over the NFL cut list and perhaps help their tight end depth.

Johnson said "there is a possibility" the Cowboys would bring back Millen, who was beaten out for the second-string quarterback job by Jason Garrett.

"Jason Garrett just outperformed him. We'll have to see," Johnson said.

Millen completed 59 per cent of his passes and had two touchdowns and four interceptions. Garrett hit on 72 per cent of his passes and had three touchdowns and one interception.

"Hugh was a victim of some unfortunate things," first string quarterback Troy Aikman said. "I was surprised he was cut. We really thought he would take charge in training camp, but Jason did a real good job."

There were signs Millen might be re-signed. His locker next to Aikman still had all his gear in it Monday.

Bates didn't take the cuts seriously.

"It just gives me a day to play golf," he said.

Some veterans gave Johnson their word that if waived, they would re-sign with the Cowboys, who could protect some of their younger players from the waiver wire by putting those vets on the "cut" list.

Johnson also was expected to bring back Agee and Hellestrae, who is used for snapping the ball to punters and placekickers, as well as defensive back Robert Williams, a seven-year veteran.

Others who were cut on Monday were:

— free agent linebacker Bobby Abrams, a four-year veteran out of Michigan;

— tight end Jason Burleson, a rookie from Texas;

— fullback Lincoln Coleman, a rookie out of Baylor;

— linebacker Reggie Givens, a rookie from Penn State;

— offensive tackle Todd Jones, a second-year player out of Henderson State;

— offensive tackle Everett McIver, a rookie from Elizabeth State;

— linebacker Mickey Pruitt, a six-year veteran from Colorado; and — safety Markus Paul, a five-year veteran from Syracuse who was acquired last week in a trade from Chicago.

"We are getting Kenny Gant and Darren Woodson back for our nickel defense, so our secondary isn't as a big a concern as it was a month ago," Johnson said.

Netters host Sweetwater

Snyder continues the fall team tennis season today when the Tigers host Sweetwater at 3:30 p.m. at Snyder Junior High.

Coach Teri Hoerster's netters lost their first two matches of the campaign Saturday, falling to Pecos, 18-11, and then to Monahans, 12-6, in a three-way meeting hosted by MHS.

"We did well for our first time out," said Hoerster. "We'll be improving our match play as the season goes along. We want to keep getting better so we can start district strong."

Leaders in Saturday's matches for Snyder were Tracey Chavez and Cameron Taylor, who led SHS to a 9-6 margin in boys' play over Pecos, and Christina Gonzalez and Mendy Winter, who posted Snyder's only girls' doubles win in the Monahans battle.

Chavez whipped Pecos' No. 1 singles entrant, John Alba, 6-1, 6-0, and Taylor notched a three-set, 6-2, 6-7 (7-5), 6-2 victory over Brett Hollon, then downed Monahans' No. 2 player, Mark Bridges, 6-0, 6-2.

Gonzalez, a 6-2, 6-2 winner over Brandee Watson in the Monahans match, teamed up with Winter to blast Watson and Brenda Curbow, 6-1, 6-2.

District 2-4A competition starts for Snyder with a Sept. 18 visit by defending loop champion Levelland.

Ex Miami players reportedly paid

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) — Miami formally notified the NCAA of allegations that six former football players received money from agent Mel Levine in 1987. The allegations by Detroit Lions safety Bennie Blades were reported Saturday by the Sun-Sentinel of Fort Lauderdale.

Blades said Levine paid the players with the understanding they would later sign contracts with him. He identified the others as Detroit receiver Brett Perriman, Dallas receiver Michael Irvin, Seattle receiver Brian Blades and former safeties Darrell Fullington and Selwyn Brown.

Balboni called up by Rangers

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Steve Balboni, having a banner year in the American Association after bombing out in the majors, will get another chance Wednesday, when the Texas Rangers and other clubs expand their rosters.

The 36-year-old slugger, who was known for his long homers and strikeouts during several years with the New York Yankees and Kansas City Royals, will be one of four veterans called up to the Rangers.

Balboni has revitalized his career with the Rangers' Class AAA farm club at Oklahoma City. He ended the weekend tied for the home run lead in the American Association with 36. He was second in runs batted in with 108. He was hitting .244 with 98 strikeouts through 126 games.

U.S. Open seeds hold court

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that tennis royalty has had its moment in the spotlight, the U.S. Open is awash today in a flood of seeds.

Stefan Edberg, who has won the men's title here the last two years and is seeded No. 3 this time, got things started on Stadium Court when he took on Frenchman Olivier Delaitre.

No. 1 Jim Courier, No. 7 Michael Chang and No. 16 Andre Agassi made their 1993 debuts on the hardcourts of the National Tennis Center, while tonight's program includes Wimbledon champion Pete Sampras, who is seeded second, and Mary Joe Fernandez, the women's No. 6 seed.

On Monday, the last three women to be ranked No. 1 in the world held court. Top-seeded Steffi Graf and No. 3 Martina Navratilova played first-round matches and Monica Seles closed out a brief appearance by holding a news conference.

The three have won eight of the last 10 U.S. Opens, with Seles capturing the last two. Her hopes to win again ended on a Hamburg, Germany, court when she was stabbed in the back by a Graf fan.

