

KNOX RESOLUTION TO BE STORM CENTER OF PEACE CONTROVERSY

LEAGUE OF NATIONS AND VERSAILLES TREATY DEAD AND OUT OF THE WAY.

FORMER PREMIER OF FRANCE IS CONVINCED

Only Points In Doubt Are The Precise Language Of Section Five And Time For Passage.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Section V of the Knox peace resolution now emerges as the successor to article X in the role of storm center of political controversy. That article X and the whole League of Nations and the whole Versailles treaty are dead and out of the way, so far as the American senate is concerned, there need be no doubt.

When M. Viviani and his French mission arrived here to find out the present status of American relations with Europe he was still thinking in terms of the League of Nations with reservations, and even in terms of the Versailles treaty with reservations. The net of what he has been told leaves him at the present moment merely hoping to get a little comfort for France out of a modification of section V of the Knox peace resolution. At the same time, for contrary reasons, section V is being opposed by many senators.

Points in Doubt.
The only points still in doubt are the precise language of section V of the Knox resolution and the precise date when it will be the administration's policy to try to pass the Knox resolution.

The Knox resolution will not be passed either in a form or at a date such as to give any encouragement to Germany in resisting the payment of reparations. Indeed, it is apparent that the senate and Secretary Hughes are going to work hand in hand. Secretary Hughes is going to continue to exert diplomatic pressure on Germany to pay the reparations, while the senate goes ahead with its program for a separate peace with Germany.

In the working out of this double policy it may turn out to be desirable not to pass the Knox resolution until after the reparations question is out of the way. In fact, while Senator Knox will introduce his resolution early in the coming session, a delay of several weeks or even months in the passing of it is not improbable.

As previously passed by the house and senate, the Knox resolution consisted of four sections only, and a merely made provision for ending the state of war with Germany. Now, however, it is proposed to add an additional section which reads:

"It is the declared policy of the United States, in order to meet fully and fairly our obligations to ourselves and the world, that the freedom and peace of Europe being again threatened by any power or combination of powers, the United States will regard such a situation with grave concern as a menace to its own peace and freedom; and will, the necessity arising in the future, co-operate with the friends of civilization for its defense."
About this section controversy has arisen and will increase. The French mission feels it is too vague and general to do France any good. The Viviani mission, accepting fully the belief that the Knox resolution is going to be passed, is trying to persuade the senate leaders to incorporate in the resolution a diplomatic reference to France, of the same nature as Secretary Hughes' recent note to Germany.

They would like to see in the Knox resolution some specific expression of the effect that the United States regards Germany as responsible for the war and as called upon to pay reparations to the extent of her ability. That is what the French now hope for and are arguing for with the senate leaders.

They are not likely to get it. The response of the senate leaders is that pressure on Germany to pay the reparations is a diplomatic matter for the secretary of state and not a matter for the senate. On entirely different grounds there is a group which opposes section V altogether. The theory of this group is that section V being a declaration of universal policy applicable to all countries and meant for the hearing of all countries equally ought not to be incorporated as a section of a resolution affecting Germany only. This group insists that if we are to adopt the policy set out in section V we should adopt it separately.

TURKISH NATIONALISTS HAVE RESUMED ADVANCE

PARIS, April 7.—Turkish nationalists have resumed their advance in the Brussels sector of Asia Minor, according to dispatches received at the French foreign office.
Paris are entertained here for the safety of the entire Greek expeditionary force. The magnitude of the reverse suffered by the Greeks appears to be greater than first supposed, judging from the latest information. Six thousand wounded Greeks are said to be in hospitals in Brussels.

SAN MARCOS AND GUADALUPE RIVERS ARE ON A RAMPAGE

LOCKHART, TEXAS, April 7.—San Marcos and Guadalupe rivers are on a rampage today following torrential rains in this section yesterday. Hill fell in spots and in some instances it said to have beaten corn flat to the ground. The precipitation ranged from 4 to 10 inches at points in the Guadalupe and San Marcos watersheds.

MINISTERIAL CRISIS RESULTS FROM VISIT OF FORMER EMPEROR

BUDAPEST, April 7.—The Hungarian national assembly has adjourned until after Regent Horthy and Premier Paul Teleki have conferred relative to the ministerial crisis, which has arisen as a result of the visit of former Emperor Charles to this country.

During yesterday's session of the assembly an official note from the premier was read. It stated the premier "considered the stability of the government was endangered, owing to the situation of certain ministers in connection with recent events."
"I must, therefore," the note continued, "make preparations to the extent possible for the resignation of the government, until the regent has reached a decision."
The assembly acted at once upon this resignation.

Newspapers of this city have published the manifesto of former Emperor Charles issued, with the government's permission, before his departure from Sigmaringen for Switzerland.

"I returned to Hungary's sacred soil," the manifesto declared, "because I was unable to live away from my beloved country, and because I was convinced only a crowned king can restore tranquility and order which is necessary for prosperity."
The union of Austria and Hungary ended with Hungary becoming independent. My desire is to strengthen that independence. My heart wishes to be prevented from working hand in hand with the nation for reconstruction.

Realizing, however, that my return would involve the nation in unprofitable trials, I depart, but though in my exile I will devote all my energies, and if necessary, sacrifice my life for the interests of Hungary."

DEMAND INVESTIGATION OF RETURN OF CHARLES

BUDAPEST, April 7.—Investigation of the circumstances surrounding the attempted return of former Emperor Charles to the Hungarian throne has been demanded at a meeting of agrarian members of the national assembly. It appears that the anti-Carlists had confidential agents in the immediate vicinity of the former emperor while he was in this territory, and it is declared they have a number of men associated with Charles in his attempt to re-establish himself on the throne. The agrarian deputies have urged their colleagues to demand an investigation of the return of Charles.

TRAFFIC CONGESTION IN MEXICO CRITICAL

Increase in Imports And Shortage Of Equipment Responsible For Situation.

MEXICO CITY, April 7.—Congestion of Mexican railroads has reached a critical stage, and commercial and industrial interests of the country have appealed to the government to take extraordinary steps to relieve the situation. At Vera Cruz, Tampico, Pinar del Rio, and in cities along the United States frontier thousands of tons of merchandise have been lying for months, the railroads being unable to move these goods to their destinations.

In addition to the economic phase presented by the railroad congestion, traveling in Mexico is at present tedious, passenger trains running from one to two days late. The lack of engines is said to be the cause of this inconvenience.
President Obregon declared yesterday that imports in Mexico had increased 200 per cent in the past three months, and that additional railroad rolling stock had not been acquired to a proportionate degree. He asserted every effort was being made to purchase or rent equipment and that "probably within a week" an approximation of normal schedules will be maintained.

The union of Austria and Hungary ended with Hungary becoming independent. My desire is to strengthen that independence. My heart wishes to be prevented from working hand in hand with the nation for reconstruction.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD DENIES RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE GEER LETTER

NEW YORK, April 7.—The Pennsylvania railroad company, through its office here, issued a statement tonight repudiating responsibility for a letter alleged to have been written by I. W. Geer, its general manager, southwestern region, advising supervisory employees to defame the labor organizations if necessary to obtain certain information.
The letter, the statement said, was produced before the railway labor board in Chicago on March 22 by Frank P. Walsh, counsel for the railway employees department of the American federation of labor.
"Insistent demand has been made upon those who produced the alleged letter from Mr. Geer to authenticate or withdraw it but no satisfaction in this regard has been obtained to the present time. As the record stands, there has been made against this railroad what we regard as a most serious charge without a particle of evidence to support it."

DEVLIN AND DEVALERA HAVE RATIFIED AGREEMENT MADE TO PRESENT A UNITED FRONT

DUBLIN, April 7.—Joseph Devlin, nationalist member of parliament for Belfast, and Eamon de Valera, one of the prime movers in the Irish republican agitation, have ratified the agreement of last month under which the Sinn Fein nationalist party will present a united front to the unionist forces in coming elections in the north of Ireland.

FARMERS OF NATION DEMAND FAIR PRICE FOR FEEDING WORLD

By United Press.

CHICAGO, April 7.—Farmers of the nation have started to fight as a unit for a fair price for feeding the world. Carl Vrooman, former assistant secretary of agriculture, said today.
Vrooman described the co-operative agency for marketing the nation's grain which was organized at the end of the conference here late last night "as the greatest weapon farmers ever had for fighting for fair prices."

The co-operative agency, known as the United States Grain Growers, Inc., is to market the nation's wheat and corn for all farmers who pay the annual fee of $10. It is a non-stock proposition and all money left over at the end of the year will be returned pro-rata.
Ninety-nine delegates, representing organized farmers, adopted the plan, which was recommended by the farmers' "committee of seventeen."

Under the plan, farmers will sell their grain directly to the mill and to their own elevators and terminal warehouses.
During the course of arguments for the proposition, farmers' trade were characterized as "damnable."

Little Rock Man Restored to Health by Tanlac Four Years Ago, Still in Fine Shape.

