City Gets $18,126 In Disaster Funds

The city has received $18,126.52 in federal disaster funds, it was announced at Monday night's city council meeting.

A grant of $11,703.52 was received as an aftermath of Hurricane Beulah and an allocation of $6,423 has been received following the disaster declaration in June following heavy rains.

The $6,423 represents 75 per cent of a federal grant of $8,564. The remaining 25 per cent will be received when all local work is finished and all records have been sent to the government.

Work performed by the city workers as a result of both grants included drainage work cleaning out ditches, repairing the sewer plant and streets.

When Mayor Delmar R. Hiller made the announcement about the grants, Alderman N. F. Jackson paid tribute to the mayor, city tax assessor Herman Johnson, city secretary Mrs. Mary Lake Segler, public works commissioner Tom Shults, the entire city staff and city workmen for "doing a fine job, including keeping accurate records which were necessary for the city to get the grants."

In other action at the council meeting:

—The aldermen agreed with recommendations of the city planning and zoning commission on two applications for rezoning.

In one case, a request by L. A. Newman of San Antonio to locate a mobile home on two lots at Orleans and Pearl Streets was turned down. Members of the planning and zoning commission explained that they have been following a policy of approving only those requests (regarding mobile homes locating on city property other than trailer courts) where sickness or hardship is involved and then the request is granted only on a temporary basis.

In the second zoning request, aldermen approved an application from Bracht Lum-

City Crime Rate Down

Chief of Police Bob Hewes today reported that the rate for "serious" crimes in this city is down 41.6 per cent for the first nine months of 1968 as compared with the same period last year.

This includes homicides, rapes, robbery, assaults, burglaries, thefts, auto thefts, forgeries and swindling, theft of livestock and narcotic violations.

Hewes said the reason for the dicrease is the willingness of store owners and residents to take precautionary measures to help prevent such crimes. Checking to make sure that homes and stores are locked and have proper lighting, he said, are two of the best prevention measures.

In his police report for September, Hewes listed the following cases:

Discharging firearms in city, 1; intoxication, 3; minors in possession of alcohol 7; aggravated assault, 1; disturbing the peace, 1; auto accidents, 8; injuries, 1; property damage, $2,735.

Traffic violations included: No driver's license, 1; running stop sign, 2; speeding, 3; wrong side of road not in passing, 1; failure to yield right-of-way, 1; passing without safety, 1; cutting corner, 1; and passing within 100 feet of an intersection, 1.

New Parcel Post Rates Effective Oct. 19

Postmaster Maynard Rowan reminds postal customers that higher parcel post and catalog rates will go into effeut Saturday, Oct. 19.

The rate increase will average 10.5 per cent and in most cases will mean an additional ten cents postage per parcel.

The higher rates were approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission in July.

Under the new rates the minimum charge for local parcel delivery will go from 40 to 50 cents. The minimum charge for parcels destined outside the local delivery area will be raised from 50 cents to 60 cents.

Almost all parcels that are charged up to $1.10 under present rates will go up 10 cents. This accounts for more than 80 per cent of all parcel post, Postmaster Rowan points out.

There will be a 15-cent hike on most parcels now charged between $1.10 and $4, and a 20 cent increase on parcels now charged over $4.

Parcel post rates are based on the weight of the package and the distance it is mailed.

Higher rates for the delivery of packages and catalogs are required to bring revenue from this type of mail with four per cent of operating costs, as required by law. The higher rates are designed to put parcels and catalogs, which are fourth-class mail, on a break even basis.

A city planning expert has recommended that the Rockport area embark on a $2,910,000 capital improvements program during a five-year period as part of a long range plan for Rockport.

Visualizing much growth and modernization in the area between now and 1990, Robert Grossman of Harland Bartholomew and Associates made the recommendation this week in a presentation at the Woman's Club building.

The meeting was sponsored jointly by the City of Rockport and the Chamber of Commerce and was attended by city, county and state officials and civic leaders.

Grossman's proposals for the capital improvements programs shape up as follows:

2) Connect FM 2165, Pearl and Church Streets; estimated cost, $150,000; to be financed by City of Rockport.

3) Adopt major street system, developed to State Highway arterial street standards; estimated cost, $250,000; to be financed by Aransas County and City of Rockport. Subtotal: $700,000.

Whoopers Expected To Arrive Here Soon

The arrival of some of the nation's rare whooping crane flock at the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge at Austwell is expected soon, possibly next week, according to a refuge official.

Forty-eight of the birds, including 39 adults and nine checks, made the flight from the Canadian nesting grounds last year. The whoopers stay at the refuge from late October until mid April.

The remoteness of their nesting grounds near the Great Slave Lake in Canada makes it impossible to count the birds until they all arrive at the Austwell refuge.

Register 79 For Adult Education

Seventy - nine people have registered for the Adult Basic Education program. The largest number of these people have enrolled in the program to prepare for the high school equivalency diploma exam.

It has been necessary to add a fourth teacher to the program because of this large enrollment. Last year, there were three teachers used in the program, and that number of teachers was planned this year.

At the present time, the registration must be closed on the high school equivalency classes. Those who wish to take basic or intermediate classes may still enroll for this program. The basic and intermediate programs are for those who have less than an eighth grade education. Adults are encouraged to enroll in these two classes in order to be prepared to take the high school program next year.

Classes will be conducted each Tuesday and Thursday evening from 7:30 until 9 p.m. at Rockport Elementary School.