Graf, a two-time U.S. Open champion, needed 42 minutes to dash past Robin White 6-3, 6-0, eight minutes less than it took Navratilova to bludgeon Italy's Gloria Pizzichini 6-0, 6-1.

Only five other seeds saw action on Monday, and one of them, No. 9 Petr Korda of the Czech Republic, was eliminated by South Africa's Wayne Ferreira 7-6 (7-2), 4-6, 7-6 (9-7), 3-6, 6-2. No. 14 Alexander Volkov of Russia stopped Jonathan Stark 1-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-7 (7-9), 6-3.

In women's play, No. 9 Anke Huber of Germany defeated Luxembourg's Karin Kschwendt 6-2, 6-2; No. 10 Magdalena Maleeva of Bulgaria downed Marianne Werdel 7-5, 6-4, and No. 4 Conchita Martinez of Spain ousted France's Sandrine Testud 6 -2, 6-3.

Two of the better matches of the day didn't feature seeded players. Patrick McEnroe came from two sets down to outlast South Africa's Marcos Ondruska 6-7 (7-4), 3-6, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2, and in the night's finale, Paul Haarhuis of the Netherlands fought back to defeat David Wheaton 0-6, 7-6 (10-8), 6-4, 6-4 and gain a second-round berth against McEnroe.

Bonilla hits 30th homer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Bonilla hit his 30th homer and Joe Orsulak's leadoff home run in the eighth inning off Xavier Hernandez (3-4) broke a 4-4 tie as New York sent visiting Houston to its fifth straight loss, 5-4.

Mike Maddux (3-6) was the winner.

Lickey named to Super Team

LUBBOCK — Snyder senior Bryan Lickey has earned a spot on the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal All-South Plains Super Team.

The team, made up of area players in Six-man through Class 5A, was announced in the paper's annual high school football edition Sunday.

Lickey, a 6-2, 210-pounder, is the mythical team's center. He is a two-way starter for the Tigers, snapping the football on offense and holding down the strong side defensive end position.

Lickey was an All-District 2-4A selection at center following the 1992 campaign, and was named to the Lubbock newspaper's Class 5A-4A All-South Plains team last season.

Joining Lickey on the team's offensive line are tackles Gabe Cherry of Sweetwater and Denver City's Daniel Dominguez of Denver City, and tackles Stoney Garland from Plains and Slaton's Cedric Thomas.

Both the team's split ends, Levelland's Peter Puente and Kendrick Hollie of Frenship, are from District 2-4A, as is running back Damien Nails, an all-state candidate from Plainview.

Rounding out the offense is Lazbuddie quarterback Brett Thomas, the only Six-man pick on the team, running back Shad Evans of Brownfield, the Class 3A All-South Plains Player of the Year in '92, and Lorenzo tight end David Guzman.

The defense has a decidedly 2-4A flavor, as well.

Plainview safety Steven Riddley, who registered 101 tackles and six interceptions during his all-district season in '92, Levelland two-time all-loop DB Doug Husen, and Estacado's Toby Sims, another all-district defensive back, lead the team.

Also in the defensive backfield is Sudan star Tim Williams.

Hereford's Mark Kuper, Sweetwater standout Tory Stephens, Kyle Edwards of Springlake-Earth and Israel Garcia of Hart were tabbed defensive linemen for the A-J team.

Andrews' Eric Langhenning, who hit eight field goals and 33 conversion attempts last season is the team's kicker, and Frenship's Noel Ramos is the punter by virtue of last year's 37-yard average.

Viola, Pena lead Sox to 7-3 win over Texas

BOSTON (AP) — Frank Viola began turning around his season six weeks ago. Now his batterymate, Tony Pena, may be doing the same.

Viola won his fifth straight decision after a 1-7 stretch over 13 starts as the Boston Red Sox beat the Texas Rangers 7-3 on Monday night. Pena, batting just .179, hit his third homer of the year and drove in two runs.

The career .269 hitter has struggled at the plate all season. But he has hit safely in his last five starts, a season-best hitting streak in which he's 5-for-17.

His RBI groundout to second that produced the game's first run in the fourth inning was critical, even though it left him 0-for-10 with the bases loaded this year.

Viola (10-8) beat Kevin Brown (10-11) for the second time in five days as Boston won for the fourth time in five games. Both pitched on three days rest.

The loss dropped Texas 51/2 games behind Chicago in the AL West.

"He pitched us the same way he pitched us in Texas," Rangers second baseman Doug Strange said. "He had total command of all of his pitches."

Boston took a 5-0 lead in the fifth with the help of Brown's balk, a bases-loaded error by third baseman Jeff Huson and Scott Cooper's two-run double.

Gary Redus' sacrifice fly made it 5-1 in the sixth, but Mike Greenwell singled in a run in the bottom of the inning and Pena homered in the seventh. Texas added two runs in the eighth when Viola faltered on Rob Ducey's sacrifice fly and Juan Gonzalez's fielder's choice groundout that made him the first Rangers player in history to drive in 100 runs in three straight years.

Only six spots remain in annual SHS tourney

Only six slots remain for the Second Annual Slingin' Sammy Baugh Snyder High School Golf Tournament, slated for Sept. 4 on the Western Texas College Golf Course.