"It was about four years ago that Tanlac set me right, and it did such a good job of it that I still feel fine," said Richard N. French, of 2205 Johnson street, Little Rock, Ark., clerk at Bronck's grocery store.
"While living at San Antonio, Texas following a severe attack of malaria I contracted pneumonia, and for four weeks was in a mighty bad condition. My system was so depleted from malaria and the poison that I collapsed and proper, and my stomach was so disordered that I was put on a special diet indefinitely. I was so weak I was advised to stay in the sanitarium, but I went to El Paso, thinking the change might help me. My kidneys bothered me a great deal, my liver was very sluggish and I would become so nauseated at times I could scarcely retain a thing on my stomach. I was in a miserable condition and feeling mighty bad."

"It was at El Paso I got started on Tanlac and my appetite picked up from the very start. I began to relish my food and soon got where I could eat anything I wanted without its bothering me any. Why, I put on thirteen pounds in two weeks and regained my full strength. Since then I joined the coast artillery and spent two years in France, and am back again still enjoying the very best of health. Tanlac certainly delivers the goods, it's the best medicine made."

Tanlac is sold in Wichita Falls by Miller Drug Co., in Electric by Tarrington Drug Store, West End Drug Co., Burkburnett, Texas, and by all leading druggists.—adv.

ALEXANDER HOWAT ALONE FACES TRIAL IN COURT ON COURT CONTEMPT CHARGE

PITTSBURG, KAN., April 7.—Alexander Howat, district president of the United Mine Workers of America, today alone will face charge of contempt of court in calling a strike in the Patton mines in violation of an injunction.

Judge Curran yesterday sustained a defense demurrer that the state had produced no evidence connecting Howat's district executive associates with the strike order.
Attorney General Hopkins is considering asking Howat to be placed under bond not to violate the injunction again pending appeal, provided he is held in contempt today. In similar cases Judge Curran has held Howat in contempt.

The phonograph that amazed Wichita Falls can be bought!

There is a rumor abroad that the instrument which triumphed in the drastic comparison test, made last Monday at the Palace Theater, was a special exhibition model. That rumor is false. The instrument was a regular Official Laboratory Model,—out of our own stock.

Every Official Laboratory Model in our stock is guaranteed to sustain the same test.

If you were one of those in Monday's audience, who wistfully exclaimed: "Wouldn't it be wonderful if I could buy a phonograph like that?"—know that you can. Know that it will perform this miracle every day for you in your own home.

Come in and hear for yourself the Official Laboratory Model's marvelous realism. Find out about our Budget Plan, which enables you to own an Official Laboratory Model for a small down payment, the balance on a gentleman's agreement to suit your convenience.

Note:—The test at the Palace Theater was made by Miss Helen Davis, gifted mezzo-soprano and Sibel Sanderson Fagan, popular whistler, the world-famous soprano. They compared their living art with the RECREATION by the New Edison. There was no difference between the living performance and the RECREATED performance.

The New Edison stands absolutely alone in this achievement; no other phonograph has ever sustained the test of comparison.

The Naval Treaty

By A. CONAN DOYLE

Copyright, 1921, by Harper & Bros. Published by special arrangement with The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

The story thus far: Dr. Watson, during his school days, had known very well a lad named Percy Phelps. His mother's uncle was Lord Holdhurst, the great country squire, politician, whose influence got his nephew good position at the foreign office. One day Dr. Watson, who was in deep trouble, and was in a deep sleep, was awakened by a knock at the door. Watson and Holmes hurried down to Briarbrae, his place at Woking. They were greeted in the drawing room by a rather stout man who received them with much hospitality, and who turned out to be Joseph Harrison, whose sister Annie was engaged to marry Phelps. They were then shown into Phelps's room, where Annie was installed as nurse. Phelps had been in the room about two weeks before, his uncle, having the utmost trust in him, gave him the original secret treaty between England and Italy, a document of importance, to get possession of which the Russian government would pay tremendous sums. Lord Holdhurst asked his nephew to lock it in his desk in the foreign office and, after hours, to stay along and copy it. Phelps went out for a hurried dinner and then went back to the foreign office in time to catch the eleven o'clock train to Woking, on which he expected to meet Joseph.

The work took longer than he expected, however, and he soon saw that he could not catch his train. When it was about a third done he rang a bell which connected with a lodge below stairs where a commissionaire remained all night ready to make coffee on a spirit lamp for any late worker. A woman answered the summons, saying she was the commissionaire's wife. Phelps ordered coffee, and when it did not arrive, he ran down stairs to see about it. The commissionaire sat there asleep, and when he was awakened, he said he had no coffee. Phelps went to the door and saw a man who ran from the door, explaining her action by saying she thought they were brokers—came to collect a bill.

Phelps was so overcome with all that his disgrace would mean that he collapsed, and was taken home, where he had brain fever. He was quickly installed in a cherry bedroom on the ground floor. Phelps, who was at the time, and Annie nursed him, with a nurse who was on duty at night. Nobody knew of his illness but his possession. The commissionaire and his wife were examined without result. Phelps was a doctor, but was gradually regaining his strength. Holmes promised to take up the case and said he would return to Briarbrae the next day.

Holmes interviews Lord Holdhurst, who says that the loss of the treaty, which have not yet occurred, which seems to indicate that it has not yet reached the hands of the French in Russian foreign office, is a possibility, suggests Holmes, that the thief has been the commissionaire. "An attack of brain fever," supplements Lord Holdhurst coldly. Holmes disclaims any such notion, and Holmes returns to Briarbrae to learn that the night nurse, who had been with Phelps had been without a nurse, somebody, shrouded in a cape, had tried to enter the room, and when he scared him off. Joseph and the room next morning had found a trail across the grass to a wooden fence that skirted the road over which the thief had apparently jumped.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT

This tale of our client's appeared to have an extraordinary effect upon Sherlock Holmes. He was sitting in his chair and looked about the room in uncontrollable excitement.

"Misfortunes never come single," said Phelps, smiling, though it was evident that his adventure had somewhat shaken him.

"You have certainly had your share," said Holmes. "Do you think you could walk around the house with me?"

"Oh, yes, I should like a little sunshine. Joseph will come, too."

"And I also," said Miss Harrison.

"I am afraid not," said Holmes, shaking his head. "I think I must ask you to remain exactly where you are."

The lady resumed her seat with an air of pleasure. Her brother, however, joined us and we set off all four. We passed round the house, the outside of the young diplomat's window. There were, as he had said, marks upon the bed, but they were hopelessly blurred and vague. Holmes stooped over them for an instant and then rose shrugging his shoulders.

"I don't think anyone could make much of this," he said. "Let us go round the house and see why this particular room was chosen by the burglar."

Phelps had thought those larger windows of the drawing-room and dining-room would have had more attraction. They are more visible from the road."

journey, but neither of us could devise a satisfactory reason for this new development.

"I suppose he wants to find out some clue as to the burglary last night, if a burglar it was. For myself, I don't believe it was an ordinary thief."

"What is your own idea, then?"

"Upon my word, you may put it down to my weak nerves or not, but I believe there is some deep political intrigue going on around me, and that for some reason that passes my understanding my steps are aimed at by the conspirators. It sounds high-falootin' and absurd, but consider the facts! Why should a thief try to break in at a bedroom window, where there could be no hope of any plunder, and why should he come with a long knife in his hand?"

"You are sure it was not a house-breaker's jimmy?"

"Oh, no, it was a knife. I saw the flash of the blade quite distinctly."

"But why on earth should you be pursued with such animosity?"

"Ah, that is the question."

"Well, if Holmes takes the same view, that would account for his action, would it not? Presuming that your theory is correct, if he can lay his hands upon the man who threatened you last night he will have gone a long way towards finding out the truth about the treaty. It is absurd to suppose that you have two enemies, one of whom robs you, while the other threatens your life."

"But Holmes said that he was not going to Briarbrae."

"I have known him for some time," said I, "but I never knew him do anything yet without a very good reason."

"Well, possibly."

"There are no marks of anyone jumping down upon the other side. No, I fancy we shall get no help here. Let us go back to the bedroom and talk the matter over."

Percy Phelps was walking very slowly, leaning upon the arm of his future brother-in-law. Holmes walked swiftly across the lawn, and we were at the open window of the bedroom long before the others came up.

"Miss Harrison," said Holmes, speaking with the utmost intensity of manner, "you must stay where you are all day. Let nothing prevent you from staying where you are all day. It is of the utmost importance."

"Certainly, if you wish it, Mr. Holmes," said the girl in astonishment.

"When you go to bed keep the door of this room on the outside and keep the key. Promise to do this."

"But Percy?"

"He will come to London with us."

"And an X to remain here?"

"It is for his sake. You can serve him. Quick! Promise!"

She gave a quick nod of assent just as the other two came up.

"Why do you sit moping there, Annie?" cried her brother. "Come out into the sunshine!"

"No, thank you, Joseph. I have a slight headache and this room is deliciously cool and soothing."