ADVISORY COMMITTEES MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS REGARDING LONG RANGE PLAN FOR CITY

After Robert Grossman of Harland Bartholomew and Associates prepared a tentative report on a long range plan for the city, the City Council appointed four planning committees consisting of 54 leading citizens to study the plan and make recommendations regarding it.

These committees worked hard and made many recommendations which Grossman incorporated in his new preliminary report on a long range, or comprehensive, plan for the city.

The following summary of these recommendations illustrates the manner in which the committees' work has been used to develop the proposed Capital Improvements Program described in another page 1 article in today's paper:

Economic Background Committee

1. Stimulate property improvements by individual owners and merchants.

2. Construct community center as a local investment to stimulate tourism and recreation.

3. Construct major highway improvements and improve major street system.

4. Promote the city and area as a resort destination and convention center.

Land Use Committee

1. Close streets and alleys not in use.

As everyone in this area knows, rainfall this year and last greatly exceeded the average of about 33 inches per year.

But the exact figures for so far in 1968 for all of 1967 and for previous years going back to 1957 may be of interest. Paul C. Sorenson, local weather observer, dug out these figures.

HIGHWAY BIDS PUT OFF

The city council's approval of a resolution refusing to accept Highway Department plans (in their present form) for the business route through town, along with Mayor Hollis Collum's statement that the plans had never been formally approved by the council, caused T. MARINE BIOLOGISTS WILL CONDUCT CREEL CENSUS

Marine laboratory biologists met with the tourist bureau of the Chamber of Commerce to solicit the co-operation of court owners in a creel census which the biologists plan to conduct next year.

At the present time no one has any idea how the total number of fish caught by sportsmen compares with the number brought in by commercial fishermen. The census will be taken to determine the actual number of fish that sport fishermen are actually catching. The laboratory has data on about 90 per cent of the commercial catch, and will make every effort to get at least that much of the sport's catch.

YESTERDAY'S TELEPHONES

It was one of those quiet Sunday afternoons and the front doorbell broke the silence. The caller, apologizing, asked: "Do you have a telephone and if so, may I use it to call a service station to fix a tire?"

The way the man put the question "Do you have a telephone?" started some thinking back into the past—back to the days when the telephone was comparatively young and there were only a few homes with them.

Fact is, back in those days having a telephone put a family into a very special class. Only one or two homes on a street had one. You were known and identified as the family with a phone.

Things are different today. A home without a phone is unusual. Just the reverse to what it was back in the old days.

Those folks who had often wished they didn't for there might come a knock on the door any hour of the day or night from folks up the way who asked "May I use your phone?"

Having a phone back in those days was like having a community tool. Word got around that the Smiths, the Jonses had a phone and "they don't mind people using it."

Then there were the incoming calls for neighbors. The folks who had a phone were the first to hear about accidents, deaths and births, for friends of neighbors would call and ask if it would be imposing to call a neighbor down the street to the phone. Youngsters in a house that had a telephone became messengers. "Run down to the Smith's and tell them they are wanted on the phone," the mother would say to Junior, and no matter what Junior was doing he had to run.

But times have changed. Today one expects everyone to have a telephone and nearly everyone does. It's a way of life— so much so that the back fense for gossip has been replaced by the instrument Mr. Bell tossed upon us. Today it's "telephone gossip" rather than "back fence gossip."

JAPANESE PIONEERING

While America's merchant marine continues to decline, Japan's renown as a shipbuilding and operating nation enhances each year. Evidences of the imagination and skill of the Japanese is the tanker Bulford, which at 210,822 tons is the largest ship in the world. She currently is undergoing sea trial before delivery to an oil transport firm in London.

Of special interest is the fact that only 28 crewmen are required to operate this ship that is almost three times the size of America's biggest aircraft carrier. Automation makes possible a small crew.

Some U. S. citizens must wonder why U. S. shipbuilders have not constructed vessels of equal size and why American companies don't operate them on the oil routes. Isn't the United States the world leader in technology? Yes, it is. Unfortunately, automation at sea has been bitterly resisted by the maritime unions. These unions apparently will hold out for costly manning practices even if it means the ultimate loss of all jobs at seas. Futhermore, labor in Japanese shipyards is aware that the country has to outdistance the opposition in building ships. A similar awarness is not apparent in the USA.—Charleston (S.C.) ROCK OF GIBRALTAR

Spanish curtailment of tourist travel to the strategic peninsula of Gibraltar is a clear indication this problem is likely to warm up again.

Tourism is the main income of the handful of residents of the rocky promontory and the Spanish action designed to wrest control of Gibraltar from the British will hurt.

Unfortunately, there is too much pride, history and legal right involved in the issue for either side to compromise readily. The Rock of Gibraltar is no longer a world symbol of stability and soundness. And another major diplomatic crises is the last thing the Western needs today.—San Diego Union.

INCREASE IN CRIME

There are some Americans who continue to dismiss the increase in crime by pointing to the fact that our population has increased. The truth of the matter, however, is that the population has gone up only 10 per cent whereas crime has dramatically increased 88 per cent during the last seven years.