Snyder High School golf coach and tournament director Bob O'Day reported Monday that the morning session was full and only a half dozen spaces remained in the afternoon field.

Cost to enter is $120 per four-person team, with proceeds benefitting the SHS golf program. Deadline for registration is Sept. 3. To enter call the WTC Golf Shop at 573-9291 or 573-8511.

Shotgun starts at 8:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. will begin competition. Since the tournament is not flighted, golfers over 65 years of age will be allowed to tee-off from the women's box.

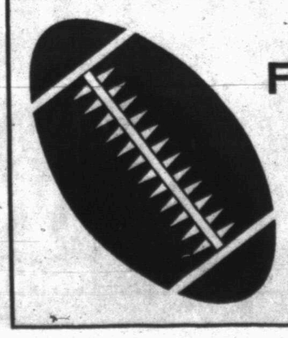

Teams will vie for $1,400 in merchandise prizes per flight including footballs signed by the former TCU and Washington Redskins great. Individual prizes include autographed footballs for long drive and closest to the pin in each session. Each entrant will receive a cap and drawings for prizes will be held throughout the tournament.

In addition, a Washington jersey bearing Baugh's retired No. 33 and a football autographed by Texas Tech head football coach Spike Dykes will be auctioned to the highest bidder.

Bids on the jersey will begin at $1,500 and will be opened Sept. 4. Bids should be sent to O'Day at 4502 El Paso in Snyder.

Baugh will be on hand for autographs at the tournament. The star quarterback and safety played 16 seasons with Washington and was a charter member of the NFL Hall of Fame.

Baugh's Southwest Conference Hall of Fame Trophy along with a portrait of the TCU star will be on display at West Texas State Bank until the tournament.

First winds felt on shore as Emily said getting stronger

HATTERAS, N.C. (AP) — Winds from Hurricane Emily brushed over North Carolina's barrier islands today as the storm grew stronger and headed for the East Coast.

With hurricane warnings posted from the central North Carolina coast to Virginia, thousands of people — mostly vacationers — left the low-lying Outer Banks island chain. Others stayed put, waiting to see exactly where the zig-zagging storm — with winds of 100 mph — would blow ashore.

"It's like playing checkers," said Troy Lapetina, emergency services coordinator for Norfolk, Va. "We wait for the storm to make a move, and then we make ours."

Wind began to pick up over the Outer Banks late Monday, reaching about 20 mph. It was expected to reach gale force by midday and hurricane force by tonight, when the eye was expected to make landfall.

Fears mounted that Emily would grow stronger as it moved over the warm Gulf Stream, where hurricanes Hugo and Andrew became giants.

Radio announcers used apocalyptic terms in issuing a steady barrage of warnings. Tie down shovels and other yard equipment, one said, to keep them from becoming "missiles of destruction."

Some 70,000 of the 100,000 people in Dare County, which includes most of the Outer Banks, moved inland Monday, according to Ray Sturza, a county emergency management spokesman. The rest prepared to stick it out.

"I ain't gonna leave," said Billy Beasley, 51, a lifelong Outer Banks resident and owner of seafood restaurant in Colington. "I'm going to do the best I can."

At 2 a.m., Emily's center was about 190 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras, near latitude 32.8 degrees north and longitude 74 degrees west.

Emily was moving west-northwest at near 9 mph and was expected to turn northward today, the National Hurricane Center in Coral Gables, Fla., said.

If it turns northward before or shortly after hitting the Outer Banks, Emily would head back out to sea and would be expected to stay offshore, said forecaster Tony Zaleski. That could cause large swells and 40-50 mph wind along the coastline from Virginia to New York's Long Island.

Cable TV rate changes due

From local, wire reports

It's a confusing time for cable TV viewers.

Starting Wednesday, new regulations will make cable television cheaper for most viewers. But not for everyone. As many as a third of the nation's 58 million cable customers will pay more.

At many cable companies, a complicated shakeup in rates will be accompanied by other changes, such as itemized billings, altered channel lineups and revamped cable packages.

"Almost everybody is going to see a change," said Briana Gowing, spokeswoman for the Federal Communications Commission. The changes come as the FCC begins enforcing the 1992 Cable Act, intended to make cable rates more fair.

Who wins and who loses? It depends on which of the 11,000 cable operations a customer subscribes to — and what services that customer uses.

Locally, Snyder Cablevision has announced a 36-cent increase for subscribers who receive the basic 28-channel service. The price will be $19.21, up from $18.85.

However, customers who rent a converter with a remote will see a decrease in that fee from $2.95 to $2.01.

HBO will go up from $10.50 to $11.50, but Cinemax and the Disney Channel will remain at $10.50 and $7, respectively. Subscribers can get all three premium channels for a package rate of $26.

The FCC estimates that two-thirds to three-fourths of subscribers will see their monthly bill drop an average of 10 percent, for an estimated nationwide savings of more than $1 billion.

In most cases — but not all — cable customers with the most gadgets and TVs will get the biggest windfall; subscribers who get the minimum packages are more likely to receive higher bills.

So far there has been more head-scratching than hand-wringing as subscribers receive their September bills, said Tom Basinger, vice president of Post-Newsweek Cable in Phoenix, which serves 15 states.

