In Brief

Cable TV veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill establishing government controls on cable television rates is facing a Senate fight next week and a threatened presidential veto after winning overwhelming passage in the House.

The bill is the object of a highly visible publicity campaign between the cable TV industry, which opposes it, and consumer groups that say new regulation is necessary to stop runaway increases in cable rates.

President Bush has threatened to veto it if it reaches his desk. He said it "will hurt Americans by imposing a wide array of costly, burdensome and unnecessary requirements on the cable industry."

Responding to consumer complaints, the House approved the measure 280-128 on Thursday — a margin suggesting but not assuring that supporters may be able to muster the two-thirds vote necessary to override a veto in the House.

Gunman shoots 2 officers at school

HOUSTON (AP) — A heavily armed gunman shot two police officers and sent hundreds of students running for safety just before classes started today at Piney Point Elementary School.

The two seriously injured officers were being treated at Ben Taub Hospital. A third officer suffered an injured ankle in the fracas. He was taken to Hermann Hospital, Becky Bussey, a spokeswoman for the Houston Emergency Medical Services, said.

The identities of the gunman and the officers were not immediately released by police.

The gunman, whom school officials said was the parent of a second-grade boy at the school, entered the southwest Houston school shortly before 8 a.m.

"He is known to the staff here as an active, supportive parent. So we don't know what sparked this incident," Jaime E. de la Isla, associate superintendent of Houston Independent School District, said. "To our knowledge, he seems to be a well-respected parent at this point."

Police believe the man was distraught over his son's failing grades.

Police spokesman Joe Gamino said the man went to the school office and said something to a secretary, shot at a wall and turned to leave the office. He fired another shot in the school lobby, shattering a window, and then started down a hallway, sending students and teachers running for safety.

Police spokesman John Leggio said the man was dressed in black "Rambo" fatigues and was armed with two semiautomatic weapons, four clips of ammunition and a hunting knife.

School officials did not know the whereabouts of the man's son.

"He was shooting at the building and then the teachers said, 'Go! Run away!' and we ran away," said Eric Vargas, a 7-year-old student.

A community service officer who was at the school to give a speech on the department's drug awareness program heard a pop and a teacher told him there was a gunman in the hallway, Gamino said.

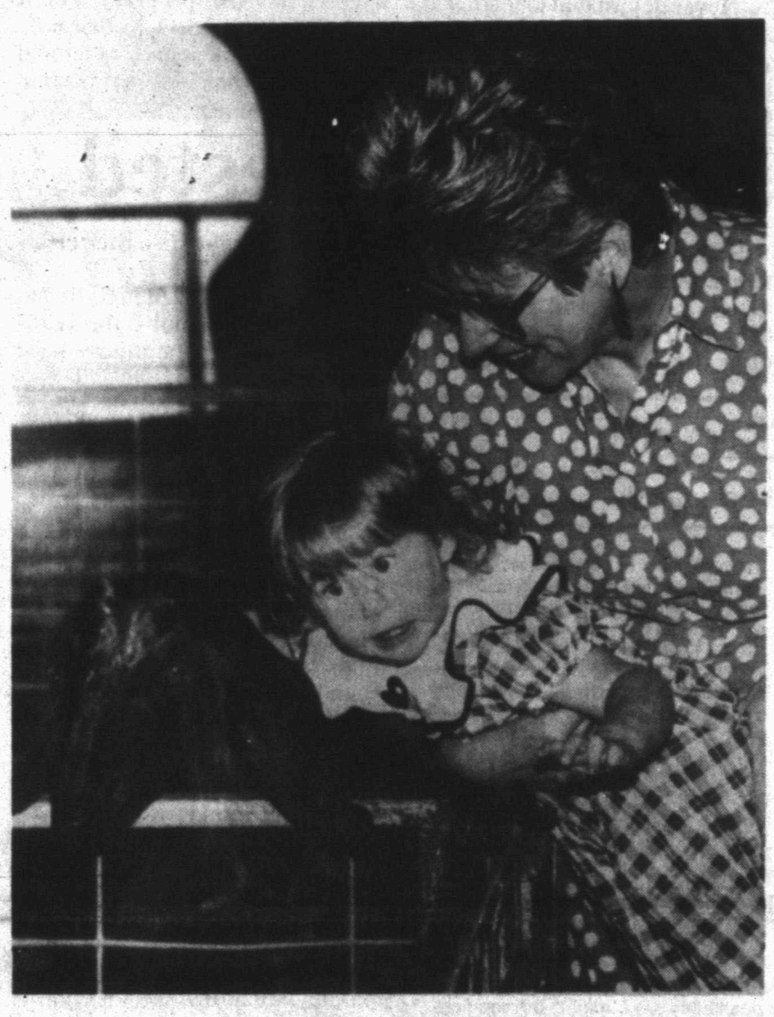

The officer, who was armed, approached the gunman and was shot in the shoulder and right thigh. School officials telephoned for help and at least two dozen officers responded.

The gunman then ran to a portable classroom, Gamino said. Officers arriving on the scene began searching those buildings and the gunman narrowly opened the door where he was hiding and shot at a nearby officer, police said.

The officer, who was wearing a bulletproof vest, was shot in the back. He was in good condition. The first officer was undergoing surgery this morning, but was in "fairly good" condition, said Roger Widmeyer, spokesman at Ben Taub Hospital.

As the gunman was surrounded, he began throwing out his weapons and surrendered peacefully, Leggio said.

The gunman was being questioned at the Houston Police Department's homicide division.

Reception planned at Dermott School

Jane Gilmore Rushing will be "coming home" Saturday as guest of honor at an autograph reception marking the publication of her book, Starting from Pyron.

Also honored will be Billie Roche Barnard, a cousin of Rushing and a Pyron native, who made many of the 80 photographs in the book. The reception will be held from 9:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. in the Dermott School on the county coliseum grounds. Refreshments will be served.

Starting from Pyron, which is non-fiction, was published by the Texas Tech University Press.

Rushing said the book began taking shape 20 years ago when she and her cousin set out to rediscover their old home community.

"Our first idea was to portray Pyron as it was then. Later, when I began to write the book, I saw Pyron as representative of numerous West Texas settlements that began about the beginning of this century, aspired to become towns, and then were left behind by 'progress,'" she said.

"In the end, I think the Pyron book has become an affectionate memoir, but perhaps one that will evoke memories in any reader who was ever part of a West Texas cotton picking community."

Currently a resident of Lubbock, Rushing was born in her grandmother's home in the Pyron community in east Scurry County. She graduated from Pyron High School and after receiving her bachelor's and master's degrees at Texas Tech University, she taught school at Ira in 1947-48 and Snyder from 1948-1952.

She received her Ph.D. from Tech in 1957 and taught at the University of Tennessee from 1957-59. She returned to Lubbock and taught intermittently at Tech from 1959-79. She has been named a Distinguished Alumna of both the Department of English and the College of Arts and Sciences at Tech, and was the Outstanding Alumna of the School of Mass Communications in 1988.

While she was associated with Tech she wrote Walnut Grove in

Police clear up ten more cases

Snyder police have completed investigations into 10 cases of burglary, theft and criminal mischief and identified four juveniles as the perpetrators.

Two of the juveniles have been sent to the Lubbock County Youth Detention Facility. The other two were released to family members.

A 15-year-old boy was identified as a suspect in three burglaries and a case of criminal mischief. He is accused of breaking into Fast Oil Change, Scurry CB Sales and Davenport's Auto Clinic during the evening of Sept. 1 or early morning of Sept. 2. He is also charged with damaging a window at 300 Coliseum Drive at the same time.

The 15-year-old has been taken to the youth detention facility in Lubbock and the cases have been turned over to the district attorney.