In his testimony, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover declared that "surely the time for concerted action to meet this (crime) problem cannot be delayed any longer." Indeed it cannot. Strong citizen and financial support of all law enforcement agencies is urgently vital. There is really no alternative.—Burlington (Vt.) Free Press.

no more "clothesline hangup" with an electric dryer

When fall weather is foul weather . . . you need an electric clothes dryer. It's the greatest little sunshine maker yet invented. Gentle electric heat dries laundry day or night . . . for just about 5 cents a load. Permanent press clothes were expressly made to be dried electrically. They come out wrinkle-free . . . ready to wear again. End clothesline hangup at your house . . . with an electric clothes dryer.

Pirates Lose First Game

By Dan T. Oliver

The Rockport-Fulton High School Fighting Pirates lost to George West in their second district game, 27 to 14 on Oct. 11.

The game opened with George West kicking off to the Pirates without a return. The Pirates moved the ball up to the 17-yard line only to find themselves having to punt the ball.

The Pirate Defense held the Longhorns to force them to push the ball back.

The Pirates moved well up to the 40-yard line to find trouble in making yardage on the ground, so the Pirates then went to the air. A Rockport pass was incomplete, and a 5-yard penalty forced the Pirates to punt.

The Longhorns received the punt on their own 30-yard line without a return. George West then started down the field getting into Pirate territory. They moved up to the Pirate 29-yard line where they tried a field goal but the attempt failed.

Rockport started up the field but had to punt. The Longhorns moved quickly down field at the end of the first quarter.

Early in the second quarter, the Longhorns were able to move closer to the goal. Pipin then went one-half yard for a George West touchdown with the conversion failing.

The Pirates, receiving the ball, returned it to their 30-yard line. Later there was a flag for a penalty, forcing the Pirates to punt. George West moved up to the Pirate 2-yard line. But the Pirate defense held the Longhorns from scoring.

The Pirates couldn't move from their own 2-yard line.

George West managed to get through the Pirates, line to gain a 2-point safety.

Rockport then kicked to the Longhorns, to end the first half, with the score, Pirates 0, Longhorns 8.

The third quarter opened with Rockport kicking to George West. The Longhorns moved to the 15-yard line and they were forced to punt.

The Pirates returned the punt to their 15-yard line, and later moved it up to their own 45-yard line. Then a Rockport fumble was recovered by George West.

George West fumbled within a few plays and the Pirates recovered.

The Pirates then moved up to the Longhorns 20-yard line and continued to move. Quarterback Johnny Jackson made a 7-yard touchdown and conversion for Rockport, which tied the game, Pirates 8, Longhorns 8.

George West, receiving the Pirate kick, moved down field slowly. Later the Pirates found the Longhorns going for another touchdown to take the lead once again. The conversion failed.

Pirates, now having the ball, moved to about mid-field where a Pirate pass was intercepted.

The Longhorns made another touchdown with the conversion failing.

Rockport on their own 40-yard line could not get their passes off, and there was another Pirate pass intercepted by the Longhorns.

George West was soon on the Rockport 4-yard line. A penalty on Rockport put the ball on the 2-yard line. This lead to a Longhorn touchdown with the conversion being good.

Rockport then had trouble moving the ball so they came out in punting formation. George West had to punt it back within a few plays.

The Pirates, now having the ball on their own 25-yard line, sent Ruford Huff on a 75-yard end sweep for a Rockport touchdown. The conversion failed.

The game ended with Rockport having their first loss since they opened this year's season: Piraes 14, Longhorns 27.

George West gained 317 yards rushing to Rockport's 203½, with each team having one fumble.

George West led in first downs but was penalized 75 yards to Rockport's 43.

Methodists Honor Mr. and Mrs. Glass

Last Sunday was "Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Glass Day" at First Methodist Church with all activities honoring this highly respected couple.

At the regular church service honoring them, the guest speaker was Pat Morris, prominent Corpus Christi attorney and member of Aldersgate Methodist Church. This and all services were planned by laymen of the church.

Immediately following the service a covered dish dinner was served in the Fellowship Hall in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Glass.

At 1 p.m. a special program was held in the church during which old sacred hymns that are favorites of the popular couple were sung. The speaker, Lee Roy Young, paid tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Glass and outlined some of their many community, civic and church activities over the years.

One of the highlights was the announcement by J. D. Gray that an "A. C. Glass Scholarship Fund" is being established by the board of the church in honor of both Mr. and Mrs. Glass. The objective is to raise the necessary funds to help someone from the church get the necessary education to go into full-time church work.

Glass operated First National Bank for 26 years, is past vice president of the institution and is founder of the insurance firm of Glass, Sorenson and McDavid.

DPS to Use 'Breathalyzer' In DWI Cases

The problem of drinking while driving, which Texas Department of Public Safety experts say is involved in many fatal accidents in the state, is soon to come under increased enforcement pressure as the Texas Highway Patrol begins use of breath analysis instruments.

Col. Wilson E. (Pat) Speir, director of the Department of Public Safety said that 450 highway patrolmen and sergeants last week completed training in use of "breathalyzer" which analyzes a suspect's breath to determine the percentage of alcohol in his bloodstream.

The DPS recently secured a Federal grant of $114,627 to launch the breath testing project. Funds obtained under the grant were matched with state funds and used to buy 90 breathalyzer instruments, to hire six additional chemists for supervision of the program and to train the DPS personnel in use of the equipment.

"We plan to locate breathalyzers in about 80 of the state's most poplous counties where the driving while intoxicated problem is greatest," Speir said. "Trained personnel will use the instruments under rigidly controlled scientific conditions," he added.