"The phones have been busy," Basinger said. "Most people were confused more than anything else. Most were not angry."

Channel surfing should be cheaper — cable operators will be allowed to charge only the actual cost of providing a remote control. In Pouca City, Okla., people pay Post-Newsweek Cable $3 a month to use a remote control; on Wednesday, the price drops to 48 cents a month.

People who have turned their homes into electronic castles also should benefit. Cable companies must provide cable to additional TVs in the same home at the actual cost to the company — which means many will do it for free after installation.

One multi-TV owner in the Chicago suburb of Hickory Hills will save $23.99 a month, said Jill Kinsella of Metrovision Inc. But a majority of customers in the same area will pay more because of a $1.32 hike in basic service.

Often the changes hit the poor or thrifty customers hardest. In Omaha, Neb., minimal "antennae service" — local broadcast and public access channels only — is provided free to about 2,400 people. This month Cox Cable will begin charging $12.30 a month for it.

The FCC says only about 6 percent of all subscribers receive such minimal service, and the law doesn't require the cable companies to raise those rates.

Small-time cable buyers face increases because in the past, some companies subsidized lower prices for service by charging more for the equipment, such as remote controls. They can't do that anymore.

The new rules are specific about how much companies can charge for basic cable service — local stations and educational, government and public-access cable channels.

The formulas for figuring those rates are based on the number of subscribers; there is no single, nationwide charge for basic cable.

Additional channels, such as CNN and the Weather Channel, though not as strictly regulated, must be reasonably priced.

Premium channels, such as HBO and Showtime, are not regulated by the law.

Shoji Tabuchi buys Roy Acuff's violins

BRANSON, Mo. (AP) — Two of Roy Acuff's violins now belong to Japanese fiddlin' wizard Shoji Tabuchi, whose chance meeting with the country music legend 29 years ago inspired his career.

Mrs. Tabuchi bought them at an auction Aug. 21-22 in Nashville. She paid $40,000 for Acuff's Amati violin, believed to be more than 250 years old, said David Patterson, president of the firm that conducted the auction. She also paid $15,000 for a violin presented to Acuff for his 50th anniversary on the Grand Ole Opry.

Acuff, known as the "king of country music," died last year at age 89.

Tabuchi, a classically trained violinist, became hooked on country music after meeting Acuff and his Smoky Mountain Boys at a show in Japan in 1964.

Wynette released

JACKSON, Tenn. (AP) — Tammy Wynette, who suffers from a chronic abdominal condition, was released from a hospital to continue her concert tour.

Miss Wynette was hospitalized Saturday en route to a show in Fort Worth, Texas, which was canceled. Ken Marston, spokesman for the Jackson-Madison County General Hospital, said the family requested that no further details about Ms. Wynette's condition be released.

Leaner troops sought

Aspin foresees troops abroad

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon's new blueprint for a post-Cold War future foresees a U.S. military that is leaner but nimble enough to apply firepower anywhere around the globe.

President Clinton received a detailed briefing on the new plan Monday by Defense Secretary Les Aspin and Gen. Colin Powell, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Aspin was expected to publicly release the document Wednesday and discuss aspects of it in a policy speech Thursday at Georgetown University, officials said.

Among Aspin's specific recommendations to Clinton:

—Keep 12 aircraft carriers, including one to train Navy aviators. That is two fewer carriers than had been planned during the Bush administration but two more than Aspin once was considering.

—Cut the total number of Navy ships to about 320 from the 450 that Bush had said was the minimum necessary.

—Reduce the number of active Army divisions to 10 from 14, two fewer than Bush planned, and cut the active and reserve Air Force wings from 28 to 20.

—Go ahead with development of the Air Force F-22 stealth fighter but buy fewer than the Bush administration planned, and go ahead with the E and F models of the Navy's F-A-18 strike plane that can be launched from aircraft carriers.

—Two aircraft now in the conceptual stage — the Air Force's "multi-role fighter" and the Navy's AF-X medium-range bomber — would be canceled or deferred.

—Stop the shrinkage of the Marine Corps at about 174,000 men and women. The Bush administration had set a target of 159,000, compared with the current level of about 180,000.

Police handle several cases

Officers were notified of the theft of a 20-inch television from the Texas Highway Department building at 8:58 a.m. A report for Class A theft was filed.

At 9:05 a.m., officers were advised of three male juveniles walking along 27th Street who were possibly skipping school. Two of the boys were taken to Snyder Junior High School and the other was released to his mother. An offense report for evading arrest was filed.

At 11:32 a.m., an officer transported a 21-year-old woman to Big Spring State Hospital for emergency commitment.

At 3:05 p.m., officers worked a minor accident at 5300 College Avenue. A 1981 Ford driven by Luzalarba Quiros of 2214 41st St. struck a traffic sign owned by the City of Snyder.

At 10:05 p.m. Monday, Kenny Buchanan notified police of a possible counterfeit bill taken by Phillips 66 on Coliseum Drive. The bill was seized as evidence and the case is being investigated.

Houston's worst mass slaying...

Convicted killer put to death

HUNTSVILLE (AP) — Richard James Wilkerson, who once laughed about twisting a knife inside the head of one of four stabbing victims, was executed early today for masterminding Houston's worst single mass slaying.