Police identified a 12-year-old boy as a suspect in a break-in at the Scurry County Health Unit, reported May 5. An unknown amount of cash was taken and food was removed from a refrigerator.

The youth was released to his parents and the case will go to the district attorney.

A 13-year-old boy has been charged with burglary and the theft of four bicycles. He and another 13-year-old are charged with entering a vehicle owned by Harold Britton of 2206 43rd St. and taking various items. The burglary was reported Sept. 14.

The property has been recovered. Police said one 13-year-old on probation was taken to the youth detention center. The other was released to his parents.

The boy taken to the youth detention center has also been charged with four bicycle thefts: on Aug. 22, reported by Celia Barrera of 130 Milburn; on Aug. 29, reported by Rene Garza of 2509 Ave. C; on Aug. 30, reported by Vickie Arrendale of 400 28th St; and on Sept. 6, reported by Mary Stidham of 1510 Ave. E.

All of the bicycles have been returned to their owners.

Earlier this month, police completed investigations into 14 burglaries with the apprehension of three juveniles, ages 13, 15 and 16.

Bike-a-Thon planned for Towle Park

Elementary school students are encouraged to participate in the "Wheels For Life" Bike-A-Thon Saturday in Towle Park.

The event, to benefit St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, is sponsored by the Snyder Jaycees.

The bike-a-thon will be held from 8 a.m. until noon. A safe two-mile course will be used.

The Jaycees encourage elementary school students to participate by securing pledges per mile ridden. Riders collecting $30 or more will receive a T-shirt and sports bag. Everyone turning in money will receive a certificate.

Deputies make felony arrests

County deputies made two felony arrests Thursday, including one on warrants for aggravated robbery.

Ellen Allen, 31, of Hermleigh was arrested on two warrants for aggravated robbery, from Sept. 12 and Dec. 21 of last year. Allen was indicted by a Scurry County grand jury in March.

She is being held in Scurry County Jail on bonds of $15,000 for each count.

In an unrelated arrest, 22-year-old Shanna Ruth Taylor of the Kingswood Apartments was arrested at Western Texas College for parole violation. Taylor is on probation for forgery.

Hermleigh homecoming slated tonight

Hermleigh celebrates homecoming this evening with varsity football game, highlighted by the crowning of a Queen and Football Hero at halftime.

The ballgame begins at 7:30 as the Cardinals play host to Klondike. Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Nominees for Queen are seniors Amy Anderson and Amanda Olsen, junior Norma Alfaro and sophomore Brandy Atkinson.

Football Hero nominees are senior Billy Smith, juniors Lance Price and William Gray, and freshman Jimmy Digby.

The senior class will sponsor a dance in the school gym after the game. Admission is $1 for students and $2 for adults.

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

John Graham, writing in the Lovington Daily Leader, reported a local couple who noticed "a big guy having lunch" in a local restaurant who looked somewhat familiar.

It turned out to be former Dallas Cowboy star Bob Lilly who had stopped at Nature's Pantry for a bite to eat. The couple found out that Lilly was no stranger to Lovington, as he has stopped often, along with other former teammates, over the years at K&K Sporting Goods to buy deer hunting licenses on their way to a ranch lease near Mayhill.

Larry Crabtree, in the Vernon Daily Record, claims that children can be perceptive. As a case in point, he cited a woman who reported that her 5-year-old son was intently watching a documentary on TV about the Civil War. When the show ended, he asked his dad, "What is a slave?"

The father responded that a slave is a person who works real hard, all day long, for other people, often without getting paid for it.

"Oh, I know," responded the son. "You mean like Mom!"

Lisa Kestler, in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, saw Democratic Presidential nominee, Bill Clinton, as a guest on the Arsenio Hall show. Clinton, she said, sat in with the band and played saxophone.

Said Lisa, "You'd think Clinton would be more careful. The last thing the man needs is to be caught in a sax scandal."

Guerrero's own words hurt her

AUSTIN (AP) — Republicans have had tough words about Railroad Commission Chairman Lena Guerrero's false claim to a college degree. But the toughest questions were raised by Ms. Guerrero herself.

A politician's opponents always hope for a lynching. Seldom does the prey provide the rope.

This story began in 1984, when Ms. Guerrero's state House campaign literature described her as not only a University of Texas graduate but an honors student.

That claim was repeated as the Democrat's star rose — in the Legislature, as political director for Gov. Ann Richards' 1990 primary campaign, when Richards put her in statewide office on the powerful Railroad Commission.

Ms. Guerrero says the confusion was an honest mistake, that she always believed she received her UT diploma.

For most people, it wouldn't matter. Embellishing resumes is a too-common practice.

But Lena Guerrero wasn't seeking private jobs, she was seeking public offices. That meant a public record:

1984

A campaign biography from her first state House race:

"In 1976 she moved to Austin to attend the University of Texas, where she was named to the honorary scholastic society, Phi Beta Kappa. She received a bachelor of science degree in broadcasting in 1980."

1985

An official biography issued by her House office:

"While at the university, she was named to the honorary scholastic society, Phi Beta Kappa. Upon receiving her bachelor's degree in broadcasting in 1980, she was named executive director of the Texas Women's Political Caucus."

Dec. 3, 1990

The news release from Gov.-elect Ann Richards, announcing Ms. Guerrero's appointment as the first Hispanic and first woman on the Railroad Commission, repeated the Phi Beta Kappa reference.

1991

While addressing graduates at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos, Ms. Guerrero said her life had taken "many twists and turns" since "my college graduation," The Dallas Morning News reported in Friday's editions.

Aug. 14, 1992

Ms. Guerrero told Texas A&M University graduates at their commencement: "Now I remember well my own commencement, and I think I can guess what you're feeling about right now.

(She told the Houston Post on Wednesday she was referring to her 1976 graduation from Mission High School.)

Thursday, Sept. 10

Questioned first by Dallas Morning News reporter Christy Hoppe, Ms. Guerrero said she was a UT graduate and received a diploma.

Friday, Sept. 11

Ms. Guerrero acknowledged she wasn't a graduate, saying she had believed for 12 years that she did get a degree until checking with the school.

"I was devastated to learn that I have not received a degree ... It was my understanding that I was included in the graduating class in the spring of 1980 ... I was enrolled in 116 semester hours and my degree plan at the time called for 120 hours."

Monday, Sept. 14

Ms. Guerrero declined to release her grade transcripts. She told a TV debate with Republican opponent Barry Williamson:

"I think if I did that, we play right into Barry's strategy and we talk about what classes I took and who I took them from and what I made in them."

Tuesday, Sept. 15

The head of the UT Ex-Students Association, which honored her as an outstanding alumnus, said Ms. Guerrero was warned in 1991 of doubts about her degree status. She recalled:

"I told them to look under Maria E. or Maria Elena (her full name). And two days later, I show up at the event. At the event, they handed out the program and it said, 'BJ, 1980.' So Leo (her husband) and I look at each other and said, 'Hmm, they must have found it.'"

Dear Abby

Son Finds His Lost Father But He's Still Out of Reach

By Abigail Van Buren

1992 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My parents were divorced almost 45 years ago. The last time I saw my father, I was 4 years old.

Now that I am approaching the mid-century mark, I've become more and more curious about my father. After years of trying to track him down, I was finally able to reach his sister. She said my father had remarried after he and my mother were divorced, and he now has three sons by his second wife.

I was thrilled! Growing up as an only child, I had always wondered what it would be like to have brothers or sisters. So far, so good. Now the problem:

My newly found aunt said she had spoken to my father's wife, and she decided that it would not be in anybody's best interest for me to reunite with my father. She said that his other sons were never told of my existence, and it would be opening a can of worms if they found out their father had kept this from them all these years.

They say he is nearly 80 now, has a heart condition, and fear that seeing me again might cause a heart attack.

I would still like to contact my father. What should I do?