Driving while intoxicated suspects who consent to the test will accompany the highway patrolman to an office where an instrument is located. There, the suspect will blow into a tube attached to the breathalyzer and the percentage of alcohol in his blood will register on an indicator on the instrument's face.

"The test will be of special value to persons suspected of being drunk, but who are driving erratically due to illness or other reasons," Speir said.

DPS officials believe the program will establish the value of breath testing by contrasting its effectiveness with contiguous areas which do not have it. And they hope the project will ultimately delineate the need for a chemical test law and implied consent law for control of the driving while intoxicated problem in Texas.

The magnitude of the problem is reflected in studies conducted by the DPS. It is believed that — depending on area — the use of alcohol figures in from 40 to 50 per cent of the traffic deaths in the state. Based on the 1967 traffic death toll of 3,367, the use of alcohol may have accounted for 1,347 to 1,684 fatalities.

Nationwide, an equally alarming pattern was uncovered by the U. S. Department of Transportation. In an August 1968 report to the Congress, the Secretary of Transportation said, "The use of alcohol by drivers and pedestrians leads to some 25,000 deaths and a total of at least 800,000 crashes in the United States each year."

The Department of Transportation report went on to say that "Through research conducted over the past 25 years 'alcohol has been found to be the largest single factor leading to fatal crashes.' Drivers with very high concentration of alcohol in their blood —'one to four per cent of drivers on the road'—are accounting for about 50-55 per cent of all single vehicle crashes in which drivers are fatally injured."

Studies indicate that a driver with 0.10 per cent by weight blood alcohol is six or seven times as likely to be involved in an accident as a non-drinking driver, and the 0.15 per cent by weight, he is 25 times as likely to be involved.

Speir said, "It is hoped that the Department of Public Safety's breathalyzer project will hit hard at the problem and help reduce the traffic death rate in Texas."

APPLICATION DEADLINE NEARS FOR NEW ARMY SCHOLARSHIPS

New scholarships ranging from $400 to $6,000 for Army dependents who attain semifinalist or commended student status in the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMSQT) have been announced for school year 1969-70 by the Department of the Army.

Applications for these scholarships must be returned by Nov. 15, according to Tolmer S. McKinley, chief of the education branch at Headquarters Fourth U. S. Army Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas.

Eligible are those students who took the NMSQT in 1967-68 during their junior year of high school, will graduate from high school and enter college in the summer and fall of 1969. The National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC) will notify the respective high schools this month of those who attained semifinalist or commended student status. The parent of each student awarded an Army scholarship for the next school year must be on active duty in the Army as of Dec. 15, 1968.

"Every student in either category should apply for the new scholarships in order to protect himself," McKinley stresses. "The NMSC does not notify the Department of the Army of the list of scholarship eligibles, and application is not automatic."

The U. S. Army Special Scholarships are in addition to those U. S. Army Merit Scholarships now being offered by the Army Central Welfare Fund, and there is no limit to the number which may be awarded. Depending on the individual student financial need as determined by NMSC, the scholarships will provide from $100 to $1,500 each year for four years at any accredited college or university offering a bachelor's degree.

Winners of the U. S. Army Merit Scholarships and U. S. Army Special Scholarships will be announced next May by Headquarters, Department of the Army.

Application blanks for the scholarships may be obtained at the Army installation of the military sponsor or by writing the Army Education Center, AKPSH-AP-E, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, 78234.

Local Couple's Daughter Honored

Mrs. Elsie K. Clark, Polk County Extension home economist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kunkel, will receive a distinguished service award from the National Association of Extension Home Economists at its annual meeting in Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 1.

Mrs. Clark's selection to receive the honor was based on her leadership and organization skills in developing a broad homemaker education program in the county that reaches all economic levels.

Classes in clothing renovation, canning, nutrition, use of abundant foods, child guidance, simple home repairs, money management and sanitation have been conducted under Mrs. Clark's guidance.

To augment family incomes, Mrs. Clark coordinated an eight-week program for training migrant women for housekeeping employment during the season when they could not work in the fields.

Two years ago, the national Florence Hall Award of the NAEHE was presented to Mrs. Clark for her outstanding work in helping Spanish-American migrant families become integrated into the community by learning to better utilize their resources and improve their standard of living.

Mrs. Clark has been on the Oregon State University Extension staff in Dallas since 1960.

Letter to the Editor

This past week we were privileged to journey with the band to Houston where they participated in the University of Houston Band Day halftime show. These boys and girls are to be commended for their good behavior, courtesy, promptness and all around good showmanship.

They take care of loading and unloading the buses, cleaning them, check uniforms, instruments and each other. They know what must be done and they do it without a moment's hesitation.

Rockport should be very proud to have such a fine group representing them. We say 'Hats Off" to The Rockport-Fulton High School Band, and to Mr. Massey and Mr. Lankart for the beautiful job they are doing.

Frank Casterline has been seriously ill in Spohn Hospital in Corpus Christi. He has improved very much. His room No. is 287.

Deer Reported In Good Shape In Goliad Area

With an abundance of rainfall in the Goliad area, food and cover are excellent and the deer population is in top condition, a survey by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department indicates.

But all that food and cover promises to create a difficult season for the hunter unless an early freeze kills the oversupply of vegetation.

The report notes a high number of twin fawns this year in this area of the Oak Prairie District. Ample acorn and pecan crops were noted.