Wilkerson, 29, was 19 on July 1, 1983 when he and two companions robbed the Malibu Grand Prix, a Houston amusement center, and hacked to death four employees.

"I'd just like to say I don't hate nobody," Wilkerson said before lethal drugs administered by the Texas Department of Criminal Justice officials began flowing through his arms.

"What I did was wrong. I just hope everybody is satisfied with what's about to happen."

Two sisters, sobbing, and a friend were present in the death chamber and they and Wilkerson exchanged messages of love before the drugs, which began flowing at 12:10 a.m. CDT, began taking effect. He was pronounced dead six minutes later.

One of his sisters, Polly Winn, afterwards denounced the execution, saying it would not bring any of the victims back to life.

"This execution is not justice. This execution is an act of revenge," she said. "If this is justice, then justice is blind."

Wilkerson's attorneys asked the U.S. Supreme Court to block the execution but the high court rejected the request about four hours before punishment was carried out.

"I have a lot of mixed emotions," said Donnie Trent, whose son, Roddy Harris, was among the victims. "I can't help realize that if it wasn't for this man, my son would be alive and so would three others."

The execution was the sixth in six weeks in Texas and the 13th this year, topping the 1992 tally of 12 and setting a record for lethal injections in the state. This year's total is the most since 1936 when 14 condemned killers and rapists went to the old electric chair.

Wilkerson's death also was the 67th execution since the state resumed capital punishment in 1982.

One of Wilkerson's companions in the killing spree, Kenneth Ray Ransom, remains on death row. The other, James Edward Randall, Wilkerson's cousin, was 16 at the time of the killings and is serving a life term.

Witnesses testified Wilkerson had planned long before the killings to rob the arcade. One witness said that after the slayings, Wilkerson laughed as he recalled how he "jiggled that knife" inside the head of Anil Varughese, the night manager of the center.

Police called the slayings the worst single mass murder in Houston history.

Walkout at UPS considered unlikely

ATLANTA (AP) — Despite signs that United Parcel Service union workers would authorize a nationwide strike, both sides are headed back to the negotiating table and a walkout seemed unlikely.

"We don't believe there ever is going to be a work stoppage, and certainly not now," Ken Sternad, a UPS spokesman at the company's Atlanta headquarters said Monday. "We fully intend to continue negotiations with the union."

Five-month-old talks between UPS and the International Brotherhood of Teamsters were suspended last week so the union could poll its members on support for a strike.

Returns from several locals over the weekend showed the rank and file strongly back a strike authorization, which would give union leaders the power to call a strike if further talks fail.

Final votes will be announced by the Teamsters on Friday. Contract talks are scheduled to resume in Washington after Labor Day.

"Clearly it (a strike) is our tactic of last resort," said Bernie Mulligan, spokesman for the Teamsters, which represents about 165,000 UPS workers across the country.

"We go back to the table next week, and we hope UPS hears the message," Mulligan said. "Our members want a better quality of life than UPS is offering."

UPS, the huge package shipper known for its brown delivery trucks, has never had a nationwide strike. The union's three-year contract expired July 31, but has been extended during the talks.

Teamsters officials called UPS' initial economic proposal "insulting." The company offered a 2 percent annual pay raise for six years. The union wants an 8 percent annual raise for three years. Union members typically earn between $10.80 and $17.70 per hour.

Based on weekend returns from locals in Atlanta, Greensboro, N.C., Seattle, Spokane, Wash., Kansas City, Mo., Louisville, Ky., Indianapolis and Portland, Maine, members overwhelmingly support the strike authorization.

But analysts say a strike is unlikely.

"This is a lot of posturing on the part of the Teamsters, designed to light a fire under UPS," said John Schulz, who covers the trucking business for the industry publication Traffic World Magazine. "They'll get the strike authorization but not the strike."

Man tape recorded threatening Jackson, reportedly boy's dad

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A man who was tape recorded threatening to ruin the reputation of Michael Jackson is purportedly the father of a boy Jackson is accused of molesting.

"Certain things are going to have to come out and those two are not going to have any defense against me whatsoever," says the voice on the tape, broadcast Monday by a television station that said it had confirmed its authenticity. "It's going to be a massacre if I don't get what I want."

Jackson canceled a Singapore concert Monday, saying through spokesmen that he was too ill with a migraine headache to perform. But after tests, his doctor today pronounced him fit to continue his "Dangerous" tour.

"I apologize for any inconvenience I may have caused for my friends in Singapore," Jackson said in a tape recording played for reporters.

It was the third show Jackson postponed since launching the latest leg of his "Dangerous" tour last week, at the same time Los Angeles police revealed the entertainer was under investigation for allegedly molesting a 13-year-old boy. Jackson denied any wrongdoing in a statement released last week.

KCBS-TV on Monday broadcast excerpts of a recording of a telephone conversation in which the boy's father purportedly made a threat involving Jackson and the boy's mother. The parents recently were involved in a custody dispute over the boy.

"Certain things are going to have to come out and those two are not going to have any defense against me whatsoever," the father purportedly told the boy's stepfather in July before the complaints were filed that prompted the investigation. "It's going to be a massacre if I don't get what I want."