"DOC" IN LONG ISLAND

DEAR "DOC": Have an intermediary (perhaps a lawyer) contact your father, explain the situation, and offer him an opportunity to see you. Your father's wife has no right to deprive your father and his other sons of the opportunity of seeing you. The choice should be theirs.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been happily married for six years. We have two beautiful, healthy children: a daughter who is 3 years old and a son who is 6 months old.

I have always wanted a big family. I love kids. I come from a family with only two children, and my husband is one of three. He insists that our family is perfect the way it is, and we shouldn't press our luck.

Abby, I would like to have at least four children. I am strong and healthy and we can afford it. My husband says our family is complete!

This disagreement is putting a strain on our marriage. Have you any advice?

BORN TO BREED IN KANSAS

DEAR BORN TO BREED: You need not make a decision today, tomorrow — or even next year. Your youngest is still in diapers; when he's 3 years old and his sister is 5 1/2, review the bidding.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: For your information, a funeral procession has the right of way over all other vehicles — except emergency vehicles (ambulance, fire and police) — whether escorted or unescorted. As long as you have your headlights on to show that you are a member of a funeral party, you may ignore all stop signs and traffic signals.

Check with your local undertaker or law enforcement agency if you are in doubt.

ROBERT E. RIDDLE, WINFIELD, KAN.

DEAR ROBERT: The laws vary from state to state. (The local police and morticians will have up-to-date information.) But regardless of the law, most drivers — out of respect and consideration for the funeral party — will allow them the right of way.

Lockes will sing here

The Lockes will be in concert at 7 p.m. Sunday at Colonial Hill Baptist Church. There is no admission charge and the public is invited.

The Lockes are a gospel singing group whose musical roots can be traced back to the shaped-note singing schools of Stamps-Baxter and the Stamps Quartet.

The Lockes began singing as a family group in Tennessee in 1977. The original group included Tracy Locke, who played piano, and vocalist Christine Locke. The group now includes Al, Denise Locke and Carolyn and Barry Haxel.

The Lockes, in their bus, have traveled and performed in churches and festivals all over the southern U.S. They tour with their own sound technicians, instruments and equipment.

Their latest Nashville recording, "Brand New Road," was produced by Ben Speer, using well-known Christian country studio players. The title cut was written by Denise.

Your Birthday

Sept. 18, 1992

Your possibilities for achieving greater recognition in your field of endeavor look very hopeful for the year ahead. However, in order to fulfill your ambitions, there may be a price to pay.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Tasks you've been postponing because you felt they were too tough or distasteful can be managed with relative ease today — if you have the fortitude to take them on. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences governing you in the year ahead. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Let the one you love know how much he or she is appreciated today, not by what you say, but by what you do. Deeds speak volumes that words cannot convey.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If things haven't been running quite the way you wanted them to in your household recently, positive changes can be made today. However, they must be done with everyone's best interest at heart.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Team efforts are likely to be much more successful today than those you attempt independently, especially when you and your mate are striving for a mutual objective.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be alert for an opportunity today that could produce a sustained earning rate over a long period of time. It's likely to occur within your field of expertise.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Take serious matters seriously today and treat light matters as events which should be enjoyed. Be extremely careful you don't do the opposite.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) There's a possibility you might be required to make a small sacrifice today on behalf of someone for whom you're responsible. Do it with a smile, not a feeling that you're being imposed upon.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you require a special favor, an old friend who has always come through when needed is the one to go to today. Just be frank about your needs.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A meaningful objective might not be too easily achieved today. However, if it is worth working for, be prepared to expend the effort. Motivation is the key.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your probabilities for success are very good today because of your ability to appraise matters realistically. Sound judgment will help you weave your way around obstacles.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Instead of letting negative conditions dominate you today, make a concerted effort to induce positive change. If you work your will, the unworkable will work.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A little extra patience and tolerance might be required today when dealing with a sensitive friend. Do what you can to help bolster this individual's ego.

Suspects arrested

HOUSTON (AP) — More than two dozen suspected members of a violent prison-based gang with a 20-year history of murder and drug trafficking were arrested Thursday morning in eastern Harris County.

The 29 are believed to be tied to the Sindicato Tejano — the Texas Syndicate — a paramilitary style gang.

Agents with the bureau and four other law enforcement agencies swept through sections of east Houston and Harris County armed with 31 warrants for members of the gang and their associates, The Houston Post reported in Friday editions. The arrests, which included 26 of those listed on warrants and three others who were found during the sweep, culminated an 18-month investigation.

The Syndicate began as a prison gang but has spread to cities throughout the United States, because once inmates are inducted, they're in for life.

Those rounded up Thursday were wanted for firearms violations, narcotics trafficking or state parole violations.

Many still refuse to leave their homes despite condemnation

GOULDS, Fla. (AP) — Sweat dripping from his nose, Ignacio Sanchez tapes notices to the walls of hurricane-devastated buildings: "This property is hereby declared to be unfit for human habitation."

But residents in the southern suburbs of Miami, where Hurricane Andrew unleashed most of its fury and where many such signs are posted, don't scare easily. Many won't budge.

Those still left with something of a home fear the idea of living in an encampment. Others simply cannot unclench the fist that clings to what remains of their shattered lives.

"I don't want to go to a tent city," said Earl Wilson, 72, who watched the sun go down from a kitchen chair in front of what's left of his two-bedroom bungalow. "I ain't going there. I've been 43 years in this house. They can put me in jail if they want."

The American Red Cross estimates 137,526 homes were damaged by Hurricane Andrew, 58 percent of them destroyed or sustaining major damage.

Leonard Fassler, Dade County Building and Zoning Department supervisor, said his workers have inspected more than 30,000 buildings so far. About 1,000 have been deemed unsalvageable.

Nonetheless, the county is hesitant about bringing in bulldozers. Instead, Fassler said, residents are being warned of unsafe conditions and urged to leave.

"If they have a room that is dry and habitable, we're not making a case of it," he said.

In some cases, the red-lettered notices that Sanchez and other county building inspectors put up mean a house can still be a home after repairs. In others, there is no reprieve; the house must come down.

Each storm victim has a story, and Sanchez, with a mountain of work awaiting him, patiently listens as each pours out his struggle with Andrew.

Wilson lives alone and suffers from emphysema. A long oxygen tube begins at his nose and snakes from the front steps back into the house, darkened by lack of electricity.

Coumadin is best bet for blood clots

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've suffered from thrombophlebitis since 1968. What causes my condition and is there a cure? I've been on and off Coumadin and have sometimes required monthly blood tests.

DEAR READER: For reasons that are unclear, some people have a tendency to form blood clots within the veins of the legs. Called thrombophlebitis, this condition causes swelling and pain, which can become very serious if pieces of a clot break off and are carried to a lung. Known as pulmonary embolism, this event will cause chest pain, difficulty breathing and — in some instances — death.

Therefore, many physicians recommend that such patients take a prescription anti-coagulant drug, such as Coumadin, for months or years. I have several patients in my practice who have taken Coumadin for more than 20 years for this condition. Like you, when they stopped the drug, the thrombophlebitis re-occurred.

There are, of course, risks with this therapy: Abnormal bleeding may appear. Nonetheless, by monitoring the effects of the drug (with periodic blood tests) and by carefully adjusting the doses of Coumadin, I have had no problems with this therapy. And, given the seriousness of the alternatives, my patients have been well-satisfied.

Rather than going "on and off" Coumadin, you might be better served by sticking with the medicine. Ask your doctor about this.

As an alternative, you might consider having an operation to place a filter in your vena cava, the major abdominal vein. This treatment does not affect the thrombophlebitis but does prevent clots from reaching the lungs. However, in my experience, patients opt for Coumadin over surgery.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm an elderly female with one kidney. Over the past year I've had blood in my urine constantly. My urologist indicates there is no cause for alarm. Please discuss my condition.