As has been the case over most of the state, hunting of mourning doves has been somewhat slow in this area. A slight increase was reported in the last few days. The South Zone season extends through Nov. 19 while the North Zone season closes Oct. 30.

Generally speaking, the quail crops in South Central Texas, the survey disclosed, probably will stand among the finest in several years.

Quail season in Goliad county will open Nov. 9 and extend through Jan. 31. Deer and turkey will become legal game in this county too, on Nov. 9 but the seasons will close Jan. 1.

Goliad is expected to have another antlerless deer harvest in some areas of the county, but there has been no announcement on specific zones.

Mourning Doves Move South

Austin—Mourning doves are moving out of the northern part of the state due to a recent cold front, according to Ted Clark, statewide mourning dove project leader for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Clark says the mild cold front with some rain came through while he was doing field work. He said he later observed large flights of doves 200 to 300 in a flock, flying very high and heading south. Field surveys substantiate these observations.

"The doves are a little behind schedule," Clark said. "They usually hit a peak in the South Hunting Zone around Oct. 1."

Clark says the instinct to move south is built into the birds. When a cold front moves through, this trig gers instinctive urge to initiate the fall migration.

According to Clark, it is doubtful that the doves moved completely through the state, but did move their residence somewhat further south.

Clark says mourning doves probably do their migrating in degrees. When a bird moves south, he doesn't know what he will find. If conditions are right at the end of the first leg of his journey he'll stay around. If there is no food available he'll move on because he has to."

Clark says there should be plenty of food in most areas of the South Zone to hold the southbound doves for a little while.

Miss Carolyn Mayes, W. M. Cox, Jr. Exchange Vows

Miss Carolyn Mayes became the bride of Willard M. Cox, Jr., son of Mrs. Annie Cox, Saturday evening, Oct. 12 at Calvary Baptist Church with Boyce Laqua, pastor, officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Bruce C. Mayes, chose an informal white satin dress overlayed with white lace. Her shoulder length veil of illusion fell from a beaded crown of pearls. She carried a colonial cascade of white roses. Their attendants were Miss Terry Wishert and Boyd McMakin, Baytown, brother-in-law of the groom.

A reception was held at the church following the wedding. The table was laid with a white cloth and held an arrangement of white and yellow Peter John mums, daisy pom poms and leather leaf accented with miniature wedding bells in a crystal compote. Mrs. Wesley Purdy and Mrs. Boyd McMakin served.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Port Lavaca.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Boyd McMakin of Baytown.

Wesleyan Service Guild Meets

The Wesleyan Service Guild met Oct. 8 in the Methodist Fellowship Hall, with Mrs. Jack Horton as hostess. Mrs. B. W. Hamblin, president, called the meeting to order.

Mrs. Hamblin opened the business session with a prayer. Mrs. Hamblin reported on the Guild's district meeting held in Corpus Christi, Oct. 6.

Spiritual Life Retreat Oct. 19-20 at Mt. Wesley or at Weslaco in the McAllen District, Oct 26-27. The Guild's annual meeting will be in Austin March 1-2, 1969. The meeting closed with the guild benediction.

Those present were Mrs. E. G. Cooke, Mrs. C. L. Harris, Mrs. B. W. Hamblin, Mrs. Minta Lancaster, Mrs. Faye Hartman, Mrs. J. D. Donaldson, Mrs. Horton and one visitor, Mrs. J. W. Campbell.

Mrs. Hilyard R. W. Moore Wed

R. W. Moore and Mrs. Alice L. Hilyard were united in marriage Wednesday, Oct. 16 at 10 a.m. at the Presbyterian Manse, with the Rev. Cecil H. Lang, Jr., officiating. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brice were the couple's attendants. After a wedding trip to West Texas they will make their home at 1906 Johnson Ave.

cilities; $500,000; to be financed by Aransas County and Federal assistance.

2) Park land purchase fund; $100,000; to be financed by Aransas County, Rockport and Federal assistance. Sub-total, $600,000.

Total for all projects: $2,910,000.

Grossman said the various projects identified as a part of the Capital Improvement Program were presented in sequence of priority. The total program will cost almost $3 million — about two-thirds local money and one-third state and federal.

In the first five-year period, he said, residents of Rockport would finance about $550,000 in general obligation bonds, and the total for Aransas County would be $1 million in general obligation bonds.

Overlapping debt (residents of the city also pay county taxes and would participate equally with other county residents in the larger projects) will amount to about 12 per cent.

City residents would be called upon to finance about $670,000 in general obligation improvements and other county residents about $380,000. With one-half of the county assessed valuation derived from mineral production, the remaining $500,000 in general obligation bonds would come from properties benefiting from this gift of nature.

Rockport's share of the capital improvements will cost resident taxpayers an estimated $670,000 (including the overlapping debt for anticipated county general obligation bonds).

Grossman said that "since the current level of taxation is low, the new cost is relatively modest, and the improvements will serve to stimulate new growth, the added cost can only be considered a good investment in the future of Rockport."

Mrs. William Church and Mrs. Norman Schwerke of San Antonio spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Christilles.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mayers, Miss Lillian Farran of Roseville spent Monday and Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Christilles.

BAND DAY AT HOUSTON SUCCESS

The Rockport-Fulton High School Pirate Band left Rockport on three school buses last Saturday morning for Houston to participate in the University of Houston Band Day in the Astrodome.

After parking the buses behind the Astrodome and checking to see if everyone was awake, Bob Massey and sponsors distributed AstroWorld tickets to the band.