"What do you propose now, Mr. Holmes?" asked our client.

"Well, in investigating this minor affair we must not lose sight of our main inquiry. It would be a very great help to me if you would come up to London with us."

"At once?"

"Well, as soon as you conveniently can. Say in an hour."

"I feel quite strong enough, if I can really be of any help."

"The greatest possible."

"Perhaps you would like me to stay here tonight?"

"I was just going to propose it."

"Then, if my friend of the night comes to visit me, he will find the door open. We are in your hands, Mr. Holmes, and you must tell us exactly what you would like done. Perhaps you would prefer that Joseph come with us so as to look after me."

"Oh, no; my friend Watson is a medical man, you know, and he'll look after you. We'll have our lunch here, if you will permit us, and then we shall all three set off for town together."

It was arranged as he suggested, though Miss Harrison accused herself of leaving the bedroom, in accordance with Holmes's suggestion. What the object of my friend's manoeuvres was I could not conceive, unless it were to keep the lady away from Phelps, who, rejoiced by his returning health and by the prospect of action, lunched with us in the dining-room. Holmes had a still more startling surprise for us, however, for, after accompanying us down to the station and seeing us into our carriage, he calmly announced that he had no intention of leaving Woking.

"There are one or two small points which I should desire to clear up before I go," said he. "Your absence, Mr. Phelps, will in some way rather annoy me. Watson, when you reach London you would oblige me by driving at once to Baker street with my friend here, and remaining with him until I see you again. It is fortunate that you are old school-fellows, as you must have much to talk over. Mr. Phelps can have the spare bedroom tonight, and I will be with you in time for breakfast, for there is a train which will take me into Waterloo at 8."

"But how about our investigation in London?" asked Phelps ruefully.

"You might tell them at Briarbrae that I hope to be back tomorrow night," cried Phelps, as we began to move from the platform.

"I hardly expect to go back to Briarbrae," answered Holmes, and waved his hand to us cheerily as we shot out from the station.

SEE OUR WINDOWS

—do you know the facts about building costs?

Do you know that lumber and building materials are down?

Have you talked to us lately about building?

Do you know how reasonably you can make needed repairs, build your new home, or remodel your old one?

Better get in touch with the situation at once.

The big building program that was expected in 1920 failed to develop. The manufacturers were caught with too large stocks, and were forced to turn them over at almost cost.

But it's only fair to tell you this condition may be only temporary. The country is short more than a million homes. Our own city is short many homes. When people begin to do this long delayed building, demand will increase rapidly, and it is likely prices will advance again.

If you are planning to build, remodel, or repair, come in and let us give you figures. Then when we show you the actual savings over last year's prices and show you how favorably present costs compare with those of 1914, make your own decision.

BRIDGE AND "42" HONORS VISITING GUESTS THURSDAY

Half a dozen games of bridge and "42" played in a springtime setting of lavender and yellow in Kemp ballroom with big tuiled chandeliers and a colorful assemblage of lovely spring party dresses, lending enchantment to the afternoon, honored visiting guests in the homes of Mesdames J. Perkins and F. T. Timberlake Thursday.

The hostesses included Mesdames Perkins, Timberlake, and Sanders Walker, and the guests were very unable to be present, on account of illness. Mrs. S. B. Perkins of Dallas and Miss Jessie May Rush of Decatur were the honorees.

PUPILS THOUGHT MISS QUINN WANTED SOMETHING "CUT OUT"

Miss Mary Quinn, Red Cross health nurse, has some laughable experiences in her daily health rounds, particularly where children are concerned.

Not very long ago she talked to the children in one of the primary grades at a local public school. As she had been before with "tooth brush" drill and a health talk on tonsils and adenoids, she wondered if they would remember.

"I wonder if any little boy or girl knows what I have come to talk about?" she said.

There was a long pause, during which the youngsters evidently tried desperately to remember, or find words to phrase her mission. Finally one little girl braver than the others waved her hand.

"I know," she said, "you've come to tell us what to have cut out."

"Baking powder for teeth." At another school she explained the different things necessary for teeth washing, including the tooth brush, water and some simple powder. She named salt for a bit of soda in lieu of the bought powder, and finally asked the children to name the requisites to her.

"Salt," said one little boy. "A tooth brush," said another. "Soda," contributed a little girl. "All right," she said, "now what else?"—meaning the water.

There was silence for a minute. Then, "I know—baking powder!" piped up a little voice.

MRS. STANLEY McCREGOR HOSTESS WEDNESDAY TO SOROSIS CLUB

Mrs. Stanley McCreger was hostess to the Sorosis Club Wednesday afternoon at her home on Polk street, and the study of Irwin's "Seat of the Sun" was continued during an interesting session.

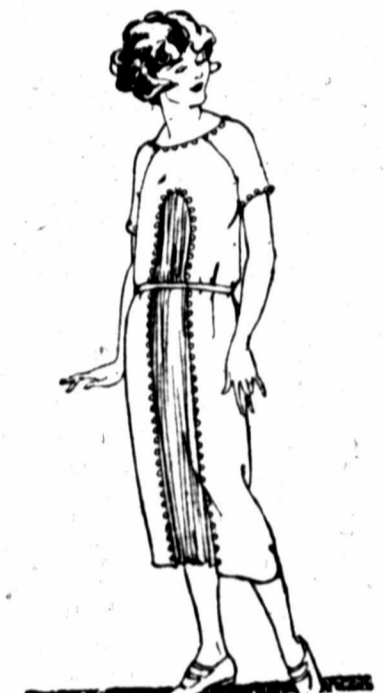

Mrs. M. H. Glover led the discussion with a review of the book, calling on Mrs. W. P. Lowry for a sketch of the life of Irwin, and his contributions to American literature.

During a short business session Mrs. E. E. Hilburn was elected vice-president of the club, and Mrs. W. P. Lowry, corresponding secretary, to complete the list of officers recently elected.

After the study session the hostess served an ice course to the following: Mesdames Ernest Archambeau, Harrison Bachman, W. H. Glover, Joe D. Harris, R. E. Hilburn, W. P. Lowry, Bert Taylor, and H. E. White. Mrs. Glover will entertain the club at her home on Ninth street next Wednesday, and the members were invited to meet with her on that occasion.

LATEST STYLE BY LENORE

Filled with a lefty scorn for the popularity of ornate embroideries, this engaging flapper person chooses a simple frock of gray crepe, achieving style and elegance with a slender panel of pleating. This she surrounds with a whole regiment of beads, Delft blue in color. Neck and sleeves receive the same treatment. An excellent substitute for the beads may be applied in a piping of contrasted color. The fashion for combining different materials affords numerous opportunities for really youthful costumes. What an a more charming for the early teens, than a frock of dark blue serge fashioned of two perfectly straight back and front panels, joined only below the normal waist at a slip, over a slip of lilac crepe.

Of course, the slip is separate, for how can one get the full benefit of such a frock if one does not change it occasionally for another color? A straight-across neckline finished this model.

Pattern No. 132. A pattern for the above model (No. 132) can be obtained in sizes 34, 36, 38 or 40, by sending to Lenore, 3 West Fortieth street, New York city, your name and address, number of this pattern and the size required, and 25 cents in postage stamps. Be sure to keep this newspaper clipping of the sketch and description of the garment to use as a working model when the pattern reaches you—which will be within two weeks.—The Editor.

JUBILEE'S PARDNER

Judd Mortimer Lewis Illustrations by Edwina

Younis was not to school today because she had went to her grandfather's funeral. Her grandfather is dead. She is luck that he lived in another city so that when he got ready to die she could go somewhere. When mine dies I will not have to go anywhere, and he will probably die on Saturday and he buried on Sunday and I won't have to stay out of school at all.

I spoke to him about it whilst he was fixing his fish lines before I went to school, and I told him I would be sorry when he dies and it was too bad to think that we have all got to die. He said, "Yes, that is true," and he sat for a long time looking at the house next door and not saying anything, and then he gave me a half a dollar, and put his arm around me and we sat there together.

After awhile I asked him if people knowed when they was going to die, and he said he knowed a man once that knowed the very day he was going to die on, and so did the sheriff, and that was kinda funny. Then I asked him if a man could die when ever he wanted to, and he said some of them did, and then I asked him if it was so he could do it if he would die on a school day, and he wanted to would try to fix it. He said I got the half under false pretences but it was all right.

I guess I would be sorer if he died on Saturday than I would if he died any other day.

When we had got out of school we got a board and put it up in our tree back in front of our house and nailed it to two branches, and it makes a good place to set but you have to set on it sideways. We did not drive one of the nails all the ways in and so backyard when I went out to milk, but all of the bunch was gone so we did not do anything with it. I hid it under the step and will think up something tonight to do with it. It would make a offal big nigger shooter, but my arms would not be long enough to use it. Maybe I can tie it to the barn door so that when my ant goes to sneak in on me it will stretch and let go and bust her wide open. I went to bed early to study it up.