The voice identified as the father's never said during the conversation what he was seeking. KCBS said he was demanding a meeting with Jackson.

"This man (Jackson) is going to be humiliated beyond belief," the father reportedly said. "He will not believe what's going to happen to him — beyond his worst nightmares. He won't sell one more record."

Asked by the stepfather if he was concerned about the impact the threat would have on his son, the father reportedly said: "It's irrelevant to me."

KCBS said the tape's authenticity had been verified by three sources it refused to identify and that police have a copy.

The father's attorney didn't return phone calls seeking comment.

Jackson's private investigator, Anthony Pellicano, said the tape "spells out everything to me, that this was an extortion attempt from the very beginning — that it was all planned."

Pellicano claims a Beverly Hills dentist accused Jackson of molesting his teen-age son and demanded $20 million to keep quiet. The dentist hasn't commented.

Los Angeles police officers traveled to Las Vegas, where they served a search warrant Monday at the Mirage Hotel and spent 30 minutes scouring through the Michael Jackson Lanai, a three-bedroom apartment that rents for $1,250 a night, said Mirage spokesman Alan Feldman.

Police Lt. John Dunkin wouldn't comment on the search, but Feldman said the officers left empty-handed. Searches conducted earlier this month at Jackson's two Southern California homes netted videotapes and photographs, though the Los Angeles Times has quoted unidentified police sources as saying nothing incriminating was found.

Police and the Department of Children's Services were notified of the allegations by a therapist.

Hotel faces daunt task of feeding world's religious

CHICAGO (AP) — With just five loaves and two fish, the Bible says, Jesus fed the multitude. The job isn't so easy for chefs at the Chicago hotel where thousands of religious leaders from throughout the world are converging.

From pork abstinence to water-washing stations and kosher utensils, a kitchen staff of 450 is working to meet the sometimes exacting dietary requirements for the Parliament of the World's Religions.

About 6,000 representatives of Protestantism, Hinduism, Judaism and other faiths are attending the nine-day conference, which ends Saturday.

"I imagine that I'm going to get some extremely unusual requests from religions I'm not familiar with," said Gene Anderson, director of the Palmer House Hilton Hotel's food and beverage operation.

Among the most difficult so far, he said, has been a request for Hall'l beef, the only kind Muslims eat. Muslims believe a passage from the Koran must be recited before a cow is slaughtered, and its throat must be cut so the blood will drain out.

To simplify things, the hotel has bought prepackaged kosher food that it can reheat.

Biker on 8,000 mile goodwill trip

sent to herself — something she has planned for the past eight years.

Her itinerary will take her to Lubbock next, where she was born. She expects to finish her journey in San Francisco on Nov. 20.

Thus far, she enjoyed the ride from Fort Worth to Snyder the best. She said Texas highways have some of the best shoulders for bikes that she has encountered.

Terry enjoys being in Texas, because her "roots and family" are here. Presently living in Santa Fe, N.M., the former college softball player has spent years working with young people. One of her most recent jobs included being a recreational therapist at an adolescent treatment center.

To date, Terry has logged 4,603 miles on her Bianchi touring bike. She averages 75-90 miles per day, but will have to up that to 90-120 miles over the next week in order to get back on schedule.

A knee problem, coupled with a hard, exhausting ride from Albany to Snyder, delayed her arrival here by several hours. Rather than leave Monday morning as originally planned, she spent the night with her grandmother. Terry also visited a local doctor whose treatment greatly helped her knee problem.

She does not travel with a support vehicle.

Terry travels light, carrying a few articles of clothing, a tent, sleeping bag, a cup, a radio and two bottles of water. She camps out when necessary, but often stays with friends or family. However, she will bed down whenever she can, even if it means spending a night in a jail. She once camped out on the lawn of a church. And she has spent a night in a radio station.

Terry, executive director of Children Are Our Future, an organization founded a year ago in Santa Fe, N.M., also carries with her the business file for the organization. She had someone handling the office duties, but when that person became ill, Terry had to assume those duties in the midst of her ride.

One of Terry's largest problems has been the heat. She has encountered 98-plus degrees since the second week in June. The past three weeks have been 100-degree days. The hottest day was in Tallahassee, Fla. when temperature gauges hit 105 degrees and the humidity was 100 percent. Her feet and tires sank into the tar.

Thunderstorms and lightning haven't been much fun either. When caught in one, she has little choice but to wait for a place where she can stop.

She has had some close calls with truckers also, who have "blown me off the road, but not on purpose," she said. She was in a minor accident, but was not hurt as the van sideswiped the back of her bike which contains her supplies.

She also had to ride 400 miles in Alabama with bad bearings before she could find a bicycle shop.

Since embarking on her ride, Terry has had to replace the tires on her bike three times, the chain once and she is wearing her fourth pair of gloves.

Through it all, she encounters many friendly people — some of whom want to give her something to drink.

Terry said she is not afraid to be out on her own.

She has received some media coverage but some news organization have been indifferent to her ride.

Terry doesn't let anything discourage her — not the weather, a painful and swollen knee or lack of media interest. "What keeps me going is my cause. I believe in children," she said.