Within a few minutes an Astroworld motor train arrived to take the band to the entrance of the AstroWorld. On this motor train ride the band passed over the AstroWorld Bridge, which is the only privately owned bridge that crosses over an interstate highway in the world.

Following the band's visit to AstroWorld, they reported back to the buses to change in to their band uniforms to be ready for the massed band rehearsal in the Astrodome from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m. The Pirate band and 80 other bands attended this rehearsal for the half-time for that night.

After practice the band ate in the Astrodome and then returned to their assigned seats to watch the University of Houston-Oklahoma State football game.

Then came halftime as 81 bands went onto the field to perform. The bands played three numbers: Elsa's Processional to the Cathedral, You'll Never Walk Alone, and America the Beautiful. These numbers were directed by Carmen Dragon, a national figure in the composing and arranging of music.

During the second song, the bands stopped playing as the lights of the Dome went out, and the University of Houston Choir took over to sing a verse of You'll Never Walk Alone, When the lights came back on, the 81 bands had moved into their positions to spell out Band Day across the beautiful field. The bands then closed their show playing America the Beautiful as the audience joined in singing.

Following the football game with the Oklahoma State victory, the band reported back to the buses to change and load up for home. The band arrived safely and happily exhausted in Rockport around 4 a.m. Sunday morning.

Mr. Massey and the Fighting Pirate Band wishes to thank the sponsors who took time to make this trip to Houston with the band. These loyal supporters were Mrs. Jeffers, Mr. and Mrs. Gillis, Mrs. Massey, Mr. and Mrs. Randow, Mrs. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Landrum, Mr. and Mrs. McLead, Mr. and Mrs. Bright, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, and Mr. and Mrs. Griffis.

Mr. Massey and the Pirate Band would like to thank the School District for making this trip possible. It was an experience that the band will always remember and talk about.

Emergency Loans Available Because Of Crop Damage

Effective Sept. 27, 1968, the Department of Agriculture has authorized the making of emergency loans in the following counties in Texas because of substantial damage to 1968 crops due to excessive rainfall:

Aransas, Caldwell, Calhoun, Goliad, Gonzales, Hays, Karnes, Live Oak, Nueces, San Patricio, Victoria, Refugio.

As a result of this designation, the Small Business Administration has been authorized to accept and process applications under the Economic Injury Disaster Loan Program. According to Mr. W. E. Woodman, Regional Director of the San Antonio Regional office of SBA, any business affected by the above conditions in above areas may apply for financial assistance under the Program.

Any businessman interested in obtaining information relative to the Economic Injury Disaster Program should contact the San Antonio Regional Office of SBA. (Farmers and stockmen are not eligible for assistance from SBA.)

To qualify for a loan under the Economic Injury Disaster Loan Program an applicant must be able to show substantial economic injury resulting from the excessive rainfall, and the purpose of such loans must be solely to provide relief from the economic injury directly attributable to the disaster. Loans may be to replenish working capital and to pay financial obligations (except bank loans) which the borrower would have been able to meet had it not been for the loss of revenue from the conditions in his area.

Woodman announced that the authority for accepting applications under the Economic Injury Disaster Program will expire on Sept. 30, 1969.

Mrs. Earline Ballou spent the weekend in Baytown with Mr. and Mrs. Travis Smith.

Doe Permit Issuance To Begin Soon

Austin—The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has announced the dates and locations for issuing antlerless deer permits in seven of the 10 regulatory responsibility districts.

Permits will be issued to qualified landowners or the appointed representatives between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. on the date and location as indicated for each county. Permits must be drawn in the county where they are to be used.

Section 6 of Senate Bill 295, passed by the 60th Legislature, regular session, prohibits the Department from issuing permits later than 10 days prior to the opening of the deer season. If the landowner or appointed representative does not draw permits before the deadline, then permits cannot be issued for the 1968 hunting season.

Below are issuance dates and locations for: Aransas County, Oct. 28, 29, Rockport, P & W Office.

Draft Call For Texas Is 869

The December draft call for Texas is 869, up from 523 for November, Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said Tuesday.

This compares with quotas of 774 and 683 for October and September, respectively. The highest monthly call in 1968 was in May, in which a quota of 2,223 was set. Monthly calls in 1967 ranged from 674 to 1,421.

The allocation to all states in December is 17,500 men, 15,000 for the Army and 2,500 for the Marine Corps. The Marine Corps has requested no men through the draft previously this year.

The state director of Selective Service also announced that a total of 1,938 men would be forwarded for preinduction mental-physical examinations in November, compared to 6,697 being sent for this purpose in October. These men, whether they pass or fail these examinations, are returned to their homes.

December inductions will occur Dec. 1-14. Col. Schwartz said he expects to be advised of Christmas leave regulations later which could have affect on these men.

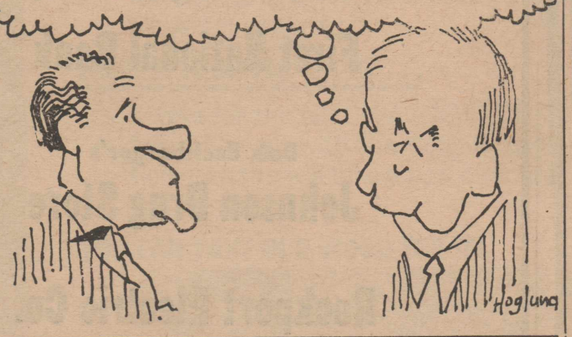

The order of selection to fill draft calls through November may be from among examined and acceptable men who are (1) delinquents 19 years old and older, (2) volunteers under age 26 in the sequence in which they have voluntered and (3) non-volunteers 19 through 25 years old, single and married, oldest first with those married after Aug. 26 1965 being selected ahead of those married on or before that date.