FORMER WICHITANS HONORED ON WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

The following from the Benton County Democrat will be interesting to the friends of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Bundy, former citizens of Wichita Falls:

"A truly happy and excellently planned surprise party was that of Saturday evening at the attractive home in Indiana. The towels have sold rapidly, but some very pretty ones are still on hand. They are all-lined, and the hand work is variations of hemstitching in most cases, or a bit of Irish lace inset.

The exchange maintains a full line of especially dainty collar and cuff and vest sets, in organdie, net, and other sheer materials. The sets are worked with colored threads, and are especially pretty.

RAILROAD ESTIMATE OF DAMAGE $100,000

Repairs On Northwestern To Elk City Will Not Be Complete Until Next Wednesday.

Damage incurred during the rains of the past week are estimated by officials of the Wichita Falls and Northwestern to reach at least $100,000. Traffic to Elk City on the line will be possible until next week, Wednesday, officials say. The company is expecting to send trains No. 4 and No. 2 to Mangum by Saturday, No. 4 leaves this city at 7 a. m., and No. 2 at 1:45 p. m. All available crews have been put to work in repairing the line, and four pile drivers are engaged. T. H. B. Todd, traveling claim agent of the Fort Worth and Denver, was in the city Friday on business.

METAL MINING INDUSTRY WILL "BE ON ITS FEET" WITHIN NEXT SIX MONTHS

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH United Press Staff Correspondent. CHICAGO, April 8.—The metal mining industry will be "on its feet" within six months. This is the belief expressed today by John T. Burns, secretary of the American Mining Congress, in an interview with the United Press, after returning from a tour of the leading mining districts. "Paralysis of the industry has cost counties millions of dollars," Burns said. "But there is a general feeling of optimism and confidence as to the future in the gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc fields." The most encouraging information Burns said he obtained was of a general increase in efficiency of labor. "During the war labor was about fifty per cent efficient," he added. "Now it is getting back to normal." Some wage cuts for miners were made in Utah and other states, he said. "Transportation costs, Burns declared, have rendered zinc, lead and copper mining unprofitable by forcing skyward prices of materials necessary to the operation of mines. "Many mine operators faced complete disorganization of forces maintained for many years," he continued. "Some mines closed down will be flooded and are practically a total loss. "Even the famous gold mines at Cripple Creek, Colo., the greatest gold region in the world," were closed down. "Mining will be resumed when the constructive program of general industry in the United States starts." Burns learned that American mining and oil men in Mexico are pleased with the situation there. "Labor was about 'They believe,' he said, "that American interests will receive adequate protection from the Obregon government." In the opinion of those in touch with that situation, Mexico will sign satisfactory treaties with the United States within the next three months, Burns declared. "There is no real issue between the two governments so far as mining and oil production is concerned," he continued. From eastern reports Burns learned there was some improvement in the coal industry. Martin's Blue Bug Killer. Guaranteed or money back. Ell Morgan, 1106 Ohio, phone 2528. 327-7tc

Farmer Killed by High Tension Wire; Town in Darkness

WYLIE, TEXAS, April 8.—John Williams, 50, well known Collin county farmer, was accidentally electrocuted when he came into contact with a high tension wire on a roadside near his home last night. Wylie was plunged into darkness at 9:30 o'clock and linemen investigating failure of the lighting system found Williams' body, badly burned, with a spitting live wire lying across it. Williams, who is survived by a widow and six children, had just returned here from Dallas and, was walking to his home two miles west of Wylie when he met death.

CONTRACTS FOR LEASE IN THE TABASCO FIELD HAVE TO BE APPROVED

MEXICO CITY, April 8.—Contracts for the lease of oil lands in Tabasco will not be recognized unless they receive the sanction of the department of commerce of industry and interior, an announcement here. This announcement was a result of great excitement over the discovery of oil in Tabasco, and a rush of operators to that district. Most of the leases already made have been given to foreign oil men and confer rights to the development projects in the Tampico field. The Excelsior says that at Frontera, the principal port of the state, there are enacted scenes similar to those in the Klondike when the gold rush was on.

WILL TEST LEGALITY OF LANDS OF ARMY OFFICERS

MEXICO CITY, April 8.—Government officials are not considering the presentation of bills before congress providing for the wholesale confiscation of lands ceded by former President Carranza to his favorite generals, says a statement issued from the presidential offices, denying newspaper reports. It was declared, however, that efforts would be made to test the legality of the titles to lands now held by army officers who served under Carranza.

WILBARGER COUNTY RECEIVES MORE THAN IS PAID STATE

VERNON, TEXAS, April 8.—Wilbarger county receives back from the state this year nearly $25,000 more than is turned in as Texas' share in money collected here, according to figures given out by county officials. The total amount figured by the state in the event that all taxes are collected is $101,000, figured on the basis of 62 cents on the $100 valuation. In return, Wilbarger county receives an appropriation for the schools in the county, $62,960, which represents $14.50 for each of the 4,349 pupils in the county. In addition to this, $18,500 is given as state aid bringing the total school appropriation to $81,460. This money will be based on the term now drawing to a close. State funds rendered Wilbarger county for road work amount to $33,000, and added to the school appropriation make a total of $115,460. However, in the event that there is no special bond issue voted next year, and in the event the $4,000,000 state aid bill vetoed by the governor fails to pass the legislature, Wilbarger county's share of state funds will fall far below the amount paid in. COMMANDER OF TURKISH NATIONALIST FORCES IS GIVEN GREAT RECEPTION

ANGORA, April 8.—Kiazim Kara Bekir, commander of Turkish nationalist forces at Erzerum, has arrived here at the head of a cavalry division after a remarkable march from Armenia. He was summoned to the western front by the Turkish nationalist government after the Greeks launched their offensive east of Smyrna and Brussa. The people of this city greeted Kiazim with wild enthusiasm, and flowers were strewn in the streets ahead of his horse. He continued his way to the front, declaring there was no fear of a bolshevik advance in northeastern Asia Minor. In a town 32 miles southwest of Ispah and near the sea of Marmora, has been captured by Turkish nationalists, says an official statement issued here. The Greeks defending the place fled, abandoning important supplies and losing thousands of prisoners.

SAYS SUNDAY "BLUE LAW" WILL ULTIMATELY BECOME CENTER GREATEST CRISIS

MILWAUKEE, WIS., April 8.—Sunday blue law will ultimately become the center of America's greatest crisis, it was declared last night by C. S. Longacre, councillor of the Seventh Day Adventist church, in an address here. "If the total separation of church and state is not maintained," he said, "the shackles of religious bigotry and tyranny will ultimately destroy our republican institutions." He attacked "local religious statutes" as violations of the constitution and declared that "apathy and intolerance are the inevitable products of a legal religion." He charged that blue law advocates are preparing a campaign to terrorize congressmen into voting for their measure.

Bunyan Still Holds the "Reins of Law" in Pond Creek, Okla.

ENID, OKLA., April 8.—Pond Creek, Oklahoma, celebrated last night. Not through the event of any successful election news, nor of any historic occasion, except one thing that might be placed in the latter class. It celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of its city marshal. C. F. Bunyan has been city marshal at Pond Creek since the Cherokee strip was opened. Because of this a special band was imported, lunch baskets were filled, and a garage one-half block in dimension was used to entertain the celebrants who came from miles in every direction. And C. F. Bunyan still holds the reins of law in Pond Creek.

OPTIMISTIC REPORT ON HOSPITAL MATTER

Harrison Speaks at Business Council—Has Praise For T. H. Price, Of New York City.

A very optimistic report on the government hospital situation was given by General Manager Hubert Harrison at the Federal luncheon of the business council of the chamber of commerce.

Mr. Harrison said that while he might have appeared to have been journeying in Washington for quite a while, he wanted it made clear that he still considered Wichita county his legal residence.

When it was discovered that a new deal had been declared and that it was necessary to start all over again, a telegram was sent here.

Plans for the Graham excursion were briefly discussed, but no action taken pending some definite decision as to the date.

Hurton Staxton, vice chairman, presided in the absence of J. C. Mytinger. The attendance was better than usual.

LAKE WICHITA DAM TO BE STRENGTHENED, WORK STARTS SOON

Work will start shortly at Lake Wichita strengthening the main dam, which has been damaged slightly as a result of the continued high water in the lake.

The lake has been brim-full for a number of weeks, and the action of the water against the dam has made it advisable, in the opinion of Superintendent Lawton of the city water department, to take the measures mentioned.

Short funeral services, conducted by Dr. Goldberg of the Church of Israel, were held in the Meekie and Lunn chapel immediately preceding the removal of the body to Louisiana.

SETTLEMENT MADE ON ROAD WORK BILL

W. F. Underwood Accepts Check On Basis Of $10 and $12 Per Day For Work.

A settlement was effected Friday morning between County Auditor W. W. Murphy and W. F. Underwood on the disputed road bill which found its way into court several days ago.