She left Boston, with $50 and a mission. She is currently being sponsored by Headstrong Bicycle Helmets which specializes in making colorful helmets for children. Only two of the 50 states now have laws which require bike riders to wear a helmet she said.

Terry also solicits donations for Children Are Our Future. Funds will be applied to direct services and/or be contributed to other organizations which benefit children.

Terry is no stranger to endurance bike rides. She participated in a cross-country bike ride eight years ago. Next summer she wants to enter the Race Across America.

To prepare for this ride, Terry worked out at a health spa and ran from 10 to 30 miles a day in the Relay Run — from Alaska to Santa Fe.

She maintains an often relentless pace, in spite of having had five surgeries — including three on one knee.

Monitoring blood pressure at home

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Since reading in my local newspaper that only about 40 percent of all nurses can take an accurate blood pressure reading, I would like to know how accurate home electronic digital BP monitors are.

DEAR READER: I don't know in what newspaper you read that 60 percent of nurses cannot take an accurate blood pressure, but I do not believe this is a correct figure. In my experience, virtually 100 percent of nurses are skilled in performing this basic and important medical test. This is like saying that 60 percent of automobile mechanics cannot change a tire. I just don't buy it.

Nonetheless, home blood pressure devices do play an important role in monitoring hypertensive patients. Most of the machines are reliable (although they should be calibrated periodically), and most people are perfectly capable of learning to take home blood pressures.

Thus, for the chronic hypertensive — especially the person who is extremely nervous in a doctor's or nurse's office — home monitoring is a splendid way to obtain blood pressure readings at odd hours (such as at bedtime), thereby establishing a record to help the doctor adjust the dose of blood pressure medicine. Also, some tense patients have "white coat hypertension": consistently high readings in the office, low or normal values at home.

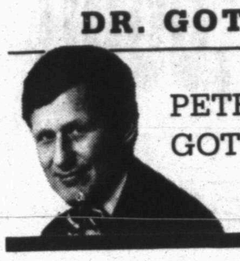

For example, I have several patients who obtain reliable, normal blood pressure readings at home; these are invariably 20 points higher in the office. I'm sure that their home readings better represent true blood pressure levels. Therefore, I trust these readings and adjust their medications accordingly.

Whether a person should engage in home blood pressure monitoring is a decision that should be made in conjunction with the doctor. For technical reasons (such as poor eyesight), this option may not be appropriate for all patients. But I believe that the majority of people can safely and effectively follow their own blood pressures, with a little training, practice, confidence and any one of the many blood pressure kits available in any pharmacy.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Hypertension." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2433, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to mention the title.

Sharp says state lottery's efficiency is $80 million plus

AUSTIN (AP) — Comptroller John Sharp says he knows exactly how efficient the Texas Lottery is: $80.9 million worth.

That was the size of the check Sharp turned over to the state Treasury on Monday, a surplus of administrative funds not needed by the lottery.

Sharp said the lottery has been so efficient, other states are looking at Texas in setting up their own gambling games.

"We still get calls anytime there's a lottery starting up anywhere in the country," Sharp said. "There's no question it's the most efficiently run lottery in the country."

The lottery pays 5 percent of its revenues to retailers, about 50 percent as prizes and about 30 percent to the Treasury. Under state law, 15 percent was allowed for administrative costs.

But Sharp said the lottery, which employs only about 180 people, spent only about 8 percent on administration. The difference was the $80.9 million returned to the Treasury.

"It would have been a lot easier to hire 1,000 employees," Sharp said. Instead, the lottery utilized private companies for as many services as possible.

Rather than create its own transportation fleet to send tickets to retailers, Sharp said, the Texas Lottery used UPS. The same went for its communications system and advertising campaigns.

The lottery began selling instant-win, scratch-card tickets on May 29, 1992, with the pick-six-number lotto game beginning about five months later.

The comptroller's office had projected that the lottery would generate $461 million profit during the 15 months between the start-up of instant ticket sales and the end of the 1992-93 budget cycle, which arrives Tuesday.

Sharp said that with the $80.9 million surplus and the final transfer of lottery proceeds on Tuesday, he expects lottery profits for the 15-month period to have topped $800 million.

Projections for 1994-95 are $1.1 billion in profits.

More violence against social workers reported in the U.S.

FORT WORTH (AP) — A little more than a week ago, a Child Protective Services worker in Fort Worth needed 10 stitches after a troubled 15-year-old girl he was interviewing cracked him over the head with a piece of metal.

The violent incident illustrates what more than half of the social workers in North Texas say they fear. A CPS survey of 219 North Texas workers — about a quarter of the agency's work force in the area — showed that nine had been physically assaulted in the last year, 71 reported threats of violence, and 36 said they had been verbally abused.

Officials say the issue of threats against social workers is a growing reality across the country.

"We're on the front lines of a general breakdown in society," John Brogden, a risk-assessment coordinator for CPS in North Texas said in a report in Monday's Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

"We've seen an increase in violence. But until recently we really hadn't studied it, had a consistent way to report it, or thought about safety."

Nationwide, the newspaper reported, assaults on social workers are increasing at alarming rates. While no official tracking system exists, experts said the problem is most acute in New York state, where five case workers have been killed by clients in the last five years.