You say you'd like a few suggestions on how to get more out of your telephone service?

Here are five tips to help make your every "hello" a real good buy:

1. Whenever you're moving to another town within the Bell System, let us arrange for your phone service before you move. If you know the address of your new home, we can make arrangements in advance so you'll have the exact service you want in your new home. We'll also refer calls from your old phone to your new number if you like. Just call the business office and ask about our Easy Move Plan. There's no extra charge.

2. Speaking of moving, we hope you realize that wherever you move in the Bell System, there is no color charge for the phones at your new address if you had color phones at your old address.

3. Ever wonder what to do when you get a wrong number on a Long Distance call? Just hang up, dial "0" for "Operator," and tell her what happened. She'll see that you're not charged for the call.

4. And if you ever lose your dime in an out-of-order pay telephone, just go to a working phone and report it to the Operator. She'll arrange to have your dime mailed to you. Also, if you give her the number of the out-of-order phone, we'll get it fixed right away.

5. Long Distance interstate rates are lower all day Saturday and Sunday, and after 7 p.m. each weekday. You can also save money if you call by number. A station-to-station Long Distance call costs about one-third less than a person-to-person call.

At Southwestern Bell, our goal is to help you get the very best telephone service. We want your every "hello" to be a real good buy.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

It has been said that the mourning dove makes chumps out of champs and champs out of chumps.

All of which gives some inkling as to the personality of this popular game bird.

Of course, there is a pun intended here, but the statement isn't far from wrong. Nothing can wipe the eye of a self-professed shooting champ quicker than a fast-flying dove.

Yet, on numerous occasions I've seen rank beginners at the sport knocking birds from the sky when all the veterans were shooting and cussing and generally getting themselves worked into a delirious condition.

Nobody, to my knowledge, ever has determined exactly how fast a dove flies. But get one coming downwind under a full head of steam and it is almost a blur — moving so fast.

A hunter who lets one get past him simply hasn't a chance. He can't get his gun around fast enough to lead the dove and compensate for its rapid pace.

An oldtimer once told me that if I wanted to kill doves, I had to "shoot where they ain't."

Sometimes this almost seems to be true. It requires a seemingly ridiculous lead to bring one down. I've seen hunters bang away at the lead bird in a flock only to see one of the tail-end doves come tumbling down.

Perhaps that's why the mourning dove is our most popular game bird.

It is hunted in many different ways.

Some people prefer tank shooting, waiting for the birds to fly to water late in the afternoon.

Others prefer field shooting, stationing themselves around the perimeter of a grainfield and catching the birds trailing back and forth overhead.

Still others like to pass-shoot doves, finding a regular flyway between their feeding grounds and water and back again.

There is one phase of dove shooting however, that has been largely ignored. I'm talking about hunting them with decoys.

A few years ago the sudden splurge of dove replicas on the market created a mild sensation. Then almost as quickly it died out. True, decoys still are being used, but not near as many as there ought to be.

The mourning dove is a perfect bird to decoy. It is a gregarious bird that habitually travels in a pair or more, perhaps a flock of 25 to 30 birds. When one dove sits down in a dead tree, soon others drop in to keep it company. Put decoys out and you get the same effect.

Use of the decoys doesn't necessarily mean that you hope to bring doves right down in the tree, where you can pot-shot them while sitting idle on a limb. However, many dove hunters wouldn't consider this really unsporting. They'd claim you can't take advantage of a dove.

Real idea behind the decoy is to delay the birds, to bring them around for a shot, to beguile them into passing overhead rather than 100 or so yards away.

Many hunters have had very good results when using these fake creations in conjunction with field shooting.

Others have had the maddening experience of flushing feeding doves, only to watch them disappear over the treetops and never come back where the gunner could get a second chance.

Decoys very often will lure 'em back, at least for the second time, and perhaps even again and again.

Pick out a dead tree near the field, a likely perch for doves. Put out a half dozen or more of the cardboard replicas. Then let someone spook the feeding doves. As they rise from the field and pass overhead, you can bang away.

Upon sighting their "brethern" perched in the tree, they'll most likely circle back for a second look, this time traveling much slower. Now you'll have an even better chance.

Decoys also work quite effectively at times in flyway shooting. This is the most demanding of all wing shooting, catching the doves zipping pell-mell from their feeding grounds to water. Usually, they come overhead at full throttle, and if there is any tailwind at all, they'll really be moving.

Scatter some decoys in dead trees or perhaps along a fence, anywhere they might be conspicious. Doves flying overhead will spot what they believe to be friends and they'll slow up briefly for a better look. Then you've got them dead to rights in an insidious ambush.

Surprisingly, decoys also are an aid in tank shooting. Put a few along the shore, out of the shadows, where they can be seen. Doves heading for water will spot them and began soaring downward . . . making a perfect target.

It works nearly every time!