The original bill submitted by Mr. Underwood for work performed on the roads in Precinct No. 2 called for $1,014. When suit was instituted for the collection of the bill after Mr. Murphy had stated he would only pay the same price paid by the other commissioners.

Mr. Underwood asked for a judgment of $394 against the county. Mr. Underwood and his attorney approached Mr. Murphy Friday morning and the auditor again made the same proposition of paying $12 for three teams during the month of December and $10 a day during January.

The disputed bills have been before the commissioners court for several months. Mr. Murphy, the auditor refused to approve the bill and after the court had approved it he refused to issue a warrant for it.

FORMER GOVERNOR MORE IMPRESSED

York. He went to stay with his sister. She wrote me once that Roy was getting a lot of money from her; said he needed it to pay for his laundry. "After that trip I joined him in New York and went to Syracuse because living was cheaper there. I went home once more and Roy wrote me from Chicago, Detroit, Kalamazoo, Montreal and Rochester. We met here accidentally. "Grilling Made Him Confess. Harris denied today that he had voluntarily confessed. He said a grilling made him confess. "The detectives said they had the Elwell crime on me and that if I told I would get off easy," he asserted. "I thought they really knew about it, so I confessed. Harris, a good looking youth with a firm jaw, appeared not to realize that he probably would be electrocuted if his story stood up. "I don't care what happens to me," he said today in an official manner. "I hope to get off, but I don't know what the end will be. I've made my will, just in case anything happens. Questioned as to the details of the Elwell killing, Harris said: "Well, when I was in the house, who did the actual shooting, started for the house with me. I felt like backing out. Dunkin said he would kill me if I did. When we had got to the house, I talked again about backing out, but Dunkin gave me hell. He said he would kill Elwell sure. He smoked cigarettes and waited for Elwell to come home. "When we heard the key in the door I hid behind the stairs and Dunkin went up stairs, passing right close by where I was hidden. Then Dunkin came out and gave me hell again for not shooting him. "Wanted the Money. "I told Dunkin we ought to beat it. We had $500 cinched for the murder and I wanted to blow. I didn't want to kill Elwell; all I wanted was the money. No, I can't give you a detailed description of the house inside. I was interested in getting the money out of where the windows were located. "I tried to leave twice. Dunkin told me that Jerry, the chauffeur, who had put us next to the job, was outside within easy shooting distance and that he would kill me sure. "Elwell came down stairs in his pajamas. He sat down in his arm chair. In a few minutes I heard a shot. Dunkin had killed him. Then Dunkin ran out and beat me to the door. We both ran out and walked away, fast. "Well, I quit my job and spent two months trying to collect the money Mrs. Fairchild promised us for killing Elwell, but I was double-crossed and didn't get it. I left New York in August and went to a lot of other towns. "Detective Oswald of the New York police, after questioning Harris, said he was confused as to the appearance of the inside of Elwell's house and also on the details of how Elwell was shot. "Harris maintained his calm and unruffled demeanor today, until his wife was mentioned. Then he wept.

SUGGEST HARRIS MAY HAVE BEEN PAID FOR CONFESSION

NEW YORK, April 8.—The possibility of Roy Harris having been paid to tell his story of having slain Joseph R. Elwell, New York chairman, is being considered today by ex-Governor Charles S. Whitman, special investigator. Whitman stated that it was possible that the actual murderer, fearing that new evidence had been unearthed which would reveal his or her identity, sought to draw a "red herring" over the trail by bribing Harris to make a confession. "I am frankly skeptical of Harris' tale," said Whitman. "The defect in his confession is the hour of the shooting, which he fixes at about 3 a. m. The first investigation disclosed that Elwell personally read letters from the postman at 6 o'clock. He was killed between 6 and 7. "Notwithstanding his doubts in the case, Whitman stated that detectives are watching a number of persons who figured in the earlier investigations, in case Harris can identify the picture of the mysterious "Mrs. Fairchild." JUDGE DENIES WARRANTS FOR ARREST OF STRIKERS

KANSAS CITY, MO., April 8.—Warrants for the arrest of five striking trainmen of the Missouri and North Arkansas railroad, who are alleged to have made threats against employees who remained on the job, were asked today in federal court by P. H. Graves, attorney for the receiver of the railroad. Mr. Graves explained to Judge Arha S. Van Valkenburgh that the strikers were trying to intimidate the men who were operating trains by making threats against their lives. Judge Van Valkenburgh refused to issue the warrants. The judge said that the United States marshal asserted he could handle the situation. He instructed Graves to hold his petition for warrants in abeyance pending investigation. C. A. Phelan is receiver for the road.

Forced out of Harrison, M. C. Carey of Port Huron, Mich., Brotherhood of Railway Conductors, and J. M. Eddy of San Francisco, representing the Order of Railway Telegraphers, came here from whence they say they will continue to keep in touch with the strike. Carey said these three brotherhood men, also driven from Harrison, were on their way home; J. L. Sax, Port Worth; W. J. Potts and W. E. Hoarn, Little Rock.

SAYS CHURCH AND HOME MUST STAND TOGETHER AGAINST EVIL TENDENCIES OF MODERN TIMES

A plea that the church and the home stand together to check the many evil tendencies of the present day was voiced by Dr. F. F. Brown Wednesday night in his sermon at the First Baptist church revival services.

Dr. Brown spoke as follows:

The past few months have brought marked changes in the financial and industrial world. Everywhere there is the realization that the period of reckless, ill-considered, thoughtless extravagance must end, and some old-fashioned virtues must be recognized and practiced—the virtues of work, economy and thrift. Moreover we are agreed that no calamity has befallen us—that the practice of these virtues reacts helpfully upon life and character; that their neglect is harmful and destructive. Thoughtless extravagance breeds evils that are disastrous and fatal to any man, any community, or nation. Work, economy and thrift, feed our characters and life with courage, patience, strength and fidelity. They are fundamental and indispensable to all real progress. So we are not to be demoralized and frightened. If we have been intoxicated—and we have—let us thank God that the period of intoxication with its delusions and exaggerations, its misplaced emphasis and unthinking waste, has passed, and we have become sober men and women. There will be less joy-riding on the gasoline of our delusions and the time spent in the home with the family.

Now the same reckless abandon and daring excess which characterized the economic world is true of the whole of our lives. And just as sound economic teaching was a return to unflinching principles and ideals in the management of finances, so God is constantly warning us that our happiness, our growth, our usefulness as Christians, depend upon unchanging and unchanging laws.

Influenced doubtless by war practices and abandonment, Christian people have been swept by modern currents that are a reproach to Christ and fatal to Christian character. There has been a loosening of standards that were formed by Satan. With sinners there has been a tacit consent. With all there has been at least the surrender of alliance, the lack of protest.

Very much of our amusement is no longer merely questionable—it is openly and positively evil. With some, it is spelled with a capital "S" and written in italics has given its imperious stamp of approval. The press brings that upon investigation have shown themselves to be more sensuous than those of any other time. The heart of Africa a half century ago. Society with regal authority has placed its seal of approval upon the dress with women that would make our mothers hide their faces in shame, and that caused the angels to shudder at the temptations that are thus encouraged and fostered. A few months ago the most famous master of America assembled in national convention and passed resolutions in which they pointed out the modern dress as being born in the lowest dives of Paris, and announced the practice of these dances all immoral. The press brings to us daily reports of gambling, theft, robbery, murder and other evils so wide spread and so frequent that we no longer create surprise. All about us swirl and sweep tides of immorality that threaten to engulf and destroy us. We may deny, excuse, condone and seek to explain but the facts are stubborn things. The facts are ours and to fail to see them is blindness. To fail to challenge them is moral cowardice. I am not an alarmist or a sensationalist. I merely refer to situations that many of you know better than I do. The time has come for plain speaking and courageous action on the part of Christian people.

There are two institutions to which thoughtful people are looking for the power and influence that are to check the threatening tides of evil. First, the church. They are looking to the church, and they have a right to look to it for an example, the attitude and the teachings that shall challenge and rebuke the prevalent and immoral worldliness. The church of Jesus Christ must always refuse to conform to the standards of living advocated by sinners. Godless, sinful society. More than that, the church of Jesus Christ must furnish the standards of life, and with unflinching loyalty and unquestionable consistency present them in uncoqueting contrast and uncompromising opposition to the standards of the world. "Be not conformed but be transformed." The answer of Christ's church must not be the negative—the refusal to conform. It must pass on to the positive, constructive side of a transformed life.

The challenge to the church is pertinent and personal. Worldliness is not to be thought of as an act or a series of acts. It is an attitude—an attitude that manifests itself in easy going compromise, in thoughtless adaptation, in the frantic effort to keep pace with the crowd, in the feverish anxiety to be popular, in the substitution of the material for the spiritual, the temporal for the eternal.

If the Christianity of our church is too weak and colorless and insipid to protest and oppose such an attitude of life, it is not the Christianity of Christ. Jesus was a non-conformist, and the disciples here, as elsewhere, must be like their Lord. If the attitude of the world is right, let us conform. If the standards and ideals of the world procure better men and women, better homes and communities, then let us close our Bibles, turn our churches into places of revelry and publicly avow ourselves deluded.