DEAR READER: Blood in the urine (hematuria) is never normal. Although the cause is not always serious, your doctor should, in my opinion, make a serious attempt to discover the source of your bleeding, especially because you have only one kidney.

Hematuria can arise from any portion of the urinary tract: kidneys, bladder and so forth. Therefore, the testing may involve blood tests (to assess kidney function), ultrasound examination (to identify kidney stones), an IVP (special X-ray of the urinary tract), and cystoscopy (when a specialist examines the lower tract with a lighted tube).

Your urologist has probably performed the needed tests but may not have taken the time to explain the problem to you. Return to him for a thorough discussion. If testing has not been carried out, ask for a referral to another urologist or to the urology clinic in a teaching hospital.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Reports "Kidney Disorders" and "Bladder & Urinary Tract Infections." Other readers who would like copies should send $1.25 for each report plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title(s).

House: no ethics probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today refused to demand an ethics investigation of Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez for revealing classified information on the Bush administration's pre-war dealings with Iraq.

By a 216-150 vote on straight party lines, the House tabled a resolution by Rep. Larry Combest, R-Lubbock, to request an ethics committee investigation of Gonzalez, who is chairman of the House Banking Committee.

"This has gone on long enough," said Combest, who is a member of the House Select Intelligence Committee. "The administration has made every effort they could to accommodate the concerns and demands of the (Banking) Committee."

Gonzalez, a Democrat from San Antonio, has frequently disclosed on the House floor information on U.S. dealings with Iraq before the Persian Gulf War. He has maintained that much of what he has talked about is taken from public sources, although he concedes some documents inserted in the Congressional Record are classified.

"While the chairman has put classified documents in the record we feel it's a member's privilege under the speech and debate clause of the Constitution and any member can make any statement on the floor without violating any law," a Gonzalez spokeswoman said today, speaking on condition of anonymity.

"The administration is saying we violated executive orders, but executive orders only apply to the executive branch," she said.

For several months, Gonzalez was literally the only voice in Congress seeking to probe the administration's pre-war relationship with Iraq.

He contends the Reagan and Bush administrations tolerated Iraq's efforts to build nuclear and chemical weapons and propped up the Iraqi economy with U.S.-taxpayer-subsidized loans.

Administration officials have admitted their pre-war policy toward Iraq was a failure, but they have denied any wrongdoing.

In a statement released Thursday night, Gonzalez blasted Republican leaders for trying to sandbag his probe.

"They tried to stop the Iraq investigation before it started. When that didn't work, they tried to hide the evidence. Then they tried to intimidate me. And now, most desperate of all they are trying to make telling the truth an ethical crime," Gonzalez said.

"The Republicans are desperate to hide the truth about how George Bush supported Saddam Hussein right up to the beginning of the Gulf War. Telling the truth is no crime."

Weather Service: Andrew third most intense storm

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Andrew was the third most intense storm to hit the United States this century, behind Camille in 1969 and the 1935 Labor Day hurricane that killed 600 people, the National Hurricane Center said.

The center, in its first official report on the disaster, said Thursday that Andrew's top sustained winds were 145 mph and gusts reached 175 mph. It found no evidence of tornadoes.

Andrew, therefore, remains a Category 4 hurricane in the official books, 10 mph below the Category 5 status shared by the worst storms. Sustained winds of Category 5 storms begin at 155 mph.

Andrew washed over the Bahamian island of Eleuthera with a "phenomenal" 23-foot storm surge, then sped up, reintensified, and struck Florida with a surge of 16.9 feet, a record for the state, according to the report.

The highest waters narrowly missed heavily populated areas to the north and south, instead destroying a rare stretch of 20-foot-high mangrove trees that stopped the surge from reaching more than a mile or so inland.

"I have looked at damage from every major hurricane since 1965," said hurricane center director Bob Sheets. "I've never seen anything like this in terms of the magnitude of destruction. ... It was like a 25-to-30-mile-wide tornado."

The barometric pressure inside Andrew's eye dropped to an ear-popping 926 millibars near Homestead, where Andrew came ashore Aug. 24. In this century, only Camille, which hit the Mississippi coast and killed 256 people, and the Labor Day hurricane, which struck the Florida Keys, had lower barometric pressures at landfall, the report said.

Sheets said there was no proof that wind gusts had reached the 200 mph mark, as some claimed after the storm.

"The instruments all failed long before the hurricane's eye hit the area," Sheets said. "It may have occurred, but we just have no solid evidence that it did occur."

Can you spot the textbook play?

By Phillip Alder

There are many plays described in the textbooks of bridge. There are also deals in which the textbook play is wrong, for one reason or another. Sometimes the problem is deciding which category a particular deal fits into. At other times it is recognizing the textbook play in an unusual guise.

South's overcall of one no-trump showed 16-18 points. North's raise to game was aggressive, but he added a point for his five-card suit.

West led the spade seven: two, jack, six. East continued with the spade king, South winning with the ace. Now declarer led the club queen from his hand. If West won with the king, he couldn't lead another spade, so he ducked the trick to his partner's ace. East continued with the queen and another spade, establishing his nine, but he had no re-entry. Declarer conceded a club to West's king and had nine tricks: two spades, three hearts, one diamond and three clubs. The diamond finesse wasn't needed.

The defenders shrugged their shoulders, complimenting South on his duck at trick one. South thanked them, but he knew better. He had noticed that if East had played the spade nine (or four) at trick one, the contract would have been defeated. South wins with the spade 10 and leads a club, but West flies in with the king and returns his second spade. East's suit is established while he still holds the club ace as an entry.

In a no-trump contract, when declarer has two stoppers in the suit you are trying to establish, make him use one of them as quickly as possible.

Super collider funds ok'd by U.S. House

WASHINGTON (AP) — What a difference three months makes.

Supporters of the $8.25 billion super collider were disconsolate last June when the House, in a budget-cutting frenzy, voted to kill the giant atom smasher.

Thursday night, the same House approved $517 million for the super collider as part of a $22 billion energy and water development conference report.

Approval came on a 245-143 vote after collider opponents mounted a halfhearted bid to reject the entire conference report because it contained the collider funding.

Passage of the package was all but assured because the bill is studded with dozens of water projects for individual congressional districts around the country.

"When are we going to start making the hard choices?" asked Rep. Dan Burton, D-Ind., urging his colleagues to vote down the package and the collider funding.

But Rep. Joe Barton, whose district spans the collider, urged his colleagues to approve the conferees' report.

The super collider is the "modern-day equivalent of turning swords into plowshares," said Barton, R-Ennis.

The super collider's unusually bumpy path through Congress this year is almost finished. Only Senate approval of the conference report containing the collider money remains.

The battle was essentially won when the House and Senate conferees agreed earlier this week to the $517 million. They reached that number by splitting the difference between the Senate's $550 million figure and the $483.7 million earmarked by the House Appropriations Committee prior to the House's stunning vote to kill the collider.

The $517 million for the fiscal year starting Oct. 1 is $133 million less than what President Bush had requested.

Barton and Sulphur Springs Democrat Jim Chapman, a member of the House Appropriations Committee, said earlier this week that the $517 million level of funding would swell the collider's eventual price tag.

To date, almost $1 billion in federal money and $227 million in Texas funds have been spent on the super collider, which is due to be completed in 1999.

The collider fared better on Capitol Hill Thursday than did several other projects with Texas ties.

Earlier in the day, the Senate Appropriations Committee approved a $250 billion defense package that contains no funding for the V-22 Osprey, the F-16 fighter jet and an Austin-based semiconductor consortium.

"We have our work cut out for us repairing Texas defense programs cut by the Appropriations Committee, but I'm hopeful," said Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas.