Uncle Sam's Selective Service

Editor's Note: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Col. Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 209 W. 9th Street, Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q—How is the citizenship and draft status of a boy who has dual citizenship in Mexico and the United States determined? I know a boy who was born in Mexico of parents with United States citizenship. This boy lived in Mexico until he was 12 years old, went to secondary school in Texas, and now in college in Texas. He is now 20 years old and in his last college year. At age 18 he registered with the draft board in the city where he was attending school. Mexico also has a compulsory military service law under which this boy is obligated as a citizen if he returns to Mexico upon his graduation from college. Is this young man obligated to serve in the U. S. Army because he registered for the draft even though he prefers citizenship in Mexico?

A—A dual citizen normally retains his duality status until he's 21 years old, at which time he must have elected citizenship, in this case, of either Mexico or the United States by (1) voting, (2) serving in the military service, (3) renunciation of citizenship of one of the countries, or (4) other actions. Selective Service treats him the same as an American citizen unless and until he makes an election of citizenship. This young man should take up his case with a counsular official and work out his problem by the time he reaches his 21st birthday. If he renounces United States citizenship and elects Mexican citizenship and departs for that country, he will be entitled to classification in class IV-C as an alien.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Handle With Care

To clean her rugs, a housewife made use of her powerful cleaning fluid. But, working in a closed room, she inhaled so much of the lethal fumes that she died. Was the manufacturer of the cleaning fluid legally liable for her death?

After a court test, the company was indeed held liable—mainly because of a misleading label on the can. The brand name, in large letters, strongly implied that the product was safe to use. As for danger, the only warning was small and inconspicous.

Damage suits are rising with growing frequency in the field of "products liability." One key issue is the responsibility of a manufacturer to warn the consumer of possible danger.

Sometimes the matter is covered by specific statutory requirements, such as marking poison with a skull and crossbones. But even without and specific requirements, a manufacturer generally has a duty to give warning, when needed, of dangers inherent in his wares.

For, in this age of synthetic and complex products, the consumer is often unable to detect those dangers for himself.

"Such a dependent society," said one judge, "must exact greater care than in more simple days and must require from manufacturers or producers increased integrity and caution as only protection of its safety and well being."

Nevertheless, the law will not blame the manufacturer for every mishap in which his product plays a part. He need not warn the consumer of hazards that should be obvious.

For instance, the manufacturer need not place a HANDLE WITH CARE notice on a hammer, just because it can mash your thumb. Or on a needle, just because it can puncture your skin.

Nor is the manufacturer liable if his warning, although properly given, is not properly heeded.

Thus, a man who was burned by an inflammable adhesive was held not entitled to damages from the manufaturer. He had used the product near an open flame, even though the container carried a plain and pointed warning not to do so.

In short, the manufacturer does owe you fair warning of danger. After that it's up to you.

WOULD YOUR CONGRESSMAN VOTE FOR GEORGE WALLACE?

Some fine Texans are tempted to vote for the 3rd party candidate because they admire his stand and his statements on some of the major campaign issues . . .

STOP AND THINK WHAT WILL ACTUALLY HAPPEN . . .

The best that Wallace supporters can hope for is enough strength to throw the election into the turmoil of a Congressional election by the House of Representatives . . .

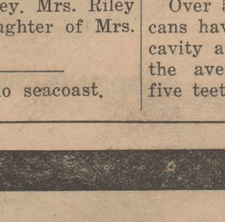

THEN WHAT HAPPENS?

The answer is certain and simple. Wallace supporters are at the mercy of Washington Politicians! Every vote for George Wallace automatically becomes a vote for Hubert Humphrey!

THERE IS A BETTER CHOICE . . .

A vote for the NIXON-AGNEW ticket is a positive vote for "change" with the definite promise that our National Affairs will take a new direction . . . the direction you want it to take!

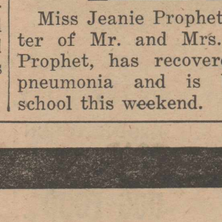

YOU CAN TAKE OUR WORD FOR IT!

Honorable John G. Tower
United States Senator from Texas
Chairman, Nixon Key Issues Committee

Honorable Strom Thurmond
United States Senator from South Carolina
Chairman, Thurmond Speaks Committee

Ben Carpenter
Chairman, Texans for Nixon Committee

IF YOU REALLY WANT A CHANGE . . . NIXON'S THE ONE!

Oystereaters Will Get State, Federal Protection

Austin—Oyster eating Texans are assured of wholesome oysters by one Federal agency and two State agencies, according to J. B. Phillips, law enforcement coordinator for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The Parks and Wildlife Department, the Texas Health Department, and the U. S. Public Health Service participate in the "Cooperative Program for the Certification on Interstate Shellfish Shippers."

Game management officers of the Parks and Wildlife Department patrol areas closed or restricted by the State Health Department which monitors the bays for pollution.

The Public Health Service is interested in seeing that only certified oysters cross the State line.

Twenty-nine officers recently attended a one-day shellfish patrol school in La Porte provided by the Public Health Service, to learn more of their duties in this program, according to Phillips.

Phillips said officers were given background information as to the administration of shellfish controls nationally, the relationship between shellfish and disease and the importance of growing area sanitation control and the need for patrol of closed or unapproved oyster growing areas.

The course also covered the special problems in this type of law enforcement, Phillips said. Orientation to the rules of evidence, identification of closed shellfish growing areas, techniques of observation and apprehension of violators, demonstration of legal procedures and the importance of patrol officer as an effective witness were subjects covered during the course.