So far as you and I are concerned we are the church. We cannot, we dare not attempt to escape the responsibility—the personal individual responsibility. Theoretically we are agreed that the teachings of Jesus, as represented by His church and with only hope for the world here and hereafter. Our practice must conform to our theory. We must not deceive ourselves. We have entered upon new life, we must live it. We have come into the possession of a new life, we must work it out. We have accepted the teachings of Jesus Christ. We must make this deliberate assertion: Sunday school teachers and any considerable numbers of the various congregations in Wichita Falls, Texas, will take a united stand, out in the open, with consistent lives, high purity, and uncompromising opposition to the known evils of this community. We will take a united stand with our community conscience that will not tolerate those evils. And it will come—now, this morning, this afternoon, this evening, this night, this day, this week, this month, this year, this generation, this race, this world, this universe, this eternity. Jesus Christ cannot remain neutral. Already there is an awakening on the part of the church—a realization that she cannot remain silent, when life within and about her is being misled and corrupted by flagrant evil.

The preachers are beginning to realize that for them to condemn the sins of the world is to condemn the sins of their own day and community are unmentioned. To be guilty of cowardice, unspoken, Christian men and women are realizing that to meet on Sunday, sing hymns and worship in the name of Jesus and enter no protest to the sins that are sweeping through our community is an inconsistency—glaring and shameful.

The business of the church is a serious business. We are in the world to help win people to Jesus Christ, to help them in the high task of spiritual development and soul growth. This can only be done in accordance with God's laws. Modern science and invention don't help much here. Bertrand Russell, the French philosopher says that: "The chief effect of science has been to enlarge man's body. Telescopes and microscopes have increased the power of the eye; telephones have stretched our hearing to three thousand miles; telegraphs have made our voices sound around the earth; locomotive and steamship lines, better than seven league boots of ancient fable, have multiplied the speed and power of our feet; the big French guns have elongated the blows of our fists from two feet to 25 miles. Man never had such a body since the world began. The ancient giants were nothing compared to this. But man's soul—there the failure lies. We have not grown spirits great enough to handle our greater bodies." The task of the church and any other church, under the guidance of God's spirit, is to help grow souls that shall adequately manage our growing bodies. The task of this church and any other church is to help grow moral vision, moral power, and moral stamina for which our lives hunger. If we are not doing this we are playing at the task. Some time ago I looked out of my study window and saw the two children, the boys aged three and five, playing church. They went through the whole performance—one of them preached, and one of them prayed and they both sang a hymn. Almost before I knew it they were having a fight. Their religion had no connection with their morals. I wondered if the same thing was not true with many of us as grown people—our religion does not have enough influence with our morals.

Secondly, the home—where thoughtful people are looking to the home for influence to help stem the tide of worldliness about us. And they have the right to look to the home. If the time ever comes when our homes conform to the standards of the world, it will be a dark day for us. There are some who think that that day has come now—that parents have guaranteed that the teachings of old-fashioned virtues and ideals which have been our safeguard, are gone from the hearth stone, that parents by their silence, their tacit consent, if not by explicit and approval, are opening the very doors of their homes to the influences that are threatening and destructive. I don't believe that. But I do know that if our homes go, our best defense is gone. I do know that without correct ideals in the home that the teacher in the schools, the public press, and the preacher here, are greatly handicapped and tremendously weakened.

This evening I make an earnest appeal to parents. In the name of your children, in the name of your neighbors' children, in the name of Christ, refuse to surrender the ideals of Christ in your homes. Refuse to conform to the worldliness about you. I appeal to the women here. The mightiest human factor in the world, for the clearing and uplift of the world, is the Christian womanhood. Will you mothers that are here listen to the silent appeal that comes from the young manhood and womanhood about us—who recognize that they are in the wrong, that they are doing wrong? Will you by your example and influence build a wall of reinforcement about them, that will make it easier for them to do right and more difficult for them to do wrong?

Just recently in far away Belgium 1,000 Catholic women of high social standing presented the Cardinal Mercier a signed declaration in which each pledged herself: 1—When appearing in public, whether in church or in society to wear only modest and simple attire. 2—To permit no undesirable dances at any time, which will make it easier for them to do right and more difficult for them to do wrong.

They claimed the steep ascent of Heaven. Through peril, toil and pain, O God, for us may grace be given, To follow in this train."

Indicted Sox Plan to Organize Independent Team of Their Own

YANKS HAVE GREATEST RESERVE POWER IN THE MAJOR LEAGUES

Miller Huggins Has At Least Two Good Players For Every Position.

By HENRY L. FARRELL, United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, April 8.—If ever a ball club was like the old woman in the shoe, it is the New York Yankees.

Miller Huggins has so many players he doesn't know what to do.

The American league representatives of Gotham will start the season with two high class teams—one on the field and the other on the bench.

While other clubs are in desperate straits for one good player in every position, the Yanks have a pair.

For first base, Huggins has Pipp, Ruth or Meusel.

For second base, Fawcett, Ward or McNally.

For shortstop, Ward, Peckinpaugh or Mitchell.

For third base, Ward or Baker.

In the outfield, Ruth, Roth, Meusel or Bodie.

In addition there are a lot of high class rookies which combination he selects, Huggins probably will have a couple of 200 hitters doing bench duty all season, who might put some other clubs in the penitentiary.

But Huggins has the market cornered on "reserves, first class," and it's a pinch he's not going to get liberal with his fielders. The Yankees' pennant stock might increase by a donation.

The Yanks have the greatest reserve power in the major leagues.

CITY LEAGUERS OPEN SEASON TOMORROW

Umpires Selected For Opening Games At Meeting Last Night.

The 1921 campaign for a city league pennant will be launched tomorrow when the Gulf Production company crosses bats with the First National crew at the Gulf's diamond west of the Sam Houston school; the Fort Worth & Denver with the Texas Company at the latter's diamond north of the golf links; the Texhoma Oil & Refining Company with the City National Bank of Commerce at the refinery diamond; Bell Telephone company with the Presbyterians at the telephone diamond off the end of Brook street; and the Wichita Motors with the American National at the factory diamond.

Umpires for the season were selected at a meeting of the managers in the Southern Electric last night and were assigned as follows: Jimmy Maxwell, umpire for the season; J. H. Hall, Factor's grounds; E. D. Shamburger, Telephone grounds; J. H. Hall, Factory grounds.

Practically every club in the City League has been considerably strengthened and a merry battle with every club a contender is looked for. The players got down to real business this year and have been getting in trim for the past month. Every team has a diamond of its own and has been able to get in as much preliminary work as it desired.

The work of the Gulf Production company, the Texas Company, the Fort Worth & Denver and the Telephone outfit will be watched with interest. These clubs are newcomers in the league and are out to show the league moguls that they made no mistake in admitting them. The Gulf, especially, has been practicing daily on its new diamond and is said to be in mid-season form.

Games are scheduled for every Saturday, but with the mutual agreement of the opposing managers the games may be played on any day of the week. All Saturday games, with the exception of those in which the Telephone company plays, will be called at 3:30 sharp. The Telephone boys will get out that early and their games will be called at 5:30.

"Nothing But the Best in Everything"

The SPORTLIGHT by Grantland Rice

(Copyright 1920 New York Tribune Inc.)

THE OLD TIMER'S REFRAIN.

I've played baseball eighteen years
On courses far and near;
I've played through sunshine and through rain,
Through misery and cheer;
I've had days where I never smeared
The white I romped around in par,
In fancy fours and threes,
I've had uncanny things take place
Across my rolling strife,
BUT—I never beat a well man
In my life.

MORALE IN BASEBALL.

A few readers have arisen to inquire why morale should mean so much in a pennant race. "Isn't baseball a game?" they ask. "You can't play any game every day for a long stretch, golf, tennis, or baseball, and retain your early ardor for it. The early pep vanishes. Staleness sets in and the big thrill dies out. It is then that the ability of a manager comes in—the ability to keep his club hustling through stale athletics—bating when the feet feel heavy and the arms are leaden and the brain is weary. It was in this respect last season that Speaker and Robinson were supreme."

A PERSONAL EXPERIENCE.

In the days of our untrammelled youth we could never see how any one could ever get tired of playing baseball!

The college season called for games on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of each week for two months. These games were all recreation and sport.

Then, at the close of a collegiate year on the diamond, we hooked up with a barnstorming exhibition on tour for six sweltering weeks, playing every day.

At the end of the fourth week the mere sight of a baseball had become repugnant to the eye. It was no longer a recreation—no longer any fun—but extremely hard work. Constant prodding was required to keep one going at his best.

THE SAME IN GOLF.

Two weeks before the Ray-Vardon tour ended we asked Ray one day if he was having any fun.