The Senate committee's actions are at odds with the House, which has approved $755 million for the V-22, $679 million for the F-16 and $100 million for Sematech next year.

Cards host Klondike in homecoming game

The Hermleigh Cardinals will try to make it two wins in a row Friday when they host homecoming foe Klondike in a 7:30 p.m. non-district six-man football game.

The Cardinals used three Joey Sanchez touchdowns to trip Southland last week, 28-17, to even their 1992 record at 1-1.

Also on this week's area calendar, Borden County, winner of their first two games, will go for a third straight Friday in their matchup at Wellman, and Ira, still looking for its first win of the year, will battle Rule on the Bobcats' home turf.

In other games featuring District 6 teams, winless Highland is at Paint Rock, Loraine, a surprise winner over District 5 power Sands last week, visits Southland, and Trent is at Guthrie.

Klondike (1-1) at Hermleigh (1-1)

The Cardinals gave coach Mark Minor his first win at HHS last week when Sanchez scooted four and 50 yards on scoring runs, and added a TD pass reception.

Hermleigh's defense tightened after trailing 15-14 at the half, and shut out the Southland offense in the last two quarters of last Friday's win.

Klondike is coming off a 38-16 loss against New Home last week. The Cougars' win was a 42-6 blistering of Highland in the season opener two weeks ago.

Borden County at Wellman

Borden County (2-0) at Wellman (2-0)

Both teams are coming off big wins a week ago, the Coyotes posting a 45-13 win over Grady, and Wellman hammering expected playoff contender Meadow, 42-14.

Borden County's top threat was senior running back Clint Wills, who rushed for six touchdowns and caught another.

The Coyote defense will have to be aware of the Wellman rushing attack which gained 253 yards against Randy Roemisch's Meadow club last week.

Senior tailback Francisco Franco led the Wildcats, scoring on runs of 15 and two yards.

Ira (0-2) at Rule (0-2)

Barring a tie, one of these two teams will notch its first win of the season this week.

Rule is coming off a pair of big losses, a 56-8 defeat by Chillicothe last week and a 55-14 debacle at Woodson in the season opener.

Ira fell to Aspermont, 58-21, in the Bulldogs' debut, then was thumped by defending state Texas Association of Private an Parochial Schools champion, Midland Christian Academy, 41-19, last week.

In spite of the loss, Ira's Bryan Luna, a running back-linebacker turned in a sterling performance, scoring a touchdown on a one-yard blast, and trapping MCA ball carriers for two safeties.

Back to basics for SHS...

Tigers on the road for Wylie

By PHIL RIDDLE
SDN Sports Editor

Snyder coach David Baugh has been drilling the Tigers on the basics in preparation for their meeting with the Abilene Wylie Bulldogs tonight.

A combination of injuries and six-week exams forced Baugh to cut back on offensive and defensive schemes this week.

"We've been in six-weeks tests," said Baugh, "and we've had shorter preparation time then we usually do. We've had to get off the field sooner so we've cut down some on our offense and defense.

"I imagine we'll look pretty plain vanilla."

The Tigers, hoping to bounce back from an 18-0 loss to Monahans a week ago, will see new starters at defensive end and strong safety against the Bulldogs.

Jim Pat Griffin will draw the start at safety, replacing Jason McAden, who suffered a dislocated kneecap making a tackle agaist the Loboes last Friday.

McAden, also a starter at wide receiver, will be out a minimum of three to four weeks.

Griffin will also share the quarterbacking duties with junior starter Matt Cave this week.

Jeff Armstrong will get the nod at Snyder's bandit end, in place of usual starter Ben Wilson. Baugh hopes to keep Wilson, the Tigers' No. 1 tailback, fresher for his offensive duties.

Bradley Williams, Brian Lickey and Jimmy Henry will get their second straight starting nods due to injuries.

Williams replaces guard Brad Hart, who sprained an ankle at practice before the Monahans game and aggravated the injury aganst the Loboes, Friday. Hart, who will suit up and is expected to play, will be spelled at anchor defensive end by Brian Lickey.

Lickey is the Tigers' starting center. He is also among the walking wounded, nursing a wrist sprain from practice last week.

Offensive lineman Ricky Sollis suffered a head injury against Sweetwater in the season opener and was reinjured at practice this week. He is not expected to play.

"Well we've got a week's experience for these guys filling in because of injuries," Baugh said. "We're still not back to normal, and it'll be a while before we are."

In spite of the injuries, Baugh expects the Snyder-Wylie matchup to be pretty even.

"I think it'll be a real good football game," he said. "Our two teams are pretty close in ability. I think they may have the advantage in speed, but I think maybe we'll be a little more used to tougher competition."

The Bulldogs feature an offense that Baugh says jumps formations at the line of scrimmage.

"They'll line up in one thing," he said, "then jump to another. they try to get you misaligned, then take advantage of your alignment.

"It's not anything new to us. Monahans does that quite a bit, too. They get in a few more sets than Monahans, though.

"They're a multiple-set offense," Baugh reported. "They can jump to trips (three wide receivers on one side of the line), or to doubles (two receivers on each side of the formation). They can get in a lot of different formations."

The featured back in the Wylie offense is senior tailback Kyle Taylor. Taylor rushed for 119 yards on 14 carries last week in the 'Dogs' 35-17 victory over 2A's No. 4 Hamlin Pied Pipers.

Pulling the trigger on the WHS offense, is left-handed quarterback Brent Green, a 6-0, 160-pound senior who threw for 150 yards last week.

"They've got a good throwing quarterback," Baugh said. "He's probably the best pure passer we've seen, as far as dropping back and throwing the ball. He's also good on sprints."

Taylor is joined in the backfield by fullback Justin Smith, who is also a starting linebacker on the other side of the ball for Wylie.

"Their defense is real aggressive," Baugh stated. "They are coming to get you. They slant a lot with their front five."

Included in the defensive line is standout Casey Parr, a 5-10, 210-pound senior tackle.

"I imiagine they'll stick to whatever they've been doing," said Baugh of Wylie's expected game plan. "They have our Sweetwater film, and if they feel like they can't run against us, it wouldn't surprise me at all to see them throw 30 times. Especially since they know we have a safety hurt."

Baugh says the team has gotten past the emotion of the Sweetwater win and the letdown suffered against Monahans.

"Those games are gone," he said. "We can't dwell too long on any one win or any one loss.

"We didn't play particularly good (against Monahans), but we didn't play that bad either. We just had a few breakdowns.

"I think we'll be ready to play."

Seventh graders claim 24-8 win over Bulldogs

ABILENE — A total of seven Snyder running backs gained 171 yards Thursday in the Tigers' 16-6 seventh grade victory over Abilene Wylie.

Quarterback Chris Riggins led Snyder's 16-point fourth quarter surge with a 12-yard touchdown run. Kyle Beck's 2-point conversion made it 8-6.

James Wesley added an insurance score for the Tigers from six yards out on a beautifully executed trap play. D.J. Garcia scored the two-pointer to wrap up the scoring.

"It was an otstanding effort by everyone on offense," said seventh grade coach Scott Lambert. "The line was opening big holes and the running backs knew right where to go.

"Anytime you use seven running backs and win, yo know everyone is contributing."

Garcia led the SJHS attack, picking up 50 yards on six carries. Beck, who also made a key interception to kill a fourth-quarter Wylie drive, gained 44 yards on seven tries, Casey Doyle made 25 yards on four attempts, James Burks had 20 yards on five carries, Riggins' 14 yards came on two runs, Roman Alvarado managed nine yards on two trips and Wesley picked up nine in four tries.

Snyder seventh grade B was idle Thursday night.

Snyder A, now 2-0, will host Big Spring Thursday, Sept. 24. The B game will begin at 5 p.m. The A contest kicks off at 6 p.m.