Among the more recent attacks in North Texas, a case worker looking for the parents suspected of abusing their newborn was knocked down and repeatedly kicked by a group of youths as she and her co-worker fled the apartment of the baby's irate father.

A few months ago, a woman tried to smuggle an automatic handgun into a CPS office in Fort Worth. Officials said the woman's 6-year-old daughter tipped officials by telling her caseworker, "Mommy bought a gun, and she's going to kill you."

And in McKinney, a case worker quit after being followed home and slashed across the face with a knife by a parent of a child who had been removed from the home because of suspected abuse.

"These jobs are becoming more and more hazardous," said Peter Grupp, a professor of social work at the University of Texas at Arlington and chairman of the advisory committee for the Tarrant County Department of Human Services. "You are dealing with people who are desperate and at the end of their rope."

The survey also found that some social service workers were not reporting attacks because they feel they have somehow failed the clients if they become violent.

Since the survey was done in May, the agency has started safety training and teaching self-defense techniques, said Fred Seale, CPS's regional director. CPS also encourages workers to travel in teams whenever they go to high crime areas and to call for a police escort if they fear violence.

Dear Abby

Fiancee Lays Down Law To Get Cop Off the Street

by Abigail Van Buren

© 1993 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am 24, have a four-year degree in criminal justice, have served three years in the U.S. Army with the military police, and am currently being hired as a Massachusetts state trooper. Police work is, and always will be, my heart's desire.

My problem: I am in love with (and engaged to) a wonderful woman from my college days. We went together all through college. She was a business administration major.

Abby, she has known for the last 3 1/2 years what I wanted to do with my life. Now, she refuses to marry me if I become a state trooper because of the high risk involved in this line of work. I have worked very hard for nearly seven years toward this job, but I also love my fiancee, and now I am very confused about what to do. (I have never interfered with her career choice.)

Should I take her advice and aim for a safer job in the criminal justice department, although I know deep down inside me I will never be happy unless I'm a street cop?

UNSURE
IN FRAMINGHAM, MASS.

DEAR UNSURE: If you know "deep down inside you" that you'll never be happy unless you're a street cop, you could be engaged to the wrong woman. Be grateful that she is honest with you about her feelings. She seems to lack the tough stuff it takes to be a policeman's wife.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I hope you won't think I'm an addle-minded old man who has gone soft in his old age. (I'll be 88 if I make it to mid-September.) I've enjoyed your column in the Lowell (Mass.) Sun, and know that you appreciate puns, so I am enclosing a poem for your enjoyment. I have kept this poem since I was a young man, and just came across it. There is no title, but it was written by William Dunkle of East Falmouth, Mass.

SAMUEL S. THORPE SR.,
TOWNSEND, MASS.

Where can a man buy a cap for his knee
Or a key to the lock of his hair?
Should your eyes be called an academy
Because there are pupils there?
In the crown of your head, what jewels are found?
Who travels the bridge of your nose?
Could you use in shingling the roof of your mouth
The nails on the ends of your toes?
Could the crook in your elbow be sent to jail?
If so, what did he do?
How can you sharpen your shoulder blades,
I'll be darned if I know, do you?
Can you sit in the shade of the palm of your hand
And play on the drum of your ear?
Do the calves of our legs eat the corn on our toes,
Then why does it grow on the ear?

DEAR SAMUEL S. THORPE SR.: That is a funny punny poem. Thanks for sending it. I don't know if Mr. Dunkle is still among the mortals, but thanks to any of his progeny who are presently among us.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I pray you will print this letter. I'm sick and tired of relatives coming to visit us without writing or calling first. It is very inconvenient because our health is bad and we're on a fixed income, so we don't always have money to buy extra food for company. I hope all of your readers will take this hint.

NO NAME OR STATE

DEAR NO NAME: Nobody has the right to barge in on anybody without calling or writing first. If they do this once, shame on them. If they do it twice, shame on you!

In each advertisement on this page you will find the contestants in a prominent football game being played around the country this weekend. On the entry blank at the bottom of the page, fill in your selection of the WINNING TEAM only...opposite the name of the business firm on the entry blank. Then clip out the entry blank and send it to FOOTBALL CONTEST EDITOR, Snyder Daily News, Box 949, Snyder, TX 79550, or bring it by the news office at 3600 College Ave. Entries must be in the hands of the editor by 5:00 p.m. Friday. Games ending in a tie must be specified as a tie or else it will be considered a miss.

To avoid splitting the prize money a TIE-BREAKER slot will be provided on each entry blank. Pick the total points of the score for that game and in case of a tie the one who picks the winner and the nearest number of total points will receive the prize money. The same formula will apply to second and third place winners. In the case of a perfect score, the formula would apply for the $250 cash prize. To win the $1,000 cash prize, all twenty games must be picked correctly, plus the exact score must be predicted on the tie-breaker.

There will be fun for the entire family. Only one entry blank will be permitted for any one person. More than one will disqualify all that person's entries. Entries must be on the official entry blank (No Copies Please). Scores listed on the entry blank will have no bearing except in the case of the tie-breaker. Sign your entry blank and list your address and phone number and watch for the winner's story in next Tuesday's SDN. Employees of the SDN and their families are not eligible to enter.