"I'm sick of looking at a bally golf ball," he said. "My eyes are tired. It's the hardest work I ever tackled. It was a lot of fun for the first month, but I'm weary now. So more of the pleasure of the game is a mixture of fortitude and courage—will keep a man hustling at top speed."

There is a strong tie between golf and drift with the tide. But drifting with the tide doesn't plant one on the top peak.

The strain of the 1906 finish in the American League drove Jiggs Donohue, of the White Sox, insane. In September of that year we heard Jiggs threaten to carry two recruits on the road with a bat for long running out hits. The club was badly lagging on a terrific losing drive, but Donohue and Fielder Jones drove them forward into a championship. That drive smashed Donohue beyond repair.

If you think leading a ball club and playing at the same time is an easy life, look at the Cleveland leader in gray and thirty-three is still in the forenoon of existence. But the Cleveland leader is gray and partly bald, with a face as seamy as the ball he plays with.

Balplayers today, counting in exhibition games, must slog through 150 contests between mid-March and October with hardly a day's rest. The thrill of competition and the applause of the people together bring out a lot of fun. But it's a long hike and there are numerous stretches where the flesh is unwilling and the spirit is extremely weak. And unless the "right sort of management" is arranged to develop morale, the mood to develop morale at any given moment, and, once under full headway, it is no easy thing to check.

If you don't believe this, try playing a series of hard golf or tennis matches every day for three months and then estimate the buoyant joy you obtain from your favorite sport at the end of the fifth week.

"ROOKIE RULE" TO STICK.

GALVESTON, TEXAS, April 8.—The "rookie rule," which requires each Texas league club to carry two recruits on the road, will stand unchanged, according to a vote of league magnates yesterday. President N. E. Leopold of the Galveston club announced today. The "rookie rule," as explained, was adopted as an aid in developing young players.

SOUTH BEND TEAM TO MEET WEST TEXAS LEAGUE CLUBS

SOUTH BEND, April 8.—The South Bend Baseball team has just completed an exhibition schedule which contains games with practically every West Texas league club. One of the fastest semi-pro clubs in the state is scheduled here and a season schedule is now being arranged.

A $2,500 grandstand was recently erected and a new diamond has been made. A number of former professional players will be on the club. The club has an open challenge to any team in this section of the country. The club is being handled by J. J. Berliner, formerly of Wichita Falls, Bobbie Ward and Sol Glickman.

Three More Contestants For Art Golf Cup Fall By The Wayside.

Reppy defeated E. G. Hill, one up in 19 holes, after a hard-fought round. H. L. Hunter disposed of Dr. Hampshire and Fred T. Couper, eliminated A. R. Cotton, each two up and one.

In the second flight, the field is also narrowing down, and among those still in the running are L. T. Burns, G. H. Hampshire, C. O. Davis and Leslie Stringer. This flight will probably reach the finals next week.

A full attendance of club members is expected for the annual meeting Saturday night at 8 o'clock. Officers of the club are anxious for as large a representation as possible to be on hand at 5 o'clock for an inspection of the new nine holes to the south of the old course.

SPUDDERS INDULGE IN BATTING PRACTICE

Swamp Frederick Semi-Pro. Outfit 16 To 3—Clark and McDonald Pound Pill.

FREDERICK, OKLA., April 8.—The Spudders received a bit of the batting practice they have been according the major league teams yesterday at the expense of the Frederick semi-pro club, and romped away with a 16 to 3 victory.

Danny Clark and Tex McDonald led the Spudder attack with four safeties apiece, though a pinch circuit clout by "Babe" Ruth, who was sent in to hit for Hudspeth in the sixth, was the feature of the contest.

Hazen, the new outfielder, injured his ankle sliding to second, and will probably be out of the game for a few days.

BRAVES SAD LOOKING CROWD THIS SEASON

Fifth Place in Standing Is Best Accorded Them By Baseball Critics.

By PAUL J. RYAN, United Press Staff Correspondent.

BOSTON, April 8.—Prospects of the Boston Braves in the 1921 pennant drive are far from bright enough to revive hopes of another 1914 but the Hub fans are unwilling to accept the flat assignment of last or next to last being made by the experts.

Without a first class southpaw and with a weak infield the Braves, however, can hardly aspire to a position better than fifth.

A first division club would be a pleasure for the fans of a city who are getting fed up on inferior baseball.

When Maranville was traded to Pittsburgh for Southworth, Nicholson and Barbare, the Braves came into possession of just about the best outfield in the league, but the infield was weakened almost to the same extent.

There are nine good outfielders with the club—Southworth, Nicholson, Mann, Powell, Sullivan, Cruise, McDonald, Nixon and Archdeacon a promising return.

No matter what combination is selected, the club will have a hard hitting, good fielding outfit in the gardens.

Horace Ford, utility man last year, probably will play second, and Barbare will take Maranville's place at shortstop. Hole at first and Boeckel at third are last year's regulars.

Even if Barbare lives up mechanically to Maranville's measurements, which may overrate him, the infield will suffer from the loss of fire and pop that Maranville spread around him.

With Gowdy, O'Neil and Gibson behind the plate, the catching department will not cause worry. They are not the best catchers in the league, but they will do. O'Neil, with more work promises to develop into one of the best receivers in the league.

Of more than a dozen pitchers on the roll, Oeschger is the best. His chief coworkers will be Pillingim, Scott and McQuillan. Dick Rudolph is still with the club.

The crying pitching need is a first-class left hander. Perhaps one will be found in Cooney, Townsend or Braxton.

CHARGES CONSPIRACY IN THE STOKES CASE

Allege Agents Sought To Connect Mrs. W. E. D. Stokes With The Elwell Murder.

By HAROLD B. JACOBS United Press Staff Correspondent. NEW YORK, April 5.—Details of the alleged "gigantic conspiracy," which Mrs. W. E. D. Stokes is said to have directed against Mrs. Stokes in his divorce suit, was revealed exclusively to the United Press today.

Martin W. Littleton, counsel for Mrs. Stokes, said he would introduce evidence in an effort to prove the following:

"That Stokes agents sought to obtain evidence showing Mrs. Stokes killed Joseph B. Elwell, the turkman who was murdered here last June.

"That they also sought to obtain identification of Mrs. Stokes as one of the 'red haired' women reported to figure in the divorce suit of James A. Stillman.

These purported charges were never followed up by Stokes' representatives—so far as any evidence introduced in the divorce trial is concerned.

Littleton emphasized "the utter ridiculousness" of the alleged "conspiracy."

The first inkling of Littleton's intention came unexpectedly during cross examination of Leslie S. Petrie, secretary for Stokes.

Petrie was being examined regarding two keys which were introduced into evidence yesterday. These keys were said to have been found in a writing desk formerly used by Mrs. Stokes in her husband's New York apartment late in 1918, after the Stokes had separated.

According to testimony already given, one of the keys fitted the front door of the New York apartment of Edgar T. Wallace, San Francisco oil and mine promoter, one of the co-respondents.

The witness was custodian of the keys after their discovery. Littleton asked him:

"Don't you know that Jentzer (the former department of justice operative who said he fitted the key to Wallace's apartment while employed by Stokes) took the keys to the apartment of Joseph B. Elwell and tried to fit them to the door there?"

"No," Petrie replied.

Littleton quickly switched to another line of questioning.

Littleton was asked by the United Press what he had in mind when he spoke of Elwell.

"We hope to introduce evidence to show that an attempt was made by the other side to identify Mrs. Stokes as one of the 'red haired women' in the Stillman case.

"We also will try to show that an effort was made to identify Mrs. Stokes as one of the 'red haired women' in the Stillman case.

"There are other things we will seek to show in this apparent conspiracy—most of them unprintable."

Tell School Girls What Should Not Be Done by Lady

CHICAGO, April 5.—Twenty-three high school deans laid down the law to the flappers they teach today.

The law comes in a book still wet from the pen of Miss F. E. Smith, dean of Wendell Phillips high school, and 22 other deans.

According to the book, if a high school girl is to be a perfect lady she must not:

Cross her legs any place but in the privacy of her own boudoir.

Chew gum in public (and not very often in private).

Have curbstones dates with her gentlemen friends.

Sing ragtime.

Talk in movies.

Toddle.

Rouge.

Wiggle.

SOCIETY FOR ENCOURAGEMENT OF FEMALE DEMURENESS

CHICAGO, April 5.—Society for the Encouragement of Female Demureness, was launched today at Chicago University.

This fraternity requires the initiates to assume the following obligations:

1.—Never to give or offer to females any cigarettes or chewing tobacco or candy, hooch, moonshine, home brew, or alcoholic toilet water.

2.—Never to look when a female climbs up a high street car step.

3.—Always to hide the eyes when a female displays more than two inches of hosiery.

The reform wave started when Miss Ruth Hess, sophomore, wrote to the Daily Maroon, student paper, that "when men object, as they do, to the frivolities of women, it is time for them to get busy and reform them."

CHARGE CONSPIRACY TO ROB THE PUBLIC

Material Men And Labor Involved In Alleged Disclosure Made in Chicago.