Cougars unveil second run-and-shoot Klingler

by The Associated Press

Just as Houston Cougars opponents said goodbye to the run-and-shoot madness of David Klingler, they were saying hello to his younger brother Jimmy, who had a season-opening 327-yard passing performance.

With a strong second-half in the Cougars' 28-25 loss to Tulsa two weeks ago, Klingler emerged ahead of teammate Donald Douglas.

But Klingler and Douglas will continue alternating for Saturday's 11 a.m. kickoff against Illinois at the Astrodome.

In other games Saturday, No. 5 Texas A&M plays at Missouri, Texas Tech plays at Oregon, Rice plays at Duke, Southern Methodist plays at New Mexico and Baylor plays host to Utah State. Texas and Texas Christian are off this week.

R.C. Slocum's Texas Aggies are 16-point favorites over the Missouri Tigers, coached by Slocum's good friend Bob Stull. Texas Tech and Oregon are rated a tossup, Rice has a one-point edge over Duke and New Mexico is a five-point favorite over SMU.

Jimmy Klingler attended Houston games when David was a reserve sophomore and watched David Dacus and Andre Ware playing a dual-quarterback role. He never expected to be in the same situation.

"I'd have probably said 'no way,'" Klingler said. "When you're young, you don't think of those things."

Houston coach John Jenkins will also alternate super backs TiAndre Sanders and redshirt freshman Lawrence McPherson.

"Hopefully, we'll divide it up better than the first game," Jenkins said.

Snyder 8th A notches win

ABILENE — Offensive tackles Cameron Petite and Chris Post, guard Eric Tovar and center Heath Porter were cited by Snyder eighth grade coaches for their outstanding efforts during the A team's 24-8 victory over Abilene Wylie Thursday.

Running back Richard Canas scored a touchdown and a two-point conversion and backfield mate L.S. McClain picked up two scores, including a 26-yard TD dash, to earn MVP honors.

Split end Kevin Lacik added a two-point conversion on a pass reception.

The eighth grade A team is now 1-1 on the season. They will visit Big Spring Thursday, Sept. 24. B team action starts at 5 p.m. followed at 6 p.m. by the A game.

NFL owners nip expansion

GRAPEVINE, Texas (AP) — Expansion was postponed and the World League suspended by NFL owners meeting to discuss the fallout from last week's antitrust verdict in Minneapolis.

They postponed a decision on choosing two new expansion cities, scheduled for a meeting in Chicago on Oct. 20, and canceled next spring's World League season. Commissioner Paul Tagliabue said if the World League is revived, it would be oriented more to Europe, where it was more popular than in the United States.

Snyder faces FHS in 2-4A net debut

Two-time defending District 2-4A team tennis champions, the Snyder Tigers, carry a 4-1 non-district record into Saturday's loop opener against Frenship.

The Tigers, behind dominating play from their boys' team, have posted victories over Pecos, Monahans, San Angelo Lake View and Sweetwater after losing to District 3-4A favorite Big Spring in their opener.

First-year net coach Teri Hoerster's squad opened the year Aug. 22 with a 26-3 loss to Big Spring.

Even the one-sided loss did not keep Hoerster from feeling optimistic about the Tigers' chances for a third straight loop crown.

"I felt like the team did a great job for not having much practice time," she said at the time. "Big Spring is a tough team, and with some confidence and mental toughness we can pull together as a team.

"We have a great year ahead of us," she said, "and we will win district again."

The Snyder netters did pull together and the next week posted a 14-10 win over Pecos, including a sweep in boys' doubles and singles, and a win over Monahans that was given to SHS on the number of games won.

Snyder tied Monahans, 12-12 in matches and was even at 27 sets won. However, Snyder captured 249 games to just 238 for MHS.

The Tigers' unbeaten string reached four matches Sept. 5 when they knocked off Sweetwater, 15-6, and San Angelo Lake View 17-4.

Snyder has been undefeated in district team tennis matches since joining District 2-4A in 1990, winning berths at the regional tourney each of the last two seasons.

Senior Jason Warren is expected to play the No. 1 boys' singles slot for Snyder in its loop opener Saturday.

Warren defeated Sweetwater's Chris Boyd, 6-1, 6-2, and outlasted David Smith of Lake View, 7-5, 6-7, 6-4, in his last weekend of work.

Top girls' singles seed for SHS is expected to be Leslie Sandoval, who ripped Sweetwater's Tara Wilkerson, 6-2, 6-1, and lost to defending 3-4A champ Martha Carrillo, 6-2, 6-4, two weeks ago.

Top doubles teams for Snyder feature Sam Cain and Chris Gayle, 1-1 on the preseason, on the boys' side, and girls' entry, Sandoval and Christina Gonzales, who have posted a 3-2 mark in non-district play.

Ineligible players...

Filipinos give up LL crown

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — For the first time in Little League's 53 years, scandal has turned its World Series winners into losers.

Little League officials on Thursday declared eight Philippine players ineligible and ordered a forfeit of their team's 15-4 victory over Long Beach, Calif., last month.

Long Beach will be given the title and credited with a 6-0 victory, but in this boyhood version of "Eight Men Out," the championship had a hollow feeling.

The Long Beach team got together Thursday night for a quiet celebration at a park.

"I think this is a real big thing. But it would have been better if we had won it on the field," said pitcher Randall Shelley, 12.

"I'd like to have another game with them," first baseman Ryan Stuart said.

"It's a little consolation," catcher Jeff Warshauer said.

Coach Jeff Burroughs said this may make Little League administrators and team officials in other countries take note.

"I think it's a huge story, I think people have always had questions about what other teams have done," Burroughs said. "I'm not saying the USA's got the best of everything, but when our teams get annihilated, it makes you wonder."

The book and motion picture "Eight Men Out" told the story of eight Chicago White Sox players who allegedly conspired to throw the 1919 major league World Series. The Philippine team was accused of using eight ringers to win.

A Philippine newspaper this week quoted a Zamboanga, Philippines, coach as saying only six of his players were eligible. Eight players from outside the city of Zamboanga were added, in violation of Little League's geographic limits.

The players' ages, which had also been questioned, were not cited.

Taiwan has long dominated Little League baseball and the Philippines' victory over it in the Far East tournament was considered quite an upset.

Little League's tournament committee met Thursday to discuss the problem. Long Beach was notified of the decision Thursday night.

"It is a hollow victory that we didn't win it on the field in a way, but its very good because it showed they couldn't do what they did and get away with it," said Ron Nelson, assistant director of California's Little League District 38.

Two of the suspect players, Roberto Placious and Ian Tolentino, pitched the Philippines to the title, winning the international championship and world championship, respectively. Placious was perfect through five innings against the Dominican Republic and Tolentino, despite giving up a grand slam to Stuart, was the winner against Long Beach and also added a two-run homer.

There was no comment from Little League officials in the Philippines. The Associated Press tried to contact district administrator Amando Andaya but was told he was out of town on business.

The office of President Fidel Ramos said it would await a statement from the Philippine Little League before commenting. Ramos received the players at the presidential palace when they returned from the United States and gave them a one million peso ($40,000) prize to finance their educations.

There was no word on whether the prize would be taken back.

Andrews to host SHS in non-district match

The Snyder Lady Tigers travel to Andrews with a rejuvenating win and thoughts of revenge on their minds entering Saturday's non-district volleyball match against the Lady Mustangs.

The SHS crew rapped Sweetwater, 15-8, 15-5, Tuesday, after losing to Pecos, a team they'd beaten earlier in the season, and San Angelo Central a week ago.

"We needed to get back on track," said Snyder coach Patty Grimmett following the Sweetwater win.

"We played, probably, one of our better matches. Our offense was good, the girls played good defense. Our transition game looked great."

Snyder was led in the victory by Lynette Sears and Joellen King, who each served seven points each.

"I've been working with some different lineups," Grimmett reported. "(Against Sweetwater) I had Joellen King and Melanie Duncan at middle blockers and they did a good job."

Snyder and Andrews met in the Denver City Tournament earlier in the spike season, with the Lady Mustangs coming out on top, 15-13, 9-15, 2-15.

"Andrews is tough," Grimmett said. "They are very consistent. That's something we've been trying to do is work on our consistency."

Action starts at noon in Andrews with the freshmen B match. The freshmen A teams meet at 1 p.m. followed by the JV contest and the varsity battle.

Junior high v'ballers claim Thursday wins

SWEETWATER — Snyder's junior high volleyball teams came in Thursday and took three of four from host Sweetwater.

Snyder eighth grade B won 15-7, 15-6, behind MVP Kerry Nachlinger's eight service points, Snyder claimed the seventh grade A win, 10-15, 15-12, 15-2, paced by seven points each from Cece Valdez and Amanda Sims, and Snyder's seventh grade B squad used Misty Curry's eight points to cruise to a 15-2, 15-3 decision.

Snyder's eighth grade A team fell to Sweetwater, 11-15, 12-15, in spite of 5-point efforts by Joanie Wemken, Shawna Purcell and Sam Trevino.

Devon Reed added three, Tiffany Garza put in two and Darla Blackwell, Kerri Kemp and Leisha Leatherwood had one each.

Trailing Nachlinger in the eighth grade B win were Angie Rodriguez with five, four each from Shelly York and Shauna Huddleston, three apiece by Elyse Merritt and Bianca Sims, and one each from Mary Beth Dillaha, Tyra Brooks and Brandi Cortez.

Haley Brown added five for Snyder to Sims' and Valdez' seven each in the seventh grade A battle. Jennifer Seabourn, Monica Blume and Brooke French slapped four each, Halea Huestis rapped three, Lila King and Amanda Huff nailed two apiece and Erin Maytubby and Crystal Lee each had one.

Curry, the SJHS seventh grade B MVP, was followed by Kristy Bollinger with four, Latecia Anderson's three, and two apiece from co-MVP Priscilla Tavarez, Mandy Heaton, Misty Davidson, Kasey Cole and Dee Dee Lindsey.

Snyder hosts Sweetwater in spike action Thursday, Sept. 24. Seventh grade matches, beginning at 5 p.m., will be played at Travis Gym. Eighth grade matches, also starting at 5 p.m., are scheduled for Snyder Junior High.

WTC riders place five at NM rodeo

PORTALES, N.M. — Five Western Texas College cowboys and cowgirls placed in the top three of five events in Thursday's opening performance of the Eastern New Mexico University NIRA Rodeo.

"I really don't know how all the times and scores will hold up during the rest of the week," said WTC coach Bob Doty, "but we sure got off to a good start."

Verhalen bareback rider Chris Stanford, bull rider Trey Griffin of Alamogordo, N.M., breakaway roper Shauna Davidson from Lubbock, and Dusti Beaton, an Okotohes, Alberta, Canada goat tyer, all finished Thursday's opening round in first place.

Stanford's 70 points topped the bareback riding, while bullriders were paced by Griffin's 73. Canadian's Dwayne Evans took a third place 67 for WTC in Thursday's bull riding, as well.

Davidson scrambled to a speedy 5.2-second time to lead breakaway ropers. She rests in third place in the barrel race, too, posting an 18.4.

Beaton's 9.9 was tops in goat tying Thursday.

The rodeo is to continue with 8 p.m. shows today and Saturday, followed by Saturday's finals, featuring the top 10 qualifiers in each event.

UIL working on HIV policy

HOUSTON (AP) — High school athletes could be subject to a new University Interscholastic League policy designed to curb the risk of transmitting the HIV virus and other infections during athletic competitions, according to a published report.

The Houston Post reported Thursday that the UIL is developing a policy dealing with athletic injuries involving blood or bodily fluids.

UIL Athletic Director Bill Farney said the UIL, which governs Texas high school athletics, probably will follow other states in providing a precautionary approach to infectious diseases. That policy could be completed in the next month, he said.

"I think it's safe to say you'll see recommendations involving treatment of bleeding injuries in athletics," Farney told The Post. "But whether players will be forced to leave a contest, I don't know."

He said the UIL's policy committee discussed last June the inclusion of an infectious disease statement in team manuals. He believes the topic will be discussed in the Oct. 18-20 Legislative Council meeting.

Texas is among 25 states without an infectious disease policy for its high school athletic programs. The NBA, NFL and NCAA all advocate treatment policies with universal precautions.

"Maybe we're behind, maybe we're not," Farney said. "I don't know if there's been an HIV diagnosis through athletics, but we are certainly concerned about it."

The Human Immunodeficiency Virus, which can cause acquired immune deficiency, is considered to be mostly transmitted through exchanges of blood or some other bodily fluids.

Florida and Idaho already have enacted policies for the 1992-93 school year designed to minimize the risk of HIV transmission through athletic injuries.

Florida's policy includes guidelines for coaches and trainers to use when treating injuries. Among the recommendations are stopping play and removing an athlete if there is an open wound or bleeding, cleaning the playing surface of blood spills, and having bloodstained athletes clean themselves with disinfectant and disposable towels.

Most medical experts believe the chance of contracting HIV through an athletic injury is remote. There have been no known cases of HIV transmission through athletic injuries.

The Florida plan includes wearing rubber gloves, treating bloodstained surfaces and clothing with a bleach-to-water solution, and immediately disposing of bloodstained articles.

"In football, we're telling officials to use good judgment on things like running blood, nose bleeds and cuts," said Jack Watford, public relations director for the Florida High School Activities Association and policy coauthor. "It's not for scrapes where small drops coagulate quickly."

Most urban school districts in Texas employ trainers who are state-licensed and continually updated on HIV information. But many rural schools cannot afford such help.

"In smaller school districts, the coach often has to take care of kids," Langham Creek trainer Tom Woods, vice-president of the Southwest Athletic Trainers Association, said.

"I'm for anything that protects the athletes and people involved. Some sort of guidelines they could hang their hat on would be helpful."

Ex-parole board chairman won't testify

AUSTIN (AP) — Former parole board chairman James Granberry refused to answer questions today from a Senate committee investigating parole practices, including the 1990 release of convicted killer-rapist Kenneth Allen McDuff.

Granberry had been subpoenaed by the Senate Criminal Justice Committee to testify.

Flanked by two attorneys, Granberry cited his constitutional right against self incrimination. He refused to answer 15 questions, most of them from committee chairman Sen. Ted Lyon, D-Rockwall.

One of his attorneys, Herman Gotcher of Austin, said Granberry, a former mayor of Lubbock and Republican gubernatorial nominee, was being made into a scapegoat for McDuff's release and would refuse to assist the committee's probe.

Since his release from prison, McDuff has been charged with killing two Central Texas women. He had earlier been on death row for the 1966 slayings of three Tarrant County teen-agers.

Granberry cast a crucial vote in favor of paroling McDuff, after initially abstaining because of his friendship with Gary Jackson, an attorney who worked for years to win McDuff's release.

The controversy over McDuff's release has spurred investigations of parole polices, including the influence of parole consultants who represent an inmate in the prisoner's effort to win release.

Granberry resigned from the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles under fire in May 1991, after being criticized for voting to parole inmates convicted of violent crimes. He had been appointed to the parole board by former Gov. Bill Clements.

After resigning, Granberry worked as a parole consultant.

Iran says OPEC oil deal won't do enough to help crude prices

GENEVA (AP) — Shortly after OPEC reached a new oil production agreement, Ecuador said it would be the first member to drop out of the cartel and one of its largest producers, Iran, rejected the accord.

Iran reiterated its objections today, and hinted it might significantly increase its oil output.