By United Press. CHICAGO, April 5.—The state of Illinois called on the United States department of justice to break up the industrial underworld in connection with the building industry here.

Disclosure of widespread violation of state and federal laws made before the legislative investigating committee, led Senator Dalley, chairman, to send a wire to Attorney General Daugherty asking aid.

The attorney general was asked to "break up a condition in Chicago which is throttling home and commercial construction."

"Violous practices pointing to a conspiracy of labor and material men to rob the public have been found," said Dalley.

Executive session of the hearing was resumed today.

LABOR LEADERS OFFER TO PROVE AUTHENTICITY OF THE ALLEGED I. W. GEEB LETTER

CHICAGO, April 5.—The authenticity of a letter signed with the name I. W. Geer, general manager of the south-western Pennsylvania railroad, at St. Louis, which suggested "defamation of all labor organizations if necessary to obtain certain information," can be substantiated by witnesses, labor representatives declared before the railroad labor board here today.

The board was asked to call five witnesses including Mr. Geer, to clear up the matter at once. The letter, dated March 18, 1921, and introduced by labor representatives in the rules hearing, was addressed to all supervisory employees and asked them to obtain information regarding the attitude of employees on a proposed wage reduction.

KU KLUX KLAN DENIES ANY CONNECTION WITH THE COVINGTON, GA. CASE

ATLANTA, Ga., April 5.—That the Ku Klux Klan is in no way concerned in the case of John S. Williams, who is being tried in Covington, Ga., on a charge of murdering a number of negroes, and that the order does not believe in or countenance the killing of the law for its members' own hands, was declared in a statement issued today by Col. Wm. Joseph Simmons, imperial wizard of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

When the attention of Colonel Simmons was called to a story under a Covington date line stating it was alleged there was a "Ku Klux plot to incite riot at Covington, he said:

"I feel that some one must have given false information to the United Press."

"Any statement that the Ku Klux Klan as an organization, or that any of its members, acting either for themselves or for this organization, planned a race riot in the interest of John S. Williams or any other person, or that it fomented or sought to foment, for any purpose whatsoever, any disturbance between the white and the colored races at any time or for any purpose is entirely without foundation and does this organization a very great injustice.

We are not even advised, except through the publication of the story herein referred to, that any person or persons has charged this organization with inciting or seeking to incite clashes between the races at Covington, but if such charges have been made they are the result of malicious efforts to damage this organization and bring it into disrepute.

"Thorough investigation by our authorized representatives discloses that no member of the Ku Klux Klan has been, or is now connected in any shape or fashion with any feature of the affair in which John S. Williams is involved."

"The Knights of Ku Klux Klan is a law-abiding, patriotic, fraternal organization bearing charters from both the state of Georgia and from the superior court of Fulton county, Georgia. It does not believe in and does not countenance taking the law into its own hands, but does believe in impartial enforcement of all law all the time, and to this end stands ready and at all times to aid the regularly constituted law enforcement officers whenever its services may be needed.

"The Knights of the Ku Klux Klan does not believe in and does not countenance the use of force or violence, intimidation or threats, and it has been stated repeatedly in public addresses by all authorized representatives of this organization that should any member of this organization identify with any movement not countenanced by law, he would be punished immediately from membership in this organization and no efforts would be spared by the Ku Klux Klan to bring upon him the proper punishment under the law which his conduct deserved."

COTTON MARKET.

New York Cotton.—Liverpool advices made an unfavorable impression on sentiment in the cotton market here at the opening today. The early cables were higher but Liverpool lost the advance before the local opening and private reports indicated increased pessimism over the labor situation. Otherwise traders found no special factors in the general news and the early ruling of the market here showed more nervousness than was shown on any decided trend. The opening was unchanged to 6 points lower and prices fluctuated between 11.75 and 11.74 for May and 12.25 and 12.21 for July after the call. It was reported that the southern authority estimated the reduction in acreage at 75 per cent. Trading remained very quiet later in the morning with the attention of traders almost entirely absorbed by English labor news. This emphasized the seriousness of the situation and toward midday prices sagged off a few points, with May selling down from 11.75 to 11.70 and July from 12.25 to 12.21, or about 5 to 10 points less than the ruling at the opening. The Liverpool and Manchester reports continued buying of cotton goods for shipment to the continent. The sagging movement continued into the early afternoon but only in a moderate way. The market closed at 11.74 for May and 12.21 for July. The market was 14 to 14 points under the final of yesterday, with May off to 11.74 and July 12.21. New Orleans Cotton.—A small and narrow market prevailed in cotton in the early trading today. The English labor news was such as to prevent buying on a large scale, while on the other hand, the seemingly general opinion that unfavorable factors had been discounted was against selling. Prices moved from an advance of 1 to 2 points to net declines of 1 to 2 points. May trading at its best in the first half hour of business at 11.82. The market sagged in a small way following the continued unfavorable news of British labor. The market closed at 11.82 for May and 12.21 for July.

BROWN RESIGNS HIS SCHOOL BOARD PLACE

To Continue As Business Manager; Successor To Be Chosen At Meeting Late Friday.

The resignation of W. W. Brown as a member of the school board was presented at a board meeting held late Thursday. Mr. Brown's retirement as a trustee does not affect his position as business manager for the schools, which position he will continue to hold as an employee of the board. Mr. Brown is one of the oldest members of the board in point of service, and his wide experience in the business affairs of the schools prompted the trustees, over a year ago, to employ him as business manager. He continues to serve as a trustee. Recently he decided that it would be better if he gave up his seat as trustee. Successors to Mr. Brown and M. O. McDowell, who has also resigned, will be chosen at a meeting of the board scheduled for late Friday. W. M. Priddy, elected last Saturday as a trustee, was sworn in at Thursday's meeting.

WELL WATER FOUND TO CONTAIN ARSENIC SOURCE IS MYSTERY

Chemists at the city sanitary department laboratory were testing samples of water Friday from a well on the farm of Nick Martin, near Windthorpe which through some unaccountable agency is constantly being poisoned with arsenic. On March 21 Martin submitted samples of water from the same well and after tests extending over three days had been completed it was found that the water contained unmistakable traces of the poison. Martin has cleaned the well thoroughly on several occasions since that time, it is said, but the arsenic continues to find its way into the water. The samples tested Friday morning contained practically the same percentage of poison as those brought in at first, but how it gets into the water remains a mystery.

Bergdoll Will Be Brought Back Says One Congressman

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Bergdoll will be brought back, predicted Representative Kahn, California, chairman of the house military affairs committee, today. Kahn said he will reintroduce Monday his resolution for an investigation of the entire Bergdoll affair. He will also demand the return of Bergdoll and will praise the government policy, first announced exclusively by the United Press, to bring back from Germany the millionaire draft dodger. "Bergdoll cannot get by with his flouts and insults to this country and with his idea that there is one rule for millionaire slackers and another for poor ones," Kahn said. "He must be punished and the cloud hanging over the country must be cleared up."

TO ELIMINATE DEALER WHO CUTS THE PRICE

Not To Sell The Irresponsible Broker Or The Price-Cutting Jobber in Oil Industry.

To eliminate from the industry of the price-cutting retailer, and the irresponsible broker as one of the steps toward restoring market conditions to normal was recognized as necessary by the newly-organized sales managers' division of the Western Petroleum Refiners' Association, when the division held a meeting at Oklahoma City, Friday, April 1, says the National Petroleum News. The sales managers adopted a resolution not to sell to the irresponsible broker or the price-cutting jobber.

Campaign For Co-Operation.
The action taken at the meeting was one step in the campaign being carried on by both branches of the industry to drive the irresponsible individuals who are continually disturbing the marketing conditions in some part of the country out of the business.

The stiffening of prices of gasoline at the refinery during the past two weeks has had the effect of narrowing considerably the margin which enabled some companies to jump into the field and make some money, and at present there is not as much room for price-cutting as there has been up to a short time ago.

Gasoline Market Strengthening.
The demand for gasoline has increased considerably during the week and the same is true of neutral oils in the east, although the demand for gasoline at the north Texas plants slackened off somewhat. Kerosene is very weak everywhere, with considerable stocks on hand in the Mid-Continent, and at some of the eastern refineries.

Exporting companies at New York report a gradual growth of business for overseas, but the business has not yet reached sufficient proportions to take up the slack caused by the quietness of the domestic market, especially on kerosene, cylinder stocks and wax.

Fuel Oil Stronger in East.
Fuel oil is weak in the Mid-Continent, but in the east the price shows some advance from that ruling a week ago and the product is moving in fairly good volume from the Pennsylvania plants. The latter are running considerably below their capacity, with the result that big quantities of products are not being thrown on the market and the refiners are holding their prices pretty well.

There were no further changes in crude posted prices during the week and the market is regarded as stabilized at present figures by most observers. The tank wagon market over the country registered no changes except in the trouble areas of Texas and Rocky mountain territory, where price wars are in progress.