Despite the discord among the OPEC members, several delegates predicted the agreement would help push prices as much as $2 per barrel higher by holding production steady during the high-demand winter months.

Ecuador, the second-smallest producer among the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, announced late Thursday it would leave the cartel.

Ecuadoran Energy Minister Andres Barreiro Vivas had said earlier Thursday that Ecuador might be forced to leave OPEC because of the annual $2 million membership fee it must pay and the cartel's refusal to raise Ecuador's production quota from the current 320,000 barrels per day.

Barreiro said those conditions were hurting the struggling Ecuadoran economy.

Ecuadoran President Sixto Duran-Ballen, speaking at a news conference in his capital Thursday, said Ecuador would cancel its membership "as soon as contractual circumstances permit," but would remain an associate.

Perot's die-hard backers place him on 50 ballots

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ross Perot's small army of die-hard supporters insist their maybe-again candidate is still a potential powder keg in the presidential race. The latest spark ignites today as volunteers submit his name for the 50th state ballot — Arizona.

But political analysts still dismiss the potency of any Perot factor. They predict his will be a mostly negligible impact regardless of whether the Dallas billionaire gets back in the race.

Up to 18 percent of registered voters in the latest national polls say they would vote for Perot in a three-way race with President Bush and Democrat Bill Clinton.

But far fewer volunteer Perot's name when asked their preference between Bush and Clinton. The polls are unclear on Perot's potential vote, but they indicate he can draw down Bush's support by 5 to 8 percentage points and Clinton's support by 7 to 10 percentage points — margins that could be crucial in a tight race.

Asked about his plans on NBC's "Today" this morning, Perot did not rule out reentering the race but said that as of now "we're still ... trying to get both parties to do the right thing" about the deficit.

Impeachment of judge overturned

WASHINGTON (AP) — In an unprecedented ruling that will "clearly be settled by the Supreme Court," a federal judge overturned the impeachment of former U.S. District Judge Alcee Hastings on grounds the Senate violated his right to a fair trial.

In a stinging rebuke to senators, District Judge Stanley Sporkin ruled Thursday that the full Senate, not a 12-member committee, should have tried Hastings on the same charges that resulted in his acquittal during an earlier criminal trial.

Sporkin called it "inconceivable" that "violent criminals" and "prisoners seeking parole ... have due process rights but that judges, who have been appointed by the president and confirmed by the Senate, do not when they face impeachment."

Noting that the majority of senators "never had any firsthand knowledge of the evidence" against Hastings — and that even the impeachment committee was not convinced he should be convicted in the bribery and conspiracy case — Sporkin concluded:

"Judge Hastings did not get a trial by the full Senate. He is entitled to have one."

Contacted by telephone at his home in Miami, Florida's first black federal trial judge said:

"Well, I'll tell you what my mother says: 'It sure feels good to be unimpeached.' It certainly is a good feeling."

Police work two mishaps

Snyder police worked a couple of traffic accidents Thursday and made one arrest early this morning.

Police transported a 36-year-old man from Municipal Court to the county jail at 11 a.m. Thursday to lay out fines for public intoxication.

At 6:23 a.m. today, officers arrested a 47-year-old man in the 800 block of Old Lubbock Highway for driving with a suspended license.

The first of two accidents worked by police occurred at 12:10 p.m. Thursday in the 3600 block of Avenue E. Involved were a 1989 Chevrolet van driven by Donna Jackson of 3101 42nd St. and a 1987 Ford driven by Vickie Sue Arrendale of 400 28th St.

At 3:36 p.m., police investigated an accident in the 800 block of 13th St. Involved were a 1992 Chevrolet driven by Clarence L. Anderson of 203 34th St. and a 1974 Buick driven by Stella Flores Zuniga of 1611 College Ave.

At 6:45 p.m., police were advised of two shoplifters at the Town & Country convenience store. Three juvenile girls were taken to the police department and later released to their parents. No charges have been filed.

At 6:50 p.m., police were notified that two juveniles had stolen some items from Sandi's Hair Design. Police took one juvenile into custody and later located the other one. The property was recovered and the juveniles were released to family members.

At 12:16 a.m. today, police were called to the Western Texas College dormitory in reference to the theft of some clothing. Suspects were identified but no report was taken. The two male complainants said they will file charges if the property is not returned.

In one other report, Harold Denson of Denson's Used Cars contacted police at 9:22 a.m. Thursday in reference to someone damaging a vehicle on the lot. An offense report for Class A criminal mischief was filed.

On The Issues

The issue: family leave

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Associated Press asks the Bush and Clinton campaigns for their stands on an issue each weekday and assembles their responses.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are the views of the presidential nominees on the question: Should companies be required to give workers unpaid time off for the birth of a child or a family illness?

Bush: "I am for family and medical leave; the real question is how to achieve this goal. I want to provide a flexible solution in the form of a tax credit for small and medium-sized businesses that gives them the incentive and the means to address the specific needs of each of their employees. The Democratic Congress and my opponent believe in a government-dictated requirement that increases cost and loses jobs. My approach would encourage family leave for the smallest companies, where it is often needed most, whereas my opponent's would not."

Clinton: "Yes. Working parents should not have to choose between the families they love and the jobs they need. I would sign the Family and Medical Leave Act, which George Bush vetoed, to allow workers to take unpaid leave to be with a newborn child or sick family member — a right enjoyed by workers of every other major industrial nation."

Facts About The BIBLE

BY JOHN LEHTI

DID JESUS REALLY CURSE THE FIG TREE?

IT IS RECORDED THAT JESUS, ON HIS WAY FROM BETHANY TO JERUSALEM, AND BEING HUNGRY, STOPPED TO PICK FRUIT FROM A FIG TREE (MARK 11:12-14). BUT, ALTHOUGH THE TREE WAS IN LEAF, THERE WERE NO FIGS AND JESUS SAID, HEREAFTER, NO MAN WOULD EVER EAT FRUIT FROM THAT TREE!

SOME AUTHORITIES SAY JESUS, FOLLOWING THE ORIENTAL CUSTOM OF HOLY MEN, PUT A CURSE ON THE TREE, FROM DISAPPOINTMENT AT NOT FINDING FRUIT. OTHER AUTHORITIES STATE THAT, BECAUSE THE TREE WAS IN LEAF AND THEREFORE SHOULD HAVE HAD FIGS, JESUS WAS POINTING OUT THAT, WHEN ONE OUTWARDLY SHOWS A GOOD CHARACTER WITHOUT THE FRUITS THEREOF, HE IS A HYPOCRITE, OF NO VALUE TO THE KINGDOM OF GOD, BUT....

...STILL FURTHER AUTHORITIES MAINTAIN THAT, FOR JESUS TO CONDEMN A TREE, FOR NOT GIVING FRUIT, DOES NOT SEEM COMPATIBLE WITH HIS GENTLE LOVING NATURE AND, SINCE JESUS WAS AT JERUSALEM FOR THE PASSOVER, THIS PLACES THE TIME OF YEAR AT EARLY APRIL WHEN THE FIG TREE HAS JUST BEGUN TO LEAF AND GROW FIGS, WHICH THEN MATURE IN LATE JUNE... THUS, ALL JESUS MERELY DID, WAS REMARK THAT, BECAUSE THE TREE HAD ALREADY BEGUN GROWING LEAVES, BUT NO FRUIT, IT WAS BARREN, AND NO ONE WOULD HARVEST FIGS FROM IT WHEN THE FRUIT SEASON ARRIVED!

EACH OF THESE THEORIES SEEM TO HAVE VALID POINTS, SO IT REMAINS FOR THE STUDENT TO MAKE HIS OWN CHOICE — WHICH DO YOU THINK?

NEXT WEEK: HOW ISRAEL REALLY MARCHED INTO THE PROMISED LAND!
